Frade Groups Meet Tuesday To Plan Help

PARIS, Jan. 9 (UPI)—The big trading partners of the Western world are meeting Tuesday night to plan help for their economic quarrels and find new ways to channel aid to back their trade.

The meeting was called by the Western bloc, led by the United States, France, West Germany and Great Britain.

The meeting was the first since the Paris summit after their recent meeting in Paris. The meeting marks the beginning of the Western bloc's participation in European economic planning.

Discussion and negotiation, however, is whether the United States is ready to the West by trying to come up with a new economic planning body.

The decision to seek new economic talks was announced by the U. S. Under Secretary of State, C. Douglas Dillon, after he had met in Paris with his European counterparts in the new talks.

On his tour Dillon was reported to have said that the Western bloc must take a more active role in European economic affairs to make sure that the United States is not being taken advantage of.

The United States is anxious to keep open an economic dialogue with the European trade groups. It would like to see that neither bloc set up barriers for trade with outsiders.

T. F. Man Warns Wage, Price Spiral Will Bring Depression

Editor, Times-News:—Where do we go from here? Prices and taxes are going up and up. Labor wants and gets more. Including steel workers, carpenters and all other labor.

The "wage" "spiral" are out of control. Well, they wanted more and more, so the mining companies just more to the south to get more. They could not pay the higher wage.

The grocery man raised his prices, built grand big stores or drive-in markets. Auto prices went up and up. So, what did the unions get? Nothing at all.

—cost me $25,000 to learn my job now some of the common "b" buyers get more than I could care. He does not need even an eighth grade education to do his job. This kind of money is worth it. I worked for $50 a month to get to school so I could learn my profession and eight years of schooling to do so. We had to go to the upward spiral somewhere or we will all be broke and as sure as we live

There will be a depression. I have been three of these in 1920, 1930, 1940, 1950, 1960. Don't "f" me, do you?

There is too much of the attitude that should be done. People don't take time to go to the polls and vote. They don't vote to represent them. Yet they sit around ruminating about the people that get put in public office. They don't vote, how can they expect them to know what they want?

If people would sit down and write their congressmen and senators, then they would know what they are thinking and what they want to do.

The unions and big companies get some people to talk to them. They know what those groups want.

"The unions have gone unheeded," I am talking to the editor. If we don't put a stop to price and wage rises, we sure will have another depression.

Area Man Reports Evidence Of Note on "Shady Business"

Editor, Times-News:—Some weeks ago I wrote the Public Forum commenting on the activities of federal agents in the search for shady advertising and gyp business dealers in the city after my last article appeared I received a telephone call from a man in Burley who requested to identify himself other than to say he was a businessman in that city.

He told me I didn't know what I was talking about. If he sees this letter, I suggest that he get the December issue of Red Book magazine and read the article, "Additives and Goggles" Vol. 1, No. 1, "Doesn't need."

WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON (NEA)—One of the great challenges of the 1960s for the United States is the further reduction of poverty...

These broad categories suggest the lines that it is not just a problem of raising wages...

These three must be increased: education, created opportunity for minority groups, equal wages for women...

Most important of all: There must be full employment, for joblessness is synonymous with poverty...

But to alleviate further the curse of poverty for those who do not come under the social security system, there remains the big public assistance program...

As for the future, the first step in reducing poverty is to find out where and who the poor are...

The chances are that the despotic 'rock n' rollers' who'd vote for Spahn or Williams; and the fan clubbers who'd vote for Monroe or Hudson...

Carl Berg was elected president of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce board of directors at the luncheon meeting Friday noon at the Rogerson hotel Desert room.

William Koch was elected first vice president and Jack Threlkeld, second vice president.

Board members discussed possibilities of a junior college in Twin Falls. William Koch, Chamber of Commerce secretary and manager, led the discussion. He said he has received numerous inquiries by individuals in Twin Falls as to what can and will be done about getting a junior college here.

Orange discussed the subject with Robert Stephen and Harold Hove Tuesday, and it was suggested the board meet with some of the industrial persons in Twin Falls to discuss it further, and act accordingly.

Orange asked the board to consider the advantages and disadvantages of a junior college here and pointed out it could be financed by state and federal money.

Koch, Self Manufacturing company, Inc., said it is a problem for the company to find trained mechanics, welders and other trained technicians.

Orange also mentioned that an auditorium in Twin Falls would be used more often by a junior college here.

A great many factors go into the choice of a particular dress or blouse by the average woman. A fabric design is one of the most important. When you choose a dress or blouse, remember that the fabric is what counts because you like the striking design in the fabric, be sure to consider whether or not it will wear well, clean well, and generally prove serviceable.
A design which is woven into the fabric is usually more serviceable than one which is affixed to it by pressure or emulsion. Pressure application can damage the fibers of the yarn around the edges of the design, creating a weakness that might cause trouble later. Adhesive or embossed designs will sometimes wear out quickly or will be affected by cleaning.
A blouse or a lovely dress may be so appealing that its beauty will tempt you to buy it without regard to its serviceability. If it gives pleasure it may still be worth buying.
Extra care in the handling and cleaning of every garment is part of our normal service. Bring us your delicate and better clothes. If it can be cleaned, we can clean it... with CARE! Free pick up and delivery.

'Leadership' Contest Open To All Youths

More than 1,900 elite judges throughout the nation will sponsor this year's competition in the 10th annual Elk's National Youth Leadership contest which is opening now, according to Robert Wallace, exalted ruler of the Twin Falls lodge.
The contest gives recognition to boys and girls who have demonstrated marked leadership ability of the right-kind in school activities, youth organizations, church and community affairs.
"We want to encourage these boys and girls and others like them to develop to the fullest, their leadership ability," Wallace said. "The purpose of this contest is to seek out today's talented boys and girls and to encourage them to prepare themselves now for future leadership," he added.
Wallace emphasizes that the youth leadership contest is not a scholarship competition. Besides leadership ability, judges will consider the contestant's citizenship, appreciation, perseverance, responsibility and sense of humor.
All boys and girls 10 years of age and under are eligible to enter the contest. They will compete in separate divisions in local, state and national contests. Local, state and national winners will receive awards.
National awards, identical for boys and girls, include a $1,000 savings bond for first place; $500 savings bond, second, and $300 for third. National winners also will receive a trip to Dallas, Tex., in July to appear at the 50th national convention.
John Zeinen, in charge of the local contest, said entry forms have been distributed to principals of various schools. Stocks Make New Record In Past Week

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (UPI)—General stocks set a new record high on Jan. 5 and then ran into selling which left them lower on the week. Railroad issues made a substantial gain.

The market's action reflected a reaction to the steel wage dispute which was regarded as inflationary and the President's message which was regarded as deflationary.

In addition to this set of contradictions, the financial district looked for a series of higher money rates after leading banks raised their charge on loans to brokers backed by market collateral. That too was a contradictory move.

By the time the President's message was deflationary. In deflation money rates would rise.

Anyway, there was confusion, and the market operators appeared to expect things being decided by clarification of the situation. They did a fairly large volume of business and the day's trading leader tone was apparent in the general list.

Trading increased over recent sessions with the total for the week at 18,627,088 shares, a daily average of 4,050,478 shares, the best since the week ending Dec. 4, when volume was 18,633,278 shares and daily sales averaged 4,200,075 shares. A year ago, volume was 20,277,048 shares or a daily average of 4,537 shares.

At the close of the week, the Dow-Jones industrial average stood at 671.73 off 2.83 from the previous week which marked the last session of 1949. At the week's high, set on Tuesday, the average closed at 685.74, a new record. It set a record intra-day high at 682.10 on Wednesday but fell to 671.73 at the close of the week.

The rail average closed the week at 118.10, a rise of 0.14, and 65 stocks 21.82, up 0.31.

A C. Penny and General Time split their stocks. Dividend increases were fewer in line with the usual procedure. The market generally looked for highly promising dividend actions in 1950. That firm looks for a rise in the price of a new top in corporate profits, providing a proper background for further boosts in aggregate dividend payments.

Except for the Tuesday session when the industrial average rose more than six points, the market paid little attention to many favorable items in the business news. Automobile output set a new three-year high. Steel operations were around their best history. Electricity output rose a small amount on the week and was nearly nine per cent higher than a year ago. Crude oil output held steady. Coal output rose sharply. Car loadings gained. Food prices declined.

Dun and Bradstreet reported that January clearance sales stimulated consumer buying during the week and lifted retail trade four to eight per cent above the level of 1949.

Manufacturers' inventories held steady in November after a series of declines. Inventories declined a drop in retail durable goods supplies. Inventories of 12 million dollars in November, the smallest advance since March. But it set a new top for the business news. Lack of cars because of the steel strike showed up the rise rate. The million dollar bond market held up. It helped bonds and most of the leading group of corporate issues showed small gains. The 4 1/2 per cent U. S. government, also improved.

The electronics issue bore the brunt of the decline with losses ranging to 22 points in Texas Instruments. Collins rose 6 1/2 points. Motorola 7 1/2 and Ampex 4 1/2 points.

American led the autos with a gain of 9 1/2 points. Ford eased while the others registered small gains. Most Trucks rose nearly three. In the 34 Texas Oil producing gained 3 1/2 while Shell Oil lost 1/2. Steel showed little change. The leaders, Armco lost 1/2. Copers ruled higher with Xerox up nearly four on the week. It was an early settlement of copper labor troubles. Aluminums eased with steel lack in full production for the 31-day month of December.

Railroad issues closed the week with net gains running to more than two points in Baltimore and Ohio. PFT scored a small gain in the chemicals. Moostanto lost 4 1/2 points. Polaroid fell 8 1/2 and Eastman 2 1/2 in the chemicals. Kinross Mining was down 10 1/2 in the specials. Carter Products lost 7 1/2 in the drugs.

Hupp led in volume with sales of 86,600 shares and rose 2 1/2 points. Foster-Winney advanced 2 1/2 points. American Motors and General Motors were in third and fourth places respectively following the new Mack Bikes which rose 6 1/2 points.

U.S. Business Catapulted Full Speed Ahead by Steel Pacts

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (UPI)—The U.S. business was catapulted full speed into the anticipated boom of 1950 by the steel pact.

The agreement burst with surprising swiftness from a stubborn deadlock that had given no indication of a quick break.

The business week, eager to get about the pleasant task of trying to make lavish 1950 predictions, had true, had been straining at the lead imposed by the uncertainty of the steel dispute.

Industrial leaders greeted the pact with almost unanimous expressions of belief that it assured a year of unparalleled prosperity in 1950.

Some tempered their enthusiasm with sober warnings that the new agreement was inflationary and will surely bring higher prices.

The steel pact, they said, would be a boon to the nation but there would be no gain for the time being.

Some forecasters of cotton fabric for automobile interiors responded to the settlement by raising prices for second quarter shipments of carpet industry leader said the settlement makes higher carpet prices.

With worries about steel supplies ended, the automobile industry set to build 700,000 cars this month.

—record. Operations are humming on a double shift, six-day basis. Estimated output this week was 162,000.

The appliance industry, equally optimistic, forecast a 10 to 15 million major home appliance units this year, a gain of 275 million dollars over last year's 1949 output.

Steel production this week was estimated at 2,700,000 tons, down 100,000 tons from the week ending above the 2085,000 a year ago.

Sales on the New York Stock Exchange were 10,000,000 shares, 080 shares compared with 13,242,800 the previous week and 20,877,001 a year ago. Total volume was $32,808,000 per value compared with $31,140,000 the previous week and $40,840,000 a year ago.

With all the talk about prices likely to go up, there was some concern for consumers.

Wholesale food prices dipped to the lowest level since Nov. 18, 1949. Dan and Bradstreet's food index stood at $270.70, 10 1/2 points above what you would pay at wholesale for one pound each of 21 foods in general use. Last week it was $274.4 a year ago $274.

Burger of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company, the country's largest food store chain, said food prices should remain stable in 1950.

People came out of the holidays with a desire to spend. Retail sales spurred by traditional early-January clearance sales, posted gains

Most Futures Prices Jump During Week

CHICAGO, Jan. 9 (UPI)—Wheat grain futures prices advanced this week on the Chicago board.

Compared with last week, wheat prices are up one cent, corn up one cent, soybeans up 1/2 cent and up 1/2 cent.

In wheat, the March contract remained steady, but other months advanced about a cent. India purchased a total of 8,500,000 bushels of hard wheat during the week. But time in futures was slow. Commercial interests were small buyers of wheat. The cash market closed at 2 1/2 cents.

Cash houses were on both sides of the market, a firm cash basis inspired some buying of corn. Trade was slow. Receipts improved over last week but were still light. Some corn gained a cent.

May oats failed to advance with the March contract. Oats were 1 1/2 cents higher. Rice advanced sharply yesterday as short covering and spot loss buying closed. The market lost its selling interest in the week. Local prices continued to follow the trend of the Chicago trade.

Soybeans traced an irregular path, ending early in the week. Ralston, Wednesday, falling and then moving sharply upward yesterday. Prices in nearby followed the course of the meal market. Nearby meal prices reached new highs for the season at this week's close. Spot beans advanced 1/2 cent.

Higher oil and hog prices gave support to drummed lead futures. Fat hogs and the United Arab Republic bought wheat.

Judgment Given

A motion for summary judgment for the amount of $424.65 was granted by District Judge Theron W. Ward Friday in favor of Ralston Purina Company against Feed and Supply Center, Inc., 331 Fifth street south, and William B. Whiteley.

The amount allowed by Judge Ward is the balance owing on a note for $100,000, issued by Feed and Supply Center, Inc., and William B. Whiteley to Ralston Purina company.

Hollander Says Vows in Church With Joyce Kail

Nuptial vows were recited by Joyce Kail and Vincent Jerome Hollander, Jr., in an 8 o'clock candlelight ceremony Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's father, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Kail, and the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent J. Hollander, Des Moines, Ia.

The rites were solemnized at the Presbyterian church by the Rev. Woodrow Woolley in a setting of urns and a sunburst arrangement of large white chrysanthemums centered with large satin bows in an arch of candelabra in the background. Tall candelabra with white tapers marked the aisles of the church.

Mrs. Charles Allen was organist, Joy-Anne Lang "Recitator" and "The Lord's Prayer."

For the double ring ceremony, the bride wore a gown of tulle with Chantilly lace bodice and traditional long sleeves. A panel of lace encircled the front and back of the bell-shaped skirt that ended in a ruffled train. Her train was finished with lace and medallions on the skirt were embroidered with intricate designs.

A train of pearls and sequins held her waist-length veil or net which she carried over her shoulder. Her bouquet of white feathered carnations centered with white calla lilies and white ranunculus, white and white satin streamers. Her jewelry was a single strand of pearls and a diamond brooch. She was given in marriage by her father.

Lighting the tapers were Loraine Potter and Sally Lorraine in red velvet dresses.

Maid of honor was her sister, Diane Kail. In red-embroidered tulle she wore a dress of white and white satin. Her bridesmaids were Nadine Kail, Nancy Taylor, Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority sister of the bride or groom. All three carried white tulle muffs covered with large sequins and decorated with white and red rhinestone accents and wore red bandeaux to match their dresses.

N.Y. Designers Willusher New Decade of Style

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—New York designers prepared Saturday to usher in a new decade of astronomical fashions for women of the space age.

As more than 200 fashion editors from all sections of the country converged on the city for the 24th National Press Week showings of the New York couturier group, the word was out that America will set the fashion pace of the new decade in clothes for women of the world.

The new spring collections which will be unveiled Monday have more than seasonal significance. They establish a new tempo, a new way of dressing for new way of life.

Women who jet casually to London for lunch and Paris for dinner will find six hours in any dress capital in the classic, timeless but ultra-modern fashions of America.

Designers have concentrated on lightweight, easy-care fabrics in all climates—all occasion, year-round outfits to suit the needs of globe-trotting women who may in this decade take jaunts into outer space. Whether or not moon vacations become routine in the next 10 years, the new All-American costumes have a restful or new variations in their clean lines, their easy adaptability, their air of no boundaries.

Specifically the 1960 silhouette has width at the top, achieved by a variety of new sleeve treatments. Skirts for daytime wear are usually slender, often tapered toward the hemline, short enough to be modern, long enough to cover to knee-cap. Suit jackets are longer, but feature a cinched waistline and the brief boxy jacket are still available for women who love their casual ease. The dress-and-jacket costume remains an essential part of every woman's wardrobe and its use can be seen in a variety of styles and degrees of formality.

The whole world is geared for travel in the new era, and New York designers have keyed their fashions accordingly. Packability, light-weight, slenderness, and versatility are the criteria of the successful new clothes, right for wear in the office, at home or abroad. Fabrics have never been more beautiful or more functional. Woolens are as light as silk, cottons and synthetic blends appear for all occasions, and knowing good fabric is a must throughout.

These are not extreme or pedigreed fashions, to be worn as a season's affect. They are clothes for a new philosophy of dressing, planned for a world-round wardrobe, to see a woman move smoothly through any occasion in any locale.

Man Finds 'Relaxation' In Driving School Bus

Earl Crouse, Filtr, who has been driving a school bus more than 20 years, likes the work because it lets him out of the routine walls of a building and keeps him in contact with school children. Crouse says he has never met a child he didn't like and he says driving a school bus is a prime requirement for more than 20 years he has arisen early, picked up children on the somewhat lonely and cold country roads, delivered them to school in the morning and then retraced the route in the late afternoon. This is a long time to drive a school bus.

Polish Exchange Student Returns Home After Nearly Year in Idaho

Stanislaw Rostropowicz, a Polish exchange student, has completed nearly one year of study of Idaho potato farming methods and has returned to his home in Poland with the information.

She came to the United States and Idaho on a exchange scholarship sponsored by the Church of the Brethren. The information was given to her shortly after she arrived in Magic Valley.

Since then she has traveled a good deal throughout the state and learned much about potato farming operations.

Miss Rostropowicz is on her way to the eastern seaboard, she left Twin Falls Jan. 3. She will go to Beltsville, Md., the experimental center for the department of agriculture, and study the methods of agriculture. Later, she will spend time at Cornell university and observe agricultural methods taught there.

When Miss Rostropowicz first came to Idaho, she worked at the poultry plant in Twin Falls to finance her stay here. In July she went to the branch experiment station of the University of Idaho at Aberdeen. There she worked and started until she returned in mid-September. She worked for the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Klein and family in Twin Falls. The Rev. Mr. Klein is pastor of the Church of the Brethren in Twin Falls.

She worked mostly in the laboratory at Aberdeen, with Eugene Paulson and Dr. James Guthrie, plant pathologist. Miss Rostropowicz notes most of her work dealt with the control of nematodes in potato plants and with the control of early blight.

She also learned a great deal of experience with nematodes was limited because that was the province of another department, and so she learned a great deal while working at the station. She is looking forward to returning to Poland later in the spring and comparing notes with her fellow workers.

Miss Rostropowicz notes facilities at Aberdeen are excellent and she enjoyed her work there. One of her major responsibilities at Aberdeen was to harvest a good portion of the experimental potatoes raised at the station.

Much of her work at the station dealt with identification of fungus. A.I. of her work in micro-biology will be valuable in her work in Poland.

Poland she is employed by the government as a research officer. She has been working on the program which enabled her to come to the United States is sponsored by the Church of the Brethren, with the cooperation of the Polish government. Total expenses are not paid, so students must work while they are here.

The Polish government pays transportation to and from the United States. The Church of the Brethren operates an orientation center in Maryland and assigns the students to various parts of the country from there. Then the local church aids the student in finding lodging and a job to support while here.

Kenson Pollard, Jaycee president, noted that nominations for award winners for the distinguished service award are received from anyone who has a good suggestion for a potential winner. He can take nominations and pass them on to the selection committee.

Membership of the selection committee is anonymous. The committee meets during the weeks prior to the award and judges the candidates based on their contributions to the community in the past year. The winner can be any citizen of Twin Falls county who has contributed to Twin Falls community affairs.

The award winners are given a plaque and an award key signifying their contribution to the city. Winners of the Twin Falls distinguished service awards also are eligible for state competition at the late convention of the Idaho Jaycees here May 13 and 14.

Kutka points out that the National Jaycees have awards similar to the local awards. Each year the 10 most outstanding men of the nation are honored. It is not necessary to have an award winner in city or state competition to be eligible for the national award.

Two men from Idaho have received national awards—Gen. Frank Church and Jack Simpson.

This is the second year the outstanding young farmer award has been given in conjunction with the other Jaycee awards. Last year the award went to Roger Vincent, Filtr.

James Maynard, chairman of the outstanding young farmer award committee, advised nominations for this award can be made by anyone. Nominations will be taken by Maynard or Pollard until Jan. 20. The candidate must be between 21 and 35 years of age and live in Twin Falls county east of Filtr. Maynard explains the award was set up to honor a young farmer who has a similar award.

Stanislaw Rostropowicz, foreign exchange student from Poland, shows the Rev. Robert Klein, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, a Polish folk art book on "Folk Art in Poland" she recently presented the church. Miss Rostropowicz spent nearly a year in Idaho studying methods of potato horticulture. She was sponsored in this country by the Church of the Brethren. (Staff photo-Engraving)

Teletype Machines Play Important Role in Valley

Most people know that a Teletype machine is the machine that transmits the most of news about a busy world, but fewer realize the role the machine plays in expanding the markets of Magic Valley.

Since the first Teletype here for business communication purposes was installed in the Nording-Parris company in 1940, the number of Teletype units has grown rapidly. Now some 43 points in the Twin Falls-Burley area are equipped with either private Teletype or Teletype-writer exchanges as they are termed by the telegraph company, TWX units.

It is now possible for any grain or seed merchant to obtain any other TWX-equipped here.

These Teletype facilities fall into two types—private line networks and TWX senders and receivers. The private line networks are established between a group of people who are doing business among themselves—either news wires or truck or bus companies.

The TWX is usually a sending and receiving apparatus—although it can perform just one of the functions. The TWX operates in basically the same way in which telephone operates—only a written message is transmitted instead of a vocal message. This has its advantages for it provides little chance for misunderstanding and at the same time offers a written record in case the businessman wants to refer to an order form.

More than 5,000 Tons of Beet Pulp Hauled in Week; Steers Line up for It at Sugar Plant

These whiteface steers at the Amalgamated Sugar company feedlot in Twin Falls are fed heavy with wet beet pulp, dried molasses and alfalfa in addition to other rations. More than 5,000 head of steers are in the 17 pens. Some are sold each month of the year, and then replaced with other top quality steers. The beet pulp and molasses supply in addition to other rations.

Last week, area farmers hauled away more than 5,000 tons of wet pulp from this pit on the Amalgamated Sugar company grounds south of Twin Falls. Since the pulp has a high content of water at this time of the year, the price has been lowered. Later in the season, as the moisture content drops, the price per ton increases accordingly. The value of this beet by-product as a feed for livestock varies according to the feeding program, but it has saved many feeders from buying costly feeds and stretched out the use of their hay. Testing Program Designed to Benefit Hog Producers, Local Packing Plant

To help permanent hog producers improve feed and breeding programs, the Independent Meat Packers Association, Twin Falls, shares a testing program with producers for the mutual benefit of both. The ultimate aim of the program is to get No. 1 grade hogs into the slaughterhouse on the company can sell better cuts of pork for the consumer. At the same time, the hog farmer can stop working in the dark and know which boar or sow is providing litters that grow out into the best quality meat. Hogs, like milk cows or other animals, are always tested to convert to the average breed type. In the case of swine, this may be either back fat or long and thin. Until some animals from the litter are tested, the farmer may not know the quality of the litter. Periodically, Florence J. Gies, manager of the meat plant, will check carcasses of hogs or pigs to the company and discuss the findings with the farmer. Standards by which the test is made is the No. 1 grade as specified by official United States standards. No. 1 hogs, and gilt carcasses are heavier, yield more lean cuts than fat cuts and have good hams and long smooth bellies. Other grades are Nos. 2, 3, medium and cull.

2 Artificial Insemination Companies Are Merging

Two artificial insemination companies, one well-known in Idaho, are being merged to pay for the result will be absolute cooperation for both to the use of liquid nitrogen and frozen semen. The companies are Blueview Insemination service, whose headquarters are in New Plymouth, and Jersey's Artificial Insemination service, Aris, Calif. The merger will service more cows artificially than any other inseminating outfit in the West, according to Kent Gist, supervisor for Blueview, who visited in Twin Falls last week. One of the inseminating companies will still carry the name of Blueview and in California it will be known as Jersey's. Gist also said that the merger is designed to develop a more comprehensive inseminating program and also to move into the frozen semen field, which is very expensive. Gist said that the merger will now have Burke breeding to offer egg, poultry and hog feeds.

Feed Marts Are Mixed in Week

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (UPI)—The agricultural department reported that feed markets were mixed for the week ending Dec. 23 with gains slightly offsetting losses. Prices averaged 26 cents per bushel higher than in the previous week. Dairy and cattle feeds remained the best movers among formulas. Feed costs, mainly because of higher feeding value, showed movement of egg, poultry and hog feeds.

West's Packers After Congress Aid on Grading

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (UPI)—Speakers for western meat packers have asked congress for help in their battle against agriculture department plans to increase federal grading of lamb. The western packers said an end-of-the-year report by the National Live Stock and Animal Industry Association, made available in a letter to Sen. George V. Voinovich, R., Ohio, said that the loss of nearly 40 million pounds of lamb meat by packers fighting an order issued Dec. 4 by Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson suspending federal lamb and mutton grading for one year would cost the industry $10 million. —Fortis said big meat packers have been trying for years to destroy federal grading of meat. He said the major packers felt this would help them destroy small units of packers who use the federal grades in promoting their products.

Reduced Eggs to Resume To Bolster Price

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (UPI)—Government scientists announced that the contamination by insecticides is being reduced rapidly. As a result, the egg milk industry leaders said that in most cases where insecticide residues were found in milk, they were too small to be a health danger. A government report said that the residues were found in a small percentage of milk samples in 11 major cities.

Teletype Machines Playing Important Role in Expanding Magic Valley Mart

Private conversation can always be followed up with a mailed verification of the order—something that is too late, or too slow for modern, fast business methods. The private network is exactly what it sounds like—a private but frequent—and only the business uses that wire for its own use. Whereas the TWX cost is based on the amount of time the machine is used, the private line teletype network in the Magic Valley is contracted for an amount of time in Twin Falls, Burley, Jerome and Rupert. A number of these lines are being used by the United Press International news service to area newspapers, radio and television stations. The teletype network can be used for confirming reservations, determining load capacities, arranging for replacements in case of breakdowns, arranging schedules and trading-out parcels and goods.
