GM Rejects UAW Offer To Bargain

DETROIT, Sept. 5 (UPI)—The United Auto Workers union today proposed that its contract differences with General Motors be submitted to "final and binding arbitration" but the company promptly rejected the offer. The union, with its strike set for 10 a.m. tomorrow, has urged its offer by insisting that the arbitrators work out a settlement based on the pact it has already worked out with American Motors and the benefits GM workers would receive for its sale.

The UAW provides for profit sharing. The union has urged GM to accept the proposal for final and binding arbitration. The UAW would offer to "bargain in good faith" on the contract until Oct. 2. Each arbitration proposal has been made regularly by the union in the past. Each time it has been rejected by the auto industry.

UAW President Walter Reuther said the offer was "a last-ditch effort" and that there would be no extension of the strike deal.

U.S. Citizen Is Sent to Red Prison

MOSCOW, Sept. 5 (UPI)—A U.S. citizen identified as Marv, was sentenced to a 10-year term in a Soviet labor camp for espionage activities in the Soviet Union July 27. A Soviet military court in Kiev today sentenced Marv, Chaslov, Mich., to eight years in prison on espionage charges.

The Soviet government paper Pravda reported Marv's conviction and sentencing after a two-day trial. It said Marv had been a member of a "spy network" in the U.S. and had been active in its spying activities.

Marv crossed the frontier in an effort to "penetrate through Hungary, Czechoslovakia and the Ukraine, Marv collected intelligence information, photographs, defense objectives and took down detailed notes describing such objectives," the agency said.

Senate Rejects Motion to Stall Final Vote on Wilderness Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (UPI)—The senate today rejected an effort to postpone until next year a final vote on its bill to create a system of national wilderness areas for future generations. The vote was 41 to 52. The test came on a motion by Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D., La., to send the bill back to its agriculture committee for a review to be completed by next Feb. 6. Sen. Frank Church, D., Idaho, voted against the motion while Sen. Henry Dworthank, R., Idaho, voted for it.

The measure had been approved by the senate interior committee after long study. But Ellender and others argued that the agriculture group should consider it, too, because it has jurisdiction over forests.

Booze-Fueled Youths Bring Out Policemen in Six States

By The Associated Press

Booze-fueled youthful hijinks erupted into violent disturbances in a half dozen states over the Labor day week-end. Police arrested hundreds, aided in some cases by fire hoses and snarling dogs.

Ocean City, Md., Lake George, N. Y., Clearmont, Ind.; Hampton Beach, N. H.; Wildwood, N. J.; Russell's Point, O., and Palmouth and Hyannis, Mass., felt the brunt of the youthful violence.

At Hyannis, a few miles from where President Kennedy was week-ending at his Cape Cod home, 140 young people were arrested for disorders of drunkenness. Another 32 were arrested at Palmouth.

The biggest disturbance was at Ocean City, Md., where 2,000 teenagers joined in a wild beach party—well-advertised in advance.

Youngsters driving into the resort earlier in the week-end had signs on their cars reading: "There had been a riot there last Labor day."

The crowd began gathering at 9 p.m. Sunday and grew noisier and rowdier as the night passed. Early yesterday police moved in

It took two hours to disperse them, and 60 were arrested.

The jails got so overcrowded at Wildwood, N. J., that officials had to borrow facilities in a neighboring town. At least 150 persons—many of them adults—were arrested in the resort area over the week-end, mostly for drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Booze-Fueled Youths Bring Out Policemen in Six States

first with pleas, then with fire trucks and finally with three "K-9" corps' dogs on leashes.

The dogs did the trick. Hundreds of boys and girls scattered, leaving the beach strewn with shoes, floppy beach hats and other paraphernalia. Four didn't move fast enough, and were arrested.

A crowd of 1,500 at Lake George, N. Y., was the most riotous of the lot. A police captain described it as the worst he had seen in 11 years.

Fire hoses were brought into play as the screaming, beer-throwing youths—many of them wearing college sweatshirts—poured, out of taverns yesterday.

Fire Drills Necessary

Evidence continues to accumulate from all quarters that there are some considerable fire hazards in both the Lincoln elementary school and the Twin Falls junior high school. Emphasis has been placed on the hazards at the junior high school, apparently because of its overcrowded condition and the reason for the fire at Lincoln school should not be given at least as much attention.

Because of the younger ages of children attending Lincoln school, it would be only reasonable to assume that school would pose a worse problem. Junior high school students are reaching an age where they can react much more quickly to instruction. In the case of the Lincoln school, it is expected to be more widespread at the school building housing the younger students.

Actually, perhaps any school building should be treated as though fire hazards exist in the structure. So-called "fire-proof" buildings have been destroyed by fire, including schools.

If all schools were regarded as having fire hazards, then school boards and administrators would be quite thoughtful in providing safeguards that could possibly be devised to protect the lives of students. Foremost among such safeguards is the obvious practice of fire drills. Some schools have fire drills at frequent intervals at the first of a school year, calling them without warning at various periods during the day. The drills continue until students can evacuate a building within a specified time limit regardless of where they happen to be in the building when the alarm sounds.

Although elimination of Lincoln and junior high school fire hazards top the list of reasons for the Sept. 19 bond election here, some months are bound to elapse before funds could possibly be available for the bond issue. In the meantime, students must attend school and classes will be conducted in the buildings on the usual schedule.

Perhaps there will be more fire drills than usual at Lincoln and junior high schools this fall as a precaution until funds can be available to eliminate fire hazards. It would be surprising if the frequency of such drills were to be increased in other Twin Falls schools because of the same awareness of fire danger in the two structures.

But no one could contend such precautionary measures are a waste of time. On the contrary, fire drills guard against a possible waste of life.

CHANGE USUALLY SLOW

Ada county's probate judge, W. E. Smith, used a rather apt term when he labeled Idaho's judicial system as a "horse and buggy form of justice." The description would fit many other phases of government in this state.

Change in the judicial system is remarkable when they deviated the framework of government. It should never be considered anything more than a framework. Circumstances and conditions have a way of changing and it's not always possible to adapt "horse and buggy" mechanisms to "space age" requirements.

However, it's only natural for people to oppose change in general and any specific change on the grounds they just don't approve. Some people are likely to take the attitude that what was good for their grandfathers is what was good now. But even when people generally favor change, it's not always so.

Changes indicated in the judicial systems of Idaho and even the nation have been deemed necessary in some quarters for a good many years, but still the necessary legal work has not been completed. In a way, this slowness of change may be beneficial in that the mere passage of time permits the benefit of thorough study. On the other hand, delays in effecting obvious and necessary changes may be costly.

One other aspect of change in worth noting. Seldom is it possible to get all people to agree that a change is indicated or even needed. Then the majority must be won by one side or the other.

Even then, the change may be delayed. For instance, many people have considered outmoded and obsolete the electoral college of this nation's presidential elections. Yet it still exists.

AS THE OKINAWAN FLIES

One of the requirements for a private pilot's license is to navigate a preplanned course from one airport to another 100 miles away.

This made things somewhat difficult for prospective pilots among U. S. personnel on Okinawa. The island is only 62 miles long and its two airports are only 40 miles apart.

Contrary to what one might predict, the military proved equal to the problem. Instead of requiring two and a half trips between the airports, the federal aviation authority recently granted an exemption to military pilots.

They can make the 40 miles, they're considered qualified and not likely to get lost.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—Two straws in the wind may indicate the direction of Republican currents today.

In New York, the Republican candidate in the coming city election, James E. Thompson, has announced a platform that includes the declaration that "painful work should be found for every able-bodied man."

In Albany, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller ordered a top-to-bottom study of the state's public welfare program.

NEW YORK—These events constitute a new straw in the wind. They do not indicate the possibility that New York may go in for more, not less, welfare. But they suggest that the party plans a new approach to welfare.

The statement by the city candidate, headed by Louis J. LaFollette, running for mayor, is most unusual. While it is as vague as most electioneering statements, it suggests sympathy for the embattled city fathers of Newburgh, N.Y., who have been trying to require all able-bodied relief recipients to work for the city.

The Rockefeller administration creates the suspicion that this is becoming national Republican policy. When city and state organizations plan such politically hot statements, they usually attack with the national Republican organization.

REPERCUSSIONS

While there is no indication that such a check was made in fact, I think it was not made—the statement will have far-reaching consequences. Under the Rockefeller plan, the city would create the suspicion that this is becoming national Republican policy. When city and state organizations plan such politically hot statements, they usually attack with the national Republican organization.

LESS CLEAR CUT

The investigation of the state's public welfare program, ordered by the Rockefeller governor, is a claim of a different character.

The Rockefeller action can end up either way. It can develop evidence that there are serious problems in the welfare program and men and women frequently avoid jobs because they like less remunerative leisure better, that some welfare clients are fairly well off, and so on.

On the other hand, it can produce evidence that the poor, the colored, the Puerto Ricans, are being neglected.

In any event, it will give Rockefeller one more springboard in his eventual race for the Republican nomination in the presidential election, assuming that the New York City Republicans don't queer things by making too much policy.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

LARSEN AND ELIASSON

The following is one senator's comment on the view that only vastly increased government spending can reduce the unemployment rate and take up the alleged "slack" in the economy.

... the federal government ran heavy deficits for 10 consecutive years from 1931 through 1940. These deficits were not the cause of the unemployment problem. But unemployment was not reduced below 14 per cent—twice the present level.

"Comparable federal deficits today with our $20 billion dollar economy would be a mammoth $20 billion dollar deficit. It is a policy that is simply not going to be sold to the congress or the people of the United States."

These things are not going to be sold to the congress or the people of the United States. It is a policy that is simply not going to be sold to the congress or the people of the United States.

A couple of Twin Falls girls decided the best way to spend their money was to buy a concentrated food, load up packs and go to walking up in the high peaks of the Sawtooth mountains.

Sure enough, they did, and came back to tell what a wonderful time they had. How wonderful it was to make a mountain where you knew one of the outdoorsmen bumped into them at a Stanley bank cafe shortly after they'd returned to civilization.

He reports they must have had a wonderful time because they were so happy to be enjoying the hamburgers they bought after eight days of nothing but fish and concentrated foods.

POT SHOTS

CHINESE BACK SCRATCHERS

Pot Shots:

I'm surprised that a simple little implement like that one could throw old Pete Creed for a loop. Something like that should be a daily explanation for that.

But man, as he doesn't know or won't talk, just about anyone could associate the implement with the early history of Twin Falls and vicinity. It's rather common knowledge that there were quite a few Chinese men around here before they started. So isn't the implement a Chinese back scratcher?

Not an ordinary Chinese back scratcher, mind you, but a one-horsepower Chinese back scratcher.

With that much of a scratcher, maybe Pete can tell us how it worked.

was detected since the Soviet Union unilaterally abandoned the tests on atomic armaments.

The magazine said that until last week the atmosphere was virtually free of fallout—almost all of which from previous tests had decayed or been deposited on the Earth, where it does the most harm.

"In an inauspicious cycle," Newsweek said, "plants absorb bomb poisons such as cancer-causing strontium 90, cows feed on the plants, and children drink milk from the cows."

The magazine pointed out that in 15 years of testing by the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France, an estimated 170 megatons have been detonated.

"Just two superbomb shots would surpass this yield," the magazine said.

55 Beauties Launch Miss U. S. Contest

ALVIN NELSON

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 5—Fifty-five bright beauties put on their bathing suits today and didn't go near the water.

The contestants in the 37th Miss America pageant made their first group appearance as bathing beauties on a hotel sundeck for the benefit of photographers—and then got down to work, rehearsing their talent specialties for presentation later in the week in Convention hall.

The pageant, which will reach its climax with the selection of Miss America, 1962, on Saturday night, opens officially tonight with a boardwalk parade of the contestants in evening gowns on floats.

All states of the union and the commonwealth of Puerto Rico are represented for the first time in the history of the pageant, which was first held in 1921 and HEYBURN, Sept. 5—Mr. and Mrs. Leland Thaxton and daughter were in Mendocino-Labor-day to attend the golden wedding anniversary of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rich.

Winston Bruce, Calgary, Canada, is top saddle bronc rider so far this year, with a total of $14,803. This figure does not include his latest win at Filer, Idaho, where he rode a horse named Walla, Wash., during the past week-end. An old favorite of the Filer rodeo, Snook Walker, Cody, Wyo., rode the second in this event with $13,838.

Eddy Ahrigge, Midland, Texas, is first place in barbed wire with a total earnings to date of $10,967. Dal Hataway, Snyder, Tex., is first in bull riding with a $2,024.40. Leading in calf roping, and James Bynum, Fort Worth, Tex., is first in steer wrestling with $11,949.

Rodeo cowboys are ranked according to the winners they have accumulated during the season. The vast majority of the top cowboys are from Texas. That is why the top ones like to hit the rodeos where the purse and entry fee money is high. An average cowboy must complete in at least two events.

Oral Zunwalt, who has just closed out a rodeo at Filer, Idaho, has broncs to present a formidable front for contesting cowboys. Among his animals are seven broncs picked last year for use at the national finals rodeo.

One of them, Trail's End, won top honors at the final rodeo event in 1959 and placed third last year. Zunwalt also had two bulls used in the "world's 111" of rodeo last year.

Statistically, there are 39 constant entries at Filer last year with $4,692 prize money payoff. Nelson's pink-tinted 140-pounder, who won the bronc riding here last year, was 1957's world champion in the event and runner-up in the same event at the annual crown. He spent 1956 and 1959 in the military service. One of the most consistent winners of the game, he signed a three-year contract for the year's world championship award.

Solder Speck Causes U. S. Space Delay

CAPITOL HILL, Sept. 5—America's man-in-space program is being delayed by a speck of solder on a small transistor connection.

The cause of the delay was discovered after the transistor was inspected or postponed because of technical troubles with the rocket, bad weather, malfunctioning in ground, supply of trading equipment, and occasionally because a fishing boat was in the way.

The national aeronautics and space administration, scheduled an attempt on Aug. 22 to hurl an unmanned Project Mercury capsule into orbit for the first time.

Several hours before launch time, a routine check of an automatic pilot system revealed a solder speck was attached to something wrong.

The trouble was traced to a tiny bit of solder on a transistor. It was touching an other wire in the package, causing a short circuit.

General Dynamics-Astronautics, which makes the Atlas, found other transistors with extra solder at its San Diego, Calif., plant. All were made by one of the subcontractors that supply General Dynamics with this transistor.

Apparently the new transistor was not plagued by it.

Twenty of these transistors are placed in various systems on each Atlas. Technicians had to check all of them.

The forced postponement of the Mercury capsule launching. The space agency hopes to try again in early this month—but previous time, was lost in the effort to orbit an American astronaut by the end of the year.

Food for Americans

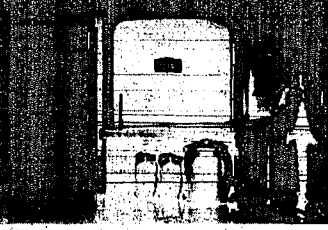

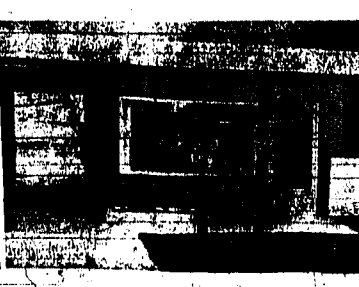

By GAYNOR MADDOX BIG BREAKFAST The busy Kibbourne family of Billings, Mont., believe that a good breakfast is vital to health, stability and happiness. There are eight of them. Breakfast is in shifts—one or two children generally eat with their father; two or three may eat together and the mother eats with the youngest one. The Kibbourns are accustomed to large breakfasts—fruit or fruit juices start the meal, and cereal, hot or ready-to-eat, comes next. Ready-to-eat breakfast cereals, about 20 different varieties, are stored in the corner cupboard, along with bowls. Each child helps himself to his choice. All meals are served in the dining room because Mrs. Kibbourne feels this is an important part of the children's training. In her western style, London broil, or lamb kidneys.
