ROME, July 15 (UPI)— Italy's Mao-line communist party, the largest in the free world, has its troubles. Now with a maverick "left Mao" group.

The party's secretary was meeting today to decide with the pro-Chinese group whether in its loyalty to Mao Tse-tung in the conflict with Chinese communism.

Supporters of the Chinese line have been publishing Maoists in their papers, passing out Peking-line literature in Italy in recent days.

"They form a minority," says one pro-Maoist who has been expelled from the Italian communist party. "The Italian communists are worried that they will be split by any activity that demands to indicate a division in their ranks."

The pro-Maoists also are expected to crack down on the anti-Chinese group when it meets

Thursday.

Morse Urges Development of Middle Snake

CASCADE LOCKS, Ore., July 15 (UPI)— Sen. Wayne Morse, D. Ore., wants the federal government to develop the middle stretch of the Snake River to build the Inter-state between the Northwest and Southwest.

He spoke at a dinner marking the 25th anniversary of the first use of Bonneville dam power at Cascade Locks.

"Somebody is going to build an inter-state between the Northwest and Southwest. It is too good a deal to pass up. Any inter-state, like the Bonneville's financial support, is the first step in construction is the best bet for keeping our power rates down," he said.

Auto Rolls

BURLEY, July 15— Ernest B. Ramirez, 31, Burley, rolled his car over the side of a bridge and one-half miles east of Declo U.S. highway 30 south. Ramirez ran off the oil onto the shoulder of the road and, still on the road, traveled down the shoulder of the road about 240 feet, lost control and turned the car over. He died in the bone-pit. The car had broken and top damage of 4500.

(Editorial note: Political strategists say Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's black and white right to stay the New Yorker's motives, however, are political water, analysis of the governor's policies in New Jersey—in the following article.)

BY JACK PHIL

WASHINGTON, July 16 (UPI)— Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's formerly excellent chances of getting re-elected were votes at the 1964 GOP convention, he said, dissolving in a trend toward an unstructured delegation.

New Jersey Republicans traditionally have been conservative, but Rockefellers' record as a moderate mother of four children did not impress them. They would swing to the New Yorker if he chose to run again. Now, though, they will support him, even if he does not seek nomination.

Rockefeller's "moderate" record, however, has been criticized sharply for his remarriage.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R., of Gloucester, said, "I don't think Rockefeller is the only serious contender for the nomination, and that he could have no difficulty in becoming the nominee if he chose himself, security to serving cautiously that the governor has damaged himself politically."

The evident disengagement of New Jersey Republicans appears to be just part of a pattern of collapsing strength among the nation's industrial state governors. Rockefeller had expected to form the foundation for his nomination.

Rockefeller's week-end thundering at the Republican right was interpreted as aimed at halting the trend toward disengaging himself as the candidate of the heavy electoral vote states.

In his blast, Rockefeller said he was "not interested" in running. Gov. George E. Pataki, R., of New York, Gen. Gary Goldwater, R., Ariz., is trying to win the presidency with Southern and Western electoral support.

United Nations officials said the New York delegation would not only defeat the Republican party in 1964 but would sweep the country together.

Monday night at Moosejaw, N.Y., Rockefeller said he was concerned that Goldwater might become the captive on the executive branch of the 1964 campaign. And, he added, it "should be" the greatest possible concern to Barry himself.

Rockefeller's respect for Barry's patriotism and dedication to political life made him an important friend of mine," Rockefeller said. "I am question-and-answer session followed by a speech to the New York State Society of Newspaper Editors.

But, Rockefeller said the immediate problem is the Yemen civil war.

Observers in Najran, Saudi Arabia are checking Saudi and royalist Yemeni charges that the Republians dropped poison gas bombs on a village in Yemeni royalist territory.

Soft Whiskey is hard liquor that isn't hard."

It doesn't have a "hard" edge to sting-bite-burn you on the way down. Incidentally, one of the ways we make it Soft is by doing some of our distilling in small batches instead of large ones. (To protect all our hard work, we can't tell you the other ways.)

Make no mistake about it, Calvert Extra is as whiskey a whiskey as any whiskey you can buy. It does anything "hard" liquor can do. But it does softer.

Soft Whiskey swallows easy, with warmth, not heat. In mixed drinks, it doesn't fight the mixer. It blends smoothly, but doesn't lose itself. Even melting rocks can't cut the richness of its flavor. (You might call 86 proof Calvert Extra the ideal whiskey.)

Distillers have been pipe dreaming Soft Whiskey for years. But until recently nobody's been able to produce it. Down at our Louisville distillery alone, there were more than 22,000 unsuccessful Soft Whiskey experiments. (As you can see, anyone else who tries to reproduce Soft Whiskey has his work cut out for him. Lots of luck.)

Before you sample Calvert Extra, the Soft Whiskey, there's something you ought to keep in mind: you may never touch another drop of "hard" liquor again.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON, July 16—As the United States and Great Britain signed a nuclear test ban agreement in Moscow yesterday, diplomatic circles here were trying not to seem too hopeful.

From President Kennedy on down, everybody wanted to be optimistic about the prospects of a test ban. But it's quite late. The past has taught them that when the Kremlin signs it often merely to set up the stage for a new round of negotiations. And they would like to believe Nikita Khrushchev when he says that this time, it means business.

Khrushchev has said that he wants a ban on atmospheric and underwater tests, while excluding underground tests. But as predicted in this paper a few weeks ago, he has come up with the partial Russian version of a test ban agreement between NATO and the Warsaw treaty bloc, which could be the monkey wrench in the deal.

WILL MR. K. DEMAND FINE PRINT?—It all depends, of course, on how Khrushchev's East Berlin speech is read. After proposing the partial test ban, he added that "at the conclusion of our talks" the two sides would "have to sign a test ban to international tension. Some Russian experts say this means Mr. K. will demand some fine print in the test ban agreement to keep him from being manipulated. One can only hope that he hoped the West would sign such a pact AFTER an agreement had been reached on a test ban.

Sen. Ward L. Simpson, speaking on the third anniversary of Wyoming's statehood, called "an unprecedented and determined campaign of vilification and defamation aimed at painting my state as an irresponsible government manipulated by external forces" of some extremist bent." He said columnist Marquis Childs had written that the John Birch Society had gained control of the Wyoming legislature.

Whenever there are charges involving extremism in politics, it's always best to examine the source carefully. Columnist Marquis Childs has a marked reputation as a liberal writer.

It's common procedure for liberals to paint more conservative persons as right-wingers, just as those who are conservative in their outlook are prone to tag liberals as anything from left-wingers to communists. In short, both are given to exaggeration in their criticism of the opposition. And, of course, neither is right.

There's a chance the Intermountain states are the target for a campaign designed to have an influence on presidential nominations next year. Only the other day, California's Democratic Senator Engle fired a broadside at the general area and warned that right extremists, planned to concentrate on the area because "a few votes" away in an election could give control of a sparsely populated state. The strategy could be to discredit the Intermountain states as a haven for extremists from the right. With the proper buildup, the Intermountain area could be discredited in a drive to prevent the nomination of Sen. Barry Goldwater.

If this line of reasoning seems a bit far-fetched, perhaps someone else could come up with a better motive for all the talk about right extremists controlling state governments of the Intermountain states. If it appeared this region was in the process of generating support for Senator Goldwater, what better means would there be to discredit that support?

Also, it's well to keep in mind that many citizens today believe Senator Goldwater is the only candidate in sight who would have a chance of defeating President Kennedy. Certainly it couldn't be done by such a "me-too" candidate as Gov. Nelson Rockefeller. When there appears little difference between two candidates, voters are likely to stick with the one in office, regarding the challenger as an unknown quantity. The Kennedy family would relish Governor Rockefeller as an opponent.

Even as Senator Simpson was assuring the Intermountain states were having a strategy session at Twin Falls, among the guests were John A. Bailey, national Democratic party chairman; Stephen Smith, brother-in-law of President Kennedy, and Hy Rankin, western regional party representative. One sentence from an Associated Press report is quite significant: "The touring Democratic officials indicated they are on the current tour to offset any Goldwater trend."

There you have it. The Kennedy clan, which includes a fine collection of astute politicians, isn't going to wait until the Republicans have nominated a candidate. Every trick possible will be used to try to influence Republicans in their choice.

If there is any more loose talk about right-wingers winning control of the Intermountain states, just remember Senator Simpson's answer, that Wyoming is controlled only by elected citizens.

No Extremes

Idahoans might have a little interest in the reaction of one of Wyoming's senators to assertions the state is controlled by rightwingers. Inasmuch as residents of Wyoming and Idaho aren't too different in political outlook, the people of this state may face a similar situation some day.

Sen. Ward L. Simpson, speaking on the third anniversary of Wyoming's statehood, called "an unprecedented and determined campaign of vilification and defamation aimed at painting my state as an irresponsible government manipulated by external forces" of some extremist bent." UP INSTEAD OF OUT

Idaho building buildings have been limited mostly to two- and three-story structures for a variety of reasons, including lack of demand for anything higher and cheapness of business property in past years. Even these modest buildings have gone begging in recent years as professional men abandoned the second and third floors in preference for decentralized offices using only ground floors and offering plenty of parking spaces.

Now there may be a change in the offing, the start of building up instead of out. One example doesn't indicate a trend, yet—the Bank of Idaho building its new addition in-house. By Idaho standards it's a regular skyscraper—13 stories high.

The headmaster would probably be happy to trade places for a day or so with the prime minister.

"It's Getting Pretty Low!"

BARRY GOLDWATER

The communist party of the United States has already decided the direction of its militant efforts. It will mount an attack on Republican candidates in support of the New Frontier. It will work with candidates of its own or support a movement for a new political party.

This significant development has received little attention since Barry Goldwater's entry into the American press even though it was spread over the communist parties of the Soviet Union, China, India, Cuba, and elsewhere.

As might be expected, many Republicans—indeed, many in Congress—in heavy attack front the general secretary of the Soviet Union, Leonid Brezhnev, claimed that the Republicans were led by a "cabal" made up of New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, myself, Sen. Kenneth Keating, Sen. John Tower of Texas and Sen. John D. McClellan of Arkansas.

Mr. Hall's rationale and blueprint for communist action on the domestic political front found that both of America's major parties are tools of capitalism. But it said that although President Kennedy had engaged in "imperialist ventures" such as the blockade of Cuba last October, he had nevertheless kept "the lines of communication open" with Russia and stood for the blockade by quarantining the Cuban exile and banning ships from harbors and the invasion of Cuba.

Among the other points noted by Hall was the fact that the President had sent federal troops into Mississippi and Alabama to quell civil rights demonstrations made at Geneva during a partial nuclear test ban agreement.

Hall said the communist party worked hard to elect candidates like Keating, Luther King and other Negro leaders. He said the President also had taken other actions to assist the civil rights movement.

So the commission recommended the unions and railroads get together and through bargaining bring the whole business of labor and management up to date. It hasn't happened.

The five big unions involved—firemen, trainmen, engineers, conductors and switchmen—proposed at the commission's insistence because all of them, not just the firemen, would be affected, perhaps with the loss of other thousands of jobs.

Then, if this did not make one a partner or a supporter of the Soviet military, it would be a disaster.

In explaining the "good move" of the unions, Hall said relationships with the administration had improved, said it includes labor organiza-

Dear Pot:

I've been almost four weeks since I have been back from our trip to Ohio. The thing I want to know is, "Where's the lame lass?" That is supposed to be on Main Street in Spokane, Wash., and I am kind of confused as to where drivers who get crowded out by other drivers who zig-zag down the street as if he were wondering the same thing.

Miss St. Clair Is Married to Lloyd Fellows

The Episcopal Church of the Ascension, Twin Falls, was the scene of the marriage of holy matrimony between United Kathryn St. Clair, Claremont, Calif., and Lloyd W. Fellows, Jr., Clairmont.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Cheney St. Clair, Idaho Falls, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Fellows, Jr., Clairmont.

The Rev. Warren L. Howell performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, soon in marriage by her own desire, wore a pure silk by her own design - length dress styled with princess lines. Her shoulder - length veil was decorated with strands of pearls. She carried a white prayer book with orange blossoms and an heirloom handkerchief belonging to the bride's mother - aunt.

Sister St. Clair, sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

John St. Clair, brother of the bride, was acopteet. Best man was John C. Gil, brother of the bride.

For her going-away ensemble, the bride wore a gray linen suit with white trim and matching accessories. Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh A. Baker, Twin Falls, maternal grandparents of the bride.

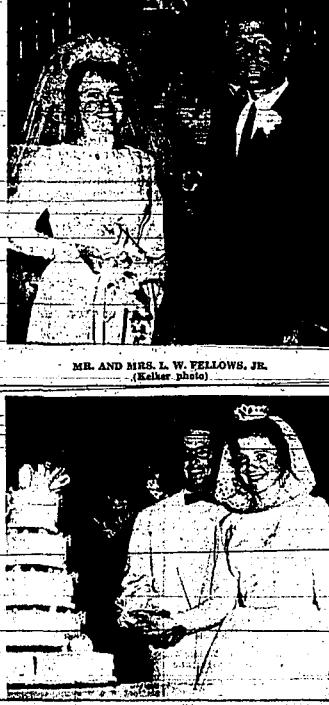

The bride was graduated with a bachelor of arts degree from Oberlin College, Ohio, and a master's degree for her master's degree at Claremont.

The bridegroom received his bachelors of science from the Idaho State Polytechnic college, San Luis Obispo, Calif.; master of theology from Southern California; masters of education from the University of Southern California, Los Angeles; and a doctorate in psychology at the University of Southern California. He served as an officer in the navy.

Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Farren Chandler, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Little, all of Wendell.

The wedding reception was held at the Wendell LDS temple.

The bride wore a gown of lace, which she designed and made herself. The gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice of lace and a full, flared lace skirt of Chantilly lace. The bodice formed a V at the front and was styled with a rounded neck and a lace-trimmed hemline.

The reception table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a five-tiered weddin g cake baked and decorated by Mrs. Nedra Gandy, Wendell.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Nedra Gandy, carried a bouquet of pink carnations studded with pink and white accessories for their wedding trip.

The bride was graduated from Wendell high school and attends Rick's college and Twin Falls Business college.

The bridegroom was graduated from Wendell high school and is entering the city engineering department. They will reside in Wendell.

Both the bride and groom belonged to their grandmother, Mrs. Charles T. Christensen.

Mrs. Nedra Gandy, Wendell, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of green crystal charr with white accessories and a corsage of lilies.

Lorraine Little, Boise, sister of the bridegroom, and Cleo Cheyenne, Caldwell, cousin of the bride, were grooms-identical to the matron of honor.

Lloyd Little, Wendell, brother of the bridegroom, was a double ring bearer. All the girls belonged to their grandmother, Mrs. Charles T. Christensen.

The bride's mother chose a lace peacock gown and wore a white carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue satin dress with a pink carnation corsage.

Grandmothers of the bride, Mrs. Jennette Chandler and Mrs. Hyrum Christensen, were cor respondents. Mrs. Melvin Allred was in charge of the guest book.

MARKETS AND FINANCE

Stocks

NEW YORK STOCKS
Sucked back to drift lower over the hour today, closing with the market for the fifth consecutive session.

Brokers continued to attribute at least part of the decline to growing fears that rising index rates eventually may lead to a boost in the discount rate. This is the fact that the securities-and-exchange commission's report to Congress is expected sometime this week.

Others cited reasons for the extended decline, including increased concern over tax legislation and racial tension.

Electronics moved down from highs but closed slightly above the show, the market. Stockholders, said, Benith, Fairchild Camera and IBM featured the upside—the last on record second quarter earnings.

Transportation. Sheet moved higher to the second place after reporting second quarter share earnings increased 11 per cent for its first half. July was up 7.7 per cent. During the period, the chemical companies Kodak and Allied improved.

British-Ayer's, Carter Products and Parkes, Davis gained ground in the drug section, Standard Oil of Jersey and Standard Oil of California lost fractions to a point in the oils.

Utilities were lower with Illinois and Central Illinois' "Bettie" showing down sizable fractions to about a point. U.S. Steel and the materials had unchanged. Nickel drifted lower. United Aircraft and North American Aviation weakened on continued buying of the stocks by Lockheed management to gain some ground.

Corning Glass, Collins and Alkin and about a point lower.

Three Cited At Burley in Crash Series

BURLEY, July 16—Three drivers were cited for reckless driving at 10 p.m. Sunday when they failed to stop at a stop sign and hit a car. The drivers were: Fred A. Madsen, 17, Burley, and owned by Fred Hill, Jr., Burley; Jimmie Johnson, 19, traveling north on Burton Avenue; and Leland Johnson, 19, Amwell, traveling south.

Leland Johnson was cited for reckless driving at 10 p.m. Sunday when he failed to stop at a stop sign and hit a car. The drivers were: Fred A. Madsen, 17, Burley, and owned by Fred Hill, Jr., Burley; Jimmie Johnson, 19, traveling north on Burton Avenue; and Leland Johnson, 19, Amwell, traveling south.

Richard E. Leech, 24, Burley, was cited for violation of the basic law of 125-1000. George L. Lovell, 20, was driving a 1955 Ford four-door, traveling east on 16th street when he hit a 1961 Buick, parked on 16th Street. The truck owned by R. V. Bergeson, had $100 worth of damage to the left rear. Damage to the front end of Lovell's Ford totaled $75.

Robert Spencer, 19, Heyburn, was cited for reckless driving on Sunday for reckless driving when his 1959 Ford hit a 1962 Rambler sedan parked at the curb with a 1961 Ford. Robert Spencer, traveling north on Almo Avenue, crossed the center line and the southbound traffic line and struck the parked Rambler in the left front. The Rambler was owned by Martin G. Gauthier, 35, of Portland, owner of the Idaho City Memorial Hospital for observation and then released. The Rambler damage was estimated at $100 and Spencer's Ford had damages of $100.

42 Persons Released in N.Y. Action

NEW YORK, July 16 (UPI)—Forty-two civil rights demonstrators, arrested when they blocked trucks from entering a racial equality site in Brooklyn, have been released without bail pending hearings on the demonstrators' indictments on charges of disorderly conduct at the state-financed downtown medical center complex. They were protesting alleged discrimination in employment of construction workers. About 100 black demonstrators and representatives of Negro organizations sent messages to President Kennedy, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Mayor Robert F. Wagner of the New York City that "the Negro community is on the brink of violence."

Utah Schools May Open on Regular Date

SALT LAKE CITY, July 16 (UPI)—Utah's schools, threatened with deadlocked teacher contract negotiations, may open this fall on their regular dates.

But there's a lot of negotiating still to be done.

Monday the executive secretary of the Utah Education association, Dr. John C. Glyde, and Gov.-George D. Clyde in closed session and added afterwards:

"In view of the statement made by Governor Glyde we feel we are in a position to continue our efforts to resolve the present school impasse."

"We shall recommend to the board of education that the financial problem of the present financial impact be regarded as satisfactorily resolved and that Utah teachers proceed with the opening of the schools with the 1963-64 school year."

Last March the UEA voted to withhold contracts until more money was provided for better teacher salaries, more teachers and better equipment.

The teachers asked for a special session of the state legislature to do this, but Glyde refused to do so. That is why, on the agenda of a "special session" he did call for another reason, he did not call it a special session.

At an association meeting in Detroit this month, most of the nation's classroom teachers gave their backing to the Utah teachers,

Fun House in N.J. Destroyed

FORT LEE, N. J., July 16 (UPI)—The interior of the fun house at Cliffsides Park, Fort Lee, N. J., was destroyed by fire today.

Anne Cook, manager of the park, estimated the damage at a quarter of a million dollars. Fire Chief James P. McGraw of Cliffsides Park said he believed the fire was started by an electrical short circuit.

Mrs. Cook said the park, the Jersey Palaces across the Hudson river from Manhattan, would open today as usual.

Show Delayed

NEW YORK, July 16 (UPI)—Star Gertrude Berg's virus infection has caused a two-week break in the Broadway run of "Dear Me," the play she is starring in.

The management announced Monday performances of the comedy will resume July 29. Miss Berg became ill last Friday.

Inviited to Picnic

RICHFIELD, July 16 (UPI)—Community group members are invited to the Richfield Granite picnic next Sunday at North Park north of Ketchum.
