Local Club Told Duties Of Officials

A program on the duties of the city commission and city manager was presented during the Thursday noon luncheon meeting of Edwards club in the American Legion hall.

City Commission Chairman Brown defined the relationship between the city manager, the commission and the citizens. He also passed out a booklet on the public safety committee, public works committee and public administration committee. The booklet indicated the responsibilities of the commissioners to each committee.

Organization charts of the city also were passed out. They indicated the flow of responsibility from the voters through the commission and various boards.

During a question and answer period, Brown said that no official action has been taken regarding petitions to abolish the city manager type of government in Twin Falls. He explained that the petition has not yet been presented to the commission and consequently no action can be taken until it is.

Assisting Brown with the program were Egan Kroll, George Bennett and John Anderson, committee members.

Guests included Richard Harmer and Robert Klomp, both Twin Falls high school key club members. Kenneth Porter, president of the Bull Kwanan club; Frank Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Spud School Set Soon for 2 Gem Areas

RUPERT, Feb. 2 — The Minidoka and Cassia county annual potato school will be held in Rupert, Feb. 14-15. The potato advisory committees of the two counties met separately and came up with identical proposals, reports Extension Potato Agent Virgil S. Cross who arranged the program for the school.

The group decided that potato quality was the most important factor in this area and therefore the school will be a potato quality clinic, featuring cultivation, weed control, irrigation, storage and marketing.

A program on certification will be conducted on Friday afternoon, Feb. 15, by the Idaho Crop Extension Service, Boise, and a speaker from the Aberdeen experiment station, Idaho Crop Improvement Association, and extension service specialists will be on the program, Cross said.

Joint sponsors of the school are the potato advisory committees of Cassia and Minidoka counties, the Idaho Potato Producers and Marketing Association, University of Idaho extension service.

A schedule of the program will be available just prior to the school, the county agent added.

Stock Feeder Group Slates 2-Day Confab

BOISE, Feb. 2 (Special) — Final plans for the third annual feeders' conference will be discussed at a meeting Feb. 9-10 at the Boise hotel. Heals, are announced by Frank H. Shields, secretary-manager of the association.

Registration will start at noon next Friday with committee meetings scheduled Friday afternoon. In addition to the feeders are invited to attend a cooking school at the Pinney theater, sponsored by the Idaho Power company. The school will start at 2 p. m. Friday.

A buffet dinner at 6:30 p. m. will be Friday night. The buffet will be served throughout the evening at the hotel entertainment will be furnished by the Boise Bagpipers, dancers. The Boise State German band will furnish music for a dance starting at 9 p. m.

Saturday activities include registration at 8 a. m., business meeting at 9:30 a. m., and a banquet and social hour from 7 p. m. to midnight.

Displays will be set up at the hotel by several farm and ranch equipment and meat packing companies.

1962 Line of Firm Shown U.S. Dealers

Massey-Ferguson's 1962 line of farm and tractor equipment was exhibited at Palm Springs, Calif., for more than 200 dealers.

The list of some 50 new and improved products demonstrated by dealers on irrigated lands of the "A" class was the new "multi-pump" transmission. Only a flip of the switch is needed on the tractor to drop the gear and allow 30 per cent increase of on-the-go pull-power. The tractor has 12 forward gears.

The Twin Falls Tractor and Implement company, Twin Falls, sent two couples to Palm Springs to see the new line. They are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Olsen, Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Sveinich and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith. They were guests at a banquet which featured the Lawrence Weik troupe.

Rabbits Are Menace to Hay But They Can Be Controlled

There has not been any extensive damage to hay stacks other than by jackrabbits on the Shoshone tract near states Richard Holt, Hogerson rancher. Although there is not any damage yet, the rabbits are beginning to nibble on the hay stacks and places where they can get food.

A rancher near Hoilister said there are some reasons why the rabbits are moving in. One reason, he pointed out, was the storm and the extreme cold. Much of the grass which was in the neighborhood was destroyed by the snow and the wind that driving the rabbits somewhere else to eat.

The way rabbits destroy hay stacks is by nibbling on the hay until the whole stack topples over. When a stack is toppled over the snow gets around the hay and the hay gets so wet that it is not worth eating.

One reason why there has not been much damage so far this year is that there are not as many jackrabbits now as there were a year or two ago. Ralph Schmidt, Hogerson, said he has had no damage by rabbits this winter.

Donald Youis, Twin Falls county agent, said now is the best time to control jackrabbits. Poisoned hay may be obtained at the Salmon River Canal company office in Hoilister. Youis said if the farmer or rancher crops near sagebrush,

Along Fences, Canals

Mr. and Mrs. George Crockett, Kimbely, reported ranchers in the Rock creek area have experienced heavy losses in their January calf crop because of the severe weather. Losses by ranchers up in the canyon where they had some protection were not so large as in herds wintered on the more open low lands.

New born pigs on the Hyrum Meserve farm at Dietrich are being saved during the cold weather by being placed under heat lamps immediately after birth. Meserve has 14 heat lamps set up and has been working the clock around to keep the new borns from freezing. He is in the process of improving and adding to farrowing houses to enlarge his hog business operations.

New cauld corrals are being built at the John Parke ranch, east of King Hill. He is feeding 10 head of Herefords and says the cattle "are faring up real well during the cold weather." Some of the cattle range in the King-Hill area have lost newborn calves during the cold spell.

Charles Holby has moved his cattle from the Clover-Creek pasture to the home place, northwest of Bliss, in preparation for coming which will start about the first of February.

Farmer with heated shop buildings are using the winter months to repair and repaint their farm machinery. Lavard Hansen and Darrell and Doug Hallowell, Fairfield, are making good use of their time in these projects.

Elsworth Humphreys, Corral, has just completed a large metal shop building that he started last summer. He was lucky enough to get his doors on just before the exceptionally cold spell when their thermometers registered 50 below there.

A powerline snapped during the extreme cold weather along the Salmon River northeast of Fairfield and farms in the vicinity were without electricity for three hours or more that night before repairs were made. Restains with electrically-controlled heating devices hung in for a little while and some report that their electric systems froze during that period.

At least one calf in the Wood river valley will go through life with the end of his tail and the tips of his ears curly. The calf was born early one morning last week when the temperature dropped to 38 degrees below zero at the ranch of Mr. and Mrs. Vernie Bynington, Hoilier. The Byningtons stayed up late that night to watch for the blessed event, but finally decided it would not happen until the next day. However, next morning there was a heavy rain with the end of his tail and his ears frozen stiff. The calf the calf with the end of his tail and his ears frozen stiff. The calf it seems to have suffered no ill effects from his miring reception into the world.

A back injury, caused when a cow kicked him last month, was the deciding factor for Mr. and Mrs. Earl Vinsant, North Shoshone, who will sell out soon.

Grant Stevens, Richfield, is remembering the 40 below zero weather of this area last week with a real twinge. He is still treating his frozen feet, incurred when he was doing farm work in the sub zero weather.

Basile, reported rancher in the Rock creek area has experienced heavy losses in their January calf crop because of the severe weather. Losses by ranchers up in the canyon where they had some protection were not so large as in herds wintered on the more open low lands.

Beef School Is Slated In Jerome Feb. 14-15

Jerome, Feb. 2 — Approximately 150 to 200 farmers are expected to attend the two-day meat and beef school to be held in Jerome, Wednesday and Thursday, according to W. G. Priest, Jerome county extension agent. Priest explained the purpose of the school is to follow a set of standard animals through the packing plant and to discuss the factors involved in producing the kind of meat folks like to buy and use.

The school will be held at the Jerome Commission Company, Jerome. The school will be held at the Jerome Commission Company, Jerome. The school will be held at the Jerome Commission Company, Jerome.

New Expenses Past 10 Years Cause Canal Firm Increases

JEROME, Feb. 2 — The North Idaho Canal company is obligated for $37,000 in annual payments now which were not in existence prior to 1950, Carol Wilcomb, general manager, said today in explaining the raise of 25 cents per share for operation and maintenance costs. The board of directors last week approved the hike.

The raise represents an increase of about 100 per cent over the last 12 years, compared to a rise in operating costs, particularly machinery and materials, of considerably more than 25 per cent.

The $37,000 obligation assumed in the last decade includes social security payments, hospital insurance, retirement benefits and payments on fallow acres, she explained.

Wilcomb said that while the increase will not be sufficient to cover both the operation and maintenance and the rehabilitation work, the balance will be made up from bond money. The last 10 years, he said, the North Side Canal company made one raise in 1958 from $2 to $2.25.

In 1961 the other companies charged as follows: Owyhee, $4.70; Rock Falls, $4.50; Boise, $2.40; Minidoka, $1.50; Burley, $1.60; and Big Wood, $3.10.

Annual Feedlot Tour Will Be Held Tuesday at Buhl

Plans have been completed for the annual beef cattle field day and feedlot tour Tuesday at Buhl, Idaho. The tour, sponsored by the Idaho extension animal husbandman, will discuss feedlot design and equipment prior to the luncheon.

The field day will start at 9:45 a. m. with a discussion of grades of feeder calves and a tour of the Sandmyer-Stewart farm, five miles west of Jonat's corner, or one and one-half miles south of Cedar crossing.

Lambing Operations in Full Swing on Ranch at Bellevue

BELLEVUE, Feb. 2 — Lambing at the Bill Cloughran ranch in the Okendale area southwest of Bellevue is going into full swing with approximately 400 of his 800 ewes having lambed. The first lambs came Jan. 19. Cloughran states the extremely cold weather of the past two weeks did not seem to cause much trouble. He said he would rather lamb in clear, cold weather than in warmer, wet weather.

The Cloughran ranch is well equipped for the operation. Individual ewes are placed in small pens to lamb and remain there with their offspring for three or four days.

They are then placed in a large pen holding eight or 10 ewes and their lambs for several days. Next they are transferred to outside sheds, which

Canadian Grabs Two-Stroke Lead At Palm Springs

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Feb. 2 (AP)—Canada's veteran Stan Leonard gave himself a birthday present ahead of time Thursday, a sub-par 67 and the undisputed lead in the second round of the $50,000 Palm Springs Golf classic. Leonard, who will be 47 Friday, knocked five strokes off par and the Indian Wells country club and hung up a 35-hole total of 132.

He shaved six strokes off par Wednesday at the Thunderbird Country Club in a 71 on 21 holes, which is one of four clubs in play. And Thursday night Leonard enjoyed a two-stroke lead over his nearest challengers. Tied at 121 were Jacey Cupt, Longview, Tex., who celebrated his 24th birthday Thursday with a seven-under-par 65 at Indian Wells, and Gardner Dickinson, who had a 66 at Thunderbird. Neil Coler, Hyder Cup player from Everett, England, had a five-under-par 67 at Tamarisk Country Club for a total of 135.

Changing in close contention were two feared performers, Arnold Palmer and Mike Souchak, who were tied at 126. Palmer had a 66 at Tamarisk Country club and Souchak a 68 at Thunderbird. Tamarisk and Eldorado are regarded the toughest courses in this desert winter playground. Palmer has now played them both with the easier ones left to conquer.

Wednesday's co-leader with Leonard, young Rex Baxter, had a 65 with a 65, fell back with a 76 for 139. Gary Player, after a fine 69 Wednesday, also faded with a 74 for 143.

Ban Shead added a 71 to his first-round 70 for 141. He shot 12 holes, in his fifth appearance, for professional money, shot his second straight 71 for 142. He has played the two roughest courses.

MVCC Gets 88-67 Win Over CSU

ALBION, Feb. 2—The Magic Valley Christian college Panthers, sparked by the high scoring of Darby Freeman, Butch Warren and Keith Miller, downed the College of Southern Utah 88-67 at Albion Thursday night.

The Panthers were losing the fight on the boards during the first half and CSU ended that period ahead by three points, 35-32. When the second half started the Panthers worked a fast break and with a fine offensive show pulled away, winning the game with little difficulty.

Exclusive Club

NOTTINGHAM, England, Feb. 2 (AP)—Older members of a rather exclusive set here have a nine-hole golf course built for them at no cost, and they can use it without paying an admission charge.

The only requirement is a lengthy jail sentence. It's the only way anyone can get to play the course, which is built near Nottingham, but a price for criminals sentenced to long terms.

The building of the course was initiated when officials found the older prisoners, unable to play cricket or soccer, standing around during the recreation period.

The course, to be ready in the spring, will have built-in pitch and putt lines with membership restricted to 200. That's all the jail will hold.

FILER, Feb. 2—George Haney showed a film on the White Water trip down the Salmon River taken by Boy Scouts from Camp Bradley when the Filer Kiwanis club met Tuesday.

Haney, who had accompanied the Scouts on the trip, narrated the film as it was shown. He was introduced by Herbert Smith, chairman of the boys and girls committee.

Keith Farris, music instructor at the high school, introduced a number of musical selections. Carol Schuyler sang a solo from the forthcoming high school musical comedy "Get Up And Go." The Carollettes, a girls sextet, sang several numbers and a slide trio was presented by Judy Ward, Linda Shiff and Janis Pierce.

Announcement was made of the ladies night banquet which will be served at 9 p.m. Feb. 15 in Twin Falls.

Guests included Jess Edwards, Charles Luntz, Roy Pate, Gus Edwards, W. G. Bennett and Glen Buckendorf, all Buhl, and Lyle Abel.

WHITE HOUSE TOUR is taken with Mrs. John F. Kennedy by CBS television, with Charles Collingwood doing the on-camera work. In the first picture, Mrs. Kennedy and Collingwood confer about the tour; Mrs. Kennedy is shown in a closeup in the middle picture, and the two stroll through the White House in the third. The special full-hour program will be broadcast Wednesday, Feb. 14, on the CBS television network. President Kennedy also will speak on the long history of the White House. (Staff engraving)

Slim Needed 3 Kicks to Change Jobs

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2 (AP)—TV star Slim Pickens was kicked in the head three times by assorted braves and bulls before the light dawned that rodeo riding isn't the easiest way to make a living.

Still nursing a cracked cranium, Slim staggered into Hollywood and wanted to kick himself in the head when he discovered stunt men were being paid to fall off horses.

"They were earning thousands of dollars a year," he exclaimed, "while I was paying a rodeo entry fee to get my lick broke."

Even so, Slim was numbered among the top 25 cowboys in the country for several years.

"I first got into the business when I was still a boy back in 1922," he recalled, "my pa objected to me riding, but I had to get another name. My real name is Louis Lindley."

Gavin Gives Time to Work As Diplomat

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2 (AP)—John Gavin, one of the more promising younger male stars, is a dollar-a-year diplomat.

The handsome local product gets most of his publicity from such movies as "Eyes, Street, Sinister" and "Initiation of Life."

Most of his off-screen work involves sport in Latin-American affairs predates his movie career.

"I'm fact," he says, "I was born with an interest in Latin America. My father is Irish and my mother was born in Mexico." Gavin's Spanish fluency is no accident and also Portuguese. The Spanish he learned from his mother and the Portuguese at Stanford University, where he was graduated in 1952.

In 1951-52, as a lieutenant junior grade, he was Pan American's affairs officer to the com-

White Valentine's day is a few days away, youngsters in Twin Falls elementary schools are hard at work to have attractive displays for visitors, students and teachers.

Such is the case at Washington school, where students of Mrs. Ferie P. Meehan in the first grade are shown working on the Valentines for their parents. They are, from left Catherine Bjorland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arby Bjorland; Kent Christensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Christensen; and Debra Skinner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Berni Skinner.

The children were reluctant to let the photographer get too close. After all, they want to surprise their parents.

TV Shatters Movie "Star System"

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2 (AP)—Purposeful or not, television has wrecked the movies' cherished star system, just as it has raised havoc with other filmland sacred cows.

"Thanks to TV the word 'star' is referred to a person who has become downright ludicrous."

In the salad days of flickers stars like Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Rudolph Valentino, even a score of years ago Clark Gable, Bette Davis, Gary Cooper were synonymous with stardom.

Once an actor reached that rare eminence—and it took years—he resented an untired newcomer being billed on the same screen as a star.

"But everybody is a star on television—like an army with no privates," captains of colonels. Just grunts.

Take the Perry Como show. The TV gurge bills his program something like this:

"The Perry Como show starring Perry Como, Co-starring Como, Gatter, Gladys, Glitz. Also starring Phoebe Phipps and Gary Cooper with special guest star Maurice Mandelbaum."

"The situation is even worse on dramatic 'specials' where everyone but the assistant make-up man is a star.

Consider the 'stars' to be seen weekly in their own series. For

Basketball Fix Is Show Subject

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2 (AP)—A college basketball player is a gambler to "share points"—control the score of the game so that his team wins by a pre-arranged number of points—in "The Point Shaver" on "The Defenders" on the CBS television network Saturday, Feb. 3.

Chet Forte, former All-American basketball player from Columbia University, New York, who is now associated with CBS television sports, will be seen in action in the basketball sequences of the drama. Forte assisted director Buzz Kulik as technical adviser in filming the sequences.

With naval district, Balboa Canal Zone. He holds two decorations for his work in the cause of Pan-Americanism.

instance John Ashley and Brian Kelly, a couple of clean-cut youngsters who star in "Straightaway." When Gloria Swanson appeared with them a few weeks back it seems ridiculous for them to get star billing while Gloria (superstar before they were born) had to settle for the "special guest" category.

Television moguls deny the existence of a starless series.

One of the top five shows, "Bonanza," boasts four regular stars. Lorne Greene, Pernell Roberts, Dan Blocker and Mike London—all of whom were unknown two years ago.

In the beginning movies fell for TV's ersatz stars.

They put Liberace, George Gobel and other video regulars on the big screen and watched them lie there like gaffed salmon.

Movie audiences did not desert Marilyn Monroe, Frank Sinatra and Elizabeth Taylor for the new crop of stars. Gradually thick headed movie-makers got the message: "TV stars ain't movie stars."

Then they decided to steal a page from the upstart medium and bill all picture players as stars.

Thus, movie screens are filled with co-stars, also stars and special guest stars. Those stars accepting bit parts (a forbidden term) or supporting roles (never, never!) are now "cameo stars."

Stamps Planned

Ghana has announced that the visit of Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain will be commemorated by a set of three stamps soon to be released. The same design will be for all values and will feature a portrait of the Queen, an outline map of Africa and the flag of Ghana.

News About Stamps

To celebrate the installation of the Republic of China's first atomic reactor, three new commemoratives have been issued by the postal administration on Taiwan, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency.

The 80 cent value depicts the reactor located at the National Tsing-Tung university on Taiwan. The reactor was completed by the university's Institute of Nuclear Science on April 12. With one million watts of starting operation it has ushered in a new age of nuclear research for the Republic of China in the fields of industry, agriculture and medical therapy.

The U.S. postoffice department has made public the dates, places and occasions for some of its 1963 stamps. On Feb. 14 the state of Arizona will be honored at Phoenix. On April 6 in a city in Tennessee yet to be named, a stamp will commemorate the battle of Shiloh. On April 11, in Edinburgh, D.C., a stamp will honor the centennial of the birth of Charles Evans Hughes. On April 21 there will be a stamp dedicated to the 150th anniversary of Louisiana's statehood. The place to be named will honor the centennial of the birth of Charles Evans Hughes. On May 20, in a location

Library Adds Youth Titles, Area Books

Mrs. Jean E. DeVolder, library cataloger, has released several new youth titles as well as several items of interest to Idaho residents.

The youth titles include: "An Outline of Man's Knowledge of the Modern World," edited by Lyman Bryson and donated by Mrs. Dennis Love. American literature points to the present in these three books: "Edith Wharton" by Louis Auchincloss; "Herman Melville" by Ross Howard; and "The American Short Story" by Danforth Ross.

"Television and Radio" edited by Fancis Tyler gives a brief history of this newest of the communications media; while "How to Study Better and Get Higher Marks" by Bruce H. Ehrlich, tells its own tale.

Idaho historians, amateur and professional, will be happy to examine the three volume edition entitled "The Lewis and Clark Expedition" by Lewis and Clark and based on the 1814 edition, unabridged. Young people will be interested in the dramatic story of Idaho in the 1800's called "Egg Wild" by Mrs. Julia Brown Riker. She currently resides in Dexter, Ok. has based her tale on information noted by her in Kamiah, Ida.

Shooting of First War Heralded Modern World

The Guns of August, by Barbara W. Tuchman, (Macmillan): The modern world began in August, 1914, when the armies of Germany smashed through Belgium into France in search of the quick conquest they were not to achieve until 25 years later. They were stopped on the Marne that time, but nothing had been quite the same, since Barbara W. Tuchman describes the events of that crucial month and the frictions that led up to them. She starts appropriately, with one of the last major events of the world that was—the funeral of Britain's Edward VII, the universal uncle of pre-war Europe royalty.

Mrs. Tuchman has done a masterful job of combining official records with illuminating anecdotes to picture the men and circumstances that made the first great war inevitable and ultimately determined its course.

My Life of High Adventure, by Grant H. Pearson with Philip Newell (Fretwell-Edwards): A true-life adventure story of a national park ranger whose beat was Mt. McKinley national park, Alaska. From his home state of Michigan, Pearson gravitated toward Alaska in response to a boyhood dream. His book is panorama of memories of quiet forests, wild life, mountain climbing, hunting down poachers and other outdoor activities.

Now a representative of the 18th district of Alaska, Pearson was urged by friends to share his story. This extremely interesting book which he put together with the able writing help of Philip Newell.

The Road Back, by Joseph Keston (McGraw-Hill): A French journalist who became fascinated by the work of Alcoholics Anonymous, made a study of the organization and its members from the Bowery to Park Avenue, and made a stay in the United States.

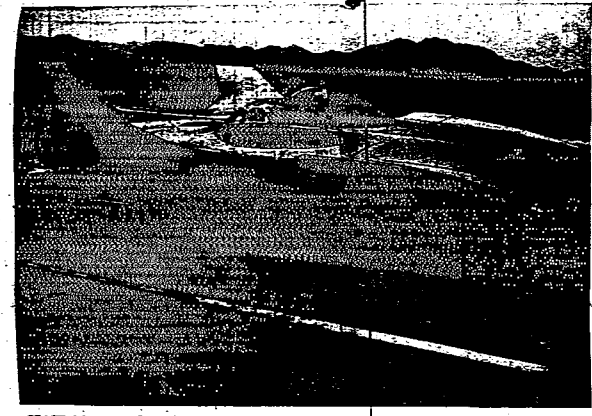

"This book is a report in warm human terms of how men and women of all strata of society, hooked by the dread and still mysterious disease of alcoholism, are able to band together and by the strength of their unity keep the scourge off their backs and live normal productive lives. The translation from the French is by Frances Partridge."

Most Wallpaper Now Is Washable

CHICAGO, Feb. 2 (AP)—Most of today's wallpaper can be washed or dry-cleaned, the Wallpaper Council advises.

Here's how, say the experts.

To determine whether the wallpaper is water-resistant, rub a spot in an inconspicuous place with a damp cloth. If the result is good, it's safe to wash the paper.

Wash or hand-dust the paper to remove the surface dirt before washing. Then, using a mild solution of soap flakes or liquid and a cloth or sponge, wash the entire surface with long, free strokes, beginning at the top and working toward the ceiling. By working upward, you eliminate the danger of pulling the paper down.

Since the paper with clean water.

Do not scrub paper that is not guaranteed scrubable. If you prefer, commercial cleaners for water-resistant paper are available at hardware and department stores as well as through wallpaper dealers.

Grease spots that don't wash off easily require special treatment. The preferred method of removing spots is to use a thick paste of fuller's earth and benzine or any good non-inflammable dry-cleaning fluid and apply

Food Freezer Is Valuable in Home

Frozen food counters in supermarkets are getting bigger and bigger as the frozen food market, ranging from the everyday to the exotic, are continually introduced.

To take advantage of this wealth of time-saving, taste-tempting foods, a home-maker needs a freezer. The big separate freezer section will serve as a permanent right in the kitchen, holding generous supplies of frozen food at top quality for months.

Warning Signs Precede Strokes

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 2 (AP)—Warning signs do not precede strokes, Dr. Charles E. Wells, of Nashville, has found.

In a study of 100 medical records, he found that warning signs were studied, headache was the most common warning sign, the expert reported. Other neurological symptoms included weakness, which is shared with other ailments.

From Here to Eternity, Sinatra Came Back Strong in Romance and on Stage

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2 (AP)—Frankie Sinatra's "From Here to Eternity" was the teen-age chant of the early '50s years which rose to a crescendo by V-E day, only to fade to an echo by 1950.

Frank Sinatra, the skinny, hard-nosed Italian kid from Hoboken, N. J., plunged from hero to has-been in the space of 10 years, nearly dividing his life into separate chapters.

The demagogue in his love life was just as clearly defined before Ava Gardner, and after.

His forthcoming marriage to dancer Juliet Prowse begins a new chapter.

But some persistent elements of his lives remained the same.

At the pinnacle or in the depths, Sinatra's fierce pride, over-riding loyalty and raging determination to succeed helped support the biggest chip ever carried off by a shoddy.

While his movies and TV shows have not set the world afire, he is topped only by Bing Crosby among all the recent greats.

Claim to Greatness

He did win an Oscar (best supporting actor) in 1953 for his role in "From Here to Eternity."

However, if Sinatra has a claim to greatness, it can be seen in a night club.

When he walks on stage he is in charge of the audience, dominating it with the force of his personality and the magnetism of his voice.

Inspired by a 1938 Bing Crosby movie Sinatra made up his mind to become a singer, forming a group called the Hoboken Four. Later he became a $15-a-week singing waiter at a New Jersey roadhouse, the Royal Cabin.

It was during this lean period that Frank married his first love, Nancy Barbato, a teen-age bride in 1939.

Bandleader Harry James heard Sinatra singing and hired him at $75 a week. Frank moved to Tommy Dorsey's band and began to attract national attention.

BUSINESS WILL NEED 2,000,000 MORE WOMEN

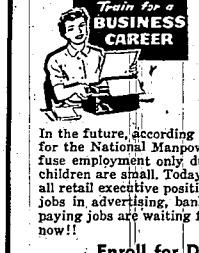

In the next five years America must recruit two million more women for office jobs. About twenty million women are employed today. Ours is a society geared to work. Women sense the fact that employment is an exciting part of our national life and they are anxious to participate in business.

In the future, according to the Director of Research for the National Manpower Council, women will refuse employment only during the years when their children are small. Today women hold 46 percent of all retail executive positions, and numerous top level jobs in advertising, banking and journalism. Good paying jobs are waiting for you. Start your training now!!

Most Bungling Politician Soon to Retire From TV

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2 (AP)—The most bungling cop in television soon will retire from the force. Lieut. Arthur Tragg, homicide sleuth of the "Perry Mason" show, has yet to arrest the right murderer in almost five years on the air. Each week he has rushed to the scene of the crime and invariably arrested the wrong person.

In real life Tragg would have been busted to patrolman and sent to pounding a beat in the hoodlums.

Actor Ray Collins, who plays the inept Tragg, said he suspects this is the last year he will be around to annoy hero Mason, and it's just as well.

"It's terrible the way people stop me on the street to ask when, if ever, I'll pinch the right suspect. Others plead with me to stop being so mean to Perry."

Ern Tragg and/or Collins is not leaving the show because of his gotty record as a cop. His contract has expired.

"I signed a contract for five years," Collins said in his dressing room. "Now I have only two more shows to do and I won't be coming back next year. I'll miss the crew and the cast."

"Ray (Perry Mason) Burr is like a son to me. This whole show is like one big family."

Collins, a veteran of 38 years in show biz, said he did not like to have viewers think of him as a hero in the series.

"I tried to get over the idea that Tragg liked and admired Mason," he sighed. "But at the same time Tragg had to be severe with him when Perry was up to his monkeyshiners."

Perhaps the least professional element of Tragg was the amount of time he sat around in court listening to Mason win cases instead of rounding up crooks.

Now that he is leaving the highly rated series Collins plans to appear in a few movies and accept one-show television roles.

SCREEN ACTRESS Rita Hayworth discusses in a New York hotel her role in a Broadway play which she will appear next season. It will be her first stage role in New York. She will co-star with Gary Merrill in "Step on a Crack," in which she will portray a doctor's wife facing breakup of her marriage. (AP Wirephoto)

Huge Ship Was Built for Movie With Ernie Kovacs

One of the largest indoor "props" ever used by Hollywood was built by Columbia pictures for "Sail a Crooked Ship."

The prop is the "crooked ship" itself, a World war II vintage Liberty ship that figures importantly in the zany comedy.

The film stars Robert Wagner, Dolores Hart, Carolyn Jones, Frankie Avalon and also stars Ernie Kovacs as the captain. The "crooked ship" measured 110 feet in length and stood over 30 feet high. It took 35 men, working full time on the project, nine months to build the ship. There are a life boat deck, bridge deck, wheel deck and wheel house, three cabins and the main deck. Cost of the project exceeded $50,000. Two entire sound stages were taken over at Columbia for the ship's construction.

Screenplay for "Sail a Crooked Ship" was written by Ruth Brooks Flippen and Bruce Gelber, based on the best-selling novel by Nathaniel Benchley, Philip Barry, Jr., produced "Sail a Crooked Ship" and Irving Brecher directed.

Winter Fallout Damages Carpet

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—Snow, salt and ashes tracked into the house during winter can damage your carpet if you don't remove the residue rapidly.

The U.S. department of agriculture said melting snow and ice penetrate the carpet backing, creating yellow or brown stains. Salt, used to clear streets of ice and snow, attracts moisture, causing brown stains, a white crust on the pile, and fading. The alkali in ashes harms carpet colors and fibers.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Beef-Eggplant Casserole

2 tablespoons salad or olive oil
1 lb. of Falls Brand ground beef
1 small onion, chopped
1 tablespoon flour
1 can (15 ounces) tomato sauce
1 small green pepper, chopped
1 teaspoon oregano
1/2 teaspoon chili powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 small eggplant, cut in 1/2-inch slices
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 cup grated Cheddar cheese

Heat oil in a large skillet. Stir in ground beef and chopped onion. Cook until beef is brown. Sprinkle flour over mixture and stir in well. Mix in tomato sauce, green pepper, oregano, chili powder and salt.
Sprinkle eggplant slices (don't bother peeling them) with salt and pepper. Place on top of meat mixture and cover with cheese. Cover with a lid and cook over a low heat for 10 to 15 minutes or until eggplant is tender. Serve hot to 4.

On My Own Time

BY BOB HARTLEY

From the sound of the cash register, everything is peachy in the supermarket and appliance dealer games. But don't let the jingle fool you; economists indicate business is tough and getting tougher. Attempts are being made to develop new schemes that will help the profit margins and meet the most pressing need—creating a "cash tape plan," which some predict could have a bigger impact upon the buying public than trading stamps. Several magazines have kicked it around, but briefly here's the deal: You decide you want to buy an appliance. It might be a TV set or a stove. You sign a contract, and the appliance dealer delivers the goods. The supermarket, working in cooperation with the appliance dealer, says he'll give you a credit of, say, five per cent on your total monthly purchases according to your cash register tapes. This credit is applied to the monthly installment. On the surface it looks like a painless way to buy necessary appliances, but just like anything that looks easy, it needs investigation by those concerned. They say it's coming, so keep an open eye and mind.

At the risk of offending a reader, (he threatened to start reading Westbrook Page), we pass along one of his jokes: Julius Caesar came home after a tough day at the office. He was greeted by his wife, who said, "Gosh when I saw today? Brutus came over to borrow your heating coils."

At last! We have found a way to get some mileage out of your congressman. Drop him a check for $200 and tell him to buy one of the 514 trailers available now that Washington, D.C., is converting to an all-bus operation. It would give these people something useful to do, like trying to figure out how to get it back to Idaho.

Have you checked the mirror lately? Tempus may be fuging. But nothing dates you like a young person, or so one local person believes after an eye-opening event at Sun Valley last week-end. It seems two older persons (let your mind run wild) and a younger man were seated at the bar. One of the older adults needed an attractive woman and said, "That woman sure looks familiar." The other older person said, "That's Norma Shearer, isn't she well preserved?" But before the first could answer, the whole evening calmed down as the younger man frowned, shrugged his shoulders and said, "Who's she?"

From our Bureau of Poor Substitutes: An actress in Rio de Janeiro says the answer to a police ban on bikinis and shorts during the pre-Lenten carnival will be slacks and halters with a bare midriff. It's kinda like trading your car for a tricycle.

Just to keep you from being alarmed when you get your froth-lathered program at "Kiss Me Kate" in March, there's been another shuffle in the production. Shortly after solving a director job for the play, the female head, because ID card couldn't be taken the role, stepped in after rehearsals had been going for a while was Taal Belling Boyd, now cast in the leading feminine part. Nothing seems to cause this bunch. They solved the latest problem with the same caution and confidence as the first.

If you're bored this Sunday we suggest driving through the shopping centers and watching for cars with stickers proclaiming "I'm a weekend shopper." We counted eight at one time last Sunday. They must have been window shopping.

Those of you who prefer television as entertainment should keep a watchful eye on stories originating from Washington about the meretricious study of television by the federal communication commission. CBS and NBC officials have testified and next week it'll be ABC's turn. The testimony has been voluminous, but some of the revelations from the hearings have been interesting, to say the least. Yes, the network which is fighting for its collective skin, and well they might be, at the FCC; and its leader, Mervyn Dymally, has declared open season on television programming. Don't be led astray by the terms "sex and violence" which were used in the hearings. Keep in mind that all programming is under scrutiny and possible banishment is in the air. The hearings. What is important is that the viewer keeps posted and forms his opinion as sound information. Certainly, one aspect to consider is the threat of less social control of TV. This is a good one to keep your eye on, and write a letter if you are so inclined.

MODEL CHILDREN in a model child's room look too neat and good to be true but room planning encourages tidiness. Mammoth storage wall holds toys, clothing and out-of-season items; bed headboard and under-bedding storage but there are no inaccessible crevices where toys can disappear. Cut-outs of the flowers on curtains are pasted to the window shade which shuts out light during nap time.

Things Can Be Messy on Monday; She Suggests Room to Teach Child Tidiness

The inadequacies of children's rooms are seldom more apparent than on the Monday morning following a household week-end. When we venture a look brought by a couple of cups of strong coffee, we wonder if any room has ever been so hopelessly, thoroughly messed up.

In our home, the facilities for encouraging little ones to take better care of clothes and to put away all the toys could stand improvement. The multiple interests of little children are not compatible with neatness and order.

But there can be a compromise, I argue. Not all the clutter, for example, is legitimate toy or playthings material. What about the scraps of paper, the gum wrappers, the soiled little jeans? Part of the compromise I'm enforcing around the house is to use the wastebasket rather than the floor for trash and the hamper for laundry.

To get the message across to our 5-year-old, we gave her a funny clown clothes stand with a space for soiled clothing which she really uses. A bright yellow wastebasket reminds her where to toss the papers.

A well designed child's room is not an impossibility — a room which will serve for years, be easy to care for and provide pleasant surroundings. An outstanding example is a room designed by Dorothy Miller who is a talented designer and mother of four children.

In this little girl's room she combined temporary easy-to-care-for materials with sound planning to make it a pleasure for a youngster to help keep neat. The colors used are pink, lime and yellow with white. Storage Wall Used One wall is a storage wall which features a variety of open and shut space, filling the area from ceiling to floor and incorporating the bed headboard. Shelves and cabinets will accommodate dolls, blocks and toys now, and the books and collections later on. There are no cracks or spaces for little toys to hide or fall behind. Cabinet doors are white plastic framed in black with stainless steel knobs. The bed, accessible on both sides, is easy for the beginner to make.

A large picture window supplies natural light for daytime play. Sheer white drape curtains printed with pink, lime and yellow flowers are used with a white, room-darkening window shade (to shut out light at nap time). Cutouts of the fabric flowers carry the pattern across the shade in a row. Floor is pink tile and the modern furniture includes white metal chairs and a white pedestal table that is adjustable. Even the hanging lamp can be cleaned with a damp cloth.

JACK BENNY prepares to hurl a chair at another actor in "The Comancheros," showing his work-end at the Motor-Vu theater. Wayne, appearing in a familiar cowboy hero role, portrays a weak-kid, hard-hitting westerner. (Staff engraving)

Jack Benny, Recovered From 'Horn,' Coming Back

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2 (AP)—Jack Benny, blamed by many for the present disastrous state of movie, is returning to the scene of his crimes to appear in a new picture.

It is not uncommon in this community to date the decline of films back to "The Horn Blows at Midnight," which Benny presently admits was something less than a classic.

"But they forget my hits," he protests. Jack, who is either the oldest 59-year-old in the world or the youngest 67, was dropped up in bed in his luxurious Beverly Hills home. The comedian wasn't sick. He just enjoys lying in bed when he isn't working—which is most of the time.

Jack admits he is enthusiastic about returning to the silver screen, but undoubtedly would be ecstatic if it were the screen. Benny's first flicker appearance since "The Horn Blows at Midnight" in 1946, will be in Mervyn Leroy's "Gypsy." He describes his role as a "cameraman."

Somewhat mollified by his own defense, the CBS-TV star went further. "Stanley Kramer wanted me to do his big new comedy, 'Mad, Mad, Mad World,' but I couldn't accept. It was a big part and would have taken up too much

Television Notebook

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 (AP)—Warner Bros. is in production with a non-documentary TV special designed to give a factual, definitive picture of the work of the FBI while also telling an entertaining fictional story. With great approval, of course, it will be a 90-minute film and the ABC network will telecast it. Dated not yet set. The only information on the story is that it concerns a "special group" of Americans suddenly involved, as victims and witnesses, in a serious crime.

Cliff Robertson has won the male lead in the TV version of Maxwell Anderson's play, "Saturday's Children," which will be telecast on CBS Feb. 25 as a "Break Golden Showcases" special. Robertson has become one of the most sought-after actors of my time.

"There was a lot of money in it, too," Jack said, thoughtfully, almost as if this consideration could change his mind.

"No, no, I just can't do it. It would be impossible to take six or eight weeks away from my television show. The violinist said his appearance in 'Gypsy' does not signal a full fledged movie comeback, although the industry could well be grateful for such a shot in the arm. 'Television is not up all my time now,' he explains. 'Just as radio did a few years ago, I gave up pictures because it was impossible for a comedian to find good directors in three days. Now that there are so many fine ones around I haven't time.'

part as differentiated from a walk-on. "It's the kind of thing you do for a friend like Mervyn," Jack said. "I play scenes from the old days of the Palace theater in New York. I think the part will be kinda cute." It was suggested Jack's track record in movies might counter a whinny on Leroy's picture and bring their friendship to a screaming halt.

"My record isn't that bad," Jack sniffed indignantly. "People forget I made 20 pictures, none of which lost money. If you'll remember, I did do such things as 'Buck Benny Rides Again,' 'George Washington Slept Here,' 'Artists and Models' and 'Charlie's Aunt.' They were all very successful."

Somehow mollified by his own defense, the CBS-TV star went further. "Stanley Kramer wanted me to do his big new comedy, 'Mad, Mad, Mad World,' but I couldn't accept. It was a big part and would have taken up too much

Murphy Forced to Films By Heroic War Record

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2 (AP)— "About once or twice a year," said Audie Murphy, "I go back to the farming country in Texas where I was born and almost starved. Then I come back to Hollywood and try to work a little harder."

Murphy, 37, is talking proudly about how his fame as World War II's most-decorated soldier actually prevented him from settling in his home state with the kind of life he wanted.

"After I got out of the service," said the actor, "I couldn't get a job—the kind that would pay me self-respect. I met all kinds of people: Those who wanted to use me for my war record and those who wouldn't hire me because they were afraid they'd be accused of hiring me for my record."

"And that's one of the reasons I headed for Hollywood when the opportunity arose."

As a Hollywoodian, Murphy has made a searing impression—and not only as an action picture star. He's a complex, likeable, a maverick—probably the most outcast actor in town. His temper is explosive but disappears almost as quickly as it rises.

Earlier this year, he infuriated officials at the NBC television network with his new series statements that his new series for them, "Whispering Smith," was terrible. He was right. It's not coming back. And Murphy could not be happier. It was latched from the beginning, he said, and cost him "conservatively a quarter of a million dollars" because he was tied up contractually.

"The baby-faced actor, born the son of a sharecropper in Kingsport, Tex., lives close to the earth. Although his work-a-day home is a two-story early American style farmhouse in the North Hollywood area of the San Fernando valley, he is enthusiastically proud of his ranch. It is located about seven miles south of Peris in the southeastern part of the state, and it is where he usually spends his week-ends. "There are about 20 acres, but I have 448 acres," he said. "There are about 20 acres, but I have the capacity for twice that many."

What's next professionally for Murphy? "No more TV series," he said, "at least not one that I can't see as much as the last one did. The fact that the series isn't going to be continued is the best news I've had in a long time. I'd like to do maybe an hour show here and there on TV."

"We had 11 good reasons for buying a Maytag"

"And they ranged from a 10-month-old baby boy to 10 grown daughters," says Mrs. William Lennon of Venice, Calif. "That's why I had to have an automatic washer that I could count on to do four or five loads a day, seven days a week."

"My first Maytag Automatic was like that for 8 years and 10 children. When I traded it in to get all the new features, naturally I picked Maytag. Now 2 years and a child later, I say that Maytag still makes washers like they used to. Not a single service problem with the automatic."
