Assembly for Yule Held by T.F. Students

Some 60 Twin Falls high school students participated Tuesday morning in the school's annual Christmas assembly.

The program was based on an original play written by Mrs. A. Alworth and included group and solo talent numbers.

A speech by Robert Garrison opened the play, after which the family of four was shown Christmas shopping. Members of the play were portrayed by Thos. Prather, father; Lindasne Snyder, mother, and Leo Doss and Sam McGate, children.

A wooden soldier routine was presented by six members of the junior drill team, Kathy Parker, Andrea Moss, Sally Popow, and de Haie, Mary Irie and Linda McRoberts. Tom Riperton and Robert Schmitt were clown.

Solo numbers included Susan Kincaid, belgits; Julie Anderson, singing "Topsy Turvy"; and dance groups included the Officers, composed of Linda Fond, Phillip, Sally Belter, Lela Lake, Susan Oliver, Ann Williams, Sue Wylie and Jeanie Wilcox, who sang "Winter Wonderland" and "Annie Get Your Gun".

Nina Jenkins, Sherri Christensen, Jenne Matsuko, Chris Ramson, Thos. Prather, Blakeson and Candy Zabel.

"The Christmas Song" was sung by the Sophomores. "The Mistletoe" was sung by Janet Walker, Lou Brower, Carol Oquill, Swain Brown and Mrs. Earl Riddie.

Dolls were Mrs. Cinda Cordell and Mrs. Margaret and Mrs. Helen Alworth. "Lights were under the direction of Katherine Breckenridge, Rose Ruescher, Betsy Grandson and Ann Fries. The chimes were played by Beverly Brown and the bagpipe music was painted by Jeanette Berloch.

Gary Sullivan was Santa Claus. Opening prayer was given by Donald Hansen, pastor of the First Methodist church. Mrs. Rose North, Girls' League secretary; Mrs. Helen Payne, Junior High member; and Mrs. Dorothy Prasey, sophomore unit sponsor were sponsors of the Junior unit of Girls' League was in charge of the program, which was opened and closed by Camille Bastian, Girls' League president.

Business Is Terrific

Business is good in Twin Falls, all of which isn't exactly news to anyone who has been in town these many days...

Businessmen confirmed the obvious Thursday by reporting Christmas buying volumes at a plateau of 100 per cent...

No one should ever object to pointing out that business is good because of the spreading from store to store...

By the same token, anyone who complains that business certainly isn't going to improve it any...

Anybody who likes a gloomy Gus? Americans have cause to be concerned over the intrusion of bureaucrats...

Keep in mind that all this was accomplished without the FTC ever filing a formal charge against St. Regis...

Overlapping rules are not confined to business agencies. Even individuals run afoul of them...

Man Accused Of Revealing U. S. Secrets

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—

The air force has charged a decorated officer with giving U. S. military information to foreign agents during a visit to Germany last year.

Gen. James Earl Joseph P. Kaufman, 43, has been returned to Germany for military information.

The foreign power involved was not identified, but it was believed to be a communist country.

The air force said yesterday the investigation of the levee breach will be completed by the levee board.

The four alleged violations reported by the levee board in response to inquiries were:

- 1. Conspiring with foreign agents to get them to reveal defense information to a foreign country on or about October, 1950.
2. 'Wrongly' communicating information relative to the national defense which would be to the advantage of a foreign nation.
3. Failure to notify his commander of attempts to communicate with foreign agents to get him to reveal security information.
4. Falsely stating he was a questioner by denying that he had been employed by a foreign agent or an agency of a foreign government.

200 Persons Try to Plug Levee Leaks

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 22 (AP)—

About 200 convicts worked frantically today to plug up the fast-leaking section of the levee which prevents the surging Pearl River from flooding this industrial suburb of Flowood.

An official said the section on the right side of the levee was jacking heavily at 11 p.m. (EST) last night. He said water poured through the leak when the levee was threatened to destroy the levee which encircles Flowood.

If the levee breaks the entire town would be inundated. Equipment was used to remove the water from the area near the levee and that none of the water has reached the town.

Many thousands of sandbags were used to patch the leak, caused by heavy pressure building up against the levee.

About 400 children and adults in the area already who had been evacuated to other areas.

The river crested at 31 feet here yesterday and will continue at that time they believed the community was out of immediate danger.

State Civil Defense Director Robert Crook said last night one of the crucial spots in the levee was on the south side.

National Guardsmen and convicts worked side by side through the night patching breaks.

Filer Church Has Program

FILER, Dec. 22 — The Filer Mission Lutheran church presented the annual Christmas program Wednesday evening.

The Christmas message was presented by Mrs. Carl Peterson.

Recitations, songs, and a pageant were presented by members of the church school.

The part of Mary was taken by Janet Lierman with Darvin Yoder playing Joseph.

Other children who were with the church were Mrs. Harvay Maxson, Mrs. Marlin Lierman, Mrs. W. H. Dierker, Mrs. Leann Gerke and Mrs. Reuben Lierman.

Janice Harding was featured singer with the choir which presented several numbers under the direction of Mrs. Henry West.

The Christmas program was presented by Mrs. Reuben Lierman. Gifts and packs of candy were distributed to all the children attending and the audience also received treats.

Elks Work to Fill 79 Yule Baskets for Needy in T. F.

Some 25 members of the Twin Falls Elks lodge met Thursday evening in the Elks hall to pack 79 Christmas baskets to be distributed Saturday to needy persons in the Twin Falls area.

Donner B. F. Schuch, secretary, announced that the Elks lodge members had packed this year more than 250 Yule baskets.

The baskets of food if purchased by a family, would cost about $10, he explained. Each Yule basket contains a turkey, 10 pounds of potatoes, butter, dry beans, five pounds of flour, two loaves of bread, a fruit cake, five pounds of sugar, canned apple sauce, canned peas, and a ham.

Berthel said a much of the produce was donated to the lodge, and the ham was donated by the annual Charity Fall Dinner. Seven individuals also donated money or items for the baskets.

Sturter Produce Company donated about 400 oranges. Sugar was donated by the Amalgamated Sugar company. Potatoes were donated by the Chester Brown Beans company. Flax, the dry beans were sold to the lodge at a discount price by 'Zully' turkey farm and busick baskets were loaned by Vernon Strong.

About 350 pounds of potatoes were used in the baskets. The Elks lodge was given the names of needy families by individuals, churches and other groups. The club turned the names over to the Twin Falls YVCA-YMCA, who checked up on the families with the assistance of the city police department and the county welfare department.

After the names had been checked out, the list was given back to the Elks club and the baskets were made up.

About 25 members are expected to participate in delivery of the baskets Saturday morning. The baskets will be distributed in Eden, Iraxton, Marston, Kimberly, Hansen, Twin Falls, Filer and Bull. Free coffee and doughnuts will be served to those who help with the distribution of the baskets. Elks lodge members will meet at the club at about 7 a. m. Saturday to pick up the baskets and deliver them.

John Linton, chairman of the Christmas basket project.

Country Home of Reuben Lierman Wins in Contest

FILER, Dec. 22 — The Reuben Lierman country home, southwest of Filer, was chosen first place winner in the Filer Christmas decorating and lighting contest, announced Herb Smith, chairman of the contest.

The Lierman presented a nativity scene with nearly life-size figures. The scene is lighted by overhead lanterns, which bear the words "Peace on Earth."

The Chester Brunst home on Adel street received second prize. The Brunsts also featured a nativity scene painted on poster board. The Ted Olinshner home northeast of Filer received third place for a scene depicting the Holy family and the wise men.

The Don Albin and Paul Patterson homes Filer received fourth and fifth prize. Honorable mention was awarded Ray Campbell and Cecil Mccaw. The contest is sponsored by the businessmen.

Sales Lagging on Minidoka Plates

RUPERT, Dec. 22 — Sale of 1952 license plates goes on at a slow pace, according to Claude Bowman, Minidoka county assessor.

Up until Wednesday afternoon, only 1,524 car licenses and 700 truck licenses had been sold out of more than 2,000 vehicles in the county. Last year's sales ran more than 3,500 on trucks and 8,000 on cars. Deadline for the purchase of the new plates is Jan. 18, according to Bowman.

For the convenience of those persons who work, the assessor's office is being kept open during the noon hour Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

GOVERNMENT CHIEFS NICOSIA, Cyprus, Dec. 22 (AP)—

A serious government crisis erupted here yesterday with Greek and Turkish leaders of this island republic hurling accusations at each other.

The crisis has deadlocked Cyprus laws and stopped the flow of revenue into the central government's treasury.

Benson Cites Court Errors

BOISE, Dec. 22 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Frank L. Benson contends that the Idaho supreme court acted on 10 counts in upholding payment to Atty. Glenn Coughlin for services in the state insurance fund.

Benson petitioned the court yesterday for a rehearing on the high court's decision to allow payment to Coughlin and a firm named Joseph L. Miller. Benson asked in a brief supporting his contention that the court reverse its decision and direct the Ada county district court to enter judgment against Coughlin and Miller requiring them to pay back salaries paid subsequent to July of 1947.

Benson asked the court to reconsider the ruling that an attorney outside his office can be employed by a state agency representing the state in legal proceedings.

Report Given

BOISE, Dec. 22 — Report on the state convention held in Pocatello was given by Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin B. Miller at the Shoshone Community Farm Bureau meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Mills this week.

Mills was named nominating committee chairman by M. E. Kendrick who conducted the meeting. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Mills.

Count Names 17 Firms for Price Fixing

OHIOAGO, Dec. 22 (AP)—The metropolitan auxiliary district of the greater Chicago today said 17 electrical firms for $3,500,000 on charges of price fixing.

The federal district court suit named:

The General Electric company of New York; Westinghouse Electric corporation of Pennsylvania; Federal Pacific Electric company of Delaware; Allis Chalmers manufacturing company of Delaware; Jolyn Manufacturing company of Illinois; H. K. Porter company of Delaware; Schwager-Wood corporation of Oregon; Southern States Equipment corporation of Georgia; Molney Electric company of Delaware; Wagner Electric corporation of Delaware; McGraw Edison company of Delaware; Allen-Bradley company of Milwaukee; Chicago Controller company of Ohio; Cutler Hammer, Inc., of Delaware; Square D company of Michigan; and the American Corporation of Delaware, and TFE Circuit Breaker company of Pennsylvania.

The suit charged price fixing and illegal restraint of trade in structure materials and other electrical equipment to the sanitary district.

The officers of the 17 firms were also named in the suit. Most of the firms have already been involved in earlier charges of widespread price fixing.

Pupils Have Yearly Event At Shoshone

SHOSHONE, Dec. 22—Students from the high school, junior high, fifth and sixth grade choruses, the high school band, and smaller groups in dances and pantomime and musical numbers were featured in the annual school Christmas program presented Tuesday night at the high school gymnasium.

Directing the performance were Mrs. Velma Allen, chorus teacher, and Howard Knowles, band instructor.

The program had a Christmas theme, including a winter wonderland scene, Christmas carols and the nativity scene.

Carol Mallica was narrator. Accompanists included Karen Elizabeth Larsen, Joyce Hiltmaker and Mrs. Allen.

Lloyd Knowles, accompanied by Katherine Elorrieta, played a trumpet solo.

Robin Everett and Joyce Johnson were featured in a dance to illustrate the winter wonderland number by the high school girls chorus.

They were played by Mae Free, Mary Hale, Judy Chapman and Joan Chapman. The high school chorus sang "Joy on Christmas Carol" and "The Holly and the Ivy."

Edna Mae and Betty Good, Jan Betsman and Tammy Kinney sang "My Christmas Greeting" and the third grade group sang "Santa Claus Will Soon Be Here."

The nativity scene, the medieval group was again featured singing "The Carol of the Drum," while the fifth and sixth grade choruses and high school and junior high choruses sang several Christmas carols and other Christmas numbers.

The finale featured the manger scene with heavenly host of angels and the full chorus groups.

The school assisted with the performance. Staging included a fireplace scene, outdoor winter scene, the manger scene and shepherd and angel scene.

Mail Load Hits Record for U.S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—U.S. postmen delivered a record-breaking load of more than five billion Christmas cards, letters and packages during the last few weeks.

But the postoffice department reported today that everything was under control.

Total incoming and outgoing mail funneled through the nation's postoffices between Dec. 1 and 25 was estimated at about $5 billion.

The department said this was the largest, most successful Christmas delivery operation in its history—with mail handling 8.7 per cent greater than during the same period last year.

FIRST LADDER FIRE TRUCK for Twin Falls arrived Wednesday evening from Columbus, Ga., and was tested Thursday at the Sears, Roebuck and company parking lot. Posing with the truck and hand-bull the truck; Capt. Leonard Ross, a member of the Twin Falls fire department; Karl Goble, Boise, chief engineer of the Idaho Fireworking and Building Bureau, Inc., and "Lent," Jack Wheeler, Ross and Windsor brought the truck from Columbus to Twin Falls. They drove the truck, which has no top but heater, through rain, snow, heavy fog and other adverse weather. Prior to the five-day trip they toured the Bearfire company plant, where the 85-foot ladder truck was constructed. (Staff photo-entraping)

Work Denied, but Judy to Get Pony as Christmas Gift

GRANFORD, N. J., Dec. 22 (AP)—Remember Judy Lindsay's wish? She's the bright-eyed sixth-grader who wanted a pony so badly that she wrote to the New Jersey department of employment security seeking a job that would earn money to buy it.

Judy was discouraged, but she gave up hope.

Now she has found out that during the Christmas season, all kinds of wishes come true.

She'll get her wish—probably a 3-year-old, coal-black pony with a white crescent on his face—plus reduced stable space charges, a year's supply of feed free and assistance from the local 4-H club.

Judy, however, had not pinned her hopes on generosity. After being turned down by the state last month, she started job hunting on her own.

She was hired by the neighbors as a puppy-sitter for a basket hound named Mandy. But the job was 25 cents a day. She worked only when the owners were away, and the stack of quarters grew slowly.

Judy didn't know that the Ronald C. Weyer of the state department of agriculture had read of her problem. Weyer started making telephone calls.

First, Ernest C. Bell, president of the New Jersey Pony Breeders' Association, offered Judy the black pony.

Then Sky Trip farm in Mountain View agreed to stable the pony for half the usual $20-a-month fee. And the Plainfield distributor of a feed supply company said the firm would see that the horse was well fed for the first year.

"Isn't it all wonderful," she said.

Shooting Is Not Okay, Man Says

CHICAGO, Dec. 22 (AP)—Shooting at union organizers is all unfair labor practice, says A. Bruce Hunt, national labor relations board trial examiner.

Hunt ordered Spectator Sports Wear company, and its owner Earl Spectator—79-to-1004—stop in the shop saying: "We will not use firearms or other violent means in order to combat our employees' organization efforts."

Spectator was arrested last Aug. 25 and charged with firing four shots at a car carrying two union organizers. Neither was hurt. Spectator claimed the men entered him with pipe wrenches.

EARN'S PROMOTION
JEROME, Dec. 22—John W. Burdette, 48, soon to be promoted to chief pilot, is the first pilot in the 101st Airborne Division.

Mrs. John Rubeliman, 215 Fourth avenue east, Jerome, has been promoted to specialist fourth class at Ft. Campbell, Ky., where he is a helicopter mechanic in the 101st Airborne Division.

2 Bicycle Theft Rings Smashed

BOISE, Dec. 22 (AP)—Two bicycle theft rings composed of teen-age boys from Boise's two junior high schools have been broken up by Boise police.

Police said the boys have been freed pending appearances in probate court on petitions alleging petty larceny. Two boys, ages 13 and 14, made up one of the theft rings and four boys, all aged 14, composed the other ring.

Officers said the two rings did not work together.

The boys, according to police, stole the bikes, altered them and then sold them to other children for prices up to $25.

Lions Meet

BOISE, Dec. 22—Richfield Lions club members held a dinner meeting Tuesday evening preceding the Christmas, Halley basketball game. R. B. Boyd, Sheridan, Wyo.; Darrell Felley, College of Idaho, and Melvin Pelley were club guests.

The club approved purchase of oranges for the Community treats at the school program.

Rupert Area Churches Set Yule Service

RUPERT, Dec. 22—Churches throughout the county announced special Christmas services this week, some planned for Sunday, some for Friday and Saturday, and some for Christmas day.

A special high mass will be celebrated at midnight Christmas eve at St. Nicholas Catholic church. The Rev. Michael McNeil, who will also deliver the sermon.

Dr. Harry E. Coulter, executive secretary of the Idaho, Montana and Utah American Baptist convention, will be special speaker at the 11 a.m. Sunday worship service of the First Baptist church. A dedication service will be held at 2:30 p.m. Members are invited to attend a potluck dinner after the service. Memorial to the church and improvements recently completed will be dedicated with the Rev. Coulter giving the dedicatory address. A special Christmas program by the Sunday school also will be held Friday night.

Special numbers by a junior choir will be a feature of the Sunday service at the Christian church with the minister, the Rev. C. M. Moore, delivering the sermon. "Who are bringing gifts."

A special Christmas communion will be held at the First Methodist church beginning at 5:30 p.m. and continuing through 9 p.m. It will include a family service and persons may come at any time during those hours, according to the Rev. Raymond Thompson. The regular Sunday morning services will be held.

Holy communion will be observed at 7:30 a.m. Sunday at the Trinity Memorial Episcopal church with the Rev. M. J. O'Brien's advent program at 10 a.m. and the first eucharist of Christmas at 1:30 p.m. This service will be choral, according to the Rev. Kalo King.

The second eucharist of Christmas will be held at 7:30 a.m. Christmas followed by the third eucharist of Christmas at 10 a.m. and the fourth eucharist of Christmas at 7 p.m.

Services also are planned for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday as a part of the Christmas observance.

The program with recitations and Christmas carols depicting the birth of Christ will be held at 10:45 a.m. at the First Baptist church on the program.

The wards of the LDS church will hold special worship services Sunday morning, including short talks, scripture readings and musical numbers. The Christmas theme will be carried out in the regular sacrament meetings Sunday morning.

Elder Julius Moutland will be the speaker at the special service at 10 a.m. Sunday. Members of the Sunday school will take part on the program.

Leaders Agree Atmospheric Atom Tests Now Necessary

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Dec. 22 (AP)—President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan in their first five-hour talk here may have reluctantly come to the conclusion that the United States must soon resume nuclear testing in the atmosphere.

Macmillan's spokesman told newsmen that the President and the prime minister heard a presentation by their experts on the subject of the recent Soviet tests.

He was asked whether the discussion included the possibility of resumption of tests in the atmosphere. He declined to go to the substance of the discussion. "And White House press secretary Pierre Salinger quickly added that the discussion centered on the report from nuclear experts of both governments on the recent Soviet tests."

Salinger was asked if the President requested these reports and what policy the United States would pursue. Salinger replied the President's statements on the whole question were clear and still stand.

The tenor of the President's statements in recent weeks on testing has been that it might be necessary to resume above-ground tests in the interest of national security.

A decision to resume testing would be a difficult message for Macmillan to bring home to fellow-fearful Britain and Europe. It may be one of those hard decisions which is broken to the world public gradually.

On Berlin, too, there are apparent differences. Macmillan's spokesman said there was complete agreement there also, but Salinger qualified this by saying the agreement was on "the subjects discussed which are steps which can be taken in this particular field."

The two leaders, through their foreign ministers, already had agreed that the next step would be probing talks by their ambassadors in Moscow to determine what heads might be found in formal negotiation with the Soviets in Berlin.

But there was no indication that they had agreed on possible steps after that.

Pleads Guilty

CASE 600 SPECIAL MULTI-CROP SELF-PROPELLED

COMBINE

THE NEW "ALL CROP" HARVESTER INCLUDING BEANS CONTRACT

Engineered and tested by J. I. Case engineers, right here in Magic Valley for 2 full years... Building into this machine many new and exclusive features to enable local farmers to have the BEST ALL-AROUND MACHINE ever built for Magic Valley Crops.

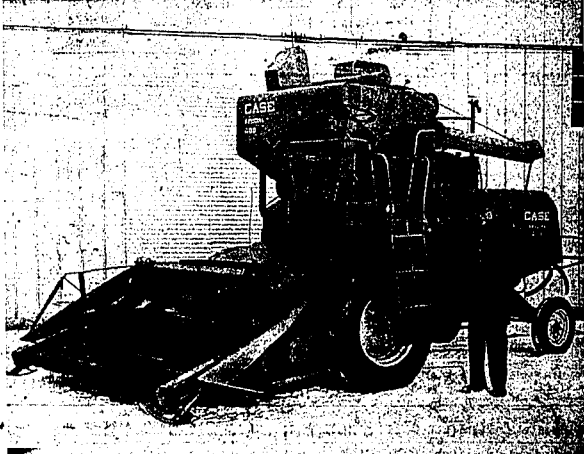

Yes, this new CASE 600 COMBINE will harvest all kinds of crops including garden beans. This machine has been actually tested right here in Magic Valley on - Clover... Alfalfa... Wheat... Oats... Barley... Peas... Beans and Garden Beans.

V. R. SHARP, Twin Falls, has this to say about the New Case 600 Combine: "I have never owned a combine that I liked as well as the new Case 600 Combine, that I have purchased from the Williams Tractor Co. The job of threshing done with this machine was very good. I threshed 4,000 bags of beans under adverse conditions in one hundred and eighteen hours.

"All controls and adjustments are right at my finger tips, which I like very much. I am real happy with the ease of handling of my Case 600 Combine, and it is economical to operate."

Signed,
V. R. Sharp
Twin Falls, Idaho

HARLEY WILLIAMS, local J. I. CASE Dealer, has worked hard and consistently for over two years with the special Case engineers sent to Magic Valley to build this combine into what Harley believes to be the greatest all-around Combine ever offered the farmers of Magic Valley. This Machine can truly be called "WILLIAMS SPECIAL."

It leads the field on all crops, read what some of your own neighbors have to say about this wonderful new Case no. 600 Special Combine. These men have used this machine and know what it will do on all Magic Valley crops.

ALEX MELTON says: "I particularly like, and appreciate the maneuverability and ease of handling of the Case 600 Bean Combine. The adjustments and capacity of this machine is very gratifying. The Case 600 Combine is a machine that will do a good job in garden variety of beans as well as commercial. I am happy to be the owner of a new J. I. Case 600 Combine."

Signed,
Alex Melton
Idaho

More happy comments from BOYD BROWN, who says: "I am very happy with the new Case 600 Bean Special Combine I purchased from Williams Tractor Company. We threshed 200 acres of beans and 200 acres of grain. The quality of work done by this combine is equally good in beans and grain."

"I am really happy with the ease of operation and the capacity of my new Case 600 Combine."

Signed,
Boyd Brown
Twin Falls, Idaho

Read what this Hansen man has to say: "I purchased my Case 600 Combine from Williams Tractor Company. To my estimation the Case 600 Combine is the best Combine ever built for this country. It is tops for wheat and beans. I threshed approximately 450 acres of beans."

Signed,
John W. Walker,
Hansen, Idaho

From the east end of the tract comes this testimony from Clark Kleinkopf, who says: "I threshed 10,000 bushels of grain as well as 3,000 bags of beans, and find my new Case 600 Combine to be very satisfactory and to do excellent work in both grain and beans."

"I have previously owned six other combines and find my new Case 600 Combine to be the most outstanding machine I have ever owned."

Signed,
Clark E. Kleinkopf
Murtaugh, Idaho

Here is another satisfied owner and his statement: "Last Fall I purchased a new Case 600 Combine from Williams Tractor Company. I threshed 200 acres of beans and 60 acres of irrigated grain."

"What adjustments I had to make are easy to get at and easily made. This is a good-sized machine with plenty of capacity. The Case 600 Combine fits my operation and has been very satisfactory."

Signed,
A. E. Hill,
Kimberly, Idaho

These two Hansen farmers say: "We purchased a new Case 600 Bean Combine from Williams Tractor Co. this fall. We threshed 4,000 bags of commercial beans and 1,000 bags of contract. We found the capacity of this machine to be good, and the ease of operation and adjustments to be entirely satisfactory."

Signed,
Wm. J. Stasiny
Ed Stasiny
Murtaugh, Idaho

From the North Side we have this report: "I purchased a 600 Case Combine. I harvested about 100 acres total; 70 acres were contract consisting of 'Harveston' and 'Kinghorn' beans. Determination of Harveston was about 90%, this machine never slugged once in my harvest. Machine handles well and 'turns' at the ends in good shape. I am well satisfied with the 600 Combine."

Signed,
Ralph McClain
Eden, Idaho

Still another happy, satisfied owner has this to say: "Dad and I combined over 150 acres of contract beans with our new Case 600 Bean Special Combine that we purchased from Williams Tractor Company this fall."

"The controls on this machine are handy to operate and the capacity of the combine is very good. I feel the Case 600 Bean Special is equal to or better than any other combine in this size range."

Signed,
Leroy Missner
Kimberly, Idaho

Blueprint of Plan to Trim Surplus, Cut Support Prices Is Being Studied

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—Agriculture Secretary Gillette L. Freeman has produced a blueprint for a new long-range farm program designed to trim surplus sharply and to cut farm price support costs about in half in five years.

The proposed farm policy is based on "supply management" plans to control production of surplus crops—especially grain—and to turn millions of acres of cropland into grass, woodlands and recreation areas.

Freeman's plans, most of them designed to take effect beginning in 1953, would keep net farm income at or slightly above current levels.

The plans, outlined in a document labeled "a food and agricultural program for the 1950's," were prepared by Freeman and his advisers. The proposals are under top-level study, and many of them may appear in a special presidential farm message next year, Administration farm officials emphasized, however, that the plans are under continuous review and subject to possible change.

The key ideas which Freeman and his advisers have developed are:

—A "pilot plan" test of a program to retire cropland through environmental rental or purchase under long-term contracts.

—Continuation of donations of food to the needy at home and use of food to build the economies of newly developing nations at current high levels. A food stamp program, currently being tested in eight localities, would be expanded to cover an estimated four million persons by 1957.

—Stepped-up efforts to find non-farm jobs for people who cannot earn a decent living on marginal farms. One major new proposal calls for loans to rural youngsters to pay for job training. The scholarship loans of up to $5,000 would be repayable over 10 years.

All new farm production contracts included in the proposals would be subject to approval by farmers in referendum if they were authorized by congress, but the suggestions were certain to draw stiff opposition from those who oppose extending governmental control over farming operations. The grain programs suggested by Freeman would impose mandatory controls on all grain producers if a two-thirds majority of the affected farmers accepted the programs in a referendum.

Growers who took acreage out of production under these plans would receive direct land rental payments as well as price supports on the grains grown on their remaining acreage.

Price supports for feed grains would be upheld slightly from present levels. For wheat, the support program would be on a two-price basis. Growers would get supports at a relatively high level for about 700 million bushels annually for domestic food and export sales, while other wheat would be supported at a lower price.

Administration planners believe the new controls would reduce the government's wheat surplus by 100 million bushels annually and the feed grain surplus by eight million tons a year.

By 1957, planners predicted government spending on farm support programs could be down to 1.3 billion dollars compared to the estimated 2.5 billion dollars for the current fiscal year. Without new legislation, farm off-

U.S. Farm Labor Force Less by Four Per Cent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—The family worker average of the farm labor force during the survey week of Nov. 19-21 totaled 5,102,000, a decrease of 172,000, or one per cent, over 1950. The increase in hired employment has been in the southern and Pacific regions.

The farm workday on Dec. 1 showed a national average of 11 hours for farm operators and 13 hours for hired hands.

The family worker average of 5,102,000 decreased three per cent over 1950. The hired labor force averaged 1,712,000, an increase of 100,000, or six per cent, over 1950. The increase in hired employment has been in the southern and Pacific regions.

The farm workday on Dec. 1 showed a national average of 11 hours for farm operators and 13 hours for hired hands.

Cumulative comparison, January through November, shows that the estimated total farm employment for the first 11 average periods of the year averaged 7,148,000 persons in 1951, compared with 7,261,000 in 1950, a decrease of two per cent.

Canada Drought Affects Imports

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—The foreign agricultural service (FAS) said U. S. imports of cattle rose sharply in July-September, mostly because of the drought in Canada. Imports in September, 1951, were nearly seven times larger than the same month a year earlier.

Imports for the first nine months of 1951 from all countries totaled 157,538 head, a rise of 21 per cent over a year earlier.

FAS said imports for the year may be larger than in any recent year except 1950 when 1,152,000 head were brought in.

Food Surpluses Report Is Made

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—The bounty of Uncle Sam's surplus food is going to about 60 million needy Americans, or about 47 per cent more than a year ago.

The agriculture department supplied this information in a report which said these persons received 441 million pounds of surplus foods in the three months beginning last July 1. This quantity was 86 per cent larger than the amount donated to needy consumers in the last quarter a year ago.

Donated foods included dry beans, butter, cheese, canned dried eggs, flour, hard cheese, meat, non-fat dry milk, peanut butter, peanut oil, potatoes, canned poultry, rice, shortening and frozen turkeys.

'61 Production of Dry Beans, Peas Is Higher

BOISE, Dec. 22 (AP)—Production of both dry beans and dry peas in Idaho this year is above a year ago, the U. S. department of agriculture said today.

The department said dry bean production totaled 2,362,000 hundred-pound clean basis bags, which was slightly larger than last year and average in spite of a sharp reduction in acreage harvested.

Farmers harvested an estimated 117,000 acres in 1951 which is 27 per cent less than a year earlier and 13 per cent less than the 10-year average. The 1951 yield per acre for all classes averaged a record 1,910 pounds of clean basis and exceeds the previous mark of 1,850 pounds set in 1928.

This year's dry pea crop, the USDA said, yielded 1,029 pounds per acre compared with 960 pounds last year and the average of 1,268 pounds per acre.

Harvested pea acreage at 105,000 compares with 92,000 acres in 1950 and the average of 98,000 acres, the department said.

Higher Spring Pig Crop Is Expected for U.S. in 1952

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—The agriculture department estimates the 1952 spring pig crop at 51.5 million head, two per cent higher than this year.

The estimate is based on the expectation that the spring pig crop will rise 7.3 acres, three per cent more than the 7 million sows farrowed in the spring of 1951.

The department said the overall 1951 pig crop totaled 53.2 million head, an increase of five per cent over last year. The 1951 spring pig crop was 50.5 million head, seven per cent above the previous year's crop of 47.3 million head. The fall pig crop totaled 42.7 million head, four per cent larger than the 41.1 million head in 1950.

The 1951 average of 7.15 pigs per litter was the highest of record.

The increase in the fall pig crop reflected a five per cent production rise in the east, northeastern states and a six per cent jump in the west, north-central states. This more than offset drops of six per cent in the north Atlantic states, one per cent in the southeastern states and three per cent in the western states.

Idaho Hearings For Emergency Feed Plans Set

Emergency livestock feed program hearings will be held in southern Idaho next week, Carl Boyd, chairman of the Twin Falls county agricultural stabilization conservation committee, reports.

Twin Falls county has received notice that the state livestock committees has scheduled hearings Wednesday at the Regency hotel, Idaho Falls, and Thursday at the Bannock county courthouse, Pocatello.

Both meetings will begin at 10 a.m. Purpose of the hearings is to hear testimony from proponents and opponents to the authorization of emergency livestock feed programs.

The hearings are in response to requests from Elaine Clark, Gustav Franklin and parts of Cassia and Twin Falls for emergency livestock feed programs. Boyd points out. Anyone unable to attend can submit written testimony to box 4063, Boise, by Dec. 31.

GARY D. ASKEW, Twin Falls, has been elected to membership in the American Angus Association at Ft. Worth, Tex. He is one of the breeders of purebred Aberdeen Angus in Idaho elected to membership. The W. J. Packham and sons Hill Neighbor dairy has added about 40 cows to the original 60 that they started with a few months ago. They have also started delivering milk in gallon lots to customers in Fairfield. Most of their milk is shipped out by tank truck. Large scale dairy operations are new in Camas parish. Boyd Price of the Twin Falls soil conservation office has been working on a pasture and range improvement plan for the A. E. Harrison farms northwest of Hill City. He has submitted the plans to the Harrison.

James Powell has built an addition to his modern milking barn at his ranch in the Glendale area north of Boise. Over 2000 square feet in the addition will eliminate much handling of grain. Powell is doing the remodeling himself, with a bulk milk tank also installed in the 6 by 22-foot addition.

Gerald Stowell, lessee of the Marvin Larson ranch, also has remodeled the interior of his barn for a new milking parlor and bulk tank. The barn remodeling was patterned after the Starline milkroom and a Chore Boy milker and milk keeper installed. Mrs. Stowell's father, H. E. Hollibaugh, and sons, Dietrich, have been helping with the work.

William Oughton is planning to build a new farrowing house on the Glendale area north of Boise. He recently acquired a good Lanchester bus and is planning on farrowing five sows this year.

William Molyneux, Keltin Juulsen and Henry Jones of the Blaine soil conservation district recently purchased a surplus nine-ton GMC truck in San Francisco for use in the district.

William Know, owner of the Pitlochry ranch (the former Victor Walker ranch), three miles north of King Hill, purchased eight registered Hereford bulls recently at York, Pa., at an average price of $500 each. William Arbough, ranch foreman, accompanied Knox and they brought the animals back by truck.

The band of sheep belonging to John Bapte and his son, Bob, which were trailed down from Mutton on the past two months have reached the ranch near the southwest of King Hill. Preparations are under way for lambing operations which will begin about Jan. 15. The sheep are grazed on the Bapte pasture in the Mutton county during the summer.

Harold Whitby has worked out a complete farmstead plan for his ranch in the Carey valley. He is working with Norman Warren, Blaine county agriculture agent. His first new building in setting up the plan will be to erect a new loafing shed for his milk herd.

Bill Molyneux is putting the finishing touches on his new milking parlor at his ranch in the Silver creek area. He recently installed a bulk milk tank and a holding pen.

F. V. Morrison, Murtaugh, purchased a registered shorthorn bull and a cow from Dan, Twin Falls, bought two registered polled shorthorn bulls at the Nebraska shorthorn sale, Columbus, Neb. They also inspected shorthorn cattle in Iowa and Minnesota.

Gooding Dairymen Tour Farms in Boise Valley

GOODING, Dec. 23.—Ten Gooding county dairymen visited dairy farms in the Boise valley Monday. This dairy tour is held annually to help the dairymen in the county keep up to date on dairy developments. Going on the tour were Larry Koidewey, Bob Koidewey, Hagerman; Joe Dille, Wendell; Harold Hobson, Paul Daniels; Nick Sabaik, Kurt Westendorf and Sam Gardner, all Gooding, and Agents Joe Hill and Edward Koester. The AJ Stewart farm at Kuna was the first farm visited. Of interest at this stop was the use of an automatic calf-feeder. The feeder automatically meters and mixes three pounds of milk replacer at a time. The water for mixing is kept at 102 degrees at all times and when the calf has eaten the three pounds of feed the milk replacer stops and will not fill again for three minutes. One machine will feed 10 to 20 calves. The second stop was at the Bob Davis farm in Kuna where a herd of 45 registered Queensseys were viewed. The herd average 55 pounds of butterfat and has never been less than 500 pounds for the last 11 years. The last stop was at the University of Idaho experiment station, Dave Thacker, superintendent and former Gooding county extension agent, showed the visitors the new milking parlor at the station. Thacker also reported on all the experimental work being carried on with the dairy herd. He stated that an experiment was run last year in which hay was chopped in the field at 35 per cent moisture and then artificially dried. This hay has produced 11 per cent more milk than hay left in the field until it dried to 15 per cent moisture.

Blaine Forming Dairy Herd Unit

HAILLEY, Dec. 22.—David Stock, 1777, Ellen Coates, Clifford Orchard, Orla Durfee, Eugene Dressell and William Molyneux were named to make personal contact with prospective members of a Dairy Herd Improvement Association for Blaine county at a meeting at the vocational agricultural building in Carey. They are working with Norman Warren, Blaine county agricultural agent, will outline an organizational program to present to dairymen at a future meeting. At Monday evening's meeting George Cleveland, University of Idaho extension dairyman, explained what a DHIA program is and how to organize one for the county. Roy O'Keefe, farmers home administration fieldman from Shoshone, James Powles, dairy man from Richfield, Joe Hall, Gooding county agriculture agent, spoke on different phases of such a program.

President Kennedy's First Year in Office to Leave Farmers More Cash

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—President Kennedy's first year in office will leave farmers with "pocketbooks" and "better" bank balances. At the same time, government spending on agricultural programs is moving toward the highest level in history. When the President and Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman took office some 10 months ago, they set a course similar to the one followed in the preceding years—leave farmers with "pocketbooks" and "better" bank balances. Freeman ordered increased in support prices for most major crops. He pushed through Congress an emergency 1961 program—due to expire in 1962—to pay farmers for reducing acreage of corn and other food crops. Congress also approved a plan which would grower will receive the difference between the 1959-60 price and the 1960-61 price in return for government payments and higher support prices. The farm income for 1961 curiously is estimated by agricultural departments as about $12.7 billion dollars, or about 9 per cent better than in 1960. This year's crop of feed grains will be nearly 11 per cent smaller than the record 1960 crop. Production will fall close to five million tons short of meeting the current marketing season's demand. For the first time in a decade, the farm grain surplus will be reduced by about 5 per cent.

But these gains were costly. Agriculture department expenditures for the 1961-62 fiscal year which began last July 1, is currently estimated at a record $7.5 billion dollars compared with $6.6 billion dollars in the preceding year. This breaks the spending record set when former Agriculture Secretary Ezra Tamm handed the treasury for 7.1 billion dollars in the 1958-59 fiscal year. Some of the increased spending this year has gone for programs which many farm leaders expect will be charged against domestic welfare and foreign policy. Many farm leaders worry Americans have been "spooned up. So have shipments of surplus grain to underdeveloped countries. Most of the increased spending, however, resulted from the administration's price support and acreage-reduction programs. The program, which helped increase the price of wheat from $1.40 to $1.60 a bushel, is the most controversial of the programs. It has been criticized by those who believe that farmers are being paid to cut back acreage of food crops. The program is estimated to cost $1 billion in 1961 alone. It will pay about $60 million annually in cost of storing and handling the surplus livestock and poultry feed grain. The program is also being criticized by those who believe that the administration is too generous in its aid to the farmer. U.S. Is Ending Beef Purchases For School Use

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—The agriculture department will end its purchases of frozen beef for the national school lunch program. Since the program began August 22, the department has purchased 32.1 million pounds of frozen ground beef for about $1.1 million dollars. The department still is in the market for several commodities for the school lunch and distribution to needy communities. These include, lean, canned pork and frozen, canned chopped beef and ground beef. It will start buying canned fruits, vegetables, juices and raisins for the school lunch program. The department's purchases of frozen beef for the school lunch program will end July 1, 1962. The department's purchases of frozen beef for the school lunch program will end July 1, 1962.

Success Claimed For Wheat Idea

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—Kennedy administration farm officials today claimed success for their new wheat program on the basis of an official forecast of a 39 per cent reduction in the 1962 winter wheat crop. Wheat growers are required to reduce acreage by 10 per cent to help cut surpluses. They get payments on retired land and day Americans may be eating more beef and veal than they have in history. Engineers to View Rupert Shelter Plan

RUPERT, Dec. 22.—A group of army engineers will be in Minidoka county next week to make a survey of potential fallout shelters, Rupert Lindsay, civil defense director, announced.

This is a part of the survey recently requested by President Kennedy, Lindsay reported. He said that this survey would be part of the program outlined by the President under the $10,000,000 appropriation act passed by the legislature.

All buildings thought to be suitable for shelter will be checked by civil defense authorities for further study by the engineers who will report based on their findings and make recommendations to make suitable shelters from the buildings. Buildings should have more than 20 persons in them to be counted as suitable.

Lindsay said that the survey should be completed within a 90-day period.

A plan recently formulated by the county organization was approved, with reservations, by the county board at Boise, Lindsay reported.

Some changes must be made, and some additions, the director said before final approval will be granted.

Among projects facing the local group is the organization of a fire auxiliary police force, an adequate warning system and a shelter communication center.

Lindsay appealed to anyone having experience in police work or other phases of the work to contact him, and assist in setting up the program.

Papier Mache Nativity Task Completed by Rupert Pupils

RUPERT, Dec. 22.—A project undertaken before Halloween was completed this week by the fifth grade at Lincoln school, directed by Mary Lou Henschel. The project included making five near-life size figures for a nativity scene for the school auditorium.

Miss Henschel, teaching for her first year, was dubious about such a large-scale project, but the children were enthusiastic about it, she said, giving up their recess and noon hour time, and willingly remaining after school to work on the scene.

She recalls the first several weeks of work was done after school at her father's greenhouse at the Rupert Floral. The first day, Gay Howard, Rupert, assisted by cutting out wooden frame work after it had been measured and marked by the pupils.

Miss Henschel pointed out that she had served in a purely advisory capacity, with all the work being done by the children. Her father, William Henschel, helped with the cutting of the wooden frame presented some difficulty, she recalls, with numerous cuts and scratches marking those who assisted. Many of the children who helped had never driven a nail into wood before, and had never seen papier mache made.

Newspapers and flour were donated for the figures, the teacher reports, with just 10 cents being spent by the class. The big-

Federal Building Bid Is Reported

DENVER, Dec. 22 (AP)—Robert E. Moore General Contractor, Inc., submitted the apparent low bid Thursday for construction of a federal office building in Salt Lake City.

The firm bid $6,483,000. Jacob Construction company, Inc., Salt Lake City, bid $13,000,000 and C. H. Leavell and Morrison-Knudsen company, Inc., El Paso, Tex., submitted a joint bid of $6,800,000.

Fourteen bids were received. Otto Meyer regional director of the general services administration, said no announcement of a contract award will be made for two or three weeks.

Adult Course Registrations Slated Jan. 22

RUPERT, Dec. 22.—Registration for nine adult education classes for the Rupert-Burley area is set Jan. 22, according to Doyce Lowder, coordinator.

Interested persons may register that day at either Burley or Minidoka county high schools, he said.

Courses offered under the program will give resident credit through the Idaho State college. Instead of extension credit as similar programs offered in the past have done, Lowder pointed out. Other centers are being set up in Twin Falls and Idaho Falls.

Among courses being offered in this area are teaching reading and the language arts, three hours, education 321; audio visual aids, two or three hours, education 324; materials and methods in teaching science and social studies, two hours, education 332; introduction to education, three hours, education 101; English composition, three hours, English 102; creative-dramatics, three hours, drama 417; human relations in business and industry, three hours, business 819; art 105; major American writers, three hours, literature 202.

The matter of which courses will be offered at Burley and which at Minidoka has not been determined, Lowder said.

"Justified"

JERUSALEM, Israel, Dec. 22 (AP)—Israel newspapers yesterday quoted Premier David Ben-Gurion as saying in Knesset Burns, that the sentencing of Adolf Eichmann to death by hanging was justified.

Observers said his remark indicated there was little chance that Eichmann's sentence would be commuted. The former Nazi S. S. officer's attorney, Dr. Nahot Ben-Zur, is appealing to the Israel supreme court and could ask President Yitshak Ben-Zur for clemency, if the appeal fails.

2.4 Million Workers to Get Wage Increases During '62

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—Wage increases already negotiated—about 2.4 million workers at an estimated annual cost of at least $300 million dollars.

Surveys made public yesterday by the labor department also show that contracts covering some 1.8 million workers will expire and be up for renegotiation during the coming year.

The wage increases due to become effective next year are provided in long-term contract agreements specifying in advance the amount of annual pay boosts. These deferred pay hikes are concentrated in industries making automobiles, farm equipment and related products, electrical goods, mail packing, rubber products, local and long-distance trucking, the machine industry and warehousing and trade.

The labor department said these increases typically run between six and seven percent. But that average is based on 17,000 construction workers. With the average work week now back up to more than 40 hours, the total cost of wage boosts easily exceed $1 billion dollars and could be as high as $2 billion dollars.

In addition, the labor department study showed that at least 2.5 million workers will be subject to possible living cost adjustments provided the consumer price index shows an appreciable increase. Over a million workers will both deferred pay increases and possible living-cost allowances.

The Oilers also played halfback Tony Banfield on the defensive team.

Downes and Pender Plan April Bout

BOSTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—Partial middleweight champion Ernie Downes of London will defend his title against Paul Pender at Boston Garden April 7, promoter Sam Silverman announced Thursday. Downes registered a seventh round knockout over Pender in a year ago but lost the disputed crown to the Englishman in London last July. Downes originally was scheduled to defend against the former Brookline, Mass., fireman here in September but injured a hand in a fight with a boxer named Jimmie. Downes has a non-title 10-round warmup fight in London Jan. 24 against Willie Green, Windsor, Ont., the Dominion champion. Downes' version of the title is recognized in New York and Massachusetts and Europe while Gene Fullmer is listed as the 160-pound king in the 48 states under the jurisdiction of the National Boxing association.

Problem of Athletics at University of Idaho Due For Decision Next Month

BOISE, Dec. 22 (AP)—More money? Less money? Lower scholastic standards for athletes? Easier schedules? More intensive recruiting? All these questions to which the state board of education will seek answers before it reaches a decision next month on the future course of athletics at the University of Idaho. The problem—a perennially perplexing one over the years—was tossed squarely in the

Houston's Lemm Is AFL Coach of Year

HOUSTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—Wally Lemm, voted American Football league coach of the year by an Associated Press committee of sportswriters and sportscasters, said Thursday he feels he was lucky to get the Houston job. "I'm overwhelmed," Lemm said when told the committee from eight league cities made him a near unanimous choice. "It was real lucky for me to get this job with all the other jobs that Houston has."

Lemm, who took over the Houston Oilers Oct. 16 after they were one game in five starts, guided them from the bottom to the top of the Eastern division with nine straight wins. He rebuilt the Houston offense with the double wing he learned under Pop Ivy of the old Chicago Cardinals. This job with Lemm put in a triple wing. Lemm left his sporting goods business in Libertyville, Ill., to coach the Oilers. Wally had retired at the end of the 1959 season under a contract with the Oilers.

WALLY LEMM

"I knew what I was stepping into," Lemm said. "I knew the Oilers were taking the job. I knew the Oilers and I knew what I could do with it."

Oilers meet San Diego Sunday in the AFL title game—something that looked very real two months ago in the days before Lemm.

Gilman of San Diego, runner-up in the AFL title game, was named coach of the year. He had a 10-3 record, also had support. Gilman lost to Houston and Boston.

Dispute Over Pro Cager Is Resolved

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (AP)—The National Basketball Association and the Professional Basketball League have agreed to a settlement of their dispute over the rights of the two leagues to play professional basketball.

The agreement between the two leagues was reached only a few hours after a Cleveland judge handed down a court order barring the NBA from competing with the PBL.

A spokesman for the NBA said the two clubs reached an "amicable" settlement over the rights to play professional basketball.

The settlement, the spokesman announced, ends the long-running dispute between the two leagues.

A federal judge rejected a request by the Knicks last June to force the NBA to play in the PBL.

The Knicks had a damage suit against the NBA, claiming that the NBA had violated the terms of the New York State agreement.

Youngsters in Shrine Hospital Visited by "East-West" Stars

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22 (AP)—"Quiet now," said the nurse. "They're coming in." There wasn't a sound from the children as the husky young men walked into the ward, simple (ly, striding softly. Then a kid named Peter shouted: "Hey, McClinton, who's been keepin' ya?"

Curtis McClinton, a 220-pound halfback from Kansas, broke into a broad grin and shook hands with 7 1/2-year-old Peter. Most of the children at the Shrine hospital for Crippled Children were shy when they Triplett did. Michael hugged Triplett. When Pat Peacock, a 251-pound tackle from Northwestern, wanted to hold Mike, the child looked at Triplett. Triplett nodded and Mike went into Echols' arms, the tenderest tackle big like ever made.

The All-Americans were there, and the wives of the married players were there. "I wanna see Bob Ferguson," said one lad. A minute later, the bruising fullback from Ohio State was there, holding a tiny hand.

An all-conference lineman, cued out a door, look out of handkerchief and blew his nose. He looked up and noticed a reporter standing next to him, wiping his glasses. They looked at one another and returned to those cripped, wonderful kids.

BOILERMAKERS WIN EVANSVILLE, Ind., Dec. 22 (AP)—Purdue clinched its basketball program and experience and turned back Evansville's young ace 53-77 Thursday night.

Crinner, Baton, late running winner of the Garden State, is by Sonny-Fapilla. When the chestnut colt was foaled in 1959 both his parents were 16 years old.

Italian Boxer's Hand Is Broken

ROME, Dec. 22 (AP)—Franco Piccoli, Italian heavyweight who won the gold medal in the 1956 Olympics, broke a bone in his left hand Wednesday night during a fight with Uli Ritter of Germany. De Piccoli knocked the German out in the fourth round.

Doctors discovered the bone fracture in De Piccoli's hand Thursday and said the fighter would be out of action for at least 30 days.

Cincinnati Sells Nunn to Mets

CINCINNATI, Dec. 22 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds sold right-handed pitcher Howie Nunn to the New York Mets for an undisclosed sum.

The 36-year-old Nunn retired in 24 games for the National league champions last year. In 38 innings on the mound, he compiled a 2-1 record and had a 3.55 earned run average.

The Reds brought Nunn up from Jersey City after he finished the 1959 season there with a 12-6 record and an ERA of 1.93.

Favor Oilers

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 22 (AP)—A poll of six of the non-American-Football-league cities showed that they prefer Houston Oilers a slight favorite over the San Diego Chargers.

Three rated the AFL championship playoff game a toss-up, and three others picked the Oilers to repeat.

Coaches Vie for Underdog Role in East-West Battle

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22 (UPI)—The East's "million dollar backfield" offers such frightening possibilities that the West team may not show up for the Shrine classic on Dec. 30. West coach Jim Owens of Washington said today—presumably with tongue in cheek. On the East backfield are such men as quarterback Roman Gabriel, wide receiver North Carolina State, halfbacks Ernie Davis of Syracuse, Jack Wilson of Duke, Fred Cox of Pitt and Angelo Robino of Notre Dame; and a fellow named Bob Ferguson of Ohio State at fullback.

Minico Mat Squad Tops Tiger Team

RUFERT, Dec. 22 (UPI)—Minnesota wrestlers pinned and declared their way to victory Thursday night, beating Mountain Home 32-15.

Minico will host Pocatello Jan. 23-25. Minico will host Pocatello Jan. 23-25. Minico will host Pocatello Jan. 23-25.

Results of the matches, Minico men placed first, include sub 95 pound—Natepin pinned Fisher 15-7; Stimpson drew the match with Fisher; 135-Praeger defeated Fredde; 170-Cumbe won by decision; Gabriel was the No. 1 draft choice of the Los Angeles Rams—was decided by Purrell 13-7; Sparks pinned Dutton; 138-Andrews defeated Stanley; 145-Schroeder defeated Miller; 154-Wheeler was pinned by Colton; 165-Traveler drew with Hicks, and 175-weight Riley pinned Chapman.

Ewbank Will Stay on as Colts' Coach

BALTIMORE, Dec. 22 (AP)—Webb Ewbank is staying on as head coach of the Baltimore Colts.

An announcement Thursday from Carroll Rosenbloom, owner of the National Football League team, made after his evaluation meeting with Colts General Manager Tom Kelly, it was not mentioned the coaching job, Ewbank's contract for the remainder of this season would be Ewbank's last.

Ewbank, 60, has been coaching the Colts since 1954, two years after Baltimore returned to the NFL. His annual salary has been reported unofficially at $30,000.

During his eight seasons with the Colts, Ewbank has been the only NFL coach to win two championships—in 1958 and 1959. Beginning with 1960, when he coached the Colts to their first winning season, Ewbank has a record of 29 victories and 23 losses—a 56 percent win rate.

U.S. Prisoners in China to Get Little Christmas Cheer

HONG KONG, Dec. 22 (AP) — A small Christmas pudding, a handful of dates and a few cards from home will provide the only Christmas cheer for four American prisoners still held in Red China.

There will be nothing else to set Christmas off from the thousands of dreary, lonely days they have served and have yet to serve in Chinese Communist jails.

This is the story, based on the best available information: The 31 to 70 years old, white men, cells Christmas morning. That is the only work assigned to them. They will be taken out to exercise for two half-hour periods during the day. The rest of the time they will spend in their silent cells.

This is the 11th Christmas behind Chinese Communist bars for Hugh P. Redmond, Jr., Yonkers, N. Y., 43, a businessman serving a life term in a Shanghai prison on unspecified Communist charges of espionage.

It is the 10th Christmas in jail for John V. Downey, 31, New Britain, Conn., and Richard Pecteau, 34, Lynn, Mass., army civilian employees jailed in Beijing on similar charges.

The American prisoners — their health, how they live — what they look like — comes from Mrs. Downey and Judge Walsh, and that information is 16 months old.

Downey shares his cell with two other prisoners, one Chinese and one Russian. Bishop James P. Walsh, Cumberland, Md., was sentenced three years ago to 20 years' imprisonment. At 70, he has little expectation of leaving his jail alive.

His brother, William C. Walsh, former attorney general of Maryland, visited him last year. The bishop's last words before they parted were: "We will meet in heaven."

There were five American prisoners in China last Christmas but Robert McCann, Pasadena, Calif., was released on the point of death in April after he had served two-thirds of a 15-year sentence on espionage charges. McCann died a month later.

Downey still lives in hope he will not serve out his life term in jail. His mother, Mary V. Downey, visited him in August, 1960. She said he may be released eventually for good behavior. Chinese Red Cross officials who gave her this slim ray of hope would not tell her when he might be released but indicated it would not be for several years.

The only recent information on the American prisoners — their health, how they live — what they look like — comes from Mrs. Downey and Judge Walsh, and that information is 16 months old.

REBECCA ANNE CALL, NANCY JUNE WINCH, LINDA TETER are the first three contestants to be announced for the Miss Twin Falls beauty pageant. The pageant will be held at 8 p.m. Dec. 30 in the Twin Falls high school gymnasium.

First Three Contestants Announced For Miss Twin Falls Beauty Pageant

The first three Miss Twin Falls pageant contestants were announced Friday by Paul Bull, general chairman for the event. They are Rebecca Anne Call, 21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Call, 618 Lynwood boulevard; Nancy June Winch, 27, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russel Winch, 222 north Davis, Jerome; and Linda Teter, 17, 239 Center street, Kimberly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Teter, Boise.

Miss Call, a senior at Utah State University, Logan, will give a dramatic reading as her talent. She is studying speech and education at the university and will be a student teacher of speech and drama during the spring quarter.

She has appeared in plays and musical productions on radio, television and speech festivals. Cooking and sewing are two of her hobbies. After graduating from USU, she plans to continue studying for her master's degree.

The blue-eyed contestant has black hair and is five feet, five inches tall. Her measurements are 35, 25 and 36. She weighs 120 pounds and is sponsored by Shelly's market.

Miss Winch, who will present a vocal solo for her talent, is a senior at Jerome high school. She plans to attend College of Idaho, Caldwell, or Linfield college, McMinnville, Ore. She also plays the piano and plans to major in music.

She is a member of the Jerome high school drill team, Pop club and Job's Daughters. She is pianist for the Jerome First Baptist church and the Jerome

Kiwanis club, which will sponsor her in the pageant. Her hobbies include swimming, tennis and cooking.

The brown-eyed, brown-haired girl is five feet, seven inches tall. Her measurements are 35 1/2, 25 1/2 and 32. She weighs 137 pounds.

Miss Teter, a senior at Kimberly high school, will present a humorous reading as her talent. Her interests are sitting, swimming, sewing, drama and speech. She plans to be a teacher, and is president of the school's Future Teachers of America club, a drill team member and is reporter for the Future Business Leaders club. She is a member of the LDS church.

She plans to attend the University of Idaho, Moscow.

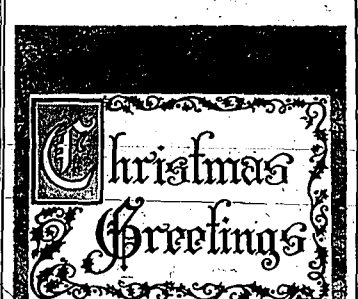

She is five feet, five inches tall, has brown eyes and brown hair. Her measurements are 36, 24 and 36. She weighs 120 pounds and is sponsored by Young's Dairy.

The winner will be crowned by Janna Meyer, last year's Miss Twin Falls. A special stage and runway are being constructed for use in the gymnasium. This is the first year the pageant has been held in the gymnasium. In past years it has been held in the junior high school auditorium.

School Board Must Provide Student Help

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 22 (AP) — Albany school district under state orders to provide transportation for a pupil to a parochial school in miles away by ferry and bus or 50 miles away by highway.

The district said the transportation would cost $1,000 and require increased local property tax.

Commissioner of Education James E. Allen, Jr., said Greenport union free school district No. 10 in Suffolk county should pay reasonable costs of the transportation of Patricia Cooper, 14, from Greenport to Sacred Heart Academy in Sag Harbor.

The Greenport district had turned down a petition by Mrs. Diantha T. Cooper, mother of Patricia, for transportation costs.

Allen said if the district had insufficient funds, the board of education is authorized to raise money through property taxes.

Allen also said that the district had an alternative of providing the girl with room and board at Sag Harbor, if that appeared more feasible.

This message comes to your house to tell you we appreciate your friendship, and to wish you and your family a Merry Christmas!

Writer Avers Money Needs Hit Hopefuls

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
 Idaho Press International
 Boise, Dec. 22 (AP)—Money is that perfect Christmas gift for the political candidate of your choice.

You can remember his or her birthday or other anniversary well but right now the thing that makes the heart grow fonder is cash.

For it is cash that makes the wheels of politics turn. It is cash that pays for today's political advertising bills. It is cash that makes the professionals sit up and listen.

To mount a successful campaign for public office these days takes money, a good deal of money. In a contested primary campaign for a major office such as governor or U. S. senator—even in Idaho—it takes between $25,000 and $35,000.

A tough fight through both primary and general elections can run as high as $15,000. And some ambitious politicians right here in Idaho are taking the lead in those terms. The right candidate with the ideal background, personality, opponent, political climate and other such factors might be able to run a bargain basement campaign—but even then he's taking a big chance.

The struggle to line up financial backing already is under way. You will get a good idea about who is successful when the campaign starts to warm up first after the first of the year. You will get an even better idea after the deadlines for filing nominating petitions. And, particularly about those who are conspicuous by their absence.

It is money that keeps the hopefuls from the hopeless. And it is this need for money that has brought about a revolution in political campaign techniques.

In the old days, a candidate for public office—one who had cleared the hurdle of primary election—turned to his political party for financial support.

Today, he quite often will set up his own money-gathering machinery. Remember Idaho's last general election campaign just a little over a year ago? When you mentioned "campaign headquarters" you had to specify whose you meant. Everybody had his own.

"TRADING STAMP HOLIDAY" is being looked forward to by Mrs. Phyllis Stephens, 19, Scotia, N.Y. Mrs. Stephens wanted her marine husband home for Christmas so she asked a trading stamp company if it would accept her 50 books as payment for his trip from Tennessee to Scotia. The company said, "Of course." Capt. Luther C. Stephens, 21, will be given a round-trip airplane trip to see his wife and 6-month-old son, Randy. (AP wirephoto)

Depression Is Over, Court Finally Rules

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
 Idaho Press International
 Boise, Dec. 22 (AP)—Spokane county superior court Judge William H. Williams ruled this week that the depression of the 1920's is over.

The ruling was made at the request of the trustee of the estate of George Lauman, who died in 1919.

It was necessary to allow the sale of real estate still held in trust as a result of a 1933 court ruling that it should not be sold because of poor economic conditions. Williams ruled that now is a good time to sell the property, including the Rainier Grand hotel and Ulira Day apartment in downtown Spokane and East Chance mica mine in Latah county.

The trustee will be distributed among 10 heirs.

The Seattle First National bank filed the suit seeking the ruling as trustee of Lauman's estate.

Law Agency's Chief Warns Of New Push

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
 Idaho Press International
 Boise, Dec. 22 (AP)—Tougher law enforcement at the state level was expected in 1951 and Commissioner E. R. Hopper sternly warned Idahoans they can expect more of the same in the new year.

Backed by stiff penalties approved by the 1951 Idaho legislature, Hopper ordered the state police and liquor law enforcement agencies to crack down on those who flouted the law.

He carried his fight to the local level, meeting with city officials, county commissioners, judges and law enforcement agencies throughout the state.

Hopper urged the local authorities to prosecute law enforcement agencies to the fullest extent and he asked the judges to impose maximum sentences possible by law.

Whether the problem involves an outbreak of illegal gambling or traffic violations, Hopper declared that "in the final analysis the answer is tough enforcement."

Those who insisted on driving from after their licenses were suspended or revoked for serious traffic offenses were told their traffic land in jail if they continued to ignore the law.

Paternal organizations were urged to firmly that the liquor law enforcement department would tolerate no gambling operations in areas connected with the game of craps.

Hopper moved to halt the sale of liquor and beer to minors.

State Game warden, by issuing out-of-state suspensions to licensees found guilty of the same.

The commissioner believes his program is paying off and he has no plans for even tougher enforcement in 1951.

In spite of all the education by try to furnish, and everything done to improve the safety features of cars and highways, the final analysis the problem still lies back to enforcement," he said.

Mail Gadget Cannot Read Handwriting

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP)—A new electronic mail sorter which actually "reads" envelopes has the same trouble as the "beings" — it can't make out handwritten addresses.

The machine, now being tested in the postoffice research laboratory, can scan 3,000 envelopes an hour and sort them out for delivery to each of the 40 states and the District of Columbia.

The developer, Farrington Electronics, Inc., of nearby Alexandria, Va., announced details of the machine this way.

It said further research for the postoffice department's modernization program was being carried on, aimed at increasing the speed to 36,000 envelopes an hour and adding to the number of designations the device can "read."

Through a system of optical scanning equipment and transistorized electronic parts, the machine can "read" most typewritten, hand printed and machine-printed addresses on letter-size envelopes. It can make out both abbreviated and full street addresses. It cannot "read" handwritten addresses. Farrington said such mail makes up only about 15 per cent of the letters handled by the postoffice.

The company said that after the present machine is tested, features will be added to permit it to "read" addresses printed or typed in all call letters and to differentiate postal zone numbers.

Year's Wood Imports May Exceed 1960

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP)—U.S. lumber imports in 1961 are expected to exceed the record of four billion board feet set in 1959, the lumber survey committee says in a report to Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges.

The report, listing "notable comments" from unidentified western lumbermen, said "export of logs to Japan and Sweden in plywood paneling is harmful. Increases of lumber imports is hurting our domestic mills."

During the first nine months of 1961, estimated lumber imports totaled 3,220,000 board feet, 65 per cent more than for the comparable 1960 period. Imports were not listed by country.

Lumber exports for the nine-month period this year were estimated 655 million board feet, a decline of 15.3 per cent from the corresponding 1960 period.

Prisoner's Yule Will Be Meager

NEW YORK (AP)—Conrad, 22, a bundle of candy, a fruit cake and some sweet bread.

That's what a widowed mother said her son will have on Christmas, half a world apart.

The few extra tidbits wrapped in an 11-pound package were all that Mary, Downey, New Britain, was able to send to her son, John T. Downey, a prisoner at the Red China in Peking.

Said Mrs. Downey: "I've sent 11 pounds each. I usually send coffee, sugar and such. This month I've sent a little extra. It's all I'm allowed."

East Berliners Ban Fireworks

BERLIN, Dec. 21 (AP)—East Berliners are forbidden to set off fireworks on Christmas Eve, within 100 yards of the red wall dividing the city.

The East Berlin police chief also prohibited sending up rockets anywhere in East Berlin.

The decree was for maintenance of good order on the state border, the chief said.

Toy

CHICAGO, Dec. 21 (AP)—Richard Jensen's toy train weighs 24 tons.

The locomotive is 15 feet high and 61 feet long.

Jensen's locomotive was rescued from the scrap pile of the Grand Trunk Western railroad. Its name is simply "No. 803" and it is 37 years old. It has a capacity for 10,000 gallons of water, 18 tons of coal, and it can hit speeds well over the 100 mile per hour mark.

The monstrous plaything was to have been turned into scrap metal before Jensen rescued it.

Jensen uses the locomotive for rail fan trips in the Chicago area. He has made one seven-hour trip so far. During the journey, old 803 had to be refueled once and refilled with water three times.

LONDON, Dec. 21 (AP)—The royal family has as much trouble as any other young father in getting his baby to smile for the camera.

Armstrong-Jones — now Earl Snowdon — told a boy's club how he got the recently-published pictures of Viscount Linley, the child born last month to his wife, Princess Margaret.

"You just have to sit around for half the night waiting for a good expression," he said. "I have had a lot of experience. You can't force a baby into doing anything."

College Man Won't Stand At U.S. Song

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Dec. 21 (AP)—The national anthem sounded through the halls of Aquinas college this week for the last time until classes resume in January — and as usual senior Dennis Nowrocki remained seated.

Undisturbed by a raining chorus of criticism that came from as high as the college president and ranged on down through his campus schoolmates, the 21-year-old Grand Rapids student stuck by his principles.

"I see no reason to change my stand," he said. "I still stand by my original feeling."

That constated of his opinion that "having the national anthem played every morning is entirely unnecessary and overdone. I don't see any connection between standing for the national anthem and patriotism. I don't think we have to be reminded every morning we are a free nation."

The Rev. Msgr. Arthur P. Bukowski, president of the 60-year old Catholic liberal arts college, said the school certainly could not endorse Nowrocki's action but that it would not attempt to force him out of it.

REVIEWER U. N. WORK

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 21 (AP)—Adlai E. Holiday Parties Leave Marks: Take Preventive Measures

CHICAGO, Dec. 21 (AP)—Holiday parties are apt to leave their marks on the way home by way of spills and spots on furniture, carpet and walls.

You can guard against some of them with these suggestions from some experts.

Use masking-tape instead of cellophane tape when hanging mistletoe or ornaments. This will prevent the marks of smooch spray of holly.

When precautions fail, here's how to mop the stains.

For candy and gummy substances on furniture, fabric, scrape off the excess, then sponge the stain with a solvent-type cleanser—low grade and oil. Wipe with a tissue and repeat the procedure, brushing up the nap of the fabric afterward.

To remove chewing gum, moisten a tissue with a solvent-type cleaning fluid, hold over the spot for two minutes to loosen the gum and then sponge the fabric with cleaning fluid.

Chick Hatch
Rose 39 Per Cent in Year

BOISE, Dec. 22 (AP) — Idaho's commercial hatcheries produced 39 per cent more chickens this month in 1950, reports, the U.S. department of agriculture.

The department said this November's estimated production was 609,000 chicks, which also was twice as many as the 1950-51 average November output.

Accumulated hatch output during the first 11 months of this year totaled 6,200,000 chicks. This compared with 5,659,000 during the same period last year.

The department said that an estimated 561,000 chicks were produced this November for winter production, 47 per cent more than was produced in November 1950. January-November production of broiler-type chicks totaled 4,322,000 for 1951, or 30 per cent more than during the same period of 1950.

A total of 48,000 egg-type chicks were hatched last month, compared with 49,000 in the same month last year. The accumulated batch of egg-type chicks for January-November this year was 1,877,000, an increase of seven per cent over the corresponding period of 1950.

Spain Now Is Popular Spot
For Tourists

MADRID, Dec. 22 (AP) — Ten years ago, the yearly influx of visitors to Spain barely topped the million and a quarter mark. Today, tourism is one of the country's biggest moneymakers.

Visitors to Spain last year put more than $10 million dollars into the nation's coffers. Records for 1950 show more than six million entries by foreigners into Spain.

The Spanish state touring office, in a recently compiled survey, showed the tourist influx for 1950 to be a 45 per cent increase over the previous year, and tourism officials here predict a continuing increase in visitors.

According to the survey, the French have led the tourist boom for the last 10 years. More than 23 million visitors from France entered Spain last year.

Great Britain has been next in line to France, with last year's British visitors totalling 624,057.

The United States followed with a recorded 492,425 tourists in 1950.

The survey showed distinct national differences in vacation preferences.

French tourists in the last 10 years have preferred the northern Basque province on the Atlantic coast while Scandinavians headed for the "Costa del Sol" Mediterranean resort area.

Madrid was the magnet for the bulk of American tourists and Mallorca and the other Balearic islands proved popular with Swiss tourists.

In the last decade, August has consistently been Spain's most crowded month for tourists.

During that month last year, more than a million crossed the Spanish frontier, to exceed the total number of tourists for the entire year of 1951.

January and February have been tourist's slow months during the last decade and the state months.

tourist office has been studying this drop in an effort to increase the number of entries for these months.

East German Refugee Working in New York as Waitress Is Stymied.

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (AP)—"Buckwheat cakes," said the man. "The waitress went to the counter and brought back a tray of 'peasies.'"

"No, no," the man said, "I want buckwheat cakes."

"Sure," said the waitress, holding out the tray, "which ones would you like?"

The diner eyed the girl—very young for a waitress, green eyes set in a pretty face crowned by raven-black hair. Obviously she didn't understand "buckwheat cakes."

"Where are you from," he asked.

"Germany," said the girl with not noticeable accent. "A year ago I was living in East Germany."

"Living miserably, she might have added. Because she was an Elvis Presley fan and her best-casual—three years before—listening to rock 'n' roll music from an American armed services radio station in West Germany. The police came and took her radio away.

"Christmas eve that she and her brother left home and made their dash for freedom. She made it, but her brother was captured at the border. Because it might go badly for her brother if her real name were disclosed, let's call her Anna and let it go at that. She is 18, and she is determined to make her way alone here. She came to this country in April, and she already speaks English well, except for incomprehensible things like buckwheat cakes.

Anna was born in a middle-sized town about six hours by train from Berlin. Her mother died when she was 3. Her father died 12 years ago. Her parents had lived in Bayreuth, N. Y., until 1939, when they moved to Germany to take over the business of her grandfather, who had died.

"But, they never taught me any English," she said. "And in the schools the foreign languages they teach is Russian. When I was 14, I used to listen to the American forces radio. It is not allowed to listen to any West German radio. Our neighbors heard that I listened to it, and told the police. . . . My uniform, policeman came and asked me was it true and I told them yes. I listened to the music. They took the radio, and everybody in school heard about it. From that time on, everything in school was "Everything I did was wrong to the teachers. I got the worst notes written to me. My brother who was an engineer—and trouble, too, in his job.

"On the radio and in the papers there it is anti-America all the time. . . . all the time. How dirty the cities are in America. . . . The American people want war. Now I'm here, I know it's not true.

"But over there the main point is that you can't say what you like. The police are always looking for this. . . . I know a lot of people from my home town who tried to get out of East Germany and were caught—and brought back to the town to jail. The young people like to go to communist school; that's all they know.

"My brother and I talked over for a long time our plans to flee and go to New York. It really started when my father died. The day before Christmas we just ran out. We packed some little things—I had some school books and pictures and letters—and got tickets to Berlin. We got off at the East Berlin station that night. But everybody seemed to us to be looking at us—at my little bag and my brother's canvas bag and . . .

"We looked around for people like us, who had packages, and children, and we followed some who looked as though they were trying to get out. That was, talking about our troubles and problems, we walked with them three or four miles to a little town near the border.

"It was just a little wall, with wires on it at the border. It's not the wall that everybody was scared of. It was the bare space—just bare grass—that you had to cross before reaching the wall. We call it "Hodes-Hode," the death line. You can't hide, and

Turn About

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—Rep. Frank Thompson, Jr., D., N.J., says airlines which delay flights should be penalized even as they're penalizing passengers who reserve seats and then don't show up.

In a newsletter to constituents he said: "Why don't we have the airlines pay a 15-an-hour fine for late cancellations?"

"The husband shrieked: 'Run as fast as you can into the bushes and save the babies.' We did, and I heard my brother about: 'We'll get in touch. I'll be in New York some day. I'm sure he will—but I'm sure he'll be in jail now, back the home town.'"

Anna made her way to Hamburg and, after three months working as a salesgirl, got a visa to the United States. . . .

"I had no trouble here at all," she said. "My father's aunt lives here but I only stayed with her for a week—I wanted to be on my own. The only English word I knew was 'tuna fish' but I began studying hard and convinced a restaurant I could talk enough to be a waitress.

"I knew food names. But they had a bar. What in New York I get? It nearly drove me crazy: Daquiris . . . grasshoppers . . .

Auto Market Is Spreading Outside U.S.

DETROIT, Dec. 22 (AP)—American automobile manufacturers are convinced the big markets of the future lie outside the United States; and they are steadily adapting their operations to gain a bigger share in the world growth.

Marketing experts predict that by 1953 car buyers in other countries will be purchasing an average of six million new cars annually. Sales in the United States this year probably will come to about six million.

Already the rest of the world comes extremely close to matching the United States in auto production and in the recession year of 1952 U. S. output for the first time dipped below 60 percent of the world total. . . .

Exports from American assembly plants, which had been dropping steadily since 1950, turned upward slightly last year, mainly because of the new compact car. But through the first 10 months of this year—the total of 105,499 was down six per cent and none of the Detroit companies believe the trend can be reversed permanently.

This year Ford Motor company is spending 250 million dollars on expansion abroad. General Motors is in the midst of a two-year 800 million dollar foreign program. These two giants, which rank first and second among the world's auto companies, are not alone. . . .

Most recent of various moves was one announced 10 days ago by American Motors—an agreement with Renault of France to build Ramblers in Belgium. For more than a year AMO had been angling for an entry into the booming European custom market where cars can enjoy the greatly reduced customs rates between countries.

American Motors noted the common market countries of the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Belgium, France, Italy and West Germany control one-fourth of the trade of the free world.

In the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, American Motors sold only 7,600 cars outside the United States and Canada. Its forecast for the 1953 fiscal year calls for 24,000.

Although only fourth in size of the five American auto manufacturers, American Motors already has production facilities in Mexico, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, Malia and Canada and will begin building cars in Argentina in January.

General Motors and Ford also have given the green light to Argentine authorities for immediate expansion.

Permit Granted To ISC Station

POCATO, Dec. 22 (AP)—The federal communications commission has granted Idaho State college permission to begin construction of an educational radio station, it was announced today.

Dr. Carl Isaacson, head of the ISC division of communications, said that the college had applied for the FCC permit more than a year ago.

The permit will allow construction of a 10-watt non-commercial educational FM station to transmit radio programs of an educational nature from the college's trade and laboratory building.

Goose-Quill Pens Given Competition

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—The nation's entire goose quill pen industry has complained bitterly to the federal trade commission that it is unfairly threatened by—quills wearing ball points.

The entire goose quill industry is Lewis Glaser, and his point is simple:

Thomas Jefferson never heard of a ball point, and yet I heard a certain telling school children that this is the type of pen with which Jefferson wrote the Declaration of Independence. It's an outrage.

Appropriately, Glaser lives in Jefferson's old home town, Charlottesville, Va. Each year he handles 50,000 quill pens. They are sold to the supreme court—which keeps a supply on hand for the justices.

But Gabriel Wölscher may walk in again and want one—and to gift him in such historical gift shops as the Monticello and George Washington's Mount Vernon.

Glaser was a goose raiser, not a quill, until around eight years ago when he read an Associated Press story about an alarming shortage of goose quill pens.

New fashions, like women's hats, got out of style, though not so quickly.

This is the season, as every level of Charles Dickens knows, when a fat goose should make the Christmas season complete, but it doesn't, at least in this country.

"Nobody wants a fat goose any more," Glaser says.

He saw the handwriting on the quill's wall—and plucked into the quill-making business.

Glaser isn't surprised at the competition of the considerable amount of favorable publicity my pen receive," he said in his complaint to the FTC, "it is inevitable that persons with a strong sense of urgency will try for a fat goose. Their cupboards are empty under the impression that their racket has become a source of irritation and concern. Since they cannot duplicate my pen, they stick a ball point into the quill barrel and call it as a goose quill pen!" he said.

No one knows what action, if any, the FTC will take but Glaser wants it to make the quill-ball-point people quit selling their pens a quill pen.

Glaser won't say how much he charges for his quill pens, but he does say along some little known quill facts:

Quills have to be imported, and each year he brings in 250,000 of them.

Glaser can now turn out 250,000 a day, but he has to get up at 5 a.m. to do it.

QUILL PEN MAKER Louis Glaser, Charlottesville, Va., works on some of the 50,000 goose quill pens he hand cuts each year. Glaser has complained to the federal trade commission that his business is unfairly threatened by quills wearing ball points. (AP wirephoto)

Problem

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Dec. 22 (AP)—The visit of President Kennedy created a real problem.

The Royal Gazette said: "It is hereby notified that owing to the Southampton postmen having been mobilized in the Bermuda Militia, from Wednesday 20th to Friday 22nd, December, 1961, there will be no postal deliveries during that period from Church road to the eastern boundary of the parish of Southampton."

TRADE PACT SIGNED

ROME, Dec. 22 (AP)—Italy and communist Poland have signed a new trade agreement for 1962, expanding their volume of commercial exchanges by 20 per cent.

"In a year," Glaser said, "you only get six usable quills off a goose."

This was good enough for Jefferson, and will have to be good enough for us.

Agriculture Secretary Tries To Show Food Still Bargain

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—When the high mogul of grandeur of a foreign country visits the U. S. capital, it is customary to take him into the suburbs and show him a genuine American supermarket.

A store full of housewives pushing down the aisles theoretically leaves the visitor impressed by the abundance of our agriculture and other rewards of our way of life.

Something similar to this took place this week, only with a reverse twist.

In this case the supermarket visitor was a U. S. official and his mission was to impress the housewife, rather than vice versa.

Out to the new frontiers of suburbia went Agriculture Secretary Cordell L. Frezman, bent on convincing city-type shoppers that food is a big bargain, despite what happens at the check-out counter.

Frezman spent about an hour in a neighborhood grocery in Arlington, Va., spreading the message that food prices have gone up practically less than other cost of living items.

As a visual aid, he wheeled around a cart containing some groceries which he said an hour's pay would buy more of than was the case 10 years ago.

There were more cameramen than customers in the store at the time and things began to get a bit confused.

While talking with one lady, Frezman took a couple of cartons of milk out of his cart to demonstrate a point he was making.

Then, without noticing what he was doing, he put them down on a moving belt that carried food past the cashier.

A few seconds later, he discovered that his milk had been charged to a customer who was at the head of the check-out line. It took a while to get that straightened out.

The women shoppers interviewed by Frezman were all so nice and polite despite a certain amount of inconvenience. But a male shopper began to protest in a loud voice that the secretary's defense of food prices was "a lot of bunk."

Ship Resists Usual Effort At Shipyard

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Dec. 22 (AP)—The lady walked up to the big cargo liner, headed for the wharf, it was on the bow with a bottle of champagne.

The wharfie's hand on the boat's whistle blunked out in the cold air, signifying the 665-ton B. S. Washington, having been duly christened, was about to slide down the ways into the water.

The lady stepped back and looked expectantly at the Washington, which her father happens to own.

The Washington, champagne dribbling down its snout, just sat there looking rather sullen.

Workmen fiddled with the mechanism that was supposed to give the vessel a push down the slides. Shipyard officials grinned sheepishly.

The owner's daughter, Mrs. William H. Martin, Santa-Monica, Calif., gave the Washington a sturdy shove. The Washington, unperturbed, refused to move.

After about 10 minutes, the ship gave a lurch and a loud grunt and rumbled reluctantly into the water. An official said he didn't know why the Washington didn't do what it was supposed to do on time, but assured onlookers it didn't happen often.

Cancer Finds Increase Cure Expectations

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 22 (AP)—Discovery of the cause of cancer "something we can now look forward to as a distinct possibility within our lifetime," a University of Wisconsin researcher said this week.

Van R. Potter, assistant director of McArdle Memorial laboratory, said an understanding of the basic chemistry of life and heredity appears near, and cancer seems to be at the heart of basic life chemistry.

Potter said studies indicate a substance called deoxyribonucleic acid carries coded chemical architectural plans from which reproductive cells build the new individuals of every new generation.

Understanding of DNA is important to an understanding of cancer, because cancer cells begot cancer cells. Scientists believe defective architecture is "carried from parent cell to offspring in the cell membrane components rather than the protein itself."

Another UW cancer researcher, Henry Pilot, has shown that there are differences between the way newly formed protein peels off test tube preparations of normal and cancerous tissues. He suggested that the difference is in the cell membrane components rather than the protein itself.

The researchers were confident that once detailed chemical differences between normal and cancerous cells have been pinpointed, drugs can be devised to curb cancerous growth but not affect normal tissue, Potter said.

U.S. Cleaning Technique Is Superior One

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—W. H. Hahaw, an American cleaning expert, is back in the country after a two-month tour of Moscow.
 He brings up reassuring word that there is no danger of the Russians closing the drycleaning U.S. superiority in this field, he reports, probably will last for all our lifetimes, and certainly for the lifetimes of our best.

Hahaw, an instructor at the Los Angeles Technical college, said because he has been supervising the installation of 1.5 million dollars worth of American drycleaning equipment in the Soviet capital.
 Hahaw said the Soviet decision to purchase the equipment apparently stemmed from Premier Nikita Khrushchev's 1959 visit here.
 Mrs. Khrushchev toured the east of the National Institute of Cleaning, and it wasn't long before she told the Russians she was dicker with a U.S. manufacturer.
 At that time, there were only two drycleaning plants in the city of Moscow. This meant that all but a few of the city's ten million residents had to go for themselves.
 Most Americans in Moscow at their woollen to Finland to drycleaning, Hahaw said.
 The U.S. equipment more than makes the capacity there, but cleaning skill is beyond the reach of the vast majority of Soviet, he said.

Snow Is Drifting In Back Country

BOISE, Dec. 22 (AP)—Pilots are advised by State Aeronautics Director Chet Moulton to avoid flying into Idaho back country even with ski-equipped planes, until conditions of specific runways is determined.
 Moulton said pilots who have flown over the area report an average of 30 inches of snow throughout the primitive area. "There has been a lot of wind and drifting snow," Moulton said, "and even planes with skis might get into difficulty."

Tax Collector Will Use New Data Process

ATLANTA, Dec. 22 (AP)—Internal revenue Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin spelled out in detail this week the timetable for electronic checking of all tax returns by 1966.
 Caplin promised that the advent of automatic data processing, as the use of a computer to check returns is called, would not curtail services his agency performs for the public.
 On the contrary, he said, ADP "should permit the service to be done more times" to helping taxpayers over the telephone, in person and by mail.

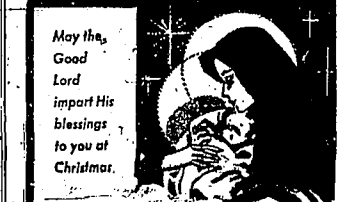

Caplin also indicated ADP also will enable the service to do a better job of tracking down tax evaders.
 Caplin told an IRS conference on automatic data processing that the new system would be inaugurated next month on business returns from the seven-state Atlanta region—Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Louisiana and the Carolinas.

Individual returns from these states will be processed electronically starting in January, 1963, he said. That month will also see ADP applied to business returns from the Philadelphia region—Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and the District of Columbia. For individual returns from these states ADP will come a year later.

Cancer Study Shows How Germ Is Help

BERKELEY, Calif., Dec. 22 (AP)—Scientists have immunized mice against five human-type cancers by injecting them with tuberculous germs, reports the American Cancer society.

Researchers at the University of California found that TB germs. Both live and dead/preparations have been found to prevent types of cancer bearing close resemblance to the "clinical malignancies in man."

Chief significance of the discovery, scientists said, was that a single non-toxic agent will be able to protect against several types of cancer. Other known anti-cancer agents have been found to be either quite toxic or limited to preventing one type of malignancy, they said.

The cancer society report was based on work done by Dr. David W. Wells, Dr. Kenneth DeCone and Mrs. Rose Bonhag of the department of bacteriology and the cancer research general laboratory at the university.

"The report said the tuberculous vaccine was up to 90 per cent effective in preventing development of the five types of cancer. Long-lasting immunity was provided by the inoculation. In some cases the rats were more immune three months after inoculation than after only a few weeks.

"The inoculations also were effective in treating animals that already had begun to develop cancer, the scientists said."

In some cases the cancer disappeared and in others it was kept from spreading.

Judge Avers Divorce Can Restart Life

HAMILTON, Ala., Dec. 22 (AP)—Alabama Judge Moore says divorce should be considered the beginning of a new life.

"I don't say it is what he had in mind when he started thousands of divorces," Judge Moore said after severing their marital ties.

Moore's name has been linked to many other with quick divorces in Alabama.

He says many divorces have been granted in his seven years as a judge. But some of his court cases about his philosophy; "my conscience would worry me less than it would if I failed to separate them."

The divorce business grew in Alabama because of the state's laxity in requiring proof of reason. Proves public opinion in Alabama is locked to Alabama to end their marriages.

Now, a new rule of conduct adopted by the Alabama Bar association places the burden of proof of residency on the attorney.

Moore says this rule already has reduced divorces considerably. It was adopted last summer. "They are going to Mexico more and more instead of coming to Alabama," he said.

Last year, divorces were granted in Alabama. He said he granted in Moore's circuit alone.

"But I am not the only judge granting divorces," said Moore, who is 48.

He has been married nearly 31 years and he and Mrs. Moore have two sons. They live quietly in nearby Wetumpka. He formerly taught Sunday school to adults and young people and graduated from the University of Alabama in 1935.

A circuit court judge for more than seven years, he says "my nerves are destroyed a little bit because of harassment."

Moore says he has been wrongfully criticized by some for the large number of divorces granted. He says criticism has come via telephone calls, letters and newspaper clippings.

"I even get slippings about divorces I didn't grant," he said.

"Each divorce is different," he said. Even when there are children, or a broken home—of you care to call it that—it's better for the children than to have them subjected to fighting and squabbling all the time."

In his court, the mother invariably gets custody of the children, Moore says he has given the father their custody in but one case, and that because of unusual circumstances.

Millionaire Gives Cancer Society Free Advertising

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (AP)—Henry Orenstein, who came to America 14 years ago as a refugee and became a millionaire toy manufacturer, today expressed gratitude for his success in the way he best knows how.

He did it by turning over to the American Cancer Society all of his television advertising spots for the next 30 weeks. To Orenstein, the gift is a logical one, for he is a firm believer in the use of advertising to sell.

"But I don't want to use the time to sell toys," Orenstein said. "I want to sell the American people on the need to fight this terrible disease that eventually touches every family."

American Cancer Society Executive Vice President Lane W. Adams immediately made plans to use the 600 10-second spot announcements over 15 TV stations across the country.

The spots will be on an educational nature until the society launches its fund raising drive in the spring, at which time the appeal will feature 7-year-old Kathy Batic, a Westerville, Ohio, child the society describes as "cured of cancer."

But in order to make his gift to the society, Orenstein ran into some surprising red tape. It turned out that the federal communications commission requires in concentration camps in Poland and Germany. Orenstein was liberated by U.S. soldiers while he was on a forced march near Hottisch, Germany, at the close of the war.

Orenstein and two brothers came to America in 1947, when he was 24. He worked as a 95-cent-an-hour shipping clerk, then opened two small grocery stores.

Orenstein then started making lamps in a tiny loft factory in New York, gradually branching out into toy-making. Two years ago his company, which now employs 4,700 persons in Newark and in Puerto Rico, became a subsidiary of Philadelphia Reading.

Objection

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Dec. 22 (AP)—"You will have to get off at the front of the bus," driver Charles Vincent, 57, told a passenger standing at the rear door of the vehicle.

The man silently walked to the front and without a word punched the driver in the face, blacking both eyes and breaking his glasses.

Yule Card Is Intended for East's Pupils

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (AP)—There is a Christmas card in every West Berlin school room today directed to the children behind the wall that separates the city. It shows a lighted candle and a child standing waving through the barbed wire.

"Ja, bletten zusammen," it says. "We stand together."

Children in the eastern sector may sign only one card. "O Tannenbaum," which celebrates the Christmas tree alone. "Silent Night" is banned.

"Once before I left I let them sign it—but very softly," a teacher said.

These were among the findings of an international teacher organization which, during the last few weeks, investigated the plight of students and teachers in communist-controlled Germany.

The report was made public by Dr. William G. Carr, executive secretary-general of the World Confederation of Organizations of the Teaching Profession. He said about 75,000 teachers have left East Germany since 1948 because of regulations and restrictions on the educational system. Investigations disclosed teachers were forced to sign a pledge not to watch West German TV or listen to West German radio; were forced to teach Marxism-Leninism, and school time was curtailed by compulsory attendance at political rallies.

Carr said students fled to the West because they were denied a high school education because of their parents' occupations or political "unreliability." One who fled was the child of a clergyman; another's parents were arrested during the East Berlin uprising of 1953.

Anniversary Of Agency to Be Observed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—On May 15, 1922, President Abraham Lincoln had a war on his hands. But he took time to sign the act creating the department of agriculture.

That war is in the process of being commemorated in many ways in the Civil War centennial observances. Beginning May 15, 1961, by proclamation of President Kennedy, the United States will begin its 100th birthday party.

Part of the idea behind this section of the observance was to give plenty of food for the Union armies. The food was provided ever since U. S. farmers have been turning out food and other at such a pace that this nation never has known famine.

Even in a war, the department of agriculture has figured in countless political battles and is and is not in sight. Particularly it is the subject of which it had helped create that makes the department—or its policies at least—the subject of much controversy.

The department is planning many events next year to commemorate the anniversary. The department has accomplished during the past century.

At the same time, Secretary Orville L. Freeman will be battling with congress in an effort to establish new farm programs.

Freeman's main job is expected to be for more authority to carry out his supply management philosophy. The job of this is to control production of products that exceed demand. The opposite will center on the theme that the farmer in the long run will be better off with freer controls.

The agriculture department is preparing for the centennial observance, says that agriculture is the nation's largest industry.

The department's 1958 crop exceeded 200 billion dollars. It annual cash sales total about 34 billion dollars. It employs more than seven million people on its own million farms and ranches. That out of every 10 jobs in private employment are in agriculture, or related to it.

Farmers and their families have a buying power of over 43 billion dollars a year. Farmers own nearly half as much steel as the airlines and truck industries. They use more petroleum products than any other industry, and they are purchasers of rubber, chemicals, electricity and countless other products.

Holiday Gift To Your Tot: Drink Mixer

CHICAGO, Dec. 22 (AP)—Plumped for Christmas ideas for the kids? You could do worse than give them their own cocktail shaker.

This is the word of Jerry Rockwell, a designer of educational toys. He said a cocktail shaker might be educational.

It would make more sense than all those gimmicky windup toys like rocket launchers and robots," he said.

Rockwell fondly recalled how his son used to take a cocktail shaker to bed with him in preference to a teddy bear.

A cocktail shaker makes a good toy, Rockwell said, because it can hold things. His son, for instance, used to load his shaker with marbles, jacks, and anything else that rattled.

"He could fill it with all kinds of things and get different sounds," Rockwell said.

He hastened to make clear he did not advocate filling the kid's cocktail shakers with marbles.

In contrast to an educational rattling, non-alcoholic cocktail shaker, Rockwell said, the ordinary run of modern toys "aren't much fun."

"It's fun all right to whistle into a microphone and make a 'robot walk,'" he said, "but only once or twice."

"What can you do with the thing after that, except take it apart and then who could put it together again?"

"GREAT FUN" is what Spunky of the Baltimore zoo seems to be saying as he takes his first crack at ice skating. Spunky, like most 6-year-olds, skates with difficulty, at best. Another Baltimore chimpanzee won fame as a figure skater several years ago. Zoo director Arthur Watson gives the chimps free rein in developing their talents. (AP wirephoto)

In a unanimous opinion written by Justice E. B. Smith, the supreme court held that the equipment was voluntarily delivered to be sold and the proceeds used to extinguish the debt owing to City Credit corporation; that at the time of delivery or at any time before the sale, no value had been placed on the equipment, nor prices set at which it should be sold; nor any agreement had concerning equipment repairs, nor expenses to be charged to the sales.

Pope John Calls on World Leaders to Seek Peace and Brotherhood of Men

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 22 (AP)—Pope John XXIII in his fourth Christmas message called Thursday on the leaders of a world full of strife and bristling with missiles to strive for peace and brotherhood among men.

The 80-year-old head of the Roman Catholic church urged those who control the world's economic forces to "risk" everything—but not the peace of the world and the lives of millions—seek every means that modern progress has put at their disposal to increase the welfare and security of the world.

The Pope's message contained a powerful appeal for more equitable sharing of the world's wealth.

The pontiff spoke, as he had said he would, "like the father of a family to his children."

He recalled that he had three times appealed for peace in previous Christmas messages. This time, he said, he is adding an appeal for goodness.

"We cannot believe," he said, "that the terrific energy now under the control of man will be released for the worst destruction. For side by side with elements of fear and apprehension, there are positive signs of good will that is constructive and productive of good."

Pope John spoke from his radio library in the Vatican. His words were broadcast by the Vatican and Italian radio and by the networks of many European nations. Translations of the message will be broadcast by the Vatican radio in more than a score of languages in the next three days.

The Pope said the appeal for peace "that rises up this year from the crib at Bethlehem" should be "an invitation for goodness, and appreciation of true brotherhood."

He urged men to shun all incidents and "all those discordant elements which we have called and which we will call again without discarding our words: Pride, greed, callousness, selfishness."

The need for this, said Pope John, is all the more pressing because mutual mistrust is making conditions progressively worse.

"Consider," he said, "only the state of fearfulness in which men are living because of tension and violence and fostered enmity, and it is clear that this is giving rise to a general coolness and making it more and more widespread."

"Man is no longer a brother, bloodshed in the Congo, made clear his anxiety about the general state of the world.

"We cannot pass over the anxiety that our heart feels at the thought that when next Christmas day dawns upon the world, there will still be people without peace, without security, without religious liberty—people tormented by the specter of war and famine," he said.

The Pope said he offered his most fervent prayers for these people, together with a renewed appeal to the rulers of all nations that "through their united efforts justice, equity, and that longed-for peace may be realized."

Pope John said he appealed especially to "the rulers of nations, who today hold in their hands the fate of mankind."

He concluded his message by giving his best wishes and a benediction to his listeners. On

Hungarian Cardinal Nears His Sixth Christmas Behind Strong Steel Door

BUDAPEST, Dec. 22 (AP)—The Hungarian Cardinal Mindaenty, who has been behind the steel door for six Christmases, is approaching his sixth Christmas behind the steel door.

The bank-vault like door is the only entrance to the three-room apartment in the U. S. legation where Mindaenty has found refuge since the 1956 Hungarian revolution.

The steel door of the legation's third floor has a tough combination lock. A strong twist trigger mechanism looks a strong twist trigger mechanism.

There has been hopes Mindaenty might celebrate this Christmas outside the steel door.

But the U. S. State Department's Deputy Press Secretary Cyril Kallal said Hungary was prepared to negotiate Mindaenty's fate with the United States. Speculation ran high there. Some talk of secret negotiations, a bargain, a pardon, freedom.

But Kallal said the cardinal's fate is worked up in the whole bundle of American-Hungarian relations. Mindaenty's future would have to be decided in talks warning the chilly U. S.-Hungarian relationship.

Observers said such talks would take months. They said it will be well into 1963, if at all, before something could be done for the cardinal.

Mindaenty is not disturbed by the cardinal's sources close to him said. His life behind the steel door goes on. It is the first time of a man on a desert island.

His island is the U. S. legation. Around it is a sea of communism. At sundown each day Mindaenty, protected by a legation official at his side, walks to the limits of the island. He strolls for exactly 30 minutes in an outdoor courtyard which is not a cherry place. It has no greenery. It is overlooked by a Hungarian apartment house in which the lower two floors "win-

Ford Studies Marts, Slates Bid for 1963

DETROIT, Dec. 22 (AP)—The Ford Motor company, with most development work completed, is expected to introduce its new Cardinal automobile next summer as a last model in the foreign economy class market.

Market research analyst for Ford are keeping close tabs on the sale of small imports. On these reports will hinge the decision whether to produce the Cardinal in this country.

Ford is trying to avoid making the same mistake twice. It was burned in 1961 when it introduced the now famous Essex just before the bottom fell out of the medium price car market.

If buying habits should shift again to larger cars Ford is expected to put the Cardinal project in mothballs so far as this country is concerned.

But the setting is the car will be introduced and will probably sell for about $1,200, slightly below the German Volkswagen.

Reports are rampant on the design and engineering features of the Cardinal which have been in development since 1960.

From all that can be determined while driving the car and seeing the specifications, it appears the Cardinal will be slightly larger and carry a somewhat peppier engine than the VW.

Agreement in Congo Would Be Great Victory for U.N.

BY J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

If the Thombe-Adoula agreement in the Congo is made to stick it will represent a great victory for the United Nations. Whether it will stick is a grave question.

As one state department representative said, it does seem too good to be true.

Thombe appeared gloomy after the agreement was signed. He had a right to be for he had acquired to be an independent chief of state. If Congolese federalization goes through, he will be only a secondary figure at best.

As for the practical chances that the agreement will ever be implemented, there are important factors which now impel Katanga President Moise Thombe toward compliance which did not exist on other occasions when he has agreed, only to renege him self as soon as he was back home.

United Nations troops now occupy the Katanga capital and perhaps more importantly the "finer capital" in the office of the Union Miniere, vast European-controlled enterprise.

Thombe referred to the necessity of submitting his new agreement to his cabinet, where several extremists will oppose it to the last ditch. But Thombe's true future course is more likely to be decided by the French, British and Belgian business interests without which his secessionist movement would have been dead long ago.

Nor will the future of the Congo be finally decided even if Thombe abides by his agreement to federate under the Leopoldville government of Premier Cyrille Adoula.

The pro-communists in Katanga and the north are still to be reckoned with. What the Soviet Union will do for them

Sad Holiday Expected for Bilked Town

ST. MARY'S, Pa., Dec. 22 (AP)—The holiday season will be a hard time for many people in this town because of the loss of the community's main source of income. The three partners of the community are in financial straits because of the extent of about $1 million dollars.

Some 70 of this town's 8,000 residents had invested in the community and many may lose their life savings.

"It's beyond belief that something like this could happen to a community so highly regarded for 40 years," observed Clarence J. Arrighetti, who said he will lose about $8,000.

So far, two officials of the firm have been charged with fraud and investigators say more arrests may be made.

The financial collapse is more than a loss of money to Raymond J. Supprecht and his brother, A. J. Supprecht. Raymond lost $7,000 and A. J. undischarged life annuity. Their brother, George, 62, is accused of fraud.

George Supprecht was president of an organization that controlled all three firms and in its own name was in a poor condition. He can't be located.

The other official, Carl J. Gorn, 55, is free on a $1,000 bond. He was treasurer of the holding organization.

Records Set For 1961 by State Taxes

CHICAGO, Dec. 22 (AP)—New or higher taxes on everything swelled the income of state governments to a record 19 billion dollars in 1961.

"That is a billion increase over 1960 collections, an analysis by a Commerce clearing house, a private reporting firm on tax and business law, showed Thursday.

The upturn in state taxation was noted in two-thirds of the 48 states where legislative sessions were held this year. Virginia and Kentucky did not have sessions in 1961 and 16 other states passed no tax legislation considered significant by the reporting firm.

Major tax moves included: a 20 per cent sales tax adopted in Texas and a commutator's income tax approved in New Jersey.

Passage of the sales tax in Texas brought to 38 the number of states using that form of taxation. The New Jersey tax withholds funds to finance transportation projects between the states.

Throughout the nation, the average per capita state tax burden increased to $106 — more than $4 higher than the 1960 level.

The moves included adoption of withholding taxes on income taxes by five states, bringing the total to 27. The Ades tax was broadened in seven states; cigarette taxes increased in 17 states — the increase ranging from one to four cents a package; and gasoline taxes were upped in six states.

Producer Checks Mexican History

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Alvaro Custodio, an imaginative director-producer, has been drawing on the history and mythology of Mexico's pre-Columbian past for theatrical use.

At the Pyramid of the Sun north of here, he recently staged a play, "Moctezuma II, based on Aztec mythology. It was so successful that Custodio now is planning another Aztec spectacle called "When Men Became Gods."

The second play will depict the life and mythology of the lost Aztec empire. Custodio said the costumes will be authentic, as will the music, the instruments, the dances and the ritual feats.

GOOD WILL

TOWARD MEN

United, which, unlike most airlines, does the bulk of its own food preparation, now has 15 kitchens serving major air terminals — the largest at Chicago's O'Hare field which puts 100 meals on UAL flights daily. United insists that running its own food department is more economical and that quality is easier to control.

In 25 years, the airline estimates it has served 86.5 million meals. In 1960 alone, it spent $1 million dollars on passenger food that added up to such astronomical-gastronomic items as 10 million cups of coffee and 20,000 steaks.

Through the years, United has found that the best gender/meal was the most popular number of the 20 entrees offered. The most unpopular was entirely eliminated from menus — was chicken pot pie. All steaks are served medium-rare, which research showed was the preference of most passengers.

The chefs work closely with reservations in meal planning. Every flight kitchen gets an estimate and flight load early in the morning of a scheduled departure. A revised estimate comes two hours before the flight starts and there is a final food count one hour and 15 minutes before the plane departs. A new menu for a noon flight is ready by 10:30 a.m.

United naturally admits that while passengers are nice, they can have larceny in their pockets. In 1959, for example, 100,000 pieces of silverware disappeared from its aircraft, plus $100,000 in cash.

The airline still is trying to figure out alcoholic beverage preferences of passengers which seems to vary not only by cities, but the direction of flight.

On planes going west from Washington, for example, bourbon is the overwhelming choice. But east-bound passengers prefer Scotch.

"Why, I have never been able to determine," commented Washington chef Edward H. Gerber. "The flights going in and out of New York, the ratio is exactly opposite—most west-bound passengers like Scotch and east-bound go more for bourbon."

One little-known fact about airplane meals: the captain and pilot always are served different menus. This is to guard against any possibility that both might be stricken with food poisoning.

Plant Will Make Folding Cartons

TACOMA, Dec. 22 (AP)—The Weyerhaeuser company says it will start making folding cartons about April 1 next, which it will build in Olympia.

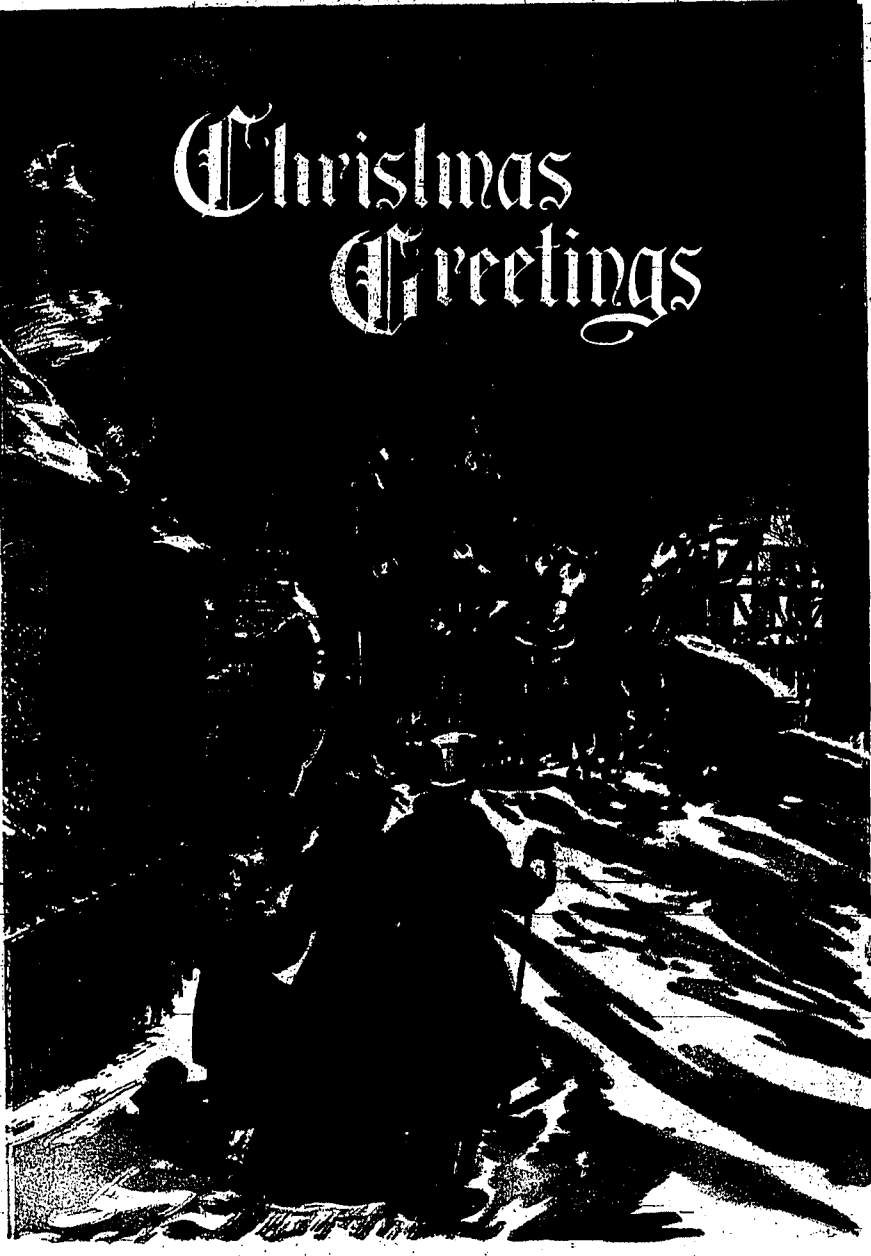

The plant will be on a site adjoining Weyerhaeuser's Olympic container plant, 25. A. J. Weyerhaeuser, general manager of West Coast operations for the firm, said the folding carton division, which has been operating since 1954, will have a capacity of 100 million cartons plants, but none in the Pacific Northwest.

Take It From Cathy

Dear Cathy: I started working at a soda fountain two weeks ago. My first job and I was thrilled until my waitress expected extra scoops of ice cream in their sodas, and even free drinks and cones.

I feel guilty because I give more and more away but I don't know how to stop. I have even thought of quitting.—Dede

Dear Dede: Do something in a hurry or you won't be able to quit, getting that job. Being fired for dishonesty will cause you to lose more prestige with your so-called "friends" than demanding the money they honestly owe.

Stop immediately! When you accept a job, an employer expects you to protect his money, property and general interests in every possible way. This adult attitude was expected of you when you were hired.

The freeloading customers are treating you like a child playing "store." Face the fact that this isn't a game. It's dishonesty and stealing in combination with cowardice. You are giving other things that aren't yours in return for temporary popularity.

The fact that you shouldn't do this isn't news to anyone. Now let them know you won't. Learn to say "no" and stick to it. The first "no" might be difficult, but after that it will give you tremendous satisfaction.

News About Stamps

A native policeman on traffic duty at the Douglas and Milwaukee streets intersection of Port Moresby is the main design for a new stamp to be issued early in 1962 by Papua and New Guinea.

The 3-shilling stamp will be added to the regular definitive issues. The policeman's duty depleted on this stamp is Constable Ragsa Amis Matia of Anuli village.

Also from the South Pacific area comes word that two new postage stamps will be issued by the Norfolk Island post office in 1962 showing illustrations of native flowers. One features the Passionflower and the other a Rose Apple.

The National Stamp News of Anderson, S. C., one of the top philatelic publications, has purchased the Weekly Philatelic Gossip (established 1914) of Portland, Kans. The Gossip will be discontinued and the subscription list added to that of the National Stamp News.

In continuation of their portrait series featuring world-famous Germans, the postal administrations of West Germany and Berlin have issued three new stamps honoring Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, Ludwig van Beethoven and Heinrich von Kleist, reports the World Wide Philatelic agency. Each of these stamps will be dually issued and marked from West Germany and West Berlin.

Also scheduled for issuance is a so-called adhesive depicting starving war beggars for food. The inscription reads "Brot fur die Welt." Literally the translation means "bread for the world," but the postal officials declare that it stands for a deeper significance: to help combat the plight of the hungry all over the world.

Teen-Agers Can Be Introduced To Hobby Kit

CHICAGO, Dec. 22 (AP)—The fascinating world of space-age electronics can be introduced to the science-minded teen-ager this Christmas through a new, realistic hobby kit.

It can be used for stores of home projects demonstrating basic principles of electronics. Among them: using sunlight to power a radio, building a detector or burglar alarm, constructing an airplane motor or electronic thermometer.

The "100-in-1" Electronic Lab, a product of Knight-Kit, is complete in every detail and requires no previous electronic experience or knowledge. The only tool needed is a screwdriver. In 10 minutes, the kit takes the hobbyist from simple circuits, such as a central radio-buzz in 10 minutes, to more complex designs using modern transistors and vacuum tubes.

Work Done on Floor Pays Off in Beauty for Home

The beauty of hardwood floors will endure through winter traffic, even wet winter traffic, with simple but regular, intelligent care. Hardwood floors have been accused of being difficult to maintain.

Undoubtedly the winter season is hard on all floors. Kicks or rags at entrance doors do trap some of the snow, mud, grit and ice-melting chemicals. These rags, however, must be kept clean, too, either by washing, vacuuming, or vigorous shaking.

Depending on the amount of traffic, wood floors will need daily or every-other-day thorough vacuuming. The vacuum whisks up the small debris like the end of a crayon, paper scraps and so on — things a dust mop just cleans around. Many vacuum cleaners have a floor brush and it's a simple matter to shift from one attachment to another as you slide from rug to wood.

Most floor maintenance experts agree that a waxed finish protects and adds to the beauty of wood.

If you have a goodly area of hardwood floors to cover, the experts strongly recommend acquiring a home-size electric polisher and using it frequently to rebuff the waxed finish.

Ceiling Bypassed In Most Projects

What's overhead is frequently the most overlooked part of the room in a remodeling or redecorating project.

Aside from carefully selected lighting fixtures, the ceiling generally gets bypassed while all other areas of the room get the beauty treatment. Actually, with materials like ceramic tile available in such a wide range of colors, textures and sizes, there's no reason why a drab ceiling can't be "elevated" to a position of unrequited interest and beauty.

Easy-to-clean materials like ceramic tile on ceilings are practical as well as decorative, since real tile can be kept like new with occasional damp dusting.

'Gunsmoke' Gang Returns In Character Off Stage

BY BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 22 (AP)—You've got to say one thing for the "Gunsmoke" gang: They stay in character.

Very viewer of the Saturday Night western knows this. I recalled it anew when I called on the laments troupe to hear about their windfall.

It had been reported that Dennis Weaver, Amanda Blake and Melburn Stone had sold out their interests in "Gunsmoke" for a million dollars apiece. James Arness had previously made his own deal with CBS, also for a fabulous amount.

The trio confirmed the transaction when I visited their Dodge City dignities. They reacted in character; Chester was cheerful, Doc was grumpy and Kitty was flirty.

Kitty was in the makeup department, awaiting her call to the Long Branch saloon. I asked her if the million-dollar figure was true.

"I guess so," she said airily. "At least that's what my business manager tells me. It doesn't make much difference to me as long as I get my money."

As for Chester, he was bright and cheery, partly because of his financial gain, partly because of his new adventure. He is finishing out his last year on the show.

Monique Is Fighting Old Star "Demon"

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (AP)—Monique Van Vooren, a blonde Belgian bombshell who has done very nicely as a supercilious, haughty and coldly elegant, is currently engaged in fighting that old demon, typecasting.

This is a complicated process, involving a determined effort to eliminate her French—or Belgian—accent and to find parts remote from characters which could also be played by, for example, the blonde Gene Marandino and, once upon a time, Bill D'Orsay.

"I've identified with France," complained Miss Van Vooren "and have a pretty face, you are always in comedy, always the foil for a comedian. If you can lose the French accent, you can do almost anything."

At the moment, Miss Van Vooren's accent still slowly suggests the hand of her nationality and with her pale hair and violet eyes, she is fat and voluptuous. But on Sunday night, in NBC's "Show of the week" series, she will play a subtle dramatic, non-comedy, non-singing role. She will, in fact, play a spy of the Marie Her type in glasses and a dark wig, in a drama called "Trick or Treason."

HELEN HAYES
... will be hostess of a special Christmas eve program, "Coveney Christmas" to be presented Sunday on the CBS television network. "Coveney Christmas" is a 15th century miracle play of the nativity, featuring the Marquette players of Marquette university. (Staff engraving)

DRAMA IN TWO ACTS: Culprit, left, used the corner of this tweed-upholstered sofa as a scratching post. Homeowner, right, fitted the sofa with an alternative, smooth cotton slip cover, easy to pin-fit to the cushions. Special sofa looks fine, cat leaves it alone.

Philosophic Attitude for Animals in Home Needed

Animal-sheltering households have to adopt a philosophic attitude toward their home furnishings' life expectancy. If you add children to the animal or vice versa even greater calm is required to deal with the wear and tear these conditions impose on upholstered furniture.

There are extraordinary homes where damask and velvet upholstery are combined successfully with growing children and loving animals.

A linen cupboard door open a crack is an invitation to a three legged to stretch out on the towel.

If this sounds a little too much like a home, perhaps you'll be interested in a couple of ideas to protect these four-footed boarders in their places. A homemaker whose cat had been using her modern tweed upholstered sofa as a scratching post made two discoveries when she decided to slip cover the damage upholstery.

Contemporary furniture padded and cushioned with foam rubber has slim straight lines and, usually, 10 or 12 cushions which are particularly easy for a beginner to slip cover. She did a creditable job following instructions in a pamphlet obtained from a sewing center.

The fabric is a closely woven, smooth-pollished cotton. Although her family and friends like the new covers, the cat didn't. No place to sink a claw.

Better yet, many of these smooth surface fabrics are also treated to repel soil and resist stains. Another animal-sheltering homemaker reports success.

Author Takes Hard Look At Fluent Texas Society

The Super-American by John Bainbridge (Doubleday): An amusingly acid study of the affluent society of the great South which it is traditionally the most affluent of the oil-soaked plains and the boom-adjacent portions of Texas.

Bainbridge, a New York author, spent nine months examining his subject. The brain child of this generation may not rank as a subtle sociological report, but it will do until one comes along.

Bainbridge's Texas is a land where the amenities of great wealth mingle with the unbridled forthrightness of the frontier, where hildes that seem rhinoceros may prove to be sandpaper-sensitive in some areas, where rigid conservatism cross-fertilizes breezy individualism.

Although there is a lot of "talk-talk" in Mr. Bainbridge's commentary on Texas, there's also a good deal of "wow!"

An Good read by Thomas J. Fleming (Doubleday): A fictional account of a large city in the grip of a political machine run by a boss of the type now out of vogue. The story concerns chiefly Ben O'Connor, who runs the 15th ward. Fleming has drawn a finely detailed picture of Ben's business and personal life with accent on his devotion to the organization and its devious methods of staying in power.

Ben's sons—Paul, the priest, and Jake, somewhat of an education officer, do not approve of what is going on and give their strong-minded father a rough time in widely different ways.

Fashions Trends Are Not Secret

By JEAN HERRIN WILSON
 AP Fashion Writer
 NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (U.P.)—Fashion trends are not much of a secret despite the cloak and dagger intrigue dramatically surrounding Parisian and American couture collections.

The color industry informs the textile industry of the new approved hues for the forthcoming year. A year ahead the textile industry informs the customer of the technical improvements which will make new types of material, and therefore new styles, possible.

The designer suggests fabrics he'd like to work with a few seasons hence, until nearly everybody has received information to know a long time in advance as to which way the fashion wind blows.

The direction in 1963 is to find more cooperative colors, classic style lines without radical changes in silhouette, executed in simple, figure-clinging yard goods.

Rudy Semler, a textile expert, Madge Wilson, a color card association executive, and Bill Bliss, a designer, agree on this:

"Clothes will have to be more romantic with ample flowing lines because we are making every-thing finer with much finer yarns for use tomorrow," Semler says.

"New colors for the fall of '63 are cherry, red, true blue, hunter green, clear colors but not as gaudy as they have been," indicates Miss Wilson.

She is director of the Color Information Association, an organization of the nation's major manufacturers who decided in 1952 to introduce a mutually agreed-upon color card each year. As a result, accessory manufacturers are able to match coats and dresses with the appropriate hats, gloves, shoes and jewelry.

"It will be a period of more conforming clothes," Bill Bliss says. He has finished his spring '61 collection and is now working on fall. "I'm expecting our first lady's good taste to have a continuing good effect."

Groucho Marx Plans "Comeback"

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 22 (U.P.)—Groucho Marx is leaving retirement after less than a year to return to the television waves with a new show.

As of Jan. 11, the first famous of the Marx brothers will star in "It's It to Groucho," a mélange of humor, information and outrageous advice to the frustrated.

The new program is best explained by newspaper advertisements in the Los Angeles area. They read:

"Would you like to be a contestant on the new Groucho Marx show?"

"Are you an inventor needing backing?"

"Have you got a great idea?"

"Have you got a great complaint?"

"Have you an unusual hobby or talent?"

"Do some of our laws need changing?"

"You can see Groucho sharpening his barb for the witless souls who come to him for on-the-air counseling."

"Basically, I'll be trying to help people with their problems," Groucho said with a wicked gleam in his eye. "My solutions will probably be as wacky as your situations."

"Some of the guests will be well known. For instance Vincent Price takes part in one show discussing modern art—which to me is the biggest joke in history."

"Another guy is famous for painting pictures with a bucket of worms. He turns the worms loose on a canvas covered with dirt and paint. Then he sells the pictures for as much as $1,000 each. Can you imagine calling something like that art?"

Groucho said he will try to provide controversy as well as laughs on the half-hour series.

and will bring people to Hollywood from all over the country. "I'm doing something entirely different from the old show," he added.

"We've discarded the secret word, the quiz, the duck, Grant's tomb and Penman."

Doctor Shows Being Kidded

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (U.P.)—Whenever a variety show needs a subject to satirize in a sketch, the first place the writers look is at television itself, and usually at TV commercials.

This season, there is the usual amount of kidding the commercials, but there has been a sharp diminution of kiddings drawing a bead on the Wild West-gun programs, popular in other years. The popular item this season is the spoof of the new, well-received doctor ads.

It is with good reason that satirical kiddings follow beaten paths. It isn't that there aren't plenty of fertile areas around for such treatment. It is that the mass audience wouldn't understand what it was all about if the subject has had little TV exposure.

Preminger Film 'Gets the Bird'

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 22 (U.P.)—Producer-director Otto Preminger knows how to make a picture that gets the bird.

While shooting "Advise and Consent" on location off Annapolis, Md., Preminger thought a scene aboard a destroyer would be better with seagulls in the background. But there were no seagulls.

Preminger ordered a prop man to throw a dozen loaves of bread on the water. Within a minute the birds were on hand and shooting continued.

An excellent case in point was Bob Hope's sketch last week, a spoof of a new hit movie called "The Hustlers."

All the hi-jinks took place in a pool hall. Bob Hope was ridiculed around the billiard and sported a curly wig. It may have been hilarious for the comparatively handful of viewers who had seen the movie and knew that Bob was caricaturing Jackie Gleason, one of the stars. But for the millions who haven't yet caught "The Hustlers," the sketch was not only meaningless but extremely unfunny.

X-15 ROCKET is the subject of the drama "X-15" which starts this week at the Motor-Vue theater. David McLean, one of the show's stars, stands in his flying suit near the speedy plane. (Staff engraving)

'X-15' Rocket Story Timely Film Release

With America's fabulous X-15 rocket ship constantly in the world's headlines, the timeliness of the movie telling its story is exciting and fortunate for both Frank Sinatra's E-C productions, makers of "X-15," and to the general public.

Filmed in Panavia and Technicolor, "X-15" was produced with the cooperation of the national aeronautics and space administration, the department of defense, the air force, navy and north American Aviation, Inc. It is the headline-hot suspense drama of the men and women involved in the project to put the world's first pilot controlled rocket plane into the fringes of outer space at speeds of 4,000 miles per hour.

Although designed as entertainment, "X-15" is not fiction, where it deals with the scientific and factual side, and the moviegoer will see film never before released, photographs in space during actual tests of the real X-15.

David McLean, Charles Bronson, James Gregory and Mary Tyler Moore star in "X-15" but consider themselves only supporting players to the film's real star: the sleek, swift, black, bold X-15 itself: America's record breaking space ship.

Small Town Mart Is Teeming Spot

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Dec. 22 (U.P.)—One marketing survey shows the small town market is teeming with home appliances of all types.

The survey, by Girl's Publishing company, shows that 74.5 percent of the families in small towns own washers; 26.1 per cent own dryers; 32.5 per cent own food freezers — and almost all own refrigerators and television sets.

Ample Supply of Poultry Forecast

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (U.P.)—The supply of poultry and poultry products will be excellent in 1963, reports the U.S. department of agriculture.

"The economic research service estimated there will be 323 eggs, seven pounds of turkey and 25 pounds of ready-to-cook broiler for every person in the country."

The department's monthly list of plentiful included these foods in good supply in January: grapes, honey apples, potatoes, pecans, frozen and canned red cherries and cherry products, and lemons.

"Silly Season" Is on; Stars Battle for Oscars
HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 23 (AP)—The silly season is under way in L.A. town with stars jockeying for position in the 1961 Oscar derby.
Stars, producers, directors and studios attempt to "buy" academy awards by advertising in the two movie trade papers, "Hollywood Reporter" and "Daily Variety."
Dozens of performers begin blowing their own horns before they have been nominated, hoping the ads will put them in the running. If this seems a blatant device for helping honors upon oneself, remember that actors are a cunning lot (as are directors, lyricists, wardrobe specialists and others who spend fortunes on these ads).
But none of them have the gall to come out with an honest add reading:
"Did you catch my work in 'The Monster From Walla Walla'?"

Oscar Hopefuls Play Attorneys
HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 23 (AP)—Two of this year's leading Oscar contenders both portray defense attorneys for villains in German courtrooms.
Erik Douglas is the attorney in "Town Without Pity" and Maximilian Schell is the lawyer in "Judgment at Nuremberg."

Savings Tip
NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (AP)—How much should you save?
Some financial experts recommend that as an adequate reserve, you ought to have from three to six months' salary in your savings account to meet emergencies.

CHRISTMAS DRAMA
HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 22—"The Saltmaker's Christmas Eve," an absorbing drama of human nature and spiritual revelation, with music especially composed by Norman Delo Joffe, 1957 Pulitzer prizewinner, will be presented on "Directions '62" Sunday, Dec. 24 on ABC-TV.

Mallet Men New to Record Scene, but They Can Stay

Popular:
By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER
The Mallet Men and their orchestra are newcomers to the recording scene but they are welcome to stay a while...
Capitol records chose the Mallet Men as one of the groups to introduce the company's new "Shaged for stereo" line.
The sound reproduced by Capitol is lifelike and brings the company in line with some of the smaller firms which have spent much of their resources in developing their own sound.
Perkussion is the vehicle of the Mallet Men and they use it enthusiastically in interpreting the 12 popular numbers on this LP which will delight sound addicts and dance fans alike (Capitol STAC-3277).
The realistic too, is RCA Victor's "Stereo Action" project, "Paradise Regained" by Leo Addeo (RCA Victor TBA-214) is an outstanding LP recorded in this process. The music is Polynesian and somewhat percussive. Reproduction of "Lovely Hula Bands" and other numbers by Addeo and his orchestra has so much presence that the listener can almost "see" the dancing girls.
"Christmas With the Louvin Brothers" (Capitol ST 118) is somewhat different yuletide offering. The familiar carols are sung in so-called "country music" style.
"The Atom" by Bob Harter with Dickson Hall and his Mountainers. (Goth Fox 311). This is not a pleasant subject, the bomb, but it's a provocative record.

Head Full of Rollers at Breakfast Not Necessary

With children to dress, a husband to get off to work, and breakfast to cook, a housewife has little time for morning glamour.

Still no man should be expected to stare across the breakfast table at a sloppy robe and a head full of rollers.

Time is important. You can look neat and attractive without losing much of that valuable morning commodity—time. It takes no longer to slip into a pretty blouse than it does to don a wornout robe. And if you have a hairdo that you can easily handle yourself, you won't need to show up in curlers.

Here's a hair style that was created for a young model, who is also a busy housewife. The style consultant for the Lilt Reference service calls his creation a "hallo" for housewives. The wife. It's a hallo that can easily be managed in the morning, and it's particularly versatile to be brushed into an evening set without spending the afternoon in rollers.

Because it was important in her modeling career, the young housewife refused to have her shoulder-length hair cut to a more manageable length.

The consultant insisted on a publication look permanent in order to give the hallo the necessary body for a "do-it-for-mornings and an 'up-do' for evenings."

Camouflaged Setting
The morning hallo was a camouflaged setting for the evening version. Instead of using rollers, he artfully spun the hair into rolls, which were held in place by carefully hidden bobby pins. The crown was rolled into two rows of puff, one overlapping the other. The sides were turned into floozies, allowing hair to fall over the ears. The back was pinned up in a series of little buns, and the entire hallo lightly sprayed.

Three hours later, pins were removed and the hair brushed into a charming French twist for evening.

When the model was asked to try the hair styles herself, she was able to do the morning style in five minutes, and to brush it into the evening style in 10 minutes.

If this little time is needed to keep long hair attractively styled all day, it should be even simpler if your hair is short. A soft permant to give it body, and an expertly styled cut that you can brush into place quickly should do the trick. And the hardware can be dispensed with at the breakfast table.

ANY WOMAN should be able to do her own hair. But this is particularly true of the young housewife, who is often tied to hearth and home for days on end. This girl is both model and housewife.

Slow Pace Was Forced On Author

PRINCETON, N.J., Dec. 22 (AP)—In author John O'Hara's study here there is a photograph of the late humorist and long-time O'Hara friend, Robert Benchley, standing with his arm tucked Napoleon-fashion in the long admiral's coat he is wearing.

Benchley smiles proudly, oblivious to the fact he is not wearing trousers. "This was at a party. He was tight," O'Hara explains. "The party was over when Benchley died in 1947. O'Hara told the Princeton Packet in an interview. The newspaper said he speaks now about a quieter, mellower 'new O'Hara' in sharp contrast to his days as the nightclub hit and show-bizding companion of almost everybody who was anybody in the twenties and thirties. "But the real break came later," he continued. "I nearly died eight years ago. My doctor and she is adept at handling her own hair. She pins up her long hair in the morning. At breakfast, it looks luscious. Fuffs serve as basic setting for evening hallo. She wears her hair in French twist.

Tooth Extraction For Child Lower

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (AP)—Tooth extraction is declining where children are concerned, American pedodontists, specialists in children's dentistry, report that dentists do not extract children's teeth unless it is absolutely imperative.

Generally, the dentist prefers to fill a small cavity in a child's baby tooth. "It is used to hurt, never winning an award," he says. USE TIMES-NEWS WANT ADS.

Infamous Day at Pearl Harbor Is Subject of Movie's Story

"I Bombed Pearl Harbor," the dramatic and suspenseful epic filmed in Japan and in the Pacific brings back vivid memories of the dim and apprehensive days of early World War II. Undetected, the Japanese task force made its approach run through the final darkness, and at 6:00 a.m. Hawaiian time, the first wave of the main body, 183 planes in all, was flown off carrier decks. They sighted the north point of Oahu at 7:50 and then split up—the dive bombers toward the bases of Hickam field, Wheeler field, and Ford Island, where the unaltered American planes were neatly aligned on the ground, torpedo planes, followed by horizontal bombers, continued on the attack on the sitting fleet . . . and behind them came the Japanese fighters ready to put down any American opposition which might get into the air. In "I Bombed Pearl Harbor," American movie-goers will see this attack as it was seen through the eyes of the enemy. The whole of this great force was flying within a few minutes against every important military installation on the island. One hour later came the second wave, 84 horizontal bombers, 81 dive bombers and 36 fighters.

... to reinforce the attack off the main fleet and destroy winter had been missed. A fire in the attack, which came at 9:15 a.m., was beaten back by anti-aircraft fire. "I Bombed Pearl Harbor" does full justice to the events of that incredible day, and the days that followed.

On My Own Time

BY BOB HARTLEY

It's housecleaning time for television networks and included in first of the year changes are some surprises. CBS is dropping "The Investigators" and the hour will be filled by "The Gertrude Berg Show" and the new "Tid" to "The Dick Van Dyke Show" will move to Wednesday night and an evening version of "Password" will start Jan. 2 on Tuesday nights. NBC's big impending change involves the longtime afternoon serial "Young Doctor Malone." Malone will be replaced by an audience participation show, "Your First Impression." The network reportedly is being flooded with complaints over the change. Over at ABC "The Roaring 20s" will vanish this month, to be replaced with "Calvin and the Colonel," a cartoon series, and a new situation comedy, "Room for One More." Steve Allen's show also departs this month, but to replacement has been found.

When we discovered the total number of local women belonging to the women's international bowling congress was just about dropped a frame, it develops that 1,000 local women have membership in that organization which gives you an idea of how many dives are left in the sink at bowling time. Credit for this total must go to local bowling proprietors and association officers who apparently have done a whole of a job of promotion and organizing.

When CBS "Sunday Sports Spectacular" returns Jan. 7, a familiar face and voice will be missing. Bud Palmer, one of the nation's top sportscasters, has moved to NBC and is doing Saturday basketball chores. His replacement will be Jack Whitaker. Two of Palmer's qualities that so many other sportscasters lack are explaining action which might confuse some persons, and refraining from using too much sports jargon.

Jazz music has so many facets it is bound to appeal in some way to shape of form to nearly everyone. This is the philosophy of Doug (Scotty) Clark who helped organize a jazz club in Twin Falls several weeks ago. It's been slow getting off the ground, but now has 25 regular members. Doug says he feels persons are scared by the term jazz, believing it to be something that is only for the young, but it's absolutely wrong. In an attempt to "educate" listeners to different jazz sounds he has initiated an hour-long jazz music program Friday night on KEEP radio. It is courageous of Scotty to push jazz the way he has, and we compliment him.

For those of you who thought Jack Webb faded with the Dragnet theme, you've been misled, because he's planning a television comeback next season. The show, if it gets sponsors, will be called "Jack Webb's True," and will be a one-hour show to consist of dramatizations of factual material culled from articles published over the years in True magazine. CBS will have the show. Some of True's excellent articles would make good television viewing.

"When is a woman at her most attractive?" This question was asked in a 10-year study on "Aging and the Ageless" by Chicago university. The average answering woman believes she is at her most attractive at 35, most confident at 38, in her prime at 40 and old at 70. There are a lot of years that are unaccounted for.

Next Christmas it may be your turn to be entertainment chairman for the office's family party. If this dubious honor appears to be heading your way, we have a suggestion. It is always a problem of how to entertain children and adults so that both understand and enjoy it. We had the good fortune to see and hear Irving McDonald, Eden, a talented musician, his act at a family-type gathering. He has performed several times this holiday season in Twin Falls. He does an amazing job of keeping children's attention, and for a brief program he can't be beat. He can baffles even the "know it all" adult. Got his name down: Irving McDonald, Eden.

When you throw away that recording by Nick LaRocca it probably cost you. Who's Nick LaRocca? Obviously you aren't a jazz fan, because his 1914 recording of "The Liveliest Blues—Faz Fret" and "The Blue Jazz Band and His Steps" were the first records made. A copy of the record has been donated by a Philadelphia investment broker to the Free Library of Philadelphia. Next time be more careful when you clean out the attic.

Television extends itself into many a nook and cranny in Idaho. In a survey by a firm it was learned that 83 per cent of Idaho homes have at least one TV set and 91 per cent of Idaho homes have at least one radio. The figures were: Number of homes, 196,100; homes with TV, 172,840, and homes with radio, 191,710.

With busy daily schedules at home, not just during the holiday season, the menu sometimes suffers; not intentionally, but as a direct result of crushing schedules. Apparently Alice and Betty Shelby have realized this because the past few weeks they have extended a helping hand via an advertisement in this section. The women have offered the homemaker suggestions for menus. We hope you have time from your busy schedule to peruse the list and find something refreshing. Our thanks to the Shelby women for this service to the busy housewife.

They say there are a great many things to be settled when getting a divorce. We suppose this means that arguments can be caused by such items as division of property, custody of children, etc. Well, a Los Angeles couple had "troubles" recently during negotiation for a divorce. Seems as though they both wanted the family dog, which was good old mutt. The woman won the ensuing court battle for custody—with visitation rights for the husband.

For a man with debatable talents, Jack Parr creates quite a stir now and then with his attacks on individuals and the press. The best definition of how his TV show comes out is that it is a show that has an appropriate comment for everything. He says, "Parr's show is a minefield with commercials."
