DeGaulle Algerian Bid Wins

PARIS, Jan. 9 (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle's Algerian program won the approval of 56.61 per cent of voters yesterday, a 65 per cent of the total reportedly hoped for.

Although abstentions cut the vote below the endorsement sought, there was every indication the president would win the outcome in the three-referendum as a mandate to proceed with his program.

De Gaulle has promised more government at once for the African territory and its self-majority and a self-determination referendum when the old nationalist rebellion is counting in Algeria was for the night, 67.8 per cent of the votes cast were in favor of De Gaulle's program, but abstentions were the result of a boycott by both diehard French colonialists and the nationalist rebels running as high as 40 per cent in some of the territory's 13 provinces.

The vote went to De Gaulle in only one department—Oran, a hotbed of colonialism and rebel nationalism as De Gaulle had said he would abstain from a vote in it and he did not get a solid majority. But Premier Michel Debré in a midnight TV appearance claimed a great victory for government and said exultantly: "What a feeling of rallying and strength the nation has, rising above those who would divide."

constitutional council registered 26,847,953; ballots 20,000,000; yes, 15,198,714; no, 4,801,286; void, 613,938.

yes vote in France thus 62.5 per cent of the ballots while the abstentions were 37.5 per cent.

polling was generally quiet. But in Algeria rebel clashes between troops and demonstrators resulted in 14 deaths, bringing the toll for the days of voting there to 29 and scores of wounded.

Emergency Plans For State's Jobless Pay Law Proposed

BOISE, Jan. 9 (AP)—Emergency changes in the state's unemployment compensation laws, intended to prevent suffering among idle northern Idaho workers, were proposed today in the senate. There were hints that regular legislative procedure would be bypassed in an effort to make the changes effective as promptly as possible. Basically, the proposal would use monthly instead of quarterly comparisons in determining whether unemployment benefits could be drawn for a period of 39 weeks, instead of the usual maximum of 26.

Third Victim Taken From AEC Mishap

IDAHO FALLS, Jan. 9 (AP)—The third victim's body today was removed from the scene of Tuesday's reactor explosion and the atomic energy commission began concentrating on putting the unit back in operation.

Arrested Here

EDWARD H. ELINE was arrested in Twin Falls Sunday morning by city police and held for Boise officers after he allegedly beat, kidnapped and raped a 22-year-old Boise housewife. Eline was arrested at the Depot Grill after taking the woman to the Magic Valley Memorial hospital. He was returned to Boise about noon Sunday where he was charged today with kidnapping. A $10,000 bond was not posted. (Staff photo-entourage.)

The bill was introduced in the senate by the state affairs committee. It was one of eight bills and a proposed constitutional amendment introduced.

The proposed amendment would remove from Idaho's constitution a ban on citizenship for persons of Oriental ancestry. The ban has been in the code for many years and attention was called to it in a story last fall by The Associated Press. At that time state officials said the ban apparently was being disregarded, since Orientals are accepted for citizenship under federal laws.

Among the bills introduced were measures changing the time of city elections from April to November and making terms of city officials begin on the first day of January thereafter.

Court Stops Dixon-Yates Damage Suit

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—The supreme court today nullified a $1,867,545 damage suit awarded against the government in the Dixon-Yates case on grounds the contract was "tainted" by a federal adviser's conflict of interest role. By a 6 to 3 decision, the court held the contract was invalidated legally because of the activities of New York investment banker Adolph H. Wenzell who served as a consultant when the Dixon-Yates combine won the 107 million dollar power plant award in 1954.

President Eisenhower canceled the contract to provide private power for the atomic energy commission after a series of senate hearings at which Democrats raised conflict-of-interest charges against Wenzell.

The Dixon-Yates combine sued the government for damages and was awarded $1,867,545 by a claims court. This was thrown out today by the high court.

In other actions today, the supreme court:

- ruled that Frankie Carbo, known as the underworld ruler of professional boxing, must stand trial in Los Angeles on charges of extortion and conspiracy.
- decided that consecutive sentences may be imposed both for conspiracy and a specific individual offense under the federal Hobbs labor anti-racketeering law.
- agreed to decide whether federal courts may bar peaceful (Continued on Page 3, Column 1)

County's New Officials Take Up Job Tasks

Five new office holders were installed in county offices in the Twin Falls county courthouse in brief ceremonies Monday. Afterward, the Twin Falls county commission met to reorganize and accept the resignation of Warren Lowery, county weed bureau director. It had been requested earlier.

Installed Monday were Probate Judge Zoe Ann Warberg; Coroner Claude Wiley; Constable Tim Qualls; Prosecuting Attorney James J. May and County Commissioner H. L. Cedarholm.

Sworn in at the same time were Sheriff James H. Benham, County Treasurer Rose J. Wilson, Assessor Clifford Thompson and County Surveyor John E. Hayes.

Also sworn in was new Commission Chairman Henry Crow who replaces Russell C. (Bud) Larsen as chairman, Larsen, at the suggestion of both Crow and Cedarholm, was appointed vice-chairman of the commission.

Miss Warberg replaces J. Dean Mosher whom she defeated in the November election. Mosher has since been appointed legislative assistant to Senator Frank Church in Washington. D.C. Wiley succeeds Dr. J. Woodson Creed, who defeated Max Woodall, files, for prosecuting attorney and Cedarholm won out over Harold Lancaster, files, for county commissioner.

Among first business before the commission was acceptance of Lowery's resignation. He will be replaced in a few weeks by Jack Thietzen, route 3, Twin Falls. The delay in change is to permit an "orderly transition," Crow said. Until assuming office as director, Thietzen will act as foreman of the county weed bureau.

In a prepared statement Crow said, "We are putting Thietzen back as head of the weed department." (Continued on Page 3, Column 4)

Backing Truck Kills Farmer in Paul Area

PAUL, Jan. 9—Matio Ramirez, 59, a farmer in the Emerson district near here, was crushed to death at 11:15 a.m. today when he was pinned between a cattle truck and a barn door on his farm two miles west and two miles south of Paul. Sheriff Theo Johnson reports Mr. Ramirez was getting ready to load cattle into a truck driven by Gaylord Phillips, Heyburn, to be taken to the sale ring when the accident occurred. The double doors on the barn had stuck on a piece of frozen ground and Mr. Ramirez was trying to free it when he was hit by the truck, Johnson said.

Phillips stated Mr. Ramirez had motioned him to back up and was standing in the clear when he started to back the truck. Sheriff Johnson said Mr. Ramirez apparently walked behind the truck to free the barn door which was struck part way open and was trapped.

The sheriff is continuing the investigation.

Centennial of Civil War in U. S. Starting

By The Associated Press

A nation once torn asunder by a Civil War officially observed the 100th anniversary of the outbreak of that tragic era Sunday with solemn pageantry and prayer.

One theme was dominant in the ceremonies: The nation had been able to reunite itself after the war.

Both North and South paid tribute to the commanding generals who battled for four long years in the country's costliest conflict until World War II.

Troops in full dress uniform stood under chilly, leaden skies in New York City while wreaths were laid in honor of the Northern commander, Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, at his tomb on the bank of the Hudson river.

The crusty old general's grandson, Maj. Gen. Ulysses S. Grant III, chairman of the National Civil War Centennial commission, placed the first of four wreaths in front of the tomb.

"The most wonderful part of Civil War," he said, "was that the members of the two armies were afterward able to work together to make this great nation what it is today."

Above him inscribed in granite were his grandfather's words: "Let us have peace."

The U. S. Military Academy band played "America the Beautiful" while other wreaths were placed at the tomb in behalf of the nation, the state of New York, the city and the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, an organization of descendants of Union army officers.

Gen. Robert E. Lee's efforts to heal the wounds of war were praised at ceremonies at the Confederate leader's tomb in Lexington, Va.

Judge Stalls Negro Entry In University

ATHENS, Ga., Jan. 9 (AP)—Two Negro students today began the process of registering for the University of Georgia with a notable minimum of incidents but a federal judge ordered a postponement before they could finish.

Attorneys for the students—Charlyne Hunter and Hamilton Holmes—said they would appeal immediately and Judge Elbert Tuttle of the fifth U. S. circuit court of appeals set a hearing at 2:30 p.m. EST today in Atlanta.

The students had begun the federal court-ordered process of becoming the first Negro students in the university's 175-year history when Federal Judge W. A. Bootle, Macon, Ga., postponed the integration order he issued only last Friday.

Bootle's new order was to allow the state of Georgia time to appeal his previous order that the students be admitted immediately.

Stockholders Of Companies To Pick Slate

Two area canal companies are holding annual stockholders meetings today at which directors will be elected.

Election of five directors was the main item of business on the agenda of the annual meeting Monday of the Twin Falls Canal company.

The group listened to reports and old and new business during the morning meeting at the Idaho theater.

Voting for new directors began at 11 a.m. and will close at 6 p.m. The polls are located at the company office.

The five men who were canal company directors during the past year are running for reelection. They are Tom Olmstead, Twin Falls; P. J. Frahm, Hansen; Ed Reichert, Piler; Saul Moore, Euhl, and Alfred Kramer, Castleford.

The annual stockholders meeting of the Salmon River Canal company convened at 1 p.m. at the Hollister Grange hall to elect five directors.

Board members during the past year were Lyle Shiffner, president, and John Pastoor, Ralph Schnell, Heber Loughmiller and Henry Rayborn, directors.

Charge Filed In Boise for Kidnap Case

A kidnap charge against a 26-year-old Boise cook was filed in Ada county today after his capture by police in Twin Falls early Sunday morning.

Eugene C. Smith, Ada county prosecuting attorney, filed the charge against Edward H. Eline who is alleged to have kidnaped a 22-year-old Boise housewife, Mrs. Sharon Morrow, about midnight Saturday.

Eline waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to district court by Justice of the Peace Frank E. Chaffin, Jr., who set Eline's bond at $10,000.

His victim remained in Magic Valley Memorial hospital Monday morning where more X-rays were being taken. An attendant at the hospital said Mrs. Morrow was "getting along just fine" and might be returning to Boise today or tomorrow. The attendant said she was treated for a fractured right shoulder apparently received during a struggle with her attacker at a Boise bench laundromat.

Eline was returned to Boise about 12:15 p.m. Sunday by a Boise detective and a patrolman.

Mrs. Morrow told Twin Falls police she was alone washing clothes at the Washateria on Vista avenue in Boise when shortly before midnight Saturday a man came in and held a gun on her. She said she managed to get a small .25 caliber Mauser from her purse, but the gun was empty. The man then struggled with her and hit her over the head with his gun three times, she said.

She said she was taken to a 1949 or 1950 maroon colored Mercury in a nearby parking lot and they drove to Barber about five miles up the Boise river where he raped her and took her diamond ring.

According to the woman's story, after she was raped, they returned to the Washateria and in the meantime he returned her diamond ring and told her he was sorry and didn't mean to hurt her.

When they arrived at the Washateria, he saw her husband and two police cars didn't stop. They headed back to town and drove around Boise for a short time and then headed west.

At Bliss Eline stopped and hooked the woman's .25 caliber Mauser for $2 worth of gasoline, the woman related. Afterwards they came (Continued on Page 3, Column 1)

Idaho's Road Death Toll Is Jumped to 5

MOUNTAIN HOME, Jan. 9 (AP)—Idaho's traffic toll for the year climbed to five today, three more than a year ago at this time, with the death in a one-car accident of John L. Durrant, 31, Mountain Home.

Durrant was fatally hurt and his wife, 25, was injured when the car in which they were riding went out of control on highway 30 nine miles west of here. Four children in the car escaped injury.

State police said that Durrant, an accountant, apparently fell asleep at the steering wheel. The car careened from the roadway and overturned. Durrant was thrown from the car.

The Durrants were returning from a Saturday visit with relatives at Meridian when the accident occurred early yesterday.

Bid Denied in New Trial of Suit on Road

District Judge Gilbert C. Norris, Weiser, last issued an order Wednesday denying the state highway department's motion for a new trial in the routing of the Eden-Hazelton area, it was reported here Monday.

A motion for a new hearing was submitted Nov. 15 on behalf of the state. The order said briefs submitted then had been considered and studied before denying it in its entirety.

The state highway board had intended building the road south of Eden and Hazelton against the wishes of farmers and merchants. They retained Twin Falls attorney Douglas Kramer to defend their cause.

Kramer said Monday he had no idea of the next step in the issue.

The route south of Eden and Hazelton was dubbed plan "A" and would take the road to an interchange on Twin Falls at Tipperary corner. Plan "C" would have routed the road through desert north of Eden and Hazelton. It was opposed by the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce because it would have placed the eastern interchange 21 miles from the city.

Twin Falls groups later proposed a route along the south side of the river, one which would not bypass the city area. It would cross the river once at the Hansen area and again at Glenns Ferry.

Judge Norris said earlier that the highway board had erred in placing the road through the Eden-Hazelton area.

McCauley's 1950 GMC pickup truck collided with a 1952 Plymouth driven by Betty Miller, 20, Jerome, when she stepped up in an attempt to cross the intersection after she saw the Miller car approaching, police reported.

There was an estimated $40 damage to the pickup and $80 damage to the Plymouth. Jerome police investigated.

Dale A. Manning, Boise, was fined $20 plus costs by King Hill Justice of the Peace Lynn Sherman for speeding and 45 and costs for driving on an expired chauffeur's license.

The "enemy" concerned in the case was not identified.

All five defendants were arrested over the week-end by Scotland Yard and special branch security men in downtown London and in Ruislip.

et Involved in Crash 'Speeding'

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—A United Airlines DC-9 jet was flying faster than prescribed limit speed when it overshot its glide and collided with a TWA Constellation here on Dec. 28, according to a civil aeronautics safety investigator.

Russell H. Abbott, Alexandria, Va., told a CAB hearing into the victim air accident that he piloted the New York-bound jet flying at 343 miles per hour when it approached its holding pattern over New Jersey.

The holding pattern approach recommended to United pilot by the airline's flight manual was 300 miles per hour.

They were atop a store roof, trying to fasten it down, when a gust blew the roof off.

was extended from the boom of a crane over the reactor in the center of the building.
Before positioning the crane and the 20-by-five-foot net, it was necessary to open the freight doors of the reactor building and remove a large "T" beam monorail. The rail was cut with an acetylene torch from a special lead shielded box lifted to the top of the freight doors outside the building by means of the crane.
Arm holes in the side and a lead-glass window permitted a man in the box to work with minimal exposure during the 30-minute operation.
The recovery operation was completed at 6:42 a.m. (EST).
The AEC said radiation readings of about 1,000 roentgens an hour were recorded yesterday on the reactor floor level. The reading was about 500 per hour on the side of the building and about one-half or one roentgen just outside the building.
The AEC added that the sluggishness of the reactor prevents an atomic bomb-type explosion.
It said there was no danger from radiation released when the rescue team entered the building.

County's New Officials Take Up Job Tasks

ment because of the demand of farmers that we do so."

On Friday afternoon the advisory committee to the county weed-bureau and a delegation of approximately 40 farmers voted before Crow and Cedarholm to retain Lowery on the job, saying he'd done a good job while in office.

Thietten was weed director from 1955 to 1958. Crow said that the commission had been approached by a similar delegation then asking them to retain Thietten.

Thietten built up an effective weed department, Crow said. When Lowery assumed office he found an effective foundation to work upon, Crow said. He also said Lowery's program of control had been a good one. Thietten is being appointed again because of a number of requests for his appointment, Crow concluded.

The commission also announced the replacement of Lotts Jennings as county buildings superintendent. He will be replaced by Rudy Hochhalter, former superintendent, fired when Jennings assumed office in 1959.

The positions of weed director and buildings superintendent are the only two political appointments. Changes are expected after each election if the majority party changes.

Beginning last Monday budgets for county offices will be studied. Crow said these deliberations will continue with the commission in session through Monday and succeeding days if necessary.

Commissioner Larsen was appointed to represent the county on the board of the southern Idaho regional health district. Cedarholm was delegated to the board of Magic Valley Memorial hospital and Crow will act as counsel to the department of public assistance.

Changes Are Proposed in Jobless Law — (From Page One) the state's operations in the next two years, got under way. The joint senate finance and house appropriations committee held its first meeting under the chairmanship of Sen. K. C. Barlow, R., Cassia.

R. M. D. Childs, state director of the budget, discussed the proposals of Gov. Robert E. Smylie, who outlined last week a spending program of 88.1 million dollars.

Barlow said the joint committee will be split into two teams to hear budget requests from all agencies which are financed by earmarked funds. The full committee will consider requests from agencies financed by general fund revenue.

Barlow has set a goal of Jan. 29 for the completion of the hearings. Thereafter the committee will draft the appropriation requests into bill form and introduce them for legislative consideration.

Introduction of the unemployment benefit extension bill came before the legislature. The second week of its 1961 session. State officials have said that unless the present laws are liberalized benefits of many workmen will be exhausted next month. Under present provisions of the law the effective period likely would become a lapse until then in the benefit period.

Last week 14 bills were introduced in the house and seven in the senate. In the 1959 session, no major legislation was introduced in the senate until the 12th legislative day.

The rate at which the legislature is proceeding is in line with statements of Republican leaders to provide a marked contrast with the Democratic controlled legislature two years ago. The Republicans hold a thin majority in both houses.

Rep. Harold Snow, R., Latah, house assistant majority leader, said, "We aim to get a number of bills on third reading and to vote before the week is old."

Balancing the budget and financing the needs of the state is the toughest problem facing the legislature. In view of developments in the first week it will be the object of continued heated controversy.

One prime example is in the field of education. Lawmakers can either follow the recommendations of Gov. Robert E. Smylie and boost education spending about 19 percent, or they can push it still higher.

If they take the latter course, they have before them a warning from the governor that they will need to impose new taxes.

If they fail to follow that upward course they will fall considerably short of the demands by educators, always one of the strongest lobbying groups in the capitol.

Demonstration of that school pressure came only 24 hours after Smylie outlined his budget proposals Friday.

R. LaVerne Marcum, Moreland, president of the Idaho Education Association, described the proposed five million dollar boost in school funds as "unrealistic."

on to Twin Falls where he said he knew Leo Boran at the Depot Grill. Police say Eline worked as a cook at the Depot Grill early in 1960. Eline told the Depot-Grill manager he had been in a wreck near Mountain Home and a woman had been hurt. He was advised to take her to the hospital, which he did. She said he left her there, saying he would return shortly.

In the meantime, at 5:50 a.m., Twin Falls police received a missing persons report from Boise police. The report noted the woman was missing from a laundromat and there were blood stains landing from the building to the parking lot.

At 8:35 a.m. local police received a telephone call from the supervisor at the Magic Valley Memorial hospital stating a woman had been checked in under somewhat mysterious circumstances.

Officers interrogated the woman at the hospital and learned what had happened to her during the past six and one-half hours. She gave them a description of the reddish-brown haired man who had taken her from the Boise laundromat and also gave a description of the car. Shortly thereafter Eline was apprehended without a struggle at the Depot Grill by Twin Falls police.

In a brief interrogation at the Twin Falls police station Sunday morning, Eline admitted to Chief of Police Howard Gillette that he had tried to hold up the woman with a gun and had hit her. He would neither admit nor deny kidnap and rape until he had consulted with legal counsel, he told the chief. Two Boise patrolmen and the husband came to Twin Falls after being notified of the capture.

One of the patrolmen with the husband said he had checked the laundromat shortly before the incident apparently

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—With his official household now fully staffed, it is clear that John F. Kennedy will neither tolerate nor rely on a "shadow president"—the kind of political confidantes who have been so influential in recent regimes, and not always too successfully.

It is going to the first one-man show at Washington in more than a quarter of a century. When Franklin D. Roosevelt created the "brain trust"—and then raised up several men almost to the level of the presidency—"Iron Pants" Hugh Johnson, Donald Richberg and, finally, Harry Hopkins—he set in motion the machinery of this hidden government, run by men who were not elected by the people or responsible to the principal.

Ray Tucker Dean Acheson. As a brilliant lawyer and former treasury official, Acheson was the "man behind the throne" in those days. His contribution explains the rough-hewn-Missourian's friendship and admiration for the erudite and polished aristocrat.

JFK—A LONER IN OFFICE—President Eisenhower virtually abdicated administrative and political responsibilities to Sherman Adams, with unfortunate results. On foreign affairs, he sat at the feet of John Foster Dulles, whose rigid policies are partially responsible for many of today's international crises.

With the exception of one of President-Elect Kennedy's attorney general, most of his cabinet members were strangers to him before he selected them. He has no close, personal bond with members of the cabinet or sub-cabinet structure.

It is quite clear that President-Elect Kennedy intends to channel all questions affecting domestic and foreign problems through his office and across his desk. He will accept full responsibility for every act, and not hide behind a subordinate's good or bad discharge of his duties.

It is no exaggeration to suggest that he is shouldering—consciously and deliberately—a heavier burden than any chief executive has borne in the past—and that at a moment in history when the world was never so troubled.

COMMENDATIONS FROM BARUCH—He has two things in his favor, however, for this unprecedented undertaking. He has youth, health and an infinite capacity for work and study. His hobby is politics and government. He will be a serious, steady-state president.

Secondly, almost every major appointee is an old hand at Washington. There are few amateurs or freshmen. Almost every man has seen service in one or several branches of the government during and since World War II. They will not be running to the White House with minor and petty matters—only when basic and grave decisions must be made by the president himself.

Interestingly, the nation's No. 1 adviser to presidents—Bernard M. Baruch—commends the Kennedy method. In his book, "The Public Years," he tells why Col. Edward M. House found it difficult to serve Woodrow Wilson, and the reasons behind their eventual estrangement.

For awhile, Baruch writes, Colonel House worried over the American press' enclaves of his services. He feared that these lavish articles might irritate the sensitive Wilson.

THREE SHADOW PRESIDENTS—"But in Paris," continues Baruch, "asked by the European press, which was lambasting the president at the same time, House no longer seemed troubled. There were some, in fact, who felt that House could have used his well-known influence with the British press in particular to protect the president from attack."

"House occupied that anomalous and always controversial position which belongs to men who, as 'presidential advisers,' exercise hidden power. Harry Hopkins was the Colonel House of Franklin Roosevelt's administration, and, like House, was a trusted, tireless worker who wielded extraordinary behind-the-scenes power."

"Sherman Adams occupied this position to an extent greater than either House or Hopkins achieved. So far as actual power is concerned, Presidents have always had their 'kitchen cabinets' and 'brain trusts.' But the question continues to recur as to what degree of power may safely be entrusted to presidential confidantes!"

VIEW'S OF OTHERS

FOREIGN AID IS NO CURE-ALL

There's evident differences of opinion between Senator Mike Mansfield, Democrat of Montana, and Senator Frank Church, Democrat of Idaho, over the value of our foreign aid programs.

Against the lurid background of southeast Asia's twisting, seething and sorely beleaguered Laos, Senator Mansfield in Washington puts out a statement, saying:

"It is evident that American policies, which have been responsible for the expenditure of approximately 300 million dollars in aid to that small, land-locked country during the past six or seven years, represent a gross over-commitment, a condition which was foreshadowed and noted as long ago as 1954."

There is little to show for these expenditures but chaos, discontent, armies on the loose, and a large U.S. mission of hundreds of officials in Vietnam."

Lately returned from a five weeks trip to Africa, Senator Church takes a diametrically opposing view when, speaking in Caldwell Tuesday night, he declares:

"What we do need to fear is that emerging African governments, lacking capital and competently trained personnel, will fail to satisfy the expectations of their people. . . . If the flow of Western capital and technical assistance into Africa were to stop tomorrow, within the forthcoming decade the Red flag would fly from Cairo to Capetown."

Now Laos, although it's been a kingdom for more than 600 years is still in many respects as truly an "emerging" nation as are any of that amazing swarm of new African nations lately fashioned out of amorphous materials with no historical backgrounds at all. Yet Senator Mansfield is of the opinion that our foreign aid to Laos has been wasted and perhaps caused more damage than of good; while Senator Church argues that we can withhold foreign aid from Africa only at our great peril.

Thus there is indicated a divergence of views on the matter which appertains not only to United States senators but to pretty much all the rest of us.

One might imagine that after 13 years of experience, involving an outlay of right around 100 billion dollars we'd have some pretty definite information on which to base an accurate estimate of the value of this foreign aid policy.

About all that can be said for it, though, is that it's no panacea or cure-all, and that if it is to do any good at all it has to be administered with a great deal of selectivity.—Boise Statesman.

ANOTHER 'ADDICTION'

A psychiatrist told a conference in Chicago recently that many executives and professional men are suffering from "work addiction" which, he said, was worse in some ways than drinking.

Dr. Nelson Bradley of Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, Ill., said men overwork for the same reason that alcoholics overdrink—to escape frustration. Just as the alcoholic has a craving for drink, the work addict has a craving for just plain grinding labor at the desk. He even suffers acute withdrawal symptoms when denied this escape.

Some individuals doubtless suffer from such a compulsion. Maybe they comprise a national problem. But for every "work addict" chained to his desk and his swivel 18 hours a day there are scores of "loafing addicts." Feet on the desk, they stare out the window and pretend to be deep in thought. Or they occupy themselves passing the time of day at the water cooler, kidding the girls, and taking innumerable trips to the coffee house. These sad cases spend needless time in the wastebasket and in long telephone conversations. They, too, have frustrations, tensions and anxieties.

We hope the experts don't overlook their problems.—Salt Lake Tribune.

PROGRESS? NOT ALWAYS

Change is not always progress and even if it is progressive, the drawbacks can exceed the advantages. And I have a specific example in mind.

Since the war, and maybe because of it, there has been a revolution in packaging various products. Anyway, until the war, the most popular size of flour was the 48-pound bag. And although it was a little messy to handle sometimes, you always had that nice flour sack when you'd consumed the flour.

The uses for flour sacks were too numerous to mention. Accomplished seamstresses even used flour sack material to make dresses.

Hardly anyone ever threw a flour sack away. But now flour is packaged in boxes and paper sacks that are good for nothing except to burn. Progress? I don't think so.

MORE DROUGHT

Pot Shots: What is the long-range forecast of weather? Is the drought supposed to end this winter? Why don't we hear more about it?

I suppose if this weather is any indication, we're in for more years of water shortages. After all, winter is just about over.

A Reader (Rt. 1, Twin Falls)

Pot Shots note: After all, winter is just about ready to start. We seem to recall that January and February are the worst months weatherwise. If we had to guess now, the guess would be for more drought, but it would be just that—a guess.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

The Austin Mirror, an influential Texas weekly by and for Negroes, has nominated Mrs. Lyndon (Lady Bird) Johnson to be "the nation's next Eleanor Roosevelt and carry the banner for equality."

This honor was paid Mrs. Johnson in an account of a historic occasion, an "integrated" tea party in the Austin Municipal auditorium last May 5. This was before Senator Johnson was nominated to run for vice president under Senator John Kennedy.

Mrs. Johnson comes from a small town in East Texas, known as the Piney Woods country, where the Negro population exceeds the white and where the white social and financial aristocracy has been exhausting its ingenuity and funds trying to withdraw public swimming pools and other recreation facilities from public ownership and deliver them to white societies or clubs.

The city council of Austin, the state capital, about 250 miles southwest of Marshall, had proclaimed May 5 "Lady Bird day" and the most important party of the day was the "tea." At the time, however, Senator Johnson's chances of nomination to either place on the Democratic ticket were doubtful. He had not committed himself to "integration" but had veered away from segregation by advocating "civil rights."

And, though he did not renounce Texas, a move that would have aroused tumults from all manner of Texans, he did strive to identify himself as a "Southwesterner." This diluted his Texas patrimony with the new temperance which is now combined in the old and new populations of West Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada, Southern California and Utah.

Many alert Texans realized what Johnson was up to and this evoked the cry of "turncoat." However, Johnson ultimately won and it seems that the old pride, not to say bombast, of Texas definitely has been humbled. The Texans of that style are scattered. They have no leadership and when they turn to the Republican party they find themselves with Senator Javits of New York.

Barry Goldwater offers no hope. His most ferocious expression on "integration" is that he thinks it is a question for the states, not the supreme court of congress. Actually, Goldwater's Arizona is not segregated except that the Southwestern Indians hold aloof from the Caucasians.

The old-style Texans have turned old Sam Rayburn's picture toward the wall because he saw the writing on that wall. He made a wordless surrender two or three years ago. It is impossible to determine from anything Rayburn has said whether he had any principle or even any policy as to "integration." His policy always has been to elect the Democratic ticket and, incidentally, himself. Like Mr. and Mrs. Johnson as of today, he probably would not oppose the nomination of a Negro, as a Negro, for president.

The great civic "tea" for Lady Bird was a local matter at the time. The Texas Negro press rejoiced, but the Caucasian papers of the large cities mostly ignored it as a feat of bad taste.

But the Johnsons were going for broke and they didn't go broke. The suggestion that Lady Bird, a name which now gasps Texas women of the old tradition, should succeed Eleanor Roosevelt, is not unreasonable. She has money, she has great nerve, and now she and her husband have reached the vice presidency by cold cunning and luck. Thus, with "good management" she might become the political patroness and boss of all but a scattered few of the nation's dark voters, including the Southwestern Mexicans.

The editorial in the Austin Mirror said: "This dynamic lady has become one of the outstanding women of Austin. In addition to the social obligations which she handles with remarkable ease, she is a successful business woman, she is the mother of Lynda Bird, 16, and Lucy Baines, 13, students in the Washington, D.C., public schools which have been integrated since 1954. Her income of $125,000 a year is certainly a tribute to womanhood."

The Mirror then related that 350 Negro women attended the "integrated" tea by special invitation, gathering around four huge silver punch bowls in easy conviviality with the white women.

Escape Injury

BOISE, Jan. 9 (AP)—Three Boise men escaped serious injury when two light planes collided 100 feet in the air over Bradley field late Saturday.

They are Max Berry, pilot of his Piper Superbub, a passenger in the Berry plane, John Carroll, and Bob Jensen, pilot of a Cessna 150.

Barry Goldwater offers no hope. His most ferocious expression on "integration" is that he thinks it is a question for the states, not the supreme court of congress. Actually, Goldwater's Arizona is not segregated except that the Southwestern Indians hold aloof from the Caucasians.

New Year's Is Time Italians Get Rid of Unwanted Things

By HENRY McLEMORE

ROME, Italy—A week has gone by since the New Year—came to Rome, but the memory lingers on. And it will continue to linger. I am sure, for as long as I live.

For New Year's Eve in Rome is like nothing else on Earth, and when the celebration comes—as a complete surprise, as it did to me, it is made doubly memorable.

There's none of this shaking of hands, hugging and kissing, and drinking of toasts for Romans when the hour of midnight strikes on New Year's eve.

That's for gentler races more conservative people. Rome greets the New Year in a manner calculated to shatter the ears of Father Time and undo the safety pins on the diaper of the baby ushering in the year-to-be.

On the stroke of midnight every window of every house, apartment, villa and palace in Rome is thrown wide open—and everything old, useless and not wanted is hurled out.

The seven hills resound to the clatter as princes and paupers, bankers and bootblacks, octogenarians and toddlers, give the loss in a city-wide housecleaning at midnight.

The higher a man's dwelling the better, for height increases velocity and velocity increases crash. The overall effect is that of a vast, heavenly trash barrel being emptied on the world.

During the hour or so that it takes the Romans to empty their dwellings of the broken, the chipped, the faded, the abandoned, the streets are a no-man's land.

Everyone remains under cover as the household barrage pounds the city. Cars are locked in garages or driven to deserted areas. Scooters are brought indoors. Valuable landscaping covered. Cops take refuge. It is worth a man's life to venture forth, and only a few foolhardy do.

There is no limit to what cascades from the windows. Anything that will go through a window goes. Wobbly dining room tables, three-legged chairs, wine bottles by the thousands, cups, saucers, plates, old pillows, cheese graters, mattresses, broken beds, old clothes, pictures with and without frames, ancient birdcages, books, book shelves, rugs, empty chairs, rickety sofas and worn-out shoes.

No one is certain when the custom of cleaning house on New Year's eve started, but it has been going on for centuries. It probably dates back to the time when clutter was supposed to drive away evil spirits, and if clutter is effective, then there must not be an evil spirit within hundreds of miles when the last wine bottle comes sailing out.

The city cleans up the mess, and it's a titanic one, as I can testify. Our quiet street was a junkyard in the morning, dominated by a double-bed mattress and a chest of drawers.

I have only one regret about the whole celebration: We live on ground-floor apartment, and throwing from there wasn't too satisfactory as it would have been, say, on the fourth floor. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate)

BIG JOB FOR CONGRESS

The 87th congress now convening will be asked in the two years ahead to perform many specific tasks, some urgent and some routine. It could fill another role of perhaps immeasurable consequence to the country.

It could help to establish a new national mood. Basically that burden falls upon the president-elect, John F. Kennedy. It was he who, during the long campaign, said he would demand new sacrifices from the American people. It was he, too, who often called for a return to the "pursuit of excellence."

If we are indeed to put ourselves on a new, high road of achievement, the new president must lead the way. In his office he has prestige and power to influence the citizenry as no other single man can do.

But the job should not be his alone. An alert, forward-looking congress can do much to fortify its presidential leadership in such a task.

In a recent statement, the National Committee for an Effective Congress put the challenge sharply:

"Certainly the judgment of history when applied to Mr. Kennedy and to the 87th congress will be based on how far they advance beyond the political routine of good house-keeping and start to cultivate the strains of quality by which the society can be rescued from mediocrity.

"Statesmanship will be tested by how far the frontier of excellence is penetrated."

In postwar America there has been too little interest in achievement, far too great a tendency to seek maximum return for minimum effort.

Often it has been argued that Americans today are afflicted with a lack of caring, that they are unconcerned with the fate and fortune of others, both at home and abroad.

Some would make an even stiffer case, however, with the contention that all too many do not really care enough about themselves. They measure achievement by the acquisition of material comforts, not by the pursuit and accomplishments of excellence.

The uniqueness of the human being, particularly the free human being, is his capacity to develop high physical and mental skills. If he does not use this capacity he is wasting himself.

We have had in this country too much of this kind of waste.

The task of the new president and a supporting congress is now to stir Americans to use themselves to the fullest, to end their self-defeating contentment with mediocrity, and put them back on the hard but rewarding path of accomplishment.

FIRE IN SAN FRANCISCO

Those who know San Francisco intimately often refer to it as the most interesting city in the United States—a place "where you can find anything and everything."

The old trolley cars, Fishermen's Wharf, Chinatown, the Golden Gate and Bay bridges, Twin Peaks, the Cliff House, Alcatraz, the Presidio, the old ferry building—these are but a few of many attractions which help to give San Francisco an atmosphere which is typically cosmopolitan. Its people come from all walks of life.

Those intimately familiar with San Francisco also are aware of the uglier things which are bound to characterize such a city. Unfortunately, for instance, the city has one of the worst Skid Rows to be found anywhere in the country.

During the last several days we have been reading about the fire which swept through the Thomas hotel. This hotel, a four-story, cheap-priced operation, is located right in the heart of the Skid Row area.

Only those familiar with San Francisco could read between the lines of the wire stories describing this hotel fire which claimed 19 lives.

What Fire Chief William Murray had to say about the fire only hinted at the conditions existing in the hotel and surrounding area in downtown San Francisco.

Many of the older residents were drunk, he said. They had just cashed pension checks and the halls of the burned-out building smelled of ashes, smoke and alcohol. The hotel, he said, housed many pensioners and others unable to work.

It's in this area of depraved squalor that the stranger to San Francisco sees conditions he cannot understand. Here is one of the foremost haunts in the United States for what is described as the "wino," the unfortunate soul who spends most of the money he can beg for the cheapest wine available.

To see these victims "passed out" in doorways to empty buildings and to hear others curse at everyone passing by is an experience almost unbelievable. But to watch the endless procession of pedestrians, including policemen, walking past these broken souls, almost oblivious to their pitiful predicament, is even more difficult to understand.

The suffering caused by the fire which swept through the Thomas hotel was nothing compared with the mental anguish endured in this particular area of San Francisco, day after day, week after week, year after year, with no apparent relief.

Iva Lee McClure, sister of the bride, dressed in blue taffeta, was maid of honor. Her corsage was pink carnations.

Lowell Anderson, college classmate of the bridegroom served as best man. Candlelighters were Roy McClure and Glenn Nelson. Ushers were Donald Aslett and Steven McClure.

Corsages for the bride and bridegroom's mothers and grandmothers, Mrs. Anny McClure, Shoshone; Mrs. Andrew Rosa, Jerome; and Mrs. Dave Aslett, Twin Falls, were of white carnations.

Immediately after the wedding reception was held at the Grange hall.

Mary Kay Alexander, cousin of the bride, registered the guests. Mrs. Mark Roberts was in charge of the gift book and Barbara Anderson, Carol Thiel, Rose Root and Joyce Davis displayed the gifts.

The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth over blue. The four-tiered wedding cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Glenn Nelson. It was trimmed with blue flowers and topped with a miniature bride and groom surrounded by white swans. Matching heart-shaped cakes and blue tapers were on either side.

Mrs. Nelson served the cake assisted by Mrs. James McClure. Mrs. Otto McClure poured coffee and Mrs. Zane Alexander presided at the punch-bowl.

Both are 1960 graduates of Dietrich high school. The bridegroom is a freshman at the University of Idaho, Moscow, where they will make their home.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

If the harassed boards of education would stop trying to provide modern education for its pupils and teachers by outmoded methods and take a new view of the whole picture from the structure of the building to the classroom management, they would come closer to meeting the situation.

Schooling has become very costly. It is the usual, everyday cost of these days. Our children must be educated for the world they will face, indeed are facing. We have to make each dollar do more and the place to start is with the building.

Now, the building is created for just one reason: For the education of the young. Good. Most people in this country have come to understand that the education of the individual student is the aim of the school. Experience tells us that this basic factor must be considered in constructing a school building and that makes the fixed classroom unit almost impossible.

Individual training calls for flexible units, movable walls, small units here and there for specific purposes which are specific only when the teacher says they are to be so.

Next, take another look at the notion that no class should number more than 30—or less than something else. The number of pupils in a class fluctuates with the situation facing the teacher. We have taught elementary classes of 50, sometimes more, successfully, and we have taught classes of 10, of one, according to the need of the pupils concerned. Also, we have taught classes of 500 in an auditorium using motion pictures, or music, and the children learned to the standard required by the states regents. The number of pupils to a teacher should vary with the need of the pupils, and the minds of the principal and teachers must be flexible to allow the program to be so.

Next, the quality of the teacher is highly important. The superior teacher can teach big classes and small ones because he can teach. This teacher cannot be had cheaply. Quality comes high and why shouldn't our children have such teachers?

What I am asking is that boards of education, faced with rising school costs, take a new look at the buildings, the programs, the curriculum, and above all, at the teaching staff and stop measuring teaching loads by "credit hours," in short, start over.

Tarkenton Is Hero for East All-Stars in 14-7

Hula Bowl Classic Win

HONOLULU, Jan. 9 (UPI)—Unheralded Francis Tarkenton, a sharp-shooting quarterback from the University of Georgia, put on a dazzling passing exhibition yesterday as he paced the East All-Stars to a 14-7 victory over the West All-Stars in the 15th annual Hula bowl classic at the Honolulu stadium. More than 17,000 fans sat under a balmy Hawaiian afternoon and watched the 6-foot, 1-inch, 190-pound Georgia whippet complete 19 out of 33 pass attempts for 204 yards and both of his team's touchdowns.

Horses Are Made Ready For Big Race

ARCADIA, Calif., Jan. 9 (UPI)—With 150 on the sidelines, most of the horses pointing for the estimated $170,000 maturity get in their final stakes prep for the big race limited to 4-year-olds in the $50,000 San Fernando stakes Saturday at Santa Anita. First Balcony, the surprise winner of last Saturday's $50,000 San Carlos sprint stakes, was not a favorite for the San Fernando, but he was expected to be made a supplementary entry for the maturity Jan. 28 along with T. V. Lark and Prove It who are in the San Fernando. T. V. Lark fell a length short of catching First Balcony in the San Carlos while spotting the winner 14 pounds under his top impost of 125 pounds. The San Fernando at 1 1/2 miles, however, should prove more to T. V. Lark's liking than the seven furlong San Carlos. The San Fernando drew a top field that, in addition to T. V. Lark and Prove It, includes such good ones as Tompon, winner of the Malibu stakes here Dec. 31, New Polky, Divine Comedy, Don Rickles, Dress Up, Nages and Prince Best.

Good Season On Waterfowl Is Reported

BOISE, Jan. 9 (UPI)—Idaho hunters shot well over one-half million ducks and there was a wintering population of some 263,000 as of Christmas day during the three-month waterfowl season. Idaho fish and game officials said today. The season ended Jan. 8. The department said that the volume of duck movement through the state this season was about 10 per cent higher than in 1959, and that the total harvest will probably be higher than the five-year average of 528,000. "The good waterfowl season, which began Oct. 8 for geese and three days later for ducks, resulted from better hunting weather than prevailed during the past several years," fish and game director Ross Leonard said. "Restoration of the half-hour before-sunrise shooting regulation may also have contributed to better hunting take." The annual mid-winter waterfowl census was made Jan. 4 by aerial and ground counting crews of federal and state workers, but figures have not yet been compiled.

Ferries and Werner Win At Alta Event

ALTA, Jan. 9 (UPI)—U. S. Olympic skier Chuck Ferris of Denver University and Buddy Werner of Colorado University finished 1-2 in the annual Snow cup race today. It was Werner's first race since he broke his leg—and that was just before the winter Olympics last year. Werner was then rated probably the best skier in the nation. But Ferris nipped him in the Snow cup, finishing in a time of one minute-28 4/5 seconds down the 3 1/2-mile course at Alta. Werner's time was 1:27 3/5. Margo Walters, Salt Lake City, won the women's Snow cup race in 2:46 2/5. Betty Campbell, Sun Valley, was second in 3:38. There were only two women competing. Two other Olympic skiers competed. Max Marolt, Denver University, finished in a tie for fourth with his collegiate ski mate, Allen Miller, in 1:29 4/5. Carl Burcher, Sun Valley, was third in 1:30 1/5. The defending Snow cup champion, Dave Gorsch of Denver U., was seventh in 1:33 2/5. Jim Egan of the University of Utah was sixth in 1:33 1/5. Gray Reynolds, McCall, Idaho, was eighth in 1:33 2/5. Roche Bush of CU was 10th in 1:37. Pepi Granshammer, an alternate Olympic skier of Sun Valley, was 11th in 1:37 1/5.

Black Hawks Hit Toronto In 5-1 Win

By The Associated Press
The rampaging Chicago Black Hawks, winner of seven games in a row, today were just nine points out of first place in the National Hockey league and looking straight up. The Hawks whipped Toronto Maple Leafs 5-1 Sunday night for No. 7 behind the brilliant work of goalie Glenn (Shutout) Hall. The triumph left the Hawks only two points back of the second place Leafs. Hall, who already has blanketed the opposition a half-dozen times this season, had another fine showing in the works until Ed Snick scored for the Leafs with just one minute to play. In other games, the New York Rangers stopped the league-leading Montreal Canadiens 4-2 and the Detroit Red Wings snapped to life with a 5-3 decision over the Boston Bruins.

Hawks Win in Game; Celtics Draw Blood

By The Associated Press
The Hawks won the ball game, the Celtics drew the blood; the fans sat on their hands and Auerbach kept face with all. That's the story of Sunday's National Basketball association game between the St. Louis Hawks, Western division leaders, and the Boston Celtics, Eastern division rulers. The Hawks came out on top by a whopping 133-104 margin. The defeat was one of the worst ever absorbed by the Celtics. With 2:37 left in the first half, someone—still unidentified—walloped Hawk ace Bob Pettit. He had a 1 1/2-inch gash alongside his left eye and had to retire for repairs. The last time the Celtics showed up in St. Louis, the spectators came equipped with plenty of eggs. This time they confined themselves to cheering the locals on. Boston coach Red Auerbach had only one technical foul call against him. The other two league games Sunday, the Syracuse Nationals turned back the Detroit Pistons 138-116 and the New York Knicks erobacked nipped the Philadelphia Warriors 121-111. The Nats broke a 60-all half-time deadlock and exploded in the third period with Dolph Schayes leading the drive. "The Knicks' victory was their third in a row. The Knicks rushed into the lead over the Warriors in the third period. At one stage, they scored 18 points while holding Philadelphia to 2.

Lincoln Carried Nine Times For West For 19 Yards

The score was set up when Mason muffed Washington's George Fleming's opening kickoff, Henry Fong, Hawaii, recovered for the west. Wiesner was the workhorse in the east backfield, carrying the ball 12 times for 52 yards. Matte also was called with 12 carries but he was forced to eat the ball several times during pass attempts. Pass reception-wise, Mason caught six passes for 61 yards. Moorman four for 71 yards, Adley four for 47 yards and Ditka four for 42 yards. Lincoln carried nine times for the west for 19 yards. Schloredt, two-time choice as the most valuable player in the Rose bowl, completed seven of 17 passes for 111 yards. However, he had three passes intercepted.

Spring Training Date Announced

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9 (UPI)—The Los Angeles Angels, Southern California's entry in the American league, will report for their first spring training in little more than a month—Feb. 24 to be exact—at Palm Springs, Calif. General Manager Fred Haney of the Angels made the announcement yesterday, adding that the club would train at the Polo Grounds, a stadium in the desert city which had been used in the past by Pacific Coast league teams. The field has been enlarged to seat 3,000 spectators. Haney also announced a 28-game schedule, which will begin Saturday, March 11, at Palm Springs, against the National league Chicago Cubs. The spring-training schedule runs through April 9.

Prep Hoopster Hits 104 Points

CAMDEN, Tenn., Jan. 9 (UPI)—"Everybody on the team said they wanted me to set a record," explained Danny Boyd, a 16-year-old farm boy who poured in 104 points in a high school basketball game, "so I just kept going." The 6-foot, 11-inch, 166-pound senior with the dead-eye set the record—24 above the recognized Tennessee mark—as Camden overwhelmed Clarksville 130-43 for its 18th victory in 19 games. "I was embarrassed about scoring all of those points," Boyd said at his home near here. "I didn't want to play the last half." He played 28 minutes, sitting out the last four.

Walks on Chairs

Spectators stare at the startling sight of St. John's Tony Jackson tip-toeing along back of chairs at Madison Square Garden in New York during a basketball game against Temple university. During floor action, Jackson ran so hard he couldn't stop and wound up doing the balancing act. Jackson was worth watching on the floor, too. He scored 27 points as St. John's won 81-60. Harney Leads Field In Los Angeles Open

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9 (AP)—The $45,000 Los Angeles Open Golf tournament reached the showdown stage today with Paul Harney leading the procession. Harney was the first to admit that his lead was a risky one—just one stroke in front as the final 18 holes got under way. The immediate target was the $7,500 first money for the winner. "Sure, I wish I had a few more strokes leeway," said the 31-year-old professional from Worcester, Mass. Harney took over the lead Saturday with his second straight 68 for 136, and clung tenaciously to the lead with a par 71 Sunday. Harney's nearest challengers were Leopol Hebert, a former National PGA champion and brother of the 1959 PGA champion, Jay; Bob Rosburg, no stranger to the tournament trials, and Bob Gouby, who closed out the 1960 season with a win in the Coral Gables, Fla., Open. Two strokes behind the leader were ex-U.S. Open champion Billy Casper, Jr., and two relative dark-horses, Bob Gajda, a club pro from Bloomfield Hills, Mich., and 25-year-old Tommy Jacobs, pro in the Bermuda-Dunes Country club in the Palm Springs area. Crammed in brackets within five strokes of Harney were other dangerous threats. Included were Art Wall, Jr., Ken Venturi and Ted Kroll, in the 211 group. Gary Player, Eric Monti, Jim Ferree and Tom Aaron were grouped at 210, and Eric Brown of England, Dutch Harrison and others at 212.

Durocher Is Expected to Rejoin Team

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9 (UPI)—Leo Durocher is expected to rejoin the baseball fraternity today after a six-year absence—but as a Los Angeles Dodger coach and not in the familiar fire manager's role he's best known for. Announcement of his appointment to the Dodger coaching staff was expected at a press conference (2 p.m. PST—5 p.m. EST) called by both Durocher and Los Angeles manager Walter Alton. Alton flew from his home in Ohio to confer with the former Giants and Dodgers manager, but it was believed that the deal was already set—else why call the press conference. "If Durocher joins the Dodgers as figured, he would replace Coach Greg Mulleavy, who underwent two stomach operations last year and dropped out of his coaching post, for at least a season because of his health. Mulleavy is now in the Dodger scouting organization. Durocher—who plotted both the Giants and the Dodgers to National all league pennants—was approached about the coaching job a couple of weeks after he charged he was being kept out of baseball by an owner's blacklist. "I'd be tickled to death to be back with the Dodgers," Leo said when told he was being considered for the job. Three weeks ago Durocher signed a contract with the Mutual Broadcasting system as a sports-caster, but it was believed he could handle the short daily sports show while coaching for Los Angeles.

Practice Sessions To Start Today

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9 (UPI)—The opposing pro bowl coaches, Buck Shaw of the East and Vince Lombardi of the West, send their squads through the first all out practice sessions today, but neither drill will be heavy. Both Lombardi and Shaw agreed yesterday, as they watched their players drill lightly for the photographers, that heavy workouts for Sunday's post season encounter probably wouldn't be needed. "These are good football players, and they're smart football players," explained Lombardi, who during the regular season guided the Green Bay Packers to the Western division crown of the National Football league. "They don't need heavy practice."

Other teams already scheduled for the '61 campaign are the Cal Aggies at Davis, Sept. 23 and Chico State at Santa Clara Oct. 26. The state now is about half complete. Senior Bowl Records Fall; South Wins

MOBILE, Ala., Jan. 9 (UPI)—A flock of records fell in Saturday's 12th annual Senior bowl football game, but the frenzied windup in which the South won 33-26 is what the fans will be talking about for awhile. Here's what happened: The South was leading 26-20 when Dick Norman of Stanford hit Fred Arbans of Michigan State on a 29-yard pass play to give the North the ball at the South 29. On the next play, with three minutes left in the game, Norman tossed to Don Smith of Missouri at the 15 and the half-back made it the rest of the way on a sparkling run to tie the score at 26-26. Bobby Linder of Auburn broke through the line and blocked the extra point by Stanford's Skip Face. The South took the following kickoff but couldn't get moving. Bobby Wagner of Georgia then led the North without maneuvering room when his 64-yard punt rolled dead inside the Yankee one. Three line plays brought it only to the six and Face punted to the North 42 with 10 seconds left. On the next play quarterback Norman Shead of Wake Forest handed off to Ed Dyas of Auburn, then took a lateral from Dyas and loosed a long pass into the end zone. Georgia's Fred Brown made a dazzling catch although apparently well covered. The clock showed seven seconds left and the South led 32-26. Dyas, holder of the NCAA season's conversion record of 13, then kicked his third extra point of the day. Brown, the South leading rusher with 44 yards in 12 carries, scored his team's first and last touchdowns. He had circled right end in the first quarter for 10 yards and a score.

Pitcher Dies

SCHOOLBOY ROWE, who helped pitch the Detroit Tigers to two consecutive American league pennants in the 1930s, died at his home in El Dorado, Tex., Sunday night of a heart attack. Rowe, whose real name was Lynwood Thomas, was a scout for the Detroit Tigers. His major league career included nine seasons with Detroit, five with the Philadelphia Phillies, and one with Brooklyn. He previously had served as a coach on the Tigers' staff and managed in the Detroit farm system. Rowe was born in Waco, Tex., but grew up in El Dorado, and it was here he got the nickname Schoolboy. As a high school kid he once pitched against and beat one of his teachers in a semi-pro game. The headline in the El Dorado Daily News the next morning read, "Schoolboy beats teacher." Rowe's 15 seasons in the majors saw him in one—all-star game (1936) and three world series. His lifetime record in the big leagues was 158 victories, 101 defeats. His greatest year was 1934, when as a Tiger he won 24 games and lost 8. He was a 19-game winner in each of the next two seasons. He pitched for the American league record for most consecutive games won in one season—10. They came in 1934.

NCAA Council To Consider Athletic Code

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 9 (UPI)—Frank McGuire was close to the hot seat. Bud Wilkinson hoped to relinquish it. Tulsa and Southern California stood by ready to resume their places as members in good-standing with the National Collegiate Athletic association. This was the situation today as the powerful 18-man NCAA council met to consider reported violations of its athletic code. McGuire, North Carolina's successful 155-win-47 lost basketball coach said Sunday, "I'm innocent. The school is innocent." He replied to questions concerning the NCAA's investigation of the Tar Heel's basketball recruiting program. Wilkinson, famed football coach and athletic director of the Oklahoma Sooners, said, "I am hopeful. You know it was a long time ago. But you never know." He spoke of a football recruiting fund in existence at Oklahoma between 1952 and 1954. Its disclosure brought indefinite probation for the Sooners last year and barred Oklahoma from postseason bowls and NCAA-controlled television. Wilkinson's "you never know" recalled the case of Southern Cal, scheduled to be removed from probation two years ago but held off an additional two-year penalty. This time the Trojans expect to be restored to good graces, as does Tulsa, which was hit with a one-year probation the same time Oklahoma was censured. In the case of North Carolina, the NCAA had no comment. Executive director Walt Byers finally admitted the investigation was in progress (it has been going on for a year and a half) after the Associated Press reported the appearance of McGuire and three other North Carolina representatives at Sunday's council meeting. Byers did say, however, that he expected to make an announcement in the cases of Oklahoma, Tulsa and Southern Cal.

Rodriguez Faces Barrow Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9 (UPI)—Sixto Rodriguez will be out for revenge tonight when he faces sharp punching Kirk Barrow of Spokane, Wash., in a 10-round light heavyweight bout at Kezar Pavilion. Barrow scored a unanimous decision over Rodriguez last July 19 and also dropped him during the contest. After that bout the handsome Spokane contender stopped Terry Lewis, who outweighed him by 50 pounds and Earl Allen, then lost a split verdict to Pete Rademacher. Rodriguez holds the California state light-heavyweight crown and is said to be turning into more of a puncher. He kayced Britain's Johnny Sullivan in his most recent outing.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—The U.S. Commerce department reported today that the average size of American families in 1960 was 3.68 persons.

The department revealed the statistic in a report on household and family characteristics.

The size of American families varies among rural and urban families and among white and non-white families, the report said.

For white families, the average shown in the report was 3.61 persons while non-white families averaged 4.39 persons.

One in five of the rural-farm families consisted of six or more persons while only about one in eight of the non-farm families were in that category.

Change, Progress Reported In Lincoln County Farming

SHOSHONE, Jan. 9—Change and progress is noted in the beef, dairy and sheep business of Lincoln county, indicates the annual report of J. Howard Manning, county extension agent.

Good management practices result in a better grade of calves and feeder stock, he notes. About 115 bulls were graded on a four last spring, the report states. Quality of bulls has improved greatly since the first four a few years ago.

The tour was planned and sponsored by Gooding and Lincoln counties which use the north Shoshone and Thoreau creek units jointly.

Arrangement of feed lots and use of labor-saving equipment on the Howard Hill farm is being discussed. Hill feeds about 400 head per year.

More power feed boxes are being used in the county this year. Dairying in the county is being improved by the use of new herringbone and walk-through type milking parlors, pipeline milkers and bulk tanks. The number of dairy herds and size of herds are increasing.

Membership in the Richfield DHIA has doubled the past year. The 4-H club has led to an improved quality of Lincoln county's dairy cattle.

Keith Jackson's herd of registered milking Shorthorns continues to take its share of awards at local and district fairs. His herd is listed among the best of milking Shorthorns.

The Lincoln county wool pool is still helping the farmers to get the top price for their wool. The association marketed 127,200 pounds of wool from 56 growers at 47.03 cents per pound. The Lincoln County Marketing Association joined with the Gooding County association to present a lamb promotional program during the year.

The Shoshone sales yard has grown considerably during the year to the advantage of local farmers.

The chicken business in the county is centered in the Dietrich area. There are 255,000 broilers being raised each year in Dietrich area. This includes the operation of Erick and Wilford Hubert, Parley Clegg and H. B. Paulson. There are also a few smaller flocks and some commercial laying flocks in the county.

Yields of most crops in the county were down during the year. A late frost killed the first planting of beans and corn on June 17. Grain and hay crops were hurt and hot weather later on caused a sharp reduction in grain yields.

Apples in the hay reduced some second crop yields and most of the third crop. Several farmers bought lady bugs in quantity to destroy aphids.

Yield in beets grown in the eastern end of the county was good, and the potato crop was good. Corn got off to a bad start due to the late spring, but only the top was frozen and the corn growth was average. Clover seed yield was low, also due to the pea aphid.

Gas Station's Roof Falls on Car at Night

BURLEY, Jan. 9—A section of roof 25 feet long and 4 1/2 feet wide on the Bob Merritt service station collapsed Sunday night on top of a parked 1960 Chevrolet owned by Gene Asatiani, Burley.

Chad Vets, station employee, said damage to the car seems to be slight. The section of roof will have to be removed from the car before an exact estimate can be made, he added.

The wire-covered cement-stucco structure protruded over the edge of the main building and apparently was supported by rafters placed 16 inches apart and nailed to the main roof, Vets reported.

Parke Burn, station employee, indicated the collapse was caused by faulty construction.

The section fell sometime between 5 p.m. Sunday and 7:40 a.m. Monday. Vers discovered the damage when he opened the station for business.

The service station was built 15 years ago, Vers reported. The building is owned by Frank Toner, 1550 Overland; Burley.

New Sciences Building Will Be Requested

POCATELLO, Jan. 9 (UPI)—If there's any way possible, State Rep. Carl Burt, R. Ada, said today, the legislature will get new science buildings for both the University of Idaho and Idaho State college.

Speaking for a group of law students currently touring state institutions to study buildings and other requests, Burt said the university—visited on Friday—needs a science hall, heating system repairs.

"They need a few other things," he added, "but will finance the way they get them."

Burt, chairman of the house state institutions committee, said the lawmakers found only 283 students enrolled at the 33-acre campus Lewis-Clark normal school, Lewiston.

"It's a disgrace not to be making some further use of the building," he said.

He said that after visiting the industrial training school at St. Anthony, the committee felt that replacement of an 1898 building there was of highest priority. He added that the governor and pre-legislative budget committee felt the same.

But Burt said the committee found existing buildings at state hospital school, Blackfoot, to be doing the job. As far as new buildings are concerned for that institution, he said, "there are other places in the state that need them more."

The committee planned to visit state institutions at Gooding this afternoon before returning to Boise.

Officials Who Judged Cuba Are Attacked

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (UPI)—Sen. George A. Smathers, D. Fla., says the state department should be swept clean from top to bottom to assist officials who used bad judgment in relations toward Cuba's Fidel Castro.

Smathers conceded last night that such a house cleaning would require a change in civil service laws which protect lower echelon officials and said that this would be very difficult to do.

But he declared on a radio program that "the bureaucrats who stay on... and prepare position papers" can influence the judgment and sometimes change the viewpoint of key officials.

Smathers said the first error of the Eisenhower administration in its Cuban policy came at the outset when officials refused to recognize that Castro had surrounded himself with communist followers.

"Lesson Not Learned" Referring to state department officials, he said "this group here clasped him to their bosoms, saying he was a great social reformer when actually one lesson we should have learned from the time of Stalin to date is that you can't do business with the communists."

"There are those in the state department who thought by some miracle they could change the convictions of Fidel Castro," Smathers said, but he added: "I don't attribute to these people who have been directing the affairs of state any motives except blind judgment... they made mistakes in good conscience."

The

New Leaders Installed for Jerome Club

JEROME, Jan. 9.—E. A. (Al) Lindquist, Blackfoot, spoke on the Kiwanis theme for 1961, "Build Responsible Citizenship," at the installation banquet of the Kiwanis club Thursday evening at the Episcopal parish hall.

Frank Brodgen was installed as president of the club. Other officers installed are Elba Pielstick, vice president; J. R. Wiley, secretary, and Dale Burkhalter, Richard Eyerson, Allan Millard, Gerald Oster and William Walig, directors.

Lieut. Gov. Cap Senten, Buhl, Buhl, was installing officer. "We are living in a great and exciting world with many challenges. The citizens of the U.S. must have and build faith in their leaders to cope with situations that arise daily with unscrupulous leaders who pull power before principle and wealth before goodness."

"We are free people living in a free country where we must do all we can for our government rather than assume the attitude of so many today: 'What will the government do for me?'" Lindquist said.

"Many people in the world are confused, they are so busy hunting for righteousness they can't find time to practice it; others can trace their ancestry back some 300 years, yet they don't know where their children are tonight. 'In these times man must have faith, abundant hope, charity and faith in God. A man never grows so tall as when he is bowing his head before God,'" Lindquist said.

Guests were present at the meeting from Buhl, Piler and Twin Falls. Keith and Andy Johansen sang several numbers, accompanied by Bonnie Johansen at the piano.
