Nation Is Hit Hard By Storm

By The Associated Press

Heavy snow, strong winds and plummeting temperatures crippled wide areas of the Midwest and East today while in the South rampaging flood waters forced more families from their homes.

A week of pouring rain has dislodged thousands of persons in the South. At least six have died.

The Coosa, Tallapoosa and Alabama rivers flooded thousands of acres of land, miles of roads and hundreds of homes in central Alabama. Southern Mississippi was described as looking from the air like a land of muddy lakes and twisting snakes.

Thousands of acres of riverland have been ravaged there by the worst floods in half a century and thousands have been evacuated.

Conditions in stricken areas of the South were further worsened by a plunge in temperatures. Balm readings of the past week sank to below freezing in some areas of northern Alabama and Mississippi.

In western Georgia, the flooding Chatahoochee river forced 25 families from their homes in West Point and flood waters covered much of the downtown business district to a depth of three feet.

Thirty miles downstream at Columbus hundreds of families were evacuated from low-lying residential areas near the river and workmen removed thousands of bales of cotton from the reaches of the water in flooded textile warehouses.

Flood waters covered major portions of Hattiesburg, Miss., with depths up to eight feet. An estimated 5,000 persons were evacuated from their homes as the Leaf river burst out of its banks.

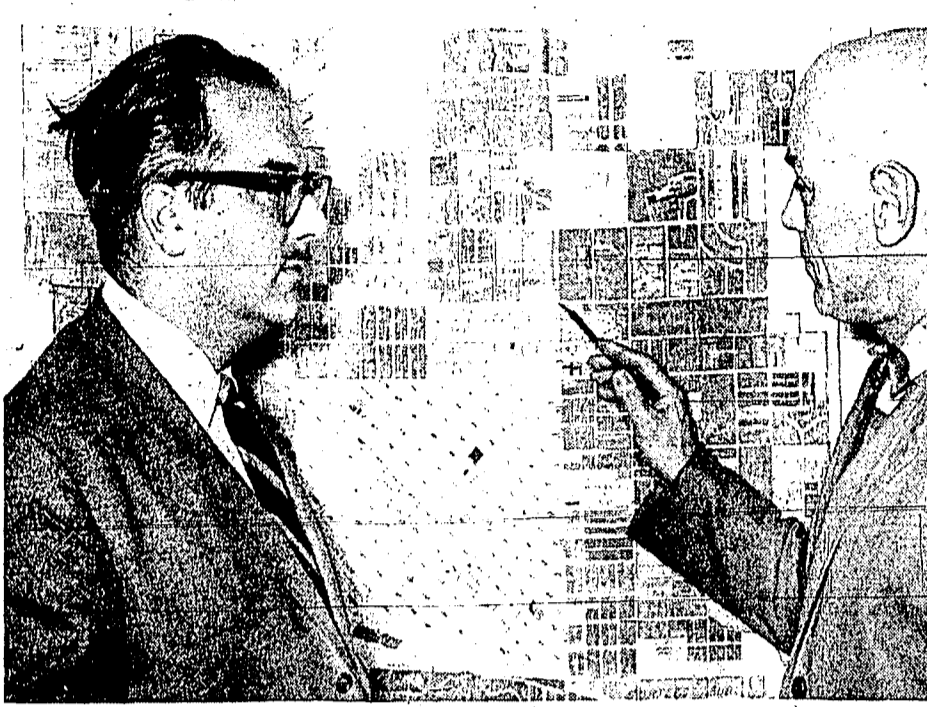

A small tornado struck southwest of Orlando and strong winds battered small areas of Tampa and Clearwater. Temperatures turned below summertime levels.

To the north, snow and sleet had virtually paralyzed Indiana Saturday night and thousands of persons were stranded in schools, gasstations, farm homes, buses and automobiles.

State police said all roads were impassable. Power and telephone lines were knocked out in many places. Gov. Matthew E. Welsh called out the national guard to help rescue stranded motorists.

A snowstorm accompanied by thunder, lightning and sleet also blanketed the western two-thirds of Kentucky. Louisville was hit the hardest in recent years, with eight inches on the ground and three more inches expected by Sunday morning.

Expert Consults With Commission Chairman

Ronald Thompson, left, Butte, Mont., an expert on planning and zoning, looks at a map of Twin Falls as J. L. Dondanville, chairman of the city's planning and zoning commission, points out Blue Lakes boulevard. Thompson met with city commissioners and the planning commission Thursday evening to discuss a survey of the city designed to lead to a new city plan and a zoning ordinance.

Thompson was hired as a consultant to oversee a city engineering staff city survey. The planning and zoning group is considering rezoning Blue Lakes boulevard from Fire Points north to the city limits and also considering rezoning of a new zone—a combination of C-1 and C-2. Thompson left Twin Falls Friday evening, but will return soon. (Staff photo-engraving)

Solons Hustle Bills Along; Plan to End Session Thursday

BOISE, Feb. 25 (AP)—The Idaho legislature today set moon next Thursday as its goal for adjournment, then worked steadily through a long calendar of bills in an effort to meet the deadline. A resolution fixing noon Thursday—the 60th day—as time for final adjournment of the 1961 session was introduced in the house of representatives. The senate once again delayed consideration of bills which would establish driver training for teen-agers.

Sen. A. W. Naigle, R., Bonneville, the president pro-tem, said an effort was being made to work out an acceptable compromise.

Smylie, Benson Both Blamed for Feuding

BOISE, Feb. 25 (AP)—Idaho's legislature was told today that Republican Gov. Robert E. Smylie and Democratic Attorney General Frank L. Benson are equally to blame for their raging feud of the last two years. A Democratic subcommittee report read to the house of representatives urged the two officials to "cease their petty bickering" and "get on with the performance of the duties with which each has been entrusted."

There was no comment from the floor when subcommittee chairman, Rep. Don Pieper, Bonneville county, read the report. But a short time later the house became embroiled in a dispute over the attorney general's budget for the next two years.

Local Driver Is Fined for Topsy Count

Fred Bender, 836 Second avenue west, was fined $200 and sentenced to 30 days in the county jail Saturday for drunken driving. Twin Falls Justice of the Peace Robert E. Pence suspended the jail sentence.

Bender was arrested Monday in the 200 block of Main avenue north by State Patrolman S. D. Lueckert. Bender's driver's license was suspended for a year.

Herman G. Wolf, 28, Washington courts, was granted his attorney time to consult with an attorney when he appeared before Judge Pence Saturday on a drunken driving charge.

Wolf's arraignment was set for 10 a.m. Monday. He was committed to the Twin Falls county jail in lieu of posting $300 bond.

Wolf was arrested at 12:35 a.m. Saturday by State Patrolman Brody G. Harding at the intersection of highways 74 and 93. Harding said Wolf's car was observed weaving on the road.

James Pratt, 22, 602 Jefferson street, was fined $9 and assessed 25 demerits in Twin Falls police court Saturday for driving 34 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone. He was cited Friday evening by Twin Falls police in the 400 block of Second avenue south during a radar speed check.

Others cited during the check, who have not appeared in police court yet, are Walter J. Rodabaugh, 19, 171 Wisconsin avenue; Vernon Hoskin, 17, Filier, and Tony Martinez, 19, 411 Second avenue east.

Officers said Rodabaugh and Hoskin were drag racing in the 600 block of Main avenue north when cited. Both were charged with driving 60 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone. Martinez, cited in (Continued on Page 2, Column 1)

City to Study Appeal Possibility After Addison Zoning Decision

The Twin Falls city commission will consider appealing a district court decision permitting commercial development on Addison avenue east. City Commission Chairman Vernon Riddle said Saturday. "We have 60 days to decide," the official said, "so I don't know when we'll take up the matter." Friday, after District Judge Theron W. Ward issued the ruling, City Attorney William J. Langley said the commission would have to decide if the ruling would be appealed to the Idaho supreme court. Riddle said the commission would consider the question "sometime in the next six to eight weeks, at a regular commission meeting."

The decision ordered the city to pay the plaintiffs' court costs of $460.84. The decree granted the complaining property owners freedom from city ordinance No. 1034 which prohibits commercial construction in the Addison avenue east area.

The ordinance was declared "void and with no force and effect with respect to the plaintiffs' property." This property may be used for any use within the city's class C commercial zoning, the judge decreed.

Winning the action against the city were Delwyn Butterfield and Mrs. Clara R. Butterfield, 1807 Addison avenue east; Harvey Pierce and Mrs. Dorothy Pierce, now deceased, 1881 Addison avenue east; and Sterling Vaughn and Mrs. Elsa Vaughn, 1187 Morningside drive.

The dispute began in May, 1959, when the Twin Falls city commission denied a request to rezone three lots on Addison avenue east between Maurice street and Morningside drive. The persons asked the area be rezoned to permit service stations.

Commissioners testified at a November court hearing that they turned down the request because the area was primarily residential. After this hearing, Judge Ward said he would render a decision as soon as possible. He said the case was important, and predicted, regardless of his decision, the case would go to the state supreme court.

Attorney for the plaintiffs is Robert N. W. Balleisen, Twin Falls.

Khrushchev Moving Into Congo Crisis

MOSCOW, Feb. 25 (AP)—Premier Khrushchev today stepped into the Soviet campaign to force the United Nations out of the Congo and demanded that African nations solve the crisis alone.

The essence of his plan, rejected by the U. N. security council earlier last week, is to have African states with U. N. forces in the Congo bring them home and then form a conciliation commission to deal with the Congo's warring factions. Thus they would try to make peace without military force to back up their decisions.

In addition, he suggested that the commission be instructed in advance to deal with the communist-backed rebel regime in Stanleyville as the Congo's legal government because it is headed by political heirs of the slain ex-premier Patrice Lumumba.

Using the killing of Lumumba as a wedge to renew his attack on Dag Hammarskjold, Khrushchev charged the U. N. secretary-general was to blame because "whoever held the knife or revolver is after all but the sole murderer."

Most of his fire was directed at Hammarskjold for allowing Lumumba to fall into the hands of authorities in Katanga, at the Belgians for failing to get out of the (Continued on Page 3, Column 7)

"Radio Brain" Satellite Shot Is Not Success

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP)—Space scientists today abandoned a slim hope that orbit was achieved by the "radio brain" satellite launched from this spaceport last night.

The 75-pound sphere was hurled skyward in the nose of a four-stage Juno II rocket. Its mission was to study the effect on communications of the ionosphere, an electrically charged region which surrounds the Earth.

Radio contact was lost with the vehicle 20 or 30 seconds after first-stage burnout. But throughout the night tracking stations around the world scanned the skies on the slight chance an orbit was achieved.

When the search proved fruitless, the national aeronautics and space administration announced today that "all available evidence shows it is highly improbable that the ionosphere-beacon satellite achieved orbit. There was a malfunction shortly after booster separation. Because of loss of radio transmission from the satellite, the sequence of events that followed could not be determined immediately.

"Since then, no tracking station has acquired data that would indicate an orbit."

U. N. Makes Use of New Congo Power

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Feb. 25 (AP)—The United Nations said today its Congo command had threatened to use force to stop the premier of southern Kasai from occupying two towns where there was danger of a clash with hostile tribes.

It was the first time the U. N. command has made use of the authority given it by the U. N. security council to use force if necessary to prevent civil war in the Congo.

The U. N. command also announced it had tried to prevent the takeover of the Kasai province capital of Luluabourg by Lumumbist troops.

The United Nations published a report from Rajeshwar Dayal, India, Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold's special representative in the Congo, covering both developments.

Dayal said that Albert Kalonji, head of the so-called southern Kasai mining states, was assuming "aggressive postures."

The report said this development after Kalonji was ordered by an officer under Congo President Joseph Kasavubu to occupy Senary in eastern Kasai and Kasongo in Kivu province.

Hunted Man Sighted, but Trail Is Lost

ROSEBURG, Ore., Feb. 25 (AP)—Armed deputies picked up the trail of mountain man Steve Solovich, an escapee from a mental hospital, but then lost it yesterday at the ranch of a posse member shot in an earlier search.

Sheriff Ray Byrd said a search party saw Solovich yesterday afternoon, but he escaped into the wilderness of the Cascade mountains. They trailed him to the ranch of Watson Talbot before darkness set in and then lost his trail.

Man Wounded

Talbot was wounded in a gun battle with Solovich when a posse closed in on the escaped mental patient on Tuesday. The tall, lanky, Solovich eluded pursuers then, and was not seen again until yesterday.

Byrd said he had talked to Joel C. Olsen, Boise, who had said earlier he thought he could talk to Solovich, whom he had known when they both worked mining claims in Idaho.

Byrd said he told Olsen he would be glad to have him try to talk to the hunted man.

Talk Plan Doubtful

"I'm glad to have anybody who says they can talk to this boy," said Byrd, "but it's silly now—I don't think he can do it. There's probably a good chance he (Olsen) would get shot."

Three deputies today searched the mountains where Solovich, 55, has lived alone for more than a year since his escape from the Veterans administration hospital here.

If the hunted man's trail is picked up, Byrd said, he will throw the full posse of 20 men into the search again.

Ghost Towns

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—The census bureau said today it had turned up four incorporated ghost towns in the United States.

The agency said that when census takers made their rounds last April, they found no one living in Torino, Ill.; Peacock, Tex.; and Eureka and Ophir, Colo.

Altogether, the census takers found 69 incorporated places with no more than 25 residents.

The list includes: Idaho—Cody, 8; Eddyville, 18; Platterton, 24; Pearl, 24; and Warm River, 20.

Legislature Size To Jump by Four

BOISE, Feb. 25 (AP)—The Idaho legislature will apparently increase two years hence by the addition of four more representatives based on the 1960 population count.

Present membership of the house of representatives is 59 and Republican leaders have indicated they will make no effort at the current session to revise the formula for appointment of representatives when the state's 44 counties. This will increase house membership to 63.

Under present law, Ada county will elect six representatives in 1962 instead of the present four. Canyon county will choose four instead of three and Bonneville county will name three instead of two.

NORWAY PREPARES REACTOR

KJELLER, Norway, Feb. 25 (AP)—Norway's new low-effect atomic reactor, partly U.S.-financed, will be started up in April. It will produce only a few watts of electricity for testing purposes.

Plans Announced For Potato Plant

WESTON, Ore., Feb. 25 (AP)—Lamb-Weston, Inc., has announced plans for construction of a two million dollar plant at American Falls, Ida., for processing potato products.

Construction contracts have been awarded to the McCormack Construction company, Pendleton, Ore., for the plant and storage structures. Potatoes will be frozen and dehydrated at the plant.

When in full production, the plant will employ 300 persons and process up to 300 tons of potatoes a day.

F. G. Lamb is president of the firm which also operates a pea processing plant in this eastern Oregon town.

New Snow

A foot of snow fell Friday night at Galena store with eight inches reported both at Sun Valley and North Fork store, seven miles north of Ketchum.

Three inches fell in Halley Friday night where it started snowing about 4 p.m. It was reported clear and sunny there Saturday. A trace of snow was on the ground in Twin Falls and Burley Saturday morning.

High way crews worked throughout Friday night and highway 93 was reported in good condition over Galena summit Saturday.

Belgium Ends Tie With UAR Over Rioting

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Feb. 25 (AP)—Belgium broke off diplomatic relations with the United Arab Republic today because of mob attacks on the Belgian embassy in Cairo two weeks ago.

Jean van den Bossche, foreign ministry secretary - general, said the UAR had rejected all Belgian protests against the attacks by rioting seeking vengeance for the slaying of Congolese ex-premier Patrice Lumumba.

Protection Pledged

Van den Bossche said the UAR on Feb. 14, two days after the first attack on the embassy, gave Belgium assurances the building would be protected. But the next day a huge mob battered its way into the embassy, threw files and papers into the street and set the building on fire.

A Belgian foreign ministry communique said that on that day "the police forces controlling the streets leading to the embassy and protecting the embassy were withdrawn, while TV trucks and reporters took positions in front of the embassy."

"Firemen and police appeared on the spot only more than four hours after the start of the demonstration," the communique added.

Responsibility Rejected

In subsequent communications with the UAR government, the communique said, the UAR rejected responsibility for the events and rejected a request for an apology.

Belgian embassies throughout the world were stoned and picketed last week by demonstrators who blamed Belgium for Lumumba's death. The Cairo demonstrations were the most violent.

Williams' Talk in Africa Attacked

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—British criticism of speeches by assistant Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams in Africa brought a demand today from Rep. John V. Lindsay, R., N.Y., for a state department accounting of Williams' conduct.

"Where is this quiet diplomacy we have been hearing about?" asked Lindsay in a statement.

Williams is in charge of African affairs for the state department, and is now touring that continent.

Iowa's Officials Clear up Third Embezzler Case

KNOXVILLE, Ia., Feb. 25 (AP)—Examiners were at work today clearing up details of Iowa's third big bank embezzlement in two months.

The latest came to light yesterday when Eldon L. Job, 59, president of the Community National Bank and trust company, Knoxville, hanged himself, leaving an estimated half-million-dollar shortage that stunned this town of 7,817 in southeastern Iowa.

Job left a "dead man's confession" saying that he used the bank's money through forged notes to cover bad investments and to make donations around town. The shortage was covered by a million-dollar bond.

Clinics Close

TOKYO, Feb. 25 (AP)—About 8,000 Tokyo physicians closed their clinics for half a day today as the latest step in a nation-wide campaign by Japanese doctors for reform in the government health insurance system.

The Tokyo Medical association, backing the parent Japan Medical association, said it is collecting notices from member doctors declaring they refuse to treat patients under the present system. The doctors want a 30 per cent increase in their fees.

Diplomatic Pouch as Laundry 'Bag' British Frown on Idea

LONDON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Is it proper to use a diplomatic pouch as a laundry bag?

The British foreign office, just a little embarrassed, is considering the question, and it inclines to the view that her majesty's diplomatic pouch is for deep secrets, not for dirty shirts.

Suspicion that the diplomatic pouch is being used to deliver laundry from the Soviet Union to Britain and vice versa was aroused when the manager of aournemouth laundry disclosed that one of his customers is a naval officer attached to the British embassy in Moscow.

The laundryman, William Dowden, sends the clean wash to the foreign office. FROM THERE, HE DELIVERS IT.

Pro-Cuba Group Pickets in U.S.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Some 600 pro-Castro pickets staged a mass demonstration in a downtown front of the White House today, protesting this country's Cuba policy.

About 60 Washington policemen, reinforced by secret service agents and extra White House police, kept the sign-carrying, flag-waving marchers moving briskly, three or four abreast.

Extra precautions against violence were taken because a group of about 30 anti-Castro Cubans showed up to picket the picketers.

Solons Busy; Plan to Quit On Thursday

A. McClure, R. Payette "is no magic figure. The only reason it is proposed now is that it is more than is now being provided."

He said if the amendment were approved it "will force us" to enact a broad-based tax program such as a sales tax.

McClure said state aid for the schools was provided originally as a method of equalizing the burden between districts which have high property valuation in relation to the number of students and those which have low.

"We have lost sight," he said, "of the reason for the minimum program, the equalization of educational opportunities."

The senate approved unanimously a house-approved measure providing for a study of Idaho's laws relating to care of children. The bill appropriates $20,000 and the only opposition voiced regarding the measure was that it had not been elected by the joint finance-appropriations committee.

Sen. K. C. Barlow, R., Cassia, chairman of the committee, said state law requires that all appropriation bills be approved by the committee, and added: "I'm not going to be responsible if someone throws a monkey wrench into this appropriation."

Sen. N. H. Young, Jr., R., Canyon, principal spokesman for the measure, said it is needed because of the "bad state" of laws dealing with children. He said there are many areas in which there is no legislation and he said statutes are particularly vague in the field of defining a neglected or abused child.

The bill, which now goes to the governor, directs the commission created to study laws needed in dealing with neglected, mistreated, mentally or physically handicapped and orphaned children.

enough had been said on the matter. Later Eberle offered to permit Higer to have the floor to read the statement which Higer said showed a total of $83.25 spent in the Duclun room at the lodge. The Duchin room, "I'm so informed, is a bar room," Higer said. "If that amount of money can be spent in conferences in that room it bears looking into."

Cenarrusa attempted to question Higer, but the Democratic leader refused to yield to a question.

Majority leader Rep. Orval Hansen, R., Bonneville, then said he thought there had been sufficient comment from each side of the aisle. "I highly regret that we have deteriorated to this point."

The subcommittee to investigate the Smylie-Benson feud was appointed at the governor's suggestion after he abandoned attempts to push legislation which would virtually strip the attorney general of his legal powers.

The measure would permit heads of state departments and agencies to hire their own counsel with the approval of the administration. The governor would be empowered to grant special permission to such counsel to exclusively represent the department in court actions.

Another bill giving department heads the right to pick their own attorneys was introduced in the house today but it would not give the governor any control over the selection of attorneys.

State affairs committee Chairman Rep. Grant Gardner, R., Payette, said the new bill would apply in instances where departments were unable to get along with the attorney general.

Harold Carraway is chairman of the public housing committee, with Emil Oeck, Fred Fricke, H. H. Judd and the Rev. Kale King as committee members. These members will form the board which will be set up if the application for the project is approved.

Khrushchev Moving Into Congo Crisis

(From Page One)
Congo and continuing to support Katanga President Moise Tshombe and at Tshombe as "the hangman" of Lumumba and the "puppet" of Belgium.

"All this wrecks the trust of the peoples in the United Nations," he said.

Khrushchev's platform was a letter to Prime Minister Nehru, India, dated Wednesday and handed to correspondents this morning at the front door of the Soviet foreign ministry.

The note was also distributed to government chiefs in Asia, Africa, Europe and Latin America but no mention was made of sending it to the United States.

The United States lined up with representatives of Asia and Africa in the council this week to approve a resolution calling for U. N. forces to use force if necessary to bring peace in the Congo. The Soviet Union abstained.

The United States was spared direct criticism in Khrushchev's letter but the premier appeared to be alluding to recent statements by President Kennedy. Kennedy, in the context of voicing support for the United Nations as a boon to small nations, warned that the United States could defend its own interests as a major power.

In Washington, U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson said in reference to the Khrushchev letter: "It seems a pity the Russians won't give the Afro-Asian resolution a chance for implementation before renewing their attacks on the secretary-general and the United Nations itself."

Stevenson charged that the Russians want to destroy the effectiveness of the United Nations because it has been an obstacle to Soviet penetration of central Africa.

Ronald Bell, 16, 723 Sparks street, was fined $10 and assessed 25 demerits in Twin Falls police court Saturday for driving out of his lane of traffic and striking a parked car. He was cited Wednesday on Blue Lakes boulevard north.

Edward W. Barney, 212 Polk street, was fined $10 and assessed 25 demerits by Judge Pence Saturday for a stop sign violation. Barney was cited Monday by State Patrolman Richard Burns two miles northwest of Filer on highway 30.

Arnold (Tommy) Hull, 17, Burley, was fined $15 by acting Burley Police Judge James Annett Friday for going 50 miles per hour in a 35-mile zone.

Jack W. Cervia, 29, Burley, forfeited a $13 bond Saturday in Burley police court for going 40 miles per hour in a 35-mile zone.

Mike W. Hughes, 18, 904 Fourth avenue west, was cited by Twin Falls police for failing to drive in the proper lane after his 1956 Chevrolet truck struck a properly parked 1960 Nash in the 700 block of Main avenue south at 7:35 p.m. Saturday.

Hughes received a cut lip in the collision. Damages to both the Nash, owned by Mrs. Frances Sande, 756 Main avenue south, and Hughes' car totaled $600.

A Twin Falls deputy sheriff said he would cite Neal H. Custer, 17, route 2, Twin Falls, Sunday for failure to stop at a blinker light at the Hansen intersection on highway 30.

Twin Falls Deputy Sheriff David Hunter said the citation was not issued Saturday because the youth was "too shaken." The accident occurred at 7:24 p.m. Saturday.

Custer's 1957 Rambler ran the light and struck a 1957 De Soto driven by Henry M. Larsen, 56, Shelley. Hunter said damage was estimated at $700 to the DeSoto and $150 to the Rambler.

Shelter's Bedding Is Inspected

Salvation Army Lt. Del Hearne demonstrates inadequate bedding available in the "family room" at the Army's Twin Falls emergency shelter, 703 Main avenue west. The official has asked for contributions of sheets, blankets and towels to furnish the shelter, opened last November. (Staff photo-entourage)

Bedding Equipment Needed For Salvation Army's Shelter

The Salvation Army emergency shelter, opened last November at 703 Main avenue west in Twin Falls, is "desperately in need of bedding," Salvation Army Lt. Del Hearne said Saturday. The center has no funds to purchase this equipment, and the official seeks "good, used bedding" from members of the community.

Hearne said the shelter, which can accommodate 20 persons, is furnished adequately except for sheets, towels and blankets. It was opened last November after the group "outgrew" previous quarters at 290 Quincy street, the official said.

The shelter functions as a Twin Falls "clearing house" for emergency assistance to all persons, regardless of race, creed or color, who need temporary housing and food, Hearne said.

The Twin Falls Salvation Army commander explained that the shelter takes referrals from churches, law enforcement agencies and individuals.

"We feel the community is better served when one central agency—in our case, the Salvation Army emergency shelter—handles all emergency assistance, since it prevents duplication of effort."

Hearne noted wryly that appeals for aid from indigents who assert, "The Salvation Army turned me down," generally can be disposed of with a telephone call to the shelter, at REdwood 3-3341.

"In most cases, the person who asserts this has been turned down because he doesn't meet our standards, or doesn't want to meet them."

Standards include no consumption of alcoholic beverages while living at the shelter, "a willingness to behave like a decent human being," and helping with household chores at the shelter to pay for room and board.

The shelter—at its present address and prior to November on Quincy street—furnished 1,018 beds during 1960, and 4,711 meals to 1,368 applicants. (An applicant is counted only once, but lodging is counted on a night-to-night basis, Hearne explained.)

At the expanded headquarters, Hearne noted, the shelter is handling approximately 700 meals a month, at an average cost of $20 weekly for food.

"This would be impossible, of course," Hearne explained, "without the many contributions of food we get."

He estimates total monthly expenses at the shelter at "between $10 and $215 per month." This includes food, heat, light, rent and terdenominational group is instrumental in obtaining sufficient funds to carry on the work of the shelter.

For the convenience of the Ministerial association, Hearne prepares a monthly statistical report on the religious affiliations of those aided by the shelter. During 1960, for example, 25 per cent of those aided at the shelter listed their religion as "Baptist," Methodists, Baptists and Roman Catholics made up 57 per cent of those aided at the RUPERT, Feb. 25—Formation of the Walcott soil conservation district was approved 98-14 Friday by residents of the old Minidoka Irrigation project.

The new district will serve the original Minidoka project. Jack Fry, administrative officer for the soil conservation service, Boise, reports two supervisors will be appointed by the SCS and three elected by voters of the district.

shelter, although 33 faiths were assisted last year.

"We get some professional bums, and deadbeats," Hearne says. "He believes the majority of persons asking for aid are 'honest, but just down on their luck.' Many remain only long enough to rest up and eat before continuing on, a while some stay for several days and attempt to find employment. Hearne explained that some persons who lived for several days at the shelter were successful in finding jobs."

"In these cases, we let them live here until they get their first paycheck. Then they take care of themselves."

Transfer of Area Pupils Is Reported

HAZELTON, Feb. 25—Seventh grade students will attend the Hazelton elementary school next year instead of the Valley high school-junior high school building, school board members reported today.

School officials pointed out removing the seventh grade will decrease the enrollment from 120 to 100, reducing two classrooms, one of which can be used for a music room. The move also will relieve crowded conditions in the dressing rooms and rest room.

Grades four through seven will attend school at Hazelton and the two lower grades at the Eden elementary school. School officials point out the transfers will eliminate combined grades in one room and equalize the teacher-pupil ratios.

Two new classrooms are planned for the Hazelton elementary school and a new bathroom is to be built at Eden. They will be financed by money from the plant facilities fund.

The board felt the need for expansion to house the students is imperative at this time and because of the recent bond issue taking this procedure has been decided upon to secure relief for enrollment needs.

The board pointed out this will not add much to the cost of transportation of the students. In addition to relieving the congestion at the Valley high school this plan will afford a much improved educational program for the students in the elementary schools, it was noted.

WATCH CLOSELY NOW
Wire service reports would indicate that progress during the current session of the state legislature has been more orderly than usual. Beyond that, it would be far too early to judge this session. As has happened before, it might be next taxpaying time before Idahoans become fully aware of what has happened in the last two months.

The sometimes-lively session has been marked by such things as the usual effort to emasculate the state highway department, a bill to abolish the fish and game commission, legislators calling each other liars, old standbys like the trading stamp and pari-mutuel betting bills, the move to change congressional districts by switching the heavy Republican vote in Ada county to the Democratic first district, minimum wage for drivers, Governor Smylie's building program, hike in the minimum wage, head tax and sales tax.

Many of these measures have come up in past sessions of the legislature and undoubtedly will come before future sessions. No session would seem complete without some of the same old bills. For instance, opponents of the state highway department can be expected to continue their attacks even in the face of such convincing evidence as excellent highways in all parts of the state. And bureaucrats and other exponents of spending for one reason or other will never be content until they have such a "broad base" tax as the sales tax with all that additional money to spend.

But it's in the closing days of the session that Idahoans should watch the legislature quite closely. In those hectic last days, it's possible for harmful legislation to slip through virtually unnoticed. It's also in these last days of the session that bills with obvious ulterior purposes might gain a hurried and unsuspecting approval.

For instance, Governor Smylie could hardly be expected to veto house bill 281, if it were to be approved. The bill would create a "state department of natural resources" with a director to be appointed by the governor. Among the director's duties would be such minor items as "coordinating the functions of the various agencies of the department" and "coordinating all studies in the state of Idaho concerned with the development, conservation and use of natural resources."

The natural resources director's duties also include "Subject to the provisions of general law, (he may) adopt, amend and rescind such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the operation of the department."

The new "department" would include the present bureau of public lands, state cooperative board of forestry, department of reclamation, state soil conservation commission and bureau of state parks and recreation areas.

But that isn't all. Under a section of the bill enumerating agencies in the department is this little addition: "Such other agencies as the director may in his discretion establish to cooperate with the various committees, districts, associations and political subdivisions concerned with the development, conservation or use of natural resources in the state of Idaho."

It might be pointed out that the fish and game commission, although not mentioned in the bill, also has something to do with "development, conservation and use of natural resources." The bill doesn't specifically exempt the fish and game department, so it would appear the director of natural resources could take over that agency "in his discretion."

That's the sort of pitfall common during the last hectic days of the state legislature. If Idaho legislators don't have time to study these late bills, they would do well to ignore them completely, without permitting the bills out of committee.

Another example of this sort of thing is house bill 366, from the same state affairs committee which spawned the sleeper about the state department of natural resources. House bill 366 is described merely "Establishes a three-member state personnel commission." This little bill reportedly would repeal parts of the public health law, employment security agency law and fish and game department law as they pertain to the merit system.

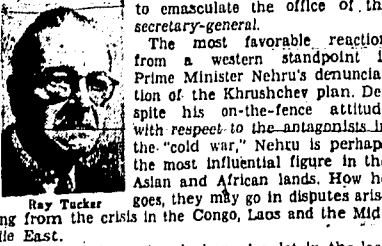

As you may have guessed, the new "personnel" commission would be appointed by the governor and it would be directly responsible to the governor.

Of course, only a few hundred state employees would have any cause for concern. Put together house bill 281 and house bill 366 and what sort of reaction do you get? Here's the old political attempt to toss hundreds of state jobs back into the patronage pot where they could be used to pay off political obligations. This is the sort of thing that built trails instead of highways for years.

Around the state there is a vocal minority that has been whooping it up against "government by commission" for years, largely where the state highway commission and the fish and game commission are concerned. Their interest is obvious when you consider the sums of "dedicated" funds earmarked specifically for these two non-political agencies. Politicians would go to nearly any extreme to get their hands on all that money and all the jobs involved.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON — Nikita Khrushchev has again overplayed and outreached himself with his obvious effort to disrupt and control the United Nations. His proposal that a three-man directorate support Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld as the directing force in the international organization stands revealed as a non-100-substance attempt to emasculate the office of the secretary-general.

Nehru has learned and changed a lot in the last few years, largely because of Russian and Chinese aggressions in nearby areas, and more recently by Khrushchev's attack on the present organization of the United Nations. Nehru agrees with President Kennedy's statement that the United Nations is the principal hope and bulwark of small nations caught in an atomic "squeeze" between the U. S. and the USSR.

NEHRU'S CHANGE OF HEART—When I interviewed Nehru at his palatial residence in New Delhi two years ago, I asked him why he condemned what he called "Anglo-American imperialism," but did not seem to object to Russia's brutal seizure and domination of the satellite states. I also asked why he did not criticize Moscow's dictatorial rule within the Soviet area.

His explanation was that India had experienced and suffered under 100 years of "British colonialism," that the United States had generally supported the British foreign policy and that he linked the two countries in his mind. On the other hand, he said, India had never been oppressed by the communists.

Well, since that interview, Nehru has had a good dose of communist aggression and suppression. Besides its takeover of Tibet, Red China has seized large chunks of land on India's northern border. Chinese communists' conspiracies in North Vietnam, Laos, Thailand and Burma jeopardize India's flank.

OIL ON TROUBLED WATERS—Coincidental with Prime Minister Nehru's apparent change of viewpoint is President Kennedy's definite interest in conditions in India and Africa.

As a senator, President Kennedy urged more American financial aid for New Delhi, and asked for a peaceful settlement between metropolitan France and the Algerian rebels. He has also asked for agreement between the United Arab Republic and Israel over the Gaza strip problem.

All of these questions involve India with its heterogeneous population — Moslems, Hindus, Jews, Christians and other races and creeds. With its 600 million population, and especially if it achieves the economic advancement envisaged in Nehru's program, India will become one of the world's great powers.

It may be the one nation which can checkmate Red China's current effort to overrun Southeast Asia, thereby gaining control of that area's vast mineral resources. And should Peking succeed in this adventure, it would be a threat to Indonesia, Australia and New Zealand, our allies in that strategic sector.

NEW TEAMMATE SOUGHT—In fact, this possibility was among the questions under discussion when President Kennedy recently met with the prime ministers of those two "down under" lands.

Upon my visit to Australia and New Zealand only a few days after my talk with Prime Minister Nehru, I found that they were definitely worried about President Sukarno's communist sympathies in Indonesia and the Chinese communists' sortie into the South Pacific.

In view of all these relatively favorable developments for our side, it is probable that Prime Minister Nehru will soon receive an invitation to visit the White House. We need him on our diplomatic team. (Released by McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

VIEW OF OTHERS

HIGHWAY TARGETS IN EAST IDAHO
A reader wondering why Idaho's federal highway construction quota is the lowest of the western states, has put his finger on three of East Idaho's major highway problems.

They are: Highway 191 from Idaho Falls to Ashton; highway 26 from Ririe to the new section at Antelope; and highway 20 from Arco to Carey or Shoshone.

L. R. Bird, a motel owner who has a stake in good highways, points out in a letter to this newspaper last week that Utah and Wyoming's aggressive program in improving highway 89 from Logan to Jackson, Wyo., has resulted in the loss of the majority of tourist traffic previously served on highway 191 through Idaho Falls. There is no question about it. This fine highway from Logan through Jackson Hole has been the big factor in the large increase in traffic at the south entrance to Yellowstone park. The west gate at West Yellowstone was undisputed leader of the entrance statistics until the south gate's late surge. The highway and some excellent promotion by Jackson Hole interests have made the big difference.

The state highway department is moving to improve the Yellowstone highway from Ashton to Chester this year, but this is half-measure. What is essentially needed is a wider, top standard highway from Idaho Falls to Ashton. With the completion of the current highway project between the Montana line on the continental divide into West Yellowstone late this summer, suitable highway will be available from Ashton to West Yellowstone and it's west gate to the park. It's the Idaho Falls-Ashton link that must be an imminent target on 191.

Once the new interstate is finished from Utah to Idaho Falls, however, east Idaho will be able once again to offer traffic from the south a more than comparable choice in routes to Yellowstone park—provided Idaho, in the meantime, gives major highway specification to the Idaho Falls-Ashton link. Idaho should be prepared to offer a top standard highway system from the Idaho border all the way to West Yellowstone by the time the interstate is finished from the Utah border to Idaho Falls.

There is no argument either that if for no other reason than safety the bobbing, curving highway stretches from Ririe to Antelope and from the Craters of the Moon to Shoshone deserve a new route or overhauling. The Ririe stretch is eventually slated for all new highway and part of highway 20 to Shoshone may also receive this treatment. They both deserve early attention—Idaho Falls Post-Register.

NO REASON TO EXPLODE
Hi: Ever since my neighbor got one of those little foreign cars, relations have been a bit strained in the neighborhood.

When he first drove it home, he was just bustin' with pride. Had to call me out to see it. So I looked it over rather carefully, asked about the motor and he raised the trunk door, explained, "Air cooled." I took one look and innocently asked, "Does it fit the motor mounts on your lawnmower?"

Now I ask you, Pots, is that any reason for a guy to lose his temper?

BIG PROJECTS
The other day a fellow plopped down and exclaimed, "Boy, I've had it!" Naturally, this sort of reaction would serve to arouse curiosity, so in no time at all, he was being asked what he'd been up to.

"Today, I pruned an apple orchard and cut my way through a forest," he declared, "Now wouldn't that be enough to wear out almost anyone?"

The questioners allowed as how that seemed like quite a bit of work to accomplish in a single day. But the questioning didn't stop there.

And finally the truth, as it has a habit of doing, was out. The "apple orchard" consisted of one tree and the "forest" was one evergreen. Big deal.

ANY PARTICULAR NAME?
Dear Sir: For years I've heard the mountain range to the south of Twin Falls referred to only as "the south hills." Somehow, I've always had the idea that any range of mountains would have a name, but I've never seen any name for that range on any map.

The mountains over in the Three creek area appear to be named and the ones to the east have such names as Black Pine, but I can't recall hearing anything except "south hills" for this prominent east-west range.

Does it have a name or not?

WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — No finer opportunity to read Nikita Khrushchev's inner mind has been furnished in recent years than his Jan. 6 speech to communist theoreticians. The four-hour harangue is a report on the conference of Communist party leaders from 81 countries, held in Moscow last November.

It is rambling, highly repetitious, and filled with Marxist-Leninist gobbledegook. But for the sake of those who would like its principal ideas straight from the Russian bear's mouth, here is a condensation of its most important passages of peace and war in Khrushchev's own words:

"All peace-loving mankind awaited the answer," said Khrushchev, which this communist conference would give—"to the most burning question of the day—how to prevent a world thermonuclear war and how to insure peaceful coexistence of states with different social systems."

"Imperialism," Khrushchev continued, "has created under peaceful conditions a gigantic apparatus of war and a widespread system of blocs, and has subjected their economy to the arms race..."

"In modern conditions the following categories of wars should be distinguished: World wars, local wars, liberation wars and popular uprisings."

"Let us begin with world wars. Communists are the most determined opponents of world wars. Wars are chiefly prepared by imperialists against socialist countries, and in the first place against the Soviet Union as the most powerful of the social states... The task is to create impassable obstacles against the unleashing of wars by imperialists."

"The picture is now quite different... A mighty socialist camp exists, possessing powerful armed forces. The peoples, by mobilizing all their forces for active struggle against the warmongering imperialists, can indisputably prevent war and thus insure peaceful coexistence..."

"A word or two about local wars. Certain imperialist circles, fearing that world war might end in the complete collapse of capitalism, are putting their money on unleashing local wars. There have been local wars and they may occur again in the future..."

"But a small imperialist war... may grow into a world, thermonuclear rocket war. We must therefore combat both world and local wars..."

"Now a word about national liberation wars. The armed struggle by the Vietnamese people or the war of the Algerian people serve as the latest examples. These wars began as uprisings by the colonial peoples against their oppressors and changed into guerrilla warfare..."

"Liberation wars will continue to exist as long as imperialism exists, as long as colonialism exists. These are revolutionary wars. Such wars are not only admissible but inevitable... We recognize such wars, we help and will help people striving for their independence..."

"Or let us take Cuba's example. A war took place there, too. But it also started as an uprising against the internal tyrannical regime supported by U. S. imperialism... The Cuban people, under the leadership of Fidel Castro, have won..."

"Can such wars flare up in the future? They can. What is the attitude of the Marxists toward such uprisings? It is a most positive one.

"These uprisings must not be identified with wars among states, with local wars. These are uprisings against rotten, reactionary regimes, against the colonizers. The communists fully support such wars and will march in the front rank with the peoples waging liberation struggles."

Bomb Shelter Given Plenty Of Use on Space Age Ranch

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif., Feb. 25 (AP)—For more than two years, cowpuncher Joe Rodriguez has kept a wary eye peered to the north.

There, atop 2,500-foot Mt. Tranquillon, glitters a strange white ball that has come to his homeland. Half a century ago, in Joe's boyhood, these quiet coastal hills knew a deep peace, broken only by the lonesome bawling of a calf. Now, all around him, there are huge machines of war he comprehends only vaguely.

At any time there may come a mighty roar, like the gates of hell bursting open on a cold day, and a great projectile will leap into the northern sky.

Rising swiftly, it soars over familiar old Mt. Tranquillon faster than a bullet. Its tail is on fire. And the fire is as white-hot as the sun.

Joe starts running the second the roar begins. By the time the projectile is overhead Joe has joined his wife, Lucretia, and the others on the ranch inside their big bomb shelter.

Joe Rodriguez, ageless and tough as an oak at 60, is foreman of a 15,000-acre cattle ranch in the rolling hills south of the navy's Point Arguello missile battery.

Harriman Is Sent on West Europe Tour

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—In his first direct move to tighten NATO unity, President Kennedy today assigned roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman to tour Western Europe at once and confer with the chief allied leaders.

The action comes at a time of steadily increasing tensions in the relationship between the United States and the Soviet Union. It also coincides with some irritations between this country and Britain, particularly over the Kennedy administration's new approach to African problems.

The Congo crisis and African problems generally — as well as U.S.-Soviet differences over Laos — are sure to figure extensively in Harriman's talks. He will leave tomorrow to see British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, French President Charles de Gaulle, German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Premier Amintore Fanfani, Italy.

T.F. Building Permits Show Decline From Period in 1960

Building permits issued the first two months of this year are slightly below the same period last year, notes Stuart Swan, city building inspector.

He attributes the slack to a national-wide trend, noting that a building slump usually is evident during the winter months.

Nine building permits were issued during January, 1961, with 10 permits issued during January, 1960.

In February, 1961, 28 permits were issued, compared with 35 permits in February, 1960.

Estimated cost on the nine permits issued last month was $21,000, while the estimated cost on the 10 permits issued January, 1960, was $42,100.

According to Swan's figures, fewer permits were issued in January, 1961, than in any January for more than six years.

In a breakdown, Swan noted that in January, 1960, one new residence was constructed at an estimated cost of $8,000; two residences were altered for $3,800; one residential garage was constructed for $1,000, and six commercial buildings were altered for $29,300.

Last month, he continued, one new residence was constructed for $7,000; six residences were altered for $4,100, and two commercial

Apology for Riot Given to Hagerty

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Feb. 25 (AP)—An apology for the anti-American riots in Tokyo has been made to former White House press secretary James C. Hagerty by four of the demonstrators.

One of the four Japanese students, Yasuo Iwanaga, Waseda university, said last night: "On behalf of the Japanese students, I want to apologize to the American nation for the division between our two countries and the serious damage to the unity of the free world caused by the demonstrations we led last June which prevented your President—Eisenhower from visiting Japan."

Just Nip

MONTPELIER, Vt., Feb. 25 (AP)—Rep. Susan Christowe, R. Dorey, outlined his philosophy on taxation.

"Taxing people is like shearing sheep," he said. "You want to take all the wool you can, but you have to be careful of the skin. You can nip a sheep every year but you can only skin him once."

Master of ceremonies and LDS Bishop Howard Arrington gave the invocation.

Each boy introduced his family and presented his mother with a corsage.

Guests included Dale Rouse, state institutional representative; Elden Wade, first counselor, and his wife, and William Egbert, second counselor, and his wife, all from the third ward bishopric.

Pomona Master Gives Thanks For Grange Confab Publicity

Editor, Times-News: Let me express the sincere appreciation of all the Granges of this area for the fine cooperation and coverage given by the press and broadcasting stations of Magic Valley in the recent (hoped for) appearance of National Grange Master Herschel D. Newson.

The fact a person of such prominence was the victim of petty airline quarrelling which left him stranded in Salt Lake City, only highlights the need for this area to insist such practices cease and sound service be restored.

Mr. Newson was traveling on a flight confirmed by all air lines concerned and his presence aboard the United Airlines plane was well known to West Coast. Their arbitrary action in leaving ahead of the arrival of that flight cannot

Woman Doesn't Believe Odds on 6 Grandmothers

Editor, Times-News: I have been reading in the Times-News about the six grandmother episode. If it is a case of 50 million to one, I surely do not believe it.

In 1943, my oldest son was 11 years old and his three sisters were 9, 6 and 5. They were very proud to boast of their six grandmothers.

Mrs. H. A. Kistler, now of Buhl, and Mrs. Ruby Bishop, Scottsbluff, Neb., are their grandmothers. At that time their four great-grandmothers were Mrs. Catherine Chapman, Los Angeles; Mrs. Ellen Kistler, Hastings, Neb.; Mrs. Martha Maria Hill, Scottsbluff, and Mrs. S. E. Bishop, Port Townsend, Wash. All were past 85 years old.

They too only had one grandfather and one great-grandfather.

Woman Says It's Unfair That She Misses Bargains

Editor, Times-News: Don't you think it is just a little unfair to fix it so we get our paper with all those come on advertisements for Washington birthday on the day after? We live on a route and get no mail delivery on Feb. 22. This morning here was yesterday's special. I declare it unfair to us poor unfortunate hillbillies living in the sticks.

Writer Misses on Bargains Listed For Celebration

Editor, Times-News: If you have a gripe department I guess this letter should go there. I got home from work at 4 p.m. Thursday brought the mail in and read all the wonderful bargains that were offered on Feb. 22—Washington's birthday.

Just a little bit late wouldn't you say. We had no mail delivery on the rural route Wednesday and even if we had by the time we get our mail at 12:30 p.m. it would be a little late in the day.

I would imagine there are a great number of people who feel the same as I do.

Editorial in Times-News Is Approved by Area Grangers

Editor, Times-News: We wish to commend the Times-News in regards to the editorial in the Feb. 20, 1961, issue about National Grange Master Herschel D. Newson. He was not able to keep his scheduled appearance in Twin Falls Saturday night, Feb. 18, because of poor airline connections.

Little does one realize the inconvenience this has caused. People were on hand from as far away as Pocatello and Meridian for this scheduled appearance, only to be disappointed by the refusal of West Coast airlines to wait a few minutes for a delayed United Airlines trans-continental flight to Salt Lake City.

Is this a policy of West Coast airlines or is it brought about by friction between West Coast and United airlines?

Since the incident, we are wondering how many other flights have affected other individuals and air mail service to Magic Valley. We have been informed this is not the first time this has happened.

We suggest these incidents be reported to the proper authorities for investigation and correction so Magic Valley can enjoy the first

Writer Bothered By Suspensions In Area School

Editor, Times-News: I heard Idaho in the Paul Harvey comments twice this morning. As to the question posed by the 7-year-old son of Sen. Frank Church, there is a hidden lesson there for the senator and for the rest of us. Watch the use of the word "my."

As to the suspended students, they have shown they have learned some of their history as well as some law (legal holiday) and shown desire to obey the law, whether, in this case, because of respect or preference I would not know but it seems to me "suspension" is rather severe.

A few years back a radar check was reported in a school zone and the first catch included the superintendent of schools doing 35 miles an hour. This was probably disrespectful rather than ignorance of the law.

I believe he paid the usual legal penalty but I never heard of any school board disciplinary action and certainly there was nothing like "suspension."

So I would say "have a heart," here. This is a rather unusual attitude for me as I usually am more inclined to think the kids get off too easily.

Man Sentenced On Stolen Goods

BURLEY, Feb. 25—Patrick Jack Smith, 54, Burley, was fined $25 and sentenced to five days in the county jail by Probate Judge Vern Carter Saturday morning for being in possession of stolen goods.

Burley police say Smith took an 11-point diamond ring to the Paulson Jewelry store here for appraisal. An employee, James McCordle, who waited on Smith, recalled a ring of that type stolen from the store two years ago so called police.

Under questioning Smith said he had purchased the ring from a couple the day before for $50. When contacted by police the couple knew nothing about the transaction.

Then McCordle remembered selling a similar ring to R. M. Norton, Burley, who when questioned by police, discovered his ring was missing.

Norton signed the complaint. The ring was valued at $150, police said.

Dancers Practice for Production

Joe Abegglen, right, who will do the Scottish sword dance in "Brigadoon" this week, practices with Mrs. Joe G. Hackney, solo choreographer for the Dilettante group production. Mrs. Dan Nielson is dance ensemble choreographer and director for the musical comedy which opens Thursday night at the Filer high school auditorium. (Staff photo-engraving)

Gay, Lilted Dances of Scotland Will Be Recreated on "Brigadoon" Stages

The gay, lilted dances of Scotland, as well as some of the country's more serious ones, will be recreated on the stage of the Filer high school auditorium less than a week from now, when the curtain goes up on "Brigadoon."

The Lerner-Loewe musical fantasy is the third annual production of the Dilettante group of Magic Valley, which will present the show at 8 p.m. Thursday, Friday, Saturday and next Monday, and at 2:30 Sunday, March 5.

Solo choreography for "Brigadoon" is being done by Mrs. Joe G. Hackney. Mrs. Dan Nielson is choreographer and director of the dance ensemble.

Mrs. Hackney will also make her first stage appearance in Magic Valley in the dancing role of Maggie in "Brigadoon," in which she will dance the "pibroch" or mourning dance, to the sound of bagpipes.

One of the major solo dances will be the ballet by Susan Klinke, cast as Jean MacLarsen, to the music, "Come to Me, Bend to Me." Five toe dancers will appear in the ballet with her, Jeanne Matsuoka, Marcia Hackney, Renee Moss, Kathy Stoddard, and Dixie VanDeVanter.

Another choreographic highlight of "Brigadoon" will be the Scottish sword dance to be done by Joe Abegglen. Mrs. Hackney describes the dance as "very difficult. It lasts for four or five minutes and the dancer must dance between and around two crossed swords on the ground, not touching them at anytime."

To make the dance as authentic as could be, Mrs. Hackney studied the sword dance done by the Caledonia group here last winter when it appeared on the Community concert program.

Miss Moss will also appear in a solo dance, during the production number of "I'll Go Home With Bonnie Jean." Her role in the show, a dancing part, is that of a fishmonger. Miss Stoddard is understudy for the roles of Jean and Maggie.

Mrs. Nielson describes the dance ensemble numbers as "Scottish interpretive dances that will present a taste of Scotland." She too has drawn on the Caledonia dances for some help in creating the chorus numbers, as well as on her own training and experience as a teacher and with dance festivals.

The dance ensemble will do country dances in the opening "Down on McConnaghy Square" scene, in a glen scene, and in the number for "My Mother's Wedding Day." Special Scottish dances will be presented to the music of "I'll Go Home With Bonnie Jean," the wedding dance, and a reel that accompanies the sword dance.

A Small Story for An Important Group

the Paris Jr. has for the past six months been serving this group . . . the Preteen Girl and Junior Miss.

The intent of this small story is not to add to the confusion about size and age, but merely to state a fact. Preteen or subteen, if you prefer . . . is a definite size range depending upon the degree of growth and maturity of a young girl's body.

"Junior" is most definitely a size range and not an age range. This size range will accommodate the young miss or the grandmother, depending again upon the proportions of her body.

We are happy to have had the opportunity to serve you and anticipate serving you again.

All seats are reserved this year, and five performances have been initially scheduled by the Dilettante group, instead of three as in previous years.

PTA District Leader Talks At Area Meet

BURLEY, Feb. 25—What other organization has a broader outlook for the welfare of our children than the PTA? asked Mrs. Wilson Hold, fourth district president, when she addressed members of the Southwest PTA Thursday night at the school.

Her subject pertained to Founder's day. The school became a second home to a child and therefore parents appreciate good teachers, she said.

She referred to Maurice Darlington, Declo, who had been awarded a PTA scholarship and is to receive his degree this spring and plans to come back to Idaho to teach.

Mrs. Holt said that every day in school is worth $108 a day and every day in college is worth $145 a day to the student. This figure was based on an individual's lifetime of earnings as compared with his time spent in school.

"If you tell your child how much each day he attends school is worth to him, perhaps that fake headache will disappear," she noted.

She referred to the work being done by the PTA on the "black plague," obscene literature.

Outlining the past history of the PTA she said the hot lunch program had been initiated by the organization as well as the "spring roundup" of pre-school students.

PTA leaders worked with juvenile authorities locally and were instrumental in getting a doctor to come to Burley to administer polio shots to all school students when they were first being offered, Mrs. Holt declared.

She listed a few of the projects of Southwest PTA during the past year, including buying a fence for the playground, blacktopping, buying record players, clock and lights for the school.

"Education is a gift for every child, not a select few," she concluded.

A life membership pin was presented to Mrs. Jesse Taylor by Mrs. Holt in behalf of the Southwest PTA for her outstanding work. Mrs. Taylor has been song leader, room mother, helped with rummage sales, worked in the district and council and was state music director.

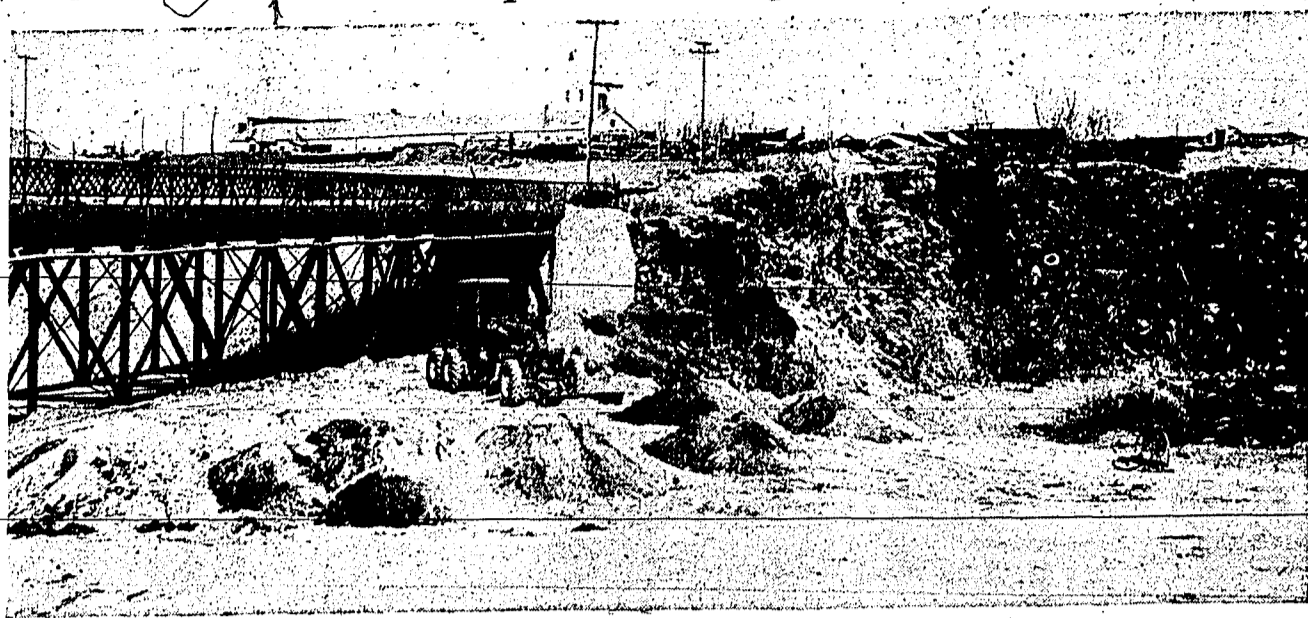

The money from the life membership awards goes towards state funds for teachers taking specialized training, Mrs. Holt said.

Mrs. James Roper, Mrs. LaDell Handy and Mrs. Richard Sutton, chairman, were named at the nominating committee.

Mrs. Ezra Moore's second grade room received a record for the high room count and Mrs. Boyd Earl, fifth grade teachers, received a special prize.

The group voted to purchase a microphone for the stage as the

More Fill Needed to Complete Job of Replacing Rock Creek Bridge

A road grader, nearly dwarfed by the bridge to the left and the canyon wall in the background, shows how much fill material has been used and how much more is needed to raise the new road level to within three feet of the present bridge floor. The project will replace the Rock creek canyon bridge located just south of Twin Falls on Blue Lakes boulevard south. Not needing men to plow snow-filled county roads this winter, Twin Falls Highway District Director J. D. Sinema set the men to work building a fill across the canyon. Dirt for the job is being hauled in from a bulte seven miles south of town. Work will cease during the summer. (Staff photo-engraving) year's project. The group also considered lights for the front of the building. These recommendations will be submitted to a committee for approval.

Mrs. Norman Nielson reported on the group's participation in the skit night event. Group singing was led by Mrs. Marvin W. Pearson accompanied at the piano by Mrs. John Rue. Invocation was given by Mrs. William Toolson.

Replacement for Rock Creek Canyon Bridge Half Finished

A fill across Rock-creek-canyon on Blue Lakes boulevard south to replace the bridge is reported about 50 per cent complete as crews of the Twin Falls highway district work on the job.

J. D. Sinema, director of the highway district, says a mild winter, free of road-clogging snow, has enabled the men to devote time on the fill and also other needed road repair work in the district.

The department is using its own equipment and is working on the

Board to Act on Zoning Contract

Twin Falls city commissioners are expected to pass a resolution Monday night authorizing Vernon Riddle, commission chairman, and Mrs. Constance Leiser, city clerk, to sign a contract with Ronald Thompson for zoning consulting services.

Other items on the agenda include approval of the February payroll, building permits, license applications and monthly departmental reports.

Spencer Claims Another Killing In Texas in '59

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 25 (AP)—A convicted murderer in Florida has told the Texas rangers that in 1959 he and a woman companion killed a girl in Texas.

Col. Homer Garrison, director of the Texas department of public safety, said the description of the girl fits that of Beverly Jean Williams, about 24, Houston, who has been listed as missing.

Garrison also said he believes that Emmett Monroe Spencer, now in the death row of the state penitentiary at Ralford, Fla., might be telling the truth.

"Since the inmate has been in death row in Florida, he has confessed to two murders in Florida, other than the one for which he was convicted, and another in Gooding, Ida., claiming he wanted to 'clear my mind in order to meet my maker,' Garrison said.

Spencer confessed killing Dr. John Hunt, Jr., a Portland, Ore., forestry pathologist, in southern Idaho in August, 1959.

Mishap Noticed

Jerome police estimated damage to the Pontiac at $10.

Employe Fete Is Given by Burley Group

BURLEY, Feb. 25—In business as well as in your community think positively," asserted Wesley Johnson, business manager of the Northwest Nazarene college, Nampa, when he addressed the 180 employers and employees attending a banquet at the Elks hall Thursday evening sponsored by the merchants committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

The biggest factor in selling is an enthusiastic and positive approach. Think "up" instead of "down," he said. He referred to the publicity being given to a depression.

"If this talk continues, we will have a real depression," he declared.

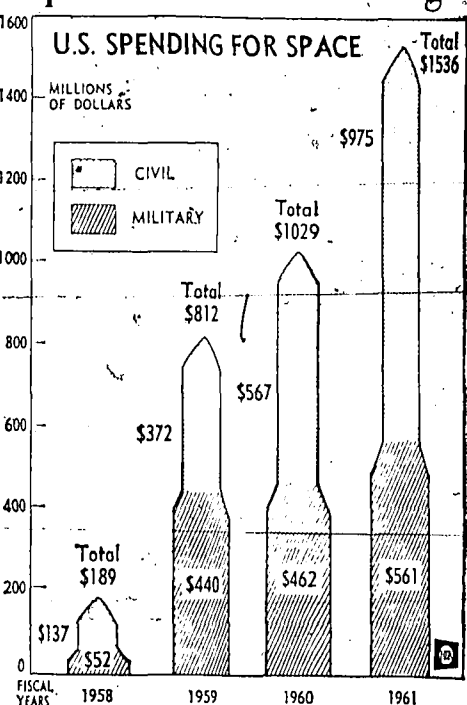

Al Dawson, committee chairman for the retail merchant's committee was master of ceremonies and introduced the speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. William Roper were introduced. Roper has had one of the longest memberships in the Burley Chamber and stated that he was a member of the Commercial club, which was organized before the chamber. The chamber held meetings in a small room above the Burley Drug store in 1912 and store hours at that time were from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. and on Saturday they remained open until 11 p. m., he declared.

Announcement was made that Johnson will conduct a sales clinic beginning at 7:30 p. m. March 9 and 10 at the Dworshak school on the subject, "Say it, show it, and sell it." Tickets are on sale from all members of the merchants committee as well as from the chamber office.

Dee Marsden presented palm-oles for the program.

Space Funds Increasing

America's two-fold attack—civilian and military—on space is shown in newschart. Rapid growth in expenditures is indicated by lengthening rockets. Except for fiscal year 1958, money spent on civilian space projects has exceeded military. Most of 1961's funds, 915 million dollars, will go to national aeronautics and space administration; 60 million dollars will be used in related work by the atomic energy commission.

Good Winter Weather Aids Work on Two Frontier Field Projects

Manj. Larry Laughridge, left, inspects the entrance to the new Twin Falls national guard armory with J. A. Clawson, general contractor. The $150,000 building is expected to be completed by April 1. Work remaining includes laying flooring, painting, hanging doors and construction of a 12-foot-wide sidewalk from the drive in the foreground to the entrance. The land will be landscaped in front of the armory. The five acres of land the armory stands on was donated by the city. The city also absorbed 10 per cent of the cost, the state contributed 15 per cent and the federal government donated the remaining 75 per cent. (Staff photo-engraving)

Twin Falls Fire Chief L. Z. Bartlett, right, and J. A. Clawson, general contractor, standing in front of the newly-constructed fire station at Frontier field, discuss final items needed to be taken care of before the station is ready for use. Presently 98 per cent finished, the $35,000 structure is expected to be completed by the end of next week.

Work Near Completion at Frontier Field for Guard Armory, Substation

Frontier field in Twin Falls has been the site of a great deal of construction activity this winter.

Work started simultaneously on a new armory building and a new fire substation on Oct. 17.

The fire station is expected to be completed during the last part of this week and construction of the armory is 85 per cent complete.

The $150,000 armory, designed to serve as a civic center as well as headquarters building for the 16th armored cavalry regiment, has April 1 as a completion date.

The culmination of some 12 years effort on the part of many Twin Falls citizens, the structure was built to serve the community. The city donated the five acres of land for the building and contributed 10 per cent toward total construction cost. The state donated 15 per cent and the federal government contributed the remaining 75 per cent.

Work still to be done includes laying floors, hanging doors, painting rooms and constructing a 12-foot wide sidewalk from the armory entrance to the driveway.

The building has 18,000 square feet of floor space. This area is divided into classrooms, a library drill hall, storage room, olderly rooms, staff room and office space.

The drill hall is the largest, single room containing 5,120 square feet of floor space. The hall is designed to accommodate up to 700 persons for dinner, regional guard regimental adjutant.

The building is steam heated and represents the 22nd armory to be built in the state of Idaho.

Twin Falls city commissioners and the national guard worked together in designing the building. The new fire station was constructed as the result of growth, states L. Z. Bartlett, Twin Falls fire chief.

The $35,000 substation will serve the northern half of Twin Falls. Three men will be on duty at the station 24 hours per day. One fire truck will be stationed at the new structure and a unit at the "downtown station" will be used to "back it up," Bartlett said.

The building has 2,434 square feet of floor space and contains kitchen facilities, a bedroom that will sleep six persons plus storage rooms and the main garage.

It will be air conditioned and is heated with forced air. Construction work is nearly completed with only minor items left.

Bartlett reports the city was advised to construct a station to serve the north section of town as early as 1940. The new station will undoubtedly lower fire insurance rates," he notes.

The station will require the addition of approximately 10 men to the present force. They cannot be hired until July 1, he adds.

The station has space for classroom instruction and a drill tower, to be built on the back of the lot. It is planned: The firehouse is situated on a 200-square foot lot.

General contractor for both buildings is J. A. Clawson, Twin Falls. The mild open winter aided in the construction work, Clawson says.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

The people who object to the schools' idea of offering their pupils activities other than those tied to books seem to think the child is confined to that field alone and that any use of the hands or feet bears scant relation to important knowledge. Such people seem to honor only the student of the lamp, not the student of things as they are.

Mind is not confined to the box of skull. It is not a mass of cells but an intangible force that permeates every last bit of the body. Take a look at the hands of the people you meet. Look at the useless, pampered hands of an idle woman, their paddy softness, their "useless" look and then look at the hands of a busy mother. If you see what I see, intelligence and the light of intelligence in the used hand, you will understand how mind reaches fingers ends.

Watch a dancer's feet, arms, legs, toes, finger tips. What do you see there? Something akin to flame, a certain beauty that uselessness never yet achieved.

When we teachers beg for opportunities for children to use their hands, feet and bodies, we are asking to be allowed to help them find new ways of enlightening their bodies by using them, ways of illuminating their intelligence by making use of powers they do not know they have. The equipment teachers ask for their work is not for themselves. They are the pupils' growth, to allow them to stretch their minds.

Nobody can know too much about anything in human experience from driving a nail to flying a plane and the mind is what allows one to know. It is a wonderful, unaccountable blessed gift to mankind that Nature provided him for use.

So please allow children, boys and girls alike to learn to do things with hands and head and heart, feet and heads. Let the children find ways of doing things that are not only useful but enlightening by way of experience.

Dancing is one of the very best exercises for physical culture and be it known, to the enrichment of the mind. Beauty of movement is not achieved by main force of

The event will take place March 27 with proceeds to go to the World Eye bank which is sponsored by Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges of the world. A committee of the Rebekah lodge appointed from the lodge meeting includes Mrs. Lillian Hudson, Mrs. William Chambers and Mrs. E. W. Miller.

During the meeting presided over by Mrs. Floyd Beeghly, no-bis grand, it was noted seven home calls and seven hospital calls on all members had been made and five cards sent.

Mrs. W. D. Parks, vice grand, thanked those contributing food for the dinner served at the home of Mrs. Flora Hendrix upon the death of her husband, Henry.

Mrs. A. G. Biswell, secretary, read a letter from Mrs. Charles King, Meridian, president of the Rebekah Assembly of Idaho, and also her message in the Idaho Odd Fellow paper.

A shower of birthday cards was sent to Mrs. Charles Warren. Mrs. Beeghly thanked members for participating in the district meeting at Filer and reported the Buhl lodge received the attendance banner. It also was noted Mrs. Ward Moffett, Buhl, was presented a 15-year veteran jewel at the district meeting.

Woman Adds Own Innovation to Costume Accessories

Mrs. Sherman Day is holding a shoe she covered to match a favorite hat and purse in a leopard patterned fur fabric. The shoes are in a matching pattern of velvet. She also has a jacket, belt and earrings in the same pattern and while she says she doesn't wear them all at the same time they are fun to have to coordinate with a basic dress or suit. According to Mrs. Day covering shoes is so simple that anyone can do a professional looking job on the first attempt. (Staff photo-engraving)

Twin Falls Woman Covers Shoes to Match Ensemble

A bottle of glue, about one-fourth yard fabric scraps, a case needle and a few pins can be the beginning of a new pair of shoes.

Mrs. Sherman Day, who is adept at changing the appearance of a pair of shoes by covering them with a fabric to coordinate with a costume, says it is so simple that anyone can do it. And, that it is a waste of time to practice, one might just as well cover the first pair to wear and enjoy.

Any basic pump, from flats to the highest needle heels can be covered in a fabric to match an ensemble. Mrs. Day covers a pair of favorite fitting shoes when they lose their new look and occasionally buys a pair of soiled satin or linen pumps at sales to cover.

Any leather, patent, plastic or fabric shoe will do. Almost any fabric that is not sheer is suitable. As the material is used on the bias, fabric with a little "give" is easier to work with than a hard stiff fabric. She suggests staying away from stripes, although they can be used, but all-over patterns or plain fabrics work up easier.

She uses an all-purpose white household glue that dries clear smoothly. With a little glue, work fabric smoothly and firmly with fingers into inside of shoe upper.

The shoes are ready to wear of to be taken to the shoeshop for new heel caps. Many shoeshops carry heels and ones that are outdated by thick heels may be rejuvenated with new slim ones.

The heels also may be sprayed instead of covered. This is especially pretty, according to Mrs. Day. If the shoes are being covered in a silver or gold brocade for evening slippers. Brocade, she says, is one of the easiest fabrics to work with. Taffeta, too, is flexible and so is velvet. Velvet is too firmly a woven fabric to handle well.

She also covers flats in corduroy to match a teen-agers slim pants or other sports and casual wear.

All it takes to cover shoes, she says, is a little patience and of that she has plenty with four children to keep her on her toes.

The ones she wears the most are a pair covered in a leopard patterned velvet. These she covered to match a fur fabric hat and purse in the same pattern. While she says she doesn't wear them all at the same time it is fun to have them to mix and match with a basic suit or dress.

One of Mrs. Day's favorite projects is making gowns for brides and bridesmaids and the biggest demand for covering shoes is for the bridemaids. Often a color is hard to match in a tint and it is simple to cover the shoes in the fabric of the bridesmaids' dresses. Also much less expensive as often a new pair doesn't have to be purchased for the occasion.

Liking to sew, Mrs. Day makes all of her own and the children's clothes. She also is an amateur photographer, sells jewelry and is always interested in learning something new.

Large Crowd Is Noted at Dance Revue in Burley

BURLEY, Feb. 25 — One of the highlights of the annual Shirley Dumas Dance revue presented Wednesday evening at the Burley high school auditorium was the finale, a Charleston dance presented by a dozen girls of the seventh and eighth grades. The program was well received by the large crowd attending. It was sponsored by the Jay-C-ettes.

The girls entered from the back of the auditorium and came down the aisles in their short long-waisted dresses. Later they were joined on the stage by 22 boys and girls with black derbies from the seventh grade and the group sang an original novelty song written especially for the occasion, "How did we do tonight?" they asked. The song was written by Danny Hector, New York, from whom Mrs. James Dumas, teacher, took a special course last summer. Ballet students received instruction from Mrs. Glenn Bodilly.

The first part of the program was the "Woman in the Shoe," consisting of 13 dances by students 4 years old through the fourth grade, and two older students. Settings and props for the entire production were made by Mrs. Carl Paris and Mrs. Ralph Fairchild, members of the Burley Jay-C-ettes.

The second portion of the program was called "Circus Time." Nine dances were featured by pupils from the first to the sixth grade. During one dance five "clowns," boys in the sixth and seventh grades, were planted in the audience.

There were 50 numbers during the last portion of the program, "Fabulous Las Vegas." The revue included tap, jazz, ballroom, castanets and ballet dances with approximately 120 variety and 50 ballet dancers.

Derlin Taylor, Burley, one of the students, was awarded a prize for selling the most tickets.

Proceeds from the event will go to a Burley high school senior for a liberal arts scholarship. Mrs. Arvel Rudolph and Mrs. Richard Kerrish were co-chairmen for the Jay-C-ettes. A committee from the United States from England in group will work with Mrs. Dumas in setting up scholarship rules and selecting a winner.

DECLO, HANSEN TAKE UPSET WINS IN CLASS A TOURNAMENT Hornets Tounce Favored Rockland 45-36; Huskies Surprise Richfield 41-33

The hustling Hornets of Declo belted favored Rockland 45-36 and the surprising Hansen Huskies racked up their second straight victory by beating Richfield 41-33 Saturday night as those two squads remain undefeated in the sixth district class A basketball tournament. Declo, which won the Southside conference title, pulled the tall Rockland crew out of its zone defense into a man-to-man in the second half and coasted into the win. Hansen, which finished in a tie for fourth in the Southside conference, led all the way on the favored Richfield Tigers to pull off the big surprise of the meet.

Filer Comes From Behind, Tops Gooding

FILER, Feb. 25—The Filer Wildcats came from behind in the last minute of play tonight to overtake and defeat the Gooding Senators 52-47. Although it had been a tight game most of the way, Gooding stayed in the lead for most of the last three periods, with Filer playing "catch up" ball. With a minute and 10 seconds left, the Wildcats trailed by five points. They knotted the game at 47 all, with about 20 seconds left. Then Filer dropped in two free throws and Rutherford got a field goal and a free throw to put the game out of reach. The Gooding junior varsity won the preliminary 32-28.

Ortega Gets Big Win Over Welter Champ

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 25 (AP)—Gaspar Ortega, a slim and slippery veteran who has been on the fringes of fame for years, scored the biggest victory of his career tonight by taking a unanimous decision from World Welterweight Champion Benny (Kid) Paret in a nationally televised 10-rounder at the Olympic auditorium. Ortega's stunning upset might have embarrassed the champion financially as much as it did emotionally. For it is almost certain to detract from the gate at Paret's title fight with Emile Griffith in Miami April 1. The lanky Mexican gained the victory more with style than power. He slapped the champion from Cuba with several blistering rights, particularly in the late rounds, but Paret was never in danger of going down. There were no knockdowns but this was one of the most spirited bouts seen here in recent years. The pace was phenomenal through the first five rounds. Paret, a perpetual motion "puncher" who throws mostly short and choppy blows, appeared to be hitting his target more often in the early stages. But, although he made the Mexican blink several times, he never had him nor collapse. The champion was penalized a point for hitting after the bell following the second round. But the Tijuana fighter would have won without this assistance. Judge Dick Young had him ahead 5-3 and Jack Frankie Van scored it 4-4 for Ortega. Referee Jimmy Wilson called it 4-3. This was Ortega's second victory over Paret. He scored a split decision over the Cuban in 1939, before Paret became champion.

First master was Robert Leitch, Buhl; first expert, Walt Charles, Rupert; first sharpshooter, Don Cote, Twin Falls, and first marksman, Robert Wolff, Buhl. Kathy Herrett, Twin Falls, member of the Junior Rifle Club, placed first for ladies with a 710 score. The Buhl club will host a pistol meet at Buhl on March 5.

Prove It Wins At Santa Anita

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 25 (AP)—Prove It, once an unsung member of the Rex Ellsworth Stable, placed another giant stride toward fame today with a remarkably easy victory in the $145,000 Santa Anita Handicap. Bet down to odds of 2-5 by a crowd estimated at 52,500, the 4-year-old California Comet rolled in to take the $100,000 jackpot and score his ninth win in 10 trips to the post. Lengths behind was the Jaquet Stable's 4-year-old Omb; with the Kerr Stable's Grey Eagle third.

K-STATE WINS MANHATTAN, Kans., Feb. 25 (AP)

The eighth-ranked Kansas State Wildcats surged to the front in the Big Eight conference basketball race tonight by whipping Missouri 91-71.

Redskins Stop Utags 96-84; Nearing Title

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 25 (AP)—The Utah Redskins crept closer to the Skyline conference basketball title tonight by turning back defeated Utah State 96-84. Pooled Billy McGill, Utah's great center, pumped in 33 points and played the entire game, the last 11 minutes with four personal fouls. He is the nation's fourth highest scorer in college ball. Utah broke out to an 8-0 lead and held leads of 10 and 11 points time and again, only to have the pesky Aggies roar back. Utah State's last lead in the sea-saw first half was at 24-23, but the Aggies kept within striking distance until the final five minutes. With six minutes to play, Utah held a 78-76 lead and decided to go for broke with a fast break. Lido Joe Morton contributed four field goals in the final surge that moved the Redskins out of danger. Morton wound up with 24, the same total as Rich Ruffell. It was Utah's 19th victory against five losses and gave the Aggies a 11-1 record in the Skyline conference with two games to play. Cornell Green, last year's leading scorer in the Skyline, had 21 points for USU, including 17 in the first half. Tyler Wilson had 20. Utah hit a brisk 56.3 per cent on field goals and Utah State had 37 per cent.

Fullmer Is 2-1 Favorite Over Ray Robinson

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Feb. 25 (AP)—The odds are 2-1-1 or thereabouts that one of this week's biggest losers in a town full of same will be Ray Robinson. For, if the moneychangers reckon correctly when they say Gene Fullmer will retain his NBA midweight title Saturday night, this might easily be the last championship fight in Robinson's long and distinguished career. The 40-year-old challenger will try to win the midweight title for the sixth time when he meets the 29-year-old champion before a national television audience (ABC) and about 8,000 paying customers at Convention center. The hour is 7 p.m. PST. Robinson's great skills have diminished substantially since the days when he was called the best in his profession, pound for pound. But the odds do not seem to give him much credit for fighting Fullmer to a draw only last December in Los Angeles. On the other hand, that fight must have been more punishing exercise for Robinson, whose aging body took a savage flogging all night, than for the much younger Fullmer, who easily survived Robinson's brilliant but infrequent flurries. The champion, whose atrocious style is offset by his ferocious strength and durability, will be permitted this time to indulge his bullish manners—all the way. Ordinarily, Manager Mary Jensen shouts instructions by the numbers from the corner, Saturday night he'll keep quiet. "Last time," Gene said, "I felt I should be fighting a little harder. But Marv wanted me to be more cautious. This time I felt I would like to go as hard as I dared." "I thought Gene was comfortably ahead last time," Jensen said. "The way it came out made me feel I should give him a chance to go on his own once. If he had lost because I held him back, I could never have forgiven myself."

Regis College Sweeps Over ISC 70 to 55

DENVER, Feb. 25 (AP)—Regis college swept into an early lead and had little trouble tonight whipping Idaho State's basketball team 70-55. ## Groat Not Looking For Batting Title

FORT MYERS, Fla., Feb. 25 (AP)—Shortstop Dick Groat of the Pittsburgh Pirates said today he doesn't figure he'll repeat as the National League's hitting champ this year. "There are two reasons," explained Groat, who copped the title last season with a .325 average. "For one thing, I don't have the power of fellows like Hank Aaron and Willie Mays and second, I don't have the speed of either of them," he said. "Now if I could run like Richie Ashburn, I would say that I could repeat as batting king." Groat said his lack of speed prevents him from getting enough infield hits to win the batting crown consistently.

Wendell, Hailey Are First Teams To Be Eliminated

SHOSHONE, Feb. 25—Shoshone and Kimberly stayed alive in the fourth district double A basketball tournament tonight as defending champion Wendell and Hailey fell by the wayside. The home-standing Shoshone had to scramble all the way and finally nipped Hailey 30-28. Kimberly held the lead throughout the evening to oust the ice-cold Wendell Trojans 45-33. Meanwhile, the lengthy shadows of the top two teams, Glens Ferry and Valley, loomed large over the four-team field. Those two will meet in the championship semi-finals when play resumes Wednesday night with the winner assured of a state tournament berth. Shoshone and Kimberly will play the first game at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. Hailey paved the way for its own fall by going 10 minutes and 23 seconds in the first half without a field goal. That lapse started late in the first quarter following an early sea-saw battle. The lead changed hands five times in the first six minutes of play and Hailey held its last lead at 8-7 on Charles Charlton's field goal with 2:33 left in the period. By the end of the quarter, Shoshone was on top 11-8. Then both teams fell off the scoring trail in the second quarter. Perron hit a pair of field goals to give Shoshone a 15-8 lead and with 1:04 left in the half, Gary Gutcheon got a free throw to make the halftime edge 15-9. Hailey opened the third quarter fast and in three minutes tied the count at 17-17 on consecutive field goals by Lee Rice, Charlton and Ron Brown, Shoshone pushed in front again on a Perron free throw and maintained a one to three point edge until 4:50 was left in the game. At that point, Brown hit a jumpshot to tie the 25-25 but turned his ankle in coming down. He left the game for three minutes but reappeared. During that three-minute lapse, both teams took a lot of shots and spills in the pressing game. Finally with 1:54 left in the game, Shoshone's leading scorer, Rick Mabbutt, hit a field goal to make it 30-28. Shoshone had two free throw chances after that and Hailey three field goal attempts but none were successful. Wendell again proved cold from inside and fell almost easy prey to Kimberly. The Bulldogs held a 10-point edge much of the second and third quarters before Wendell finally warmed up sufficiently to make one last desperation try. That brief rally saw the three-time defending champions cut the margin to 42-35 with 22 seconds left but Kimberly slammed the door for keeps seconds later. Glens Ferry and Valley debuted in impressive fashion Friday night, showing why they are seeded 1 and 2. Glens Ferry, after surviving a second-quarter scoring spree by LaVern Bernard, pushed to a big lead in the third quarter and cleared the bench over the last four minutes to drop Shoshone. Ron Thomsen and Sherman waxed hot early for Glens Ferry and accounted for 20 of Paret's first 24 points. They led a 10-point lead in the opening minutes of the second half but Bernard pumped through the jumpshots and cut the margin to two. Gary Ayers and Ed Bruner waxed hot early for Glens Ferry in a great defensive effort. Ayers worked the boards much better than his 5-foot, 11-inch height would indicate. That work some helped pave the way for Valley's decision over Kimberly.

ALL ANGLES

By LARRY HOVEY
Fourth district triple-A coaches voted unanimously for a 16-team tournament this week but there appears little chance of it becoming a matter of state policy.

The big bugaboo of the tournament is the restriction on entries to the minimum. There also seems to be a general feeling among Magic Valley AAA schools against the proposed "quad" or four-A arrangement. It originally was suggested that all high schools with enrollment of 1,000 up be placed in the four-A category. This would have taken nine of the 34 triple-A teams currently operating and set up a new state tournament for them.

Questionnaires are now in the hands of the individual schools but it has dropped the restriction from 999 to 600.

The current proposal is accepted. It will mean an even split among fourth district AAA teams. Gooding, Burley, Oakley in the AAA and Burley, Twin Falls, Minico and Jerome into four-A.

It would appear the 500 limit gains the intent of the first proposal. While this column favors the 1,000 or over, we can't see the second arrangement.

Claude Engberg, president of the Pioneer League, said in Twin Falls Saturday the enthusiasm shown in advertising and tickets sales in all cities this spring is running well in advance of past years.

Engberg said Idaho Falls sold 200 box seats all last year and already has 300 sold this spring. He said the ticket market is "hot" and reports ticket sales have been sharp.

On the local scene, the Magic Valley Coyotes are pushing ahead. Ed Ted, co-business managers, working steadily, the franchise is in shape, much better than was expected.

Ernest C. Craner, superintendent of parks and recreation, has turned most of his crew loose on mowing the park. All the yards on the bleachers and around the park are being mowed. Many bleachers have been "retired" and new ones placed. In addition, the park is being repainted throughout. Craner's new put the diamond in its best condition in years last fall.

The club has decided to run its own concessions this year and has hired a man to handle it. All in all, professional baseball definitely coming back to town and the work of the board of directors plus the support of the community is going to give it more than an even break.

The University of Idaho, College of Idaho and Boise Junior college chalked up late-season basketball wins Friday night. Idaho upset the University of Washington Huskies, 70-63; College of Idaho downed Lewis and Clark, 82-72, and Boise JC beat Dixie, 78-56. The Vandals blew a 19-point lead early in the first half at Moscow. Last night but, came back strong in the closing minutes to win the sixth straight game on the Vandal home floor.

Washington tied the score at 48-all with 12:45 left in the game behind the hot outside shooting of Clint Nunn. But Dale James hit two free throws for the Vandals in the closing minutes for a 64-63 Vandal lead which they never relinquished.

James was the top scorer of the evening with 24 points. Names paced Washington with 17.

College of Idaho was sparked to victory by Bob Moreno and Darley Hill. Moreno hit for 27 points and Hill for 22.

The game was nip and tuck all the way with the score tied at 35-35 at intermission. It was still tied 37-37 when Ted Talbot hit a 25-foot fielder to put College of Idaho out in front for the rest of the evening.

Pacing the Lewis and Clark scorers was center Jim Boutin, who scored 23 points before leaving on fouls with three minutes to play.

The BJC victory avenged an earlier season loss to the Dixie Rebels, 54-53.

After the first 10 minutes last night, the BJC Broncos were never behind. At halftime the Broncos were out in front 39-22.

In the second half, the Rebels came back strong and trimmed the lead to 48-41 with 10 minutes remaining. However, BJC started hitting again and extended the margin to 61-41 before unloading the bench.

Elmer Deschaine and Charles Fieback provided the scoring punch for BJC. Each collected 19 points.

Magic Valley Christian Blasts CSU 94-74 in Season's Finale

ALBION, Feb. 25—Magic Valley Christian college ended its third collegiate basketball season on a winning note last night by drubbing College of Southern Utah 94-74 in its greatest display of offense. The Panthers, who ended the year with a 7-15 record, saw three men hit 20 points or better as they broke away late in the first half and had everything their way in the late stages of the game. Jim Tidwell, who won his third straight scoring title for the Panthers, and Terry Trahan hit 20 points and freeman center Tom Lewis added 24 more to pace the Magic Valley victory. Tidwell ended the season with 474 points with Lewis coming in second with 349.

CSU gave the Panthers a stirring battle over the first 17 minutes of the game. But with three minutes left in the half, Tidwell hit a jumpshot to send Magic Valley in front 37-36 and the home team never trailed again.

The Panthers, getting 14 points from Tidwell in the first half, moved off to a 49-40 intermission edge. They maintained that lead through the first minutes of the second half. Then with 11 minutes left in the game, CSU pulled to within five points. The Panthers replied with a seven-point flurry in the next minute and one half while CSU scored only two to stop that bid. With five minutes to go, Magic Valley owned an 83-63 lead and traded baskets until the buzzer sounded.

In special halftime ceremonies, Karen Owen, Prineville, Ore., a sophomore majoring in education, was crowned basketball queen. Her attendants were Arlene Patterson and Wanda Linder, Weiser.

Coyotes Play for Berth in Tourney

BILLINGS, Mont., Feb. 25—College of Idaho and Western Montana college will be matched in a three-game playoff to determine which will enter the NAIA national basketball championship tournament in Kansas City.

Herb Klindt, Billings, chairman of the NAIA district 5, said the playoff will begin March 3 in Dillon. A second game will be played March 4 and if a third game is necessary, it will be March 6.

Western Montana is champion of the six-team Montana Collegiate conference while College of Idaho was the winner over Northwest Nazarene college in a three-game series, 3-0. The two Idaho teams are the only Gem State members of the NAIA.

College of Idaho and Western Montana met once this season, in the finals of a holiday tournament in Nampa. Western Montana won that game, 74-62.

Tom McCahill, America's No. 1 Automotive Authority, asks this important question of every car owner:

"IF YOU CAN'T AFFORD $3000 FOR A NEW CAR... CAN YOU AFFORD $150 TO HELP MAKE YOUR CAR PERFORM LIKE NEW?"

FOR OVER 30 YEARS, MORE THAN 50 MILLION CAR OWNERS HAVE SAID, "YES!" READ WHY TOM McCAHILL, THE NATION'S LEADING TEST DRIVER AND CAR CRITIC, RECOMMENDS ADDING A CAN OF RISLONE WITH EVERY OIL CHANGE!

Over a billion miles of motoring have proved RISLONE's ability to improve engine performance. Within a few thousand miles, a new car's engine begins to lose its power and pep. It happens to every car. And the first things you begin to notice are the sluggish starts, engine noise, poor gasoline mileage. What happens? Because modern gasolines and oils are what they are, all valves become sticky valves through the accumulation of gum. The more an engine operates, the more gum is deposited on valves, and the greater the loss of compression. And with lost compression, there is a corresponding loss of power. Rislone is guaranteed to free sticky valves, eliminate noisy hydraulic valve lifters, absorb power-robbing gums and sludge, restore lost compression and power; tune up sluggish engines, keep them running more quietly, smoothly; keep oil free-flowing, even in sub-zero weather; and to facilitate break-in of new or reconditioned engines and permit normal driving speed immediately. These are the reasons we say... if you can't afford a new car, use Rislone regularly to make your present car perform like new. Only $1.50 a quart at better service stations, garages and car dealers everywhere.

Bonnies Are Stunned by Niagara 87-77

OLEAN, N. Y., Feb. 25 (AP)—Fired-up Niagara, in one of the greatest basketball upsets of the season, whipped St. Bonaventure 87-77 tonight, ending the Bonnies' 13-year home victory streak of 99 games.

Niagara knocked over the second-ranked Bonnies at their own game—the lightning fast break. They added their own dash of sensational accuracy—an amazing 73 per cent from the field.

After giving away a 13-point lead to a Bonaventure last-half rally that looked like it might save the day, Al Butler led a Niagara counter-rally.

After giving away a 13-point lead to a Bonaventure last-half rally that looked like it might save the day, Al Butler led a Niagara counter-rally.

Butler hit four jump shots as the Purple Eagles reestablished a 13-point lead with 6:28 to go.

Tom Stith sparked the Bonnies as they lashed the margin to six, but this was the best they could do. Niagara turned to possession ball with three minutes to go, and won it going away as Bonaventure tried to come back.

Butler's tremendous, last-half effort gave him scoring honors for Niagara with 25. But he lost game honors to Stith, who dropped in 33 points.

Willows to Be Planted Along Little Wood

RICHFIELD, Feb. 25—Plans for planting willows along Little Wood river this spring were outlined by Stacy Gebhards, district fish biologist for the state fish and game department, at a meeting of the Richfield Rod and Gun club this week.

Gebhards noted that additional willows are needed along Little Wood river to help keep the water cool and improve habitat.

The club voted to assist with the planting. Final arrangements will be made at the March meeting. Club members also voted approval of the proposed Richfield cutoff road, which would join the Klamma-Dietrich road.

It was announced that the team captained by L. T. Sanders won the membership drive by two members, over the team captained by Ronald Bell. Losers will treat the winners to refreshments at the March meeting.

Stanley Larson, local conservation officer, Shoshone, showed films on wildlife and soil conservation, and discussed what films might be shown at future meetings. Twenty-three members were present.

Road Patching Job Keeps Crew Busy

Two members of the Twin Falls highway district work crew, Boyd Dayley on the truck, and Arthur Hoover with the shovel, try to keep up with the never-ending job of road patching. During winter months the patching material has to be heated before it can be applied to the road which slows down the work. As a result, the bulk of patching is done during the hot summer months when patching material can be used without being heated. The Twin Falls district has approximately 600 miles of roads to keep in repair. (Staff photo-engraving)

Project Helps Woman Recover From Injuries

Anna Stockdale, Jerome, left, listens as Sister Adeline at St. Benedict's hospital helps her with a copper tooling project that Miss Stockdale recently undertook. Her sister, Mrs. Leo Falconburg, wishes. Miss Stockdale was injured in an automobile accident in October and has been fighting her way back to health. She incurred multiple fractures and some brain damage. Only recently she began speaking again. Soon she will go to the Elks Convalescent home, Boise, for speech and physical therapy. (Staff photo-engraving)

Accidental Poisoning Kills About 2,000 Children in U.S. Each Year

In the past year two Magic Valley children died of accidental poisoning in the United States about 2,000 children die from this cause each year, and there are about 200,000 cases of accidental poisonings each year. Most of the casualties are children.

Practically all of these poisonings can be avoided if parents take precaution and keep dangerous drugs and chemicals away from unknowing children.

In a nation that consumes 5,500 tons of aspirin a year, the problem of keeping such drugs away from children is great, but obviously dangerous drugs, such as aspirin, aren't the only killers.

Many of the brightly colored cans and packages that line the store shelves are potential killers. According to members of the South Central Medical society, there is a good chance that anyone reading this article unknowingly harbors these killers.

Alarmed at the rise of accidental poisonings across the nation and in this area, three members of the society have outlined the dangers that exist, in an effort to make local residents more aware of the problem. The men are Dr. William H. Woodson, chairman of the child health committee; Dr. E. M. Wright, program chairman, and Dr. Max Carver, public information officer.

The deaths that occur from these poisonings don't fully illustrate the magnitude of the problem. The doctors point out that each month two or three children are admitted to Magic Valley Memorial hospital because of accidental poisoning. Usually they return home well and wiser, but they can suffer for life defects caused by poison.

In addition to the children admitted to the hospital, there are those treated in the home by the family physician. The doctors estimate that the average general practitioner or pediatrician will treat four or five children a week who have swallowed some kind of poison.

Poison can enter the life of a child clothed in many costumes. Children, whose sense of taste puzzles medical science, will get into trouble by doing everything from guzzling kerosene to eating a bottle of aspirin.

The worst age is from the time

A child in the middle of the climbing age can get into trouble in an unlocked medicine cabinet. Such a climb could give him a quick ticket to Magic Valley Memorial hospital. Each month about two or three children are admitted to the hospital because of accidental poisoning; and each year about 2,000 children die in the United States as a result of poisoning. The majority of the deaths are caused by aspirin poisoning. (Staff photo-engraving) they learn to walk to about 4 years of age. And the common hours for poisoning accidents are in the early morning hours, before the parents arise, and immediately after their nap, when parents sometimes don't know they are awake.

Across the nation, aspirin accounts for 16 per cent of all child poisoning, and it is the No. 1 killer. But aspirin is just one of the thousands of items on the market that are potential killers.

A short search of any home would result in a wastebasketful of medicines, chemicals, cleaners, cosmetics, shampoos, detergents, lacquers, paints, hair dyes, furniture and silver polishes, deplatorics, insecticides, bleaches, lyes, acids, toilet goods, petroleum products and containers plainly marked poison, that if placed in the hands of a youngster, could (Continued on Page 25, Column 1)

Jerome Woman Works Diligently to Overcome Serious Mishap Injuries

JEROME, Feb. 25 (AP)—The pain and agony associated with an automobile accident frequently don't end with the accident. In some cases the effects can hang on for months. Such is the case of Anna Stockdale, who is in St. Benedict's hospital.

Miss Stockdale will be 20 years old next month, and during the next year she will have to learn to walk and talk again, but she's not afraid and she faces this chore with confidence and a sense of humor. She is an example of how a traffic accident can bring tragedy into a person's life, and she is also an example of how a patient with determination can battle handicaps that seem overwhelming.

Any traffic accident, comes unannounced but Miss Stockdale was involved in the accident at an especially unfortunate time. She planned to be married in late December. The accident occurred Oct. 8, 1960. Miss Stockdale and a friend, Wilma Bingham, were driving on the highway between Mountain Home and Boise. Miss Bingham was driving. It was mid-morning. Suddenly the car left the road, turned over several times and both girls were injured. Miss Stockdale had two broken collarbones, a broken shoulder bone, a broken pelvis and leg and head injuries.

Miss Stockdale, was in a near coma for many weeks. Much of her activities during the past year remain hazy, but she remembers friends who visit her. And for the past few weeks friends, and especially her sister, Mrs. Leo Falconburg, have noticed a decided improvement in Miss Stockdale. In the past three weeks she has started to talk again and she shows a healthy curiosity about friends and her own condition. Her primary concern is to talk and walk again and go home. She has lived with the Falconburgs for the past five years.

World Economy Staggered By Arms Race in Cold War

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—The world is spending $30 billion dollars a day—14 billion dollars an hour—on arms and armies. In sum, mankind is spending at least 120 billion dollars annually to preserve its respective hunting grounds involuntarily—or for the ultimate purpose of encroaching on those belonging to others.

The United States and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics spend collectively about 73 per cent of the total—$8 billion dollars. The arms race, in brief, is costing the world $40 a year each for every man, woman and child now living. If the world were to collect all this money into a common pool for peaceful purposes, the average annual cash income of every Chinese, Indian and Pakistani—1.3 billion people who net less than $100 each year—could be more than doubled.

An absolute end to the arms race would release the constructive energies of at least 15 million men, now in training to kill each other. This, however, does not tell the whole story. One of the world's rules-of-thumb is that at least four men must labor to keep one soldier armed, fed and supplied. Thus, an end to the arms race would enable another 60 million men to turn to the task of beating swords into plowshares.

An uncounted number of scientists, now bending their brains to bigger and better means of mass destruction, could turn their thoughts to the stars or dig into the secret of life itself. This is what might be. For all the talk of disarmament, however, the arms race seems unlikely to end anytime soon. In his inaugural address, President Kennedy gave the reason for the American expenditures and recognized the disadvantages of the arms race: "We dare not tempt them (communists) with weakness. For only when our arms are sufficient beyond doubt—that they will never be employed. But neither can we take comfort from our present course—both sides overburdened by the cost of modern weaponry, both rightly alarmed by the steady spread of the deadly atom, yet both reaching to alter that uncertain balance of terror that stays the hand of mankind's final war."

Revolt Leader Is Old, Not Bitter

MANILA, Feb. 25 (AP)—They whispered that he carried a magic bullet, for he seemed invulnerable. The simple people kissed him and when he entered a village with few guns and no military backing, they followed him to war for five years, twice against Spain and then against the United States. Defeat ultimately was inevitable. But ultimate triumph came 45 years later when he marched down Dewey boulevard to day America gave the Philippines independence.

His strength is ebbing at last. His sight is failing. But he is still painfully writing his memoirs of the days when America went to war to free Cuba from Spain and wound up taking the Philippines. He has much to be bitter about, but he is not. He is a friend of America although he still maintains America betrayed him, although Americans called him a bandit and cutthroat. Once upon his own people heaped abuse on him. To this day there are many who regard him with distrust. Yet he was the undisputed leader of the revolts that Filipinos consider the most glorious period of their nation's history.

The price of balancing terror is 120 billion dollars a year. The United States is spending more on armaments than any other nation, 46 billion dollars annually for missiles, manpower, tanks, guns, ships, atomic explosives and military aid to allies. That figures out to 55 per cent of the federal government's total (Continued on Page 25, Column 1)

Scenery Crew Receives No Applause But Work Is Hard, Hours Exacting

There are unsung heroes in every activity and when the curtains part for "Brigadoon" next week laborers of the scenery crew will be revealed. During the last six weeks crew members have labored some 2,000 hours creating a Scottish village and other scenes necessary to present the musical comedy. It is a hard and sometimes thankless task, but for the last three years, since the Dilettante group first was formed, one couple has done a major portion of the work on each production. They are Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. Peck.

The couple has been in charge of scenery for all three productions—"Carousel," "Annie Get Your Gun," and "Brigadoon." This year Mrs. Peck is scene designer and her husband is stage manager. They have spent every available minute fashioning everything from a Scottish village to a New York bar out of unbleached sheeting, cardboard, chicken wire, lumber and paint. This is quite a task and working conditions sometimes are discouraging, but the Pecks, and the crow of loyal persons which work with them, take it in their stride. Other members of the scenery crew who have worked many hours on the sets are Walter Beer, Gilbert DeKlotz, Lawrence Hansen, Charles Harris, Thomas McVey, Ernest Rathbun and James Schmidt. Interests and talents are ideally matched for the work. Mrs. Peck has been interested in painting for many years and Peck is a general building contractor. He taught industrial arts in Twin Falls from 1928 to 1941. With his talent for construction and her talent for illustration, they have produced some outstanding sets in the past three years. And both are fascinated by problems of set design. To design and build sets it takes the physical stamina of a lumberjack, the deft hand of an artist and the penny-pinching outlook of a loan shark. It takes hard work, artistic talent—and construction must be done with a minimum outlay of cash. Before actual work begins, research must start on the set design. (Continued on Page 25, Column 1)

Honeymoon in Area

Mr. and Mrs. Sune Wangeman, Swedish couple who have spent the past several months working for the J. R. Simplot company in Heyburn, discuss the tour of the United States the Wangemans will take before returning to their homeland the latter part of May. The trip here was made for the purpose of studying the raising and marketing of potatoes. The couple was sponsored by Jack Simplot. (Staff photo-engraving)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

A year-long honeymoon is drawing to a close for a young Swedish couple that spent the past several months in BURLEY as employees of the J. R. Simplot company. Sune and Maj Wangeman left for the United States June 5, 1960, just one day after their marriage. The trip was a fulfillment of a life-long dream of Maj's and an opportunity for her husband, Sune, 27, to study the latest methods for producing and marketing potatoes. Sune farms in Sweden with his father on a 500-acre farm. He pointed out that just 150 acres are under cultivation, with the remainder in woods and pasture.

Wangeman said in Sweden, potatoes are raised mostly in small plots for family needs, but that he hoped to learn enough here to make it possible to raise them on a commercial scale. He said the main trouble there is that the ground is too wet. Drainage must be used, he said, to make the fields produce.

Other crops, Wangeman said, included hay, wheat, barley, oats and other grains. He said corn cannot be grown there because of the short growing season. Some sugar beets are grown in southern Sweden, he said. It is impossible to use combines in the grain harvests because of the wet ground, he explained. Light binders are used, and the bundles, both of grain and hay, are then hung from a net work of wires to dry before they can be threshed or stored.

The Wangeman family lives in a small community, Soberby gard Knutby, near Stockholm, where the annual rainfall is from 20 to 40 inches, making irrigation unnecessary. When they decided to come to the United States, they contacted a friend in Washington, D. C., and told him their wishes to learn of the potato industry. This friend was an acquaintance of J. R. Simplot offered to sponsor the young people, and final arrangements were made. They spent a few days in East Orange, N. ## AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

"Confronting Communism With the Cross"

BY ERNEST HASSELBLAD

Pastor, First Baptist Church

John, the beloved disciple of Jesus, so long ago is writing of an arch enemy the Christians of his day had faced. He described the enemy as a dragon, a serpent, as the Devil and Satan "which deceiveth the whole world." Then he adds these wonderful words "and they overcame him by the blood of the Lamb and by the word of their testimony; and they loved not their lives unto the death."

Rev. Hasselblad

In our day the enemy that is deceiving the whole world is communism. It is our most serious threat to peace and happiness and personal well being. It is the most deadly enemy of the Christian faith and of the Christian way of life.

Every loyal citizen of our nation must evaluate with appreciation all that our government and the United Nations are trying to do to stem the red tide. With them let the military and economic means and methods of combating communism.

But the Christian and the church, have responsibilities of their own. Without the aggressive confrontation of communism with Christianity all other methods of control will fail. This is not merely my personal opinion. It is the declared conviction of thoughtful men in a position to know.

It becomes our mission to valiantly confront communism with the Cross. The cross is redemptive love. Christ died for the communist. His love includes them. Hate is not a Christian method, or violence or falsehood or deceit and false accusation. Many a Christian is falling into the communist trap by the use of tools rather than redemptive love. Our mission to the communist is redemption.

But, also the cross is to stand across the path of onrushing communism. So vividly, so formidably, that communism cannot move around it or beyond it. This must be the sign of our devotion and commitment. It will completely frustrate the communist if our loyalty to the cross of Christ were only genuine and strong.

John knew his enemy, not merely by name but by method and design and purpose. This is revealed in the names he applies. So we must have a clear-cut image of a communist. He is not to be identified merely with the person we do not like, or with whom we disagree politically or religiously. Someone had identified thousands of American clergymen as communists. No names are used just numbers. This would demonstrate that such persons have no clearly defined image of a communist, but a vague, hazy dislike of a certain profession. Wouldn't it be a fine thing for many of us to sit down and in 25 words or less write out a descriptive image of a communist. Most of us would not know one if we saw one, nor can we identify his method of his aims.

J. Edgar Hoover in a series of three articles in a religious journal states the case with forthrightness and honesty. He says "In our nation one of communism's most potent allies is apathy toward and lack of knowledge of communism." He adds, "The approach must not be one of fear, but of knowledge." And it is not knowledge but dishonest prejudice that identifies as a communist the person we happen to dislike.

Mr. Hoover continues, "The communist world view must be met and defeated by the Christian world view... strong responsible, and faithful Christians, wearing the whole armor of God, are the best weapons of attack against communism." He puts it too clearly to miss the issue, "Communist domination or Christian re-dedication."

This is what John said so long ago about how his generation had confronted its enemy and gained the victory. "They overcame him by the blood of the Lamb, and by the word of their testimony; and they loved not their lives unto the death."

Hal Quotes Types of Letters You'd Like to Get but Don't

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP) — Excerpts from letters we'd like to get — but never do:

A recheck of your last year's federal income tax return shows that, instead of you owing the government an additional $34.12, the government owes you a $218.67 refund.

"On the basis of your daughter's kindergarten aptitude test, and particularly the skill she showed in finger painting, we are extremely pleased to announce she has won a four-year tuition-free scholarship to the college of her choice."

"After thinking it over, my wife has decided it wouldn't be fair to sue you because your car struck hers while she was traveling the wrong way on a one-way street. She concedes it was entirely her fault, and if you will just send us the bill for your damages we will..."

"I had planned to leave my estate in trust for Tabitha, the cat that has been my faithful companion for 15 years. But the poor dear passed away last week. So, since you are my only remaining nephew, I am changing my will to make you..."

"Our laboratory test of the glittering rock your young son picked up on his Boy Scout hike shows that it does contain gold. Based on this sample, we estimate the ore should assay out at about $4,000 a ton, making it by far the richest strike we have ever..."

"Dad, don't bother about sending me any more money. After I threw those three touchdowns in the last game, the university raised my salary. I'm doing so well now that if you need any help in meeting the mortgage payments on the house, just let me know." "The X-rays show the cause of your sore gums is that you are growing a third set of teeth. They are coming in at a remarkable rate, and I predict that in another three months you should be able to discard both your upper and lower plates."

"Unable to reach you by phone last week, I took the liberty of putting you down for $500 worth of shares in Amalgamated Buttonhooks, Ltd. As you probably noted she has since tripled in value and will soon split..."

"As your company doctor, I am glad to inform you that you passed your recent physical examination with flying colors. You are now at liberty to eat as much as you like, drink as much as you like, smoke as much as you like. However, I have informed the management you have been working too hard and should be given a long vacation at the firm's expense."

But Not at Steering Wheel Ability to Nap at Odd Times Is Safety Valve

BY HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A great-grandmother, in her 83rd year, wants to know if there's anything she can do to keep "from napping every so often." "I've always been able to cat nap at odd times during the afternoon and evening but now I doze off for a few minutes even in the morning," she complains.

Well, bully for you, as Teddy Roosevelt used to say. Have you ever thought that maybe one of the reasons your family continues to be blessed with your presence is this gift of napping?

Far from suggesting something you can do to keep from napping, I'd suggest you teach the trick to every one you hold dear. For, in my opinion, the ability to doze at regular intervals during the day is a most valuable safety valve in these tortured times.

Note that I emphasize "regular intervals." For, as you can readily imagine, there are great dangers inherent in catnaps taken at irregular intervals when you're at work, in class or driving a car.

By regular intervals I mean preferably after the midday meal or before or after the evening meal. For example, the former is favored for the housewife after she has finished her morning chores and before she starts out for the afternoon session of marketing, shopping, calling for the children and the like...

The midday snooze is also favored for the worker of executive

It refreshes in a way that has never been satisfactorily explained. We know very little about the wonderful phenomenon of sleep. It's possible that we have a sort of sleep center in the brain. When as a result of fatigue or drug administration, that center goes a red light, it sends out signals that make our eyelids heavy and that cause us to yawn among other things. This signal probably influences the entire body. At any rate, the cat nap, under controlled conditions, is a blessing. And I hope our great-grandmother continues to industry in it.

Reference Volumes Aid in Poisoning Treatments

Dr. Ivan A. Anderson, Filer, president of the Southcentral Medical Society, sits at a desk in the Magic Valley Memorial hospital emergency rooms and shows some of the reference volumes kept in the emergency room to help doctors cope with accidental poisonings. These reference volumes tell what the poisonous contents are in many so-called harmless products that regularly poison children. About 2,000 children die from accidental poisonings in the United States each year. (Staff photo-entouraging)

About 2,000 Children Die Each Year In U.S. From Accidental Poisoning

Next, the poisoning affects the child's body metabolism, an acid condition develops in the blood, there is a cell breakdown, the vital organs are affected, and death follows.

This happens within a few hours, depending upon the number of aspirin tablets taken. In the case of aspirin poisoning the best thing to do is make the child immediately vomit by giving him some warm (room temperature) milk and tickling his throat. A doctor should be immediately called and the child rushed to the hospital.

The doctors stress that rushing a poisoned child to Magic Valley Memorial hospital isn't always the best plan. There might be no doctor there at the time.

They suggest that parents follow this plan: (1) get the container that held the potential poison and see if an antidote is printed on the can, (2) administer the antidote, (3) immediately call a doctor and get instructions, (4) take the container to the doctor's office or hospital so the contents can be determined and an antidote administered if it isn't printed on the container.

The hospital has several reference volumes that reveal the contents and prescribe antidotes for the thousands of trade-named items on the market. And the school of pharmacy at Idaho State college has a poison control information center that can supply needed information, day or night. The center is consulted frequently by local doctors.

Although making a child vomit after a poison has been taken is often the first thing that should be done, there are important exceptions to this rule. These exceptions involve some rather common poisons.

A child should never be made to vomit after he has taken an acid, alkali, or petroleum product. If he does, the acid and alkali will have a double searing action when he vomits, and there is always the chance that a petroleum product could enter his lungs and cause pneumonia. These poisons must be pumped out by the doctor.

Every home stores a few of these poisons. The acids are such things as hydrochloric acid, carbolic acid, oil of vitriol, and various phenol derivatives. Items containing alkali are lye, dehorning compounds, toilet and drain cleaners, detergents and silver polish. The petroleum derivatives are paint remover, kerosene (which too often has been stored in a soft drink bottle), grease remover, dry cleaning compounds, gun cleaners, furniture polish and turpentine.

This may sound like an unappetizing menu, but everyday some child is poisoned by such products.

For many years there has been a product on the market called a universal antidote. As its name implies, it is supposed to cure all cases of poisoning. The doctors interviewed point out that this can be dangerous because it instills in the parents a false sense of confidence.

There are so many potential poisons on the market that it is impossible to list them all, but certain precautions can be taken.

Several suggestions are offered by doctors to avert a tragedy.

Never refer to drugs or medicine as "candy" to children, no matter how good it tastes.

Don't accumulate a medicine cabinet of old medicines. Throw

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT

Drive to Get Auditorium for T.F. Is Latest Civic Project for Henry Wills

Henry Wills has worked in behalf of many civic projects, but his latest one is his biggest. As president of the executive committee of the Twin Falls Civic Auditorium association he and other members of the association will start a petition that will have an effect on every person in the community.

The object of the association is generally to get an auditorium built in Twin Falls.

One of the ways an auditorium can be financed in this community is by creating an auditorium district. First a petition must be circulated and signed by 5,000 real property owners. The petition will then be presented to the city council and an ordinance will be passed creating an auditorium district. If a majority of voters want an auditorium district it will be formed.

In order to build an auditorium, there must be a bond election. At a bond election two-thirds of the voters must approve the issue. If passed, the county commissioners can create a mill levy for an auditorium.

Any construction is a long way in the future Wills says the job at hand is to get 5,000 signatures. He says the proposed auditorium district would follow the boundaries of class A school district No. 411.

This boundary was chosen because the people within the area will benefit most from an auditorium.

The petitions will be available for signing in the lobby during the production of "Brigadoon," the current production of the Dilettante group. It will be held March 2-6 in the Filer high school auditorium.

Wills points out the production is being held at Filer because Twin Falls doesn't have adequate facilities.

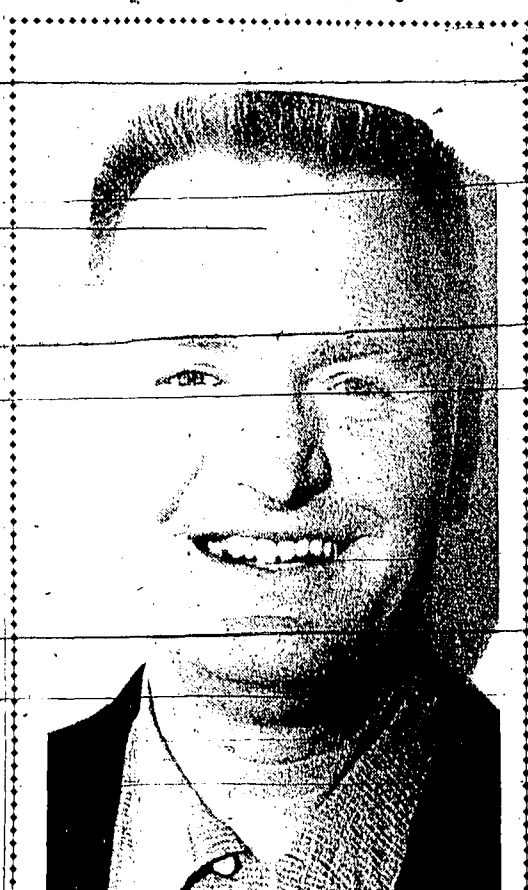

After "Brigadoon," petitions will be available for signing at the homes or places of business of members of the association. Wills says announcements will be made later concerning the petitions.

Wills has served as president of the auditorium association since it was formed in May, 1959. He was reelected to the office last year.

He says an auditorium originally was planned for the new high school, but soaring costs at the time of construction eliminated the addition. He says the time has come when Twin Falls must take some action toward eventually building an auditorium.

He explains an auditorium cannot only be the home for various cultural events, but it can aid local education—and even add dollars to the pockets of local merchants.

Just one example will illustrate how an auditorium can help the economy of a community.

Twin Falls hasn't played host to the state PTA convention since the mid-1940's. One reason is because of inadequate auditorium facilities. It is impractical to hold prolonged conventions in busy school auditoriums. This can be a considerable loss to a community. About 450 persons attend the convention. An average convention will spend about $20 a day in a community. This totals to about $45,000 for a convention of that size.

Wills stresses that throughout a year an auditorium will bring quite a bit of money into a community. It's not wasted money by any means. And it will provide a place for cultural events, concerts, both school and community theater productions—and mustang and speech festivals.

Noting the number of persons that must sign the petitions, Wills says, "We have to secure a large percentage of the property owners' signatures for the petition—no effort they will make to sign the petition will certainly help."

In addition to working for the auditorium association, Wills has been active in the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Twice he has been named a winner of the distinguished service award.

He was president of the Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce in 1954. He was state chairman of the organization in 1955, a national director for Idaho in 1956 and state president in 1957.

Jerome PTA Has Speaker

JEROME, Feb. 25 — Dr. George DeHoff, president of the Magic Valley Christian college, Albion, spoke at the annual Founders day meeting of the Jefferson PTA Tuesday evening at the school.

Dr. DeHoff emphasized that children should be told more about their heritage.

"There should be more flag waving fourth of July speeches," he said. "One reason youths join the Communist party is because they don't realize the freedom and security they have in this country."

Jack Bell was program chairman. Mrs. Wilson P. Churchman was appointed chairman of the nominating committee. Mrs. Leslie Robertson and Howard Morgan will serve with her.

Kenneth Miller, treasurer, reported the carnival was successful. Members voted to buy two record players for the school with part of the money.

The room count was won by Mrs. Jack Kennedy and Mrs. Hinkle Cox. The executive board served refreshments.

and is chaplain for Twin Falls lodge 1183. He is a member of the lodge's ritualistic team that recently won state and district contests. The team will go to the national convention in Miami in July.

Wills has been a member of the Twin Falls Lions club for 10 years. He has served as secretary and is now on the board of directors. He is a member of the Methodist church and is vice president of the Men's club and sings in the choir.

As a member of the Dilettante group, Wills sang in the chorus of "Carousel" and played the role of Pawnee Bill in "Annie Get Your Gun."

Wills was born in Gregory, S. D. His father, E. J. Wills, and family, moved to Gooding in 1937. Wills was graduated from Gooding high school in 1939.

He attended Woodbury college, Los Angeles, for one year and then Idaho State college for one semester. He joined the army air corps, took pilot training, and eventually flew 30 combat missions over Europe during World War II. He was a B-17 pilot.

When he returned from the war, he entered business with his father and a brother, Robert. They started the Wills Motor company. Later, two other brothers, Lowell and Ernest, entered business with them.

Wills married the former Rose Alban, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. Alban, Gooding. They have three children, Steven, 10, Gregory, 8, and Kathy, 5.

Aspirin is a good example. The symptoms of aspirin poisoning often don't appear until it is too late. This is the reason in the world for keeping aspirin in a locked container and for shunning candy-flavored aspirin. All doctors interviewed believe candy flavored aspirin should be outlawed. It is too much of a temptation.

It doesn't take much aspirin to poison a child, about one grain per pound of body weight. This would be only five or six tablets for a toddler.

The symptoms of aspirin (or salicylate) poisoning start with prolonged and deep breathing, rather like a child might breathe if he ran around the house several times. This happens because the aspirin affects the nerves that control the respiratory system.

Tamworth Hog Carcass Wins Trophy for Oakley Man

The carcass of a Tamworth hog won first place among 12 others and also a trophy for the owner, Robert Washburn, Oakley, second from right. The trophy was presented by Otto Florence, Jr., Independent Meat company. Florenco also analyzed all carcasses in the contest. Second place carcass was entered by Vernon Lassen, Filer, left. Third place winner was Larry Annis, also Filer. The event was part of the show and sale sponsored by the Southern Idaho Swinebreeders association. (Staff photo-engraving)

Carcass From Hog Breed Neglected in Area Wins Top Prize in T.F. Contest

A barrow carcass from a breed of hog neglected and perhaps even "scorned" by some local buyers took first place at the carcass contest held for the Southern Idaho Swinebreeders association by the Independent Meat company.

More important was the fact that the carcass had a 51.5 per cent proportion of lean cuts to the total carcass weight. This per cent is taken after the ham, loin and shoulders are removed.

usually have high per cent of lean cuts to live weight but the meat is much too soft for the consumer. Other hogs carried to heavy weights had too much fat for top payments, and still others, denoting perhaps a breed characteristic, had a tendency to draw too much fat in the shoulder areas.

Washburn's hog also had a backfat depth of only 1.4 inches, which was surprising since the Tamworth is noted not only for an extremely long snout but a sometimes too-long body. This excess length accompanies, usually, good bacon factor but also poor hams. This wasn't the case with Washburn's entry.

The extra good lamb drop that some range operators are having this winter is not without its "problems."

All that is needed with the large crop of lambs this year, undoubtedly in excess of 150 per cent, is a good price for lambs in the early or late summer.

Agriculture Department Returns to No Price Support Loan Restrictions

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP) — The agriculture department has gone back this year to its old practice of no restrictions on the size of price support loans.

For practically all 1960 crops in the support program, the U.S. department of agriculture (USDA) enforced a ceiling of $50,000 on regular price support loans to any single farmer.

Some veteran USDA officials think the decision to forget about the ceiling was a wise move. The limitation affected relatively few farmers, they said, and to administer the ceiling the government had to draw up a costly set of regulations and procedures.

Farm Prices for Fluid Milk Were Slightly Higher in '60

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP) — The agriculture department says farm prices for milk sold in fluid form rose slightly last year.

The average price paid by dealers for milk fluid use in 160 markets in 1960 averaged $5.48 per hundredweight, up seven cents per hundredweight from 1959.

The price of single quarts of milk for home delivery also rose slightly, according to the report. Government economists have pointed out, however, that most consumers do not pay the single-quart price. The consumers pay somewhat less because they buy milk in larger containers or get lower rates on large-volume home deliveries.

Agent Says Some Grain Needs Less Water in Growth

JEROME, Feb. 25 — Some varieties of grains require less water than others, says W. G. (Bill) Priest, Jerome county extension agent.

He reports that Howard Roylance, Boise, extension agronomist, told a group of Jerome farmers recently that early maturing grains such as Gem barley and Ideal wheat can produce comparably to later varieties of grains with one less irrigation.

Another way to save water, it was pointed out, is not to irrigate after the grain goes into the hard dough stage. The plant doesn't use water for growth after the kernels have reached this stage.

Heptachlor Gets Okay for Use in Alfalfa Seasons

JEROME, Feb. 25—Heptachlor will be an acceptable chemical to use early in the alfalfa season, according to word received by W. G. (Bill) Priest, Jerome county agent.

Priest said he had received notification from the USDA agricultural research service, pesticide regulation branch. The notification reads, "Heptachlor is acceptable for control of overwintering adult alfalfa weevil in the Western states. Make only one granular or spray application of four ounces of actual heptachlor per acre in the early spring before new plant growth exceeds two inches. Do not harvest or graze within 30 days of application."

This means that heptachlor, placed on the " taboo" list last year, is now uncensored. Dietrich, which can be used safely for longer periods, was the primary chemical used last year.

Two Experts Discuss Potato Quality, Growing Practices at Rupert Meeting

RUPERT, Feb. 25 — A detailed discussion about potato quality was given last week to more than 50 Rupert farmers by Dr. B. Ohms, extension potato specialist, and Wallace Carrier, manager of the Shelly Processing company.

Carrier described some of the problems at the processing tables when the quality is inferior. He said the quality of potatoes this year was generally the worst he had ever seen.

The solid content varied from 17 to 25 per cent. "This was too much variety," Carrier said, "more than I have seen in over 18 years."

Usually the cookers are set for 20-minute operation and most of the spuds are cooked. However, this year the cookers had to be set anywhere from 17 to 40 minutes. Each day the time had to be changed.

"This means some spuds were mushy after the cooking and others were still near raw."

When these unevenly cooked potatoes are frozen, they color unevenly and the condition makes for a poor consumer acceptance.

"And we have heard complaints this year," added Carrier.

Carrier said another bad feature was that many potatoes were bruised extensively. Bruised potatoes turn black within five to 10 days. They are also hard to peel.

Immature potatoes, green or windburned, just won't peel, said Carrier. This creates a labor problem. Last year 10 women were able to peel 6,000 bags. This season it took 30 women.

Moreover, Carrier noted, it would help if growers would realize recovery of the processing plant is only 12 per cent on a dried basis for four to eight ounce spuds. Potatoes weighing eight to 10 ounces make about 14 per cent, and 10 ounces or better about 16 per cent.

He said research specialists should work on a russet with a thicker skin, improve the shape and find another way to control the enzyme that converts starch into sugar in the cellar.

Dr. Ohms added there were many complaints about Idaho russets even on the fresh market this year. Whether it was a situation made by weather alone was uncertain. But Dr. Ohms thought the average spud raiser could improve growing practices to improve potato quality.

He pointed out that mature spuds have the highest solid content, which is more profitable to both growers and processors.

"Furthermore mature potatoes usually contain a high percentage of No. 1's."

Ohms defined malformed tubers as those that are bottle-necked, tapered like dumbbells or have pointed ends.

The shape of the potatoes suggests there was a decrease in the growth rate early in the plant's development. Factors involved are irrigation, fertility, soil temperature and planting date.

Ohms insists research data accomplished within 43 days after planting, or when the soil moisture drops below an estimated 60 per cent. An early irrigation will give a higher set-on and cause fewer malformed tubers. Malformation begins when the set is smaller than the end of a finger.

"Later irrigations in the season have a slight effect on malformation," said Ohms.

Nitrogen also brings about malformations in potatoes. As the nitrogen applications are increased, so are malformed tubers, noted Ohms. However, nitrogen is essential for higher yields.

Ohms suggested the level of nitrogen required—and no more—to raise a maximum crop should be applied. Soil testing can't give a farmer the information he needs about how much nitrogen to use. Only his past crop history can determine need.

Ohms thinks it is a mistake to counteract bad effects of too much nitrogen by adding more phosphate. "This just isn't true," he said.

The farmer must apply the required levels of nitrogen and phosphate and then stop. Adding more phosphate when more nitrogen is added won't do any good at all, contrary to popular notion, he declared.

The manner of applying nitrogen also is important, added Ohms. He said when spuds were "banded" with nitrogen at planting time, or side-dressed about two inches deep on either side of the seed pieces, the number of malformed tubers increased.

He recommended the fertilizer be applied by broadcasting before plowing or before planting time.

Soil temperature is another factor. As the soil temperature increases so does malformation. He recommended that spuds should be planted deeply, square shoulders be made in hilling (high hills are hotter than wide flat ones), and organic matter be incorporated in the soil since it will act as an insulator.

As to depth of planting, Virgil Cross, Mini-Cassia extension agent, pointed out that last year when the outside temperature was 100 degrees, the soil at two inches was 88 degrees, at four inches it was 82 degrees, and at six inches it was 77 degrees.

Planting later than May 15 gave fewer malformed tubers, said Ohms, but yields were down. He added irrigating on time will overcome the condition brought about by early planting.

Knobby tubers were defined as those that rupture and form growth cracks or knobs. These are caused by having too much

Storage Stocks For Spuds Are Higher in 1961

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—The agriculture department says storage stocks of potatoes in fall producing areas totaled about 816 million hundredweight on Feb. 1, seven per cent above one year earlier but three per cent below the big stocks of two years ago.

All three fall-producing regions reported stocks above the 1960 level. Increases of 12 per cent were reported in the Eastern states, 18 per cent in the Central states, and one per cent in the Western states.

"It is easier to get more stems from a larger sized seed piece, at one and one-half to two ounces than from one smaller," said Ohms. The number of eyes in the piece had nothing to do with the number of stems.

He pointed out that as the stems per foot increase in a field, knobs and growth cracks decrease. Moreover, yields increase.

"If you ever have over 10 per cent knobby potatoes at harvest, it means you haven't gotten the potential yield that was available," he asserted.

He recommended closer plant spacings, though plantings less than six inches apart would have a depressing effect on the size of the tubers.

Too much nitrogen also may cause excessive formation of knobby tubers, which means fewer No. 1's. Nitrogen stimulates top growth and too much of it will increase per cent of knobs.

Knobby tubers will have less solid content than smooth spuds. Excessive nitrogen means too much water in the potato and excessive nitrogen also means knobby tubers. This type of potato peels poorly compared to smooth spuds and is lighter. It has less recoverable material for the processor after peeling and dehydrating.

Area Persons Sell One Horse; Another Wins Several Honors

HANSEN, Feb. 25 — Mr. and Mrs. L. W. (Bill) Moore, owners of Minidoka stables, Hansen, returned from a swing of national horse shows where one of their Appaloosas sold for a top price and another won ribbons in competition.

Minidoka Pawnee, who took fourth place in the yearling stallion class at the Denver National Stock show, sold for $1,225.

Top bidder was Mrs. Everett M. Entida, Lake Side, Nebr. Mrs. Entida reportedly is one of the largest purebred breeders of horses in the United States.

The second horse the Moores took on the national show circuit was Minidoka Sumac, a 2-year-old Worth, Tex., stock show, and first stallion whose picture appears on the front cover of Scene Idaho show as well as reserve champion blanket of spotted white, took top honors at three shows.

There still are five or six million gypsies wandering across Europe in the 2-year stallion class at the Americas, Asia and Australia the Denver show; fifth at the Port Straits, resisting settlement.

Firm Contracting Corn Acreage in Larger Area

BUHL, Feb. 25 — The Green Giant company is contracting sweet corn acreage over a winter area in Twin Falls county, according to Donald Howard, company fieldman. He has approached farmers in the Hansen-Murtaugh area.

He reports the contract price for the most common variety raised will be $14 per ton this year, an increase of about 50 cents. Other varieties will bring from $17 to $18 a ton.

The prices are guaranteed to the farmer, a guarantee that went into effect last year. Prior to last year, the price was determined by grade, moisture content and distance of haul from the farm to the plant in Buhl.

Now it is the company's policy to furnish the seed, planters, do the harvesting and provide the hauling, all without charge to the farmer.

Average yields last year were 55 tons to the acre. Last year was a "down-year" for all crops, however, and the average recorded yields for past years are from 74 to 75 tons to the acre.

Magie Valley yields are the highest in sweet corn production in the United States. Howard, who quotes the opinion of the home office in Minnesota, says sweet corn in Magie Valley is of the best quality raised anywhere.

This year the company intends to contract 4,400 acres.

Price Margin for Beef Established '60 Record

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—The margin between farm and retail prices for choice grade beef rose to an all-time high in 1960—but the agriculture department reports that the spread between farm and retail prices dropped from the all-time high it reached in 1959.

The report is one of a series on farm-to-retail price spreads prepared by agriculture department economists. Farm leaders have pointed to the growing spread as one of the facts of economic life which ought to be told more effectively to the nation's consumers.

The average retail price for choice beef last year was 80.7 cents a pound, down 2.1 cents a pound from the previous year, the report shows. The farm value of the beef declined by 2.4 cents a pound.

The result was that the spread between farm and retail prices increased to 32 cents, up one per cent from 1959 to an all-time high. The trend was the other way for pork. The spread between farm and retail prices dropped from the record of 29.8 cents in 1959 to 27.1 cents for 1960, a decline of about nine per cent. The department said average retail prices for pork declined in 1960, while farm prices were going up.

Feed Grain Proposal to Increase Gross Income

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Agriculture department economists estimate the administration's new feed grain proposal would raise the gross income of a typical feed grain producer this year by about 11 per cent. The department experts have worked out a simple case involving a farmer who grows corn and soybeans. In 1960, the sample farm had 100 acres of corn with an average yield of 50 bushels per acre. At $1.88 per bushel, the gross return from corn was $9,400. In addition, the farm had 20 acres of soybeans with a yield of 24 bushels per acre. At $2 a bushel, this is a gross of $960.

The total gross income for the two crops was $10,360. Under the new program, 20 of the corn acres would be idled to qualify for price support. For these 20 acres, the farmer would get a government payment of $720. Another 15 acres of 1960 corn land would be transferred to soybeans. This would give the farmer 35 acres of soybeans. With a price of $2.30 a bushel, soybean income would go up to $1,932. Sixty-five acres would be left in corn. At $1.20 a bushel, the farmer would gross $4,212. The total gross under the new program would be $6,864 compared with $6,210 last year, an increase of nearly 11 per cent.

Fast Test for Residues In Milk Given Priority

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—The agriculture department should give "high priority" to development of rapid screening tests to uncover traces of pest-control chemicals in milk, an advisory group asserts. The department's dairy research and marketing advisory committee said presently available testing methods are not fast enough to be practical in the fast-moving milk marketing system. The search for an improved testing system was spurred by the food and drug administration's campaign, launched last year, to put teeth into enforcement of its regulations banning the presence of pesticide residues in milk. The ban extends even to small traces of some common agricultural pest-control materials which are regarded as safe when found on other foods. FDA has taken the position, on the advice of some medical authorities, that no residues at all should be permitted in milk because it occupies a special place in the diets of infants and elderly people. Milk and other dairy products which contain pesticide residues when they are shipped in interstate commerce are subject to seizure by federal agents. Development of a fast, practical test would enable dairies to detect residues in raw milk picked up from farms before the milk was mixed into general supplies for bottling or processing.

The present price to producers is 36 cents. However, from this time through the end of the year, prices will continue to drop in relation to the standard seasonal decline. The next year's outlook for the producer is considered fair, but considerably better than it was two years ago when producers received less than 30 cents for the eggs that they laid.

Donations of Food Are up In Last Year

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—The agriculture department says its food donations rose 20 per cent in the first half of the current fiscal year, from last July through December. In that period, the department gave 1.7 billion pounds of food to needy people, schools, and institutions at home and abroad. That is up about 20 per cent from the 1.4 billion pounds given away in the same period last year. Most of the food went overseas—1.2 billion pounds in donations through voluntary American religious and charitable agencies which operate overseas feeding programs. Distributions in this country, including donations to schools and institutions, totaled 484 million pounds, up six per cent from the same period in 1959.

Kansas Wheat to Be Sent West in Export Program

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 25 (AP)—Plans for the first "substantial movement" of government-owned wheat to the West Coast for export are announced by Donald E. Smith, director of the Kansas City commodity office of the commodity stabilization service. He said between five and ten million bushels of wheat would move out of northwest Kansas. The plan for giving such former government-owned grain storage facilities total 1,665,000 bushels, Smith said. He added this space currently is 80 per cent full. "If next summer's Kansas wheat crop lives up to current expectations," he said, "it appears storage may be a little tight."

March 1 Deadline Set for Growers of Spring Wheat

SHOSHONE, Feb. 25 (AP)—Spring wheat growers in Lincoln county who intend to plant wheat on farms that have no wheat allotment have until March 1 to file a 1961 "new farm" allotment, said Gene Alexander, chairman of the Lincoln county ASC committee. A "new farm" under the wheat allotment program is one which had a "zero" allotment or no allotment at all in 1958, 1959, and 1960.

Farmers Sign up To Grow Garden Beans in Valley

Fieldmen for major contract bean companies began signing up farmers last week to plant garden varieties during the next bean season. All major companies reported prices for basic varieties will be from 25 to 50 per cent higher than last year. The newer varieties of contract beans will be from 50 cents to $2 higher. Acreage sought for contract is expected to be higher throughout the valley, though the precise increase won't be determined for another month. For acreage signups will be much higher than last year. The price for contract peas will be essentially the same as last year, however.

Number of Farm Workers in U.S. Is at Record Low

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—The agriculture department says the number of people working on American farms has dropped to a record low and is continuing at a "moderate rate." The department estimates that 49 million workers were employed on farms in late January. A decade ago, there were nearly seven million persons working on farms in late January. The department noted that this record small force of farm workers produced the biggest volume of crops and livestock in history last year by using more machine power on fewer but larger farms. Farm operators and members of their families accounted for more than 80 per cent of all farm workers in the January estimate, a decline of about three per cent from one year ago. Hired workers were estimated at about 900,000 last month, down about one per cent from a year ago.

New Estimate of Cattle Brightens Producers' Hope

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—The agriculture department's new estimate of cattle numbers brightens the long-term outlook for beef producers. The department calculates the number of cattle and calves at the beginning of the year at 97.1 million. This was about five per cent below the previous estimate. On the basis of the figures the department used last year, the cattle population in 1961 would have more than 102 million head. The estimate has been out because the 1959 census of agriculture showed that government estimates of cattle numbers had been too high. The agriculture department also included a downward revision in the number of dairy cows. The official estimate was reduced by eight per cent, to 19.3 million, the smallest number since 1950.

Idaho Sturgeon Fishing Compared to Deep Sea Angling Off Florida Coast

BY JIM HUMBIRD

Idaho Fish and Game Department Idaho sturgeon fishing these days is compared rapturously with deep sea angling for marlin and sailfish off the coasts of Florida and Mexico. Strange as it may seem, regulations governing the harvest of the world's largest fresh water species gave sturgeon this new respectability as a game fish. They banned the use of set lines on the Snake river below Pleasant Valley last year—the last stretch of water on the river where sets still could be used—and ordered all fish over six feet "thrown" back.

The 1950 regulations also fixed a minimum length of three feet, causing rod-and-reelers to take another look at genus Acipenser transmontanus and, sometimes ruefully, they came to agree with the unlettered lore of Hiawatha: "On the white sands of the bottom Lay the monster, Mishe-nahina, Lay the sturgeon, King of Fishes."

They found that a sturgeon, when unfettered by a heavy anchor hooked in his jaw and unleashed from the quarter-inch rope of a set line, is untired and quite the opposite of a "sporty" water-soaked log.

Indeed the only resemblance, apart from size, is when the enraged fish jumps—sometimes several times—and slaps the surface with his great weight on re-entry. In his fight for freedom the sturgeon compares with all the wily stratagems of the noble chinook. Idaho folklore is full of stories with some basis in fact about sturgeon weighing all the way from 1,000 to 1,500 pounds, about fish too big to haul away in a wagon, about a horse being drowned because a set line hastily was thrown over the saddle horn in a last ditch attempt to beach the monster, and even about a farmer who lost a D-2 cat in a tug-of-war with a mammoth sturgeon.

Actually the fish and game department has a picture of a huge white sturgeon caught in the Snake river near the mouth of the Weiser river in 1898. The legend on the old photograph says the fish weighed 1,500 pounds, but no verification ever was presented, and the weight seems to have been just an educated guess.

Such matters as size and weight now are merely of historical interest in view of upper and lower length regulations. The largest white sturgeon ever reported was in the "British Columbian" of New Westminster, Canada. It was taken in 1897, and sealed about 1,800 pounds. Apparently the biggest ever taken in Idaho on rod and reel was a 394 pounder by Glen Howard of Boise. Several adults and 15 Boy Scouts witnessed the feat. It was taken the day before Easter, 1953, below Swan falls and weighed-in at a Boise cold storage and locker plant.

Other Idaho records for sturgeon caught on rod and reel include a 200 pounder near Brunau, and from the same area, two other whoppers scaling 202 and 218 pounds. A Payette man came up later with a 233 pound sturgeon in 1958 and Willard Craven of Walters Ferry brought in a 360 pounder for the record books, to be topped by Harmon Kimball of Grangeville with a 375 pound fish.

Little actually is known about the habits of the white sturgeon. The chest or pectoral fins give the best clues to the age-weight riddle because fish grow more or less like trees—in yearly cycles marked by rings. Ivan Donaldson, a federal fishery biologist, reports that a white sturgeon seven feet, nine inches long was calculated to be 42 years old, judging from its fin record. A 10-footer was found to be somewhere between 46 and 50 years old.

Authorities list six kinds of sturgeon in the United States, including the white and green species found on the Pacific coast drainage. Both have been taken in the Snake river, but records do not show green sturgeon catches in Idaho since the construction of Bonneville dam years ago. White sturgeon also are found in the Kootenai river (where set lines still are permitted) but almost never in the main Salmon river, although a 220-pound monster was shot near the highway bridge at Salmon city back in 1914.

The Idaho Wildlife Review says that the sturgeon actually is a "living fossil," being one of the few remaining forms of prehistoric armored fishes of the Mesozoic age (200 million years ago). The rows of bumps or buttons, along the top of the back and sides are all that is left of what was proba-

Fish and game department archives produced this old photograph of big sturgeon in the 350-500-pound class taken in the Indian Cove-Hammitt area of the Snake river in southwestern Idaho. Most stories of "fish too big to haul away in a wagon" date back to 1920 or earlier. Some may have weighed 1,000 pounds or better, but authentic records are lacking. Sportsmen now are using rods and reels, especially since most sturgeon waters in the state are banned to set lines, and fish scaling as much as 394 pounds have been taken. This is a record for rod and reel set by Glen Howard of Boise, who made his catch below Swan falls after one hour and 45 minutes battling the lunker. (Fish and game department photo—staff engraving) bly excellent armorplate at one time. The white sturgeon—the kind presently found in Idaho—grows slowly. It does not spawn until it reaches 12 to 15 years of age—the reason those over six feet now are on the protected list. But a mature sturgeon of 25 years deposits more than a half-million eggs during the spring-early summer spawning season. Biologists believe that they may not spawn again for several years, although little is known about this part of their existence.

While some sportsmen prefer much-lighter-tackle, munny anglers choose a star drag reel capable of holding 80-pound test line, about 200 yards of it, when fishing for sturgeon. There is a wide difference of opinion as to the best type of rod, but it must be strong and durable. Glass, bamboo and cane rods sometimes shatter under the stress of holding a sturgeon against a current. Six pounds or more is the usual sinker weight.

In northern Idaho where available, the lamprey eel is favored as bait, although big gobs of night crawlers also are popular. All sorts, sizes, type and kinds of bait have been used for sturgeon fishing. These include rabbits, mutton, liver, smelt, crawfish, shrimps and beefsteak. Cattlemen use beef; shepherds, mutton—and even Idaho potato growers use their product.

The future of the state's sturgeon fishing appears brighter because of regulations protecting "baby" fish less than three feet and adults over six feet. The outlawing of set lines in most waters also will help, along with growing public recognition of the sturgeon's value as a sport fish and the necessity of being mindful of approved angling methods and limits.

In the words of John Olney, long-time commercial sturgeon fisherman between Lewiston and Johnson Bar, "Set line fishing is not sport, and the sturgeon is one of the finest fish we have in Idaho. The sturgeon is fun to catch, good to eat, big enough to brag about, and gives you a real battle. . . why not give him a half-way shake with rod, reel and line, instead of a big rope tied to a tree?"

Sturgeon usually feed at night. For real excitement, nothing compares to tying onto several hundred pounds of fish and having it surge up and down a broad river on a pitch black night. Fishermen say it's like being tied to a combination bull moose, B-52 bomber, and an 80-car freight train.

Founders Day Meet Held by Jerome PTA

JEROME, Feb. 25—Mrs. Ernest Coupe, PTA fourth district vice president, gave a short talk, entitled "PTA and the Home" at the Founders day meeting of the Lincoln PTA this week at the school.

Mrs. Tony Sabala, program chairman, read the Lincoln PTA history, including all officers who have presided and—the highlights of each year. Connie Lee presented a piano solo. Betty Lou Clubb gave a reading.

Mrs. Norman Hintze, probation officer for Jerome county, spoke on her duties in the community, school and county.

Calvin Neal, president, announced that the spices and flavorings the PTA had ordered to raise funds will arrive soon, and all parents will be notified. Neal urged the parents to cooperate in this project.

The group will donate $50 made from the spices and flavorings toward the retarded children's school. Plans are being formulated to open the school in Jerome next fall. The $50 will help buy special equipment.

Mrs. Vera White's third grade and Mrs. Thompson's seventh grade won the room count.

A Valentine motif was used at the refreshment table decorations. Mrs. Merrills and Mrs. Betty Foley served and poured. Mrs. Elmer Kennison, Mrs. John Abercrombie and Mrs. Wesley Jones, room mothers, were hostesses.

Gage Still Heads Area Fair Board

Practically all the work has been done in the former Reynolds mortuary building, although several excursions have been made into desert regions for scrubs for set designs. Even the scrubs had to be painted.

Speaking of the work, Peck says one of the biggest problems is to make something that is small enough to fit the stage, yet large enough to be believable. Creating the effect of reality on stage with cardboard and cloth has its problems.

During the actual production, Peck, with several helpers, will be the man backstage who hustles various sets about between scenes. There's a space problem in most

World Economy Is Staggered by Arms Race to Maintain Cold War Stalemate

(From Page 23) budget. It is roughly 9.2 per cent of the United States' gross national product — income from all sources for everybody—which is now about 500 billion dollars annually.

In relation to the United States' expenditure, the Soviets are by their own admission a peace loving nation. If you could believe the Soviet official figures, which you can't, they are spending only 10.2 billion dollars annually on arms. This is out of a total budget of 85 billion dollars.

The Soviets, however, conceal their real military expenditures in their budget under such innocuous headings as "heavy construction," "education" and "scientific experiments."

Analysts in the department of state and defense estimate that a more accurate figure for the USSR would be in the neighborhood of 42 billion dollars.

This boils down to about 49 per cent of the total Soviet budget and to roughly 12 per cent of the red nation's gross national product of 380 billion dollars.

But that doesn't tell the whole story either. Since the Soviets can control prices, it is probable that they obtain far more armaments per their new $1.11 ruble than the United States does per dollar. However you assess all this, it comes out to a fantastic sum.

Just to keep the record straight you must remember that immediately after World War II ended, the Western powers undertook what amounted to a unilateral decision to disarm.

At the same time the Soviets went home to pick up the pieces and to engage in a complete rearmament program. As matters now stand, the USSR has the most modern armed forces extant.

At the time of the Korean war, the U. S. military budget was only 13.5 billion dollars. The arms race began in 1950 in earnest and, though 10 years have elapsed, the West still is trying to catch-up.

Of course, this is only part of the total picture, albeit the major portion.

The seven communist bloc nations of Europe—Poland, Hungary, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Romania, East Germany and Albania—are spending about seven billion dollars on military forces.

This amounts to around six per cent of these nation's gross national product of 117 billion dollars.

Group Approves Pari-Mutuel Bill

JEROME, Feb. 25—The Jerome Chamber of Commerce voted approval of the pari-mutuel bill at their meeting Wednesday noon at Woods cafe. The trade stamp bill also was discussed.

Jack Morley will be the master of ceremonies. Kay Clark is board of director in charge of the event.

Lyle Hamilton, Roy, Utah; Glen Buchler, Burley, were present.

Man Who Led Philippines Against U.S. And Spain Is Now Old but Not Bitter

Aguinaldo was an unknown small-town youth of 27 at the start of the revolution.

On Aug. 30, 1898, Aguinaldo and a friend walked unarmed into the guardhouse in his hometown and told the soldiers to surrender. It was an easy beginning, for the Spaniards were surprised and outnumbered by Aguinaldo's men outside.

Within the week Aguinaldo faced a force of 500 armed men sent out from Manila with artillery and cavalry, and routed them at a river crossing.

His victories led him in less than a year to the presidency of the revolutionary government.

Aguineldo finally signed a pact with Spain when a statecraft was reached in early 1900 and went to Hong Kong with 400,000 pesos as a cash settlement. Some of his supporters demanded that the money be divided.

Instead he bought arms and came back after the battle of Manila bay in May, 1898, to con-

Stray Dog Enjoys Regular Evening Meal

Mrs. Norman Lyda, a Times-News rural carrier, feeds a stray pooch she discovered on route 3 about two months ago. She noticed that the dog always was present in the same area. She decided to feed it. Now the feeding stop is a regular duty and the dog has become fat and friendly. Now Mrs. Lyda doesn't know what to do. She says she likes the dog, but already has one at home. She says she probably will continue to feed it until someone gives it a home. (Staff photo-engraving)

Homeless Dog Waits at Roadside Each Day for Free Meal From Paper Carrier

Every afternoon is Christmas eve for a misplaced pooch on Twin Falls route 3, for each day at 5:30 p.m. Mrs. Norman Lyda, a Times-News rural carrier, plays the role of Santa Claus with a can of dog food and a pan of water.

The stray dog appeared on her route about two months ago. She felt sorry for it, began feeding it regularly and now the feeding stop on the county road is a daily occurrence.

Now a dog that was once thin, shaggy and suspicious, is fat, flashes a shiny coat and is friendly and happy with her new home in the borrow pit. This is an unusual place for a dog to make a home, but since a meal is guaranteed each day, this particular dog doesn't seem to mind.

Mrs. Lyda says it was about December when she first noticed the dog near the farms between the Snake river canyon rim and the intersection of Pole Line road and Washington street. Nobody was living in the homes at that time so she reasoned the dog was a stray. After the second time, she decided to bring food and feed the dog the next day.

The dog was there and the friendship began. "For a while I brought her table scraps," Mrs. Lyda says, "but after a few days I decided this wasn't going to be enough and, besides that, nine cents a day for a can of dog food isn't going to break me."

When Mrs. Lyda first started bringing the dog food, the dog was shy and afraid. She would grab a bite of food and then dash into the weeds to eat. Gradually she gained confidence and now meets the carrier in the same place each day.

Mrs. Lyda says she probably would have taken the friendly dog home a long time ago, but she has a dog and she doesn't have room for another. She figures feeding the dog regularly is the best substitute for complete adoption.

She laughs and notes that she now has two dogs, one in town and one in the country, and she adds, "At least I don't have to buy a license for this one."

Each day when she turns off Pole Line road and drives north the dog, who waits down the road about one-quarter of a mile, sees her car and runs to meet her. She drives down the road to the canyon rim, delivers papers and then drives back to the spot where the dog "lives." All the time the dog runs behind the car. Mrs. Lyda stops, feeds her, gives her some water in a pan and then spends a few minutes petting the friendly little dog.

Mrs. Lyda is off on Saturdays, but she still makes a special trip to feed the dog. Sometimes her husband goes with her, but if they drive out in his car the dog is suspicious and slow to come out of the weeds.

Mrs. Lyda thinks the dog was dumped there and probably was mistreated by someone in the past. She says the neighbors in that area know the dog and they say she just stays in the area all day, waiting for Mrs. Lyda and the evening meal.

Mrs. Lyda has driven the 44-mile rural route for nine years and says this is the first time she's had a roadside pet.

Canal Chief Gives Water Supply Data

JEROME, Feb. 25—Carroll Wilcomb, manager of the North Side Canal company, said this week that "although snow conditions and prospective run-off on the Jackson watershed have improved somewhat since Feb. 1, water supply for the coming season is still a matter of concern."

Except for a light storm the last day of the month, the precipitation on the watershed would have been the lowest on record for January, according to Wilcomb.

Precipitation on Lewis lake divide above Jackson lake has been about eight inches since Feb. 1. Normal for the entire month is about 13 inches.

It appears now that American Falls has a good chance of filling and because of winter water savings in Pallsades it is possible that the 116,600 acre feet the North Side Canal company owns in Pallsades may fill or nearly so, Wilcomb said.

This amount of water represents from two weeks to one month's run during the peak of the season. By holding off beginning deliveries as long as possible in April, and with conservative deliveries during the spring, such deficiencies can be diminished, he added.

It is too early to predict a percentage figure for seasonal deliveries to the farmer, but it is possible that there may be less than 100 per cent during the spring and latter part of the season, the manager said. Every attempt will be made during the critical months of the irrigation season to deliver the maximum amount of water, consistent with the maturing of crops and the supply of water available, he declared.

As of Wednesday morning, Jackson lake has 280,000 acre feet, compared with about 478,000 acre feet a year ago. However, since it appears likely that Pallsades will not fill, some Jackson lake water is being held in Pallsades for power head and reserve purposes.

Pallsades has 428,000 acre feet compared to 785,000 acre feet a year ago. American Falls reservoir has 1,170,000 acre feet compared to 1,103,000 acre feet a year ago. Respective capacities of the reservoirs are: Jackson lake, 847,000 acre feet; Pallsades, 1,200,000 acre feet and American Falls, 1,700,000 acre feet. The three reservoirs were 60 per cent full as of Wednesday compared with 69 per cent a year ago.

"While the situation for the North Side Canal company does not appear to be critical," Wilcomb said, "it is of sufficient concern that irrigation practices and farm deliveries are going to have to be highly efficient to affect possible deficiencies in normal irrigation supply."

Historical Films Set for Ketchum

KETCHUM, Feb. 25 — O. A. (Gus) Kelker, Twin Falls photographer, will show his pictures of Silver City and Sawtooth City at the regular meeting of the Wood River Historical society at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

The meeting will be held at the Ketchum-Sun Valley Community library and John Sidley, president, advises that the public is invited. Membership cards to the society will serve as admittance tickets. Others who wish to attend will be charged a small fee.

Kelker is president of the Twin Falls Historical society.

Archers Compete With Pistol Team in Target Matches

Now the old and the new are competing. A team of archers is currently shooting matches with a pistol team. This is a new form of competition. Pictured is Don Everton, president of Ol-Yo-Kwa-Bowmen, Inc., left, and H. F. (Brick) Munson, sponsor of Brick's Gun Shop pistol team. The members of the two teams are working out an equitable way to score the targets. (Staff photo-engraving)

Strange Competition Between Bowmen And Pistol Team Is Being Conducted

A strange competition is going on in Twin Falls. The bowmen are competing with pistolmen—and scores are closer than many would think.

Members of the Ol-Yo-Kwa Bowmen, Inc., recently challenged members of Brick's Gun Shop pistol team to a match. The result has been interesting and members of both teams now are trying to perfect a scoring method for the different sports can be closely competitive.

According to H. F. (Brick) Munson, who sponsors the pistol team, and Don Everton, president of the Ol-Yo-Kwa Bowmen, Inc., this is one of the first matches of this type in the area.

The idea is so new that the team members don't have any precedent to follow and are working out a method of scoring.

Everton says members of his club got the idea from an archery magazine. He adds that archers throughout the nation are devising methods to compete with all kinds of sports, even bowling. It's called bowing.

The gun team and the archery club have two teams, an A and B team. There are four men on a team. Members of all four teams have donated money for eight trophies that will be awarded to the two winning teams. The winners will be determined after three matches.

The teams shoot on different ranges. The archery teams shoot at an indoor range above the old Moose lodge on Second avenue south. The pistol teams shoot at the Twin Falls pistol club indoor range north of town.

Both the bowmen and pistolmen shoot at 50 feet. The pistol teams shoot on the regulation NRA 50-foot indoor range. The 10-ring measures half inch for slow fire and an inch for timed and rapid fire. Each shooter fires 30 rounds at all three targets, for a potential score of 300.

The archers are now experimenting with targets. They are using conventional sighting-in targets, which have a two-inch 10-ring. There is no such thing as timed or rapid fire so the archers fire 30 arrows at one target, for a potential score of 300.

The archers were only 70 points behind the pistolmen after the first shoot.

"After some experimentation," Everton says, "we'll work out a way of scoring that will be equitable."

Both Munson and Everton note that the teams expect to continue the competition on the outdoor ranges, when weather permits.

Members of the A archery team are Jerry Culver, Dick Pooler, Jerry Baltzer and Larry Shappert.

Famous Men Honored at Grange Meet

KING HILL, Feb. 25 — Washington's birthday anniversary was observed at the King Hill Grange meeting held Wednesday evening at the Grange hall.

Mrs. Addie Smith and Arthur Greer discussed the lives of Abraham Lincoln and George Washington. A quiz pertaining to President Washington was given by Mrs. William Cain, who was in charge of the program. Melvin Helwich read a poem.

Mrs. Cecil Bott announced $22 was collected from the cooked food sale and Arthur Greer presented information on the Grange hospital insurance plan.

Members voted to change Grange meeting dates to the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month instead of the third and fourth Wednesdays.

Rodney Ruberry resigned as assistant steward. Members elected Melvin Helwich to fill the vacancy. Helwich thanked Grange members for the cards and letters sent him while he was in the Veterans hospital recently.

Plans were made for a cooked food sale with proceeds to be divided with the heart fund, polo, Red Cross and cancer drives. Mrs. C. E. Spence, King Hill heart fund chairman, is in charge of the sales. Table decorations carried out the Washington motif with flags and hatchets used for decorations.

Mrs. Wesley Pink and Mrs. Arthur Greer served refreshments. The next meeting will be held March 14.

Attractive, 57-Year-Old Kansas Woman Is Top Executive of Aircraft Company

WICHITA, Kans., Feb. 25 (AP)—Olive Ann Beech is a tall, gracious woman who likes softly tailored clothes especially if they are blue, enjoys gin rummy and dotes on her grandson. She also is the boss of a 100-million-a-year aircraft business.

At 57, she is as much at home at a board meeting as she was 35 years ago behind her husband in an open cockpit plane. She was midwife to Walter Beech's aircraft business at its birth and she is head of the house in these boisterous years.

As president and board chairman of Beech Aircraft corporation since her husband's death in 1950, Mrs. Beech probably is the country's top woman executive. Her $110,000 salary last year put her among the highest paid. Yet she neither trades on being a woman nor apologizes for her sex. Her letters are signed an unfriendly O. A. Beech.

"Nothing is a handicap if you know and do your job," is her stock reply to the inevitable question about woman's chance in business. "When you prove your worth as an individual, there's a place for you anywhere."

Beech Aircraft, in its first fiscal quarter of 1961 delivered 237 new airplanes for net billings of more than 11.2 million dollars—more than 27 per cent of the total market for business aviation. It sold more than 1,000 planes in 1960 in a field where four companies do 95 per cent of the business. It had 52 million dollars in military sales last year.

The driving force behind such a big operation likely is seen differently by different people. Mrs. Beech often is painted as a cold cookie, aloof, hostile, demanding and generally hard to get along with. Friends and associates, however, describe her as an efficient executive in a toughly competitive business; devoted to her firm and its employees; to worthy causes, to church and family and to the city of Wichita.

Of herself, she says: "I'm an executive and I'm expected to act like an executive. But executives have a life of their own outside the office and I have mine."

Trim and attractive, she is every inch the executive. Her blue eyes are penetrating. They warm visibly when talk is about airplanes. Her outside interests—the theater, music, gin rummy games and other gatherings with friends—have to be elicited slowly. She appears more modest than shy.

As one of three members of the Beechcraft executive committee, it falls to her to make decisions that involve millions of dollars. But she also makes it a point personally to pin service emblems on employees. Her civic activities naturally are on the top level. But when it came time to decorate the Soroptimist club Christmas tree last year, she climbed a ladder to help.

"In her dealings, she is a warm, sincere and charming person," said a Beech official, "but you never forget she is the boss. There is nothing about her in business dealings that I would call womanly emotions."

Still, her small office is a constant reminder that her major interests are airplanes and family—not necessarily in that order. Suspended from the ceiling are models of every plane Beechcraft has built since 1932 when the company was formed by Walter and Olive Beech and a handful of associates. The wall behind Mrs. Beech's French provincial desk is covered with framed pictures of airplanes. Other walls are similarly filled with pictures of her husband and two daughters.

A new addition to the gallery is a photograph of her husky 9-month-old grandson, Lowell Jay Lyons II, in the cockpit of a Beechcraft Queen Air. "He sure enjoyed that first flight," Mrs. Beech said, beaming.

Walter Beech, a World War I flier reared on a farm in Pulaski, Tenn., started building airplanes in the flatlands of Kansas in the early 20s. Olive Ann—Mabel—Waller, Kans., a carpenter's daughter with a business school education, applied for a job of secretary of his budding Travel-Air company in 1934. The firm employed 25 persons then.

Beech later merged with Curtiss-Wright, worked for the firm for a while, then came back to start a new company. During the early years when it took some exhibition flying to make ends meet, Olive Ann would sit behind Beech as they hopped from show to show. They married in 1930. She has never piloted a plane.

Daughter Suzanne, now Mrs. Lowell Lyons, was born in 1937. Mary Lynn, a junior at the University of Colorado, was born in 1940.

Her spacious and tastefully decorated home—also French provincial—is located within 10 minutes driving time from the 345-acre Beech property. She is a good example of the flying executive, making all her business trips from the company's airfield.

The trips are frequent. Besides her duties at Beech, she is a board member, trustee, director or officer of more than 20 local and national organizations, businesses or colleges. She has served on a presidential advisory board and is on the board of directors of Western Union. She once was named Kansan of the Year—the highest honor bestowed by the state on a native son or daughter.

A Beechcraft employees' organization has the use of a stocked lake, baseball diamond lighted for night games and other recreational facilities. Workers' relations with management are unusually harmonious. Beech has never had a strike. More than one fourth of Beech's 5,000 employees have been with the firm 15 years or more.

Outside Mrs. Beech's office flutters either a blue or black banner warning of conditions inside. The black one is lettered "Oh, Woe!" The one usually raised these days is the one that says "Oh, Happy Day."

Italians Afraid U. S. Order To Save to Hurt "Business"

ROME, Italy—The Etruscan coin industry faces a crisis.

So does the Etruscan pottery and statuary business.

There's uneasiness in the fountain pen business, too, and the cameo trade is highly uncertain.

This uneasiness is the result of President Kennedy's decision that American tourists should bring back a meager $100 worth of duty-free purchases from abroad instead of the present $500 worth.

I talked with one of the leading shady characters who sells Etruscan coins outside the Coliseum today, and he was honest enough for a moment to admit that his livelihood was threatened, and that President Kennedy may drive him into more exhausting work

"It's a pity your President had to think of this at this time," the phony numismatist said, "because we are turning out the best rare, old coins we ever have. Much older looking than even last year's, and much lighter. I believe they'd fool an Etruscan if one happened to get 'out of his grave and come to town."

"Now, if Americans can't take back but a hundred dollars worth of stuff for nothing, the bottom is liable to drop out of the rare coin market. I have a brother who sells over by the Trevi fountain and he is worried sick."

Not being a numismatist, I have never bought a genuine fake Etruscan coin, and so wanted to know how much they cost.

"How much do you have?" the dealer answered. "I start at $50, but am not unreasonable and will come down to 50 cents. I have even sold a fine specimen for as little as 25 cents, your money. But that was during the winter when tourists were scarce and times hard."

Were genuine spurious Etruscan and Roman coins difficult to come by? Was there much digging to be done?

"Only in the flower pots in which the new coins are buried to give them age," the coin-seller said. "I have a window box filled with fine specimens now. They're just about ready to be dug up. They'll be ready for the spring tourist trade—if President Kennedy's ruling doesn't make money too tight."

A cameo salesman, whose "sales room" is near the Forum, said if tourists cut down their spending this summer he would be ruined. The cameo factories, he explained, had been running full blast turning out "hand-carved" cameos and he had thousands of them ready for tourists.

Were his cameos good for anything if he couldn't sell them? "No, unless you like to throw stones in water. A cameo skips nicely."

How much did his cameos average in cost? "Cost me? Or the tourists? What I pay for them is a trade secret, and what the tourist pays depends on how well I give my sales talk
