

Mercury Plunges To Coldest for Season in Area

Coldest temperatures of the season were reported throughout the Magic Valley Thursday night, with Galena taking honors for the coldest spot. The state highway thermometer there registered 30 degrees below zero. Fine, stinging snow fell throughout much of the area Thursday evening with clear and cold weather reported in the Wood river valley, Fairfield, Gooding and Shoshone Friday morning. At Twin Falls, where it was officially four degrees below zero, dry, biting snow was still falling at noon. City streets and highways throughout the valley were reported slick with only enough snow falling anywhere to make driving hazardous.

Wind, Cold Cut Service Of Power

About 560 homes were without power Thursday evening when a cold front cut through the area. The power was restored to most homes by 10:30 p. m. Thursday. The power was restored to most homes by 10:30 p. m. Thursday. The power was restored to most homes by 10:30 p. m. Thursday.

Galena today had two inches of snow with three inches reported on the summit and in the Stanley basin area Thursday night. Gooding listed 10 below at the airport and about an inch of snow in the city. The airport reported with 22 of an inch of precipitation. Roads were icy and slick. The highway department at Shoshone reported all roads in the district were slick from snow. According to life forest service, it was 12 below at Fairfield, but several thermometers registered down to 20 below at Fairfield.

Seat Belts, Calmness Save Life of Man

Seat belts and calmness saved the life of a 48-year-old Eden man trapped in his overturned car for nearly an hour in sub-zero weather six miles east of Twin Falls on highway 50. Driver of the 1957 Chevrolet station wagon, was Ulrich Martens, a polo victim who wears seat belts and association and after the crash was en route from Boise to his home south of Eden. State Patrolman James Gerke, Filer, said Martens apparently tried to sleep and the car went off the road, struck a concrete bridge, rolled over and caught fire and died in a field.

Revamp of ASCS Unit Is Listed First

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman has announced that the first-priority job of his new year, in more than 5,000 farm program offices throughout the country is a self-appraisal to see how they can improve service to farmers and program administration.

The 500-plus locations in the county agricultural stabilization and conservation offices which operate under the direction of elected farmer committees and administrator-prize support supply management and agricultural conservation programs.

Freeman announced recently that the farmer committee system will continue to be the farm program field force and that it will be strengthened as recommended by a committee after an extensive study.

The farm program is so important as a matter of national interest that it is a balance wheel of the national economy that we must pay the closest attention and promptness in answering farmers' questions and assisting them with program papers, proper conduct of employees, efforts to save time for farmers and to make the program more public view through newspaper, radio-TV, newsletters, farm magazines, and mailings.

Flea Spray Offered by Texas Firm

FORT WORTH, Tex., Jan. 11—An effective new flea tick and dog killer on dogs packaged in an attractive spray container, has been developed and is being marketed by Glaxo Laboratories here.

The chemical composition of the new flea spray consists of bromine, methylene blue, pyrethrin, petroleum distillate and inert ingredients.

Pyrethrin and rotenone are time-tested insecticides, according to Dr. Henry D. Carpenter, director of laboratories, who said that this line oil was combined with the ingredients to provide a coat repellent and desiccant, as well as to incorporate another known insecticide for greater effectiveness in killing dogs' fleas, ticks and lice.

The insecticide formulation can also be used with equal effectiveness on cats, Dr. Carpenter said.

The new product incorporates an increase by 50 per cent of each ingredient utilized in a former flea spray by Glaxo.

The flea spray is non-toxic, clean, and leaves the dog or cat with a pleasant odor.

The spray contains a stinging application, eliminating what Dr. Carpenter described as the most stinging of a powder. The new flea spray may be used as often as necessary.

Pyrethrin is one of the oldest and safest known insecticides. It is derived from the leaves and stems of a certain plant. Rotenone comes from the roots of another plant and is classified as a cube resin. Other cube resins related to rotenone are also utilized in the formulation.

Agricultural Picture in Cuba Termed Bad With No Chance for Improvement

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The agriculture department's economic research service today reviewed Cuba's agriculture under four years of the revolution, and found it had with few prospects of getting better.

ERS said Cuba, often called "the pearl of the Americas," has become "a land of growing food shortages where lightening the bulb is now the normal way of life."

Four years ago this month the Fidel Castro government assumed power in Cuba. At that time farm production accounted for more than one-third of the national income and furnished income for more than one-third of the labor force. Food supplies were adequate for Cuba's 8.5 million persons and agricultural exports brought in most of the country's foreign exchange earnings.

Quite a different situation prevails today, ERS said. "The island is now in the midst of an agricultural crisis, with no break in sight. Food supplies are insufficient, and, as a result, per capita consumption has dropped one-fifth since 1958, with most of the decline coming in the last 18 months."

ERS said these food shortages and the rationing now in effect, are the product of agricultural output well below the 1958 level. They also result from reduced food imports, mismanagement in food marketing, and a shift in trade from the United States to the Soviet bloc. Last year the value of Cuba's farm exports was down some 30 to 35 per cent from 1958 levels and farm imports were equally low.

ERS said that all was not well with Cuba's agriculture even before 1958. Yet despite the fact that the island had only one commodity to export—sugar—her agriculture was growing at a slightly lower during the past rapid pace. Farm output in the late 1950's was twice that of 1950-52. During those two decades, the growth rate averaged 2.5 per cent a year, and excluding sugar was nearer four per cent. This was significantly higher than the average population growth of about 2.3 per cent.

ERS said the two chief trouble spots in Cuba's agriculture now are an epidemic and indifferent labor force and inexperienced management.

"Wages are not commensurate with the work, and consequently there is little enthusiasm to produce," ERS said. "Furthermore, many of the administrators are appointed for political reliability rather than managerial ability."

"One cannot be very optimistic about the country's food situation for the next few months," ERS concluded.

Agricultural Research in 1962 Helped U. S. Farmers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—Low moisture alfalfa, silage, liquid feeding value to baled alfalfa may be produced by proprietary packing and sealing conventional upright silos. This was one advancement made possible by agricultural researchers in 1962.

Among others reported by the U-S agricultural research service on Jan. 10 were results of basic research on meat flavor reduction in screw-worm loss on livestock, and development of lightweight wall panels for farm building construction.

In the meat area, it was determined that fatty portions of beef, lamb and pork account for the meat's distinctive flavor. Lean portions all taste about the same.

Scientists also found that high fat content was not essential for good eating quality of lamb, but fat content of fresh pork port related to its good eating quality.

Reduction of screw-worm loss among livestock and livestock products continues as a result of large-scale efforts to eradicate several animal diseases and pests from the United States.

The screw-worm eradication program is under way in the Southwest, in employing methods used successfully in the Southeast.

And, experimental wall panels made of a two-inch layer of plastic between half-inch layers of reinforced portland cement, have been developed for use in farm buildings. The panels are light enough to be handled by two or three men, and no special tools or equipment are necessary to erect a one-story building.

Total Farm Debt Above 1962 Level

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The agriculture department has estimated that total farm debt on Jan. 1 was about $92 billion dollars, an increase of about 10 per cent over the $84 billion dollars reported in a 1962 survey.

In a year-end agricultural finance review, the department's economic research service said farmers' use of credit continued consolidation and enlargement of farms, further increases in capital investment, and higher prices paid for farm real estate and some purchased production goods.

Loan funds were generally ample, and interest rates edged slightly lower during the year, ERS said. Payments on loans were well maintained, because farmers' income was about steady and off-farm earnings of farmers remained large. These conditions contributed to a confidence outlook of both lenders and borrowers.

ERS said the ratio of total farm debt to total farm assets by the end of 1962 rose to about 67 per cent, a little more rapidly than the value of farm assets since 1957 all operations and land. For every dollar in farm debt, there is higher for indebted farms than for all farms. ERS said the survey sample survey of agriculture in 1960 showed that about 60 per cent of all farms had debt—owed by the operator, landlord, or both.

Federal Funds Loaned to Farmers in 1962 Reached Highest Sum on Record

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman has announced that farmers' home mortgages totaling $1.2 billion in 1962 reached the highest level for any 12-month period in the agency's history.

An estimated $4 million dollars in loans were made by FHA during the year—40 per cent more than in 1961 and 120 per cent more than in 1960.

About $14,000 farm and other families used credit from FHA during 1962. This was a 17 per cent increase over the number of borrowers in 1961, and 24 per cent over those in 1960.

Three FHA programs showed substantial increases in dollars during 1962. Loans to farmers for purchase, development, or enlargement of a family—11 per cent increase in 1962 over 1961—amounted to $700 million for construction and improvement of homes and other buildings more than doubled. Loans to individuals and small towns and other communities for farm and rural community water systems and floodage other water development and conservation measures rose about 90 per cent.

Freeman said about 278 million dollars went to 14,000 farmers to buy equipment, livestock, fertilizer, pesticides, feed, tractor fuel and other supplies for farms and homes in 1962.

Farm operating loans amounting to about $75 million dollars were made to 14,300 farm families to buy, develop, or enlarge their farms and to refinance debts.

Rural housing loans—totaling about 10 million dollars—went to 18,000 borrowers to build or improve houses and service buildings on farms and in rural communities.

Water development and agriculture conservation loans totaling 15 million dollars went to 640 individuals and 107 associations serving about 4,400 people.

Watershed loans amounting to 3 million dollars.

Emergency loans amounting to an estimated 61 million dollars during 1962 totaled 302 million dollars in normal farm mortgage operations following disasters, such as drought, floods, and storms.

Repayment by FHA borrowers during 1962 totaled 302 million dollars in normal farm mortgage operations following disasters, such as drought, floods, and storms.

New Tax Law Will Boost Support of Farm Co-Ops

MIAMI BEACH, Jan. 11—The new tax law will make complete financial understanding and support of farmer cooperatives more necessary than ever for the successful operation of farmer co-ops, according to a statement made by Glenn R. Heitz, deputy general manager and director of the cooperative bank, secretary of the farm credit administration, speaking at the 34th annual meeting of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives on the subject of the new tax law on the financing of farmer cooperatives.

"Careful financial planning will be high on the list of priorities of farmer cooperatives that successfully cope with the new tax law," Heitz emphasized. "AIDA programs that achieve the understanding and support of members will be integral ingredients in this financial plan," he continued.

Getting more mileage out of their available capital resources. Developing improved methods of attracting and retaining member patron and investor capital," Heitz pointed out that most cooperatives will have to change their bylaws in order to obtain specific agreement of their members to include as income non-cash patron refunds in financing income taxes. "This in itself will take an intensive program to get members to understand the reasons for these changes," he explained.

Rural Youths Return From Chicago Trip

A pair of rural Twin Falls 4-H club members, consistent winners in Idaho agricultural and home-making competitions, have returned home after all-expense trips to the National 4-H club camp in Chicago.

They are Steve Carlson, 16, and Carol Custer, 17. Carlson won his trip as first place first in the state field crop program. It was awarded by Agricultural Production Department of Allied Chemical Corporation, the program's sponsor.

The youths' friend, who moved to Twin Falls recently, is the son of Mrs. Harland Carlson. In addition to raising wheat and beans in his home crops project, he has raised and showed prize-winning steers.

Carol is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Custer, began her clothing program nine years ago with an apron and now makes all of her own clothes, including such things as wool suits.

Cook and Custer, who which awarded the young homemaker her trip, sponsors the program. They also give monthly "friendship" dancing party for the 1500 boys and girls at the congress.

Tax Guides

Copies of the 1953 Farmers Tax Guides are now on hand, reports Twin Falls County Commissioner Donald J. Peterson. Copies can be obtained by contacting the county agent's office.

The publication is distributed by the Internal Revenue Service to aid farmers in computing their tax returns.

Potato Seed Can Be Cut Off Season

MOSCOW, Jan. 11—Have you had trouble getting a good seed cutting crew? Lost any cut seed because of wet weather? If so, perhaps you should consider cutting your potato seed in February or March.

Following University of Idaho recommendations, you can now have "instant" potato seed, ready to plant when you want it.

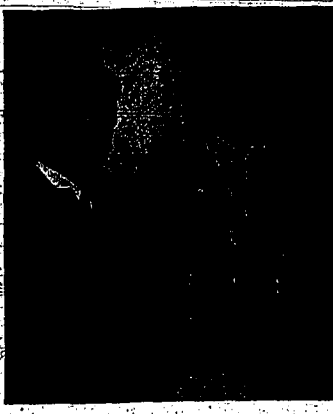

Early cutting of potato tubers was safety done without injuries when proper sanitary measures were observed and rather simple conditions provided to promote healing of the cut surfaces of the seed pieces.

Healing of the cut tuber surface was accomplished and weight and rot losses held to a minimum by treating the cut sets with captan or Dithion.

The treated seed pieces were held at 48 degrees and 90-100 per cent relative humidity for one week following cutting.

After one week the seed pieces were returned to regular storage conditions, 40-45 degrees and 85-95 per cent relative humidity.

Adequate ventilation was provided at all times. February and March proved to be better months to cut the seed than January and April.

Twin Falls FFA Places First in Area Contest

Winning team honors and taking two individual trophies was the Twin Falls high school Future Farmer of America team at the South Magic Valley District Crop and Weed Judging contest held last Saturday at Castleford.

Twin Falls placed first, Castleford second, Pinedale third and Kimberly fourth. There were three members to a team.

In addition to winning the team title, Gary Akaw topped the individual scoring and Lyle Fuller won second place in individual scoring for Twin Falls. Mike Quisenberry was the third member of the Twin Falls team, Lowell Spitzer, Castleford, was third in individual scoring.

Members of the teams were required to identify 50 weed plants, 21 crop seeds, 48 weed plants, and 11 crop plants.

Freeman Notes Farm Programs Not Appreciated

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—The Secretary of Agriculture, Charles L. Freeman, has informed President Kennedy that the small towns of the West and Midwest, where current farm programs have been most beneficial, are not being appreciated.

Freeman wants to change this politico-economic situation, and the President says he will do the majority of the 1953 presidential votes in most of the small towns and in many of the states of the West and Midwest.

"We have begun an intensive effort to get this story across," Freeman said. "A general misunderstanding of agriculture, compounded by a strongly opposed press, makes this difficult, but we are concentrating our effort to bring home the story of the gains the people have made," said Freeman.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—The U. S. department of agriculture has announced continuation of hearings wherein several meat packing companies have been charged with violating the packers' and stockyards act by controlling lamb prices.

Denver will be the site for the next hearing, set for Feb. 6. Previous hearings were held in Twin Falls; Bakerfield, Calif.; Richmond, Utah; Monroe, Colo.; Presidio, Calif., and Craig, Colo.

Available

Twin Falls County Agent Donald J. Peterson reports copies of the Idaho certified seed potato directory are available in his office. The directory should be of particular interest to potato growers in Twin Falls county as it is nearing the time when seed potatoes are chosen for this season, said Peterson.

The directory is published by the Idaho Crop Improvement association.

Major Farm Products May Top Records

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—The agriculture department estimates world production of major farm products may reach new highs in 1952-53.

Bread-grain production is estimated to reach 1,000 million bushels in 1952-53, according to the department. Rice (excluding communal) China is setting a new record, probably two per cent above the previous year.

The total feed-grain tonnage is running slightly larger than a year earlier as a record output of barley is expected to more than make up for a decline in corn and oats production.

The department said production of vegetable oil in calendar year 1952 will be only slightly above 1951, but the supplies probably will be increased moderately over the previous year.

The output of meat, milk and eggs in 1952 continued the post-war increase. Production of potatoes and dry beans sharply reduced. Live stock of Europe, coffee and jute crops, although large, were down considerably from 1951.

Production of tobacco and cotton set new records in 1952-53. Production of sugar and wool was little changed from the previous year.

Lamb Hearings Will Continue

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—The U. S. department of agriculture has announced continuation of hearings wherein several meat packing companies have been charged with violating the packers' and stockyards act by controlling lamb prices.

Denver will be the site for the next hearing, set for Feb. 6. Previous hearings were held in Twin Falls; Bakerfield, Calif.; Richmond, Utah; Monroe, Colo.; Presidio, Calif., and Craig, Colo.

Livestock Trades Benefiting Border Sections of Mexico, Canada and U.S.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—Good livestock trade between the United States, Canada and Mexico is expected to continue throughout the year, according to the U. S. livestock trade commission.

The North American livestock economy is an interrelationship that has existed for well over 100 years.

The inter-American trade in livestock started when the first cattle were introduced into Mexico and Canadian borders.

Since then, the three livestock economies have developed in a mutually profitable exchange of goods.

The list of traded items includes beef, sheep and swine, and quantities by all three nations.

The exchange of goods is essential to the livestock economy of the origin and destination of the commodities.

The recommendations were drawn up by a family farm subcommittee headed by James G. Fann, president of the National Farmers Union.

The subcommittee defined a family farm as a family enterprise, a farm operated by and for a family, small enough to enable a family to provide most of the labor, management, and control of the capital required.

Practical limitation of federal price support, credit, conservation, crop insurance, and other technical to larger than family farms.

Statutory provisions against the use of operating loans in farming by an individual or corporation to offset profits in non-farm business enterprises.

Authority to provide credit to government-owned enterprises, such as the U. S. livestock and wool agencies making loans to family farmers and to cooperative agencies making loans to family farmers and to cooperative agencies making loans to family farmers.

Removal of any restrictions that would prevent farm cooperatives from acquiring existing facilities or merging existing facilities and services, or otherwise to bargain collectively in marketing their products.

Establishment of a minimum wage for agricultural workers. Discharge feed companies, hatcheries, chain stores, packers, and other agencies from financing farming operations of entering into restrictive contracts with farmers.

The subcommittee also strongly endorsed the farmer committee system used to operate government farm programs and recommended that only bona fide farmers take part in the programs be eligible to hold office.

The subcommittee called on the extension services, colleges of agriculture, and other federal and state agencies to place more emphasis upon farmers' need for new marketing institutions rather than a constant expansion of production.

Farmers reported that their cows produced milk at the highest rate in history. Milk production was up 15 per cent over last year.

From wheat growers, 815 learned that wheat production of slightly more than one billion bushels was less than the amount that probably will be made at home and abroad.

Monthly reports from all storage plants informed 815 that supplies of frozen food during 1952 were at the highest level of all time, and that stocks of perishable foods stored at temperatures around 33 degrees have been ample.

1952 included data on Durum wheat, estimates of sugar cane production in Hawaii, and reports on seven berry crops in Oregon and Washington.

Boxing Described as Both Good and Bad

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 11 (AP)—Professional boxing was described variously Thursday as the savior of youth who otherwise would go wrong and an immoral activity. The descriptions came from former boxers, jurists, doctors and a theologian—who testified at a hearing before a New York state legislative committee.

The intention of boxers is to land damaging blows. The effect of this blow is intentional and injury or death results, such as indirectly intended. The commandment "thou shalt not kill" accordingly prohibits harming a man. Since boxing is under rules of a contest, the contest is immoral and should be abolished.

The boxers appear on behalf of the Boxing Writers Association, which presented a statement calling for retention of boxing but with reforms. Hornsby, a member of baseball hall of fame, died last Saturday in Chicago of complications arising from a heart condition.

Boxing was referred from the ring 25 years ago after winning the abolition and well-recognized championship and the thought of abolition of professional boxing "makes me ill."

Dr. George Matson, a neurosurgeon on the staff of the Harvard medical school, said the death of a professional boxer to damage the brain of his opponent via the knockout. He said the boxing rules or prize equipment would diminish that fact.

Dr. Walter Friedlander, professor of pathology at Albany Medical College, said he did not think anyone could authorize boxing because of the brain damage problem in boxing because no unbiased, scientific study has been made.

The death of boxer Benny Brumfield from a brain injury after a championship fight last year led to creation of the legislative committee to determine whether the sport should be abolished in New York.

It was the greatest sin in the hearing was committed by the Rev. George C. Bernard, rector of Holy Trinity church in Washington, D.C. The Roman Catholic theologian wrote his doctrinal views on the morality of prize fighting.

He outlined his position thus: Professional boxing rules and

Hornsby Buried In Ghost Town

MORRISBY BEARD, Tex. Jan. 11 (AP)—Roger Hornsby, baseball's "right" and its greatest right-handed hitter, was buried Thursday in this ghost town amid a dump of oak and cedar trees in a ceremony that drew some of baseball's top names.

The final resting place of the 60-year-old universal baseball immortal who managed five major league teams was a cemetery near a monument that marked the site of an Indian raid in 1833, a year after the community was settled by his ancestor, Zebulon Hornsby.

A large group of former baseball associates attended the service. They included Alvin Karpis, Braves manager Bobby Bragan and St. Louis Cardinal manager Johnny Nease.

MVCC Plays Host to Ricks at Minico Gym

A number of former prep stars from around the valley will meet Saturday night at the Minico high school gymnasium when the Magic Valley Christian College Panthers renew their rivalry with Ricks College. Rexburg-Darrell Freeman, the Panther's leading scorer who is hitting at a 15.8 percentage clip, and Merrill Anderson, a 7.3 points per game contributor to MVCC, are both former Minico stars. Anderson, who had also been a player at Minico in high school, led the team's second leader in scoring with a 14.4 average. Anderson is a former Minico hardcourt star. From the Ricks quintet, fans will remember Mike Lutz, who scored 10.1 points per game, and Lynn Okley, who scored 10.1 points per game. Magic Valley has a 9-7 record for the season, but most of the high school stars. The Panthers are always a dangerous club. A reversal of past times will be seen Saturday night, as they have dropped their initial two games against Ricks. The Panthers are 1-2 in their first two games.

Decades Hill and Freeman, the Ricks hoopers will have to watch Ken Miller, who is a consistent hitter, and Al Anderson, who is a consistent scorer. The Panthers are playing after two straight losses to the Northwest Nazarene College in Stumpus last week-end. They dropped those 63-45 and 62-47 to the tough Nazarene.

Ricks had a split week-end after whipping the College of Southern Utah 87-68, they dropped a 10-7 contest to Dixie Ricks 1-7.5 for the season.

Bearcats Win 75-58 Over Texas State

DENTON, Tex., Jan. 11 (AP)—Cincinnati's No. 1 Bearcats rolled to a 75-58 victory over North Texas State Thursday night in a Missouri Valley conference game that was a tough one for the Cats until the fading minutes.

The Eagles scored the third highest points total of the season against the national collegiate champions, matched them for goal in most of the first half but faded when John Savage, an ace scorer and rebounder, went on an 11-point run in the second half with Cincinnati leading 58-47.

The lead changed hands at times in the first 15 minutes when North Texas lost the lead at 25-24. They tied it up again at 32-32 with 2:00 to play in the first half. But the Bearcats pulled ahead to stay then and led 43-32 at halftime.

The persistent eagle then matched the Bearcats scoring for the first 11 minutes of the second half, but when Savage opened out Cincinnati scored 10 points to make it 68-47. The Eagles never threatened again.

There's No Business Like Shmo Business !!

There's been a lot of confusion lately about the words "Shmoos" and "Shmos". Many think they mean the same thing. Nothing could be further from the truth !!

A shmoos is a small animal which, when boiled, tastes like chicken, but when broiled comes out steak. Its whiskers make the finest quality tooth-picks, and its eyes make superb shoe buttons. It joys any flavor of cake, but only Grade A milk. It is to be found nowhere. - And that's what a Shmoos is!

Now, a Shmo is something different. It is to be found in Outer Shmongolia, generally sleeping.

(More tomorrow) Shmos
