Nixon Still Eyes N. Y. Opposition

WASHINGTON, April 16—The President Richard Nixon is not abandoning the possibility that New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller could help him to win the Republican presidential nomination.

But the vice president remains confident that—barring some unforeseen development—Rockefeller cannot defeat him for the nomination at the Chicago convention.

Rockefeller generally is regarded as the leading liberal element of the party. Nixon has been aiming some of his projectiles in that direction recently.

The department said, "Bantu workers are therefore, in their own interests, warned not to pay any attention to pamphlets or other forms of encouragement for them to stay away from work."

The outland African National Congress is promoting the work boycott. It wants to revive the day-of-action movement, broken last week after police raids on African settlements netted sacks of arms and hundreds of men described by authorities as subversive agitators and terrorists.

With most of its congress leaders in jail, the congress' emergency committee called for Negroes to stay at home throughout next week to enforce four demands on the government to end apartheid, to end the white supremacy regime.

Opposition Gives Castro Headache

MIAMI, April 16—Opposition from inside and outside Cuba appeared today to be giving Prime Minister Fidel Castro his earliest political headache since he came to power in January, 1959.

The band of about 50 men led by Manuel Derrida, a former captain in Castro's revolutionary army. He heard from Havana military police and took to the mountains of eastern Cuba, where Castro launched his own rebellion.

ECONOMY PROVED IN MOBILGAS RUN!

A pair of Corvairs recently recorded 27.03 and 26.21 miles per gallon in the 2,061.4-mile Mobilgas Economy Run. That's certified proof that Corvair skimps on gas costs. It saves other ways, too. Corvair is the only U.S. compact car that never needs antifreeze or costly radiator repairs. Come in and drive the compact car that outdoes them all.

Things Corvair gives you that America's other compact cars can't:

- Practically flat floor... real foot room for the man in the middle. Fold-down rear seat gives 17 cu. ft. of extra storage space.
- Four-wheel independent suspension for a smoother, flatter ride.
- Rear-engine traction... that comes with the engine's weight bearing down on the rear wheels.
- You probably realize already that the mileage figures Corvairs recorded in the Mobilgas Run are higher than the average driver can expect. But because the cars met every kind of driving condition—rugged mountain grades, long country straightaways, congested city traffic—those mileage figures prove Corvair's inherent ability to save. Operating costs take a nose dive every day, you take delivery of a Corvair.

Travel Booth Is Manned by C. of C. Aide

William Grange, secretary-manager of the Twin Falls chamber of Commerce, returned Thursday from Minneapolis, Minn., where he spent 10 days dispensing literature and tourist information at the Northwestern Boat, Sport and Travel show.

Grange worked in conjunction with the Pacific Northwest Travel association of which the Twin Falls chamber is a member. Besides himself, Grange said the booth, which is paid for by the travel association, was manned by representatives from Miles City, Mont., and Grand Forks, N. D.

Attendance during the first seven days of the show was 112,000, with an overall estimate of 150,000 for the full 10 days.

Grange said booths at the show occupied the main floor, basement and an annex of the Minneapolis auditorium. He said a survey of the area after the show revealed that none of the literature was taken away in the vicinity of the building. He met many persons who were interested in Idaho as a vacation spot, he reported.

"After spending 10 hours a day for 10 days talking with thousands of persons, I think my Idaho business is just beginning," Grange said.

Drive Due on Completing of Census Count

With the 1960 census of population and housing virtually completed locally, Arthur Wilson, district supervisor Saturday announced the beginning of a "Were You Counted?" campaign to insure that no resident of the area has been overlooked.

Persons who believe they have been missed by the census takers are urged to notify the census district office by means of "Were You Counted?" forms. Area newspapers are printing these forms as a public service. Pre-empt mailing of the "Were You Counted?" forms will speed up the completion of preliminary population figures for the area.

Average mean temperature in Blaine is 76 degrees.

Management Problems on Irrigated Farms and Associated Dryland Farms and Rangelands in the Snake River Valley

"I have received many communications from Idaho people and organizations urging that capital construction funds be provided for the Snake river valley facility to develop needed technology for sound conservation practices on the Forney-Barnes and associated soils of the Snake river valley, extending from Wyoming into central Oregon," Church told Russell.

"I know that you and all members of the subcommittee have informed yourselves fully about the need for this project, and I am confident that the committee will program funds for it at the earliest possible date."

"On behalf of the Idaho Association of Soil Conservation Districts, the Idaho Wheat Growers association, and many other Idaho groups and individuals who feel with me that there is an urgent need for this type of research, I wish most earnestly to solicit the committee's favorable consideration of this project at this time," Church concluded.

Health Plans Urged by 14 Demo Solons

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—Sen. Hiram J. Williams, Jr., D., R. I., today urged President Eisenhower to propose a joint East-West "health for peace" campaign at the summit conference.

Williams, with the backing of 14 other Democratic senators including Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, wrote Eisenhower that acceptance of such an offer would serve as "a major step toward peace and a better world."

Williams recalled that Eisenhower, in his 1956 State of the Union message, announced this country's willingness to pool its efforts with other nations to discover that are the common enemy of all.

Williams suggested that the President consider proposing at the conference with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and British and French leaders and other nations a joint effort of research and eradication of the major deadly diseases and illnesses afflicting the world.

Williams said he had in mind a massive "health-for-peace" campaign under auspices of the World Health Organization and other appropriate agencies.

The amount of water in second feet flowing over Shoshone falls Saturday afternoon reached a high for the year and provided this spectacle for viewers Saturday afternoon. Jack Hultschin, Idaho Power company operator at the falls, said Saturday afternoon that 4,210 second feet were passing over the falls in the late afternoon. He commented that at least 3,000 second feet was recorded the past three days, and for the past two weeks at least 1,000 second feet has been recorded. In comparison Hultschin said the average flow during the irrigation season is 200 second feet past Miller dam. The present flow is caused by runoff of melting snows. (Staff photo-enlarging)

Atomic Subs Are Planned By Red China

RANGOON, Burma, April 16 (AP)—Red China expects to build atomic submarines within five years. Premier Chou En-lai told a Burmese official today.

346 Revoked

BOISE, April 16 (AP)—The Idaho department of law enforcement says it has revoked the driver's licenses of 346 Idaho motorists since Jan. 1 as a result of drunk driving convictions compared with 219 by this time last year.

Idaho law requires license revocation on drunk driving convictions. The department also suspended 157 licenses on reckless driving convictions compared to 207 for the same period last year.

Potvin Talks on Senior Citizens

BOISE, April 16 (AP)—Gregg Potvin, American Falls, told a Democratic rally here tonight he thinks "the present philosophy of placing our senior citizens in a corner to await their terminal illness is barbaric."

"It is apparently the purpose of the Republican party to wait until we have two dozen World War I veterans surviving before we give them separate pension status," the candidate for U. S. senator said in his prepared talk.

Potvin said Idaho nursing homes are in "desperate need of adequate facilities." But he said an FHA regulation to provide government insurance for 75 per cent of funds needed for construction of nursing home facilities at the community level is not being used because of administration hostility.

Frost Precautions Are Taken in Orchard

Kenyon Green, who owns some 1,500 fruit trees in an orchard south of Twin Falls, reads smudge fires on his acreage for an expected hard frost Sunday morning. In the background other piles of trees are ready for use. Green used some 150 old tires and straw for the fires to keep frost damage low. The fires were going early Saturday morning, but he would not estimate how much damage was done to his trees. (Staff photo-entouring)

Nixon's Farm Plan Delayed Till Conclave

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon apparently is going to keep his new farm program under wraps until the Republican national convention platform committee meets in July.

Nixon is reported to have told interested Republicans he feels bound to support the Eisenhower administration program in this session of congress.

He is said to have added that he has no intention of permitting Democrats to start shooting at any policy differences he may have with Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson until he comes within hailing distance of the presidential nomination he expects to get at the convention.

Pope's Easter Message Will Stress Peace

VATICAN CITY, April 16 (AP) — Pope John XXIII today prepared an Easter Sunday message to the world expected to include a plea for peace in commemoration of the resurrection of Christ, the Prince of Peace.

The pontiff rested from his arduous Holy week ceremonies except to receive various groups in audience. Among them were four gondoliers from Venice who brought gifts from the city where Pope John once was patriarch cardinal. The gifts included Venetian glassware.

Sunday, the pope will celebrate an early Easter Sunday mass in his private chapel and will participate in another mass later in the day in St. Peter's Basilica. At 8:30 a.m. EST he will deliver his Easter message to the world from the loggia of St. Peter's Basilica. A quarter million Romans, tourists and pilgrims are expected to be in the square to hear him.

Millions more will see and hear the pope on radio and Eurovision, Western Europe's television network. Short wave radio will carry translations of his message abroad. He will conclude by giving his blessings of "ubi et oris" — to the city of Rome and the world. Tourists and pilgrims mingled with Romans in the final ceremonies of Holy week. At St. Peter's Basilica many of them watched the ritual of the lighting of the fire, the first hint of the resurrection. The fire was lighted in a bronze brazier. Then the canons of the basilica approached and lighted candles, representing the Light of Christ in the world.

These were carried in a glowing procession into the basilica where preparations were being made for Easter Sunday mass.

The potato chip was created at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., in 1853.

The sandstorm was one of the worst in the history of Jerusalem. It swept in from the south in midafternoon, shortly after the conclusion of a service of Holy Fire in the Church of the Holy Sepulcher.

Specialists Willing to Sample Own Products

Peter A. Forman, Seattle, marketing specialist for the fish and wildlife service's bureau of commercial fisheries, is sampling an oven-roasted sole fillet prepared by Elaine McNally, home economist for the bureau. Miss McNally gave a demonstration on fish roasting for county women Thursday at the Idaho Power company auditorium. She is holding a skewer of shrimp kabobs. (Staff photo-entertainment)

Fish Cookery Shown by Wildlife Service Expert

Six new recipes for preparing fish found in local markets were shown county women Thursday by representatives from the fish and wildlife service's bureau of commercial fisheries. Elaine O. McNally, home economist for the Seattle branch of market development, gave the demonstrations and was explaining the fish market and value in this country by Peter A. Forman, fish marketing specialist. Homemakers probably would use fish more if they knew how to prepare the fish seen in the markets. The fishing industry is the oldest in the United States, and the fifth largest, Forman said. Of the five billions of pounds of fish produced and sold annually about 47 per cent goes for food and the balance into industrial products, according to Forman. In discussing some of the fish commonly used he noted that only 40 to 50 pounds of meat are obtained from 100 pounds of shrimp, which makes it an expensive item. Shrimp and prawns are the same thing, the name "prawn" only designates shrimp of southern origin. Forman said the U. S. government controls the season and production of halibut in Alaska and Canada. As at one time the fish was nearly extinct, the catch is limited. He added that the halibut is one of the few fish that live 40 or more years. The age of a halibut up to 40 years equals one pound of fish for each year, but it doesn't hold true after that. He noted that the nutritional value of the pink and red salmon is the same, that only the color makes the difference in the price. Fish are available in three forms, said Miss McNally. Whole fish such as hushers bring home from area streams; drawn fish, from which usually only the entrails and sometimes the scales are removed, and dressed or pan ready fish. Example of dressed fish are fish fillets in which there is seldom any bone and are cut lengthwise of the fish, and fish steaks in which there usually is a small section of back bone and are cut crosswise of the fish. The home economist advised the group to look for, or ask for, the government seal of approval as an assurance they are purchasing quality in frozen foods. Fish is an excellent source of

Bruins Take Doubleheader From Borah, Boise 1-1, 6-3; Craner Hits Homerun

BOISE, April 16—The Twin Falls Bruins, getting full-game pitching performance from juniors Danny Keller and Gary Rountree plus a homerun boost from Gary Craner, swept a doubleheader here yesterday. The Bruins had no trouble with

FROM ALL ANGLES

By LARRY HOVEY
The overall track picture in the fourth district seems to be picking up in tempo and should be blossoming next year and stay with us for about three years.

It has been the longest time since the fourth district went "homerun" to the state meet and around home more than a usual one or two individual championships. The fourth district hasn't had a state champion since 1948 when John Paul Thompson, who has been under 170 pounds since the 1950 state meet, although the Bruins were a state champion in the 100-yard dash in 1950 as well.

It is true the fourth district has failed in trying to produce individual titles during the interim. But the signs indicate it could become different in a year or two.

Twin Falls track coach, Larry Culver, believes the current crop of tracksters has a good potential of any group the Bruins have had since he's been here. Over the past three years, persons who have heard of the Bruins' conditions of Culver and then watched a final, they have come to know the Bruins' track.

Last week district C unveiled a fairly solid set of freshmen, including Joe McGeehan, Doug (Butch) Schow, McCollum and Schow, along with Robertson, led the freshmen in the 100-yard relay during the Hank Powers relay. Only inexperienced in running cross and one ball machine kept them from going all the way. It appeared, Schow, McCollum and Robertson, who are expected to enter the 1960-61 relay events during the Boise Junior high state meet, will be the mainstays of the third district powers.

The district should power tough in the mile again next season with the Carl Warren, Carey and sophomore Carney, Minico, back. Durley has a promising half-mile candidate in the 100-yard relay (when was the last time Durley had a promising half-mile candidate) with his older brother, Rick, attacking to the hurdles and sprint relays this season. Glenn has a pair in two outstanding 800's. After a 2:14 timing at Durley, he looked especially sharp in bringing the Bruins home first in the Hank Powers relay Thursday.

The Robake appear to be the squad to battle it out with Twin Falls over the next couple of years with the Chris Carey and sophomore Carney, Minico, back. Durley has a promising half-mile candidate in the 100-yard relay (when was the last time Durley had a promising half-mile candidate) with his older brother, Rick, attacking to the hurdles and sprint relays this season. Glenn has a pair in two outstanding 800's. After a 2:14 timing at Durley, he looked especially sharp in bringing the Bruins home first in the Hank Powers relay Thursday.

Up to now, the sophomores have governed the discussion but the juniors of today should not leave the district forgotten next year.

—Caretaker, who usually can run all day, has been mentioned. Butley has George Moffitt, who is a junior, running the 100-yard dash. This season, Gary Matlock, Butli, could come over as a pole vaulter, who are others, probably overlooked here.

There is a note of irony in the class B track competition this season. A year ago, young John Briggs, Carey, came out with the voiced intention of beating Valley's previous sprinter Bob Peterson, who was defending district 100-yard dash champion. Briggs accomplished his job and was the fourth in fourth in state in that event. It appeared that "Carey Come" was "It" for the next two years.

New Valley coach Bill Emerson has trotted out junior sprinter Dennis Schoedley for some Viking revenge.

After a rather poor 101 start, Schoedley went down to 105 two weeks ago and 103 Thursday. The two speed merchants, at this time holding their own, have run times that are class A school's athletes, haven't met yet under the great conditions that the class B schools have been using this year. It is doubtful whether the pair will square off in the district tournament unless both happen to enter the 300 invitational.

May will be the best time to enter the 100-yard dash, which will have a repeat class B champion. That hasn't happened for quite some time.

All the boys mentioned here are underclassmen and only they are capable of seeing whether their own time will be better than that. That's the beauty of track. An athlete with a "washed head" hurra for himself. There are no team medals for an athlete in the sprint to the wire.

Thailander Is New Flyweight Champion

BANGKOK, Thailand, April 16 (AP)—Pone Kingpetch, 21-year-old son of a poor Thai fisherman, today won the world flyweight boxing championship by split decision from defender Pascual Perez of Argentina in a bloody, 15-round bout. The tall, thin Thailander's left eye was swollen and blood dripped from a cut above the eye as he was proclaimed Thailand's first world boxing champion on the deciding vote of neutral judge Nat Fleischer of New York.

Fleischer, editor of Ring magazine and director of the title fight, cast his vote for Pone, 149-140. Referee Lorenzo Toranzo of Argentina voted for Perez, 145-143. Judge Wong Hirandee of Thailand, had Pone ahead 147-137. The 10-point "must" system of scoring was used in which winner of a round received 10 points and the loser one or two. Perez was a 2-1 favorite.

Pone weighed 112 pounds, Pone 110 1/2.
The crowd of more than 20,000, including the king and queen and members of the Thai cabinet, screamed in approval when Fleischer's vote was announced.

All of the spectators, including King Phumiphon Aduldej and Queen Sirikit, sat behind a high fence, erected to protect the fighters and officials. The royal couple and cabinet members were protected by a high robed blue and gold pavilion.

The fight was gone hectic in the past. Two years ago the crowd tore up seats and three bottles of beer were thrown at the fighter of the Philippines fouled Pone. Uraa required police protection.

But perfectionist Jones was not satisfied with his performance.

Miteff Takes TKO Victory Over Warner

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 16 (AP)—Alex Miteff can take care of the newcomers in the heavyweight class but he still must learn to handle the experienced fighters. Miteff said later he has been signed for a May fight against the New York Yankees in New York's Madison Square Garden. He added for Machen here Friday night when the Reading, Calif. fighter had to back out because of domestic difficulties.

Ground Crews Set Markers for Aerial Surveyors

Forest service crews are running vertical and horizontal control known altitudes and relative distances. This is one phase of the forest mapping. They are establishing markers which will be ground work. Much of the traveling can be done by helicopter, great-crested in the aerial photographs to be taken later. Highway Construction Is Moving Toward Automation in Surveying

Even highway construction has highway engineers have tapped re- but is also preliminary survey work that must be done before actual construction. This method has been under development for many years, but is making its first appearance now.

Stereograph at Ogden is used to determine distances, both horizontal and vertical, between two points. Operator utilizes aerial photographs taken of the area to draw a contour map. The map is then used to design engineers, who design the road, and then field maps are prepared from the design maps. (Forest service photo—staff engraving)

New Horizons Group Is Helping Mental Patients Back in Society

One of the biggest problems the mental patient faces is how to re-adjust to society once he is released from the hospital. "New Horizons," a non-profit, independent club of ex-mental patients, has been formed to help former patients.

White Rabbit Is Part of Ancient Traditions as Symbol for Easter

Posing for a picture with a white Easter rabbit, Kristin Osterhout, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Osterhout, perpetuates a tradition centuries old. Aside from giving present-day children something to look for on Easter morning, the Easter rabbit has played an important role in nursery lore since ancient times.

Kristin Osterhout, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Osterhout, Twin Falls, holds a white Easter rabbit, making one of the oldest traditions commonly associated with the Easter celebration. Since ancient times the rabbit has been associated with the nursery lore of Easter. (Staff photo—engraving)

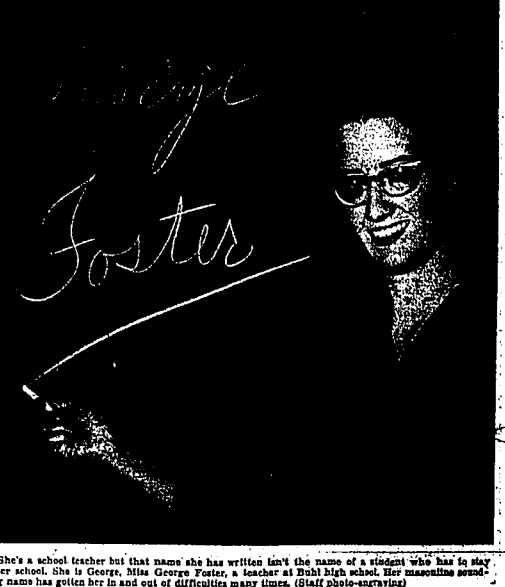

The tradition of the Easter rabbit has its roots in pagan customs of the ancient world, where the rabbit was looked upon as a symbol of fertility. Eventually the rabbit was associated with the Easter egg. The superstition grew that the rabbit lays eggs on Easter morning. Some authorities claim the egg was used because the ancients considered the egg a symbol of the resurrection of life in the spring because an egg holds the seed of life. Ancient Persians believed the earth was hatched from an egg at the time of the spring equinox.

Bun Teacher Is Well Aware of What Name Can Mean to Person

BUHL, April 16—The "What's a name?" question, leveled at a young teacher at Buhl high school, can bring a multitude of answers. For one thing, the teacher named Bun, the non-resistance would think. The teacher's name is George Foster, Miss George Foster.

In Abilene when she was in school, she was driving here last fall. I was driving through Utah. I passed through one of those little places. There wasn't a sign to tell me I was in a town, but it seems I was going 45 miles per hour in a 35-mile zone. A highway patrolman told me. He asked for my driver's license. I don't think he believed it, and then he asked who owned the car? She showed him the ownership papers. He believed it then, but it still cost her $15.

Although George is her legal name now, it was legally changed a few years ago. Her name situation hasn't always been this simple. What it was was Maedell, a synthesis of the names of her grandmothers, Ida Mae and Della Augusta. This proved difficult. No one knew how to pronounce it, spell it or remember it.

She's a school teacher but that name she has written isn't the name of a student who has to stay after school. She is George, Miss George Foster, a teacher at Buhl high school. Her masculine sounding name has gotten her in and out of difficulties many times. (Staff photo—engraving)

Crocheting, Organ Occupy Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Pickett, former Twin Falls residents who returned recently after living several years in California, occupy themselves with their individual interests. His includes crocheting and he has several colorful afghans to his credit. Pickett, who was raised on a ranch at Grouse creek, Utah, loves to travel and has toured Mexico, Alaska and the Hawaiian Islands as well as serving as an LDS missionary in England. (Staff)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Steve Pickett, who has returned to TWIN FALLS to live after spending several years in California, has a rather unusual hobby for a man, knitting and crocheting, in addition to being a "first rate cook, good nurse and being able to sew a fine seam." However, Pickett, who built some of the first log houses on Maurice street, is a husky six-footer who was raised on a ranch at Grouse creek, Utah. His wife, the former Ann Siskela, is a sister of Steve Siskela, BUHJ. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Siskela, homesteaded years ago at Buhi.

One of Pickett's principal hobbies is traveling and he has gone to the Hawaiian Islands, Alaska, and toured Mexico. He also served as an LDS missionary in England and put in a three-year stint of cooking for 175 miners at the V-point silver mine on the Utah-Idaho line.

Two years ago he and Mrs. Pickett moved to Grandview Trailer estate, Van Nuys, Calif., where he completed several afghans, one especially colorful in tones of brown, gold and red. He finished his 45th pair of "TV slippers."

Pickett plans to build home in Twin Falls and always plans to do more traveling in the future. He has a son, Ernest Pickett, Boise, and a daughter, Mrs. Cland Wells, OAKLEY.

Mrs. Pickett's daughters are Mrs. Ben Whitten, Mrs. William Whitten, both Twin Falls.

Jaunts Reported In Wendell Area

WENDELL, April 16—Mrs. Nellie Hamilton, returned this week from a six-week visit to Salem, Ore. Her house here she visited in Ontario, Ore., and in Boise.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Weinberg returned this week from Arizona. The Weinbergs spent the winter in California and Arizona.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Slicker and family, McCall, visited here the past week with relatives. Slicker attended the physical education and recreation meeting at Sun Valley the last of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. David L. Wash, Visalia friends in the area this week, returned from a visit to the Wendell area.

"New Horizons" Group Helping Former Mental Patient Returning to Society and to keep him financially stable until he finds a job.

The third resource pointed out to members is the state department of public assistance. This department can make services and funds available to returning patients.

The next resource is the state department of occupational rehabilitation. This agency can supply methods whereby ex-patients can get re-education and training to give them a chance to begin life and work again. Often patients can't or don't want to, return to their former occupations.

The fifth major resource of aid for the returning ex-patient is the state employment security agency. Schweitzer says, "It takes a tremendous amount of courage for an ex-patient to approach a potential employer, and this agency serves a valuable function in aiding the person in this work."

The hospital in this agency know what kind of work the patient is suited for and enables the agency to interpret the person's former illness to the potential employer. "The agency serves a valuable function in that it introduces the person to someone who is sympathetic and can help him re-adjust to life," Schweitzer notes.

By pointing out these aids the club puts the member on the road that leads back to a normal status in society. This is the important function of "New Horizons." The companionship and sympathy of the other members is by itself, but, nevertheless, important to many ex-patients.

So far as Schweitzer knows, this club is original in Idaho. He believes it will operate best in a rural situation where the resources on which they may rely are clearly defined.

Although most of the work of the club is directed to aiding the ex-mental patient, membership is limited to non-profit members of the family and friends of the patient can belong. Advice and direct help can be of use to these individuals also. Even persons entering a mental hospital for the first time have been aided by club members.

Schweitzer notes the club is not affiliated with any other members of America. The members are Dale Carmel's course, to mention just a few. It is non-sectarian, non-profit, and non-political. It is a state department of health.

Explaining how the organization works, he says, "Each member serves on a committee which helps the standing committee, elected by the membership of this committee, plus the other officers in the executive council.

"Each committee is to obtain and disseminate information and that the committee feels should have something to offer to the group."

"They then contact these agencies for more information on such things as eligibility, method of application, services offered, etc."

"This information is assembled in booklets available to members. In the past few months the club has been getting many referrals from the state hospital. This benefits the community and the patients."

"There are five standing committees in the organization: membership, welfare, rehabilitation, employment, and public relations."

"During the past year many members of the club have given speeches throughout the region and they frequently have held discussions, moderated by Schweitzer, before public meetings. Depending upon conditions Schweitzer says club members will be able to improve their stay here."

"The club adds that anyone interested in forming a group should contact the president, Mrs. Dale Carmel, Route 1, Eagle.

Improvement For Roads In Area Is Eyed

BUHI, April 16—Robert Erickson and Travis Dodder, members of the Buhi Chamber of Commerce, are planning to meet Thursday at Boise with the state highway board. Sen. George Black and an engineer from the Titan mobile base, Mountain Home, and discussed possible road improvements west from Castledale and Buhi through the middle base area.

Black said inadequate road link the two towns with the base and if a road could be constructed it would place Buhi and Castledale closer to the base.

Also discussed were improvements of roads between Pacific and Castledale. Roads linking Pacific with Castledale are part of a proposed "scenic route" through southern Idaho and some sections of the roads must be brought up to state highway standards.

His definite actions were taken during the meeting, but a state highway engineer will be sent to the Buhi-Castledale area in the "near future" to inspect road conditions.

Mrs. Ora L. Brackett Developed Area Ranch, Gained Honors for Pioneering

One of the most outstanding stock raisers in this section of the country is Mrs. Ora L. Brackett, a pioneer stockholder who was honored recently by being one of the first persons named to the Southern Idaho Livestock Hall of Fame. Mrs. Brackett was honored for her work in pioneering the livestock industry in southern Idaho, pioneering that involved hard work on her part. Widowed since 1924, she has operated her ranch on Flat Creek, west of Three Creeks, since then.

MRS. ORA L. BRACKETT

She has developed the ranch to the point where she and her son, Rex Brackett, run about 1,500 head of cattle. She attributes her success to the help she has received from her two children, Rex Brackett and Mrs. Roland Patrick. The Patricks also ranch in the Three Creeks area.

By the late 1920's she was getting back on her feet and soon added a neighboring ranch to her holdings. She has steadily developed the ranch and has seen the country change. She has worked as any of her cowhands and just recently spent three days in the saddle when she moved the cattle onto the desert pastures north of the ranch.

nine months of schooling in three months. And, actually, they went to school for 12 months out of the year, for when the teacher left in the fall they had to continue their studies in the evenings, tutored by their parents. The daytime in the fall, winter and spring was spent working on the ranch.

In addition to working outside, she also cooks for a normal crew of three men and sometimes as many as 10 during the haying season in July and August.

T.F. County Has Owned Cemetery Plot Since 1931 for People Without Funds

Since 1931 Twin Falls county has owned and maintained a plot of cemetery for those who die with no funds for their burial. Until 1931 the county paid burial expenses for these individuals and adding to the cost of burial for persons who die in the county (excepted from various cemeteries) so in 1931 the county purchased

Complete Feedmill Only One Like It West of Rockies.

This complete feedmill and pellet machine is the only one of its kind in the Rockies. Most Complete Feedmill on Wheels Is Grinding Cattle Feed in Magic Valley

The most complete feedmill on the feed front that is acquired into wheels west of the Rockies—a portable unit that grinds, mixes and pellets feed in any combination—is located in Magic Valley.

The feedmill is powered by a 140-horsepower GMC diesel motor that uses 4.5 gallons of diesel oil an hour. It really works when it comes to grinding and supplementing of hay, grain and supplement. The portable feedmill is the only one of its kind in the West.

Another motor of the same size and power is mounted at the front of the trailer where the pellets are made and augured out where the rancher wants them to be. At the Whitley ranch, where the pellets are gathered into a mound out of the weather in a large pile, the pellets are used for cattle feed.

Any size pellet from one-half inch to a half inch can be produced by the machine, Ferguson said. If a feeder would rather use large pellets, the machine produces a complete mixed feed that is unpalatable.

This machine is clearly part of the trend in agriculture to avoid handling heavy weights at the farm. The machine can be driven by any size where grain is available or brought in a truck. Then any pellets or combination pellets can be augured from its interior, Ferguson said.

Top County of PHILADELPHIA

Twin Falls county is one of the top 512 counties in the United States in the value of its agricultural real estate, Farm Journal magazine reports.

It ranks in the top 100 counties farm land and buildings worth more than 20 million dollars or more. Twin Falls' score is $101,157,200, the highest in the state.

Other Idaho counties in the select group are Blaine, Bonneville and Canyon.

With four counties in the select group, Idaho tops 21 of the nation's mainland states.

Turkey Industry Adds 329 Million Pay for Farmers

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—The turkey industry accounted for 329 million dollars of farmers' cash receipts in 1959, according to the agriculture department.

This return was five per cent above that of 1958, and was based on 1,375,600,000 pounds of live weight of turkeys.

The average farm price of turkeys last year was 23 cents per pound live weight, some as the average price received in 1958.

Prices during the first 10 months of 1959 averaged lower than a year

Some Spuds Are Planted But Most Wait for May

Spud planters went up and back across some fertile fields last week in Magic Valley, but the bulk of the new crop is to be planted in May.

Paul Hansen, manager of the J. B. Simpson company, Hayden, said the first of some 10,000 acres of contracted spuds were going in the ground in Blaine county, and would continue for some time.

C. J. Marshall, Jerome, began planting potatoes early in the week, and Bob Weaver, Buhl, said he knew of some few plantings made even the week before.

Gibb Miller, Kimberly, reported Oren, Boone, Twin Falls, also planted potatoes the week before.

Even more of the early state potatoes will be planted this week, however, wet weather.

Earlier, they advanced in November and December.

Turkey's raised in 1959 totaled 82,100,000 birds.

He said he was going to plant some Kennerbros, trying them for the first time, and also White Rose for the new Butley processing plant.

Present seed prices as reported by E. R. Harper are from $2 to $5.50 a hundred, depending on the grower and the quality of seed.

Yellow tog is reportedly going for about $1.

New Restrictions Urged In Use for Weed Killer

New restrictions on the use of 2, 4-D, the broad-leaved weed chemical, have been advised for farmers by manufacturing companies, says Warren Lowery, Twin Falls county weed director.

He said chemical companies are urging farmers not to spray weeds with 2, 4-D in pastures where milks are grazing. Residual effects in the milk will result from this practice, he implied. It is safe, however, to use it where the grazing animals are young, such as dairy heifers, steers or beef cows.

Another restriction, Lowery said, is in the use of 2, 4-D in wheat fields.

The weed-killer can be used in the grain field up to the time the grain is in the boot, and then it can't be used any more.

Last year, many grain fields were sprayed with 2, 4-D after the grain headed out, damage many annual weeds as well as sorghum, and Canada thistle. This year this practice will be discontinued if the manufacturers' recommendations are observed, Lowery said.

He added that the county weed bureau will not spray any grain fields for weeds at all once the grain is in the boot stage.

Fowl Purchases In Cancer Scare Posing Problem

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—The department of agriculture soon will announce plans for using about 11 million pounds of radioactive chickens purchased early this year.

The government bought the chickens after they were voluntarily taken off the market by producers and food stores. That action was taken at the request of Welfare Secretary Arthur S. Flemming who said the birds contained traces of a cancer-causing chemical called aflatoxin.

The purchase program ended Jan. 31. Since then, the department has kept the birds in cold storage, trying to work out a method of using them.

The food and drug administration (FDA) has said that the aflatoxin residing in the chickens are concentrated in the skin, liver and kidneys—and if these parts were removed, the rest of the meat would be perfectly safe.

Fewer Workers Are Employed on Farms in Nation

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—The monthly report on farm labor shows 2,293,000 persons were at work on farms during the survey week of March 29-26. This was eight per cent less than in the 1959 survey week and marks a new low for March.

The department of agriculture said the combined influences of cold weather and wet soils over most of the country were mainly responsible for the small employment.

Annual Forecasts for Big Wood River And Little Wood Estimate Less Water

HAILLEY. April 16—The annual water forecasts for Big and Little Wood river valleys' farmers by Norman Nelson, Boise state snow survey leader for the BGS, indicate a shorter supply.

The forecast for Little Wood river is 50,000 acre-feet, 58 per cent of the 87,000 acre-feet average for the past 15 years. The storage of water in the Little Wood river reservoir is now 18,000 acre-feet, according to O. L. Kimes, U. S. army engineer. The capacity of the reservoir is 20,000 acre-feet, and Kimes estimated if farmers don't start draining storage water too soon, the reservoir will fill.

More Than 6,000 Cattle Ranging South of River

More than 6,000 head of cattle are now grazing on the desert ranges on the south side of Snake River in Magic Valley, says Jack Wilson, district supervisor for the bureau of land management.

Wilson and Glenn Ford, division No. 1 manager for the bureau, said Oakley ranchers and Western Stockgrowers' association ranchers went out on the desert last week. A few ranchers went out the preceding week where they had grazing permits on crested sagebrush ranges, particularly south of Clover.

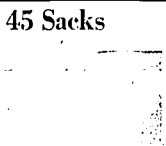

Western Stockgrowers' cattle went out near Hub creek and Oakley ranchers are on the ranges in their vicinity. On May 1 other cattlemen will bring their herds out and the total number of cattle on desert will

Fertilizer Supply For U.S. Reaches New High Marks

WASHINGTON. April 16 (AP)—The department of agriculture reports fertilizer supplies for the year ended June 30 will be a record 8,085,000 tons of plant nutrients—nitrogen, phosphate and potash.

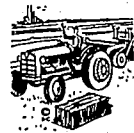

This is 5.2 per cent more than the tonnage on hand on June 30 a year ago.

The department said despite the increase in total supplies, such factors as the growing complexity of the industry, the need to provide the variety of materials demanded and the increasing quantity of fertilizers that must be moved in a short period, may create apparent scarcities.

Some 500 Acres of Lentils Are Being Planted This Year on Valley's Farms

Approximately 500 acres of lentils are being planted this year in Magic Valley, with the bulk reported on farmlands north of Rupert.

This is the second year the legume plant, which resembles peas, is going into this area, although on a larger scale. The present price for lentils has been reported by 150 dealers at $10 per hundred-weight.

Lentils are used for soups. They resemble peas in size, but are flatter. Yields on "experimental" acreages on the north side last year were given at 12 to 18 sacks to the acre.

Planted like peas and at the same time of year, the crop comes off toward the end of July, again like dry peas.

A grower in Rupert reported lentils need only some three waterings to do best, and should be planted on ground with some slope for good drainage. Otherwise the plants bleach easily.

The crop also can be contracted, and the W. J. Peters Warehouse company in Twin Falls and Paul is offering $1.50 per hundred. They also reported they will have ample seed for any farmer wanting to seed to farmers who want to raise lentils for the open market.

Last year the price was reported at $22 per sack. A current report from Spokane explains the price has been high for two years because Argentina and Chile, major producers, had a disease called rust-mold. Now, Chile, has completed harvest with a 30 per cent increase over last year.

Northwestern averages last year, expectations are that this season were offered at 30,000 acres, and will have from 50,000 to 60,000

This man is operating a tellurometer. It is an instrument that determines horizontal distances by utilizing a radio beam. This instrument is determining the distance to another mountain peak where there is a reflector. The tellurometer will measure the distance to the other mountain by measuring the time it takes the radio beam to travel to the reflector and back. Helicopters can carry the instrument to backwoods areas and eliminate days of travel by pack train. This man can convey by telephone with the reflector operator or the helicopter pilot. Cassia Deer Herd Being Maintained at Present Levels to Finish up Studies

The Cassia deer herd, which has been a problem for the state fish and game department, and in the immediate future will be maintained at its present level to determine the effect of the herd on the range in relation to the available range.

Les Trout, Idaho state fish and game biologist in charge of the herd, says every effort will be made to stabilize the herd size for probably another two years so an accurate estimate of several different factors can be determined, and the proper herd size established.

It is difficult to compare past records of the area because the methods used in compiling the information have varied. In the future such things as the location of game check stations, counting methods, range condition checks and the type of hunting season will be standardized, having no effect on the department's plans, according to Trout, both the present herd and the winter range are in good condition. The object of the department's studies is to arrive at a herd size that, through good and bad years, will be adaptable to the range conditions in the Cassia area. Roughly, the unit is bounded on the south by Nevada, on the west by highway 20, on the north by highway 20, and on the east, by highway 30 south.

Trout says that the present time it seems that a hunt similar to the 1959 hunt will accomplish the objective of maintaining a stable herd.

"We will try to maintain the herd at this level by harvesting an estimated annual increase. If we do this we can arrive at several important conclusions."

It has been estimated that the annual increase in the herd is about 2,500 animals. This is the approximate number of animals taken from the area during the 1959 hunting season. Trout says if this harvest can be stabilized four important points can be determined.

First, the condition of the range can be determined, particularly the winter range. Trends in the range conditions can be spotted. The fish and game department works with the forest service and the bureau of land management in range surveys.

Second, any trend in herd numbers can be detected. Each winter, providing the snow conditions warrant it, deer are counted in certain areas. Recently, the count has been made with helicopter. The comparison of a series of counts will determine how the herd is faring under present circumstances.

Third, the composition of the herd will reveal herd composition. The state-wide average of buck-toe deer is 57 per cent and 43 per cent. This is a healthy percentage but when the doe harvest climbs it can endanger herd growth.

Fourth, the composition of the post-hunt herd, taken by ground count, before the bucks drop their antlers, will reveal the composition of the remainder of the herd.

All these studies will show how the present herd size is adapting to its environment.

"We should be able to develop trends in another two years," Trout says.

Each winter, providing conditions are favorable, the department counts three representative winter range areas: Big-Mullen basin, Blue Hill and Dry Creek. These areas are the primary wintering range areas for the herd. Trout recently completed the count in these areas and the estimated number of deer wintering there is 1,601. Trout stresses that these are minimum figures and not a total count of the deer in the three areas. There are about five other major wintering areas in the Cassia unit. These three are picked to survey because of their accessibility and ease in counting deer.

This is just a fraction of the entire herd. Estimates for the entire herd could be placed between 7,500 and 10,000, but Trout points out that it is extremely difficult to arrive at a definite number for only—the only buck hunt in the history of the unit. The population continued to grow until in 1952 it was estimated the herd numbered about 11,000. The reason was opened on a permit basis, for the herd was depleting its winter range browse. From 1952 to 1956 the hunt was handled on a permit basis. In 1956 and 1957 the area was open. In 1958 the hunt was returned to permit hunt for the department. The area was being over-harvested. And in 1959 the hunt was opened again.

Trout believes the herd hunt harvested about the right amount of animals to keep the herd stable.

About 2,500 deer were harvested last year in the unit and another 465 per cent. It was a five-day hunt, but most of the hunters hit the area during the week-end, for 85 per cent of the deer were counted at check stations by Sunday night.

In checking records on hunters passing through the check stations, Trout determined that 80 per cent of the 5,000 hunters counted in the center part of the unit. There are 120 square miles of hunting area in the unit and the hunters used 32 square miles in the middle of the unit. Placing the center of this heavily hunted area between the headwaters of Rock creek and Goose creek, Trout drew a circle with the unit, having a diameter of 20 miles. He divided the circle into four quarters, north, south, east and west. The north quarter includes the Rock creek area. Of the 60 per cent of all the hunters in the unit, 10 per cent had 42 per cent of those hunters, with 36 per cent hunter success.

The west quarter included Shoshone basin. It had 22 per cent of those hunters, with a 53 per cent hunter success. The south quarter included Goose and Trout creeks. It had 15 per cent of those hunters, with a 64 per cent hunter success. The east quarter included the Trapper Creek drainage and the country around Bonanza range station. It had 10 per cent of the hunters, with a 55 per cent hunter success.

"This shows," Trout points out, "that the Rock creek area has too much of the overall winter pressure and it should be redistributed more evenly throughout the winter range area. And it could mean the Rock creek area is being over-hunted."

"The areas of least hunting pressure have the highest hunter success. We have all the hunters more evenly distributed throughout the winter range. It is more than adequate for the herd under the conditions that we've revealed in the past few years."

He points out the herd apparently fills the range conditions prevailing in the unit. He notes that the winter browse, such as bitterbrush, is not available in the winter range area. There are few young plants to replace the older plants that are, or soon will be, dying.

He says the department is trying to arrive at some economical method of providing revegetation in the areas where the browse is on the wane.

Composer Writes Musical Comedy

Norman S. Wood, Twin Falls piano instructor and composer, holds some of the music from a television musical comedy that he has written. It will be produced next fall and is entitled, "From Some Other World." It will be a series of 10 half-hour programs with a well-known star. (Staff photographing)

Composer Adds Finishing Touches for Movie Musical and Television Program

Norman S. Wood, musical composer who is a new resident of Twin Falls, is putting the finishing touches on two musical shows, one a motion picture musical and the other a television musical series. The music teacher has lived in Twin Falls since October. Wood has written more than 200 songs in his lifetime, many of them themes he composed for motion pictures during the 1930's. He is finishing the music for a 10-week series of 30-minute television shows that will be produced next fall. The arrangements for the show are incorporated as Wood doesn't know who all the performers will be but it will be a well-known musical-comedy star.

The name of the television show is "From Some Other World." It is a musical fantasy dealing with a girl from another planet who lands on Earth and eventually becomes a musical comedy star. It will be produced on a national network, but Wood doesn't know yet whether it will be scheduled for local viewing.

He has been writing the show since the Christmas holidays. He started after receiving encouragement from the person who will star in the show, someone with whom Wood worked with in the early days of radio.

Farm Bureau Aide Talks at Womens Meet

BURLEY, April 16 — Harold Smith, director of information for the Idaho Farm Bureau, stressed importance of farmers working in the political party of their choice, at a district meeting of Farm Bureau women here Wednesday at Nelson cafe.

"You cannot hope to retain your liberties if you fail too long as individuals to make the two-party system work as it should—to also balance the nation's system of checks and balances," the speaker noted.

He said that while the founding fathers of the nation hoped the country could operate without political parties, it was soon found after the adoption of the constitution it could not be done. The founders felt that what was most needed at the time was general agreement and this can come only in a dictatorship where one man does the thinking and deciding, he declared.

Grville Thompson, Rupert, district organizer for the Farm Bureau, attended and Mrs. James Brown, Springdale, past district chairman, was a guest.

Mrs. Donald Hill, Filer, is district women's chairman.

Heyburn Eyes Tree Purchase

HEYBURN, April 16—Approximately $300 has been collected from various sources to purchase trees and other items to beautify the village of Heyburn, the recreation committee reported at a village board meeting this week.

Mrs. Bud Scovill and Frank Herlihy, committee members, said the money has been collected from various sources. Newell Nelson, Burley, presented the audit of the village books which board members accepted.

Three new roads in the village will be completed and opened for travel within the next two weeks. They are three blocks on I street, two blocks on P street and one block on 17th street. Louis Blimpson is the contractor for building the roads.

The board discussed tiling the irrigation ditches, 50 feet on First street, 80 feet on 17th street and 40 feet on I street.

Building permits were granted to William Cole to remodel his home on highway 30 and I street; John Blankenship to build a repair and boot shop on the Alfredo road; John L. Green to move in and remodel a home on block 29, and to Floyd Cox to build a $10,000 home and to bring in three houses to remodel on 19th block.

"About as far as I could go," he worked at practically everything in a new radio station there. It was Wood who produced and directed the remote broadcast that celebrated the opening of the Idaho Haller hotel in 1927.

Later, he lived in San Francisco, where he directed bands and taught music. He was married by age and had a daughter. In the earthquake of 1923 he lost both his wife and daughter. Then he began teaching piano, producing home talent shows, doing benefits and working in radio stations throughout the mountain states.

Wood returned, but his wife was killed in an automobile accident in Oregon one year ago.

Last summer he was encouraged to finish the motion picture story and music. He was advised to move to a town that he liked and where he could work without interruption. He chose Twin Falls and moved here October 1959.

Eventually he took the band back East and played in vaudeville. His band, the "Blue Micro," played in all the top vaudeville houses, including the Palace.

After vaudeville began to decline, the "Blue Micro" broke up and Wood headed west again.

They're Cute and Mama Is Dangerous

People who accept young animals such as these black bear cubs during spring months often decide they are orphaned or lost, that they will perish unless taken in and provided for by kindly human beings willing to provide foster homes. Idaho fish and game Director Ross Leonard says this is not the case, to let them alone whether it's cub bears, deer fawns or elk or moose calves, or a most unlikely encounter with a young antelope, Rocky mountain goat or bighorn sheep. They are not lost or abandoned, will be cared for when intruders are gone. (Fish and game department photo-staff engraving)

"Lost" Infants of Wilderness Aren't Helped by Good Intentions of Humans

By JIM HUMPHREY
Idaho Fish and Game Department
There are good reasons why the Idaho fish and game department each spring admonishes all persons who find "wild" creatures, whether baby animals or fowl, to let them alone because the infants are not lost, not abandoned, and will do very well without the good intentions of their human friends.

Every year about this time, reports are received about the "discoverers" of such wild young animals who take dim views of the wilderness. Others, perhaps more fortunate, manage to get the youngsters home to food and care not available in the average home.

One of mankind's earliest penchants has been the domestication of all manner of wild life species, the animals, birds and even fishes over which he has concerned the passing of Beo Franklin, one of Adams' two grizzly bears. This great bear and his mate, Lady Washington, had followed their master down many game trails in the remote Sierra Nevada mountains, and the wild regions of the Intermountain West, where they actively participated in hunts—even against their own kind.

At any rate, the fabulous Mr. "Grizzly" Adams occupied a handsome apartment on San Francisco's City street with his "horrible" bears and a menagerie of other wild animals. That was back in 1846. He called the place the "Mountaineer museum."

Two years later, a San Francisco newspaper carried an obituary headlined, "Death of a Dislinguished Native Californian."

This great bear and his mate, Lady Washington, had followed their master down many game trails in the remote Sierra Nevada mountains, and the wild regions of the Intermountain West, where they actively participated in hunts—even against their own kind.

Idaho probably has less than 50 grizzly bears today, but the state harvests several hundred black or cinnamon bears in conjunction with elk and deer seasons every autumn. Black bear cubs are born during the winter hibernation period and do not leave the den for nearly three months. At birth they weigh only six to eight ounces, are blind, hairless, toothless and about nine inches long.

Remember, young wildlife animals or birds are difficult to care for, and some when grown are dangerous. Moreover, care in the home often makes many wild creatures unable to readjust to life in the back-country if the opportunity should ever again present itself.

Land Leased

RUPERT, April 16 — The Rev. James E. Brown, superintendent of the Idaho Ranch for Youth, announced this week that the ranch would lease 500 acres of land to Roland Jones and John Bell, Rupert. Improvements, including a new barn, are being made by the lessees, he said. The land being leased is located south of the ranch house near the railroad tracks.

Soybeans and Wheat Down During Week

CHICAGO, April 16 (AP)—Old crop wheat and soybean futures fell a tenth and a quarter, respectively, on the Chicago board of trade.

Other grains were down, only milk and soybean meal advanced by the Good Friday observance.

Compared with last week when it fell to 10 1/4¢ a bushel, wheat advanced to 11 1/4¢ on the 10 1/4¢ contract, and to 11 1/2¢ on the 10 1/4¢ contract.

The week's ending old wheat contract was the primary feature in wheat. The delivery dropped more than four cents a bushel since the contract's last trading on April 14, when it was 11 1/2¢. It was 11 1/4¢ on Monday, and 11 1/2¢ on Tuesday.

The week's ending soybean meal contract was the primary feature in soybean futures. Firm stocks were reported as 1,033,000 bushels as of April 1.

Export sales were light, but India and one million bushels of hard wheat. Scattered orders for soybeans were also reported.

Chamber Unit Has Plans for Check Abuses

The Commercial division of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce will start a program immediately to check on the use of checks as a means of evading business firm management.

Each participating business in the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce has had, for many years, a calling system to provide business firms with a list of checks that may be fraudulently passed and also on the professional check frauds that are operating in the area. The calling system has been effective and in the past five months, the information is received by the police department or by a business firm in Twin Falls which has been advised of the details.
