A 50-foot section of the Twin Falls Canal company's highline canal washed out Saturday night, about five miles south and one-half mile east of Five Points east. Water from the break flooded through several fields and then was carried down a draw and overflowed into the lowline canal, imperiling its banks with the overflow. Canal company officials diverted the inflow from the highline canal shortly after the break, which was discovered about 8 p.m., but at 11:30 p.m. water was still draining through the break.

One canal company man was injured at the county bridge where the lowline canal, four miles south of Five Points east, was overflowing. The highline canal was tapping near the bridge.

A buried estimate indicated that many employees indicated that they would take two or three days to repair the highline canal.

It could not be determined how extensive the damage to crops might be during the water is shut out of the highline canal.

The highline canal carries irrigation water for Twin Falls tract areas as far west as the Clover field.

If the overflow does not damage the lowline canal, the water is expected to be turned back to the highline.

The level of the flooding was as part of an all-time flood owned by Robert May, Jr., and on a highland owned by Ernest Nelson. From there the water was carried to the T.F. highline.

BATTERED REMAINS OF CRACKED SAFE, looted Friday night or early Saturday morning at Electric Pump and Equipment company, one mile east of Twin Falls on highway 30, are looked over by Glen Myers, manager of the firm. Authorities believe the safekeeping, which could be termed only half successful, was the work of amateurs who beat hammer and pry bar, and escaped for probably four or five hours and gained between $5 and $15 for their hard night's labor. Myers is shown holding two chunks of fire brick, used to line the safe as protection from heat. The brick was chipped from the bottom of the safe and then scattered along a narrow hallway, where the burglars had rolled the safe before working it over. (Times-News photo)

BPA Market Area Is Extended Into Southern Idaho

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP) — Democratic members of the Idaho-congressional delegation announced Saturday that the Bonneville power administration marketing area will be extended into southern Idaho this week. They said the marketing area also will include small adjoining areas in Utah, Nevada and Wyoming, and part of the upper Snake river drainage. Sen. Frank Church and Reps. Ralph Hurlburt and Compton L. White said the BPA will take over marketing of power distributed by the bureau of reclamation immediately after announcement this week by the department of the interior.

Hawaii Capital Hails Astronaut

HONOLULU, May 18 (AP) — Normally-placid Honolulu excitedly hailed astronaut Gordon Cooper as a home-town hero today. The man who orbited the Earth 22 times spent a hectic 1 1/2 hours in the state which has adopted him as its own. From the moment he set foot on dry land at Hickam air force base for the first time since he blasted off from Florida Wednesday—Cooper was draped with leis, pelted with orchids and hemped with praise, coming from the ordinary man in the street to the highest civil and military officials.

Cooper, the 35-year-old air force major whose short-spoken efficiency in space flight had earned him a reputation as a quiet type, responded with obvious pleasure. He spoke briefly but with feeling at a series of civic receptions. He waved, grinned and yelled back to crowds which twice delayed his parade through downtown Honolulu and Waikiki.

For Cooper it was a sort of dress rehearsal for the honor still to come, in Florida Sunday in Washington Tuesday and New York Wednesday.

The crowd was estimated at "well over 100,000" by Police Chief William Jones, in charge of the parade detail.

Police said it was the biggest crowd since the 1954 space trip Friday.

On Carrier

Least William E. Ostrander, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ostrander, 108 Lincoln street, was one of 11 navy pilots aboard the carrier Kearsarge when it picked up Astronaut Gordon Cooper after his 22-orbit, space trip Friday.

turnout in Honolulu's history—greater than Gen. Douglas MacArthur got on his return from Japan in 1951, and well ahead of President Eisenhower's greeting in 1950.

In Waikiki the cheering onlookers included bikini-clad bathing girls attracted from the nearby beach.

Arriving at last in front of Iolani Palace, the state capital, after a parade that ran 15 to 20 minutes past schedule, Cooper got a 2-minute ovation.

He won spirited yells when he declared, "If I had delayed, I'm my retro-rockets for 4 minutes and 6 seconds I could have landed off Diamond Head."

His crew—day-by-day—said to see all these wonderful people.

Still on standby at two Alabama bases were about 2,000 battle-ready soldiers, called up by President Kennedy for possible use in Birmingham after last week's bombing and rioting.

Justice petitioned the U.S. supreme court for injunctions against use of federal troops in the Alabama city. He asked the court to rule that Kennedy violated the constitution by ordering in the soldiers.

Miners to Strike Until Army Goes

JADOTVILLE, Katanga, Congo, May 18 (AP) — White copper miners of Katanga mining center declared today to remain on strike until the Congolese national army garrison is withdrawn from the town.

The miners announced their decision at a mass meeting called to protest the murder of 34-year-old mine electrician Daniel Vireux, a Frenchman, who was clubbed to death with rifle bullets earlier this week.

The announcement by Church, Harding and White made no mention of the proposed transmission line. A preliminary report on the BPA proposal last minutes said such a line was economically feasible, but if started in 1964 could not be completed before 1970.

The Idaho reclamation association has declared its opposition to extension of BPA to the area, saying it would be a "major" on reclamation projects. They are (Continued on Page 2, Column 2)

Chief Wings To Turbulent Southlands

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., May 18 (AP) — President Kennedy winged into a racially turbulent South Saturday and tackled the civil rights issue publicly at Nashville amid private in a brief conversation with the air with Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama. The President and the governor, who see the handling of the racial problem from different directions, rode a helicopter for 35 miles up the Tennessee valley from Muscle Shoals to Huntsville. On the way they held what was described as "not unfriendly" talk about racial difficulties in Birmingham. But if anybody convinced anyone of anything, or if anything was settled, there was no indication of it.

Kennedy was silent on racial matters in speeches in Alabama Saturday. He talked about the TVA at Muscle Shoals and about space and defending world freedom at Huntsville.

All incumbent officers of the Idaho branch National League of Postmasters were reelected to office during the Friday afternoon session of the annual state convention held at the Regester hotel. During the banquet Friday night, Archie Lott, Weston, was named Postmaster of the Year.

Reelected to office are Mrs. Martha Cook, Teton, president; Mrs. Thelma Butts, Hope, first vice president; Mrs. Phoebe Den-Via, Ruben, second vice president; Barbara Whitehead, Lava Hot Springs, third vice president; Ralph Leaf, Lake Fork, fourth vice president; Lott, fifth vice president; Mrs. Anna Schwabach, Nampa, secretary-treasurer; and Glenn W. POCATELLO, May 18 (UP)—The board of trustees of the Pocatello school district has declared its intention of taking advantage of a 1963 law permitting local districts to levy in excess of 10 mills for school maintenance and operation. Board members have agreed to seek approval of a 9.5-mill increase at an election some time after July 1, the date the law goes into effect. Under provisions of the measure, the district can assess the higher levy if approval is given by two-thirds of the voters casting ballots at an election.

MOUNTAIN HOME, May 18 (UP)—Visitors toured the Big Mountain Home air force base today, getting a look at complex electronic equipment, air force, army and navy aircraft and a Titan II missile. The missile is the same as those mounted in underground sites at three desert locations near the base, ready for launching in case of enemy nuclear attack. The base opened its doors to the public in observance of armed forces day. Last year about 10,000 toured the base. The visitors were scheduled to see a demonstration of the canine corps sentry dogs used to guard this and other strategic air command bases.

MARSHING, May 18 (UP)—Owyhee county celebrated the 100th anniversary of the discovery of gold on Jordan creek today. The celebration started with early morning church services and the schedule included a pie-eating contest, rifle shoot, baseball game and a Centennial ball. A prospector in the Michael Jordan party scooped up a shovelful of gravel on May 18, 1863, and named out a claim that was later named Jordan creek. The discovery led to the development of rich silver and gold mining operations around Bonville, Ruby City, Silver City and Delamar. NORWOOD, May 18 (UP)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie today described a reference to him as a possibility for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination as "a very flattering and complimentary statement." He was asked for comment on a statement by GOP National Chairman William Miller in Denver naming him among possible candidates. Miller said he wouldn't disagree with speculation that Gov. Smylie, who has been mentioned by name by Sen. Barry Goldwater, Arizona, would be presented to the GOP presidential convention. But he mentioned as other possibilities Smylie, Gov. J. A. Love, Colorado, and Gov. Mark Hatfield, Oregon.

Austin Lininger, chairman of the search committee, said that the applications must be postmarked by midnight Monday. Superintendent Dorsey Riegs has resigned, effective June 30, to accept a position at Idaho State college.

POCATELLO, May 18 (UP)—Ina Gablick, Nampa, reigned as queen of the 1963 Idaho State college rodeo today, Constantine from 12 colleges in Idaho. Montana and California participated in the rodeo. An after-dinner performance on Sunday is planned.

New School Office Work Progressing

Officials of Twin Falls school district No. 411 are expected to complete the design and construction of a new school office building in the next month. It was reported Saturday afternoon by Supt. of Schools Fred England.

Plastering and partitioning in the various offices, remodeling from space which formerly contained the old school office building, are nearly completed.

Covering of the upper half of the window spaces along the front of the building has been completed. The lower half of the window spaces will be covered in better lighting and consequently the blocking off of the upper windows reduces window maintenance.

After the upper half of the front-facing windows was plastered, the plaster was covered with a heavy pink tile.

The same tile will be used to cover the covered window spaces along second street west. Windows along the building's parking lot also were taken out and the hole was converted to wall space. Three-egg wall will be faced with corrugated metal.

A ramp being constructed to enable pickup trucks and delivery vehicles to drive into the basement is almost completed. A new heating system has been installed and most of the electrical system has been put in. Painting is expected to begin next week.

Contractor for the project is Earl Pack Construction company and Harold Chace was the architect.

FUND RAISERS for local Boy Scout organizations who achieved 100 per cent of quotas in their areas are congratulated by Lee Fulmore, right, Snake River council finance chairman. Financial Problems for Scout Program Discussed

The executive board of the Snake River council, Boy Scouts of America, met to discuss the financial plight of Scouting in Magic Valley last week in the Twin Falls city hall.

The bright side of the monetary picture was typified by three Scouting executives who received citations for having achieved 100 per cent of their quotas in a person-to-person solicitation of added funds from sponsoring organizations and friends of Scouting.

The three, Vern Davidson, Glenn Barth and Roy Motherhead, all Twin Falls, received certificates at the meeting. The person-to-person drive has been under way since February.

"It isn't that the United Fund wasn't a big help," commented Richard Best, council executive officer. "They did better than we ever did in Twin Falls by themselves—but we still fell short of what we hoped."

The Southside district, which includes Twin Falls, Hansen, Hazelton, Eden, Filer and Murtaugh needs $4,400, Best said. The Northside district including Jerome, Fairfield, Bliss, Gooding and Fairfield is short $5,200. The Wood River district including Bellevue, Richfield, Shoshone, Ketchikan and Carey is short $2,954, he reported.

Butl and Castleford, which make up the Sunner district, are short $500. The Minidoka district is short $6,908. The Cassia district is short $9,500.

The Scout executive warned that unless these deficits are made up Scouting in Magic Valley will fall on lean days. He said first the council's activities will be cut down. These include leadership training and maintenance of the Scout campgrounds. Best said that the next step will be to limit the number of Scouts in the program. There are 11,940 boys between the ages of eight and 16 in Magic Valley.

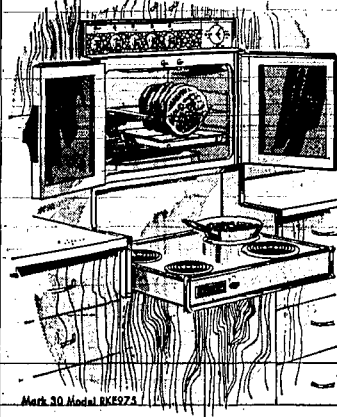

"I am proud of the Snake River council," Best said. "It is the only council in America to receive three blue ribbons in three years for excellence." The ribbons are awarded by the national Scouting office to the best 25 councils in America. There are 528 councils such as the Snake River council, Best explained. Best says the increase in Scouts is responsible for the shortage in funds. At the start of 1960 there were only 3,000 boys in Cub Scout packs. Boy Scout troops and Explorer Posts in Magic Valley. Now there are 6,250 boys in the program.

"If we're forced to cut the budget next year we're had to work with in the past, it will mean we will be providing fewer services to these Scouts," Best said.

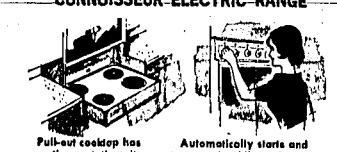

Court Slated

"If we have to cut back too much, it will mean we can have only 3,000 boys instead of the present number. Membership in Magic Valley will be reduced. Scouting is good enough for all, but it is good enough for one. I hope I'll never be here to see the day when a boy can't join."

Harold Scheller, Scoutmaster, advised refreshments will be served after the ceremonies.

Introducing the brand-new Whirlpool CONNOISSEUR ELECTRIC RANGE

The French have another word for it. Connoisseur. Or, "one who knows." And, that's the secret to the cooking triumph of this new Whirlpool Connoisseur. It knows how to obtain "blue ribbon" cooking results. For instance, the Balanced-Heat oven "surrounds" foods with a uniform heat. Another thing. The convenient eye-level oven, automatic rotisserie and control panel make cooking much easier. And, everything slips neatly into any space just 30" wide. Looks built-in.

BORAH HAS STATE CROWN; BRUINS SECOND

Schow Has 440-Yard Dash Title Again; Mile Relay Quartet Shatters Record

BOISE, May 18—The Borah Lions, their long string of track victories broken just a week ago, started another one today by winning their fourth Idaho class A track and field championship. The Lions based their 37 points on victories by their 440- and 880-yard relay clubs plus a first in the high hurdles by Ron Imel.

Twin Falls Bruins, led by Doug Schow and a record-breaking mile relay quartet anchored by sophomore George Smith, took second with 29 points. But the individual of the day was a slender, long-legged senior from Malad, Jim Blaisdell, who won three firsts and a third to become one of the brighter stars in Idaho track history.

Blaisdell broke the broad jump record set by John Beitz, Carey, on his first leap—sailing out 22 feet, 8 1/2 inches after taking two "good foot" behind the board. He bettered 22 feet several more times in the day. He then took third in the 100-yard dash and upset favored Dave Severn, Borah, in the 220-yard dash and Ray McDonald, Caldwell, in the low hurdles.

McDonald ended up the second best individual in the class A events as he won the 400-yard dash and second Blaisdell's title in the low hurdles. He was defending champion in the low hurdles.

Twin Falls absorbed an upset when the draw of the lane put them outside and the Bruins never could wrench the pole away from the Borah Lions. Don "Fat" Smith, who had won the 440-yard dash in 1958, was one of the Bruins men out on the curve, won by six inches in the record-breaking time of 1:38.8.

The Bruins, thanks to a great effort by Smith, won the mile relay in a blistering 3:27.3, the first time any Twin Falls team has been under 3:30. After a near dead-even first two legs, Nampa stepped out to a 10-yard lead when senior Fuller, one of the best quartermilers in the state, took the baton. He gave the anchor man about 15 yards to play with but the Bruins sent Smith after him.

At a near dead sprint, the two men ran even until the last of the backstretch when Smith picked up about five yards, coming off the final turn, the 450-foot, 3-inch Smith made his move and forged in front 30 yards from home. The Nampa man lightened up and it appeared for a while he might collapse and not finish. Smith gunned it to the tape and then surprised headings into the stadium. His final leg was about 51 feet, putting Smith up in Twin Falls state mile relay anchor man finishes with Jerry Klein, who pulled the same feat in 1948 and Norman Luke who did it again in 1958.

Schow, who repeated as the 440-yard champion, expected a record effort would be needed to win, judging from the time posted earlier in the state by his opponents. The big senior blazed his way down the first straightaway and came off the curve with a 15-yard lead. Nobody was around to challenge him but he drove himself to a career best of 50.2, two-tenths of a second off the record.

Schow took a fourth in the 100-yard dash, nipped by two inches at the line by the surprising Blaisdell and added a third in the 200-yard dash, an event he won at Boise last season.

While Blaisdell provided the most surprises, around-the-track was Borah's Severn. Undeatable in the 220-yard dash and only once in the century, the Lion senior was expected to pick up a pair of gold medals. But Nampa's Ted Kimura nipped him at the wire in the 100-yard dash.

ISC's Harvey Runs 220 Yards in 20.2

LOGAN, Utah, May 18 (AP)—Idaho State college sophomore Bill Harvey ran the 220-yard dash in 20.2 seconds today, a tenth-second faster than the best NCAA time recorded this year as he led his team to a second place finish in the first annual Beehive invitational track meet at Utah State University.

Harvey, the only double winner as he breezed to a .005 mark in the 100-yard dash. Another NCAA seasonal mark was cracked as Bob Tobler of Brigham Young University ran the 440-yard dash in 1:02.4, a tenth-second better than the NCAA record.

Brigham Young University used its depth to win the meet with 71 1/2 points. ISO was second with 48, followed by Utah 35, Denver 29, Montana State 21, Montana 17, Utah State 10, Colorado State University 5 and Weber State University 1.

THREE LEGS, TWO GLOVES but no hit, as Houston Colt 45 pitcher Don Nottbart gets the gliding hand from teammate, catcher John Bateman, after the Colt pitcher threw a no-hitter against the Philadelphia Phillies Friday night. Unearned Run Didn't Matter to Nottbart, Latest No-Hit Hurler

HOUSTON, May 18 (AP)—What do you say to a pitcher, when your error cost him the only scuff on a no-hit, one-run game? This is the way it was last night with no-hit pitcher Don Nottbart and shortstop J. C. Hartman, whose failure to field Don Demeter's grounder led to Philadelphia's only run against the Houston Colts in the fourth inning.

"J. C. came up to me after it was over and he had his head down and he looked up at me," said Nottbart. "Before he could say anything I told him, 'forget it, J. C. Those things happen.'"

"Lately, in the Houston clubhouse, Nottbart repeated himself. "It was just one of those things," he said, so happy that nothing short of a draft notice could take him.

"Don't forget the other guys," he added. "They were just great. All of them."

His 4-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies of the season was the first no-hitter of Nottbart's career.

"I had great stuff," said Nottbart, laughing. "I pitched a no-hitter, so I must have had."

Nottbart said he didn't throw a curve ball the entire night, but he did throw a slider half the time, a sinker and a few slip pitches, the pet Paul Richards delivery he learned this season.

Don's career had been rather unimpressive up to now. In nine years as a pro he never has won 20 games, and his high win mark

Jofre Retains Title With TKO Over Filipino

MANILA, May 18 (AP)—Undeatable Eder Jofre successfully defended his world bantamweight boxing championship tonight when Johnny Jamito of the Philippines, floored in the 11th round, failed to answer the bell for the 12th round. The fight was recorded as a 12th round technical knockout.

It was the 38th knockout in 48 bouts for the tough, 27-year-old titleholder from Sao Paulo, Brazil, who never has lost a professional fight although he has been held to three draws. This was his fifth defense, and all ended in knockouts.

The champion weighed 117 1/2 pounds and Jamito, 23, the fifth-ranked contender in his weight, checked in at 117 1/2. The end came suddenly for the crowd of 25,000 in the state indoor arena coliseum in suburban Quezon City.

Although Jofre was heavily favored, Jamito had done well in the early rounds by keeping out of range of the champion's jabbing left hand. The 11th round was a close, tactical affair, with Jofre's jabbing left hand and Jamito's right hand trading blows.

When Jofre finally opened up in the 11th round, the Philippine fighter didn't have the answer. A right hook to the body sent Jamito crashing into the ropes. The challenger tried to hang on, Jofre pulled him out and cut loose with a vicious left-right combination. Jamito slumped to the canvas and kept there, his head bowed.

While referee Antonio Zivarello of Brazil was escorting Jofre to a neutral corner, the bell rang, ending the round. There was no count.

The champion was leading by a wide margin on points when the end came. Zivarello had him ahead 44-43. Judge Anthony Petronio, chairman of the ratings committee of the World Boxing Association, had it 57-43. Judge Wenceslao Trinidad scored it 54-43.

Jofre associated Press had Jofre winning 54-43. The 11th round knockout was the only one of the fight. In the ninth round, Jofre staggered Jamito with a left to the head but Jamito held his feet and managed to stay out of the champion's reach until the round ended.

Jofre now plans to take on featherweight champion Sugar Ramos of Mexico in Los Angeles in either July or August with the featherweight title at stake. He has complained of trouble making the 118-pound bantamweight limit. He said he would prefer to fight in the 120-pound class.

Spring Best Time Of Year for Home Buying

Realtors Stress Advantages Of Timely Buying

Multiple Listing Service members are again advising to potential home buyers the advantages of purchasing a home during the late-spring and early-summer months. All members are in unanimous accord that in the Twin Falls area as well as throughout the country, this current time of the year is the single best for buying from the purchaser's point of view.

They point out several factors to prove this: Now that landscaping, trees and grass are at their best, a purchaser can get a truer picture of the way his house will look. He can tell whether the lawn has been planted, how the trees shade and protect the home, and most importantly, how nice it looks. Another benefit to the buyer is the fact that traditionally more new and older homes are put on the market at this time of the year than any other. New construction has always been aimed at completion for the early summer market, and this holds true for this year here in Twin Falls.

A greater variety of selection is therefore offered, and a buyer can "shop" and be sure of securing an excellent cross section of choices. Multiple Listing members also point out to purchasers with school-age children that house hunting reaches a peak at the end of the summer and a seller's market is therefore created due to the scarcity of homes at that time. The period immediately after schools let out for summer vacation is when a buyer is assured of a better selection at better prices.

It has also been pointed out that this spring here in Twin Falls shows definite indications of being a buyers' market due to both the slowness of houses sold during the winter months and the current building pace. A purchaser can obtain more favorable prices and terms under a situation such as this and is well advised to look seriously at homes during this time of year.

The members of the Multiple Listing Service also point out various advantages home owners have in this area compared to many others around the country. The cost of building materials, owing to the proximity to the forests of the Northwest and a local plant, at Burley, are low in this area, therefore enabling a purchaser to get more house for his money. Also, an exceedingly favorable tax base in Twin Falls, compared to other Western cities of comparable size, means that more of the payments on a home are going into the equity.

The area will vastly benefit from the opening of the new Stuart Junior High School in the fall and is another indication that Twin Falls is quick to provide public services when needed.

Multiple Listing Service members are proud of their service and its advantages to potential home buyers. By contacting any one of the Listing members, a buyer is assured of being able to select from virtually all the homes currently on the market. Definitely formed as a service to the public, the Multiple Listing Service regulates its members rigidly in order to assure the buyer of ethical practices and accurate handling of his needs.

Local Girl Will Receive
Arts Degree in Ballet

When commencement exercises take place June 1 at the University of Utah, a Twin Falls girl will be among graduates receiving degrees. But hers will be unusual—it will be a bachelor of fine arts degree in ballet.

She is Mrs. Karen Stoddard Belline, daughter of Mrs. Merle Pierce, 244 Walnut street, Twin Falls. Her husband, Capt. Francis Belline, of the air force, also will receive a degree at the same commencement exercises. He will gain a master of arts degree in mathematics.

Whether Mrs. Belline turns professional or will teach ballet depends on where her husband is assigned. Probably she will open a school of dance which will have her walking in the footsteps of her mother.

She received her early dance training from her mother, but also studied under Ernest Belcher and Al and Harriet DeRue in Los Angeles. She also studied Spanish and Filipino dancing in Honolulu and modern dance with Richard Richards in South Norwalk, Conn. She rounded out the dance studies with jazz lessons from three of the leading teachers in the East.

The ballet department at Utah is the largest of four colleges offering degrees in ballet. Students from 17 states will be among those receiving degrees.

William P. Christensen, formerly director of the San Francisco Ballet company, developed the department at the Utah school.

WORKING TOWARD DEGREE in an unusual subject—dance—is Karen Stoddard Belline, daughter of Mrs. Merle Pierce, Twin Falls. Mrs. Belline is candidate for a bachelor of fine arts degree at the University of Utah at the June 9 commencement. The picture shows her in a ballet pose, the dance in which she majored.

Idaho Woods
Undergoing
Big Change

By KEN ROBINSON
BOISE, May 18 (AP)—Things have changed in Idaho's woods and streams in the 100 years since its creation as a territory. A man has joined mother nature in looking after the animals.

The deer has become a resource, the hunting season a harvest and the forest part of a management area.

Those are the words of the men who run what they regard as an 83,000 square mile farm. Their crop is wildlife.

In anticipation of more customers, they are planning a sizeable investment to increase the output.

The fish and game department is embarking on a five-point program over a 10-year period, aimed at providing more "fish and game" for more hunters and fishermen—in the face of the inevitable tendency of the march of civilization to reduce the land on which game can thrive.

Last year the department spent about 1.9 million dollars in state funds and employed 180 people.

During the current year it expects to spend about 2.5 million dollars. Next year it is expected to be about 2.7 million dollars.

"We believe we have the number one hunting and fishing resources in the country today," says John R. Woodworth, fish and game director. "To keep it

Local IOOF Lodge Members Plan to Honor
Memory of Mysterious Pioneer on May 30

By G. A. (Gus) KELKER
Times-News Feature Editor

This story about the bones of a man that were buried in the Twin Falls cemetery in 1909 will be termed the "story of the mysterious Mr. Webb." Little is actually known about a Webb, but his memory will be honored by the local IOOF lodge on the Memorial day weekend because he is believed to have been a member, some say and some place.

The tombstone may not be the best in the cemetery, and his name may not have rested on the longest, but there is no doubt the story of how his bones got there is most interesting.

To get to the start of the story is necessary to go back to Aug. 13, 1883, to the vicinity of Clark's grade in the Snake river canyon, near the north of where the and Bull now are located.

In 1883, of course, there was no Magic Valley, Twin Falls, or any of the rest of the communities were not even dreamed. No precious metal had been discovered in the Wood river country or in Stanley basin—this event was to come nearly 20 years later.

Where Webb came from and where he was going are not known. Two things are known—he was a big man and probably was a member of the IOOF organization because the three interlocking chain links of the organization were carved on the wooden headboard marking his lonely grave.

Members of the Twin Falls lodge in 1909 decided the lonely grave was no place for a "brother." So, through the local organization and the Grand Lodge of Idaho the grave was opened.

From here on it might be well to quote direct from the report of the special committee which supervised the removal and reburial of the man who was known as Webb. The report, taken from the 1909 journal of the Grand Lodge, follows:

"Pursuant to the instructions of your body, we proceeded to remove the remains of the man known as Webb, who is a practicing physician in Twin Falls, reburied in the coffin for us.

"Brother Webb was a large but powerfully built man, and was probably at least six feet in height. The shape and set of the jawbone suggested a determined and aggressive nature.

"The number, also and condition of the teeth indicate that he was not less than 45 years old.

"There had been, at some time in his life, a small fracture of one of the ribs and it was nearly knit together again.

"The funeral arrangements for the mysterious Mr. Webb proved to be a highlight of the new city, which at that time was only five years old.

"The bones were brought to the local lodge hall and the physician member placed them in their proper position in the coffin and they thus "laid in state" for one week.

"On Aug. 29, the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs met in the hall and after a very impressive memorial service (the old records point out), conducted by the Rev. Mr. Lansdell of the Baptist church, the remains were taken to the cemetery and "with the beautiful burial service of our order, laid all that remained of our brother to rest."

A tombstone was placed on the grave—and suitably inscribed. Since that time it has been broken once and so is now shorter than the original, although all the lettering is still plainly visible. It bears the legend that H. S. Webb was 45 years old and died Aug. 13, 1883. Reinterment was on Aug. 29, 1909, by members of Twin Falls lodge 23, the lettering relates.

Old records show that the coffin in which the bones were buried was donated by the Twin Falls lodge, but no mention was made of the cost.

The balance of the funeral, however, cost $70 and the prices of items are interesting in the light of present-day prices.

The "conveyance" which brought the remains from Clark's grade to Twin Falls rented at $9 for the trip. The conveyance (for mourners) to the cemetery was billed at $10 and the memorial oration cost another $5. Use of the hearse was $10 and opening and closing of the grave cost another $5.

JUST LIKE LONG AGO is this unusual picture of two of the major attractions on the Snake river near Twin Falls. These are the famed Shoshone falls, in the background, when enough water is going over the brink to make it worth while, but comparatively few residents ever visit or see Pillar falls, foreground. Getting both falls in the same picture was possible by using a wide-angle lens and shooting from a vantage point on the north side of the canyon. Both falls were spectacular last week when upstream storage areas were full and water had to be released. In the first days of the Twin Falls tract the spectacle was commonplace but still gained national attention through a concentrated publicity program. (Times-News photo)

Quarter Century of Teaching Will End As Local Science Instructor Retires

The picture of the woman in this "portrait" will be recognized by many as the likeness of a teacher and a friend. The name might be a little confusing, because to most people in Twin Falls she is better known as Mrs. Winona Merritt.

She is now officially Mrs. Caddick, after her recent marriage, but the Mrs. Merritt name, which has become a household word in Twin Falls after her 25 years in the public school system, still falls from the lips of many of her students.

Mrs. Caddick retired from teaching in a few days. She and her husband will live in California after that, but first plan a trip to Europe which will last a few months. The California home will be in National City near San Diego.

Mrs. Caddick started her teaching career in the Twin Falls system in 1920 as a physical education instructor in the junior high school, now O'Leary Junior High School. She taught physical education until 1925.

She was married in 1921 and decided to quit teaching and tend to family raising when her son, Bill, was born in 1925 and was followed by a daughter, Marian, in 1928.

When Bill had completed high school and Marian was in high school she decided to return to teaching. She accepted the position of science teacher at the junior high school and studied for four summers at Colorado Teachers College, now Colorado State. She got her degree in education, but remembers that her son got his degree in science before that.

Since that start of school in 1945 she has continued science teaching in the junior high school here until she is practically an institution, according to fellow instructors.

When she started with science, she was the only one teaching the subject. Now, the same subject has four instructors for the subject.

Mrs. Caddick was born in Colorado Springs, Colo., where her father was an accountant. She went through grade school and high school there and "wasn't kicking in the beautiful mountains."

School then, she recalls, ran from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and in the afternoon the students were on their own.

"We were supposed to study," she said, "but I didn't do that all the time. It was amazing how we got by."

She entered Colorado Teachers College after high school graduation and received a two-year degree at that time. She went to a valuable Idaho crop, and we are fortunate to live in one of the few remaining acres of the nation which can be termed a sportsman's paradise.

"Director Woodward makes one additional point: The understanding and support of the organized sportsmen and the state legislators in implementing the Five Point Program will insure continued progress in the fish and game department's goal of producing top quality hunting and fishing boys—and in the future, Wildlife, it turns out, is truly to Twin Falls to teach "although I didn't know a soul in town." "It is about time I am quitting," she laughed. "Here I am, a teacher who is now instructing some girls whose grandparents I taught when I first came to Twin Falls."

She has enjoyed teaching down through the years, and enjoyed it more after her family was raised and she returned to it.

One habit she has developed will be hard to break. On all former trips she collected items she thought would be of interest to her students when the new school year started.

"Now there will be no need for such a collection," she said.

"Teaching general science for the seventh grade, she has averaged 'wading through' some 400 students a year.

And now I am leaving and have 15 days sick leave coming and I'll never get it," she muses.

Her son, Bill, is now Commander Harold William Merritt, U.S. Navy, stationed at Indian Head, Md. Her daughter, Marian, is now Mrs. Roger Harrison.

she recalls that perhaps the early day teachers had just as much need for additional money as they appear to now.

For instance, she said that she taught ballroom dancing for 14 seasons when she rented the 100P hall for a studio.

"This augmented my income and was interesting work."

What about the student dances? "I learned during that 14 years of ballroom teaching that if you ever let a boy—any boy—never get him up again. The secret of junior high dances is to keep everyone up and enthusiastic, and mixer type dances are the answer."

So Mrs. Merritt—or Caddick—will retire in a few days after 25 years as a teacher.

"Just think of the years I would have taught if I hadn't stopped to raise a family," she concluded.

Idaho Writers Come to Aid of Fish, Game Department With Editorials

By JIM HUMBIRD

Idaho fish-game department editors, May 18 — Editorial writers for two leading newspapers, the Boise "Statesman" and the Idaho Falls "Post-Register," came up with the grist for the week's news-feature. They jointly assisted by Associated Press writer Ken Robinson, Boise, who spent more than an hour interviewing the five members of the Idaho fish and game commission at their recent quarterly meeting, and wrote about a game and one-half of news and views.

The Idaho Falls "Post-Register" editorial is short and to the point.

"Hunters killed 13,700 elk during Idaho's 1962 big game season."

"Think of it—13,700 elk. Imagine this herd gathered together at Thompson Park in Idaho Falls."

"And this take, let us hasten to add, was below the average."

"The those who think this Old West and its wildlife allure is gone forever, we would invite them to reflect a bit on this statistic."

"In this Centennial year, we would bet that the elk population in 1963 in Idaho was not too much greater than it is now."

"And the important thing to believe that there are more elk than is a harvest instrument to maintain these majestic animals."

"Washington, D. C., has no monopoly on the new frontier."

"Actually, there is good reason to believe that there are more elk in Idaho now than there were 100 years ago. When the first game reservations were placed on land in 1897, people were really concerned about the future of the Wapiti in this state. The reason was cut by more and more men and many areas were closed to all elk hunting. In 1911, the federal report of the department stated, 'We now have but a few scattered bands.'"

"This widespread concern about the majestic and highly-prized elk paid off. From this time on, their numbers have steadily increased. Even with the advance of civilization, improved methods of management and conservation have resulted in more elk and more elk hunting in Idaho."

"The following table gives dramatic proof of what has happened:

Year	Hunter Kill
1920	350
1923	143
1928	1,917
1943	2,268
1950	7,165
1956	13,700

"The harvest figures in this table place Idaho in the lead among the top elk hunting states in the West. It is noteworthy."

"DRY CLEAN" YOUR DOG WITH Little Pal Sunday Shower.

MUSIC FURNITURE

also, that the nation's elk harvest doubled in the past decade and that Idaho's share now averages between 20 and 25 per cent of the total. Idaho's deer harvest also ranks among the top four of five western states. For example, in 1959 Utah ranked first with 126,000 buckskins; Colorado, 107,000; Montana, 97,000, and Idaho, 70,000. These figures are from Jim Bond's book, "The Mule Deer."

"The Boise editorial writer told the story as follows under the heading 'Wildlife—A Real Resource.'"

"The average Idahoan probably knows little more of the dollar value of our state's vast hunting and fishing resources than we did—until we came across this Associated Press survey printed in the Statesman."

"The fact, as reported by John R. Woodward, state fish and game director, is that Idaho has what is probably the number one outdoors resource in the nation, as far as the love of fishing and hunting is concerned. And it is big business: The department estimates that last year hunters and fishermen spent 60 million dollars in pursuing their sport."

"In anticipating even greater numbers of customers the department is increasing its investment to handle the market. This year's department outfit will be about $600,000 more than the $1,000,000 invested last year in assisting nature to provide more fish and more game."

"How does one go about managing and improving these wildlife resources which have become so big an asset? For one thing, the state distributes about 20 million trout of all sizes, including fry, fingerlings, and two million 'catchable' size, from its hatcheries. Last year an estimated total of 11 million trout was taken by fishermen. A count is kept of elk and deer, so as to have accurate information in setting limits for hunters. The department has introduced deer and elk into areas unknown to them before, and has even brought wild turkeys into Idaho."

A game bird known as the chukar partridge has been introduced into Idaho. It is hardy and can live where little else ever did. In just 10 years the Idaho hunter harvest of chukars rose from 6,400 to 99,300 in 1962.

"All this means that Idaho will be one of the big beneficiaries of the explosive hunt for more recreational facilities which is taking place all over the nation as more people have more leisure time."

In 25 years, the commission points out, the number of non-resident licenses issued in Idaho has gone from 41,250 to 80,000; sportsmen come to Idaho from the Pacific coast, the Middle West and even from the Eastern Seaboard. The commission regards its 63,000 square miles of game management lands as simply a farm with wildlife as the crop.

PIONEER RESIDENTS OF THE Twin Falls area gathered for this picture near Clark's grave in the Snake river canyon in 1900 at the grave of H. S. Webb, a pioneer who was buried there in 1883. Little is known about the man except that he apparently was a member of the IOOF organization because the three-link chain emblem was carved on his wooden tombstone, now in possession of the organization's museum at Caldwell. His bones were taken from this sagebrush covered grave and reburied in the Twin Falls cemetery. The grave will be decorated Memorial day weekend in his memory. (Times-News photo)

Mexican Educator Is Part of One-Man Exchange Project

By DOROTHY STEELSMITH

FRANKLIN, May 18—An earnest desire to become a better English teacher in his native country led Jose Orimaldo to seek a position as a Spanish teacher in the United States and subsequently "landed" him at Hansen.

His stay here serves a double purpose, learning more English and at the same time to teach Spanish.

He was granted this opportunity and his visa came through eventually under the exchange teacher program, although actually there was no exchange. No teacher from here of the state or even the United States took his place there.

Orimaldo wrote personally to Suppl. Bernard Hopwood and to other school superintendents in California, Wisconsin and the New England states, but after consideration he chose the northwest and Hansen.

This was unorthodox and it is the first time that Idaho has participated in the teacher-exchange program. In fact, it is the first time in the United States that it has been done on a person to person basis.

Orimaldo had to fulfill a lot of requirements in order to be allowed to come. It was very difficult to achieve, but it has been very profitable for him, and the school also. A lot of preparation went into plans for his coming. It was November before he finally arrived. His position was kept open here with substitutes until he came.

Superintendent Hopwood thought arrangements were all settled long before the school term started, but "rings" seemed to keep cropping up.

This is not Orimaldo's first trip to the U.S. In 1956 he attended Harvard university on a three-month scholarship. After that he visited and observed many schools and industries in several cities.

He spent two months at Sidney, Me., observing teaching methods. Through this same scholarship program he was sent to Puerto Rico by the state department as a sort of reward, to attend a seminar in American education. He was among several other students, but he alone attended Harvard.

He also visited Cuba and noted that even then there was a great deal of unrest in the country and that a change seemed imminent. He saw some machinery and machine guns at the ministry of education. He then returned to his home in Mexico.

In 1960 he came to Texas for another seminar, sponsored by the Good Neighbor commission of Texas, given to students in the Superior normal school, where

Club to Send Rupert Youth To Australia

RUPERT, May 18—Plans to sponsor a Minidoka county youth to Australia were announced this week by Robert Balch, president of the Rupert Rotary club.

According to Balch, to qualify student must be 18 or 17 years old, be in good health and be in the upper third of the class.

Parents of the student selected would pay the transportation costs to Australia, and members of the Australian Rotary club would take care of all other expenses except clothing.

The local club expects to have made its selection by Oct. 1, Balch said, and the student will leave around the first of this year for a year's stay in Australia.

At present, the local club is sponsoring William Lammour, Australia, who is attending the Minidoka County high school.

Baseball Starts June 6 at Hailey

HAILEY, May 18—Little League baseball, for youngsters up to 18 years of age and also Pony league, if there are enough boys between 12-15 interested, will start at Wertheimer park here June 6.

Grant A. Hawkes, recreation chairman for the Hailey city council, announces Emory Dietrich will again be in charge of this recreation grounds at the park, and will coach the boys in readiness for the invitational Little League tournament to be held here and on the Sun Valley diamond July 26, 27 and 28.

Coach Dietrich advises that two regulation sized basketballs have been donated by Francis Jones, Inc., and that rings will be erected so any boy or girl wishing to practice throwing baskets may do so.

red, green and white—were used in the decorations. Orimaldo is very enthusiastic about the United States and the language, and he hopes to return again at some future time.

Orimaldo says students are much the same here as they are in Mexico, except perhaps they are usually more crowded there. They have a very good school system here and are striving for more education. There are enough schools to handle all of them, however, so they always have a waiting list of students. He adds because of the better economic situation in the U.S., everything is done to keep students in school as classrooms are not so crowded, while in Mexico necessity makes it otherwise.

He has been very happy here and likes the United States very much and would like to stay longer, but he must return to his teaching position in Mexico. He will resume his duties there in June, as they do not have a summer vacation there as we have here. Their long vacation is in December and January.

Orimaldo's wife also is a teacher in grammar school in Mexico. They have five children, three boys and two girls. His oldest son will be 15 years old soon and his youngest daughter is 4. His older daughter, who is in the first grade this year, was nominated and elected by her classmates as queen of the spring festivities. Their home is in Mexico City.

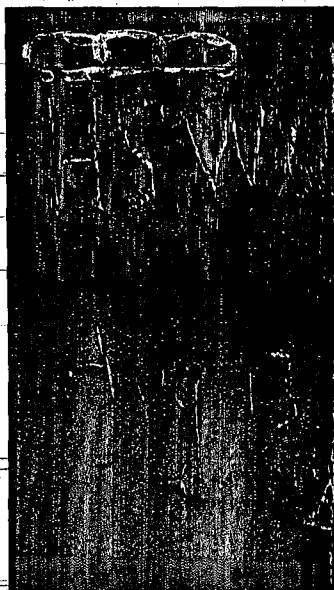

In addition to his regular classes he is conducting an adult Spanish class two nights a week. One of the highlights of this group was held one night in early spring, when the group played "who's who." They held a Spanish-American dinner honoring Orimaldo, with the husbands and wives of the students as guests. He showed and explained colored slides of his native Mexico and some of the other countries he has been in. Mexican articles and his country's colors as possible without reducing the following year's population. The number of fishermen and hunters grows steadily. Felton says it is being accelerated by the increasing amount of time and money people have for recreation.

In the last 15 years the number of resident hunters and fishermen has gone up from 200,000 to 230,000, and the number of non-residents has more than doubled, from $1,500 to $40,000 last year.

Last year the department says that out-of-state hunters killed 10 per cent of the game, while 48 per cent of the total in license fees.

The march of civilization continuously eats away at the game habitat. Big dams stop fish spawning runs and flood out game areas. More land is taken away from the animals for industrial plants and farms.

Farming practices have been particularly bad for pheasants. On the other side, the department has made successful efforts to introduce new species and expand populations of native animals.

The commissioners say the department has introduced deer and elk in areas where they never were before. Has transplanted turkeys from Colorado to central Idaho, and one day may bring in mountain sheep.

Will the onrush of civilization inevitably in years to come overwhelm Idaho's hunting and fishing resources?

"From the past impact of civilization we can predicate a dwindling resource," Felton said. "We will take care of whatever we can as fast as the situation occurs."

The commissioners said the legislature and the governor serve praise for recognizing a need to expand the management program. Other states face the same situation, said Woodworth, but he knows of none that have taken similar steps this year.

Hunters and fishermen spent an estimated 60 million dollars in Idaho last year, making fish and game one of the state's highest-ranking industries.

Minidoka Hospital Has Near Capacity Occupancy Record in Geriatrics Ward

BY WILMA BADGER

RUPERT, May 18—A record of some 98 per cent occupancy in the geriatrics ward of the Minidoka Memorial hospital, a ward that many thought never would be used to any great extent.

The wing has 30 beds, and special treatment and therapy rooms for the specialized treatment of the patients.

According to Robert Lawrence, this is believed to be the first hospital of this particular design and purpose to be built in the state.

A number of hospitals have converted wings to this type service, he said, with the ever growing demand for it.

During the past year, some 10,889 patient-days were counted in this ward, the administrator said, of a possible 10,200. A waiting list of six to 10 persons exists at all times, he said.

Facilities in the therapy rooms offer such services as muscular and cellular stimulation, massage, traction, diathermy, microwave, whirl-pool baths, weight lifting, walking, parallel-walking bars, an exercise wheel, and a stationary bicycle.

A special swing hoist is used to lift patients in and out of the ward. The specially built high tube and roll-in showers allow wheel chair patients to take showers if they prefer.

An added feature in the geriatrics is a beauty bar, installed and operated by the pink ladies of the Minidoka Memorial guild, with the cooperation of the local beauty operators and the Soroptimist club.

Each Wednesday morning, volunteers from the guild membership wash, set, and comb out hair-dos for the lady patients of the ward.

The rooms with the exception of four private rooms contain two beds, built in wardrobes, and television lead-in to allow patients to bring their sets with them, or to rent sets to use in their rooms. In addition, a large set, gift of the Rupert Woman's club, is in the large lounge room, which is also the dining room.

The patients who are able to leave the ward, cheerily dining room for their meals where, and are seated at each table.

Food is served them direct from the adjoining kitchen.

The hospital, in this wing in the medical-surgical, is built with two corridors, one on either side of a central row of both treatment and storage rooms, with this patient rooms arranged along the outside of the corridors. Pass-through passages make it possible for the attendants to go from one corridor to the other without traveling the length of them.

Special wheel chairs and walkers are available for those who need them, and attendants, or pink ladies, are available to wheel the patients, write letters, read, or make shopping expeditions for them.

The wing has its own automatic washing machine and dryer for those who wish to do their own laundry.

At least one couple, both of whom need considerable care, lives in the ward. Persons are allowed to bring perhaps a favorite chair, or their favorite television set, as well as pictures and other personal effects to make the rooms more home-like.

The necessity of enlarging the facilities of the hospital is a very strong likelihood in the foreseeable future, Lawrence said.

In connection with the observance of National Hospital week last week, tours of the hospital were conducted such afternoon by members of the guild, along with other activities.

On Wednesday a special personnel tea was sponsored by the guild, and will honor members of the hospital staff.

Visitors are welcome to visit and tour the building, Lawrence said.

Idaho Woods Undergoing Big Change

that way we have to look ahead."

Among other things, the money will go to expand fish hatcheries; clean trash fish out of streams and reservoirs, study the grazing habits of deer and elk, expand reservoirs, build small dams to impound water and provide a home for more fish, build access roads and buy access frontage on streams, feed ducks and pheasants, and increase game law enforcement.

Hunters and fishermen will pay the bill in increased license fees voted by the 1963 legislature. The price is $1 for resident fishing and combination licenses, and for elk and deer tags. Out-of-state sportsmen will pay more along the line with a season's big game license $25 higher, up from $75 to $100.

The concept of game management—having hunting and fishing regulations on research to provide a maximum use of game and fish and maintain sustained yield—is relatively new.

Idaho got into it in 1938 when the people voted by initiative to create a fish and game commission. Five commissioners, appointed by the governor for six-year terms, serve for nominal pay.

Tom Felton, Moscow, the current chairman, says the five-point program is primarily a continuation on a bigger scale of the work the commission has directed in the past.

"Thank the Lord the fellows who went before us were so keen," he said, calling attention to land acquisitions for fish and game management.

The commissioners are proud of the variety and the abundance of fishing and hunting in Idaho. Only Montana, they say, can claim comparable wildlife resources.

The commission can quote figures to show what the management program has meant to the state.

In the 1938 season Idaho hunters killed 12,000 deer. In 1951 they killed 25,000. In 1951-52, 99,000 deer tags were sold. Last year it was 145,000.

In the past 15 years, the department has poisoned and cleaned out trash fish in 60 lakes and streams, replacing them with trout and other game fish.

Management is primarily concerned with gathering information to seek optimum use of the fish and game resources. But the department is also able to augment production to some extent by artificial means.

Last year about 11 million trout were taken in the state, and about two million came from hatcheries, planted in streams and lakes.

Woodworth says in the old days the number of deer or elk in an area was a matter of "hearsay" and old wives' tales, and a result the public was allowed to kill fewer than it might have.

Now an intensive effort is made to keep a count on the animals and to regulate the seasons to permit hunters to take as many

EMBARRASSED PARTICIPANT, Sandra Burton, left, gets helping hand from Ray Pariah after the big Centennial parade which was held this week at Morningside school. The parade route was around the school. Morningside School Parade Gets Jump On Other Centennial Celebrations

While the rest of the state of Idaho is working on big programs to observe the Centennial in the Gem state, fifth grade students at Morningside school got the jump on the big planners by holding one of the first parades in the state this week.

Perhaps, by professional parade standards, the Morningside event wasn't too spectacular, but it could easily match many parades in number of entries, participants and enthusiasm.

The parade began about 10 a.m. with the participants marching up and down Morningside drive and around the school. The balance of the students were dismissed and lined the sidewalk by the school to cheer the parade.

Other events followed. There was a square dance held on the playground. A "bunt game" was played in the gymnasium for the Morningside fifth graders.

The idea for a celebration recently got underway in Mrs. M. Monting's class. The students really put themselves out to put across the parade.

It might well be that Morningside school has put on the best Centennial parade to date in Idaho on its Centennial year, Twin Falls, said Wells.

FOUR OF FIVE helicopters owned by Reeder Flying service, Twin Falls, are lined up at the local airport. Able to get in and out of tight places, these planes are valuable for forest fire fighting and spot spraying. The service maintains a fleet of other planes in the operation, which makes it the largest privately owned flying setup in the state. Charles Reeder, owner, started about 23 years ago with one plane. SPECIAL TANK which goes into the space formerly occupied by torpedoes, converts the Gruman bomber into an aerial spray plane. The tank holds 900 gallons of liquid. Jay Chandler, left, and Doug Caserman, airplane and engine mechanic, pose by the tank before installation. Reeder planes have spray and forest jobs over most of the West. The Gruman bombers are bought from navy surplus and have 1,900-horsepower engines. (Times-News photo)

Advent of Spring Means Harried Time For Idaho's Largest Flying Service

When winter turns into spring and summer, the big rush is on for the Reeder Flying service. Twin Falls, the largest private flying operation in the state. The reason things get moving at Jostin field, where the service maintains seven hangars, is that the operations expand over the western United States and include tasks from aerial fire fighting to application of agricultural killing spray.

The operation was undertaken 23 years ago by Charles Reeder. At that time his business consisted of one airplane and lots of determination.

Since then, he says, the determination has remained about the same, but the flying fleet has increased to the point where the investment is staggering.

For instance, the fleet now includes five helicopters, six converted Gruman torpedo bombers, four Cessna 441s, and a Super Cub—all used for aerial spraying, including forest fire control.

In addition to this fleet, the service also maintains eight Cessna planes for student flight instruction, charter or aerial patrol work.

"I might have a couple more planes, but these are all I can think of right now," Reeder said. "Workhorse of aerial spraying, Reeder said, is the Gruman torpedo bomber. When converted, a 900-gallon tank to carry the spray liquid is installed where the torpedoes used to be stored. The 1,900-horsepower engine, with a three blade, constant speed propeller, enables the plane to cover a lot of ground. The planes are rugged and powerful, enabling operation from short dirt strips and in high mountains.

The planes are bought from navy surplus and are converted by mechanics employed by the Reeder service at the local field.

The helicopters—most of the time called choppers—are sort of specialists in aerial spraying, in that they can maneuver so there is no damage to surrounding vegetation in mountain spraying.

"The choppers, also, come in a little and difficult-to-reach areas with ease," Reeder points out.

The five machines owned by the local company are manufactured by the Bell concern and utilize gasoline engines ranging in size from 240 to 260 horsepower. They can carry a pilot

Declo Reports Banquet for FFA Chapter

DECLO, May 18 — Annual banquet for Future Farmers of America members and their parents was held Wednesday night at the Declo LDS cultural hall.

Jay Darrington president welcomed the guests and introduced the officers. Clyde Goodman, vice president; Wayne Fugate, reporter; Dennis Osterhout, secretary; Revolt-Pewkes, treasurer; Mike Broadhead, sentinel; and Bert Gardner, instructor.

Invocation was given by Royce Sorenson. Clifford Darrington was master of ceremonies. Revolt-Pewkes reported on activities for the past year, including a harvest festival in December, the state convention at Boise, the tractor contest held at the farm of Seymour Osterhout, and the economy car run to Indian Springs.

A piano solo was played by Susan Darrington and two acrobatic solos by Karl Stimpson.

Karna Kidd sang two numbers accompanied by Susan Darrington. Seymour Osterhout was made an honorary member of the FFA and presented an award by Jay Darrington, who also presented plaques to Carl Woodall and Robert Gibson for winning the tractor contest and to Carl Schlenker and Dayton Engstrom for winning the economy car run.

They took a few minutes against hours by heavy truck.

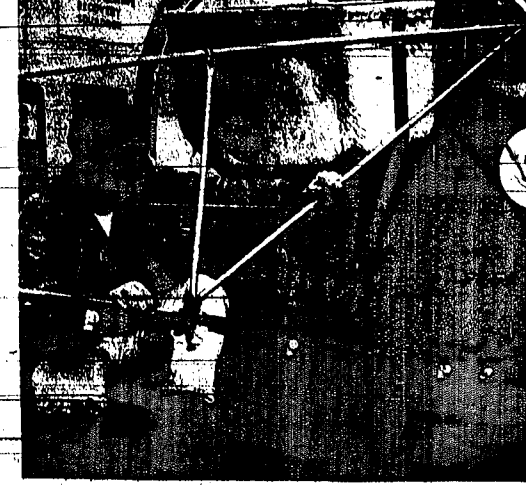

Reeder has noticed some difference in aviation since he started flying nearly 23 years ago.

"Now private aviation is mostly concerned with big companies or with operations such as we maintain in Twin Falls," he said.

"In the early days the operations were concerned mostly with students and flying schools. Now flight lessons are only secondary, with charter flights doing a bigger business than the student category."

"Of course, things have changed since I learned to fly. Kids then would hang around all day just in the hopes someone would give them a ride. Maybe they would be more interested in flying now if they could do it up and down Main street."

"I guess it is just like the old West. In flying the romance is practically gone. It is business only, now."

CHIEF PILOT of Reeder Flying service, Walter Huber, inspects the spray system outlets of one of five helicopters operated by the local concern. Huber is licensed by the government to fly conventional or helicopter planes. Similar licenses are held by Charles Reeder, service owner. The helicopter is valuable for spot spraying where surrounding vegetation cannot be disturbed. (Times-News photo)

The "Dollar Wheat" Myth

"$1 vs. $2 wheat is the issue in the forthcoming referendum." Nonsense! To obscure the real issue of government control vs. free enterprise, the Department of Agriculture is trying to scare wheat farmers into thinking they will only get $1 per bushel if the referendum on May 21 defeats Secretary Freeman's certificate plan. The Farm Bureau asks these questions:

1. Since the support price under the certificate plans is a blend of two prices ($2.00 for certificate wheat, $1.30 for non-certificate) how can a farmer possibly get $2.00 a bushel?
2. How can a farmer get $1.00 a bushel if the certificate plan is defeated if the Secretary is required to support wheat at 50% of parity (about $1.25)?
3. Who's in charge of mathematics in Washington?
