Safety Award Presented to T. F. Hospital

Magie Valley Memorial hospital was awarded a certificate Wednesday for having a perfect safety record during 1960. The certificate was presented by Raymond Tate, assistant administrator.

The certificate was awarded after the local hospital safety committee, sponsored by the American Hospital Association and the National Safety Council, of 47,000 hospitals in the nation, only 401 entered contest. The hospitals were divided into eight groups, depending on how many persons were employed by the hospital.

Magie Valley Memorial hospital, with about 185 workers, was in group two. Of the 63 hospitals in group two, it had perfect injury-free records.

The Twin Falls hospital placed second in group two with 103 man-hours worked and no reportable injuries occurred. This includes "reportable" injuries as ones which require medical attention or result in loss of time from work.

The first-place award in group two went to the Yonkers hospital which had had 200 man-hours worked and no reportable injuries occurred. This includes "reportable" injuries as ones which require medical attention or result in loss of time from work.

The contest was designed to encourage the observance of safety practices among hospital employees participating in the contest. The contest was judged on the basis of the number of man-hours worked during the year.

The contest was the first time since 1953 when the hospital began participating in the contest, that the local hospital has had a perfect safety record.

Glenn, Titov Tour Washington; Kennedy Greets Red Astronaut

WASHINGTON, May 3 (UPI)—President Kennedy welcomed Soviet cosmonaut German Titov to the nation's capital today and voiced his admiration for the red man's major 17-orbit flight around the Earth. Titov was taken to the White House by U. S. astronaut John H. Glenn, Jr., who previously gave a Russian short course in U.S. history and showed him some of this country's pioneer space equipment.

The state department disclosed meanwhile that it had suggested that Titov visit Cape Canaveral and three other U.S. space age facilities, but that the Russian embassy had declined.

U. S. officials said they assumed this meant the Soviets wanted to avoid a precedent which would obligate them to open their rockets and missile launching facilities to visits by Colonel Glenn or other American astronauts.

At the White House, Kennedy chatted with Titov for about five minutes and then escorted him and Glenn to the porch just outside the executive office overlooking the sunset grounds.

While they posed for photographs, the President said, "I want to say that Mr. Titov is a fine man." (Continued on Page 2, Column 4)

NATO Drafts Plan To Share Nuclear Arms With Allies

ATHENS, May 3 (UPI)—The NATO powers today drafted a three-stage plan by which the United States and Britain will set up a partnership with their European allies on the use of nuclear weapons. A highly-placed source said the plan will be presented for review to the full-dress meeting of the foreign and defense ministers of the 16-nation alliance underway here. The defense ministers met first in closed session on this afternoon with the NATO ministerial conference itself to get under way tomorrow morning.

The source said the plan was drawn up by the NATO authorities in close consultation with the United States and Britain. It provided for progressive stages of closer cooperation by the American and British with the other NATO allies on the use of nuclear weapons and their deployment on the continent.

The plan calls for:—Establishment of a NATO nuclear committee under the chairmanship of Secretary General Dirk U. Sikker. This committee would serve as the principal channel of information. The NATO members on such things as the location and stockpiling of nuclear weapons located in Europe.

An assurance by the nuclear powers to the members of the Atlantic alliance that the nuclear deterrent will remain in the hands of the United States. Also an assurance to consult with other allies in the stockpile of nuclear weapons.

—Move toward the "association" of the nuclear powers with the possible use of nuclear weapons.

This latter step would include joint preparation of a set of likely events which might cause President Kennedy to give the order for use of nuclear weapons.

The eight-day water run scheduled for the Sabour tract south of Twin Falls will be extended into the next week, it was decided at a meeting of the board of directors of the Sabour tract company at Hollister Wednesday night.

Idaho Power Rate Hearing Set for T. F.

BOISE, May 3 (AP)—Protestors to the rate increase of the Idaho Power company will get another chance to speak against the proposed rate increase during public hearings May 21, the public utilities commission announced today.

A hearing will be held in Twin Falls Tuesday. The PUC said it will permit introduction of exhibits by protestants and also will hear oral testimony. Primarily, the general rate increase is to permit the company to pay for the new water supply association to explain their position on the proposed rate increase.

Also scheduled at the hearings beginning May 21 is the cross examination of witnesses who presented the power company's direct testimony at the original hearing last month.

Scheduled for next week are two hearings for protestants in the south central and southeastern Idaho to outline their views. The hearings will be held in Pocatello Thursday.

The commission has before it two related cases affecting power rates. One involves the application by Idaho Power company requesting a rate increase of 13.5 percent for a general rate increase. The other involves a dispute between Idaho Power and the Pocatello Machinery corporation on rates charged for power delivered to the Pocatello phosphorus plant in Pocatello.

Newsman to Address Burley Knife, Fork Club on Friday

BURLEY, May 3—Philip W. Whitcomb, an American newsman, will address members of the Burley Knife and Fork club at their dining room on Friday night.

Since 1918 Whitcomb has been connected with the American newsman's point for Macdonald, Inc. (John Macdonald's European News Service).

Whitcomb is the assistant editor and prior to that he had been the correspondent from the time of the German occupation of France until late in 1941.

Other European assignments included a stint for Harpers Weekly and editorship of the Foreign Trade Weekly in Paris, and in 1933 he had a brief in Africa for London papers.

He is said to be the best known newsman in Paris, particularly as the activities of that continent's countries affect the political and economic life of the United States. Whitcomb's indoctrination came early.

Following his graduation from Western university, in Topeka, Kans., which was his home, he went to England as one of the youngest Rhodes scholars to earn that prized scholarship to Oxford.

Perhaps a European background was his native language. His father's family came from Gloucestershire in 1625 and his mother's family came to America from Loc Lenand in 1775.

His parents were highly educated and both held high degrees. His father was district court judge in Kansas for more than 20 years.

Young Whitcomb was that rare combination of excellent student and accomplished athlete. He was captain of his college football team and a full-fledged member of the track and basketball teams at Oxford. He rowed on the crew and played rugby. He also won a minor heavyweight amateur boxing championship.

In Paris he leads a very full life. He is an elder of the American church in Paris, is Frankfurt representative Overseas Press club of New York and belongs to the University club and the American club.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON, May 3—President Kennedy's clash with Big Steel and the subsequent back-and-forth maneuvering in the White House mark a more important political-economic watershed than the actual participating and their respective allies—administration and Big Steel—have been given credit for.

Within the next few months, many reports of the coming national elections next fall, the correctness of the conflicting theories of the economic future, and how they will depend upon whether general economic conditions improve or falter. In either case, the results will be attributed to this dramatic episode.

If the slow but steadily inflationary trend is stopped, credit will be claimed by the Democrats on behalf of the president. If, however, members of congress who questioned his action will hang onto the cost tolls as a banner of economic policy.

IF BUSINESS DIPS—But should the economy fail to move upward, even though the summer dullness may be due to other causes, many will again blame Kennedy's action. Many State Steel corporation associates that the President had forced them into a cost-price agreement, that prevented their growth and expansion.

The industrialists have already hinted at the kind of action they would like to see. The opposition of the new few months justify the Blough contention on the relationship between the steel industry and investment in new plants and machinery.

Almost every great corporation, in their April-March reports of their earnings, has had a lot of increased volumes of business but smaller net earnings, and lower dividends to shareholders.

Since they were reporting on the cost-price-profit situation as it has developed long before the Kennedy-Blough agreement, they can't claim that they were in a position to support U.S. Steel's viewpoint when it raised prices by $6 a ton.

IF BUSINESS RISES—Two seemingly conflicting statements by two important members have confused the business community.

Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges, although a generally conservative Republican businessman, played a key role in persuading the steel companies to bow to the President.

At a recent news conference, President Kennedy's statement that he wanted no part with the business and industrial interests, and that he would not consider any government intervention in wage-price disputes.

He said plainly that the White House would not back any price-fixing or wage controls.

He also said that the "basic commodities were concerned. He did not elaborate on what were and what were not included in the list.

"However, the export was that his wage-fixing definition would be restricted to the price of the wheat known as "private enterprise."

WAINS AGAINST "DRASTIC ACTION"—Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon, who kept out of the steel controversy, has been criticized for his "wains" against "drastic action."

He was speaking before the Economic Club of New York on the change of the (European) Common Market. But he added that this country could enjoy increased opportunities for trade if it would join the common union; if it would do so, it would have to give up its "drastic actions" that would do so much harm as to hurt the rest of the world.

Many wonder what "drastic actions" was referring to. It was a remark which puzzled to his banking and business associates. He said:

CALLS FOR INVESTMENT—"We have the means at hand to solve our economic problems if only we use them wisely and well. It means more investment in our national private investment in productive equipment. We must use that means to the full, and in a manner which will increase the national interest by short-lived decisions—be they public or private."

The speaker was asking: "Whom was he cautioning—President Kennedy or Mr. Blough, or both?"

CHANGES IS PAINFUL
Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower voiced the sentiments of many citizens when he criticized some trends in modern art and entertainment. The occasion was the dedication of the National Shrine of the Americas. Many Americans have raised questions about changes in all sorts of fields and activities.

There has been criticism of changes in commerce, transportation, construction, politics, clothing and virtually everything else that could be named. Sometimes the critics represent only a vocal minority and sometimes the majority. Many citizens are happy with whatever change is involved.

On the other hand, proponents of change like to refer to the new order as progress. Somewhere between the two extremes of the champions of progress and diehards who would change nothing is a middle ground that might be more popular.

Mr. Eisenhower voiced approval of scientific and material gains, but even here there are many persons who would disagree. A segment of the population does not believe such things as atomic weapons and space exploration are gains, any more than Mr. Eisenhower thinks today's art is an improvement.

It all boils down to the fact that change of any sort is usually painful, whether the change meets with general approval or whether it meets with opposition. Objective analysis might show that some specific changes are good and in the "best interests" of everyone. Other changes, might actually be detrimental and in this connection it must be noted that not all changes can be tagged with the blessing of "progress."

But change there must be, regardless of direction or opinion about it. If there were no change, everyone would still be living in the garden of Eden and wearing fig leaves. Surveying today's commercial and political scene, it might be willing to go back, right now!

WORDS VS. ACTION
Members of the United States Chamber of Commerce can be forgiven if they feel they react enthusiastically to President Kennedy's words during their convention in Washington. The President declared he wanted to see a national economy kept stable by the free forces of competition, so the government will not interfere in the matter of setting prices.

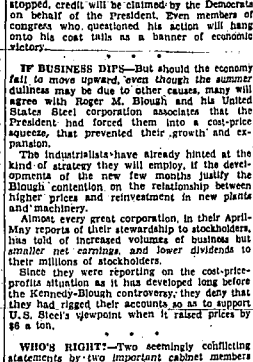

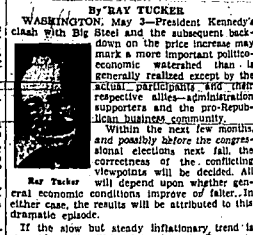

Actions always speak louder than words and members of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce still had a vivid example of action in their minds as a result of President Kennedy's action. The steel industry is a couple of weeks previously. Regardless of what President Kennedy or anyone in his administration says from now on, it will be difficult to erase the picture of an angry President denouncing U.S. Steel's price controls. The firm into line.

Actions always speak louder than words.

WHY?—The federal government is finding out that an industry can't remain profitable if it is not controlled by the government. By act of congress the Klamath tribal organization, composed of several tribes, is being dissolved. The majority voted to withdraw and take their share of the tribal patrimony. Others elected to remain. The government is now trying to get the withdrawal group brought suit in the court of claims declaring the $8 million in new lands, which were taken from the federal treasury for government acquisition of lands, was inadequate. The amount represented by the withdrawal group was $10 million value they had been led to expect. The record will show that the Klamath insisted on a new suit that would be in the price of lumber, save a heavy lawsuit.

The case will be heard in federal court. Its settlement will have a bearing on the government's relation with the Klamath. Other suits may arise, calling for hearings of Congressional committees. The Klamath Indian business is far more involved than was thought of when the first termination act was passed in 1958—States Statute.

NEW YORK'S TAX LIQUOR LAW
New York and Louisiana are the only two states to sell intoxicating liquor to persons only 18 years of age. In 42 states, including all those bordering the Gulf of Mexico, the minimum age is 21.

Governors and other authorities of New Jersey and Pennsylvania on one side and Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania on the other have all appeared to Governor Rockefeller of New York state to ask the Legislature to raise the minimum age to 21.

The matter is in the hands of a joint legislative committee, which apparently intends to raise the minimum age to 21. It is one for New York state voters and lawmakers to keep their eyes on.

Connecticut and New Jersey officials meanwhile are endeavoring to keep their liquor laws intact by passing legislation which would allow teenagers to drink and drive.

The Connecticut legislature has passed legislation which would allow teenagers to drink and drive.

Food for Americans

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NATURE'S GIFT
Fresh corn is one of nature's greatest gifts. It is a natural food when "young," but for best green husks and kernels that are bright, plump and milky. Once husked, it should be stored in a plastic bag and refrigerated until just before cooking it.

Fresh Corn on the Cob
Remove husks from ears of "young" and brush off silks. Drop in a kettle of boiling water to cover, adding 1 teaspoon salt to each quart of water. Cook and cook 5 to 8 minutes or until milk is set and corn is tender. The cooking time depends upon the maturity of the corn. Remove from water and serve with butter or margarine and salt and ground black pepper. Allow two ears per person.

Fresh Corn-Casserole
(Yield: 6 servings)
2 cups fresh corn, cut off cob
1 tablespoon flour
1 tablespoon water
1 tablespoon butter or bacon fat
3 eggs, beaten
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
1/2 cup heavy cream

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM

Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might lose perfectly? You'll be thrilled by the new way science has discovered how to become suddenly slim. It's more than 15 pounds overweight, then this is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, slimmer figure today.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of diet, intelligently constructed of science fibers. A carbohydrate is the sheer front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot sag or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A feathered-in mesh fabric that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim" is the peak achievement of the design-engineers, Olan.

Bozeman Says Fight Site Hasn't Changed

BOZEMAN, Mont., May 3 (AP)—The manager of the 13,000-seat Montana State college fieldhouse said Wednesday the athletic area on the Bozeman campus still would be the site of the world middleweight championship fight between Gene Fullmer and Paul Pender—even if June 9 isn't the date. Fieldhouse director Bud Purdy said he revokes this assurance from both promoter Nurmam Rothschild of Syracuse, N.Y., and Mary Jensen, manager of Pender's interests in the National Boxing association's version of the middleweight crown.

Purdy said the date for the bout with Pender—who holds the European New York and Massachusetts version of the title—was definitely on for the USC fieldhouse. Difficulty in lining up television contracts was blamed.

Purdy said he talked by telephone with Rothschild and Jensen. He reported the June 9 date had been scrubbed. Rothschild reported, Purdy said, that negotiations were in progress with three television promoters in hopes of quickly settling a new date.

U. S. Tennis On Upswing, Player Says

In the fourth set, I have victories over both Whitney Reed and George McKinley, our two top players. Douglas said he feared the Mexicans more than the Australians in the Davis cup. "We play them at Mexico City and I remember the last time I was there I couldn't breathe and could hardly stand up," he added. "We're going there two weeks in advance to get used to the conditions. If we win, we'll beat the Europeans, whoever they are, and go against Australia all-right."

"This is our bounce-back year. You just take my word for it. I think American tennis is in the doldrums, don't you? Well, the idea is to get back on top," Douglas said. "I honestly think we can beat the Australians—that is, if we're lucky enough to get by the Mexicans and their public-school atmosphere."

Douglas, 26, a tough ex-military who is the nation's fourth-ranked player, is too modest to say he is one of the reasons that U. S. tennis is showing signs of life. "Associates say he's a good ball player," Douglas said. "I've won Wimbledon and lead the Yankees in victory in the long-remembered Davis Cup campaign. I've beaten the Queens I'd have to win at Wimbledon. I beat Rod Laver at Fenway a couple of years ago. I beat Rod Laver on concrete but lost to him at Wimbledon last year, 7-5."

Manager Change Rumblings Start In Major Leagues

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—The baseball season is less than a month old but already there are rumblings of impending managerial changes. According to the grapevine (whatever that is), two big league managers are on shaky ground—two others have "decided" to pass the job on to others.

At the end of the current campaign, the toughest of all 20 major league jobs Wednesday must be Mickey Vernon, the soft-spoken, friendly, and unassuming manager who must be replaced by only a 2-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox Thursday night. "I don't know how they think it's only a short term improvement," the Senators are bound to fall into similar boss' slumps, similar to their recent 13-game debacle.

The same deadly mood that Minnesota Manager Sam Mele, like his predecessor Cooke LaRoche, a year ago, is feeling the hot breath of the enterprising Griffith on the back of his neck. Mele supposedly has been told the "fans must have a respectable bid for a first division finish—or else." The Twins, recovering from a slow start, aren't doing badly, winning 10 of their first 10 games.

A usually reliable source said that Casey Stengel already has informed George West, the president of the New York Mets, he is looking for a manager for 1963. Casey will announce his retirement decision immediately, at the end of the 1962 season.

From Boston it's reported that Mike Hlicka, the popular Red Sox manager, has decided to take off his uniform at the expiration of this season and move into the club's front office. Hlicka's local successor appears to be Johnny Pesky, the former Red Sox

Smith Keeps State Political. Pot Boiling on Gaming Issue

BY RICHARD CHAINOR
BOISE, May 3 (AP) — Whether they want to or not, those who oppose Vernon K. Smith for the Democratic nomination for governor are talking about legalizing gambling as a campaign issue.

Smith has succeeded in leading just about everybody into discussion of his proposal for legalization, casino-type gaming as a tourist attraction for the Gem state.

His opponents for the Democratic nomination, mineral what happened when the party nominated A. M. Derr for governor on a gambling program in 1938, want no part of Smith's plan. But he's managed to get just about all of them to talk about both him and the plan as an issue.

This is just what Smith wants. Outside of the Boise valley and the state bar association Smith was not too well known a few months ago. He is now, however.

He even has enlisted the unintentional aid of the Allied Civic Forces and the Idaho Education association in getting his name before the public. By moving both into verbal spats with him.

In fact, Smith made blunder headlines out of the Allied Civic Forces' annual Boise meeting recently when the ACF did stung by repeatedly criticizing them to let him appear before them.

Now, with but a minor switch in tactics, Smith is challenging his opponents to debate with him on the issue. His principal target so far has been John D. Walters, Boise.

Walters has said he would be willing to debate with Smith, but he wants it all done up properly — with rules, invitations and no forth. And this is just the kind of answer Smith wants. Tuesday night, Smith — who apparently has a sizable campaign war chest — bought a half-hour of prime time on television at Boise. And he berated Walters for not showing up. He said he even had written a letter inviting him.

His voice dripping with sarcasm, Smith then pointed to a chair — an "old rocking chair" he called it — and said he "has saved that for Walters."

This, of course, is the same gimmick that young Ralph Harding used in southern Idaho two years ago when then Congressman Hamer Judge refused to debate the Burns Creek issue on TV with him. Before he was through, Harding had a lot of folks talking about "that empty chair."

While Smith has been successful in getting his opponents into public arguments with him, some other candidates have not fared so well.

It may have escaped your attention, but Idaho's outspoken attorney general isn't saying much these days. In fact, at a time when other public officials will comment on just about anything, Attorney General Frank L. Benson has been strangely silent about criticism from other candidates for his job.

Even when he filed his petition for the June 5 primary election, Benson declined comment when told he had been criticized by J. Ray Cox, Courthouse at Boise, his opponent for the Democratic nomination. Benson simply referred newsmen to a prepared statement about constitutional government.

Cox and two attorneys seeking the GOP nomination for the post — Allan Shepard and William Padgett — no doubt would like

Schofield Talks At Albion School

ALBION, May 3 — Although central planning by the federal government has long been regarded to obtain its announced goals of eradicating unemployment or solving the farm problem, the late Sen. Keith Schofield-Huperts said at May 3 Valley Christian college Wednesday.

He is a candidate for the Republican nomination for the U.S. house of representatives from the second district.

"The U.S. government is currently convinced the key to progress in Latin America is central planning by the Latin American governments themselves and is committed to administering it," he commented.

"I've even seen how effective central government planning in Latin America is when we consider that Latin American bureaucrats are far less efficient even than our own American bureaucrats."

Chickens Top Bargain List Over Nation

By the Associated Press
Fryers, broilers, and even stewing hens are a top bargain in the nation's supermarkets this week. And so are eggs, with prices falling even lower in many areas than recent economy fare. One national chain features large white eggs at 49 cents a dozen in its New York outlets.

Fried eggs can be topped up with pork chops or pork loin, both reasonably priced—most stores this week-end, for an easy to fix meal.

For juicier meals, most cuts of beef are budget priced again this week-end, with round, chuck and rib roasts particularly featured.

Rib roasts are priced at 59 cents a pound in the New York area by one big chain.

Milk prices are generally lower and cheese and cottage cheese are both attractively priced.

Radishes, carrots, spring onions and leafy greens offer solid treats at good prices.

And sweet corn and new potatoes provide side-dish variety at tempting prices.

Among old standby vegetables, features include cabbage, spinach, tomatoes, asparagus and artichokes.

Fruit attractions are grapefruit, oranges and apples.

King Hill Names Planning Group

KING HILL, May 3 — John Park and F. C. Anderson were appointed to a planning committee to help formulate plans for improvements in school district 192 at a meeting this week in the King Hill school gymnasium.

The meeting is the result of petitions presented to the Glenna Perry school board asking for planning for expansion of grade and high school facilities in the district.

DeVree-Rickett, superintendent of the school district, explained the overcrowded conditions, school enrollments and the financial situation. State board of education representatives, Allen Jefferson, Carl Warner and Harold Farley, answered questions.

School board members attending were Lee Budd, King Hill; Pat Walker, Roy Green and Norman Miller, Indian Cove. Other visitors are listed this week at Hapnett and Glenna Perry to select local members for the planning board.

Carey Seniors Honored at Fete

CAREY, May 3 — Members of the senior class of Carey high school were guests of honor at a banquet held Monday night in the high school gymnasium. Guest speaker was Vernon Exner, former principal of Carey schools and present principal of Hill high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Britton sang a duet and a boy, Irlis Dale Cameron, Gale Roberts and Walter Peck, sang. Mike Sparks, senior class president, presented the key of knowledge and success to the junior class. The senior class will be read by Walter Peck and Karen Sweet.

Banquet committees included Jim Leasberry, Blaine Haxwell, Ed Marilyn Albrethsen, menu, Len Cook, Bernadine Greenfield, Dale Campbell and Diane Peterson, decorations. Martha Thompson and Marilyn Albrethsen, invitations and programs. Master of ceremonies was Lee Judy.

Topics Reported At LDS Service

CAREY, May 3 — The important of spiritual and physical prosperities which are being fulfilled today were the topics given by the featured speaker who addressed the congregation during Sunday LDS church service.

Speakers were Mrs. Muriel Sparks and Edwin Coates. The meeting was conducted by Ronald Peck with congregational singing led by Mrs. Leon Peck accompanied by Mrs. Verd Mueser. Youth talks were given by Becky Benson, Connie Barton, Hicky Meacham and Allen Orchard.

Prayers were offered by Alton Patterson and W. L. Adamson.

CHEF'S SALAD BOWL

This has a bit of everything for health, taste, color, and appearance. It can be anyone's caption, or varied to fit in available ingredients.

Into salad bowl tear 1 small head of washed, crisp, cold lettuce and 1 small bunch of romaine (or other greens). Over this, add 1/2 to 1 cup chicken or ham slivers (cooked), 1/2 cup Swiss cheese slivers, 1/2 cup carrot slivers, and 1/2 cup celery slivers. Toss lightly, garnish with slices of 2 hardboiled eggs, 1 tomato cut in wedges, 1 orange peeled and sliced, and watercress. Ideal with French Dressing or dressing of your choice—or try simple, tasty...

ROQUEFORT SOUR CREAM DRESSING
Blend 1 cup sour cream, 1/2 cup mayonnaise, and 1/2 cup Roquefort cheese pieces. Chill before using.

KITCHEN TALK
1. Make salads simple, but orderly and neat.
2. Lettuce and all greens should be dry before dressing is added.
3. Dressing should be added to salad only when ready to serve.
4. Juicy fruits and vegetables should be well drained.
