"Now Fremont dam has been put in the public works omnibus bill sometimes called the pork barrel bill, bypassing the interior committee."

Dworshak said he questioned an army engineer, Brig. Gen. W. W. Inpsley, at a recent appropriations subcommittee hearing. The senator said the reclamation bureau had done all the work thus far on Fremont dam, but the asker who would construct the barrier if it were authorized in the public works bill.

"The general replied," Dworshak said that would ultimately be decided by the congress, but we would expect that construction of this dam would be by the bureau."

Dworshak said there may be conflicts between committees if similar dam bills are referred to more than one committee. He said that both the Sen. Frank Church, D. Idaho, and members of the interior committee and not the public works committee.

TINLEY GREEN, England, April 17 (AP) — George Burbridge stood firm in defense of one of the last of England's "men-of-war" sporting events today—the British marbles championship.

Burbridge's defense of the male citizen was prompted by a letter from a contender, hand leader Joe Loss, who wanted to include a girl singer, Rose Brennan, in his team.

"Rose is our best player," said Loss, "and this is an out-of-date rule that should be altered."

Red Chinese Acknowledge Farm Losses

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Red China's regime has admitted a dismal defeat of its efforts to take the nation on a "big leap forward" in a big hurry. It shows little sign of penitence or of knocking under to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's view of how a communist state should develop.

The results of the National People's Congress session which concluded in Beijing Monday also demonstrate little inclination to bow to Khrushchev's view of world communist strategy.

The report of Premier Chou En-lai and the final resolution of the recent session disclosed a sort of "do-it-yourself" program representing a possibly desperate attempt to cure the mainland's economic troubles.

At the same time, Khrushchev was reminded sharply of Mao Tse-tung's view that communists should never let up in efforts to "isolate U. S. imperialism and its followers" and to strengthen the unity and might of the socialist camp.

The session brought an admission that Mao's own pet program, the communes, needs some reworking. The communes, a device for reducing Chinese farmers virtually to the condition of slave laborers, have been a gaudy flop up to now.

But the Chinese have not given Khrushchev and company the satisfaction of admitting the idea of the communes was wrong, as the Kremlin has insisted along. The final resolution defiantly announces that the Chinese party sticks to what it calls the three Red banners: "the general line, the great leap forward and the people's communes."

Shot by Horse

CAVE CREEK, Ariz., April 17 (AP) — Hubert E. Yates, 29, Phoenix, was shot by his horse Sunday.

Yates was unsaddling a packhorse when it kicked his revolver from his holster, causing the gun to fire. Deputy Sheriff Lyle Forman said the bullet hit Yates in the leg.

Red Activity In Venezuela Hit in Talk

HEYBURN, April 17 — "In order to gain their ends the communists are dedicated to the destruction of the society in which they live. For that reason they cannot be considered to be a normal part of a democratic society."

This is just one of the comments made by Keith Schofield, candidate for Republican nomination for congress for the second district, when he spoke before a group Sunday in Heyburn.

Speaking of South America, Schofield said, "In Venezuela I have seen them use every dirty, underhanded and criminal trick imaginable. They have systematically killed innocent people in cold blood, tried to burn high inflammable residential areas, placed a bomb in the American embassy which blew out part of the wall of the seventh floor, machine-gunned living quarters of the families of anti-Castro Cubans, tried to blow up oil installations, trained guerrilla bands, etc."

"Their purpose is to create such chaos that the Venezuelan government will be overthrown and they can establish a communist state patterned after Cuba, Venezuela is one of the danger areas in Latin America."

"In the U. S. we must continually remind ourselves of the nefarious purposes of the communists and the Soviet Union so that we will not forget that they cannot be dealt with on the basis of good faith. Their conspiracy is the most diabolical and dangerous the world has ever seen."

Courts Slate Hearings for Texas Figure

AUSTIN, Tex., April 17 (AP) — Courts of inquiry into the far-flung operations of indicted agriculture Kingpin Billie Sol Estes will be held in Lubbock and Dallas this week.

Texas Attorney General Will Wilson said last night that the court of inquiry in Dallas will be held Friday.

"As soon as we can finish the hearings and get the transcripts of these courts of inquiry including the ones we have already held in Dallas, Plainview, Amarillo and Pecos—we can hand over the evidence to a grand jury," Wilson said.

He said such a grand jury probably would convene in Amarillo.

Estes, 37, is under indictment on federal fraud charges. He is at least 30 million dollars in debt, his critics say, in the hands of a receiver. Estes had built up a fertilizer and grain storage empire estimated to be worth a gross of 150 million dollars.

In addition, the house agriculture committee was to decide today whether to investigate the financial dealings of the farm tycoon.

Wilson sought to prove at a court of inquiry in Dallas that Estes curried favor with high federal agricultural officials through personal gifts.

New Jersey Kidnap Scare Ends Quietly at Hospital

WESTMINSTER, Md., April 17 (AP) — A New Jersey kidnap scare intensified by a hectic message scrawled on a bathroom mirror ended quietly Monday at a Maryland mental hospital.

Miss Mary Ann Soos, 26, of Springfield, N. J., walked unharmed into the hospital and said she had been kidnaped by her date Saturday night.

William Kublan, 21, of Maplewood, N. J., was a former mental patient at the hospital, authorities there said. He was taken into custody 50 miles away from the Delaware Memorial bridge, presumably driving back to New Jersey in Miss Soos' car.

The FBI questioned Kublan Monday morning.

A CLASSIC THE DAY IT WAS BORN

Lincoln Continental

GOOD TASTE AND ELEGANCE ARE TIMELESS. GOOD DESIGN LASTS THROUGH THE YEARS.

These are the two principles upon which the Lincoln Continental was created. It is the ultimate expression of master creative designers who sought simplicity with drama, style with character. What emerged is America's first classic automobile in a quarter-of-a-century. A classic the day it was born.

Underneath this enduring beauty, is enduring engineering to match. The Lincoln Continental for 1962 is put through 100 separate and rigorous tests on the engine test blocks, and on a special test driving course. Skilled specialists probe deep to make sure that every mechanical component of every Lincoln Continental performs its function properly for today and for tomorrow.

The result is a true luxury car built to retain its beauty and its value through the years ahead. It is America's finest automobile, and as such, it is warranted for twice as long as any other American car (24,000 miles or 2 full years).

Time Runs Out

For this year, at least, the question of reapportionment of state legislative representation has been settled. The law specifies that counties will be notified by April 1 on the number of representatives they should elect, but court action delayed the notice this year by almost two weeks. When the law was finally mailed out last week, it was in the nature of final action this year. Even if further court action were to be started, it would be virtually impossible to make any changes in time for this year's election deadlines.

Saturday is the deadline for candidates to file their nominating petitions. Then comes the hectic race in homes for the primary election six weeks later. Also to be considered are all the campaign plans of the various candidates. Until the Saturday deadline passes, no one can know for sure how many candidates will turn up. A late filing could upset some premature plans and cause a candidate to revise his plans completely.

To the way to go, Ada county voters will elect two more representatives and Canyon and Bonneville counties will choose an additional one each. Of course, there's no way of knowing now if the same system will be used two years hence. Because of the uproar over the apportionment law this year, it can be expected to get some close attention during the next session of the legislature. What will happen is a matter of conjecture.

If the recent court action can be taken as an indication, there may be considerable agitation next January for increases in the number of state representatives. Or there may be some demand to assign more representatives on a basis that will increase the number elected from municipalities.

Any suggestion that Idaho municipalities aren't represented adequately in the state legislature would be open to question. In Magic Valley, particularly, the economy is based on agriculture. And even though representatives may be farmers by vocation, they have an intense interest in the welfare and future of the state's community.

In his planned appeal to the city states, Rockefeller and his board of strategists take issue with one chairman, more prominently with Ray Bliss, Ohio national committee chairman, at the request of the national committee. Bliss blamed the party's urban losses only on the lack of candidates. The Rockefeller forces have drawn many less than from Richard M. Nixon's 1960 defeat by only 118,454 votes.

They agreed with the Californian that his neglect of Negro voters was partially responsible. But they place greater emphasis on his opposition to medical care for the aged tied to the social security system.

In contrast, Governor Rockefeller stamped Hatem and the Puerto Rican sections of New York City street by street on foot, and held them in contempt. He was partially responsible in these crowded tenement blocks. He has declared for medical care under social security although he disagrees with the administration's specific setup.

EMOTIONAL ISSUES—Governor Rockefeller's advisers including J.udson Mortenson, New York's chief of staff, are not entirely responsible for the mistake of soft-peddling his good civil rights record for the sake of votes in Southern states with only a few representatives in the all-time state electoral college.

WASHINGTON, April 17—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is trying to perform what will be the miracle of modern American politics, if it works in the way he hopes.

He is running for reelection as governor of New York next month in a bid to keep the republican presidential nomination in 1964 without posing as a liberal or a conservative or as a milder version of the liberal. He believes that labels of this kind are meaningless and outmoded. And every republican candidate on the electoral—Hooper, Wilkie, Dewey, Nixon—has gone down to defeat.

The novel strategy will place Rockefeller in nominal opposition to the philosophy of the Halick-Dixsen leadership on Capitol Hill and of the Republican national committee, the philosophy of the party of the big-city states, along the lines that the supreme court has applied to the state legislature. The rural and small town vote is the key to the congressional and national organizations.

He has indicated his belief in various forms of aid to the aged and state government. He does not expect to be a liberal or a conservative or as a milder version of the liberal. He believes that labels of this kind are meaningless and outmoded. And every republican candidate on the electoral—Hooper, Wilkie, Dewey, Nixon—has gone down to defeat.

Such an "surrender" to the opposition, such as was charged against Thomas E. Dewey in his campaign, despite general support of Kennedy's rural legislative program, would indicate a difference of detail in the Rockefeller and Kennedy programs. The New York governor would promise greater economy although he is more friendly to the Democratic administrations have done since FDR's day.

The Rockefeller forces have drawn many less than from Richard M. Nixon's 1960 defeat by only 118,454 votes. They agreed with the Californian that his neglect of Negro voters was partially responsible. But they place greater emphasis on his opposition to medical care for the aged tied to the social security system.

Eddie and Lis are piff. That's a shame. They served each other right—Eugene (Ore) Register-Guard.

What effect, if any, is congressional action on the important European allies and our NATO partners. If it is necessary to point out to American conservatives have long warned of dangers in the United Nations. But it might be that unacceptably written off by the liberal fraternity in this country as some kind of irrepressible throw-back to pre-WWII "isolationism."

Actually, it is nothing of the kind. It is a serious effort to point out to the American people that it is a mistake to think of the United Nations as the last word in international affairs or as an unending instrument for order and justice and peace in the world. It is an effort to show how communism influence in the U. N. is growing with the addition of so-called "neutral" members. To point out the danger of permitting the U. N. heavy influence in the administration of American foreign policy.

What accounts for the rash of criticism now coming from the liberal Democrats? Why is it that so many "members of the United Nations are now discovering that it is, after all, not the perfection of a world organization to be? Why is it that after all these years criticism is suddenly expressed about structural defects in the United Nations? The answer lies in the fact that the United Nations has been so passionately defended?

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S VIEW

Soon after the publication of Richard Nixon's book entitled "The Alger Hiss Case" which covered in that part of the Alger Hiss case which dealt with the 'old' Woodstock.

There are other defects in Nixon's story of the Hiss case, however, that are simply impermissible.

Later, on a Sunday afternoon in Washington, Nixon showed up at the committee's office where the pumpkin pumpkins were kept in a safe under an armed guard.

Nixon was not allowed to take the "papers" from Washington to New York for scrutiny by a New York federal grand jury, and he never took them to the department of justice, which undoubtedly would have smothered the whole affair.

Nixon was not wholeheartedly with the committee when he became a freshman member of congress in 1946. He now writes no letters and no news items.

He soon fell in with Bert Andrews, the New York Herald Tribune's Washington man who was secretly hostile to the committee, according to his paper's editors.

Two of them relate to District of Columbia Affairs, for which congress acts as Washington city government. They are routine government administration and housekeeping bills.

There are of major importance. The manpower training act, welfare and pension plan disclosure amendments and temporary income tax cuts.

Before congress now in various stages of consideration are some 123 bills of various importance on which the record of this session will be made in history.

As for the Kennedy administration, it is a matter of record that it is running the country.

A big deficit might be more of a help for the Republicans to point at with horror than for the Democrats to brag about as a "proof" of how busy they've been this year.

Approximations and tax bills for the next fiscal year aren't yet enough along to give any idea of whether there will be a 400 to 500 million dollar budget deficit for 1963, as the Kennedy administration predicts, or a $1 billion dollar deficit, as the joint congressional committee on the budget forecasts.

The Doctor Says

I was warned to protect her from such diseases. He thought she had come down with an attack. Shouldn't she have been protected by the vaccine?

—Your question and confusion are natural. Let me try to explain. The triple vaccine is a mixture of three organisms: A and B, actually protects only against tetanus, diphtheria and whooping cough. It is not useful as you've just found out and they add to the unpleasantness of the disease.

—I don't answer satisfactorily your question. However, for your information and peace of mind, a high white count may be due to a technical error in the laboratory.

—If it is correct, however, and due to an increased number of marrow cells (leucocytes), it usually is not a cause for concern. If it is due to an increase in cells (lymphocytes), it may also be due to infection but with organisms such as those of whooping cough or one of the typhoid fever.

Ghana Wife Surrenders Golden Bed

LONDON, April 17 (AP)—The 48-year-old-plated bed of Mrs. Mary Edusel, wife of a cabinet minister from Ghana who she wanted no part of it, apparently vanished into thin air today.

At least both Mrs. Edusel and her husband, Industries minister Krobo (Crowbar) Edusel, blandly denied its existence.

"What bed? I don't know anything about a gold bed—there certainly isn't one here," Edusel told newsmen at his wife's apartment shortly after his arrival from Accra.

Edusel flew in yesterday after more than two weeks of futile long-distance arguments with his wife to send the bed back to the London store. Edusel insisted that a gold bed hardly fitted with Ghana's austerity program and his own socialism.

But Mrs. Edusel said she bought the bed because she liked it and that anyway a gold-plated bed was more practical than jewelry. Edusel and his wife came under heavy criticisms from Ghana.

"There were public protests," Edusel said, "and 'extrajudicial' as well as the luxurious villa Edusel is having built in Accra."

When Mrs. Edusel turned a deaf ear to his appeals that the bed made him a political target, her husband sent a relative here to convince her to give it up. But it was of no avail.

Ghananian diplomats insisted that Edusel himself was here on a "regular" visit. He refused to speak to newsmen at the airport.

"But an aide appealed to the reporters," please don't mention the bed," And a Ghana Airways official also expressed hope that no one would bring up the subject.

RANSOM DENOUNCED

Most Households Have Television

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP)—The census bureau said Monday that 80 per cent of households had at least one television set in January 1962.

This was a gain of two per cent from the similar survey conducted in May 1960.

In the latest survey, 11 in every 100 households had two or more television receivers, up from 11 in 100 in 1960.

Steel Buyers Jubilant for Steel's Drop

CLEVELAND, O., April 17 (AP)—Steel buyers are jubilant over the withdrawal of steel price increases that had been announced by some producers. Steel magazine reported Tuesday.

The national weekly said that buyers, who had been surprised by the hike announcement, looked upon the increases as a further tightening in the squeeze on their profits.

Steel said despite the result in its efforts to get a price increase, the steel industry will force ahead its vigorous technical revolution in an effort to achieve efficiency.

The industry's estimated expenditure of 13 billion dollars for new equipment and construction this year will be almost entirely for increasing efficiency and improving product quality. It will cost three other years—1955, 57 and 1959—has the industry spent more for new equipment and construction in 1962 (the emphasis was on expansion).

Capacity—particularly melting capacity—is now far ahead of the country's needs. The last melting capacity figure—148,510,920 net tons—was reported on Jan. 1, 1960.

Steel estimates current capacity is 160 million tons a year.

Reporting was discontinued when the expansion—has the growing use of oxygen was pushing up capacities so phenomenally that no one could accurately estimate them.

Some open hearths that could turn out only 25 to 30 tons an hour are producing 125 to 150 tons an hour with oxygen. Steel said despite the great potential, oxygen will be applied only to high volume furnaces. Steel used to produce much more common analyses of steel in big lots for big uses, such as auto body sheets.

Steelmaking dropped last week to the lowest level since the second week of January, as the production downturn continues. This week's output is expected to be slightly less than the 2.2 billion tons steel estimated the industry poured last week.

Atomic Probing Plans Complete

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP)—Officials said today preparations for U.S. nuclear tests in the atmosphere were virtually completed and the first blast might be set off about April 18.

The original target date was May 1. But officials said that since all was in readiness, the tests might as well go ahead in view of Russia's repeated refusal to accept an inspected test ban treaty.

Spring Chill Covers East

By The Associated Press
Unseasonably cool spring weather made winter garb the proper attire for residents in most of the eastern half of the nation again today.

The cool spell, in the fourth week of the spring season, has cut sharply into major-league baseball attendance. Some games have been postponed by the chilly weather.

The nippy air, with temperatures in the mid 30s and low 40s, extended southward into northern Florida. Freezing marks were reported in some sections of Tennessee and North Carolina and readings dropped to the low 30s in western South Carolina and northern Georgia. Atlanta and Anchorage, Alaska, had the same temperature this morning—33 degrees.

Smouldering Argument on Trading Stamps Is Flaring

BY RICHARD CHARNOCK
BOISE, April 17 (AP)—A smouldering controversy over trading stamps is beginning to flare up again as a political issue in Idaho.

Reports from the campaign trails indicate the anti-stamp forces are trying to put statewide and in some cases legislative candidates on the spot in many localities.

One of their chief targets so far has been Republican Gov. Robert E. Smylie who, after the last legislature adjourned, then vetoed a bill which reportedly would have outlawed stamps. Smylie is meeting the criticism head-on wherever he travels.

He is not, however, debating the merits or demerits of the bill dumped in his lap by the legislature. Instead, he's discussing the issue on the basis of fundamental political philosophy: should the state interfere with private business?

As a Republican, Smylie thinks government should stay out of business wherever it can. And he reminded an audience in Gooding recently that some listening to him had in the past asked him to "get the federal government off our backs."

For the state to outlaw or put the stamp industry under strict regulation, Smylie believes, would be just the same as the federal government imposing controls on private businessmen. He said it would be inconceivable for him to fight one and not the other.
