Filibuster Attempt Blocked

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (UPI)—The senate by a slim margin today blocked down a filibuster attempt to sidetrack President Kennedy's space communications bill for other legislation.

The senate today voted 50 to 47 to block a motion by Sen. Wayne Morse, D., Ore., to amend the bill for consideration of the foreign relations committee.

The senate then upheld Senate Minority Leader Hubert H. Hoover's decision that the issue should be referred to the committee to regulate or veto legislation.

Even though a second filibuster attempt to sidetrack the bill in the last month of the session.

Morse's amendment to the senate would make it possible for as few as 75 senators—one more than a majority of a quorum—would be needed to block the bill.

Morse had asked the senate to consider the bill for consideration of the bill.

The bill would be taken up on Aug. 15.

Dulles Says Red Position Is Vulnerable

(SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 10) - Allen W. Dulles, former central intelligence agency chief, said Thursday he believes the communist position is becoming more and more vulnerable.

He said his study of intensive study of communism and all its works had made him a confirmed optimist, without any doubt of freedom's eventual victory.

"Over-all the free world has a military superiority," Dulles told the American Bar association convention.

"But I am speaking rather of the material superiority and the weaknesses that the system is showing - of the fact that some of the ways to reach for the early evangelic, fanatical drive of communism.

"My confidence in the future is also based on the increasing evidence from inside Russia that the revolution is falling to counter its grand strategy. The educated generation twice removed from Lenin and the Bolsheviks is being raised."

Dulles said communism now is a tarnished thing. "It can never really live down Stalin's record of terror."

Although their regime tethers them little, the educated Russians have learned enough in other ways to yearn for some of the advantages they associate with life in America and the West, he said.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10—The so-called liberals on Capitol Hill have begun to discover that they disagree almost everything from the administration's communications satellite bill, through the possible Democratic candidate against Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, and the administration's proposals to give the country's 30-year-olds, and they have no real common ground.

Equal Status Needed

Decades after the last Indian took a white scalp in the West, the United States still has an Indian problem that remains unsolved. It all goes back to the days when the noble redmen had finally been overwhelmed by hordes of settlers streaming westward. Something had to be done with the Indians, so the Great White Father devised the program of establishing reservations. Many were designated in formal treaties that still exist today.

But the time came long ago when the Indians should have been given their choice of whether they wanted to be treated as foreigners subject to treaty or have full and equal status as American citizens. It is unfair to other Americans that the delay is going to result in greater complications because the Indian population is increasing by leaps and bounds. In the 10 years from 1950 to 1960, the Indian population increased from 357,499 to 623,591. There can be only adequate heads-ifs at the rate of increase.

The first step should be abolishing the various reservations about the nation. Individual Indians should be given personal title to whatever reservation lands they farm or otherwise use personally. Any Indian who does not want to revert to the public domain. At the same time, Indians should be given full and equal status under the law in all respects.

Such action would solve at least two critical problems that have come to light in the last few years. The state police patrolman pointed out that state police are powerless to enforce traffic regulations on the Fort Hall Indian reservation. They have authority only on the interstate highway that crosses reservation lands.

Another problem came to light several years ago on the same reservation. At one time, there was a considerable herd of elk on mountain portions of the reservation. Taking advantage of treaty provisions which specified Indians could hunt and fish on the reservation at any time, certain Indians openly killed elk out of season. A test case resulted in the decision that the Indians did have the right to hunt and fish at any time and weren't subject to any state regulations in the few years since that decision, the elk herd has disappeared.

Here is a type of immunity never contemplated when Indian reservations were first established. It also was impossible to foresee development of auto traffic and other modern programs. Either the reservation approach is right or it's wrong. If it's right, Indians would be restricted to the confines of their particular reservation and enjoy full use of it in accordance with treaties. But unless the treaties specify the Indians have the right of reservation, they should not be permitted off it.

But the liberals from the North and other sections favor the Kennedy plan. Their attitude is determined not only by a desire to support the President, but also by their need to cater to private business and financial interests in their areas.

The corporations that would participate in an expanded "rotar" system under the administration would be stockholders and economic connections in the Northeast and Middle West that they do in Senator Gore's Tennessee or Senator Morse's Oregon.

PRECEDENT FOR ATOMIC POWER—Although it has not been emphasized yet, the real center of the controversy is a world communications system is the forerunner of a fight over the handling of atomic power. The nature of energy becomes available for commercial use in industry, transportation and defense.

On the same premise which they advance in the present controversy, and which they have supported with respect to the development of atomic energy, the liberals would insist on a federal atomic monopoly, however, as is happening today, the liberals would have the right of ownership and operation and ownership under strict federal supervision.

NO UNITY—The liberals also split on the conduct of relations with Russia and the communist world generally. Some support the Kennedy program of keeping open all diplomatic channels to the communist world, while others demand a complete break in relations, and insist upon the "master of the situation" being the United States.

The cause of the incident was the celebration of Franco's 21st birthday. The liberals reflected recently in an amazing demonstration on the house floor. Strangely enough, its significance was missed only by Robert F. Kennedy, who in the Washington bureau of a newspaper not beloved by Moscow—the Wall Street Journal.

STRANGE TRIBUTES—His eulogists included Rep. Emanuel Celler of Brooklyn, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee; Michael K. DeLoach, chairman of the House Intelligence Committee, and William Green, boss of the Democratic machine in Philadelphia.

But "Big Jim" gets no consideration from the Roosevelt-Lehman-Wagner circle because he is "too conservative."

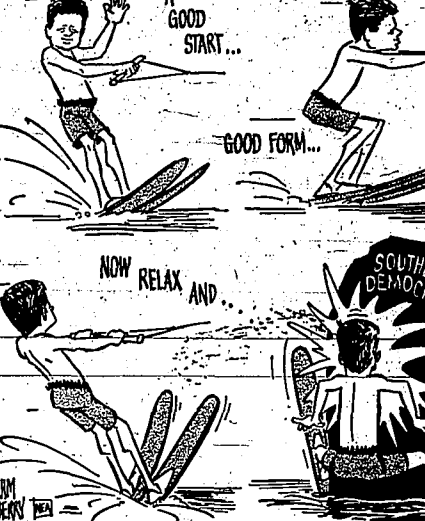

SPLIT ON 'BIG JIM'—The contrasting attitudes toward "Big Jim" vary, of course, as individuals are distinguished by their positions relative to the distance within the liberal family. Hardly a week passes that a member of the liberal family reads in the editorial in the Congressional Record, calling on New York Democrats to nominate him for governor.

Among the eye-openers and their sympathizers who went to Moscow from young countries to attend the 21st anniversary of the revolution were a few naive young men and women who thought the meeting was on the level. Their chief mistake was to assume that because they attempted to parade with banners in Red Square condemning Soviet as well as Anglo-American nuclear tests, they would be treated with respect from the Soviet Union.

THE WEARABLE SHOES
It is one thing, however, to let people talk more or less in private and another to display banners criticizing the Soviet government in Red Square before the eyes of the world.

Among the more incredible names that have popped up in the scandal of Billie Sol Estes is that of Barefoot Sanders. His connection with the Estes case is the subject of an editorial in the State Attorney in Dallas who has been trying to untangle the skein of Billie Sol's financial web. For some time, Sanders has been the New York Herald Tribune, wanted to meet Barefoot, and not only to talk about the Estes case, but also to discuss the Estes case.

It does not appear that any of this foretells a government change or the forcing of general elections in Britain. It does foretell a long period of adjustment, as the United States recognizes a worst, in British affairs.

There already have been forebodings among close observers of western politics because the United States and Britain seem to be entering a period of competition with their different effect on effective policy making.

Completion of Water Well Is Initial Step in Building of Research Center

First step leading to construction of the soil and water conservation research laboratory east of Kimberly has been completed with drilling of a water well.

The well, drilled under contract by Boley, Henry and Weech, well drillers, has been sunk to a depth of 300 feet and a 12-hour pumping test produced a steady 100 gallons per minute flow.

Water will be used principally for air conditioning and other domestic use in connection with laboratory buildings.

The buildings will be erected at an estimated cost of $650,000. They will provide working headquarters for some 20 or more trained professional scientists and around 50 non-professional workers.

The operation is under direction of the U.S. department of agriculture.

Bids for construction were scheduled for opening Thursday with announcement of winners expected about Sept. 1 following review.

Land for the extensive project was furnished by a joint fund raising venture of the Twin Falls and Kimberly Chambers of Commerce.

Feed Grain Supply Is Decreasing

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 — The department of agriculture estimates the total feed grain supply for the 1962-63 marketing season will be 211 million tons, about seven per cent less than in 1961-62.

This would be the second year of declining supplies after a steady increase for most of the past decade.

The department said the smaller supply in prospect is the result of smaller carryover stocks and a further reduction in the acreage of feed grains.

The carryover of feed grains into 1962-63 is expected to total about 73 million tons, 12 million tons less than a year earlier.

Production is expected to be slightly more than 137 million tons, about three million tons less than in 1961.

Beef Carcass Event Added To Fair Plan

An open beef carcass contest has been added to the Twin Falls county fair program. The contest is limited to 10 animals and entries should be made to the Twin Falls county agent by August 31.

The contest will give area beef growers an opportunity to judge for themselves the quality and kind of beef the packer and buyer is seeking. Independent judges have agreed to purchase the animals used in the contest on a yield basis.

The animals will be on display at the fair in a special corral by 8 a.m. Sept. 6 near the beef barn. Judging of the animals will be at 9 a.m. Sept. 6 under the supervision of the University of Idaho. The animals will then be taken to Independent Meat company where they will be slaughtered by Idaho U.S. government meat inspectors.

The carcasses will then be displayed at the fairgrounds Sept. 8 and cuts of meat will be shown. Special emphasis will be given to the rib which determines the quality of beef.

Ransen, Inc. Buhl will provide the trophy in the contest which is sponsored by the Idaho Cattle Feeders association in cooperation with Independent Meat company and the county fair board.

Further inquiry on the contest can be obtained from the county agent's office. Because the contest was late in getting started, it won't be listed in the Fair book.

Terramycin Available in Small Doses

FORT WORTH, Tex., Aug. 10.—Terramycin injectable solution in a new 50 cubic centimeter size is being marketed by the Laboratories, a division of Ciba-Geigy and Company, Inc. The new size permits owners of small groups of animals and poultry to obtain the broad spectrum antibiotic in a 50 cubic centimeter size, in which the product is also available. Ciba-Geigy's Terramycin injectable solution is one of the first antibiotics shown to have a specific action against streptococci, a disease of cattle infecting the red blood cells and causing anemia, lameness, weakness and emaciation. The disease is transmitted by insects such as ticks, house flies, and mosquitoes and by instruments which have not been properly sterilized.

The new injectable solution also may be used in the treatment and control of anthrax, blackleg, malignant edema, shipping fever, tetanus, strangles, bacterial infections, respiratory infections, foot rot, wound infections and other diseases associated with organisms susceptible to terramycin treatment. The new Terramycin solution is a sterile, ready-to-use antibiotic designed to treat infections caused by terramycin susceptible organisms in beef cattle, swine, calves, pigs, sheep, lambs, and poultry. Because of its effective antimicrobial activity, it is used in the prevention and treatment of a wide range of bacterial diseases in almost all animals.

Doses of the injectable solution range from one cubic centimeter in chickens and turkeys to from one to 50 cubic centimeters in swine, sheep and beef cattle.

Magic Valley Agriculture Teachers Study Gas Engine Repair at School

DISCUSSING some of the questions that arise during repair of small gasoline engines is Carter Luther, Jerome, Ralph M. Gray, University of Idaho agriculture engineer; Dave Jensen, Hartsburg, and Robert Hayes, University of Idaho agriculture engineer. A special two day workshop was held in Twin Falls with vocational agriculture instructors from Magic Valley participating. The course aimed at bringing the instructors up to date on many changes being experienced in small engine repair, maintenance, and overhaul. The interesting use of small engines makes it necessary that vocational agriculture students know how to cope with problems that may arise in such repair work. (Times-News photo.)

Agriculture Engineer Writes Pamphlet on Drying of Grain

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 10.—Need for the mechanized storage and market preparation of grain is emphasized in an authoritative 20-page illustrated booklet, "In-Storage Grain Drying on the Farm," which has been prepared by Dr. H. E. Barr, consulting agricultural engineer. More and more farmers are becoming interested in on-farm grain drying and conditioning. With its use the farmer handles grain fewer times, saves time and labor—he can harvest earlier and avoid field losses; he can stop spoilage in storage.

In his booklet Dr. Barr explains the conditions necessary for safe storage for all kinds of grains. He also gives details and shows how to operate a program for more profitable results, as well as outlining the various methods of drying grain in storage bins.

Valuable daily fill-rate tables for many grain varieties are included in the booklet. Purpose of the booklet is to discuss the principal ways in which the in-storage drying system can be used to operate for best results, as well as to present briefly the principles underlying this system.

The author has an extensive agricultural background extending back to the central Kansas farm where he was born and reared. He holds a BS degree in agricultural engineering from Kansas State university and MS and Ph.D. degrees in applied physics and agricultural engineering from Iowa State university.

For 13 years a member of the Iowa State agricultural engineering research staff including million pounds were lamb and mutton, down six per cent from 1961.

Production was down one per cent during January-June in comparison with a year ago. During the same period the number of cattle slaughtered was one per cent above 1961.

A comparison shows fewer head slaughtered for each class except sheep and lambs, which nearly doubled over a year ago. The average live weight per head of cattle slaughtered was the same as a year ago while calves were heavier and hogs and sheep were lighter.

In the United States, production of red meat in commercial slaughter plants during June totaled 2,234 million pounds, some three per cent below June, 1961. This was seven per cent below May, 1962. Commercial meat production included slaughter in federally inspected and other commercial slaughter plants and excludes farm slaughter.

Production of red meat in the United States for the first six months totaled 12,881 million pounds. This was two per cent above the same corresponding year's year ago. Of this total, 7,390 million pounds were beef, up one per cent; 448 million pounds were veal, down four per cent; 5,040 million pounds were pork, up five per cent and 596

Farmers Are Borrowing More Money

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—A new survey by the Federal Reserve Board shows that farmers borrowed more money in the first seven months of 1962 than in the same period last year.

Pesky Birds Can Be Discouraged With Traps, Flashers During Harvest Time

EXAMINING HOME-MADE bird trap is Orlo McEwen, left, and Leslie Fickel at the University of Idaho branch experiment station, Kimberly. The trap is a six-foot cube. The wire forms a V in the top of the trap and holes have been cut to allow easy entry into the trap. Once the birds are in the trap they can't get out.

Farmers aren't the only creatures on this earth that harvest wheat. In fact, many times he has a real competitor for his own crops. Sparrows and other types of birds find the ripened wheat to their liking. Often a farmer can walk the edges of his wheat fields and see the damage birds do to crops. Harvesting the wheat solves only a portion of the problem. The wheat must be stored in a "bird tight" granary.

Typical of the type of trap that can be built is the one constructed by Orlo McEwen at the University of Idaho branch experiment station at Kimberly. The trap is a six-foot cube with a mesh wire top and a small opening and flared out the cut wire. This permits easy downward entry. Once the bird is in the trap it can't fly straight up without contacting one of the flared wires.

McEwen recommends using good grain for bait. He tried poisoned wheat but it proved unsuccessful as one or two dead birds in the cage would discourage others from entering. McEwen gets rid of the birds by placing a plastic sack over a small hole in the side of the trap and drives the birds into it. The birds are then gassed with carbon monoxide.

Using amber and white lights, this flasher keeps birds from building nests in eaves of farm buildings. Some 325 of materials were used by Orlo McEwen at the University of Idaho branch experiment station, Kimberly, to build the unit. The flasher, if used properly, makes the birds nervous and they soon leave the building. The lights revolve at 200 revolutions per minute. (Times-News photo)

North Idaho Has Low Wheat Total

BOISE, Aug. 10.—Stocks of wheat on hand in commercial storages in Idaho on July 1 totaled 2,770,000 bushels, according to the U.S. department of agriculture crop reporting service. Stocks at this level are 27 per cent less than July 1 a year ago. Of the July 1 total, only 1,270,000 bushels, or six per cent, were located in north Idaho. This is the lowest July 1 stock of available record for north Idaho.

Current wheat stocks in the Pacific Northwest, Oregon, Washington and north Idaho, are 52 per cent less than a year ago. The supply is 28,939,000 bushels.

"Flasher" is a mechanical device that revolves a light into the area where the nests are. The flashing lights make the birds nervous and they soon leave. McEwen points out that there are many commercial flashers on the market. However, if one has a small electric motor, and if somewhat handy, a home-made flasher will suffice and is inexpensive.

Basically a flasher is simply a box that revolves around a light with holes into the box and a small electric motor, and if somewhat handy, a home-made flasher will suffice and is inexpensive.

McEwen's home-made flasher was constructed from scraps and he estimates that he has less than $25 investment in it. It hasn't eliminated the birds, but it has helped considerably.

Slaughter of Red Meat in Idaho Climbs

BOISE, Aug. 10.—Commercial slaughter plants in Idaho produced an estimated 12,234 million pounds of red meat during June, according to the U.S. department of agriculture crop reporting service.

Production at this level is eight per cent above a month ago but nearly four per cent below last year.

The accumulative January-June red meat production for 1962 at 74,053,000 pounds is four per cent above the corresponding period in 1961. The June 1962 dressed weight was below a year ago for all classes except sheep and lambs.

A comparison shows fewer head slaughtered for each class except sheep and lambs, which nearly doubled over a year ago.

Production of red meat in the United States for the first six months totaled 12,881 million pounds. This was two per cent above the same corresponding year's year ago. Blaine Infest Blaine County

BLAINE, Aug. 10.—Roland Nelson, University of Idaho extension entomologist, and Norman Blaine county have made a survey of aphid, grain aphids and beetles in Blaine county. He reports that ten farmers in the valley have found money "spaying" their grain because of high infestation of grain aphids. This is the first time in the history of the county that such action has been necessary.

Infestation of pea aphids in Blaine county was not common last year because of heavy enough to justify spraying. Nelson reports that 75 per cent of the home gardens in Blaine county are infested with pea beetles. He says that heavy to require spraying for commercial potato fields.

4-H Provides Instruction For Members

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 — Many 4-H club girls turn out more than three million pieces of sewing annually. It's a sure sign that they like to sew.

A recent survey made by the cooperative extension committee shows that girls enrolled in 4-H clothing program completed over three million pieces of clothing, dresses, coats, suits and miscellaneous attire, and about the same amount of household linens such as draperies, pillows, spreads and covers.

Before the girls can make these things they must learn how to use a sewing machine. The local volunteer 4-H club leader does the "showing how" where does the local clothing leader get the up-to-date know-how she passes on to her young counterpart? At Singer Sewing Centers or some other designing place where the latest 4-H course called "Getting the Most Out of Your Sewing Machine."

This special training is a cooperative effort of the Singer Sewing Machine company and the national 4-H service committee.

Since the program was first introduced in 1935, some 60,000 extension agents and volunteer clothing leaders have been training. They in turn have instructed junior 4-H clothing project leaders and members.

Singer provides literature, sewing materials and experienced instructors to augment extension personnel who supervise the training program.

Food Buying For School Term Starts

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP) — The agriculture department is getting ready for opening of the fall school term. It is buying food for school lunches.

The department is a sort of national purchasing agent for school lunches. It buys the food for schools. The great bulk of the food is purchased locally and the schools are reimbursed in part by the department.

Yearling Bull Falls Through Cistern Opening, Pulled Out

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 10 — Friends and neighbors dug for two hours last Sunday evening to rescue a yearling 4-H steer of Edward Warr, from an old cistern that he had fallen into.

About 20 years ago, J. E. Norman dug a 20-foot cistern on the farm owned by Edmund Warr. The cistern was to be utilized for stock water storage.

Two years ago, Warr used a bulldozer to fill the huge hole. A mound of dirt was left on the top of the hole in the event the hole would settle upward.

Sunday afternoon, it was discovered that Herman had slipped his halter and after much searching could not be found anywhere.

Warr went to the pasture where the cistern is located and happened to notice a large hole in the mound of dirt. After a closer look it was determined that Herman had fallen into the hole.

Cattle frequently stand in soft dirt and kick dirt onto their stomachs in an effort to get rid of flies and gnats.

The cistern dirt had been used by other stock during the summer. Herman evidently had been trying to get rid of gnats and flies when he fell into the hole. It is assumed that he fell in backward. After going down about six feet through the mouth of the cistern he fell on the soft ground below. The pit opened up to its original width, about six feet down, but the dirt had not settled more than two feet below the mouth and Herman was unable to stand up in the wider portion of the hole.

An incision was dug down to digger his hand and crowbars had to be used for the remainder of the way. A sledge hammer was used to break away concrete from the mouth of the cistern. The animal was turned around so his head would face the incline. After digging for two hours, some straw was placed in steps into the opening and Herman was helped to the top by use of a rope.

Young Warr was happy to have his steer with no injuries and hopes Herman will not be so unfortunate because he anticipates selling him in one price at the 4-H sale in September at Burley.

U. S. Wool Clip Above Average

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 — The crop reporting board estimates the 1962 wool clip at 248,000 pounds, grease basis. This is five per cent below the 261,570,000 pounds for 1961, but three per cent higher than the 1951-60 average. The production is equivalent to 111,900,000 pounds of clean wool.

Sheep shorn in 1962 totaled 29,292,000 head, four per cent below last year.

Farmers Using Cooperatives To Finance Improvements

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 10 — Farmers marketing and purchasing cooperatives borrowed a total of $20 million in loans through their own banks for cooperative during the year ended June 30, 1961. Eighty percent of the total interest was paid by the cooperative banks.

Speaking here at the annual meeting of the Mississippi Federation of Cooperatives, it was stated that this was an increase of 18.6 per cent over the previous year. It also mentioned 2,616 cooperative farms had 10 to 25 outstanding with the banks at June 30, 1962.

Health Added To 4-H Units 50 Years Ago

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 — There were not always 4-H's in the 4-H club clover emblem. About 1909 a three-leaf clover overleafed three 4-H's in design and made into pins. These were awarded to prize-winning club members for members of the 4-H movement. The original 4-H stood for head, heart and hands, as they were called at the time.

Then in 1911 at a meeting of club leaders in Washington, D.C., a fourth leaf was designed by work, O. B. Martin, recommended a fourth it be added. This represented "health." It was added for the purpose of the clubs became fourfold.

A half century later, the health continues to fulfill the expectation of those farighted Americans who pioneered the four-leaf clover emblem for the nation. "Health added to the fourth leaf," it is the very increase in efficiency and health of the farmer and his family for the nation," Heits stated. "It is the very increase in efficiency and health of the farmer and his family for the nation."

"It is a fact that all 23 million 4-H club members have not 'health to better living.' But more specifically, well over three-quarter million members are engaged in the national health program, according to the cooperative extension service.

This space-age health program has well defined objectives, and offers gratifying awards. Members themselves gain physical fitness through exercise, proper diet, rest and recreation. What's more they participate in country-wide health projects, and give leadership to health activities locally.

Congressional Delay Curbs Plans to Plant Winter Wheat

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10 (AP) — Wheat growers are reported restless about next year's federal wheat program — now tied up in congress.

Planting time for winter wheat is fast approaching. The delay in the working farm. In the underdeveloped countries 60 per cent of the population is engaged in agriculture in many cases and it still unable to produce enough food for a nutritious diet," Heits concluded.

Grain Advice Sought for Bond Groups

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 — Agriculture department is seeking commercial bonding methods to help bond groups alternatives to its own arrangements for warehouse agreements.

Under present arrangements the government is required to own-bond in an amount equal to the amount of the warehouse agreement.

The department has suggested alternatives under which the part of all warehouse agreements to the grain storage contract. To compensate for cost of bonded bonds, the program would reduce the rate of warehouses for storing grain. The program would also require the warehouse to take down consideration administrative work of making agreements, each of which would be a bond for the suggested alternative would be only one bond for the entire year.

Cattle Group Will Present Fair Prizes

BOISE, Aug. 10 — Idaho Cattlemen's association President James Ellsworth, Leaders, announces the state cattlemen's organization will present a new award and the grand champion beef to winners in the 4-H and PFA divisions at each county fair.

Reduced Supply Boosts Prices

BOISE, Aug. 10 — Reduced supplies and higher export prices on the 1962 wheat crop provided the main impetus for stronger wheat prices in the Pacific Northwest during the last week of the month. The department of agriculture reports the average price for the 1962 crop is 47 cents higher than last year, but the price for the 1961 crop is 45 cents higher than last year. Hard winter wheat prices showed the greatest advance over the 1961 crop, with ordinary hard wheat sold at $2.27 on track and 1962 season, 1961 at $2.18. The price for the 1961 crop was $2.18. The price for the 1962 crop is $2.27.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 — The department of agriculture has set the final national average support price for 1962 for soft red winter wheat at $4.71 per hundredweight, 100 per cent of the minimum price announced in January. This is a 10 per cent increase over the price of the Aug. 1 price per cent.

Pace-Setting Billings Moves in for Four-Game Stand; Promotions Slated

The Magic Valley Cowboys, rapidly helping the Billings Mustangs turn the Pioneer league into a two-team race, stand in a do-or-die position Saturday night when they open a four-game stand with the Mustangs. The clubs, separated by four and one-half games, will play single games Saturday and Monday nights and play a split doubleheader on Sunday. Three special nights are planned for what could prove the biggest series of the year. Saturday night will feature "back-to-school" promotions with Twin Falls merchants providing between 50 and 100 free merchandise certificates. Monday night a "rubbing car" will be in an away courtesy of Yoursure motor. A "radical day" special also is planned for the day portion of Sunday's twin bill. Any adult woman, if accompanied by a male adult admission, will be admitted free.

The Sunday afternoon game will begin at 7:30 and the nightcap goes at 8 p.m. Both will be nine-innings. Manager Jack Phillips is expected to go largely with his left-handers against the predominantly left-handed hitting Mustangs at their last meeting. The Cowboys swept three games at Billings to pull back into contention. An early second-half slump had sent them spinning six full games out of first place.

Since that slump, the Cowboys have come back with solid hitting, spiced here and there with good pitching. However, the pitcher has not made the difference of the hitters. Also, for the first time this year, the Cowboys have had a home field in front of 27,000 fans. From a record of 17 wins and 20 losses, Magic Valley jumped in front 27-22. The club has an identical record and one game has ended in a tie.

Another intra-club battle has arisen with Adolfo Phillips and Frank Alton battling for the league home run lead and also the total base leads. Both are on a hot streak. Phillips, an Allen carries a major lead in the total bases over catcher Fred Walters, who, although missing the early part of the season, has a single in the last game. The pressure will be placed on southpaw Doc Weber, Bob Holt and other pitchers in the fourth game starter and provide relief pitching.

Only 14 games remain in the season as the Cowboys and Mustangs run off eight thousand behind last year's game and second to Billings in total attendance.

Birdie Binge Gives Palmer Tournery Lead

ARKON, O., Aug. 10 (AP)—Power center Arnold Palmer, battling busy winds and the 115-year-old Firestone layout, went on a birdie binge Thursday to take the first round lead in the $50,000 American club classic. Opening up with a pair of birdies and hammering out four birdies in the first round, the 34-year-old winner of seven championships this year shot a 68 to lead the field. Palmer's two-stroke lead over the rest of the field. Except for a momentary pickup, Palmer's lead was unshakable. The leading money winner in the $100,000, second round, shot a 71 to take the first round lead in the tournament which carries a variety of bonuses in addition to the top prize of $9,000.

Palmer's two-stroke lead was over Jim Ferris, George Bayer and Mike Bouback, all of whom had 60s to break par by one stroke.

Doctors Support Dean's Criticism

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—Dizzy Dean, who said recently that some youngsters in Little League baseball are doing too much too soon, can find support among doctors. Some medical men say that while proud parents are frustrated by big leaguers, themselves—cheers him on, many a boy is pitching his heart out—and may be ruining his elbow at the same time. These doctors have uncovered a condition they call "little league elbow." Scientific papers have been presented on it. "One youngster even suffered a complete fracture of the arm while pitching," said Dr. Byron O. Brogdon, radiologist from the University of Florida. "It was a Don Drysdale fan and he was whipping the ball in a dream."

"The boy's father informs me that the arm healed properly and the boy is pitching again, but he's throwing overhead this year." Dr. Brogdon added, "I think the Little League does a world of good. But I don't think these boys should be pushed too hard, especially when the ones doing the pushing are often fathers who are thwarted baseball players."

"The purpose is to teach boys to win or lose, not wreck them." Dr. Brogdon was among the first medical men to report on "little league elbow." He first ran across the condition when he was an air force major stationed in Lackland air force base, Tex. He noticed that of 137 cases of elbow injuries at the base hospital, 89 involved youngsters 9 to 14 years old. Nearly all were Little 9-12 or Pony 13-14 Leaguers.

Since Dr. Brogdon reported on the injury, other doctors have found similar cases. "The elbow is dislocated," and in some cases actually broken. Complete rest is a good cure, Dr. Brogdon said, but in cases of persistent soreness hospitalization is required. "The elbow is not fully formed

NCAA to Abandon Special Committee

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 10 (UPI)—The executive committee of the NCAA voted Thursday to disband a special committee appointed to iron out differences in its federation movement with the AAU. Walter Byers was taken at the special meeting of the committee's request because "they failed to reach any agreements with the AAU in several meetings over the federation movement." He said "we are totally committed to the federation program in track, basketball, baseball and gymnastics." The 10-man committee also said the AAU must apply to the NCAA to set the rules that are needed for dates for the United States to play Russia in a hoop series of eight to 10 games in the U.S. in November. The AAU earlier asked the NCAA to set the rules that basketball cannot start until Nov. 30 or Dec. 1 to accommodate the U.S. team for the NCAA series. The AAU asked the NCAA to choose an all-star squad for a hoop series of eight to 10 games in the U.S. in November. Byers said "the committee decided that since we are members of the basketball federation, it is the Tacoma Giants 8-7.

Shell dealers suggest 7 things to tell your son when he first borrows the family car

- 1 Don't take other drivers for granted. They sometimes do unexpected things. In the U.S. in 1960, they ran into stationary objects more than 150,000 times. So don't be too optimistic. Cars backing out of parking spaces do sometimes back out blindly. Cars coming from the other direction might swing into your lane—especially on hills and curves. Your best protection is to drive defensively. The only driver you can really be sure of is yourself. 2 If the car won't start, there are a number of simple things worth trying. Use the starter in short bursts. Press accelerator to the floor once, then hold it there while you try starter. With manual shift, keep clutch pedal all the way down. With automatic transmission, jiggle lever to make sure it's in neutral.

Many a young man first borrows the family car for a summer dance. On this page, your local Shell dealers offer some driving tips that can be useful to him all his life.

- 3 Courtesy is contagious—and adds to everyone's driving pleasure and safety. Nobody ever cured a traffic jam by losing his temper. If you can keep your sense of humor and wait your turn, everyone will probably get where he's going sooner. Including you. Another suggestion: It takes only seconds to let someone enter the roadway ahead of you, but it can save the other driver minutes. Just remember to signal the car behind that you're slowing down or about to stop. 4 Cars respond to good care. Have the oil, battery and water checked every time you stop for gasoline. When you're driving, listen for unusual mechanical sounds. If you hear one, have it checked right away. It could save a big repair bill later on. On rough roads, take it easy—tires are tough, but they are destructible. Note: For a free copy of Shell's 12-page booklet, "44 ways to make your car last longer," write to the Shell Oil Company, P.O. Box 272, New York 46, N.Y. 5 Remember what you learned to get your driver's license, and you'll be a better driver. Eight out of ten car accidents stem from improper driving practices—such as speeding, failing to yield right-of-way and following other cars too closely. Truck drivers and other professionals have very few of these accidents—mile for mile, about one-quarter as many as other drivers. The professionals know the rules of good driving—and obey them. 6 If you're going to be late, call home. And if car trouble is the reason, call the nearest service station, too. Park off the traffic lanes and wait in the car until help arrives—with the hood up to show you're disabled. Making repairs close to a busy road can be dangerous. Note from Shell: Over 12,000 of our dealers go to special training schools each year. There, they learn how to spot trouble in a hurry. A Shell dealer can be helpful to you in almost any emergency. 7 Have a good time. So far, almost everything you've heard about cars has to do with safety. Now you're about to find out what a pleasure they can be. Here are the keys—just take your responsibilities in stride. And have fun. Comforting fact for parents: Drivers with less than three months' experience account for very few serious accidents. That's a good sign that most new drivers do take their responsibilities seriously. So you can relax.
