Nehru Expecting Clash on Border Will Flare Again

NEW DELHI, India, Nov. 23 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru said today various diplomatic moves do not mean India's struggle against Red China will be over. His words were taken to mean he believes fighting will flare up again along India's disputed Himalayan border. A defense ministry spokesman reported Indian troops carrying out patrols along the Red Chinese ceasefire line in northeastern India but he reported no clashes. Just before Nehru's remarks a word conference announced he would meet with special U.S. aid secretary for military aid and his military aid mission.

Red Chinese forces have driven back into territory in northern Szechwan to Hsinan border area. Nehru said he had received a written message to a youth leader about this struggle, as he must, by discipline, hard work and sacrifice. He said he would defend against reports of Indian patrols said he had no report on the matter. (Continued on Page 2, Column 1)

New Junior High School Is Reported 80 Per Cent Done

Construction of the new 25-room junior high school is about 80 per cent completed, reports Ernest Ringland, superintendent of the Twin Falls school district. The junior high school building, including the six-room auditorium and the six-room special education building, The total area of the building is 48,250 square feet.

Ringland said the outside work is about completed. Only windows, doors and the exterior painting remains to be done. The school is being built on a 20-acre site one-quarter mile north of Sky View Manor, facing Cassell avenue to the south. It is designed to adequately handle about 500 students.

Ringland said the school district has purchased 40 acres, but only 20 acres will be used now. The other 20 acres will be retained by the school board for future growth. Ringland said the purchase of the entire 40 acres provides land for building necessary access roads and helps solve the city sewer connection problem. One of the 20-acre sites was purchased with funds from the school plant facilities budget and the other 20 acres was purchased out of funds in the expansion and remodeling project this summer. The school will be located with

The government was said to have lost several million dollars on the contract. The company is expected to contend that it also lost money.

The national lead hearing originally was set for Nov. 15 but was postponed because the subcommittee had not completed its preliminary preparations.

Turkey Trade

MIAMI, Nov. 23 — Harry F. Moseley, Jr., had his turkey and a one too. Moseley was a 25-pound gobbler in a raffle Wednesday after his wife brought a 16-pounder dressed and ready for the oven. Moseley had the second bird in the garage.

"I'm going to kill him," asked his wife. "We don't have a pet, a successful daughter, Christmas.

The turkey still is in the freezer, the fate undecided. "His future will be a long, long decision," he said. "Maybe we can trade him for lobster."

Doctor-Kin Denies-FDR Stroke Story

CHICAGO, Nov. 23 — The physician son-in-law of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt denied today what he termed "persistent rumors" that the nation's 32nd president had five "little" strokes prior to his death.

Dr. James A. Hales, husband of the late President's daughter, Anna, and a specialist in internal medicine, said reports of the multiple strokes first appeared in a 1959 magazine article.

In the current December issue of "Today's Health Magazine," published by the American Medical Association, Hales said: "It is important to get at the truth in order to set the record straight. Otherwise this myth of five strokes would tend to create the assumption by some people that Roosevelt's judgment was severely impaired by supposed ill health."

Long Overdue

It's encouraging to note that the Idaho highway department has called for bids on construction of a new highway between Twin Falls and Kimberly. Improvement of this particular stretch of highway is long overdue.

There is no escaping the fact that highways serving Twin Falls handle a heavy volume of heavy trucks. Some of the highways leading to Twin Falls have been inadequate for many years. On the basis of volume of traffic, the highway between Kimberly and Twin Falls will be the most heavily used for immediate attention.

Number of lanes of a highway is not necessarily a good criterion, although there is no doubt the two-lane road east of Twin Falls has been more of a bottleneck for some time. However, the four-lane highway between Twin Falls and Filer demonstrates there are other considerations in judging adequacy of a highway.

The four-lane highway west of Twin Falls was started last year after World War II. After a full year, it's easy to see little attention was given to drainage. The sagging and broken curbs along the edge of the blacktop emphasize the lack of planning that went into the road. The Twin Falls-Filer highway was rushed to completion just before an election, obviously with the idea of influencing some voters. It's also easy to recall the road was constructed with a budget that was stretched to the limit.

By contrast, Addison avenue west is a good illustration of what one or less in a street has sufficient right of way, excellent drainage and is designed to handle a heavy volume of traffic. Kimberly road from Five Points east to Gemma is another good example of adequate highway construction.

After construction of the long overdue highway between Twin Falls and Kimberly, the poorly-engineered and wholly inadequate highway between Twin Falls and Filer should rate attention some time in the near future.

So long as the state highway department remains beyond the reach of politicians, there's every indication the state will be able to build about a fine network of excellent highways some time in the future. The highway department should be returned to political control to build the old four-lane highway between Filer and Twin Falls. It's a convincing argument to keep the politicians at arm's length.

NEED MORE BYRDS

The U. S. needs more men in Congress like Sen. H. F. Byrd, D. Va. If more members of congress felt like Senator Byrd about federal expenditures, perhaps the nation might start to get some sense out of its crazy philosophy of spending itself rich.

Senator Byrd, who is chairman of the joint committee on reduction of non-essential federal expenditures, once pecked away at the spenders, who are the nation's biggest item. One of Senator Byrd's pet pees is federal stockpile inventories, which includes strategic and critical materials, agricultural commodities, machine tools and civil defense supplies and equipment.

Periodically, Senator Byrd reports the status of federal stockpiles, with detailed notes of each item. He points out that President Kennedy, on Jan. 31, 1962, said excesses in inventories of strategic and critical materials should be reduced. Senator Byrd then explains stockpiles are increasing, rather than declining.

In his latest accounting of government stockpiles, Senator Byrd points out 60 strategic and critical materials are in excess of objectives as of Feb. 6, 1962 and 65 were still stockpiled in excess of quotas as of Aug. 31. The senator adds, "For the 65 materials stockpiled in excess of objectives, the amount of excess increased during the seven-month period (February-August) in 23 materials, decreased in 27 materials and they have remained unchanged in 15 of these materials."

Byrd says he is happy to learn the nation's stockpile of castor oil is among those reduced. The reduction totals 24,996 pounds which compares to the total castor oil until it's required to the total production. The castor oil goal for stockpiling, by the way, is only 68 million pounds. Even Senator Byrd doesn't try to explain how the government managed to accumulate such an excessive supply of castor oil.

Total value of all stockpiled materials at the end of August was $142,278,008. It appears the federal government is not only the leading spender but also the top hoarder.

Scottish specialists have told the parents they must decide between death and blindness for the baby. They say she has a tumor spreading to her brain from her remaining eye. She lost one eye a year ago. To keep the tumor from spreading, the doctors say the other eye must be removed. (AP wirephoto)

British Pubs Stand Firm On Pints, Cats and Video

LONDON, Nov. 23 (AP)—The British local, or neighborhood, pub stands the Winston Churchill—as an enduring monument against the intrusion of time. It continues to fulfill its traditional role of poor man's club with hardly a change down through the years, except it may have television today.

One such local is Tony Watson's place known as the Eagle, a modest grog shop on the edge of swanky Midlet Vale, an area of high-priced apartments of the city's near West Side.

Lincoln Has Trial Air Raid Alert

SILOHON, Nov. 23—The first trial-air raid alert to practice getting school children of Lincoln county home was held Wednesday afternoon.

W. A. Hall, county civil defense director, and his assistant, Harold Thorne, called the air raid time-throughout pre-arranged with the schools at 11:30 a.m. at Lincoln, Richfield and Dietrich.

Neither had been sent home previously by school officials instructing parents and asking their cooperation in checking on the time it took the children to get home, and having the children instructed as to what they should do when they arrived home if no one was there.

School-bus drivers were instructed to take the children to the nearest route to their homes, though not to go down any private lanes. The buses may cover the entire route, they are to leave the children at the last stopping place near their homes.

Upon arrival home, each individual family should have a plan for surviving without in event of a real air raid, civil defense officers state.

A steady blast of the fire alert siren at the Eagle will indicate the alarm, as was carried out in Wednesday's practice.

Schools were dismissed for Thanksgiving holidays following the practice Wednesday.

The 1934 area stockmen have been busy bringing cattle off the range and feeding them on their fields at present. On Trail Creek, Bob and Karl Carstensen all have their cattle on their place.

Abraham Kast has been finishing plowing on the ranch of his son, Charles Kast, near Fairfield. They also are plowing on the ranch in King Hill.

Norman Standish, Seattle, has purchased the old At Proutville ranch which is on the old highway 23. The traveler in Hagerman will know the place as the White Water ranch, as a sign on the highway shows the site for several years. Mrs. Standish, Twin Falls and Hagerman, has owned it for about 20 years. The Standish family has three children and will move onto the ranch in the spring.

Earl and Vernie Bingham purchased 50 head of young cattle at the auction sale in Jerome last week and will take them to their own ranches.

With cattle has just completed a large potato cellar on his home place.

The Oshans and brothers and Sam Osawa, Springdale, finished digging out a large amount of sugar beets last Friday. The last few loads were taken out after the snowstorm early Friday.

Charles H. Phillips and Sons, Decio, have been selected as one of the seven Holstein breeders in this area to be classified officially by the John H. Stewart, Beaver, an official inspector of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. The Phillips herd has 14 animals classified. Seven were "very good," 43 were "good" and 18 were listed as "good."

Beets have been complete in the Murtaugh area. Beets were loaded on cars from the early end of the pit last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Thlemann have moved from Gooding to the farm they recently purchased, from Sam Daniels to north of Gooding.

Over a few fields of corn in the Tuttle area are not dry yet, but William Marvick has completed 50 acres, both on his own place and for others. Fred Miller is hauling the shelled corn in a truck. Another harvest with a combine.

General farmers in the Almo area are out in the hills cutting potatoes early to be sold later.

Ward-purchased two Herford range bulls at the Pocatello sale last week from Jack Erickson and Heusen Ward, also breeders.

Cattlemen have been given until Dec. 1 to get their stock off the range as of Hagerman, as the feed is still good. They have been given until Dec. 15 to get their stock off the range. In the repair work, Ray Jolley, Clide McFarland and Ed Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Webb report all the beets in the Miller area in now at the Parsons beet farms. Parsons was one of the last to get his crop in.

James Warr and J. E. Neumann, Miller farms, receive 180 head of old calves from California. They plan to feed them for about five months.

Trapping muskrats and mink in the Pileo area is keeping Luke Bushby, Richfield trapper, on the run these days. Bushby says he is competing with Leo Sumner, Pileo, and two trappers from the area. The men also have trapped a few mink. Coyotes are a common sight, Bushby says. He thinks they are feeding on the richfield fields because of the big drop in rabbit population.

Increased thickness and length of hair on area horses has been noted by a number of women on the Richfield trail. This has led them to believe a severe winter. A heavy growth of hair on the mules is not noticed until late December, the women say.

British Turkey Farmers

Envy U. S. Bird Custom

LONDON, Nov. 23 (AP)—British turkey raisers envy American prices for their Thanksgiving turkeys.

Turkey selling in Britain has been dropping steadily since the start of the season. In millions of homes here, Christmas dinner again is a turkey.

The turkey-raising industry is complaining that prices are at a low level. It is a complaint which is shared by many other turkey raisers.

It doesn't happen this year because a foot pest outbreak led to a loss of about 100,000 birds, leading many breeders to cut production this year.

The average large bird costs about three pounds sterling ($10) which is beyond the average household's budget except for the very special Christmas turkey.

The turkey producers also are experimenting with different breeds of turkeys so that they can be sold in different parts of the country.

It is also experimenting with producing small turkeys, birds weighing about five pounds, which will be cheaper and more suitable for the average small British family.

STUDYING BUGS underneath the microscope is Tom Flanagan while Keith Evans looks over his shoulder. Flanagan is examining a "Hormone crystal." The two men are only a few of those involved in the continuous battle to rid the area of pests and harmful insects. In addition to the work done by the plant pest control division of the U. S. Department of Agriculture there are many other groups and individuals combating disease in agriculture. (Times-News photo)

Protection of U.S. Crops Involves Many Interested Groups and Agents

One of the largest programs in any agricultural area in the country is directed to protect the consuming public from harmful food.

No one single bureau, group or individual has any monopoly on safeguards. It is rather a combination of groups, businesses and agencies.

Crop protection involves the chemical salesman, the buyer and the seller plus government activity on the local level.

It is a confidentially predicted the industry will be valued at about 100 million birds for Christmas 1936, but no one quite knows how many.

There seems no chance of introducing the Thanksgiving day custom here, so the industry has been trying to build up the habit of "Turkey for Easter."

It also is experimenting with producing small turkeys, birds weighing about five pounds, which will be cheaper and more suitable for the average small British family.

Postoffice Distributes Idaho Farm Survey Cards

BOISE, Nov. 23.—The postoffice department will assist the office of the Idaho statistician in the crop reporting service here by distributing 7,000 farm survey cards.

With this help, we are able to get an accurate picture of our state's livestock and poultry industry. The more accurate the picture, the more accurate the statistics will be.

Every farmer or rancher who has a livestock and poultry interest should be given a card. The cards will be distributed to the state statistician's office and the office will be distributed to the statisticians throughout the state.

Clarence E. White, Idaho state statistician, invited the U.S. postoffice and rural and star-mail carriers for their cooperation in making the livestock survey and pointed out they are making a contribution to the state's welfare.

Indeed, but given the choice, it is better to have the cards in the hands of every farmer and rancher than to have the cards in the hands of a few.

U.S. Predicts 1962 Net Farm Income Will Match Total Made During 1961

The government department said predicted net farm income for 1962 will equal 1961's 123 billion dollars, the highest since 1953. This level is due to the fact that in 1962, the department said in a review of the current year's crop and livestock production and assessment of the general agricultural situation and outlook for next year.

The department said the favorable outlook for 1962 is based on current farm and livestock production and a consideration of relevant supply and demand factors bearing on the farm economy. For example, an expected gain of around 7 per cent in the domestic market for farm products in 1962 will reflect population growth, particularly in addition, exports of farm products are expected to total more this year's record level.

Four Lincoln Herds Report High Records

SHOSHONE, Nov. 23—Of the 33 herds in the Gooding-Land Livestock Association, the unit that gave over 30 pounds of butterfat for the month, four were the herds of Horace Meery, Dietrich, which produced 1,000 pounds of milk and 64 of butterfat; and Martin-Jauregui, Dietrich, which produced 1,000 pounds of milk and 64 of butterfat.

The volume of farm marketings is expected to total slightly larger than in 1962, due mostly to larger marketings of livestock and livestock products. This increased movement points to the possibility of a decline in average livestock prices in 1962. But despite the fact that livestock prices will be slightly lower than in 1962, farmers will receive more for their livestock products than in 1962.

Among the herds were 10 cows that averaged over 60 pounds of butterfat for the month. In Jauregui's herd there was one producing 1,800 pounds of milk and 74 of butterfat; Nanette, producing 2,000 pounds of milk and 70 of butterfat; Joan, producing 1,800 pounds of milk and 64 of butterfat.

From the Edwards herd there were three cows, producing 1,800 pounds of milk and 64 of butterfat; Anne, producing 1,400 pounds of milk and 64 of butterfat; Romany, producing 1,770 pounds of milk and 62 of butterfat; and three cows, producing 880 pounds of milk and 67 of butterfat.

Meery had one cow, Florida, producing 1,100 pounds of milk and 65.6 pounds of butterfat; while "Tommy" had Dietrich, producing 1,460 pounds of milk and 61.8 pounds of butterfat.

Antibiotic Can Dissolve In Liquids

PORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 22—A newly developed antibiotic can dissolve in drinking water preparation for livestock and poultry will be marketed in the near future by Ciba-Geigy and company, Inc.

The new product is Glucolac, a soluble powder with vitamins, especially formulated for use in automatic waterers. It dissolves completely without settling out or forming scum.

The new antibiotic-vitamin is designed for use in drinking water of sheep, cattle, swine and poultry. Dr. Henry Carpenter, director of laboratories, commented that the product is useful when the following diseases are contracted or threaten to contract: infectious mononucleosis, infectious hepatitis, salmonellosis, respiratory diseases such as pneumonia, bronchitis, and influenza; and other diseases such as blue comb, or mud fever or non-specific enteritis, chronic respiratory disease, brucellosis, infectious sinusitis and myxomatosis.

Trends Average For Livestock

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—The livestock outlook for 1963 is the best and the best average slightly below this year but for lamb prices to average a little higher. Cattle markets will increase in 1963 and, because of the upward trend in the demand for beef, they will be more than offset, say decrease in price.

Therefore, cash receipts from the sale of cattle and calves probably will be higher than receipts this year. Cash receipts from hogs, sheep, and lambs in 1963 are expected to be about the same as for this year.

Auxiliary Club To Push Cattle

Known as the Hereford auxiliary, they intend to be on hand at various livestock situations to see-up-a-boon, and pass out Hereford literature. It all is started parties.

4 Meetings Set For Gem Agents

MOSCOW, Nov. 22—County agents of the University of Idaho extension service will have four district meetings this fall, says T. J. Chester, district supervisor at Pocatello and conference chairman.

The dates are Moscow, Nov. 23 and 24; Boise Dec. 4 and 5; Twin Falls, Dec. 6 and 7; and Pocatello, Dec. 10 and 11.

Each meeting the agricultural agents and home agents will hear talks by D. R. Thompson, president of the University; James E. Kraus, dean of the college of agriculture; and G. O. Kozmouk, associate director of extension.

Subject matter specialists and other members of the state staff will have a similar meeting in Boise, Dec. 13 and 14.

The basic purpose of the NPO, as stated in the by-laws, is to unite into one organization all farmers, engaged in the production of agricultural commodities and to create a system to insure a fair price for farm products at the market place.

Magic Valley NFO Goal Is to Boost Farm Prices

JEROME, Nov. 22—J. L. Anfin, Jerome county chairman of National Farmers' Organization, said prior to county meetings of that group Monday that the NFO still is active in Magic Valley.

"Our goal is to bring higher prices to the farmers for their things be produced," said Anfin.

The present situation leaves a lot to be desired, indicated Anfin, as he pointed out that the cost of producing milk is $4.30 compared to $2.75 the farm or received based on a 2.5 test.

Anfin noted he had been informed that the Turley Lake, Co. Cedar Cheese company, a cooperative, Blue Lake, Wis., and the Holyville Co., Boiseville, Wis., all have signed contracts with the NFO.

The Jerome chairman said all Magic Valley NFO meetings are open. There are no secret hand-

Interest is high—students have raided each other's camps with everything from mice to paint, and thousands of alumni are descending on the San Francisco Bay area for what is annually its largest mass social event.

Children Crushed In Freak Mishap

ST. HELEN, Ore., Nov. 23 (AP)—A trailer truck with no brakes skidded into a front yard to miss a stalled school bus last night and crushed three children to death against the wall of their home.
The children, Gerald Brochu, 8, and his brothers, Ryan, 4, and Blinn, 2, were playing beside their father's tractor, which was towing the school bus off the road. The runaway truck hit the tractor and the three children were crushed between the front wall, the tractor and the truck.
The driver of the truck, Charles Lemkau, 35, told police he applied his brakes but they didn't work and he steered off the road.

German Drug Is Banned By Italians

LONDON, Nov. 23 (AP)—Italy has banned the sale of prednin, a German drug, and other drugs suspected of causing deformities in unborn babies in the wake of a British investigation into birth-deforming pills.
The current issue of the British Medical Journal reported two women who had taken prednins gave birth to deformed babies. Doctors said it could have been prednolone.
A spokesman for the British College of General Practitioners said "Turkish drug houses" in London are suspected of causing birth deformities.
He said that manufacturers were notified about the college's suspicions. He declined to identify the drug, pending additional evidence.
Prednins, mentioned in the medical journal, is a drug introduced nine years ago as a pill for slimming down pregnant women.
An estimated 300,000 American women have taken prednins since it was introduced in the United States in 1949, Dr. Frank Lyman, assistant to the director of Copley Pharmaceuticals, said in New York.
Lyman said there was no evidence that prednins was responsible for any birth malformations.
