Congress Whetting Big Knife

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—If the 88th congress follows the course of its predecessors it will sharply cut President Kennedy's requests for new appropriations this year—and restore many of the reductions made last year.

Over the past year, for example, it has cut about 4.4 billion dollars from new appropriations requests and has cut in other areas. It has cut in such areas as defense, health, education, and housing. It has also cut in such areas as transportation, agriculture, and social services.

NATIONAL

WHIRLWIG

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18—A growing realization that the public and the government are in a "hot" mood is being reflected in the House of Representatives. Many members are demanding that the administration take more aggressive action against public employees who are striking.

The strike of longshoremen, which has disrupted the economy and the government, has been a major focus of this sentiment. Many members of the House believe that the government should take a hard line against such actions. They feel that public employees should not be treated as a privileged class, and that their strikes should be met with a firm response.

Bar Ticker: others with "stiffer" uppers than have been landed on either unions or employers.

Hide and Seek

"Off the record" is a phrase that will alert a good reporter to a number of possibilities. In the specification of genuine interest in informing a newspaper about impending events or a tip on how to develop a story, the phrase also can mean a number of other things, such as a confidential source, assuming responsibility for statements or an attempt to influence thinking or even planting information for some private ulterior motive.

"Off the record" doesn't necessarily mean that the information is confidential or secreted, although there was a day when that's exactly what was meant. For instance, some well-meaning but misguided persons are likely to stand up at a public meeting with attendance in the score or even hundreds and say something is "off the record." Such an attempt is ridiculous because for a public meeting — particularly a well-attended public meeting — nothing can be off the record. Such a practice provides breeding grounds for rumors.

Right now, much is being written about an "off the record" session held by President Kennedy in Florida. For some selected reporters, the President briefed the news on his trip to the state, his impressions and developments, but it was specified he could not be quoted. However, it was perfectly okay to use such devices as "close friends report" or "associates say the President thinks" or "according to those who have heard" and so on.

It is when a flack hunter for the President to use in making his thoughts known to the public. If the President, or any other public official, attaches that much importance to dissemination of his thoughts, he should speak right out with them.

That's the sort of rules used for state department foreign-policy briefing sessions. Reporters are permitted to identify themselves and participate in the briefing, but cautioned against attributing any specific statement to an individual official. Thus an official can talk without being specifically responsible for his statements.

It's not so long with the arrangement on the theory that they're going to get information that otherwise would be unavailable. At best, it's an undesirable arrangement.

In the case of the President's briefing session with reporters in Florida, the arrangement can backfire. Reporters not invited to the session read stories written as a result of it and then wrote "off the record" articles in the media directly to the President. The newsmen attending the session look foolish for quoting "friends of the President" and the President himself can hardly deny the statements and put them off as "off the record" would be a better arrangement all around to have officials speak out openly and decisively and assume responsibility for their words.

NATURAL HAZARD

A story from Washington, D.C., covered the various gimmicks being used these days to separate federal workers from their money for the benefit of the federal government. In the past, many of the workers are starting to feel the bite, but the only difference now is the degree of pressure.

It makes no difference what party is calling the shots in Washington, the party will go on to varying degrees. And of all people, those who accept federal jobs in Washington should understand the procedure. In the first place, a large percentage of the federal workers in Washington are in the nature of political payoffs, either directly to political party or as favors to specific persons who helped win the previous election. So the prime requirement for the appointive positions is to be a member of the same party as the administration in power.

Having taken a position under these circumstances, federal workers shouldn't be surprised to find themselves in appointive positions. It's a natural, built-in hazard of that type of employment.

REAL INCENTIVE

If anyone doubts the value of raising a champion beef animal a glance at the amount paid for the grand champion at the National Western Stock show should remove all doubts. The top steer, an Aberdeen Angus, brought $5,000. The second place steer, a yearling, weighed 1,190 pounds. Dennis Gebert, 19-year-old owner of the steer from Graniteville, Ia., received a check for $7,190.00.

The honor of raising a grand champion cow and with the monetary reward. The title and ribbons awarded to the owner of the top animal marks that person as one who is skilled at feeding an animal and is willing to take the time to raise a champion animal into the grand championship.

At Cross Magic Valley, many farm youngsters engage in a similar project every year. It is a splendid opportunity to receive $6.05 a pound for a yearling, but they're spurred on by the national incentive they desire to prove they can raise a better animal than anyone else.

THE POLIO BARGAIN

For 25 years have believed it only 10 years ago? For 25 years, through the years, have we had a treated cure of sugar that early spring and insulate themselves from the dread disease of polio.

It should stave the imagination. But at a time when scientists are preparing to land on Mars and on Mars, stock absorbers are down to the axle.

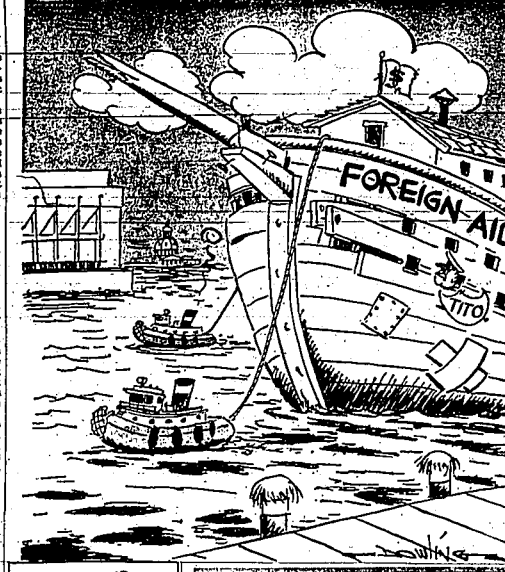

Regardless, we should not forget to be grateful for our good fortune, the disease which has made such a crippling swath through humanity down through the ages. And our gratitude especially to those medical researchers, the miracle workers of 1953.

But it all goes for naught, unless we take advantage of the special insurance coverage for the big problem ahead in Idaho's anti-polio campaign is to get everyone to take the time to swallow a small, sweet cube of sugar — Idaho's anti-polio.

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE C. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q: "I've been told that I have Raynaud's disease. What is it?"

A: Raynaud's disease is a relatively uncommon condition in which exposure to cold and conditions of emotional stress brings on a spasm of the fingers. First there is a blanching of the fingers, then they turn red, and later turn blue. The initial spasm is caused by a spasm of the small arteries leading to the fingers. This is associated with a feeling of coldness or numbness.

The blue tinge results when the spasms relaxes a little and allows only a small trickle of blood to reach the fingers. As the blood returns to normal, the fingers turn red.

On complete release of the spasm there is a rapid withdrawal of the blood from the fingers to be cooled and re-oxygenated.

Some doctors in France recently reported marked improvement in their patients with Raynaud's disease when they used vitamin B-6. When this deficiency of the vitamin is corrected, the spasm of the arteries is relieved and the circulation of the blood is improved.

A few persons after about 15 years of Raynaud's disease have decided to try some help rather than being completely cured as you are.

In many persons the cause of this condition cannot be found. In others it may be due to certain types of injury, disorders

The association will start its annual membership drive next week. All members were urged to work for the purpose of increasing the income of the fish and game department for improvement of operations and management.

The association will sponsor another JOP school in Twin Falls high school's gymnasium Feb. 6.

The Twin Falls hatchery, owned by the association, had a very successful year of operation, according to Drexler. The fish output was 192,216 fish weighing 18,800 pounds and a total of 21,000 fish for early spring plantings.

The dwelling at the hatchery has been connected to the new city sewer system, eliminating the use of the septic system. The hatchery has been repaired inside, as have the valve and outside runways. The overall physical plant is in good repair, Drexler reported.

In December, the hatchery received shipment of 500,000 rainbow eggs for plantings of fish this coming year.

Finances Are Discussed at Jerome PTA

Jerome, Jan. 18—Barrie Shaffer, school superintendent, presided over a meeting of the PTA Tuesday evening at the school.

Shaffer distributed books to the parents for the PTA's financial statement. He pointed out that each year the PTA meets more than 100 times. The PTA has 400 members and currently one out of every four PTA members attend a meeting.

Shaffer said that the state of Idaho averages $100 per pupil per year. Jerome county, however, spends approximately $275 per pupil. Idaho ranks 40th in the nation in this figure. The average in the nation is $100. The percentage increase in the amount spent per pupil over the last 10 years is 275 percent.

Shaffer also discussed the large teacher turnover in the state. Idaho has the lowest-paid teachers of any state in the west and ranks 37th in the nation.

The average teacher's salary in the state is $5,527. Shaffer said that approximately $1,000 more than the average in Idaho is paid to teachers in the second highest in the nation, he said. It is easy for the teachers in any direction and receive higher wages.

Shaffer said that 90 percent of the expense of education should be borne by the state. Currently it is approximately 40 percent.

He pointed out the IEA is urging legislation to pass a broad-based tax such as the income tax.

Shaffer told the group the majority of Idaho towns are now paying the maximum of 30 mills permitted for education. Jerome now has a 30-mill levy for education, he said.

Room count was won by Mrs. Midge Stefanski and Mrs. Peterson.

LaVere Goodrich, Jerome coach, presented Junior high school students in a physical fitness program to demonstrate what is being done in physical education.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hickman were appointed chairman of the annual March which will be held March 15.

The next meeting will be in honor of Founder's day. Mrs. Hinkle Cox will be chairman.

Honorary were Mrs. Bonville Smithson and Mrs. Lelroy Buntingger.

David Bar-Ilan, Pianist, To Appear in Burley Jan. 26

BURLEY, Jan. 18—"It's more important to have a piano in your home than to have chairs," said David Bar-Ilan, Israeli pianist, who will appear here as soloist with the San Antonio symphony under the baton of Dr. Walter Aleksandrow, Jan. 26, as a Community concert presentation.

The concert, one of a month-long western tour by the orchestra and the brilliant young pianist, will begin at 8:15 p.m. at Burley high school auditorium.

Bar-Ilan actually has more experience for a piano than for chairs—his own. He has been practicing for 10 to 11 hours a day.

A third generation Israeli who was born in Haifa, he speaks with enthusiasm of the influence of music on the development of Israel's education system. He did much to unify Israel. With people flooding in from 80 nations, he is not so much a melting pot as a pressure cooker. But music does make a universal language," he adds.

The pianist is married to the former Wilhelma Werberg, daughter of George Werberg and Mrs. Ethel Werberg, Twin Falls.

Bar-Ilan, who has been wrapped up in music since he was 4, is a trained pianist. He studied the first performance of the Israel Philharmonic in the strong views on music and children. "No child should be forced to practice on a music instrument," he says, explaining that "these children who really have talent won't choose music, music will choose them."

Admission for the San Antonio symphony concert here with Bar-Ilan as soloist is by community concert membership card only. These are transferable, and may be given to anyone wishing to loan their membership card call her or Robert Hamblin.

The officers of the concert association remind members the concert is essentially adult entertainment. No children should be brought to the concert unless they understand the music and the need for perfect quiet during the concert.

Mrs. Preston points out the music of a program, the whisper of a child, someone tapping a foot in time to the music, the gurgle of a good baby, or the noise of toys—all these spoil the music for sincere music lovers, and annoy the artist so that he cannot give his best performance.

cannot give his best performance.

The artists brought here by Community concert are top calibre and deserve our best best concert manners. If you have student memberships for your children below the terms, please sit with them," she said.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lancaster bought several new quarters for their horses near their horse ranch near Filer this week. The Lancasters also bought a new quarterhorse for L. W. Lancaster.

Mr. and Mrs. George Moody have purchased a small herd of sheep from Bill Veach, making about 250 head of sheep for the property. They live 18 miles northwest of Choshone. Because of the weather, their lambing started earlier and ran on faster than they expected. They have had two sheep utilized for the wool and are now planning to move their stallion and use his quarters temporarily at least.

Eric Braun, North Shoshone, has just completed a loading chute for his cattle. It is a stationary chute near his barn.

The Roy Stricklans are keeping busy on their ranch northwest of Filer feeding and watering their stock. Their herd consists of some 50 cowboys and 20 white face steers and heifers. Trying to get them ready for winter has been a problem for most farmers in the area. The Stricklans recently completed building a new machine shed on their farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Bailey drove cattle last week from their ranch in Nevada down to the Filer ranch.

Old Kimball has been hired by Ralph Linton, Filer, to help with sheep lambing which he reports is especially heavy now.

Wendie Patrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Patrick, Oatfield, entered a calf in the open class in the National West-Stock show in Denver. Her mother accompanied her.

Lambing operations have commenced at the ranch of Mr. and Mrs. John Bapko, King Hill. Men have been hired to watch for new-born lambs all night because of the cold weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graham, King Hill, have been recalving their cattle for cows and for scours among their calves.

Kenneth Webb, Torrington, Wyo., has been leveling land on the former King Hill airport which now belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Rubery. They plan to use the levelled area for the sheep and is being leveled to provide more acreage for crops.

David E. Hansen, Olatona, Minn., a director of the Percheron association and a breeder, was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Morrison, Murtaugh. Morrison is a local breeder of Percheron horses.

Mr. Ralph Carter, Filer, ranch wife, who was "down and raised" in the city, has added another chapter to her life. She has started her lambing operations during sub-zero weather but she says her stock ranch near Stanton's crossing in the southern part of the Big Lost River valley is the best place for the sheep to save their lives. And to top it all off, the Carter sheep are "Mrs. Carter asks, "We didn't want them to freeze to death either."

Dairy Short Course Is Slated for Twin Falls

A one-day "dairy short course" is scheduled in Twin Falls on Feb. 20, announced Donald Youst, Twin Falls county agent. The course should be of particular interest to all dairymen. Holders of permanent association licenses will be given priority in the meeting. The meeting will be held in the Roundhouse room of the Roundhouse hotel at 2 p.m. with a no-host luncheon at 3 p.m.

Chairman Is Reelected By Soil Unit

Moisture Is Needed to Boost Growth

Results of the work at Twin Falls indicate that irrigation water will give the highest yields of crops in the region. The University of Idaho, Irrigation and project leader at the Aberdeen campus, said.

"The most noticeable effect of irrigation treatments is that a large amount of water is used in the season of short growing season, as well as in the season of long growing season. This is especially true in the case of the most successful one."

It was found that high soil moisture levels early in the growing season caused bean plants to mature early and usually the amount of seed, conversely, the experiments showed that low soil moisture levels late in the season tended to delay the plants to maturity resulting in a decreased seed yield.

But the results were that a low soil moisture level early in the season and a high soil moisture level late in the season resulted in larger seed. These irrigation treatments also resulted in the most delayed maturity of the plants.

Maturation was highest and slight frost damage to the plants in seed grown under a high soil moisture level for the entire growing season.

In dry years, bean growers are necessarily interested in water. Although the amount of water the plants use decreases as the number of irrigations is not sufficient, a better practice is to apply water often and more efficiently and thereby reduce surface runoff and deep percolation of water. This means a certain amount of easily available water for good seed.

Freeman Says Surpluses Are Reduced

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Secretary of agriculture Orville Freeman said today that surplus of farm products in 1962 was reduced to its lowest level in 10 years.

Freeman said that by steadily shifting cropland from grain production to other uses, new agricultural stabilization and conservation service programs have accomplished a major feat: cutback in government-held grain since 1953.

SIGNUP REPORTED
RUBEN, Jan. 18—George Abner, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, announced today that the deadline for the 1963 crop, barley and wheat, will be from the first of March to the first of April for winter wheat and Dec. 15 in the affected areas.

Rural Road Numbering System Moving Westward to Include Twin Falls Area

A project which began in Murtaugh to erect signs at rural intersections is now moving westward to the Twin Falls highway district. Only the Filer and Buhl highway districts have yet to commit themselves to the project.

"When work in the Twin Falls highway district is completed, more than 40 per cent of the county will be under a rural numbering system," said Kenneth Poe and Charles Harris, area committee co-chairmen.

The Murtaugh and Twin Falls highway districts are paying for the signs and posts. Donated labor is being used to erect and install the signs.

"We've met with good response in connection with the project," said Poe. "This includes the city of Twin Falls, the vocational agriculture departments of Twin Falls high school, Kimberly high school, Hansen high school, and other well-known interested individuals."

Students at the three high schools assisted with the assembling, painting and drilling of the posts and signs. Much of the Twin Falls Highway district has been divided into areas with cap lines. Under each cap line are volunteers who do the actual placing and erecting of the signs.

The numbering system being used in the Twin Falls Highway district will follow a master county system, said Harris.

The system is somewhat different than the one used by other counties, instead of having two intersectional line signs, this system in Twin Falls county will have a common line with the east-point line at the intersection of the Nevada and Owyhee county.

Hence, any location of roads in Twin Falls county will be given in two directions only—east and north.

All east-west roads in the county will be located north of the Nevada line. This U.S. 20 between Twin Falls and Filer is designated as 3000 north because it is 30 miles north of the Nevada line.

All north-south roads in the county will be located east of the Owyhee county line. The road between Ruben and Rogerson and the inter-

Rural Area Development Meet Slated

SHOSHONE, Jan. 18—A rural area development meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the court room of the court house.

Groundwork for the organization within Lincoln county was laid last month at a preliminary meeting.

Rural area development deals with agriculture, business, industry and recreation. Such organizations have been perfected in many counties in Idaho and the nation.

One or more representatives from each farm or community organization in the county are planning to attend.

The organization will act as a planning board for the county. Local problems and cooperatively with other counties will be considered and ways and means found to promote community welfare.

Rural Workers Set Low Record

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—The number of persons working on farms during the survey week of Dec. 22-28 was 4,818,000.

Of this total, 4,657,000 persons were farm operators or members of their families. A total of 960,000 hired hands were on the job.

Both family workers and hired hands were at record-low levels this season.

Family workers, however, averaged two per cent higher than a year earlier, reaching a 1952 average for the composite rate of 94.8 cents per hour.

Bean Insurance Program Offered for 1963 Crop

Magic Valley farmers will be interested in the new bean insurance program now being offered for the 1963 crop, says Douglas H. Berchok, district director, federal crop insurance corporation.

"Federal crop insurance will offer all risk protection, higher yield guarantees and more garden variety seed beans grown under contract and will give wider selection of dollar values to place on the insured crop," guaranteed, said Berchok.

Garden variety seed beans will be insured for the first time in 1963 and under a separate farm unit. Commercial varieties will be insured under a separate farm unit.

The amount of any indemnity check will be the number of pounds that the production is below the guarantee multiplied by the price per pound selected. An insured may select any one of the following prices for dry edible beans either 10 or seven cents per pound and for contract seed beans 8, 10 or 12 cents per pound.

Farmers can make or change the selection under the new contract for the crop year, 1963, at the court room of the court house here.

Business to be discussed will include assessments for next year, election of officers and other existing programs.

The scales are in full view at the far right and are covered to protect them from the elements. The buyers and sellers can watch the weighing of animals.

The television set above the auctioneer's stand is part of a closed circuit system. Shortly after the animals are weighed the weight ticket is shown on the set. The area between the auctioneer's station and the auctioneer's stand has been reworked to provide better working space for employees. (Times-News photo)

MAKES TRACKS
—especially on snow-covered roads. That's how you know it's a Volkswagen. A Volkswagen takes to winter like a duck to water. Its engine is cooled with air, so there's no need for anti-freeze. (No flushing, no rusting, no chance of the block cracking, either!) You can park it outside in sub-zero weather, and it's ready to roll when you turn the key. Because the Volkswagen engine is in the rear, VW wheels get much better traction on ice and snow, even without tire chains. If you need a transporter, station wagon or sedan that will get through (when others simply get stranded) make tracks for your Volkswagen dealer's now.

Guide Available

JEROME, Jan. 18—W. G. Priest reports the 1963 edition of the "Farmer's Tax Guide" is available at his office. This tax guide reflects the latest changes in the Federal tax laws resulting from the revenue act of 1962. Priest said that tax rights and obligations of farmers, including the new rules for deducting expenses for clearing land, are explained in detail. It explains the tax credit for new equipment and the more liberal rules for computing salvage value. Many examples show specifically how the law applies, he added.

Irrigation School Set For 8 Gem Communities

An irrigation school for farmers will be completed this winter in eight southern Idaho communities by the University of Idaho extension service in cooperation with the Union Pacific railroad. The school will be held at the following locations: Burley, Feb. 2; Pocatello, Feb. 9; Idaho Falls, Feb. 16; Twin Falls, Feb. 23; Teton, Feb. 30; Pampa, March 6; and Filer, March 13. Each school will be for one day. The dates are: Burley, Jan. 23; Pocatello, Jan. 30; Idaho Falls, Feb. 6; Twin Falls, Feb. 13; Teton, Feb. 20; Pampa, Feb. 27; and Filer, March 6. Before the car comes to Idaho there will be an irrigation course aboard it at Ontario, Ore. Jan. 21. After leaving Idaho the car will go to Dillon, Mont., Feb. 8. The Idaho program of practical recommendations on irrigating various crops of the several areas will be led by Dorrell C. Larson, extension irrigation specialist, Boyd Baxter, district agricultural agent for Union Pacific, and County agents. The school will plan details at each stop. All classes will be on the car that seats about 60 people. A special discussion for vocational agriculture students will be held the daily program at 10:30 a.m. A four-hour course for farmers will be presented in two parts—on beginning at 10:30 a.m. and the other at 1:30 p.m. A major purpose of the instruction, Larson said, is to demonstrate that irrigation is an important cultural practice. The course will stress the principle that irrigation affects yield and quality of a crop. Instructors will know how to irrigate specific crops most efficiently and profitably.

Production Is Down for Past Month

JEROME, Jan. 18—The average production of milk and butterfat in the Gooding, Lincoln, Jerome Dairy Herd Improvement association number two was down slightly during the month of December, according to Ben Russell, leader for the unit.

Records show 1,620 cows in 25 different herds produced 25,877 gallons of 67 pounds of milk and 327 pounds of fat during the month. The herd fell and water freshening along with the change from pasture and fields to winter feed reduced production. Russell said the average production of milk and butterfat of more than 40 pounds of butterfat and 28 hours had an average production between 30 and 40 pounds of butterfat.

Top herds were Lyle F. Anderson, Jerome, with 27 registered Holsteins, which averaged 1,000 pounds of milk and 49 pounds of butterfat; Reed Taylor and sons, Wendell, with 21 Holsteins, which averaged 1,250 pounds of milk and 48 pounds of butterfat; and the G. W. Williams, Jerome, with 25 registered Holsteins, averaged 1,192 pounds of milk and 44 pounds of butterfat.

Newhouse and Mack & Co., Jerome, with 41 registered Holsteins, averaged 1,178 pounds of milk and 42 pounds of butterfat; E. H. H. Peterson, Jerome, with 27 registered Holsteins, averaged 1,197 pounds of milk and 44 pounds of butterfat; and the Hinton and daughter, Jerome, with 23 registered and grade Holsteins, averaged 1,199 pounds of milk and 42 pounds of butterfat.

Moratorium Expected as Warring Sports Factions Begin Arbitration Talks

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—A moratorium on boycotts, suspensions or other disciplinary measures against athletes probably will be declared Friday when representatives of the warring AAU and NCAA begin arbitration talks with Gen. Douglas MacArthur. "The athletes themselves should not be penalized during this period that we are trying to clear up this mess," one high-placed spokesman said.

Collier Says Browns Lacking Personnel

CLEVELAND, Jan. 18 (AP)—Blanton Collier, now head coach of the Cleveland Browns, says the club has some weaknesses, but that he hasn't had time to give much thought to personnel. Congress May Act if Feud Doesn't Stop

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Rep. Horace H. Kornegay, D-Mo., said Thursday congress may have to act if the dispute between the Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic association is not settled by arbitration.

In a speech in the house, Kornegay said the proceedings, starting Friday, with Gen. Douglas MacArthur as arbitrator, are of the utmost importance to all of us.

"The success or failure will have a direct bearing on the world prestige of the United States in international athletics," he said, and added: "It could become necessary for congress to take action" to resolve what has snow-balled into an intolerable situation.

Kornegay concluded that there is room for both the AAU and the NCAA, but there is no room for the kind of bickering which has been going on for more than two years. Unless this bickering is ended—and immediately one of democracy's high-placed spokesman said Thursday, it is impossible to imagine one of the first moves of the general will be to get the boys back on the track."

All the direction of a concerned President, Kornegay said, MacArthur will meet with hand-picked representatives of the rival factions in an effort to end the long and bitter conflict for control of amateur sports which is jeopardizing the U.S. performance in the Olympic games.

The first of the meetings is set for Jan. 19, 1947 in the hotel tower suite of the retired five-star general who has been for a half a dozen years.

"We don't anticipate a quick settlement," said Col. Don Hull, executive director of the AAU. "These talks could drag on for days."

It seems certain that the nation's athletes, collegians and unattached, will be free to operate in an effort to get on either from the Amateur Athletic union or its new rival, the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

"As soon as the arbitration board meets by the end of the week, the AAU-sanctioned meets, said George Shleiber, assistant director of the National College Athletic Association.

It was the AAU which recently imposed a blackout, barring its 10,000 member colleges to admit the indoor meets conducted under the auspices of the AAU.

We said at the time that the AAU was an arbitration of the dispute because we would lift the ban," Shleiber said. "We will send out notices immediately to that effect."

What means that eastern college athletes will not be withheld from the Metropolitan Championships Friday night, at Madison square garden, The same freedom would apply to the Los Angeles invitation Saturday night and to the Toronto and Boston AAU-meets—the following week.

Hull said his organization would abide by any directive that the National Collegiate Athletic Association or General MacArthur might make.

"In fact, it's not the AAU which makes the most intelligible if he competes in a meet approved by the college federation," Hull said. "The AAU makes himself ineligible, under the international rules which are blocking any sort of peaceful co-existence with the rival federation."

"For 50 years the AAU has been the American agent for the I.A.A.F. (International Amateur Track and Field Federation)," Hull said. "The AAU is a governing organization. It's a sheer power grab," he said.

Hull accuses the college group of "charity" and "revolution" in its move to set up a rival governing organization. "It's a sheer power grab," he said.

Hull stated that the AAU has the greatest "cold war weapons for peace" may be introduced "legally."

The AAU and NCAA are feuders—control of U.S. athletes and the dispute is believed to be seriously threatening this national rivalry for control of amateur athletics in the United States.

Hull said "the AAU has a federal NATA itself has been a major issue in that conflict."

The AAU has been a federal NATA itself has been a major issue in that conflict."

"The AAU has defended the NATA for the past 25 years," Hull said. "The AAU has defended the NATA for the past 25 years, Hull said."

Except for the continuation of the AAU, no organization would have been refused any right of representation of the organization's bodies, and NATA athletes "would not have been given a fair right to represent their best interests, to represent our country in international competition."

The Track and Field Federation was organized and is dominated by the NCAA with the specific intent of gaining power control of the administration of amateur sports in the United States.

"The weapons of boycott and threats to prohibit the use of facilities... are in direct contradiction of the principles of democracy in the best interest of our country. This is clear evidence of the Federation's intention to sacrifice the best interest of athletes and our international sports prestige in order to gain selfish organizational power."

YOGI FLASHES BIG GRIN

As he holds the blackboard which Yankees' general manager Roy Hameyer points to, the next season, Yogi has known about his new assignment for a month. The story leaked out last week and Ron Hamer, the Yankees' general manager, announced it Thursday. Yogi was present at the press conference and readily admitted he didn't know the exact nature of his new duties. "I've been told me yet but I'm ready to do anything he wants," said the sputnik little catcher-outfielder-pinch hitter. "The only thing he told me for sure is that he still wants me to play. That's okay with me. I'll play as long as they think I can." "I don't know what he has in mind," Yogi said, "but I want to emphasize that he is still a player. I think he can play about 15 games next season. He may want to use him as a part-time catcher and pinch hitter."

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—It's official. Yogi Berra will be a playing coach with the New York Yankees next season. Yogi has known about his new assignment for a month. East Riding High on Crest of Big Win

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18 (AP)—The East coasters celebrated Thursday with utmost justification through their 10-0 victory over the West in the National Baseball association's annual All-Star game.

Many called it an upset. But the way things turned out, this was no upset. Scoreless just pitched the wrong favorite, and it irritated the East something awful.

"I never had a paler game," said the East's coach, Red Auerbach, who got some kind of record for his team. "The West's Auerbach only one out of 111 of extreme displeasure with an outfielder who was not for him, a mild one."

The East opened the scoring on a bases-by Tom Grubbs of Auerbach's Boston Celtics, and was never tied nor behind from there.

At halftime it was 50-50, and the score was much closer than that. The West's Tom Grubbs hit 20 and 20's before that buzzer the West's great Elgin Baylor went on to lead the East's scoring with 21 points.

Baylor—Russell, who had 10-10-10 in the Most-Valuable-Player contest for the evening.

The West's Tom Grubbs was Bob Pettit, with a game high of 25 points. This was the victory for the West. Baylor had 21 points and 10 rebounds.

The thing that shocked the basketball world was the performance of Baylor and Jerry West. Baylor sank but 4 out of 15 field goal attempts, and 9 of 18 free throws. Baylor finished 17 points, Baylor customarily hits 40 per cent of his field goals and 3 out of 4 free shots for 30 points.

This obviously was not the night for these excellent players. The West's Tom Grubbs of the Lakers, observed: "Bill Russell dominated both boards. He did a good job on Walt Chamberlain."

Williams Hits Hopeful Note About Future

BOSTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Retired slugger Ted Williams returned to the scene of his baseball triumph and triumph at Fenway Park in a hopeful note for the future of the Boston Red Sox he still remains.

Deeply lauded, 20 pounds heavier than his playing weight, Williams said he had no intention of retiring. He is particularly pleased about the naming of Johnny Peck as field manager and that Willie Mays and Hank Williams to an executive post.

"Three baseball heads are better than one," said Williams, who has had a third most prolific homer hitter of all-time said. "But what I'm most about the situation is that Peck has come up from the very bottom of the organization. He's a real top of the line."

"That's a great thing and the first time I've ever happened. Peck has had a wealth of experience in the major leagues and has done a fine job all along the line."

Williams was asked about the multiple trades the Red Sox have made since the end of the season. "I'm a poor guy to ask about that," Williams said. "The only thing I can say is that I'm impressed with him. He had one of the best seasons you have to hit a ball nine miles in that park for a homerun. I'm sure he'll do a great job for them to pitch to him and help them to win more games."

"The Sox are on the upswing," Williams continued. "They've got just one way to go from here and that is to win more games. They're going to improve by just talking about it. What I like is the fact that the minor league managers appear to be real good all along the line. The Sox will be better than ever in the future. I'm sure they will be a real success story."

Williams will be appearing in the New England Sportsman show.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—Star tackle Alex Karras, glum and silent, and teammate Wayne Walker, relaxed and relieved, flew back to Detroit Thursday night after both were questioned by National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle in a secret rendezvous. Karras, a 260-pound All-Pro center of the Detroit Lions, underwent two long grilling sessions with Rozelle, before the pair flew back to their homes. He has admitted betting on NFL games. Walker had only a 10-minute talk with the commissioner. In the latest development of the pro-football betting investigation, Rozelle was obviously under orders not to talk about the sessions, but he emerged pale and apparently dejected.

St. Louis Coach Advocates Extension of 24-Second Ruling

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 18 (AP)—Harry Gallatin, coach of the St. Louis Hawks, advocated Thursday extending the National Basketball Association's 24-second rule to 30 seconds. At the same time, he suggested the colleges adopt a 30-second rule. Under the present NBA rule, a team must shoot within 24 seconds after it comes into possession of the ball. Colleges have no time limit. "If we had 30 seconds in which to shoot," Gallatin said, "we'd get away from this minor-for-scoring points and we'd get good basketball back onto the court."

"We'd bring the playmaker back into the game. He could develop a type of basketball that would be more exciting than the pass-around game we play now." Gallatin estimated that NBA teams now are shooting 18 seconds after they bring the ball across the center line. He said the 24-second rule dictates the style of play in the NBA and particularly helps a team like Boston "because we use the fast-break system the best."

Commenting on the college game, Gallatin said "they'd be much better off with a 30-second rule. It's smaller than the NBA game as an example." "I saw Missouri put the ball in the keybox with seven minutes to go and a six-point lead," he said. "That isn't basketball as it was meant to be played."

Werkman Leads Scorers in Nation

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—The star of the nation's major college basketball game was Bill Werkman, who scored 33 points in the lead in Iowa's 77-66 victory over Missouri. Werkman's 33 points are the highest in a game since the NBA rule was changed to 24 seconds. He is the only player to score 30 or more points in a game in the nation's major college basketball game.
