New Commercial Zone Studied for Blue Lakes Area

The Twin Falls city planning and zoning commission is considering creation of a new zone—a combination C-1 and C-2—J. L. Dondanville, chairman, said at a special meeting of the group Thursday evening. The issue arose when the group, which met with city commissioners and city officials, discussed possible rezoning of Blue Lakes boulevard north. At the Feb. 13 city commission meeting, commissioners tabled five requests for rezoning on that thoroughfare and asked the planning group to consider rezoning the entire street between Five Points north and the city limits.

U.N. Troops Check Story Of Invasions

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo, Feb. 24 (UP)—A United Nations patrol, with orders to shoot if necessary, headed toward Luluabourg today to investigate reports that Lumumbist forces had moved on the capital Kasai province. U. N. officials said troops still loyal to former premier Patrice Lumumba were reported near Luluabourg, apparently after an overland march of nearly 500 miles from the Lumumbist stronghold of Stanleyville.

The U. N. said it had no information on the size of strength of the Lumumbist force or its intentions. But a U. N. Ghanian patrol was dispatched with orders to prevent clashes between rival Congolese factions, using force only if necessary. The security council recently empowered U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld to use force when needed. The patrol was sent in response to an appeal from the anti-Lumumbist commander at Luluabourg, Col. Mbojoko, the U. N. said. At the same time, the U. N. reported that troops commanded by Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu swept through the town of Lisala in Equatorial province yesterday, pillaging and molesting women. It said the outraged population began a march on the Mobutu camp but fell back when his troops returned with their booty and some women. More confusion was added to the already-confused Congo situation when Batuba leader Jacob Sendwe officially "proclaimed" the creation of still another "semi-autonomous" state. Sendwe claimed the jurisdiction of his new state of "Lualaba" extended over three-quarters of Katanga province. He said his "government" in Manono will back the central government headed by Premier Joseph Ileo in Leopoldville.

Strike Ended; Airports Are Normal Again

NEW YORK, Feb. 24 (UP)—Airports around the nation hummed with activity again today and the big passenger planes zoomed into the air in increasing numbers with the end of a flight engineers' strike. The six-day work stoppage, worst since American aviation history, cost crippled airlines an estimated 40 million dollars. Many more millions were lost by vacation resorts and industries connected with air travel. Railroads and bus lines reaped an unexpected revenue harvest, however. Travel plans of an estimated 500,000 persons were affected during the shut-down period. Many of them were stranded away from home when the strike began, and had difficulties obtaining alternate transportation. With the whine of big jets and the roar of propeller-driven aircraft once more heard on the runways, Pan American World Airways was the first to restore full service. It announced this morning that operations were back to 100 per cent. Other lines ranged downward to as low as 30 per cent. Some said it might take them a day or two more to get all schedules going again.

Man Who Once Mined in Area Is Object of Search

An escaped mental patient who once mined in Stanley basin and also near Atlanta in Elmore county is the object of a manhunt in Oregon's Cascade mountains. Steve Solovick, who reportedly wounded a member of a sheriff's posse Tuesday in a gun battle, is described as a tall, husky man about 50 who escaped about a year ago from the VA hospital at Beaverton, Ore. He has been living in the wilds of the Cascades since then. Being alone off the game he shoots and vegetables—he raises his own food in the Stanley basin from 1948 to 1952. This was documented in the "Life in Magic Valley" column in the Times-News in the summer of 1959 when Mr. and Mrs. David Chadwick, Hollister, reported finding an old journal written by the man. While vacationing in the Stanley area, Chadwick happened upon an old deserted cabin four miles above Stanley lake. Among evidence of former habitation in the form of tin cans, the Hollister man found pages apparently from a diary. Written in a combination of English and German, the date of March 5, 1952, was visible, as well as Solovick's name on several pages. Chadwick said Friday he had talked to the Stanley postmistress about the man and she had known him well.

Donation Made to Buy Industrial Site

Charles H. (Cap) Krengel, left, former president of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce and long interested in the growth of Twin Falls, presents a check to help purchase a new industrial site to William Koch, president of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce. Krengel was one of the first to donate to the fund being raised by the chamber to purchase a 64-acre tract near the Amalgamated Sugar company. He also was one of the first to donate to a similar fund in 1914 to purchase a 30-acre site. The land will cost $78,000 and another $27,000 is needed to build a railroad siding. The chamber had $35,750 in the fund originally and approximately $15,000 has been collected to date. The drive which began Monday has a deadline next Monday when the option on the land expires. New Storm Sweeps Out of Plains Area

A new snowstorm pushed across the southern plains today, dumping snow, sleet and mud flakes on communities hit by almost two feet of snow early this week. Fresh rains hit rain-soaked Dixie, raising threats that flooding rivers which drove more than 6,000 persons from their homes would rise again after beginning to recede. At least six persons have drowned in Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama during a week of torrential rainfall that brought a record total of 16.53 inches of rain to Bessemer, Ala., during the prolonged onslaught. Fog added to the weather death toll in Dixie. Four youths were killed and five injured last night at Conover, N. C., when two vehicles piled into the rear end of a wrecker in a dense fog. The new snowstorm unloaded three inches of snow on Clovis, N. M., and two inches on the Texas panhandle and southwestern and central Oklahoma. The weather bureau said up to four inches would fall in Oklahoma before the storm moves on eastward, spreading rain across the Gulf states and rain or snow northeastward into the Ohio valley. Winds up to 30 miles an hour drifted the snow on the panhandle high plains, closed several highways and cut visibility to zero at Amarillo. The winds whipped up dust in west Texas. It mixed with the snow and fell as mud flakes in the Seminole and Denver City areas. It was raining again today in Hattiesburg, Miss., where more than 5,000 persons were left homeless by the flooding Leal and Bowe rivers. The flood waters receded slightly at Hattiesburg last night but observers said most rivers in Mississippi were still rising. The national guard began patrolling Hattiesburg after looting was reported in the damaged business district. Near Montgomery, Ala., a 600,000 herd of cattle wandered into the flood and was feared lost. Mississippi officials estimated the state's flood damage costs would top one million dollars, matching earlier estimates at Birmingham, Ala. At least 5,000 persons rode helicopters, boats, private grade amphibians and private transportation away from their homes and out of danger in Mississippi.

Couple's Four Children Not Missing, But Dead, Police Claim After Probe

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 24 (UP)—The four children whom Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dudley claim they gave away three years ago to a fellow carnival worker are not missing, but dead, police believe. The macabre conclusion was announced by authorities last night—two weeks from the day that the emaciated body of a fifth Dudley child, Carol Ann, 7, was found in a woods near Lawrenceville, Va. Dudley, 47, and his wife, 44, are being held on charges of neglect which caused Carol Ann to die of malnutrition and exposure. A formal statement by Brunswick county and state police officials last night said their extensive investigation into the case of the missing Dudley children indicated "none are alive."

Utilities Revenue Plan Dies; Stamp Bill Given Smylie

BOISE, Feb. 24 (UP)—The trading representatives killed 39-16 today a bill stamp controversy is now the headache of which would have given all Gem state county Gov. Robert E. Smylie. The house passed a cut of tax revenues from hydro-electric plants. The measure would have provided that the tax assessment on the power generating facilities of all electric utilities would be spread among the 44 counties instead of just the counties in which the plants are located. Rep. H. Grant Gardner, Payette, said the "waters of the state of Idaho belong to all the state and not just to Washington, Gooding and Caribou counties." Gardner said power generating facilities account for 12.5 per cent of the state's total evaluation and that six counties with one per cent of the population get 30 per cent of the tax revenue from the plants. "Gentlemen, this isn't right," Rep. Clyde C. Petersen, R., Gooding, said the "gentlemen who conceived this bill had a little greed in their minds and a little larceny in their hearts. This is the greatest plating act ever attempted in the state of Idaho. It borders on socialism. If not downright communism. The loss of revenue from local taxes would be ruinous." Rep. W. Clay Sutton, D., Washington, described the measure as "an unfair, impractical and non-sensical approach." Idaho Power company's Brownlow dam is located in Washington county and its addition to the tax rolls two years ago greatly increased the county's assessed valuation. Sutton said that Washington county was "in poverty until we got these dams," and he added that the revenue from taxes was essential for support of the county's schools. The chairman of the joint finance-appropriations committee said he held no animosity for Atty. Gen. Frank L. Benson but held him as "an object of pity." Sen. K. C. Barlow, R., Cassia, made the remarks on the floor of the senate in reply to a letter which had been placed on the desk of the senators appealing for more money so that the attorney general's office could handle the highway department. (Continued on Page 2, Column 8)

Benson Asks Added Funds For His Staff

BOISE, Feb. 24 (UP)—Atty. Gen. Frank L. Benson called upon Republican lawmakers yesterday "to set aside petty politics" and provide his office with a "sufficient staff." Benson, a Democrat, in a prepared statement "to the members of the 30th legislature," gave his side of the dispute between himself and Gov. Robert E. Smylie. Benson said he had been accused by Gov. Robert E. Smylie of conducting a "long vendetta with the highway department." "So many complaints about its operation have come into my office," Benson said of the department, "that I felt I could not sit idly by."

Check Asked

BOISE, Feb. 24 (UP)—Atty. Gen. Frank Benson asked the Idaho legislature today to set up an bipartisan interim legislative committee "to investigate not only the attorney general's office, but the highway department, the state insurance fund and some of the other state agencies." He said he had been accused by Gov. Robert E. Smylie of conducting a "long vendetta with the highway department." "So many complaints about its operation have come into my office," Benson said of the department, "that I felt I could not sit idly by."

Burley Power Plans Sent to Senate Group

BOISE, Feb. 24 (UP)—A senate bill designed to resolve an electrical power dispute at Burley was put on general orders for amendment in the house today after a brief debate. Rep. Don Pieper, D., Bonneville, made the motion to have the bill amended saying in its present form it would be harmful to REA and other power cooperatives elsewhere in the state. The bill would bring municipal operated power systems under provisions of the so-called "anti-prating" laws. It arose out of dispute between a municipal power company in Burley and area cooperatives there. Rep. Charles Powers, D., Custer, tried to block the move to amend the bill contending "I really feel this is a move to get the bill killed. . . I think it's a good bill and we shouldn't try to amend it." The proposed amendment also brought objection from Dale Garner, R., Minidoka, who said REA said it felt the bill should come out as amended and proposed amendment would make the bill unconstitutional. "I believe the amendments are agreeable to most of us," said Rep. John Moynihan, D., Kootenai, but "I object because I'm afraid by the time it's amended and goes to the senate it will be killed." "I have no intention of killing this bill," said Pieper. Pieper added that Sen. K. C. Barlow, R., Cassia, has a deep interest in this bill and "I feel certain with his power he can get it passed even if there are five minutes left."

Cuba Change Takes Shape Of Red Mold

HAVANA, Feb. 24 (UP)—Fidel Castro recast his government today in a communist-shape mold and gave Ernesto Guevara direction of the nation's industries. The sweeping governmental reorganization after a marathon cabinet session also spelled out the functions of the three-month central planning council headed by the prime minister. His brother and heir apparent, Armed Forces Minister Raul Castro, was named council vice president. Expected for several weeks, the reshuffle came months after teams of Cuban administrative technicians visited iron curtain countries. They spent considerable time in Czechoslovakia and diplomats here said the bulk of the changes were drawn up in Prague. Guevara, the ultra-left Argentine soldier-of-fortune who fought with the Castros in the hills of Cuba, was clearly established as third in line in the revolutionary hierarchy by being named head of the key new ministry of industries. He had used his previous job as head of the national bank to shake off economic ties with the United States and link Cuba's economy to the Soviet Union, and the communist bloc. The council, which includes Guevara and all other ministers, was made the over-all supervisor of the nation's economic life, much as such councils function in the communist states. But Guevara was given virtually dictatorial powers over the nation's industries. Among his powers, he was given specific authority to "create, dissolve and modify" all state industries.

Church Rejects Title for Leader

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic, Feb. 24 (UP)—The Dominican Republic's Roman Catholic bishops have rejected a government request that the bestow a church title on Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo. The refusal could mean renewed troubles between the church and Trujillo's government. President Joaquin Balaguer last month asked the nation's bishops to award Trujillo, the country's real ruler, the title of "benefactor of the Catholic Church" of the Dominican Republic. The bishops, in a letter published yesterday in the pro-government newspaper El Caribe, said such titles are handed out only by the Vatican.

Embezzler's Book Might Explain Act

SHELDON, Ia., Feb. 24 (AP)—The novel was "a guiding influence" on her life, according to the pastor of her church.

She lent it to a friend, and recommended it as a good guide for living.

And she had marked in it a brief passage of 35 words, two sentences, that perhaps provide a clue to help answer the question of why Sheldon, Ia.'s "lady beautiful" embezzled more than two million dollars from her father's bank.

Passage Marked

This is the passage that 58-year-old Mrs. Burville Geiger marked in her copy of the 1929 best seller "Magnificent Obsession".

"Anything a man really wanted, he could have if he hammered long enough at the doors behind which it was guarded. If he didn't get it, it was because he didn't want it badly enough."

The novel by Lloyd Douglas is the story of a remorse-stricken woman who secretly performs good deeds.

Mrs. Geiger, who was sentenced Friday to 15 years in prison, had been keeping a secret for more than 30 years, according to her attorney.

She Finds Struggle

The attorney, Warren Dunkle, said she may have begun her embezzlement shortly after going to work in her father's bank, when she discovered a $75,000 shortage and tried to hide it.

Mrs. Geiger covered up for other people, too. For a man who had helped refurnish and remodel her home, and who according to Dunkle forged her name to checks. For the Northern Biochemical corporation, which submitted bad checks that she honored because she thought the young firm was good for the town. And to others, she was a friend in need. She was a "lady beautiful."

Embezzler Didn't Profit

Was it because, as in the lines from the book, she wanted something—to help people—badly enough to "hammer . . . at the doors behind which it was guarded?" There seemed little to indicate that she profited from her secret embezzling.

Her husband, Wallace, showed a United Press International reporter through his nine-room, 48-year-old house Sunday in the first interview he has granted at his home since his wife was arrested on Jan. 16.

"I want you to see how we live," Geiger said. "I know we have a nice home, but it's no nicer than many other persons have."

Mrs. Geiger's long-held secret is out. But she has not tried to explain herself. Her reasons, her feelings, are locked with her in her jail cell, unless her attorney was right when he said, "Apparently she just wasn't capable of turning down anyone she thought was in need."

Fourth Meet on Conservation Is Set for Monday

JEROME, Feb. 24—The public is invited to attend the fourth in a series of five conservation information forums sponsored by the Idaho fish and game department at 8 p. m. next Monday at the Jerome courthouse, says Donald Martin, president of the Jerome County Rod and Gun club.

Michael Throckmorton, conservation educator in charge of the forum meetings, says the final session will be on fisheries management. The last session will be held March 13.

Shriver May Lead Corps

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—R. Sargent Shriver, President Kennedy's brother-in-law, is drafting the administration's program for a peace corps abroad—and may lead the operation.

Informed sources reported this last night, but stressed there has been no final decision as to whether Shriver will become director of the program.

In a speech during the presidential campaign last year, Kennedy proposed organization of a peace corps to serve overseas in aiding underdeveloped countries.

Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago said there yesterday that Shriver had advised him he would be unable to resume the presidency of the Chicago board of education because Kennedy has given him an assignment in the new administration.

At present, that assignment is to blueprint plans for the peace corps.

Shriver has set up an office near the White House and is being assisted by a small staff.

Defeat Studied

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—The Republican national committee will send study groups of 15 major cities to find out how to cut down big Democratic metropolitan pluralities in future elections.

This was made known along with news that a special GOP committee headed by Ohio state Chairman Ray C. Bliss will meet here March 17-18.

The group was created last month to chart ways to reverse the Democratic vote in the big cities that helped put President Kennedy in the White House.

Knowledge of Faiths Scored "Inadequate"

NEW YORK, Feb. 24 (AP)—Americans are plagued with an educational blind spot—knowledge about each other's religion.

This is the view of one of the country's leading educators and interfaith diplomats, Dr. Lewis Webster Jones, and he sees the problem as an increasingly critical one.

"It's immensely serious," he said.

"We have a religiously illiterate population. And this is true of some of our most educated people."

Neglect of the subject, he said in an interview, has left people with garbled and often absurd notions of their neighbors' beliefs, and been a breeding ground for misapprehensions, false tales and ill will that strains community relationships.

"It's one of the worst of all social diseases," he said, "and one of the most dangerous for the welfare of the republic. Religious divisiveness can do more to destroy the union than any other."

Dr. Jones, a veteran university administrator, is now president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, whose wide-ranging, nation-wide program aims at bringing fuller understanding among the country's various religious groups.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—The Kennedy administration has been surprised and alarmed by the growth of tariff-protectionist sentiment on Capitol Hill and throughout the country, reversing an attitude of the last 30 years.

Both union and corporate interests, which once favored the sort of free trade arrangement sponsored by FDR and Cordell Hull in order to sell our products abroad, are now hostile to the idea of the gold-dollar program. In accentuating the perils of the gold-dollar problem and balance of trade deficits, both former President Eisenhower and President Kennedy have made this question a sore spot. They have popularized a highly technical subject.

The latest evidence of a change in the free trade sentiment came when President Kennedy, as did Eisenhower, asked for American membership in the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development.

COORDINATION ON TRADE TARIFFS SOUGHT

Since our adherence assumes the form of a treaty, it requires a two-thirds favorable vote by the senate. The new organization, OECD, will consist of 18 West European nations, the United States and Canada. Its purpose is to coordinate trade, tariff and financial policies.

In short, as noted in this column recently, although not generally understood, it will be a novel and daring experiment in meshing banking, financial and monetary problems—a commercial sort of United Nations, but without Russian participation in the delicate field of international trade and finance.

ECONOMIC ISOLATIONISM—GROWING IN THE U. S.

However, after years of quiet assent to the free trade doctrine of the Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower regimes, American interests hitherto favorable to this system are beginning to revolt under Kennedy. And they view the proposed membership in OECD as another attempt to lower our tariff walls, which have been weakened through the many concessions we have made under the reciprocal trade agreement.

The White House is so disturbed over these signs of congressional "economic isolationism" that it sent its top spokesmen to Capitol Hill on behalf of OECD. They included Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Treasury Secretary C. Douglas Dillon and undersecretary of state for economic affairs, George Ball.

They assured the senate foreign affairs committee that OECD would enjoy no jurisdiction over tariff reductions, imports or exports. It was, they said, designed to coordinate financial and commercial policies among the 20 non-communist nations.

Russia's warfare against the United States, the United Nations and the western world, they told the senators, has become economic rather than military. Therefore, they said, the West must organize on a new front.

UNANSWERED QUESTIONS REMAIN

Naturally, the senators asked pertinent questions which have not, as yet, been answered satisfactorily by administration spokesmen.

If OECD is not designed to deal with trade and tariffs, why join it at all?

If it is a scheme for lowering our tariff walls, now so low under reciprocal trade agreement concessions that they endanger many key industries and cause unemployment, why stick our economic neck out again?

These are questions which the senators are asking. If OECD is designed to coordinate our financial, monetary and commercial problems with those of 19 other nations, does this not mean that they will eventually dominate and influence the bread-and-butter policies affecting our national economy?

VIEWS OF OTHERS

A MASTER PLAN FOR GROWTH

Somewhat coming in for federal aid to employ a city planning specialist, Pocatello, which is Idaho's third largest population center, now has under consideration this specialist's conclusions reached in his study with purpose to develop a master plan for that area's growth and development.

Except that they're largely concerned with Pocatello's position as a transportation center and one of this country's most highly specialized cities. In that regard, this master planner's conclusions and recommendations might apply very nicely to every other Idaho center.

Personal incomes in Pocatello, he says, compare favorably with the rest of the state, but the state as a whole is lower than the national average and even lower than most of the mountain states. And that, he says, is "due in part to lower rates of compensation and in part to the occupational structure of the state's economy."

As much as may have been sensed, and perhaps pretty generally has been, even without the master planner's advice.

In plain words, what Pocatello, and Boise, and every other Idaho center need is more of solidly established and growing industries and business enterprises that can and will provide more of substantial payrolls.

Not all of us perhaps may play a conspicuous part in its development, but every one of us has a necessary part in it.

Industry and business enterprise, looking at what we have to offer, are concerned, of course, about such things as tax rates, transportation costs, availability of raw materials and markets. But they're keenly interested, too, in the "climate," by which they mean public acceptance of their undertaking—whether that climate be cordial and honest and imbued with the spirit of fair play. In helping to provide assurance of that climate there's none of us who does not play an important part.

We have, all of us, too another opportunity to contribute to our economic well-being and advancement. That's in relation to industry and business enterprise that has, in astonishing diversity, already cast its lot with us. We owe it to ourselves, as well as to them, to be informed about them so that when occasion arises we can direct others and lend our own support to their development and success.

So there's a master plan for all of us who reach out for our own areas' growth and development. The sooner we recognize and take advantage of it, the better off we'll all be.—Idaho Daily Statesman.

PRINCIPLES VS. PRACTICE

While a U. S. district court in Philadelphia continued to pass out fines and jail sentences in the big electrical equipment antitrust trials, another sort of antitrust was manifest in newspaper offices across the nation.

Delivered to editors' desks was a presentation on "Facts everybody should understand." Defining principles of the American business system, this carefully prepared statement included the following passage:

"It is hard to imagine a surer way to hand over the United States economy to our foreign competitors than to withhold from our customers the better values which must be one of the primary objectives of improvements in productivity."

THE GRAY OF FEBRUARY

The second month of the year ranks high on the calendar but low in public esteem. February Valentine's day and the birthdays of presidents are small compensation for the usual gray of the month.

February isn't even dependable. It adds an extra day when we least expect it. But with 28 or 29 days, it pokes along. This is the time of year when people tire of the monochromes of winter and yearn for the green of spring. The arrival of the nursery catalogues stimulates gardening enthusiasm. But you must wait until February is out of the way even to plant radishes.

A day or two of warm sunshine only hints that winter may be waning. February sunshine never lasts. It succumbs to gray. Winter is still with us. Cold days and snow lie ahead. Maybe this is grumpy, but we don't care.—Kansas City Star.

POT SHOTS

IT CAN'T BE DONE

Dear Pot Shots:

For some time I have laughed when anyone suggested it would be possible to use "space" ships on trips from Earth to the moon or Venus. Matter of fact, I have expressed my doubts on more than one occasion. "Wild dream" was one of the terms I used.

But looking back, it just might be that it isn't such a "wild dream" after all. It wasn't much more than a hundred years ago that people who saw the huge herds of bison in the western half of the nation said the animals would always interfere with travel and they would prevent the country from being settled and they could never be exterminated.

Seen any bison lately?

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

SEATTLE—Charles O. Carroll, the Republican prosecuting attorney of King county (Seattle), Wash., concedes this much about Dave Beck:

He is a tough man in a fight or misfortune who has never whined in his great adversity nor squaled at anyone.

Jimmy Hoffa, his protégé, and friend, dumped him out of the presidency of the Teamsters union. Westbrook Pegler But the worst Beck has said of Hoffa is that he talks too much.

Carroll had to prosecute Beck and his son, Dave, Jr., on grand jury charges, so petty that it seems weird now that Seattle jurists convicted them. Dave was a big man and Seattle has a low sense of civic honor after decades of unionism.

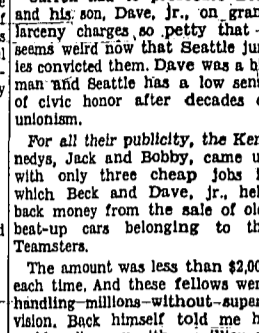

For all their publicity, the Kennedys, Jack and Bobby, came up with only three cheap jobs in which Beck and Dave, Jr. held back money from the sale of old, beat-up cars belonging to the Teamsters.

The amount was less than $2,000 each time. And these fellows were handling millions without supervision. Beck himself told me he could walk away with a million of his own today after costs of liquidation.

There were many other offenses, but these larges were discovered by the income tax people of the treasury and handed over to the Kennedys, who then took credit for discovery. Their newspaper claque whooped and bucked for Statute awards. The income tax statute does not run against irregularities by which the income was taken had been outlawed by state of Washington laws long ago.

So Carroll had to content himself with paltry stuff from the Kennedys. And his budget was so skimpy that he had to scrounge on a newspaper which was spending some money on the McClellan hearings in Washington. That was his only means of getting the daily record of the senate committee's hearings.

Beck has been saying for years that the "labor movement is a business." Therefore, he feels not at all self-conscious because he got rich at it. Carroll replied that almost any fair hand at business could get rich with free access to

Long ago I wrote that Beck had placed an embargo on California beer, keeping it out of Oregon and Washington.

Dave laughed again.

That embargo was all on account of "that stubborn Dutchman, Oberfeldt, I forgot his first name," he said, "the president of the Brewery Workers. They claimed the beer drivers, and I claimed them as Teamsters. Oberfeldt warned the big California breweries he was going to pull the inside brewers if they hired my Teamsters on the trucks and I told them, 'Let that Dutchman pull them.' I said, 'Most of those old guys are 50 years out to 70 and I will throw them out and put in young Teamsters in half a day.' And I did, too. There is no mystery working in a brewery. The only ten and he wasn't union. I got some smart young Teamsters and we showed them the pipes and valves and in 48 hours Teamsters were making beer. We were shipping Teamsters' union beer up the coast."

Beck is facing five years on the federal income tax conviction and three years for the petty grand jury charge of $1,900 for a beat-up car which he sold, pocketing the money. Until 1937 that was the normal thing in unions.

Legally, it still is today. But civilization is dawning faintly. And with the dawn, the boss unioners are joining the big employers to "bargain for labor," which, in the immortal wisdom of the late Harry Hopkins, is too damned dumb to know.

BOILING CALDRON

Nobody likes to be insulted, either as an individual or as a citizen of a nation. Nobody likes to hear his country attacked or vilified or disparaged by another nation. The instinctive reaction is to reach for a club, and dispassionate reasoning becomes an unpopular attitude.

That is what is happening today. In recent years, months and days, Americans have been amazed again and again at expressions of dislike and distrust for the United States and its allies—in South America, in Cuba, in the Congo, in the United Nations.

It seems most unfair, for if American history is not a sham, this country has always stood for freedom and the right of the common men of all nations to pursue their individual happiness. This country has fought for those ideals, many Americans have died for them.

All this seems to count for nothing today, as the United States is held up by some as the chief enemy of world peace, the source and symbol of imperialism.

Too often, anti-American or anti-Western riots and revolutions are written off as "communist inspired," implying that communists possess some kind of magic, hypnotic charm that can transform quiet, reasonable folk into fanatic anarchists.

Undoubtedly these phenomena of our time are communist-inspired in many, or even most, instances on the surface. But this easy verdict ignores the fact that there are great undercurrents of unrest in many nations of the world. Even professional communist agitators must first have the powder of human frustrations to work with before they can set off an explosion.

Americans must realize that Castro is not Cuba, just as Robespierre was not France at the time of that great revolution. Neither can the turmoil in the Congo be simply explained as caused by a man named Lumumba.

Robespierre was eventually guillotined, but that did not end the French revolution. Neither will the death of Lumumba nor the wished-for downfall of Castro solve the problems of those countries.

There is only one revolution going on in the world today, though it takes different forms in different countries. The question is not how this revolution is to be put down, but how it is to be controlled and channeled into constructive and lasting reforms.

The world is like a nuclear pile today, but one which cannot be shut down. It can either be controlled or let run wild. Its energy is vast, and can be utilized either for good or ill.

In their distaste for petty despots, Americans should not lose sight of the underlying causes which have allowed tyrants to come forward. We had our own revolution, and its magnificent results can still hold out hope for nations striving for national expression.

But we have to prove it to them.

CITY VS. FARM

The farm bloc showed its teeth when almost every member of the house-agriculture committee, as well as rural members not serving on that body, lined up against the Kennedy-Rayburn plan for liberalization of the house rules committee. That was generally a victory for the "city fellers."

In the past, the farm faction had relied on the Smith-Halleck coalition on rules to kill measures hostile to its interests, but beneficial to metropolitan areas. But the lobbyists for agriculture still hope and expect to command a floor majority against many of President Kennedy's "must" measures.

In view of this threat, the Democratic leaders in the house have warned the "Tuesday-Thursday" club that they must be more faithful in their attendance at committee meetings and floor sessions.

The T-to-T group consists mostly of members from nearby cities, and largely Democrats, who spend only about three days a week on Capitol Hill, attending to local political or business affairs on the other four days.

The rural members also are upset over the congressional redistricting that will result from population shifts disclosed in the 1960 census. Most of the seat gains will be made in industrial rather than agricultural states.

For this reason, they demand an enlargement of the house membership from its present 435, maximum so that they will not lose out in a shifting of the balance of power.

Not in many years has Washington seen such open warfare between the two factions—the consumers and the producers.

FAST FRIENDS QUICKLY

In view of the transient quality of life in many American cities, Winnetka, Ill., has an innovation, which other communities might like to copy.

Neighborhood circles have been organized in this suburb of Chicago, population 15,000. When a newcomer moves into town, within a few days one of the 28 groups invites the wife to a morning "coffee" and from then on she is a member of the circle if she so wishes.

Rupert Notes City's Needs; Good Points

RUPERT, Feb. 24—Members of the Rupert Chamber of Commerce discussed possible town improvements and stressed the many good points of Rupert in a discussion period Thursday noon.

Suggested improvements include better parking facilities, improvement of railroad crossings, entrances to the city, inadequate inventories in stores, better employee-employer relations and an inter-club committee to welcome newcomers.

Also brought out was some of the excellent services offered, including a better than average school system, paved streets throughout, good water and sewerage facilities, economic, low-pressure irrigating water, low electric rates, good telephone service and the size and scope of the several industries.

President William Lott asked the chamber secretary, Mrs. LaVonne Colbert, to write for information on the Welcome Wagon program and report at the second meeting in March, and suggested that a study be made of the other agencies, with further discussion at future meetings.

Discussion on the need for improving entrances to the city brought out the possibility that this would be accomplished through the completion of the new four-lane highway project now under way through town.

Don Ballantyne reported a letter from the state chamber asking support in opposing the wilderness bill to be presented again this year in congress. Members voted against the measure.

A seminar sponsored by the employment security agency at Pocatello March 23, was announced by Robert Jones, manager of the local office. He felt the meeting would be of interest to all employers. He reported during the past year the Rupert office had handled more agricultural job placements than any other office in the state.

Ralph Smith, manager of the First Security bank being opened in Rupert March 3, was introduced.

Yorkshire Brings Top Money at Sale

"Miss Cooper Lad 10," a Yorkshire consigned by Paul Bollinger, Meridian, left, was bought by Delbert W. Olsen, Jerome, right, for $145. The animal brought top money at the annual winter sale of the Southern Idaho Swinebreeders Association, Inc., at the Filer fairgrounds Thursday. Olsen bought the Yorkshire as part of a herd improvement program. Bollinger consigned eight swine to the sale. He has been participating in the sale for the past 10 years and has been in the hog business for the past 30 years. (Staff photo-enslaving)

Unit Chided After Defeat Of Tax Plan

BOISE, Feb. 24—Idaho's legislature was urged yesterday to face up to the operating needs of state institutions and public schools.

Rep. Alph Johnson, R. Clearwater, chided the house for measure which he said "would have prevented injustice to our institutions and to our educational program. It would also have given to the people of Idaho a sound, long-range program."

He called on the representatives to consider "very carefully" another tax program—the graduated $10 to $100 head tax—which has been introduced by the revenue and taxation committee.

"It cannot believe that my constituents, or your constituents, like to be fooled by under-the-table taxes, such as beer, cigarettes, escheats, etc.," Johnson said. "It is my opinion that the people of Idaho will support our state institutions, educational and building programs if they can see where they are getting value received."

"It is now time to separate the men from the boys. Shall we go home with our obligations as legislators fulfilled or shall we go home with our tails between our legs and say 'Let George do it.'"

This was reported yesterday by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R. Ill., a few hours after he and Sen. Styles Bridges, R. N. H., had a long-distance telephone talk with Eisenhower now vacationing at Palm Springs, Calif.

Dirksen, the senate Republican leader, told newsmen that former Vice President Richard M. Nixon also has agreed to meet with Republican senators some time in April.

Dirksen said he told Eisenhower the Republicans in Washington would like his advice on defense and foreign policy matters.

Is There Other Life? What Will Be Effect if Found?

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (UP)—Will space-venturing man find intelligent life on other planets? If he does, what impact will the discovery have on his religious beliefs?

These questions have long intrigued scientists, philosophers and theologians. As the time approaches for the first attempt to send a man into space, they doubtless will stir more general public discussion.

But the advent of manned space flight will not preclude an early answer to the question whether life exists in other parts of the universe besides Earth.

Leading astronomers like Dr. Harlow Shapley, Harvard, and Prof. F. B. Hoyle, Cambridge, say that there are probably millions of planets in the universe where conditions are suitable for the existence of living creatures.

But they also say that the Earth appears to be the only planet in our solar system which has the kind of atmosphere, moisture and orbit necessary to sustain life.

This means that man will have to travel, not merely to Mars, but to another solar system before there is any likelihood of his coming face to face with other living beings.

A trip to Mars is not inconceivable, since that planet at times comes within 35 million miles of Earth. But distances of incredibly greater magnitude are involved in getting to another solar system. The nearest solar system is about 27 trillion miles away. At a speed of 25,000 miles an hour, a manned space vehicle would need more than 100,000 years to get there.

So it may be a very long time, if ever, before man knows for sure whether there is "life out yonder."

Assuming that there is — and many theologians are quite as willing as astronomers to make this assumption — what implication does this have for religious belief?

Skeptics have said that the discovery of life on other planets would tend to discredit the belief, basic to all religious faith, that God is concerned with the hopes and fears and moral strivings of the human creatures who inhabit this particular speck of matter in His vast universe.

If life exists widely throughout the universe, the skeptics ask, is it not the height of arrogance to claim—as Christians do claim—that God cares so much about man that he once became incarnate in a human personality in order to lead men back to the way, the truth and the life? In reply to such challenges, Christian scholars make these points:

1. Those who believe that an omnipotent God is capable of taking a personal, fatherly interest in each of the nearly three billion human creatures now living on Earth should have no difficulty in stretching their Earth-bound imaginations to include the possibility that he is equally concerned with any multiple of that number on other planets.

2. If there are rational beings elsewhere in the universe who are in a "fallen" spiritual state like man, there is nothing in Christian theology which denies the possibility that God may have acted to redeem them, as he acted to redeem man in the person of Jesus Christ. Centuries ago, St. Thomas Aquinas discussed the possibility of other incarnations of God, for the benefit of other creatures than man.

Indeed, there is traceable in Christian literature a recurrent intuition that the redemptive work of Christ was not confined to Earth. This belief, which existed long before the advent of space travel, is poetically expressed in Alice Meynell's famous verse about "Christ in the Universe":

"... In the eternities
Doubtless we shall compare together, hear
A million alien gospels, in what guise
He trod the piteades, the lyre,
The bear."

Petition Is Filed In Jewell Estate

Herman Jewell filed a petition in Twin Falls probate court Thursday, requesting he be named administrator of his father's estate. His father, Donald Jewell, died July 27, 1956, according to the petition.

The estate consists of property in Indiana valued at approximately $3,000, the petition says. Mr. Jewell left no will.

Heirs are his son, Donald, Twin Falls; his widow, Mrs. Fannie Jewell, Medford, Ore.; and three daughters, Mrs. Betty R. Deckard, Medford, Mrs. Ava L. Dean, Battleground, Wash., and Mrs. Blance E. Muse, Rosewell, N. M.

A hearing is scheduled in court on March 9 at 10 a.m. Donald Jewell is represented by Rayborn, Rayborn, Rayborn and Webb, Twin Falls attorneys.

Hearing Date Set In Estate Matter

A hearing on the petition of Mrs. Beatrice Groat to be named executrix of the estate of her mother, Mrs. Isabelle Fuhrmann, is scheduled at 10 a.m. March 14, in Twin Falls county probate court.

Mrs. Fuhrmann died Nov. 9, 1960, according to the petition. She left a will naming Mrs. Groat and another daughter, Mrs. Irene Freeman, Washington, as executrices. The estate is valued at $10,000.

The Twin Falls law firm of Rayborn, Rayborn, Rayborn and Webb represents Mrs. Groat.

Privileges Lost

Ranae Stokes, 15, 1617 Eleventh avenue east, lost her driving privileges for 60 days when she appeared before Twin Falls Police Judge Robert E. Pence Thursday. She was cited Tuesday evening for driving at night on a daylight license. She was not fined.

Miss Stokes was cited after she was involved in a collision at Second street and Second avenue east. She and a passenger in her car were treated for cuts at Magic Valley Memorial hospital and released from the hospital late Thursday night.

Hearing in Estate Matter Scheduled

A hearing on the petition of Marjorie Holmes to act as administratrix with will attached, of the estate of Mary E. Newlon, will be held before Twin Falls Probate Judge Zoe Ann Warberg at 10 a.m. March 21.

The petition says Mrs. Newlon died June 12, 1960, in Greeley, Colo., and left a will naming the First National bank of Greeley as executor of her estate.

The estate includes real and personal property in Twin Falls, according to the papers. The bank has asked Mrs. Holmes to serve as administratrix in Twin Falls.

She is represented by Rayborn, Rayborn, Rayborn and Webb, Twin Falls law firm.
