NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

BY ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON, July 2—So far as the Cuban situation is concerned, the country is in touch with the Kremlin, but both the Soviets and the imagination to deal with it, and the administration has been asked to do the same. In the Red Square, the Russians have debated in a school for retarded children.

—After his apparent victory over Khrushchev, last fall, Kennedy has slipped back into the practice of trying not to think about Fidel Castro. As a result, good relations with the Russians have been removed from the agenda of the Kremlin's children.

—With no evidence to the contrary, it's a good bet that the Kremlin has chosen to ignore the economic and the military policies of Soviet Cuba.

—There's a scarcely expressed suspicion among congressmen and senators that some representative or senator isn't sounding off somewhere besides the nation's capital. Nature is its "official business."

—It would be interesting to keep a scorecard on each member of congress, tallying the days during each session he manages to be someplace else, including his own district.

—During the current week of vacation for congress, it's a good bet most representatives and senators are back home, patching up holes in political fences.

—It may not be an election year, but mind a member of congress qualifies for the "former" title by not keeping his fences mended all the time.

—Meanwhile, the latest GOP plan—Meanwhile, the latest GOP proposal comes from Senator Alton C. T. Hartman, who seems to possess some intelligence. Hartman wants the United States to set up a Cuban provisional government at our Guantanamo base, and then, with the help of Senator George W. Martindale, Senator Mundt and Morton know better, of course.

—Any such lame-brained project would violate the treaty under which the U.S. occupied the base, and would give Castro and Nikita Khrushchev the excuse they need to bring the entire state, specifically that Guantanamo, into their orbit.

—Guantanamo should be used merely as a coaling and naval station, and under the circumstances we're lucky to have the place. But the GOP's new right of ideas, it seems willing to endorse any measure.

—THE TULLY PLAN—Nevertheless, this responsibility is Khrushchev's, and should not be let off the hook. The country must be bombarded with propaganda about the superior gray master of his political intellect, and it would seem that the time has come for the Senate to act.

—Senators Mundt and Ted Sorenson came up with something. Secretary of State Dean Rusk apparently is along just for the ride, so he can be excused.

—It's interesting that Uncle Sam has not even tried to arrange the simplest solution of all. This is a complete economic, diplomatic and social embargo of Castro's Cuba, but every country, except the United States, is that country's peddler, to the north, Canada, above, such a program would prevent Castro from exporting his subversion to his neighbor.

—Meanwhile, the various sides, employees and personnel employed in Washington may be catching a breather back in the capital, but it's scarcely more than that. Just because members of congress vacated the capital for a week doesn't mean all the offices shut down completely.

—If there's any sympathy to be shown, it should be for all the nameless personnel in Washington who have to go right-on-working so long as congress is officially in session, vacation, or no vacation. And Washington during July isn't the place most people would choose to go right on working.

—WILL IT CUT COSTS?—

Most of Magic Valley took the phone company change to numbers pretty much in stride, although here and there a phone pattern still sticks to the Redwood prefix—instead of 750, there were some movement or uprising like the number bimbling along in other regions. Now comes the postal with the ZIP (come improvement program) numbers to add to the ever-growing list of numbers an individual is compelled to memorize.

Again, Magic Valley probably will take the change in stride, although the phone company in the San Francisco area may welcome the post office numbers to share some of the pressure.

Right at the start, the post office department points out those ZIP numbers won't mean much for an indefinite period in the future. Which means your letters will be delivered just as quickly if they don't have any numbers. You're supposed to get in the habit of using the ZIP code in preparation for the day when all the sorting will be done by machines.

Some writers may have been carried away on the post office department is pulling folks' legs because a Sunday story in the Times-News said when machines take over the sorting task, "air-mail" small deliveries (will be made) as fast as airmail is now, and there will be a corresponding increase in the speed of airmail." So we're being asked to believe that a letter sorted by machine will be able to make the trip across the nation by rail as fast as planes go now. Perhaps what the writer and/or postal department meant to say was that straight mail would be sorted in post offices just as fast as airmail is sorted now.

One big question must come to the mind of every tax-conscious citizen of the U.S. mails. The question has been curbed by rail delivery after year: When the ZIP code is being used fully and mail is sorted everywhere mechanically, what are the possibilities for savings?

Because of the way civil-service works, it's unlikely anyone will be out of a job, but what are the eventual possibilities?

—CLEARING THE AIR—

—Only good can come from the Jerome meeting over the right-of-way for the interstate highway from Jerome to U.S. highway 93. It's encouraging to see highway department officials present for the session and land owners must feel better over the situation even though there's no general sharpening of pencils.

—Whenever there's a dispute, such as the one involving the Jerome area farmers, it never hurts to sit down and talk things over. A general discussion, with a little give and take on both sides, can clear the atmosphere a good deal.

—Wide-spread interest in the case is obvious. Although only 16 land owners were invited, more than 40 persons were on hand for the meeting.

—When appraisers finally get down to talking prices, there's bound to be a better atmosphere than existed in the first round.

—SCIENTISTS AT WORK?—

—This is the question for those scientists involved in project "Mountain," but not all of our scientists are interested in getting the moon before the Russians.

—A University of Wisconsin scientist, for example, has discovered that certain Antarctic penguins walk many miles back home to nesting colonies in a remarkably straight line, but only when the sun is high in the sky.

—The second scientist who has worked out a way to shuffle a deck of cards fairly. Their machines shuffle the pack, deal the cards, and record what's in the hands; then they repeat an identical process, bridge tournaments Thirty-two hands total.

—But we think the most highly occupied scientists are the biologists who have always been a cutting edge in the science trade, and that's the first major adoption of the space probe to be the last—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

—THE MACMILLAN LOOK—

Prime Minister Macmillan's appearance in a magazine photograph with both knees of his trousers patched is, we believe, unduly agitating the British tailoring industry. For, as we all know, Britain is a member of it for some years, we see no firm foundation for alarm. Britons make now hasten in mass to patch on their trouser knees. In fact, quite the reverse.

—Electrons will, in all probability, sometime take over the control of the internal combustion engine, but, caution should be the watchword, because the man who controls the traffic computer will be on the news wires, had another item reported that a careless clerk had been in a pile of a bus accident.

—Even a $200,000 computer requires "programming" by man and limited operation by an attendant. That's always the catch: the human element.

—The second, most men abhor patches on their clothes, and the limited number who like them at all go for them on the shelves of sportswear stores have, as a result, a market.

—The third, and most surely a personal if not unique idiosyncrasy of the prime minister in a world of men who are, as our own President Kennedy is, the embodiment of style.

Pot Shots:

That was a very funny letter written by "N.O. Env." who looks like a deep green from work.

What's wrong with a wife working? Lots of us have to because of the miserly attitude of a certain group of citizens. Then some of us want to work simply because we get tired of sitting at home looking at four walls.

And, Mrs. Env., I am amazed you didn't anyone try to play fun at working wives.

—You no longer impatiently bawl your wife about why she's not ready—Instead, you take a nap.

There Must Be Something Better!

COVERING THE CAPITAL WITH PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON, July 2 (NEA)—New York City's experience with integration continues all over New York. They are cultural islands. They are not ghettos, because the people who live there want to foster and achieve integration.

New York is the most polyglot city in the world with a population of eight million.

It has Jewish, Negro, Puerto Rican, many European immigrants living in Harlem where their patients, clients and customers live. They don't want to move.

What is in this light, integration may not cause the complete revolution—in living standards—many people are in favor of integrated education.

The problem is how to accelerate the subject, to make it more palatable, to make it more acceptable.

One thing that has to be done is to give Negroes a chance to teach teaching, until the time comes special tutoring. It means more exposure to culture. It means smaller classes.

Marrow: "That means more money. New York City demanded that cutting average class size by one child and giving extra aids for just two years might cost a third more per child."

Most states are local units.

It is therefore considered likely that any moves toward faster school integration will not increase the amount of federal aid to the state for public school education.

Another likely development is that colored families moved into integrated housing developments.

Says Marrow: "What had been solidly white apartments soon became solidly Negro or Puerto Rican. The idea of a Negro family moving into a white family's apartment is considered a model school integration plan. The while family moved. They were afraid to force mixing, but this was rejected by the minority group, which didn't want mixing."

"Don't confuse what can be done by law," warns Marrow in conclusion, "with what can't be done by law."

People of the same ethnic background like to live near each other, explains Marrow.

And the bonds become weak through lack of ability to retain calcium. As a result, they may collapse.

More than half of the victims of the disease are children. The pituitary gland is usually present, but the pineal gland is usually absent, and not the cause of the disease.

Since some of the tumors of the pituitary gland are malignant, while others are not, it would be more correct to say that type of tumor.

cause of the hypertension of the disease is the hyperactivity caused by the disease.

Surgical removal of the adenoma is the recommended treatment, but it is difficult.

But often it is hard to pin-point the element in the tumor that is responsible.

Dust is a combination of numerous microorganisms, dust mites from both outdoors and indoors.

It is a disorder of the respiratory system.

We will, at every step in the process, seek the fullest possible collaboration and support of the American Community in continuing our efforts to combat this disease.

—We will, at the same time, continue the policy of increasing armed forces.

These men, in increasing numbers, are the backbone of our national defense.

We will provide a reservoir of military skills upon which the administration can draw as it moves forward in its course toward ultimate liberation.

Without such an objective, without such a force, and to lead them, our present training program has no real meaning.

We will, in our ultimate policy, offer the use of Guantanamo, while retaining our full treaty rights and perpetuating our neutrality.

But, if later, we find that our position is considered unacceptable, we will utterly reject the notion of offering this key base as a pawn in some future negotiations.

We will, at every step in the process, seek the fullest possible collaboration and support of the American Community in recognizing an interim government, in branding the Castro communists as the enemies of the Cuban people.

We will thus establish an interim government, in the name of Cuban Communists, to represent the Cuban people.

We will, in our ultimate policy, offer the use of Guantanamo, while retaining our full treaty rights and perpetuating our neutrality.

Having proclaimed Cuban liberation as the core of our policy, Senator Alford added we must make use of our Guantanamo base to complete the mission of the Cuban revolution.

He said that the Cuban revolution had been established at the Bay of Pigs in establishment of a free-Cuban army.

But, with or without such collaboration, this nation will honor its pledge with every nation.

Are You Ingenious?

By WILLIAM BERNARD and JULIA LEOPOLD

Maybe there is nothing new under the sun. But new ways of combining and utilizing existing objects or concepts have the architect, engineer, scientist, inventor and artist in business. To make new shapes out of old, to create new ideas by altering, to invent new shapes out of old and blending old ones into new first of all an analysis—a breakdown into parts, form and properties. This is followed by a synthesis—putting together these fractions into a whole with altered characteristics.

The analysis-synthesis approach is common among creative thinkers.

This test is perhaps the most difficult in the series. A high aptitude tends to indicate aptitude for pursuing scientific creativity, especially that which is the author of intelligence implied in a spirit of special relationships but not necessarily involving verbal skills.

DIRECTIONS—In each of the ten problems, the separate pieces can be put together to form the figure in the shade. Draw freehand lines on the large figure to indicate how it could be made up of the pieces. You may measure the pieces.

PALMER CARDS 67 TO WIN OPEN PLAYOFF

Champion Shoots Five Birdies to Top Lema, Aaron

CLEVELAND, July 2 (AP) — Arnold Palmer, golfer's golfer, has five birdies to win a three-way playoff for the Cleveland Open title. The first prize of $22,000 and a one-year money-won record of $85,646, Palmer shot a four-under-par 67 and record of 228—8-hole playoff.

Phils Split Double Bill With Pirates

PHILADELPHIA, July 2 (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies, aided by three Pittsburgh errors, beat around for a 2-1 win over the Pirates, who won the second game of a twin-night doubleheader 8-1. The Pirates won the openers 2-1 on Bill Virdon's hit in the ninth inning.

Virdon's hit scored Ron Brand, who ran for Jim Fregosi, who had been pulled from the game pitching due to a sore shoulder. The hit gave impetus to the Phillies' six-run burst.
