Subpoenas to Go Again to Steel Firms

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (UP)—Senate antitrust investigators have voted to issue "second round" subpoenas to four steel companies that refused to hand in reports on their pricing practices.

The action came Tuesday at a closed-door session of the senate antitrust subcommittee. Chairman E. A. Kefauver, D., Tenn., said the vote was 6 to 3.

Before the session, Kefauver said he would comply with the subpoenas, although they strongly objected to submitting cost figures.

Kefauver said he advised the eight they need not produce the data until the question of compliance by the noncomplying companies has been finally determined.

Kefauver said he advised the eight they need not produce the data until the question of compliance by the noncomplying companies has been finally determined.

Industry's Short-lived Price Increase

The steel-ton boost was announced as their reaction under White House pressure.

Kefauver said at that time detailed information on production costs was essential for an intelligent evaluation of the need for price increases.

He said last week that eight steel companies, including U. S. Steel corporation, had indicated they would comply with the subpoenas, although they strongly objected to submitting cost figures.

WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The current vacation habits of several top members of the federal judiciary has stirred some acidic comment among leading lawyers at Washington. In their opinion, such as Chief Justice Warren, Justices Hugo Black and Tom Clark, would have caused a scandal, had they not been in the office during their August going on. Justice William O. Douglas, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, for instance, their families are traveling together in the delightful resort of Ocean City, N.J. park in the great Northwest. While nobody questions an official right to select his own companions for recreation, this situation is regarded as "a rather large circle of a companionable circle of interest."

Frankly, it is contended that the nation's chief law officer should not hobnob with a member of the supreme court, which must pass judgment upon legislation which he argues before that tribunal. It is stated that Justice Douglas is generally regarded as the attorney general and private interests.

CRITICIZED FOREIGN POLICY—It is also pointed out that there would be cause for scandal if Justice Douglas became equally familiar with counsel for the United States Steel corporation, General Motors, and other large industrial concerns. In fact, the Democrats held it against former President Eisenhower that he spent so many hours at golf and hunting with these corporations over which his administration exercised supervisory and regulatory authority. Justice Douglas has been severely criticized for his recent comment on foreign policy, and presumably on President Kennedy. In showing signs of his trip to Ocean City, it is stated that Douglas has declared that our policy toward Red China was wrong, and insisted that both Truman and Eisenhower had "messed up things" while in the White House.

WARREN HOBNOBS WITH "GOOD COMPANY"—It is stated that Warren has been generally managed to refrain from voicing his views on any and every political subject, and we think that the supreme court might be held in somewhat higher esteem, if Justice Douglas's comment on Warren's company were more fully reported.

Chief Justice Earl Warren has also incurred criticism for his apparently agreeable attitude toward the Communist Party of the United States. It was only a few weeks ago that the senate barred aid to Tito because, although he is a friend of the United States, he still boasted that he was a "good communist." In fact, during the chief justice's sojourn in Yugoslavia, Tito talked the "Khrushchev line." Tito did not talk the "Khrushchev line," he wanted peace, not war. He also urged frequent Kennedy-Khrushchev conferences, although all present and diplomatic circles are aware of his shrewd and his stubborn representatives have proved full of wiles in the past.

DISQUALIFIED?—The possibly unfortunate advice of Chief Justice Warren's hobnobbing with Tito is that it is a question whether he is later may become a question for the supreme court to consider. It is pointed out that the "foreign aid bill" left it to the president to decide whether or not to provide American dollars for Marxist-Leninist regimes. Tito maintains that he is pursuing their philosophy more faithfully than Khrushchev or Mao Tse-tung are.

It is possible that some citizen may bring a charge of contempt of court against Warren for his military assistance to Yugoslavia. Right in the want of this ticklish controversy might in the lap of the marshall's agreement.

WANTS BLIND AGREEMENT—Gov. Pat Brown of California also helped to keep the subject of the American Bar association at San Francisco, he said. The true measure of our loyalty to the supreme court is whether or not we support them when they disagree with them. Many legal authorities disagree. They believe that it is necessary to support the tribunal's decision, but that it is not necessary to agree with them or to accept them blindly. The nine justices are not infrequently the subject of criticism, as Chief Justice Hughes demonstrated when, in order to defeat FDR's court-packing measure, he persuaded his associates to uphold the constitutionality of the court's decision to support.

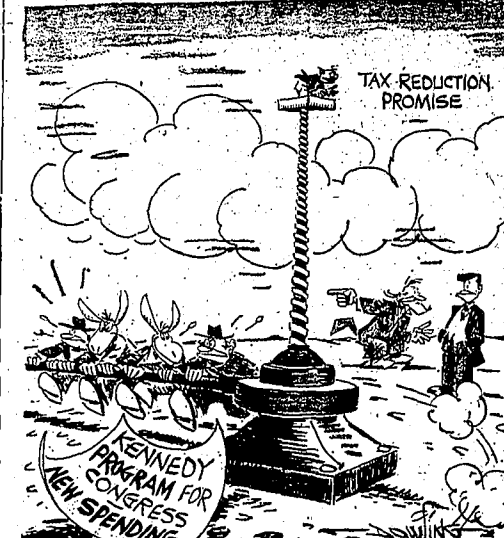

Views of Others

"A JURY TURNED ME LOOSE AGAIN"
You looked up and there he stood, serious expression on his face. In my hand, an editorial circled with pencil. Uh-oh, you said to yourself. Another crank. You asked if you could help him.
"Yeah," you said. "I read this piece about juries who don't convict drunk drivers. Well, I was arrested for drunk driving once."
"You're not drunk, okay. Drinking's no doubt, but you'll listen."
"And I got me off. When the jury treated me, I was sure they were even know where I was and the jury let me off."
"Then there was the second time. This time when the jury opened the door I fell out on the highway and passed out."
"A jury turned me loose again."
"You were arrested a third time. This time they found you guilty. I lined up three witnesses who were willing to perjure themselves to tell the jury a lie so you could get off."
"And I knew the jury would believe them. I started thinking that it was time to stop this before I killed myself and God only knows how many editorial about this."
"So when I got to court, I told the judge to turn my jury loose. That I was guilty and for him to throw the book at me."
"You're not drunk, okay. I begome, with my wife's help, a Christian."
"I had to quit drinking myself because the jury would believe them. That's how the judge was that way. And I think we need those chemical tests to catch and convict drunk drivers."
"You're not drunk, okay. I had a drunk driver run down another half kid, on a bicycle."
"It could have been my hitting that kid, or it could have been somebody hitting mine."
"And I know the jury would believe them. I would be stopped. The laws should be enforced. And I would appreciate it greatly if you'd write another editorial about this."
You thanked him politely and he left. You didn't bother to tell him there was no need, that the law is enforced. That he's been already written it himself—Charlotte (N. C.) Observer.

HEALTHY LAUGHTER
When Prime Minister Macmillan of Great Britain returned to the house of commons after a long vacation, he was met by jeers and ridicule from the opposition.
But there was time for laughter, too. In answering previously submitted questions on a wide range of subjects, Macmillan touched on a number of points. He referred to "underground explosions and the possibility of their use in the future on the governmental shake-up, broke into a fit of laughter."
Even in the high emotion and some hard feelings, the leaders were able to laugh. This is the good sign.

"How's This Going to Work Out?"

Interpreting the News

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—It's not normal. An American election campaign has been going on for two weeks. And there's not an explosion or a deep, warring national disturbance in sight. This is a quiet, steady, unexciting campaign. There has been some bickering or quarreling before each election. But the campaign has been back to 1948 when President James Earl Roosevelt defeated Thomas E. Dewey. In the midst of the presidential campaign that year the candidate was being killed by the Berlin blockade, which was known where it would end which the Russians had begun in the spring. By the time of the 1950 congressional elections the United States was in a state of emergency here at home the country was being split apart on the communist issue raised by Sen. Joseph McCarthy. And, on top of that, just a few days before the election a couple of assassins tried to kill Truman. The Korean war was still going on its sickening way, like a grilling pain in the background, in the world. The 1952 presidential race, Republicans made it a central issue and Dwight D. Eisenhower, who had led the United States to victory over Korea, was elected. Two weeks earlier, when the dimensions of the mess were already apparent, Sen. Joseph B. McClellan, D-La., quoted an editorial piece published in his home state. "What we get in congress is something like that."

The federal budget, were abandoned in two or three years as unworkable. By command of both the house and senate, the committee which drafted the law could not tamper with the rules of the house or senate. The committee was made up of two well-known congressmen—the power of the house rules committee and the senate rules committee. MARQUIS-GILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The difficult task President Kennedy faces in the elections this fall is quite clear in the aftermath of the vote on the national economy. He must carry to the voters the message that a campaign promising to be a change over a president is not a campaign to change the constitution. His program is a program chosen instrument to bring about peace and progress, and not of it.

He must do this, though, as he is bound to point out in his televised address, the economy is sluggish and 4,000,000 are unemployed. The economy is sluggish and 4,000,000 are unemployed. The economy is sluggish and 4,000,000 are unemployed. The economy is sluggish and 4,000,000 are unemployed.

The Doctor Says

BY HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M.D.
Many people are understandably nervous about the common medical terms "functional" and "organic." For example, a young mother of five children, who has been told that she has a "functional" heart defect, might wonder how she can have a "functional" heart defect and not be physically ill. The answer is that a "functional" heart defect is one that does not cause physical symptoms. It is a heart defect that does not cause physical symptoms. It is a heart defect that does not cause physical symptoms.

Right Values Stressed for Stake Confab

RUPTUR, Aug. 22 — Members of the LDS stake were called to stake stock of their lives and determine if they were living up to the right values, and to make every effort to get out of the stake by Elder Sterling W. Bill, pastor of the Council of the Stake, at the quarterly conference Sunday morning.

Elder Bill said that it was the duty of many to fill their lives with things that are right, and every thing that is wrong, and that it was their duty to push out.

"Each commandment of the Lord that is kept, brings blessings," Elder Bill said, "and the blessings are good thoughts, good thoughts, and evil thoughts, and cause blessings to be withheld."

Elder Bill said that the sole purpose of the church is to save souls, and that only those who are willing to keep the commandments and perform the duties required of them could hope to achieve that goal.

The speaker pointed out that people are willing to pay almost any price, including their peace of mind, in order to obtain the luxuries of this world but can find no time or will to spend it to assure themselves of a bright future in the next world.

Only in working hard and training for something does man become a person desiring to keep the commandments and do the work of the Lord, then he has to be willing to make the effort to learn about the things of God.

President Rodney Hansen, the first speaker of the conference, urged members to follow the admonition of church leaders to the effect of getting into debt.

He pointed out the importance of getting out of debt as a man's obligation. Nothing brings more satisfaction than to be clear of obligations, he said.

He reported that a business agreement had that never had had so many unpaid accounts on his books. This agreement comes about because many people buy items they can't need, he said.

President Hansen also urged members to keep the Sabbath in all ways, and reminded them that purchases made on Sunday, however small, constituted a violation of the Sabbath.

Other speakers at the morning conference included Elder D. Emil, Salt Lake City, of the general church welfare committee, who followed the theme set by the other two speakers in urging the members to beware of getting into debt for luxuries, and to keep the commandments of the church, pointing out that no one has the right to choose the laws to observe.

"There are many churches of men," he said, "but only one church of God."

He also spoke of the church welfare program, pointing out that it was a very important part of the church plan, and an obligation to all members who could assist with the program of caring for those who could no longer care for themselves.

Arthur Pease, recently returned from a mission in among the Southwest Indians, spoke of his experiences there.

He pointed out that the first mission organized in the church was to the Indians, and that the Indian groups were accepting the gospel in great numbers as he became more enlightened in his work compared the teachings of the Book of Mormon to the legends and ancient teachings and could see the unquestionable similarity.

Matic for both the morning and afternoon sessions were given by the stake youth choir under the direction of Keel Sevens with Lou Ann McCombs at the organ.

For the congregational singing, led by Beverly, Larry Smith was organist. The invocation was offered by Bishop Garth Eames and Harold Peterson offered the benediction.

During the afternoon session, Earl Griffin and Jay Merrill, members of the stake presidency, spoke, as did Jay Anderson and Bruce Allen, returned missionaries, as well as Elder Smith and Elder Bill who was the final speaker of the conference.

President Merrill outlined the beliefs and doctrines of the church, with special mention of the belief in continuous revelation and in the belief in the unquested separation of the Godhead in three persons.

Elder Anderson spoke of experiences on his mission in the present state. He pointed out that the changes noticeable in a person joining the church, and of changes in his way of life. He also spoke of the conditions there.

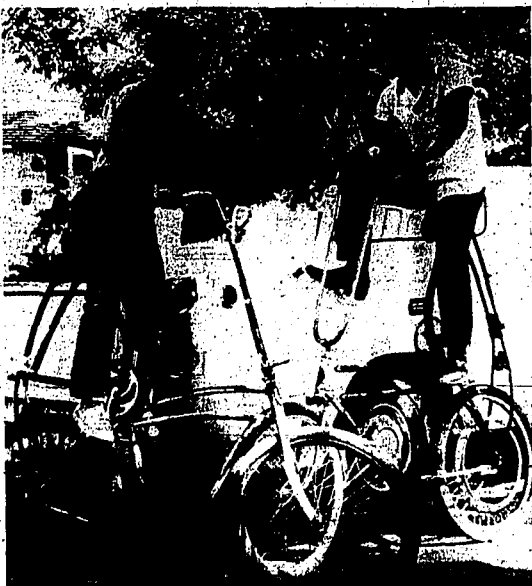

President Griffin recounted the story of Job in pointing out the necessity of having a strong faith in the Lord in the face of all adversity.

In his sermon, Elder Smith spoke of the blessings of the church members of the church who are to travel in far flung parts of the world who could find churches or wards, or at least, have groups to worship with in their far away parts of the world.

In the closing address of the conference, Elder Bill urged members to become gummy of the church.

Review Board Completes Blast Study

IDAHO FALLS, Aug. 22 (AP)—A board of investigation has completed a review of the dismantling of the reactor that exploded here Jan. 3, 1961; killing three men.

An atomic energy commission spokesman said the board will make a written report at some future date.

The board was headed by Curtis A. Nelson, director of the division of inspection for the AEC in Washington, D. C.

The AEC has announced that sudden withdrawal of the central control rod touched off the blast.

The rod absorbs neutrons and thus holds the atomic fission process down to a manageable rate.

But there has been no report on how the control rod was withdrawn. The reactor has been gradually torn apart and the pieces analyzed to find the cause.

Elba Event Held By Trailbuilders

ELBA, Aug. 22 — The Trailbuilder boys of the Elba LDS ward Primary entertained their parents at a Trailbuilder round-up in the canyon west of Elba.

The boys and their leaders went to the canyon late in the afternoon on a hay ride and prepared for their guests.

Guests were seated around a campfire on a hillside as the boys finished their program, assisted by their leaders, Mrs. Keith Darrington, Mrs. Malburn Barker and Mrs. Art Ward.

The program was conducted by Mrs. John Nye, Primary president. The boys demonstrated such skills as rope knots, first aid, story telling and many principles and teachings of the church were explained.

Scout pins were awarded to Klint Lloyd and Ardel Wickel by their guide patrol leader, Mrs. Barker, and pinned on by Mrs. Lloyd Wickel.

Prayers were given by Malburn Barker and Bishop Beecher.

At their post, at Creed's crossing, are from left, I. T. (Pete) Creed, R. V. Gluck of the Twin Falls Grange executive committee, and Glenn H. Smith, master of ceremony. Smith was given the job of holding the pole straight while the others drove it in. Some 70 persons showed up to set 34 posts for guard rails and watch an official ribbon-cutting ceremony to open the crossing formally. Creed did the grounding for the crossing, a fill of Rock creek crossing which replaces an old, narrow steel bridge. (Times-News photo)

Letter Fails To Clear up Differences

BONN, Germany, Aug. 22 (AP)—Diplomatic sources say differences between the U.S. and West German governments probably have not been resolved by a personal letter from President Kennedy to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer on West Berlin and other issues.

"There has never been such distrust between the United States and the West German government as is being experienced at this time," one diplomat said.

U.S. Ambassador Walter C. Dowling delivered the letter to Adenauer Monday night. A West German spokesman said it dealt with the U.S. position on the current international political situation, especially the Berlin and other German problems.

Adenauer reportedly fears the U.S. is shifting its defense policy in Europe to give prime importance to conventional forces at the expense of nuclear protection for the continent.

The United States has denied any such major shift and has repeated assurances that it will use nuclear weapons if necessary to defend Europe.

Idle Workers Eye Self-Help Plan

DONORA, Pa., Aug. 22 (AP)—Mayor Albert J. Delandoro, Donora, says the town is studying the possibility of leasing an idle U. S. Steel corporation plant, having it operated by unemployed steelworkers.

"We are doing everything to help ourselves," Mayor Delandoro said. "We don't want sympathy. Our basic theory is hard work."

U. S. Steel has furnished 1,700 employees permanently in this Washington county community.

Large Enrollment Indicated For T.F. Business College

Pre-registration for the fall term at Twin Falls Business College indicates a large enrollment for the coming year, says Earl L. Black, business administrator.

Students are registered from every Magic Valley county, more distant Idaho counties, Nevada and Wyoming. Pre-enrollment is running 10 per cent above the 1961 registration.

The college is offering a full curriculum in fields of stenography, secretarial science, accounting and business administration. Duration of courses leading to nationally-recognized diplomas varies from nine months to three years.

Popular classes are the nationally-known Nancy Taylor Churns course for young women and Dr. George Oran's applied psychology.

The fall term opens Sept. 4, and the night school for adult education begins Sept. 10. A special course for local income tax will start Sept. 17.

The opening starts the 15th year of service of the college in the interests of young people and the business community of Twin Falls and southern Idaho.

The curriculum consists of more than 50 individual courses, explains Harold Wilson, educational administrator.

The college is accredited by the Accrediting Commission for Business Schools, designated as an accrediting agency by the U. S. Office of Education. Courses of instruction are approved by the veterans administration and the vocational rehabilitation service.

Idaho Technical Institute to Open at Buhl School Sept. 4

BUHL, Aug. 22 — Buhl will serve as the site for the Idaho Technical Institute with classes scheduled to begin Sept. 4, according to O. A. Struts, president of the ITI.

The school is being established in the Lincoln school building located at 1313 Main street here. This building formerly served as a fourth through sixth grade elementary school and was vacated this year upon the construction of the new elementary school.

Applications are being accepted at the school. Buhl's reputation which gives students an opportunity to become acquainted with the aims and objectives of the institution, its curriculum, extra-curricular activities and with faculty members will be observed Saturday, Sept. 1, and registrations will be conducted Sept. 2 and 3.

The school has a current enrollment of 68 students. However, the staff and personnel members can accommodate a maximum of 100 students. Fulton is $275 per semester at the co-educational institution.

Both high school and non-high school graduates may apply for admission. Applicants who are below a high school diploma may be admitted providing they pass a college entrance examination and will be at least 20 years of age.

Struts pointed out the ITI is a non-profit institution of learning authorized to confer degrees by its charter granted by the state legislature of Idaho. It offers three degrees in electronic engineering, science degree in electronic engineering, bachelor degree in broadcast engineering, bachelor of arts degree in commercial arts and business administration.

The institution also will grant junior college associate degrees. A two-year program in electronic technology, secretarial science, accounting, and finance. In addition diplomas may be obtained on one-year courses such as radio-television, technology, two-year course in secretarial science and one-year course in bookkeeping.

The ITI will operate on a semester basis, with the semester separated into three 16-week semesters. The full-year enables the student to get in one year and one-half work in this time, allowing them to complete their degree of training in a three-year program.

Struts notes the idea of offering an academic course for electronic engineering.

lease for the operation of the school here.

Struts pointed out a faculty of well-qualified professors is a been secured along with technical specialists lecturers to assure an accelerated, thorough, practical training program.

The upper story of the Buhl hotel will serve as housing accommodations for men students. Negotiations for a girls' dormitory in an apartment house here are being completed.

Starting as a night school course, the program quickly grew to a full scientific and laboratory day school, specializing in radio broadcasting and FCC license training. The year following its origin the school became known as the NBC School of Electronics, training electronic technicians and broadcast engineers.

In 1962 the school separated from the Nampa Business college and became reorganized as a non-profit institution and remained the Idaho Technical Institute. Since it has reorganized this will be the first time the school will be in operation.

The ITI is versatile in its function, the school official said, since it offers a four-year program in liberal arts, serves as a second year technical college, as a junior or extension school, and also as a vocational school.

During the week-end the office and some of the other school equipment has been moved to Buhl with the moving of all equipment to be completed by this next week-end.

Ray Enkeling, superintendent of Buhl public schools, notes upon a recommendation of the Buhl economic committee and Chamber of Commerce, who have recommended the institution was a good business and it would be acceptable in the community, that school trustees are drawing up a

What could the English possibly mean by "Gordon's and splash?"

"Splash" is the English way of saying "soda water." Mixing it with Gordon's Gin is a popular pastime on the other side of the Atlantic. Most Americans prefer "tonic and ice" as a mixer. But on the choice of gin—complete accord. Gordon's. Its distinctive dryness and flavour seem to tip the balance. You'll find these qualities wherever you call for Gordon's by name; for every bottle is still based on Alexander Gordon's original 1769 formula. Could this be why Gordon's is the biggest-selling gin in England, America, the world?

SITTING ON TOP OF THE WORLD

...with a business of his own!

We'd like for you to meet the Executive Officer of a thriving business... the boy who delivers your daily newspaper.

As the owner and operator of his newspaper route, this Junior Independent Merchant must solve problems and shoulder responsibilities, just like all other businessmen.

He buys his product, your newspaper, at wholesale and then retails it to his customers. He must make daily deliveries, do his own accounting, billing, and even struggle with a collection problem here and there.

He is discovering, through actual experience, the rewards for promptness, dependability, self-reliance and initiative.

One of the rewards is his profit, the difference between the wholesale and retail prices of the paper. His route means money for a savings account for college, a new bicycle, a week in camp, many things.

But he is earning even greater rewards. As he learns about sales and salesmanship, he is equipping himself for the future. From boys who learned the principles of business as newspaperboys have come presidents, governors, mayors, industrialists and professional men... those who determine the quality of our civilization in their generation.

It's his world to conquer... and he's off to a good start.

If you have a son that you think might be interested in a newspaper route, why not write or phone us.

Modern Homes Are Clean but Filled With Noise

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (AP)—As a houseowner you probably put up a pretty good defense against sun, wind, rain, heat, cold, pollen and burglars—but what about noise?

Noises today are probably the loudest ever. We have a great number of appliances that entertain and serve us well, but they do make noise. Wall, floor and ceiling and big glass surfaces reflect and magnify noise by thrilling television, radio, doorbell, dog and children, then plugging your ears to achieve soundless splendor. But if you don't want to eliminate the sounds of life, just control them. The Insulation Board Institute has some suggestions.

The general idea is to soften all sound—reflecting surfaces, concentrating first in rooms where the family congregates—rest—living and dining rooms, kitchen, family and recreation rooms.

One of the most effective silencers is acoustical ceiling tile which can convert the ceiling into a reflector to an asherber of as much as 70 per cent of the excess noise that hits it. This tile comes in a great variety of finishes and patterns and it is an easy do-it-yourself project for the handyman who can fasten the tile with mastic, staple or nail it to wood jurring strips or slides.

The Institute advises also: —Pay attention to hard surfaces other than floor. Use heavy curtains of glass, like picture windows, or hard wall surfaces reflect noise. Put curtains of drapes.

Use carpeting to silence floor sounds. Even a couple of throw rugs in the family room or children's room will dull many sharp sounds. So will carpeting or rubber mats on stairs.

Several times during the course of the day, stop and listen: try to locate the excess sound you hear, trace it to the source and see what can be done to reduce the noise. For instance: —Make sure all appliances are well lubricated. Heavier appliances, like the refrigerator should be mounted on resilient furniture glides or rubber pads.

—Install anti-rattle hardware on doors and windows. Use weatherstripping on doors and windows. Install weatherstripping.

—Oil door hinges and locks. Use weatherstripping on outside and inside doors. Install pressure door closer and thresholds that automatically "snug-up" to the bottom of the door when it is closed. Install rubber door stops.

—Squeaks in flooring often can be eliminated with a well sealed and finished floor. Beveled floor joints when exposed in the basement also may be easily-corrected noise-maker.

—Ask your plumber and furnace man about ways to quiet plumbing, heating and air conditioning systems.

Food for Americans
By GAYNOR MADDOX

Here's a special treat for a summer supper—fragrant cheese-flecked rolls straight from your own oven. They are packed with nourishment as well as eating pleasure.

CHEESE-FLECKED ROLLS
(Makes one 9-inch round)
1 cake compressed or 1 package dry yeast
3/4 cup lukewarm water
1/2 cup milk, scalded
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
2 1/2 to 3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 egg, beaten
1 cup grated sharp cheddar cheese
1 cup rolled oats, quick or old-fashioned (uncooked)
Soften yeast in lukewarm water for dry yeast. Pour scalded milk over sugar, salt and shortening. Stir until shortening melts. Cool to lukewarm. Stir in 1/2 cup flour, egg and cheese. Add softened yeast and oats. Stir in enough more flour to make a soft dough.

Turn dough out on lightly floured board or canvas; knead until satiny, about 10 minutes. Round dough into ball; place in greased bowl; brush lightly with milk shortening. Cover and let rise in warm place until nearly double in size, about 1 hour. Punch dough down; cover and let rest 10 minutes.

Shape into balls, dip in melted butter and place in 9-inch round pan. Cover; let rise in warm place until nearly double in size, about 45 minutes. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 25 minutes. Brush with melted butter; remove from pan.

Want Ads May Bring Results,
Burned Toast

By GAY FAULKNER
1211 Western Edition

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (AP)—The next time you run an ad to sell some furniture, I will not plan to buy for house. I will read the advertisement several times.

The next time also, I will board out three breakfast tables to be set by 7 p.m. the day before the ad runs, and dispatch husband off to his club. He will so willingly, I know, after our recent experience. He has declared that never again will he stay around to help answer the telephone, the doorbell and the living room.

All of which is to say that if you're refurbishing and want to see something, try the classified section of your newspaper. I'll draw" responses. We drew many from three "wide lines" in one New York paper that it was pandemonium at our house for a while.

It did appear on Sunday. At 7:30 Sunday morning the phone rang routing out the owners of sofa bed, lamp, desk set, cetera for sale.

Also routine out sten-on and daughter-in-law, FRANK the sofa bed. They had come visiting from Philadelphia for the week and were to be in our house which ended about dawn Sunday.

Miss's clock, second telephone call. And from then on the phone never seemed to stop ringing. Somehow we, as a family, set a pot of coffee going. Also, some scrambled eggs. I burned the bills because a lady in Brooklyn wanted to hold the wire while I went and took exact measurements on that sofa bed.

The callers wanted, naturally, to know when they could come by to see the items we were selling. I kept giving them off until around 5 p.m., figuring that way we at least could let the house music get an afternoon nap. Maybe also, we'd have a chance to get the meat loaf going for an early dinner. There's a splinter of Ketchup on the kitchen telephone extension. It's hard to miss meat loaf with one hand and handle a phone with the other.

We were just sitting down to that dinner, when the doorbell rang. None of us got a chance to sit again for several hours. We employed our forces. Step-son to answer doorbell. Daughter-in-law by keeping the parakeets calm. Husband and I, to divide the chores of answering more phone-calls—and running the piled trays.

"You're asking too much for second-hand desk," muttered an early caller and left. "Could I bring my roommate over tomorrow night to see the sofa before I make up my mind?" said a young career girl.

People prodded cushions, stretched out on the sofa bed, mattress to give it the absolute test, opened drawers, inspected my housekeeping and asked my advice on interior decorating problems.

Finally at 10 p.m. we called a halt. We told our apartment house elevator man we were "out" for the evening, bolted
