Troopers Guarding Port City

ALGIERS, Algeria, Feb. 24 (AP)—Twenty thousand French troops moved into Algiers today to guard against a terrorist bloodbath that has killed 100 Europeans dead in the Bab el Oued district.

Throughout the city, authorities said, 11 Europeans also had been killed by sundown.

Authorities described the bloody afternoon riot as a "spontaneous" murder. They said the killings were part of a night's search army plan to bring peace to a city in a racial war.

The Moslems, many walking through Bab el Oued, were shot down by pistol-wielding Algerians. Shots came from the street, doorways and balconies. Women, some holding babies, watched the killings from windows and balconies.

Troops welded themselves in lines around the quarter and opened a 5 p.m. curfew that kept the rioters from leaving "until further order."

In the barricaded administrative buildings overlooking the city, officials feared the worst in the history of the seven- and one-half year-old war is approaching.

The bookends and the large medallion in front are copyrighted originals created by Andrew D. Bowles, Boise, architect and co-owner of the building. (Staff photo-engraving)

Kennedy Rejects Red Summit Bid; Urges Arms Meet

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—President Kennedy today rejected Soviet Premier Khrushchev's latest bid for a March summit conference and urged anew that the Soviet leader agree to a foreign ministers meeting on disarmament. The President's letter was dispatched to Moscow by the state department. It was reported to have the approval of the British government. In his reply, Kennedy rebutted Khrushchev's charge that the United States was intransigent in its approach to the next round of disarmament negotiations. Khrushchev had leveled this allegation in a letter to Kennedy Thursday.

Floods Build Excess Water in Reservoir—BURLY, Feb. 24—The recent floods in the upper Snake river valley have caused an excess of water to appear in the Snake river water in American Falls reservoir, causing the estimated spill to appear in court on Monday to March 10, reports Glenn Simpson, bureau of reclamation official here.

He explained that this is too early for the spill, water is being released now to avoid a larger spill to early in March. The spill will be assured by power loss and also provide full use of the spill water, he explained.

The spilled water is not stored above Millar dam so the current release of smaller amounts of water will be necessary to keep the American Falls reservoir from spilling the full force of water too early for irrigation use.

With the small amounts of water released now, the larger spill will not be scheduled until later part of March in time for irrigation use, he added.

Candidate Urges Action on Teton—BOISE, Feb. 24 (AP)—A Democratic candidate for governor said Saturday Gov. Robert E. Smylie should appeal for immediate action on the proposed Teton project.

Charles Herndon of Salmon said here that he has "waited" but "heard no such appeal" while the delay by congressional action of Burns Creek dam has added "crocodile tears to the great sorrow" of the Teton project, he said.

"I urge immediate action on the Lower Teton project. Congress will not be excused. The army corps of engineers favors the project, the bureau of reclamation favors the project, the water users favor. Our congressional delegation favors it."

PURCHASE BUSINESS—HANSEN, Feb. 24—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dickerson, from Elko, Nev., have purchased the Twin Falls job and furniture store from Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Standley. The Dickersons plan to operate it themselves.

Valley Flood Costs Tallied By Counties

ages to him, but the cost of the civil defense work will not be tallied until the first of next week.

The total estimate scheduled to be in the state civil defense office in Boise by March 1. He noted that officials of the three highway districts involved, Kingdon, North and South, reported much more damage to roads than they first anticipated.

Considerable damage to hay both in the stacks and fields, is being reported in the Richfield and throughout Lincoln county, he noted. Damage estimates for the state civil defense office are in four categories: bridges, canals and real estate.

Minidoka soil conservation officials estimated damages to fields and crops especially the loss of top soil caused by "sheet" erosion to be more than $800,000. Damages to Bureau of reclamation installations in the North Side project were set at $300,000.

Terrance Gulley, bureau engineer, pointed out that this was a rough guess since it was still impossible to get to some of the damaged areas except on horseback.

Gulley reported several installations visited over the past week-end showed relict pumps and wastewater structures washed out. The drain wells are still covered, he said, making it impossible to give an estimate of damage to the water supply system. He said he has to have a re-draft several of them, he said.

Work on repairs will begin next week weather permitting, Gulley said.

Harley Davidson, superintendent of the highway district, reported all roads in the area are closed. The big washout on 600 West north of Paul. Another section of that road further north needs repair. The road on 750 West is closed from 400 North to the railroad tracks. Crews are working on the section.

The big job north of Paul is being held up waiting for pipe for drain under the fill, he said. It was first feared stored potatoes in the area were damaged, according to Virgil Cross potato specialist, but examination of the potatoes showed they were not. He pointed out that in the past, farmers were accustomed to run water through the cellars to cool the potatoes. Not many cellars in this area were flooded, he said.

Dale Garner, state representative, pointed out that the estimated total damages within the county were some $150,000 under the amount needed for the area to qualify for federal funds.

Mayor of Perth To Attend Fete

NEW YORK, Feb. 24 (AP)—The lord mayor of Perth, Australia, which turned on its lights for the passage of astronaut John H. Glenn, Jr., will be present here when New York shows America's space hero with ticker tape. Sir Harry Howard has accepted Mayor Robert P. Wagner's invitation to attend the Glenn celebration here Thursday. When Glenn's orbit Tuesday carried him over Australia, it was night there. Perth, a city of 400,000, turned on all its lights in tribute to him. The astronaut acknowledged the gesture in a message from his space capsule, saying, "Thank everybody for turning on the lights."

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—A new kind of national nationalism sweeps the world, including the communist countries and the United States. It is the Kremlin's current problems and the difficulties confronting American foreign policy.

Diplomatic reports, as well as painstaking research by American correspondents, have shown that this new nationalism is not a natural evolution. Having achieved freedom and independence, although in the case of the Soviet Union, the realities masses now demand the bread-and-butter benefits supposed to flow from their new status.

Professors of the national hymn has it, they had "nothing to lose but their chains." Now, with the fetters cast off, they insist upon a more and more abundant life—a better life. A richer and more abundant life—better than the life of the past. They are not satisfied with the status quo. They are not satisfied with the status quo. They are not satisfied with the status quo.

A richer and more abundant life—better than the life of the past. They are not satisfied with the status quo. They are not satisfied with the status quo. They are not satisfied with the status quo.

REDS WANT TO LIVE IT UP—It is a human need which cannot be denied for the young, even by the communists themselves, without an eventual explosion. And nowhere has this age-old yearning been more manifest than within Russia and the satellite cities through which the world is now passing. These desires without surrendering to the growth of a "bourgeois and capitalist society"—a hated phrase in the Marxist lexicon.

These imprisoned peoples, especially the younger generations, are violating historic communist precepts, and without their knowledge, are helping like so many Americans during the boisterous and devil-may-care roaring '20s, which was in essence a protest against blue laws. They are wearing the flannel slacks obtainable in the United States, and they are wearing the flannel slacks obtainable in the United States, and they are wearing the flannel slacks obtainable in the United States.

FERMENT IN THE LANDS—Their poets and publicists, including officially favored spokesmen, participate in this renaissance. Historians and authors once suppressed—Tolstoy, Gogol, Dostoevsky—now are being dug out of their dusty graves. Nor does this revolutionary behavior affect only the young, the intellectuals and congenial rebels. Several puppet dictators have been forced to free their people from the rigid controls of collectivization. Factory workers have been accorded more privileges.

These changes are being met by a sensitive person than Stalin, Khrushchev apparently realizes that he cannot check or suppress these human passions by police methods and dialectical harangues. He has decided to meet this deluge of change with a more open and flexible attitude.

POISONERS AGAIN
Periodically, dog poisoning is reported in some community in Magic Valley. A few years ago, Twin Falls had such cases and probably most Magic Valley communities have experienced dog poisonings of one kind or another. Sometimes only one animal is poisoned and other cases involve a whole series of poisonings.

Poisoning someone's pet is despicable at best and a dangerous pursuit that could lead to tragedy. It takes no particular bravery or cleverness to poison a dog. A dog eats meat and usually gulps its food. Any number of poisons are lethal to a dog and can be concealed quite simply in a piece of meat or anything else a dog is likely to eat.

DOG POISONING IS A sneaky, vicious, dangerous form of perversion that should not be tolerated by society for an instant. Beyond the pet itself is always the possibility that some toddler will find the poisoned morsel before the intended victim.

The latest case of dog poisoning involves four dogs in the same vicinity south of Hazelton. All the poisoned animals were pets of children, so presumably some of the children are young enough to pick up and eat anything they might chance to find.

It is not hard to imagine the poisoned dogs south of Hazelton were anything like a public nuisance, because the owners reported their dogs never strayed, but stayed home. If they had been a public nuisance or dangerous, the law provides means to eliminate either the nuisance or the danger. There is no excuse for any individual who places a lethal dog on his own hands. The only exception would be the case where a person had to defend himself immediately against an attacking animal.

It's difficult to understand what could motivate a person who would stoop so low as to scatter poison around another's property to poison a dog.

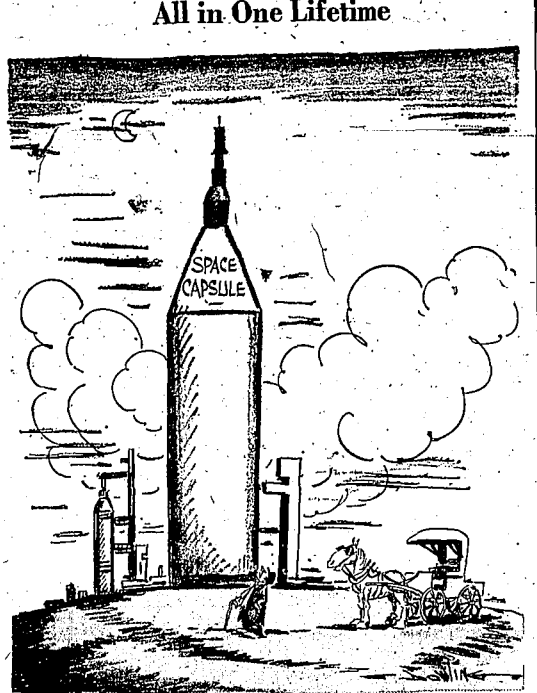

HONOR THE LIVING
Far too few of those who serve the public get any recognition during their lifetime while they can enjoy it. Occasionally, a community notes devoted service and gives recognition where it is due. Such was the case for Mrs. B. Parkie, who served Burley as public librarian for 34 years.

When Burley's new library building was constructed in 1959, provisions were made for a special room to honor Mrs. Parkie. To make certain the honor was not forgotten again, plaque was mounted on a wall in the room, naming it the Ann B. Parkie room. Many community groups use it as a meeting room, so the plaque is always a public reminder.

When Mrs. Parkie died the other day at the age of 76, she died with the knowledge that her plaque in the room, naming it in her name and that the community appreciated the service.

It's heart-warming when such deserving public servants are singled out to receive the honor while they're living.

COVERING THE CAPITAL WITH PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (NEA)—Styles in the conduct of international relations change like everything else. Where once, as the days of Bob Roosevelt, the United States used to "show the flag" to the world, today's diplomats are more concerned with the "show the flag" to the world, today's diplomats are more concerned with the "show the flag" to the world.

for the peace corps. And sister Jean and her husband Stephen Smith, went around the world with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson. They were not sure whether they brought back to improve international understanding—a camel driver.

But as cultural relations, a phrase the two Roosevelts never heard of, consider how much cheaper all this is than sending a battalion of booted troops, a symphony orchestra or even a puppet show. Or is it?

There has been a lot of serious, double-doubt criticism lately about the President sending his wife and her brother Edger wasn't so cooperative.

But look at the Kennedys. His wife is going to Pakistan and India. He is going to Pakistan and India. He is going to Pakistan and India.

POT SHOTS
Dear Gent:
We don't live too far from the high school building and there are some youngsters who don't ride to and from school all the time. Not many, but a few.

WHO ISN'T
Dear Gent:
Well, one of those young men who still uses his legs makes a practice of running. He goes past the house at least twice a day and never yet have I seen him going slower than a gallop. Just the mere sight of so much energy being used is enough to make me tired.

INTERVIEW
The President has a kind of bug on keeping open the lines of communication with other nations. With the Russians with unfriendly, undecided or undeveloped nations.

OUR BULLETIN BOARD
I. Wagoner: Two bills it may be that no one can successfully defend the habit of smoking and certainly he could not be deemed exactly a necessity, yet we feel anyone who wants to express sentiments like those in your article should do so over a true name in the Public Forum department. It may not always be apparent, but Pot Shots is primarily a fun column. Thanks, anyway.

FAMOUS LAST LINE
...Grief dresses are getting up and makes you wonder what the designers will be up to next.

EXCHANGE OF TELEVISION INTERVIEWS
The President apparently isn't going to let it be because he says, in another war there would be no victory.

UPPER FOREIGN NEWS
President Charles de Gaulle's surprise proposal for a four-nation summit conference in the summit indicates that he now considers France a full member club. It also suggests a degree of international cooperation in the operation not yet achieved in any previous summit conference and one which De Gaulle himself probably does not expect soon.

Even in the presumably peaceful exploitation of outer space they have refused to disclose many of their findings.

Some Americans think their government should break relations with the Communist Bloc and set up a follow-up to that full-page interview the President gave to Izvestia's editor, penetrating the Kremlin or was.

De Gaulle has disassociated himself totally from western probing of the Moscow and Soviet intention toward Berlin and heretofore has opposed any summit conference under any circumstances.

UPPERMOUTH IN DE GAULLE
It is to Khrushchev's advantage to deal peacefully with a western Europe divided economically and politically. It is to De Gaulle's advantage to get out of the strength, to prevent the creeping neutrality which Khrushchev makes use of with these attempts to undermine west European security.

BARRY GOLDWATER

I was not advocating the immediate inauguration of a shooting war in my proposals to the state college in 1950 and again in 1952.

I'm confident the military leadership will understand the policy of victory in the cold war. I'm confident the military leadership will understand the policy of victory in the cold war.

Why has this happened? Why are we losing? Why are we paralyzed in a posture of social ineffectiveness?

It is not that we are losing. It is that we are paralyzed in a posture of social ineffectiveness.

Our very failure to proclaim victory as our purpose is of and by itself a defeat for the side of freedom. It amounts to an open acknowledgment that we are not doing what we are doing, that we believe communism is something less than a Godless conspiracy of the most vicious and cruel.

Why has this happened? Why are we losing? Why are we paralyzed in a posture of social ineffectiveness?

It is not that we are losing. It is that we are paralyzed in a posture of social ineffectiveness.

This singular lack in our policy stance denotes timidity and reluctance to make the proper use of our power in a world where strength is the one recognized common denominator.

We are the world's most powerful nation, both economically and militarily, yet we feel exposed, insecure and unsure. With the other leading free nations we have formed alliances which are capable of allaying our fears, but we find ourselves losing confidence in our own strength.

Why has this happened? Why are we losing? Why are we paralyzed in a posture of social ineffectiveness?

It is not that we are losing. It is that we are paralyzed in a posture of social ineffectiveness.

Interpreting the News

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—Public quizzing of Francis Gary Powers, after the government finishes questioning him, might be a good idea, but probably wouldn't illuminate anything.

There have been some personal attacks on Powers about the case of the 32-year-old U-2 pilot who was downed on May 1, 1960.

explosion and thought the blast was blown off, forcing the plane to nose down, with the wings then dropping off.

There has been a lot of serious, double-doubt criticism lately about the President sending his wife and her brother Edger wasn't so cooperative.

Did a Russian rocket bring him down? Why didn't he destroy his plane? Why didn't he use his equipment out of Russian hands? Why did he admit his guilt so readily at his trial?

There's been talk, but nothing final, about a further congressional investigation. The chairman of a couple of senate committees have expressed interest in digging deeper into his case.

When Powers' plane started down, 1,200 miles inside Russia, he was supposedly flying at 65,000 feet. The plane had been in the air for 15 hours.

Writer Says Utilities Cost Too High; Hits Rate Raise

Editor, Times-News: This letter is written in regard to the 10 percent rate increase by the Idaho Power company. I think it is about time the people of Idaho sat down and took a good look at the rising cost of utilities about the state. The few people in the state bearing the burden of expenses in the state, Idaho Power made a fair profit on their investments last year. I see no need for a rate increase of any amount at this time. The farmers of the area who are pumping water for irrigation increase to assume most of this increase. Mr. Furness can you stand this added expense? It's about time we voiced our opinions. Let's all voice our objection to this power rate increase. Do it now. Write your editor. Write your newspaper and voice your objections. WILLIAM G. HELLEWELL (Heyburn)

Jerome Resident Critical Of Present School System

Editor, Times-News: When we people, merit the respect of our teens most of our teen trouble will disappear. Does the whole present educational system, the church, the police force, home life and political motivate teens' actions? Have our teens lost their respect for "the people"? The present school system melts the academic type teen but what about the non-academic type teen. How does the academic teacher fill the needs of the non-academic pupil? What action does this motivate? Why should the non-academic type pupil be made to feel inferior when many of our great men (so, they're not leaders) were and are non-academic. Why should a pupil excellent in many subjects be held back because he lacks one subject.

Woman Says Student Lost Band Spot Over Area Trip

Editor, Times-News: Students of the science class of Twin Falls high school, all A and B students, with their instructor, were taken to the national reactor testing station at Arco. Dog Poisoner Is On Prowl, Kills Ranchers' Pets

Editor, Times-News: I hope someone is satisfied now and will stop poisoning dogs. You have killed four real nice dogs that were children's pets this past week. They never bothered anyone or left the farm except maybe to go down the road to the neighbors once in a while. There were two of our dogs and our next door neighbor's dogs. The one that died this morning (Wednesday) had been so sick all winter that he almost died and I had to give him shots to get him well. He was just getting his strength back so he could get around a little instead of laying and sleeping all the time. We still have five real nice cats left that are children's pets; so don't you think it's about time you started on them? GERALD DYE (Hazelton)

Local Reader Comments on Mrs. Khrushchev's Speech

Editor, Times-News: We listened to Madam Khrushchev's radio address. We gathered from her broken English, that she wanted every nation to dump its military equipment and surrender to international control; this would have to be the U. N., a communist haven. Conditions behind the iron curtain are far worse than generally reported. China is trying to buy wheat and is offering to surrender to international control in 25 years, but no takers. France made an offer of 25 percent down and it had to be in gold. From West Germany comes this report—Russia is offering to give East Germany, both West Germany and allow Germany to have its own army if they will break away from the common market. The Russian diplomat informed Chancellor Adenauer that if he could provide an atomic bomb, many of his manufactured products and save Russia's economy, Adenauer refused. No doubt the communists are discouraged over their deploable condition. But what would it be like if this and former congressmen had failed to pass those foreign aid bills? We have the figures regarding the foreign aid money that has gone behind the iron curtain, and would quote them, if we could find them. We are amused at Madam K's complimentary remarks regarding the people she met on her recent tour of this country, particularly the people of Indiana, where she saw the tall corn growing and the feed lots full of fat cattle. What will be her attitude toward the people of Idaho, if we do not reelect Congressman Harding and Senator Church. Both of these men voted for the foreign aid bill. In dealing with these boys in the coming election the voters should not get too rough for they might resort to the same tactics that former Sen. Jim Pope resorted to. Woman Reader Takes Issue With Man's Coyote Letter

Editor, Times-News: Regarding Glen Anderson's letter, "Coyotes and Mountain Lions Serve Purpose," Feb. 20, there is certainly a high-minded view, obviously one of a non-stock-raiser who sits comfortably reading some of the stock-raiser's high-minded views. It's true, we are rich in natural resources and I'd like to ask Mr. Anderson, how many of the men that do the stockman up farmer who have lost animals and fowls? If he willing to back up his view, and let these predators live, to the extent of helping pay for the damage they do? This, I imagine, could be done through a ransack tax program, for he can be sure the cost would exceed what the wildlife service now spends. One year in our stock boys kids were born and not one lived to be sheared even the first time, although they were herded by dogs and men carrying rifles. (The men, that is, had rifles. If he thinks coyotes are carrion eaters he has been sorely misled. Only when they are very hungry and can't make a kill will they eat what they find. If they would it would be easy to poison them and a high-minded too smart for this. Government men had poison all over our place. All coyotes are not going to exert themselves catching rabbits if they can catch something else easier? If they could be so stupid, or even if they would kill only what they want to eat, not just for the sport of it, I'd say "God bless the beautiful things." But as it is I say, "God bless the wildlife service and may their luck and skill be ever increasing." HELEN BAYLOR (807 Northview Drive, Twin Falls)

Achievement In Europe Is Rotary Topic

GOODING, Feb. 24—Achievements of the European common market were outlined to members of the Gooding Rotary club Friday noon at the Lincoln Inn by Orville Hansen, Idaho Falls, Republican representative in the state legislature and candidate for the GOP nomination for second district congressman.

"The six countries in the common market have achieved a rate of economic growth more than double that of the United States," Representative Hansen said, adding "much of this success is caused by the economic assistance given by America after World War II."

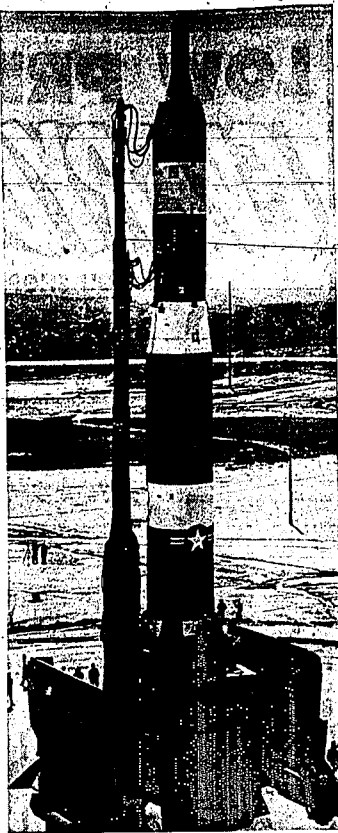

The candidate, introduced by Cecil Hobbey, program chairman, declared "The time has come for our European allies to help pay the cost of assisting underdeveloped areas in the struggle against communism. They have as much at stake in preserving freedom as we do. U.S. taxpayers cannot continue to carry the burden alone."

Hansen noted the growing economic strength and military unity in Europe has provided a powerful stimulus for political union among the nations of western Europe.

"Because of this, there is a rumormongering for the communists in Europe. A major goal of the Soviet Union during the next few months will be to divide the nations of Europe from each other and the United States," he concluded.

Guests at the Rotary luncheon were John Sanborn, Hagerman, who also has declared his candidacy for the congressional post; Harry LeMoine, Hagerman; Orville Harris; Shoshone; Carol Wilcomb and Charles L'Harrison, both Jerome; Ben Cliff, Pocatello; and Jack Chalm, Scottsbluff, Neb.

Plans were discussed for the farmers night banquet to be held next month.

Miss Greer Is Gromer's Bride In Home Ritual

KING HILL, Feb. 24—Sharon Ellen Greer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Greer, King Hill, became the bride of Robert L. Gromer, Salt Lake City, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Greener, Montpelier, Calif., Saturday, Feb. 10 at the home of Dr. Pearl Matthews, Salt Lake City.

The Rev. Hugh W. Ollman performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with bouquets of pink gladioli, large white chrysanthemums and white stock.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballroom length gown of silk organza net over nylon styled with a white tulle bodice.

The fitted bodice featured a high rounded neckline trimmed with white velvet binding and white velvet bows.

The three-quarter length sleeves also were trimmed with white velvet for shoulder length fluff of illusion net was held by a white crown topped with white flowers. She wore a garter and corseage accented with a white velvet ribbon streamer.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Duane Barber, Salt Lake City. Her pink silk sheath dress with an organza bouffant overskirt featured a shoulder length pink veil and miniature crown. She wore a white gingham corseage with pink ribbon streamers and pink miltis.

Best man was Donald Pitcher, Salt Lake City. Background music was played by Marilyn Matheson, also Salt Lake City.

The mother of the bride chose a flowered daron jacket dress with black accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

Dr. Matthews wore a black dress with matching accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

The two-tiered wedding cake was decorated with pink roses, blue flowers and greenery. It centered the bride's table which was covered with a white linen cloth and was flanked by lighted tapers.

The cloth featured a lace inset in the center and around the edges, accented with a cupid design.

Cake was cut and served by Miranda Matson, Salt Lake City. Punch was poured by Mrs. Andrew Thompson.

For her traveling ensemble, the bride chose a black sheath jacket dress with purple accessories.

The couple will reside in Salt Lake City where the bride attends the University of Utah. The bridegroom is employed in the engineering department of the Alst. Machine company in Salt Lake City.

The bride attended King Hill

College Girl Grads Will Find Math, Finance Jobs

NEW YORK, Feb. 24 (AP)—The college graduate who is interested in a career in mathematics or finance will find a wide range of opportunities in the Washington, D.C., area.

At least one large pharmaceutical firm is seeking women bachelors for more patient and laboratory jobs.

As well as the scientific and technical fields, finance is open to women. More women are entering the market research and investment fields.

Wall Street investment firms now have training programs for women college graduates. A San Francisco banker says:

"Women are becoming more important in the banking industry than ever before. We don't have enough of them."

Insurance companies want women for training as actuaries. (Figure out insurance rates on the basis of life expectancy); for electronic data processing jobs; and for selling.

But some industries still feel women don't fit in at all, except, of course, in clerical work. Says the personnel director of a large company producing steel, aluminum and cement:

"We don't make any effort to recruit women because the opportunities are mainly for men. Can you imagine a female chemical engineer in a cement plant?"

Washington's Birthday Tea Held by DAR

Twin Falls chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution held its annual guest day tea and book review Thursday at the YWCA rooms with Mrs. Keith L. Jenkins as chairman.

Mrs. Roger Thomas, Kimberly, reviewed "I Was Born" tomorrow, a new publication by Grace Nels Fletcher, Julie Anderson, accompanied by Mrs. Jane Lebowitz, sang "The first song, said to be George Washington's favorite ballad, "Beneath a Weeping Willow Shade," was written by Francis Hopkinson, a close friend of Washington and a signer of the Declaration of Independence.

"Lullaby" by Cyril Scott, and "Love is the Wind" by Mitchell completed the musical group.

Mrs. Lebowitz gave a short resume of early American music and composers.

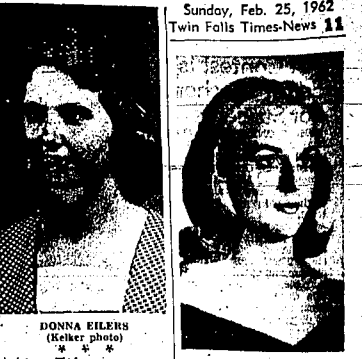

The tea table was arranged before a copy of the Gilbert Stuart portrait of George Washington, and a 13-star flag, a gift to the chapter. A large arrangement of red and white carnations in a blue container carried out the patriotic theme in the decorations.

Mrs. L. Lebowitz presided at the coffee and tea services. The tea committee, in addition to Mrs. Jenkins, consisted of Mrs. L. W. Voorhes, Mrs. Arch T. Colner, Mrs. Mahlon J. Neumann, Mrs. George H. Detweiler and Mrs. E. M. Rayburn.

The ritualistic opening preceding the program was conducted by Mrs. Rayburn, the regent, and Mrs. L. H. Miller, chaplain.

Miss Friedrich, Powers Marry in Burley Services

BURLEY, Feb. 24—A double ring ceremony performed Saturday, Feb. 10, at the First Christian church united in marriage Miss Friedrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Friedrich, and Ernest Powers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Powers, all Burley.

The rites were performed by the Rev. Earl J. Sward before well wishes of pink and white chrysanthemums tied with white satin.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white lace over matching tulle. The Basque bodice was fashioned with a scalloped neckline and full point sleeves. Her bouffant skirt was enhanced with a wide panel of matching tulle.

The bride's shoulder-length veil of bridal tulle was held by a crown of sequins; she carried a bouquet of red roses tied with white satin streamers and red roses.

Wedding music was played by Darlene Cook, organist, who accompanied Mrs. Kenneth Grossman who sang "Because."

Best man for his brother was Ellis Powers. Ushers were Cecil Powers and Glenn Dick.

Mrs. Friedrich wore a beige lace sheath dress with beige accessories. A two-piece dress of silk sequin print and matching skirt was the selection of the bridegroom's mother. Each wore a corsage of white carnations and pink baby roses.

The bride's table was covered with a white cloth and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake set in white and decorated with pink roses and white lattice hearts and topped with a miniature bride and groom. Flanking the cake were pink jaspers in gold holders.

The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Dewey Lawrence and the bride, Mrs. Edna McGraw, aunt of the bridegroom, poured coffee and Mrs. Dorothy Powers, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, served punch.

Frosting at the gift table were Edna McGraw, Gladys Lawrence, Olivia were carried by Vickie Powers, niece of the bridegroom, and Lana Roberts.

Mrs. Evelyn Gill was in charge of the guest book.

For her traveling ensemble, the new bride selected a powder blue wool suit. She was graduated from Burley high school in 1951; the bridegroom a 1950 graduate of the same school.

The couple will reside in Riko, N.Y., where both are employed by the Elko Credit bureau.

Science-Minded Girls Are Not Content With Fiction

NEW YORK, Feb. 24—Time was when girls were content to let their imaginations fly to make their high school days tolerable. They figured that so long as they had to attend school they might as well make it pay off in fun.

—But that attitude has changed since the atom was split. Girls are now not just content with reading science fiction. Ten of the 40 finalists in the 21st- and 22nd-annual search, sponsored by Westinghouse, are girls; a pretty good ratio in science competition.

Typical of the 1962 science fiction girl is Sheila Lynne Grinnell, 16, New York City, who developed a system for "adding and subtracting" polygons, many-sided geometric figures, a method known as vector analysis.

Sheila wants a career in medical research, and that wish motivated her interest in science at an early age.

"Neither parent prodded me into it," Sheila volunteers. "They just encouraged me to find my way."

She hopes to study biological and physical sciences at Radcliffe college. She was a delegate to the International Youth Science conference in London where she shared theories with teenagers from 18 countries.

"I was one of five high school juniors who went over, and we lived at a youth hostel in London. Besides talking much with British boys, science proved to be a medium for mutual understanding. It emphasized being a human being."

Sheila feels she is well advanced toward her goal, considering her age. "I am very happy to have gotten this far," she says, "and I can't wait to go on."

She has other talents. She is managing editor of the citywide newspaper for French-American high school students; it has a circulation of 21,000.

She can also sew. The suit she wears to Washington March 1 on her five-day winning trip to pick up her $250 prize is one she made herself. It is a black and white tweed with a box jacket and semi-flared skirt.

Adrienne Allen, Morris Repeat Nuptial Promise

JEROME, Feb. 24—Adrienne Teresa Allen, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Allen, Jerome, and Adrienne Allen, Idaho Falls, and Charles Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morris, Jerome, were married Saturday afternoon, Feb. 24, at St. Jerome's Catholic church.

The Rev. Bernard McBride performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a beige wool sheath dress with matching jacket. She wore a long, flowing veil. The bridegroom wore a tuxedo. The bride's hair was styled in a mod-à-la-collier and will-length aloes.

Mrs. William Kersey, aunt of the bride, fashioned the dress. A white cap of nylon flowers covered with pearls held her short illusion net veil. She carried a bouquet of tiny pink roses and pink and white carnations with white satin streamers.

She also wore a six-strand necklace, a gift of the bridegroom. Mrs. Eugene Sidwell, Orem, Utah, matron of honor, wore a pink tulle dress and wore a pink tulle dress and wore a pink tulle dress and wore a pink tulle dress.

The bride-elect is a 1959 graduate of Burley high school. She attended Utah State university and is a graduate of Hollywood Beauty college.

Lambert is a senior at Utah State university and is affiliated with Pi Kappa Alpha.

A March 18 wedding is slated for the next meeting, will speak on "The trial of Jesus."

Hostesses were Mrs. Oscar Porter, Mrs. J. Davidson, Blanche Otto and Mrs. Charley Stone.

Hagerman MIA Sets Festival

HAGERMAN, Feb. 24—It was announced that the ward speech festival will be held at the Mutual meeting Wednesday.

Lyn Wood conducted the last session. Deo Christensen directed music and Mrs. Charles Thompson was accompanist. Alan Palmer and Alan Marsh gave prayers.

LaNona Underly and the theme, W. C. Choules, member of the bishopric over mutual, spoke on attendance at sacrament meetings.

HOLD WORK NIGHT HAGERMAN, Feb. 24—Reorganized LDS Young Adults held a work night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Stokes. Field ground equipment was made by the men and the women varnished bookcases.

The cake was decorated with pink rosettes. While awaiting the bride, Mrs. Charles Thompson, the bride's table was surrounded with pink and white carnations in sprays of green fern on a circular mirror. Pink lighted papers in crystal candelabra flanked the cake.

Buhl and Gooding Ousted; Finas Set for Butrley

Four free throws by Ray Olsen sent the Jerome Tigers past the upset-minded Gooding Senators 60-55 and the Minico Spartans belted the frigid Buhl Indians 59-43 in loser bracket play of the fourth district AAA tournament Saturday night.

Sports FROM ALL ANGLES

BY LARRY HOVEY High school basketball is fading rapidly from the Magic Valley athletic scene and by this time next week the gymnasiums will be settled down for their off-season slumber.

The 1961-62 basketball season left little in its wake in the line of great basketball. It was a good, solid, average year and that was about it.

Richfield proved to be the first score over 100 points possibly ever seen in this district when the Tigers racked up 111. Only one was dropped from the AAA classification ending A.M. term as Davy among the fourth district.

There is, however, enough of a nucleus to pick out some pretty fair all-conference teams. Bill Manning, Minico's 6-foot, 3-inch forward, nailed one spot down for sure.

Joining them are Danny Lamm, Richfield, who scored 20 points a game and didn't have too many opponents to jump him.

The center spot goes to Kent Henderson, Filer, who scored 20 points a game and didn't have too many opponents to jump him.

John Brune, Valley, led the league in scoring as a center. He moved to forward guard.

Second in a series of three Pacific International "Trap" shows are to be held at the Buhl arena and will begin at 1 p.m. today at the Twin Falls gun club facilities on Washington street, north.

It is hard to choose an all-district team with 111 different players from 11 different schools. The guards are Art Whitaker, Ratt River, and Ken McCammon, Haugerum, Forward spots go to Drew Reynolds, Castleford, and Gene Bortz, Dec-10.

On the Northside, Camas County and Richfield trail dominate the scene. Center is County Junior Tom Gornitz with teammate Bill Rocketon at one guard. Jim O'Donnell, Bellevue, the league's best scorer, and Don Plover, Richfield, runner-up, are the forwards, and Lynn Cook, Carey, is the winning man with Richfield.

Also available here for top picks are Jim Strickler, Richfield; Gene Roberts, Carey; Ken Dietrich, and Tom Armstrong, Richfield. They form the second unit.

OAKLEY SETS PACE IN CLASS A TOURNEY

Conference Affiliations for Idaho Still Are One Year Away

MOSCOW, Feb. 24 (AP)—It's a pretty safe bet that anything more than a continued independent status for Idaho athletics, in football or all sports for that matter, is a year or more away.

He was, of course, referring to the anticipation of Oregon, Oregon State and Washington State, who are still very much alive in "Big Five" or AAUW plans for expansion; and of Utah State, still hopeful of becoming affiliated with the West.

Meanwhile, possible alignment with some of the major independents in the Intermountain area, including Idaho State, Montana State and Montana State, has been temporarily shelved.

A proposed alliance of major independents in the West and Intermountain area, including Idaho State, Montana State, Oregon State, Washington State, Oregon and Oregon State, along with such other major independents as Seattle, Utah State, Montana and Montana State, Colorado State University and Denver, both of which are in the West.

Stahley, who had hoped that a basketball arrangement could be made over a year ago involving the major independents, said he still has hope such an arrangement can be worked out.

Primary reason behind the desire for such an arrangement in basketball is the fact that NCAA post-season tournament selection is based first upon record and then upon strength of schedule.

Chamber Can Help People With Buying

Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce secretary-manager William Grange Saturday warned individuals that the "fly by night" salesman are more active during the upcoming months.

Grange pointed out that each year thousands of dollars are lost to salesmen representing bogus companies. A lot of salesmen appear to be respectable, but the company they represent is on shaky ground, he added.

"Usually these salesmen are the worst," he said. "If they were working for a legitimate company, there is no end to how much they could earn. It's a real shame these individuals are working for a legitimate company."

"The fly by night salesman is getting sharper. Some of them have even purchased memberships in the Chamber of Commerce. This, of course, would only enhance their chances of making money."

"We investigate salesmen and companies as fast as we can. Actually, we've made ourselves unpopular with some companies by our harsh methods. Even if we make them clear up their sales pitch, we have accomplished something."

"We've been mistaken on some companies and they've proved themselves honest and legitimate."

Grange pointed out that one way to avoid being sold a bill of goods is to check with the chamber office. The chamber keeps tabs on companies selling in the area and can quickly check on new companies.

"As a rule once the sale is made and the company leaves town, there isn't much we can do to aid the victim. The best rule is to give the chamber a call. The honest company welcomes investigation."

"The favorite fly by night pitches usually involve baby photos, home improvements and sales of that nature," Grange cautioned.

Toll Reaches 30 as Sailor, Boy, 6, Dead

By The Associated Press
A Pocatello navy man and a 6-year-old southwest Idaho boy died in separate traffic accidents Friday. Their deaths brought to 30 the number killed on Idaho roads this year as compared to 29 just last year.

The 6-year-old, Juan Rodriguez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Candario Rodriguez, Caldwell, died Friday evening of injuries received when he reportedly jumped from the back of a moving pickup truck. Sheriff's deputies reported.

Deputies said they were told the boy fell on the back of his head when he jumped from the truck driven by Ramon Pedraza of Caldwell south of there.

The Pocatello navy man died Friday night of injuries received in a collision between his car and a highway maintenance truck about two miles north of Chubbuck on U. S. Highway 16.

Death Takes Mrs. E. Ryan At Age of 82

RUPERT, Feb. 24—Mrs. Elizabeth Ryan, 82, resident of Rupert, died Thursday evening in the Minidoka Memorial hospital after a one-month illness.

She was born May 20, 1879, in Ireland, and lived in New York City for several years. She was married to John M. Ryan in New York City in 1906. The couple moved from there in 1918 to a farm northeast of Rupert. Her husband died in 1941; a daughter, Mrs. Helen Tompkins, died in 1943, and a son, John Ryan, died in August, 1961.

Survivors include two sons, Donald E. Ryan, Rupert, and Richard E. Ryan, New York City; a daughter, Mrs. Josephine Lynch, Anas, Calif.; a sister, Sister M. Thaddeus, Salt Lake City, and 20 grandchildren.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Sunday in the Walk mortuary, Rupert, and requiem high mass will be celebrated at 10 a.m. Monday in St. Nicholas Catholic church by the Rev. Nicholas McNeill. Final rites will be held in Rupert cemetery. Friends may call at the Walk mortuary Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Bevercomb Taken by Death

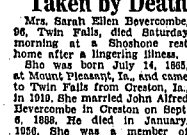

Mrs. Sarah Ellen Bevercomb, 96, Twin Falls, died Saturday morning at a Shoshone rest home after a lingering illness.

She was born July 14, 1865, at Mount Pleasant, Ia., and came to Twin Falls from Creston, Ia., in 1910. She married John Bevercomb in Creston on Sept. 6, 1888. He died in January, 1950. She was a member of the Twin Falls First Christian church.

Surviving are two sons, Charles E. Bevercomb, Parma, and Floyd C. Bevercomb, Keremore, British Columbia; six grandchildren, and seven great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Twin Falls First Christian church with the Rev. Donald Hoffman officiating. Concluding rites will be held at Sunset Memorial park.

Controversy For Mrs. Galey

REXBURG, Feb. 24 (AP)—Howard Potter, Madison county Democratic chairman in a running feud with Republicans on the Burns Creek dam controversy, said today the Peterson dam bill introduced by U.S. Rep. Ralph R. Harding, D., Ida., does not mention Burns Creek. Potter said that is direct contradiction to supporters of Oral Hansen, Idaho Falls, Harding's Republican opponent, that Harding had not introduced a Teilor Dam bill.

He also said Mrs. Wilma Bean, Bugar City, his Madison Republican counterpart, who had criticized him earlier, has not even read the bill because it does not contain a mention of Burns Creek.

Bean, who had criticized the Burns Creek rider on the Teilor bill.

BAGGY TROUSERS are illustrated by Mrs. Francis Corey, Jerome. Wearing the trousers is Wesley Corey, her 8-year-old son who burned his legs in a farm accident. Mrs. Corey has determined that trousers made now are so slim the boy can hardly fit his bandaged legs in the trousers. Mrs. Corey has determined, after searching stores, that the full-length trousers of a few years ago are next to impossible to purchase. She is down to two pairs of trousers now and is searching for a few more pairs to last Wesley until he can remove the bandages. (Staff photo-engraving)

Popular, Slim Trousers Do Not Solve Problems of Burned Boy

JEROME, Feb. 24.—Present-day clothing isn't what it cracked up to be—at least it isn't for Wesley Corey, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Corey, route 3.

The new modern look in trousers—the slim look—hasn't to Wesley's liking. But there is a reason for this, it isn't just because he doesn't like to look awful.

Last week Mrs. Corey wrote a letter to the Post-Boise column of the Times-News. The purpose of the letter was to try and locate some good, old-time full-length trousers for Wesley. According to Mrs. Corey they just aren't available, at any price.

It's not that Wesley is reactionary in his taste for clothing, it is just that his legs are bandaged and the new slim look won't fit over the bandages.

"They'll fit," she says, "but it is a terrible struggle and once they are on, they rub the bandages and Wesley thinks they are extremely uncomfortable."

Wesley received multiple burns on his legs in October. He was in a farm accident when some gasoline exploded. His right leg was burned and over 60 square inches of skin had to be grafted from his other leg to the burned area.

He is recovering rapidly and has been back in school for about a month.

"His legs are healing, but the trouser situation is getting worse. I started out with two pairs of pants that fit with room to spare," she says. "But they have to be washed every other day in a strong soap and bleach and you can imagine what they look like now!"

She notes that the trousers he wears must be light-colored, fit with room for the bulky bandages and be washed every day. This is a demanding list of qualities for any pair of pants.

"But the real problem is that you just can't buy pants with a decent pant-leg size these days," she says. "These new pants are tailored so narrow that they are uncomfortable for Wesley. When my older boy, Larry, who is 13, was Wesley's age, all pants were made so they had room in them, but not these days."

"I had some of the trousers that Larry outgrew that I could use, but you ought to see them now. The reason I wrote Post-Boise was that I thought someone might have some trousers that their children had outgrown that Wesley could use until he can take the bandages off."

Although Wesley is recovering rapidly, he still has several months ahead of him when he must wear the bandages.

"The doctor says that Wesley, who likes to fish, will be able to take them off by fishing season in June. Until then, unless I can find some other trousers, I suppose I have to wash the two pairs every other day and hope they hold together."

Skiing Lessons Provided for Ketchum Grade School Classes

KETCHUM, Feb. 24.—Each afternoon during the school week the slopes of Kinderhorn, the miniature mountain north of Ketchum, are spotted with the brightly-colored costumes of young skiers. Above the sounds of the children's happy cries are the voices of their instructors disciplining them and teaching them the basic techniques of skiing.

The children are students in the Ketchum elementary school and they are taking part in a physical education program that few schools in the nation could provide, for few schools have access to some of the best skiing conditions in the world and a wealth of adult skiers to provide instruction.

According to Ray Jefferson, principal of the school, the skiing program has been incorporated in the school physical education program since 1954, but this is the first year the school has the services of a full-time instructor and that a fully integrated skiing program has been offered for students.

Students are placed in class groups according to their talents and are taken progressively through the steps necessary to become accomplished skiers.

The classes are under the direction of Bert Cross, a well-known skiing instructor in this area, and he is aided by about 25 volunteer instructors, many of whom are fathers and mothers of the students.

The program got under way shortly after the Christmas vacation. At that time Cross held classes for volunteer instructors to insure they would all teach the same techniques and to coordinate the classes. The school administration organized the classes according to grade level and coordinated them with the physical education program.

Jefferson stresses, "We have made sure that no academic time is lost due to the program."

The students start to school earlier in the morning, take a 30-minute lunch break and forego their afternoon recess period in order to accumulate enough time for skiing lessons in the afternoon.

Each week every student who chooses to enter the program spends one hour one day a week at Kinderhorn. There are about 150 students, in grades one through eight, enrolled. The classes are timed so that skiing lessons are the last period in the day, permitting them to remain and ski after school if they choose.

Different classes take their lessons on certain days of the week. Cross oversees the teaching and he is usually aided by three or four volunteer instructors. Classes are broken into small groups that work with the instructor. The students are serious about their skiing and the teaching progresses at a fast clip. Many an accomplished skier would get an inferiority complex watching the youngsters, many of whom haven't skied before this winter, gracefully negotiate the mountain slopes. Children who are awkward when they walk, gain a certain grace when they walk on their skis.

Jefferson notes that the purpose of the program is to develop good, general skiers, enabling them to enjoy the unusual country in which they live. And he adds that there is no reason why Ketchum shouldn't develop some of the best young skiers in the nation.

"Already many of the children are accomplished skiers," he says, "and some of them have been able to join the racing program as low as the fourth and fifth grades."

Another aspect of the program is that it offers the children outdoor recreation and exercise, an important consideration in a community where the winters are long and where the children would be confined to indoor physical education classes if the program wasn't offered.

YOUNG SKIERS, who are students in the Ketchum elementary school, are given a few basic pointers about skiing by Bert Cross, the instructor who heads the skiing program offered to the students. This is the first year the school has had a full-time instructor to direct the school skiing program, which is a part of the physical education program. The young, second-grade students are Billy McDorman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley McDorman and Michelle Clifford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Clifford. (Staff photo-engraving)

Jefferson says the program doesn't cost the children and that every effort is made to procure equipment for them if they lack it. Children rapidly outgrow their equipment, but he says in the spring, after the skiing season is over, there is considerable swapping of equipment among children and parents, which limits the amount of money spent on equipment.

And he adds that the Popose program wasn't offered.

Glenn's Journey Affects Students' Class Lessons

Astronaut John H. Glenn didn't know it, but he played an important role in many elementary school students' Tuesday class lessons in the fifth-grade class of William Armstrong, Biakel elementary school.

During Glenn's space flight Tuesday, the children in Armstrong's class paid close attention to the flight by watching two radio sets in the room. Throughout the day the various aspects of the flight were applied to the daily lessons.

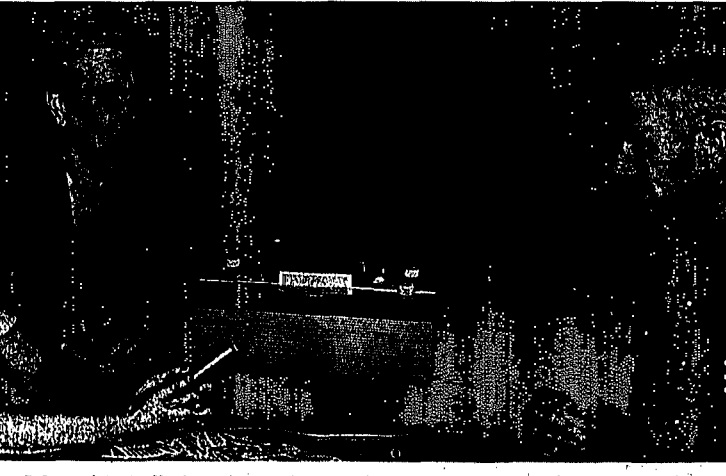

"The children were fascinated with the flight," Armstrong says, "and I think that that there was much less dull-bull than they had during a normal class session."

During the day Armstrong picked different things related to the flight and presented them to the students. One of the main subjects in the class is arithmetic. The students spent part of the day solving problems related to the flight. The problems were difficult for elementary school students, but Armstrong notes they were so interested in the flight that they tackled them with gusto.

They were asked to calculate how far he would travel in a 24-hour day at the capsule's rate of speed, how far he would travel in a second and in a minute, how far he traveled during his three orbits, how long it would take him to travel six million miles and they were asked to calculate his re-entry time. They only missed by 10 minutes.

During the language arts period, Armstrong explained the basic philosophy behind military strategy.

ROCK CREEK PIONEER, Lars P. Larsen, chas with Mrs. Hugh O. Boone, left, recording secretary of the Twin Falls County Historical society, while Mrs. Larsen looks on. Both Mr. and Mrs. Larsen were pioneers in their states of the early days in this region were tape recorded. Larsen was born in 1852 near the original Rock Creek store. He has lived in three Idaho counties, yet he has never moved from the vicinity where he was born. Larsen says he used to dance a lot in the old days, but the "twist" doesn't interest him. (Staff photo-engraving)

County Boundaries Have Moved, But Rock Creek Pioneer Hasn't

Lars P. Larsen, Rock Creek pioneer, has lived in three Idaho counties yet has never moved from the vicinity where he was born.

This was one of the many interesting tales told by Larsen and his wife as they had their "stories of the past" recorded on tape as a permanent record of the Twin Falls County Historical society.

The recording session, like many arranged by the society during the past few years, was staged recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh O. Boone, Mrs. Boone with the instructor of the history unit, is also in charge of the project which seeks to preserve stories of this area.

Larsen, who will be 80 years old April 1, was born in 1852, a half mile from the original Rock Creek store. At that time the area was in Owyhee county, with famed Silver City in western Idaho as the county seat. Later the same area was placed in Cassia county with Alton as the county seat and still later in newly created Twin Falls county.

Mrs. Larsen, a daughter of the late Abel Murray, was born at Alton and moved to Rock Creek in 1868. She was married to Mr. Larsen on August 10, 1910. They had three children and two survive, residing in the same area. They are Mrs. Clarence McCarty and Kenneth Larsen. Mrs. Larsen's father was a deputy sheriff of Cassia county at the time of the Diamond Field track episode.

How does the past compare with the present? Larsen says the opportunity to start from scratch no longer exists. He started raising horses—wild ones—and selling them to the people grading for the Carey project in Cassia county, now known as the Twin Falls project. He is still a stockman and farmer. "I have enough land to keep me poor and enough cattle to pay the taxes," he said while making the recordings.

Amusement in the "old days?" "We did lots of dancing and on July 4 we had horse races. That was about the extent of it."

He still dances, but admitted that the "twist" is something in which he has no interest. Rather he rides his saddle horse at every opportunity and ranges over the south hills.

And humor in the "old days?" "I remember the time I went into the Rock Creek saloon and asked for a drink. I told the bartender it was for a bellyache. "Nothing how thin I was he snapped back with, 'You wouldn't know whether it was a bellyache or a backache.'"

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Most persons who have attended basketball games at the Minidoka County high school near RIVERFEST have had the opportunity of seeing the Pomerettes, a unique and colorful group, perform at half time. The group was organized by Janie Wenger, high school senior, when a sophomore, after seeing a similar group perform at Pomona, Calif. She spent the summer of 1959 in Pomona, and with Karina Hatch Winward as sponsor, tryouts were started, with four girls in a team trying out and Miss Wenger was chosen as manager.

Judging was done on their ability to dance, appearance, attitude and how fast they were able to learn the steps.

A team of 16 girls were picked and rehearsals started with Carol Ames, Martha Bertsch, Della Beal, Carol Catmull, Kathy Collier, Betty Fowler, Judy Higer, Elsie Knapp, Corinne Knapp, Betty Mastie, Mickey Miller, Janis Olson, Peggy Price, Peggy Seely, Cheryl Xoves and Miss Wenger making up the original group.

The name "Pomerettes" was chosen and costumes picked.

For football games, the group wore white pleated skirts and white sweat shirts with red insignia, and for the basketball games they wear red corduroy jumpers with white shirts. Each girl carries two large white pom-poms which they use in their routines. Several other styles and color combinations were used on various occasions.

The group has performed at numerous events around the community besides school affairs, including the Outlook tournament at GOODING and the chuck wagon jamboree and the Fourth of July parade.

New girls have been added to fill in for drop outs, and go give alternates in the event one of the regulars is unable to perform.

Other girls added this year include Gild Melville, French exchange student and Norma Branger, Pat Kowalski, Beverly Marbach, Martha Miller, Dorothy Swanson and Renee Bruner.

The group performs to dance music, doing intricate precision routines and bouncy dance steps. When the precision routines are done, the tradition will be passed on to each year's senior girls, Miss Wenger said. It is a very exclusive group and only members only those who are not members of any other dance group.

Catchy, modern tunes are chosen for the performances, and new steps worked out from time to time, and new routines required before each appearance.

Miss Wenger has served as president since the organization was first formed, and she has choreographed, drawing ideas from professional routines and from other similar groups, as well as original ideas she worked out with the girls.

"We hope that the Pomerettes will continue on from year to year and become a Minidoka tradition," Miss Wenger said. "It has been fun, and we will be sorry to leave, but we feel sure the girls who will be members next year will carry on."

Other officers serving with Miss Wenger are Miss Kowalski, vice president; Miss Catmull, meeting chairman, and Miss Marbach, music chairman.

Sponsors have been Mrs. Winward, Mrs. Val Toolson and Henry Larson, Minico teachers.

Miss Melville has had to drop from the group because she broke her right ankle recently while skating at Pomona. She is now at ALBION. It was the second time in her life she has been skating, but probably she wanted to keep her American "slater," Lora Olson, company. Miss Olson twisted her right leg and also has a broken ankle from the same cause.

Keith Bird, new owner of the McGoldrick funeral home at HAILLEY, can lay claim to being a true Magic and Big Wood river valleyite.

He was born in JEROME, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ella Bird.

The family moved to PICACON when he was a small child and they resided there eight years. They moved to Gooding, where he completed his high school education and graduated from Gooding high school. During his

Buhl School Accepts Bid On Supplies

Buhl, Feb. 24—Buhl school trustees awarded a contract to the Hardware Sales and Service company, Boise, for $11,285 on hardware to be used in the new building program here when they met in special session this week.

Other firms submitting bids were the Ralph Anderson company, Salt Lake City, for $11,322; Architectural Products, Inc., Boise, for $12,221; and T. C. Gloyne company, Salt Lake City for $12,150. The Gloyne company plans also give an alternate proposal for $12,165.

The bids were presented by Glenn Cline, Buhl's school superintendent. The bid will include all locks, door equipment, door closures and door stops. Neal Schmitt, Buhl's principal, and Schmitt's architectural firm, Boise, presented the color scheme and architectural plan for the elementary school building.

Both proposals were accepted by the board. Doyle Allen was accepted as the supervisory architect for the building program.

All other business was postponed until the next regular meeting March 12.

AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

BY D. L. MIKEL
(Pastor, Lynwood Chapel)

All around us are evidences that we are in a fast-changing world. We are reading headlines about the "Changing Sixties," hearing statements about the "Drifters" and so forth.

I wonder just how much the impression all this is making on the average American. The man who resists these changes will simply be run over. But let us not never "think" that all these changes are to our betterment. Change, then, is not always progress.

And please note that man is the only creature concerned about change and progress. A goose, a monkey or cow is just as much contented to be a goose, a monkey or cow as they were at the time of creation. Man, however, is a curious being. He is not content. He is constantly dreaming, wishing and sometimes working to bring about changes.

Right now many local citizens are greatly concerned about our tax structure. And some change will be made, we may be sure. But, please, remember that just to change something doesn't mean we have improved it at all. It could be even made weaker and worse than before.

This will surely be true if we attempt to bring about legalized gambling. Just remember what has happened around us since we legalized drinking of intoxicating beverages.

Isn't it strange that in this age of science, right during the time of building guided missiles, we have so many misguided men? Are you impressed with this dilemma? Does this increase of alcoholism mean anything to you? Does crime rate among juveniles and teenagers alarm you? Are you impressed that our educational system is bent toward depriving our children of learning anything about God? Has it occurred to you that America has forgotten how to blush about any kind of sin?

As an American and as a minister, I wish we could be impressed with some serious thinking of what all this is bringing upon us. I wish we might be impressed with the law of life—written and unwritten—that says, "Whatever a man sows, he will reap." Don't forget to plan for an increase as you sow. Other, God will see to it that we have a harvest.

Speakers Listed For PTA Meet

SPRINGDALE, Feb. 24—Speakers at the Springdale PTA meeting Wednesday night were David Lewis, Burley, Cassia county Red Cross district chairman, and Robert Wiseman, Pocatello, field representative of southeastern Idaho.

Mrs. Sam Ogawa, PTA county council president, announced a speech clinic will be held in May directed by Mrs. Jay Brown. Mrs. Ruscie Smedley reported the purchase of a set of "Childcraft" books.

Orval Voice spoke on Founders day and past presidents were honored. A life membership was presented Mrs. Martha Merrill, first grade teacher.

Miss Steker gave the invocation and the fourth grade room won the attendance count. Named to the nominating committee are Mrs. Robert Rasmussen, Mrs. Smedley and Charis Good. Mrs. Kenneth Lilson read the PTA object and principles.

Favorable Image of America Created In Poland in Spite of Iron Curtain

WARSAW, Feb. 24—This is good news, said the Polish housewife. "It means that we may have good, fluffy bread all year, instead of the heavy black bread that crumble in your fingers."

"Why, the flour got so bad last fall that I even went to the city to try to bake cakes."

She was commenting on a small news item reporting arrival of the first shipment of 600,000 lbs. of U. S. surplus wheat destined for Poland this year.

"Yes, we Poles are certainly grateful to the Americans for this gift," she said. "If you read that paper more carefully, you will see that we are buying the wheat. What we really should be grateful for is the CARE program, and the money that our Polish people in America send us. Things would be much harder here without it."

On exceptionally easy terms—in Polish money usable only in Poland.

U. S. government aid slowed last fall after the Gomulka regime wholeheartedly supported Fidel Castro and then backed East Germany on Berlin. Talks on the new surplus agreement called after the Berlin wall went up. It finally was signed in December for 4.6 million dollars in farm surpluses, the least since 1957 and one-third the amount sent the previous year.

In addition to government aid, nine million dollars come from Poles each year through U. S. social security and veterans' benefits and private help from Polish-Americans. Almost every other Pole has a relative or acquaintance in the United States. CARE sends in five million dollars worth of food and medicine a year while 35 million dollars worth of relief goods is provided by Church World Service and the Catholic charities.

All this U. S. aid gets scant attention in the Polish government. What official publicity there is, is generally accurate.

Cub Scouts' T. F. Dinner Is Reported

Cub Scout pack 77 held its annual Blue and Gold banquet Thursday night at the Morning-side school.

Cub Scouts from each den made their own individual table decorations. Assisting at the banquet were Mrs. Norman Carroll, Mrs. Robert Fender, Mrs. Raymond Troxel, Mrs. Ellis Reddick and Mrs. Henry Willis.

Robert Stepanovich, awards chairman, presented awards to Cub Scouts after the banquet.

Receiving awards were Eric Evans, wolf badge and gold arrow; Steven Sellers, wolf badge; Scott Halkington, one-year pin; Timmy O'Connor, lion badge; gold and silver arrows and a two-year pin; Paul Pender, lion badge; gold and silver arrows; Robbie Fender, lion badge, gold and silver arrows, and Doug Lee, lion badge, gold and silver arrows.

Billy Windsor, and Benny Windsor, wolf badge; John Lively, wolf badge; Danny Carroll, bear badge; Ricky Schreiner, gold arrow; Kim Brumback, bear badge; Greg Will, gold arrow; Leon Scott, Greg Wilson and Randy Drake, each a bear badge.

One year charter was presented to the pack for the year of 1961 by Robert Day, district committeeman, William Riegan, Scout chairman, showed movies on hurricanes.

It was announced that the Pinewood derby runoffs will be held at the next monthly meeting March 22.

This is a seeming contradiction in the cold war. The flow of American aid through the iron curtain to Communist Poland, there are six million or so Americans of Polish background—have created a favorable image of the United States among many Poles.

The Soviet Union is the only government that has given Poland more economic aid since World War II. Experts estimate Poland has received well over one billion dollars in Soviet easy-term credits, plus an undetermined amount of military aid.

Since World War II, the American people have sent Poland more than one billion dollars in government aid, credits and private help. About 550 million dollars was spent before 1949, followed by an eight-year freeze in relations during the Stalinist era.

Since the thaw in 1957, agreements have provided the Poles 410 million dollars worth of surplus farm products and 61 million dollars in industrial loans.

Peruvian High School Students See Life in America During Miami Visit

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 24 (AP)—In Lima, Peru, 48 high school students are spending the week of their lives in the United States. Occasionally they get into arguments because these boys and girls are trying to make sense of the opinions, the same opinions they once held themselves.

The youngsters can speak as expert witnesses now. They have just returned from a 16-day visit to Miami, where they lived in average American homes and went to school with average U.S. students.

"North Americans are not at all the way I had them pictured," admitted Carlos Clavo, 17, son of a university professor and a leader of Lima's Guadalupe high school.

"They are generous, friendly, outgoing," said Clavo.

From American movies he had the impression that the United States was a monster-ridden, materialistic nation.

Ciro Hudson, 18, son of a land owner, said he developed a new respect for Americans because they are hard workers, and everybody works, at all kinds of jobs.

Carlos, Hiro, and the others were brought to Miami in a pilot project of Operation Amigo, an experiment aimed at bringing future Latin-American leaders to the United States for a firsthand level look at life in a working democracy.

The Miami Herald said the expenses of the students from the poor families; Peruvian Airlines provided the group with cut-rate fares; and William D. Peavey, a Miami businessman and former ambassador to Peru, provided two big sightseeing buses to transport the students during their stay at Edison.

Gov. Paris Bryant and the state of Florida played host to the group in Tallahassee, the state capital, for one day. The students of Miami and other public and private groups held special events for them.

All were most important part of the trip was living as North Americans, with North American customs. "They were amazed about the two things they learned about income tax; watched their 'toaster mothers' prepare frozen food dinners and wash and dry clothes in gleaming machines; helped tinker with the family auto and went picknicking on Sunday."

Managing editor George Beebe of the Miami Herald expressed hope that Operation Amigo will spread nationalism, with sponsors in individual communities, and financial aid from large U.S. corporations that have investments in Latin America.

Book Review Presented to Filer Legion

FILER, Feb. 24—Mrs. Sterling Vaughn, Twin Falls, received the book, "I Hate to Cook," by Peg Bracken, at the dinner and program of the American Legion and auxiliary this week. The film, "Outlaw-Red China," also was shown during the program.

The dinner was prepared and served by members of the Legion. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Toulchelle, and Mrs. and Mrs. Austin Mathewson. Edna, Mathewson is fifth district commander.

Patriotic table decorations for the dinner were made by the junior auxiliary under the supervision of Mrs. Gene Shaff and Mr. Jack Ramsey.

Following the dinner and program the Legion and auxiliary held separate business meetings. Plans were made at the Legion for the annual local oratory contest which will be held at 4 p.m. Wednesday at the Legion hall. Elmer Reinhold is chairman of the local contest.

Flowers will go to the district contest March 3 at Eden.

"Superfluos"

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 24 (AP)—Rep. William S. Moorhead, D. Pa., told yesterday how a woman rushed up to him after a recent speech and gushed:

"Why congressman, your speech was superfluous, it's superfluous."

"Why, thank you," Moorhead replied. "I'm thinking of having it published post-humously."

"Oh, wonderful," she said, "and the sooner the better."

School Is Out; Glenn to Visit

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—Arlington County, Va., children will miss school Monday so they can honor the community's number one citizen—astronaut John H. Glenn, Jr.

Glenn is a resident of Washington suburb and his two children attend public schools there.

Students will skip school Monday to watch Glenn and his family parade through downtown Washington. School children from Washington as well as other communities in the area will be excused to watch the parade.

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT

Fliflet Has Devoted Spare Time to Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce

For the past several months, Victor (Vic) Fliflet has devoted much of his spare time to furthering the work of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce.

Fliflet retired last spring from his job as district sales manager of the Standard Oil company of California, and since then, Fliflet, who has always been an active member and a supporter of the Chamber of Commerce, has spare time to devote to work he believes.

Fliflet has always been active in civic work. What he does for the chamber, he does because he believes an active, aggressive member and a supporter of the Chamber of Commerce, has spare time to devote to work he believes.

There are many things a good chamber can do for a community, he says. "This chamber helps bring in conventions, aids the community on highway problems, helps sell the area, he also calls on businesses that are delinquent in their dues.

When Fliflet retired he was sales manager for 13 counties in south-central Idaho, a job he held since the first year of his Twin Falls nearly 20 years ago.

The voluntary work he does for the chamber is public relations work. He calls on new businesses in the community, explains the work of the chamber and urges them to join.

"When I was in business, I always enjoyed calling on people. Now that I am retired, the job gives me something to do and takes up the slack," he notes.

In addition to calling on new businesses in the community, he calls on businesses that are delinquent in their dues.

William Granger, secretary-manager of the chamber, says this is one of the most important jobs Fliflet does.

He says, "One of the biggest jobs in chamber work is communications. We must contact the members and keep them posted on what we are doing. He is doing a wonderful job of explaining our work to members and clearing up questions that members have about our work."

Fliflet was born at Rice Lake, Wis., in 1896. His father was a farmer and Fliflet spent most of his younger years on a farm. When he was 7 years old the family moved to Ballard, Wash., near Seattle, where his father farmed. When he was 16 years old he left home and worked on farms, and later, in general merchandise stores.

He worked in several communities in Washington and Oregon and in 1917 he enlisted in the army. After basic training he was sent to France, where he took part in three major engagements during his war job.

Despite his job (he was a truck driver in ammunition convoys), he managed to go through the war without injury. He was sent back and discharged at Fort Lewis, Wash., in 1919.

He returned to his former job in a general merchandise store and later was made assistant postmaster at Winlock, Wash.

In 1922 he joined Standard Oil company of California, a company he worked for until his retirement, 30 years later.

He started out working as a clerk in a bulk sales plant in Winlock. After 11 moves with the company, which took him all over the Northwestern states and as far east as Sioux Falls, S. D., he was moved to Twin Falls and made district manager.

"That was the last move I ever made," he says. "I liked Twin Falls so well, and the people who live here, that I turned down all future offers to move me."

Bass-Baritone to Appear in Burley Concert Wednesday

BURLEY, Feb. 24 — Donald Gramm, one of America's finest and most popular bass-baritones, will appear at 7 p.m. Wednesday at the Burley high school auditorium, under the auspices of the Burley Community Concert association. It is one of the stops Gramm is making this season in a schedule filled with recitals in concert halls, orchestras, opera and oratorio appearances.

DONALD GRAMM

The bass-baritone may have gone further afield than any other singer. He has been as far as the moon and back—twice! Concert officials note the launching took place not at Canaveral but in space travel when he sang part of the "first flight" in the U.S. premiere of Carl Orff's controversial "The Moon."

Gramm was born in Milwaukee where he began piano studies at 8, the pipe organ at 13, and voice at 16. It was in the latter years that he decided to sing as a concert singer. Only seven years later he made his New York debut with the Little Orchestra Society. Each season since then, his recital schedule has been highlighted with appearances with leading symphony orchestras, in opera and oratorio.

The present season is typical of Gramm's activities. It began in the Burley community when he was chosen to be among the guest artists of that city's First International Music festival and appeared in two contemporary oratorios, "Joshua" (Waxman) and "Abraham in Egypt" (Ellis-Ronick Warren).

Later that month he sang in Harvard's "Edmond" at the Little Orchestra festival in Katonah, N.Y., and in late July he sang performances of Stravinsky's "Oedipus Rex" and Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" with the Santa Fe Opera.

Then the west coast again heard him in the Hollywood Bowl where he sang "Rexus and Juliet" by Berlioz.

During this winter and spring season, Gramm is fulfilling two important return engagements with the National symphony, in December, 1961, and March, 1962, respectively. He is performing "The Messiah" and "Roméo and Juliet" in the national capital. This season he is also appearing as guest artist with the Minneapolis orchestra.

The bass-baritone's 1960-1961 season was highlighted by oratorio and oratorio engagements with the Little Orchestra Society, in Boston in July and November. He also sang Haydn's "Creation" and Handel's "Messiah" with the Montreaux Symphony and the Brahms "Requiem" with the Minneapolis orchestra.

The artist gave three concerts with the New York Philharmonic in January, 1961. Called upon on the actual day of performance to replace an ill colleague, his performance was enthusiastically endorsed by the press. The work in question was Berlioz' "Roméo and Juliet."

"Although he had no rehearsals," reported the New York Times, "he came through in a bold and vigorous fashion."

TRANSFERRED SHOSHONE, Feb. 24 — Elda Noel M. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Johnson, who is serving a mission for the LDS church in the Spanish-American mission, has been transferred to El Paso, Tex. The Johnsons have another son, Lowell, serving a mission in Brazil.

TAGGING BAND on leg of pen-raised sage grouse is examined by Duane Fyrath, Jerome, fish and game department biologist. He now is considered by active sage grouse workers to be the foremost living authority on this game bird. His earliest work on the species was on eastern Idaho's Red Road. Prior to beginning the current study, he spent two and a half years in Wyoming working primarily on sage grouse. (Fish and game department photo—staff engraving)

Territorial and Pre-Mating Dance of Male Sage Grouse to Be Staged Soon

An early spring show rivaling that of Indian powwow dancing will get under way at various times and places across southern and eastern Idaho within the next few weeks, depending on weather and altitude.

Heretofore rarely seen by man but now successfully staged for the first time anywhere amidst the domesticity of the Jerome game farm training pens, this ancient ritual is the territorial and pre-mating dance of male sage grouse.

When the weather is good in the early morning and evening, the cocks gather to dance, boom and fight until each has established his own territory. They appear on the booming grounds where the annual pattern begins as early as February and continues as late as May in some places, depending on weather. The song, much cooed-down, and silvery white, coarsely feathered neck inflated on their heads, the cocks, much cooed-high-noised plopping sounds similar to those of a Model T engine warming up many years ago.

Now appears to determine the time strutting begins. After the mating display commences, daily strutting intensifies as affected by high winds and large amounts of precipitation. Other extremes of weather do not seem to influence strutting one way or the other.

The courting and mating "monogamy" will be followed by nesting in late April, whether in the sagebrush expanses of their natural habitat or at the Jerome game farm. The eggs, much larger than those of pheasants, are laid usually in a nest screened by sagebrush. The eggs, much larger than those of pheasants, are laid usually in a nest screened by sagebrush. The eggs, much larger than those of pheasants, are laid usually in a nest screened by sagebrush.

The ultimate purpose of the fish and game department's tagging program at Jerome, now beginning its third year, is to make sure there always will be enough sage grouse to provide open hunting seasons. Knowledge gained from working with captive birds can be applied to the management of wild sage grouse.

This is good news for all sportmen, this artificial propagation of sage grouse for sporting purposes, because of the knowledge to be gained. Research workers everywhere also are glad of the news. They emphasize that captive sage grouse may show the way to better management of the wild populations. As everybody knows, not a few species have disappeared forever, including the famous passenger pigeon. Like no sage grouse, the passenger pigeon used to be so numerous as to darken the skies.

What has happened to this largest of upland game birds that once was known for flocks of thousands that indeed was so plentiful a common practice among sportsmen was to throw away the remainder of the fowl? The enormous reduction in sage grouse numbers means that they are subjected generally to changes in the ancestral understory and elimination of sagebrush in specific areas, widely believed to be the

Summer Project Set by 4-H Club

Summer projects of the Dainty Doors 4-H club will be discussed during its next meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Howard Ronk, 126 Sixth avenue north.

Highlighting the club's February activities was a Valentine luncheon for mothers and grandmothers Feb. 11. Members planned, prepared and served the luncheon.

Piano solos were played by Teresa Lammers and Cathy Clark, Mrs. Fred Walmsley, Buhl, talked on how to be charming.

Guests were Mrs. Irene Stevens, Mrs. Edgar Olmstead, Mrs. Ernest Ragland, Mrs. Harold Lammers, Mrs. Donald Murphy, Mrs. A. K. Clark, Mrs. Elizabeth Davis, Mrs. Walmsley and Virginia Walmsley. Guests were presented home-made bags made by the club members.

Mass Celebrated For Buhl Woman

BUHL, Feb. 24—Recent high mass for Mrs. Flavie Biekheaupt was celebrated at 10 a.m. Friday at the Buhl Catholic church of the immediate Congregation under the Rev. Jerome T. O'Connor as celebrant.

Music was by the church choir with Mrs. J. Leahy as organist. Pallbearers were John Wagner, Sr., E. H. Turner, W. F. Barla, Albert Zolotar, R. J. Severa and Tom Terdy.

Concluding rites were held in the Buhl city cemetery.

Four Enlist

Your Magic Valley youths enlisted in the air force for four years through the Twin Falls air force recruitment station. They are under contract to the United States Air Force base, Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., prior to being assigned there.

Enlisted are Dan J. McNeft, Rupert; Ronald O. Dayley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McNeft, Durley; and Leroy Ulrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ulrich, and Cary E. Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Graham, both Paul.

SISTERS CALLED DELO, Feb. 24 — Mrs. Earl DeLo, Mrs. Leonia C. DeLo, Mrs. Lesley DeLo, Mrs. Arthur Christensen, Ogden, Utah, and Mr. and Mrs. Lorraine Duffin, Aberdeen, were called to DeLo because of the critical condition of the four women's brother, Earl Cobbley. He was struck by a horse or fell while riding at his home, two miles east of DeLo, Cobbley was taken to the Cozsa Memorial hospital and the remaining unconscious since.

NEW PATHOLOGIST at Magic Valley Memorial hospital works at his microscope in the hospital laboratory. He is Dr. B. Birdall Carle. He took over his duties at the hospital on Jan. 30. Dr. Carle is a graduate of the Stanford medical school and has had considerable experience in teaching and research. He was associated with the LDS hospital, Salt Lake City, and taught at the University of Utah medical school before coming here. (Staff photo-engraving)

Dr. Carle Is New Staff Pathologist at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital

The newest member of the Magic Valley Memorial hospital staff is Dr. B. Birdall Carle, who became the hospital's pathologist on Jan. 30. He is the man in charge of the nine-member laboratory staff in the pathology department.

He comes to the hospital with much experience in hospital, clinical, research and educational pathology. Dr. Carle was on the staff of the LDS hospital in Salt Lake City before coming here, and he also served as an assistant clinical professor of pathology at the University of Utah medical school.

At Magic Valley Memorial hospital he will supervise the laboratory and check all clinical laboratory tests. Specifically, he will say surgical tissue to determine the extent of disease or the presence of cancer. He will perform autopsies—one of the most important functions of a pathologist—and a job that greatly contributes to the fund of medical knowledge.

Another common job of a pathologist is studying a patient's smears, inspecting them for evidence of cancer. Often cancer can be discovered and thwarted in this manner, long before it is clinically evident.

Dr. Carle received his medical education in an unusual, but ingenious, manner. He started to college at Washington State college, Pullman, in the middle of the depression. He was graduated in 1932.

He wanted to go to medical school but couldn't afford it, so he decided to enter veterinary medicine and earn his way through medical school. He received his D.V.M. in 1936. He then received a Rhodes scholarship and was slated to attend Oxford in the fall of 1938.

"I had my ticket purchased and was ready to leave for England in October of 1939," he says. "Then Mr. Miller decided to start his war."

"This halted his plans that fall and he taught veterinary pathology for the next year. The following year he went to the University of California—graduate school and took courses and did research work in the department of comparative pathology.

"While he was there he spent two and one-half years working on a Rockefeller research project on infectious hepatitis, a disease that then plagued thousands of persons in the armed forces.

"In 1943, after saving his money, he was able to enter Stanford medical school and earn his degree in three years.

He was an intern at Johns Hopkins, Baltimore, then returned to research work at the National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Md. There he studied a variety of infecting diseases affecting animals and humans.

By 1950, Dr. Carle says he had decided to leave research work and return to hospital work because it is a broader field of study. Until 1953 he worked on his pathology residency at the Public Health Service hospital in New Orleans and also worked as a lecturer in pathology at Tulane medical school. He then entered private practice at the Riverside hospital, Puduch, Ky.

"But," Dr. Carle, who was reared in California, says, "I practiced there until my Western roots got the best of me and I had to move where there were mountains.

"From 1955 to 1959, when he joined the staff at the LDS hospital, he was with the Lovelock clinic at Albuquerque, and he also worked on the staff at the Bataan Memorial hospital.

Rupert Eyes New Plan on Fire Station

RUPERT, Feb. 24—A suggestion for the remodeling of the present fire station to make room for an additional truck was taken under consideration by the Rupert city council at their Tuesday night meeting.

William Cowell, fire chief, made the suggestion and outlined a proposed insurance plan for the volunteer firemen. A possible cost of $150 to $200 per year per man was quoted by Cowell, to cover the men only while on duty with the department.

Charles Clark, of the Clark motors appeared before the council asking for more even distribution wrecker services by the law enforcement officers of the area. The council suggested a meeting with officers.

Two letters of application for recreational director for the city were read, but no action was taken. A proposal for a year-round program is being considered, a council spokesman reported.

Members of the city parks committee presented the group's budget for the coming year. It will be considered at a later date before a report is made on it.

Be-Cozy Builders were successful bidders for the veteran's apartments in bids opened by the council. The buildings will be moved to American Hill according to John Tracy of the firm who purchased the buildings. Other bids were received from Clay McElister and John Reynolds.

Building permits approved include one for $2000 for the St. Nicholas parish for a basement, and hook up of utilities for the Reorganized LDS church building between the city and a new location at South Fifth street. The parish purchased the land now occupied by the building with the removal and relocation as part of the contract. The lot now occupied by the building is adjacent to the St. Nicholas parochial school and will be used as the site of a new parish hall.

A permit for $300 was approved for William Reece to move in a building to his lot at the Linden street. Half the building will be added to his house and the other half for a garage.

A permit for a fluorescent sign to be affixed to the front of a building was granted to George Brown. Estimated cost of the project was listed at $500.

A permit for $7,848 garage building for the Rupert highway department located at Second and H street. Size of the garage will be 134 feet by 40 feet, and it will be of cinderblock construction.

Bank Robber Is Placed on Wanted Rolls

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—Bobby Randall Wilcoxon, a one-eyed bank robber whose arsenal includes automatic pistols, has been placed today on the FBI's list of 10 most wanted criminals.

"The FBI warns that the wanted man is 'extremely dangerous and he will not hesitate to kill without provocation.'"

Wilcoxon has been accused of leading a bank guard and wounding a policeman in four bank hold-ups in which he and an accomplice is believed to be Albert Frederick Nussbaum.

The fugitive, 32, is a native of Duke, Okla. In addition to his artificial right eye, he has a burn scar on his left wrist and a scar on his right forearm.

Wilcoxon likes sports cars and horse races. He is an avid gambler and cigarette smoker. He drinks Scotch and favors better class hotels and motels. He moves about frequently, sometimes chartering private planes.

The wanted man, described as a highly nervous, close-lipped and serious looking man, speaks fluent Spanish, sprinkling Spanish phrases in his speech. He makes numerous long distance calls to friends and relatives.

Wilcoxon, a conservative dresser, is between 5 feet 8 inches and 6 feet, 9½ inches tall, weighing between 150 to 160 pounds.

He has a medium build, ruddy complexion, dark brown hair and brown eyes. He has worked as a lineman farm worker, painter, produce man, service station attendant and used car salesman.

ASTRONAUT'S TRIP AROUND WORLD is plotted with a piece of string on a classroom globe by Paul Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Roberts, and Joanne Pool, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pool. The students are in the fifth-grade class of William Armstrong, who related aspects of the space flight to the lessons of the day. (Staff photo-engraving)

Astronaut Unknowingly Played Role in Lessons of Twin Falls Students

He related this type of language to the committee, everyday language used by the students in their class.

Armstrong explained that during any military or technical maneuver, such as a flight through space, it is necessary that the men involved use clear, simple language that is readily understood. There must be no chance for misunderstanding.

He related this type of language to the committee, everyday language used by the students in their class.

During the health session the students were informed about the oxygen system in the capsule, and Armstrong explained how vital a role oxygen plays in the human body.

Speaking on another aspect of health, Armstrong explained the importance of body temperature. He told the students about Glenn's special space suit and how it regulated the temperature so that he would maintain normal body temperatures in spite of the extremes within the capsule.

During the science session the students were told about the missile and the capsule and how they are powered and controlled. The students were cautioned about the use of the retro-rockets on the space capsule and why they had to be used. Armstrong explained how the rockets are used during high speeds in the atmosphere. He also explained weightlessness and its physical and emotional effects on Glenn.

Special studies "also came into the picture," Armstrong says. The students plotted the capsule's route through space in a classroom globe and noted the countries he crossed.

"And we even got in a little spelling practice on some of those countries," Armstrong says.

The students were so interested in the flight that several of them brought in special reports concerning the flight, the following day.

STOCKPILE HEARING SET
WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—Chairman Stuart Symington, D-Mo., announced his special committee will begin its hearings on the nation's seven billion dollar stockpile of strategic materials sometime in March.

A RANCHETTE OF YOUR OWN

In The Healthiest, Sunniest Climate In All America

$199 PER HALF ACRE $5 DOWN $5 PER MONTH

There is a broad ribbon of highway that begins in the heart of Savannah, Georgia and winds for 3000 miles to its terminus in exciting Los Angeles. This ribbon is mighty Route 60—the most traveled all-weather highway in the U.S. Millions of Americans have followed it to the West coast through the rich hills of Georgia and Alabama, passing through the heart of Mississippi and Louisiana and entering into the plains of Texas. Gradually the scenery begins to change. Texas begins to roll; distant hills become higher. Then suddenly one emerges into "The Land of Enchantment." New Mexico's wonders await in a blaze of color and majesty. The mighty mountains thrust themselves, treed, into the unimaginable blue of the sky. Dust and smoke have vanished from the air and the lungs drink in great delicious draughts of healthy delight. If it is winter, there may be snow on the lofty mountains. If it is spring or summer or fall the unspooled air touches the skin softly and the feeling of well-being is nowhere else equaled. But winter or summer, it is almost certain the sun will be shining in New Mexico—the sunniest, healthiest and most "enchanting" of all states.

A few minutes' drive from the West Coast beckons. Here, nowhere in this enchanting Southwest is there a more beautiful area than the mountain-rimmed, pure-air New Mexico region of Las Cruces and Deming.

To live anywhere in New Mexico is to live better. The superb climate, naturally air-conditioned in the summer and brilliantly sunny in the winter—the breathtaking beauty of a lavish Texas—the young vigor of a state that is causing an unprecedented business and investment boom—the record which shows that one lives longer; that health improvement is almost miraculous—these are the reasons that tens of thousands of Americans already have come here to live, and hundreds of thousands of others will be following in the immediate years ahead.

Consider them. Here in the center of this miraculous climate and beauty are towns which have grown amazingly in the last 10 years. Las Cruces, for example, in 1950 it had 12,000 people. By 1960, 37,000... a rise of 300% in 10 years! (How about your town? Has it grown 3 times its size in 10 years?) Like Tucson and Phoenix, this area is a beautiful semi-tropical paradise where palm trees and long staple cotton fields tower the landscape. Statistics show the same 85% of possible sunshine, summer and winter; these same figures reveal even purer, drier air than in Phoenix or Tucson.

A few miles from the beautiful picture city of Deming (population 8,000) is a 5,000 acre Ranch, (fence-framed by the breathtaking Florida Mountains. So real, so beautiful, so typically the romance of the Southwest is this valley Ranch that it has been photographed for the covers of many magazines including the official publication of the State of New Mexico. What better way to describe its Southwest flavor than to tell you that when the producers of the movie THE TALL TEXAN sought an authentic locale for their picture, they chose the very best sub-division in the DEMING RANCHETTE. THE TALL TEXAN was filmed on our ranch, the same place where you may have a Ranchette of your very own!

This is the lovely basin of land where heavy equipment is now at work constructing wide roads facing every DEMING RANCHETTE.

Every Ranchette will have direct access to avenues leading to three major highways surrounding our property—U.S. Highways 80, 70 and State Highway 11.

DEMING RANCHETTES is blessed with water which is called "America's finest drinking water, 99.99% pure." (Almost every spot in Deming displays this proud claim in its window.) Home building has already begun in DEMING RANCHETTES and electric lines and telephone connections await you. Schools, hospitals, churches, shops, theaters, golf courses, tennis courts—these are close by in the charming growing city Deming. Fertile soil is yours for the planting, and wait until you see the stunning landscape of cotton fields in bloom. Fruit trees—apple, peach, pear and plum—do not grow better anywhere.

And the price of your Ranchette? Just $199 complete for a half-acre, $5 down and $5 monthly. That's the complete price—no taxes, no interest, no taxes! At this moment you may reserve any number of half-acre sites as you wish but please bear this in mind: DEMING RANCHETTES is not an enormous development and land such as this goes fast. At these prices you may want your Ranchette to be larger—one, two—over five acres. An immediate deposit will guarantee that your half-acre will add one acre (this may not be so in the near future). And you take no risk in sending your deposit. Your $5 per half-acre will definitely reserve your land but does not obligate you. You have the unqualified right to change your mind 30 days after we send you our Purchaser's Agreement, Property Owner's Kit, Maps and Photographs—30 full days to go through the portfolio, check our references. Talk it over with the family. If during this time you should indeed change your mind your reservation deposit will be instantly refunded. (Deming and Albuquerque Bank references.)

Ten years ago, in nearby Las Cruces, a comparable fertile half-acre such as we offer in DEMING RANCHETTES could have been bought for $199. Today it's up to $2000! Experienced realtors predict the same future for Deming—in a much shorter time! If this makes sense to you your next act is mailing the coupon below. And one more thing: we promise that no salesman will annoy you. Thank, sincerely, for your attention.

DEMING RANCHETTES - DEPT. 369
112 West Pine Street, Deming, New Mexico

Gentlemen: I wish to reserve the following site in Deming Ranchettes:

1/2 acre for $199, 1/2 interest $10 as a deposit.
 1/2 acre for $358, 1/2 interest $10 as a deposit.
 1 1/2 acre for $500, 1/2 interest $15 as a deposit.
 2 1/2 acre for $972, 1/2 interest $25 as a deposit.
 5 acre for $1925, 1/2 interest $50 as a deposit.

Please mark complete details, including my Purchaser's Agreement, Property Owner's Kit, Maps, Photographs and all data. I understand that I may change my mind within 30 days for any reason and that my deposit will be fully and instantly refunded if I do.

FROZEN FRENCH FRIED potatoes roll along the production line at the ultra-modern plant owned by Idaho Frozen Foods, Inc. in South Park. Watching the potatoes as they leave the quick-freeze room is James Stokes, office and personnel manager. The new plant will be open about nine months a year and the weekly payroll will be about $10,000. Most of the potatoes for the plant will be purchased within a 40-mile radius of Twin Falls. New Potato Processing Plant Is in Operation; Will Employ 150 Workers

One of the largest contributions to Twin Falls business development—and additions to the local payroll—is underway. It is the new potato processing plant just completed by Idaho Frozen Foods, Inc.

The large plant is located in the industrial development area of South Park. It is the first potato processing plant of its kind in Twin Falls.

The plant will process french fries, hash browns and other related potato products. The plant has been processing french fried potatoes for about one month. The by-product lines, which will process the other products, will be installed in about one week.

Products processed by the plant will be sold nationally, and about 85 per cent of the products will be sold in institutional packs. The retail trade, according to Vern South, president and manager of the plant.

JUST A FRACTION of the 80 million pounds of potatoes that the new potato plant will purchase in the coming year will roll along the inspection line. The new plant, operated by Idaho Frozen Foods, Inc., is now in production. It is located in the industrial development area of South Park. It is the first potato processing plant of its kind in Twin Falls. At peak production the plant will employ about 150 persons. (Staff photo-entouring)

Preaching Event Set in Shoshone

SHOSHONE, Feb. 24.—The Rev. Walter G. Maughan, Jr., Maunabo, Ia., will conduct a preaching mission at the local Baptist church Sunday through March 4. He will preach and sing and will present a level concert on the last night of the mission. Maughan was graduated with BA and MA degrees from Baylor University. He received his PhD degree from the Eastern Baptist Theological seminary in Philadelphia and is an ordained minister.

The services will be held at 7:30 p.m. Sundays; at 7:15 p.m. Tuesdays and at 4 p.m. on other evenings of the mission.

Bad Cough

STOCKPORT, England, Feb. 24 (AP)—Kenneth Wilkins told the court his smoker's cough was responsible for the havoc he caused in his car one night.

Wilkins claimed he lost control of his auto which mounted a sidewalk, injured a pedestrian, bent a no-parking sign, wrecked a shop window and smashed into the wall of a pub.

The court acquitted him of dangerous driving.

Junior Duplicate Bridge Is Noted

Essay Contest Is Won by Three Kimberly Students

Three Kimberly high school students won the Essay Contest sponsored by the Twin Falls Employers Physical Handicapped committee.

Mrs. J. Hill, past president, presented the governor's committee certificates and checks to the three girls during the committee's monthly meeting Tuesday noon at Kolo's cafe. Winners were Francis Strain, first; Mary Elizabeth Stewart, second; and Betty Martens, third. Miss Strain received a $25 check, Elizabeth $15 check, and Miss Martens, $5 check.

Mrs. Hill said there were five entries in the contest. All of them were from Kimberly high school. The three entries will be sent to Boise to compete in the state contest, which will be held in April. The state winners' essays will be sent to Washington, D.C. to compete in the national contest.

Mrs. Walter Slaughter and Mrs. Oran Neald, both English teachers at the Kimberly high school, accompanied the girls to Twin Falls.

2 Mills Levy Election Set At Shoshone

SHOSHONE, Feb. 24.—An election for an additional two-mill plant facility fund levy for the Shoshone school district will be held March 13, reports Supt. John Severson.

The present two-mill levy passed five years ago for a 10-year period, raised $5,833.33 last year. The superintendent said, adding the additional two-mill levy would bring in another $5,500 income to the district each year.

Urgent needs outlined by the official include replacement of classroom furniture, new roof on the high school building and adding a room at the Lincoln school for the hot lunch storage.

The high school roof leaked during recent storms, Severson notes. Estimated for the repair job is about $3,345.

A 48-passenger school bus must be replaced this year, he added, and it will cost about $3,500.

SERVICES SET SHOSHONE, Feb. 24.—Hugh Hughes and Everett Blair are holding a series of non-denominational services at the Legion hall here with meetings set at 3 p.m. Sundays and 7:45 p.m. Fridays. The public is invited, they state.

I'll do make a pot of tea while you're changing out!

I'll be gone by morning—you might as well spend the night here.

Well, tea's ready, I'll—hm!—now when'd he go?

Where did you get your socks, wet again?

You invited me to spend the night, so the least I could do was to do home and get my tooth brush and nightgown!

I found a four-leaf clover!

Today? How can you say such crazy things? This city is covered with snow!

did you find one?

You couldn't have found one!

I did so! I found it pressed in my mother's book!
