Slaying Suspect Arraigned Here; Acts Repentant

Donald Leroy Schoonover, 35-year-old Twin Falls man, a clerk who brazenly admitted Friday he had killed his mother-in-law in an argument over custody of his children, was more subdued and even repentant Saturday when he was arraigned on a first degree murder charge before Judge J. O. Humphrey, sitting as justice of the peace. Schoonover demanded a preliminary hearing and was ordered held without bond in Twin Falls county jail, the hearing was held Tuesday at 10 a.m. Friday he calmly took his new year celebration and freedom of admitted to officers he had brutally beaten Mrs. Turner, 48 Washington court, then choked her until she died. He said he then dragged the body into the bathroom of the home and hid it under the bed as if a sex friend had killed her.

Almo Pioneer William Eames Dies at Age 93

ALMO, Jan. 2.—William L. Eames, 93, pioneer and active civic leader for many years in the Cassia county community, died here Friday.

He had been postmaster, justice of the peace, notary public and constable as well as serving on the school board and taking an active part in the L.S. club.

Born March 21, 1856, in Plain City, Utah, he came to Almo in 1883 with a hunting party. He married here with his wife, Harry Eames, who took squatter's rights on land on Parkside road. He was engaged in the lumber, mining and freighting produce to Perito, Utah.

In 1893 Mr. Eames and two brothers purchased a small store in Almo where the Asa E. Ward store stands. He was engaged in the mercantile and ranching business most of his life.

An active Republican, Mr. Eames served on committees for the Almo precinct for many years and was a trustee for the local school district for 10 years at different times.

He sang in the choir and also in the Almo church. He was a sports enthusiast in his younger days. He served as secretary of the Sunday school and was a member of the Almo presidency and a Sunday school teacher.

Idaho's New Year's Quiet; None Killed

Idaho's traffic toll for 1950 stood at 10 deaths, a remarkably quiet New Year's day week-end.

Officers attributed the absence of deaths to the extra caution exercised by the slippery conditions of Idaho highways.

Many motorists also probably canceled trips because of the road conditions.

Inquiries received at the state police office here that after a quiet week-end they started receiving more inquiries about traffic accidents in the southern part of the state and Moscow, O. S. says as to resume the investigation of the University of Idaho.

Roads in most sections of the state were covered with the only exceptions those in the southwest and south.

More snow fell today in the area north and east of Idaho Falls, which has had almost continuous snow since 1950.

California Shivers As Winds Whip up Snows in Midwest

The most severe cold weather in a decade killed through southern California today, dropping the temperature to 20 in the citrus-growing area. Growers feared that frost could damage fruit crops despite the widespread use of orchard heaters. More cold weather was forecast. Through the northern Midwest states of Minnesota, Upper Wisconsin and northern Michigan, 30 to 40-mile northern winds whipped a snowfall of more than a foot in high drifts. The snows fell over the entire state.

Los Angeles reported a temperature of 31 in the downtown area today and 25 in the Hollywood area. Bad rains fell in Hollywood and in the nearby San Bernardino mountains. Streets were coated with ice.

San Francisco reported a temperature of 29 above zero, the lowest ever recorded there. San Francisco airport temperature dropped to 21 and hourly wind San Diego had a low of 32.

Further east, the mercury dropped to 24 in West Yellowstone, Mont. An estimated 100 inches of snow was on the ground. Wolf Creek, Colo., reported a snowfall of 12 inches at Red Mountain. Many of New Mexico's roads were snowed out and traffic in the state was hampered.

Cloudiness, fog and drizzle were the weather's feature in the northern mountains. The snow had a 30-degree reading at noon. But the snow was heavy and conditions and its chaser of cold will leave Glasgow, Mont., and elsewhere in the north.

Four persons, two of them children were reported missing in Los Angeles. Sheriff's officers here said they may be victims of a severe blizzard.

Kennedy Tosses Hat Into Democrat Ring

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Sen. John F. Kennedy, Massachusetts, moved formally into the Democratic presidential race today with a challenge to potential rivals in the primary. Kennedy had been campaigning for months, but until today had declined to avow his intentions. He is generally regarded as the front runner for the nomination, but his backers concede he is now well short of the backing he would need for a first ballot victory at the convention.

The 42-year-old senator, who has 140 newsmen and about 300 cheering spectators crowded into the senate caucus room that he is convinced he can lead the nomination and the election.

It doesn't get top place on his party's ticket, Kennedy said. He is not a Democrat, he said Saturday, regarding the announcement that Sen. John F. Kennedy, Dr. Mass., is in Democratic presidential race. That his committee does not end on candidates as a general Walker said, however, he individually feels that Kennedy will be backed by Twin Falls.

"Ike" Invites

Governors to Fall Out Talks

Augusta, Ga., Jan. 2 (AP)—President Eisenhower today invited the civil defense committee of the National Conference of Governors to discuss fallout protection with him in Washington, Jan. 25.

The committee is headed by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, New York.

The governors requested the talks at their own conference at San Juan, Puerto Rico, last August.

"I will consider," said White House Press Secretary James C. Fligerty, "cooperative steps which are available to the states on the federal, state and local level for the protection of the American people from fallout and other aspects of nuclear attack."

The chairman of the governors' conference, Gov. J. Caleb Boggs, Delaware, was invited to the January meeting along with Rockefeller and other conference members, Govs. Edmund G. Brown, California; G. Mennen Williams, Michigan; George D. Cuyler, Utah; and Ernest F. Hollings, South Carolina.

BYU Arts Center Will Be Planned

Provo, Utah, Jan. 2 (AP)—A Los Angeles architectural firm has been selected to prepare plans for a proposed new fine arts center at Brigham Young University.

Pres. Ernest Young emphasized that no final approval has been given for the center and that present limitations exist for architectural planning only.

The firm selected is William L. Pereira and Associates, designers of several buildings for western college campuses.

Initial plans for the building call for music rooms, stage and practice cubicles, art studios, radio and television centers, classrooms, offices and other types of rooms.

Two Downed Fliers Found Beside Plane

EVANSTON, Wis., Jan. 2 (AP)—Two men who spent two nights near a wrecked airplane in zero weather were rescued today.

The two fliers were walking about beside their plane before a ground party picked them up and brought them to Evanston.

They were believed to be Robert E. Anderson, Sunnyside, Calif., and Delbert H. Green, St. Sydney, Neb.

Two spotted.

They were spotted along the top of a 275-foot Forecupie mountain, about 15 miles southwest of here in eastern Utah this morning as a widespread search got under way for Anderson.

Anderson, at first believed flying alone, was reported missing late Thursday on a flight from Rock Springs, Wyo., to Elko, Nev. Today it was learned he was believed to have picked up Green at Sydney, Nev.

Charles Massard, Evanston, said he was in a circling airplane which directed the ground party to the downed fliers. He said they made contact shortly before noon. They had to make their way about half mile to the vehicles which were to bring them to Evanston.

Plane Upside-Down

Massard said the airplane was upside down in evergreen trees and appeared to be badly damaged.

He said the search plane which found them about 10 a.m. first spotted one of the men waving frantically on a ridge. He pointed into a canyon, where the second man was seen beside the plane. He was keeping warm at a fire.

The plane which spotted the men was piloted by Dr. S. L. Easton, an Evanston optometrist. With him were D. M. Barnard, Charles Widdow and Charles Holt, all Evanston.

Snow One Foot Deep

The ground rescue party was made up of 10 men. The fliers were in the area, was reported about one foot deep.

The weather bureau said the temperature dropped to 4 degrees at Evanston this morning. It probably was below zero at the 9,000 foot level.

Many of American Allies Are Wondering 'Will Ike Drop In?'

TOKYO, Jan. 2 (UPI)—With the new year, many of America's Asian allies are in a tizzy. Most of the free-Asian nations from Thailand to Korea are like vultures waiting for a savior to pop the question. "But the question most of the Asian nations have in mind is this: Will Ike drop in?"

Rumors have been flying—and there's been no denying that President Eisenhower would visit a number of Asian nations in 1960. These rumors started when the American president set out on his historic tour last year that took him to eleven nations.

Since then, it has become quite apparent that Eisenhower has some hope of visiting Asia sometime before he ends his term as president.

Today, speculation is rife in many of the Asian nations. Many of the first reports that Eisenhower would visit Asia was a well-sourced UPI report from Washington stating that one of the American President's major ambitions in his last year in office is to bring about an agreement between Japan and Korea—two of America's best allies in Asia—but both still bitter enemies.

Since then, a number of unconfirmed reports have come out stating that Eisenhower would visit 1959 Proved Good Year for Churches Throughout U.S.

BY LOUIS KASSLES Staff Writer (International) The year just ended was on the whole a good one for America's churches. The resurgence of religious activity, which has been one of the most striking phenomena in American life since World War II, seemed to continue unabated throughout 1959. Government reports show that expenditures for new church buildings climbed to an all-time high of nearly one billion dollars.

Statistics on membership growth, Sunday school enrollment and giving are compiled by the churches themselves, and it will be some months yet before the 1959 figures are available. But reports likely that they also will set new records.

If any churchman is tempted by complacency by all this evidence of institutional prosperity, he may find it a sobering antidote to look ahead at some of the formidable problems which confront the churches in 1960.

Space permits the listing of only a few of the more important ones. Combating drift. The inevitable rifts may be patched up or at least accommodated by major political parties should nomination at Catholic candidate for president or vice president.

Surprising Results Shown in Traffic Intersection Survey

DETROIT, Jan. 2 (AP) — As a driver do you feel more secure in driving through an intersection controlled by a traffic light?

Those who belonged to neighborhood associations or civic groups—which has campaigned for stop-and-go signals—were more likely to answer "yes" than those who were not.

A recent study on the frequency of accidents at 37 intersections where traffic signals have been installed showed some interesting results which may prove surprising.

Results were reported by David E. Ross, highway research engineer, in Public Roads, a journal of highway research issued by the U. S. States bureau of public roads.

This study showed:

The total number of accidents increased at the 37 intersections where stop-and-go type signals were installed and decreased at 50 intersections where flashing beacons were used.

The number of persons injured decreased by one-fifth at intersections where flashing beacons were used and increased by one-half at the flashing beacon intersections.

The number of fatalities was cut by at least half at both types of installations with "no appreciable change" at the flashing beacon stop-and-go and flashing beacons intersections.

The intersections surveyed ranged from a simple "T" or "three-lane" type to the complex city where three or more roads cross.

The study showed accidents at the simple three-lane intersections increased 78 per cent after flashing stop-and-go signals. At similar crossings where flashing beacons were used the accident rate dropped 32 per cent.

However, the effectiveness of stop-and-go signals increased as the intersections became more complicated. At the most complex crossings, where number of roads crossing is determined, stop-and-go signals cut accidents 47 per cent.

The survey showed the type of signal used had little effect on the number of accidents. For example, the most frequent accident at most intersections was a side collision—one car bumps into the side of another. This type was cut 30 per cent where flashing signals were installed. However, rear-end, head-on and side-swipe accidents increased 21 per cent where stop-and-go signals were used.

Flashing beacons brought a decrease in all types of accidents, ranging from a 33 per cent drop in head-on collisions to an 18 per cent cut in rear-end accidents.

The public roads administration in Washington is determining whether there is enough traffic at an intersection to justify stop-and-go signals. This study suggests that traffic from all approaches must exceed 700 vehicles per hour for each approach in an urban area or 500 vehicles per hour for each approach in rural areas.

Solomon, in his conclusions on the Michigan study, suggested that the use of flashing beacons at intersections which barely qualify for stop-and-go signals.

"This, he said, is because a survey of the four lowest volume intersections in Michigan showed an 81 per cent increase in accidents as well as an increase in injuries.

His flashing light intersections with almost the same traffic volume decreased both in accidents and injuries.

China Again Asks Meeting With Indians

TOKYO, Jan. 2 (AP) — Peiping told India today red China needs a long-term peaceful international environment to build up its economy and make a new start in settling their border dispute.

The plan broadcast by Peiping called for forces of each side to withdraw about 125 miles from present positions, a proposal rejected twice previously by India.

Prime Minister Nehru turned down the Chinese because such withdrawal would leave red Chinese troops still deep in territory India regards as its own.

Premier Chou En-lai again suggested a meeting with Nehru to agree on some principles on the boundary dispute. Nehru, in rejecting such a meeting, recently said he wants those principles worked out in advance.

In order to attain their great aim of peaceful coexistence, the note said, "the Chinese people are in urgent need of a long-term peaceful international environment, whether or not the boundary has been delimited. China is always prepared to work in close cooperation with its neighbors for the creation of the most peaceful, secure and friendly border zones so that there will be no mutual misgivings or clashes over the border questions."

AMPHIBIOUS EXERCISE BEGAN TOKYO, Jan. 2 (AP) — Australia, Britain, France, Thailand and the United States will run an amphibious reconnaissance exercise called "Teamwork Two" in the Gulf of Oman Jan. 28-Feb. 1.

Excuses for Traffic Mishaps Are Varied but Seldom Valid

"I didn't see the other car." "The other car was coming too fast." "The other driver didn't stop at the intersection." "I was stopped at a red light and they ran through it." "I was in a hurry and I didn't see the car with me." "Another driver admitted that he had dozed at the wheel and couldn't remember what that happened during two miles of driving preceding the accident."

Regardless of reasons stated for accidents, all of them are the result of at least one momentary mistake, inattention or neglect.

Just consider, "My car skidded on the ice." An icy spot on the pavement may be unexpected, but weather conditions should be forewarning to all motorists that ice is possible in the road ahead. Being mentally prepared for such eventualities is part of being a good driver.

"My steering mechanism failed and caused my car to leave the road—doom's concrete a driver from blame for an accident. Imagine, if you can, the thrill that would be aroused if an attorney pilot admitted he had taken off in a plane that had not been thoroughly checked for any and all possible mechanical defects.

"My foggy and I didn't see the train." Is a poor excuse when you consider the fog must have prevented normal judgment. Feet have for the driver came to a railroad crossing. Even if he could not see the well-known warning "Look and Listen," the fog should have rung a mental bell.

Instead of memorizing standard reasons for accidents, concentrate on a few of the 1959 Idaho traffic statistics such as: 17,000 wrecks, 5,100 injuries and 221 deaths.

None of them "just happened."

"My steering mechanism failed" accident was executive speed.

Methodists Slate Covenant Service

BURLEY, Jan. 2 (AP) — John W. Burtley, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, will lead a covenant service with the Rev. Edward Dixon, pastor, on Sunday at the Burley Methodist church.

The Rev. Edward Dixon, pastor, pointed out the service will provide opportunity for members to renew their religious commitments.

This type of service was begun in 1955 in England. It is a type of service which will be provided by the Senior and Intermediate M.E. as well as a quiet time from the adult choir.

Rites Are Set For Area Man

CASTLEFORD, Jan. 2 (AP) — Funeral services for Soren K. Hasselhoff, 42, who died Friday at St. Anne's Valley Memorial hospital, will be held at 2:30 p.m. Monday at the St. Anne's Methodist church.

The Rev. Lloyd Snodgrass, officiating.

Mr. Hasselhoff was born Nov. 30, 1921, in Skagen, Denmark, and came to the United States in 1912. He was a member of the St. Anne's Methodist church in Twin Falls in 1924. He was a retired farmer and had been ill a short time.

He was World War I veteran, a member of the Methodist church in Twin Falls and a member of the Men's club. On Dec. 27 his mother died in a hospital in Skagen, Denmark.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Frances Hasselhoff; Castleford, a daughter, Sharron; and two sons, George T. Hasselhoff, San Jose, Calif.; and brother, Chris Hasselhoff, Twin Falls, and one sister, Ely Hesselhoff, Skagen, Denmark.

Funeral rites will be held in the St. Anne's church. The family suggests contributions to a fund to be used for a memorial service at the new Castleford Methodist church. Friends may call at Reynolds funeral home, Twin Falls.

Joseph H. Garnier Claimed by Death

Joseph H. Garnier, 42, died at St. Joseph's nursing home Friday night after an illness of one and a half years.

He was born March 3, 1917, at Whiting, Ind., and came to Twin Falls in 1949 from Boise.

Garnier was a member of the First Baptist church in Twin Falls.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Margaret Garnier; three sons, James, Charles and Richard Garnier; and two daughters, Janice and Donna Garnier, Twin Falls, and two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Smith and Mrs. Marie Huff, Boise.

Services will be held at 3 p.m. Tuesday at Reynolds funeral chapel, Twin Falls. Burial will be in the Reynolds cemetery.

Christmas Tree Bonfire Planned

Buhl, Jan. 2 — The annual Christmas tree bonfire and winter feast for West End youngsters sponsored by the Kiwanis club will be held at 6 p.m. Monday, announced Duane MacIsaac, chairman.

The bonfire will be held at the vacant lot on the corner of Main and Broadway just across the street from the new location of the Kiwanis club.

All youngsters attending are asked to provide their own sticks for roasting the meat.

Buhl residents wishing to dispose of their used Christmas trees are asked to place the trees in the alley Monday afternoon, where they will be picked up by the Boy Scouts.

Veterans Urged To Note Income

Disabled veterans and widows and children of deceased veterans who receive monthly nonservice-connected pension payments from the veterans administration are urged by Arnold Helwege, local VA administrator, to promptly return the tabulating card which bears a stamp for reporting annual income.

Failure to do so may result in the end of January to return the card with the information, Helwege said. Those with annual income whose income is greater than $1,400 a year or those with dependent widows whose income is more than $2,700 a year may not receive a pension under present law.

Failure to return the reporting card within 30 days will result in stoppage of monthly pension payments.

Rockefeller Name To Go on Ballot

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (AP) — Former federal Judge Albert Levitt has said that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's name will be entered in the New Hampshire Republican presidential primary unless the Rockefeller campaign can raise $100,000.

Levitt, a political foe of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, said the newspaperman does not regard Rockefeller's statement of last week-end as a "final" refusal to accept the GOP's presidential nomination in New Hampshire.

"This fact has meant," said his friends, "that Rockefeller's name will be entered in the New Hampshire primary March 8, said Levitt, who is a Republican as the starter of the Rockefeller movement in New Hampshire in 1960.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson said he would not return to Washington Monday. He said during his time as secretary, the nation has almost eliminated the surplus of seeds, beans, wool and dairy products. Benson said his department was studying recent protests from western sheepmen over imports of lamb.

Benson said the wheat surplus will reach 1,300,000 bushels by July 1.

The secretary said that he had announced a decision to step down from his post when the Peace Corps' 10th anniversary office does not mean he would not accept an earlier Federal job.

Benson said he doesn't think any American should declare that he would not serve in a public post during wartime legislation controlling sheep. When the administration tried to cut wheat surpluses by allocating acreage allotments in the reports that he would not continue.

Month-Long March of Dimes Campaign Starts for County

The 1960 March of Dimes campaign was launched Saturday in Twin Falls county to assist the national foundation in raising the nationwide goal of 65 million dollars. The theme of this year's drive is "Prevent crippling diseases." City chairman Mr. and Mrs. Paul Crumbliss announced the foundation's new program is aimed at fighting polio, birth defects and penalties in business sections of the county. Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Crumbliss with the county drive are Neal Garrison, Twin Falls business solicitation chairman; Mrs. Chris Medley, Kimberly chairman; Roy Willecke, Piler chairman, and Miles B. Davis and Mrs. Daisy Hopple, Buhl chairman. E. M. Powell is organizing efforts for rural solicitation, and is acting as county chairman for the drive. El Salvador is the smallest and most thickly populated country in the Americas.

Justices Cannot Contract Service

BOISE, Jan. 2 (AP)—Idaho justices of the peace cannot enter into contracts with the county for services outside their jobs, the attorney general ruled Thursday. The question had been asked by Robert McLaughlin, prosecuting attorney of Blaine county. Atty. Gen. Frank L. Jensen quoted from court decisions denying such arrangements to county coroners and treasurers and said the rules apply to justices of the peace.

Judy Leonard Is Filer Man's Wife In Church Ritual

A nuptial was celebrated in a.m. Dec. 28 at St. Edward's Catholic church, united in marriage Judy Leonard, 25, of Grange, and Mr. John Koelsch, 27, of Grange. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Leonard, and the groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Leonard, of Filtr. The Rev. John Koelsch was celebrant.

Poinsettias and white pompon chrysanthemums provided the setting for the double ring ceremony which was officiated by the father down an aisle marked with red bows and holy. For the holiday season wedding, the bride chose a white imported Italian velvet gown accented by a Chantilly lace fitted bodice with capulle vestline, portrait neckline and a large velvet bow on the back. Her hair was styled in a Chantilly lace inset in the chignon. The gown was designed by the bride and made by her mother.

A long-length illusion nylon veil was centered by a crown applied with flowers embroidered with red and white. The bride carried a white feathered carriage and ribbon streamers surrounding a polka-dot ball. Her jewelry consisted of a gold locket which had been worn by her maternal grandmother. Her mother and an aunt at her wedding, and pearl earrings, a gift of the bridegroom.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Grace Leonard, bridesmaid, Jeanne Leonard, and Karen Asendrup, both Filtr, sister of the bridegroom. They were attended in identical ballgowns, length gowns of green velvet with flared skirts and fitted empire waists and lace jackets. They wore white fur hats and carried white fur muffins with corsages of white carnations.

Best man for his brother was Bill Asendrup, others were Jim Asendrup, Murray, cousin of the bridegroom and Larry McClung, 20, of Grange, cousin of the bride. She was flanked in a red velvet flared dress trimmed with white fur and a white fur bandeau hat. She carried a white beaded tulle hat with a black tulle veil. The bridegroom was in a tuxedo, and the bride was in a white gown. The ceremony was officiated by the Rev. John Koelsch.

WEST ALL-STAR WHIP EAST 21-14 IN FINAL 55 SECONDS

9-Yard Pass From Mooty Leads Arkansas Past Jackets in Gator Bowl

Meredith to Bass' Decides Contest

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2 (UP)—Southern Methodist quarterback Bob Meredith threw a 91-yard pass to Cliff Dick Bass of College of the Pacific on a nine yard touchdown pass with just 65 seconds remaining today and gave the underdog West a 21-14 victory over the East. The crowd of 60,000 in Kezar stadium probably felt this was the most exciting game would end in a tie when Bill Bucknell's Bill Bucknell threw a field goal attempt for the West with 11:30 minutes left. Dick getting control of the game recovery on the East. Meredith's 91-yard pass to Dick Bass to reach the 15 and lateraled to the East's teammate Jim Welch who reached the nine. On the next play Bass took Meredith's pass but could not find a receiver his way into the end zone.

Bucknell's three-point conversion attempt was blocked by the East's center. The play was suspended for several minutes when Dick Bass took a punt when a spectator stole the ball and a mob of fans attempted to get into the field.

Much of the credit for the West victory went to an alert defense. Dick Bass intercepted one pass and recovered two fumbles that led to the first touchdown.

Meredith, cool and elusive despite the pressure of the heavy crowd, threw a 22-yard pass to Chris Burford of Stanford that led the count with only three minutes remaining.

Meredith was voted the game's outstanding player with 11th man honors going to Cliff Dick Bass of the Pacific.

The West dominated the first half, allowing the East only 14 yards.

The first touchdown came in the third quarter when Dick Bass threw a 91-yard pass to Cliff Dick Bass. Dick Bass recovered at the 15 and lateraled to the East's center. The play was suspended for several minutes when Dick Bass took a punt when a spectator stole the ball and a mob of fans attempted to get into the field.

Much of the credit for the West victory went to an alert defense. Dick Bass intercepted one pass and recovered two fumbles that led to the first touchdown.

Meredith, cool and elusive despite the pressure of the heavy crowd, threw a 22-yard pass to Chris Burford of Stanford that led the count with only three minutes remaining.

Meredith was voted the game's outstanding player with 11th man honors going to Cliff Dick Bass of the Pacific.

About this time of year, everyone is looking back and remembering what has occurred in the past 12 months. Athletically, Mervyn Valley enjoyed another year but he had a little more fun than there had been a little more fun support.

Rebels Shut Out LSU 21-0 in Sugar Bowl

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 2 (UP)—Mississippi quarterback Bobby Franklin, playing his last game for the Rebels, and Orbin, who threw a Rebel attack, LSU but could not stop.

The rebels also claimed a slight hold on LSU All-American Billy Cannon and held the Heisman trophy winner to eight yards in six trips.

The whitewash was the first in 16 games for LSU, ranked third in the final 1958 Associated Press poll.

Schloredt, Fleming Lead Huskies To Rose Bowl Win Over Badgers

PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 2 (UP)—All-American quarterback Bob Schloredt and a Washington runner named George Fleming led the Huskies to a shocking 14-8 upset victory over the Badgers in the Rose Bowl Friday.

To the complete amazement of about 100,000 fans gathered under the crystal, clear skies, the gallant band of juniors from the northwest trounced up two touchdowns and a field goal for 17 points in the first quarter.

The explosion put the Big Ten championships on the ropes and the Huskies went on to give the West coast its first victory over the Big Ten since 1932 and only its second in the 14-game series with the Big Ten.

It was a hard, blow to Wisconsin pride, for the Badgers were the only previous Big Ten representative to lose to the West Coast. Schloredt's field goal was the tie-breaking point in the Huskies' 17-0 victory.

Washington applied the crucial blow with a 22-yard pass to a touchdown, a 55-yard run that led by Schloredt, and a 55-yard field goal and five conversions.

Wisconsin scored its lone touchdown in the second period on the brilliant passing of quarterback Dick Williams, who threw a 40-yard pass to Tom Weaver.

Washington, outmanned by a Badger defense, scored on the Huskies' 200, scored in every quarter.

The second time Washington's Huskies got the ball they traveled 66 yards in 10 plays, nine on the ground. Twice a 30-yard run by Schloredt made it one or two yards to make and made it. Two big runs by Schloredt, one by Badger six was a key play, and the opening touch down.

The first of three costly Badger fumbles came in the second quarter when Schloredt, with his sensational punt return, was tackled. That put the Huskies 91 yards to go.

Wisconsin finally registered its lone touchdown in the second period on the brilliant passing of quarterback Dick Williams, who threw a 40-yard pass to Tom Weaver.

Paces Cal Victory

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 2 (UP)—The Louisiana State coach Paul Dietzel said Friday after Mississippi beat the Tigers 21-14 in the Sugar bowl.

Coach Johnny Vaughn, of Mississippi, said the team's success was in the winning seconds of the first half was the turning point in the game.

He said he sent in orders for the play of a 42-yard loss from quarterback Dick Williams to help back Cowboy Woodruff.

Vaughn said the play, which completely took the LSU defense was one of his best. The LSU backs were looking for the pass on the other side of the line.

Dietzel said he thought he had seen the play several times before the game, but he was not sure.

The touchdown came soon after LSU stopped a Mississippi drive on the 21 and then with the verge of getting into the game.

Vaughn called it a team effort, but he said the key was the play of a 42-yard loss from quarterback Dick Williams to help back Cowboy Woodruff.

Golden Age Club Has Firm Foothold Here Since Foundation Back in '57

Two and one-half years ago the Soroptist club of Twin Falls started an activity for older persons. The new club has established a firm foothold in local social activities and regularly offers a diversion for many persons in Magic Valley. The group is the Golden Age club for persons 60 years of age and older, single or married.

According to Mrs. A. F. Oslund, who at the time the club was organized was the organizational director, this club is one of the most active in the city. She explains the club was organized to give a social activity to older persons living in Twin Falls. According to Mrs. Oslund, the club gives a social activity to the many persons who have moved to Twin Falls, for various reasons, after they were older, many to retire. One of the problems associated with such persons is how to make new friends and continue their interest in life. The club accomplishes that purpose.

There has been a national interest of the Soroptist club for many years. When the club sponsorship was mentioned to the local club, it was greeted enthusiastically by both Soroptist and older persons who desired such an activity. The club has grown from a charter membership of 24 to a membership that sometimes reaches

Some Twenty Single Persons Enjoy Salvation Army's Christmas Dinner

On Christmas, the Twin Falls Salvation Army served dinner to nearly 20 single persons and families at a special Christmas dinner.

Lieut. H. Del Hearn, says the dinner gave the people a traditional Christmas dinner in a rather homey atmosphere so they could enjoy their day.

He says this is the first time the Salvation Army has presented such a dinner. A Thanksgiving dinner was given a large group.

The dinner was intended for older persons living in the community who have no near relatives in this area with whom they could spend the holiday.

Salvation Army During Holiday Period

The meal began at noon and was followed by Christmas carols. Later in the afternoon the Salvation Army gave the guests Christmas presents containing various kinds of Christmas goodies.

"We figured if we could give these folks a nice Christmas dinner, it would go a long way," Lieutenant Hearn says. "The meal was served family style and contained all the traditional Christmas foods. The meal was prepared by the Salvation Army Women's home league. About five members of the league worked on the meal. Lieutenant Hearn says, 'Much of the cooking was done by some of the men working at the building, but the women added the women's touch.'"

"I believe such dinners are good for some of the older persons living in the community who seldom get the chance to get out of the four walls they live in most of the year." Salvation Army cars picked up most of the guests before the dinner and brought them to the Youth Center, and then took them home after dinner. Some of the money that financed the dinner came from the Christmas kettles on the street prior to Christmas. But the bulk of the meal was contributed by various business firms. In addition to the Christmas dinner, the Salvation Army delivered a total of 39 Christmas baskets here in Twin Falls. Nineteen baskets went to older persons living here in town and 20 baskets were given to families. One hundred and four "Sunshine baskets" also were given out by the Salvation Army. Eighty-four of the baskets were distributed to inmates at Horizon's Rest home. Baskets were also distributed to inmates at the city and county jails. The baskets contained fruit, nuts and candy. And the children fared well, too. The Salvation Army visited and gave toys to 84 children in Twin Falls.

New Highway Route Expected to Be Completed Here in About One Year

City Manager Joseph J. Lattimore estimates re-routing of highway 20 through Twin Falls will be accomplished in about a year.

As soon as the Kimberly road project is completed, and some minor construction completed on Five Points east and Five Points west, the highway will be routed through the city and two one-way streets established in Twin Falls.

This will be the culmination of many years of work and planning on the part of state highway department and Twin Falls.

Lattimore says, "The new highway routing will offer two things: some adequate access for citizens to the business district, and a more convenient method for tourists to travel through the city."

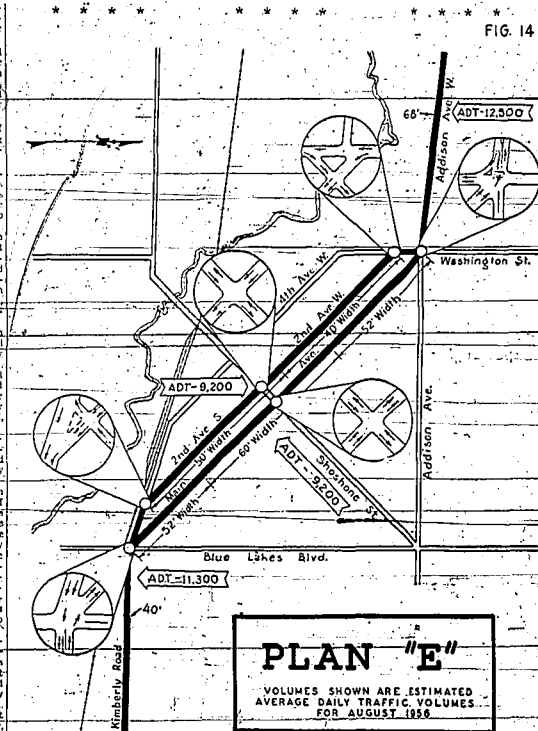

The basic plan will change Main avenue into one-way street carrying traffic in a westerly direction. Second avenue south and west will be changed into a one-way street, carrying traffic in an easterly direction. Truck traffic, with minor alterations, will continue to use the truck lane.

Lattimore estimates construction of the Kimberly road project will cost about $1 million. It will be followed by reconstruction of Five Points east. Reconstruction of Five Points east is included in the Kimberly road project. Lattimore says next winter Twin Falls may use a temporary intersection at Five Points west pending reconstruction.

The entire project, which started in 1957, has been delayed because of problems of design and inability to acquire right-of-way on Kimberly road.

Lattimore notes reconstruction plans began in the summer of 1958. At that time the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce and the city commission requested the state highway department to study the city so the city could make plans to correspond with department plans. At that time, Lattimore explains, the highway department was discussing and making plans for re-routing highways near and through many Idaho communities.

Lattimore says some Idaho communities squabbled with the department over the proposed plans. At that time, Lattimore says, just what the department planned here so the city would know how the highway was to be re-routed. Addition avenue west had just been reconstructed. In November, 1956, the department made many traffic counts and originations and

Courthouse, 48, Is Undergoing New Repairs and Face-Lifting Operation

For the past few months the 48-year-old Twin Falls county courthouse has been getting its face lifted and had a few internal operations. She's feeling better now.

Since 1911 the courthouse has served the needs of county residents. But in the last few years it has become crowded and less than attractive in many respects.

In the last year about $100,000 has been spent on various remodeling and renovation projects which include about $20,000 in architectural fees. The effect of the expenditure can be seen, but there is an attempt to bring the courthouse up to date and streamline it. In the last year about $100,000 has been spent on various remodeling and renovation projects which include about $20,000 in architectural fees. The effect of the expenditure can be seen, but there

30 Tons of Records Take Courthouse Space

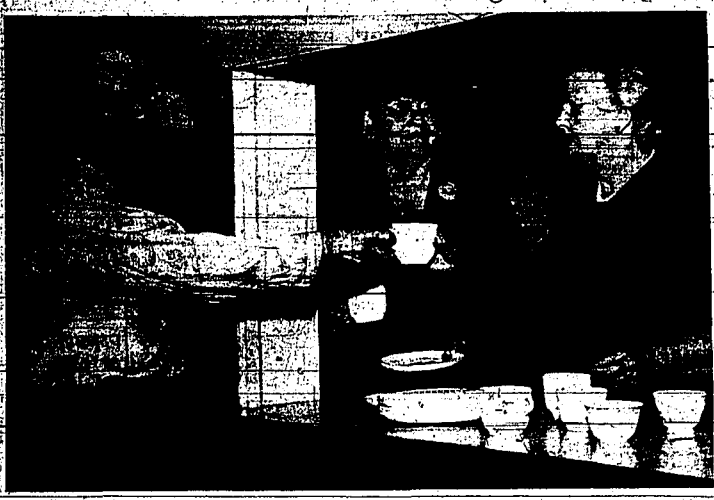

Russell C. (Bud) Larson, chairman of the county commission, says the present building is worth about $500,000. He estimates it would cost the county about one-half million dollars to build a structure that would satisfy the county's needs. He believes that when we plan changes in proper planning and remodeling can serve the needs of the county. "Our job is to see that the taxpayer's dollars are spent well, not spent. What we have to determine when we plan changes in the building is whether we really need the changes or simply want them."

Noting that the present building is fireproof and beautifully well-constructed, Larson says, "We can't see any economy in reconstructing the building serve the needs of the county. He says it is a good building, but that it will have to be put back in shape and then kept in repair. That's one-half million dollars worth work on the building in past years. But in the past few months the commission has taken steps to bring the courthouse back to life. Last spring the apartment which was built on the fifth floor since the building was built was cleaned up and put back in living condition. It was ordered originally for a sheriff and his family or a deputy. Last spring Sheriff James H. Bennett and his family moved into the fourth-floor apartment."

Larson says it was decided to clean up the apartment for the sheriff after several peace officers noted it would be a good idea to have a peace officer living on the same floor as the county jail. Larson says the commission goes to some remodeling of the jail facilities. He explains a recent state law provides the county with authority to jail juveniles under certain conditions, right now the facilities for jailing them are inadequate. The law also provides that juveniles must be detained separate from adult prisoners. The commission is planning eventually to add cells in the jail which enters the fourth floor. The jail will serve no function since the floor is entered by the elevator. The area would provide adequate room for juvenile cells. Frank Fonda, Twin Falls, is drawing all the various proposed plans for the building. In the past months quite a bit of work has been done on the third floor. The law which was formerly the large single room that offered to provide a jail for the town of the large has been remodeled. Now one of the big rooms

County Commission representatives of county buildings, holds a few of the estimated 30 tons of county records stored in the Twin Falls courthouse basement which are taking up valuable space and might be thrown away eventually, providing it is legal to do so, to provide room for additional county offices. Since that first meeting the club has grown and continues to grow. Mrs. Calund says one reason the club is so popular is members like to dance. From the young 60-year-old members to the oldest, an 83-year-old member, dancing is one of the most popular features of each meeting.

Mrs. Calund says footnot and square dances comprise the bulk of the entertainment of each meeting. The meetings are held on the second and fourth Fridays each month. They start at 11:30 a. m. unless it is a dinner meeting, which begins earlier, and lasts until about 11:30 p. m.

The meetings open with group singing, are followed by a short business meeting and then conclude with dancing and card playing.

The members there to give advice in planning group activities, although Mrs. Calund says the Golden Age club has been an active and self-sufficient club from its formation. She explains that the Soroptimist club gave the group a start at the beginning and it has progressed by its own exertions since then. Older residents of Twin Falls and surrounding communities have taken a strong, active interest in the club and formed it into a club that is a truly beneficial activity.

Members come from such towns as Wendell, Arden, Kimberly, Piler and Burley. But most of them live in Twin Falls. Burley is currently forming a club of its own. The membership has grown so large that the out-of-town membership is now limited to club members only.

"Mrs. Calund says there are other clubs like it in Boise and Hoateville. She notes that the club need not be sponsored by the Soroptimist club. It can be sponsored by any organization. And she adds that the Golden Age club is a national organization with clubs throughout the nation.

There are no dues for the club but each member does pay 25 cents at each meeting.

Present officers are P. E. Ehlers, president; Mrs. Ernest Fritchard, vice-president; and Mrs. Ella George, secretary-treasurer. The Soroptimist club representative to the club is Mrs. Lora Dosa.

Mrs. Calund reminds interested persons that the one and only requirement for membership in the club is to be at least 50 years of age.

Idaho Public Aides Pledge Good Service

By United Press International

Indians public officials today took a stab at the future and its unknown obstacles today and resolved to improve upon that service to the public in the year ahead.

To a man—those who were willing to make resolutions—elected and appointed officials promised to strive during 1960 for goals they believe would benefit the taxpayers.

Not all the officials contacted, however, were of a mind to pledge themselves to a project, or a hope in the year ahead. Some frankly consider resolutions a bad joke just for fun.

Makes No Resolutions

Gov. ROBERT E. Smylie said flatly he does not make resolutions. So did State Tax Collector P. C. Nall who added he's found from past experience that "it's useless." No matter how hard they try, he said, some, he said, circumstances beyond his control lead even some of his best-planned resolutions to fail.

Another of those who declined to make—or at least make public—their New Year's resolutions was Attorney General Frank Bronson. After a couple of false starts he finally told a newsmag that he's been too busy doing his job to haven't had time to think of any.

Resolutions Made

Others, however, submitted these offerings for the new year:

Secretary of State Arnold Williams: "I resolve to continue to keep my office giving courteous and efficient service to petitioners."

State Auditor Joe R. Williams: "I resolve to have the new IBM bookkeeping system working to perfection by the end of the quarter in June."

State Mine Inspector George Pfeiffer: "I'm going to make every effort to make this year a most fatality year in the mine. There were three in 1959."

State Treasurer Tullon Swenson: "I resolve to keep people informed about how the state's money is invested and to work in their best interests."

State Commerce Secretary Louise Shadlock: "I hope to have our industry and local business development program in 1960 bring in an additional 10 million dollars to Idaho."

State Police Sup't. A. E. Perkins: "I resolve to help make the highway safe, not only on New Year's but all year around."

Public Instruction Sup't. D. P. Engstrom: "I resolve from this date to give the schools better service in the state in the way of courses of study and supervision, particularly. I think that possibly we can become a little better united by so doing and that we can bring to them more and better programs for each local school district."

Actress Keeps Trained Pigeon for Pet

Mrs. Paulita de Sutter, Ketchum, now living in Twin Falls, points a finger at one of her trained carrier pigeons that she keeps for a pet. Mrs. de Sutter used pigeons and other birds in her dancing act. She is a former dancer who is currently living in Twin Falls and working on an autobiography. (Staff photo-entourage)

Ketchum Resident Spending Winter in Twin Falls to Work on Autobiography

Paulita de Sutter, long-time resident of Ketchum, a pioneer of the Sun Valley resort area, and an annual entrant in Wood River Valley winter races, is currently working her home in Twin Falls. She intends to live in Twin Falls until spring and work on her autobiography and several scenarios.

She was in an auto accident last year and says the warmer weather in Twin Falls and Marie Valley agrees with her better than the harsh winters at Ketchum.

Mrs. de Sutter was born in Switzerland and moved to the United States in 1928. She has lived in the Ketchum area since 1929. Mrs. de Sutter worked most of her life as a singer and dancer in practically every country of the world. Her experiences as a singer and dancer would provide the bulk of her autobiography.

She has been working on the book most of her life and has been dancing since she was 17. She has been produced yet, but she hopes that after she gets them translated they will be marketable. So far only one of the 250 scenarios have been translated into English by a translator. She expects to take at least a year for the translator to finish her autobiography. After she finishes her work she says she might move to Switzerland or Italy.

The book might be some kind of a record for autobiographies. It contains 275 chapters. The manuscript completely fills one suitcase.

The autobiography is novel in another way, each chapter is a story in itself and can be used as a separate play or story, according to Mrs. de Sutter. The name of the book is "Youth Experiences."

Mrs. de Sutter says writing is quite a complicated process for her. Her native language is German. She writes all her stories in German and they must be translated into English by a translator. This can be expensive. She notes translators charge about three cents per word by the time they get through 275 chapters she expects a good bill from the translators.

After she finishes the autobiography and rewriting all the scenarios she must then find an agent to market her stories.

She has written more than 250 film scenarios since 1928. None has been produced yet, but she hopes that after she gets them translated they will be marketable. So far only one of the 250 scenarios have been translated into English by a translator. She expects to take at least a year for the translator to finish her autobiography. After she finishes her work she says she might move to Switzerland or Italy.

wood. She feels her stories would surely sell in Europe. But she would have to go there to make the sale.

Mrs. de Sutter stresses that the stories would be a welcome relief to the "boredom" of brilliant and violence found in so many television plays and motion pictures.

"There are no stories where the shooting comes in," she says. "They are stories with love."

In addition to her scenarios and autobiography, Mrs. de Sutter also has written poems.

Speaking of her career as a dancer and singer, Mrs. de Sutter says she danced and sang in many countries. She notes she never achieved any degree of popularity in the United States, but enjoyed a considerable popularity in both Switzerland and Australia; where she worked for over four years.

She explains her dancing act included a variety of animals and birds. She always had pigeons in her act, parrots or other parakeets, and a small dog.

In 1938 she has lived in the Ketchum-Sun Valley area. She operated the first gift store next door to the Sun Valley postoffice and later operated a skating and skating rink.

She has appeared in 21 plays in the Ketchum and Boise area. She has frequently taken prize in the various costume

YOU-AND COLOR

Color preferences are as varied as the human personality—and as unpredictable. We are all affected differently and whether we are consciously aware of it or not, we respond emotionally to it. Our response differs according to our conditioning and its many factors.

One individual, for instance, will find red in his many manifestations a stimulating and invigorating color, while another may regard it as being tense and energizing. Others, that irritate you, may give a feeling of serenity and reassurance; while others will find it a depressing color.

When choosing the colors to be used in your home, key your color scheme to your personality. Let your own response—your likes and dislikes—guide your selection. Never surround yourself with colors that irritate you, regardless of how fashionable they may be at the moment.

A background of muted colors gives the room sketched above an atmosphere of serenity. For blue walls are warmed by a citron-yellow rug—draperies and ceiling—yellow sections and the largest piece in the room, is also of citron yellow. Curious blue chair and light brown tones of walnut table give a pronounced color—accent—light—accent—accent and distinction may be removed as a process dictated.

Would you like some professional assistance in your color scheme? Come in and let us help you make it a true expression of your own personality? Cottontail Rabbits Have Been Mark of Gunners of All Ages for Generations

By JIM HUMBIRD
Idaho Fish and Game Department

Sometimes the game population again, leastwise in spirit, and once more venture down the path of the North American great-eyes game animal—that venerable standby of millions of gunners and all-ages for generations, that venerable trademark of the outdoors—the mighty cottontail rabbit.

It is more than the jerky moose, the little rabbit with the bobbing pendulous ears, that has been taken more hunting pressure than any other game species, whether mammal or bird, not only from man, but also from predatory animals and raptorial birds alike, the foxes, owls, dogs, skunks, badgers, hawks, coyotes, weasels, crows, wild cats, hawks, snakes, house cats, and man.

Total 18 High

No one knows how many many cottontails are shot each year, but the total runs into high digit figures. Idaho hunter questionnaires report an average season's harvest in excess of 85,000, while Missouri wildlife biologists believe that six million were taken in that state alone during the 1953 season, leaving perhaps 10 million rabbits to begin the new breeding year.

That's the big reason for the cottontail's popularity—the thrives in nearly all cultivated and wild areas, and he's available in numbers to everyone. He's here, here, fun to hunt and he has no peer in a hot skillet.

Yet this species of rabbit is found nowhere in the world except the North American continent.

Cottontails Most Numerous

In Idaho the cottontail is most numerous in southern regions along the Snake river plains, in brushy draws, stream courses, woodland borders, farmland hedges and even sagebrush areas.

One of the oldest tools in game management is stocking, but this always costly, often useless method failed to establish good populations of cottontail rabbits by transplanting a mid-western species in north Idaho a number of years ago. Other states also tried with success. Pennsylvania's rabbit stocking program was scrapped when it was found that only about four per cent of released animals were ever shot, and that even when cottontails were put out "before the gun" only 25 per cent were bagged.

Rabbit: Costs $2.50

Stocking was never transplanted rabbit that was bagged or survived to breed cost $2.50, according to the New York Fish and Game Journal. That isn't surprising because stocking of most species of animals usually involves a lot more putting than taking.

The answer seems to be that if a particular environment or habitat would support wildlife by meeting the needs of the game population probably never would have dwindled in the first place. About the only time that rabbit transplanting serves a useful purpose is when a "beagle club" wants to stock an area heavily for above the normal carrying capacity of the land—just prior to a week-end field trial.

Land-Capacity Bowled

Idaho game management personnel have found that the best way to increase the population of any animal species is to boost the wildlife carrying capacity of the land, which generally means improving both food and cover. And the cottontail is the most easily managed game species simply because it requires such a small range.

Depending on quality of food and cover, this delectable little animal may use less than an acre for all his life needs. Giving odd scraps of marginal land planted in strips, blocks and patches, the rabbits will do the rest.

In addition to the cottontail, Idaho has a similarly plucky species which has a buff-colored tail and the little rock rabbit or sika, which lives high in the mountains, winter months, and looks like a er's catching "rabbit fever" or tularemia are exceedingly remote at any time during the season, wildlife biologists say that in northern states there is little danger when hunting during cold weather. Winter drives disease-bearing ticks into hibernation, and the main source of infection is dormant until the blood-sucking mite-like organisms reappear in the spring.

Safeguards Listed

Even so, there are several safeguards against rabbit fever, none being as ironclad guaranteed against the disease but, in the aggregate, offering a sound measure of protection.

They are: hunt rabbits after the coming of frost; wear shoes when there's a good chance that any sick ones have died.

If a rabbit shows no natural warning of alertness and no strong inclination to run, don't bag him. Sick rabbits often are sluggish and "stare."

Always wear rubber gloves when dressing rabbits, even in winter. Avoid getting blood on the hands in the field.

After removing rubber gloves, wash hands well with strong soap and hot water. If available, sterilize all cuts, scratches and
