

Negroes and Whites Riot in Oxford

OXFORD N.C., June 15 (AP)—Several hundred Negroes and whites rioted in this northeast North Carolina town tonight with at least one man being slashed with a knife and five white youths arrested. "Despite the precautions we had taken," Mayor T. C. Jordan said, "they managed to get together." Jordan said rioting trouble for the fourth night in a row, had 60 riot-trained state troopers to join his 15-man local force and four sheriff's deputies. They succeeded in separating the Negroes and whites, Jordan said. "They still ganged up there. But I don't know if no man's land separates them."

On Friday night's outbreak shots were fired and rocks thrown. Police broke up the fighting with fire hoses. No one was seriously hurt. Jordan said white youths began gathering in the town's Negro area early Saturday night. "We know it, they had gotten together. It lasted several minutes. Pistols and knives were used. We separated them but I can't say the trouble is over."

Jordan said the city's racial problem apparently came to a head Saturday when some Negroes sought service at a cafe and tried to purchase tickets at a segregated theater Wednesday night. Negro and white leaders met in city hall Saturday and discussed the racial problems which have put this community under a curfew since the riot.

National guard troops, ordered to Cambridge Friday by Gov. J. Millard Taves after violence broke out there, lined the streets where the Negro section abuts the white. A sergeant said orders were to disperse groups of three or more. Normal traffic continued in the city.

Mrs. Gloria Richardson, chairman of the Cambridge Citizens Action committee, told the Negroes at the church that "if our orders were to disperse the national guard never will walk again in Cambridge."

Representing Cambridge in the state convention in Raleigh were Calvin W. Mowbray and five other delegates, among them Charles W. Mowbray, Jr., president of the national guard. Col. Maurice Taves, commanding officer of the national guard troops, said Saturday that he had a battalion first ordered to duty Saturday night. He said a battalion normally numbers 450 to 600 men.

Col. Taves, a distant relative of Gov. Taves, said the situation at Cambridge had not worsened Saturday night to particular reason for the alert. The guard ordered all civilians off the streets by 10 o'clock each night and guardmen with fixed bayonets moved into town's streets Saturday night.

Then, two days later, the cardinal will gather in a coronation hall in the apostolic palace to elect the 261st successor to the throne of St. Peter.

Rockland Man Says Area Wheat Ruined

ROCKLAND, June 15 (UPI)—A Rockland valley Idaho rancher said today the government should declare the valley a disaster area after yesterday's hail storm. He estimated damage at more than $600,000.

The rancher, Lawrence Freeman, said "some of these people should have some kind of help. The government has these programs to get rid of wheat. Well, we got rid of a whole lot of her."

The Rockland valley is one of Idaho's most intensive wheat-growing areas. Freeman said the storm, which flattened wheat which had been well-high, was the same which hit the Pocatello area.

"I never did see a hailstorm hit such a wide area as this one did," he said. "Usually they just hit a few acres."

He added that some of the mountains at the head of the valley were still with hail.

Red May Toss Wrench Into A-Test Talks

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev has hinted he is about to throw a major new monkey wrench into nuclear test ban talks, but U.S. officials are withholding judgment until they see what he actually does.

The officials adopted the position today that Khrushchev's ominous remarks on the testing issue during the Kremlin interview may have been politically motivated by impending Soviet talks with Red China or may have been designed to establish a " bargaining " position for high-level U.S.-British-Soviet test ban talks scheduled for mid-July.

The Kremlin leader said today in an interview with Pravda and Izvestia, Russia's two main newspapers, that the Soviet Union would not "throw open" her territory to test ban inspection "for espionage purposes" unless it was accompanied by devices, actual inspection on Soviet territory would not be necessary.

It appeared at least a strong warning that Khrushchev may withdraw his offer made last December to permit two or three international inspection teams to visit Russia each year to examine the sites of earth tremors, which are being recorded at nuclear or underground nuclear tests.

Rails and Unions Buntily Warned To Solve Disputes

WASHINGTON, June 15 (UPI)—Using blunt language, President Kennedy today got railroad management and labor to agree that "one last major effort" should be made before July 10 to settle their dispute over work rules and avert a nationwide railroad strike. If no agreement is reached by then, the President warned, he will ask congress to act. "There will be no alternative to the enactment of new legislation which will protect the public against a loss of its rail transport," he said.

The effect of such legislation on collective bargaining will be incalculable. At a short but dramatic White House meeting this morning, both management and labor bowed to Kennedy's request that for the time being, any action that might trigger a paralyzing walkout.

It was a last-ditch pressure move by the President that worked. The way the talks have been going, a strike loomed for mid-night Monday when the railroad would be left "I shall then effect supreme court-approved work rules changes the unions have said they will not accept."

The chief executive then issued this warning: "I point out, in conclusion, these plain facts. If the railroad does have to go to the congress, it is going to make such recommendations to the congress as the circumstances appear to dictate."

The chief executive then issued this warning: "I point out, in conclusion, these plain facts. If the railroad does have to go to the congress, it is going to make such recommendations to the congress as the circumstances appear to dictate."

"There is nothing which legislation can do which you are not free to do voluntarily, including the selection of your own special procedures if this is necessary to complete any part of your settlement. If either of you should decline to take advantage of this opportunity, the responsibility for what follows will have to be accepted where it lies."

He urged them to act, "as it is in your power to act, not only to settle your own dispute, but to free the freedom of private collective bargaining and the effectiveness of the established statutory procedures."

He added that some of the mountains at the head of the valley were still with hail.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON, June 15—One of the most surprising things about the election of the U.S. House is always having to distribute handouts to countries which, on their political record, are not deserving of such aid. But we keep doing it because it appears to be the lesser of two evils.

But now, in addition, the United States undoubtedly will have to finance India's defense program aimed at meeting an attack from Red China. The cost to American taxpayers will run close to a billion before we are through, and now Nehru is asking us to pay for the multi-million-dollar Bakara steel plant.

JUST ABOUT EVERYTHING—it needs equipment for 46 air divisions. It needs rifles and machineguns and bazookas and tanks and trucks and jeeps and jeeps and jeeps and jeeps. And it still wants us to pay for the multi-million-dollar Bakara steel plant.

GOING BAIL AGAIN—Dwight D. Eisenhower has given India more than $3 billion dollars since Jan. 1, 1954. Uncle Sam has given India more than $3 billion dollars since Jan. 1, 1954.

Another grab for bureaucratic power is being launched in the Southwest and the Northwest are going to be affected. Whether it is a matter of federal control of water resources and electrical generation facilities.

Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall is covering his moves in the Southwest with nice-sounding phrases. "The people of the Pacific Southwest are now confronted with their greatest conservation challenge."

So Secretary Udall has "invited" the governors of California, Arizona and Nevada to a conference July 15. He has "appealed" to the governors of New Mexico and Utah for their cooperation in developing a "regional long-term plan" to meet fast-growing needs.

Remember that the federal government is already working hard on a power line intertie from the Bonneville power administration area down into California as far south as Los Angeles.

BARRY GOLDWATER

It is becoming increasingly popular among American liberals today to run down, ridicule and heap contempt on the legislative record of Barry Goldwater.

To hear some of these self-appointed guardians of democracy spout off, you'd think that a system of checks and balances is a revolutionary idea.

Perhaps the most intemperate and irresponsible attack yet made on the legislative process was that voiced by Sen. Joseph Clark D., in a recent study published by the Fund for the Republic's Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions.

When you read Senator Clark's remarks you might get the idea that he is a body of men who would concentrate all the power of government in the hands of the executive.

Senator Clark says high tribute to the office of President. He says it has enjoyed the respect of serious students of government since the years of the depression. He also pays tribute to the courts for what he terms "a wide and statesmanlike role in the American political process to modern needs."

Get Bigger Area for Junior College District, Man Says

Editor, Times-News:
Over a year ago, a professional promoter sold a group in Buhl on the idea of a junior college district. At that time, the group had approximately $53,000 in support from the school last year. Next year's support likely would be similar. The need for a junior college suddenly exploded. Pacer, Buhl and Castleford school districts were picked for a college district. Propaganda ran rampant. The Buhl group could operate on one mill tax and the liquor tax money, which amounts to approximately $53,000. Opponents organized in Filer, Buhl and Castleford areas. The state board of education ruled the small (17 million dollars) tax money on printed, self-addressed, stamped cards, directed to the governor, Senator Black and Representative Lanning, committee on education. Voters in Filer, Buhl and Castleford were mailed these cards for signature and mailing to the state board of education.

Site North of Bridge for Junior College Suggested

Editor, Times-News:
The notice in the Times-News that the public is in favor of a junior college is gratifying. Of course, it's needed and people would realize this. I think the big question is where to locate the college. The site north of the bridge is a fine one. Several reasons are obvious. First, the land is cheap. It's possible that the Bureau of Land Management might donate it to such a cause. Second, there is plenty of water there. Third, and most important of all, it is a central location. If it can be located there the college would be in "car pool" range of every high school graduate from Rupert to Hatley and from Rupert to Ottema Ferry. That should be enough territory to warrant a junior college.

Support Is Urged for Junior College District

Editor, Times-News:
The proposition of a Junior College in our community is about as presented to the electorate. It appears to me that this is of considerable importance. We, from our tax dollars, are spending billions to put a man on the moon, and many billions more in foreign giveaways. It is not only the children and their parents who would receive benefits from a Junior College here. A Junior College would add something to the community. We are all interested in new business and more jobs in our community. Our future depends on the education available to our youth. There are hundreds of intelligent young people in our community who may not be able to go away to college under our present economic conditions. I know there are those who will say, "Our schools are costing too much and I will not vote for any more taxes of any kind." But I cannot believe these folks are in the majority. Any parent of children under 21 years of age should seriously consider this matter and vote at this election.

Buhl Woman Is Concerned Over Bureaucratic Delays

Editor, Times-News:
Lately we've been hearing from our federal government about benefits that our area will receive from having Bonneville power here. I can't help but wonder if we'll consider it a benefit when Bonneville Power has forced Buhl out of business and we have a power failure whenever we have a power failure now. Idaho Power has just indicted and the crews out. It doesn't make any difference whether it's in the middle of the night or Saturday or Sunday, the crews still go out and repair the trouble. Perhaps we wouldn't be so concerned if, on the other hand, I was one of those who hesitated to sign the loyalty oath, as some characters who now are fighting to live with myself or face my fellow men. Why not deport such subversives and give them their chance to try the communist world? I'll wager it wouldn't be long before the chance to sign our loyalty oath—to become Americans again—to live in and love our America. Is it a disgrace to be loyal to our land of freedom? Why take the hand that feeds us?

above gentlemen. As a result, the state board of education said "no" to the proposed district. Now Twin Falls county is the target. Under present law, a simple majority will carry. New law effective July 2 requires two-thirds; hence the desperate haste on the vote. New law allows eight mill levy for a junior college district plus one mill for maintenance if approved by taxpayers. The Buhl group has contacted an attorney for a bonding company for a planned future five-mill bond election; if all approved, this could total a 14-mill average present school taxes to support a college.

Why not a Magic Valley district, with taxes spread over the state over! Who is trying to get whom off the hook?

ONE HORSE TOWN? More than 250 horses paraded through downtown Twin Falls Saturday afternoon to attract attention to the Magic Valley Western show scheduled Friday through Sunday at the Twin Falls county fairgrounds. The parade was headed by Karen Laves, former Miss Idaho, and featured the horse show's 17 queen contestants. Two prospectors on horseback from the pageant, "A Place in the Sun," also rode in the parade. After the parade there was a hamburger fry for queen contestants at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Harwood L. Stone, 1101 Highview, where the girls were judged on personality. The queen to be selected at the show July 23 will receive $100,000 in prizes. The parade attracted a motesque number of spectators. MORE "Scare Talk" about the Bonneville Invasion of Southern Idaho

A member of the Idaho Congressional delegation has described sound and logical arguments against the unwarranted Bonneville power grab as "scare talk." The term is appropriate.

Idahoans Should Be Scared --

- ★ when one man, the Secretary of the Interior, can junk the half-century-old Bureau of Reclamation power sales program by the stroke of his pen—
- ★ when he can do this without Congressional consideration or approval, and without public knowledge or endorsement of a so-called feasibility report—
- ★ when he can deprive the Bureau of Reclamation of 40% of its legitimate power revenues hitherto used to support irrigation projects, and glibly promise their replacement from deficit-producing Bonneville operations—
- ★ when he can confer multimillion dollar benefits upon a small minority of "preference customers" who are already tax avoiders—at the expense of the majority—
- ★ when he can threaten the destruction of taxpaying property as a tax base for a state, its counties and school districts—
- ★ when he can take a long step toward socialism and the bureaucratic domination of the entire economy, starting with power-oriented management of water resources—
- ★ and when the whole dismal process can be presented to the public as a program in the public interest—

It's Time for Idahoans to Be Scared!

We will continue to oppose the Bonneville invasion of southern Idaho to the extent of our ability — for the welfare of

- the more than 140,000 customers of Idaho Power whose service and rates are locally regulated and protected by state agencies
- the state and local taxing districts in 27 counties which could be deprived of multimillion dollar tax revenues
- all taxpayers of Idaho and the nation, who pay for Bonneville's deficits and needless extravagance
- the 1,200 employees of Idaho Power Company and their families who have a part in furnishing their electric service
- and the 16,000 investors — 4,000 of them in Idaho — who own the $350,000,000 Idaho Power Company system property.

As a consumer and taxpayer, you and your pocketbook are directly affected. Your voice, directed toward your Congressional delegation in Washington, D.C., and toward members of the Senate and House of Representatives' appropriation committees, is your recourse.

Any Congressman will heed the voices of taxpayers.

Two Burley Men Battered By River

More than 30 persons were involved in a search along the canyon rim and the river's edge from Milner crossing about eight miles downstream to Murtaugh bridge. The search was kept up until Deputy Sheriff Paul Corrier radioed to other cars that Kelly and Bahr had arrived at the crossing.

An airplane piloted by Phil Payne, Burley, also was called in on the search. Two sections of blue buoyant material were thrown from inside the kayak when the craft split apart as it was beached. Searchers downstream who saw the blue sections floating in the river first believed them to be life preservers.

One of the sections was retrieved by Robert Hughes' hunting dog, Hugs, Hazelton, a fieldman for the Amalgamated Sugar Company, who was with the students from Milner in Murtaugh who assisted in the search. About 15 minutes after the boat had reported the blue buoyant material to Deputy Sheriff David Hunter. It was reported by Deputy Sheriff Paul Corrier that Kelly and Bahr had returned safely to the crossing.

Shortly after arriving at the crossing, Kelly's father, Dr. L. M. Kelly, was brought to the scene by a state patrolman. After the reunion, the boy and his father, taken to Caspita Memorial hospital, Burley, for treatment of lacerations and bruises.

"I wouldn't recommend that anyone try it too often," said Kelly. He commented it was the first time he had tried shooting the rapids in this particular location, although he has done rafting in other locations.

Deputy Superintendent Seymour reported about 11,000 second feet of water going over the dam—the largest volume of water this spring.

Sheriff James H. Benham thanked all persons who assisted in the search.

Instead of crippling our potato industry with controls, the federal government should try to preserve the industry by insulating it from the market place by enforcement of laws and regulations prohibiting false labeling of potatoes, Hansen said. "Both the acreage control legislation, which is being pushed by the potato growers and the proposed national potato marketing order to be imposed in the autumn," he said. "By overwhelmingly defeating the recent wheat referendum, the nation's wheat farmers showed that 'no' is more convincing than 'yes'." Report Given For Second Poise Class

HEYBURN, June 15—The second class for the poise and personality summer course for girls was held Thursday at the Village hall with Deanne Lee, physical education major from Blackfoot, presenting instruction in the art of exercising.

Miss Lee, who was chosen by the Blackfoot college faculty as the most outstanding woman in the physical education department, told girls to "make the most of what you have."

The instruction presented exercises for the development of the body and concluded that the best known exercise for the face is a "happy smile."

According to Miss Lee, today's girls is woman's worst enemy as it makes the stomach muscles weak and lazy. She emphasizes the physical fitness plan of President Kennedy.

Sixteen girls registered for the summer course. Mrs. Lavonia Green, director, said others who are interested may still sign up. She points out that fees are added for refreshments and admittance fee regardless of how many classes they plan to attend. The fee will help pay expenses for the reception at 11 a.m. on June 20.

On June 20, a representative from the Nancy Taylor High School of the State Business College will present instruction on grooming.

Plan Gifts to Please Pop on Father's Day

BY GAY PAULEY
NEW YORK, June 15 (AP)—To please pop on Father's day, give them some item of clothing—preferably shirts, socks, ties, pajamas or handkerchiefs—in that order.

A survey of what the man who runs the power mower wants on his day June 16 found the preference for clothing running three to one over any other category.

That is, clothing, unless money spent was no object.

Then, father would like, say, a new car, new house or a boat.

Pipes and cigarettes, often pictured as synonymous with Father's day presents, were way down in popularity. Only one per cent of the men surveyed put them on the most wanted list.

The Father's day study is part of a continuing look at the national gift market, done by The T. C. C. which calls itself the country's largest maker of gift wrappings.

The company reached its conclusions from "several hundred" interviews in Chicago, Philadelphia, San Francisco, Dallas and Atlanta.

It estimated that close to one billion dollars would be spent on gifts for dad. If it did not estimate how much of the bill fathers would foot themselves for the gifts.

And, it found that 16 per cent of the husbands interviewed did not receive dad's day gifts last year.

The researchers concluded that the "average" father will receive two presents worth a total of $19 some gifts.

They also decided fathers are pleased easily—97 per cent said they were completely satisfied with what they received last year.

In clothing items, here was the preferences were listed:—Shirts, 45 per cent wanted; socks, 25 per cent; ties, 21; pajamas, 21; handkerchiefs, 21; underwear, 18; shoes, 6; hat, 5.

In accessory items:—Leather goods, such as belts and wallets, 24 per cent; cuff links, 18; sport coat, 14; lounge robe, 9; tie clasp, 6; special accessories such as a fancy shoe horn, 5; and key chain, 3.

In the nonclothing category, the fathers listed sports equipment including golf clubs, gun, fishing tackle, bowling ball, ping pong table, 15 per cent; cameras and camera equipment, 13; tools, 12; television, radio or phonograph, 6; car, 5; jewelry including watches, 4; money or bonds, 3; pipes and cigars, 1; and books, 1.

The researchers said several requests were not mentioned frequently enough for percentage completion, but showed pop likes to be spoiled if given a chance.

For instance, one father asked for a private bowling alley. Another hoped for air-conditioning for his car. Another wanted for a cigarette lighter that never runs out of fluid.

One requested a sunken bath tub with built in Finnish-style steam bath. There was a request for a second vacation to rest up from the one with the family.

Another asked for a new boat. Another asked for a flat stomach.

And one father wished for his daughter's wedding to be paid for by the bridegroom's family.

Date Is Set For Grand Council Fire

Twin Falls council of Camp Fire Girls will observe the Idaho Territorial Centennial at the annual Grand Council Fire to be held at Jayce ballpark at 7:30 p.m. June 16.

The theme, "That Light Undimmed," will portray in pageant form the little-known story of Jane Slicott, an Indian maiden whose actions in leading the Pierce party to the first gold discovery in Idaho had tremendous influence on the settlement of the territory and eventual establishment of the state of Idaho.

Jane Slicott, or Xol-Noo (Wild Dove), daughter of Chief Timohy (or Timolin), was the first Indian baby baptized in what is now Idaho by the Rev. Henry Spalding after he had built his mission in the wilderness. The several scenes of the pageant will be presented by the Junior High Camp Fire Girls from Twin Falls, Eden, Shoshone and Buhl.

Special features of the pageant will be the portrayal of the important characters in costume, including Jane, Chief Timohy, Jane's mother, Tema, Sacajawea, Lewis and Clark, the Rev. Mr. Spalding, Captain Pierce and others. The Tan Kon Ka group will present an Indian dance in authentic costume. Mrs. William Foster will be narrator for the pageant script, which was written by Mrs. James Vandenberg. Sources for the historical material were Deffenbach's "Faded Heroines of the Northwest" and Bailey's "River of No Return."

Grand Council Fire is primarily a time of recognition for girls and leaders who have worked in the program for the preceding year. The torch bearer in social leadership, Camp Fire's highest achievement, will be presented to four girls at the ceremony. Carol Berg, Cathy Beck, Carol Blah and Connie Frith. Individual torch bearer awards will be given, as well as the Junior High group torch bearer award, new since the program revisions in September, 1962.

Other awards will be given for best Idaho queen, the best manual reading, various swimming honors, candy sales awards, memory book and guardian's helper, as well as three-, five- and 10-year membership. The last named will go to Cecilia Bertie.

The general public is invited, as well as all persons connected with the Camp Fire Girls organization.

LAVERNE Gough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gough, Twin Falls, was married to Jim Kistler, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kistler, Piler, June 7 at the first Methodist church.

The Rev. Henry Gerhardt performed the double ring ceremony before a background of apricot-colored gladioli and white chrysanthemums in cathedral baskets and tapered candelabra.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of hand-dipped French Chantilly lace over a taffeta waist, fastened with a scalloped Sabrina neckline. The gown featured a fitted bodice and unique skirt, fastened with bow drapery at the back waistline and long lily-point sleeves. The lace-trimmed skirt cascaded into a chapel train.

Her fingertip-length veil was held by a tangle of seed pearls and a crystal teardrop. Her jewelry was a strand of pearls. She carried a white Bible with a bouquet of Tasmania roses centered with a white carnation.

Leona Gough, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridal attendants were Estelle Whittier, Janice Blackburn and Linda Boller. They wore identical gowns of apricot taffeta covered by matching chiffon. Each carried a bouquet of white and apricot colored mums entwined with net and white streamers.

Candlelighters were Dianne French, Ravlin Stanley, cousins of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a beige and coral suit with beige accessories and an orchid corsage.

The newlyweds greeted guests at a reception held in the church. The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a five-tiered wedding cake flanked by double crystal candelabra. Mary Revell Is Set for Long Distance Swims

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP)—Mary Margaret Revell, 25, blonde, blue-eyed and pretty, is setting the world the hard way — by tackling its various bodies of water to set long distance swimming records.

She already claims eight world records and now is preparing to take off the blue ribbon of the world record of 13 hours and 55 minutes held by Florence Chadwick for an England to France swim of the English Channel.

Mrs. Revell is also set for six other long distance swims which eventually will take her to New Zealand where she will tackle Cook Strait, between North and South Island.

"I plan some swims in Japan in another year," said the swimmer in an interview. She was in New York for a brief stay before heading for London and more training for the big ones.

"Eventually I want to swim every major international body of water a woman can do. The only things that preclude a woman are water too cold, shark danger and too much distance."

She said the Channel swim is scheduled for mid-July, but exact time will be set later, depending on weather and tides, as did the Bay of Biscay swim this summer and fall will be set. She lived in London most of last winter to get used to cold weather.

"You can't switch the body suddenly from a sunny climate (she's from California) to the cold of the Channel," she explained.

Mrs. Revell swims in a regular tank suit, two bathing caps which help keep her hair dry and her head and neck warm, and coats her body with petroleum jelly instead of the heavier axle grease many swimmers use.

Other swims planned in the next few months include the 20 miles from San Sebastian to Biarritz in France's Bay of Biscay; the 15-mile Bristol Channel of England; the 22-mile Loch Ness of Scotland which she said no swimmer had tackled because it's so cold; the 12-mile Galway Bay in Ireland ("entirely mental reason," she said, "I'm Irish"); Naples to Capri in October, then on to New Zealand.

Mary Margaret Revell is an athletic power in a streamlined figure, clad smartly in white pleated skirt with printed overplouse when she called at our desk.

She is five feet nine inches tall, measures 38-24-38 and recently was named by a group of sportswriters as one of the 10 prettiest women athletes on the international scene. She weighs 134 pounds, which drops to 122-124 during a long distance swim, she said.

The swimmer is the daughter of Dr. J. H. Revell, a Shafter, Calif., dentist and has been swimming since she was three when her father installed a backyard pool.

Mrs. Revell said she did no competitive swimming in college — she majored in history and

The couple will make their home in Brigham City.

Political Sense at Immaculate Heart College, Los Angeles

There is no international organization which declares a record official, she said, but the English Channel Swimming association keeps tabs on long distance timings and distances.

She claims these records:

July 1958, Malibu to Santa Monica, Calif., 19 miles in 4 hours, 13 minutes; July 1960, first person to swim the Bay of Algeiras, Spain, 7 miles, in three hours, 31 minutes.

July 1962, round trip of Straits of Bosphorus, 37 miles, in 1 hour, 23 minutes; July 1962, round trip of Dardanelles, 6 miles, in 2 hours, 46 minutes; July 1962, first person to swim from the Black Sea to Marmara Sea, 10 miles, in 4 hours, 53 minutes.

July 1962, first person to swim the Marmara Sea, 20 miles in 8 hours, 13 minutes; and April, 1963, first person to swim round trip of Messina Straits, Sicily, 13 miles, in 5 hours, 22 minutes.

Why long distance swimming? "That's like asking a mountain climber why tackle Mt. Everest," she laughed. "Because it's there. Actually, fitness always has been a part of our family's training. And my love of the water always has been tremendous."

MARICHAL NIPS COLTS 1-0 ON NO-HITTER

Effort Is First By Giant Pitcher For 34 Seasons

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15 (AP)—Juan Marichal of the San Francisco Giants pitched the third no-hitter of the major league season today as the Giants edged Houston 1-0 after a bitter struggle with Dick Drott. It was the first no-hitter for the Giants in 31 years. Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers threw a no-hitter at the Giants May 11 when Marichal was on the losing end 8-0, and Don Notteland of the Houston Colt .45s set down the Phillies with no hits and no runs May 17.

The Giants were held to one hit, a single by Willie Mays with two out in the first, until they finally broke through for a run in the eighth. Jim Davenport led off with a double to left. After Mays' blow was called out on strikes and Marichal fished out, Chuck Hiller came through with a double to the right of center, and Davenport scored with the big run.

The last previous no-hitter by a Giant was thrown by Carl Hubbell May 8, 1929, against Pittsburgh. Marichal, a 25-year-old right-hander from the Dominican Republic, and picked two one-hitters.

Marichal and Drott duelled on virtually even terms through several innings. The San Francisco hurler issued two walks, the first to Al Blanding in the first inning and then got Bob Lillis to ground into a force play. Bob Aspremont walked with one out in the seventh but the next two Houston batters filed out.

Mays singled to short in the first and died there as Willie McCovey fanned to end the inning. Marichal faced only 29 batters. He finished with a flourish, striking out hitter Pat Renna and Brock Davis to end the game as his teammates mobbed him and the crowd roared.

Athletics Cop 4-3 Victory Over Chicago
CHICAGO, June 15 (AP)—A seventh inning score on a revolted pitcher, Dick Willis' first center fielder in a 4-3 Kansas City Athletics victory over the Chicago White Sox today.

In the A's seventh, Wayne Causey singled, reached second when his hit was bobbed and agreed on Willis' strike center. That gave the A's a 4-2 lead.

Tourney Ends Clinic for 100 Youthful Golfers
Charles Schwerman was the junior championship division of the wrap-up tournament for the annual golf clinics conducted at the municipal course.

In the five-hole 6-12 girls' group, Delaney Cronin with 83, Rosemary Johnson with 84, Jennifer Williams with 85, and Judy Jensen with 86.

No-Hitter Is Marichal's Life Ambition

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15 (AP)—"God gave me what I wanted on this afternoon. I'm a no-hitter. You know pitchers think all the time about the best no-hitter ball and this was my day. I had this steady pitcher. 'I've had better stuff in a lot of games but my control was good.'"

"I didn't get excited until that last inning," he said. "Then I got a feeling I just can't describe. I threw a fast ball to pinch hitter Johnny Temple who fouled out, fouled pinch hitter Pete Runnels and then had to work around on Davis."

After the count of 2-2, Marichal favored a screwball, but agreed on the fast ball called by catcher Ed Bailey, and whipped it past Davis.

The game was the first major league no-hitter Bailey has caught in 11 seasons. Asked if there was pressure on him, he replied: "No. Marichal explained his pitching and admitted, 'I didn't feel, what do you mean I didn't sleep at the beginning of the game. I knew I had better stuff in other games, but I guess this was just my day.'"

He used only 89 pitches and faced only 29 batters, walking two but not allowing a Colt past first base.

Miss Creed Has Tourney Lead
ROCKFORD, Ill., June 15 (AP)—Clifford Ann Creed, in her first year of professional touring, took the lead today after the second round of the 84-hole $7500 Continental women's golf tournament.

Miss Creed, 24, a petite Alexandria, La., swinger, shot a 136 under-par 141 for the two rounds. The tournament is being staged over the 5,923-yard Mackinac Golf course near the Wisconsin border.

Miss Creed, the No. 5 money winner, stands 5-foot, 4-inches and weighs 98 pounds.

ESTURE OF VICTORY by happy Giant pitcher Juan Marichal acknowledges applause at Candlestick park as he marches off playing field after hurling his first no-hitter. It was the first no-hitter for the Giants since Carl Hubbell did it in 1929. Rookie Hurls Yankees Past Tigers 9-2

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP)—Downing, 21-year-old rookie southpaw, won his second straight for the New York Yankees today 9-2 over Detroit with the aid of 13 Yanx hits and sloppy play by the Tigers' Jake Wood.

Some zany base running by Wood, Detroit second baseman, helped him out of a jam in the third. With one run in, two on base and nobody out, Wood was caught off second, escaped the rundown only to wind up as co-leader of second with teammate Billy Brutto, who was out. A few minutes later Wood was caught trying to take third on a ball that rolled away from catcher Elston Howard.

Sunny Jim Has Final Winner
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, who retired today at the age of 68 after 78 years in Thoroughbred racing, finished with a winner when the Wheatley stable's Royal Record won the $15,000-added Miss Woodford stakes for 3-year-old fillies at Monmouth park.

Mr. Fitz, dean of American trainers, was at Aqueduct where a ceremony marking his retirement took place during the afternoon.

He had hours running in the Bowling Green handicap at Aqueduct and the Leonard Richards Stakes at Delmarva park, as well as at Monmouth.

But Wheatley stable's Royal Record, sentimental favorite at Aqueduct, ran fourth as Polingford took the Bowling Green on the grass course.

Cornell Wins Varsity Race to Ruin Navy's Bid for Row Slam

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 15 (AP)—Defending champion Cornell overhauled surprising Navy in the last quarter-mile today, won the three-mile varsity race and stopped the Middies' bid for a sweep of the Intercollegiate Rowing association regatta on Onondaga lake. The Big Reds, picking up its stroke to 35 in its tremendous spurt, was timed in 17 minutes, 24 seconds.

Drysdale and Dodgers Beat Chicago 4-1
LOS ANGELES, June 15 (AP)—Dan Drysdale pitched a seven-hitter and beat Chicago for the third time this season as the Los Angeles Dodgers got to Larry Jackson in the early going today and defeated the Cubs 4-1.

Drysdale, now 7-2, has allowed only three earned runs in 24 innings against the Cubs this season. His overall earned-run average is 2.77.

The big right-hander fanned six Cubs and ran his season strikeout total to 110, high in the majors. He didn't walk a man and now has gone 21 innings without giving up a base on balls.

All three races were run off in the semifinals, with temperatures in the 90s and the sun playing hide and seek behind the clouds. Because of the winds, the starts had difficulty in coming into position at the ankle and the regatta was about 25 minutes behind schedule.

The dramatic tone of the afternoon was set in the opening 2-mile freshman race. Navy's yearling crew, which had not won to once in 15 previous regattas, led the fleet line to win by a narrow margin. Rutgers' freshman was third, a half-length behind the leaders in a field of 12.

Jones Beats Daniels In Unpopular Verdict

TEANECK, N. J., June 15 (AP)—A judge Doug Jones, disappointed in victory as he was in a defeat at the hands of Cassius Clay, found out last night what it's like to be on the winning end of an unpopular decision. And a seething mad Julie Isaacson, manager of Billy Daniels, threatened in a dressing room scene to retire his fighter from the ring.

That was the hectic aftermath as big-time boxing returned to New Jersey after a two-year absence with a crowd of 4,000 contributing to a gate of $25,119. Jones, third-ranked heavyweight, sliced Daniels about both eyes and pounded out a 5-1 decision over the No. 6 man in the division.

Under New Jersey rules, referee Paul Cavalleri had the lone vote. With Jackson was booed loudly. The Associated Press had Daniels winning 5-4-1.

While Jones filed under the shrew, Isaacson screamed that the twice had protested Cavalleri as a referee. When the decision was announced, Isaacson was dumbfounded. He had a fight leaving down and bearing New Jersey state athletic commissioner Joseph F. Walker. He continued his trade in the dressing room.

Then he went further. Standing in a dressing room cluttered with splintered wooden chairs, Isaacson continued: "I may retire Daniels. How would you like to have your boy get chopped up like that and then get jobbed? Yes, I'm going to retire Daniels, and the reason is commissioner Joe Walker and his referee. I've changed my mind. I don't want a return match with Jones. He's continued his trade in the dressing room."

However, an AP poll of writers at ringside showed 11 thought Jones won. Six scored the fight for Daniels.

For a calm Daniels, with puffed flesh and ugly, gaping cuts over both eyes, he thought he had lost two rounds clinched the fight for me. I hardly got hit the last two rounds.

Alex. Kokoritis, Jones' manager, said his fighter rushed under the shower because "he was disappointed he didn't knock Daniels out though it was a good decision and we'll be happy to give them a return bout."

Jones was the heaviest of his career at 194 pounds. Daniels, 182, was a southpaw pincer won by every team in the league. Miller won 20 and lost 12 during his career at Eastern high school from which he graduated last week. He struck out 340 batters in three years in one game.

Scout Jocko Collins, who scored Miller, described the 17-year-old pitcher as "the best prospect in the East." He has been watching him for two years in American Legion and in family competition. Miller, reports June 15 to be the final count 4 matches to 1.

Foiles Bats Angels Past Twins 9-6

ST. PAUL, MINN.—FOILES June 15 (AP)—Catcher Hank Aaron drove in three runs with a home run and single and Los Angeles got effective relief pitching from Art Fowler and Julio Jones today in pounding Minnesota 9-6 with a 14-hit attack.

Foiles hitting only 125 in his brief tenure with the Angels prior to Saturday, highlighted four-run Los Angeles third inning with his first homer of the year, a two-run blow. He singled home a run in the first.

Phillies Give Bonus to Hurler
PHILADELPHIA, June 15 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies announced today the signing of an attractive bonus of $100,000 for a southern pitcher won by every team in the league.

Miller won 20 and lost 12 during his career at Eastern high school from which he graduated last week. He struck out 340 batters in three years in one game.

HARPER LEADS CITY GOLF TO TURNEY Medalist Fires 75 for Four-Shot Edge Over Field

SPORTS

Slender Doug Harper, a year out of high school, turned loose a red-hot putter Saturday and took a four-stroke edge and medalist pin in the first day of the Twin Falls city golf tournament. There were charges lodged against Harper by the rest of the field for knowing too much about the greens. The youngster, working for the city, arose at 5 a.m. Saturday to mow the greens, they turned around and putted their way near perfection. He had to get up so early, he did not get much sleep, was too tired to think on the greens, I just putted," explained the first-day leader.

Harper ended with a three-under par 65, the only man to break the course standard Saturday. Don Herbert had a good shot at par when he torred the first nine in a sharp two-under 32. But he ran into approaching trouble on the 10th hole and he soared up to a 38. That gave him a 70 for the day and placed him behind Don Herbert.

Tied at 69 were Don Lowman, Paul Elledge and Loren Faye. After Herbert's 70 came another charge by Don Herbert, who crossed the plate on Leo Cerdanes' single after a line-out.

It was two strokes back to the next man at 73. In it were Don Elledge, Paul Elledge, Don Lowman, Phil Baldwin and teenager Joe Memmott.

City amateur will all arrive at 74 followed by Ron Chaffin, Richard Cook, Joe Kinney and Gilbert Smith, all 75; Frank Fox and Jay Lowman, both 76; and Dick Trail and E. K. (Duke) Whitehead, both with 77.

The tournament will conclude Sunday afternoon with the final round being played on the basis of Saturday's scores.

Two Homers Lift Mets Over Redlegs

CINCINNATI, June 15 (AP)—Ed Krausz and Charlie Neal hammered in the eighth inning today to break the tie and lead the New York Mets to a 4-1 victory over Cincinnati.

Krausz, the homer—the second of his career—came with one out. Neal hit his third season homer over the left-center field fence on the 11th.

The Reds tied the game 1-1 in the seventh when Daryl Spencer shied a double down the right field line with one out and crossed the plate on Leo Cerdanes' single after a line-out.

It was two strokes back to the next man at 73. In it were Don Elledge, Paul Elledge, Don Lowman, Phil Baldwin and teenager Joe Memmott.

Clay Brings Out Best in English Poets

LONDON, June 15 (AP)—British boxing fans are busy making up poems about "narcotic" Cassius Clay and hoping against the odds that British heavyweight champion Henry Cooper will beat him at Wembley stadium next Tuesday.

The undefeated American, who has been busy boasting of what he will do to Cooper, took a vote of silence Friday until after the fight.

His last words in public were: "Next Tuesday is D-Day—Danger to Cooper."

Meanwhile, the fans are busy. One wrote to the London Daily Herald with an epithet for Cassius—just in case Cooper oppresses him. It ran: Here lies a man called Cassius Clay.

He talked from dawn till the end of day. According to him, he is nothing but super. But all that was changed the night he met Cooper.

Another fan composed a poem lashing Clay for talking so much: Honestly speaking, you're not a bad clump. But under your nose is too big. Clay has said he does not want to be interviewed or photographed any more because now and then the fight, and he will train from now on in private, instead of charging the fans 34 cents to come and see him.

The bookies have made Clay a 1-5 favorite. But two of his backers flew in from the United States and said they thought the American will not have an easy time.

"This fight against Cooper is going to be a tough one," said tobacco millionaire Bill Cutchen.

Disillusture tycoon Bill Pavsham took away. "I think Cooper will win, but he will certainly have to look out for Cooper's left. I hear that your boy is any more between now and the fight, and he will train from now on in private, instead of charging the fans 34 cents to come and see him.

Phone Cable Project Work Progressing

HAILEY, June 15—Fifty pairs of cable telephone lines are being placed five feet underground between Hailey and Ketchum, says Gavino Uebera, telephone company.

While most of this work is completed, it will take some time to finish splicing operations.

Len Childs, Twin Falls, supervised the Ryan plow with D-8 caterpillar power in digging the trench. He was assisted by Frank Edwards and Richard Cluff, also Twin Falls.

Curtis Neymen, Pocatello, is supervising cable splicing being done by Dan Cullen, Gene Chelner, Don Shorman, Ronald Halverson and Dean Hunter.

Uebera says the work of placing a new aerial distribution system in Hailey, being done as a joint construction project with the Idaho Power company, is progressing satisfactorily. Most of the telephone poles will be taken from Haileys' streets and the telephone lines will share Idaho Power company poles.

A new telephone cable line will be laid from Hailey to Bellevue and extension of the aerial distribution system southward from here is another improvement of the present project.

Alaska Gains; Idaho Loses Road Funds

MOSCOW, June 15 (AP) — A University of Idaho research specialist has issued a report declaring that Idaho lost $400,000 in a single year in federal highway funds because of policy favoring Alaska.

Dr. Norman Nybrotten, associate director of the bureau of business and economic research, made the assertion in a report entitled "Planning and Financing by the Idaho Highway Department and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads."

He says a formula used for 15 public land states is the reason for the comparatively large proportion of highway funds given to Alaska.

All appears, however, he wrote, "that a major effect is to invest federal funds in one undeveloped area by reducing such investment in numerous comparable underdeveloped areas."

Workers Will Never Live To Harvest Forest Crop

BY O. A. (Gus) KELLER
Times-News Feature Editor

OSBIDIAN, June 15.—Although sound a little strange, but a crew of men working near here is planting a crop they will not live to harvest.

The crop is tiny trees which are being placed in the moist earth with the touch which the U. S. forest service details as T-L-C—better known as tender, loving care. Reason—the crews are not to be around to bring in the harvest, so that it will be from 120 to 140 years before that will be necessary.

Although the weather has been on the wet side, with rain or snow practically every day since the project started, conditions for the plant are what forest officials term ideal.

The most exact surveys of the seedlings, and enables them to get a "toothpick" with the result survival is expected to be between 85 and 90 per cent.

The plant up Pole creek flat area near here is being carried on by a crew from the Sawtooth valley ranger station. The seedlings were grown at the forest nursery near Boise and, although only inches high, they are three years old and have a healthy cluster of roots.

Crew records will be kept of the growth in the area of the planting and those trees which are alive after the first five years will probably grow to be big ones.

The plant includes Douglas fir and lodgepole pine. This is only the second year that fir has been planted in the Sawtooth forest area in this vicinity, but its resistance to certain diseases is expected to pay off. The fir will be mature trees in about 140 years and the lodgepole in about 120 years.

Planting of the seedlings is a science and is not accomplished without much prior study and investigation.

In the Pole creek area, the planting is being done in an area prepared last season. Old and rotted timber was removed and remaining debris was piled and burned.

This season the trained crew moved in and, with each member planting from 250 to 300 seedlings a day, the job should be completed this week, according to District Ranger Ralph C. Cheas.

The planned program, to utilize timber so that in years to come there will be an adequate supply left, calls for harvesting in one area and planting in another.

Marjorie Pickes, who heads quarters at the main Sawtooth office in Twin Falls and who is timber staff officer, puts it this way: "When the year 2000 rolls around," experts tell us, there will be twice as many people in the United States as there are right now. On the average, this will mean that the wants will be just twice what they are now.

There are going to have enough lumber for that crowd, the harvest must be planned and every scrap of usable tree utilized to the fullest.

To follow the planned program, controlled harvesting is going on in various districts of the forest at reasonable times.

For instance, not far from the scene of the planting operations on Pole creek, two million board feet of lumber is being harvested through efforts of the Don Jensen Logging company, Boise, in conjunction with the Wendell Milling company.

Under the forest service plan there is more to a harvest than just cutting down trees. Only marked and acceptable trees are cut and, as a part of the operation, the "harvester" also constructs access roads which, if feasible, will be completely improved and made available as fire roads for administrative use or for the general public.

The lumber being cut for use by the Wendell Milling company first will be hauled to the plant at Bellevue for processing, after which planning will take place at the Fairford or Wendell plants.

After the cutting is completed and the designated timber called for in the successful bill has been removed, the cycle of mark and harvest will start again. Within a three-year period the area will be planted by another crew, in another year, will someday step in for the harvest.

In the Sawtooth national forest, Fikes points out, the largest at present is for the harvesting of about 10 million board feet of lumber a year — this because what is called the sustained allowable cut.

"In this manner it is expected that the crop will be always available," he said. "In some countries in Europe, for instance, the timber crop is so short that trees which are collected for what is called the sustained allowable cut.

UP IT GOES, and Bob Stewart, Hally, stands on previously placed logs to be used in this one goes into the spot intended for it. Logging trucks travel down freshly cut roads to main highways, then to milling points. The Pole creek operation, where this picture was made, involves a cut of about two million board feet. The "hammer," as the crane-like vehicle is called, is operated by Don Jensen, logging company owner from Boise. The huge logs are handled without apparent effort on the part of the heavy equipment. When trees are being cut in this part of the Sawtooth forest, others are planted in another area. (Times-News photo)

Under Hepworth's direction, thousands of such plants have been made during the past two weeks, with wet weather providing ideal conditions for the seedlings but not the workers. The crew, Hepworth admits, will not be around when harvest time comes. (Times-News photo)

Oakley Has One of Oldest Weather Reporting Stations in Gem State

SOME OF THE OLDEST weather recording equipment in the state of Idaho is at the Herbert Hardy residence in Oakley. Hardy, who has been Oakley's official weatherman for the past 14 years, reports that the same equipment was recording the weather in 1853, when the late John Hardy owned it. Many of the absecon and farmers in this area depend on Hardy's records for their business. (Times-News photo)

OAKLEY, June 15.—"The first 10 days of June this year had the highest amount of moisture I have ever recorded in all of the 14 years of my weather reporting," said Herbert J. Hardy, Oakley's official weatherman.

"The measurement showed 2.27 inches during this period. This is rather unusual for this area, as the year's average is 16.5 inches and the reading is now up to 8.00 inches for the first six months of this year."

A few days ago Hardy found out his equipment is one of the oldest weather stations in Idaho. In 1853 the records show that the late John Adams began recording the weather and the same equipment has been handed down to Cox Fairchild and David Martindale, both deceased, and then to Hardy.

Three Thermometers
The equipment consists of three thermometers and a small, narrow measuring tank. Readings are taken every day at 6 p.m. and set for a 24-hour period. One thermometer records the night's low, the second the highest point of the day and the third the current temperature.

"The metal tank allows the rain to fall into a box tube in which the water is measured with a graduated measuring stick. To get one inch of moisture there must be 10 inches of water in the tube," he notes. "Whenever it snows, the snow has to be melted and put into the tube to be measured."

No Pay for Task
This is a daily affair, and while there is no pay in it Hardy has the satisfaction of helping many of the farmers and sheepmen who check with him constantly about the weather conditions.

"This year, there has been more moisture than ever before for June," Hardy adds. "By going back over the records for the past 14 years the only year that has ever come close to it was July 1, 1897, when there was 8.20 inches at the same time of the year. Also, the lowest year was 1904 when there was only 1.06 inches for the whole year."

At 78, Oldest Member of Frontier Riding Club Takes Active Part

The Frontier Riding club is going strong in the 23rd year of its existence, but J. Frank Henry, at 78, is way out-front as the oldest active member, and he rides a horse called Thunder that has seen 122 years—as human life spans go. Heading into an active summer—including the seventh annual picnic ride today, which Henry will lead into the south hills — the club got its start back on Jan. 13, 1940, and it was that same year that Henry, the oldest active member, signed up.

Thunder, he points out that actually the animal is just over 19 years old. The 120-year tabulation is gained by figuring that one year in the life of a horse is equal to seven years in a human being.

The animal is a registered American Saddle gelding, who carries me places I could never go myself and he handles like a 7- or 8-year-old animal. I keep it a secret from him that he is older than I am. If he knew, he might decide to quit," Henry said.

TALL IN THE SADDLE is J. Frank Henry, Twin Falls, who at 78 is the oldest active member of the Frontier Riding club, now in its 23rd year of existence. Henry participates in practically all club activities and his horse, Thunder, at 19 years, causes about as much commotion as does Henry. Henry says his love of the outdoors prompted him to join the club the first year it was established. At present, he is membership chairman of the organization. (Times-News photo)

Americans Are 'at Ease' And Enjoying Spare Time

Americans across the nation are "at ease," enjoying the additional hours of leisure time that has been made available in recent years.

Over 50 billion dollars are spent annually by energetic citizens on combined leisure and pains and grow younger every day.

Mushroom hunting along the banks of Big Wood river was a popular Sunday afternoon avocation for Wood River and Magic Valley residents this spring.

Robert Brown, KETCHUM, found four mushrooms, but had an experience which he will remember long after mushroom hunting is forgotten.

As he was pushing back last year's leaves on ground heavily shaded by dense cottonwood trees on his ranch some two miles north of HAILEY, he was suddenly struck on the head, and almost knocked down.

He looked up to see a goshawk carrying his felt hat up into the trees. After lighting and clawing the hat a few minutes, the bird dropped it.

"Almost before Brown realized what had happened, the bird made another dive at him, this time scratching him across the left temple and sinking a claw deep to his right eye.

"I had my glasses on when he would have gotten my eye," Brown stated.

Brown then pulled his jacket up over his head and started for his car. Before he could reach it the bird made six more dives at him, each time striking him.

Brown drove to his home at Ketchum, got his shotgun and returned to the spot. Immediately the hawk dove for him again and Brown shot it on the second dive.

Conjectures are it was a female protecting her nest. Brown stated he saw one nest in the top of one of the highest trees. The hawk's wingspread was three feet, eight inches.

An advertising agency director, Frank Sebastiano, Hartford, N. Y., has won an art competition for the design of a Christmas postage stamp.

His entry in the contest, which suggests the Christmas theme drew more than 100 submissions through stylized trees in overlapping triangles of green and yellow.

The contest was sponsored by the Pine Arts Philatelist, the publication of the Pine Arts Unit of the American Topical Association. The designs have been turned over to the postmaster general for consideration by the stamp advisory committee.

During a visit to Washington last June, President Roberto Chiari and President Kennedy agreed to name high-level representatives to discuss points of dissatisfaction in U.S.-Panamanian relations involving the Canal Zone. Since then, a joint commission has been meeting about twice a month to discuss adjustments which can be made within the terms of the treaty governing U.S. activities in the Canal Zone.

One of the topics under consideration is a Panamanian request that the Canal Zone postal system use only overprinted Panama stamps bought at an agreed percentage of their face value, as

MRS. ELIZA JONES MABEY
... Oakley woman who keeps busy even though she is totally blind. She cares for four of her home's nine rooms by herself and does her own mending, including the making of buttonholes. Recently she helped quilt on a granddaughter's quilt in Burley, being guided by pins that were placed in the direction that she was to follow.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Being blind does not stop Mrs. Eliza Jones Mabey, OAKLEY, from doing her own housework and sewing among other things and attending to her various LDS church meetings. Her home is kept neat and clean. Four rooms she does the work herself, including mopping the floors. The other five rooms are taken care of by some of the members of her family each week. With the exception of the ironing and the vacuum cleaner she uses the rest of the electrical appliances by herself. A year after she went completely blind the electric stove was put in place of the old coal stove, and she has never seen it along with her built-in cupboards but she has learned to use the appliance and keeps her cupboards neat and clean.

She cooks her own breakfast and supper while dinner is provided for her by a member of her family who lives close by and comes in to check on her daily.

Mrs. Mabey has been blind for the last 10 years. She says that she has never seen two of her daughters-in-law, several of her 23 grandchildren and none of the great-grandchildren and one great-granddaughter.

She was born in ELBA in 1888 and moved to Oakley in 1908. She was married to Thomas Mabey in the Salt Lake temple, Dec. 16, 1908. Five sons and five daughters were born to this couple with eight still living. In 1958 the Mabeyes celebrated their golden wedding anniversary along with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Warr, Oakley, who were married the same day in 1908. Four days later, on Dec. 30, Mr. Mabey died and she has lived alone since.

She says she has never bothered her to stay alone and after 10 years she can tell almost any one's voice with whom she is acquainted. The more familiar people to her can be recognized by their footsteps.

"I see with my hands, eyes, ears, nose and feet," she declares. "Usually I tell me when it is daytime although I cannot distinguish the darkness from the light."

She has worked out some unique ways of distinguishing articles. For instance the salt shaker is recognized by an elastic band around it while the pepper shaker is plain. Medicine bottles are marked by one with an elastic and the other not.

Buttons of various colors are distinguished by the size and feel of the bottle while her various colors of threads are marked with which she sews buttons on her own clothes and makes buttonholes. Last summer she helped quilt on her granddaughter's quilt in BURLEY with the help of pins which were placed in the INTRODUCTION OF exotic fish such as these sunfish has provided good fishing in many farm ponds as shown by this catch from the Boyer Nielsen ranch in northern Idaho. Introduction of Pond Fishes Begun in Idaho by Pioneers Headed West

By JIM HUMBIERD
Idaho Fish-Game Department
BOISE, June 15 — Boarded men, and sunbonneted pioneer men, sated with red-vented loon, steelhead and numerous other kinds of trout that filled the waters of the Columbia river system, became lonely for pond fishes "back home" as it frequented the Pacific Northwest save an occasionalurgeon, which generally was ill in disregard.
Squawfish, so beloved by Indians that it proudly bore the name of their women, was misnamed "salmon" by the immigrants. But they soon discovered was not the same.
All this began over 100 years ago when white settlers came to the region in the great mid-western migration of covered wagons. Native fish species in Idaho territory included snow, cutthroat, Dolly Varden, steelhead, chinook salmon, river salmon, blueback, kokanee, several kinds of whitefish, cisco, sturgeon, lamprey sculpin and species of sucker, and variety of minnows such as awfish, chub, dace and herring. But where were the crappies and perch and catfish? Why were there so many warm water lakes and ponds and none of the spiny-rayed fishes they had loved in the East and South? The western saga of the warm water fish species with a genius for reproduction — including carp—resulted from their hardy nature, their ability to survive in water so devitalized that other kinds must surely perish, and their suitability above all others for transport even under the most primitive of conditions.

This was the beginning of a program for introducing exotic fishes into the waters of the region. Looking backward from this Centennial year observance of the organization of Idaho's territorial government, it is clear that the naturalization of fish from other regions has not been an unmissed blessing to sons, daughters and grandchildren of the pioneers.
Excluding native fish which have been transplanted from one watershed to another within the state — also called "exotics" — the imported species which have been tried over the years are as follows: mackinaw, kamloops, brown trout, golden trout, grayling, largemouth and smallmouth bass, bluegills, pumpkinseed, the environment, water temperatures, food and spawning areas, with scientific for the removal must be carefully evaluated. Many plantings of exotics have either failed completely or backfired and produced stunted populations because one or more of the habitat requirements were lacking or below optimum.

Exotic species should not be competitive with other desirable species to the extent that they become a nuisance, or undesirable.
Planting sites should be selected so that a species cannot migrate into other waters where they may become a problem.
The species should be self-perpetuating and not dependent upon annual restocking. This can go to other extremes if fish with high reproductive potentials are not subjected to predation or heavy fishing pressure.
If the species must be restocked periodically, costs of procuring, transporting, rearing and planting should be on an economical basis.
The introduction of carp and transplants of other rough fish via minnow buckets have taken over numerous lakes and reservoirs and rendered them unsuitable for game fish.
Since 1949, over 70 lakes and a dozen streams have been treated with chemicals for the removal of undesirable fish. But complete eradication or control of these populations is often difficult, if not impossible.
Control programs may be further stymied by the popularity of certain warm-water species even though the fishing may be classified as substandard.
Yes, perch and crappies, catfish and even carp are fun to catch and good to eat. Many sportsmen say with the pioneers that the near-white flesh of spiny-rayed fish generally is more tasty than that of the rainbow trout—king of fishes in Idaho.
In the early summer when catfish spawn, they are in excellent condition. The chops are the large jaws under the eyes on the gill cover, swollen during the spawning run. With a sharp knife, circle the fishy area and cut it away from the cheek bone. The chops closely resemble scallops and are more delicious. Roll in flour or corn meal and deep fat fry until golden brown.
With carp, fleecy or slice scales off rather than the usual method of scaling. Make vertical cuts

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT

Young People Are Life Work, Hobby Of Tom Turner, Filer Superintendent

FILER, June 15 — "Young people are both my life work and my main hobby," states Tom Turner, superintendent of Filer school district 418 and prominent citizen. "I have worked with them all of my life and enjoy watching their educational progress as well as their various activities of athletics, music, dramatics and others."

Turner will commence his 10th year as superintendent in school district No. 413 in July. Before coming to Filer, he was hired by the Caldwell school system for 25 years where he had served as teacher, elementary principal and high school principal.

His first teaching position was in Canyon County rural school near Caldwell, where he taught 54 pupils of all eight grades in a one-room rural schoolhouse. This first school was in the form of an experimental tent, he recalled, as he wanted to try teaching for a year or two to prove to himself education really was the field in which he wanted to become established.

After teaching in the country school for two years, he found he had loved every minute of it and came away convinced he had found his life work.

He returned to the University of Idaho and was graduated from the university. He has been associated with education ever since and expects to be until his death.

Turner was born in Caldwell in 1908 and attended grade school and high school there. He received his master's degree from the University of Idaho, and worked toward his doctor of education degree at the same university, also at the University of Washington and University of Colorado.

His teaching career was interrupted for three years when he served as an X-ray technician in armed forces from 1942 until 1945.

The educator feels a diploma from high school is very necessary to every young man, and he strongly urges every student to finish four years of high school and to graduate with honors.

Even students who decide to get married while still in high school are advised to finish school and graduate, as they especially will need a diploma to be able to secure a good job. He states he has never married students who have graduated through the years and has never experienced any trouble with them.

Turner also urges students who drop out for various reasons to finish their education and secure their diplomas. He has had a large number of students who quit high school, but have later come back to finish their education, either through correspondence courses from the University of Idaho, or by taking courses offered from the Armed Forces Institute, which makes them eligible for diplomas upon completion of the courses and tests.

He always is highly gratified when he is able to give or send a diploma to someone who has earned it through one of these methods.

As he noted, "I try to keep after these drop-outs and do everything in my power to eliminate their interest in getting their diplomas, which for different reasons not awarded to them at the time their classmates graduated."

The superintendent feels it is a good sign that the majority of them do eventually receive a high school diploma. Even a number of married women, who had quit school to get married, have realized what they have missed by not going into the education field and have come back to take correspondence courses which will enable them to finish.

He smilingly remarks, "I have even baby-sat with their children while they were studying or taking the tests necessary for completion of their correspondence courses."

Turner is a member of the Filer Kiwanis club, Elks. He is member of National Education Association and of Kappa Delta Phi, educational fraternity of the University of Idaho.

He has been an active member

of various civic committees in the town, especially those dealing with youth. He has been chairman of the Filer Scout commission for 12 years.

Although, as he stated, his main hobby is young people, he has a number of others in which he is interested. He is an enthusiastic sportsman and what little leisure time he has is often spent fishing in Idaho streams. He has a fishing boat and admits he prefers trolling to fishing from a bank. He also enjoys hunting pheasants, ducks and deer in season.

One of his most interesting hobbies is that of tying flies. He learned this, he said, from Mrs. Glenna Evans of the Evans Fly factory.

Besides making all of his own flies, he has taught the art to students in physical education classes and also has held flying classes for patients in army hospitals as occupational therapy.

Turner's wife, Dorothy, also is a native of Idaho. She was born and educated in Cambridge and was graduated from the College of Idaho, Caldwell. The Turners were married June 2, 1935, in Caldwell.

Mr. Turner taught in Caldwell schools both fulltime and as substitute teacher for a number of years. For the past eight years she has been her husband's secretary at the school.

The Turners were interviewed at the school office, where both were busy working upon the many forms and reports which must be made out during the summer.

They agreed that summer is an even busier time for them than during school seasons, as there is a great deal which must be done before the new school term starts. They will take their two-week vacation sometime during the summer, although last year they took only five weeks off from their duties.

When questioned regarding the problems facing Idaho schools today, Turner stated, "Since I have been in education in Idaho for more than 30 years, I always get a little angry when someone makes a statement that Idaho is losing all of its good teachers. This is emphatically not so, as we have in our state some of the finest educators in the United States."

"The real problem in Idaho is the fact that many young people will not go into the education field in the state, which leaves

Health Group Participation Is Explained

SHOSHONE, June 15—An explanation on Lincoln county participation in the southern district health department was given Thursday morning by W. E. Bolton, county commissioner.

Participation amount to $3,583, but the entire amount doesn't come directly from county funds. The state provides $2,000 and $1,583 for clinic receipts on participation percentage.

Lincoln county's direct contribution is $3,557, with quarterly payment made in April of $1,497.84.

Bolton points out the county pays the salary of a clerk from the total amount of $3,583.

No-Host Dinner

KETCHUM, June 15 — A representative from the national park service will speak and answer questions at a no-host dinner at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Alpine cafe, Ketchum.

The Ketchum-Sun Valley Chamber of Commerce, hosting the dinner, requests persons either for or against the national park in the Sawtooth primitive area to attend the dinner.

Life in Japan Changes With Adoption Of Many Western Customs and Ideas

Japan is fast becoming a nation of change. The Japanese are becoming more and more Western in their daily habits and customs. However, many Western ideas haven't caught on — for example, buying on the installment plan or credit purchasing.

In money matters the Japanese still prefer hard cash, says Paul Dudley, manager, Yokohama branch, Bank of America, and since the younger ones are not signing up for teaching positions in the state, the next 20 years in Idaho will have to see some drastic changes or we will be unable to staff our schools.

"We are fortunate," he adds, "in that we do have some young people who like the area and enjoy living in Magic Valley, and will probably remain for many years."

"To them, the wholesome climate, variety of hobbies offered in Idaho, congenial atmosphere of the schools and the fine cooperation they will receive from the parents of the students, outweigh the higher wages which they might receive in other states."

"This will be the backbone of the school district in the future," he said.

domestic items as possible. Japanese food is inexpensive. This helps offset the high cost of Western foods.

Tourists love Japan. However, the Dudleys have resided there for almost 12 years and the novelty of the country has long since rubbed off. However, both Mr. and Mrs. Dudley like Japan and plan on staying there for some time.

Westerners by and large, are beer eaters, and beer is expensive in Japan. While the nation is becoming more and more Westernized, shopping for a poultry roast can be quite difficult. A good many of the meat shops are open-air markets, and, for the most part, refrigeration still is unknown in many Japanese shops. Generally the foreigners consume and purchase as many led and wearing Japanese-made one-piece dresses is difficult. Usually a tailor has to make adjustments. Her solution is to wear mostly skirts and blouses. The same is true with business suits.

The Japanese are an industrious people and their progress has been tremendous, says Dudley. Their ambition sets them apart from other Orientals. They have an eagerness to learn.

Dudley noted that few Japanese banking students enter foreign firms. They prefer to work for Japanese banks, and there is a reason. The front office is controlled by foreigners. Hence, the opportunity to get to the top is easier in their own banks.

Foreigners do not fit well into Japanese banking procedures. Western bankers are used to a bookkeeping system involving computers, filing systems, and exchange of money. The Japanese are rapidly changing to the mechanized system, but their present system is different.

Dudley noted his company is concerned primarily with the financial aspects of import and export goods and does little or no local banking. Trade is the largest growing industry in Japan and the United States is Japan's largest customer.

Australia is the United States' biggest competitor in the Orient and competition is keen.

When asked about anti-Americanism, Dudley said there is very little of it and the Japanese have respect for the American flag.

Dudley has found this true in other Oriental nations. Prior to his appointment at Yokohama, Dudley was assigned to the branch in Bangkok.

Dudley is a 1935 graduate of Twin Falls high school and graduated from the University of California. He went to work for Bank of America shortly after World War II and was assigned duty in the Orient.

MIGHT BE HAUNTED, according to Wood river valley residents, but this old house has two residents. They are pigeons, and can be seen perched on the roof where they passed to see if they could determine just what the Times-News photographer intended to do. The old dwelling, which gets smaller each year as "collectors" remove some of the lumber, is located at the site of highway 93 not far over Timmerman hill. It is a landmark in the area. KEETCHUM, June 9—A day's enjoyable drive takes a traveler from Keetchum north across the railroad tracks at the end of the Union Pacific system which is used solely for Sun Valley and sheep transportation...

On up the canyon one can view the most residential district of the Warm Springs and divisions, the most westerly of which is across the line into the Sawtooth national forest... The distance you will travel? Well, figure it this way. Hunter Nelson of the Sawtooth forest traveled from Keetchum over the 73-mile route...

On up the gulch at Crony Cove, where hot water bubbles from the bottom of ice cold Warm Springs creek, many tiny bath houses erected many years ago still stand. Here are some 100 summer homes. High on the mountain above Crony Cove, with a "snake" road winding up the steep mountain...

School Board At Shoshone Takes Oath

SHOSHONE, June 15—School board members took oaths of office and for the coming year were elected at the second meeting Wednesday night at the high school building.

Receiving the oath of office were Mrs. J. Howard Manning and Fritz Struchen.

E. R. Werry was elected chairman, Eldon Gubrie, vice chairman, and Mrs. Manning, treasurer. Mrs. Hazel Hadcock was named as clerk of the board.

The board decided to offer contracts to three teachers—David Stronka, Pinchburg, who would teach science and be assistant coach; David Ackerman, teacher for science and mathematics; and Wanda Bancroft, Shoshone, English.

In every all three of the teachers are hired, the system still would lack one teacher—a foreign language and English teacher.

The bid of Dan Daniels for replacing the roof on the Lincoln school was accepted.

Use of the Lincoln auditorium for two dances for the county fair was approved.

Notice was given that the new, 34-passenger school bus is ready to be picked up at the factory. Martin Motors will send a driver for it.

A discussion on insurance of the school buildings was held with a Boise man, working with R. Grove. Some changes in insurance coverage were approved.

Mr. and Mrs. Thad McCollough and Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Sharp served refreshments.

Kimber Dosselt, lecturer, announced the next meeting will be a Father's day program.

Shoshone Has Popular Summer Park

SHOSHONE, June 15 — The Little Wood river winding throughout the entire park area, and many generations Shoshone folks have worked to improve the park and maintain it as a place of relaxation.

"After coming into Shoshone through the desert, many people who visit the park exclaim: 'What an oasis in the desert!'"

It is an oasis in a sense, with an added touch. In addition to the water and green grass, there are a variety of trees, some tall and stately, others small and delicate. There are shrubs and some flowers, palms and benches, tables and fireplaces. At night lights can be turned on to light up large sections for outdoor night events.

When the city crews saw that the floods were coming this year, they moved the logs that formed a fence on the west end of the park, keeping them from floating away as they had done a year ago. They also stacked the park benches and only one got out onto the ice and it was retrieved.

The most work this spring was required to repair the west end road that leads to the pump-house, which washed out quite badly. Several truckloads of gravel were hauled by the city crew and the road built up.

During any summer vacation the park attendants must count as many as 35 different states represented by the visitors' license plates. Persons as far away as Canada and Mexico have stopped to picnic at the park.

Shoshone Civic club is "mother" of the park. At a meeting of the club in 1929, a resolution was adopted which provided that the park be known by the name Mrs. L. Gooding, in remembrance and appreciation of her leadership in purchasing lots, acting as a trustee for the property and work on the original project.

The first park in Shoshone was the block of ground which is now the site of the Lincoln county courthouse.

After the ground was deeded to the county as a site for the county building, several attempts were made to establish a park, but no park was used for any length of time until 1928 when Mrs. M. J. Gooding, then president of the club, began a movement for a children's swimming pool. With the approval of the board from the village board and a provision that the club be responsible for the purchase of the lots for the pool, an acre of land on the Ruby Morton property along the bend of Little Wood river was purchased for $150 by the club.

On May 2, 1929, the park was presented to the village of Shoshone. A park board was named to act in an advisory manner. Members of the club have maintained membership on the board since that time.

Memorial trees have been planted in the park from time to time. The landscaping was accomplished through courtesy of the extension service of the University of Idaho, group and individual contributions through the years.

The drinking fountain was installed by the Mothers' Circle and other organizations have made similar contributions while the park known as the Island was purchased from the late Mrs. Nellie Murphy in recent years and another section added to the park.

The Union Pacific railroad provided shrubs from Sun Valley. The railroad passengers may enjoy the sight of the park from the trains that pass for the park area is just across from the depot.

FOREST SERVICE truck is driven down recently-graded access road which enables timber cutters to get the logs out and also forest workers and fire crews to get into the area. After the logging operation is complete, the road will be put into a finished condition. Plans made for the lumber by logging groups include road building. This road is in the Pole creek area in Sawtooth valley. The section is under the jurisdiction of District Ranger Ralph C. Cline. (Times-News photo)

Right now not all timber can be harvested, mainly because some is practically inaccessible. But in years to come, perhaps even those hard to reach areas will see the "plant and cut" program being instituted.
After all, as Pickett puts it, "It is only 67 years until the population will be doubled. Another 40 years or so after that the number will be even greater in percentage of increase."

YES, THAT'S THE MAN!

LATER, I WENT OVER THE CASE WITH INSPECTOR GROW.

PETE STOLE THE BONDS FROM THE VAULT, SOLD THEM TO NICK LACKEY, KILLED NICK TO GET THE BONDS SO THAT HE COULD PUT 'EM BACK.

YES, THAT'S THE WAY IT HAPPENED, FLINT. WE'VE CHECKED UP ON MICHAELSON. HE'D BEEN GAMBLING.
