Blockade Is Blamed for Cuba Plight

HAVANA, March 13 (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro, admitting his three-year-old revolution faces a serious economic plight, pronounced drastic rationing of food and other staples Monday night and declared: "We are ashamed of not fulfilling the promise made."

Castro blamed the current hardships on counter-revolutionaries and the "brutal economic blockade" the U. S. embargo President Kennedy ordered last month on shipments to Cuba of nearly all American goods except medical supplies.

The bearded prime minister also admitted that his regime had made serious blunders in planning "because we made subjective analyses."

Castro was unsmiling and his tone was often bitter as he re-neged on his promise last July that food rationing in Cuba would end toward the middle of the year.

He said nationwide rationing of rice and all types of beans and basic items in the Cuban diet—and of lard and cooking oils will begin next Monday.

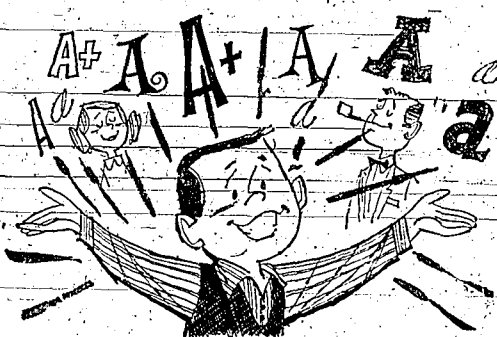

Every Cuban will be limited to six pounds of rice and 1½ pounds of each type of beans a month, he said. Lard and cooking oils had already been rationed in Cuba since 1959.

Help Your Child in School—No. 15

Youngster Develops in Image That Parents Create by Deed, Attitude

BY LESLIE J. NASON
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California
Parents play the most important role in helping their children develop their abilities and personalities. Children learn to see themselves as persons through the eyes of their parents.

The way you act toward them, and more important, the way they think you feel about them, becomes the way they expect all others to act toward them and feel about them.

School also has a strong effect upon how children picture themselves. When they start on a cycle of success in school, they picture themselves as persons who can learn easily—or at least as persons who can learn.

Over the years a succession of high schools and college students have come to me with the same story: "My parents and counselors say I should be doing better work. They say I should become an engineer, or a doctor or a lawyer, but I am not as smart as they say I am."

I am doing the best I can in school. The prospect of four to eight more years of school frightens me. I don't think I can do it successfully. These students are sincere, but they see themselves as less capable than they really are. They have at least as much innate ability as the tests show. They probably have more.

In every case I have found, they use inefficient study techniques. In most cases they are surprised to learn that there are better ways to study and to think.

Their attitudes of mind have come about gradually. As students work their way through the grades and high school, they use makeshift systems of study. They pick up plans of study through trial-and-error methods.

Good students are those who find good study methods. Under-achievers are not so lucky. They do not realize that the better students have better study methods. They think only that the better students are smarter than they are.

Without help they cannot discover what is wrong with their plan of study, let alone change it. Students discover a whole new study plan by consulting a good source of study techniques. When they are helped to plan their study procedures, they can prove to themselves that they are capable. Their habit of seeing themselves as dull changes. Their approach to study becomes purposeful.

Purposeful students grow into secure students who are able to handle the problems they meet along the way. The children who lack this sense of purpose, however, usually just drift along.

Parents of children who have a strong sense of purpose have helped them to develop it. The parents have set up a pattern for dealing with their children that stimulated learning.

The suggestions in this series have been designed to help you set up such a pattern.

Captain Held For Leakage, U. S. Reports

WIESBADEN, Germany, March 13 (AP)—The U. S. Air Force today disclosed the charges on which a court-martial will try Capt. Joseph P. Kauffman, who allegedly gave information to East German agents.

The Air force accused him of giving information on air force installations in Greenland and Japan and disclosing shortcomings and weaknesses of air force officers stationed in Greenland and Japan.

Kauffman, 43, was brought to the air force's European headquarters from Castle Air Force Base in California last December for preliminary investigation. On March 8 air force authorities determined a court-martial would be held. The trial date has not been set.

Investigators had disclosed information on air force operations during a trip to Germany in September, 1950. During preliminary hearings one of the chief witnesses was Guenter Menneke, a former East German intelligence official who defected to the West last June. He apparently supplied the first information leading to Kauffman's arrest.

DIFFERENT?

What's different about Rambler's rustproofing? It goes all the way up to the roof. For the body alone, Rambler uses a 9-step process, including exclusive Deep-Dip—where the entire body is immersed right up to the roof in a 40-foot-long tank of rustproofing primer paint. Rambler actually spills more rustproofing than other cars use.

What's different about Rambler's brakes? They stop when other brakes can't. Rambler's Double-Safety Brake System has tandem master cylinders with separate hydraulic systems for front and rear brakes. If one fails, other still works. Self-adjusting, too—and standard equipment, all models. (Cadillac is only other U.S. car with similar brakes.)

What's different about Rambler's headroom? It's greater than any other American car's. All Ramblers are roomy, but Classic 6 and Ambassador V-8 beat all other makes in front-seat headroom (even Cadillac)—can seat six 6-footers easily. Rambler is the only one with the best of both: big room, comfort and performance, with compact car price, economy and handling ease.

What's different about Rambler's muffler and tailpipe? They won't rust out—we'll pay the cost if they do. Exclusive Ceramic-Armored muffler and tailpipe are so resistant to rust-out and corrosion, they are guaranteed against defect for as many years as you own your new Rambler. If either rusts out, collision damage excepted, go to a Rambler dealer for free replacement.

What's different about Rambler's prices? They're America's lowest. Only Rambler has America's lowest suggested retail prices for 2-door and 4-door sedans and wagons—and America's lowest priced convertible (has power top, standard). Every Rambler is quality-built with traditional Rambler excellence—is more trouble-free—enjoyment—value.

White House Medical Aid Drive Slated

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—The White House is coordinating massive grass roots effort aimed at driving President Kennedy's medical care program through congress.

Administration sources point to Kennedy's engagement to address a rally boosting his program in New York's Madison Square garden May 20 as an example of how much energy will go into the effort.

Kennedy accepted an invitation Monday to appear at the rally sponsored by an organization called the National Council of Senior Citizens and the Golden Ring clubs of New York.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said that the White House would welcome requests from networks interested in putting the event on television and radio.

Richard Maguire, a White House assistant, is understood to be coordinating and counseling outside organizations which back Kennedy's program to finance medical care for the aged through social security.

The purpose is to whip up broad public support for the administration plan and to direct that support toward influencing members of congress to resist against vigorous opposition of the American Medical Association and insurance groups.

The Democratic national committee also intends to print and distribute material promoting the social security approach to care of the aged.

The National Council of Senior Citizens is one of the major vehicles for pushing the campaign. The council was organized only last year but already claims the backing of a half million men and women around the country, many of them associated with local Golden Age clubs and other organizations of senior citizens.

Grief-Stricken Father Tells Of His Baby's Last Moments

By FRANK BEALO
BINGHAMTON, N. Y., March 13 (AP)—We brought the baby home Wednesday afternoon along with a bottle of formula. The formula was still warm and we had all the bottles ready. The baby had been fed at 10 o'clock in the morning and we arrived home with her about 1 p.m.

My wife and my sister, Mrs. Helen Casper, were giving the baby her 2 o'clock feeding. But the baby wouldn't take the bottle. She appeared to choke and gag. The formula wouldn't come up or go down. She made a funny noise like gurgling.

She couldn't take the milk down. My wife and my sister kept trying for a while and managed to get about one ounce of formula down. The baby was supposed to get four ounces at a feeding. Then, we decided to give the baby some water. She drank the water like normal. We let her drink about two ounces, but she probably would have taken all the water we would have given her. After this, we tried to give the formula again. She tasted it and would take 400.

This continued until 5 o'clock the next morning, during which time she had taken five ounces of formula at 6 o'clock. She slept well in between the feedings but didn't want to take the formula. We got a little concerned so we called Dr. Gustav A. Mosen, our family doctor about seven in the morning. He told us to take the baby to the emergency ward of General Hospital. My wife and I took the baby to the hospital. The baby was admitted to the pediatric ward.

Friday morning we got up and took my son (Francis, 6) to get a pair of shoes before taking him to my wife's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Casper Carro who he was to stay with my wife and I went to the hospital.

My son wanted to pick up one of his toys to take with him to his grandparents home. Our house is on the way so I stopped and went upstairs to the top. When I went upstairs, my wife told me that the hospital had called and wanted us there at 7. We were still working on the baby when we got there. She was being given

Red Editor Given Stay In Sentence

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—A federal appeals court postponed indefinitely Monday the jailing of James E. Jackson, editor of The Worker, his brother-in-law, and a grand jury investigating U. S. communist party activities.

Jackson had been ordered to jail for up to six months last Friday by Judge Alexander Holtzoff in U. S. district court here.

Hearing Jackson's petition for a stay of that order, the court of appeals for the District of Columbia granted the stay.

The court has scheduled for later this month a hearing on an appeal by Philip Bart from an similar order by Holtzoff. Bart was acquitted in court as the national secretary of the U. S. communist party.

Jackson's lawyer, Joseph Forster, asked the court his client should remain free because the government had not shown that Jackson's refusal to testify involved any danger to national security.

Thai Troops Facing Reds Get Training

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—U. S. military advisers have started training Thai troops in the use of night communist guerrillas, apparently in anticipation that Thailand may be the next theater of the red drive to control Southeast Asia, informed sources said today.

Although there have been no reports of significant communist guerrilla activity in Thailand, officials of the U. S. State Department have expressed concern that the government may face such a threat if a communist-aided "neutralist" regime takes over neutralist Laos.

Laos has been a strategic area and an avenue for communist North Vietnamese irregulars trying to topple the anti-communist government of South Viet Nam. Pro-communist forces in Laos have operated close to the Thai border.

A possible clue to a quickening U. S. effort to bolster Thailand against any communist offensive came in Monday's announcement that Army Maj. Gen. Fred J. Cowley is to be sent there today to assume command of the U. S. military assistance division.

Cowley, a training and operations officer, was senior adviser to the Thai government for several years ago, will replace Army Maj. Gen. Richard E. Johnson, in recent years, Johnson was senior adviser in the field of logistics and administration.

There was no indication of any immediate change in Thailand's program in Thailand. This year, it totaled $50,000,000—somewhat more than one-third of the being spent in South Viet Nam where the communist danger has been critical for some time.

The United States has about 210 military advisers working with Thailand's forces which total about 100,000 men, mostly in the army.

Small Farmer Told Control Will Hit Him

SHELLEY, March 13 (AP)—Idaho's small farmer will be hit hardest by potato controls. Creighton H. Hansen, a Republican candidate for congress, told a luncheon meeting of business, businessmen and farmers today.

Any control program which limits production will be harmful to the entire potato industry in Idaho, he said. "But, the thousands of family size farms producing a low net income. They are the main cash crop and suffer most. Some of these small operators could be forced out of business," Hansen said.

"Most farmers that grow potatoes on irrigated farms in Idaho plant less than one third of their land in potatoes each year. Their plant about the same acreage each year, rotating potatoes with other crops to maintain soil fertility. Their income from potatoes is the principal source of cash to pay taxes, the mortgage and other costs of operation."

"Farmers are experiencing a steady rise in costs. A reduction in potato acreage will not bring a reduction in fixed costs of operation such as taxes, machinery and equipment."

"Any marketing order which results in a price increase will inevitably bring either acreage or volume controls, limiting net income on each farm. If the idle acres are used for the production of meat, milk or other commodities resulting surplus in these commodities will lead to further controls," Hansen told the gathering.

More Luxury: Lark alone in its price class includes both padded instrument panel and twin-headlights at no extra cost. Chevy II doesn't even get top headlights. Tempest charges $12.91 for dash padding. And Falcon, Corvair and most others lack the coil seat springs of The Lark.

More Room: More legroom, for instance, than Corvair, Chevy II, Falcon, Buick Special—up to 7 inches more. Up to 2 inches more rear headroom than Comet, Olds P-85, Valiant, Rambler Classic, Chevrolet or Plymouth! And these are just examples.

More Safety: Only Lark in its price class is built with a strong, separate frame—like Rolls-Royce and Cadillac... instead of the frameless "unibody" shells of Falcons, Ramblers and the others. Also Lark has over 25% bigger brakes than Falcon, Comet.

More Economy: Lark is one of only two cars in its price class to offer full-size 15" wheels as standard—means 20% longer tire wear. Another economy: Lark's body and frame construction, bolt-on fenders and grille, mean easy economical repairs. No costly welding and large replacement panels as in popular cars with unibody construction. Compact gasoline mileage, too, of course.

Here's proof of the higher resale value of The Lark based on figures from the Official Used Car Guide of NADA (National Automobile Dealers Association):

Vinson Prods. B70 Issue in House Battle

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—Chairman Carl Vinson of the house armed services committee today rejected President Kennedy's argument against a speedup of the B70 bomber program and pressed his demand for a showdown on congress right to show a major role in such decisions.

The Georgia Democrat, in a statement prepared for the house rules committee, said the President reached the wrong conclusion when he said last week extra money can't be spent on the 2,000-mile-an-hour bomber because some of the components have not yet been developed.

"It is true," Vinson said, "that much of the complex equipment required for the B70 has not been developed."

"There is no doubt about it," Vinson said. "It is for this very reason, indeed, that we need the larger program for B70."

Vinson went before the rules group in behalf of his committee's bill to press on the administration an extra $20 million dollars to move the B70 program from the research stage toward actual production.

The bill also would "direct" that the defense department use the money whether it wants to or not. Kennedy at his news conference last week ducked a direct comment on whether congress has any such authority.

Vinson told the rules group it does, and said now is the time to make a test on the issue.

"I feel that the B70 is a good occasion and the present is a good time to settle once and for all the fundamental issue as to whether the congress is going to have a positive voice in our defense," he said.

School Board Given Report On Structure

An architect's report on plans for the new junior high school highlighted the March meeting of the Twin Falls school board Monday night.

W. Adams, Boise, went over the plans with school trustees. The board voted to increase the height of the gymnasium ceiling by about four feet, thus increasing the seating capacity to over 900. Gymnasium cost will be increased $4,500 by the change.

Trustees also asked Adams to call for bids for specific brick. Golden buff was approved as the color of the building and it will be accented by small brightly-painted panels and aluminum trim.

The board voted to hold the annual budget hearing at 7:30 p.m. March 26 in the junior high school library. The board will meet earlier. In the future, board meetings will start at 8 p.m.

In other board action, Mrs. James Howard, high school English teacher, was granted a leave of absence for one year to teach in Boise. The board inspected sample typewriters and voted to accept the bid of $180.50 each for 20 of the latest model Royal typewriters. The board listened to A. M. McKinnon discussing school attendance regulations and a request that rugs be replaced somewhat.

The meeting was conducted by Henry Colyer because Chairman J. T. Anderson was unable to be present for the opening of the session.

Speakers Listed At LDS Service

SHOSHONE, March 13—Speakers at the LDS sacrament services Sunday evening were Mrs. Jack Allen and J. O. Freeman. They dealt with subjects of friendship and faith.

Morgan Jensen conducted the meeting. Music was under direction of Burton Thorne with Mrs. M. J. Dille accompanist.

Advancements in the priesthood were approved for Lawrence Sturgeon, Lawrence Schwager and Dick Malies. Mrs. Mildred Silva was welcomed as a new member.

Mark Dille gave the youth talk. Prayers were by Henry Edgington and David Johnston.

CAN IDAHO BECOME A TOP TOURIST ATTRACTION?

Idaho could be one of the biggest vacation spots in the country. But all most tourists ever see of it is a long dull stretch of highway 50. Says one Idaho official: "We'd like to tell visitors more about the country, away from highway 50, but we have to be careful. Most of the motels are on that route and they all have owners who vote."

In this week's Saturday Evening Post, writer William L. Worden tells why tourists are missing out on a good thing by overlooking Idaho. Why the State's most promising young people are leaving in droves. What famous people have come from Idaho (and what other celebrities have picked it as a second home). And why Governor Smylie decided to leave his Washington law office and come back home.
