Twin Falls county residents will vote from 1 to 7 p.m. Friday on creating a junior college district comprising all of Twin Falls county. Polling places are Murtough high school, Kimberly high school, Filer junior high school, Hollister school, Bick and Reese warehouse at Castleford, Andy and Bob's Motor company at Buhl, and the Bickel, Lincoln and Washington schools in Twin Falls. If the proposed district is created, it is planned to use the professional and facility resources of the private junior college now in existence in Buhl. The professional resources include an instructional staff of six members, five with master's degrees and one with an earned doctoral degree.

It has been suggested that during the first year of operation three additional instructors would be added to the professional staff. This facility would be able to provide university parallel curriculum, vocational technical curriculum in two areas, and adult education. It is the philosophy of all concerned that a master's degree should be the minimum requirement for members of the instructional staff.

The physical resources include a structurally sound, two-story brick building containing 11 classrooms, one business laboratory, an auditorium, a gymnasium, a dining room, adjacent kitchen and storage area, eight office spaces, four restrooms, two boiler rooms, four storage rooms and one shower room. It has been estimated the plant can handle 200 full-time day students.

State enabling legislation provides that a junior college district must have an aggregate enrollment of high school students in grades nine through 12 of not less than 800 students. Twin Falls county has a total of 3,039 high school students.

A potential full-time student population of 200 students would be sufficient for a comprehensive program.

Idaho C. of C. Sets Meet in T.F. Monday

The spring meeting of the Idaho State Chapter of the Chamber of Commerce will be held Monday morning at the Roperston hotel Roundup room.

Speaker for the two-hour luncheon will be Harry A. Nelson, Idaho state chamber president.

All local persons interested in attending should phone the Chamber of Commerce for reservations, 733-3074.

Wm. C. Grange, secretary-manager of the Twin Falls chamber, urged area business and farm people to attend.

"It is too long that we have the chance to host the state chamber, and we feel sure that many people in our community will join in a desire to help in the workings of the organization and long-range goals for Idaho," Grange said.

Chamber members and other interested persons from all of Magic Valley are invited.

FBI Arrests Evers Murder Case Suspect

GREENWOOD, Miss., June 22 (AP)—FBI agents today arrested a 42-year-old member of the segregationist White Citizens' council in connection with the assassination of the late Sen. James O. Eastland, a leading civil rights leader.

Byron De La Beckwith, a 41-year-old company executive, was picked up in Greenwood by FBI agents. He offered no resistance.

Beckwith was en route to Jackson, Miss., on a flight south of Greenwood, shortly before 2 a.m. EDT for arraignment.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover authorized the arrest in Washington.

Hoover said Beckwith would be arraigned as soon as possible.

Sources in Jackson indicated the arraignment would be sometime Friday morning in Jackson.

Beckwith was charged with violating a section of the U.S. code charging him "with others known" with conspiring to "kill, oppress and intimidate" in the playing of a game of "chess" in the city of Greenwood.

The charge was made in a document filed in federal court in Jackson.

The document also marked the first anniversary of the assassination of the late Sen. James O. Eastland.

Galena Summit Gets Six Inches of Snow

Six inches of snow piled up on Galena summit Saturday in a freak storm that dropped no snow north of the summit.

Mrs. Isabelle Miller, Clark-Miller guest ranch in Sawtooth valley, reported a slight amount of snow on the ground Saturday morning and cloudy weather all day but clear skies and a cool 40 degrees at 7:30 p.m.

In Magic Valley, traces of rain were reported in Oakley, Burley and Gooding and heavy showers were experienced in Castleford and Buhl.

There were no reports of additional hail or severe rainstorms.

Linda Lee Atwood Crowned Miss Buhl

BUHL, June 22—Linda Lee Atwood, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Garth Atwood, was crowned Miss Buhl of 1963 in the presence of more than 1,000 people during the eighth annual Miss Buhl pageant tonight in the Buhl high school gymnasium.

As Miss Buhl, she received a $300 scholarship to the college of her choice from the Buhl Lions club, sponsors of the annual pageant, and will represent Buhl in the Miss Idaho pageant.

The 17-year-old miss, sponsored by the Buhl Herald, is a five-foot, six-inch, blue-eyed blond, measures 36-27-37, and has a hair color of light brown. Cheryl Becker, Castleford, Miss Buhl of 1962, was on hand for the crowning ceremony.

Diane Jean Schroeder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Schroeder, was crowned Miss Buhl of 1962 and received a $100 scholarship from Buhl professional men. The 16-year-old beauty gave the Buhl Lions club a check for $100.

Colleen Baggett, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oleg Baggett, was crowned Miss Buhl of 1961 and received a $25 gift certificate from the J.C. Penney company. She also is a blue-eyed brunette and sang a solo for the crowd.

Letty Darlene Strickland, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Strickland, was named Miss Buhl of 1960 and received a $25 gift certificate from Roperston. The green-eyed blonde gave an allegorical reading for her talent.

Judges were Mrs. Tom Rudy and Mrs. Wayne Bauer, Twin Falls; Paul Kline, Burley; Vincent, Piter, and Mrs. William Peters, Jerome; John Hephworth and Robert Bickel, Buhl; and social chairman Mrs. Verna Granger were co-chairmen.

Mrs. Stanley Kern, Buhl, was master of ceremonies. The program was provided by students of Fergus school district, Buhl, and the Buhl barbershop quartet, the Nobles, who brought down the hour.

Harry Ezzinger and Vern Granger were co-chairmen.

American-Owned Pipeline Blasted

CARACAS, Venezuela, June 22 (AP)—Terrorists today blew up a pipeline of the American-owned International Petroleum Corporation, cutting off service to sections of the capital.

It was the second attack on American installations here in three days and appeared to be part of the "personal retaliation" campaign of the Castro-controlled Cuban Revolutionary Council.

President Heads for Europe Visit

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—President Kennedy winged toward Europe tonight on a 10-day mission to promote good will and unity in the Atlantic community. A jet transport carrying the President took off from Andrews air force base, just outside Washington in Maryland, at 9:57 p.m. Its destination is Wahn airport in West Germany and the start of a four-day round of receptions and speeches making from Bonn to Berlin.

Kennedy had spent part of the afternoon at his Camp David, Md., mountain retreat, then was ferried to Andrews by helicopter.

The flight to Germany was expected to take a little under seven hours.

Sunday morning Kennedy will motor from Wahn airport to Cologne, where he will attend mass with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer at the famous Cologne cathedral.

On Wednesday he will go to West Berlin, the first American president to visit the communist-encircled city since Harry S. Truman attended a NATO conference at the end of World War II.

In advance of Kennedy's arrival in the East German-occupied zone, a 114-year forbidden zone on the communist side of the Berlin wall. That means few East Berliners will be able to see the President when he pays a call at the Western side of the Checkpoint Charlie gateway.

The President will carry a personal message of friendship from the United States. Much of Western Europe will see a seven-day stop-by-stop relay of his motor tour through the city as it is beamed within range of more than 25 million television receivers in 12 countries.

Washington diplomats heard that the trip might try to stage a communist attack on the city, but Kennedy's trip is a show of American support for the West.

From Berlin, Kennedy will fly to Dublin for a two and a half day sentimental visit to the land of his Irish ancestors. Then he goes on to England for a day at the country home of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan near London.

Arrangements for the final portion of Kennedy's trip, a three-day visit to Italy, are still being worked out. He is expected to see the new pope.

Opportunities For Jobs in Area Fewer

Magic Valley job opportunities in May were down sharply from a year ago, with all processing operations suspended, according to the Idaho state employment security agency.

The layoffs in Burley were the most severe in several years, affecting some workers year around. The past season was the shortest potato processing run since 1958.

Gooding reported that non-farm job opportunities were down from a year ago because of the general drop in economic conditions in the area.

Rain during much of May delayed farm activities and other outdoor work in the Jerome and Twin Falls areas.

The use of special seed and improved beet thinning machinery continued to decrease the need for hand labor in Jerome. However, there still was a shortage of experienced farm hands, particularly irrigators.

Hiring was slow in the non-farm activities in Twin Falls, but is expected to pick up in June. Unemployment increased late in the month because of seasonal food processing layoffs.

Nonfarm job opportunities in Rupert were substantially below a year ago because of the closure of the potato products

Teachers Set For King Hill

KING HILL, June 22—King Hill teachers who will teach at the elementary school and junior high school principal; Mrs. Mildred Carnahan, first and second grades; Mrs. Frank Jones, third and fourth grades; Mrs. Hattie McKee, fifth and sixth grades; Robert Elvidge, seventh grade; Cecil Watson and Daniel Masterson, eighth grade, and Mrs. Stanley Jones, seventh grade and girls physical education.

All King Hill teachers were required by the school board except processing plant. The demand for beet thinners exceeded the supply because of limited housing for crews, but no crop damage is expected because of this shortage.

WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON, June 22—Something important is going to happen in the ancient city of Greece beginning June 26. A peace of rough-minded men from possibly every one of the world's 113 nations will sit down together and try to figure out ways to achieve international bickering by law instead of war.

It's called the "World Conference on World Peace Through Law." And if it sounds like just another pacifist outfit, it is not. This one is different because it is composed exclusively of lawyers.

Andrew Tully, 37, and whatever other lawyer in the world has never been accused of being mental hazy. If they think the gimmick can work, the rest of the world should take the time to be interested.

Specifically, this lawyer outfit feels there is not enough international law, and that what there is, is too expensive for poorer countries.

One of the legal cases that have never been heard of being mental hazy. If they think the gimmick can work, the rest of the world should take the time to be interested.

Anyone Naive?

In his column on this page today, Sen. Barry Goldwater discusses the matter of members of congress holding reserve commissions. Senator Goldwater makes a point of reference to law and concludes it is "perfectly proper" for members of the armed forces reserve to serve in congress. So far, so good. It is a correct right, but the problem goes much farther than what is permitted by law and Senator Goldwater must be well aware of it.

Senator Goldwater holds the reserve rank of major general, which is high on the officer scale. There's no way of telling how he came by his commission in the first place—it could have been political although there's nothing to indicate it. He served in the air force from 1941 to 1945, as did millions of other Americans. Senator Goldwater was first elected to the senate on Nov. 4, 1962.

Now for the big question: Would Senator Goldwater hold his present reserve rank if he had not also been a U.S. senator for the past 10 years? The chances are excellent that he would be several grades lower. There is no intent to infer Senator Goldwater personally has used his office as senator to gain reserve promotions. He wouldn't have to do a thing. The mere fact he is a U.S. senator with a well-known name would greatly enhance his promotion possibilities in the reserve. The situation merely reflects human nature.

Senator Goldwater also mentions the case of Sen. Strom Thurmond, D., S.C., who holds the army reserve rank of major general. Senator Thurmond lists quite a war record in the Congressional Directory, including a hatful of medals. He served from 1942 to 1946 and was first elected to the senate Nov. 2, 1964. Would Senator Thurmond hold his present reserve rank if he had not been a U.S. senator?

Senator Goldwater is far more likely to find the answer to his question in promotion records than in the law. Let him compare his rank with those of reservists who haven't been in public life—who held the same rank he did in 1945. If they held the same rank as Senator Goldwater both in 1945 and 1963, then Senator Goldwater is right in excluding it's "perfectly proper" to accrue in congress and the reserve at the same time.

Another illustration comes to mind, but because of the personalities involved, no name shall be specified. About the year another congressman was elected to office, photos appeared in the press showing the new congressman during a tour of active duty with the reserve. The man had no little military experience he wore his overseas cap in typical rookie fashion. Promotions have come quickly, much faster than would be indicated normally.

Let Senator Goldwater and the others rationalize, but there is a conflict, whether they wish to admit it or not.

TIME TO GET TOUGH

The United Nations is in danger of falling into an old trap in dealing with communist Russia. Appeasement is absolutely the wrong approach in any question involving the Soviet Union. The communists proceed on the assumption that all other peoples and nations in the world are weak and when appeasement merely confirms their belief, they march right over anyone and everything.

Because the Russians have refused to pay U.N. assessments involving some United Nations police action in the world's hot spots, the U.N. has been looking for a way to keep the Russians loyal. The U.N. is 100 million dollars in debt and facing bankruptcy. Most of that deficit is owed by the Russians and their satellites who are members of the U.N. Bylaws of the organization specify that any member who falls two years behind in payments will be dropped.

Although Russia is still some six months away from the expiration date, everyone at U.N. headquarters has been let the communists off the hook. It's wrong and any softness in dealing with the Russians will endanger the future of the United Nations.

It's time to get tough with the USSR. The communists should be advised repeatedly and pointedly of provisions for terminating membership for nonpayment of assessments. And when the two-year period is reached, Russia should be dropped.

Kill the U.N.? Far from it. In the first place, the Russians would never be as stupid as to permit themselves to be expelled by most of the rest of the world. In the form of the U.N. in the second place, the Russians would lose the precious veto they have used so frequently to block U.N. action.

The tough approach is all they understand. Anything else is evidence of softness, which they're fully prepared to exploit.

SUPREME COURT BARRISTER—Charles S. Rhyne, a Washington-lawyer and former president of the American Bar Association, is chairman of the conference. He is not an idle dreamer, but a distinguished practicing lawyer who spends much of his time pleading before the supreme court, where he steered the reapportioning case to victory last year. He believes in the use of the law to the extent that he has paid his own expenses on 10 trips around the world to study legal cases.

Rhyne points out that since the world court was established in 1942 it has handled only 14 contested cases and rendered only five advisory opinions. In comparison, the U.S. supreme court hears more than 100 cases every year and disposes of nearly 2,000 others.

One of the reasons for the world court's enforced inactivity is that it doesn't have compulsory jurisdiction over disputes between the big powers, including the United States. Rhyne believes the U.S. should take the initiative in asserting its jurisdiction on being its own judge and jury; he points out that the United Nations already has granted the court jurisdiction over domestic matters, so there need be no fear of its losing our sovereignty.

SAY IT WILL WORK—Another weakness of the court is its too expensive. It costs about $200,000 for a nation to take a case to the Hague. Rhyne suggests that the court sit and hear cases in chambers of three judges, and that there be created immediately a group of appeal on a regional basis. Thus the world court could pop up anywhere on the globe to help keep the peace by settling international disputes by law; in the Middle East alone the court's jurisdiction would save thousands of lives.

Luke most free world lawyers, Rhyne admits the Soviet Union's attitude is probably wrong. But he insists the system could function without Moscow, and points out that if all the nations of the free world were to use the court, it would be put in a poor light with the neutral and uncommitted nations. Then, as the system won a reputation, there would be tremendous pressure on the Soviet Union to join.

Anyway, the lawyers will give it a try in Athens by more than 100 countries, and that kind of response in these ancient times is not to be sneezed at. If all they do immediately is remind the world that there is an alternative to war, they will have made a respectable start.

A SHOCKING SILENCE
Chief Justice Earl Warren has urged the American Institute and the bar to institute a "great national debate" on proposed amendments to the Constitution. The amendments pose a grave national issue, though the nation's leaders have tried to initiate it. President Kennedy recently spoke out against the amendments. Bolleter General Archibald Cox declared that the lack of discussion has been shocking.

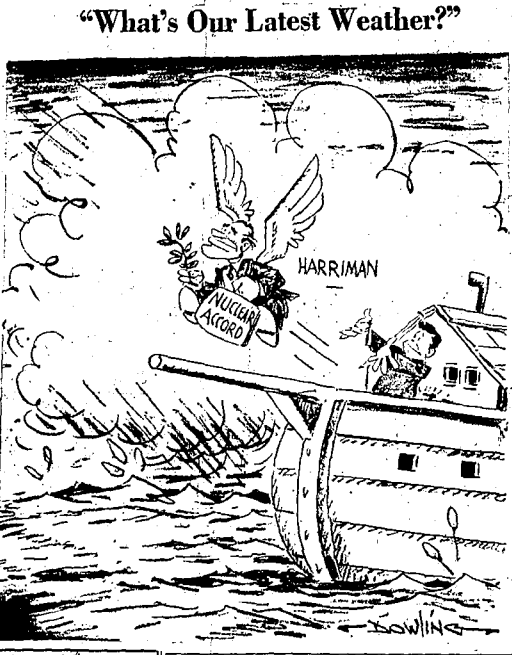

The Missouri legislature pushed through the three amendments with vast speed and little public attention. Fourteen other legislatures have petitioned congress to consider the proposals. Yet they would, as the solicitor general's "radically alter our whole system of government." The three would allow the states to change the Constitution without any federal or national action.

It may be that the proposals have gone about as far as they can go, but the only way to make certain is to have a national debate. It is particularly important for the legal profession to be heard. And one of the unanswered questions is where the leadership, organization and will campaign to alter government by the people before the people know it. A debate might throw some light on that darker corner of the country.—Louis Post-Dispatch.

It was the one who recalls Bridley Temple when she was learning she is now middle-aged. On her birthday, it can be confidently predicted, an elderly—Montgomery (A.B.)—Advertiser.

POT SHOTS

COVERING THE CAPITAL WITH PETER EDSON
WASHINGTON, June 22 (The Associated Press)—The 100th annual food congress of 1,200 delegates winds up two weeks of talk in Washington with the adoption of a charter, recommendations for future action, and a final resolution.

More than half the population of the underdeveloped countries is illiterate.

An illiterate farmer cannot be taught how to increase the production of his land by scientific methods. An illiterate consumer cannot be taught that he has no freedom of choice until it reaches maturity, it needs a balanced diet with ample protein.

There is a world shortage of schools of agriculture and home economics, a shortage of teachers for those schools, a shortage of farm technicians to train farmers in the field.

Speaker after speaker at the world food congress emphasized that there can be no freedom of hunger till there is freedom from ignorance. The big problem is just that simple—and complicated.

Perhaps the second most important problem is lack of food. The food congress for the immediate future is distribution of existing food supplies and resources, so that they will do the most good.

This means putting idle manpower to work conserving and developing acreage, as well as spreading the world's food supplies among developing countries that do not now grow enough food to give their people an adequate diet.

The need for an international food bank to be developed to produce more food than the world can consume was stressed. The idea is to coordinate all aid programs in food.

No one reported to the food congress that the world would have to go on a diet of "first-come, first-served" food. It was recognized that a scientific breakthrough in agriculture, such as Japan's where there is little idle land, would be a great help.

Probably the most important finding of the food congress was that a great requirement to people that the world is well fed.

WASHINGTON, June 22—The first amendment to the Bill of Rights has been the subject of much discussion in the public schools.

What is the first amendment? It is the right of free speech, of religion, of assembly, of petition, and of the right to be free from government interference.

But the court, whose majority opinion was written by Justice Tom Clark, did not say the Bill of Rights is a religious exercise. It said that the first amendment is a religious exercise, but that it is not a religious exercise in the public schools.

Clark said that the first amendment is a religious exercise, but that it is not a religious exercise in the public schools. He said that the first amendment is a religious exercise, but that it is not a religious exercise in the public schools.

BARRY GOLDWATER

An influential group of newspaper editors recently raised the question of whether it is right for reserve officers of the military to serve in congress. The question, which is a perfectly proper one, was raised in the language contained in article 1, section 6 of the Constitution, which reads as follows:

"And no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office."

As a major general in the air force reserve and as a member of the United States senate who places a high value on Congressional service, I am presently attempting to have this interesting and important matter investigated by the official body of the senate. On behalf of myself and Sen. Strom Thurmond, D., S.C., who holds the rank of major general in the U.S. army reserve, I have introduced a resolution which asks:

"That the committee on the Judiciary be authorized and directed to conduct a full and complete inquiry to determine whether the holding of a commission as a reserve member of any of the armed forces by any individual is incompatible with the holding of office by such individual as a member of the senate, and to report to the senate at the earliest practicable time its findings and its conclusions."

Since introducing the resolution, I have come across a "canard" or wild claim that there is nothing amiss in the holding of a reserve commission while serving as a member of congress. The pertinent statute is found in section 30 B (d).

Here is what it says, under the heading "Status of reserve officers." It reads in part: "Not on active duty or when on active duty for training."

When he is not on active duty for training, a reserve is not considered to be an officer or employee of the United States. He is a private citizen, and he is not subject to the discipline of the military or naval forces. He is not considered to be an officer or employee of the United States. He is a private citizen, and he is not subject to the discipline of the military or naval forces.

Although I believe this is the most pertinent law we have on the books with respect to reserve officers, it is not clear whether they can properly serve in congress. It is important to note that this question has been raised several times over the years.

In 1918, for example, the house judiciary committee investigated the question of whether reserve members could hold commissions in the national guard and defend them. The committee's report was the reasoning put forth at that time:

"From the earliest time, it has been recognized as a plain principle of public policy that where two offices are incompatible they cannot be held by the same person. The principle is applicable to the nature and the duties of the two offices as such as to render it impossible for a person to hold both offices at the same time. The only action necessary would be to declare such vacancy by resolution as a matter of consequence and the speaker and others in discharging their public duties."

"It follows that the seals of these members of the house of representatives who hold commissions in the national guard or in the various states act of congress of June 3, 1916, will be once again questioned. The only action necessary would be to declare such vacancy by resolution as a matter of consequence and the speaker and others in discharging their public duties."

"I firmly believe that it is perfectly proper for members of the armed forces reserve to serve in the congress of the United States. But so long as any question remains in the public mind, I believe it is a proper subject for senatorial investigation and report."

It is an odd twist of international politics that at this particular moment about the only nations standing in the wings waiting to take over the reins of power in the United States are the communists. The communists are waiting to take over the reins of power in the United States. The communists are waiting to take over the reins of power in the United States.

Both fall within the U.S. concept of strategic goods banned from the communists by armed agreement.

Both are sources of conflict not only with the United States but also with the British and Germans as well.

De Gaulle's veto of British membership in the European Market has left the nations of Western Europe far apart politically than before the market was created.

The smaller nations resent De Gaulle's high-handed actions and feel that the European market forced upon them by France may lead both to U.S. retaliation and an increasing loss of U.S. interest in the fate of Europe.

For the final outcome much will depend upon the still untested leadership of Richard Nixon, presently tabbed as successor to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Since it represents neither progress on disarmament nor on the leftwing side of the international scene, it is as well a negative agreement, demonstrating primarily that neither the United States nor the present leadership of the European Union seeks or wants a war.

Yet in western Europe where the nuclear arms race is in progress, the nations are desperately needing a solution, ranging from the Common Market to questions of the future of nuclear arms and western defense.

BOISE, June 22 (P)—Idaho's general fund was in the black today for the first time in months, when the state officials concerned with bringing the books into balance on June 30, the end of the biennium. But State Auditor Joe R. Williams said the state still has a long way to go in the little more than $200 million remaining. There are 1.8 million dollars in tax anticipation bonds that must be redeemed. The general fund balance gained about $400,000 during the week, pushing from a $550,000 red-in-the-black on Monday to the $100,000 balance Friday. Williams said the gain was apparently the result of normal income plus some transfers to the general fund from special funds.

BOISE, June 22 (P)—The manager of the Idaho Automobile association denies that the organization advises tourists to travel to north Idaho by way of Oregon and Washington. K. E. Miller, Boise, said routings are based on the driver's preference, and the kind of route a traveler wants. John K. Lloyd, Weiser, charged Friday that the AAA advises the Oregon-Washington route.

GRANGEVILLE, June 22 (P)—One of the Pacific Northwest's oldest operating hydroelectric projects will be blown out of the South fork of the Clearwater river sometime in July, according to officials of Washington Water Power Co. (WWP) officials and Idaho fish and game department representatives will attend negotiations which will remove the 52-year-old concrete dam from the river. The dam, known as the Grangeville dam, was built by the Grangeville Electric Light and Power company in 1911.

Administration Is Happy With Tax Reduction Plan

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—The administration is reasonably happy with the tax-reduction bill it is shaping up and will fight any move to postpone it until next year, administration sources said today.

They refused to concede that President Kennedy's tax program is imperiled by the looming battle in congress over his rights proposals, although house backers of the bill fear a serious slowdown.

Southern segregationists in a counter-attack against Kennedy by stalling on the tax bill, house sources said. And if the house nevertheless passes a tax cut, they noted, an even greater hazard remains that the bill may be stalled by a senate filibuster on civil rights.

The threat was discounted privately by a high official who keeps close watch on tax developments. Tax-cutting sentiment has grown stronger in congress and the country in recent weeks, he said, adding:

"It is absurd to suggest that the President would weaken his insistence on the tax program because of the civil rights bill. He wants them both — this session."

Kennedy has indicated as much, though this could mean keeping congress in Washington until far on into the fall.

But administration sources insist that they are satisfied with progress of the tax bill to date, though many of Kennedy's original requests have been tossed into the wastebasket by the house ways and means committee.

The outlook now, they said, is for the committee to deliver to the house a bill shorn of many of the "reforms" Kennedy requested and providing smaller rate reductions. It may look, they conjectured, something like this:

— A total net tax reduction fairly close to the 10 billion dollars Kennedy proposed, effective in two stages next Jan. 1.

— Tax law changes providing about one billion dollars of new revenue, far short of the 2.3 billion dollars Kennedy asked.

— A scale of personal income tax rates ranging possibly from 15 per cent to 75 per cent. The present range is 20 per cent to 91 per cent. Kennedy proposed a spread of 14 to 85.

— A cut in the corporation tax rate from 52 per cent to 48 per cent. Kennedy proposed a reduction to 47 per cent.

The President could be expected to put up a fight for an effective date of October 1. If the bill could be enacted in-time — and for restoration of the "reforms" scrapped by the committee, including the five per cent floor on personal income tax deductions.

Most administration officials, however, now privately admit that this unpopular provision is a lost cause, and many concede that there is very little chance for an effective date before Jan. 1.

Eight Tables of Bridge Played

JEROME, June 22 — Eight tables were played when the Jerome Duplicate Bridge club met Saturday at the Episcopal parish hall.

North-south winners were Mrs. C. H. Jackson and Mrs. Claude Detweiler, first; Mrs. L. H. Van Riper and Mrs. B. R. Tilley, and Mrs. E. W. Sinclair and Mrs. Charles Otto, tied for second and third.

East-west winners were Mrs. H. E. Light and Mrs. M. C. Olsson, first; Mrs. Irving Towle and Mrs. Warren Keys, second; and Mrs. H. C. Hall and Mrs. C. J. Strauglin, third.

LAUDS ECONOMY BLOC

GRANOVILLE, June 22 (AP)—Senate Minority Leader William D. D. Ima, said today that Gov. Robert R. Snay's order reducing general fund spending during the next six months is "about the best vindication the economy bloc we have in the senate this year could have."

VFW Head Says U.S. Must Keep Cuba Naval Base

KALAMAZOO, Mich., June 22 (AP)—The national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars says the United States must never give up its Guantanamo naval base in Cuba.

"If we do, we will be giving up our freedom," Commander Byron B. Gentry, Pasadena, Calif., said.

Gentry was speaking at the 44th annual VFW state convention in Kalamazoo.

Lions Pick Green For President

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., June 22 (AP)—Former State Senator Aubrey D. Green, York, Ala., was installed as president of Lions International today to climax the 674,000 member organization's colorful 1953 convention.

The convention started Wednesday with a long, flower-bedecked parade down the streets of Miami Beach and ended today to the strains of a brass band playing bluffing music.

Former Mayor Edward Lindsey, Lawrenceville, Tenn., was elected third vice president.

Red Space Girl Gets Bear Hug

MOSCOW, June 22 (AP)—Valentina Tereshkova got a big bear hug and a kiss from Premier Khrushchev Saturday as thousands of Russians turned out to honor their first woman of space and her male partner, Lieutenant Colonel Valery Bykovsky.

Khrushchev also used the occasion to challenge the United States to match Soviet feats in space—and to point out to the world the military potential packed by such feats.

Valentina, 26, a blue-eyed, dimpled blonde, smiled happily as Khrushchev heaped praise upon her and Bykovsky in an appearance on top of Lenin's tomb in Red square.

The crowd applauded only briefly, the several speeches, even that of Valentina.

They just wanted to look at the girl who finished 71 hours in space last Wednesday, making more than 48 orbits of the Earth, a total Khrushchev pointed out, as greater than the combined flying of all the United States astronauts.

He announced that both she and Valery had been made heroes of the Soviet Union, the highest award in the land, which had been given also to the four earlier cosmonauts and a recent visitor from Cuba, Fidel Castro.

She also was given, along with Bykovsky, the title of pilot cosmonaut. On Earth, she has never piloted a plane.

Saturday night the two new cosmonauts were guests at a big Kremlin reception where they received the Order of Lenin and other honors.

In his speech Khrushchev appealed to the world to let the flight of the cosmonauts "bring friendship and peace and happiness to all."

"Outer space must be a zone of peace, a zone of international cooperation. We weakened the space illits of the American cosmonauts. This is a noble and worthy partnership in the conquest of outer space."

Actor Rory Calhoun, Wife Visit Friend in Twin Falls

Friday's rain brought one bit of sunshine into Twin Falls in the person of the "Texan," Rory Calhoun.

Calhoun, his wife, Lita Baron, and a small party of friends dropped by the Detweiler Lumber company on Shoshone street, to repay a visit George Detweiler made some time ago.

Over a cup of hot coffee, a stack of cookies and among friends, the actor displayed a good sense of humor, cracking jokes with the employees of the company and responding to requests for autographs with a big smile saying, "It's how I make my living."

Calhoun said that he was no stranger to the Intermountain area, having hunted with Howard Hill, the famed archer, in the area. According to Detweiler, Calhoun is an excellent bowman.

Calhoun and his party are staying at the Horse-Shu club in Jackpot and will spend several days in the area. On Monday or Tuesday he returns to Hollywood where he will receive a service award presented by the industry.

Men Urged to Enter Beard Contest Here

Twin Falls men are urged to enter in the Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce's beard growing contest, with the deadline for registering set for June 30, according to Darrel Sweet, publicity chairman.

Anyone who has a beard is urged to register with John Stagner at CAC Finance corporation, Main avenue east, or with Desmond Hanney at Seaboard Loan company in the Lynnwood shopping center.

The Jaycees are planning to have kangaroo courts every Saturday on Main avenue east until July 13, when the beard growing contest is held.

Sweet said every man who does not have a shaving permit or beard and every woman who does not have the Centennial Belle button, will be picked up by the vigilante group and put into a wooden jail. Then they will be tried and fined by a judge.

Then, just as members of the financial community were about to leave for lunch, news broke that commanders of the revolutionist council had landed at various points in Cuba to carry out an "effective war" against the Castro regime.

Investors reacted nearly every section of the list into a jolt and threw the high-speed tickers as much as 15 minutes behind floor trading. Flash prices showed such issues as IBM down 6, Chrysler 2 1/2, and General Motors 1 1/2.

Steel-Labor Peace Pact Has Many Ramifications

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—A peace pact between the steel industry and the United Steelworkers union, which was announced today, has many ramifications for the economy.

The pact covering 400,000 basic steelworkers came after months of talks by the human relations committee of the union and the steel industry to ease the path toward agreement.

By the end of the day the list had about recovered of its previous loss. The uptick extended into Friday when, after a few hours of backing and filling, the list finally closed slightly higher.

"The best that can be said about Thursday's selloff is that it may have cleared the air of a strong assault on the 1961 all-time highs," one broker said.

Investment advisors continued to tell clients that new highs are just around the corner at least one analyst cautioned.

"Many of the experts who are prattling about a traditional summer rally in the stock market this every summer since they were margin clerks. The stock market could not care less what the thermometer says, and it might be best to keep the forehead furrowed despite temptation to do otherwise."

At the same time, many brokers hoped that the market's volatility to right itself after Thursday's rally, looking for a general agreement on a new contract has been reached between the Steelworkers and the steel industry.

While successful conclusion of the steel talks was being reached, renewed negotiations for a new steel strike were expected to progress in the work rules dispute.

The deadline of midnight July 17 after which the railroad could have changed work rules and the steel strike was extended to July 10 under urging of President Kennedy.

The main focus is the railroad desire to eliminate the jobs of 40,000 firemen on diesel-powered yard and freight train locomotives.

Kennedy said that if there is no agreement by July 10 he would seek legislation to "protect the public against loss of its rail transport."

One of the brightest economic developments was the record annual rate of 455 billion dollars for the first five months of this year the figure was 455 billion dollars.

Vocal selections were presented by Cheryl Becker, Casaleffo, accompanied by Bill Routh; Kathy Hultberg, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Larry Hulme, Kathy and a trio, "The Choralettes" of Twin Falls, accompanied by Mrs. Earl Routh.

A series of pantomimes were presented by Keith Egbert and Milford Marsh, Twin Falls. Mrs. Nell McIntire, Twin Falls, was a special guest and sang "The Rose Tree," a song from the musical "The Sound of Music."

William T. Atkins, president, gave the welcome address and Dr. Charles Clifton, served as master of ceremonies. A dance concluded the evening's festivities. Loy Spradling, secretary, presided in charge of arrangements.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

SUNDAY, JUNE 23—Born today, you are self-willed and self-directed, and do not relish dependence on anyone for what you want out of life. Many may be the pressures that urge you to be responsible for your own happiness, but you will most likely find your own happiness in the field that suits you best. Life in the interim may be difficult, but will prove to have been worthwhile in the end.

The same is true of marriage. You will probably have to steel yourself against the wishes of others in order to fulfill the wishes that are your own. None of this, however, is because you are not well-liked or loved; it is because you are, and always have been, so well liked and loved that you must provide for the things that they think best.

It is you who will have the last laugh, however, for when you finally have attained your own objectives, it is likely that those people who opposed you will most applaud you. It will be up to you to accept whatever change of heart is displayed with charm and grace.

Among those who were born on this date is Irvin G. Cobb, humorist; Gioacchino Antonio Rossini, Italian composer; Edward D. Drake, Wisconsin politician; and Edward VIII of England.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Monday, June 24
CANCER (June 21-July 21)—Start the work-week off with determination and energy. Rejoice in the fact that you are through with the summer vacation and are ready to get on with your work.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 23)—A day that has the tendency to isolate itself from past and future. Take it as it comes and avoid worry in either direction.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Yesterday should have given you some insight into the workings of your personality. Consider the matter well today.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Get on top of business possibilities that almost get away. Correction does not justify error—but it helps.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Previous plans may have to be set aside in view of majority opinion today. If so, don't "junk" them; merely leave them for later.

Hedge selling was really felt in wheat this week for the first time. Harvesting was well advanced in southern Indiana and Illinois. A private crop report indicated prospects for increased yield in winter wheat.

Commodity credit corporation sales of corn continued light but many traders feared the CCC was soon doing business with the government. The market was quiet.

Cash corn was around the levels of 10 1/2 to 11 1/2, but soybeans at 12 to 13.

News that cattle ranged in valuation on Cuba prompted a wave of buying Thursday, but activity was quiet after officials limited the trade.

CANCER (June 21-July 21)—Start the work-week off with determination and energy. Rejoice in the fact that you are through with the summer vacation and are ready to get on with your work.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 23)—A day that has the tendency to isolate itself from past and future. Take it as it comes and avoid worry in either direction.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Yesterday should have given you some insight into the workings of your personality. Consider the matter well today.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Get on top of business possibilities that almost get away. Correction does not justify error—but it helps.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Previous plans may have to be set aside in view of majority opinion today. If so, don't "junk" them; merely leave them for later.

Hedge selling was really felt in wheat this week for the first time. Harvesting was well advanced in southern Indiana and Illinois. A private crop report indicated prospects for increased yield in winter wheat.

Commodity credit corporation sales of corn continued light but many traders feared the CCC was soon doing business with the government. The market was quiet.

Cash corn was around the levels of 10 1/2 to 11 1/2, but soybeans at 12 to 13.

News that cattle ranged in valuation on Cuba prompted a wave of buying Thursday, but activity was quiet after officials limited the trade.

U.S Public Eyes Methods To Provide Desalted Water

(Editor's note: This is the last of three dispatches on water conservation.)

BY LEROY POPE

UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL—NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—The interest of the American public in national water conservation is apt to center on desalting sea water, experts say.

That's because it's the most dramatic aspect and the one that holds out alluring prospects of dividends for investors in any company that develops a very cheap and practical process.

And, for many areas, desalting sea water and brackish water is the only possible way of creating new fresh water supplies big enough to support a growing population or support vital industries.

Moreover, the scientific and engineering progress made in water desalting since World War II already is substantial.

But, on a national scale, desalting never will be important, according to the American Waterworks association and many scientists and economists.

These experts do not believe desalted sea water ever will be cheap enough for irrigated agriculture except for small scale truck farming in very special situations.

Getting the cost of desalting water down to compare favorably with the cost of pumping fresh water from deep wells would not make the desalting water economically feasible for general use, the experts say.

The water still would have to be transported much too far in most cases. The cost of piping and the losses in transit soon would pile up too high.

All except a few sections of the country are within reach of as yet unused reserves of fresh water. And better methods of conserving fresh water supplies offer a greater net increase in available fresh water in most areas than does desalting.

It still costs several times as much to desalinate water by the cheapest process as to pump fresh water from deep wells. And, in addition to the transport cost, there is the problem of disposing of the salts extracted from the sea water.

ings of up to 50 million acre feet a year ultimately are possible by more efficient irrigation. And scientists say cleaning lakes and streams of useless water plants, which consume much water, can save six million acre feet a year.

Reducing reservoir evaporation is another important way to save fresh water. The evaporation loss from reservoirs in the 17 western states alone is set at 15.6 million acre feet a year. A scientific task force said last year that much can be done in this respect.

Reducing the problem to money, one water district estimated it could save 15 million dollars in evaporation losses over the 45-year term of the bonds floated to build a reservoir by choosing a smaller site where the reservoir would be deeper and present less surface to the sun.

In addition to choosing reservoir sites less subject to evaporation, engineers say much water can be saved by the use of hexadecanol and octadecanol, harmless waxlike chemicals that inhibit evaporation markedly when spread on the surface of the water. The technique of using these chemicals is not easy, however.

It still costs several times as much to desalinate water by the cheapest process as to pump fresh water from deep wells. And, in addition to the transport cost, there is the problem of disposing of the salts extracted from the sea water.

While there is no heavy transport cost and no fresh water alternative is available, though, desalting pays off. Buckeye, Ariz., for example, has a desalting plant for brackish water turning out 600,000 gallons a day, 60 cents per 1,000 gallons, and the folks think it's reasonable.

Costs of $1 to $1.25 a thousand gallons for desalting sea water at San Diego and Freeport, Tex., are considered feasible by industries using the water. It is planned to increase capacities of these government demonstration plants from one million to 10 million gallons a day. That will cut the cost to about 65 cents a thousand gallons.

But the adoption of conservation practices by industries that use large amounts of water increases fresh water supplies much more and at much lower cost than desalting ever could, because of the transport cost.

The scale of these savings is impressive. Professor Abel Wolman of Johns Hopkins University told a water conference at Atlantic City in 1960 about progress up to that time.

Dietrich Boy, 6, Hurt by Mishap

DISTRICT, June 22—Ronald Borenson, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Monte Borenson, Dietrich, was released from St. Benedict's hospital, Jerome, Saturday afternoon, after being kept overnight for treatment of cutting bruises received in a bicycle-car accident Friday afternoon at his home, one and one-half miles southwest of Dietrich.

The boy rode his bicycle out of the Borenson driveway and collided with a 1962 Pontiac station wagon driven by Janice Froberg, Morris, Minn.

Mrs. Froberg told Lincoln County Sheriff Thomas W. Conner that she failed to see the boy until he was in the road.

Sheriff Conner said the car was going less than 50 miles per hour at the time of the accident.

"Master Mix"
Recipes Given
SHOSHONE, June 22—Magic Grove Home Economics club members received recipes for home made master mixes for savory when they met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Vivian Jackson.

Mrs. Louis Couch, program chairman, pointed out the master mixes were less expensive made at home, yet provided the convenience of the store packages.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. William Tew.

The group voted to purchase a table for the Grange hall, as proposed by Mrs. Keith Jackson, Grange home economics chairman.

The next meeting will be held July 11 at the home of Mrs. William Tew with Mrs. William Keiser as program chairman.

Burley Miss, Rasmussen Say Nuptial Vows

BURLEY, June 22—Joy Estes and Wendell Rasmussen were married June 8 at the First Christian church chapel. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burley Estes. Burley, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Rasmussen, Cache Junction, Utah.

The Rev. Warren Sechler performed the ceremony before an entourage decorated with pink and white carnation arrangements and lighted candelabra.

Mrs. Bruce Turner, Declo, played the traditional wedding music. Billie Lou Schofield sang "The Wedding Prayer" and "Because," accompanied by Paula Handy.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white tulle, styled with a scoop neckline, bell skirt and elbow-length sleeves. Her shoulder length veil was held by a small crown of roses. She carried a white orchid surrounded by baby pink roses.

The bride wore the traditional blue garter, a penny in her shoe, and carried a hankie which belonged to her aunt, Mrs. Gordon Blair.

Mrs. Blair was matron of honor. She wore a street-length dark pink chiffon gown, styled with a bell skirt, and carried a bouquet of light pink roses.

Linda Mason and Maxine Rasmussen were bridesmaids. They wore street-length light pink chiffon gowns styled with bell skirts and carried bouquets of dark pink roses.

Ronda Rasmussen, junior bridesmaid, wore a dress identical to the bridesmaids.

Kim Sue Blair, flower girl, wore a dark pink chiffon identical to the matron of honor.

Clair Rasmussen was ring-bearer.

Bill Hurst, Ogden, was best man. Craig Niles, Twin Falls, Jerry Diddup, Logan, and Gary Peterson, Brigham City, were ushers.

The bride's mother chose a white linen sheath dress with light green accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a pink cotton sheath dress with a white eyelet overdress. Each wore a pink rose corsage.

The reception was held in the parlor of the church. Karen Meymiller registered the guests.

Uta Theurer, Vernal; Leah Nelson, Draper, Utah; Joellen Larsen, Midvale, and Marsha Hendrickson, Magna, Utah, displayed the gifts.

The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with pink roses and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. The cake was cut and served by Mrs. William Jones. Leah Nelson and Joy Estes poured coffee and punch.

The bride changed to an aqua silk sheath dress with matching accessories for her wedding trip to San Francisco. They will make their home in Logan, Utah.

The bride is a senior elementary education student at Utah State university and is affiliated with Chi Omega.

The bridegroom is a senior pre-medical student at Utah State university and a member of Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Rebekah Lodge Reports Meet At Wendell

WENDELL, June 22—The final meeting for Idaho Rebekah lodge No. 98, before a two-month vacation, was held at the IOOF hall.

A report of the death of Mrs. Lucinda Robinson was made and 12 sick calls were reported.

Mrs. Robert Simerly reported $61.50 had been made from the sale of pencils and the proceeds will be sent to the IOOF hall.

A certificate of appreciation was presented to the lodge for their assistance with Girls' state.

A communication was read from the Jerico cave women. The meeting will be held at Jerico. Dead Horse meeting will be held July 13. Registration will be at 1 p.m. at the Gooding IOOF hall. Each lodge will need two representatives, two games, two entertainment numbers, one member to help register and furnish eight dozen cookies.

The Rebekah members are invited to the cave for the speaking and refreshments at 7:30 p.m.

An invitation was received by the lodge to attend open house from 2 to 5 p.m. in honor of Veda Nye, assembly president, at Pocatello. The annual pilgrimage to Silver City will be Aug. 24 and the membership family picnic will be held at the Caldwell park Aug. 25.

Plans were made to visit the Richfield lodge. Those making the visitation will wear Centennial dresses.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Orin Hutton and Mrs. Harold Bown.

Baby Shower Is Held at Jerome

JEROME, June 22—A baby shower honoring Andrew Leroy Stein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Stein, was held following the regular business meeting of the Florence Stevens circle of the First Baptist church at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Miller.

There will not be a meeting in July. Devotional services were under the direction of Alicia Stoy.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Four Girls Receive Camp Fire Honors

"It was fun and very enjoyable." This was the unanimous opinion of the four Camp Fire Girls who received honors for the highest step in the torch bearers rank in social leadership in this rank, girls are asked to help, to share and to give service.

It has been several years since this honor was earned and never by four girls at one time in this council. Because of the revision in the Camp Fire program, this is the last year this rank can be attained. A new honor, the Wahoo medalion, will take its place.

The four girls—Carol Berg, Connie Frith, Carol Blair and Cathy Beck—have been active in Camp Fire Girls for six years and have had two or three years of Blue Bird training.

Their Camp Fire activities have been many and varied. Some were carried out as a group project, while others were worked out individually.

Before being allowed to go on to social leadership, the girls had to earn at least two torch bearer craftsman ranks.

Each girl had to fulfill seven requirements to earn her rank and then choose one of the seven and write it out in detail.

Carol Berg earned two torch bearers in horsemanship and in sports and games. Her social leadership was in recreation, when she gave 10 hours of service at a public playground coaching a softball team.

Cathy Beck earned torch bearers in homemaking and sports and games. Her social leadership was in taking care of small children for at least eight hours, which she did at vacation Bible school at the Presbyterian church. She also took the Camp Fire child care course.

Carol Blair earned torch bearers in campcraft and religious growth; social leadership in planning two formal and two informal parties for boys and girls. A picnic was her choice.

Connie Frith earned torch bearers in camp craft and citizenship. Her social leadership was earned when she completed her booklet on "About Myself." It tells what a girl should know and be able to do about such things as grooming, health, clothes selection, management of time and money, personal relationships at home and skills and interests that make her enjoy her own company.

Miss Blair and Miss Frith are members of Mrs. Carl Berg's Ku To Wa Hi group. They were camped at Camp Tawakani in 1962.

THREE HIT PLAY OFF FOR U.S. OPEN CROWN

Cupit Blows Two-Shot Lead to Join Palmer and Boros at 9-Over Par 293

BROOKLINE, Mass., June 22 (AP)—Favorite Arnold Palmer, Julius Boros and young Jack Cupit fought their way through gale winds and a weird maze of bungled opportunities today and tied for the 63rd National Open golf championship with 293, the highest winning score in 38 years. The three will play off over 18 holes Sunday for the title. In one of the most dramatic finishes in the long history of this blue ribbon event, Cupit sent a 15-foot birdie putt on the final hole spinning past the cup.

BIRDIE RESPONSE is registered in the actions of Arnold Palmer after he watches his putt drop in the cup on the 15th hole. The putt enabled him to tie Jack Cupit and Julius Boros, on he will meet Sunday in a playoff for the national open title. (AP wirephoto)

MINERALLY shows in the attitude of Jack Cupit after missing a 15-foot putt by inches and a chance to join down the U.S. open title Sunday. He will meet Arnold Palmer and Julius Boros in a playoff Sunday. (AP wirephoto)

It was the corner and stopped six inches away. If it had fallen this little Texan would have been the champion.

Instead, he, Palmer and Boros, the latter a 43-year-old former champion who could be the oldest ever to hold the title, met in the 18-hole playoff Sunday, beginning at 1 p.m. EST.

It is the second straight open playoff for Palmer, beaten by Jack Nicklaus at Oakmont, Pa., a year ago. Nicklaus, his game gone sour, failed to make the 35-hole cutoff this year.

This is the first three-man playoff for the championship since Ben Hogan, George Fazio and Lloyd Mangrum came head-to-head at Merion, Pa., in 1906 and Hogan, his legs shattered by an automobile accident the year before, won the second of his four crowns.

The final two rounds Saturday—played in gusty 40 mile-per-hour winds over the knobby old course at the Country Club where Francis Ouimet won the title 50 years ago—turned out to be a weird succession of blown chances.

Palmer blew an easy, 20-inch putt on the next-to-last hole and even his faithful Arnie's army despaired of his chances at this point.

But the strong boy from La-Trobe, Pa., stormed back to get a par on the 15th hole for a third round 74 after skying to a 77 in the morning, without a single birdie.

Cupit, with the championship almost in his pocket, took a double bogey six at the 71st hole, opening the door for the three-way tie.

On this 365-yard hole, a scene of high drama, the gritty Texan drove onto the side of a bunker, hit his second shot and pitched into the wire-like rough at the back of the green, pulled from the fringe, ran six feet past and missed coming back.

He wound up with final rounds of 76-75, after taking the lead at the 54-hole mark, and then played the final hole like a champion—once swinging, once missing.

Boros, the sloppy-swinging, phlegmatic North Carolinian, 43 years old, lost three strokes to par early in the round but rallied with birdies at the 70th and 71st and a par at the 72nd. He had final rounds of 72-72.

The 293 score is the highest to win a U.S. Open since dark horse Sam Parks won at Oakmont with 299 in 1918. Since then, four Opens have been won with scores of 277.

Even Outmet would have fished in the money. Playing with wood clubs a half century ago, he scored 304, when he tied Britton Hays Gordon and Ted Tait in 1912, and then beat them in a similar three-way playoff.

The weather was so atrocious—with the gusty winds adding to the hazards of the tough 8,870-yard, par 36-37 course—that scores skyrocketed and the tournament evolved into not who would win but who would lose it.

"The worst conditions I ever played in," commented Cupit, after gulping down a sandwich and two pints of milk during the midday break. "It was worse than the snow at Pebble Beach in 1902."

"It's not tough out there. I got blown down only twice," said Tony Lema, the Champagne Kid who was in the thick of the fight until almost the very end.

Lema bogied the last two holes for a final round 76 and tied Australian Bruce Crampton and Billy Maxwell for fifth place at 295.

Ahead of them at 294 came 23-year-old, graying Paul Hareney, who tied Palmer in a playoff for the $25,000 purse in the Thunderbird a week ago, finished 73-73-294.

Palmer, 39, finished 72-72-294. Jack Cupit, 20, finished 76-75-293. Julius Boros, 43, finished 72-72-293. Tony Lema, 39, finished 76-76-294. Bruce Crampton, 34, finished 76-76-294. Billy Maxwell, 39, finished 76-76-294. Walter Haskins, 39, finished 76-76-294. Don Baker, 39, finished 76-76-294. Don Baker, 39, finished 76-76-294. Don Baker, 39, finished 76-76-294.

Kwolek Leads in Bowling Finals
BIRMINGHAM, N.Y., June 22 (AP)—Bob Kwolek, Detroit, averaging better than 211 for 24 games, led the 16 qualifiers into the final round games of the $21,000 Empire open bowling tournament tonight.

Kwolek, who held the lead throughout all four preliminary rounds, carried a total of 5003 into the head-to-head competition, Lee Sutton, St. Paul, Minn., was second at 5002.

Billy Wein, St. Louis, led the high game of the three-day tournament—219—but failed to make the finals.

Sikes Becomes NCAA Golf King After Lotz Forces Playoff

WICHITA, Kans., June 22 (AP)—R. H. Sikes won the National Collegiate Athletic association individual golf championships today, 1 up in 37 holes, over John Lotz, San Jose State. Sikes, playing for the University of Arkansas, won with a birdie-three on the par four, first hole of the Wichita Country club course. The second round of the championship match featured a hole-in-one by Sikes on the 11th hole, a par-three measuring 155 yards.

Sikes' ace on the 155-yard 11th put him 3 up on Lotz, but the Californian pulled even on the 14th and went one up on the 16th. Sikes won the 18th with a par four and the title match went into extra holes.

For the 36 holes of championship play, Sikes was 3-under-par, shooting a 68 in the first round and a 69 in the second. Lotz had a first round 71 and a second round 67.

Sikes, two times national public link champion and a member of the Walker Cup team, took a lead with a birdie 3 on the first hole. Lotz pulled even on the third, and Sikes went ahead again on the fifth when Lotz had putter trouble. Sikes went 2 up on the seventh, lost the ninth, won the 13th, lost the 16th and won the 17th to finish the first 18-hole.

Sikes' uncanny putting made the difference. Lotz had early trouble with his approach but overcame this on the second 18. Then his putting began to bother him. At least twice he spent several minutes on greens predicting after missing that he would lose.

Oklahoma State won team honors for the low four scores in 36 holes of qualifying earlier this week.

McCraw's Hit Shoves Sox Past Indians

CLEVELAND, June 22 (AP)—Chicago southpaw Gary Peters teamed with Jim Brown to hold Cleveland to four hits at the White Sox beat the Indians 2-1 on Tom McCraw's double today.

Peters limited the Tribe to one hit until Willie Tashy slammed his first homer of the season over the right field fence with none on in the eighth inning. Al Luplow followed with a single and reliever Jim Brown replaced Peters on the mound. He choked off the rally.

Cleveland's Woodie Held had the only previous hit off Peters—a single in the third inning—when he lost the 25-year-old hurler struck out nine.

Cardinals Nip Dodgers to Lead League

ST. LOUIS, June 22 (AP)—St. Louis maintained its slim National league lead on Charlie James' sixth-inning home run as the Cardinals defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers today 2-1.

Rob Gibson, credited with his fifth straight victory, needed help from Bobby Shantz in the seventh and Ron Taylor in the ninth.

Tommy Davis lined his eighth homer to left in the second, putting Los Angeles ahead 1-0. But Dodger starter Nick Williams' second balk forced in the tying run in the fifth, after the Cards got men on second and third with Julian Javier's single, an error and a sacrifice.

James hit his towering home-run to left, with one on. It was his sixth of the year.

Winner of 220-Yard Dash Indetermined; Beatty Is Upset by Three in Mile

ST. LOUIS, June 22 (AP)—America's premier track and field men, pointing for the showdown meet next month with Russia, staged another record-shattering show in today's windup of the 76th national AAU outdoor championships. But despite three meet records and an American mark, the day was highlighted by a race that has no official winner as yet and which may have been run in world record time.

Fullmer Asks for Fight Postponement

SALT LAKE CITY, June 22 (AP)—Gene Fullmer, hobbling on a painfully injured right foot, asked today for a postponement of his middleweight title fight with Nigeria's champion Dick Tiger. Fullmer's manager, Murv Jensen, said he sent a telegram to British promoter Jack Salmons "informing him of this injury and asking for at least a two-week postponement."

Dr. Reed Clegg, who treated the injured fighter, indicated the fight, scheduled for July 13 in Lakota, Nigeria, might have to be postponed even longer.

Clegg said he was unable to work out for between two and three weeks, the doctor said.

"He's not a fear of the pain, but the strong tissue in the sole of the foot that supports the foot. He has a sprain of about two by three inches," Clegg said.

Fullmer said he was spending at his West Jordan, Utah, training camp Friday and I just felt something snap.

"I thought I was the sole of my shoe broke for a minute," he said. "Then I realized that it was something in my foot that had given away."

Fullmer said he planned to leave for Nigeria next Saturday.

Fullmer lost the middleweight crown to Tiger in San Francisco last year and battled the Nigerian to a draw in Las Vegas earlier this year.

Johnson Takes Loop Lead in Total Bases

Alex Johnson, Cowboy leftfielder, regained the total bases lead in the Pioneer league last week, according to statistics released today by William J. White.

Johnson picked up 21 total bases to take his season's output to 125 and overtook Babe Glenn, leader for a brief week.

Johnson also leads in home runs with 16 and runs-batted-in with 65. He lost his stolen base lead to teammate Nolan Campbell, who has 12.

Johnson also has drawn the most walks—52.

Bill Dell stepped in for Johnson in the most recent game, but Johnson has the best record, however, never losing a game. Corcoran continued in the ERA lead with 2.34.

Jack Montgomery continued to top in pile-ups with 16 while Deloney shares the most batters hit with two others at four.

Miss Wright Takes Filly Loses Lead in Golf Open Bid for Slam At Aqueduct

MADISON, Wis., June 22 (AP)—Defending champion Mickey Wright, the undisputed queen of golf, streaked into commanding seven-stroke lead as her toughest challenger wilted today in the third round of the 72-hole Women's Western Open.

Wright, who smarted from an opening 78, burned up the course for the second straight day, touring the tricky Maple Bluff country club layout in three-under-par 71 for a 54-hole total of 210.

Veteran pro Marilyn Smith, the leader at the halfway mark, scored to an 89 and a 27 total. She dropped into third place, a stroke behind Kathy Whitworth, who had a 75.

Marlene Bauer moved into the fourth spot with a 76 and 23 total. Sandra Haynie, who carded a 76 and 27, Joyce Wilson, who shot a 77, were tied with 225.

Miss Wright left the field gasping as she applied the pressure which has enabled her to top the money winners since 1961.

The tall blonde picked up three birdies on the front nine and then matched par 39 coming back narrowly missing watch her second round 70 on the 6,365-yard layout.

Queen Event Slated for Jaycee Park

A new Magic Valley baseball queen will be crowned at a special coronation ceremony Tuesday night at Jaycee park prior to the Magic Valley-Bose Pioneer league baseball game.

One of 19 candidates will be selected for the honor, succeeding Shirley Wilson who has the distinction of being the first baseball queen. The queen will be selected on the number of tickets she has sold for the Magic Valley club.

Hank Willis again will be master of ceremonies at the pageant with Kay Hill providing live music and directing the "fair."

Ying for the honors will be: Typist, Patricia Shirley; Atty. General, Cheryl Couch; Barbara Howard, Beverly Rogers, Sherry Stuart, Sandra Drake, Connie Carr, Lynn Hallen, Jacqueline Mann, Hanne Stokes, Corinne Meacham, Joan Tegan, Vanita Magnell, Sandra Y. Elsenhauer, Jean Simmons, Jean Morgan and Penny Cristol.

The queen will receive $100 plus other prizes and the second and third places also receive awards.

Californian Breaks Prep Vault Record

LOS ANGELES, June 22 (AP)—Mara Savage, 19-year-old pole vaulter from Claremont, Calif., bettered the national prep record with a leap of 15 feet, 5 inches today in the fourth annual Golden West high school track and field invitational.

The old mark was 15 feet, 1 inch set in 1957 by Jim Brewer, North Phoenix, Ariz.

Savage was named the top athlete in the meet, which featured the outstanding high school track and field stars from all parts of the United States.

The meet also was highlighted by the upset 220 victory of James White, Dallas, Tex. He roared off the curve to hand two state champions—John House, Pasadena, Calif., and Charles Greene, Detroit—their first 220 defeats of the year.

White was timed in 21.5 seconds. Green, who placed second and House were given identical times of 21.6.

Art Swartz, Scotch Plains, N.J., won the discus with his best throw of 187 feet, 7 inches and Greene won the 100-yard dash in a wind-aided 25.

Round, What-Is-It Rock Reason for Speculation

Could be that Irvin Perry has become owner of a wheel from the vehicle driven way back when Alley Cop, or a close relative, roamed these parts of Idaho.

Or it could be that the round object of native lava rock, originally was pressed into service as a mill grinding stone when Twin Falls was young.

In any event, Perry, who is a farmer residing one and one-quarter miles north of Five Points west, has the round object.

Possibility that it might be something more than just a round rock was expressed by A. R. (Art) Bally, Hansen, who spotted it on the back of Perry's tractor earlier this week.

Perry used the stone as a weight to hold down the tractor when used for pulling.

Of grey-colored lava rock, the stone is stout, perfectly round and is 19 inches in diameter and just over five inches thick. A hole which goes through the stone is in the center of the circle and is about one inch in diameter.

"The stone caught my eye when I was talking to Perry the other day," Bally said. "He said that he had never paid much attention to it since he found it about three years ago."

Perry recalled that he had dug in the vicinity of a shed to make an area deeper and had found the stone under the earth. He had no idea how long it had been there or where it came from.

Speculation as to where the stone originated knows no bounds. A recent map from the Idaho Historical society shows the Oregon trail route to be in that vicinity. Someone could have thrown it from a wagon.

Among other ideas is that it was used as a millstone to grind grain. But who used it, or when, probably will never be known.

Still another idea is that of the wheel, although Perry admits that Alley Cop is only a recent creation of a cartoon artist.

In any event, he has a good weight to hold down the back end of the tractor. Secretly, he admits he wishes someone could really tell him what the stone was used for and where it came from.

HEADQUARTERS RADIO station, completely remote controlled, is tested by three men most closely associated with responsibility of controlling fires in the Sawtooth national forest area. J. L. Sey, forest supervisor, left, looks over the shoulder of Theron Larson, fire dispatcher, while he talks to a distant ranger location. Maurice Ficks, fire staff officer, pinpoints the spot on the map where the roving ranger is being contacted. A booster setup on Mt. Harrison and another on Bald mountain, near Sun Valley, permits radio communication from all parts of forest area, an airline distance of nearly 200 miles across. (Times-News photo)

Short Fire Season Expected for North; South Hills Is Hot Spot

BY O. A. (GUS) KILNER
Times-News Feature Editor
If a severe fire season develops in Sawtooth national forest areas this summer it will be of relatively short duration, with one exception. That exception will be the south hills-rock creek section, which will be the hot spot. The rain which plagued the farmers most of this spring, has lessened fire danger. But the line service so far as fire expectations are concerned. J. L. Sey, Sawtooth national forest supervisor with headquarters in Twin Falls, says moisture all up and down the line has lessened fire danger. But the line ends in the south hills. Weather conditions being what they are, the south hills are expected to dry out relatively early, while the northern portions of the Sawtooth-Wood river and Sawtooth valley, for instance — for the most part will resist the onslaught of nature and humans.

The south situation is peculiar. Great cloud formations run riot down the tops of the mountains in almost a straight line. These great clouds, with internal winds ripping upwards of 100 miles an hour, cause an unwelcome, hot, dry air under them. Winds shift here and there and things dry out. Then, from the black clouds come the white streaks — lightning. Fires have started and the battle is on.

Because they are relatively low, the south hills accept the moisture as offered by nature but cannot hold onto it for long.

Just a short time ago, officials expected similar situations to develop up north. The snow pack was light. But where the snow did nothing, the rains took over, with the result the higher elevations will probably not even get dry before moisture of next winter starts to fall.

So, according to Sey, the fire season up north will be relatively short.

Banking on this deduction, battle lines have been drawn and radio will play a most important part in any fire outbreak.

This week, testing of radio systems was completed under direction of Theron Larson, fire dispatcher. The tests took in all radio outlets, both fixed and mobile. It even included the famed walkie-talkie outfits which let those on the "home front" know just what those on the line of battle are doing.

In this area, the airline distance between one possible radio broadcast and a receiving station could add up to nearly 200 miles. That distance, aided with mountain

BEAUTIFUL, BUT DANGEROUS thunderheads form over the hills south of Twin Falls in the creek area. This picture, taken last week on a warm afternoon, graphically shows potential danger to the area as far as fire is concerned this summer. These clouds are charged with electricity and great bolts of lightning have a habit of igniting forests. Forest officials see the south hills as an extremely dangerous fire potential area, with the danger coming from clouds like this, which form in a line along the area. (Times-News photo)

Open Lid, Duck Marks Start of Pigeon Races

It was just a case of open the case and then duck.

Duck is hardly the right word for the maneuver, because the birds in question, which would cause the ducking, were pigeons.

It all happened recently at Joshi field, Twin Falls municipal airport. Two boxes of the bluenose, one male and one female, were released at 6 a.m. by Lowell Dick, managing editor of the Times-News.

It all came about several months ago when a Seattle man wrote Dick asking if he would release the birds should they be shipped here by air. Dick answered he would. The birds finally arrived a few days ago.

Shipped by West Coast Airlines, they never had a chance to see the surrounding terrain until unloaded in Twin Falls.

They spent the night in the two boxes which were stored inside the airport's fire station.

A few minutes before 6 a.m., Dick carried the two boxes to a clear area near the building. It was only a matter of a few seconds between the opening of the boxes and second box, and most of the delay was caused by the birds took the air. The noise instinctively caused Dick to duck.

In a matter of seconds the two flocks had joined into one group and started to circle.

First, they flew north a short distance, then made a complete circle and headed south. All this maneuvering was close to the ground and within sight of the point where they had been released.

Then they made another full sweep and were headed west. They kept in that direction and soon were out of sight. Dick's instructions had been to release them only if the wind was light and the weather promising. Everything seemed to meet specifications and so the release took place on schedule.

The flock was particularly in a planned race which called for the arrival of the birds in Seattle by the evening of the following day. That meant a distance of several hundred miles in only two days. The birds, it was explained, do not fly at night.

Success of the flight from Twin Falls to the West Coast could probably be defined as "good and bad" because the birds finally arrived home, but not at the time they were supposed to get there. Weather was given as the reason for the failure. A letter Dick received from George Shingler, race club member, said in part:

"Our race turned out very poorly, as we had no pigeons home in race time. The weather changed and was extremely bad here all day when the birds were due to arrive."

It rained the entire day and this, combined with a strong wind from the northwest, was enough to stop the birds. Under normal conditions they would have been in Seattle a little more than 24 hours after you released them. Most of them will probably be home over the next few days.

They results this year were quite good as far as Baker, Ore., but Boise and Twin Falls were quite difficult.

Perhaps the Times-News pigeonapiplier-writer who was present at the local airport to record the departure, struck the nail on the head when he commented: "I don't see how they will ever make it. Think of all that distance — and the takeoff was without any breakfast."

SWIFT TAKEOFF OF JET airplanes have nothing on these pigeons as they head for home—Seattle, no less—after being released from Joshi field, Twin Falls, by Lowell Dick, Times-News managing editor. Dick released two boxes of the birds for a Seattle club after they were sent to Twin Falls by West Coast Airlines. Bad weather west of here delayed their arrival in the south city. (Times-News photo)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

"Keeping busy keeps you young" is the philosophy of Mrs. John Rogers Buhl, who manages to keep busy with quilting and other hobbies. The 72-year-old pioneer woman noted she has quilted since she can remember. She pointed out she was born and raised on a cattle ranch in Moody, Box Elder county, Utah. There wasn't anything much to do for recreation besides quilting, riding and breaking horses. Mrs. Rogers, the former May Warren, and her husband were born and raised near one another, and were married Sept. 15, 1910, in Ogden, Utah.

They made their home in Harfield, Utah, until 1918, when they moved to OGDEN, PERCY. They lived on a farm west of Ogden for some 23 years and moved into the city five years ago, making their home at 120 Thirteenth avenue north. Mrs. Rogers was a railroad man and an engine watchman for 30 years.

While her family was growing up, Mrs. Rogers kept busy making quilts for them and is still busy making quilts for her grandchildren. All grandchildren, upon graduation from high school, proudly receive one of their grandmother's quilts.

About 10 years ago, upon request of friends and neighbors, Mrs. Rogers started quilting for other people and now her hobby has turned into a profitable venture.

The active woman gets up early in the morning and spends some five and six hours a day on quilting. All the stitching is done by hand and it takes about two weeks to complete a quilt. Since the first of the year she has completed five quilts. Mrs. Rogers quilts have found their way around the state as well as to Texas, Washington, Oregon and Nevada.

Her other hobbies include making aprons and pin cushions in the shape of miniature boudoir chairs. The chairs are made out of a small can, such as tuna or pineapple cans, attractively covered with colorful foam rubber material and decorated with lace, ribbon and artificial flowers. They make an eye-catching knock-kick, as well as being useful.

Mrs. Rogers has five daughters, Mrs. Floyd Jones and Mrs. Glenn Richmond, both Buhl; Mrs. John Bogenbach, Fort Angeles, Wash.; Mrs. Robert Cleveland, Santa Cruz, Calif.; and Mrs. Jerry Childs, Salt Lake City. 16 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The history of SHOSHONE First Baptist church was unfolded by Mrs. Luella L. Kinney, who was prompted to tell the account by a fitting work for the Centennial year. She presented her account to the church membership recently, dressed in pioneer costume.

She gave thanks to Heri Bowler, GOODING, who granted her audience and turned back the pages of a rich memory to the days when, as a boy of 15, he journeyed with his brother, Howard Bowler, a missionary and hero of the Shoshone church, to southern Idaho. Heri Bowler is now 82 years of age. Credit went to the little book, "Rock and Lava," by C. H. Kinney, who describes the work and life of the missionary, Howard Bowler.

Mrs. Bowler clearly also gave her time to search the church records and compiled a history of the first 50 years of the church, presented on the 50th anniversary in September, 1948. It was September 6, 1898, that seven men and women gathered in a rock schoolhouse in the community of Shoshone and made a covenant to organize a Baptist church.

The leader of the group was a young, red-headed Irishman named Robert J. McMahon, the local school teacher. He, with his brother, Tom, operated a restaurant and later a general store in the community.

The other six were A. J. Hosh, Mrs. A. J. Hosh, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Beck, E. A. Beck and Elias D. Peck. The settlement could hardly be called a town then. The Oregon schoolhouse raised was constructed in 1893 through southern Idaho and a little cluster of shacks and tents had been built in the heart of the town in 1908.

Stanley Cottage Site Planned

BOISE, June 22 (UP) — State Land Commissioner C. J. Buxton said today that state cottage sites will be developed as soon as possible on the Salmon river as possible on the Stanley in Stanley basin.

He expects some sites to be available to the public either for sale or lease there by late this summer. Buxton, his assistant, Kenneth Conover, Engineer Jack Hammond, Ed Midemist, and Sen. Joe Ausich and Rep. Charles Powers, Clatsop county Democrats, inspected the area Thursday.

"It has wonderful possibilities," said Buxton. He said the department will work for development of 100 sites initially, but that a number that might be developed is "almost unlimited."

Buxton said an area on Garsick summit also was inspected.

12 Area Students Receive Honors

Twelve Magic Valley students were named to the dean's list at the College of Idaho for the second semester.

They are Roberta Hughes and Janet Wellhouse, both Hazelton; Tony McNett; Eden, Buxton; Jerome, Sue Leonard and Diane Lohr, both Pile; Sharon Perry, Gooding, and Henry Wendling, Glendale; Forrest, Edwin Robinson, Kyle Thompson and Betty Ehlers, all Twin Falls.

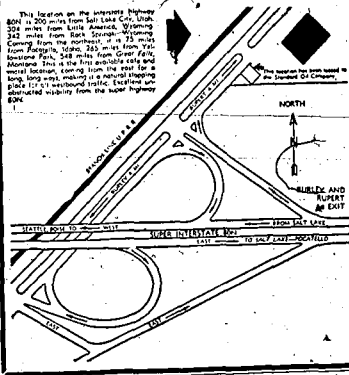

Students must have a 3.25 grade point out of a possible 4.0 in order to be cited. Wendling and Miss Hughes received a 4.

ZIP-Code to Start July 1 In Twin Falls

Twin Falls is one of 554 cities designated as "sectional centers" in the post office department's revolutionary ZIP-code mail system to be unveiled July 1. Acting Postmaster Fred Sanger has been advised by Postmaster General J. Edward Day.

"Twin Falls was chosen as a sectional center in the national ZIP-code program because it serves as a main focal point of air, highway and rail transportation in this immediate vicinity," Sanger said.

The five sectional centers designated nationally will play a key role in the national ZIP-code scheme—a plan by which five-digit codes will speed mail deliveries, in some cases by as much as 24 hours.

"On July 1," Sanger said, "Twin Falls will be assigned a three-digit number. This sectional center number, coupled with local zone numbers or numbers to be assigned post-offices in this vicinity, will constitute the ZIP-code for the various delivery units in this sectional center."

The ZIP-code will enable a large mailer to pre-sort mail through the use of electronic data processing equipment, right down to this city from anywhere in the country.

"By glancing at the first three digits of our ZIP-code, postal employees will be able to immediately determine that mail is destined for Twin Falls sectional center. When it arrives here, by glancing at the last two digits, our sectional center people will know exactly what town, and what neighborhood the letter goes to."

The five digit ZIP-code (zoning improvement plan) numbers are currently being assigned throughout the country and will be available July 1.

Applied during addressing and processing of large volume mail by electronic data processing equipment used by mailers, the ZIP-code number will speed mail service throughout the country by bypassing several manual sortations.

The postmaster emphasized that ZIP-code is "for places, not people," but he urged the public to use the new code system on its return addresses.

It was noted the use of ZIP-code by the individual mailer will permit large quantities without having great impact on sorting and handling requirements.

However, widespread use of ZIP-code by the public as part of the individual's return address will permit large mailers such as banks, insurance companies, magazine publishers and others to utilize ZIP-code more effectively, and the end result would be faster mail service for everyone.

Challis Forest Ranger Shifted

The appointment of Howard R. Koskela, ranger on the Challis national forest, to the state of Idaho, was announced Saturday.

Koskela's job will involve directing fire training and planning programs in the region.

He is a graduate in forestry from the University of Idaho, and a native of Ironsberry, Ill. early employment included fire control and other activities for the Southern Idaho Timber Protective association.

In addition, he was as assistant to the state fire warden, and later engaged in fire protection work on the Payette national forest.

WASHINGTON, June 21 (UP) — The National Geographic society and Friday two Mt. Everest climbers are recovering from frostbite and are not expected to lose any fingers or toes.

Two of the climbers who reached the summit May 21 in the world's highest and most difficult ascent were Dr. William Urrea, Corvallis, Ore., and Barry Bishop, Bethesda, Md.

BPA Rule Declared "Economic Gibberish"

BOISE, June 22 (AP) — Idaho's public utilities commissioner today called the extension of Bonneville power to southern Idaho "economic gibberish."

"Right now phosphate is a good economic product in the state. But maybe it won't be in 17 years. Then what good will this report be?"

He said that in 17 years there would be a substitute for detergents, which draw heavily on makeup from phosphate. As an example, Wickberg said lead was once used in paints and Idaho had a lot of lead mining then.

"But who buys lead paint anymore?" he said. "Most people are buying rubber-based paint because it won't peel."

"Anybody who reads the newspapers know that we are having a lot of trouble now with foaming detergents. The report does not say what will replace phosphate, if phosphate should be to say what price was paid."

The next step will be meetings of the firms' boards of directors, after which the proposal will go to stockholders for approval and the civil aeronautics board.

Pacific files principally between California cities but routes reach to Las Vegas and Reno, and to Medford and Portland, Ore. West Coast, with headquarters here, serves points in Washington, Oregon, California, Idaho, Utah and Montana and Calgary, Alta.

He said the stock was owned by Leland Hardard, Pacific's board chairman, and John Connelly, its president. He declined to comment on the extension of Bonneville power to southern Idaho.

Wickberg made his comment before leaving for Santa Fe, N. M., where he will "try" to meet with BPA Administrator Charles Luce at the Mountain-Pacific States public utilities conference.

Wickberg said BPA's feasibility report on southern Idaho, was a "hash" of "unsupported propaganda and economic gibberish."

"I'm talking about economic power," Wickberg said. "There have been too many unsubstantiated quotes about what Bonneville power will do and won't do for Idaho."

He called a BPA estimate that 9,000 more jobs would be created in southern Idaho in 17 years with low-cost Bonneville power "a lot of economic gibberish."

"Who can say what the economics in southern Idaho will be in 17 years," he asked.

"If we take this feasibility report for what it is on what little support it has, then terrible things have happened to our educational systems."

"This report is what I call gibberish."

"If the government can start to say what price was paid."

The next step will be meetings of the firms' boards of directors, after which the proposal will go to stockholders for approval and the civil aeronautics board.

out on false premises in Idaho, how can it hold to its promise in 17 years that 9,000 jobs will be available?"

The PUC meeting begins Monday, Wickberg said. But he left for the meeting today so he can spend "all day Sunday trying to talk to Luce about this report."

West Coast Buys Stock Of Pacific

SEATTLE, June 22 (AP) — West Coast Airlines exercised an option yesterday to acquire 34 percent of the stock of Pacific Airlines, San Francisco, looking to a merger of the firms, West Coast President Nick Bez announced.

He said the stock was owned by Leland Hardard, Pacific's board chairman, and John Connelly, its president. He declined to comment on the extension of Bonneville power to southern Idaho.

Varied Business Interests of Local Man Proving Exception to Old Rule

One hundred or so years ago Ray Lincoln would have had a hard time living, even with himself.

Reason was that in those early days of the West the cattle and sheep owners just didn't see eye to eye. Today all that has changed and now no one gives it an extra thought that Lincoln is president of the Idaho Wool Growers association and a past president of the Salmon River Cattleman's association.

It proves, he points out, that sheep and cattle are compatible, especially if both sides are operated by the same individual. This is now the case with Lincoln, and also with a great many Westerners.

With far ranging business interests almost equally divided between sheep and cattle, Lincoln still finds time to be a family man, aiding in the raising of five children and also a participant in many community activities. He puts it this way:

"I just like to work with people and to work with them you have to get out among them."

The Twin Falls man resides at 1010 Morningstar drive and, with the exception of the children, who is a student at the University of Idaho, the children still are all at home.

Lincoln was born on a farm two and one-half miles south of Piler. The acreage was taken out of the sagebrush by his father and mother. It still is property of his father, who has since retired and now resides in Twin Falls.

His formal education started in a country two-room school near the old homestead. The school since has given way to progress and no longer exists. Later he entered Piler high school, where he played end on the football team and guard on the basketball squad.

One of his fondest recollections has to do with that football unit.

In those days Boise was not above playing the smaller schools and, because they were playing regularly with Piler, he probably one of the reasons they decided to give up the practice.

In two out of three years little the Piler soundly drubbed the "big boys" from Boise. It was sweet music, Lincoln avers.

The music, however, was not so good to the ears of the girl he would one day marry. She was a student at Boise high school. Little did she know then that the "big" who broke up those Boise plays would some day be her husband.

After graduation from Piler, Lincoln was awarded the Carl Gray scholarship from the Union Pacific railroad and entered the University of Idaho college of agriculture in 1923.

He took part in none of the

Man, Fiance Rush to Wed After Release

COEUR D'ALENE, June 22 (AP)—Marriage united William F. Cory and his fiancee yesterday within 24 hours of his release from jail at Bremerton, Wash., a release ordered by the Washington state supreme court after 39 months of confinement.

Cory, 43, and Mrs. Elsie Miller, 36, both Bremerton, drove here because Idaho has no waiting period after issuance of a marriage license. They were married by Dr. Victoria Carbury, in a chapel near the courthouse.

Mrs. Miller's two children by a former marriage, Gloria Jean, 19, and Mary Lorraine, 15, said they expected the couple back at Bremerton soon.

Cory had been in the Bremerton jail since 1960. Thursday Washington state's highest court threw out his conviction as an habitual criminal because his private talks with his attorneys had been recorded secretly by authorities.

Cory was expected to get in shape mentally and physically before looking for a job. He was a lineman for a utility company when he was jailed.

Office Planned In Storm Area

ROCKLAND, June 22 (AP)—Rep. Ralph Harding said yesterday he expects an emergency office of the farmers home administration (FHA) to be set up in Rockland by early next week to aid farmers in Power county whose crops were destroyed last week by hail.

A June 18 hail storm leveled approximately 16,000 acres of wheat and 13,000 acres of barley.

Harding said he and Sen. Frank Church, D. Ida., have urged Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman to send an emergency designation of Power county for FHA loans.

of the operation and says the results of the activity "is good for any man."

His active interests in outside organizations has led to membership in many groups. Aside from the presidency of the Idaho Wool Growers association, in which he now is actively engaged, he also is a member of the district, state and national advisory boards for the bureau of land management, department of the interior.

He is chairman of the Twin Falls county University of Idaho extension advisory council, member of the agricultural research advisory council of Governor Smylie's special commission on natural resources; member of the advisory board for the Packers and stockyards divisions of the U.S. department of agriculture.

In addition, he finds time to be actively engaged as a member of the Bruin Booster club and also is actively engaged in the Idaho Methodist church. He and his wife, Ida May, are presently co-presidents of the Twin Falls high school PTSA unit.

From his college days he still maintains an interest in activities of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

He admits one of the high lights since he entered business was his selection as south central Idaho Grassman of the Year in 1961.

In the fraternal group he has memberships in the Elks lodge of Twin Falls and Masonic lodge No. 45, AP and AM. He also is active in the program of Twin Falls Toastmaster club No. 149.

Asked how he finds the time to engage in so many activities and still lead an active home life, he said:

"It is just a case of keeping busy all the time. The busy man just doesn't have the opportunity to watch the time pass, and as a result finds the time to do what is required."

"I have always liked to work with people and the major association through various activities provide."

Three of his five children are boys, and all are actively employed in summer work.

"I just cannot figure out how to get jobs for the two girls," he laughs. One is 9 and the other 12.

Stephen, 21, is a pre-medical student at the University of Idaho, while David, 17, will be a senior at Twin Falls high school and Lance, 15, a sophomore. Kathleen, 13, is in seventh grade at O'Leary junior high school, while Linda, 9, goes to Morningstar school.

The family works together on various projects, probably because it is a family corporation, with each member a stockholder in the business.

"The youngsters know early that it takes work to get the things you want," Lincoln said. "They all pitch in and get the job done."

BOISE, June 22 (AP)—A Minnesota woman sued a Cassia county rancher today for $100,000 damages resulting from a miscarriage in an auto-truck collision near Burley last year.

Me and Mrs. John Viscer, Long Prairie, Minn., asked the damages in a federal court suit filed here against Milton Osterhaut and Leon Osterhaut, Burley.

The suit said a truck driven by Leon Osterhaut, who was allegedly employed by Milton, collided with the Viscer vehicle on U.S. highway 30 east of Burley Nov. 3, 1962, and through "careless, negligent" driving, caused the miscarriage.

Stamp Window

By DAVID SWITZ
A press that is expected to double the U.S. capacity for multicolor stamp issues is being purchased by the bureau of printing and engraving.

The new Glori press, which takes four plates, will join two older presses which each use two plates at a time. The need for more press capacity was pointed out last fall when the bureau was forced onto an around-the-clock schedule in an attempt to keep up with post-office department orders for the Christmas stamp, the Hammer-skjold Insetta and the Winslow Homer commemorative.

The demand for multicolor stamps will be even heavier this year. The red and blue five-cent flag stamp is being handled like a regular issue and requirements may total one billion, while the order for the 1963 Christmas stamp may go as high as two billion. The flag stamp will probably be the first postage stamp for the new press, which costs about $300,000.

The bureau's first Glori press was put in use in 1957, the second in 1959. A different type of press, capable of handling as many as nine colors, is being developed for the bureau, but is not expected until mid-1965.

Chevy II Nova 400 6-Passenger Station Wagon

and get lost...

Chevy II Wagons—The help of a nitecase. The rattle of a road map. There's something about one of these spruce, surprisingly quiet wagons that can turn even the routine preparations into a happy part of your trip.

Take that old lugging of packing for instance. No longer. With the kind of room you get in that easy-loading cargo compartment, you can just about toss things in any old which way and come out with space to spare. The load won't dampen the spirits of the young 6-cylinder engine either. It just hums along passing up gear bumps (there's also a choice of an even thriffter 4 in most models) like it didn't have a care in the world. Fact is, it has far fewer cares than most engines—being built with the special knack Chevrolet engineers have for dependability and ease of maintenance.

Like a car with ginger—without a lot of needless gingerbread? Your dealer's got a full line of Chevy II's to pick from. Why not drop down and check now while both the trading and the traveling are especially good? And maybe it'd be a good idea to leave a note for the milkman on the way out, just in case you happen to get lost some place before you get back.

Celebration at Buhl Will Combine Fourth of July and Gem Centennial

BUHL, June 22 — Usually civic clubs are called upon to assist as fireworks and a baseball game. There even will be horse races in the community with no race track, not one, but two community celebrations.

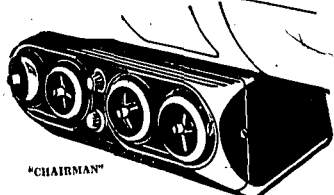

The undertaking could prove to be one of the best celebrations held in the Magic Valley this year, as it combines a regular Fourth of July celebration and the Idaho Centennial celebration for the community.

According to Frank Rippee, club president, "This is one of the biggest projects the club has ever undertaken and we are going for broke."

In order to get away from a regular Centennial theme and stick with events that happened over a century ago, a theme was chosen that would include practically everything. The theme is "Past, Present and Future."

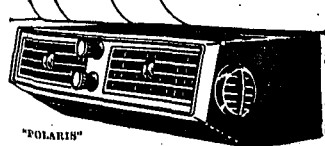

With this kind of a theme, the parade can include old cars, horses, floats, individuals and what-have-you. Intermixed with this will be some of the tradi-

"FORGET THE low job, I've found the crank," says Ormond Smith as he tries to get his old "Wolverine" running to enter it in a parade which will be held in Buhl, July 4. Members of the Buhl Jaycees are planning a combination Centennial-Fourth of July celebration and there will be plenty of old cars and horses in the parade in addition to many floats and bands. Frank Rippee, left, Jaycee president, and Jack Jardine give Smith an assist to get his old car in condition to qualify for entry in the parade. The crank did the trick for Smith. (Times-News photo)

"Darn Poor Planning" Is Blamed for School Fund Cut

BOISE, June 22 (UP)—The superintendent of public instruction blamed "darn poor planning" for a school district's failure to pass a sales tax. A special firework display will be shot off at the Buhl high school football field at sundown and a dance at the American Legion hall will conclude the day's activities.

As this is the Centennial year, Magic Valley residents are asked to wear western or pioneer clothing to the celebration. Shaving permits will be sold by the Jaycees.

Special rides for children will be held during the day. A highlight of the kiddie rides will be rides offered behind a Samoid dog team.

According to Rippee, the Buhl Jaycees are being assisted by other civic clubs in Buhl in sponsoring the activities.

"We feel that we are offering a full day of fun and activity for Magic Valley residents. We hope we have planned a variety of events to interest all residents. By combining the Centennial theme and the Fourth of July it is hoped that the celebration at Buhl will prove to be the best in the county," said Rippee.

Chartered Airliner First to Land at Jackpot; Airport Is Paved, Lighted

JACKPOT, June 22—This Nevada resort's 5,300-foot one-runway airport stood the test recently when a tour plane landed after a trip from California and became the first airliner to land here. The plane, a DC-3, was piloted by George Wesley Scott, a former resident of Twin Falls and now operator of a flying service at Oakland, Calif. A brother of the pilot, Don Brown Bombers vs. Willy Drug Wildcats, 1:30 p.m., all on diamond 8.

AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

By ELDER IVAN O. MONTGOMERY
Reorganized LDS Church
And he saith unto them, follow me, and I will make you fishers of men. Matt. 4:19.
No man who has come to know Jesus Christ—whose life has been touched by the love and compassion of Jesus—can fail to see truly that Christ is the creator and the redeemer of all mankind—can rest easy in his knowledge.
It is a pity when "joining" the church comes to be thought of in the same terms as joining a fraternal organization, and numbers become our primary concern. If becoming a Christian were nothing more than joining an organization it would be so easy to organize a large-scale, high-powered membership campaign and bring in new members by the thousands. But becoming a disciple of the Master is not so much a matter of joining as of being born again. It is not so much a matter of accepting a new system of beliefs as of becoming a new person transformed by response to the outpouring of God's love through Christ and through Christ's church. To do less is to gain a convert, but to fail in making a disciple.
The Christian is one who comes to see and to live in a new dimension. He lives under the awareness of God's great love from which he cannot be separated, and his awareness gives him new strength and new confidence. He senses man's eternal brotherhood and the realization compels him to a life of sacrifice. He senses man's eternal brotherhood and the realization compels him to a life of sacrifice. He senses man's eternal brotherhood and the realization compels him to a life of sacrifice.

Idaho Retailers Are Cautioned On Closing Law

POCATELLO, June 22 (AP)—The executive director of the Idaho Retailers association told members here today they must be prepared to be ineffective on other legislation. "If you vote to go for it, I'll do it the way on it," said Tim Brennan, "but it hurts our effectiveness on other things. It's the sort of legislation on which we can anticipate that the rest of our legislative aims will be dead."
Brennan, who acts as lobbyist for the statewide organization of retail merchants, carried out the organization's decision to push for the Sunday closing law in the 1953 legislature.

That's what our records show. On the average, our residential customers have increased their use of kilowatt hours by about 50 per cent in the past 10 years. It's a good measure of improved living standards.

Families usually live better with passing years—better housing, better clothes, a better car and an increasing number of household appliances to save labor, to provide comfort and convenience. There are also improvements in living standards from one generation to the next; today's young married couples often start housekeeping with a variety of equipment their parents took years to achieve for themselves. It adds up to generally better living for the typical family from one year to the next.

Electricity and the appliances it operates are a large part of better living. They do the chores around the house to save your time, your health, your labor—even to provide entertainment.

Best of all, the cost of living electrically is modest when you come to think about it. Few homes spend more than 2 or 3 pennies out of the family income dollar for the total of their present-day higher electrical standard of living. That's a bargain!

Fish and Game Department Conducts Wildlife Tours for Outdoor Groups

BY JIM HUMBIRD
Idaho fish and game department BOISE, June 22 — Over the years, the Idaho fish and game department has organized and conducted "show me" tours for sportsmen's groups and personnel from cooperating agencies such as the forest service, the bureau of land management, and the fish and wildlife service, among others.

"This understandably cannot be the case of everybody because the facilities are limited, distances are great and many regions are remote. Many Idahoans and visitors to the state supplement the work of the department in this respect by making their own 'show me' trips. They do a little fly fishing, while-walking fishing or just plain hiking to get back away from roads and have a look at big game and range conditions and, incidentally, to try a little fishing."

A case in point is a joint venture by the Idaho County Free Press at Grangeville. It is signed by Carroll E. Thomas, San Francisco. He writes:

"Elk, deer and bear everywhere! On April 24 of this year Prof. John Hilly, University of California, and I made a trip to my ranch on the Salmon river just above Mackay bar. We were surprised to make this annual spring trip to see the big game on the Salmon river after reading the many articles published since the paper since December, 1962, about the elk and deer herds that have moved out and been killed off."

The contrary, our pilot flew us down the south fork of the Salmon river and we circled the country from Sheep Creek to Lemhi and counted over 500 elk in herds of 30 or 40 scattered over this area.

"Five and six years ago we found two and three herds of elk over 100 in the same area, but no more than we saw this spring. This observation proved one thing to us—that the late hunt is scattering the large herds and is good sound management against past heavy winter kills. From Ludwig rapidly to dried meat rinds we counted 180 mule deer, nine whitetailed deer, five mountain sheep and 11 bear in one day."

"To me, Idaho would be wonderful without big game, but with it, to anyone liking the 'great get-out-door' it is a paradise. And I am sure your readers will

Idaho Potato Protection Urged Again

SUN VALLEY, June 22 — The executive manager of the Idaho Growers Shippers association called again today for a labeling program to protect the Idaho potato industry from fraud.

Edd Moore, in Sun Valley to attend the association's annual convention, said the potato "being counterfeited on the grocery counters of this country."

"The housewife is buying large potatoes, flatterly mislabeled Idaho, that when baked will be watery rather than have the light, fluffy, dry quality of a genuine Idaho potato."

"A program for labeling or marking will have to be undertaken to protect the housewife, as well as the diner ordering Idaho potatoes in hotel dining rooms."

Moore said an example of fraudulent labeling can be found in a display at convention headquarters in which seven varieties of potatoes are exhibited.

From their exterior appearance, he said, not even members of the association can pick out the genuine Idaho potato "from inferior varieties grown in other states."

"In fact, in the group, is one display of red potatoes found in the commissary of a large hotel and bought as Idaho potatoes, although red potatoes are not grown in Idaho," he said.

Alan T. Raina, executive vice president of the United Fruit and Vegetable association in Washington, D. C., predicted substantial progress soon in developing trade practice rules.

Raina, speaking at a convention session, noted that negotiations on such rules between the federal trade commission and the industry were suspended several months ago.

"While this delay was regrettable," he said, "we recognize that clarification of issues was imperative before comprehensive and helpful guide lines could be provided for the fruit and vegetable industry."

"There is every reason to be hopeful that substantial progress will be made within reasonable time," he added. "The assurance that would be available through trade practice rules can only be achieved by the industry and facilitating sales."

MAKING SURE equipment is in order for an expected lively fire season is District Ranger Ralph C. Claco. Sawtooth valley ranger station, and Mrs. Sandy (Hosie) Brooks, clerk and fire dispatcher. The Sawtooth radio is farthest away in a network which blankets the various divisions of the Sawtooth national forest. Walkie-talkie radios carried by those on the fire line feed information and requests to the Sawtooth station, which, in turn, relays to Hallett and Twin Falls. Forest officials look for a relatively light fire year in the northern area but a "lunder box" in the south hills near Twin Falls. (Times-News photo)

Short Fire Season Expected in North Area; South Hills Seen as Hot Spot

To ensure that rangers, officials and fire fighters can hear each other, regardless of where they are, certain precautions have been taken for the fire season this year.

On top of old Bald mountain (Baldy to skiers and Wood river residents) sets a relay station which permits those who talk over the airways to be heard practically anywhere in the far-flung Sawtooth forest area.

And just to make sure that atmospheric conditions do not bring up conditions that spoil these plans, other booster outfits are, or will be, in use. There will be the manual relay on Mt. Harrison and another on Iron mountain, northwest of Fairfield.

With these relays and boosters in operation, it will be impossible for any forest service worker to speak into a broadcasting unit—whether fixed or mobile—and not be heard by someone.

Speed is essential when forest fires break out. It takes from 120 to 140 years to grow a tree from a seedling in a marketable tree. It takes but a few minutes to burn it up.

In most instances, lightning is expected to ignite what fires there will be in north and practically all those expected in the south hills.

There still will be a number of careless campers who apparently have no regard for the heritage nature gives. Westerners. This camper, forest officials declare, will be dealt with when caught. But with lightning, it is different. It cannot be stopped, only fought. All efforts this year are being shaped for the expected battle in the south.

"Cooperation of everyone is asked," Sey said. "Campers should be extremely careful. All fires should be out and smothered before smoke only where it is safe."

"Last year, as forest fires go, we had a minimum of damage in the northern sector. We were lucky. We think we will be lucky again up north, but are looking forward to a battle in the south hills."

"We hope it will not be necessary, but if conditions get really bad we will have to keep all people out of the section. Even if you do not plan to start a forest fire, you may never get out if you are in a tinder dry area when one gets underway."

"Right now, all our equipment

SEATTLE, June 24 — Cornes transplants apparently are successful for two men patients here from the eyes of Joseph Chester Self, who was hanged at the state prison at Walla-Walla, Saturday.

Self, 38, convicted slayer, was executed shortly after midnight. By 8 a.m. the cornes had been transplanted to cataract-stricken eyes here, one to a man 37 and the other to a man 23 years old.

Self had killed his eyes to the Providence hospital eye bank.

Going Away to COLLEGE IS GREAT!

... if you have a money tree!

Let's Cut the High Cost of Higher Education With a Twin Falls County

JUNIOR COLLEGE

BETTER figure on $2,000 to $3,000 a year if that student of yours doesn't live at home during college.

BETTER figure on a good, solid B-plus average to get into a college away from home.*

It's difficult now to obtain acceptance by a college, but it will be twice as hard two years from now. There were nearly double the number of children born in 1947 (today's sophomores) as in 1945 (today's seniors).

There were 540 High School seniors graduated in Twin Falls County this year ... but there were 918 sophomores registered. We have a population explosion, too!

... Not everyone wants to go to college ... not everyone is suited; but everyone needs vocational schooling. It is planned that Twin Falls County Junior College will include vocational training in the trades.

Areas with a Junior College grow and prosper. Industry avoids locations not having local higher education facilities.

*The state supported colleges of Idaho must accept all Idaho High School Graduates ... but they don't guarantee to keep the students in school.

X VOTE YES on JUNE 23,

TO ESTABLISH A TWIN FALLS COUNTY DISTRICT
JUNIOR COLLEGE! LET'S TRAIN AND EDUCATE
OUR YOUNG FOLKS CLOSE TO HOME ... It's Cheaper that way.

You DO NOT have to own property
owner to vote!

If you do not own property in Twin Falls County, but do have children living with you under the age of 21, you are entitled to vote for the Junior College.

If you do own property in Twin Falls County, you are entitled to vote for the Junior College whether you have children under 21 at home or not.

You must be a resident of Idaho and Twin Falls County for six months and a citizen of the United States.

NO REGISTRATION PRIOR TO JUNE 28 IS NECESSARY!

This Advertisement Sponsored By:

THE TWIN FALLS BUSINESSMEN

VOTING PLACES:

Martinsburg high school, Kimberly high school, Hansen high school, Plier junior high school, Hollister school, Blich and Boone warehouse, Castleford, Andy and Hot's Motor company, Buhl, Polling places in Twin Falls will be Rickel school, Lincoln school and Washington school. Polls open from 1:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m.

THE NUT BRO'S
CHES & WAL

GREER TRY YOU WANT ALWAYS BE JUNIOR CLERK IN A LITTLE OFFICE FOR YEARS?

YOU'RE RIGHT - I'VE FIRED!

IT'S A RECK OF A STATE! OH, I DON'T KNOW ANY MORE! I'VE READ THAT SOME ARE WHOLELY EATEN MORE THAN CONSCIENCEMENT!

6-23

YOU'LL HAVE TO CHANGE BEFORE YOU GET TO DENVER!

OH MY GOSH! I ONLY BROUGHT ONE OTHER SUIT!

HOPE WE'RE ON OUR TRAIL!

6-23

BUT I ENCLOSED A FILE IN THAT LAST PIECE OF GARBAGE I SENT YOU!

THAT'S YOUR DARN PASTRY! I DIDN'T NOTICE IT!

YOU DON'T NEED TO PAY ME ADVANCE!

OH, I'M JUST COUNTING ON MY FINGERS! YOU GIVE ME THE GAS!

6-23

OUR BOARDING HOUSE
WITH MAJOR HOOPLE

WHAT A BRILLIANT SUNSET THAT WAS LAST EVENING! I MUST GET IT DOWN ON MY PAINTING WHILE IT'S STILL FRESH IN MY MIND'S EYE!

6-23

I'M GLAD TO SEE YOU ARE IN A PAINTING MOOD - I HAVE JUST THE JOB FOR YOU!

BUT, MARTHA, MY LOVE, I'M RIGHT IN THE MIDDLE OF...

6-23

YOU HEARD ME, REMBRANDT? OR IS IT MICHELANGELO? I'D A LOT HARDER PAINT! I WANT TO PAINT THE SCREENS SINCE THE FIRST OF YOU'RE DOING RIGHT NOW, SO I'VE TAKEN AWAY FROM BASEL!

DRAT!

THE PAINT IS IN THE CELLAR. THE SCREENS ARE OUT NEXT TO THE GARAGE! GET MOVING!

I KNOW WHAT I'D LIKE TO SAY - BUT I DON'T LIKE NEXT TO THE GARAGE! THAT ROLLING PIN!

6-23

HMM - A NEW BRAND OF PAINT! AND A FULL GALLON! MARTHA MUST HAVE OTHER PAINTING JOBS IN MIND FOR THE FUTURE?

6-23

WHY THE BIG SCOWL, MAJOR? I DID A LOT HARDER PAINT! I WANT TO PAINT THE SCREENS SINCE THE FIRST OF YOU'RE DOING RIGHT NOW, SO I'VE TAKEN AWAY FROM BASEL!

6-23

REALLY, BUSTER? TELL ME, IF I CAN PROVE RIGHT NOW THAT THIS IS A HARDER PAINT JOB, WILL YOU FINISH THE SCREENS? IF I CAN'T, I'LL BUY YOU A CARBON OF YOUR FAVORITE COAGETS!

YOU'VE MADE A DEAL!

6-23

USE HARDER PAINT LASTS LONGER YOUR WORK WILL LAST!

6-23

NOT SO FAST! WE WERE TALKING ABOUT HARD WORK - WORK! I'M NOT STANDING STILL FOR A SWINDLE LIKE THAT!

COME NOW BUSTER! IT WAS YOU WHO INSISTED YOU HAD COMPLETED A HARDER PAINT JOB! THE CHOICE OF WORDS WAS YOURS! I'LL TELL THE OTHER BOARDERS HOW THAT ONE WENT ON A BET!

TALK ABOUT BEING CROSSED!

REMEMBER MY PORTLY FRIEND, IT WAS YOUR BRAGGING THAT LED TO THE WATER! YOU SHOULD KNOW BETTER THAN TO MATCH WITS WITH A HOOPLE!

ESAD! I MUST WRITE THE HARDER PAINT PEOPLE ABOUT THE LABOR SAVING QUALITIES OF THEIR PRODUCT - MEN-HO!

6-23

WOULD YOU KNOW HOW THE OLD FRAUD DID IT, BUT AT LEAST THE SCREENS ARE BEING PAINTED!

Captain EASY

by LEE & TRICE

2:00 A.M. EASY AND MCKEE ARE SPENDING THE NIGHT IN A SUPPOSEDLY HAUNTED HOUSE...

SOUNDED LIKE CANNON FIRE, MR. MCKEE... AND YET IT CAME FROM THIS HOUSE!

6-23

THERE IT GOES AGAIN, EASY... MORE CANNONADING! THE HOUSE IS SHAKING!

BLAZES! MR. MCKEE, IT'S LIKE THE SOUND TRACK FROM A CIVIL WAR FILM!

BOOM! BOOM! BOOM! BOOM! BOOM! BOOM!

6-23

IT'S 2:00 A.M. NOBODY WOULD BE BLASTING TREE STUMPS OR CLEARING ROADS AT THIS HOUR!

6-23

NO! BESIDES, WE HEARD MUSKETRY AND GALLOPING HORSES!

MY STARS! PERHAPS THE HOUSE IS HAUNTED AS KALLIMAK CLAIMS!

6-23

I DOUBT IT, SUH! AND YET WE DID SEARCH THE HOUSE FOR HIDDEN GIMMICKS!

LET'S TRY TO SLEEP AGAIN AND SEE WHAT HAPPENS!

IN A CONCEALED WINE CELLAR OF THE CENTURY-OLD HOUSE, BUSTER MANKAK AWAKENS FOR A FEW MOMENTS...

STILL THOIST... ONE MORE SWALLER FROM DIS FERGOTTEN OLE BOTTLE AN' I'LL DREAM TILL MORNIN'...

6-23

BUT NOW, BUSTER'S STRANGE TELEPATHIC DREAMS ARE ABOUT TO INCREASE IN THEIR INTENSITY...

FOIST, I'LL READ DA LAST FEW PAGES OF DIS CIVIL WAR BOOK WHAT POP LEFT WIT ME...

WE IS NOW AT DA SURRENDER AT APPLE-MAH-OK...

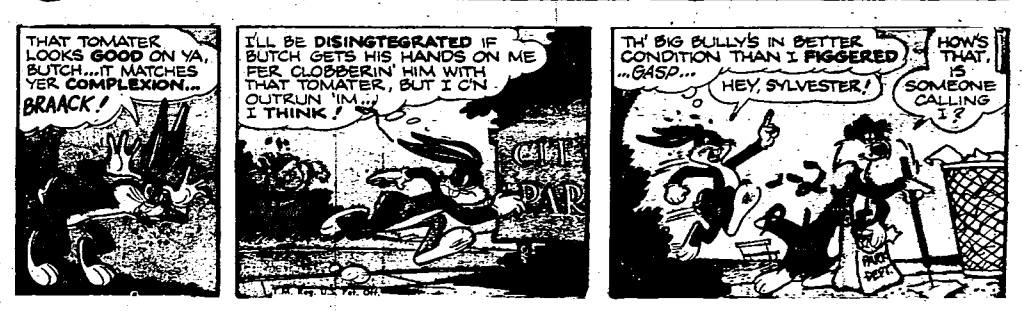

6-23

GENRUL GRANT, ME NAME IS LEE, AN' I OFFERS YAM SWORD! US REBS HAS HAD IT...

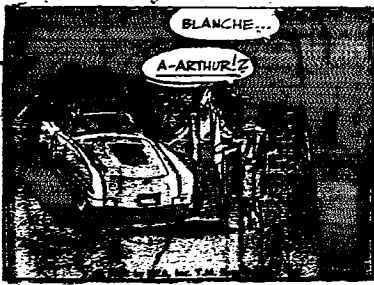

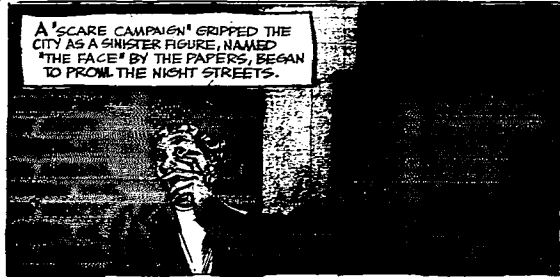

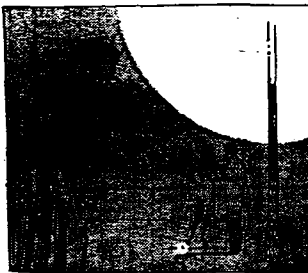

DUH-H-H... TANKS, LEE, BUT KEEP YER KNIFE... AN' US YANKS HAS HAD IT, TOO!

MR. MCKEE, THOSE VOICES SOUND FAMILIAR!
