Falls Area Reported Quiet By Special T. F. Patrolman

Shoshone falls park has been quite peaceful since a special patrolman was hired to supervise the area, reports Howard Gillette, Twin Falls police chief. City commissioners authorized the hiring of a special patrolman to patrol the area June 10 after numerous complaints of "tree racing," "beer busts" and loud carousing late at night at the falls area were brought to their attention.

At that time Douglas B. Ewert, 750 Second avenue north, Twin Falls, was hired to patrol the area between 2 p.m. and 3 a.m. each night.

"Just his presence at the falls seems to have helped prevent a lot of mischief," Gillette said. "A couple of potential beer busts have been broken up by Ewert before they got started," he noted.

Gillette pointed out the patrolman is in constant radio contact with the police station and could summon help quickly if it was needed.

"The word got around in a hurry that it (Shoshone Falls) was being patrolled," Gillette said, adding that the troublemakers had probably shifted their activities to another area. USE TIMES-NEWS-WANT ADS

Commons Okays Austerity Plans

LONDON, July 28 (AP)—The British government's new austerity program cleared the hurdle of parliamentary approval last night as expected but still faced the heavy burden of wage controls today.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan won an overwhelming vote of confidence in the house of Commons while groups of school-teachers, miners, engineers and telephone operators made plans to press for pay raises despite government pleas to hold the line.

Macmillan told commons that the tax increases and other curbs on spending—felt in nearly every household in the land—were vital for the nation's prosperity.

Aid Finances to Get Solon Fight

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—Republicans here laid plans for an attack on the way President Kennedy proposes to finance his new economic aid program.

The Republicans plan to launch their attack on the Senate floor where the program faces a close vote. They hope to turn it back or at least to curtail it sharply.

The program may face even tougher going in the house, where debate probably will start next week.

The Administration seeks authority to make up the $3 billion dollars in loan commitments over a five-year period. Of this $3 billion Kennedy wants to borrow $2 billion dollars from the treasury without specific year-to-year appropriations. The balance would come from repayment of post-war loans.

Soldiers Facing Spying Charges

DAMASCUS, July 28 (AP)—Iraqi soldiers charged today with spying on the British southern border were "caught out" on orders of the British command in Kuwait.

Bahadad Radio said earlier this week the three would be tried by an army court martial but did not disclose the charges against them.

The soldiers, members of a British force sent to Kuwait after Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem threatened to annex the oil-rich sheikhdom, disappeared Sunday while on a patrol mission in an armored car.

King Potato

Idaho's potatoes are playing a more important role than they have for years thanks largely to the mushrooming spud marketing industry.

The spud crop has brought pricier returns the last couple of years. As a result, this year's crop looms as a new record, despite warnings last spring that many farmers planned to plant too many potatoes.

Earlier this year, potato growers who were bargaining with processors to raise their prices kept claiming that they couldn't afford to raise potatoes for the prices specified in the contracts they were being offered.

Perhaps everyone is right. It's not difficult to see the position of the Potato Processors secretary, and certainly not to expect that bargaining farmers to say they were quite happy with the contracts they'd been offered, except that maybe the price was a bit too high.

There is no doubt the processing business has had a terrific impact on potato growing and the end is not yet in sight. In the last couple of years, a paradox has shown up in marketing. Farmers who contracted potatoes received the agreed price and, as some of them put it, "didn't lose too much."

With a record crop coming up this fall, and if the same situation should prevail again, it would be virtually impossible to get anything another new record for spuds next year.

This year's record potato crop will be useful in another direction. It will demonstrate quite effectively just how many potatoes are being produced in Idaho prepared to absorb in one season. If the processors take enough of the potatoes so that the fresh price still is firm, then Idaho will be in for big spud crops for certain.

With all this potato industry expansion, another big factor in the processing industry demand for potatoes has boosted the fresh potato price higher than spuds raised in other states.

Because of changes in eating habits and marketing practices, potatoes may decline steadily in importance, but the young processing industry bids to continue the world-wide reputation of the Idaho potato.

IT HAPPENS FAST

The dangers of drug racing were emphasized all over again in another senseless tragedy at Modesto, Calif., when four young men died in a high speed race. It all happened in a split second and was over before any of them really realized what had happened.

That's the way things happen—in a split second when a car is traveling at high speeds. A little mechanical failure, one small error in judgment, one rather minor defect in the road surface and living, breathing, happy, carefree youngsters are reduced to mere statistics in the middle of a breath.

The surviving driver was nonchalant enough about the whole incident. He commented, "We weren't going very fast, only about 70 or 80. No, that isn't very fast, but it's fast for me. I was in the open spaces, but on a rural road at 1 o'clock in the morning, it leaves a question of what the 20-year-old driver would consider fast."

They said, "Only about 70 or 80" was fast enough so that the four dead young men probably weren't even aware their car smashed into a walnut tree. It was all over in the twinkling of an eye. A car reversed, clipped the front fender of the other auto and the tortoise screeching of tires on pavement ended in the shattering crash.

What remained wasn't a pretty sight—it never is. And the grief in the homes cannot be estimated by someone who hasn't gone through it.

Gangland Style Slaying Probed

PHILADELPHIA, July 23 (AP)—An ex-convict who testified against three men convicted of a bizarre burglary was killed in gangland style yesterday by an explosion which ripped through his auto when he turned on the ignition.

Police later questioned and today released two of the convicted men and a shapely woman nightclub owner awaiting trial.

Police Capt. David Brown said Lillian Reia, 33, owner of the Celebrity Room, Ralph Staino, Jr., 27, and John C. Bietzky, 30, were questioned and released after accounting for all of their activities yesterday and Wednesday night.

Record Low

FM Radio Is Given Boost From Stereo

NEW YORK (NEA)—FM stereo may be just what FM needs to give it a new lease on life.

This high fidelity radio broadcasting system has been showing signs of breaking through to public and sponsors.

But in the last few years, it has begun to grow again. About 400,000 sets were manufactured in 1955, but more than twice that were turned out in 1956.

There are several reasons for the FM comeback. Television made people sound conscious.

Many factories and offices have converted their PA systems to FM sound.

There has been a special reason. This year many new FM stations have been licensed.

Miss Durbin Insists She's Now Retired

PARIS, July 28 (AP)—I can't bear to convince people that I'm retired. But I have.

This was Deanna Durbin speaking. But with glowing apoplexy, she was as lovely as when she starred in a series of hit musicals in Hollywood.

But the foreign journalists continue asking inquiries. They want to know how she is.

Deanna added "I suppose nobody believes that I am a good actress. That's because so many of them have announced retirement, then come back."

She has found contentment in a life of anonymity in France. The Durbin lives in an old farmhouse a half-hour drive from Paris.

"I cook and I garden," Deanna said before she came here. "I couldn't boil water. Now my husband says I am a good French cook."

Among all the peoples of Southeast Asia, only the citizens of Thailand have escaped colonial domination.

King Sized Pup

to end dog actors has been signed to appear next fall on ABC-TV's "Dennis the Menchild Show."

The pooch, a poodle by kennel classification, having been born to standard poodle parents, is a poodle the like of which hasn't been commonly seen since Julius Caesar's day in ancient Rome.

The dog, a male named "Goat," weighs 135 pounds and stands 42½ inches high. Owned and trained by Don Wallace, the pup is only 18 months old and probably has not reached his full growth.

"Goat," says Wallace, "is the only dog of his kind I have ever seen, and I've been interested in dogs all my life."

Actor in Midst Of Name Streak

HOLLYWOOD, July 28 (AP)—Kirk Douglas is a star in which all his films have either the word "last" or "town" in the title.

For instance, his four most recent movies were "The Last Days of Pompeii," "The Last Word," "The Last Frontier," and "The Last of the Mohicans."

He has found contentment in a life of anonymity in France. The Durbin lives in an old farmhouse a half-hour drive from Paris.

"I cook and I garden," Deanna said before she came here. "I couldn't boil water. Now my husband says I am a good French cook."

FOOD FACTS

From Leo Soran Have you ever wondered how sauces originated? The word "sauce" is derived from the Latin word "salutis" which means salted. Even back in Biblical times, a sauce was meant to add flavor to a dish. Butter was probably the first example. It was used more than 2,000 years before the birth of Christ. Butter is mentioned in the earliest Old Testament books of the Bible. Bread (even from ancient Mexico) is spoken of in the sixth Chapter of Judges. Historians believe brown sauce was discovered when some ancient cook let his broth boil down to a quantity of "the original" then tasted it out of curiosity, and found the sauce to be much better.

Food for Americans

On the West coast, where so many choice grains flourish, salad is usually served as a first course as an appetizer. Elsewhere, East coasters and Europeans serve salad after the main course. Midwesterners prefer it right along with the main course.

- 1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
1 teaspoon tarragon leaves
2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
2 teaspoons olive vinegar
1/2 cup salad oil
1 small clove garlic, mashed
1/2 cup hot water
1/2 medium head romaine lettuce
1/2 medium head endive
1 small bunch watercress
1/2 cup sliced mushrooms
Combine seasonings, lemon juice, vinegar, oil and garlic in a small bowl. Stir mixture together. Set aside to use later.
Wash salad greens, drain and place in a salad bowl. Cover with dressing. Toss well, being sure to coat greens with dressing.

Yanks Top White Sox To Hike League Lead

The New York Yankees opened up a one-game lead over Detroit Thursday night by checking off their winning Chicago uprising for a 4-3 victory. Both Roger Maris, the majors' leading home run hitter, and catcher Elston Howard of the Yanks were injured during the game. Maris aggravated a leg injury received Wednesday when he slid into second base with a run-scoring double in the fifth inning. Howard received a cut on the side of the head when hit by the whiplash of Floyd Robinson's bat in the third.

Braves Crush Idaho Falls by Score of 10-0

BOISE, July 28.—The Boston Braves crushed Idaho Falls 10-0 on four homers and the four-hit pitching of bonus baby Bill Ryan Friday night. Ryan contributed one of the homers, a solo in the fourth inning, as well as the fourth out of the game.

Ray Reed waited two homers and drove in four runs. One was a two-run blast in the first inning after Rafael Gomez doubled and the other was a two-run, four-bagger in the sixth inning, again with Gomez on base, on a line drive.

Ron Lipink aided in the Bolos assault with a two-run homer in the third inning. Ryan struck out two and issued only four walks.

Idaho Falls manager Al Williams picked his way out of trouble. That was the only time Idaho Falls got a man as far out as third base.

Pinson Steals Home as Reds Down Braves

By The Associated Press. Speedy Yoda Pinson broke for the plate with the bases loaded and knocked the ball out of catcher Sammy Whit's glove to score the deciding run for the Cincinnati Reds Thursday in a 2-1 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

The run broke up a pitching duel between Cincinnati right-hander Bob Purkey and Carl Willey, the hard-throwing member of the Braves' pitching staff. Purkey picked up his 12th victory against five losses while Willey went down in his 10th defeat in eight decisions.

Hefty Bass Caught Near Hagerman

This four and one-half pound bass was caught about 4 p.m. Wednesday in the Hagerman slough, west of Highway 30 and next to Snake river, by Bob Daniels, 607 1/2 Blue Lakes boulevard north, Twin Falls. He caught the fish on a six-pound test line. The fish is 21 inches long. (Staff photo-entourage)

Bass Caught In Area Goes 4 1/2 Pounds

Robert Daniels, 607 1/2 Blue Lakes boulevard north, Twin Falls, caught a four and one-half pound bass about 4 p.m. Wednesday in the Hagerman slough, just west of Highway 30 near the Snake river. The fish measured 21 inches long.

Daniels, using a six-pound test line, said that the fish didn't put up much of a fight, about five minutes for its size. He said the fish didn't surface at all but stayed under the water.

He caught the fish on a black and white spinner spinner. He was using a Green Hornet pole with a Garcia-ABU-matic reel. He likes the Green Hornet pole because of its flexibility.

Daniels is going back to Owyhee reservoir in Oregon next week-end where he and some friends went last week-end and caught eight bass, averaging about two to two and one-half pounds apiece.

Art Wall Grabs Opening Lead in PGA Tournament

CHICAGO, July 28 (AP)—Art Wall, Jr., racked with aces and birdies for most of the last two years-tenned back into the hitting golf picture Thursday with a three-under-par 67 which gave him the opening round lead in the 43rd PGA championship. The slender professional from Peacon Manor, Pa., who hasn't played a tournament in four weeks because of a torn wrist muscle, came charging home late over Western Florida Country and a course ahead of defending champion Jay Hebert and a 201st place finisher in Oklahoma City, Willie Weiser, for second at 68.

The two notable favorites—Arnold Palmer and Gary Player—fell well back with rounds of 73 and 72, respectively, and leveled away—blatant—the tough, matted fairways of the traditional-steeped Olympia north course.

Tied at 69, only other players in the star-spangled field of 107 to break the Olympia 70-par, were former champion Don Ford, Venker, N. Y.; tiny 132-pound Jerry Barber, Los Angeles; and Bill Heinlein, a 50-year-old club pro of Carmel, Ind.

It was a day of ailer coils and sparkling comebacks under conditions of oppressive humidity and tricky changing winds. Palmer and Player were among the several contestants who complained that the fairways were too high and heavy for precision cut.

Billy Maxwell, former national amateur champion from Dallas, Tex., had a record of 31 on the 10-hole, 18-hole, 36-hole and 72-hole rounds in the U.S. Open championship in April and held the national money winners.

Hebert, who pulled from Lafayette, La., had no complaints as he whizzed around the course in 34-38, not getting a single bogey, missing 17 of the 18 greens in regulation figures.

Yessier, a bespectacled club professional who still carries a plumber's card, just turned 40, a little more scrambling for his 34-38 finishing with a "great birdie on the long 45-par 18th. The roof fell in for Palmer when he took bogeys on four successive holes—the third, fourth, fifth and sixth. On all of them, he overthrust the green-on-his approach from the fairway and clipped the hole.

"It was so mad at the course I couldn't see straight," he said later. Player, 40, had a single birdie on his round and said he believed it was the first round of the hole he had ever played in America without at least one hole better than par.

U.S. Victory Over Poles Predicted

WARSAW, July 28 (AP)—The coach of the Polish team that meets the United States Saturday and Sunday predicts two world records for his charges won easily come their time will lose the meet.

"I think Marian Poka is ready to better the world 200-meter record of 2:03 and I believe Kazimierz Zimny is in shape to beat the 400-meter mark of 1:23 for the 5,000 meters, said Polish coach Zygmunt Zajączkowski through an interpreter.

"They're so madly and tough that it's impossible to tell where the ball will go."

The fairways are a pity—they should be mowed and the hole should be the British Open championship in April and held the national money winners.

Farmer Disappointed Because It Took 23 Years to Whip Federal Government

MARION, Ind., July 28 (AP)—Farmers around Blinn said today they were disappointed because it took him 23 years to whip the federal government.

He won a battle, but not the war in his dogged campaign against government crop controls.

The battle was won when a federal judge last month reversed an agricultural stabilization and conservation (ABC) review committee. The committee had fined Blinn $475 for planting two bushels of an acre of corn more than his own acre permitted had allowed him.

Judge Robert A. Grant did not rule on Blinn's charge that the entire agricultural adjustment act was unconstitutional. But he did say the ABC had failed to prove definitely that Blinn had planted more than his acre of wheat.

Blinn, who farms near Marion, has spent 23 years fighting farm controls and five years battling the ABC ruling. He said he was grateful to his lawyer, Clifford E. Simon, Jr., of Fort Wayne, Ind., and the judge.

"But I'm quite disappointed that it took 23 years to get enough legal talent marshaled to do something about these boys," Blinn said. "I'm sure that I'm a private little kingdom," he said.

"I was hoping that we had somewhere where we could get the law knocked out, but the judge closed the door on that."

Blinn said he would continue to work on a farm where he filed, possibly for damages because of the money spent to finance his legal battle, and to compensate him for being denied the right to make his own decisions for three years.

But Simon, who also was the attorney who handled the earlier and unsuccessful case of another Indiana farmer, Ethan Stangland, who battled over crop limits, said, "I think it's gotten to the point now that it will take legislation to undo the ABC. If the courts can undo it, Blinn charged that the whole system of controlling crops is an affront to democracy, and a denial of a right to trial by jury. He cited figures that in Indiana's Grand county alone, only 303 farmers were ruled eligible to vote in the wheat referendum by the local committee setting allo-ated. Only 40 of those voted, although there are nearly 2,000 farmers in the county, Simon said.

Blinn's hard-working farm with eight children, termed himself "centric, hog and turkey man" who farms about 300 acres and has another 300 acres in range lands.

"I work on a farm where I lay my hands on things and my granddaddy did and my dad did," he said today. "I've got sons and I am not going to turn everything over to these rascals without a struggle."

"What I'm in is this continual effort by the government to take the incentive policy out of farmers that would make them take what they have and make a living out of it. Instead, we get a deflationist attitude because the government says 'I've got to be helped and bailed.'"

Blinn called it "a very subtle form of brainwashing."

"We've got to the place now where a lot of farmers feel it is time to get the government out of our affairs and let us straighten up the mess ourselves," he said.

Researchers Find Poisonous Weed in Area Is Cause of Deformity in Lambs

LOGAN, Utah, July 28 — A poisonous weed, California false hellebore (Veratrum californicum), when eaten by ewes shortly after conception, causes deformities in lambs, a U.S. department of agriculture veterinarian reports.

The finding that the weed, which is called by sheep, causes this malformation resulted from research by Dr. Wayne Blinn of Utah's Agricultural Experiment Station, and the Utah and Idaho agricultural experiment stations.

New-born ewes grazed on California false hellebore with the weed in experiments conducted near Arco, Idaho. Of the 41 ewes that conceived, 13 bore "monkey-faced" lambs. The scientists believe that the fetus is affected within seven to 17 days after conception. In drylot feeding experiments, deformed lambs resulted when ewes fed the weed during the first 30 days after conception.

These experiments suggest that the toxicity of false hellebore to lamb embryos depends upon such factors as soil and weather conditions, the altitude at which the plant grows, and the stage of development when eaten by the ewes. The exact conditions required are not known.

This deformity has occurred for the past 50 to 60 years only in parts of southeastern Idaho, although the weed also grows in ranges in Utah, Wyoming and Colorado. Losses to sheep producers are $15,000 to $16,000 each year.

This malformation affects only the heads of lambs. A slightly deformed upper jaw may be the only indication of the condition, but in extreme cases—called complete Cyclops—lambs may have only a single eye. Lambs with their heads monkey-faced lambs born alive are killed by shepherds because the lambs have trouble nursing.

Prolonged starvation, in which lambs grow to excessive size in the ewe's milk and condition is often associated with consumption of the poisonous weed. Lambs, during long starvation, can become two to four times normal birth size, are always severely deformed, and causes ewes to die.

The deformity formerly believed to be inherited by lambs, is a simple, inherited character. This, however, was disproved by the researchers two years ago.

Production up
BOISE, July 28 (AP)—Chicken production by Idaho's commercial hatcheries last month was well above a year ago and the 1955-56 average, the U. S. department of agriculture reports.

The department said the hatcheries produced an estimated 261,000 chicks this month, was 22 per cent higher than the same month a year earlier and 88 per cent above average.

Secretary Says General Public Must Be Shown How It Benefits From Farm

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—The Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman reports that before farmers get new federal programs to lift their income, the general public must be shown how it benefits from farm production.

"As a nation we eat better, and cheaper in relation to income, than any other people—and we share our abundance with more people than has any nation before us," he said.

"Nowhere on Earth, and never before in the history of man, has any nation achieved the remarkable record of efficiency and productivity which the farmers of this nation have done in this century."

Freeman said he neither fully recognizes this powerful instrument for world peace nor do we appear to want to preserve and strengthen the foundation from which it springs," Freeman continued.

He added that until the nation appreciates the importance of farming, we cannot adequately portray the need to maintain this abundance so that the farmer can obtain a fair return.

Freeman urged support action to meet the nation's "recreational deficit" as well as its farm surplus problem. He said his department and the interior department are joining hands to develop recreation facilities as quickly as possible.

Idaho Farm Production Will Exceed 1960, Forecast Says

BOISE, July 28 (AP)—Total farm production in Idaho this year is expected to show a gain from that of 1955 despite adverse conditions in some areas, the U. S. department of agriculture said today.

Larger crops than a year ago were reported in prospect for winter wheat, corn, barley, rye, alfalfa, dry peas, sugar beets and fall summer—potatoes—smaller crops are forecast for spring wheat, oats, hops and dry beans.

"The increase in aggregate production—over last year—will be the result of an increase in total crop acreage for harvest as well as higher yields for some crops."

The indicated 1961 acreage for harvest of sugar beets and fall potatoes is up sharply. Lesser increases are estimated for winter wheat, corn, barley, rye, alfalfa, dry peas and later summer potatoes.

"The production forecasts for sugar beets established a new record high for the crop. Fall potato production will be forecast with the August report but acreage is at a record high."

The department said shortage of irrigation water is a problem in many areas of southern Idaho.

"Many areas dependent upon stream flow from small rivers and streams are nearing the end of their supplies," the department said. "Crop most affected will be hay and small grains as available water supplies will be saved for higher-value crops."

Skyrocketing demands for outdoor recreation, Freeman said, have stretched the facilities of national parks and forests "so badly that in many places they are deteriorating from overuse."

MEAT SUPPLIES LOWER
WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—Supplies of meat per person this summer probably will total a little below last summer. Prospects are for consumption per person for 1956 to total about 160 pounds, a pound or so less than in 1955.

2,523 Counties Are Participating in Program for Brucellosis Eradication

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—The agriculture department reports today that 2,523 counties in 46 United States and its possessions are participating in the nationwide brucellosis eradication program. This is slightly more than 80 per cent of the 3,132 U.S. counties that make up the entire country when Williamsburg county, S. C., joined the cooperative state-federal program to wipe out the disease of livestock.

Joining the program is the first lowest certification county as a modified-certified brucellosis area. An acreage of 100,000 acres in the county is declared modified-certified when infection has been reduced to less than one per cent of its cattle more than five per cent of its herd.

Dr. R. J. Anderson, director of the animal disease eradication division, said that counties are joining the program at a faster rate than in the past. Just six months ago, only 75 per cent of the counties were participating in the brucellosis eradication program. A year ago the figure was 71 per cent.

Anderson said if counties continue to request the program at the present rate, the entire country could be participating within the next two years.

A complete area eradication effort includes vaccination of calves, blood testing of herd, removal of infected animals, cleaning and disinfection of premises, milking tests for dairy herds, and in some states, blood testing of cattle sent to market.

With Williamsburg county, all the counties in South Carolina now are participating. The state expects to reach modified-certified status by December of this year, Anderson said.

At present, 25 states, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands are modified-certified brucellosis areas. A total of 2,120 counties are modified-certified. In addition, 40 counties—including the states of New Hampshire, Arizona, California, and Nevada—are brucellosis-free areas.

The National Brucellosis Commission of Livestock Conservation, Inc., a non-profit livestock industry group, recently set 1956 as the goal for completing certification of all states. Anderson said present progress indicates this goal can be achieved.

"Brucellosis is one of the most important livestock diseases. It is also a public health hazard. Contact with infected animals or animal products can cause brucellosis, or undulant fever, in man."

Report Made

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—The report today made by the U.S. department of agriculture estimated that 50.4 billion pounds of whole milk equivalent of milk and cream were used in 1955 in manufactured dairy products. This total represents more than 48 per cent of the total milk produced in the United States during the year.

Creamery butter production last year totaled 1.1 billion pounds. Minnesota was the leading butter producing state, making almost one-fourth of the total. Other ranking states in order of importance were Wisconsin, Iowa, North Dakota and Nebraska.

Lower Prices—On Hogs Are Being Noted

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—The agriculture department says today this year's upturn in hog production most likely will bring average lower hog prices during the next 12 months or so than in the past year.

The agency's regular livestock situation report added, however, that it does not seem likely prices will reach the levels of the fall-winter months of 1955-56 and 1956-57.

The report also indicated this year's hog production will be down because of the low prices.

The report said that the emergency feed grain program, cutting corn acreage about one-fourth, may have had a beneficial effect on the hog production upward trend.

The report also stated that cattle numbers are continuing to expand, but that sheep flocks may have some reduction in the next few years.

Most cattle slaughter has been running four per cent above a year earlier, and is expected to continue higher the remainder of the year.

Even so, the report said, the year's total slaughter will be downward pressure on prices—probably will not be large enough to halt the present buildup in cattle numbers.

Weather Speeds Crops for Idaho
BOISE, July 28 (AP)—The hot, dry weather is speeding many Idaho crops to maturity. It is desalinating heavy on soil moisture and damaging spring-planted crops, it was reported today.

The hot spell also is demanding heavy irrigation, the U. S. department of agriculture and other bureau officials said.

"Irrigation water supplies are becoming shorter and deliveries have been reduced in some areas of south Idaho," the agencies said.

Campaign to End Poverty Has Started

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—The agriculture department is launching a full-scale campaign to end poverty by stimulating economic expansion in rural areas.

Orville Freeman said the program is designed to provide aid in all rural counties, reaching the operational stage by the end of the year.

Personal assistance to 400 rural counties designed as eligibility for loans and grants under the program.

Development of small business and farmers home administration personnel to be sent to counties throughout the country.

Establishment of five area offices to cover the United States.

Additional support from more than 2,000 rural electrification cooperatives in providing business and administrative county and regional economic development.

Establishment of a department-wide rural areas development program representing 12 agencies to coordinate all development activities in the rural areas development program.

Appointments of special rural development staffs in each department agency assigned to give top priority support to the program.

Head of Bureau of Land Management Outlines Policies at Interview in T. F.

The latest wilderness bill written for congress should be approved rather than opposed by livestock interests, said Karl Landstrom, Washington, D. C., head of the bureau of land management, when he stopped recently in Twin Falls.

"If people would read the latest form of this bill," Landstrom said, "they will find that the provisions in it will cause the number of wilderness areas to be cut down, rather than increased as many fear."

Landstrom replaced Edward Woolley, former Idaho resident who is now San Francisco's administrative assistant, as head of the bureau of land management when the administration changed hands.

Landstrom is a native of Oregon. He stopped here after addressing the Idaho Mining Congress in Sun Valley, accompanied by Joe Fallini, Boise, state director for the BLM, and Jack Wilson, Burley, head of the Burley BLM district.

Landstrom also discussed grazing fees, tentative plans for the advisory board system in the future, a massive land classification program, recreation and wildlife interests.

He said that under the latest wilderness bill existing wilderness areas will have to be justified by agency heads to be included, or the boundaries of existing areas changed, approval would have to come from Washington, D. C.

This interpretation is in line with one held by many livestock and wildlife interests.

As for the advisory board system of the department of the interior, which livestock people have early since the formulation of the Taylor-Prairie Act in 1930, Landstrom said present intentions of the secretary of the interior are for more than 50 per cent of the board to be composed of livestock people. The other members will be from wildlife interests, and from the ranks of industries using public lands with a significant interest in the area.

Thus, if the area had oil leases and oil wells drilled, then a member of the advisory board would come from the oil industry. If the land in a vicinity was widely suited for recreation, then a member from that industry would serve on the board.

Landstrom said under all circumstances, if this plan is adopted, no more than 50 per cent of the board will be livestock men, he said.

As for grazing fees on BLM lands, Landstrom said he feels the current 10-cent fee per animal unit month is too small. He intends, he said, for grazing lands to pay their own way, and that presently the director of the budget is making an intensive study to determine what an equitable grazing fee would be.

Landstrom pointed out also the present secretary of agriculture and the interior intend to work together, making land swaps where advantageous, and that both men intend to see that all the public lands are administered in the best interests of the public.

Larger Lamb Crop Indicated As 1961 Percentages Higher

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—There will be more lamb on the table this fall and winter on more wool for the loom next spring, depending on use of the 1961 lamb crop.

The crop reporting board has estimated the 1961 lamb crop at 21,532,000 head, one per cent larger than the 21,232,000 head produced in 1960 and 10 per cent above the 1959-60 average.

The 13 Western sheep states (11 Western states, South Dakota and Texas) produced two per cent more lambs this year than in 1960 and 14 per cent more than average. The lamb crop in 13 Western states is two per cent smaller than last year but two per cent above average.

Mexican Bracero Plan Is Called Lazy Man's Way of Getting Crops Harvested

SACRAMENTO, July 28 (AP)—California agriculture has used the Mexican bracero program as a lazy man's way of getting crops harvested, a state senate fact-finding committee reports.

But in spite of "detrimental efforts in both domestic economy and to farmers, the state labor and welfare committee concluded that the bracero program should be continued because there is, in fact, a shortage of domestic workers."

Chairman James A. Cobby, D-Merced, said that because the bracero program's political viability is so important, the state should urge the federal government to continue the program.

"However, alternative committees are not only related by a dependence on foreign labor, but are also difficult because of the existing basic and unique structure of agriculture in this state," Cobby said.

And the committee expressed "serious doubt" that unionization of farm workers could solve the problem. Its report said it was more probable that the workforce will have to be stabilized by some other factor or combination of factors—before self-supporting locals could be established and could furnish a sufficient supply of labor.

Cobby said the Mexican national program had actually slowed down progress in agriculture. After it began, he said,

"some farmers began following the path of least resistance and they are offering to domesticate if these are generally of poor quality."

The committee said a combination of factors is inhibiting the workforce and changing the pattern of California farming. Among them are mechanization, bracero-type pooling of domestic workers, more aggressive recruitment efforts, crop diversification and higher wages.

As for the ill workers, the committee said "farmers apparently now get what they pay for, noting that a better class of workers seems to respond to a higher wage rate and more work opportunity."

But, it said, "with a significant wage raise, some smaller or less efficient farms will be forced out of business."

Farmers have been slow to adopt labor-saving devices, and the demand for labor has stayed at the same high level for 30 years.

"Many farmers have placed an increasing reliance on government and labor contractors to recruit, train and manage harvest workers, and now discover they have not developed the skills and knowledge to meet the substantial employer-worker problems they face."

"The domestic workforce on the other hand, have in some instances and areas apparently suffered detrimental effects on their wages and work opportunities," Cobby said.

He said that while braceros receive some benefits as housing, meals, employment guarantees

Damages Noted To Seeded Crops

BOISE, July 28 (AP)—Spring seeded crops in north Idaho are being damaged by the hot weather and lack of soil moisture, the U. S. department of agriculture and weather bureau report.

They also reported that some late injury to late seeded gains and wheat are mechanization, the above-normal temperatures in the past week speeded growth and benefited crops.

Shipment of Idaho's Hay "Alarming"

WENDELL, July 28 (AP)—Concern was expressed here this week by agricultural stabilization committees in the state in face of a big shortage in the state this year.

In Oshosh, state administrator of the A-60, a federal program to stabilize the position of certain Idaho A-60 fields, he said they should be held for 1961.

Ray Day, Rupert, state A-60 administrator, pointed out that some hay had been shipped to Utah from southern Idaho counties.

This shipping the section he was informed that the first crop hay was a total loss and in the second crop the usual three was suspended.

Total Farm Output Could Be Down From Its Record High

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—The agriculture department said today total farm output in 1961 may be down from the record high of 1960.

This was based on the July 1961 report and current estimates of livestock production.

Reporting writing in the department's "Economic Outlook and Price Outlook" publication said this would be the first decline in total farm output since 1949. They pointed out that no shortage of food, feed, and fiber would result because there are large storage stocks of many commodities.

The indicated seven per cent decline in crop production reflects the diversion of acreage from the 1961 feed grain program, water shortages in the Intermountain and Southwestern areas, and below normal rainfall and wet weather in the Northern great plains.

Output of livestock and products is likely to be up by about four per cent from last year's level, which most of the livestock, cattle, milk and broilers, the department said.

Farmers income for the first half of 1961 was considerably above the same period in 1960. The volume of farm products marketed totaled three per cent more than a year ago, and farmers received a slightly higher level of prices for their products. Government payments to farmers were up, and production expenses were little changed.

These lands belong to the public, you know," he said.

He said, too, that a land classification study is presently under way in his agency to determine which uses would be best for each soil and area.

Five hundred square unit areas in the western states will be classified. The results of this classification study will be the basis for all future actions taken by the department of the interior as regards public lands.

"If we think an area should be held to serve the public best, then we will hold on to it. Where we do not think so, then the BLM will sell this land and get out of administering it," he declared.

Landstrom, 52, is a graduate of the University of Oregon. He obtained his law degree from George Washington university and entered the civil service in 1923 in the department of agriculture.

He joined the bureau of land management, which is an agency under the department of the interior and insular affairs, house of representatives.

Until his appointment as head of the BLM, he served in the land and mine division of the agency. He also has served as an agricultural economist. He is married and has two daughters.

He said he visited in Twin Falls some years ago, and said, "The city now shows every sign of being prosperous."

New Records

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—The agriculture department says stocks of corn, wheat and sorghum grain on July 1 all set new records for the date. Wheat stocks passed the previous record by a closer margin.

U.S. Reports Missile Test Is Successful

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., July 28 (AP)—A Minuteman missile, the weapon geared for the apocalyptic demands of "push-button war," streaked about 5,000 miles to the south Atlantic ocean yesterday, tracking up its second and successful in three test firings.

The good flight signaled a go-ahead to a more advanced phase of the test program—the launching of the missile from a 90-foot-deep underground silo similar to the pits in which operational Minutemen will be planted.

Officials reported the silo shots will begin within a few weeks. Two of the subterranean facilities are located at Cape Canaveral.

The missile yesterday was launched from a regular surface pad. It stabbed swiftly into a clear sky, spewing a tail of puffy white smoke from its solid-fuel engine. All three stages ignited successively and sent the nose cone winging to a broad target area near the island of Ascension.

The guidance system, which malfunctioned and caused the last Minuteman to be destroyed in May, performed well yesterday. The first Minuteman successfully flew a 4,600-mile course last February.

The latest rocket was heavily instrumented to radio performance on all systems. This data will help determine where weight can be saved on later shots, thus increasing the range. When operational, the missile will have a maximum reach of 6,300 miles.

The air force and Boeing company, Minuteman systems manager, intend to have the first combat-ready weapons in mid-1962 on the Montana prairie in all-1962.

ESTATE CREATION...

What Does It Mean?
Estate creation implies an evaluation of your assets and measures you can take to protect them.

How Can Life Insurance Help?
By not realizing the full value of your estate, it is possible that you may not be able to pass it along intact to your heirs. Inadequate life insurance coverage has often resulted in forced property liquidations to raise cash for taxes, other final expenses. Your estate should be periodically evaluated and life insurance coverage adjusted to meet changing conditions. Call or write me for full information about how life insurance can be used in estate creation. No obligation, of course.
