Udall Urges South Idaho Power Study

ment about 2,400 megawatts of southern Idaho phosphorus plant. "This would approximately double these generating capabilities and employment figures."

Udall said that elemental phosphorus production requires great amount of power — on 15,000 kilowatt hours per ton per year. 125,000 kilowatt hours of elemental phosphorus were produced in southern Idaho, using 1,900,000 kilowatt hours of electricity. This means that each mill per kilowatt-hour cost of production is $1,600,000 at 1961 rates of production."

Udall referred to testimony by officials of Food Machinery Corporation in a hearing before the Idaho public utilities commission on a rate increase asked by that company for the 2000 plant at Pocatello.

He said they had testified that their present effective rate is 4.3 mills per kilowatt hour, but that it should be less than 6 mills per kilowatt hour for steam.

"The present basic wholesale rate is two mills at 100 percent load factor," wrote Udall, and his present industrial rate is 1.6 mill per kilowatt hour. "The present basic wholesale rate is two mills at 100 percent load factor," wrote Udall, and his present industrial rate is 1.6 mill per kilowatt hour.

He said "there are low-maintenance rate schedules which could be stimulated by other low-cost power. These include antimony, copper, lead, nickel, silver, tungsten, vanadium and titanium."

"Titanium metal, for example, requires about 18,000 kilowatt hours per ton—almost half again as much as phosphorus and about twice as much as aluminum."

"Our study will take into consideration the total requirements of all Idaho, including preference customers and non-preference customers, both inside and outside of Idaho to meet project load requirements."

Farm Prices Drop, Costs Are Growing

WASHINGTON, May 5 — Prices farmers received for crops and livestock fell nearly one per cent in the month ended April 15, the agriculture department reports.

The decline left farm prices one per cent above those of a year earlier.

The department's monthly farm price report showed that the cost of production and living supplies purchased by farmers rose one-third of one per cent during the month. This was a new monthly high.

A comparison of farm market prices and farmers' costs showed prices in April averaged 75 per cent of parity. This compares with 80 per cent in mid-March and 70 per cent in mid-April a year ago.

Partly is the price needed to put the value of commodities sold by farmers on a par with the cost of things they must buy, theoretically a fair return for their products.

The department said lower prices for milk, oranges, lettuce, eggs and chickens were chiefly responsible for the index decrease. Partially offsetting this were increases for cotton, apples, corn and wheat.

The mid-April index of prices received by farmers for crops and livestock stood at 242 per cent of the 1910-14 base period, compared with 244 per cent in mid-March and 239 per cent in mid-April a year ago.

Average hog prices for the month were $15.40 per hundredweight compared with $16 in mid-March and $16.80 in mid-April last year.

Average beef cattle prices for the month were $21.10 per hundredweight compared with $21.20 in mid-March and $20.50 in mid-April a year ago.

Average corn prices for the month were 28.8 cents per bushel compared with 30.8 cents per bushel in mid-March and 30.5 cents per bushel in mid-April of last year.

Public Is Warned Against Dumping on Federal Lands

SHOSHONE, May 5 — "It is to not these areas and put a criminal dumping of trash on federal lands in a violation of their law," states Dale H. Kinnaman, district game manager, in a special plea to the public today.

The bureau of land management, Kinnaman explains, is finding it increasingly more difficult as time goes by to stop the problem.

Areas where unauthorized dumping has been going on for years finally reached the point now where refuse of all kinds has backed up and is spilling over into main highways covering routes into scenic areas, he said, and this is extremely poor advertising for the country and people who live in it.

The bureau of land management has gone to considerable amount of expense and trouble

Rabies Poses as Constant Threat

BOISE, May 5 — "Outbreaks of rabies in wild animals and among pets, dogs and cats, is always a danger to be expected," says the Idaho Wolf Growers' League.

Idaho has not had an outbreak for a year and a half, the bulletin noted. In many parts of the United States wild animals offer the greatest threat and it is among them that rabies is found most frequently. As one of the most of the year from loss in some areas, it is through that source rabies are brought back to the states, cities and residential areas.

Programs that keep predators and control under control and limited in numbers is not only of benefit to agriculturalists and livestock people, but also, in the case of rabies, limit its spread.

Potato Seed Has Promise

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, May 5 — A potato seedling that shows promise has been turned over to the Idaho Crop Improvement association for selective field testing reports in a recent issue of Idaho Agricultural Science, published by the University of Idaho.

The seedling is a russet type identified during continued research at "A-17-7," a potato field at Lind-Sanford, regional department of agriculture potato breeders and Kenneth Knutson, Idaho state potato breeder, both Aberdeen, told the potato selection committee the seed has shown greater yield than Burbank russet in laboratory tests.

It has a higher percentage of protein than Burbank and specific gravity is on a par with the Burbank russet. In addition, it has a high resistance to verticillium wilt. It has large, round to oblong, russet tubers.

Some 30 sacks of the new potato seed "A-17-7" are being distributed by the crop improvement association to one or more foundation seed growers on a contract basis. The seed produced will be returned to the association. Cultural studies will be continuing at Aberdeen station and other stations.

Army Fights Reduction in Europe Force

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP) — The army is fighting a Pentagon proposal to bring some 40,000 troops back from Europe, it was learned today.

Informed defense department sources said the army has offered a compromise to limit the reduction in the European garrison to about 20,000 men—but in retaining even this much of a cutback.

During the Berlin crisis last fall the United States sent 40,000 men—mostly quartermaster, engineering and other support-type troops — to reinforce the U.S. army in Germany.

But then, the war in Europe had been largely leveled on a "stalemate" to "handle much of the U.S. military and financial burden."

The reinforcements boosted the army in Europe to 272,000 men. The army feels it would be unwise to go below 250,000.

A main purpose behind the reduction in the European garrison is to bring some 40,000 troops back from Europe, it was learned today.

Informed defense department sources said the army has offered a compromise to limit the reduction in the European garrison to about 20,000 men—but in retaining even this much of a cutback.

Later Polaris missiles are expected to have a range of more than 2,500 miles.

Tax Revision Bill Opposed By GOP Solon

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP)—Sen. Frank Carlson, R. Kans., said today he would like to see the senate decline to take any action this year on President Kennedy's tax revision bill.

"I don't think I will be alone in that view," said Carlson, second Republican in seniority on the senate finance committee, which now is considering the bitterly disputed legislation.

But Carlson conceded in an interview that his wish probably will not come to pass.

McNamara Unit Tightens Security on Missile Launch

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., May 5—The flashing light green satellite deactivated last week after a bitter security tussle, apparently was back under wraps today.

The air force summoned reporters to a conference where project officials were to brief them on the satellite, nicknamed ANNA, which is scheduled for launching from the Cape next week.

But 15 minutes after the news briefing was to start, only reporters had shown up. Then an air force spokesman appeared to announce that the defense department had decided to call off the pre-launch briefing. No explanation was given.

Wage Increase for Railroad Workers Poses New Worries

NEW YORK, May 5 (AP) - Another explosive economic package headed in President Kennedy's hands today, is a public board's recommendation of a wage increase for 450,000 railroad workers.

The unions involved called the suggested 103-cent-an-hour raise for nonoperating workers too low. Railroad management said it was too high.

It looked like a developing battle which the President might have to step in to settle.

The railroad issue popped up again when the President's freeze between his administration and business with a preliminary address to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

It was his first appearance before a business group since he forced the steel industry to reverse itself on a price increase.

In another development, Kennedy's committee on labor-management policy recommended that the President be given greater power to hand out strikes.

The 11 railroad unions involved in the wage dispute had asked for a 15-cent-an-hour boost. The railroads had demanded a 20 percent cut for some categories and no increase for others.

The board said its recommendation was within range of midlines suggested by the President's council of economic advisers. The proposal is not binding on either side.

Kennedy said "It is now the plain duty of both parties to settle a responsible and non-inflammatory settlement in their own and in the public interest."

Kennedy told the chamber that the government doesn't want to determine individual prices for individual products. But he spoke of the need for business to follow "responsible" pricing policies. He didn't go into details on how this should be done.

The restorer promises to "adequate level, to maintain an adequate level of employment, we must restore the economy to full activity," Kennedy said. "Our primary challenge is not how to divide the pie but how to enlarge it."

Richard Wasmser, retiring president of the chamber, followed with an address in which he said that business leadership must make certain that both business and labor will remain free to make their decisions without government intervention.

President Kennedy's committee on labor-management policy recommended that the government be given more power to deal with "industrial" boycotts of products.

Under the proposal, the President without going to court for an injunction, could declare a national emergency and order resumption of work for 30 days. The automobile industry produced evidence during the week that it was riding higher than by other industry.

Combined first-quarter profit of the five automakers totaled $293 million, compared with $123 million a year earlier. Only Ford was in the red with a $24 million dollar loss.

Pord's last company to report, earned 127.7 million dollars, or 27 percent from the 1961 first quarter, on a record $1,091,000 in sales.

Automobile production eased off to an estimated 1,100,000 units a year during the week after

Civil Rights Advancement Need Cited

NEW YORK, May 5 (AP) - Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy said today the advancement of civil rights at home is as important as the race for outer space, the race for equality, if not super-equality, in nuclear weapons.

In an address prepared for the American Jewish Committee's 55th annual meeting here, Kennedy said, "If we are to be leaders in a struggle for freedom, we must achieve a full measure of freedom and social progress for all Americans."

Kennedy spoke at a meeting where federal Judge Thurgood Marshall, recently appointed by President Kennedy to the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, was presiding the American Liberties Medalion.

Marshall's interim appointment to the appeals court has not yet been confirmed by the U.S. senate. He was cited as a "pioneering advocate of equality under the law."

Labor Unrest Is Spreading Across Spain

MADRID, Spain, May 5 (AP)—Labor unrest appeared to be spreading today in the wake of a government proclamation of a state of emergency in the northern provinces comprising an industrial hinterland. At the same time, there was a student demonstration in Madrid to back striking coal miners.

Reports from Asturias province, where around 20,000 miners have on strike for a month, said that more than 100,000 strikers had returned to work following the government action.

But in Bilbao, one of Spain's major industrial centers, strikers there seemed to be spreading to various major factories.

San Francisco, Franco—Today there is a state of emergency in the provinces of Asturias, Vizcaya and Guipuzcoa, all scenes of bitter labor disputes.

The decree suspended various functions of the Spanish bill of rights and granted emergency powers to officials wide powers in dealing with disorders or disturbances, including the right of the government from search and arrest. Strikes are illegal in Spain.

Census Leader Cites Divorces

MADISON, Wis., May 5 (AP)—About 14 out of every 1,000 women were separated from their husbands at the time of the 1960 census.

The figures were disclosed today by Dr. Paul C. Glick, chief of the social statistics branch of the U. S. Census Bureau, in a paper presented at the annual meeting of the Population Association of America.

Among women who were or had been married in 1960, Dr. Glick said, 43 per 1,000 were divorced and 31 per 1,000 were separated.

Death Toll Rises

Reuther Asks Car Industry Price Slash

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 5 (AP)—Union leader Walter Reuther said today executives and industry officials require a significant slash in car prices under terms of President Kennedy's economic stabilization formula.

Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, AFL-CIO, said in a report to the UAW's 18th convention that executives laid down by Kennedy's economic stabilization formula "directly at the auto industry and then asked to obtain a roll back of steel industry price increases. The formula also calls for price cuts in high profit industries."

Reuther said 1961 was a recession year but, even at that, General Motors could have reduced car and truck prices the equivalent of $75 a unit at retail and the Ford Motor company $225 with both firms making nine per cent return on their investment.

Instead, Reuther said, the two big auto companies earned 1961 profits half again higher than the profit of the average U. S. manufacturing concern. He said GM's profits were 16.4 per cent on investment and Ford's 14.2 per cent.

FARM WORK DOWN WASHINGTON, May 5 — Farm employment, at 5.8 million persons, registered three per cent lower during last March than a year earlier, and the lowest for the date of the same calendar year since the U. S. department of agriculture began reporting such figures, a report issued Wednesday.

The ISC officials attributed a major part of the success of the two Boise Valley education centers to the local coordinators. Established in January, 1961, the new centers have been well received with more than 261 persons enrolled in 12 courses at the Twin Falls center. 146 enrollments in nine courses at Burley. ## Now... beautiful buying days during Chevys' GOLDEN SALES JUBILEE!

Spring's a-wasting! So why wait any longer to satisfy that near-wire urge of yours? Beautiful buys have bubbled out all over the place at your Chevrolet dealer's in the best selection of sizes and azzie you'll find anywhere. Like-a-fountain Jet-smooth Corvettes. Or eleven new size Chevys II models. Or a whole crew of frisky Corvairs. So now's the time to come on in and do your picking and choosing to your heart's (and budget's) content at your Chevrolet dealer's One-Stop Shopping Center.

NEW IMPALA SPORT COUPE... It couldn't look more like a convertible unless it were one!... A steel top molded into the crisp contours of a convertible. Chalk it up to Body-by-Fisher-Rides. Then chalk up this Impala's room, richness and razz, and see if they don't add up to everything you expect in an expensive car—except the expense.

NEW CHEVY II NOVA STATION WAGON... Space and spiciness in a new kind of saver. Just one of three Chevy II wagons. Very parkable. Very packable. Too. Has a load floor over 9 ft. long with second seat and tailgate down. Lots of wagon at a low, low price.

NEW CORVAIR MONZA CLUB COUPE... The trim, sweet-handling, personal kind of car that started the bucket-seat brigade. Herd's rear engine scamper wedded to the road with tenacious traction and quick silver reflexes. And it's as easy to own as it is to drive.

NEW HEL AIR 4-DOOR SEDAN... This popular priced Jet-smooth-rides like a family room on wheels. Got a mammoth cave of a trunk too. All these family-style virtues and a choice of six or V8 skedaddle! Why wonder Chevrolet is America's favorite buy!

Sagebrush Killed to Aid Restoration of Grasses

Idaho vast sagebrush areas will someday be required to the status that existed when the first wagon train pioneers went through toward Oregon and toward California. This is the purpose of an extensive spraying project under way in this general area at the present time. Before the spraying season ends it is hoped that 20,000 acres of sage will be treated and on the way toward elimination. In fact, by fall, all treated areas will have been eliminated enough that created wheat areas little wind and no rain. Like-wise, spraying cannot take place in the heat of the day. As a result the big planes do most of their work from dawn to about 10 a.m. and from 3 p.m. to around 8 p.m. Working in the field on these projects are Elsin Price, range conservationist in charge, and Robert Shedd, range conservationist, both Burley. Jack Wilson is district BLM manager there. At the Berger project, Shedd pointed out members of the BLM crew in house trailers along the work. In most cases the trailers are spotted, far out in the desert areas and even water must be hauled in by the crew members. Shedd said that it is the opinion of experts that early pioneer groups found much grass in what are now sagebrush areas. Because of overgrazing, the

Vigilance in Arms Race Required, Attorney Says

BY O. A. (GEORGE) KRAMER Times-News Feature Editor A trip to Berlin, as in part of the NATO summit in Europe and a trip across the wall into the communist area has convinced Douglas D. Kramer, Twin Falls, that "the United States must not relax for one minute in the arms race." The local attorney, national vice chairman of the American Political Action Committee, the American League for Peace and Democracy, made the trip in Europe with a group of other officials from 17 states. At the request of the government, the men paid their own expenses and the trip was made on a chartered Pan-American plane. The journey took them through NATO member countries and communist headquarters, as well as West Berlin, East Berlin, Paris, Rome, Naples, Frankfurt, Heidelberg and Moscow. Two columns of the defense department accompanied the group. Of all the trip, the local attorney said, the most unforgettable part was the visit around and through the wall which communists and East Berlin officials have constructed to keep their citizens from escaping to the west. "The wall of Berlin is incapable of description either by words or pictures," Kramer said. "I went through the wall and saw both East and West Berlin. West Berlin is a city and American would be proud to live in. East Berlin, though occupied by over a million people, looks deserted and desolate. It is a graveyard of the living dead. There are food shortages, disease and no human spirit behind the wall. The most beautiful buildings are those of Karl Marx alley, formerly known as Stalin alley."

DISTANCE BETWEEN two ways of life, the free world and the communist world, is being indicated by Douglas D. Kramer, attorney, during an interview following his return from a visit to the Berlin wall and European areas. (Times-News photo)

There were, indeed, to declare all we saw, only five people and three automobiles on the street and were required to show their cameras. These were examined if possible. The East German police kept many autos, he declared, after the bus reached the gate. It was allowed to proceed with an East German guide in a journalistic capacity. "After we left the gate the bus proceeded through an area of public. The East German police and communists could not keep us from seeing this area. We were told we could take all the pictures we wanted but the bus did not stop for this purpose. We snapped color pictures like mad through the bus windows. Finally they were allowed to get out for picture taking on a more leisurely basis. The stop was checked. In fact they were all collected and not returned until about 45 minutes later. The bus

One Idea Results in Attraction For Tourists in Ketchum Area

KETCHUM, May 5.—An idea to make picture frames from weathered wood has grown until today this resort community has a unique family business. Guiding lights behind the business are Mr. and Mrs. Art Pyle. From the small beginning featuring the custom frames, it has grown until today it is known throughout many states and the West. Pyle has a reputation for "finishing" oils and waxes of Idaho artists. This new, and popular, phase of the business called Creekside Arts—features the exhibition of some 40 oils. Some 30 are on commission from various artists while the balance are owned by the Pyles. Among artists whose work is on display are Gilbert Clark, Rexburg, and Carl Paulk, Hellier. Paulk is a new artist who is fast attracting attention for his pieces which run from figure studies to landscapes. But-olls are not the only objects displayed as work of Idaho residents. For instance, laminated glass, glass articles and painted ceramics by Mrs. Gertrude Dean, Pyle, are to be found in the shop as are table lamps made from wood chipped by leavers. These are hand made by Lowell Beck, Ketchum. The business has become a clearing house for such articles. But among outsiders, the place is mostly known for the weathered wood picture frames. West Berlin Saddened as Clay Departs

BERLIN, May 5.—"I thought he was going to leave my arm behind." A friend of Gen. Lucius D. Clay was talking about the way Germany has been treated since the day the world was seeking a last chance to shake his hand. Clay generates affection among ordinary Berliners. They remember him as the man who created the 1948 airlift. When he made his appearance on May 5, he told 700,000 Berliners he would not say goodbye "now or ever, for Berlin is too much a part of me ever to leave." # Game Department Workers Complete Service Training Schooling at Boise

By JIM HUNTER
BOISE, May 5 — Conservation officers and most other field personnel of the Idaho fish and game department this year again completed the seventh annual intensive training school, which is held in Boise at the University of Idaho.

One of the big hurdles in developing all-around fish and wildlife workers within the department is the natural human tendency to feel that one's own job is more important than the other fellow's work. This attitude stems mainly from these people's own examination. One of the big hurdles in developing all-around fish and wildlife workers within the department is the natural human tendency to feel that one's own job is more important than the other fellow's work. This attitude stems mainly from these people's own examination.

Ernest Swift, Wisconsin conservation advisor and past president of the National Game Warden's Association, puts it this way: "In addition to knowing all the details of the trade in law enforcement, the officer should be well grounded in the biological field of fish and game, and have a working knowledge of forestry and land management. All these specialties develop him into the overall field man that he should be. By virtue of these additional attributes he will be less of a cop than a conservationist."

The forester and sportsman groups and search, information and education, restoration, law enforcement. Without these other men, no are all merely tools—and each society can be managed to the has its own important part in the C.O. does not have a working knowledge of the other fellow's job. For example, conservation of enforcement problems must cooperate to the fullest with fish-cris, such, biologists, as well as other state and federal agencies, to name a few. They also need to be in touch with other local people.

The job of managing people both his personal success and the can be done only if the personnel of the department are convinced that the entire program is sound, not just their particular jobs. To be convinced of this, they must know how each job fits into the overall management program. Swift puts it this way: "In interviewing a candidate, a director should ask himself: Will this man understand the job as a public servant? Will he be a good team worker, or a participant in this question? Will this man understand the job as a public servant? Will he be a good team worker, or a participant in this question? Will this man understand the job as a public servant? Will he be a good team worker, or a participant in this question?"

The annual intensive training school is designed to do this by means of lectures, classroom work and field exercises. The men also have been examining more than 100 specimens of their own work. They will be graded on each of these specimens before they can advise the bar, far into the night.

HISTORIC OLD BUILDING in Ketchum, cleaned up and remodeled but with the "old flavor" left alone, now houses the newly family business in the resort area. It all started when Mr. and Mrs. Art Pyle got the idea to make custom picture frames from weathered wood taken from old structures. The idea caught on and soon the frames were being sold far and wide. The couple decided to add aspiring artists by offering a cleaning house for their work. (Times-News photo)

Pyle by the old strip wood and replace it with new, and in one case it was obtained when they purchased an old, weather-beaten privy which was constructed in 1918.
Some frames have been sold through advertising in national magazines but mostly, the owners say, the sales have come by word of mouth.
"Someone sees one of these interesting and unique frames hanging on a wall of a friend's home and wants to buy one for his home," Pyle said.
The building in which the business is located is as unique as the frame idea.
It was owned by a pioneer of the Ketchum area and down through the years had served many businesses.
At one time or another it had been a Chinese laundry, a millinery store, a laundry, a haberdashery, a cafe, a men's clothing store and prior to occupancy by the Pyles it was a saloon. Since taking over the structure, extensive remodeling has been done by Pyle and his wife, Lorraine. They did the work themselves and have preserved the "atmosphere" of the structure.
The building was erected prior to 1900 and, when making a new

Award Given By Chamber For Oakley

OAKLEY, May 5.—HIGHLIGHT of the dinner meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Thursday night at the Arctic cafe, was the awarding of the stereo radio set to Raddon Layton.
A three-way tie resulted in the closest guess of the estimated height of the Oakley reservoir at the opening of the irrigation season. Max Dayley, Burley; Billy Haines and Layton, Oakley, all guessed 95.33 gauge height. The exact height was 95.20 and final driving was held for the three with Layton winning.
Money collected on the project will be turned into the swimming pool fund.
The group discussed further means of raising money to help with the pool. Public auctions will be held and booklets of swimming pool admission tickets will be sold. The chamber would like to place a "booklet" in each home in Oakley.
According to chamber officials, within the last month nearly 8,000 has been sold and plans are going ahead to complete all the "element" work soon. Grant Sullivan gave an estimate of the cost of the concrete which is left to finish. Donations and help in finishing of the pool are still needed to complete it during the summer.

Water Rotation Set for Oakley

OAKLEY, May 3.—Rotation of city water must be put into effect immediately, it was decided when the village board met Wednesday night. It will be on the same basis as last year with the division being on the north and south side of Main street again.
The storage tank is completely full but everyone knows it is at the same time and the tank can't supply all that is needed, officials pointed out.
The board announced that repairs to some of the pipeline will be done as soon as supplies arrive.
The board also announced that three new tables have been built and will be placed on the city park as soon as they are painted.

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT Businessman Mixes Love of Old Autos With Volunteer Community Services

If you are cruising down the highway and a 1928 Buick sedan goes by — one way or another — Fred W. Van Engelen will probably be at the wheel.
This 35-year-old native of Idaho and a Twin Falls resident, drives the old car and is active in the Horace Carriage club as a hobby. And sometimes because of his participation in the various civic activities in this area, he does not find time to pursue the hobby as much as he would like.
Secretary-treasurer of Van Engelen, Inc., a family owned business, he is following in the footsteps of his father, W. A. Van Engelen, who entered business in Idaho in Burley in 1916. The father was also a native son, being born when the area was still Idaho territory.
The family department stores were formerly operated in Burley, American Falls and Twin Falls but three years ago the Burley store was sold to a brother of the founder and the other two stores now constitute the family holdings.
Born in Twin Falls, young Van Engelen went through the local school system and then attended and graduated from the University of Idaho. He majored in business with a minor in horticulture.
While at the university he met Nancy Livingston, Buhl, and they married after both had graduated. A former teacher at Washington school, Mrs. Van Engelen still substitutes.
After his marriage and entrance into the family business, he became interested in various community activities including the Scouts. At present time he is on the committee of troop 70, First Church of Christ Scientist.
For four years he was Scoutmaster of troop 48, appeared at the Scout's key award ceremony last year. He has also been granted the 15 year veteran pin in Scouting and the Scout's key award.
In addition to his donated work along this line he has also worked for the city of Burley, No. 45, AF and AM, and since the Dilettante group first organized has been aiding in continuing the various projects.
His old car hobby fits right into his interest in local history and he is a member of the Twin Falls County Historical Society. Community work has included participation in the various drives of the YMCA and YWCA, the Camp Fire Girls and the Boy Scouts.
Concerning all the various drives for funds which businessmen of the city for Van Engelen has some pretty definite ideas. Personally he would like to see a return to one big fund drive to aid all organizations. But this method, he points out, has drawbacks because some units do not have the money they need. However, he feels that the local driver, for one reason or another, will never get together for one united effort. Rather, he believes, collections will continue much like the present.
But getting back to his old car hobby: He also owns, in addition to the Buick, a 1928 Chevrolet four-door sedan which he still has to put into working order.
It is the Stutz, however, that is his pride and joy. He drives it to various parades and outings throughout the summer of months.
He bought the car for $100 and only recently he was offered $1,800 for it but decided not to sell. The car was formerly owned by the late James MacDonald, one of Idaho's richest men. He had homes at Boise, Bellevue and in the Stanley basin country and he kept the car at Bellevue for the trips over California summits.
The old car still has got up and go. Van Engelen has nursed it up to a speed of 68 miles an hour but it cost him $68. The motor wears a rod and the labor to repair it totaled $40 with the cost making up the rest of the bill.
Probably the big event in the car's life since he acquired it was the day all the Van Engelen boys and girls went for a ride at one time. As Fred wrote, his brother, Robert A. Van Engelen, Buhl, squeezed into the machine and the same time were four other boys. Mrs. J. H. (Dorothy) Domo-

PARADISE proves to be quite an fruitful for Elzo Watkins, of the Early Bird Game Farm. Watkins has three peacocks at the farm located south of Twin Falls near the sugar factory. Watkins has several species of pheasant, a set of Canadian henkers and mallard ducks on the farm. Raising the birds is a hobby of Watkins, but he could go into commercial production market variety. (Times-News photo)

Raising of Wild Upland Game Birds is Just Hobby at T.F. Bird Farm

Because of the abundance of pheasant pheasants available for the sport to shoot there is little demand for pheasants on a commercial basis. Therefore, Elzo Watkins is keeping a few pheasants in a hobby. Watkins, president of the Early Bird Game Farm, has both state and federal permits for the selling, breeding and handling of game birds. He has a considerable number of pheasants and ducks on the farm. The law was so restrictive, he says, that he had to get a permit to raise certain types of pheasants. The following year, he says, he was able to raise a few more pheasants. He also has some Hungarian partridges, some Guinea birds and three peacocks.

Over the years Watkins has made several observations concerning upland game birds. The Canadian henkers have a strong homing instinct. Henkers mate for life. For example, the female henker sets a nest of eggs a few years ago. The next year the offspring were still young as the female didn't lay any eggs that year. The following year the male killed one of the offspring due to the female's infidelity.

IDAHO POWER REPORTS

IDAHO POWER REPORTS FROM OUR
Annual Shareowners' Meeting
AT POCATELLO, MAY 2, 1962

Because electric service is an important part of daily life affecting every family, you may be interested in the following resume of information presented to Idaho Power Company shareowners during the past week.

INCREASE IN USE OF ELECTRICITY
Homes, businesses, farms and industries served by the Company in the Snake River Valley are using nearly 2 1/2 times the amount of electricity required ten years ago. There has been no shortage.

NEW INVESTMENT IN ELECTRIC FACILITIES
To provide abundant power for a growing area in advance of every need, Idaho Power has invested $207,000,000 since 1952 in generating, transmission and distribution facilities. The Oxbow project was completed last year.

POWER EXPANSION CONTINUES
During the next ten years Idaho Power expects to invest an additional $180,000,000 to provide for future electrical requirements of the area.

AVERAGE PRICE OF ELECTRICITY DECREASES
Idaho Power's proudest record of accomplishment is the fact that the average price of a kilowatt-hour has decreased in these post-World War II years, while prices of nearly every other service and commodity have risen sharply. Of particular significance is the approximately 46 per cent decrease in the average kilowatt-hour cost to industrial customers of the Company since 1948.

The Company has resisted inflation on behalf of its customers, although experiencing its effects in the increasing costs it has absorbed, far more successfully than nearly any other type of business.

Here is the record:

Success for Latin Plans Threatened

BUENOS AIRES—Argentina, May 5 (AP)—Nagging, bickering and confusion threaten trouble for the Kennedy administration's bold gamble to bolster Latin America.

If the Alliance for Progress should be down, boomers-effects could be far more painful even than the strict U.S. policy in Cuba last year. Alliance sources admit there are indications they complain of lack of enthusiasm and cooperation from some of the governments that might benefit the most.

Time is the critical element in the Kennedy program to invest Latin American nations to help themselves. The plan was ratified last August. The United States offered 10 billion dollars to be matched over 10 years by a similar amount from private and foreign investors. But this was not to be just a 20-billion-dollar program. The aim was to make it a Latin-American job. Over a "10-year" period, the 10 participating nations would be expected to devote 10 billion dollars toward curing their own ills.

Nineteen Latin finance ministers agreed with the idea that reforms in some instances are necessary to bring the nations to an even distribution system and the hated inflation—handicapped—system would be necessary in this attack on centuries-old poverty, illiteracy and backwardness.

Wealthy classes are resisting reforms in many areas. Government in some instances are necessary as dressing their feet. Many countries have the necessary laws on the books, but little is being done.

Here are some of the principal complaints heard in Latin America, along with alliance sources' replies:

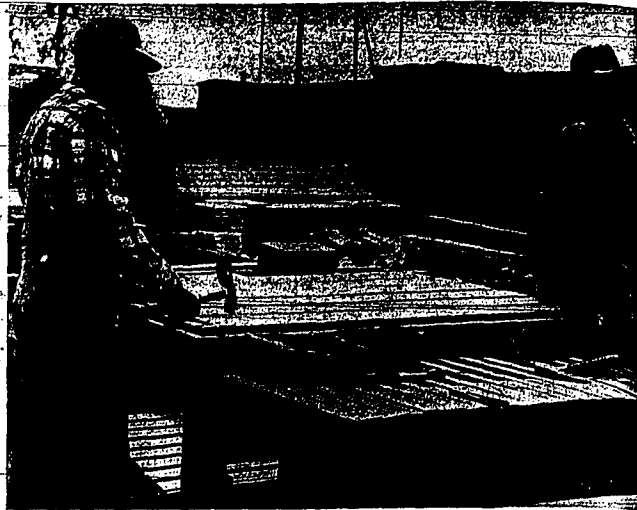

1. The alliance has failed to get its message across to Latin America.

The reply: Conceded, but this is basically a job for the Latin American governments themselves. It cannot be presented as just a U.S. effort.

2. There is lack of coordination among agencies involved in getting the program on the rails. Even a pro-alliance source claims lack of planning is accompanied by a superabundance of surveys and investigations.

The reply: U.S. taxpayers' money is involved. The program proposed must make sense before money can be committed.

3. While wealthy classes resist reforms, heavy pressures from the left make governments wary of too public an involvement with the United States. Anything even smacking of U.S. interference is open to violent attack. Yet, insistence on reforms as an

BUILDING PALLETs has become a profitable business at Reynolds Construction company, Twin Falls. A crew of 10 men is kept busy on a year round basis constructing pallets for various firms in the Intermountain area. A chance request for pallets started an investigation that has since led to a full-time small industry for Twin Falls. Investigation showed that there was no real source of supply for pallets in the area so Reynolds seized the opportunity and went into business. Putting the finishing touches on a pallet are Frank Rogulinski, left, and Eldon Mori. (Times-News photo)

Strange Fish Purchased by Traveler Replaces Another Lost Years Ago

Ten years ago Mrs. C. L. Mortensen, 1417 Fifth avenue east, lost a fish. Today she has another to take its place. Only trouble is that the present fish and the previous one were different. In fact both were very different either separately or together.

The one she has now is called a devil fish. It is unique to say the least. About the only change from the creature from the original state is that the entrails have been removed. It has been dried in the sun and a portion of the body has been split to give the impression of two fish.

The part of the fish you look at as it is mounted on a piece of black board background to show it off, is the underside. It almost looks like a human body in miniature and at first glance proves to be a bit shocking to Mrs. Mortensen's friends.

She picked up the fish during a recent trip she and her husband made to Guaymas, Mexico. Although actually purchased this side of the border the fish actually comes from the Gulf of California. The woman Mrs. Mortensen bought it from makes her living catching the fish, drying them in the sun and disposing of them to tourists. She dries them on a sixchale surrounded in her house.

The local woman started her collection of odds and ends 10 years ago at the time she and her husband first visited old Mexico. Scores of sea shells were picked up on that trip and are now neatly mounted on display racks in her home.

This most recent trip, in addition to the strange devil fish, she brought home a quantity of various types of cactus plants and has arranged them in an outdoor display.

This hobby is not expensive, is interesting and is fun to pursue," Mrs. Mortensen said.

But what about that other fish she collected 10 years ago? That is a story in itself.

She bought it at Guaymas and brought it all the way back to Twin Falls. It was called a lantern or porcupine fish.

Upon reaching home the family auto was unloaded and many articles, including the fish, were laid on the floor until a better place could be found. The better place in the case of the lantern fish should have been found first. Because a cat or dog (Mrs. Mortensen is not sure which) appeared with the fish in short order. It has taken her 10 years to start another strange fish collection.

Chance Request Starts Local Company On Way to Constructing Wood Pallets

An unusual request in the construction business has turned out to be a minor industry in Twin Falls.

When Reynolds Construction company was putting the finishing touches on the potato processing plant here they were asked to build some pallets.

Pallets are the wooden platforms that many companies use to stack goods on—and these stacks are easily moved from place to place by means of a fork lift truck.

The first request was for Reynolds to build 3000 pallets. How condition in itself is a form of interference.

Reply: U.S. aid is not the essential element. Lack of action or cooperation by Latin governments can spell failure for the alliance.

The key word for the alliance may be "impotence."

It is a 10-year program but expectations have been aroused for swift results. If these results fail to show up, new and serious pressures on governments are expected.

ard Reynolds, owner of Reynolds construction, took it from there. Investigation proved that there were two places between the Pacific and the Atlantic coasts that built and furnished pallets.

Pallet construction has become a profitable sideline for the local company.

At the present time Reynolds keeps a crew of 10 men busy building the portable wooden platforms. In addition it keeps one salesman busy. The monthly payroll averages about $5,000.

Pallet building not only adds additional payroll to the community, but greatly offsets the seasonal work element in the construction business. Pallet building is at its peak during the late winter and early spring months.

Most of the lumber that is used in pallet building is furnished locally and Reynolds estimates that they cut about 150,000 board feet a month.

The growing processing plants in southern Idaho is increasing demands for more pallets. Reynolds is able to furnish any type and style of pallet.

Some companies like expendable pallets and others desire the permanent kind. Many need compact, fasturing storage, are using fork lift trucks and pallet stacking. The number is increasing," says Reynolds.

"We can furnish samples, drawings and ideas, what ever the customer is looking for in the way of pallets," Reynolds said.

According to Reynolds, the business grew by accident. The more they investigated, the more they saw that they could compete and be an extra source of supply that the coast manufacturers.

The pallets are made on an assembly line basis. So many men cut the lumber and so many men nail them together. A power nailer is used along side the men. The crew is currently building 7000 pallets for Carnation Can company, Hanpan.

If business continues upward, Reynolds foresees a need for twice as many pallets to be manufactured.

West Berlin Saddened as Clay Departs

civilian officials were reported into East Berlin to be armed escort. American was understood to support the opposition.

Tech Soviets ordered by their own tanks. Soviet and American forces faced each other for uncomfortable hours.

Then the Soviet tanks withdrew, and so did the American. Clay doesn't see any permanent solution to the problem. Communists in Germany are working hard against their economy compared toward the other communist states.

"When they're acceptable that," he said, "they'll be positioned to harness German clerics and freight moving to Berlin and West Germany."

He estimates it will take before the communists shape to risk the reprisals could be expected from Germany against such a movement.

PLAN 27B. NOT COULDN'T I NEED MY BUTTERFLY NET AND STOP WATCH?

HUH?

WATCH

LEAVE US SALLY FORTH IN SEARCH OF SUSTENANCE!

I'M STARVIN' AN' YER CHASIN' BUTTERFLIES! YA MUST BE CRACKIN' UP!

PATIENCE, BUNNYBOR! WE SHALL SOON TASTE THE JUICY SUCCULENCE OF FRESH APPLE PIE!

MY PLAN'S SUCCESS IS BASED ON THE FACT THAT SCHNOOGLE HAS A VIOLENT TEMPER... OBSERVE!

SCHNOOGLE'S PIES

QUIT YAKKIN' IN CIRCLES!

SCHNOOGLE'S PIE CRUSTS STRETCH LIKE RUBBER... THE FILLINGS TASTE LIKE WHALE BLUBBER!

BRAACK!

NOW TO START THE STOP WATCH!

I ALWAYS KNEW YA WAS A SILLY FELINE, BUT THIS IS RIDICULOUS!

PREVIOUS EXPERIENCE HAS ESTABLISHED THAT SCHNOOGLE TAKES EXACTLY 15 SECONDS TO GRAB A PIE AND HURL IT IN THIS DIRECTION!

NOW I GET IT!

HMM, THE PIE SHOULD HAVE ARRIVED BY NOW! I WONDER IF HE DIDN'T HEAR ME!

I'LL HAVE ANOTHER GO AT IT!

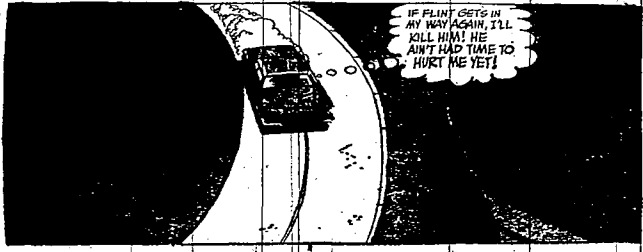

SCHNOOGLE'S PIE CRUSTS STRETCH!

SPLAT!

EITHER SCHNOOGLE'S TIMING IS OFF OR THIS STOP WATCH REPAIRING!
