

School Fund Plan Gains House Okay

attendance at its base and requires a 22-mile local qualifying levy for a district to qualify its money. The bill also has a separate feature resembling the Senate formula bill and has a "desensitized" teacher factor.

Hazard took after the bill's sponsor, Senator Jack Williams, and his district levy 22 miles in order to qualify for a full share of state aid. He said he preferred the house bill which would have cut down the amount of state aid available—set the qualifying levy at 15 miles. The senate bill had set a qualifying levy at 30 miles.

Rep. Ernest Allen, R., Canyon, urged the house to settle the bill.

"It's time to get it settled down the compromise bill then both houses would begin fighting again over conflicting school aid bills," he said. "It's been a stalemate already. In the spring session, would be a long time winding up its business."

Allen pleaded for at least 40 million dollars in appropriation for public schools.

Rep. Roy E. Clegg, D., Challis, refused to advise his fellow members how to vote. But he called attention to the probe of Senate's "floor" which says no state aid will be received unless it's paid in full from the state and that of

Under the present formula, he said, 32 districts are on the floor. Under the compromise bill, he said, 35 would be on the floor.

"This moment of tax dollars from the rich to the poor districts," said Rep. George Brooks, D., Latah, in opposing the bill, "is not right. You might even say it is just plain wrong."

Rep. Herman McDevitt, D., Bannock, the minority floor leader, said the increase over the money distribution problem was not one of the major reasons for the bill's introduction. "Who gets what?" he said. "I think the floor was put into the formula for no other reason than 'political expediency' and that it's time to give a bill to this legislature."

To Rep. Vernon K. Branson, R., Boise, a large part of the problem was that some school districts had "irrational" property at a rate that made it difficult to cash out more than 100 percent of their property. This makes it difficult, he said, to achieve equality.

"We've heard a lot of philosophy, but we've got to do something," D. Ovings, "in my school district we can't pay bills with philosophy. I want to talk some figures."

Rep. W. Harry Mills, R., Ada, observed that everybody in the state was involved in the discussion on the formula problem. Rep. Karl Shifflett, D., Jefferson, said he felt the hybrid was a "good honest attempt to come up with a formula."

Rep. Paul Chatburn, R., Chelan, said it appeared the house was putting the car before the horse. He said each district had its own unique formula first. He said the house of representatives was taking up a compromise before "we determine a need for a compromise."

C. F. Reports Civil Defense Plan Progress

GLENS FALLS, March 11.—(UPI)—Chairman of the Glens Falls civil defense committee, Rev. W. C. Perry, has made considerable progress toward preparing the community for an emergency.

The application has been made for application has been made for permission to start setting up communications stations. Committees are needed to meet with W. R. Campbell in Glens Falls this week.

J. L. H. Sheller, chairman, Glens Falls Civil Defense Office, has completed inspection of several buildings, including schools and other shelters.

The minister and Robert Kimball, Glens Falls police chief, call Glens Falls buildings on North Commercial street unsatisfactory as emergency shelter. Shelters must be placed adjacent to the building sufficient to cover the floor area and the windows of the building, the engineer said. The building would accommodate between 350 and 400 people.

After Glens Falls city council had leased the buildings from Charles Miserole and his wife, plans have been proposed to make the sills marked with a shelter and stocked with emergency supplies, including food and water.

Old buildings considered

Glen's Ferry—Mercantile,

Bank, Variety, Hammert's school

Haunting Fire

The thought of fire in schools haunts many parents and most teachers and school board members. In a split second, what might seem like a harmless little flame can become a major tragedy. It was demonstrated all over again when fire hit a combined junior-senior high school in Bellvue, N.Y. Fortunately, only 44 of 900 students were injured and no one was killed, but the incident could have been a major community tragedy.

Most, if not all, of the injuries were incurred by students who were on the second floor of the two-story building when the fire started. As usually the case in such fires, panic was the principal cause of injuries. Part of the building dated back to 1919 and there were no fire escapes. With staircases blocked, the building could have been death trap.

Bellvue residents will be asking themselves why no fire escapes had been provided.

It's a question Twin Falls residents will never have to ask. The junior high school and two elementary schools here are more than one story high, but all three have been provided with what appears to be adequate exterior fire escapes. It's a problem that does not exist at other schools here because they have been confined to a ground floor only. A one-story school-building might have other problems, but the danger of fire trapping students is practically nil.

FIRST THINGS FIRST

Idaho's experience with its state legislature every two years indicates a need for a change-in-procedure. Usually, the most important matters to come before the legislature are appropriations and ways to finance them. If those are the most important, shouldn't they be given first consideration?

Nearly every session sees the legislature go down to the wire—and beyond, as is being demonstrated now—before getting down to deciding just how much money will be appropriated and what sort of taxes are needed to get it. There's no reason the decisions couldn't be made earlier, say, in the first 30 days of the session. With the prime questions out of the way—legislators would be free to play politics to their hearts' content, the last 30 days of the session. And when that 60th day rolled around, they'd wind up business in a hurry.

Even if the legislature never got around to doing anything else besides deciding how much money to spend and how to spend it, that would be sufficient. Practically everything else in the way of new laws either makes life more complicated and/or expensive.

THEY'RE HURTING

When things "do" go according to communist plans, communists holler. They don't complain just once and forget about it and the complaint doesn't come from just one source. Communists are past masters at propaganda and most of their war-of-words are well-coordinated, even if their claims are patently lies, as they frequently are.

It's demonstrated again by the current scenario that the United States is using asphyxiation-gases and noxious chemicals in South Viet Nam. The Red Star, Russian army paper in Moscow, says hundreds of people have died. Similar accusations were made at the same time by Peking radio and only a day earlier, communist youth organization spokesmen were making the same charges in Budapest, Hungary.

Before this particular war of words is over, similar charges may be heard from communists all over the world.

In Washington, the defense department said the U. S. has never used poison gas in South Viet Nam, adding the communist claims are false. But it's not hard to find the basis for the red charges. Weed killer has been sprayed along roads and canals to kill bushes used by communists for ambushes. So much foliage has been eliminated that communist tactics have been hurt.

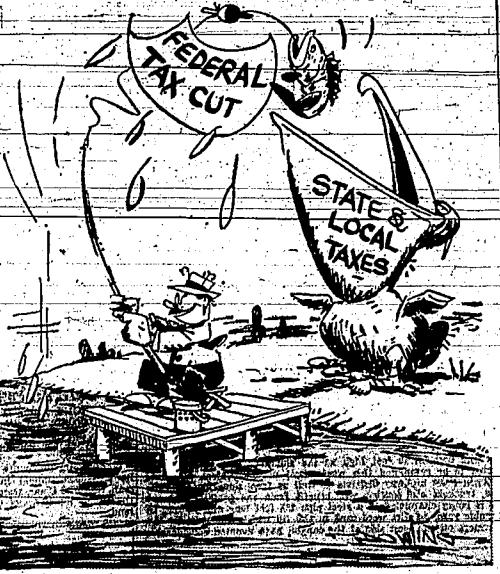

There's another interesting angle that is quite significant. The charges in the Soviet army paper in Moscow and similar charges broadcast from Peking were devoted. For a couple of communist powers that are supposed to be at each other's throats, that's quite revealing. Russians and Red Chinese may have their differences, but anyone who has been banking on a sharp split between the two nations to help the West had best forget it.

Moscow and Peking have been trading lots of insults and hot words, but there still remains the possibility—much of the show has been staged for the benefit of the U.S.

It's already been proved communists will try anything they think will advance their plans for eventual world control. If they convinced themselves a little intramural name-calling in high life might achieve that objective, well, names don't hurt communists and they don't care where the names are directed.

After all, these young people don't have to go to Utah. There's a very well founded belief in the street that men in some of the Utah schools is a bit substandard anyway. MOSCOW.

Palmer Stages Typical Garrison Finish to Win Pensacola Golf Tourney

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 11 (UPI)—Arnold Palmer overcame a four-stroke deficit by firing a 67 Sunday for a 16-under-par 273 total to win the eighth annual $25,000 Pensacola open golf tournament by two strokes. It was his second Pensacola crown. He won here in 1960. Palmer, trailing Harold Kneese by four strokes going into the final round, passed Kneese on the eighth hole by shooting birds on holes two, three, six and eight. He never gave up the lead. Kneese, who tied a course record for 18 holes Saturday with a 67, also had one over par in the final round and closed with a birdie on the backside for a tournament round of 69-70-63-73—275.

Tied with Kneese for second place was Chet Player, top money earner this year in the PGA tour. Player went through the tourney with rounds of 67-72-67-69—275.

Palmer's four-day card read 69-68-69-67—274.

The win meant $3,500 for the Pennsylvania pro. Kneese and Player picked up $2,000.

Tommy Bolt, 1961 champion, finished alone in fourth with a 69-71-68-68—276. It paid him $1,500. Tied for fifth at 277 were Marvin Rudolph, Johnny Potts, Charles and Bo Wininger.

Dave Ragan, 1962 champion, and Tom Jackson, both from Bud Duden, were grouped for ninth at 278.

Palmer beat Kneese on the front nine, 32-31, for the lead.

Kneese, however, won the 10th and 18th holes and bogeyed 18.

I hit my front as good as I've hit them all year—or last year for that matter," said Kneese.

After Kneese fumbled around on the front nine, he birdied 14, bogeyed 15, and parred in the rest of the way. He had a 4-foot putt on the 16th green which would have given him second place all alone and an additional $250.

Had it been a 4-foot putt, Kneese would have pushed the fight beyond the end of the Florida winter-tour season.

Most of the skiers from the United States, ski conditions here have suffered because of a general lack of snow.

Those conditions have been working right up to the eve of the events to get the course "Snow King mountain" in shape. One major task has been to try to move to cover bare spots at lower elevations.

Most of the skiers, from the ages of 14 through 40, arrived on Saturday evening and began to begin working out.

Despite the scarcity of snow, they appeared pleased with the course and the accompanying facilities that the resort offers.

Cross Nordic and Alpine teams entered from seven ski divisions, the U.S. East Coast, Central, Southwestern, Midwest, Eastern, Northern, Rocky Mountain, Pacific Northwest and Far West.

Among records that officials expect to fall, the 150 feet per jump here was rebuilt during the summer, and leaps of 140 to 150 feet are considered likely.

Junior Skiers Take Final Meet Tuneups

JACKSON, Wyo., March 11 (UPI)—Nearly 250 young skiers from throughout the country kept a hopeful eye on the horizon Monday as they began final workouts in preparation for the 1963 national junior ski championships which get under way Tuesday. A week of fea-tivities at this snow-scarce northwest Wyoming resort town was officially inaugurated Sunday night by a torchlight parade and a welcoming address by Wyoming Gov. Cliff Hansen, owner of a ranch near here.

Officials are keeping their fingers crossed for more snow before events get underway. They are receiving encouragement from the weather bureau which says forecast shows in the area.

Like the rest of the western United States, ski conditions here have suffered because of a general lack of snow.

1963 All-Star Team Named In Triple A

BOISE, Idaho, March 11 (UPI)—Pocatello's Terry Campbell, a repeater and Mike Wicks of the 1962 Idaho Class AAA championship club as unanimous first team choices in the all-tournament team, and Sunday by spectators and sportscasters covering the event.

Cour d'Alene defeated defending champion Pocatello, 88-84 Saturday night with Echelberger and Wicks each named to the triple team. John Fournier of Emmett, consolation bracket champion, and Nep Lynch of Salmon were the other first team selections.

Campbell gained a first team choice in the all-tournament team, while Pocatello, to its title and Wicks was a 1962 honorable mention selection.

Ray McDonald, who hit 29 points for Idaho in his 28 points in the tournament games, was selected as a second team choice and Grant Martinson, Burley, who averaged 20.3 for his two-tourney games, garnered a second team berth.

John Fournier, who had 20 points in the second period against New York Friday night, pummeled in 20 in that quarter Sunday. St. Louis, connecting on 18 of 24 shots in the second period, forced a 20-20 first period deficit to a 40-40 haltime lead.

Wicks' point total for the game was 33.

St. Louis Raps Knicks 132-120

ST. LOUIS, March 11 (UPI)—Cliff Hagan sparked the St. Louis Hawks to a 132-120 victory over the 45-point second quarter streak that downed the New York Knickerbockers 132-120 in a National Basketball Association game Sunday.

Lynch had three-game scores with 20.3 and Fournier was a point behind Pat Underwood, Burley, was an honorable mention.

Paul Jones at the garden club? Not likely!

This whiskey's blended for men. Blended rich and mellow—with bourbon for verve, aged rye for heat, a touch of two-listed corn whiskey, and select grain neutral spirits. Not for the garden club. But for you?

Robinson to Shoot for Triple Crown

TAMPA, Fla., March 11 (UPI)—Frank Robinson has his heart set on the Triple Crown this year, hitting, homering and runs batted in.

That's a big order against competition that includes Tommy Davis of the Angels, Willie Mays of San Francisco, Bill White of St. Louis, and Hank Aaron of Milwaukee, among others.

Robinson is 27 years old.

"I say that at this stage Robinson is probably the better runner than Willie—Mays or Tommy Manly were at 27," says Red Manager Fred Hutchinson.

Officially, though, definitely, Hutchinson adds, "he's Robinson."

What kind of person is the slugger outfielder? He stands 6-foot-1 and in shape weighs 185. He has 183 runs and 110 home runs to his credit. His 100 doubles are tremendous for a man of 27. He kids a lot, with the players but there is a trace of aggressiveness in his attitude.

"He's a good fighting animal," he says.

Robinson's credentials are impressive. His 1962 batting average of .343 was second only to Davis'. His 39 home runs were topped only by Mays' 41 and Aaron's 45. His 126 runs batted in was third to Davis' 142 and Mays' 141.

Among outfielders playing in 1962, only Tommy Manly of the Angels had more errors than Robinson, 11. He made 111 hits out as against 142 for Mays, who however, made four errors.

"Robinson's old years should be a dream," says Hutchinson.

WELCOMING SNOW for the National Junior Ski championships to be held in Jackson, Wyo., starting Tuesday, are Bill

Ashley, left, and Neal Rafferty, both Jackson. Two hundred and fifty young skiers are expected to participate. (AP wirephoto)
