Smyle Plans Court Action Against Rule

POCATELLO, Jan. 26 (AP) — Gov. Robert E. Smyle has indicated he will appeal the ruling that boosted membership in Idaho's house of representatives. Smyle, addressing the Pocatello high school student body here yesterday, said he planned to ask Secretary of State Arnold Williams to appeal the recent district court ruling.

Third district Judge Merlin S. Young, who recently held in a summary judgment that the pending legislative apportionment law was unconstitutional, preventing Williams from using an earlier, 1941 law to certify legislative apportionment to the counties.

Williams said at Boise that it was his decision to make and "I don't know what I intend to do on it."

He said he may know in the next few days.

Young's decision, unless overturned by the state supreme court, will mean an increase of 20 members in the house of representatives next year.

Smyle also told the students that the outcome of the current meeting of the Organization of American States is vital to the U. S. position in the western hemisphere.

Smyle, who visited several South American countries in 1960, said the U. S. spent 100 billion dollars to perfect early warning systems in the Arctic while areas south of the border were not protected.

He said communism is creeping in from Cuba and if members of the OAS fail to condemn Cuba then the U. S. will be "an island of liberty surrounded by a sea of oppression."

Home Firm's Stockholders Lose Money

BUTTE, Mont., Jan. 25 (AP)—Home firm's stockholders have lost money but bond holders will make some recovery, John Newland, court appointed trustee for Hughes Homes Acceptance corporation, said Thursday.

The firm was involved in building sale and financing of prefabricated homes throughout the northwest.

Newland said he is handling affairs for all of the companies involved, which were accused of fraud in an injunction brought by the securities and exchange commission in U. S. district court in Butte July 25, 1961.

Named were four Hughes Homes Acceptance corporations, operating in Montana, Washington, Idaho and Wyoming, and the Hughes Home, Inc., the construction company. Also named was Ed O. Hughes, Jr., Butte, head of firms.

All of the firms eventually will be liquidated, Newland said. He would not say when this would happen or when he would complete a survey of the firm's assets as a liquidator.

Newland is making collections on mortgages and assisting some homeowners with refinancing.

He said liabilities total $14,673,000. U. S. Dist. Judge W. D. Murray confirmed Newland, an accountant, as liquidator. O. Hughes was appointed receiver earlier in the summer.

The SEC filed to restrain the corporations from alleged violation of the anti-fraud provisions of the securities act of 1933 and the act of corporations, debentures.

Material facts concerning the corporation's losses were kept from investors, the government charged, and the firms failed to maintain guaranteed collateral in the debentures at 100 per cent.

Newland said in some cases mortgages were sold, but they were not built. Total amount of 67 per cent was offered.

The federal complaint said debenture bonds of $200,000 sold to more than 600 Montanans were still outstanding. In addition there were more than 210 creditors.

Nation Braces for More Cold As Arizona Blow Heads East

By United Press International
The nation's mid-section braced itself today for an onslaught of frigid temperatures in the north and flood-causing rains in the south.

Thawing temperatures were the rule across the nation yesterday.

Cold-wave warnings were out for the Dakotas, northern Minnesota and parts of Montana, with frigid air expected to move southward by Saturday. Moderate to heavy rains were forecast for Oklahoma, Missouri and Arkansas.

A storm, which developed in Arizona and New Mexico during the night, headed toward the plains states. Schools were closed in northern Arizona when road conditions became so dangerous. Drifts piled three to five feet high in the Flagstaff area. Total snow on the ground was 23 inches at McNary, Ariz., and 28 inches at Mayerick.

Moderate to heavy rains were likely to melt considerable snow and bring flooding on small streams in Kansas and western Missouri.

A narrow band of sleet or freezing rain was forecast for parts of central Oklahoma into central Texas.

The frigid air moving into the north was expected to plunge the mercury to 15 below 20 below zero in North Dakota tonight. The cold air was to move southward in to the central plains tonight and Saturday.

Probably into Texas and the western gulf states by Saturday. In Texas seven persons were killed on rain-slick and foggy highways, five of them in one accident near Religio.

Winds as strong as 70 miles an hour were clocked during a west Texas rain storm.

Army engineers at St. Louis were hopeful a continuation of warmer temperatures would bring a break in the big ice gorges that has blocked tows and barge traffic on the Mississippi river above Cairo, Ill., for two weeks.

At Jackson, Miss., the Pearl river was more than 10 feet above flood level. The Big Muddy river was nearly eight feet above flood stage at Murphysboro, Ill., and authorities said the "rise would continue."

A crewman on a car ferry was washed across Lake Michigan yesterday to a hospital at Milwaukee, Wis., after ice prevented the vessel from docking at Muskegon, Mich.

Madison, and Milwaukee, Wis., and Evanston, Ill., reported fit outbreaks.

Dag's Death Due To Pilot's Error

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia, Jan. 25 (AP)—Pilot error probably was responsible for the airplane crash that killed U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld last September, an expert witness testified here yesterday.

Michael O'Donovan, central African aviation operations manager, told an inquiry board that a combination of air crew fatigue, a strange airport at Ndola in Northern Rhodesia and intensive flight security precautions created a "possible judgment of error on the pilot's part."

Federal officials did not disclose whether the stale blood, labeled as fresh, actually had harmed any of those receiving it.

Solon Blasts Trade Plans Of President

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—Henry Dvorzhak, R. Idaho, said Thursday that Idaho will become wilderness and ghost towns if the foreign trade program proposed to congress by President Kennedy becomes effective.

"Basic industries of our state," Dvorzhak said in a statement, "are already seriously curtailed by the loss of lumber, mining, livestock and other agricultural commodities."

"Further restriction of tariff protection for these Idaho industries will cause further loss of markets to foreign imports and will mean thousands of Idahoans out of work."

"Actually, in the case of Idaho, the foreign trade program is more than management of commerce and foreign affairs, it is management of people. Under his program he proposes that persons and areas engaged in industries that cannot compete with foreign imports be 'adjusted' to new trades or moved to more productive areas."

"Since it will be very difficult for even the new frontier to move Idaho's sawmills, shingle mills and other industries, his ultimate answer is to move Idaho people."

Directors of the Federal Land Bank association of Twin Falls have scheduled a parley on Wednesday, Jan. 25, at the Turf club, according to Jay H. Felt, manager.

Stockholders of the association are the Federal Land Bank of Twin Falls and Jerome counties. They will hear a report on the association's progress during the past year and elect three directors. Felt said.

Registration will get under way at 11:15 a.m. followed by a noon dinner and business session.

Hearing Waived On Check Count

Lynn Dale Johnson, 32, 218 Alexander street, Twin Falls, charged with lusting a check without funds in the bank, waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to district court Thursday by Probate Judge Zoe Ann Warberg.

The complaint states that Johnson cashed a $30 check at Jasper's Dry-ice, route 2, Piler, Dec. 25. This check was drawn on the Kimberly branch of the Twin Falls Bank and Trust company.

Johnson is in Twin Falls county jail in lieu of $400 bond set by Judge Warberg.

Guatemala Says Castro Reds Smuggle Guns in Death Plot

GUATEMALA CITY, Jan. 29 (AP)—The government charged today that "Castro Communists" have been smuggling arms into Guatemala as part of a plot to assassinate President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes and other key leaders.

The report sent to congress last night by the minister of defense, said that the plot was discovered by the military police on Wednesday night's assassination of secret police chief Ramonito Gonzalez, which led the government to put Guatemala on a virtual war footing.

Newspapers linked the kidnapping of Juan Mil Brzezinski, a well-known businessman, with the report of terror. Mil was snatched outside his home yesterday by four unidentified men who bundled him into a waiting automobile and drove away.

An official communication appeared to the Guatemalan people today to "aid Castro, communism and its efforts to gain power in Guatemala and Central America."

A 30-day "state of siege" modified martial law was proclaimed as a result of the Gonzalez killing. It forced the postponement of all demonstrations scheduled here, including an anti-communist mass-meeting called to repudiate Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

Two hundred secret policemen swore on the body of their slain leader last night that they would track down the two tommy-gunners who killed him.

"We have descriptions of the killers and of the car they used," said special investigations chief Jorge Cordova Molina. "We are going to capture them."

"There were at least 12 eye-witnesses," he added.

Freeman, extension soil specialist at the University of Idaho. Donald Youz, Twin Falls county agent, was chairman of the session. Harder spoke on "Physical and chemical properties of soils" and Bakes explained the use of plant tissue analysis. (Staff photo-engraving)

Soil Testing Fairly New in Idaho, Specialist Says at Training Parley

Soil testing is fairly new in Idaho, states Charles G. Painter, extension soil specialist at the University of Idaho. Soil tests for determining available plant nutrients and other soil conditions affecting plant growth have been used in Idaho for more than 20 years. Considerable progress has been made during this time, and yet as far as soil testing is concerned we may consider it as fairly new, Painter said.

Painter said final testing methods and the best correlations between tests and increased yields to be expected from fertilizer are probably years away. Painter made these statements at a training session for fertilizer dealers and extension agents, soil conservation service agents and agriculturists from other departments of agriculture services working with farmers on soils. Also attending were representatives of banks and loan agencies who work closely with farmers.

Painter encouraged the use of soil tests by all farmers in Idaho to determine soil fertility needs and to help diagnose soil problems that limit crop yield and quality. Each field should be checked every three years with a complete chemical analysis of the soil, as provided at the University of Idaho laboratory, to determine if a high fertility level is being maintained for production of a high yield and quality of crop, he said.

Other speakers at the training session were Roger Harder, associate professor of agronomy at the University of Idaho; Donald Bakes, agronomist of food processing division at the J. H. Simpson company, Burley, and Orval Hunter, California chemical company.

Harder talked on the physical and chemical properties of soils. Plot demonstrations was given by Hunter and Bakes explained the use of plant tissue analysis.

Report Says Farm Labor Total Drops

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The number of persons working on farms during the farm labor survey week of Dec. 24-30 totaled 5.1 million. This week historically is near the low point of the year for farm labor.

Nearly 4.2 million farm workers during the survey week were members of farm families. Hired hands totaled slightly more than 900,000.

Compared with a year earlier, the total number of workers was down nearly three per cent. Family workers were less numerous by three per cent. The hired hands exceeded the December, 1960, period by one per cent.

Farm wage rates on Jan. 1 showed slight but consistent increases over a year earlier. The U. S. composite rate per hour was 93.2 cents, compared to the 1961 average of 89.9 cents.

The index of the composite wage rate was 62 per cent of the 1910-14 base.

Sec. Freeman May Appoint Coordinator

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The agriculture department may soon appoint a special coordinator to direct and publicize federal programs for consumers, informed sources said today.

Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman was said to be ready to ask congress, in passing on his budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1, to approve appointment of a consumer program coordinator with a small staff.

Freeman hinted strongly at his plans last night in a speech at Trenton, N. J.

"I do not believe that it is about time now to begin organizing and coordinating the many and varied services which the department performs for the consumer," Freeman said.

He said the move would be designed to:

- Make sure that "vigorous action" is taken to protect and advance the consumers' interests; is continued.
- Provide consumers more information about services they can get and should expect.
- Pinpoint the need for additional services when the need arises.

Soviet Union Fails to Equal U. S. Farm Production in '61

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Soviet Union didn't make much progress toward equalling or even equalling U. S. farm production in the 1961-62 crop year, according to the foreign agricultural service.

With only a slight increase in production, 1961-62 was a disappointing year, particularly in light of the high goals of the Soviet's seven-year plan, 1959-1965.

The 1961-62 crop was slightly larger than those of the two previous years, and somewhat smaller

Deadline Given For Obtaining Trees in Area

SHOSHONE, Jan. 26 - Deadline for farm orders of winter break trees, particularly the variety of Idaho nursery in March 10, J. Howard Manning, Elmore county agent, reminds residents of the area.

Order forms go through the county agent's office to the supply store at Moscow where about 600,000 trees and 200,000 deciduous trees are available.

The trees are for windbreaks, woodlots and reforestation use. Some may be grown as Christmas trees. Regulations prohibit their use as ornaments or within cities for any purpose.

Vernon Burillon, extension forester, says the trees are delivered in the spring, during favorable weather for planting.

World's Livestock Boom Is Expected to Continue in '62

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The foreign agricultural service said today world trade in livestock and meat products will continue large during 1962.

World trade in meat rose from 4.6 billion pounds in 1955 to 6.5 billion in 1961. Imports by the United Kingdom, the largest importer, have remained fairly constant at 2.5 billion pounds. U. S. imports rose from 400 million pounds to more than one billion pounds last year, imports of other countries, mainly in western Europe, imported from 600 million pounds to more than 1.9 billion pounds.

FAB said U. S. production of beef, pork, tallow, greases, lard, and bovine hides and skins is expected to rise during 1962. U. S. production of lamb and wool may decline.

U. S. beef imports are expected to decline moderately in 1962. But year-end imports are expected to rise, particularly in the last half of the year. Even so, the United States is likely to continue to be the largest importer of beef cattle in 1962 should be considerably smaller than the record arrivals in 1961. Demand for beef in U. S. imports of beef in 1961 was due partly to low beef prices in the United Kingdom, where domestic production continues to rise because of large subsidies to livestock producers.

Area Potato Dealer Survey Shows Spud Market Is Slow

Potatoes are moving very slowly this week, three potato dealers stated during a survey by the Times-News. They said the price for potatoes is $1.25 to $1.50 for No. 1 and 40 cents for No. 2.

E. S. Harper said the movement of potatoes was generally slow all winter. One reason was a surplus of cheap eastern potatoes, he stated. He said the price for No. 1 was from $1.10 to $1.40 and 20 cents for No. 2.

Carl Gibb stated there are a lot of potatoes left in the country but the movement is very slow. He said his firm bought potatoes last week for $1.35 for No. 1 and 30 cents for No. 2.

Pig Farmers Are Warned Of Infection

DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 26—Farmers who bring newly-purchased pigs into their herds this winter without taking health precautions are running the chance of suffering heavy losses, according to a warning by the American Foundation for Animal Health.

A major threat right now is swine erysipelas, says the foundation. This disease is becoming more and more of a problem. It can affect up to 100 per cent of the herd, and can cause 25 to 50 per cent death losses if it goes untreated.

What warning signs of swine erysipelas should a farmer watch for? Scouring is one of the major symptoms. But other diseases also cause scouring, so a firm diagnosis is a veterinarian diagnose the disease, and then take proper treatment measures.

Owners should also make sure that pigs are bought from a reliable source. The foundation says newly-purchased pigs should be kept apart from the ones here for a period of weeks, because infected pigs may spread the disease even when they show symptoms."

Swine erysipelas is now becoming a real threat to hog raisers in many areas, and authorities urge producers to be more watchful of it.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hill, Rosewater, have purchased the W. R. Haught farm one and one-half miles south of Castledale. The Haughts will continue to live on the place for awhile.

Eight tractors of the Little Wood River valley are going to have their tractors in tip top shape to begin farm operations as soon as the snow melts. Their eight tractors are now housed in the work room of the Carey school, where they are working on them under the supervision of Carey high school instructor Bob Joby, as a part of the year's agriculture program.

Bill Poulton is staying out at his ranch eight miles west of Oakley during the cold weather to help keep his newborn calves from freezing.

Nell Durfee, Oakley, has sold several truckloads of cattle to Merrill Warr in Okla.

Jack J. Bruesch and William Bruesch, Almo, are trucking hay for their stock from Malta.

Thad Ward, Almo, is feeding a herd of cattle on the J. Henry Thompson ranch in Malta this winter.

The cold weather has brought added problems to farmers in Magic Valley. At Oakley, Clifford Durch is losing his milk because his large herd of dairy cows by hand because the cold temperatures freeze his milking machine.

Lambing operations also are being hampered by the freezing temperatures. At the John Bagtle ranch, near King Hill, newborn lambs are being warmed several times during the night with a ray lantern and more help is required in caring for the young lambs.

2 U.S. Departments Set Land Grazing Fee Study

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP)—The agriculture and interior departments have begun a study of the influence of public land grazing fees on the incomes of livestock raisers throughout the west.

The two agencies administer more than 222 million acres of public rangeland. On these lands last year, more than 45,000 western stockmen and ranchers paid fees to permit their animals to graze about 14 million cattle and 13 million sheep plus several million calves and lambs.

In making the study, economists enlisted the cooperation of 700 ranchers, and have chosen 75 to represent operations of different sizes and locations throughout the range country.

For each representative ranch, the economists will compare present ranch organization, income and costs with conditions which might result if changes were made in grazing fees or in the number of animals the rancher were permitted to graze on public lands.

Net Farm Income Increases In Response to Cash Market

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The agriculture department said today net farm income rose $1 billion in 1961 to a total of $12.7 billion under the impulse of larger cash marketings and an increase in government payments.

This was the highest total realized by farmers since 1953. The increase in net farm income was held to one billion dollars because farm production expenditures jumped $500 million over 1960.

Cash receipts from the marketing of farm products in 1961 exceeded the 1960 total by about $266 million. Government payments to farmers were up a like amount. The preliminary total of gross cash receipts was about $18 billion dollars. Of this, crops accounted for about 15.5 billion dollars and livestock for about 19.2 billion dollars.

The 24 per cent advance in net receipts during 1961 reflected both a higher average level of farm product prices and a larger volume of marketings. Prices received by farmers were up a little less than 1 per cent and the volume of marketings was up a little more than 1 per cent. For crops, prices received were up about 2 per cent and marketings were down slightly.

For livestock and products, the volume of marketings was up around 3 per cent, but prices received were down nearly 1 per cent.

The department said increase of 500 million dollars in farm production expenses during 1961 offset expenditures for a net total of 28.9 billion dollars. About half the increase was due to higher prices for production items, interest, taxes, and wages. The remainder of the increase resulted from more intensive production and the use of more goods and services from non-farm sources.

Even though the increase in production costs during 1961 exceeded the slight rise during 1960 from 1959, it was smaller than the gain in other recent years. Among major production items, feed, fertilizer, and farm machinery advanced, while livestock and seed prices declined somewhat. Farm wage rates rose 1 1/2 per cent over the year. Interest charges rose seven per cent and property taxes went up eight per cent.

The largest gain in cash receipts was registered for soybeans, followed by receipts for hogs. Both commodities sold for higher average prices in 1961 than the year earlier while hog marketings were about the same. Cash receipts for cotton, milk and feed, cattle and calves, and oranges also exceeded their 1960 values.

A message from the Treasury of a free people

How to open a freedom account in Washington, D.C.

All you need to open a freedom account is $18.75 and some of the old-fashioned patriotism that's helped make America the strong, free nation we live in today.

The $18.75 buys a U.S. Savings Bond that'll be worth $25.00 to you later on. So one thing you get from a freedom account is money.

But that's only part of what you get. The dollars you put into U.S. Savings Bonds give our Government the extra muscle it needs to preserve freedom for the future—the freedom that Jefferson, Paine, and Franklin helped to build for us.

You'll find your freedom account number on every U.S. Savings Bond you buy. It's just below and to the right of your name. (Pretty good proof of ownership, too.)

How about opening your account today?

Keep freedom in your future with

She's Lucky; Her Footage Stays in Film

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 26 (AP)—Carmen Phillips, a beautiful look-in-for-a-surprise—her footage in the movie "Reprieve" stays in the picture. Carmen is a girl with a natural talent as an offset comedienne. A cutting-room jinx has plagued her career. She scored in an early picture as Dean Martin's stoned girl friend in "Some Came Running." In "High School Confidential," she knocked herself out in a sequence with Jerry Lee Lewis—the rock 'n' roll singer. The notoriety knocked the sequence out of the movie. Next came "Bells Are Ringing" in which she had a top featured role, once more as Dean Martin's

Short Retirement Ends; Groucho's Back on TV

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—After one of the shortest retirements from weekly television on record, munched Groucho Marx has come back with a new show, "Tell It to Groucho."
Well, it's sort of a new show. It's name is new, it's on another network—CBS—after 11 years on NBC, and as Groucho explains, "We've discarded some of the things associated with the old show—the duck, the secret word and George Fenneman, our announcer—but it's recognizable."
It's still a game show with nominal amounts of money at stake. But Groucho's game has always been a flimsy unitary framework to support his humor, and the contestants have always been human walls of which the comedian blows his irreverent, sometimes fierce, and always decisive shafts.

Leona Gage Takes Acting Serious Now

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 26 (AP)—Leona Gage, 34, with many husbands and almost as much publicity as some stars, is embarking on what she calls "her serious attempt to make it as an actress."
Only 22 and strikingly beautiful, the onetime Miss U.S.A. for a day is studying drama night and working before the camera days with Vincent Price, Basil Rathbone and Peter Lorre in "Pete's Tales of Terror," a trilogy of Edgar Allan Poe's works. The tall brunette plays the title role in the "Morella" segment of the horror movie.
In 1947, at 16, Gage was Miss Maryland in the Miss Universe contest at nearby Long Beach. "I hid the fact that I was married because I was leaving my husband," she recalls. "It was just before we got to Los Angeles to support my sons. I never figured I had any chance of winning."
But her beauty and figure were so outstanding that she easily beat out the other American entries for the right to represent the United States against bestialities from the rest of the world.

CONCERT POPULAR
BY DELOS SMITH
This has been an unusually good year on Broadway and theaterland has been benefited by the appearance of two famed singers in outstanding musicals. They are Rudy Vallee and Alami Benzell.
Vallee's Broadway appearance in "How To Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," recorded by RCA Victor (LOC-1065) is his first since 1936. In this Frank Loesser-Albi Sklar success, Vallee portrays a big wheel on Madison Avenue. The number "Grand Old Top" will remind old-timers of the time that Rudy used to sing through a megaphone or nasally on coal-to-coal radio.
Miss Benzell, who starred at the Metropolitan opera, makes her first Broadway appearance in "Milk and Honey" (RCA Victor LOC-1065). The setting is modern Jerusalem and the theme is serenade. Jerry Herman's music enables Miss Benzell and another former Met star, Robert Weisberg, to excel in their roles.
For those who like special music from the Great White Way, "Broadway Swings Again" by the Jack Jones Quartet (Capitol ST-1641) is recommended. Jonny's excerpts from "Flotello," "Hilfmann," "Wildcat," "Sammy Solly," "Bye Bye Birdie," "Do Re Mi," "My Fair Lady" and "The Sound of Music" are good to hear.

The arrangements chosen for the anniversary recording are among the most faithful and so among the best. The arranged composers are Beethoven, Mozart, Mendelssohn and Gounod. Weisberg, the pianist, and the veteran virtuoso, Egon Petri, who was the pupil of a pupil of Liszt and who now is 80 years old, are the finest instrumentalists that still sound impressive, (Westminster-41140).

It is but one of four Liszt anniversary records from Westminster.

2 Books Have East-West Intermarriage as Themes

"Moscow Interlude," by Charles W. Thayer (Harper) and "Dust on the Pav" by Robin Jenkins (Putnam); A common theme, intermarriage between Easterners and Westerners, is handled with skill and compassion in these two modern novels.
Both authors have lived and worked in the countries they chose as settings. Thayer's book deals primarily with his fiancée, Elena Matlock and her husband, Sam, public relations officer in the Embassy, Moscow. Apparently happy in her marriage and a naturalized American citizen, Elena returned her return to the Russian capital after 10 years' absence. It also gives her a chance to search for her younger brother, who had vanished during the terror. But his reappearance leads to disaster for both Elena and Sam.
Jenkins' novel is set in Afghanistan, a nation of mud and mud. It concerns an Afghan school teacher's efforts to marry an Englishwoman he has been attending Manchester university. The American and British colonies in Kabul unite to save Laura Johnstone from what they regard as a terrible mistake: intermarriage with Abdul Wahab. Their efforts are almost disastrous but the intervention of an Afghan prince rescues him, then helps unsmear the course of true love.

COMING TO THE RESCUE of hair damage by indoor heat and outdoor cold is this hairdressing and conditioner meant to be brushed into your locks.

Here's Way to Eliminate Dull and Lifeless Hair

Dull and lifeless hair that won't hold a set is the problem of many women at this time of year. There are reasons for this: Overheated rooms, outdoor cold and negligence. Many of us have relied too heavily on a professional set, failing to back it up with vigorous brushing and hot oil treatments.
Knowing this, one large beauty house has put out a combination hairdressing and conditioner which comes in both spray and tube forms. This is a concentrated conditioner that contains the maker says, a combination of moisturizing ingredients.
To use it for a pre-shampoo treatment of dull or dry hair, apply it liberally and brush it thoroughly into the hair. Then shampoo as usual.
For daily use as a hairdressing, put a little on the palm of your hands, then stroke it on the hair and brush it in.
Keep this in mind, however: Because this is a concentrate, a very little goes a long way. If you overdo, you're likely to end up with hair which needs shampooing at once. The time to be lavish with it is right before you give yourself a shampoo.
HANGING GARDEN
Often a wall can be turned into a hanging garden simply by suspending a series of painted plastic trays from the ceiling or at attractive containers held by chains, of different heights.

There Are Ways to Disguise Figure Faults

If your figure is less than perfect, you have lots of company. So don't fret about it. Just admit the problem exists, do your best to correct it, and wear clothes that will minimize the fault if it's one that can't be corrected.

If you're tall, don't try to hide the fact by slouching. Stand up straight and make the most of your height by wearing bold prints, unusual colors, wide belts and narrow, trim pants.

The short girl has the advantage of being able to wear all the delicate feminine things that get lost on taller women. She can wear tiny white collars, a small flower, dainty jewelry and short, embroidered gloves. But she must avoid the pitfall of becoming chunky in her attire rather than charmingly feminine.

The gal who is too plump should wear simple and soft fabrics to dissolve the bulges. And in the meantime, should wear neat, slimming clothes that have no elaborate folds.

Here are a few tips on styling tricks that fool the eye:

Two-piece suits and dresses of contrasting colors, wide belts and large collars all cut height.

Vertical stripes, solid color dresses, printless lines and short hemlines make the short girl seem taller.

Horizontal lines, bulky fabrics and full skirts give roundness to the angular figure. So the plump girl should avoid them. Slim, easily-fitted skirts in plain colors are her forer for they slip down the appearance of the hips.

Vertical lines make the face and neck appear longer and round or square necklines make the face look rounder.

Choose the tricks that will best camouflage your figure faults and play up your good points. Keep your hair well-styled, shining and clean. Bring drama to your eyes with colorful eye makeup, and most of all, keep your complexion clean and fresh.

Your face is what people look at first, so keep your skin in good condition with frequent washings, using a mild deodorant soap with germicidal ingredients. The soap will provide gentle cleansing and help protect against the bacteria that spread blemishes.

Discover your best features and make the most of them. Then choose styles that will minimize your figure faults, and you'll be attractive despite them.

Style, Color and Fit Are Important in New Shirts

A man whose shirts are right for him is a comfortable man. If he just gets by, he's not a member of that happy group. First be sure of his correct size, then learn how to choose the most flattering color, style, collar and fabric.

Vertical lines give the illusion of a tall, thin torso. They furnish an illusion of breadth. Therefore, if you put a long-point collar model that fits, it is already long, you get the impression of still greater length. White is definitely masculine.

If your husband has a full round face, don't make him look like the man in the moon by buying him a wide-spread collar. With today's abundance of collar styles, selecting the right collar doesn't imply that specific facial contours limit the wearer to only one style of collar, for there are many styles for every facial category.

Not that about colors and textures? For one thing, the male of the species is now enjoying a greater variety in color and texture than ever before.

Whites and staple solid-colored shirts are, of course, still popular. But today's well-dressed man is also wearing the fashion colors of olive, grape, grey, wheat, pewter, sky blue and tan. All colors are seen, not only in solids, but also in interesting stripes, checks and embroidered patterns.

The most important consideration here is the neck and his wardrobe. Don't buy him a color that will clash with his personality—and certainly don't buy one

Window Shades Key to Changes

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP)—You can achieve the effect of architectural changes in an old-fashioned home by the way you hang your window shades.

A single large shade, hung over two small windows and the wall between, will create a contemporary feeling of spaciousness that will add decorator interest to your room.

For accent, add an over-sized shade, pulled such as a wicker handle or a large wooden ring painted to match, attached to a decorative cord.

Crystal Stemware Assist for Table

Sparkling crystal stemware on the table adds an aura of elegance to a company dinner, whether served on gleaming white damask, colorful place mats, or on bare wood rubbed to a deep gloss.

For plenty of sparkle with no fuss, rely on your electric dishwasher.

HANDY FIRST AID KIT

Kitchen accidents happen frequently, so keep a first aid kit containing band-aids, scissors, tape, sterile white cotton, petroleum jelly and a good disinfectant in the kitchen.

BONUS FEATURE

Wood panel walls are less bulky so the wise home owner who specifies wood walls gets a bonus of 40 square feet more space in an ordinary 30 by 40-foot home.

Memorial to Ernle Kovacs Is Proposed

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 26 (AP)—Wherever the top stars of Hollywood met this week, there was talk of lasting memorial to Ernle Kovacs.

It could take the form of a weekly TV anthology which would be the most stellar in history. The show would occupy the time and talent of the comedian's widow, Edie Adams, as well as provide support for her and her family.

"The whole thing started spontaneously," reports Jack Lemmon one of Kovacs' close friends. "A bunch of us started talking about it—guys like George Burns, Jack Benny, Dick Quaine, Mervyn Leroy. We agreed there has never been a really topical anthology show and thought this would be a good thing for Edie to participate in."

"We kept talking and talking and now there are 28 people who have said they're willing to do it. The include practically every top star in the business."

"It's a dandy idea, but we don't know whether we can do it or not. There would be all kinds of problems—getting scripts, arranging schedules and so forth. We're still trying to see if it can be worked out."

The stars haven't yet discussed the idea with Edie, who has been in Palm Springs with the children.

Editor of "Up Date" Has High Opinion of Youth

NEW YORK, Jan. 26—Robert Abernethy is one adult who has high opinion of today's teenagers and for good reason.

Abernethy, of NBC news' Washington staff, is on-the-air editor of "Up Date," NBC's teen-age news program. In this capacity he hears from many teenagers, through letters addressed to the program, and has a pretty good idea of what they are thinking.

In preparation for his assignment on "Up Date," Abernethy also "returned" to high school for two weeks last summer to find out firsthand what today's youngsters are interested in. As a result, Abernethy is pretty impressed.

"You're people are very much aware of what is happening around them, at home, and abroad," said Abernethy. "They know about important happenings by watching television, from school discussions and from reading newspapers. However, I have found they want to know even more about what is going on in the world today, and why."

An indication that young people are interested in other things besides next Saturday's date is the list of some of the prominent Americans who have been the subjects of "Up Date" audiotape interview feature.

"All the people who have been interviewed have been suggested by teen-agers themselves," Abernethy said. "In addition, the questions asked are the student's own."

"On our first program, Abernethy interviewed 17-year-old Nikkuhr was interviewed by an Oklahoma City youth. They discuss selfishness. The next program, Sen. Everett Dirksen, the senate Republican leader, was questioned by a Manchester boy about the conscience of a politician. And Eugene Burdick, editor of the "Ugly American," which shook up many people, talked with another student about Americans' apathy and what could be done about it."

Even when young people interviewed an entertainer, the topic was serious. "Early in November, a young girl from a two St. Louis high school boy spoke with Negro comedian Dick Gregory. Their questions concerned Gregory's humor and how it furthered the cause of intergration and how the comedian could find humor in his own experience with discrimination. [Girls have also taken part in "Up Date" interviews and have been as serious-minded as the boys.]

Interviews with federal housing administrator Robert Weaver, Sen. Richard Nixon, and Sen. James Eastland, head of the peace corps, were also conducted by students.

Perhaps the most dramatic confirmation that teen-agers are extremely interested in what the women of America could do to keep American men strong and healthy.

Plight of Stars' Children Can Be Recurring Tragedy

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 26 (AP)—The recent death of Barbara Burns played a tragic note on a recurring Hollywood theme—the plight of stars' children.

Barbara was the daughter of Bob Burns, the box-office playing buddy of Bing Crosby on stage and in films. The age of Van Buren, Ark., died in 1956 when she was 17. Barbara was held in a state mental hospital for a few days after her death.

"For the next four years, she was in and out of the hospital with various troubles, largely her addiction to narcotics. She tried for a show business career but never got close. Death came in general hospital from an overdose of barbiturates, her third in six months.

Many children of the famous manage to lead normal, healthy lives. But enough others get into serious trouble to make their actions a pattern of behavior.

Why? I sought an answer from Dr. Marcel Frym.

Dr. Frym's credentials are impressive. Member, commission on state institutions of insanity and the attorney general's commission on narcotic addiction; teacher, University of Southern California; staff member, Hackensack. At the time he has served a psycho-therapist for many film figures and their children.

His analysis: "A natural, unavoidable struggle of every adolescent with a father and mother figure is solved in a satisfactory manner in so-called normal, healthy people. In one or two film figures is especially outstanding.

Filming Started For West Series

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 26 (AP)—Filming has begun at Warner Brothers on "The Dakotas," western adventures series for the ABC-TV network, and third new television show to go before the cameras at the studio in recent weeks.

"The Dakotas" stars Larry Ward, Crad Everett and Jack Palance and is to be shot on location in Arizona. Richard Sarafian is directing from a story by Audubon Spencer. Jules Schermer is producing.

Other new TV series recently starting production at the studio are "Louie Sierra" and "Battle Zone." A fourth, "The Perils of Pauline," with Dorothy Foy, is starting, is scheduled to begin soon.

The joint announcement by NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle and William C. MacPhail, vice president of CBS television sports, said that the league's 14 teams would realize a total of $20,000 in rights during the next two years.

Knowledge of Cameras Stressed

By BART MINTCH
Cameras, basically, are all alike. To understand how they differ, it is necessary to understand how they function and why they all have certain features in common.

Light is the great essential in photography. Its action on film produces the picture image. The camera's role is that of protecting the light-sensitive film from overexposure by means of a controlled amount of light to reach it when a picture is desired.

All cameras are light-tight boxes with an opening for light to enter the optical lens, a shutter and a viewfinder.

The greatest differences lie in the shutters and the lenses. These are light-controlling devices. They operate much like the human eye. The lens collects the light rays from the picture subject and forms the image on the sensitive surface behind it. The shutter is like the eyelid, remaining closed until opened to permit the lens to see.

In box cameras the aperture is fixed; the lens and shutter are preset by the manufacturer. These factors make box cameras inexpensive and easy to use.

The miniature and reflex type cameras have adjustable features and definite distinguishing characteristics. With each type is wide variation in versatility—and price. They start at under $20 and go over $200—all depending on the quality of lens, shutter speeds and special additional features.

Adjustable lenses and shutter speeds are desirable in that they broaden the range of picture-taking. They can be set for varying light conditions and subject matter. In these cameras, the opening through which the light passes is equipped with a diaphragm which acts much as does the iris in the human eye. It is always open, but you can change the size of the opening to control the amount of light passing through the lens.

The shutters can be set to admit light for varying lengths of time. Some shutters go up to 1/2500 second and others up to 1/1500. Shutters also vary widely in construction. They can be a simple metal plate operated by a spring in the camera body. In a fine camera, they may be made up of several blades of fine steel worked by a series of gears, such as would find in a good watch.

The high-quality lenses and lens mounts form the better models of both of these camera types permit really close-in pictures.

Out of Job?

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 26 (AP)—Richard Boone teaching himself out of a job? For some time the actor has been giving dramatic lessons to club members who want much more for their money these days.

"There are only a handful of performers who can draw customers—and even they have to come up with new ideas all the time."

Martin believes the trend in movies is toward funnier or spectacular. His next show will have a cast of 20 or more, including Jose Greco and his flamenco troupe.

Night Clubs Are Harder to Play

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 26 (AP)—Butter: Tony Martin says night club auditions want much more for their money these days.

"There are only a handful of performers who can draw customers—and even they have to come up with new ideas all the time."

Martin believes the trend in movies is toward funnier or spectacular. His next show will have a cast of 20 or more, including Jose Greco and his flamenco troupe.

You Should Have Several Pair of Pliers Which Are Designed for Certain Jobs

A single pair of pliers isn't enough if you do every kind of work around the house.

All too often, one pair is all the average assortment of tools has. Generally, they are of the slip-joint variety, pliers which perform the basic function wanted of them. They can grip an object much more strongly than you can with your fingers.

But pressing this one type into service on every occasion is less than efficient. There are pliers that have been designed especially for certain jobs.

Most Common Type

Commonest, of course, is the previously mentioned slip-joint type. This type of pliers has a double hole for the hinge pin which permits opening the jaws wider. The slip-joint pliers for gripping objects, bending wire or sheet metal, holding parts while soldering. While pliers are not to be used in place of a wrench, in a pinch ignore the advice of experts—you may live!

Similar to slip-joint pliers are pump pliers—and this kind you can use in place of a wrench. Pump or engineer's or plier wrenches provide more than just two openings. They offer from four to eight openings and in all of them the jaws will be parallel.

Electrician's Pliers

Also useful around the house is pair of lineman's or electrician's pliers. Cutting edges are at the side and there is no slip joint. The broad jaws are designed for splicing but are often good for general duty.

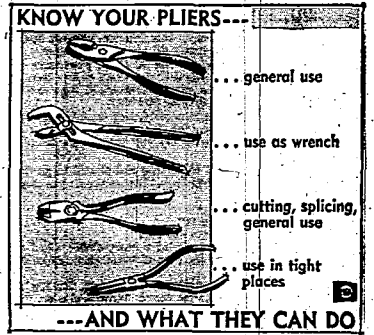

Long nose pliers also have a fixed pivot, rather than a slip joint, but jaws tapered, half-round jaws. They are often equipped with side cutters as well. They are ideal for working in tight places and for handling small parts.

Various Others

Among the basic types you will find many variations. There are long nose pliers with curved jaws, electrician's pliers that have cutting edges only, and gripping jaws. There are compound action pliers that have a fixed pivot and jaws that are always parallel.

A popular item is the form of pliers that grip like a vice, locks on an object and stays there until you release it.

Don't ignore nippers — end

ONE PAIR of pliers around the house just isn't enough to do all the jobs that crop up. You should know your pliers and have enough handy for every occasion.

Heat Water if It Tastes Bad

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP)—If the water in your town has an off-flavor or makes reconstituted instant dry milk taste rancid or nasty, heat the water before mixing it with the milk powder. Or, the reconstituted milk can be heated.

Either way, the U.S. department of agriculture says, the milk usually will taste much better and keep longer than it would otherwise.

Attractive Wood Adds to Beauty

The clean lines of contemporary styling give a cool look to modern homes. For contrasting warmth, decorators, architects and home owners often turn to wood.

Economical as well as attractive, stock woodwork of ponderosa pine adds traditional beauty to homes of any architectural style. Moldings, fireplaces, doors, windows, shutters, and staircases of ponderosa pine are available in units, ready to install, from building material dealers.

The many styles and sizes of these units make considerable

Stars Who Cause Costly Movie Delays "No Better Than Thieves," Wyler Says

HOLLYWOOD stars who cause movie-making delays aren't "thieves" or "no better than thieves" who steal money, says director Otto Preminger. He was complaining on a rash of cost-cutting productions such as the costly "Story of the Three Kings" in its 4.5 and 20-minute delay of cost-cutting. "The industry has lost a lack of professional attitude on the part of some stars," says Preminger. "It's the case of one top star who has a million a picture."

When the studio called him, he explained that he couldn't find the $50 to his car—also he couldn't remember where he parked it.

"The price of a taxi would have saved his studio thousands of dollars," says Wyler. "But he wouldn't call one until the studio called him hours after he was done at work."

Wyler says he insisted that someone put a bar at the gate to take care of the fare. He said he didn't have the money.

"When an attitude becomes chronic, says costs mount into the thousands."

On My Own Time

BY BOB HARTLEY

Skiers and non-skiers will enjoy this true (so help us, Sun Valley) story from the Snoqualmie summit ski area in Washington.

It seems there was a rash of non-lift ticket purchasers sneaking onto the lifts at Snoqualmie and from a meeting of lift operators, an enterprising employe of the area's intermediate rope tow got together to solve the problem in their own way.

While one stayed at his post, the other went down to the rental shop and found an old pair of discarded skis, put them on and returned to the bottom of the tow, following his way through the skiers waiting in line.

When he reached the head of the line and started to go up on the tow, the tow operator called him back. "Hey, where do you think you're going?"

"I'm going to ride the tow."

"Well, where's your lift ticket?"

"I don't need a ticket to ride this tow."

With this the tow operator produced a heavy double edged axe and, with two blows, dolly sliced the front of the obstinate tow rider's skis off just ahead of his toes.

With the crowd of skiers staring in amazement, the tow operator lowered his axe and turned to the crowd. "Anyone else out there who doesn't have a lift ticket?"

For those of you who keep track of such things, the ABC-TV network is undertaking a project that won't be before your eyes until the fall of 1962. The work is called "The Roosevelt Years," and Charlton Heston will stand in for the voice and vigor of Franklin Delano Roosevelt. If you remember the series on Winston Churchill that was an excellent job of editing and presentation, this new series is being done by the same outfit. It gives you an idea of the time involved in such a project, too.
