Walters Raps Burley Child Case Actions

IDAHO FALLS, April 28 (AP)—John G. Walters, a Democratic candidate for Idaho governor, said today that he is not interested in the nibbles of the department of public assistance.

Walters became involved in a hassle with the department over an incident involving two sisters, 14 and 15 living in Burley because the probate judge had nowhere else to send them.

Public Child, state commissioner of public assistance, said Walters was "ill-advised and ill-informed" about the case.

The Democratic gubernatorial candidate said the probate judge could have asked the department of public assistance to assume custody of the girls but that the department would take three or four weeks to make an investigation and to decide whether to accept the girls.

Child said the local office of the department had been contacted by the judge "who was in a hurry to get the girls out of her hands and such assistance as the department could provide."

The judge deliberated about the best course to be followed in the interests of the two girls and decided against asking for our services.

French Troops Mass at Oran to Start Operation Asphyxiation

ORAN, Algeria, April 28 (AP)—Twelve thousand French troops massed around defiant Oran today for a progressive "Operation asphyxiation" to smother the rule of the secret army organization. Authorities ordered four key thoroughfares cleared of cars starting Sunday to permit rapid troop deployment, and warned that motorists violating the parking rule may be fired upon. The Oran garrison commander, Gen. Joseph Katz, also warned that buildings from which gunfire is directed at his troops will be cleared of inhabitants.

Authorities believe Katz's plan to progressively block through the European parts of Oran may take a month. "We intend to asphyxiate this city if we have to," one high official said. "We will move slowly to avoid bloodshed whenever possible."

Oran so far has shown no reaction to the measures. Crowds Saturday afternoon shoppers milled in the streets and jammed newspaper cafes. Cars no longer blocked the settlers' slogan, the five-bell "Alger-la-Francaise" meaning "Algeria is French."

Charges were leveled for a wedding, and a crowd hailed a pretty blonde bride as she stepped into a black limousine. One of the main streets, a blind European began played on an accordion the rallying song of the Europeans, "We the Africans."

French soldiers on foot marched with the crowd. There was no marked hostility between them and the European settlers.

World's Fair Bucks Winds During Week

SEATTLE, April 28 (AP)—The Seattle World's fair bucked the year's most violent storm and some severe lake tide held down the crowds. The fairgrounds still drew a satisfactory 238,653 customers its first week, fair officials said today.

"We're encouraged by the opening week attendance of 238,653," said C. Dingwall, fair vice president and general manager. "I know there have been stories that we didn't hit what we predicted, but we're closer for the week than most people realize."

Big disappointment was the opening day attendance of 132,000. Fair officials had talked of a crowd of 100,000-plus last Saturday.

Anti-Castro Forces Stage Riot in Cuba

HAVANA, Cuba, April 28 (AP)—Opposition of Fidel Castro's regime staged a demonstration on one of Havana's busiest streets today, but it was quickly broken up.

Witnesses said several demonstrators were arrested. Police quickly moved in to crash the demonstration.

Reports from Havana gave no indication whether only a handful were involved in the demonstration or whether it was an organized move.

The last major riot in Havana erupted Sept. 16 when a Roman Catholic procession suddenly turned into an anti-communist demonstration. Before it was broken up, one man was reported killed with a score wounded in clashes with police.

The rioting first developed into a free-for-all when about 4,000 persons started to march on the presidential palace.

Summit Talk Not Appropriate Now, Top Aides Agree

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Macmillan agreed Saturday that "it is not appropriate to hold East-West summit conferences if assured of useful results. But their secretaries are not ripe for summit diplomacy now. British and U.S. informants said following day-long talks at the White House that the two leaders generally agreed there should be East-West diplomatic contacts at many levels including the summit when productive, the President's secretaries specifically agreed that U.S.-Soviet discussions on the possibility of a German settlement could be continued.

Informants said the decision was reached after Kennedy gave Macmillan a report on conversations held during the past few weeks by Secretary of State Dean Rusk with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin.

Kennedy and Macmillan felt their summit talks agreement was in line with views expressed by Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev in a Moscow interview today to days before the chief, told American publisher Gardner Cowles that he thought advance preparations should be made to give progress of successful results from a summit conference.

Kennedy and Macmillan were reported to be thinking of the possibilities of more than one summit conference if conditions were suitable. However, informants declined to say that what they had in mind was a series of top level meetings, although the report opened the door for further talks this morning. They had lunch in the White House and spent another two hours in conference this afternoon.

They decided to continue their talks Sunday, and a joint statement once scheduled for issuance was delayed to sometime Sunday afternoon.

Election Set Sunday for El Salvador

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador, April 28 (AP)—General Don Julio A. Rivera, favorite of El Salvador's peasants and a strong backer of the U.S. alliance for progress program, pits his political strength against a well-attended campaign in Sunday's presidential election.

Rivera said he was confident of a victory in the balloting. The first elected chief of state since the overthrow of President Gonzalez in October, 1960.

But a possible key to the future of the nation will lie in the number of votes he receives. Leftist and rightist opponents to Rivera's newly-formed national conciliation party have refused to enter candidates in the race. They are estimated to be approximately 850,000 eligible voters to boycott the polls in a demonstration of protest against the present ruling dictatorate. Rivera is a former member of the directorate.

"The rights to the long-termed economic oligarchy of 14 wealthy families, change that Rivera's support to influence progress and his social measures would lead this tiny Central American nation down the road to state socialism."

Liberals Ask Changes for U.S. Policies

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—American liberals were urged today to make their chief goal for the future a change in the nation's economic policy.

The basic elements of the proposed new policy would be more government sponsorship for public services and a planned program to achieve full employment and increased production.

The policy was outlined at an American for Democratic Action convention by Leon Kishling, former economic adviser to President Harry S. Truman. Kishling said President Kennedy has embraced the name "unplanned" economic program he outlined in 1954.

Kishling said the starting point for a proper economic policy is the realization that economics is closely tied to human welfare.

Both men reached the West Berlin canal banks safely. The canal forms part of the border between East Berlin and the West Berlin district of Neukolln in the U. S. sector.

The East Berlin banks are heavily fortified with several rows of barbed wire and watch towers.

Other comments included "Try and cut state expenses in the long way."

"It would be another tax!" Kishling denounced a tax idea that he said would be a "total line on state spending. Against any state tax."

"These are the kind of tax cuts that would be no downward spiral," Kishling said.

Among those who voted against the sales tax, about one-third indicated they would favor a sales tax accompanied by revision of other taxes, with the income tax being the first. One comment of a retail business indicated favor of a sales tax "only if taxes checked below were completely abolished." Taxes checked were: (1) Personal property and income, in that order; (2) No effort was made to tabulate results by area, although every part of Magic Valley is represented in the early return ballots have been received already from us for our tax collection unit in Idaho, and in Idaho Valley. It is reported by the Republican predecessor, Dwight D. Eisenhower. Kishling said the starting point for a proper economic policy is the realization that economics is closely tied to human welfare.

Engineers to Seek Law on Corporation

Members of the Idaho Society of Professional Engineers agreed to work for state legislation which would permit engineers to operate under a corporation at the group's final meeting here Saturday.

According to the proposal presented by the organization's legislative committee, engineers would be permitted to incorporate but each engineer would still be held responsible for all actions taken.

Robert Smith, chairman of the legislative committee, said at present state law prohibits an individual person from incorporating because the corporation, not the individual, would be responsible for work conducted, he said.

Smith said the legislative committee of the society will "encourage all interested individuals and committees to study the problem," adding that suggestions offered would then be studied by the committee.

Murtaugh Has Pilot Project in New Mathematics Course

MURTAUGH, April 28 — The (Foothill public school system is piloting a new approach to the teaching of junior high school mathematics which is commonly known as "modern mathematics," according to Dr. Thomas Uterback, superintendent. The textbook is state approved and published by Silver Burdell.

The purpose of this new approach to junior high mathematics is to revitalize methods and content of mathematics as suggested by the commission on mathematics and the school mathematics study group.

The approach presents a new world of mathematics and students will not lose momentum in the transition to the new modern approach which focuses attention on the nature of number systems, concepts of point and line, laws of operation and proof of equations and inequalities, he said.

William Smallwood, mathematics and science supervisor, Idaho state department of education, tap recorded a telephone conversation with Lavere Bennett, Murtaugh junior high school principal, who teaches the new approach to mathematics. The conversation concerned student teacher, administration, re-action and the results after a year's trial.

The tape will be used to answer questions posed by administrators and unprepared teachers, who are interested in introducing the new approach to their own systems. The tape will be available to all administrators and mathematics teachers.

School administrators and mathematics instructors are invited to visit the Murtaugh junior high school and observe the techniques used in teaching this program.

In addition to this pilot project the Murtaugh schools offer classes in Radio, P. S. S. C. physics, radiation biology, zoology, and college mathematics as pre-math courses.

It Takes Courage
Sen. Frank Church, who has championed causes for Idaho's farmers, before, has gone on record in the senate as opposed to potato controls. Offhand, it might seem the natural position of the senator from Idaho, the No. 1 potato-growing state.

But consider the background and the means of the announcement. Senator Church has enjoyed rather unusual favor in his party for a first-term senator. Readers will recall that he delivered the keynote address at the national Democratic party convention. And Senator Church has voiced support for several administration programs, including the so-called wilderness bill which has not exactly been popular in Idaho.

When Senator Church opposed potato controls the other day, he didn't take his position in a statement designed primarily for consumption back home. He made his position known in a speech on the senate floor, stating his stand in terms so positive there could be no misunderstanding.

Senator Church declared he will oppose potato controls "in every way that is open to me, with all the strength I can muster." In the face of an avowed administration program for almost total controls of farms and farmers, Senator Church's statement is strong, indeed. And so far as his Democratic party is concerned, it certainly will not add to his stature within party circles in the nation's capital.

However, like the wall built to keep East Germans from escaping into West Berlin, the flow of disillusioned Cubans is a dramatic condemnation of the brutality and inhumanity of the communist tyranny.

DISARMAMENT WITHOUT CHINA—"Can disarmament" writes H. Strossley, Jr., "how our government can talk disarmament with the Soviet Union when warlike Red China is not included in these discussions? What position do the United States agree to take with or without inspection, if Red China stays outside the agreement?"

ANSWER: Many people, including myself, share H. Strossley's concern. Should Red China become a powerful nation, militarily and economically, her signature to such an agreement would be essential. Mao Tse-tung has said that the United States must not negotiate with or without inspection, if Red China stays outside the agreement.

EXPECTED PROTEST
As anticipated, the U.S. decision to go ahead with nuclear tests in the Pacific brought protests from the expected sources. Before the tests have reached a conclusion, there will be picketing, demonstrations and a wild gnashing of teeth and outraged protests from the communists.

Even so, most of the western world has generally defended the U.S. decision although Britain's prime minister has chosen this particular time to urge continued efforts to end nuclear testing. Naturally, the Japanese had to register disappointment over the nuclear tests, but that was to be expected. The Japanese are still the only people on Earth who have felt the fury of nuclear weapons.

But where was everyone when the Russians were exploding some 50 nuclear bombs a few months ago? Why weren't the same protests lodged and why weren't demonstrations breaking out all over the world? The answer is obvious because the communists who are past masters at that sort of thing.

WASHINGTON, April 28—Many readers have asked how much money the trip of Mrs. Kennedy and her sister, Countess Elizabeth Radziwilska, to Washington cost the American taxpayer. There seems to be an impression that this was a federally financed junket.

ANSWER: It did not cost our taxpayers a single penny, according to the White House, and there is no reason to dispute this statement. Mrs. Kennedy paid all travel expenses on her personal plane, which was the most expensive item, for herself, her sister, a maid and a secretary.

PAID DUTY ON HORSE—She paid all her personal expenses, she did not, at New Delhi she paid the rent of a guest house whose Ambassador, Galbraith's home was not large enough to accommodate them. We are building a new embassy there, but it is not completed. Finally, she paid the usual U.S. duty on her gift horse and other official presents given to her.

DRAMATIC EVIDENCE—"Why," asks W.C.S. St. Petersburg, Fla., "are we accepting all the refugees from Cuba? Is it not a violation of our immigration laws, as it is costing the taxpayers plenty?"

ANSWER: There is no violation of law, for there is no immigration quota for Cuba or any of the Latin American countries.

SECRETARY RIBICOFF has charge of a program to keep their hardships to a minimum, but he is working on a small appropriation. Many have relatives and friends in the United States and are seeking jobs. Nevertheless, for economic and social reasons the influx is a definite strain on the resources of Miami and vicinity. Many Cubans are being sent to the island when and if Castro is ousted.

DISARMAMENT WITHOUT CHINA—"Can disarmament" writes H. Strossley, Jr., "how our government can talk disarmament with the Soviet Union when warlike Red China is not included in these discussions? What position do the United States agree to take with or without inspection, if Red China stays outside the agreement?"

ANSWER: Many people, including myself, share H. Strossley's concern. Should Red China become a powerful nation, militarily and economically, her signature to such an agreement would be essential. Mao Tse-tung has said that the United States must not negotiate with or without inspection, if Red China stays outside the agreement.

AGAINST ENCROACHMENT
The candidate for the gubernatorial nomination took a firm and unequivocal stand: "One of the most dangerous of modern tendencies has been the gradual encroachment of the federal government on the rights, liberties and prerogatives originally reserved to the several states. I stand squarely against this encroachment, and assert the rights of the citizens of Idaho to be heard and to be heard on their own affairs, with due regard to the rights and powers already surrendered to this federal government."

LAST LAUGH?
Even the nuclear-energetic controversy has its lighter side. The Idaho National Heart Institute's director, Dr. Stubb Knight, has just completed what he called "the March of Dimes" (Department) and "purposeful to trace the path of cholesterol as a national issue. It goes this way:
1948: Cholesterol is a good guy.
1949: Cholesterol is found to be associated with heart disease.
1950: Cholesterol is killing you.
1951: Cholesterol is killing you, but it has help.
1952: Cholesterol, arteries and lack of exercise are killing you.
1953: Cholesterol isn't even helping other things like you—much.
1954: Cholesterol is a good guy.—The Institute's Newsletter (New York)

Gem GOP May Have Rough Struggle to Defeat Harding

BOISE, April 28 (AP)—Idaho Republicans who met this morning to discuss the possibility of pushing this fall, now believe they will have a rough struggle if they are to regain control of the second district.

For a time it appeared that the Democratic Party would pick up on Harding, a young Blackfoot businessman who won his first term in congress with a hard-fought victory over the Republican Rep. Hamer Budge in 1950.

Many Republicans, and a few Democrats, believed earlier that the Democratic party would not make an all-out effort on Harding's behalf in this year's election.

They also noted Harding's inability to get favorable action on the Burns Creek project, and statements in response to prodding from Gov. Robert E. Smylie on the potato control issue.

Harding has apparently learned a great deal in the last few months. And it is obvious that he will have the full backing of administrative and Idaho Democratic leaders.

Sen. Frank Church appears willing to do everything he can if the state union effort of his young colleague.

Announcements from Church's office in Washington credit both the state and the federal government with achievements for Idaho. Church's action has puzzled a number of Idaho political leaders who believe the union will be of more benefit to Harding than to Church.

The interior department's urgent recommendations in the past week that four eastern Idaho reclamation projects be approved is another indication of administration interest in the political fortunes of Rep. Harding.

His recommendations include the Burns Creek project, which Harding made a key issue in his campaign against Budge. Congressional approval of even one of the four projects would be a tremendous boost for Harding, preventing the Republicans from turning on him with the same charges he threw at Budge in the 1950 race.

Harding has a number of other advantages as well. He is a vigorous campaigner who undoubtedly will stump the district with enthusiasm.

He'll be running scared, as the politicians say.

Handy Ring

WINSTED, Conn., April 28 (AP)—Ellsworth Jackstadt and Mrs. Virginia Raynolds traveled from Lake Placid, N.Y., to get married in Winsted today, but were unable to buy a wedding ring on the way.

Probate Judge Salvatore Leocascio performed the ceremony, and fashioned a paper ring for the bride from a ring clip.

Installation Is Slated by Unit

New officers of the Twin-Idaho chapter of the National Security Council will be installed during the group's next meeting, May 20.

Elected during a recent meeting of the group are Junius Bolinger, president; Mrs. Grace Woodhead, vice president; Janice Stover, recording secretary; and Mrs. Irma Baxter, corresponding secretary.

Highlighting National Security week, which ended Saturday, was a luncheon Wednesday evening honoring employers at the Rogerson hotel Desert room. Each employer presented a brief speech on "What my secretary means to me." W. W. Clark was selected as "Boss of the Year," and was awarded a certificate and trophy.

Ralph Bowman, an instructor for the Dale Carnegie school, was guest speaker.

Harquet theme, "King for an Evening," was carried out by introducing kings and queens. Mrs. Bover was in charge of program arrangements and members of the chapter made the table decorations.

Influx of False ID Cards Noted

An influx of false identification cards, used by under-age teen-agers to show proof of age when purchasing alcoholic beverages, has been noted in Twin Falls, reports Leo Taklington, chief of detectives.

The youngsters are purchasing identification cards by using the name of a phony uncle on the card and using the card as proof of age when questioned by bar tenders," he explained.

"The only cure is for three persons dispensing beer or other alcoholic beverages to accept only cards with the state of Idaho stamped on them and bearing a picture of the individual making the purchase," he noted.

All identification cards should be checked closely. These youngsters are known to be purchasing blank cards by the dozen," he warned.

1963 Gem Legislature Will Be Minus Veteran Leaders

BOISE, April 28 (AP)—The 1963 Idaho legislature, stripped of many of its veteran leaders, faces the prospect of sitting down next January to a menu of tax troubles and bitter strife over reappointment.

Retirement has claimed some of the old hands who have guided the legislature for many years. Others have succumbed to a desire for higher office.

None of the top leaders of the house—of representatives will be back.

State Rep. Orval Hansen, R., Bonneville, the majority leader in the 1961 session, is seeking the Republican nomination for congress in the second district.

State Rep. Clarence Hilger, D., Gem, the minority leader, is one of the Democrats trying for the governorship. And Rep. W. D. Eberle, R., Ada, the 1961 house speaker, has decided to step out of politics for a time.

If the Republicans retain control of the house, Rep. Pete T. Conrath, R., Blaine, is regarded as a likely choice for speaker if he wins reelection as expected.

The senate, too, will miss many of its leaders.

Sen. A. W. Naege, R., Bonneville, president pro tempore of the senate, is running for lieutenant governor. Minority Leader J. Ray Cox, D., Kootenai, is seeking the Democratic nomination as attorney general, and his assistant in the last session.

Also missing will be two of the senate's finance leaders: Sen. Howard Hochstetler, R., Nez Perce, is trying for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, and Sen. K. C. Barlow, R., Cassia, is retiring. The sharp-tongued veteran of many terms was finance chairman in the 1961 session.

Seeking reelection to the senate are the 1961 majority leader, Sen. Jack Murphy of Lincoln county, and his assistant, Sen. H. Young, Jr., Canyon county.

PLENTRY OF MEAT AND POTATOES were served to the neighbors of C. L. Murphy. Mr. Murphy's death on April 18 caused the work on the Murphy farm to lag. Friday, about 20 to 30 neighbors came visiting, bringing tractors, plows, discs and harrows. In a single day they prepared 145 acres of land for planting. Neighbor women picked in to help feed the hungry crew at noon on the front lawn of the Murphy home south of Hazelton. (Times-News photo)

Neighbors Show up for Work Friday, Help Ready Land for Planting Crops

Hazelton—Eden, April 28—Residents of this predominantly agricultural area demonstrated Friday most vividly what being a good neighbor is about.

It all began with the death of C. L. Murphy April 18. Mr. Murphy was a longtime resident of the Hazelton area having acquired his farm in 1916. As in the case of most deaths, there were offers of help and assistance and these people really meant it.

Shortly before 7 a.m. Friday a tractor donated by McVey's Inc., Hazelton, arrived to do some plowing. A few minutes later another tractor showed up to do some plowing. In an hour or so there were 21 tractors and men working to put between 100 and 145 acres of land in shape for planting.

Wesley, the eldest Murphy son, will run the farm and he will be assisted by Roy when school is out. Mr. Murphy's death cost the family precious time and they were for behind in their plowing and field work. Some 145 acres of land needed working and quick. Spring was late in coming to southern Idaho and practically every farmer in the Hazelton area was behind and working from dawn to dusk to get caught up.

Yet the men left the call of their own fields to make good their offers of help and assistance.

The first inkling of help came when Howard Sellers called the Murphy home and told the family that a few neighbors were going to drop by and give them a hand. The invasion that followed came as a complete surprise to the Murphys.

Several neighbor women called with offers of help. Many showed up Friday to help the Murphys feed the small army of neighbors. The neighbors knew who was coming and what to expect.

Some 20 to 30 people were fed on the front lawn of the Murphy farm. There was no fooling around; as soon as the men were fed, they remounted their tractors and headed back to the fields.

The entire operation was well organized. As soon as the men and tractors arrived, they moved straight to the fields. Some had plows, harrows, discs and some had ditchers. They broke up into small groups and each group tackled a particular field.

PAYETTEVILLE, N.C., April 28 (AP)—A dynamite blast ripped apart a two-story home near here early today without injuring the eight sleeping occupants.

Police theorized that Larry Whitford, 34, a contractor, brooding over a former friendship between his estranged wife and Grover Leo Draughton, 34, either set or tossed the dynamite under Draughton's home, then went to the home of his grandmother where he committed suicide.

(Editor's note: From now until election time, the chairman of the Republican and Democratic committees agreed to discuss political philosophies and issues once a week in the Sunday Times-News.

BY JAMES CUNNINGHAM

Chairman of the Republican Central Committee. The lack of ability, or at least the failure, to communicate ideas clearly in a language is a major cause of general confusion between the principles of a Republican and Democrat.

It is this writer's opinion that one of the greatest faults of both parties — and particularly the Republican party — is their use of rather misused words — liberal and conservative.

But the Democrat mentioned above does not necessarily make the Democrat party the liberal party, nor does the Republican mentioned make the Republican party the conservative party.

The readers of this column may conclude that an admission that neither party is liberal or conservative simply adds to the proof that there are no basic distinctions between Republicans and Democrats.

Writer Raps Walker, Blasts Growth of Fabian Socialism

Editor, Times-News: With reference to Lloyd J. Walker's indignation for what he calls steel's "obstinate display of corruption of business morality," his thorough disapproval of free enterprise, and his obvious hero-worship of John F. Kennedy's "New Frontier" April 19, 1962, it is surprising when one considers the fact that Walker and Kennedy received their degrees from the same ultra-liberal college, which dispenses Fabian socialism to the near exclusion of Americans.

The fact that their party has been confiscated by the socialists? When are they going to produce officials of sufficient moral fiber to retrieve the party and restore it to its former patriotic dedication to the American way of life? Now is the time for all of us to come to the aid of their country; the party be hanged!

Hartshorn Praises Demos' Plans; Scores Republicans

Editor, Times-News: Democracy means the greatest good to the greatest number and equal rights to all and special privileges to none and Jack, your grandfather Hawley, — a grand old man, ex-Democrat, governor of Idaho, knew all the answers and he would know that Senator Church has had a perfect voting record.

And we all know that Senator Church has had more honors than any man that has ever come out of the west, and is the only man from the West that has ever been invited to go to Philadelphia to give a Fourth of July oration at Independence Hall, and again the only man from the West called to give a keynote speech at a presidential nomination convention.

Concerning your criticism of Senator Church on the steel question your Vice President Nixon got the secretary of labor and took him over to the steel strike some time ago and gave the workers a 40 cent an hour raise, and soon after the workers were on half time and steel was coming up the St. Lawrence sea way from Europe and into the Great Lakes and under selling our steel mills.

So if you are still interested in economy, your President Eisenhower spent more money during his administration than any of our presidents, even in war, and with your qualifications and acquaintance and love for Alexander Hamilton's slogan, "The rich should rule because they have the money," and I have been voting for 21 years, and for years, always every time the Tories get back in power, the first thing they do is to cut the farm program and the tax cuts farmers of America, two billion dollars a year or 107 per cent to 68 per cent parity, and the producers scratched every dime of the added profits, and bragged "they never had it so good" and made 21 new millionaires during the eight years and the rich got richer and the poor poorer.

Results: Five million farmers left the land and we have had more bankruptcies during the eight years than the 20 years of the New and Fair Deal, and every city and village in the farm belt has from 10 to 15 per cent empty store buildings on Main street.

Today we have three of the best representatives in Washington, and they have been doing things, things and things for Idaho — while the GOP representatives have been working for the tycoons — and you voters all know it. Every time I throw an electric switch or ride in a railroad coach, or airplane, I am contributing to the tycoons of America, and am deriving the benefit of subsidies from Uncle Sam — like the Farm Bureau, subsidized to keep the farmers from making an honest dollar.

Congratulations Given for Writers of Political Views

Editor, Times-News: Congratulations to the two authors by the respective chairmen of the central committees of Twin Falls County under "Politics," April 21, 1962, Times-News. Mr. Shipley really hit the nail on the head with a firm request to vote. He probably did not realize the implication when he said, "Our President has a program that is second to none so now it is squarely in the voters' hands." He nominated candidates that will work as a team and help our President carry this program through.

Our President has a program that is second to none so now it is squarely in the voters' hands. He has a program that is second to none so now it is squarely in the voters' hands. He has a program that is second to none so now it is squarely in the voters' hands.

fare of the New Frontier, and the Kennedy dynasty that is being created. We as Democrats should be justly proud and honored to witness this stupendous attempt by one man and family to create and insure jobs for Democrats regardless of regions, race, creed, economics, and philosophy.

I am looking forward with interest to some more of the guidelines as to the appeals that the present committee members are using and plan to use to insure that the Democrats obtain a mandate second to none for an old philosophy of more and more, and cooler and cooler, central government for the common man or people.

Resist Blasts Proposal of New Taxes in Idaho

Editor, Times-News: I am sending in the sales tax straw-balloo; and I wish to state that the sales tax is one of the worst taxes that can be put on the people of Idaho, or any other state. I have lived in states that have allowed this tax to be started, and wish to say that once it is started there is no end to it. It keeps on raising every few years and has never proved to reduce any other tax.

I am a property owner and would much rather see my property tax raised than to allow this ridiculous tax to be given a foothold in Idaho.

HARRY B. WEAVER
(610 Ninth avenue north Buhl)

He has not missed an increase in the cost and centralizing of power of the government by expansion of every agency, department, foreign and domestic, hundreds of bureaucracies, and has been able to think of a multitude of new agencies to command more sacrifices by the taxpayer only.

Our President who with a narrow majority second to none has ever and forever been planning to insure that this work be changed by the purchase of votes in every field possible politically, regardless of the economic soundness of the work.

Stock Mart Loss Heavy For Period

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—Sweeping losses on the stock market this week erased more than 10 billion dollars from the nation's values. The general price level nearly a per cent lower last December's all-time high.
 Outside of some preferreds and a few common stocks which resisted on the basis of higher than expected earnings, most issues were sold to withstand the steady pressure which resulted in the widest decline of the year in the American securities market since 1929.
 The worsening steel industry situation was the reason most prominently offered for the big sell-off. Many major steel reported earnings considerably above the depressed first quarter last year, but stressed the rising cost of price crimps and pleaded for government aid through liberalized depreciation.

Indictment of Steel Firms Tumbles Stocks on Market

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—The steel industry took it on the chin today through indictment of four steel companies, a trade association and five individuals on charges of conspiring to fix prices and rig bids.
 The development came as the sound and fury of the two-week-old steel price increase warping echoed. But there was no connection.
 Indicted by a federal grand jury were United States Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Corp., Erie Forge and Steel Corporation and Midvale-Hopewell—company. Also charged were Open Air Forging Institute and five officials of the four companies.
 The bids cited in the indictment were on steel forgings for the army, navy, electrical companies and other buyers.
 The forging institute was alleged to have acted as a "clearing house" for price agreements among the accused companies.
 The justice department said it was investigating the case in April 1961.
 The indictments returned Thursday had nothing to do with the steel industry's rising prices $6 a ton April 10, only to back down three days later under steamroller pressure from the economic administration. However, steel pricing is under investigation by another federal grand jury.
 Not of the indictment sent steel stocks lower on the New York stock exchange. They went declining during the first quarter earnings.
 Steel company heads took the opportunity of reporting earnings to relieve their own financial burden.
 The indictments were first announced in the first quarter earnings report.
 "Continuing intensive efforts will have to be made to increase the amount of income above that announced in the first quarter which only equals today's dividend declaration 75 cents a share," said the industry's chief spokesman.
 "U.S. Steel earned 55 million dollars, equal to 61 cents a share, compared with 125 million dollars in the recessionary 1961 first quarter and 112.5 million dollars in the busy 1960 quarter.
 Blough, chief chairman Roger L. Blough, said the firm's earnings were "Continuing intensive efforts will have to be made to increase the amount of income above that announced in the first quarter which only equals today's dividend declaration 75 cents a share," said the industry's chief spokesman.
 "U.S. Steel earned 55 million dollars, equal to 61 cents a share, compared with 125 million dollars in the recessionary 1961 first quarter and 112.5 million dollars in the busy 1960 quarter."
 Chairman Avery C. Adams of Jones and Laughlin-Steel Corp., commenting on the price situation faced by the steel industry, said it is time for all of us to face up to the economic facts of life and examine the question as to whether any barrier to free trade in steel can exist with a governmental policy which calls for a denouncement of anyone who does not submit to the economic edicts by government."
 Adding to its tribulations, the steel industry's demand for its product continuing to slide since a new labor contract was signed three months ago and the contract expires this date.
 The early agreement, providing 10 cents an hour in fringe benefits, was no wage increase. It was cashed under pressure from President Kennedy.
 Output during the week fell to 1,138,000 tons, off 4.7 per cent from the previous week. Earlier hedge buying against a strike had ended.
 Meanwhile, the automobile industry does not submit to the steel price of a tide of prosperity.
 For the second week in a row, production hit the highest level

"HAVE YOU EVER HEARD THE STORY OF THE ONE MILLION CATS?" asks Mrs. Eiden Haskell, center, as she begins one of several stories for a group of third graders. The children, enrolled in the creative dramatics classes sponsored by the Idaho State college resident center in Twin Falls, were acquainted with various types of stories, which they then analyzed and enacted. Mrs. Richard Davis, far right, also was a teacher for this particular class. Theories discussed in the classes for teachers are tested and developed as the children learn to express their ideas and feelings about characters in the play. Each child is drawn into the activity and made to feel an inherent part of it; the least character is studied and emphasized. The teachers received full college credits for their work. ### Creative Dramatics Spark Imagination, Ideas of Life

"Caps for sale, caps for sale, red, green, blue and yellow!" cries an old peddler on his way to market. The peddler, he fell asleep under a palm tree. A band of monkeys descends and steals the peddler's caps.

"Now who wants to play the part of the peddler?" asks Mrs. Eiden Haskell, creative dramatics class teacher. "This time, let's have the peddler sing his song, a little louder."

"The song has been improvised by the children, as has the rest of the dialogue and story action. The development of imagination and ability for creative expression was the prime purpose for this and other creative dramatics classes which were sponsored in Twin Falls by the Idaho State college resident center, beginning Jan. 15 of this year.

Theories and techniques formulated in adult sessions, a 10-week course taught by Mrs. Maxine Tupper, Twin Falls, were practiced with children's groups. Teachers for a representative third grade class were Mrs. Eiden Haskell and Mrs. Richard Davis, both Twin Falls.

Work with the children included about five weeks of the course. Procedure for the first few weeks began with the telling of a story, usually a standard children's tale; discussion of characters; the choosing of characters and scenes and finally enacting of the story, scene by scene.

All dialogues and action were a product of the imaginations of the children; there was no memorizing of lines or scenes. This type of "improvised drama" is truly creative from the children's viewpoint.

Each child, during the course of the play, was allowed to play several roles. This "continuing character" helps broaden understanding of various aspects of the play itself. Even the smallest details were worked out to emphasize the importance of facts, but how to relate those facts and theories to real situations.

After the children's class was over, Mrs. Tanner conducted an adult class. She asked several of the teachers to relate what occurred in their individual classes.

"We had an Easter parade in which the children displayed homemade hats. One boy, I think somewhat disgusted at the idea of wearing an Easter hat (wore a baseball cap decorated with flowers!)"

Another teacher noted that "fifth and sixth graders seem to have a better sense of action than younger children. (She may have been referring to a session with Indian war dancers!)"

"The adults were not excluded from the creative atmosphere of the course."

"Now," said Mrs. Tanner during her lecture, "I am going to lecture to 10 and blow each time. When I'm through, each of you will be a big balloon."

As she outlined, the "balloons" became inflated with imaginary, par. Then, at a sign from the lecturer (who by this time was ready to prick the "balloons" with a very sharp pin), the group "popped."

The college credits which the teachers earned seem to be well worth the effort.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM

Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girde constructed of science fibers. A startling innovation is the sheer front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or slump action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girde will contour your hips if they are a problem. The girde itself is of "wonder" Lycra anfaber fiber. It feels like nothing on but has such slimming strength it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim" is the peak achievement of the designer, Genette Olga.

Be "Suddenly Slim" today in either girde or panty version. Call, Carroll's Foundation Department, 733-504. Mrs. Doris Fix, Carroll's well-known and expert corsetiere.—Adv.

Miss Henning Is Kniep's Bride In T.F. Service.

In a candlelight ceremony April 23 at the Immanuel Lutheran church, Twin Falls, Sherry LeAnn Henning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Henning, Twin Falls, became the bride of Willard M. Kniep, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kniep, Buhl.

The Rev. C. A. Rathjen performed the double ring ceremony. Easter lilies and tall bunches of yellow carnations and white snapdragons decorated the church.

White satin bows centered with yellow daisies marked the pew.

Mrs. LeRoy Holtzen, Blue Hill, Neb., sister of the bridegroom, was organist. Soloist, Roger Thiene, Kimberly, sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over satin, styled with a fitted bodice, round neckline accented by a bow in front, longilly pointed sleeves and a plunging in the back ending in a bow.

Tiny lace-covered buttons fastened the back of the gown and the sleeves. Her elbow-length veil of bridal illusion was held by a band of orange blossoms.

She wore a single strand of pearls; a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses with satin streamers on a white ribbon, a confirmation gift from her late grandmother.

Maid of honor, Betty Weigelt, Hammond, Ind., wore a gown of white satin with yellow gloves and yellow shoes, and carried an arm bouquet of yellow and white daisies.

Bridesmaids, Loneta Nolan, Pocatello, cousin of the bride, and Susanne Ohlaga, Twin Falls, were dressed identically to the maid of honor and also carried arm bouquets of yellow daisies.

Each wore a net held by a band of daisies, fashioned by the bride.

Candlelighters were Diane Thiene, cousin of the bridegroom, and Johnny Henning, brother of the bride. Miss Taute wore a dress of yellow nylon fashioned like the bridegroom's gown. She wore a wrist corsage of yellow roses.

Best man was Marie Lieberman, Hazelton. Ushers were Ted Henning, brother of the bride, and John Kaster, Buhl. They wore boutonnières of yellow roses.

The bride's mother chose a gown of beige organza with green accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a gown of green voile with beige accessories. Each wore a corsage of pink roses.

The grandmothers of the bride wore corsages of white shatterd carnations.

The reception was held in the Memorial Lutheran school parish hall, Sandra Kytala, Vancouver, Wash., registered guests.

The bride's table was covered with a satin cloth with nylon ruffle over yellow.

Greile Becomes 30th Man to Beat Four-Minute Mile

WALNUT, Calif., April 28 (AP)—Crewcut Dave Tor, rangy marine lieutenant from Camp Pendleton, Calif., sailed over the bar at 16 feet, 2 inches tonight to eclipse all world's records in the pole vault. Tor, 27, made the successful leap on his second try as what was left of a large crowd watched spellbound at the climactic end of the Mount San Antonio relay. Tor missed at 16 feet, 4 inches on his coming clear.

The recognized world mark is 15 feet 10 inches set by Don Brasz at Palo Alto, Calif., July 2, 1920.

Branding is a mark of 16 feet 10 inches set by Greile on an ex-marine, at Santa Barbara, Calif. last March 31. And there still another record pending 15 feet 10 inches set by Greile recorded by George Davies at Boulder, Colo., May 20, 1941.

Tor's great performance overshadowed the sub-four-minute mile-race earlier by Jim Greile.

In the mile, Greile's time — 3:59.9 — made him the fourth American and the 30th athlete to break the one-four-minute barrier.

The 25-year-old University of Oregon graduate, now an enlisted man and member of the Los Angeles Track club, turned in the feat as a crowd of more than 10,000 cheered and urged him on.

Greile's best previous time in the mile was 4:00.1, which he ran behind the heels of Australian Herb Elliott in Compton, Calif., in June 1950.

Dale Steier of Oregon State won the 5,000 meters in the good time of 16:08.05's spring meet by team of Norm Monroe, Gary Comer, Bob Johnson and Brady Von der Horst.

The third district, or Boise area, is leading the way in the state track improvement and through necessary fourth class, or Magic Valley, has become second.

Two focal points are available for substantiating these records this year. In the shot put, Ray Miller, Borah; Wood, Boise; Jay McDonald, Caldwell, and state district champion, Curtis Eaton, Twin Falls, all have thrown the shot at least 32 feet 7 inches this year.

Current setup only two will advance beyond the regionals. That means the boy taking third at the state meet will be the fourth fifth or sixth best.

In the high hurdles, both McDonald and Jay McDonald are expected to be the state champs. The state champ will be Rife, Caldwell, was second state last year. One of these two will set a state record while the other two may win.

According to times and distances posted throughout the state last week-end, the southern regional race has produced at least 12 state champions and possibly could sweep all 18 events.

We aren't saying the southern regional will dominate the state meet. But the regional picture in the state as it has the past year of two and this year of one.

The athletic director Paul Olyn. "The pendulum could always swing to another area. But this regional right now, and I can't fail to the individual boys."

Several suggestions have been made to remedy the situation. It may be possible to give the southern regional three spots, while the other two may win.

Following the basketball tournament lineup, the southern regional could send three places per event and the northern regional two. The Boise area and nearly all Idaho tracks are of championship quality and are filled with errors. Also would present too large a group to overcome riding winds and other things that could cut down on times.

Borah Lions Win Baseball Tournament

The Borah Lions won an informal baseball tournament here Saturday afternoon as they won a doubleheader while three other teams in the Idaho conference schools lost at least one game.

Borah had to fight for an unparaded run in the ninth inning to win a 4-3 doubleheader over Twin Falls but then stopped Pocatello 2-1 in regulation seven innings.

Twin Falls, which won a game against Pocatello Friday, then rebounded from the Borah loss Saturday to drop Boise 7-3.

Pocatello opened Saturday's play by winning the first game by a 1-0 shutout over the Borah.

The lighting game saw Borah win by a 4-0 lead over Twin Falls going into the last inning. They got straight singles by Terry Handolph, John Miller, Mike Olyn and Jim Kinross. Kinross knotted the count.

After another scoreless inning, Terry Allen, Borah, cracked a double and won the game on a ground out. He scored from there on an error.

The Bruins had little trouble with the Borah in the second game. Kinghorn lived on an error and came around to score on ground balls and wild pitches.

In the fourth inning, Twin Falls led the game by batting around and scoring four times. The Bruins then had more in the sixth to coast in.

A.E. Boyd Takes Singles Title In State Trapshoot Tournament

A. E. Boyd, Boise, shot well in a high wind today to win the Idaho state singles championship of the state Pacific International Trapshoot association tournament. Boyd, who was tied with four others with 98 hits Friday, dropped only three birds Saturday to post a 195 out of a possible 200 hits and overcame the early lead of Tom Katesean, Torreyton, who hit 100 straight during the first half of the competition Friday.

Colorado Is Handed Suspension by NCAA

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 28 (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic association put the University of Colorado on two years probation yesterday, reprimanded the University of Missouri and declined to reduce the three-year probation against New Mexico.

The action against Missouri did not affect the eligibility of the athletic teams in taking part in bowl games or NCAA championship events. Byers said the action was taken because of an $85 ticket purchased by an alumni representing the university for a prospective athlete on a loan basis. He did not identify the athlete who received the loan.

The NCAA, while declining to reduce the probation against New Mexico State, agreed to a review of the case in 1964 instead of 1965 as originally set.

WSU Wins Series With Washington

SEATTLE, April 28 (AP)—Washington State made it two straight over their cross-state rivals today when they beat Washington 8-6 in a long triple.

Borah Lions Win Baseball Tournament

The Borah Lions won an informal baseball tournament here Saturday afternoon as they won a doubleheader while three other teams in the Idaho conference schools lost at least one game.

Borah had to fight for an unparaded run in the ninth inning to win a 4-3 doubleheader over Twin Falls but then stopped Pocatello 2-1 in regulation seven innings.

Twin Falls, which won a game against Pocatello Friday, then rebounded from the Borah loss Saturday to drop Boise 7-3.

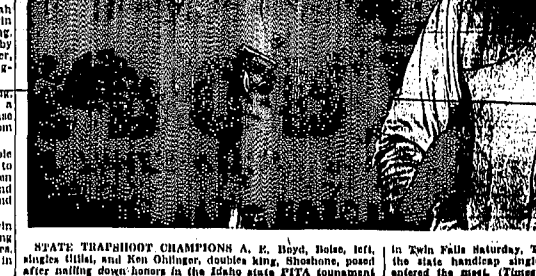

Pocatello opened Saturday's play by winning the first game by a 1-0 shutout over the Borah.

The lighting game saw Borah win by a 4-0 lead over Twin Falls going into the last inning. They got straight singles by Terry Handolph, John Miller, Mike Olyn and Jim Kinross. Kinross knotted the count.

After another scoreless inning, Terry Allen, Borah, cracked a double and won the game on a ground out. He scored from there on an error.

The Bruins had little trouble with the Borah in the second game. Kinghorn lived on an error and came around to score on ground balls and wild pitches.

In the fourth inning, Twin Falls led the game by batting around and scoring four times. The Bruins then had more in the sixth to coast in.

Sir Gaylord Shows Derby Form In Taking Stepping Stone Win

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 28 (AP)—Sir Gaylord wiped out all doubt about his fitness for the Kentucky derby as he secured a smashing victory over three other derby eligibles in the Stepping Stone purse at Churchill Downs today. The future book favorite for the May 5 running of the derby, Sir Gaylord won by 1 1/2 lengths over Sir Ribot but ridden by Ismael Valenzuela, the star of C. T. Chenery's Meadow Stable laid in third and fourth places through most of the seven-furlong event and didn't make a move until the turn into the stretch.

Sir Gaylord then worked out the Kentucky Derby distance of 1 1/4 miles in 2:22.5. His time for the Stepping Stone was 1:22.5—two-fifths of a second off the track record.

Sir Ribot was the overwhelming betting choice, going off at 1-5 and returning $240 and the star of C. T. Chenery's Meadow Stable laid in third and fourth places through most of the seven-furlong event and didn't make a move until the turn into the stretch.

Ambiopoise Wins in Grey Lag Handicap

NEW YORK April 28 (AP)—Robert Lehman's Ambiopoise upset the favored Carry Back today at Aqueduct, taking the lead near the eighth pole and winning the $85,800 Grey Lag Handicap by 2 1/4 lengths. Carry Back, Mrs. Katherine Prince, who had failed to win in five previous stakes starts this year, threw in his patented big run around the final bend and overhauled everything but Ambiopoise with a rousing stretch drive.

Although enough to grab second place by a half length over Carry Back's rival, Carry Back's drive wasn't good enough for the first prize of $5,770.

Lehman's Ambiopoise, a 10-year-old son of Ambler's Best, won the Gotham here last year, but hadn't taken a race this season until the Grey Lag.

Ridden by Bobby Ussery, the winner carried 115 pounds and paid $33.70, $9.90 and $6.20. Carry Back, taking top weight of 125 pounds and with 115 pounds on, returned $3.40 and $2.80 after starting the even money favorite.

The time on a fast track for 1 1/4 miles was 1:40.

Leonard P. Sasso's Globemaster, second choice at 3-1, finished fifth.

White Sox Nip Boston In 10 Innings

By The Associated Press

—Bob Sadecki pitched a double with one out in the 10th inning drove in the decisive run for a 7-6 Chicago White Sox victory over the Boston Red Sox Saturday.

Sadecki, who came to Chicago from the Philadelphia club this spring, hit a pinch homer in the second inning of Friday night's game that supported a 7-4 White Sox triumph.

The New York Yankees powered three more homers into distant points of the new D. C. stadium in the same inning in dealing the Washington Senators their 11th consecutive defeat in the city.

Heizer Lopez hit his first over the center field, Clete Boyer his fourth eight runs into the upper deck, and Roger Maris hit his third off the facade in right. Boyer's was the longest by a right-hander in the stadium.

Rolando Ramirez had a clutch one-run double in the seventh inning Saturday as the league-leading Cleveland Indians edged the Minnesota Twins 8-7.

Domano, who had three for four, knocked in the winning run off ex-Indians Ed Stelman after Tim Lincecum singled.

Albie Pearson, the hottest guy in the major leagues, was the big man for the Los Angeles Angels with three extra base hits in a 7-6 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Pearson, who stands 5 feet, 5 1/2 inches and weighs just 140 pounds, cracked two line doubles in a long triple.

Boldier Steve Barber posted his third victory of the season (two out of three) and ran his lifetime record against Kansas City to 8-0 by pitching the Baltimore Orioles to a 3-2 victory over the Athletics.

Dr. Woodson, Dr. Wilkinson Win Golf Title

Dr. Max Wilkinson and Dr. William Woodson jumped off to an early lead and went on to defeat Warren Larsen and J. O. Claiborn 4 and 3 in the finals of the Blue Lakes Country club spring best ball tournament.

The champions won seven holes and took a four-hole lead over the first nine holes. They appeared that by winning the 9th hole they would clinch the match. After falling four holes behind on the next hole, the runner-up couple came back to win 27 or 30 before Woodson scored a birdie on the 32nd hole.

The foursome held the next hole and it was all over.

Dr. Glenn Hous and Bill Peterson took the championship fight consolation honors by beating Kermit Wall and Nick Moss 1 up in a tight match.

First flight consolation honors went to Henry Olny and Severson, who nipped Denny Houge and Merle Smick 1 up in 29 holes. Another overtime match found Jim Olsen and Armour Anderson defeating George DeWetter and Joe McCollum on the 20th hole.

Investment in Foreign Aid Termed Successful

JEROME, April 28—Foreign investment in South Vietnam is only a small part of the help we are extending. Their meager facilities, compared to our standards, are almost non-existent, the officer says. The U. S. is providing teachers, doctors and nurses who are setting up medical facilities and giving courses of instruction to the Viet Namese. There are U. # Local Man Utilizing Old Bones to Form Some Fantastic Creatures

BY C. H. (CHAD) CHAMBERS

According to the dictionary, someone who specializes in bones usually has the name "osteopod" attached. But that is a fancy and scientific term and Hiram Turner, 543 Main avenue east, just has fun with the bones he handles. For example, he took some old chicken bones, old deer bones and some other bones and glued them together to form some sort of prehistoric creature. This creature was given a name and displayed on top of the meat counter at Truck Laje market. Included was a phony history of the creature. According to Wendell Worthington, manager of the store, the creature brought several laughs from many customers. However, from the tourists and occasional passersby there were more serious comments. "The more serious comments are the bigger laugh," said Turner. "Turner claims he came by this hobby accidentally. He always has been a hobby of Turner's. His house has several pieces of woodwork that he has worked into lamps, bookends, and other items. He even does landscapes. For example, an old burr on a boxelder tree can be made into a mountain scene. "The bark of the tree or brush is stripped off and the wood is cut so it will lie flat. "From there you have to use your imagination," says Turner. "Imagination is one of the most important ingredients of a wood carver. You have to study a piece of wood for a long time before your imagination tells you what's hidden there." "After you decide what you want to carve, then comes the work of forming the wood and staining it to the right color," he said. (Continued on Page 23)

STRUTTING SHOWOFF is ignored by other young turkeys at the Hull farm near Curry. The one walking away from the camera is the standard bird, called broad backed bronze. The young turkeys are flown to Idaho when only a day old and are very delicate. This is in sharp contrast to full grown toms which are somewhat intelligent and at times require two men to handle. Some weigh as much as 20 pounds. (Times-News photo)

Turkey Growing Turns Into Full Time Task to Supply Consumers

Just what do turkey raisers do in the summer? They raise turkeys. In the old days of turkey raising the big time was Thanksgiving and most birds for the most part were not started until the holidays, figuratively speaking, July, around the corner. But all that has changed and Gene Hull, who operates the Hull Turkey farm west of Twin Falls at Curry, finds that it is practically a year-round job now. And he should know because he has been in business at the present location for 13 years and is the last independent turkey grower in the state of Idaho. Hull, who raises between eight and 10 thousand birds a year, does not hatch them. Most of his birds are purchased from California—the turkey business here was several independent hatcheries in Idaho but now only one is left, located at Wilder. Other units hatch for large concerns and do not sell to individuals. Getting the birds from California to their new home near Twin Falls is all a matter of speed. They fly almost before they can walk. This is to be taken literally, of course, because flight in this case is made by plane. When the bird is only one day old it is placed in a crate with some 100 others just like it and is rushed to an airport near the hatchery in California. The trip takes one night and the next morning Hull gets them at the Twin Falls airport. The first week or two in the life of a young turkey is tough and so the farm owner points out. They apparently have no desire to eat or drink and are very delicate, not at all like the belligerent birds they become when full grown. In addition to the eating problem there is the problem of maintaining even temperatures and all equipment is checked at least every two hours day and night during the first two weeks. Several thousand young birds were received at the Hull farm about three weeks ago. These birds are destined to grow into turkey feters ready for the market by July 15. At that time they will weigh from six to eight pounds. These birds are little of the outside world, spending most of their lives in fear of sheds. Outside ruin on the sun-dried side of the structures are provided, however. About the last week in May another shipment of birds will be flown in from California and these will be for the Thanksgiving trade. About July 1 these birds will be turned out in an adjoining field in which a long and wide strip of sunflowers has been planted. (Continued on Page 24)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

It is fitting that an historical museum for HALEY should be placed in an historical building. Such a building is the one donated to the city of Haley by Leon and Lucille Friedman and formerly occupied by the city...

Both men have attended schools to first train a sheriff. Warrell was awarded a diploma certifying this achievement in FBI procedures and Chief Warrell completed a two-year course in advanced training.

Both officers stated they thoroughly enjoy the law enforcement business and working with and for the people in Burley and all areas of Cassia county. Their jobs entail a 24-hour a day watch many times, but a sense of accomplishment creeps in when someone says, "job well done."

And residents of Burley and Cassia county feel fortunate to have these two devoted brothers. When Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, who live three and one-half miles west of the Friedman building in TWIN FALLS on highway 30, walk into their bathroom they have a window peeper.

Up until the early 1950's the building was used for an entertainment center. The stage still stands at the far end of the hall on which such actresses as "Marilyn" and other celebrities of their day presented their plays.

OLDEST BUILDING IN TOWN may become a museum of the Twin Falls County Historical society. The structure has been offered to the society by Mrs. May Jankis Mitchell, pioneer local resident. Located in the 300 block of Main avenue south, it will have to be moved or torn down to make way for a motor lodge now in the planning stage.

The oldest building standing in Twin Falls may become the museum of the Twin Falls County Historical society.

An offer to donate the structure to the society has been made by Mrs. May Jankis Mitchell, pioneer resident, and the idea was approved by board members at a recent meeting. Located in the 300 block of Main avenue south, the building was erected in 1905, just a year after the town started. It has had a colorful history in its own right, research reveals.

He stressed the importance of regular tuberculosis tests, and spoke of new ways of immunization which will be in operation within the near future.

An unusual situation exists in BURLEY, where two brothers are both head law enforcement officers. They are Sheriff of Cassia county, Hubert O. Warrell, and Burley chief of police, George E. Warrell.

The two men came to Burley in 1947 and have served the people of Cassia county in the various offices of law enforcement, since then. Sheriff Warrell served as constable for two years, on the police force, and fire department for three years each, before being sheriff for five years and will have been sheriff of Cassia county for two years at the end of his present term in January.

Chief Warrell was a member of the Burley police force for six years; then was affiliated with the Cassia county sheriff's office for three years and in 1958 was appointed chief of police. He also was born in Guide Rock, and attended schools there and in Aurora, Nev.

Swan Named 'Young Gus' Rules Lake At Sunset Memorial Park Near City

Several years ago when the artificial lake was formed at Sunset Memorial park, a swan named "Gus" proved to be the big attraction. Gus has long since gone to whatever spot swans go to when they die but a direct descendant, named "Young Gus," is now ruler of the roost. In addition there are female swans at the lake.

The swans prove a major attraction at the park during the summer months and hundreds of visitors feed them. Bread is the most usual diet offered.

The lake, however, has another attraction which comes each year a little while after the Twin Falls family fair.

Alcoholics Anonymous Offers Help For Victims of "John Barleycorn"

The step from social drinking to the problem of alcoholism is an easy one which has been taken by some six million Americans, but the giant step back to sobriety is one which is far from easy, as any of the six million can testify.

However, in almost every town and city in the United States, there is a group which has overcome the ugly specter of problem drinking. In Twin Falls the local chapter of Alcoholics Anonymous meets every Wednesday at 8:30 p. m. in the jury room of the courthouse.

Here men and women in what they call a bond of fellowship relate their experiences, with-alcoholism, reaffirm their desire to overcome what the Metropolitan Life Insurance company has called America's most serious illness, and just stay sober.

A person who thinks of these alcoholics as down and outers would be in for something of a shock, because a casual glimpse of the group would give, in most cases, no indication of their past bouts with John Barleycorn.

In fact, the group is a cross-section of the community, representing almost every strata in the area. There are farmers, laborers, professional men, housewives and mechanics in the gathering.

But despite their different cultural and economic backgrounds, each has one thing in common, they all have had a serious problem with liquor.

A spokesman for the group pointed out that AA is by no means a prohibition group.

He said, "We have no quarrel with the sale of liquor, but we do want to help the person who has become a problem drinker. There are just some persons who shouldn't drink, and we have found through experience that we can help the compulsive drinker—the person who can't stay away from a bottle without help."

Members of AA point out that their group therapy sessions are no cure for alcoholism, in fact they say there is no cure for the disease, but they do say the group has an outstanding record in helping alcoholics.

One AA spokesman here said 50 per cent of the persons who attend their meetings never take a drink again, and these are men and women who in some cases were regarded as hopeless.

CURIOUS TURKEYS gather around Gene Hull, owner-operator of the Hull turkey farm near Curry, as he enters their inside pen. The 3-week-old birds have not even started to resemble turkeys but the thousands being raised carry on an insistent "conversation" which sounds very much like a distant water fall. Turkey raising has become a year-around operation and it is a family business at the Hull farm. He is the state's last independent operator. (Times-News photo) will provide shade, and later, when the heads are broken off, will provide feed for the growing birds.

"These birds will be the big ones of the farm. The hens, by the time 'Thanksgiving' rolls around, will tip the scales at 12 to 16 pounds and the toms as high as 30 pounds.

And if you have any illusions as to the pugilistic attitude of the tom, the farm owner points out that it takes two men to handle some of the big birds.

About July 1 another shipment of small birds is received and these will be for Christmas eating. These never get outside a special shed which is as large as a football field. Bales of straw are stacked in patterns for them to use as warming areas and they spend their entire life in this shed.

Many of the birds are frozen after being dressed, and these, like all birds now offered on the general market, are ready for the oven. Picking of the bird feathers is an art, according to Hull, and during the dressing period he employs from 10 to 15 people for the job. Many are farm wives who live in the area and have worked in seasons for years.

Hull engages in both wholesale and retail trade and the operation is a family affair. He is quick to point out that his father, A. T. Hull, is really the "full-time" maintenance operator who works around the clock.

"Dad is the one who gives the birds the tender, loving care they require," he said.

In addition to his father, his wife and three children aid Hull in the turkey production. Cindy is a seventh grade student in Twin Falls, while Doug, in the fifth grade, and Greg, third grade, are students at nearby Union school. In addition to the large area devoted to turkey raising there are 60 acres under cultivation.

At the present time a fairly new strain of bird is being raised at the farm. It is known as broad breasted white. The standard bird is broad breasted bronze.

The Hulls mix their own feed on the farm, utilizing special mixing equipment. The scientific mix is planned to provide the greatest growth but at the same time building tender meat.

Do the Hulls eat turkey?

"We sure do," he is quick to reply. "Sometimes if we didn't we would have nothing on the table."

And does a wife work much at this business?

"She does most of the work, only I'll never let her know I admitted it."

And does Hull have a hobby?

"My hobby is flying. Peculiar arrangement. Here we raise birds but they never fly. I have no wings but do fly," Hull comments.

And he should go to the army. He was a combat pilot during World War II.

So this seasonal business is now year-round and competition has thinned out the field until there is only one independent operator left in the state. And the Hull family of Curry plans to stay in the turkey business until people stop eating the birds.

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT Businessman Believes All Citizens Should Aid in Community Projects

One thing is certain. Lee Fillmore is set in his conviction that anyone who lives in a community, and makes a living in that community, should work for the betterment of the community.

LEE FILLMORE

And if, for any reason, you are of the opinion that community work is not important, then stay away from this man who spent four years in World War II as a paratrooper and has been in a hurry ever since.

Fillmore has resided in Twin Falls only a little more than six years but his record in community service proves that he lives his convictions.

A partner in the Okay food center, stores, he is supervisor of the two stores in Twin Falls. But in addition he also is president of the Rotary club, a member of the board of the Magic Valley Cowboys Baseball club, a member of the sheriff's posse, and also of the Bruin Boosters, an organization to back high school athletics.

In his "spare" time he has served as a board member of the Chamber of Commerce and as chairman of the Roundup club, a membership group within the chamber, he was instrumental in bringing in scores of new members. He is also interested in government activities and is active in budget suggestions in city finance.

He was born in Elgby and as a 2-year-old moved with his family to Burley. He went through grade and high school in the Burley system and graduated in 1924. He played a lot of baseball as a youth, including semi-pro, but found little time for high school athletics because of after school jobs as hospital janitor and night hotel clerk. Perhaps, he says, this is why he is so interested in promoting high school athletics today.

After high school he entered Utah State university to study forestry. He soon changed his mind and left college to enter the retail food business, which ultimately led to his present position.

"His initial food job was when he was hired as a salesman for a new store opening in Burley. A year later, he was sent to Blackfoot as assistant manager and later manager and then the government stepped in and asked for his services for the next four years.

He entered the service as a private in January, 1942, and a year later became a paratrooper. He was a member of the 11th airborne unit, and among other things, spent 14 months in the occupation of Japan. He made many parachute jumps during his air force career and was discharged with the rank of captain.

Returning to the States and discharged in 1946 he returned to Idaho Falls and joined an independent firm and later accepted a position with the Alhertson organization when it consisted of only three stores. As the chain grew he became supervisor and spent his time opening new locations for the firm.

Then in 1954 the independent Okay food stores was organized and Fillmore entered the organization as an equal partner. In 1956, when it was decided to open a new store at Piler and Fillmore in Twin Falls, he came here to open the new outlet and also supervise it and the store in South Park.

"You cannot beat what it offers for youngsters," Fillmore said.

He is high in his praise for the caliber of the average youth in the city. His firm employs from 15 to 20 teen-age boys and girls the year around and he says "it is a pleasure to work with them."

Fillmore resides with his wife, Julie, and two children, Vickie, 17, a senior at high school, and Kip, 12, a seventh grader at junior high, at 1207 Fremont drive.

And after just over six years in Twin Falls just what does he think of the community? He thinks it is great, and he plans to stay here.

"There is a nice bunch of congenial people in Twin Falls and

2-Way School Merger Plan Is Pondered

BLISS, April 28 — The Bliss community was invited to consider a two-way school consolidation proposal when Vernon Ravencroft, Hazegram citizens committee representative from the school board, spoke at a meeting of the Bliss citizens group Wednesday afternoon.

He said the Hazegram group proposed that junior high school students would go to Bliss and the Bliss high school students attend the Hazegram high school. It is understood that each district would retain its own school board.

Main objectives of the proposal is to offer a better curriculum to high school students of both groups. The proposal is on a temporary basis for a trial period of not more than two years, Ravencroft said.

Ravencroft stated each school district would pay tuition to the other school district involved and that each school would have a principal with one overall superintendent.

Orville Redington, Bliss school superintendent explained further that this is only a proposal, and that it was up for Bliss residents' consideration.

Leo Holsinger proposed that each school board member poll his zone and find the general opinion of the citizens in the community on a two-way consolidation.

The area where he was stationed had weather exactly reverse of the Saigon area. When it rained in the city, it was sunny in the area.

Foreign Aid Is Good Investment for South Viet Nam, Jerome Officer Says

one had monsoons, the other had summer. The major was stationed at the further point north in South Viet Nam. There were only four U. S. officers at this station.

There are four religions in South Viet Nam, Confucianism, Buddhism, Catholic and Protestant. The Protestant religion is the newest, being brought in by missionaries. Benke noted he met a Canadian, an Australian and an American missionary and their families while stationed there.

The Catholic religion must have been brought in by the French. It is well established and there are many names priests. Catholic churches, large square buildings with crosses on top, can be found in many remote areas of the land.

President Diem is Catholic and his brother is the Bishop of Hue. Their language is not difficult, but Major Benke cautioned one word can mean many things. He said the word "bam" meant six different things from the word grandmother.

They have no adjectives and when speaking run all their words together. However, they do not use a slang song monologue, but give their words similar inflection as westerners do, the officer noted.

Women are used for only three things in Viet Nam, to raise the children, work in the rice paddies and keep house. They never accompany their husbands to parties and always walk behind them carrying the load. Before the present government was established they could have as many wives as they could afford.

Since 1958 they can have only one lawful wife, though they were permitted to keep all the wives they were already married to. No divorces are granted unless by the express permission of the president.

One of the oddities of the country is their manner of burial. Everyone is buried above ground in a circular grave with the dirt mounded on top. The site of the grave denoted the status of the deceased in the community.

Major Benke is with the Jerome national guard. He has three children. Major Benke has been stationed in 16 different countries.

REAL TOURIST JOLTER was the creature that was displayed on the top of the meat counter at Truck Lane market. Hiram Turner made the creature out of some old deer bones and chicken bones. Wendall Worthington, market manager, looks over the creature to take an order for meat. Lamps made from brush trees are a specialty of Turner's.

The bone carving came shortly after Turner was injured in an automobile accident. He had been driving to work one day when he was struck by a car. He was hospitalized for several days and when he returned home he found his house in a state of disrepair. He decided to make something out of the bones he had collected.

"I've done everything from chopping to timber work," says Turner. For a time he made a lamp out of a deer antler and a few choice pieces of wood to decorate the front entrance and the yard.

His hobby gives him considerable satisfaction and the bones provide the laughs. He is very busy for a man 78 years old and always has something to do and is looking forward to his 79th birthday, Aug. 2.

When asked if he planned on constructing any large creations out of bone, Turner replied that you can never tell on what day you will start to do next.

Advertising helped it happen

By stimulating mass demand, advertising helped create a mass market for the refrigerator. As demand grew, more and more companies got into the act. Result: new and better refrigerators were mass produced for more people by America's remarkable and competitive economic system. Is this worthwhile? Then, so is advertising worthwhile.

Going Steady Forbidden at Catholic School; Action by Priest Is Praised

PARSONS, Kans., April 28 (UP)—Anger overcame the priest as he thought about the two girls who had just left his high school pregnant and abandoned.

In Parsons, population 13,800, news travels like a thrasher through wheat. The girls' reputations were shattered, their steady boy friends became outcasts. After thinking out the problem, the Rev. Magr. E. Gunning sat down and wrote "Just to let parents and students know in lots of time: Any student in St. Patrick's high school who is going steady will be dismissed from the school immediately. This law goes into effect on the first of September, 1960."

The short paragraph appeared in the weekly bulletin distributed in St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church the following Sunday, Jan. 17, 1960. The ban against going steady has been in force at St. Patrick's for a year and a half. With what results?

The parents are delighted. School officials are happy.

And surprisingly, so are the kids.

"I believe that going steady is a step toward marriage," said Louanne Wyck, a senior. "How can ten-agers, who will be married the rest of their lives piece out their future at 16 or 17?"

All 23 seniors and 27 juniors of the 120 high school students at St. Patrick's were interviewed for this story. Their reasons differed, but all praised the ban. Some actually felt sorry for others their age who were allowed to go steady.

"We are more or less glad about the rule because I am tired of many of us being asked to go steady if it wasn't for this," said Joyce Marks, a junior. Generally, the girls' outlook was on "the social aspect of going steady. The boys in the 'in' group, the security of being assured of a date for the special dance, etc. The boys took the moral view: That steady dating leads to sex. "Girls don't know what goes on inside a guy when you're sitting in a parked car night after night," one youngster said.

"Kids are sneaky. It's in our nature," said Tom Ramsey, a junior. Judy Moler, a post senior, said, "It's impossible to go steady and not have temptations."

Much of the blame falls to the youngsters' parents, says Sister Edwina, the principal at St. Patrick's.

"Parents push their children too young and make them old beyond their years," she says. "If you start kids in grade school thinking in terms of partners it leads to early dating and then to steady dating."

It seems inconceivable that the St. Patrick's students would be 100 per cent against steady dating when it's so popular among their contemporaries. The Rev. Gunning, the 33-year-old administrator of the school, had an answer.

"I have discussed the problems in their religion classes and stressed it out among themselves often since the ban went into effect," he said. "Their parents are completely behind us and help. And I suspect that they're happier now that the pressure is off them to find a partner and a job."

There have been violations, but none serious enough to require dismissal, Father Smithbieter said.

Depth Given On Reservoir

SHOHOONE, April 28—Magic reservoir contained 169,300 acre feet of water as of Wednesday, reports Leon Grive, manager of the Big Wood Canal company.

This is 110,000 acre feet more than it contained a year ago on this date. Inflow from Partridge has been decreasing, he said, but the Big Wood river increase has offset this so that inflow has averaged close to 4,000 acre feet per day for the last week.

At a special meeting of Magic committee of the Big Wood Canal company directors this week, the committee decided to turn water out of Magic Wednesday, making water available to users by Saturday for those who need it.

Water was still spilling at Miller, meaning that the Miller-Gooding project is still getting free water. The recent high wind caused some delay in getting the water through.

"If the system had been full at the time of the winds, the chances are that there would have been some breaks causing considerable damage," Grive said. By Wednesday, water was through almost all of the system.

BELWAY RIVER above Moose creek in north Idaho illustrates a life-in-artifact for Forestry week. The week commemorates such things as fish and wildlife as well as food and fiber, according to the department. For all life is connected intimately with all other life in a chain of relationships that start with the sun. Forests, for example, exist because of solar energy. Only green plants can convert sun power into sugar power, thus originating the cycle of food that flows through every living thing, whether vegetable or animal. In this sense, Forestry week which is many "weeks" rolled into one, could just as well be called "People week," department officials note. (Fish and game department photo)

Future of Our Country Depends on Rational Use of America's Forests

BY JIM HUMPHREY
Idaho Fish and Game Department

Joyce Kilmer's ringing declaration, "Only God can make a tree," takes on new meaning today as the Associated Foresters of the University of Idaho spearhead the annual observance of Forestry Week, proclaimed by Gov. Robert E. Smylie.

Part of the week-long observance will be the planting of an assortment of trees on the north Idaho campus, trees of all sizes, shapes and colors. This is appropriate as earth satellites, powered with the latest thing in solar batteries, orbit the globe with monotonous regularity. For the full properties of trees even now are not generally understood, despite the songs and eulogies dedicated to them over the centuries. This is the central reason for the special week.

Like Gothic cathedrals with soaring transepts and branches, trees nevertheless are among the oldest—and still the greatest—machines run by energy from the sun. They manufacture food out of water and carbon dioxide, becoming powerful enough to split rock. The designs are functional, beautiful, and available in thousands of models. Many constantly change color throughout the year. These truly are wondrous fabrications.

Forests of whatever kind are organized in layers. The most complex is the forest, with 27 stories. Characteristics of all groupings are the soil basement, forest floor, low and high shrubs and trees of all sizes. Trees are the plants on which other life is draped.

The boundary between forest and prairie divides two worlds. The open field is dry and unyielding underfoot, while the forest floor is moist, spongy. The former gets full sun; the latter, darker woods does not. When the plain is hot and windy, the timber is cooler and the breeze is gentle. Often less than half of the rain reaches the forest floor.

Most people realize that all life is connected intimately with all other life in a chain of relationships which start with the sun. For example, forests can produce solar energy and green plants can convert sun power into sugar power, thus originating the cycle of food that flows through every living thing. This stored energy is converted into meat by the animals that eat the plants, by insects that leave no part of trunk or leaves or roots untouched, by deer that browse on twigs and tender buds, by rodents that fill their stomachs with acorns and nuts.

Energy originally in green plants now is available second-hand to another set of forest dwellers which eat the plant eaters. There are many creatures—snakes, lizards, predatory insects, many kinds of birds—that do just that.

These primary predators in turn are a food supply for secondary predators—snakes, hawks, foxes. And in the end, these secondary predators also die and complete the cycle returning their substance to the soil after death, releasing nutrients that from plants can absorb through their roots and again put into circulation through the forest.

Timber likewise provides many products of value to man. On national forests, as well as tracts controlled by the bureau of land management and the state, timber is harvested on a sustained-yield basis, thereby providing essential wood products for the present and future. Moreover, cleared tracts within preserved

Hailey Pupils Given Career Data at Meet

HAILEY, April 28—Four freshman students of Hailey high school sought information concerning careers in which they are interested at the Rotary club meeting Thursday noon. These questions were answered by Rotarians qualified in the different fields.

Susan Barber's questions concerning forestry were answered by Ralph Olco, sawtooth forest ranger. Her inquiries on mechanics were answered by Richard Stephens, manager of the Wood River Mercantile store. Oscar Olco, manager of the First Security bank, supplied information on her questions on investments.

Cheryl Povey's queries on anesthesiology were answered by Dr. Grant Hawkes; those on education by Blaine county school superintendent, Paul Demmy; and her social work inquiries were answered by William Grant of the Blaine-Shoshone relief office.

Inquiries made by Paul LaPrise concerning mechanics were answered by L. P. Healey; those on dentistry by Dr. Arthur Richards; and her social work inquiries were answered by William Grant of the Blaine-Shoshone relief office.

Robert Goldberger's questions were on seamanship, electrical engineering and insurance. They were answered by Ryan Mallon, Robert Blagin and A. W. English, who participate in these three businesses.

Ryan Mallon was program chairman and introduced Jean Miller, guidance director for Blaine county pupils, who in turn introduced the students.

Miss Mizer inquired of Savino Tubruna, manager of the Hailey telephone exchange, concerning the possibility of young people working for the company with transition to the dial system. She also inquired concerning law as a career of attorney Everett B. Taylor and the study of medicine from Dr. Hawkes.

Miss Mizer also inquired of L. O. Olmo, who, in order to earn admission to the "Physicians, talked on the service program of the American Cancer society, of which his mother, Mrs. Oscar Olmo, is Blaine county chairman.

During their intensive meeting the students voted to withdraw as sponsors of the Days of the Old West pageant. Members will participate individually in the pageant which will be presented by the celebration central committee.

Eleven members plan to attend the Ketchikan-Twin Valley inter-forest areas often support more wildlife than an unbroken canopy of trees because small food-and-cover vegetation is permitted to grow.

This balanced conservation planning is today, multi-use and applies to water resources as well as forests. Actually, the two are inseparable, because a watershed is a specific area of land which produces water, timber, wildlife, grazing, mining and outdoor recreation, including the appreciation of nature, watershed, big or small, is the area of land drained by a single stream. The watershed of a large stream includes the watersheds of the many tributaries. All parts of the state are in some watershed.

Because of the recent serious water problems in the West, and because of the importance of water to the agricultural economy and recreation in Idaho, the focal point of Forestry Week this year emphasizes the importance of watershed. Dirty, unfiltered water is the No. 1 natural resource problem facing the state and nation today.

Fish and game are born of the land and water, just as agricultural crops depend on the same base. And just as food, cover and space are the limiting factors controlling fish and wildlife populations, water also determines where mankind can exist—and in what numbers.

The problems underlying the modern multiple-use concept are not hopeless. For example, game populations were at a rather low ebb during the early part of this century. In fact, many old timers can remember when it was a novelty to see a deer track in the wilds. Sound game management practices have proved false the dire predictions which were made that game animals and certain other species of fish and wildlife would vanish from the face of the earth. Some have, it is true, become extinct. But in general this was caused by the destruction of their living quarters, their habitat rather than from overhunting.

Whether in the form of rain, snow or ice, water must be held where it falls as long as possible through the vegetative cover of soil in the watershed. When forests disappear, water that formerly sank into the spongy forest soil now runs unobstructed down the mountains adding salt to the flood hazard below.

Man, with intelligence and physical courage to explore the universe still must develop multiple-use standards for his land, water and forest resources. He must manage all his renewable resources—protect them from the despoilers and wastes—if civilization is to survive.
