changes in precinct boundaries since the 1960 general election. Voters must be at least 21 years old on the day of election to be eligible. Persons under 21 and otherwise qualified may register their names for the next general election.

Students attending schools outside the state do not lose their residence. Voters must have no permanent registration. Persons must have voted in the last general election to maintain registration. Registration is accomplished by appearing before the registrar of the precinct which he resides and signing an elector's oath. There are no poll taxes.

Terms of all county elected officials expire this year except the commissioner post held by H. L. Cedarholm. Cedarholm was elected in 1959 for a four-year term. His term expires on the 1st of January, 1963.

Officials whose terms expire are James H. Bennett, sheriff; Sheriff; Mrs. M. J. Wilson, treasurer; Henry C. Lutz, commissioner; H. L. Cedarholm, auditor; James M. Peterson, and George Ann Warberg, judge.

Theron W. Ward, judge of the 11th judicial district, has received his commission from the state. District judges are elected for four-year terms. Ward's term expires on the 1st of January, 1963.

State representatives William L. Peterson, Kimberly, Jack Lutz, and George B. Black, state senator, also expire.

In regard to a recent district court ruling calling for reapportionment of the Idaho house of representatives, Idaho state officials are studying the matter. As far as things stand now there are three house seats up for election this year. It appears to me that a decision by the attorney general or the state supreme court is necessary to determine the status quo.

Under the appointment ruling in Twin Falls county, only one additional seat in the house.

100 Sailors Come Safely Trough Test
WASHINGTON, March 3 (AP)—Blinking happily in the sunlight on the deck of a ship, 100 sailors from a square-mile underground mine came ashore Saturday.

Capt. David Minard, a navy physician, shared the mid-life joy of the young volunteers. He told them they were "absolutely no disciplinary problems" during this first prolonged mass test of what might be like for survivors of a nuclear strike.

Minard said he is "very proud of these men. They performed excellently well." Then he added that the nourishing but monotonous emergency rations on which they lived "generated a great number of complaints."

Aside from Minard, the "kicker" (skipper), Lieut. (jg) John T. Wain and two young volunteers, those undergoing the test all are recently recruited recruits from the Great Lakes naval training station near Chicago.

The enlisted men were hustled off to the naval air station at Anacostia where they will undergo medical and psychological examinations to measure the effects of the "young volunteers." They will not be available for questioning by newsmen until starting Tuesday, each will get a 72-hour leave before answering a regular mail billet.

Aid to Flood Victims Will Top $50,000

FOGATELLO, March 3 (UP)—The American Red Cross said today assistance to victims of last month's floods in Idaho and Nevada has topped the $50,000 mark, and will go higher.

Richard S. Gordon, disaster director of the Red Cross, said the Red Cross has spent or committed $55,916 in disaster aid. All but $8,000 has gone to flood victims in Idaho.

"The total which is growing daily will far exceed the $50,000 figure," Gordon said.

About 100 families have received assistance so far, out of 450 which have applied. "Cases are being processed rapidly and aid is being distributed as rapidly as possible," Gordon said.

The Red Cross is providing assistance in the form of grants and does not have to be paid back, Gordon said. It goes for emergency food, clothing and shelter. It is used to rebuild damaged homes or replace furniture, major appliances and occupational tools that were damaged by the flood.

Here is a breakdown of aid by counties in Idaho: Blaine, $13,636; Bonneville, $15,985; Caribou, $7,827; Shoshone, $1,700; Power, $21; and Madison, $20.

Lander county, Nevada, has received $8,317.

Dale Foster, Fogateello area disaster director, said the largest commitment in Blaine county so far is $4,787 to a family that suffered extensive losses when the rampaging Fortuna river overflowed its banks.

Project Use Outlined by State Demo

BOISE, March 3 (AP)—State Land Commissioner John G. Walters proposed today that a federal agency construct the proposed High Mountain Sheep dam on the Snake river to provide power revenue to be earmarked for development of the Mountain Home Irrigation project.

Walters, a Democratic candidate for Idaho governor, said in a statement that "Idaho should not turn the Snake river over to out-of-state interests, public or private, for a huge power dam without receiving more than a pittance in return."

"Congressor Smylie is willing to turn over the High Mountain Sheep dam site on the middle reaches of the Snake river to the Pacific-Northwest Power company," he said.

"The dam would cost $5,000,000 in tax benefits to Idaho. That appears to me to be a gross exaggeration. The generators will not be in the state on the Idaho side of the river. How can you charge five million dollars a year for a teaching a course in the benefits of the dam to the Idaho side of the river?"

"Walters said he will receive even less benefits if the state's recommendation of the federal power commission is followed and the Washington public power supply system is granted a license to build the dam."

Walters said he was concerned that the bureau of reclamation in Boise to see what action would have to be taken to have this "great dam site in Idaho saved for the growth and expansion of this state."

This vast irrigation project of approximately 200,000 acres, he said, would turn the desert into a garden spot of the state.

In addition, he said, "on the basis of a minimum crop production of $60 an acre, it would return some 18 million dollars annually."

Idaho Spud Growers Fight Threats Against Industry

place through continued research for a superior potato and market promotion program.

These are financed by the industry itself through a tax collected and administered by the Idaho potato and onion commission.

The proposed federal marketing order, the Idaho growers say, would put a tariff check on one of the cornerstones of the state's economy.

The national potato advisory council proposed by Agriculture Secretary Cliffile Freeman recommended the marketing order which would place volume controls and other regulations on potato production.

As it is now written, the order provides for an administrative board which would require a grower to make written application to market potatoes.

Production and processing of potatoes in the United States is the largest in Idaho and is responsible for the livelihood of a sizeable number of residents of this state of 607,000 population.

WAREHOUSE BASEMENT FLOODED

WATER DAMAGE SALE

$15,000 MERCHANDISE SALE!

We come to work last Monday morning and found our Basement Warehouse with 6 inches of water in it. A water line had broken some time during the week-end. We immediately called Paul Taber, our insurance agent, and an inventory of all damaged merchandise was taken, as well as the estimated damage of each item. Our entire Bedroom Furniture department is located in our Warehouse. It is also our receiving department. We had just received a shipment of Televisions, Water Heaters, Baby Beds, and Occasional Tables. The rest of the items were stored in the Warehouse at the time of the flood.

This water damage claim has been partially settled by my insurance company. The final settlement is pending complete liquidation of the damaged merchandise.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By Max Tucker

WASHINGTON, March 3—George Romney, the Detroit automobile industrialist, is not the only Republican who worries about the fate of the Dixiecrat-Goldwater leadership in drawing on Capitol Hill in preparation for the 1952 and 1954 elections.

Their ultra-conservative program will push the GOP far to the right of the main body of former President Eisenhower and Richard M. Nixon occupied the favored middle ground between a moderate and a Californian, as well as his close cabinet colleagues, would have preferred an even more liberal altitude.

On numerous domestic and foreign issues, George A. Rockefeller is at loggerheads with both the congressional faction and the National Citizens Union. The governor's current, strident shift to a more moderate stance leaves him far from agreement with the Washington wing of the party.

WARN FROM DUBS. Although they are not influential figures, the congressional faction's liberal and economic problems lead it to see a 1952 presidential nominee, to ponder a revolt, and is persuaded that the party is in a "mess."

Another GOP stalwart who must share misgivings over the Capitol Hill moves is Roy Tattman, who is no liberal or leftist. He is regarded as one of the ablest and hardest workers of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Recently reported after a detailed study that the GOP lost the 1950 election because of its failure to separate the party from the "right wing" and that the party must turn its face in that direction, or continue to wind up, on the losing end.

CONGRESSMEN SEEK RIGHT. The congressional bloc has not heeded his advice. The congress on such urgent questions has had a few days to discuss the matter. The elements which make up the metropolitan electorate—factory workers, white-collar clerks, and the colored people, the laboring industrial workers.

Almost all observers agree that the party's delegation at Washington is not the party of Roosevelt and Goldwater. At the same time, the party can run in 1954 with any degree of sympathy and sincerity. He is chairman of the Senate Republican Campaign Committee.

EV AND CHARLIE NO HELP. Unfortunately for the GOP, it is the Republicans' day-by-day record in congress which makes the most lasting impression on the minds of the voters.

NO DESIRE TO RUN! But former Sen. Glen H. Taylor said yesterday he has no desire to run for the U.S. Senate in Idaho this year. The overwhelming majority of the party members here have decided they will not run for the U.S. Senate in Idaho this year.

"He'll Iron My Shirt—With Me in It"

POT SHOTS

TRAPPED! Dear Gent: It's getting so that there are just too dang many furriers in this country. And some of them seem to get too much pleasure out of making us hink look like yokels.

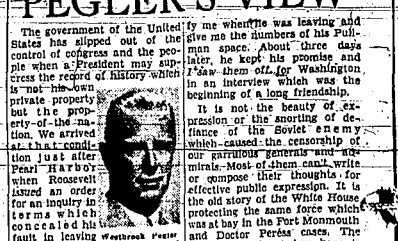

Some of us natives was talking things over in a bar the other day and this gent kept butting in on the conversation all the time. Well, everyone knows how proud people are of the crops in Mopac Valley and it's nothing to hear a hill brawler brag now then.

DINNER FOR FREE DEPT. Dear Pot Shots: You find homes for dogs and cats, so I wonder if you could find a home for a 6-week-old white chicken? This chicken was a pet of my son while it was little and stayed in a box. It has gotten to the stage of getting out and running around, so it is no longer a suitable pet. We would like to give it to someone. You will deliver it if not far out of Twin Falls. Phone 723-3923.

IN MEMORY OF A MOUSE. A stupid little house mouse, so frustrating and revolting, climbed into the wall each night and bit into the molding. I hated him; I detested him. And while I should have slept, I pounded and banged upon that wall.

FAMOUS LAST LINE. If these chuckles get much bigger, there may be a trail of missing car reports from compact owners.

HOW THINGS' APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S VIEW

The government of the United States has slipped out of the control of Congress and the people when a President may suppress the report of history which is being written in Washington in an interview which was the beginning of a long friendship.

It is not the beauty of execution of a former case. The flourish of the Soviet enemy which caused the censorship of our patriotic press and write or compose their thoughts for effective public expression. It is the old story of the White House protecting the same force which was at bay in the Puritanic and Doctor Ferebee's case.

This was the principal enemy of Gen Edwin Walker, who was persecuted by the pentagon and the State Department. The man who is behind the scenes in his command. This paper has been a stretch for years. It is mysterious, to be sure, but it is not the mystery of a man who could expose it in a couple of weeks. I can surmise why President Kennedy's public relations officers have practiced in concealing information from congressional committees by self-serving executive orders.

Happy Day

One storm doesn't make a winter, nor does one season of ample water on a watershed mean the end of a drought, yet those who have followed the waters of the Salmon tract year after year cannot help being pleased over this year's prospects. The March snows have indicated irrigation prospects on the Salmon tract are the best in a number of years. And even while the snow figures were being compiled, another storm was dropping still more snow onto a snow pack that already has achieved record proportions.

As a result, some Salmon tract farmers who haven't cultivated all their land in years will have a chance to grow near capacity this season. There will be better benefits from heavy snow, too. Better grazing can be expected on areas that haven't produced well in recent years. Depending on the type of runoff later in the spring, ground water might be replenished, resulting in flowing springs that have been dry.

There's a threat in heavy snow on the ground, too, particularly in the foothills. The snow pack was provided about a month ago when rain and suddenly warm temperatures melted snow and flooded low portions of Magic Valley. The total amount of snow is greater now and any sudden warming or rains might result in even worse flooding. Extensive road damage and field erosion are a couple of the threats.

The important fact remains, the Salmon tract faces a season with near-average water for the first time in years.

INDIVIDUAL MERIT

Frequent objections are voiced over publishing the misdeeds of youngsters on the grounds that only a few of them are involved—but the wrong group of black eye. Any state that has not been on the grounds that only a few of them are involved—but the wrong group of black eye.

The insurance plan amounts to recognition of individual merit and further admission that all young people can't be lumped into the same category. It's a result of homework and study. Hence, the more time spent on homework means less time on the highway and a corresponding reduction in traffic dangers.

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, March 3—To live at first hand through some of the most dramatic moments of the day of the Chinese revolution, Marquis Childs writes on Washington.

When Chiang Kai-shek fled the mainland in 1949 and the communists took over, one of the first things he did was to flee to Taiwan. He had a long and distinguished career as a journalist and writer.

Through the many vicissitudes of his life Dr. Hu never gave up any sign that his faith in man had been shaken. He was a man who called him an optimist, for that implies a naive acceptance that all must be for the best in the best possible world.

Mao Tze-tung is on war against the imperialists and on this score he has broken with Moscow. He has also succeeded in absorbing 200,000,000 casualties and "win" in a nuclear war which would destroy every other power.

The President's message calls for the construction of 60,000 classrooms during the next 10 years. But the President forgets to ignore the fact that we have 70,000 a year, which would equal 700,000 in a decade, and this has been accomplished without federal aid.

In his message, the President said: "We must find a means of increasing a 75 per cent increase in the total cost of education. Here again the President forgets or overlooks the fact that expenditures in the public school system are increasing more than 100 per cent, and this was done without any federal aid for building of new schools."

QUOTES from the NEWS

WASHINGTON Rep. Carl Vinson, D., Ga., chairman of the House armed services committee, on the need for an increase in arms production.

"The only way to assure the survival of this nation is to maintain our armament strength to the fullest possible at all times."

NEW YORK—Arthur B. Fleming, former secretary of health, education and welfare, condemning harsh welfare codes.

"The majority are children, the blind or the disabled, where there is need, that need should be met."

LONDON—Mrs. Thomas Harvey, pending a divorce from her rocky husband, who went from her honeymoon to the horse races 32 years ago and never returned.

"From that day to this, I've never seen him. Perhaps he fell off his horse. I don't know."

NEW YORK—Dr. Edmund Hillary, who first reached Everest, on an old unfulfilled desire.

"I've always wanted to see Alaska. I hope someone to lead an expedition there!"

Truck Crash Near Rupert Is Reported

RUPERT, March 3—A tractor trailer received $2,000 damage Tuesday when it jackknifed and slammed into a parked truck loaded with steel on highway 25 miles east of here, State Patrolman Roy Thomas reported.

Thomas said a truck loaded with steel, driven by a driver who was not identified, was on highway 25 miles south of Rupert after slipping off the rear of a state highway department snowplow Friday near Rupert, Thomas said.

The driver, William Akers, was wiping off the windshield when the tractor trailer came up behind it and jackknifed while trying to stop, Thomas said.

Both Akers and the driver of the other truck, Alan S. Miller, St. Joseph, Mo., escaped injury.

Robert L. Hollinger, 61, Burley, was cited for having a driver's license after the 1953 Chevrolet he was driving struck the rear of a state highway department snowplow Friday near Rupert, Thomas said.

A 1953 Chevrolet driven by Arvid J. Jordan, Denver, collided with a 1950 Plymouth driven by Marvin T. Payne, 21, Idaho Falls, Thursday. The Plymouth car hit a pile of snow and the spray from it blinded Payne, whose vehicle plowed into the rear of the truck.

Rupert city police reported a 1955 Chevrolet pickup truck driven by Bruce J. Johnson, Rupert, skidded Friday at 8th and E streets into a parked pickup belonging to Lee Daniels. Damage to the parked vehicle was estimated at $50.

A 1951 International truck driven by Andrew Kendra, 31, Rupert, skidded on a borrow pit on highway 24 five miles south of Rupert after slipping off a 1951 Chevrolet.

Damage was estimated at $300 to the truck and $250 to the car.

Shoshone to Plan Against Flood Water

SHOSHONE, March 3—Ways to prevent future damage within the city from floods were discussed at a meeting of the Citizens' Committee.

Ray E. Oyer and W. A. Hall, county civil defense director, are considering the possibility of a city council, Big Wood Canal company and American Falls reservoir district officials.

It is estimated that $100,000 damage to Lincoln county because of the recent floods. Francis Bergin, vice president of the Shoshone Citizens' Committee, reported the meeting in the absence of the president, Harrell Thorne.

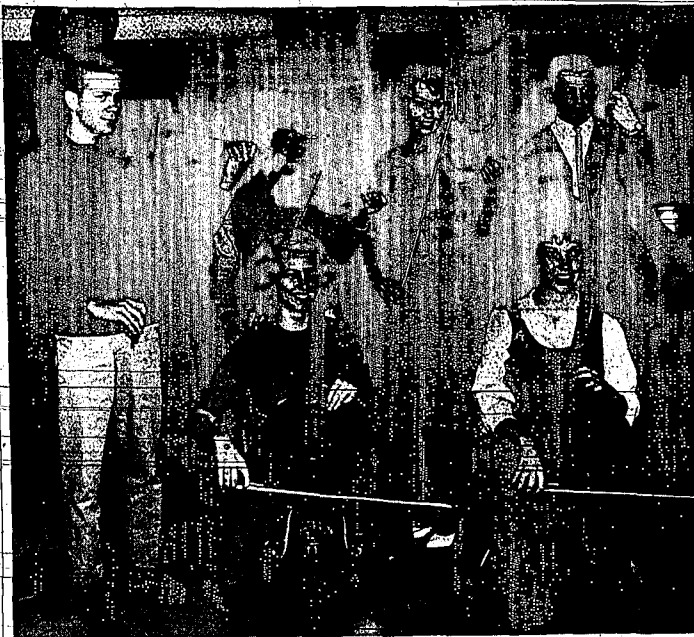

Daglas Hansen and Ralf Leach reported on the North Idaho Communities meeting. Robert Bailey, Twin Falls, was a guest. He showed a film on water conservancy.

A letter was read from the department of commerce stating the atomic energy research and development will be available to Idaho communities during 1952. An investigation will be made to see if the facility could be used at time of the fall in Shoshone next fall.

Dr. R. C. Neher, a member of the city council, met with the chamber to explain the council's views regarding building projects within the city. The committee will also look into the matter.

March of Dimes Aided by Cagers

HAOBERMAN, March 3—A basketball game between men of the community center and school board was held this week for the March of Dimes. It netted $11 in a free will offering.

Wednesday Concert Slated By High School Orchestra

Twin Falls high school symphony orchestra will conduct a concert at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the high school gymnasium in order to raise money for help on a trip to the Idaho Music Educators association sixth biennial conference in Boise March 16.

Richard R. Smith, conductor of the high school orchestra, said the program Wednesday evening will be the same as the concert hour feature in Boise.

The program will include "Jean de Paris," "Belshazzar's Feast," "The Swan Lake," "The Nutcracker," "The Sleeping Beauty," "The Taming of the Shrew," "The Merchant of Venice," "The Merry Wives of Windsor," "The Tempest," "The Winter's Tale," "The Comedy of Errors," "The As You Like It," "The Twelfth Night," "The Merry Wives of Windsor," "The Tempest," "The Winter's Tale," "The Comedy of Errors," "The As You Like It," "The Twelfth Night."

Police Help Is Necessary For Wedding

PREDAPPIO, Italy, March 3 (UPI)—Benito Mussolini's youngest son and actress Sophia Loren's supposed-son-in-law, married today with the help of the police.

As thousands of invited and uninvited guests surged in and around the church, the bride, blonde, beautiful Maria Scelozze, 23, caused such a tumult in the church that Bishop Giuseppe Giampetro fled to the sacristy and threatened to cancel the ceremony.

Final police cleared a space before the altar and Bishop Bonelli, along a friend of the Mussolini family, went on with the ceremony.

After the ceremony, tragedy struck—The chauffeur-driven Rolls Royce taking Mrs. Loren and her bride, was involved in a chain-collision that killed Antonio Angelini, 24, a school teacher. The accident occurred near Forli, Miss Loren was not injured.

Mrs. Loren, her secretary, her maid and the driver of the other car spent two hours at local police headquarters under questioning.

Wheat Growers' Problems Aired

FAIRFIELD, March 3—Wheat growers' problems were discussed and their questions answered by four speakers at an informal meeting Thursday in the Legion hall.

Speakers were Harold West, Western Wheat association representative; Ray Digler, Boise, production adjustment specialist for agriculture stabilization; and Donald G. Chilton, Boise, state director of agriculture for the ABC and Harlan Blackburn, Twin Falls.

Reasons for Grange Members Resuming of Tests Noted

WASHINGTON, March 3 (UPI)—Secretary of Defense, Robert E. McNamara, said today the United States decided to test again in the atmosphere only after other means of developing nuclear weapons were examined and found wanting.

Both the pentagon and the atomic energy commission made every effort to determine ways of "accomplishing" the necessary development of nuclear weapons without air tests, McNamara said.

"But," he added, "the actual high altitude physical environment could not be duplicated in underground explosions it was decided there was no alternative to resumed atmospheric testing."

In his statement, McNamara also sought to dispel concern over the radiological fallout that will result from the tests.

The scope of the program as now planned, the secretary said, will result in but a small fraction of radioactive contributions to the world environment as compared to the recently completed Soviet test series.

The amount of radioactivity released, he said, will be limited to a minimum and the cumulative contribution will be significantly less than the natural background radiation within the environment.

President Kennedy, in announcing Friday night his order to resume testing, said the amount of radiation would be only one per cent of natural radiation.

Workers Named For Fund Drive

SHOSHONE, March 3—Co-workers in the Lincoln county "bazaar" drive have been named by Mrs. Frank Stoker, chairman. The drive secures funds for the Crippled-Children's Institute.

Assisting are Mrs. H. W. Crow, Mrs. J. I. Shaw, Mrs. Burton Thorne and Mrs. Jack Algen. The drive begins March 11 and runs until April 27.

Contributions to the memorial fund of the society may be made to the director.

Reservoir Is One-Fifth of Its Capacity

SHOSHONE, March 3—As of Wednesday morning, Mazoni reservoir contained 31,000 acre feet of water, or 20 per cent of its total capacity. Last year on this date, it contained 23,400 acre feet.

It was March 31 last year here that the dam and same department, Fore Mangle contained the same water when by state Game Biologist, announced Lester J. Buzza, manager of the Big Wood Canal company.

During one 24-hour period, Mazoni reservoir had 4,000 acre feet of water run into the reservoir. The next 24 hours had 2,000 acre feet and the following day had 1,000 acre feet.

Temperature readings at Mazoni were 12 and 22 degrees below zero on Monday and Tuesday nights. The cold virtually stopped the inflow for the present.

Monday Meet Plans Honors For T.F. Man

Claude F. Willey, member of the city police force for 19 and 10 years, will be honored for "meritorious service" to the city of Twin Falls Monday evening in a resolution by the city commission.

Willey retired from the police force Thursday.

Commissioners will review bids for creating and stockpiling rock and gravel for use in street repair work. The bids were opened Feb. 2.

A resolution authorizing Clifford Whittle, city golf professional, to lease the municipal golf course for 1962 is expected to be approved.

A request for the purchase of 42 tons of aluminum sulphate coating sludge will be checked by commission.

The commission will study a lease agreement with Olyokwa Bowing club of Twin Falls for rental of the archery range located south of the city golf course.

Commissioners will consider an ordinance vacating Hazel drive in the Drake subdivision.

City Attorney William Langley is expected to present his recommendations concerning the feasibility and legality of requiring city permits for the erection of new surgery and similar occupations within the city limits.

The city payroll and monthly bills for February will be presented for approval by the commission.

Routine building permits, license applications and monthly departmental reports will be considered.

Jail Escapee Sentenced to 5-Year Term

A Kinkherly youth who walked away from the Twin Falls county jail while serving a one-year term for arson, only to be caught the next day in a burglary, was sentenced Friday to five years in the state penitentiary.

Elwyn Thomas Judge Thomsen found Henry Malone, 18, guilty of escaping from jail while charged with a felony. Malone had been sentenced Jan. 3 to five years in the penitentiary on the arson charge, but the sentence was commuted to one year in jail. He was arrested Nov. 27.

Water Users Objecting to Hike in Rate

BOISE, March 3 — Idaho Underground Water Users Association met this week with representatives from seven south Idaho counties in the Hotel Boise to prepare for a series of meetings aimed at heading off a proposed rate increase for the Idaho Power company.

Don Tropea, Blackfoot, secretary of the state association, said the members present decided to "exert maximum effort to oppose the proposed power rate increase." It was pointed out at the meeting that, over the past 10 years, Idaho Power company has secured the irrigation power users that they could expect no increase in power rates as soon as they were able to obtain power from the dams under construction at Hells Canyon.

It was added that in spite of the promise, the increase has been requested.

He said the members present also agreed that the increase requested was ill-timed, due to depressed farm commodity prices and the high cost of farm operation.

Mrs. Domrose Is Paid Last Honor

Funeral services for Mrs. Martha Domrose were conducted Saturday in the White mortuary chapel by the Rev. Eugene Marks.

Final rites were held at the Twin Falls cemetery.

Active pallbearers were George Crockett, Slim Walton, Russell C. Larson, Marvin Guster, Ashel Murray and Frank Landry.

Honorary pallbearers were Donald Stricker, Olyokwa Edmister, Charles Glines, Miles Weech, Lou Brown, H. D. Brown, William Gill and Carl Hildgeway.

Mrs. Ellen Drose and Mrs. Slim Walton sang.

Grange Kitchen To Get Painting

BOISWICK, March 3 — Members of Maglo Grange will paint the Grange kitchen as a project.

Larry Tews was in charge of the program for the meeting, during which readings were given by young members and Henry Tews spoke on starlings.

Mrs. Vivian Jackson was hostess for the evening.

Man Falls

HAILEY, March 3 — Orville Barcus is a patient at the Blaine county hospital, where he was taken last week after a fall on the main street of Bellevue.

He has a fractured left shoulder and wrist and severe facial and hand lacerations. His condition is listed as fair by his family.

STEVE OLIENYK has been appointed assistant vice president at the First Security bank of Twin Falls. He has been assistant manager of the First Security bank of Emmett since March, 1960. He has had previous banking experience with the First National bank of Fairfield, N.D. Olienyk is a member of Veterans of Foreign Wars, 3444th Street, Valley chapter of National Association of Banks, Auditors and Controllers, and the American Institute of Banking. He is a graduate of the Dickinson State Teachers' college at Dickinson, N.D.

Four Crashes Are Reported

Twin Falls police investigated four minor accidents Friday afternoon caused by icy streets. One driver was cited for a non-moving traffic violation.

H. D. Hawk, 56, 455 Van Buren street, was cited for driving a 1961 Ford truck driven by him, collided with a 1961 Mercury sedan driven by Wayne L. Crown, 22, route 4, 2 mi. S. of 2nd street and Kimberly road.

Help Your Child in School - No. 10 Parents, Teachers Should Confer Before Trouble Arises in School

BY DR. LESLIE J. NASON (Professor of Education, University of Southern California) Teachers, as well as parents, are interested in having children succeed at the highest level possible. Parents and teachers have the same goals for children. They want them to learn as much as fast and as well as they possibly can. However, too often teachers and parents find it difficult to talk to each other because their first meeting is spent trying to solve a problem. Johnny is playing truant. Susie is having serious trouble with arithmetic. Jim is misbehaving on the playground. Too often the parents feel that the teacher does not understand their child, while the teacher feels the parents show little sympathy for school problems. There is a way to avoid this conflict. When parents and teachers compare notes on children before problems arise, troubles can be averted. You can ease the situation by: (1) making advance appointments in advance. Write a note or make a phone call. Teachers need to schedule appointments when they can give their attention to you rather than a roomful of pupils. (2) At the first meeting let the teacher know that you seek advice and help. (3) Offer your help in solving your child's school problems. (4) Prepare a list of questions which you wish to ask. How much homework, if any, is expected? How does my child get along on the playground, does he enter into the play? What is his life like in school? How does he act? Is there any way in which we parents can cooperate with you, the teacher? Such questions give the teacher an opening for a frank discussion without making it seem that she is excelling. Such discussions can bring about a firm understanding. At this point it becomes the teacher and you working together for the benefit of your child. When goals and aspirations for a student are not the same at home and at school the student suffers. When the counselor says the boy has the ability and should go to college, and the parents see no way to have this happen, or when the parent has hopes of college for his child, and the counselor says the ability is not there, the student's progress in the future should be planned. Whether your child is starting school or already in high school, get an understanding with his teachers. Parents, teachers and counselors can achieve much when they work together for the benefit of the child. The parents, with the knowledge of this student's intense ability.

Blaine Area Reports on Aid to Aged

HAILEY, March 3—William Grant, director of public assistance for Blaine and Lincoln counties, reports during January 1962 that the county received $49,345 as aid to the blind. Grant received $16 as aid for dependent children, and $11 received $980 as aid for the part-time-volunteer disabled. Payment for medical hospital and nursing services for people over 65 years of age in Blaine county are not yet available. In Lincoln county $3 received $1,497 for old age assistance. Twenty dollars was paid to one person as aid to the blind. Five received $225 for aid to dependent children. Twelve received $222 as aid for the part-time-volunteer disabled. The sum of $255 was paid the Wood River Convalescent Center for the part-time-volunteer disabled. The sum of $2,657 was paid the Wood River Convalescent Center for medical aid to the aged for both Lincoln and Blaine county patients. This is the only state-approved nursing home in the two counties.

At this point it becomes the teacher and you working together for the benefit of your child. When goals and aspirations for a student are not the same at home and at school the student suffers. When the counselor says the boy has the ability and should go to college, and the parents see no way to have this happen, or when the parent has hopes of college for his child, and the counselor says the ability is not there, the student's progress in the future should be planned. Whether your child is starting school or already in high school, get an understanding with his teachers. Parents, teachers and counselors can achieve much when they work together for the benefit of the child. The parents, with the knowledge of this student's intense ability.

Creative Dramatics Class Available for T. F. Children

An opportunity for the child to learn to play and express himself in an imaginative, creative way is now available through the creative dramatics department of the Idaho State college residence center in Twin Falls.

A series of five free creative dramatics sessions for children will be held in conjunction with the adult dramatics training program here, reports Mrs. Marion G. Tanner, instructor.

Mrs. Tanner is a graduate of Idaho State college and was a published scholar to England. She studied with the British Drama League and toured England, observing various theatricals of community and educational theater.

Four sessions will be conducted at the Junior high school for five consecutive weeks. Hours will be from 7 to 8 p.m. Mondays and Tuesdays and from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. Saturdays. Thursday classes will begin March 27, Saturdays, March 24, and Mondays, March 26.

Past Residents Of Magic Valley Celebrate Day

LAKE STEVENS, Wash., March 3—Mr. and Mrs. Harvey A. Dent, former-Magic Valley residents, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with an open-house at their home in Lake Stevens, Feb. 1. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dent and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lux.

The reception room was decorated with a "rainbow" theme; pictures of Dent with his horse and bucky and of Mrs. Dent in her younger days were at one end; a wedding picture centered the "rainbow," and the "pot of gold" was pictures of their children and grandchildren.

Mrs. Helen Coleman Lake Stevens, assisted with decorations. The refreshment table was covered with a blue cloth, a 50-year-old wedding gift, hem-stitched by Mrs. Dent's mother, Mrs. J. W. Dent.

Some 100 relatives and friends were gathered by Bernette Dent, a granddaughter, in charge of gifts were Marilyn Rux and Sylvia Dent.

The three-tiered cake topped with bells, was cut and served by Patricia Fuller.

Serving were aunts and sisters-in-law, Mrs. Maude Cameron, Mrs. Alpha Dent, Mrs. Margaret Wilcock, Badi Cellahy, Mrs. Mabelle Dent and Mrs. Gladys Dent.

Mrs. O. G. Oliver, also been elected for the position.

Paris Designers Insist on Femininity for Spring

PARIS, March 3 (AP)—Women looked more like their feminine selves at the spring and summer Paris-fashion showings.

Each designer seemed to feel a need to feminize his model, but each did it differently. This being, whether you are tall or short, slim or not, you can wear what suits you like best and stay in style.

The only rule to follow is to wear a skit, just below the knee. Yves-Saint-Laurent provided the fashion surprise this season. He opened his house, following two seasons underground after leaving Dior, where he had been chief designer.

His look reached far west to the East, giving girls cow-boy hats and scarves for day, and Balinese cocktail outfits topped by turbans for evening. He even introduced the harem with his short-at-home trousers.

Waists came back with wide leather belts, sometimes light around the middle, sometimes light at the waist, sometimes around the hips.

Small high boots reappeared for day in most collections as at Balmain and Desset. Designers who kept a flat line tended to make up for it at night with low décolletage.

Skirts were made to walk in. Lavin Costello decreed against the "one-legged look" women had with straight narrow skirts. Betsy and Helm made skirts bell out in circles, and Saint-Laurent and Dior gave two versions of 70's straight-looking, easy skirts.

Details added femininity to designer's lines. Dior starred ruffles in organza and gilt for cocktail and evening. St. Laurent used upplating ridged tucks to mark midriffs, and appliqué flowers on skirt suits.

Colors went from sun yellow to palest apricot. They were bright and clear in red and fuchsia, deep sky blue. Some models went strict with straight black and white, navy and brown.

Bellevue Civic Club to Finance Girls' Stater
BELLEVUE, March 3—Members of the Bellevue civic club, at their meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles Wright, voted to again sponsor a delegate to Girls' State, in co-operation with the Legion auxiliary of Blaine county, post No. 24. The auxiliary will select the delegate.

The club will sponsor the annual athletic banquet at 7 p.m. March 10 in the school gymnasium. The club will furnish refreshments for the event.

The general planning committee will include Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Halber-Hatch and Mrs. Walter Kohler; program, Mrs. Willis McKecher, decorations, Mrs. Jack O'Donnell, Mrs. Duke Martin, Mrs. Ed McClure and Mrs. Jack Myers; table-setting, Mrs. Theodore Divine, Mrs. Lester Lewis and Mrs. George Walton, and punch and coffee, Lorraine Larsen, Mrs. Ward Beck and Mrs. Don Rose.

Plans were made for serving a March 12 dinner at the JOOP hall for Sun Valley Builders and Fraternal Women's club.

Members voted not to hold the March meeting. New officers will be elected at the April 24 meeting.

Mrs. Wright and Mrs. McKecher served refreshments.

District Lodge Confab Debated
SHOSHONE, March 3—Plans were made for the March 10 JOOP and Rebekah district meeting in Bhanstone at the Opal Rebekah lodge meeting.

Reports from committees were made and a new committee for the evening program was appointed by Mrs. Marjorie Eldredge, noble grand. The committee includes Mrs. Edna Shook and Mrs. Don Rose.

Registration for the district meeting will begin at noon. A 2:30 p.m. tea is planned; the evening banquet will be served in the school cafeteria by women of the Baptist church.

Several members attended the second music program under the auspices of the Drill team from the Bliflake and JOOP lodges presented drills for the district meeting.

Basketball Upset of Year Ends Buckeyes' Winning Streak After 27 Straight

MADISON, Wis., March 3 (AP)—Wisconsin's battling Badgers pulled basketball's upset of the year by beating Ohio State, the No. 1 college team in the nation, 86-67 Saturday and snapping the Buckeyes' Big Ten winning streak at 27 games. The Badgers, thrice-beaten in conference play, took the lead halfway through the first period and held it the rest of the way in handing Ohio State the first defeat in 23 outings this season.

RECORD BREAKING PERFORMANCE brings a smile to the Philadelphia Warriors' Wilt Chamberlain who holds a 100 size indicating the number of points he made against New York Friday night. (AP wirephoto)

Wisconsin came through with its best defensive play of the campaign in holding All-America Jerry Lucas to 23 points.

Don Herdren, a sophomore guard, was the big gun for the Badgers with 27 points, the top outing of his career. Herdren's scoring came on 14 field goals, most of them far outside, and one free throw.

The mighty Buckeyes, last season's "Chimney" in the NCAA title clash a year ago, had won 47 straight regular-season games since 1960.

But they were no match for the young Badgers, who had only one senior in the starting lineup.

Wisconsin, the surprise team in the Big Ten with a 10-3 record, had topped the Buckeyes throughout the season. Ohio State clinched the conference title a week ago as Wisconsin was upset by Minnesota.

Ohio State has won the conference title three straight years with the help of Lucas and John Havlicek.

The Badgers are 17-6 overall and assured of at least a tie for second place in the Big Ten.

In a slow scoring duel, the Badgers and Buckeyes exchanged the lead through the first 21 minutes of the game.

Then Tom Gwyn, a junior, cashed one of two free throws to put the Badgers 18-17. Wisconsin built the lead to 37-20 at halftime.

After the intermission, Wisconsin steadily piled up its advantage with some fast-break plays that caught the lofty Buckeyes flatfooted.

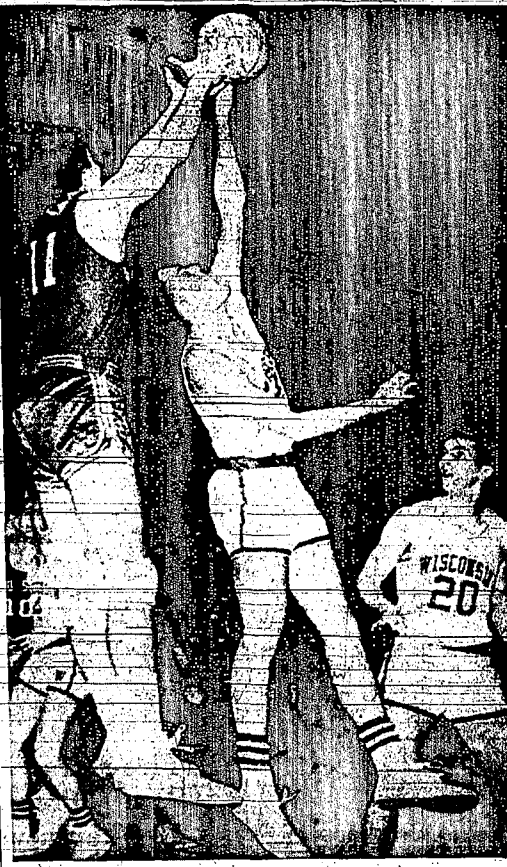

Midway through the second half, the Badgers had extended their lead to 60-47 and after another five minutes, had surged ahead with some fast breaks.

Ohio State went into a full court press but the Badgers refused to give ground.

Ken Siebel, Wisconsin's top scorer, finished with 19 points and four rebounds.

Another NBA standout had a night for himself also. St. Louis' Bob Pettit received $10,000 worth of gifts from Hawks fans, then chomped 33 points in a 138-120 victory over Eastern ailing champion Boston. Pettit and rookie Cliff Hagan, who had 42 points, led the Hawks to a third period spurt that killed the Celtics.

Cincinnati defeated Detroit, 120-112, at St. Wayne, Ind., in the other NBA game.

UPSET OF YEAR was accomplished Saturday afternoon when Wisconsin dropped Ohio State 86-67 and snapped a 27-game winning streak. Jerry Lucas (11) missed this rebound for Ohio State as Tom Hubska makes the grab. No. 20 is Don Herdren. (AP wirephoto)

ISC Closes Year With Romp Over Colorado Mines

POCATELLO, March 3 (AP)—Idaho State closed its basketball season tonight with a 59-10 romp over the visiting Colorado Miners, leaders of the Rocky Mountain conference to which ISC used to belong. Four ISC seniors wound up their Bengal careers, including Frank Swopes, second leading scorer in ISC game history; Bob Blinn, guard; forward Jack Wombolt; and center Al Rolf.

McGill Closes Career, Hits 50 Points

SALT LAKE CITY, March 3 (AP)—Utah's Billy McGill closed his collegiate career in a blaze of glory tonight with a 50-point outburst, which carried the Utes to a 94-75 win over Wyoming and an unprecedented fourth consecutive Big Ten conference championship.

McGill's 50 points boosted his season total to 1,067, the third best in collegiate history. Only Frank Selvy with 1,239 and Oscar Robertson with 1,011 outscored McGill during a single season.

Wyoming, utilizing a slow-down attack, gave the winners some rough moments for two-thirds of the game until Utah's fast break broke the Westerners in the last eight minutes.

With 14 minutes left, Utah held a slim 52-49 advantage. Then the Utes shook loose John Shier, McGill and Bobby Wynn for quick scores and they were never in danger again.

A crowd of 8,004 gave the 6-foot-9-inch Utah center a thunderous ovation in post-game ceremonies in which McGill and other team members were given retired McGill's uniform — the number 12 worn by the star center for the past three seasons.

The team received the Skyline championship trophy during the ceremonies. The Utes finished the season with a 13-1 league record and an overall mark of 22-3. However, Utah has been declared ineligible for post-season tournaments by the NCAA.

Czechs Won't Compete in Hockey Meet

WASHINGTON, March 3 (AP)—The Czech national hockey team will not compete in the international hockey championship starting Wednesday at Colorado Springs, Colo., was a verbal statement made by the U.S. state department and Ceteke, official Czechoslovakian news agency.

The state department confirmed rumors Friday that the Czech team, which previously had withdrawn from the meet, has made a last-minute application for visas at Prague.

The department's press officer said the requests would be granted.

He added that one member of the Czech party, Jiri Sedlak, Prague's Mikolaj Sabur, would represent the team so that he could attend the International Ice Hockey Federation, also in Colorado Springs.

Rado Cretka countered that only Sabur, an official of both the Czech and international hockey organizations, had applied for a visa.

Wilt Won't Try to Break Own Record

HERSHEY, Pa., March 3 (AP)—"It's a record I'd hate to try to break myself," says Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain, eyeing his new 100-point National Basketball association single game standard. Chamberlain's mark, eclipsing his own record of 78, came Friday night as the Warriors defeated the New York Knickerbockers 169-147. The total points scored, 316, also set an NBA record in a night.

Chamberlain's career total is now 9,699, having scored 2,707 points this rookie year and 3,033 last year.

"Another NBA standout had a night for himself also. St. Louis' Bob Pettit received $10,000 worth of gifts from Hawks fans, then chomped 33 points in a 138-120 victory over Eastern ailing champion Boston. Pettit and rookie Cliff Hagan, who had 42 points, led the Hawks to a third period spurt that killed the Celtics.

Cincinnati defeated Detroit, 120-112, at St. Wayne, Ind., in the other NBA game.

Uels Admits He Is Out of Shape

NEW YORK, March 3 (AP)—John Uels conceded grimly today that he would need a couple of more weeks to get in proper shape to take a lead on his indoor pole vault record of 19 feet, 4 1/2 inches.

"I went from 173 to 165 pounds during my bout with the flu," he said. "I still feel pretty weak when I vault."

Uels, a marine corporal stationed at Quantico, Va., won the title in the Knights of Columbus meet in Madison Square Garden last night with a 19-foot, 4 1/2-inch effort.

He said he was taking vitamins in an effort to speed his recovery.

Ohio State Finds Losing Is No Fun

MADISON, Wis., March 3 (AP)—It was an unfamiliar role for Ohio State coach Fred Taylor. Standing alone outside the locker room of a losing basketball team.

The routs of more than 13,000 Wisconsin fans still rang loudly as Taylor slowly explained why he thought his lofty "Buckeyes" had suffered their first loss in 29 Big Ten conference games.

"What really irked him was the game with Wisconsin administered an 86-67 pasting."

"They just gave us fits on the boards and their fast break really hurt us," Taylor said.

"Losing is a new experience and it's no fun to lose anything, but if you have to pick one it's losing. After you've wrapped up the championship," the Buckeye coach added.

Wins Swim Meet

AMES, Ia., March 3 (AP)—Oklahoma won the eighth straight Big Ten conference swimming meet here today, but had to beat off a disheartened challenge from Kansas to turn the trick.

The tournament, which is open to women from Idaho, Oregon, Alaska, Utah, Montana, Washington, and British Columbia, will be run on the four week-ends of May at the two bowling houses in Twin Falls.

Marolt Has Lead In Roch Cup Race

ASPEN, Colo., March 3 (AP)—Jim Marolt, 21, has taken the lead in today's race for the Roch Cup today by maneuvering the giant alom course in the winning time of 1:30.1.

Marolt finished second in yesterday's slalom.

Jim Barter, Kallispell, Mont., finished second behind Marolt in today's race for the Roch cup today after he missed a gate.

Ehron Peak of Aspen won today's women's giant slalom, and the winner of yesterday's slalom, Elizabeth Bennett, Mammoth Mountain, Calif., was fourth today.

Idaho State Drops Idaho; Evens Series

POCATELLO, March 3 (AP)—Idaho State evaded the ax by winning today's game, ending the Vandals' 97-66, the same two-point margin Idaho had when it beat the Bengals at the game in Moscow earlier this season, 70-68.

Chances for a rubber match appeared slight as Idaho director John Vessler of ISU and Skip Stanley of Idaho said they'd be happy to play each other again, but said it could not be done without special permission of the NCAA because both clubs have played the maximum 28 games this season.

In Friday night's game, the Vandals had a 23-28 lead at intermission and maintained a good lead until the last eight minutes. Then the lead changed hands numerous times and was tied up 10 times. It was 42-41 with eight minutes to go when 360 went ahead to stay.

Coast Man to Hold Meet at Church Here

Dr. Fred Judson, Santa Monica, Calif., will conduct a Deepener Life conference through March 11 at the Twin Falls First Baptist church.

The services will be held at 8:30 a.m., 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Sundays and at 7:30 p.m. on weekdays. Theme of the conference is "Our Spiritual Pilgrimage."

Dr. Judson has been pastor of the Trinity Baptist church, Santa Monica, 767 22 years. During his pastorate, the church has grown from 400 members to more than 1,500 members. He has been active in community affairs, serving as councilman of Santa Monica, a member of the Santa Monica Chamber of Commerce, board of directors, and a member of the Redlands University board of trustees.

Dr. Judson is an inspirational speaker with a sense of humor. The Long Beach, Calif., Press Telegram reported, "Sound only to his sense of God is his sense of humor."

At the 8:30 and 11 a.m. Sunday services he will speak on "Seeking to Walk with Christ."

It will be his testimony concerning his own spiritual pilgrimage. The conference will close March 11 with a rally of all the Magic Valley Baptist churches.

During his visit here he will address several luncheon clubs, ministerial groups and the Youth for Christ rally March 10.

Lutheran Group To Fete Teachers

RUBERT, March 3—plans for a dinner-reception for all-Sunday school teachers to be held at 7 p.m. March 27 were announced at the Lutheran Laymen's League meeting Tuesday night.

The group voted to continue support of the Lutheran Hour program according to Norman Ratsch, president.

An LLL bowling tournament March 25 at Twin Falls was announced with the theme to be "Bow for Camp Perkins." Instead of the large trophy usually awarded, small trophies will be given, with the remainder of the funds to go toward the debt on the church camp.

LESTER RICHMAN was named chairman of the event, and persons wishing to enter the tournament are to contact him, Ratsch said.

DR. FRED M. JUDSON, pastor of the Trinity Baptist church, Santa Monica, Calif., will conduct a week-long Deepener Life conference beginning at 8:30 a.m. Sunday, in the Twin Falls First Baptist church. Another Sunday service will be held at 7:30 p.m. The conference will conclude March 11 with a rally of all Magic Valley Baptist churches. During his visit here, he also will address several luncheon clubs, ministerial groups and the March 10 Youth for Christ rally. (Staff engraving.)

Cubs at Filer Hold Dinner

FILER, March 3—Don Hertz was in charge of the flag ceremony which marked the opening of the blue and gold banquet of the Cub Scouts of pack 72 held at the Filer LDS church. Martin Bright gave the opening prayer.

John Sigora served as master of ceremonies for the banquet and program. Cub Scouts sang and presented a skit based on the lives of American presidents as boys. Members of each den made individual table decorations for the banquet.

Storks presented awards in den ones to Michael Brew, wolf badge; den two, Douglas Nelson, bear badge; den three, Kelly Page, silver arrow; den four, Gordon Brown, bear badge; Steven Bear, bear badge; Jim Blakalec, bear badge; Larry Maxson, lion badge; and Pat Anderson, bobcat badge.

Two new families welcomed in to the pack were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Pedrow and son and Mr. and Mrs. Loren Anderson and son. The meeting closed with group singing of "America" and a prayer by Kelly Page.

Cerebral Palsy Student Strives To Express Her Artistic Feeling

The desire to express artistic feeling is strong in many persons, and especially strong in a student at the Twin Falls cerebral palsy school, Karleena Hills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hills, Jr., Jerome.

She is a 17-year-old student at the school and has been enrolled there for three years. An ambitious student, Miss Hills has been typing on an electric typewriter for two years. She uses a dowel attached to a bracket because she doesn't have the use of her hands. Recently she has been using ballpoint pens on the dowel and has practiced short-hand and long-hand.

Instructed in Art
 Last summer the wonderful world of art opened for Miss Hills. She was permitted to paint Easter Seal, Coeur d'Alene. There she was instructed in many things, but one of her favorite subjects was the handicraft class.

She began working with gravel mosaics and has continued her interest in the method. Art wasn't entirely new to her, for she has done watercolor before, using a paintbrush attached to the handle.

Made Mosaics
 But she found the mosaic method particularly interesting. She made several mosaics at camp and has continued the hobby.

All of the work is done in her spare time, either at school or home. It is a time-consuming process, but Miss Hills finds it rewarding.

Teacher Helps
 Mrs. C. L. Ratcliffe, teacher in charge of the school, aids Miss Hills in some of the preparatory work. After the outlines are made the colored gravel is added, completing the design.

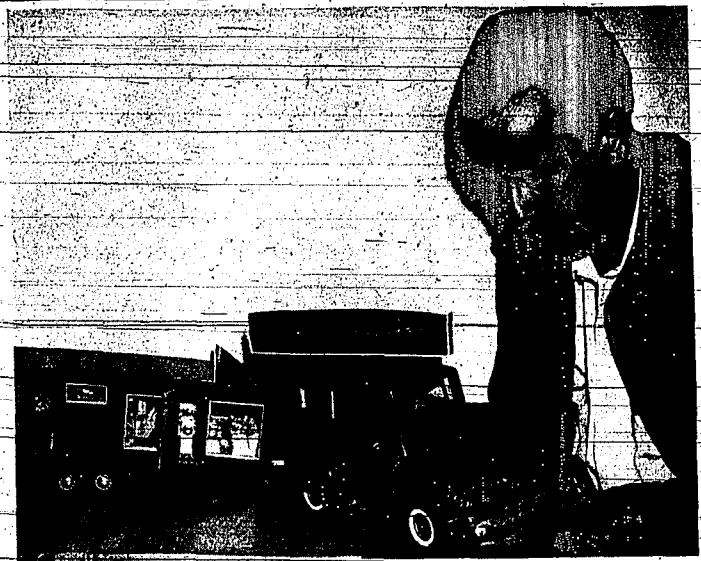

The board is covered with a thin layer of glue and Miss Hills then proceeds to scoop the gravel out of several small dishes. A small metal spoon is attached to the dowel on the head.

As the gravel falls on the wet glue it sticks and quickly forms a pattern.

CEREBRAL PALSY student at the Twin Falls cerebral palsy school, Karleena Hills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hills, Jr., Jerome, works at one of her gravel mosaics. She has been typing, using the dowel attached to her desk, for several years. Now she has taken up art as a hobby. She was first introduced to gravel mosaics when she attended Camp Easter Seal, Coeur d'Alene. (Times-News photo)

Mrs. Ratcliffe notes that Miss Hills gets a great sense of accomplishment when she has never done anything out of the hobby and all before.

REFURBISHED TOYS are displayed by Ted Samples. Samples look several of his boys' old toys and completely rebuild them, adding a few of his own innovations. The truck was a regular factory-made toy. Samples repaired it and installed many accessories. The accessories were made of varied scraps, such as grape boxes, car radio antenna parts and pieces of plastic. The model airplane was made of a scrap of wood, a pencil, a straight pin and a paper pin. (Times-News photo)

Toys Fashioned From Odds and Ends of Scrap by T. F. Hobbyist

Ted Samples can take nothing and make something out of it—and some of the models he has made for his children prove it.

His boy had a commercial truck for several years. Last fall Samples took the truck and did a complete overhaul job on it, re-using a toy that would turn the original maker green with envy.

Basically, the truck is a common pickup truck. Samples completely refinished the truck and made a removable wooden camper. First, he ironed out all the dents and then completely repainted it, using a spray can. A missing bumper was replaced with a scrap piece of aluminum. Custom exhaust pipes were made from a small piece of hollow chrome car radio antenna. Fender skirts were constructed of scrap pieces of plastic and "rear-view" mirrors were made of pieces of hubcaps that remained from the model car kit.

The camper was made of thin wood used in constructing grape boxes, and then sanded and painted to match the truck. The window glass was carefully cut to scale by Samples, who notes that cutting the glass was one of the toughest jobs. The interior of the cab is completely finished in a similar manner. The trailer hitch was salvaged from another scrapped toy. Samples used only commercial model car wheels in a trailer. The remainder of the trailer, like the camper, is made of thin wood. Samples, when an identical trailer stopped for the traffic light near the service station where he works at Five Points east.

He completely carried the trailer on his own. The furnishings were made of scrap pieces of foam rubber and imitation leather. And, again, all the glass was cut to scale.

A model single-barrel shotgun mimics some of the most unusual materials. The barrel is made of a wooden pencil. One night when Samples was working at the station, he was toying with the pencil and noticed the lead was loose, so he slipped the lead out, thus creating the barrel. The exterior was smoothed and colored with a blue ballpoint pen. The stock was whitened by a scrap piece of wood and the trigger guard from a cotter pin. The barrel latch was fashioned from a piece of wire from an oil can, and the front sight was formed with the lead from a straight pin used to pin new shirts together. All the work was done in his spare time in one evening.

Samples laughs and says, "I think you'd be surprised what you can make out of scrap pieces of material."

Remedial Reading Class Being Tested at Minico

SUBURB, March 3—One of the most interesting pilot programs being undertaken by a Magic Valley school is the remedial reading program under way at Minico high school. This is the first year for the program whose purpose is to provide reading instruction to students who, for varied reasons, have fallen behind in their reading skills.

There are two classes in remedial reading, with a total of 30 students enrolled, and it is the consensus of the teachers that the program is an asset to the curriculum and that students are benefiting from the new class.

of the English department explains the program, got underway last spring. He notes that the remedial reading classes were scheduled because there were increasing complaints from teachers and parents that some students couldn't read and express themselves accurately in high school-level classes.

This isn't a problem peculiar to Minico high school alone, he notes, for it is one of the educational weaknesses that plague schools throughout the nation. During the school years many students fall behind in their reading skills and often it is discovered too late in life to be corrected. At Minico they are trying to help the students in this way.

INDIVIDUAL HELP is given in the remedial reading class at Minico high school by Mrs. Gladys Abadía. This is the first time the class has been offered at the school and one of the first in Idaho. The object of the class is to provide special reading teaching to students who have fallen behind in reading, so their other classes won't be affected. There are 20 students in the two classes. Shepherd of Airlines Has Tough Task

NEW YORK, March 3 (AP)—Paul Bernhardt has a shepherd's heart.

In watching over his flock during their annual homecoming when he misses one "I get a sinking feeling. I don't want to believe it."

As an air traffic controller, a guide to the thousands of airplanes that ride the four winds daily into the aerial fold at New York. When the weather closes in, they mill about in the clouds over Newark airport, LaGuardia and Idlewild-Berlin's home base. And men like Bernhardt keep them apart.

The shepherding system seldom fails.

But that sinking feeling came to Bernhardt about midmorning Dec. 10, 1960.

At the controls at LaGuardia, a controller at LaGuardia told Bernhardt World Airlines flight 200, inbound, and advised: "That appears to be routing off your field now, three o'clock at one mile, northbound."

"For a moment, there was a whisper of 200's open mike," then nothing.

"Across Long Island's highway could be seen Bernhardt was sitting at the elbow of a less-experienced controller, checking out his work in the eerie green light of the instrument panel. About that instant in time when the LaGuardia controller said "Roger," Bernhardt was listening to a routing call.

"Idlewild approach control, United 620, approaching from the north, altitude 3000 feet."

At Bernhardt's side, the controller answered: "United 620, this is Idlewild approach control."

"United 620... United 620... United 620... United 620... Bernhardt's heart began to throb. One by one, the planes had collected. One of them was on the ground. (Continued on Page 3)

EMERGENCY CARE, a small girl who swallowed some medicine by accident, is being checked by Dr. E. M. Wright, right, at the Magic Valley Memorial hospital emergency room. The 2-year-old girl, Lisa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herle Allen, had climbed into the cupboard and swallowed some of her grandfather's medicine. Her father, left, discovered she had swallowed the medicine shortly after she did it and immediately rushed her to the hospital. (Times-News photo)

Hospital Emergency Plan Here Offers Immediate Aid Anytime

Magic Valley Memorial hospital's method of dealing with emergency cases provides for the care of patients any time of the day or night. Calling for the emergency case is one of the most important functions of a hospital, and during 1961 some 1,021 emergency cases were treated at the hospital.

The emergency case can vary from the young child who unwittingly swallowed a lethal dose of drugs, to an individual who on the brink of death after an automobile accident. There are all kinds of emergency cases, but automobile accidents, home injuries, and accidents involving children and drugs are the most common.

If there is a family physician, he is called immediately. If the family physician can't be located or if there is no family physician, the doctor who is on call in the hospital is prepared to cope with it.

At all times, three doctors are on call. They represent the three hospital departments at the hospital: medicine, surgery and obstetrics. Whatever the case, it will fall within one of the three departments.

When an emergency case occurs, the hospital, the house supervisor is the first one contacted. It is her duty to find out if the patient has a family physician, and if not, to call the doctor who is on call in the hospital.

Depending upon the case, the doctor might give certain instructions over the telephone to be undertaken while he is on the way to the hospital.

All doctors who are members of the staff are subject to being on call. They might be on call from one week to a month, depending on the number of doctors in their department.

The hospital administration prepares the call list, and it is the doctor's responsibility either to prepare the call list or to be on call. (Continued on Page 3)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

A glimpse into the past can be visualized in the beautiful antique bedroom at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Poulton in OAKLEY. An old fashioned bed, made from an oak tree, has a headboard that stands six feet tall and has delicate carved designs. The bed is covered with a white-velvet fabric and has a matching headboard. The bed is flanked by two nightstands, each with a lamp. The room is decorated with a yellow coverlet and two pillows. The room is a beautiful example of the craftsmanship of the past.

Special Day of Prayer Set Soon

FILED, March 3—World day of prayer will be observed at a union service at the First Methodist church on March 9.

Churches participating will be the First Baptist, Faith Memorial, East Memorial, Nazarene and Methodist.

The morning service will begin at 10:15 a.m. A potluck lunch will be served at noon and the afternoon service will begin at 1 p.m. The Rev. Norman Schmidt and Rev. Allen Reesor will be speakers.

Prayer sitting service will be provided for those with small children.

Miss Shelton Is Contest Winner

RUPERT, March 3—Kathy Shelton, junior at Minico high school, was crowned Miss Idaho Contest Winner.

She was crowned at a contest sponsored by the American Legion at the Minico high school. She will represent Idaho at the national contest in Las Vegas, Nevada.

Each entrant gave a 10-minute prepared oration, and a four-to-six minute extemporaneous speech on section 1, article 1 of the constitution.

The dinner meeting will be held at the Elks Club at 7 p.m. and will serve as the kickoff for the observance of National 4-H week beginning Monday.

LaMont 35th county agent reported 25 members have been attending the sessions.

Class Slated

MALBY, March 3—A second home nursing class sponsored by the Upper Big Hole Valley Grange will begin March 12, with sessions to be held in the evening for the convenience of working women.

On March 19, an afternoon class in mother and baby care will start. Mrs. Gertrude Trombly, Blaine county public health nurse, will instruct both classes.

These projects are sponsored by the Grange with the cooperation of the Blaine county Red Cross chapter.

AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

"When Men and Nations Pray"
By The Rev. H. B. WALKUP
Pastor, Assembly of God Church
As we read near to the World Day of Prayer, we are reminded for all the world to seek God's face, we think of those in the past who have answered prayer. Individuals and nations have seen God's hand in their lives. His might and glorious majesty in answer to simple prayer.

The greatest of all answers to prayer is that which is accomplished in the heart of man. He prays earnestly, honestly and in faith. The greatest work of God is the work of regeneration, whereby one is made a new creature in Christ Jesus. As the apostle Paul said, "We must be born again."

The benefit of prayer for physical health is shown numerous times in the scriptures. Godly King Hezekiah fell sick and was told by the prophet Isaiah to set his house in order, that he would not live. The king turned to God and the prophet returned the word, "I have added 15 years to your life, in answer to your prayer."

Several reports were given by members of the agriculture committee at a meeting of the Knoll Grange.

Keith Parks reported on trapping starlings and Leslie Jones gave a report on the grain planting program. The A-S-C of March of times contributions totaled $525.25, said Mrs. Byron Staley, secretary.

Reports were read by Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Dosselt, "What Is a Farmer" and "Let's Take More Pride in Our Agriculture."

HOSEIALIZED
-KEITHUM, March 3—Glenn Keithum is a patient at the Blaine Valley hospital with pneumonia.

TOP student in the state will compete in the regional contest scheduled for Fall Lake City later in the spring.

Hospital Emergency Plan Provides 24-Hour Service for Area Patients

The family doctor and describe the patient's condition, enabling the doctor to advise what action should be taken. He might make a house call, have the patient taken to his office or to the hospital.

Second, if the family doctor cannot be contacted, they should immediately telephone the hospital and inform the switchboard of the accident. This will enable the house supervisor to contact the doctor on call and eliminate needless waiting. Often the doctor can be at the hospital, preparing for the patient.

This is the procedure usually followed by law-enforcement agencies after a traffic accident.

SMALL GROUP TEACHING is the answer to some of the problems in the remedial reading class, a new pilot class being offered at Minico high school. Working with small groups within the class, Mrs. Gladys Abada, left, class teacher, is able to give greater attention to the individual student. The students in the class are average or above average students, but they have fallen behind in reading ability, just as other students fall behind in other studies. The problem is that when students fall behind in reading speed and comprehension, their other studies are affected. In the freshman class subjects such as physics, word analysis, vocabulary building, complete sentence building and spelling are reviewed. (Staff photo-entourage)

Communist Hungary's Lawyers Level Wary Eye on Fellow Workers' Actions

BUDAPEST, March 3 — Communist Hungary's lawyers must keep a wary eye on fellow members of the profession or they may cost them money. The situation has arisen because attorney Bela Farkas embezzled 40,000 forints—$3,300 at the official rate—from a client.

The authorities decreed that all active embezzlers must be held responsible for paying back the client. Hungary's lawyers are not permitted to practice privately but must work in cooperatives. These are pools of lawyers, usually 15 to 20 members, who are permitted to collect special fees from the client.

All lawyers, however, are subject to disciplinary action if they accept money from a client over the fee fixed by the cooperative. Some who have an especially favorable background get the choicest briefs. They are permitted to collect special fees from the client.

Fines Reported By Police Court

Twin Falls police court collected a total of $1,691 in fines for traffic offenses during February, reports Police Judge Dale Adamson.

During the period, 146 persons were tried for traffic violations ranging from drunk driving to driving with an expired driver's license. Two persons were sentenced to five days in jail each and on four occasions Judge Adamson suspended driver's licenses for various lengths of time for serious traffic violations. Fines, bonds and court costs assessed totaled $2,064 for the month, Adamson noted.

Public Sentiment Plays Vital Role In Saving Idaho's Outdoor Assets

By JIM HUMPHREY

Idaho Fish-Game Department Public Sentiment is everything. With public sentiment nothing can fail. Without it, nothing can succeed.

"This is a truism today, just as it was a hundred years ago when Abraham Lincoln stated it so forcefully and just as it was so forcefully through the centuries before the epoch of America's 50th president.

For example, the general knowledge of men, women and children must include basic concepts of wildlife management—most important resources is to be perpetuated indefinitely. If fighting-hunting and recreating—many non-residents and visitors alike—is to be renewed annually for generations to come.

It must be common knowledge that increasing pressures of land use for production and recreation and which are causing many problems, and that these indubitably will multiply. Modern wildlife management depends on the most harmonious and beneficial use of the wildlife resource.

But first the public should be told about an impending study project before it begins, then be informed as to the results—and how the new knowledge is to be used.

For many years the Idaho Fish and Game Department presented the fundamental concepts of wildlife management to junior and senior high school students, pointing up the relationship of land use to fish and game crops.

Such conservation messages were disseminated at teachers workshops and ultimately integrated into school curricula. Gun safety instruction in the classrooms by department personnel also made use of ideas designed to preserve the American tradition of abundant wildlife and freedom to hunt and fish.

If, by what about the adult segment of the population, the men and women now using the fish and game resources? Why limit the formal instruction to the students of tomorrow? Adults, too, should be "sold" on the programs and policies of the department. Who's the responsibility? They should be acquainted with the personnel responsible for the management of wildlife resources.

A quick look around found that the idea for organized adult education on conserving subjects is not new. Montana, for instance, developed such a course for sportsmen at Hamilton in the Bitterroot valley over a decade ago. The first few sessions during the winter of 1949-50 under the auspices of Montana State University, dealt with the primary principles underlying the proper management of fish and wildlife. It was the equivalent of a summer course for credit at the college level.

Getting wildlife management down to earth took some doing. But as speakers began to understand how a fish or game population is affected by the environment, its habitat, its food and cover, they began grasping some of the previously misunderstood actions of the Montana department.

Not only was this story appealing—it needed to be told. The time line conservationist could come right out and talk without qualms about studies of the life history of fish and game, of the competition and use of basic facts for management, and of the many new techniques being developed to put wildlife on a businesslike basis.

These public meetings were given to a general understanding of the broad principles underlying the need for conserving all renewable resources, not just fish and game.

Benefiting from Montana's experience, the Idaho program developed somewhat differently. The plan is to go right into a community, first meeting room, gather as many people from all walks of life as possible, and present an organized, point-by-point demonstration of what is meant by the broad principles of conservation and natural resource management. This also provides a forum for questions and answers, discussion of local problems in detail, and explanations running the full gamut from legislation through enforcement and management.

Experiences already are organized in most communities, and their meetings generally are conducted along the same lines. The fish and game department forums, so deeply rooted in American traditions, thus—their "flagship project" are with conservation officers working alongside area biologists and division chiefs. It includes simple but complete discussion of the basic concepts of conservation and wildlife management. Local problems are explained in detail, and ample time is provided to answer all questions concerning the program.

On the several ways of evaluating the success of the information series, perhaps the most impressive that a representative performance was scheduled for department's information and education division in order to assess the program. The pilot program in December, 1959, with the Marling Road Unit in Canyon county, a season of 1960-61 were held that season at Payette and Emmet.

To date, the fish and game information series of five sessions each has been presented in nearly 30 different communities in most parts of the state. In addition to the various civic and sportsmen's clubs, sponsors have included Chambers of Commerce, the American Legion, and local Granges.

Much of the credit for this effective, forum-type program—especially the careful planning and solid organization—goes to Michael Brockmolen, Boise; George Nichols, Pocatello; and Mill Williams, Lewiston. All are conservation educators under Brown.

The series is presented in all communities, however, as an honest team effort of the entire staff, beginning Feb. 27, under the sponsorship of the local Rod and Gun Club. The sponsor's last year was the American Legion.

Total estimated attendance at all the meetings to date exceeds 3,000 persons, many of whom attended more than one session. Many times that number will see a streamlined four-session version of the fish and game information series on television in the

Poverty of Paraguay Even Surprises South Americans

By HARRY GOLDMAN

ASUNION, Paraguay, March 3 (AP)—I spread my raincoat on the deck and lay down to sleep. Next to me lay a group of other people. Luckily, it didn't rain.

I had bought a first-class ticket on the steamer Pingo up the river to Paraguay, but that only meant I was served a meal and had a bed more than the fellow who had to sleep on the floor to pack a hammock.

Yet I was more fortunate than most. They faced three days of soggy rain. I got off in the morning.

It had taken the Pingo more than 12 hours to steam 10 miles up river to one of the biggest cities in the country, there as in the rest of Paraguay, bullocks are a common beast of burden. You even see them in the capital city of Asuncion.

Such is Paraguay, a country so underdeveloped that even other South Americans are surprised at the poverty.

Only recently did Asuncion get a pure water system. There are only 200 miles of all-weather roads in a country the size of California. The few miles of railways are antiquated.

To develop the country must overcome two main problems. Obviously one is infrastructure. It is impossible without adequate transportation, and Paraguay is further hampered by being land-locked.

That problem No. 1 in a land that seems to specialize in problems is historical. The contemporary extension of one of the most colorful histories in South America is the last dictator left on the continent—Gen. Alfredo Stroessner.

Stroessner is a handsome, charming six-footer who echoes Paraguay's oldest excuse for dictatorship—his people are not ready for democracy. Paraguay's first dictator said the same thing in 1814.

Paraguay is mainly an agricultural country. Asuncion has a population of close to 300,000. No other center has more than 20,000.

If Stroessner were to go, the chances are he would be replaced by another dictator. There is no strong combined opposition against him.

There will be residential elections in 1962, but no one believes that Stroessner will lose, or that there will be an end to the regular declarations of 90-day states of siege that legally give the president his extraordinary powers.

However, Stroessner has improved conditions in Asuncion, although on a modest scale. His last-headed policy of a large distribution plan, which seems somewhat "inadequate" under the present circumstances, has kept the U.S. dollars have been keeping this nearly bankrupt country afloat.

The United States has been a major supplier of money.

The loans and aid programs and the loans and aid programs have been closely supervised. That recently Paraguay presented 24 proposals for spending $5 million dollars in President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress plan, including a request for a $2 million loan, which is difficult to supervise.

Exports in 1960 were only 27 million dollars. Chief exports are corned beef, lumber, tobacco and cotton.

International production is almost negligible and unavailing is an important business.

Yet at one time Paraguay was the richest country in Latin America. Its ruin was dictatorship.

PTA's Origin Is Theme for Talk

Mr. Luther Thompson, explained how the PTA was started and how it functions now during the Washington and open house PTA meeting.

Mr. Howard Runk received a life membership award from Mrs. Evelyn Foster. John Coleman gave a report on the progress of the "Flagpole Project" March 1.

Mrs. R. O. Oorn, Mrs. James Kinney and Mrs. Grant Osterhout were appointed on the nominating committee. Mrs. Mary Ellen Perry, principal, invited all parents to visit classrooms.

Leadership Meet Set Here in July

A three-day Brigham Young University leadership conference will be held in Twin Falls July 1-3.

The conference is sponsored by the BYU adult education and extension service. Purpose is to develop leadership in church, community and family activities. The meetings are designed to help persons wishing to extend their leadership abilities in church, family and community activities.

Subjects will be on family living, religion, genealogy and current events.

There also will be a conference in Burley July 20-22.

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT

Former County Sheriff Has Been Active in Public Affairs for Years

W. W. LOWERY

HANSEN, March 3—Since 1937, when he first entered law enforcement, Warren Lowery has been in the public eye and since then he has played an active part in law enforcement, farming, conservation, and, recently, basketball.

He has served as Twin Falls county deputy sheriff and sheriff, assistant police chief at Burley, fish and game department conservation officer, field man for the county weed department and he is now one of the directors of the Magic Valley cowboys.

Lowery was born on a farm near Ripley, Pa., northeast of Des Moines. Except for a short time when he lived in Nebraska, he spent most of his younger life in Iowa. In 1918, when he was 19 years old, he made his first trip to the Twin Falls tract. He was persuaded to come out here to work by an uncle, the late Sam Pittullo, who farmed in the Hansen area.

His uncle convinced him to come out here to work because he could get $48 per month on a farm hand, rather than the regular $35 per month, which was the regular wage in Iowa.

He worked on farms in the summer and spent the winter feeding cattle on the Shoe Sole ranch, which then was owned by the Hart Construction company.

After World War I started, Lowery enlisted in the navy, received his boot training at the Great Lakes training station and was assigned to a cargo ship plying between Europe and the United States. Lowery laughs when he remembers the first cargo to his ship took to Europe. "It consisted of railroad rails, Chandler automobiles and canned tomatoes," he recalls.

When the war was over, he returned to Des Moines, where he had enlisted, and was discharged. He was married and he and his wife moved to the Hansen area, where his father had purchased a farm. He helped his father farm and later bought his own farm south of Hansen.

Lowery was a friend of the late Forrest Prater, then Twin Falls county sheriff. In 1937 Prater persuaded Lowery to quit farming and become a deputy sheriff. In 1939 he resigned and joined the county weed department as the field man for the West End. But that same year he filed for the office of sheriff on the Democratic ticket and won. He was sheriff until 1947.

Lowery notes that one of the more unusual things that happened while he was sheriff was during the war, when leaflet-bombers by the Japanese balloons during the war. The balloons, released so they would drift over the mainland, were equipped with incendiary bombs intended to start forest fires.

While he was in office the first

Peace Corps Seeking 4-H Training Aid

Men and women with farm backgrounds and 4-H or vocational training in agriculture are being recruited through the peace corps by countries around the world.

Volunteers may select the country where they prefer to serve, reports Olan Genn, Twin Falls county agricultural extension agent.

College graduates with degrees in agronomy, horticulture, agricultural economics, animal husbandry, agricultural engineering, vocational agriculture and home economics also are in demand in many countries, particularly Latin America, Genn said.

Countries that have requested farmers and agricultural specialists include India, Malaysia, North Dakota, Sarawak, Philippines, Thailand, trust territories in the South Pacific, the Hawaiian Islands, Bolivia, Venezuela, Peru, Tunisia and the Ivory Coast, Genn stated.

The peace corps provides all expenses for men and women who are accepted for service. This includes transportation, housing, clothing, food, medical care, and medical insurance. Volunteers also receive $175 a month for each month with the peace corps, or a total of $1,800 after two years' service.

All persons in Twin Falls county interested in seeing abroad with the peace corps should contact Genn at his office, 634 Addison avenue west, Twin Falls.

Conservation of wildlife always has been one of his interests. Lowery is a member of the Southern Idaho Wildlife association and has served as president in 1958 and 1959.

When he was in Burley, he was a member of the Rod and Gun club and also served as president of the club.

An avid basketball fan, Lowery has served on the board of directors of the Magic Valley Cowboys for the last two years. Shortly after he moved here, Lowery played on the Hansen basketball team. He was the captain and second baseman of the 1924 team that played in the state finals, only to be defeated in the final game by Boise.

TEEN-AGERS PROJECT is intended to add several thousand dollars to the Joint Y board, a combined board of members of both the YMCA and the YWCA, who are working towards the day when Twin Falls will have a Christian youth center. The members of the Twin Falls high school H-Y club are sponsoring a performance of the Linclitters, one of the most popular

Twin Falls Teen-Agers Undertake Job To Raise Money for Christian Center

Those who criticize teen-agers today for shirking responsibility and for contributing little to their community had better take a look at the project recently undertaken by the members of the Twin Falls high school H-Y club, the 26-member club, which has been organized at the school for a little over a year, is now trying to raise $4,000, which it intends to contribute to the Joint Y-board (YMCA-YWCA). The money will be used to hasten the day when the community will have the proposed Christian youth center.

In order to raise such an amount, students have assumed quite an obligation. They have entered into contracts with one of the most popular male vocal groups in the nation, who will present a program at 8 p.m. March 24 in the Twin Falls high school gymnasium.

According to John Roper, Jr., H-Y club chairman, the gymnasium will seat 400 persons. By selling tickets for $2 and $2.50 the students hope to raise $9,000. Under the terms of the contract the Linclitters are guaranteed at least $3,000, and as a maximum, they will receive one-half of the proceeds from a full house. This will leave about $10,000 which the students will be able to turn over to the Joint Y-board.

The H-Y is a student organization sponsored by the YMCA Club adviser is Ernest Marlow. Roper explains that the project to raise money for the proposed center is about a year old. Last spring members tried to contract with the Kingston Trio, but were unable to set a date. They also tried to get the Brothers Four. Both are popular vocal groups. In December, 1961, they were able to set the March 24 date with the Linclitters, who will finish an engagement in Spokane just before the Twin Falls performance.

The program by the Linclitters will last about two hours and will consist of a variety of popular tunes and ballads.

Students in Twin Falls high school and other schools are selling tickets to the concert as a part of a sell-out performance.

Tickets are on sale at a multitude of places in Magic Valley including Helena Record shop, Main Base, Wagner Music company, Lloyd's Jewelry store, YWCA building, and by all members of the H-Y club and other high school students.

In Jerome, tickets can be purchased from Jerry Keck, president of the senior student body in Buhl from Katherine Ghelds,

Blaine Officer's Retirement Eyed

One of World's Fastest Quick Draw Experts Visits Twin Falls Friends

One of the "fastest draws" in the West visited a friend in Twin Falls recently. He is Bill Jordan, a 30-year veteran of the U.S. Border patrol, an organization long known for members who are quick of hand and sure of eye.

Jordan is recognized as one of the fastest men with a six-gun living today, and possibly one of the fastest of all time. A few men can draw and fire a six-gun with greater speed than Jordan, but few men have ever equaled his speed and accuracy. He doesn't just draw and fire, which is the object of many of the fast draw races, but he draws, fires and hits his target.

He visited Steven Herrett, custom hand-stock maker, who designed "made" handgun stock that Jordan uses in his fast draw work. While Jordan was here, he showed some of the feats that rapidly are making him a legend in the shooting world. The name of Bill Jordan is well-known to any avid reader of gun magazines.

Jordan's talents with a sixgun have been well-known to law enforcement men for many years, and the recent interest in fast draw has made him well-known to a multitude.

He has appeared on several popular television shows, such as "I've Got a Secret," "Tell the Truth" and "You Asked for It." And he has served as expert witness in the trials of James Arness and Richard Boone.

Last year Jordan started an unusual series of speaking engagements, mostly appearing before Knife and Fork clubs, during which he explains the fast draw and also performs some near-unbelievable feats. He uses primer-greased wax bullets for the demonstrations, which enable him to fire without excessive noise and danger in a banquet room. Within the last year he has made personal appearances throughout the nation.

Jordan's talents are of interest to shooters and laymen alike. He can do what most cowboys pretend to do.

His after-dinner speech consists of tall Texas tales and an exhibition of the shooting that has made him famous. An example of his tales: How fast can an antelope run? His answer: "I don't know." How fast do they graze at 40 miles an hour?

After the audience is warmed up to the tall (6 feet, 7 inches), lanky Texan, they are treated to some of the best fast-draw shooting there is.

Two of his feats could be listed among the unbelievable. Most of his shooting is done at a distance of about eight feet. During one demonstration he sets a candy water on edge and draws and shoots at from the hip. The candy water, about the size of a quarter, is replaced with a candy lifesaver. This is demolished with a wax bullet and is then replaced with an aspirin tablet that is balanced atop a fired .22 case.

Jordan draws, fires and hits the aspirin tablet without touching the .22 case.

This impressive show of speed and accuracy is followed by an exhibition of speed alone. Jordan holds his hand above his holstered revolver and balances a ping-pong ball on the back of his hand. Then, with the speed of a cat, he drops his hand to the holster, draws the gun and fires it. And not until he has fired the gun does the ping-pong ball drop into the holster.

Jordan's speed with a revolver has been timed with electronic equipment. The equipment was designed to determine how many shots a man could fire within one second. The equipment was, naturally, not geared for a man with Jordan's speed. So, in order to determine this speed, he was handed a revolver that had five empty cylinders. The sixth cylinder to be fired was loaded. Jordan managed to draw and snap through the empty cylinders and fire the sixth cylinder in .93 of a second.

Even members of the audiences at Jordan's exhibitions get into the act. At one point he invites a man to come to the stage. If handed the volunteer an unloaded, cocked revolver and tells him to point the revolver at him and pull the trigger as soon as the volunteer says him start to draw his revolver. But even with such an advantage, the volunteer rarely manages to even think about pulling the trigger before Jordan has drawn and snapped his unloaded gun.

During another exhibition of shooting skill he has a volunteer hold four partially inflated balloons in one hand. Jordan draws and fires four wax bullets, breaking the balloons before the volunteer can even squint his eyes.

Jordan is a top revolver shot, but he is a top shot with all arms. He holds distinguished marksmanship medals in both pistol and rifle shooting—medals some represent slightly more than one-third of the space.

THE STEADY EYE of Bill Jordan, Brownsville, Tex., looks at the tiny aspirin target (indicated by the arrow) and demonstrates one of the shooting feats he regularly performs before after-dinner groups throughout the nation. Jordan, one of the fastest men with a six-gun of all time, visited Twin Falls recently to visit Steven Herrett, custom hand-stock maker, a long-time friend. (Times-News photo)

New Ideas to Be Discussed By Committee of Chamber

New ideas will be discussed at an 8 a.m. Wednesday meeting of the tourists and conventions committee of the Chamber of Commerce in the Rogerson hotel. Secretary-Manager William E. Grange says the Seattle World's Fair will bring a considerable number of tourists through Twin Falls. "This will be an excellent chance to help sell our city," Grange said.

Preaching Series Begun for Hailey

HAILEY, March 3—A preaching mission will be conducted Sunday through March 11 at the Hailey Community church with ministers of several denominations from neighboring communities giving the sermons. The Rev. T. J. Kennedy, pastor of the church, states that the Rev. Woodrow Harris, Shoshone Methodist pastor, will preach the first two evenings. The Rev. H. J. Thomas of the Kinaird Unitarian church at Hollister will give the sermon two evenings. Other ministers have been contacted for the remainder of the time.

On Saturday evening, the film "London, Cruelty," a documentary film of the Billy Graham meetings, will be shown.

A special observance of the world day of prayer will be held Friday. The Rev. Mr. Kennedy states everyone is invited. Meetings will start at 8 p.m. each day.

MEETING NET
HAILEY, March 3—O. V. Kenney, circuit supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses in Southern Idaho and northern Utah, will give a Bible lesson, "Is This the Kingdom of God?" at the Kinaird Unitarian church at Hollister at 8 p.m. Sunday. The public is invited.
