TEN CENTS

Justices Await Selection, See Consolidations

"If anybody's guess as to what will happen," the opinion of one Twin Falls county justice of the peace apparently is the general opinion of most people involved in Monday's selection of new justices of the peace by the new county commission. There are five justices of the peace serving in Twin Falls county, but Warren Lowery, Hanson, newly-elected commissioner for district No. 3, has indicated the new commission will favor a consolidation of justice courts. If established, the consolidated courts would cut the number of judges to two — one in Twin Falls, who would handle traffic cases, and one in the northern section, the largest in the nation.

It is the largest of the nation's largest elk and is a popular big game area. The Selway-Bitterroot area is one of the nation's most scenic and spectacular areas.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12—Deputy John P. Kennedy's auspicious start with the 80th-congress, says an increasing number of observers, is that he has had no real trouble with his No. 1 project: The income tax cut.

Over the course of both labor and capital have been whirling up the proposal to reduce the rate of income tax on the part of the Treasury. But the Treasury, through Philip Salinger, secretary of the treasury, has been holding the line. Heller, chairman of the council of economic advisers, have been urging a campaign for it, the proposal says slow down.

PACKAGE DEAL—The biggest new break on the plan is President Kennedy's intention of providing a package deal at different times, but also will include the tax reform proposals.

—Real Estate

REFORM ENTANGLEMENT—The plan to incorporate tax reform will be even more troublesome. Accountants, tax students and others have been busy with the changes in the federal tax structure to make it fair.

Practically every congressman I have talked with has agreed that changes in the structure, even if an impartial committee set to work with sections of experts, will take a year or two to straighten out the hurray's mess of the American tax system.

Don't Let It Slip

If the trend since last July is any indication, the Red Cross bloodmobile won't reach its quota here Monday. About the only element that can save the day is the determination of individual donors who are convinced the Red Cross blood bank is the only sensible answer to the blood problem.

Statistics are tiresome, but these of the last three visits of the bloodmobile are quite revealing. Briefly, the number of donors totaled 220 last July, shipped to the Southern States on the way to 153 in November. Here's the declining trend that must be reversed Monday, last Nov. 19, Twin Falls donors gave 161 pints of blood, just barely over the 150-pint quota.

An important factor in each of the last three visits of the bloodmobile was the number of donors showing up for the first time. There were 39 first-timers in July and another 39 in September. The quota, obviously, was the first-timers who assured the quota then.

To illustrate the importance of those who turn out for the first time, they total 92 for the last three visits of the bloodmobile. If those 92 donors, who have played such a big role in recent blood bank success, turn out again Monday, the 150-pint quota is assured again. Regulations governing frequency of donations specify that individuals may donate blood every 90 days with a limit of five times a year, so the entire 92 are quite eligible.

By this time, everyone should be well aware of the importance of the Red Cross blood program. The blood bank is no substitute for a patient when it is needed in treating a patient and the only source for blood is the individual who wants to donate.

An outside factor is likely to have an important effect on Monday's blood drive, if healthcare donors are looking for an excuse to stay away. It will be all too easy to find such an excuse in the cold weather.

Those who are interested want the blood drive to succeed. It's at the Legion hall between 2 and 6 P.M. Monday.

It's too important to the health and welfare of the entire community—including yourself. And if you haven't donated before, now would be a good time to start.

ANOTHER EXAMPLE
Evidence continues to pile up that seat belts in automobiles are indispensable in saving lives. The latest illustration involves Ulrich Martens, 48-year-old polo victim who lives near Eden. He had a slight bruise on his forehead when he was involved in a crash on Friday morning. The seat belt was used here were credited with saving his life in the crash.

Here was an incident that could have ended tragically. If the crippled driver had been injured seriously, perhaps knocked unconscious, he could have frozen to death before anyone noticed the overturned car and stopped to help. Thank Mr. Martens who, after the crash, plugged broken windows and wrapped himself in a sleeping bag to keep warm while he was trying to attract attention of passing motorists.

Mr. Martens owes his life to the foresight of those who installed the seat belts and to his calmness after the accident. Although he apparently was convinced before of the importance of the seat belts, he undoubtedly will heed the advice of the safety devices from now on. The incident illustrates the importance of installing the safety belts and using them.

It's all the more timely now because there has been talk of asking the state legislature to pass a law making installation of seat belts mandatory in all cars. It may be argued that such a measure is not a proper subject to be considered by the legislature, but there is no question that the legislature has the authority to pass such a law. The legislature has the authority to pass such a law.

Profit-Share Plan Okayed At Kaiser

PONTIAC, Calif., Jan. 12 (AP)—Union officials say Kaiser Aluminum profit-sharing plan has been approved by the board of directors. The plan, drafted by one union executive as a bid to meet competition, is to become effective March 1.

It provides that workers displaced by automation will not be fired, but will go into a special reserve pool. As the firm expands, they will be rehired and placed in other jobs.

Employees' employers will share in savings resulting from increased productivity and reductions in material costs. Employees will receive 25 per cent of the total savings, payable monthly. The union said the plan, which lastly showed the program was carrying by a 3-to-1 margin.

IDAHO CITY, Jan. 12—A Lawrence Ford, 26, Cambridge, escaped serious injury although his car plunged 80 feet over an embankment, then had his feet frozen in 10-degree below zero weather. He was taken to a hospital in Boise today and attended to. Said much of his body was almost black from the effects of the freezing weather. Boise county Sheriff John Williams said Ford's car left state highway 21 between Idaho City and Boise and plunged over an embankment, coming to rest upside down.

LEWISTON, Jan. 12—The search is on for a new New Mile Lewiston. Once again it is time for the annual event sponsored by the Lewiston-Clarkston Kiwanis club. Girls, between the ages of 10 and 16 are eligible to enter the parade, scheduled for March 29. Judging will be on beauty, talent and personality, said Chairman Robert Brada Friday. Awards offered this year include a $500 scholarship, an entire wardrobe, and a chance to compete in the Mile Idaho contest in the spring.

BOISE, Jan. 12—Support of the basic provisions of the present form of law in distributing state funds to the school districts was voted Saturday by the Idaho Association of School Superintendents. The group recommended, however, that some changes be made, including a requirement for uniform assessment of property for tax purposes throughout the state. Lloyd Mason of Weiser presided at the two-day meeting of the associations.

BOISE, Jan. 12—Questions concerning services to be made in preparation of federal income tax returns will be available each Monday at all internal revenue field offices, Calvin E. Wright, the Idaho internal revenue service director, announced Friday. Field offices are not open after 5 p.m. of the week except by special appointment, he added. Field offices are in Idaho Falls, Pocatello, Twin Falls, Lewiston and Coeur d'Alene.

Army Ready To Reshape Divisions

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP)—The army will start within a few weeks to reshape its divisions into the most heavily armed and most maneuverable in the world.

The changeover, first in seven years, will be gradual and may take the better part of two years to complete.

Fourteen infantry, armor and cavalry divisions in the United States, Germany, Korea and the Pacific will be revamped. Only one in the United States, the 1st Infantry, is not being reorganized in each area, to minimize disruption.

The army's two newest divisions—the first armored at Ft. Hood, Tex., and the fifth infantry at Ft. Carson, Colo.—will be organized under the new concept from the ground up. Their performance in field testing demonstrated convincingly the soundness of the new division structure, they said.

Since 1956, infantry and paratrooper divisions have been formed under what the army calls a "pentomic" structure. Each division has five battalions, each of about 1,100 men each. The army felt that the three-regiment, four-battalion division of World War II and Korea was not suitable to the nuclear battlefield.

Accordingly, under the new concept, the army is converting some infantry divisions to mechanized divisions. Simply stated, a mechanized division is an infantry outfit in which everybody rides to the battle area.

Floods Claim 12 In Brazilian City

SAO PAULO, Brazil, Jan. 12 (AP)—Torrential rains poured down on this flooded city today for the third straight day.

At least 12 persons have died as a result of the high waters. Hundreds of houses in low-lying areas were flooded.

LEWISTON, Jan. 12—Idaho experienced few problems in violation of the terms of the 1962, a state agriculture department official told the Idaho Aviation Trades association here Saturday. Stanley J. Tronholm, Boise, state agricultural commissioner, said the department received no complaints last year on aerial spraying and a governor's committee, established to look into possible danger from airborne sprays, didn't find any danger from licensed sprayers have been very cooperative with his department.

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 12—The Omaha World-Herald said today a vast and comprehensive study of United States military strength prepared by the Soviets has fallen into United States hands.

The report contains information supposedly secret, the newspaper said.

Soviet Study of Western Military Secrets Reported

The 775,000-word study, edited by Soviet military expert V. D. Solovayev and only recently translated, contains a number of interesting details on missile launches and describes the planned cutback in the number of Soviet strategic missile command, the World-Herald said. Tronholm said there's always a danger from careless spraying but licensed sprayers have been very cooperative with his department.

The newspaper said the report forecasts a cutback from 1962 to 300 BAO bombers from the 1960 strength of 600 heavy and 1,200 light bombers, and that the U.S. plans within the next few years to have 700 bombers, armed with Hound Dog missiles bearing the name of the atomic bomber.

Demos Stage Fight Over Committee

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP)—House Democrats are staging a slanting intramural fight for the first time in years, over a new study proposed for health care that will pass on President Kennedy's tax cut and health care proposals.

The candidates for a ways and means committee vacancy to be filled Monday are: Rep. Phil M. Landrum, a Georgian best known for co-sponsorship of a labor-management law to which many union leaders objected. He says he has the favor of an economy committee of the aged under social security sufficiently to know how he would vote.

Rep. W. P. Jennings, a liberal-leaning Virginian, who favors a social security health program, but wants it kept strictly separate so as not to endanger the tax cut.

The ways and means committee is so closely divided on medical care that one vote conceivably could decide the issue.

As for tax cuts, Jennings says his inclination is for balanced budgets, but he has heard some impressive arguments that cut-back taxes could stimulate the economy and eventually help pay for the Vietnam-Soviet dispute.

Usually informed sources placed this conclusion together from fragments of information reaching here on the Polish situation.

There was no indication whether Khrushchev or the Chinese would agree to a Polish go-between.

Authentic details were unavailable on the meetings between Khrushchev and the Chinese would agree to a Polish go-between.

The consensus was that the peking-Moscow dispute over violent versus peaceful competition with nearly 200-odd, 40-shipping companies and 90 tons of cargo. The German communist party cover-up—most—both Khrushchev and Gomulka will attend.

A three-member red Chinese delegation headed by Wu Hsiu-chuan, former ambassador to Yugoslavia, left Peking today for East Berlin, certain to face criticism from Khrushchev and possibly a showdown between Moscow and Peking.

Negotiators Seek Hint of Red Policies

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP)—Negotiators in the U.S. arms agreement experts will open talks with Soviet representatives in New York on Monday in an effort to find out whether the Moscow hints of a nuclear breakthrough in the arms agreement deadline is possible.

The U.S. disarmament officials said today. That is the point at which the possibility of discovering new information becomes sharp. The Soviet side may also want to check the nuclear arms race because hardening spirit with red China.

The state department announced that the new round of preliminary talks will be held between William G. Foster, representing the United States, and Ambassador Nikolai Fedorenko and Gen. Leonid P. YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

SUNDAY, Jan. 13—Born today, you have more tenacity of purpose. As long as you live, nothing will keep you from working toward the attainment of your goals—goals which will never change as they are forever reached. You are marked for success from early childhood, and only the sad neglect of your education or the unhelpful wrapping of your spiritual or moral philosophy could keep you from it. Because ambition is your most outstanding characteristic, you are falling prey to the perils of egotisticality, and you must be on guard against contenting on your aims to the exclusion of other people. Life is a ten-way street. There must be as much give as there is take in the world, happiness will not result. The best thing that could happen to you would be to have others dependant upon you. This would take you out of yourself, broaden your outlook, make you more interested and interesting, and for this reason you might be wise to wed early in life. But be sure to wed one whose need is not your work or ambition. Among those born on this date are: Alfred Guzman, journalist; historical novelist; Salmon P. Negro Denies Report That He Will Leave

OXFORD, Miss., Jan. 12 (AP)—Negro student James H. Meredith termed "inaccurate" a report in the Memphis Commercial Appeal today that he might transfer back to Jackson State college, a Negro institution, after he completes the present semester at the University of Mississippi.
The Commercial Appeal said sources indicated Meredith already had applied for a telephone in an apartment near Jackson State, which he left to enter the University of Mississippi last fall. The paper said this might be a prelude to his reentering Jackson State.
Meredith said last Monday he would not register for the second semester at Mississippi unless the atmosphere became "more conducive to learning."
But he declined to disclose any other plans. Examinations start here Jan. 17 and run until Jan. 25.—Registration—for—the next term is Jan. 31.
Meanwhile, Meredith remained on campus, apparently studying for examinations.
He ate brunch at midmorning in the cafeteria, where jeering students demonstrated against him earlier in the week. There were no incidents Saturday.
The university administration announced Friday night that demonstrations against Meredith would not be tolerated. At the same time, it suspended one student for his role in such demonstrations the previous night.

SAN JOSE, Calif., Jan. 12 (AP)—The defense attorney in the murder trial of Dr. Oes DeKaplany, a refugee from Hungary, has formed the conviction he will try to persuade the physician to change his plea to guilty.

Devlin said at the time of his arrest deKaplany telephoned them and confessed, saying he wanted to ruin her beauty because he believed her unfaithful. She denied this to her dying day.

Pump Houses Burn on Two Area Ranches

SHOSHONE, Jan. 12—Several thousand dollars damage resulted Saturday morning when pump houses burned on two separate farms in the north Shoshone area.

The first fire was reported about 1 a.m. at the George Dehannan farm, 15 miles north west of here. Jake Jackson and Bill Baker live on the place. Jackson ran a quarter of a mile to the home of a neighbor, Dev Adams, to call firemen.

The Wood River volunteer fire department sent one truck and the Shoshone fire department sent two trucks. Firemen confined the blaze to the pump house and kept it from spreading to a large stack nearby.

Sheds, corals and the house also would have been endangered if the strawstack had caught fire, firemen said.

Neighbors also assisted in fighting the blaze in the 10-foot wood frame building. The double roof of the structure was filled with sawdust.

About 2:30 a.m. Saturday the pump house on the Jack Strum ranch in the same area, one and one-half miles north of the Palmer service station in highway 61, caught fire. Cause of either blaze was not determined.

The pump on the Strum ranch ran on a gas engine. The engine was located outside of the building and it difficult for firemen to reach it to bring the blaze under control.

The Wood River fire department answered the call. Residents reported temperatures varying from 20 to 28 degrees during the night they were fighting the fires.

U.S. Goods Shipped Out Sets Record

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP)—U.S. producers shipped a goods abroad at a record rate last year, but the cry from the Kennedy administration for more and more exports grew louder.

To a man, administration officials say an increase in exports holds the really effective solution to the country's balance of payments problem.

By commerce department estimates, exports swelled 4 per cent to a billion dollars last year. This does not include military aid shipments. At the same time imports rose 12 per cent to a record 16 billion dollars.

The favorable balance in trade thus dropped from 5.3 billion dollars in 1961 to 4.4 billion dollars in 1962.

Even so, the U.S. deficit in its over-all balance of payments declined from the 2.5 billion dollar gap of 1961 between the flow of dollars in and out of the country. A decrease in private investments abroad helped reduce the deficit to somewhere around 2 billion dollars.

Mr. Kennedy said the deficit will be this year. President Kennedy's once expressed hope of wiping it out by the end of 1963 seems doomed. Most officials believe "nonetheless," the gap will continue to narrow as long as sales overseas expand.

Sunday Closing Editorial Is "Refreshing" to Reader

Editor, Times-News: It was with more than usual interest I read your editorial on Sunday closing.

It is refreshing indeed in these days of confused thinking in regard to legislation concerning Sunday closing laws to read an editorial which would present the case for the preservation of the Constitutional freedoms of our nation. D. C. CLARK (Twin Falls)

Woman Feels "Blue Law" Is Step-Toward Dictator

Editor, Times-News: After listening to the new I must write and let you know how I feel concerning the so-called "Blue Law."

As far as I am concerned the blue law is a step toward dictatorship. Anyone running a place of business should have his own right to decide when he wants to stay open and when he wants to close his doors. When are they going to pass laws telling us what we must do and when that we must be "our children" are taught in school that blue law what you call freedom?

If a person wants to work on Sunday let him work. If he wants to go to church and take a day of rest, let him. This should be his own choice, as an American citizen. We sent Krumpholtz home... MRS. S. MILLER (Twin Falls)

Inroads of Communism On America Are Deplored

Editor, Times-News: Your article, "All Wrong," recently written as a query about the inroads of Communism has been an explanation. Surely a newspaperman should know the "why" of Cuba.

We have had the same thing through the Institute of Pacific Relations, the handling of Liao and the forcing of communism on Eastings at the present moment. Even since Roosevelt, the one word or super communist has been a floor of dedicated one word person in the Truman, like and the present incumbent have all the state

People Pay Utility Taxes In Long Run, He Asserts

Editor, Times-News: I don't think the letter from Robert Pettigrove in the Times-News of 1/10 "explosion" theory of who pays the Idaho power company taxes as advanced by Mrs. Day in her letter of Dec. 27, by a long way. Surely Mr. Pettigrove is not ignorant of fundamental economics as to believe that anyone but the wealth producers of a country pays the utility taxes. It would be cheaper for the people to pay the tax direct and get lower rates for power or light or what you have you and further, when a corporation wants to invest millions in a new plant or project, does it go to the shareholders to ante up the money it needs? It does not.

If there is insufficient money in its treasury to finance the job it goes to the banks and other lending institutions for the balance and whose money does it get? None other than yours and mine and the "dollar" follow down the street. So you see, Mr. Pettigrove, your theory could not be further from the truth and don't forget that the farmer pays his taxes out of the wealth his labor produces out of the soil. I. O. GRUNDZ (Rupert)

Gooding Man Pens Letter to Newly-Elected Legislators

Editor, Times-News: This is an open letter to any state elected official who was elected in the legislative session. If any state official or legislator would give his wife one million dollars to buy a new car, it at the rate of $1,000 per day she would be back in three hours and would be wanting more money. Now if you give her 100 million dollars, which is being proposed for next legislative session at the same rate, $1,000 per day, how long before you would expect to away and spend the money?

congress was more than all the presidents from George Washington through Harry Truman combined. The new legislature will appropriate more money than all the presidents since statehood. Yet the buying power has decreased over one half. My former campmate in the election who would abolish the commission form of government decided to back legislators. He said as voters cannot vote out commissions. Their names are not on the ballot. He has been elected and the governor was elected and the state senator Donat introduced the bill and it went through both houses and the governor signed it. FRED O. REYNOLDS (Gooding)

Anti-Communist Study Unit Work Is Lauded by Woman

Editor, Times-News: Several months ago I joined an anti-communist study group. Since then I have been guided by the study material. On myself and my attitudes. I am sure I was always anti-communist. And I was against big government spending, government interference in our lives, our daily life, too much federal aid, etc. all of which I am sure are some symptoms of communism as against us, the communists to rob us of our American way of life. And what did I do about it? I raised my family and kept my mind on my own business and dabbled in civic affairs. And I voted—you bet I voted. I believe that was doing of it. And I hadn't the slightest idea of what was going on in the world around me. The communists say they will save us out of the world. I believe they are doing it, with our help. They say they will take us down willingly. I believe they have infiltrated many of our federal, and even at a lower level, agencies and are working from the top-down to control our thinking and to take over our country.

Now I realize that not all of perhaps many, of the conclusions I have come to, are necessarily correct. I have been guided by the study material. I am sure I was always anti-communist. And I was against big government spending, government interference in our lives, our daily life, too much federal aid, etc. all of which I am sure are some symptoms of communism as against us, the communists to rob us of our American way of life. And what did I do about it? I raised my family and kept my mind on my own business and dabbled in civic affairs. And I voted—you bet I voted. I believe that was doing of it. And I hadn't the slightest idea of what was going on in the world around me. The communists say they will save us out of the world. I believe they are doing it, with our help. They say they will take us down willingly. I believe they have infiltrated many of our federal, and even at a lower level, agencies and are working from the top-down to control our thinking and to take over our country.

Writer Simmers When Fed With Sunday Closing Laws

Editor, Times-News: I just read the news item about the Idaho Retailers Association trying to get legislation on Sunday closing on Sunday and to stop the selling of certain articles on Sunday. This idea really burns me and I for one will not buy retail if they do not. We the eleven million from any town and we are really glad to have the little store that carries the goods here so close. But, they do most of their business on Sunday. I say so per cent more. If the Idaho Retailers get their legislation it will undoubtedly close our store or put them out of business.

Jerome Man Gives Thoughts On Dairyman-Co-Op Woes

Editor, Times-News: First I must thank Mr. Smith for helping the farmer—the open eyes on this subject. I don't want really to take place in our country today. We have a good many legal businessmen that realize what's good for the farmer is good for themselves and their employees. We also have some who think we are just too dumb to manage our own business. Now that in our country figures all his costs and then adds a profit before paying his goods. Now that the farmers are realizing government and big business are trying to get rid of the small farmer, you will see a lot of dirt thrown at us in the months ahead. We are entitled to a profit for our work and any weapon that is legal will be used to make some of our so-called friends understand we aren't working just for the fun of it. The contract that was presented to the creamery was drawn up by some of our nation's best attorneys. The NPO objective is not only to help the farmer get a fair and just price for his goods, but to control our own surplus if there is one. This will save the taxpayers the billions we are now paying. Mr. Smith would attend a few NPO meetings he might realize that milk and beef aren't the only products which we are working on, but everything that is produced by us and that I would be over produced. In conclusion let me say that I personally could see no greater loss to our community than forcing our local co-op. We have all worked for its success, but the reins have fallen out of the dairy farmer's hands. Let us have our next directors meeting, lets be sure we elect someone who will represent the dairy farmer. We are at the cross-roads; either we band together as government and big business will send the small farmer down the river and with him will go a lot of small businessmen. How do you stand—Mr. Farmer? LEE E. CHOJNACKY (Jerome)

Eden Man Protests Game Department Hunting Policy

Editor, Times-News: I have two letters which were printed in the Times-News and submitted by two different men of the fish and game department. One says we have discussed the ten-year study on elk-browse. The other letter will make it too late to do anything about the situation that if the winter feed grounds continue to be open for hunting.

The other letter concerned raising of the hunting license fee. I am not and was never opposed to this if we also see

Burley Chamber To Examine Law

BURLEY, Jan. 12—Tim Brennan, Burley Chamber of Commerce secretary, will address the Burley Chamber of Commerce this evening at the National hotel. He will explain the blue law campaign being conducted in Idaho on Sunday. ERROY Shestak, chamber president, said he is very interested in the subject is welcome. Rupert retail merchants also have been invited.

The only reason I can see for opening the Middle fork of the Snake river from Dec. 15 to Dec. 15 is to benefit two private services and one big pack outfit, for there is the game in there that once was. Another thing I would like to know is how many times the average hunter might use to reach the few remaining deer blocked by a gate with a huge chain and padlock? At the rate we are going in five years the Idaho hunter can expect to hunt only if he has his own pack outfit or hires one. E. H. RICE (Eden)

Prospect of Prohibiting Duck Hunting Drags Near for Canada

OTTAWA, Jan. 12 (AP)—The prospect of prohibiting duck hunting in Canada for one or two years may not be as remote as some hunters think. Ornithologists here are no mere alarmists. They are regarded as expert and responsible men who know what they are talking about. These men say the ducks are in danger. And these are the men on whose recommendations the shooting laws are made from year to year—the men who had the bug limits reduced last fall.

A shooting ban would be an extreme step. But within the last few years it has been seriously considered at least once by the Canadian wildlife service, the federal agency within the resources department.

For three years now water levels on the prairie breeding grounds have gravely reduced the duck population. The decline occurred back further, to 1958, though, there was a slight recovery in 1959.

Dr. David Munro, chief ornithologist for the wildlife service, said in an interview that the situation gets worse the outright abolition of hunting, considered "very seriously, considered."

However, he stressed that it is too early to predict how next fall's shoot will be controlled. This will depend on several factors.

One of these is the mid-winter duck inventory in the south, results of which will be known this month. Another is the hunter-kill survey carried out in most of the provinces and all of the present hunters' control. Aerial surveys will appear in the spring.

Still another factor is the amount of snowfall. This winter, "So far it doesn't look good at all," Dr. Munro said.

Typical of the way in which the situation is regarded is the recent speech in Washington by Audubon society by Roy E. Coy, a naturalist from Missouri. He said duck hunting was prohibited in South Dakota and Minnesota for a couple of years.

Coy said conservation officials are being urged to prohibit duck hunting. But duck hunters are not interested in the cause of the duck population, but in the manufacturers and sellers of them 10 per cent.

BRUINS POST WINS OVER NAMPA, BORAH

Beer Hits 23 Points to Pace Upset Over Lions; Schow Scuttles Bulldogs

The Twin Falls Bruins moved into SIC contention this week-end by beating both the Borah Lions and the Nampa Bulldogs. Friday night, Steve Beer potted 23 points to lead the Bruins past the highly regarded Borah team, and Saturday it was Doug Schow who provided the spark for Twin Falls. The Bruins managed an early lead, but had to repress the efforts of the resurgent Bulldogs all evening.

PHOTOGRAPH BY BUREAU. Steve Beer is scored by Twin Falls' Steve Beer over the back of Borah's Tom Wright during action in the Bruins-Lions game Friday night. The young junior scored 23 points as the Bruins upset Borah 50-31. (Times-News photo)

Schow came through with a 15-point performance and clutch shooting to maintain the Twin Falls advantage. Twin Falls jumped to a slight lead at the end of the first quarter, then Schow hit four straight points to widen the gap before Idaho Falls' Tom Sweland bucketed two to bring the Bulldogs closer and the half ended with Twin Falls on top 19-15.

After intermission the Bruins maintained their lead, added to it to come up with a 29-22 third quarter bulge. But Borah hit eight points to bring Nampa to within four points with 3:20 minutes left.

With the score 34-30, Schow hit two free throws, and Tim Lavens contributed one more to put the game beyond reach.

Beer earned a standing ovation from the Twin Falls cheering section for his spectacular play against Borah Friday night. The junior jumping jack gunned through 15 points in the second half to ignite a torrid comeback effort. Ten of his 14 points came in the second period when the Bruins were trying to catch up and he capped that with a long one-hander from behind a split second before the third quarter buzzer rang.

Twice during the first half it appeared it would be all Borah—and really. The Lions jumped off to a 5-0 lead in the first 30 seconds but Twin Falls came back and led 11-5 and 19-10 before Borah went in front 16-13 at the end of the period.

In the second quarter, Twin Falls went scoreless from the field for six minutes and Borah pushed ahead 20-17. Schow and Beer split four points in the closing minute to make it 30-23 at halftime.

The Lions were ahead 38-28 midway through the third quarter when Beer suddenly caught fire. He hit two field goals and Kendall Kinghorn scored a layup. Beer bounced back with two free throws and then 30-16 long swish from the 20-second line to make it 30-23 for Borah.

As the fourth quarter began, Doug Schow and Tim Lavens led the Bruins in front before Jerry Ahlin hit for Borah. Schow hit a 30-23 jumper shot and the Bruins were on top to play.

Lavens, Kinghorn and Schow hit the points as Twin Falls moved in front by four points after Beer came up with two free throws. Jon Koller took a field goal and Beer led it with 10 more from the free throw line.

Beer was taken out at the point with Twin Falls on top 50-40 and the standing ovation accompanied him to the bench.

It was the hottest night of the year for the struggling Bruins, who outplayed on 30 Borah fouls for 21 free points. Beer, living up to the shooting potential which showed as a sophomore, hit nine of 10 from the line.

Arizona State Batters Utah

TEMPE, Ariz., Jan. 12 (AP)—Utah State University beat Arizona State 10-0 in a game played tonight for an 80-55 Western Athletic conference basketball victory over Utah.

The Sun Devils, ranked third nationally, pushed their league record to 7-0 and their overall mark to 14-1. The Utes are 1-1 and 7-3. The victory also was Arizona's 41st straight at home.

Using slow-down tactics to keep the fast-breaking Devils in check, Utah trailed by only 30-15 at the half and pushed ahead 44-40 shortly after intermission.

But Arizona State came back, with Gary Sentiza's two field goals and one by Joe Caldwell putting the Devils ahead for good with 9 minutes left. Utah played within reach until four minutes to go, when it was 65-59.

Then Caldwell and Sentiza paced Arizona's decisive push, with Sentiza popping in three straight 20-footers.

70-Foot Shot Lets Valley Nip Bulldogs

KIMBERLY, Jan. 12—The Valley Vikings took advantage of a 70-foot desperation shot to top the Kimberly Bulldogs 64-52 tonight. David Kohz, whose 20 points were the big reason for victory, let fly with the long shot just when it appeared Kimberly had won the game. He swished the net just as the final buzzer sounded and tied the game 52-52.

Using a zone press, Valley jumped in front 11-2 before Kimberly came back to gain a tie. The Vikings went ahead 13-11 just before the first quarter ended. From then on the game was saved until halftime and the teams left the floor at intermission tied 23-23.

During the third quarter Valley took a ten-point lead which couldn't hold it as Kimberly rallied. With a minute and one-half left in the game, the Bulldogs tied it again at 50-50. Then Port McKinzie hit a long shot that seemed to spell victory.

But Valley took the ball out of bounds. Kohz grabbed it and fired the long field goal.

Kimberly won the preliminary. VALLEY 21, KIMBERLY 22 (overtime)

LOTS OF LEISURE TIME must have been available to the ancient man (or men) who inscribed these circles, squares and "bird's feet" on lava rock about 18 miles north of Glendale Ferry in the vicinity of Steam crossing. No one knows for sure when they were originally made but only a relative few are still visible in their entirety although scores can be found in the vicinity. Markings similar to these are found in only a few places in this section of Idaho. Chalk was used to make them more easily visible for photographing. (Times-News photo)

ARROW MIGHT INDICATE someone went "thataway," although it is not probable. The arrow is probably part of a more complete drawing which has long since faded away. Practically nothing is known of the meaning of these drawings or in what age long ago they were placed there. They are probably prehistoric or ancient. This picture was taken looking down at several on a rock ledge. (Times-News photo)

Meaning of Ancient Rock Drawings Poses Mystery

By G.A. (Gus) KELNER, Times-News Feature Editor
GLENNS FERRY, Jan. 12—Whoever took the time to write on lava rock walls on Canyon creek about 18 miles north of here is long gone.
 For that matter, the message the writer was trying to convey is also lost in the long ago with the result that modern man cannot read it.
 The early writer — probably someone who could be classified as an ancient resident of these parts — wrote with some type of instrument that was harder than the lava rock which served as the "paper."
 Designs and writings such as on history and lifetime pioneer three-in-the locality were accomplished by beating the harder substance against the rock, thus fracturing the lava surface. This stood out in bold relief and even now, after untold years of weathering, they are still easily traced. Some, of course, are not now complete.
 One thing, however, is very evident. All the drawings in the locality mentioned are of circles, squares or a design which might be classed as the leg of a bird with three toes showing.
 For this reason they probably should be classed as petroglyphs or rock carvings, especially prehistoric ones.
 —Frank C. Clarke, local expert on history and lifetime pioneer resident is of the opinion that whoever put them there must have resided at least for a time, in a nearby encampment.
 He points out there are two Canyon creeks in the county and the drawings are located on the one which empties in the Snake river after flowing through the community.
 It would be difficult to determine how much water came down Canyon creek in prehistoric times, for instance, but today a rather broad area, protected by lava rock walls, is adjacent to it. Clarke is of the opinion a "village" could have been located at that point.
 The historical expert said that drawings — or drawings — are (Continued on Page 25, Column 1)

WILD BLUE YONDER is ahead and Elmer Kennison looks straight ahead. He hopes that come next spring, the flying saucer plane will take to the air. The unique flying saucer airplane is housed at the Jerome airport. (Times-News photo)

FITTING NEW MOTOR MOUNT is the task this Jerome man faces as he attempts to prepare a new type plane for flight. Elmer Kennison couldn't get the round plane off the ground in first attempt and now is in the process of installing a motor of more horsepower. He tries the motor mount for surplus. (Times-News photo)

Elmer's Flying Saucer Is Lulu

JEROME, Jan. 12 — When Elmer L. Kennison goes for something he goes — way out — he up, as he hopes it is in participation case.
 About two years ago, probably because of the "bizarre" press notices of flying saucers being spotted here and there, he decided to build one.
 Not so long ago, after hauling it from his yard at 329 West Sixth to the airport, he climbed into the cockpit which sits in the middle of the circular plane, pulled the controls down over his eyes and gave it the gun. The plane moved but didn't go up. Apparently the motor just wasn't big enough to do the job.
 So now he has the unique "flying machine" back in the hangar and is preparing to install a 65-horsepower motor to replace the 46-horsepower motor that didn't do the job.
 It was in the spring of 1961 he started to construct the brain-child. He worked week-ends and some evenings and the saucer wanted to take shape. It looked so good he decided to get a patent attorney found. The first idea of a flying saucer had been dreamed up way back in 1912, with more refined ver-

ROUND 'AND ROUND it goes—and Elmer L. Kennison, Jerome, hopes that when the big day rolls around it will go up in the air. This flying saucer type plane is a brainchild that has occupied his spare time for the past two years. The initial motor was not fast enough to get airborne. Kennison is preparing to install a bigger motor to try again next spring. (Times-News photo)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Two FAIRFIELD couples are spending the winter in town this season at the comfort of spending several seasons at their cabins in snowy isolation in the mountains. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cutler, whose home is about 30 miles north of town in the Emmons area, have spent the last 11 winters there. Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hupfer, The Hupfers haven't spent as many winters in their home, but both couples decided to spend this winter there.

Each couple has about 20 acres in mining claims and has comfortable homes, well equipped and fenced yards which they have beautified by planting flowers and shrubs. Winter is not so cold as many think. The snow comes in April. Since their children like to visit them, the couples have built guest cabins.

The Cutlers and Hupfers usually go to the winter home in the first snow and come out in the spring after the snow melts. The latest they have ever come in was on Dec. 21 and the earliest they have ever come out was on April 15. They haven't any communication with the outside world but have radio to keep up on the news. They also have a television set and a telephone. The Hupfers have a well-kept yard with a variety of plants and flowers. They also have a well-kept yard with a variety of plants and flowers.

AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

"The Challenge of Christian Love"

By MAURER IVAN O. BRYNER
Recognized LDS Church Minister

For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life.

St. John 4:18. First, the Christian life which begins comes into our lives from others. It is a heritage that we receive from others. We are shown the way by others. We are shown the way by others.

The Master of men spent many years in preparation for His few years of service. To some it may seem that He received much more than He gave. But not so. In the love of His active and public ministry. He gave many more than He received. He gave the love of the Father for us. He gave the love of the Father for us.

But let us consider the real challenge of Christian Love. What are we doing about it? We are doing about it. We are doing about it. We are doing about it.

Administration Is Expected to Seek Action on Bundle of New Farm Bills

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP)—The administration probably will seek congressional action today on a bundle of new farm bills. They are expected to include a surplus-control program for feed grains, a permanent food stamp plan for the needy, and expansion of a just-launched program for converting cropland to grass, trees, and recreation areas.

Administration sources here said today they hope the new proposals will be much less controversial than their 1962 farm bill. Congress refused to approve mandatory feed-and-dairy controls last year. Administration officials have been spreading rumors for several months that new surplus-control proposals for these commodities will be based on voluntary compliance.

While Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman was visiting farm area lawmakers this week before making final plans, many officials favored a strategy of sending to Congress the program piece by piece instead of assembling one big omnibus bill. In some cases, informants said, the administration may decide to send Congress a generalized proposal for a new program rather than a detailed, specific new bill. If Freeman can avoid a repetition of last year's bitter battling at the capitol, he and his aides can concentrate more attention on what Freeman has already labeled the number one 1963 trend on the domestic farm scene—this is a referendum among wheat farmers, scheduled for late May on early June, to decide if the growers will adopt the administration's new wheat program for 1964. Defeat in that grain-roots battle might be a severe blow to the prestige of the agriculture secretary who has pictures of the wheat fields as a choice between stability and chaos.

Many proposals on which the administration is expected to seek congressional action include: Cotton: Officials are pushing a plan for payment to cotton handlers, enabling them to sell to domestic textile mills at prices competitive with those paid by foreign mills. The administration also wants individual growers given a choice between increased planting allotments at reduced prices or smaller allotments with continued high-price supports. Feed grains: Present law provides no limitation on output beginning in 1964 with prices dropping as low as 80 cents per bushel for corn. The administration will favor extension of the current program under which farmers who voluntarily continue unlimited production will receive price supports, plus acreage-allocation payments.

Dairy: The administration may favor a plan for reduced support prices to farmers who continue unlimited production with higher supports to those who voluntarily accept some limitation. Potatoes: The administration is expected to endorse a bill which would give local farm groups a referendum to accept acreage controls, but no price supports. Food stamp: The food stamp law now operating experimentally on 50 million dollars a year basis would be put on a permanent basis. The bill now being reviewed by the White House, if the bill becomes law, officials predict gradual expansion of the program, beginning in 1965, to an eventual level of perhaps 750 million dollars annually. The stamp operation would reduce the government's direct food cost to needy people, officials say. Administration planners have been discussing a similar extension yet—a proposal to extend the program next year to all needy people over 65.

Food reserve: President Kennedy is expected to ask for about $1 billion dollars to set up a defense emergency food reserve around areas which might be targets for nuclear attack. Much of the reserve would be foods already in government hands under the price support program. Land conversion: Congress authorized Freeman to spend 10 million dollars this year on long-term contracts with farmers for converting cropland to grass, trees, and recreation areas. The administration will ask Congress to lift the 10 million dollar ceiling on the program which is expanded beginning in 1964.

Rural development: Congress may be asked to expand some of the farmers home operations in rural areas and to broaden the agriculture department's authority to give technical aid to local groups in "rural renewal" projects.

Mrs. Eaton said about 20 seventh grade girls wore crazy-colored clothing. Mrs. Eaton said there was no serious problem. She talked to the girls and told them not to do it again. "There has been no evidence of it today," Mrs. Eaton said. Clayton Ockert, principal, said, "What things you do in nature area, we just put it in the bud and that's it."

COMING from the Great Barrier reef off the east coast of Australia, 'worked' into a large sealish forming an unusual television lamp is addressed by Mrs. Raymond Sudweeks, left, while her brother, Jack Hoare, Brisbane, Australia, explains the various colors of the coral. After a separation of 17 years, Hoare is visiting his sister in Kimberly in several weeks. Mrs. Sudweeks left Australia in 1947. The lamp is typical of the many 'treasures' Hoare brought on his trip. (Times-News photo)

Australian Brother Visits Sister in Kimberly After Absence of 17 Years

KIMBERLY, Jan. 12 — In 1945 Mrs. Raymond Sudweeks left Australia and her son became a resident of Idaho. She was overjoyed when she learned her brother and his family, from Brisbane, were coming to visit her. It had been 17 years since she had seen him. The trip was an unusual one for the Jack Hoare family. Mrs. Hoare and four of the five children left Australia by boat. The voyage took almost three weeks. Hoare and one daughter left by jet airliner and arrived in San Francisco in a matter of hours. The Hoare family purposely chose the winter months because they had never experienced cold, snow and ice. The climate in Brisbane is semi-tropical. The trip had a two-fold purpose, first to visit Mrs. Sudweeks and second to see as much of the United States as possible. Consequently the Hoare family spent several weeks on the road from Chicago to California. The family is spending some three weeks or longer in the United States. One thing failed to impress Hoare, and that was the wide open spaces in the western states. After all, Hoare explained, Australia is almost the size of the U. S. and has only 10 million people. This one fact alone is the reason why Australia is seeking new people and new capital. Hoare is a mechanical engineer, so progress in the western states interested him. However, he pointed out once Australia gets the people, it will have fresh water, speaking of Canada. The visit gives Hoare the chance to compare three English-speaking countries, Australia and the United States. The similarity is taken for granted. The three countries have similar backgrounds, common language, common customs. The differences are more different. For example, an Australian sounds like a native-born American. One part of the continent he comes from. In the United States, dialects vary. In one case in the eastern states he finally gave up and just pointed to the items on the menu. But the appetites of the two nations are similar. American beef tastes like the Australian beef which is contrary to what many Englishmen believe. The one thing Hoare had trouble adjusting to was hamburgers. Hoare points out that each year Australia exports several thousand tons of kangaroo meat to the U. S. He said, jokingly, he wouldn't be surprised if most of it ends up as a hamburger. The kangaroo is a pest-much like the jackrabbits, said Hoare. However, many are slaughtered and eaten. Australia has taken steps to protect many of the creatures found on that continent that do not exist anywhere else. The Kola bear is protected. This was the original 'teddy bear.' In Australia 'teddy bears' look like Kola bears. They are sensitive animals and merely picking one up and hugging it could kill it. They live in special trees and now the government has protected all of them. The Kola bear has one of the softest hides in the world, hence it is in demand by the leather industry. The kangaroo also has a soft hide. Older kangaroos have tougher hides and generally the fur is well worn. The hide of the female is redder than the hide of the male kangaroo. It is one of the few animals known where the female outshines the male. There were a few cations in the United States that were missing to Hoare. For example, the Australian usually locks his motor car in a garage. While many Australians own cars, they regard them as necessary luxuries and treat them as such. As a rule the second hand car is in the top shape. The cost of a car in the U. S. is generally less than half of the annual salary in Australia. Hoare said he would get the annual salary, however Aus-

Indian Masses Give Money to Back Defense

NEW DELHI, India, Jan. 12 (AP)—Take my savings and my jewelry, let us to shoot down the Chinese, said the young widow of an American soldier killed in the war of India. Devi contributed to the national defense fund totaling about 100 rupees or $10. A schoolboy, too poor to contribute, skipped classes not to go to school. He gave his savings of one rupee—21 cents—to the defense fund. Other individual contributions were reported by Indian news agencies. Some were publicly officers, but they were not named. India has been aroused—excited by the red Chinese attack—by the news of the Chinese attack. Several foreigners who have come with Indian people in different parts of the country and their own stories of contributions. The government is now to be very with the response. Many rich Indians who have made money through business and industry have given contributions. Most took richly in pulpers and cottons. The government is seeking to keep people aroused and to continue working for defense during the truce on the Himalayas border. If the common man is aroused, as the Nizam of Hyderabad, who has a reputation of being fabulously wealthy and a saint. He said he was too poor, with all his possessions and hangars, on to contribute as much as the government expected of him. Contributions to the defense fund now amount to nearly 70 million rupees—$2 million dollars—plus more than a ton of gold worth 112 million dollars. Government is disappointed with its efforts to lure more of Indians. There is no disappointment in other responses. Blood donors have to be turned away; no do volunteers for the army. Lists of army training camps are full, but as many divisions are added to the Indian army, more youths will be called in. Home guards also are being organized. The civil defense team started in fear the Red Chinese might bomb India cities.
