It's Time to Order Trees, Agent Notes

RUPERT, Jan. 23—W. C. Priest, Minkola county agent, advised farmers that now is the time to order windbreak plantings for spring planting.

Ordering agents are available at the county agent's office with shipment due about May 15 to explain the various types of tree plantings adaptable to southern Idaho farms as good windbreaks, shade trees and livestock feedlots. Shelter lots can provide pods, poles, fuel and even saw logs.

Plantings can furnish Christmas trees, improve wildlife habitat, control erosion and prevent erosion of the soil.

Improvements noted: Priest noted that the reason for planting the shrubs or trees to improve the appearance of the property is a very important factor. An estimated value of $400 to $1000 has been placed on good windbreaks by farmers who have them.

Shelter belts are of special value in preventing soil blowing, thus eliminating relief and preventing soil from blowing along fences and roads, he stated.

Two suggestions for farm plantings: One type for farm plantings is the boxwood and red cedar.

These two are fast growing plants and will do well on irrigated lands. Cedars are also good for all types of windbreak plantings.

Poison Available: Other information, Priest reminded farmers that is a good idea to poison jackrabbits. Poison bait is available at his office and he is willing to help in connection with the use of antibiotics in treating mastitis in cattle, the county agent said.

There are several things a milk producer can do to prevent these infections from getting into the milk. First importance is to use them correctly and only when they are really needed. He pointed out that the use of some of these medicines can actually be detrimental to the health of a particular condition and may actually spread the condition.

Use Should Be Checked: Nearly all of these substances, he said, are for use on specific infections and should be carefully checked by a veterinarian.

He went on to remind farmers they should not save any milk for at least 72 hours or six milkings. He said there is enough penicillin material in milk from one treated quarter to be mixed with the milk from six other cows and still be up in a test-for-penicillin after 10 normal milkings following treatment.

Priest says great care should be taken to see that milk should not be contaminated by mixing even small quantities from a treated cow.

Doctor Van Wieren Will Head Second District Blood Group

JEROME, Jan. 22—Dr. Harvey Van Wieren, Twin Falls, was elected president of the second district Red Cross regional blood council at an annual meeting Friday afternoon at the Magic Valley cafe.

Mrs. Leslie Robertson was elected vice president and Mrs. Elmer R. Parrott, Filer, secretary. Mrs. Parrott conducted the business meeting.

Dr. E. F. Sestero, Boise, director of the Boise regional blood center, spoke on reciprocity. Dr. Sestero stated when the blood center started 11 years ago there were no reciprocity agreements; now there are two systems, one through the Red Cross and the other through non-member banks, which are handled through clearing houses.

He told the group requests for components are sent from the chapter to the Boise center which contacts the receiving center to Washington, D.C., where all the central exchange information. The central exchange in Washington, D.C., where all the bookkeeping is handled.

Dr. Sestero stated that reciprocity in the Pacific area is 10 times more advanced than in the East coast. San Francisco is the headquarters for this area.

Last year there were 945 replacements, 1/20th of all the blood collected for the year.

Dr. Sestero also spoke on heart surgery in this operation. There are more than 16 hours old, must be used. The first method used for heart operation was to find out how many platelets were in the blood, temperature 10 degrees below normal, which gave a period of eight minutes to perform surgery.

The second system involved a

Receipts for Postoffice in Burley High

BURLEY, Jan. 23—Postal receipts in the Burley postoffice in 1959, second and third class mail, increased 6.6 per cent during the calendar year 1959. Postmaster included as receipts to revenue from the sale of stamps, postage stamps, and postage stamps with postal cards, parcel post multilines, second and third class multilines and box rentals. Not included in money received for money orders, sale of internal revenue stamps, U. S. savings stamps and miniature bird stamps.

Because of the increase in postage rates effective Aug. 1, 1959, the actual receipts are discounted 10 per cent for the purpose of determining the classification of the postoffice. Adjusted net receipts were $101,368. This is the first year the Burley postoffice has passed the revenue mark.

During the Christmas season the postoffice had an increase of approximately 24 per cent in the volume of letter mail and parcel post over the volume handled for the same period in 1958.

From Dec. 1 through 24, approximately 30,000 pieces of letter mail, including Christmas cards, were dispatched compared with 20,000 pieces mailed during that period the previous year. There were 1,600 sacks of parcel post sent out from the Burley postoffice between Dec. 1 and 25, 1959.

Patron cooperation in mailing, separating local and out-of-town mail, and properly wrapping and addressing parcels and letters for mailing, was helpful and appreciated.

Postmaster Lammers said.

Multi-Million Dollar Titan Missile Base System Planned for Mountain Home Area

The upper left drawing shows the underground complex as it will look when completed. Only a few parts of the Titan base will be visible above the ground. In the middle picture the vertical test facility is shown. The Titan missile is run through a series of exhaustive tests to prove readiness to go. Thirteen stories high and driven by a force comparable to that of 12,500 average cars, Titan is capable of hurling a nuclear warhead over 6,500 miles. The upper right drawing shows on a scale map where the bases will be located around Mountain Home's air force base. One of the three bases, Complex A, will be located directly west of Twin Falls in Owyhee county. The three complexes will surround the Mountain Home air force base and, according to officials of the Martin company who were in Twin Falls Thursday, the three bases will constitute a strategic air command squadron. Each base will be manned with approximately 400 permanent air force soldiers, the officials stated. Although several miles from the Twin Falls area, the bases are expected to bring some families into Magic Valley and Martin officials expressed hope that some local workers could be used during the construction stages of the bases. Approximately 1,600 skilled technicians will be used on the three complexes, the company officials said. As shown Complex C will be close to Elmore and Complex B will be situated west of Mountain Home. Both Complex A and B are in Owyhee county and Complex C is in Ada county. The three areas were selected by the air force partially because of the remoteness. (Staff engraving)

COMPLEX CUTAWAY TITAN

Middle left picture shows excavation and construction of a Titan launch base. Approximately 1,200 men are needed for the construction and an estimated 1,700 more for installation and checkout of the complex equipment required to operate the base. Each base will be operated by personnel of the strategic air command. The walls of the excavation, as shown, are approximately 45 feet high and the distance from top to bottom of the picture is three-fourths of a mile. A cutaway view of the Titan complex is shown in the middle right drawing. As shown, only a few parts of the base will be visible above the ground. (Staff engraving) will require excavation of thousands of cubic yards of rock, placement of 90,000 cubic yards of concrete, 20,000 tons of reinforcing and structural steel, large amounts of lumber, electrical conduits, steel pipe, steel plate and tanks, and hundreds of items of mechanical equipment.

The volume and layout of this equipment is so complex that this work will require some of the most rigid tolerances and controls ever demanded in construction of this magnitude," Budge said.

In addition to the Titan installation, a Nike-Hercules site will be installed at Mountain Home air force base. He said the Nike-Hercules site will cost an additional $3,600,000 and will be used to defend the "Titan" installation from enemy attack.

Budge reported bids for a $600,000 battalion headquarters building for Nike-Hercules will be opened in April after being advertised for 30 days, and that bids will be advertised about Feb. 9 for the $-million-dollar site itself.

The lower left picture shows one of the powerful Titan missiles being launched from a pad at Cape Canaveral, Fla. The picture was taken in February, 1958, while the missile was being tested for efficiency. The Martin company, Denver, makes the missile, which, when brought to Idaho, will be launched only in the case of national emergency. The lower right picture shows construction of the powerhouse for a Titan missile complex. When the powerhouse is completed, this will be below the ground. (Staff engraving)

Budget Message Double Talk, He Says of Revenue Estimates

Editor, Times-News: I read interest rates to hold business increases down. In order to avoid inflation, by this procedure they have clearly defined the meaning of anticipated needs.

Blundy, Charlie McCarthy style.

The federal reserve law originally was envisioned and conceived by President Wilson to help the business class in times of depression. People with age and experience can well remember how the bank rate was cut in 1920 and again in 1932. They succeeded in breaking 80 per cent of the bank's business on the occasions, the only friend the small businessman and farmer ever had.

If I can read correctly, the federal reserve board has picked up the tab to the tune of 650 million dollars to balance the present budget. This is a very big bill, and it is not clear how they intend to pay it. The same board has

Writer Suggests Scientist Should Check His Facts

Editor, Times-News: Some weeks ago there appeared in the Times-News a statement by a government scientist commenting that seeds discovered in the pyramids in Egypt, being many thousands of years old—have sprouted and produced plants. I believe this scientist should do a little checking with higher authorities, for on page 46 of the book "Every Day Life in Ancient Times," published by the National Geographic society, this statement appears:

"There is no truth, however, in widely-circulated stories of seeds of grain recovered from the pyramids sprouting and producing plants. Numerous experiments have proved that the germs are dead."

Congressional Members Get Shriller Sooner in Election Year, Solon Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23—In anticipation of putting on for the GOP election year, members of Congress get shriller sooner.

That's the considered judgment of Rep. Frank M. Coffin, D-Me., and it gets support from the party which practices political correctness, from the many strong young sons of the more vigorous Democratic family.

Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts to go into Wisconsin this spring and battle Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of next-door Minnesota for Wisconsin's 31 national convention vote.

Kenney slipped in a job at other primaries and ally pinning their nomination hopes on manipulating the convention.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, D-Tex., bared an exasperation with people who say he can't win because he's Southerner. Or he may have been thinking, too, of Kennedy's Roman Catholicism.

Personally, I believe that most Americans have become tired of this constant cross-questioning of men as to their religion. They are weary and where they were born, Johnson said.

Johnson also got in a punch at the Republican opposition. Although he was elected in 1950 by the one-man race, Vice President Richard M. presidential race if he wins fewer than half of Wisconsin's 31 conventional votes. But Kennedy says he could trail Humphrey in Wisconsin without losing his status as a powerful congressman.

As Kennedy pointed out, the winner in Wisconsin will have an extremely strong position at the convention. He added that he already feels strong in Ohio and New England, including his native Massachusetts.

Assuming Kennedy can get all of New England's convention votes and Ohio's 54, he'd have 178 to start with. And, perhaps significantly, there was talk last week of growing Kennedy strength in the 114-vote New York delegation. If it takes 761 votes to be nominated.

Kennedy named Senator Johnson as his principal adversary, the man with the most votes. How Johnson has his Texas presumably solid, plus considerable Southern strength and scattered support in other sections.

Many Nations Could Begin Nuclear Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—A dozen nations are capable of embarking on nuclear weapons programs in the near future, they are willing to foot the high cost, a non-government study committee said tonight.

"We are approaching the point where it will no longer be possible for the present nuclear powers to control the spread of nuclear weapons," said a policy statement by the National Planning association.

The statement was issued by the association's special project committee on security through arms control, it accompanied a nationwide survey of nuclear weapons capabilities.

Listed as the nations capable of making such weapons were Belgium, Canada, Communist China, Czechoslovakia, France, West Germany, East Germany, India, Italy, Japan, Sweden and Switzerland.

The committee said that nations at stability will be upset and the danger of war increased as more nations become independent nuclear weapons capabilities.

Worldwide radioactive contamination by the independent nations if membership in the "atomic club" expands, the report said.

Cuban Editor Helped Castro, Now Explains He Was Wrong

By JORGE ZAVAY
(Copyright 1960 by Miami Herald Publishing Company. Distributed by The Associated Press)

MIAMI, Jan. 23 (AP)—I helped Fidel Castro get into power because, though he was good for Cuba, I was wrong.

Now I must speak out in hopes of helping my country rid itself of him. It is not that I am a martyr but because:

When it became more and more apparent that Castro was carrying my country toward a communist dictatorship, I began to protest editorially. Last November, at a journalists' seminar in New York, I was very critical.

Castro didn't like it. When I returned, I was detained for more than an hour at the Havana airport while his agents cross-examined me.

It quickly became obvious that he was trying to scare me.

I was not alone. I was surrounded and I had better start planning for my escape.

As a Catholic, I am opposed to the use of force to bring about a change in government.

As an editor, I cannot conceive of true democracy without freedom of the press.

As a descendant of Cuban patriots—a my grand uncle Alfredo Zayas was president of Cuba from 1920 to 1925 and another grand uncle, Gen. Juan Bruno Zayas, died on the battlefield fighting for Cuban independence—I can not disagree their memory.

But let me tell my story from the beginning.

With me were 14 other Latin American journalists. We went there not to conspire but to observe its operations. Most wrote articles about our visit.

A few days after my detention at the airport, Castro police came on my door at about 1:30 a.m. I was reading in bed.

They were polite but apologetic. They said they had "a report" that an arm cache was hidden in my home. Their search was fruitless.

It was just another way of trying to scare me.

About Dec. 20 Castro and I had another clash.

During a labor union rally at a large Havana theater, David Belandier, general secretary of the Cuban Federation of Laborers, a longtime communist, urged that my newspaper be contacted and its editors shut out.

Later, Castro spoke. He supported Belandier instead of cautioning him. Castro called another counter-revolutionary newspaper.

The next day a law was passed decreeing that all properties of counter-revolutionaries would be confiscated.

I knew time was running out for me.

Parley Set in Utah to Note Park Project

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—A subcommittee of the House of Representatives will hold Feb. 3 in Salt Lake City on a proposal to change the law governing acquisition of federal lands for state park purposes.

The committee will hear testimony from state park officials, including the Interior committee's public lands subcommittee, of which he is a member.

The law, passed at the last session, requires that 50 percent of federal lands that may be transferred to states for parks from 60 to 1200 per acre.

The bill, which will be in effect for three years, then drops to 4000 acres per year.

The bill's first experience with the new law, Moas said, "shows that it takes the department of interior some time to process and consider the state applications and define the method of determining quality."

The new proposal, jointly sponsored by Moas and Sen. Frank Bennett, R., Utah, provides that the quota for any year shall be decided by the state's application not by the date processing is completed or actual transfer made.

Smaller States Ask Decrease In Demo Help

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—Democratic party appeals board today heard requests of 10 state party groups—including Idaho and Utah—to scale down 1958 and 1959 quotas set for their contributions to support national committee campaign expenses.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler, a member of the board, said tentative decisions were reached but would not be announced now.

He said when the state groups achieve current status—make up their back payments—the groups themselves may announce the board's decision.

Last November the national committee announced that only a few states had paid their 1958 quotas in full and 30 states had not paid anything on them.

Many states have complained of a system establishing quotas in the past based largely on population. Friday the national committee adopted a new formula basing 1960 quotas on economic and political factors. The 1960 quotas were not before the appeals board today.

Butler described the closed session as very satisfactory.

States reported to have made appeals were Delaware, Idaho, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Texas, Utah, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

The great pyramids of Egypt, built from 2500 B. C. to 1800 B. C., were designed to contain the tombs of the Pharaohs.

Hansen Unit Gets Report

HANSEN, Jan. 23—The tractor committee gave a report on tractor batteries at a Orange meeting Thursday evening. The committee reported that during the storage period batteries should be boosted to full charge every month.

Mrs. Earl Barnes reported that more than $300 has been contributed to the potato drive so far. The canvass of the town area is not completed yet.

An invitation from the Murrain Orange to attend the Feb. 1 meeting was accepted.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Dietz, who are moving to their farm near Bullhorn, resigned their offices in the Orange and Irvin Kovan was elected overseer, replacing Dietz.

Peter Mulder was elected to the executive committee, replacing Mrs. Dietz. Mrs. Kenneth Naylor was elected home economic chairman replacing Mrs. Clara Holliday, who resigned.

During the lecturer's program, Mrs. Vance Naylor gave a poem, "This is the Starting Point," and Mrs. Clarence Holliday gave the closing association prayer.

A cracker barrel discussion was held by Clarence Holliday, Earl Barnes, John Schab and Kenneth Naylor on "What is the matter with the Hansen Grange?"

A game also was played, and Mrs. L. L. Barnes, lecturer, gave a poem, "The World Has Need of You!"

Mr. and Mrs. John Schab were hosts.

The public debt of the United States was little more than a billion dollars in 1918. It was more than 276 billion in 1958.

THE HAPPIEST LIVING WE'VE EVER HAD -

thanks to increased use of electrical servants

"Our standard of living has become better every year—almost in direct proportion to our increased use of electricity in the home. Living better electrically is a joy to the whole family."

I'M GLAD—because we've just added an electric dishwasher and disposer.

Goodbye to "dishpan hands"! No more after-meal shrewdery. Mom can join the family at our after-dinner television show.

HAPPY—that we've licked the weather with a work-saving electric dryer.

When you have automatic electric laundering, you wash and dry at your convenience, day or night, in any weather. Eliminates lifting, lugging, stooping, hanging. Clothes are fluffier and "fresher than ever!"

PLEASED—as punch with our modern cooktop and wall oven.

A pushbutton electric kitchen is delightfully clean—easy to keep! Automatic timers and temperature control make cooking easier, better and more nutritious.

TICKLED—with our own "kitchen supermarket" electric freezer.

Late start for dinner? No need to run to the store—there are meals galore in the electric freezer. Tasty treats, too—trout and venison, strawberries, steak and pastries. Eating's better since we got a freezer!

DELIGHTED—with a home that's loaded with "Reddy" comfort and convenience.

We enjoy all the hot water we want, whenever we want it with 3-times-faster Quick Recovery electric water heating—have excellent lighting for work and reading and wouldn't be without electric bedding.

BEST OF ALL—is the bargain we get.

We use twice as much electricity as we did only 10 years ago, and we'll keep increasing in the future. It's the least expensive way to live better.

Bear in mind that the electric water heating provides a lower rate that applies to other services too—helping to make electricity the BEST BARGAIN in the family budget.

Paul Pender Takes Limited Title Version With Split Decision Over Sugar Ray

BOSTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—Paul Pender, an articulate ex-fireman who denounces the evils of boxing and three times quit the ring, today rules as the world middleweight champion—limited version. Pender took the final trappings of Sugar Ray Robinson in a hand-to-hand fight on Friday night at the National Boxing Association earlier in the year, but a stipulation of his crown in 46 states. The two camps differed over the terms of the fight.

Delaying Action

Robinson's manager, George Teinford, spoke the words of his conviction that Sugar Ray had won.

"We'll have the return in New York," said Teinford. "If Paul Pender will have it," he added, "I don't see the title here, and I don't think it fair for them to have the return here, too."

Naturally, Pender, 29, a resident of suburban Brookline, who has his home grounds but added, "I'm ready for him, definitely, any time."

His title is recognized only in Massachusetts, where he won a well-spoken except to be mistaken for a bona-fide business associate.

Robinson picked up 43 percent of the vote, plus 10 percent of the telegraph vote.

A referee ruled this with Chamberlain manager illegal, so the ball went to the St. Louis Hawks, who touched it last as it headed toward Philadelphia. Will the Bill is trying to keep it. Ferrar, foreground, and Bob Pettit from retreating the ball. (NEA telephoto)

Valley Vikings End Wendell's Loop Win Skein

HAZELTON, Jan. 23.—The Valley Vikings, paced by Ros Amhurst and Chuck Webb, ended the three-year winning streak of the Wendell Trojans Friday night by copying a surprisingly easy victory. It marked the first since coach Dick Anderson took over last year, and ended the Trojan winning skein at 24. The Trojans had won 10 straight in the past two seasons plus the 1956 title.

"The Vikings turned a full-court press in the second quarter into a half-court press, which kept the Trojans from the conference leading score, 6-0. In the third quarter, the Trojans were reduced to within 10 points in the final quarter by a full-court press. They also took the preliminary 1959 title." — Dick Anderson, Vikings coach.

Chamberlain, Sharman, Guerin, Gola Lead East To Pro Hoop All-Star Win

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23 (AP)—"I think we had more pride and determination, and someone gave us a lift every time we needed it." That was coach Red Auerbach of the East's 125-113 victory over the West Friday night in the annual National Basketball Association All-Star game. "First it was Bill Sharman, then (Richie) Guerin, and finally (Tom) Gola who came through when the game was getting uncomfortable," Auerbach said. The West coach, Red Auerbach, said that the three players who scored most points for the East were Chamberlain, who won the MVP award, Sharman, who scored 30 points, and Gola, who blocked four shots. His players only scored 30 minutes.

"Sharman's block came 25 seconds into the first quarter," Auerbach said. "Gola's shot was in the air when Sharman put his hands on it and he came down on it and he landed on it and he was out of the East."

But for consistency and overall performance the East had more players who scored 20 or more points. Chamberlain won the MVP award by scoring 30 points, while Guerin, who scored 25 points, and Gola, who blocked four shots, were also named. Chamberlain's performance was the most valuable player award by score, pointing, and blocking.

At that time Hart got his orders directly from the national office. Looking on is Robert Harder, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Harder, senior patrol leader. Annual Job of Banding Waterfowl Is Conducted at Hagerman Refuge

HAGERMAN, Jan. 23—State fish and game department employees are in the middle of the annual waterfowl banding project at the Hagerman refuge. By the end of February, 1,000 mallards will have been banded with small aluminum bands. The Hagerman refuge is one of several waterfowl refuges in the state where waterfowl are banded each year. The other areas are Island Park, Bannock, Deer Flat, Minidoka, Camas and Tibbetts Dunes. By the middle of spring nearly 200 mallards, pintails, teal, ducks, and Canada geese will be banded at these refuges. At the Hagerman refuge only mallards are banded. Each year about 1,000 are banded by H. E. (Buck) Cherry, refuge manager, and Charles Blake, Jerome, state biologist. The ducks are banded in groups of 100. They are captured by a wire 'tunnel' to a small box, caught by hand and banded. The men don't have any trouble finding enough mallards to band. For Cherry says that on Jan. 9 a duck census at the refuge showed an estimated 32,000 ducks there. Blake, noting that the Snake River area is a popular wintering ground for mallards, says about 50 per cent of the ducks at the refuge are mallards. Natural Hiding Area "There are 275 acres at the refuge and 200 acres of this land are swamp, forming a natural duck resting area and winter ground," Cherry notes that the Jan. 9 census is a peak period. After the season closes, the population drops off slowly as hunting pressure stops. Banding the ducks helps fish and game men throughout the nation determine duck flyways, distribution and the population turnover and mortality rates. Study of the band returns has enabled Idaho fish and game men to know the habits of ducks that either winter in this country or pass through it on the way south. Through study of band returns, the fish and game commission knows the majority of mallards that winter in this area and are shot by hunters here are ducks that hatched in the prairie province country of the northwestern provinces of Canada. They hatch there and winter here. Other ducks move further south, but mallards form the bulk of the Magic Valley duck population. Most Shot in Valley "Blake estimates about 75 per cent of the ducks banded in Magic Valley are shot somewhere in Idaho. The bulk of the remaining birds are shot in neighboring states. In addition to the ducks banded at the refuge, Blake banded about 100 young geese each spring at the Minidoka refuge. Except for this goose banding, all banding in the valley is done by Blake and Cherry at Hagerman. When a hunter shoots or finds a banded bird and sends in the band number to the address on the band, four different individuals and persons are informed of the history of that particular duck—the hunter, federal bird banding, the individual who banded the bird, the individual who banded the bird." (Continued on Page 11, Column 1)

Boy Scouts Prepare for Busy Year As Unit Observes 50th Anniversary

This year promises to be one of the busiest years in the history of Boy Scouts of America as it prepares locally and nationally to observe its 50th anniversary. The Boy Scout week will be observed from Feb. 7 to 13. Best says the week's program will begin with an encouragement from the council office for all "Boy Scouts" in the county to attend the eight-county area to attend the church of their choice on Sunday, Feb. 7. Best says Scout week must always encompass Feb. 8 and 12. Feb. 8 is the anniversary of the founding and Feb. 12 is Lincoln's birthday. One of the biggest projects sponsored here will be local window displays. This project is done in conjunction with a national window display project. Soldier's War Attitudes Unchanged, Letter Notes

WENDELL, Jan. 23—Methods of waging wars have changed since the Napoleonic wars, but a soldier's attitude hasn't changed, toward war and death. Ray Evers, Wendell, recently picked up a letter written on the battlefield during the Napoleonic wars by his great-great-grandfather, a member of the "Prussian" army then fighting Napoleon near the letter, written in high French, was recently translated by a relative of Evers. The content of the letter is simply a letter from a soldier to his family. The letter reads: "Dear parents, brothers and sisters, I am well. I am writing to you from the morning of June 18, 1815. We are marching against the Frenchmen and there is a great battle. The Frenchmen are killing us all around us and we are going to die. I am writing to you from the morning of June 18, 1815. Community Service Given By T. F. Women's Clubs

One hundred and twenty-three women in Twin Falls spend hundreds of hours each year, working at various facets of community service. They are members of the three national or international women's clubs, the Soroptimist club, Business and Professional Women's club and the Alturus club. The first one formed in Twin Falls in 1921 was the Business and Professional Women's club. It is a local club affiliated with the national Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs. According to Mrs. Greta Smith, president, the B.P.W.—was formed nationally during World War I organized by Secretary of State Newton D. Baker as a war effort club. Following the war, the club remained and the Twin Falls club is one of the earliest units. Currently there are 60 members who meet on the first and third Mondays in each month. Third Monday is a dinner meeting, held at various restaurants. The second session is a business and program meeting at 8 p.m. at the YWCA. "The club has four major purposes, to elevate the standards for women in business and the professions, promote the interest of business and professional women, bring about a spirit of cooperation among business and professional women in the United States, and extend opportunity to business and professional women through education." 400-Pound Suffolk Ram Is Herd Sire

Winter Lambing Under Way in Area; Some Farm Flock Operators Finished

Winter lambing has begun in the Valley. Although many operators report their lambing activities won't start until the end of this month or the first week in February, farm flock operators are well under way, or even finished.

The reason for this differential, says Leonard Winkle, is so the farm flock owner can get a better price for the range lambs, and perhaps command a better price.

So far, Winkle's ewes have turned out a 470 per cent lamb crop, with more than half of them set of triplets before an ewe had dropped a single.

Winkle has observed that during the years when his lamb drop is higher than normal, the crop is higher in other farm flocks. He attributes this widespread good luck to some unknown influence, like the weather. If this is true, then the lamb crop throughout the valley ought to be generally excellent this winter.

Winkle is a well-known purebred Suffolk breeder with more than 30 years of experience behind him. He has a permanent flock of about 200, with 125 ewes and 75 rams; with a few crossed to Hampshire. His purebred rams have served as sire rams in some 15 states and as far east as Kansas and Illinois. One of his rams was purchased a few years ago by the University of Idaho, and he has a herd sire out of the Siletta, Earl, flock in England. He also has sold a ram for as high as $1,500.

Most years ago, Winkle's flock consisted of straight Hampshire, but he switched to Suffolk when the range operator determined a Winkler ram. About Hampshire, Winkle said, "These big-headed, cold-faced sheep were a heavy breed then, and until recently they were also a valuable breed."

"The Hampshire would turn up in the hands of his sheed during the day and never get up to eat. They were so lazy, said Winkle, that often he bought a few

Season-Lows Reported for Rural Labor

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (UPI)—The agriculture department reports the number of workers on farms dipped to a seasonal low of 5,253,000 during the week of Dec. 29-31.

Farm laborers totaled 4,522,000 white hired hands numbered 221,000. The total rural work force during six per cent below the levels for late December, 1958.

The department said several factors contributed to this sharp reduction. In most sections harvest already had been completed. Wet fields in a number of areas kept farmers from cleaning up remnants of field harvest. The Christmas holiday also held down outdoor activity.

The farm wage level on Jan. 1 was at a new high. The composite wage rate per hour was 69 cents, nearly a per cent above the 68 cents of Jan. 1, 1959. The index of the composite wage rate was 62 per cent of the 1954-56 base period, compared with 610 per cent on Jan. 1, a year ago.

9 of 10 Grains Show Drops in Support Costs

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (UPI)—The agriculture department's December summary of 1959-crop grain receipts and prices shows a decline of 10 important grains moved under support in smaller quantities in 1959 than in 1958.

Corn was the exception. Through Dec. 31, farmers put 122 million bushels of corn under support at prices about 10 per cent above the 1958 level. This compared with 168,200,000 bushels of 1958-crop corn under support through Dec. 31, 1958.

The commodities which moved under support in smaller quantities in 1959 than in 1958, included barley, flaxseed, oats, rye, soybeans, dry beans, rice, wheat, and sorghum.

Schools Buy Lot of Fruits, Juice For Student Use

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (UPI)—The agriculture department reports public schools purchased more than 30 million dollars worth of fresh, frozen, canned and dried fruits and fruit juices in fiscal 1959.

The per child average was $1.70 for the more than 21 million public school students nationwide.

Canned items represented about four-fifths of the total. Fresh fruits accounted for nearly all of the remainder. Dried and frozen fruits totaled 1 per cent.

Broiler, Turkey Price Better at Opening of Year

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (UPI)—The agriculture department reports broiler and turkey prices at the beginning of 1960 were notably higher than average prices for those commodities during most of last year.

Egg prices, however, were weak and drifting downward under pressure of seasonally increasing supplies, the department said in its publication, "the poultry and egg situation."

Attesting lambs and ewes are led out to a 45-acre pasture. The pasture is divided into bluegrass and alfalfa strips. The ewes are flushed on the alfalfa pasture to increase conception rates, and although the danger of bloat is imminent, he has had a few death cases because once they are on this pasture he leaves them on it, rather than take them out and put them back on.

While they are on pasture, they also have an access lane that leads them back to his feed yard, where he can add a dry feed to their ration. At this time the extra labor needed to remove dried stems from his winter alfalfa feed begins to pay off. When he feeds these dried stems to the pasture-fed sheep, they alkies their up clean with an almost tampered result.

In the fall he starts them out on alfalfa until lambing-time or until the snow flies. At this time he feeds a triple crop, wool, fat lambs and purebred rams. Winkle also has his own lambing, without any outside help.

Annual Hall of Fame Banquet Planned To Recognize Farm Livestock Leaders

A second meeting to establish a perpetual annual Hall of Fame banquet for agricultural livestock industry in southcentral Idaho will be held Monday evening by James P. Seacock, president of the Twin Falls Livestock Commission.

The initial proposal was made last week. Seacock stated he is responding with a former Elmer lower cabinet member, George B. Humphrey, to be the first guest speaker at the banquet scheduled tentatively for March 18. He also considered it probable that Bing Crosby would attend. If Humphrey were unable to come, both men have livestock interests. Another alternate is George Jessel, who has been called the "costume-master-general" of the United States.

"The Hall of Fame for southcentral Idaho would honor men, both living and dead, who have contributed to the history and development of the livestock industry. The honor roll eventually would also be awarded.

The plaque itself will be circulated each year for display, perhaps from bank to bank, various commission companies, Times-News and other institutions where large numbers of people can see it. Names on the plaque will be drawn from all Magic Valley and outlying communities.

Others present at the meeting and dinner were Fred Lewis, feedlot manager for the Amalgamated Sugar company; Curtis Eaton, Twin Falls Bank and Trust company; William Grange, Twin Falls chamber of commerce; Lane Wilkins, First Security bank; Claude Whitte, commission company; and Sam Rosen, Times-News.

The Monday meeting will include the initial group plus other men associated with the livestock industry and will be held at 8 p.m. in Seacock's office.

Annual Waterfowl Banding Project Is Being Conducted at Hagerman Refuge

The annual waterfowl banding project at Hagerman refuge is being conducted by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. The project is designed to provide information on the migration patterns of waterfowl and to help in the conservation of these birds.

Most authorities agree that banding is the most reliable method to gain information about a living bird, whether it is a game bird or another type.

Individuals and groups of birds of the same species can be studied. The bands enable biologists to study individual birds, otherwise indistinguishable from others of the same species. Much of the present knowledge of migration routes is based on this information.

One of the questions answered by banding is how long birds live. Many individual birds have been found to be 10 years old, and the longest a bird has been known to survive in the wild of North America was a Caspian Terebinth, banded as a nestling in Michigan on July 10, 1923, and shot in Ohio in 1931, 8 years after banding. The Arctic tern makes the longest annual migration, a round trip of 25,000 miles each year, from the Arctic to the Antarctic, and back again.

The number of persons who band birds in North America varies from year to year, but the average is about 2,000. Most of the banding takes place in the United States, Canada, Hawaiian Islands, West Indies and a few in South American countries.

According to information from the fish and wildlife service, nearly seven million birds have been banded since the program started. The American Bird Banding association was formed in 1900 and its activities became an official government project in 1920.

About 100,000 to 400,000 birds are banded each year. From this total banding about 600,000 returns have been reported. About 600 species have been banded so far. According to the fish and wildlife service pamphlet, the birds which have been banded in the largest numbers are the mallard, chimney swift, common tern, pintail, heron, white-crowned sparrow, starling and purple grackle.

At Hagerman refuge the birds banded are the mallard, chimney swift, common tern, pintail, heron, white-crowned sparrow, starling and purple grackle.

H. E. Cherry, manager of the Hagerman refuge, places a band on a mallard drake. Each band bears a serial number and address. They are typical dry grazing lands and will be open to filing applications under public and mining laws.

In Twin Falls county the land is located about 33 miles west from Elmore county section 12 miles north of Hammett and in Blaine county the section is between "Mimodok" and "American" about nine miles northeast of Dec-Pella.

Historical Society Seeks to Identify Pictures Taken Here in Early Days

Junius H. Shinn, president of the Twin Falls County Historical society, displays some of the nearly 100 "mystery" pictures which will be a feature of the annual meeting of the association at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the city hall. Those attending the meeting will be asked to aid in identification of the pictures, printed from old glass negatives exposed by the late W. A. Flower, pioneer local photographer, and now owned by O. A. Kellner, Twin Falls photographer. (Kellner photo—staff engraving)

Historical Society's Annual Meeting To Attempt Old Photo Identification

Members and guests attending the annual meeting of the Twin Falls County Historical society Tuesday evening will be asked to aid in identification of people shown in nearly 100 old time pictures which will be exhibited.

The annual session, slated for the city hall in Twin Falls at 8 p.m., will be conducted by Junius H. Shinn, president. Although an annual meeting, the business sessions will be a short one because there will be no election. Officers are elected for two-year terms and this is the only year, Shinn said.

The pictures, which those attending will be asked to identify were printed by O. A. (Gus) Kellner, local photographer and so-lures are mounted in groups of five and six on matboards for easy viewing.

"Because of their historic nature," Shinn said, "the original glass negatives of the people who are identified will be added to the society's collection for permanent preservation. These will be donated by Mr. Kellner.

"This meeting will be open to all interested persons and those attending need not be society members," Shinn concluded.

Along the lines of industrial, scientific and vocational activities, the club is to be actively engaged in business or in professional work and is acceptable to the local club.

One of the biggest events of the year is the Idaho products dinner. This year the dinner will start at 5:15 p.m. March 3, at the First Baptist church. Members will be invited to the banquet which is sponsored in February. Members sell tickets to the banquet which features foods from this region, and also prepare much of the food and serve the meal. According to Mrs. Smith, about 300 persons usually attend.

Purpose of the banquet is to raise money for various activities throughout the year. More than $400 is usually raised at the banquet.

Some of the money is used for the Business and Professional Women's club. The club is awarded in the spring to a girl graduate of Twin Falls high school.

Each year the club sends a Twin Falls high school girl to Girls' Junior, a certain percentage of the proceeds from the Idaho products banquet to the VFWA, Camp Fire Girls and Girl Scouts and the public drive. The club also sends a girl to the All-Idaho Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Smith notes the prime objective of the club is to present programs to members dealing with educational or community topics of interest to women in business activities.

Officers are Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Norma Herrick, first vice president; Mrs. Margaret McCall, second vice president; Helen Perreault, treasurer; Mrs. J. B. Beaton, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Ernest Marlow, recording secretary.

The second nationally-affiliated women's service club formed is the Soroptimist club started in 1941. The club, whose motto is "More service for everyone," is international in scope. It was started in 1921 in California. Present membership of the local club is 25.

Membership is limited to women who are invited to join the club. Any woman who is a resident of this city for over 21 years of age, of good moral and business reputation and has a head or deputy executive position, whether government or private.

President of the club Mrs. Morris Vavold, says names of potential members are first submitted to the board of directors for approval and then voted on by the entire membership.

Mrs. Vavold says a committee sets up the club's annual projects. It decides what projects would benefit the community or are and then the club votes on the projects.

Early in 1949 the club sold about 100 community service calendars to raise money for various projects. Last year the club bought equipment for the new youth room at the library, and food and candy given to a high school girl. At Thanksgiving and supplied to an underprivileged child ship and activities.

Each year the club gives its scholarships to local high school girls. Last year received $100 money by selling candy to a general public school exercise. This year the scholarship will amount to $100.

They were also awarded the All-Idaho scholarship to a recent high school graduate.

Last year the club sponsored a safety program in the city. Allrus safety program in the city of the year. Members were safety auditors all over the city to remind motorists to drive in the special education class at Lincoln high school. Members also helped in the public drive and achieved at the children's grades—are improving watercade shows.

The club also sponsors an award to a woman who had to retire to work because of economic conditions. The $200 award enables a woman to purchase a certain job.

Some of the club are Mrs. Vavold, Mrs. Kenneth McVey, vice president; Mrs. Stanley Howard, treasurer; and Mrs. Florence Gardner, corresponding secretary.

The most recent international service club organized in Twin Falls is the All-Idaho Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Wilson notes the third service club are going to sponsor a new program this year. The program will be award a trophy to the "woman of the year." Each club will submit nominations and the winner will be chosen by a board of judges from Jay-E-Dee, Chamber of Commerce and the 200 Century Club. The award will be given for community service.
