HAILEY, July 20.—The Pacific Northwest Regional Soaring championships will be held Monday through Friday at Friedman Memorial airport here. Louis S. Stur, assistant manager of Sun Valley Lodge, will be in charge of operations for the glider meet. He reports more than 18 airplane owners have indicated they will participate and the best soaring pilots of the Northwest will take to the air during the four-day meet.

Mediators Push to Nip Rail Deadlock

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP)—New and intensive efforts aimed at breaking the railway-labor deadlock were pushed by government mediators tonight as President Kennedy made ready his recommendations for congress legislation to avert the threatened nationwide strike. Government team headed by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz met tonight with representatives of the carriers and scheduled new meetings with officials of the five operating unions for Sunday.

Negroes Call Off Protests In Cambridge

CAMBRIDGE, Md., July 20 (AP)—The national guard used tear gas tonight to end a shouting match with a small group of Negroes who tried to break through guardmen blocking the way to the downtown section of the city. Shortly after the tear gas incident, Negro leaders announced they were calling off their protest to begin the following day, reversing an earlier announcement they cancelled demonstrations scheduled for Sunday.

Range Fire Rages Over 1,000 Acres

PAUL, July 20.—A raging range fire blackened about 1,000 acres of grassland during a 10-hour blaze Saturday nine miles north and one and one-half miles west of here. Bureau of Land management crews came from Shoshone and Burley to battle the fire, which started about 10:30 a.m. Saturday and was declared officially out about 8:30 p.m. Four tankers, shovel crews and a Caterpillar grader were used in fighting the fire. Dale Kinnaman, Shoshone district manager of land management, said Saturday evening, "If it stays hot and dry, we'll have a worse fire season than we did last year."

Carrier Sinks

QUINCY, July 20 (AP)—A big fish-carrier carrying a brooping brood of brook trout and steelhead in the Lawrence river today. Twenty-two seamen lost their lives and 12 others were reported missing. The carrier went down at 8:00, maritime officials said.

PARVILLAGE, Va., July 20 (AP)—A small plane crashed into a field here about 10:30 a.m. Saturday, about 20 miles above Camden in Cumberland county, near the Appomattox river tonight.

ECLIPSE OF THE SUN will start here, explains Chris Talkington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Talkington, 216 Maurice street. At the time this picture was taken, the eclipse of the sun was just starting to appear. Several hundred people watched the eclipse Saturday afternoon at Herrett's observatory through telescopes which then projected the eclipse onto a sun screen, similar to the one pictured. Stars Twinkle, Wolves Howl as Day Turns to Night in Eclipse

The day-turned-into-eerie-twilight-then-black-night-and-back-to day again. On the moon-darkened coast of Alaska, fishermen heard a pack of animals, possibly wolves, howl in the woods, and stars twinkled north of Anchorage at 9:40 a.m. In Japan, a pink dawn turned to a sudden sunrise, and the day started 20 seconds late. The spooky spectacle of a total eclipse of the sun—blotted out in some areas by clouds Saturday moved in an arc 10,000 miles long and 60 miles wide from northern Hokkaido, Japan, across Alaska and the top of Canada, to Maine in two and three-fourths hours. In Hawaii, the eclipse showed a black moon inside a pearly ring. Americans reported:

Governors Tangled In Several Issues

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., July 20 (AP)—The nation's governors got tangled up today in a tussle that mixed together political, presidential hopes and the searing civil rights issue. Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York was in the middle of it. What the governors will do about civil rights at their 65th annual conference, which formally opens for business Monday, was left in a fog of uncertainty. The conference chairman, Democratic Gov. Albert D. Rosellini of Washington, maneuvered to throw the conference open to a civil rights debate at a blank spot on Tuesday's program.

Test Ban Agreement Possible

MOSCOW, July 20 (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev said tonight a nuclear test ban agreement is in sight. Big Three negotiations in Moscow continue their present course. Real progress clearly has been made on drafting a ban on test explosions in Earth's atmosphere, outer space and under water. The delegates have shelved the idea of trying to agree on banning underground tests. The Americans say such a ban would require a thorough inspection system. Khrushchev has refused to accept this, calling it capitation. G. O. G. even beyond his statement yesterday that "we are under the impression that there is hope now of achieving agreement."

Gov. Wallace May Run to Foil Kennedy

MONTEAGUE, Ala., July 20 (AP)—Alabama Gov. George Wallace may enter some of the 1964 presidential primaries in a bid effort to "embarrass" President Kennedy—and weaken him if it occurs.

It would be admitted a protest venture—nothing more—with no serious thought of promoting the fiery segregationist's political career. But the possibility, but rather to exploit any discernible anti-Kennedy sentiment among the state's voters. And it would give Wallace a forum to seek support outside the deep South for the application of states' rights. Southern Democrats are angered by Kennedy's racial policies.

China Mission Breaks Camp, Flies Home

MOSCOW, July 20 (AP)—Communist China's mission to Moscow abruptly broke up camp here and flew home to Peking, apparently falling to patch up the deep rift which has split the communist world.

U.S. Weighs New Power Realignment

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP)—U.S. officials are weighing the possibility of a world power realignment to meet the current energy Soviet-American dispute and Premier Khrushchev's talk about a non-attraction agreement with the agreement agreement has not been possible.

The possibility has not been changed by the conference that the major part of the message to this country is contained in the Soviet press. The potential of the disaffection in Moscow still are too nebulous to warrant any serious analysis of American military strategy.

The joint chiefs of staff maintain a constantly revised, intelligence war plans, it is believed to estimate of what the consequences could be in international situations.

Russia and her relationship with present or existing powers is the free world is a prime issue in the program for planning.

The program is divided into strategic plans—long range, medium range and short range. The military planning is coordinated with political, economic and economic factors.

The first of the three plans covers a four-year period, beginning eight years after a revolution.

The second plan covers a period of 12 years into the future, and the third is to eight years in the future in terms of military objectives. Strategic concepts and defense basic undertakings for the period, limited, and general war.

ENGAGED IN FURIOUS battle for the defense of the king's crown are some of the children participating in the Greek Week celebration at Drury park, on Friday. All Sorts of Special Events Used to Keep Children Busy at Drury Park Space week, Idaho Centennial week, Circus week, Hawaiian week and now Greek week—all part of the Drury park recreation program this summer.

Every one of six parks supervised by the city recreation department, is under the direction of Warren Shoshone, and David Driscoll, both Twin Falls.

Each park is open Thursday through Friday for children of school age and over, and each has a new theme for each week.

On Friday the party of the day is the costume contest by the children on costume equipment, props and other necessary items of the theme.

During circus week, the children made all the necessary props for a circus. Youngsters were charged admission (one nickel) and later the day, a show was made out of cardboard and decorated with the cookies. The played piano—no-one else was allowed to play.

On Mondays and Saturdays, girls working for the recreation department are teaching classes for the children in the O'Reilly Junior high school building. There are dancing, tumbling, jump rope, tumbling and a drill team has been organized.

Daily activities after the work of the day has been completed, are hop-scotch, tag, all games in the wading pool, and a physical fitness program for the children and children enjoy calisthenics.

Trainmen Write Displeasure Over Publicity for Action

Editor, Times-News: We, members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, one of the five railroad operating unions in the work-related disputes on the U. S. railroads, take this letter to express our displeasure over the publicity given to our union by the national newspapers do not give proper publicity to the efforts of the unions to avert a national emergency by offering to provide service to operate passenger, commuter and military trains under existing rules.

The following is part of a letter sent by five operating unions to various government officials proposing unusual steps to protect the public.

'Instant' Tickets Used by Airline

"Instant" tickets have been added to West Coast airlines customer service innovations, according to H. E. Wallis, vice president of sales.

Passengers with "instant ticket" books can avoid special tickets to pick up tickets in advance and reduce time required checking for flights.

"The tickets are available to all West Coast passengers and come in a handy portfolio, similar to a bank checkbook. There is no service charge or deposit and the passenger is invoiced one month after the ticket has been used.

Editorial Stand on Power Cooperative Is Criticized

Editor, Times-News: Your July 10 editorial, "Just Plain Justice," was closer to the truth in the title than in the editorial itself.

The article has been demonstrated in the area of the Bonneville power administration. The power cooperative has minimized new development. Low cost power truly belongs to the people.

Your readers deserve a few more facts to explain why the BPA rate reductions in southern Idaho make business sense.

First, the southern Idaho load comes to a peak in summer when BPA has power running out its front. Southern Idaho is a good outlet for BPA's surplus power.

Second, the bureau's former power purchasers will soon be buying many lines as much power as they can generate can produce. Thus the bureau's higher power production costs will be mixed with the lower BPA costs.

Third, BPA operates under a postage stamp rate. You pay the same five cents to send a letter across the street as to Florida. BPA's rate structure is a mixture of low cost power—such as that of Grand Coulee and high cost power—such as that of the upper Columbia. The BPA rate is about half the total amount of the average.

Fourth, the BPA deficit has been overestimated and has been corrected by adoption of a new power purchase contract which cuts the paper deficit in half. BPA in fact remains ahead of schedule in its payments to the U. S. treasury. Construction of the California Interiors will open a further market for BPA power.

However, if a slight rate increase becomes necessary to meet payments, so be it. We are going to keep BPA financially sound and that is a covenant we have with consumers.

Fifth, in contrast to BPA's unpopularity among southern Idaho River Electric cooperative has a temporary imbalance caused by a spectacular growth in summer irrigation. With increased water house heating power and lower BPA rates, we fully expect to announce rate reductions.

As for comparing our rates to those of the power companies, we do not wish to publish any numbers. It is not our business to see that the co-ops actually have higher rates than power companies and the number of reasons for this is that we serve a thinly populated remote area. Thus, power companies could not or wouldn't serve.

Rail River cooperative has one and one half miles per mile at all times where the power cooperative is about 25 customers per mile.

Even so, the figures that were shown were not a correct comparison and no mention was

Buhl Man Writes About Salmon River Cooperative

Editor, Times-News: I am a member of the Salmon River Electric cooperative, which supplies electric power to the cities of Clifton, Sunbeam and Pocatello. I would like to quote a couple of paragraphs from your July newspaper, which I have reviewed and enjoyed very much.

"It has been predicted that by the summer of 1964, the bureau of reclamation would have been out of firm power. Where would we have gotten power to meet our increased needs? At a price we could afford to pay? It is gratifying to know that the bureau has authorized today, it will take seven years to complete construction of a dam and power plant at Bonneville, and since Idaho should feel that they are getting a deal out of the sale of the Bonneville marketing area, it will act as a power man to Salmon River Electric members? It means that we will have an unlimited amount of power we can draw from. We will have no more blackouts. We will have had to pay for whether we use it or not—and which it exceeded our needs. We will have our own limited power control. Here we are and we are here to stay."

The Rev. Francis Delandis of St. Charles and Our Ladies of the Sacred Heart churches officiated. At 10 a.m. Mrs. William Munster sang. Mrs. Willis McKeeher was organist.

Fires Reported In Forest Land

KETCHUM, July 20—Only two man-made forest fires have occurred in July in the Sawtooth national forest, according to Richard Stauber, Ketchum, Sawtooth forest ranger.

Dog Laws Set For Heyburn

HEYBURN, July 20—Jay Sperry has been appointed the first official dog catcher and pound master for Heyburn by members of the village board.

A dog ordinance was created by the board requiring a 24-hour leash-law and a 48-hour holding period before destroying the animal unless it is claimed by its owner. The dog's description will be posted in three places within the village and the owner is required to pay a fee of $2.50 plus a $1 per day impounding charge.

Virgil Mattson, village manager, said all dogs over six months must be registered and licensed by Mrs. Bruce Brower, village clerk. Any dog owner is required to pay the cost of a license plus other costs before claiming a dog from the pound.

Mattson noted that it is unlawful to have more than two dogs on the premises unless the owner has a commercial or non-commercial kennel license, and that a dog leash must not exceed 10 feet.

A person suspecting rabies symptoms in their dog may have it quarantined at the pound for a period not exceeding 16 days. The owner can redeem the dog by paying one-half the regular fee.

MAN IN EXERCISE

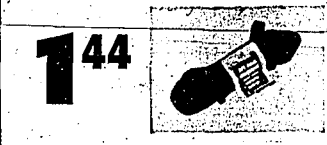

PAUL, July 20 (Special)—Army Sp4/Gerald J. Lincy, Paul, participated in a South-east Asia Treaty organization (SEATO) ground defense exercise with other members of the 25th division's 8th Infantry in Thailand, in mid-June.

Miss Hamilton, Brown Exchange Wedding Vows

Sylvia Lynne Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hamilton, and Burton Rose Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rose Brown, of Mr. and Mrs. Jones Brown, of Provo, Utah, were married June 20, at a morning ceremony in the Salt Lake City LDS temple.

Rev. W. S. Bull performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of members of the immediate families.

A reception was held at the first and third ward cultural hall.

The bride designed her floor-length gown of white peau de soie covered with a crystalline and lace overlay. Her shoulder-length veil of nylon illusion was trimmed with a ultra design studded with pearls. She carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

Maid of honor was Jeanne Hamilton, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Kathleen Maglesten, cousin of the bride, Sharon Miller and Helen Humphreys.

The bridesmaids wore light blue brocade dresses in varying shades and lines of coral. Junior bridesmaids were Gloria Ann Hamilton, and Melana Hamilton, sisters of the bride. They wore full-length coral rayon dresses with over blouses of white nylon eyelid.

Best man was Barry Hamilton, brother of the bride. Ushers were David Hamilton, brother of the bride, Steve Kirkman, Ross Egbert and Dan Lammer.

The bride's mother wore a floor-length deep coral colored gown of satin-brocade covered with nylon chiffon. The bride's mother wore a floor-length dress of rose taffeta. Their corsages were red and white roses and carnations.

Beth Bennett, college friend of the bride, was in charge of the guest book. Mrs. Charles Grandemann, Mrs. Darrell Heider, Mrs. Richard Sheperd, Mrs. Eldon Wade and Mrs. James E. Brown were in charge of the gift table. Gifts were received by Sherri Heider, Doris Heider, Susan Brown, Linda Slaughter, Karen McVey and Mary Lou Grandemann.

Refreshments were served by Charlotte Cox, Linda Carpenter, Camille Bann, Ann Arns, Janet Maglesten, Margaret Maglesten, and Jayvonne Vandover.

The bride is a 1960 graduate of Twin Falls high school and attended Brigham Young University, Provo, majoring in music, specializing in organ and piano.

The bridegroom was graduated from Provo high school and followed by a one-half year LDS mission in Germany. He attends the school of education at Brigham Young University, Provo, majoring in voice.

They will reside at 710 West Center. They plan to continue their college education. Out-of-town guests attended from Salt Lake City, Sugar City, Idaho and Provo.

Pre-nuptial parties included a reception given by the bride's mother and the bride's father, Bennett and Jeanne Hamilton, and a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. William A. and Mrs. Adolph Anderson, both of Twin Falls.

IDAHOA WINS REGION IRON SIGHT TITLE

Salmon Man Is One Point Below "Possible" Score

Henry W. Benson, Salmon, became the iron sights champion Saturday during the Central Pacific States smallbore rifle regional match at the Twin Falls Rifle and Pistol club range. Benson won three of four matches with a score of 1,599 out of 1,600 shots. He won the 50-yard iron sights match, the 50-meter and the deer and target match, which is 20 shots at 100 yards and 20 shots at 200 yards. Benson was aggregate champion.

First civilian master shooter was Raymond Wheeler, DeLeon, who also shot 1,599 out of 1,600 but had fewer X-ring bulletpoints than Benson. He won the 100-yard match.

Lones Wigger, Jr., Ocoee, Mont., who set a new national service record for iron sights aggregate shooting a few weeks ago, was first service-master shooter with 1,593.

Mrs. Dorothy Sanborn, Twin Falls, was first civilian expert with a score of 1,477, and Robert Miller was first service expert with 1,564. Theodore Rogers, Twin Falls, was first expert with 1,561, and first civilian marksman was Arnold Bosman, Dillon, Mont., with 1,558.

The regional match continues Sunday with team matches and the rifle and pistol matches. The international shooting fund match. Attending the matches over the weekend are Judge Barlett Hummel, president of the NRA.

Eden Gains Two Wins in Legion Ball

BURLEY, July 20.—The Eden American Legion baseball team made a comeback in the ninth inning against the 100-100 team Thursday in the opening round of the Magic Valley Legion tournament.

After edging Burley 6-5, Eden went ahead to nip Burley 7-6. The Kellys, who were defeated in both games, defeated Ferncrest, Burley, and Melroe, Rupert.

Eden was behind 4-3 in the end of the seventh inning but rallied and led the game to the ninth. Don Black, who pitched the first eight innings for Eden, was relieved by Kelly who pitched the ninth. Eden struck out four.

Lead Gem Tennis

BOISE, July 20 (AP)—Edwin Carter and Jan Andulka, both Boise, headed the 1960 Idaho tennis cup field after today's opening day rounds at Julia Davis park here.

Miss Mills Wins in Women's Golf Open

CINCINNATI, July 20 (AP)—Mary Mills, a 23-year-old sophomore among the pros from Gulf Hills, Miss., won the Women's National Open Golf championship today with a 72-hole score of 289 at the Kenwood Country club. That was 3-under-par for the event and left her three-strokes ahead of Sandra Haynis, Houston, Tex., and Louise Suggs, Delray Beach, Fla.

It was the first victory for Miss Mills as a pro. She was an eight-time winner of the Mississippi Women's amateur tournament before she turned to the play-for-pay ranks.

Running second strokes behind the winner with a 289 was Clifford Ann Creed, Alexandria, La., who shared the first day lead with Miss Mills with a 2-under-par 71. Miss Creed had a 70-74 today.

The defending champion, Mrs. Murie Lindstrom, Sutton, Mass., had a 300, and probably was the hard luck player of the tournament. She opened to a 10-over-par 83 on the first day, and then played the final three rounds in 74-74-74.

The victory was worth $2,000 to Miss Mills, who went into the tournament at only 21st in the money winning list with an official total of $2,420.

Mickey Wright, Dallas, Tex., who did not compete, is the leading money winner, with an official $14,722 winnings.

The board of trustees also appointed Charles Alvarez head baseball coach and assistant in football and wrestling. He will replace John Smith, basketball and baseball mentor, who along with assistant Hugh Payne resigned at the same time as Tate.

School to Leave Grid Conference

ATLANTA, July 20 (AP)—Georgia Tech will pull out of the Southeastern conference next January to place more emphasis on intercollegiate football, the Atlanta Journal said today.

Athletic director Bobby Dodd, declined to comment on the withdrawal report. Referring to the journal report that Tech's schedule calls for more intercollegiate than sectional games, Dodd said "it's about 50-50."

Games with traditional rivals would not be affected, the Journal said, and Georgia Tech's schedule would be "the uncertainty of the integration problem," "differences in academic standards" and "recurring minor squabbles within the conference."

MAGIC VALLEY LOSES IN NINTH INNING

Billings Edges Cowboys 2-1 in Pitchers' Duel

BILLINGS, Mont., July 20 (AP)—Jack Newcomer pitched a single with the bases loaded in the bottom of the ninth and that was enough for Billings to edge the Cowboys 2-1 in a Pioneer league baseball game.

Magic Valley pitcher Gary Dement and Mustang right-hander Dave Gutherie showed good control on the mound. Relievers Lane Phillips for the Cowboys and Ed Miller for the Mustangs were 100% and winner.

Billings rallied up from behind in the ninth when Otto Corrie hit a solo homer to tie the game.

Even though Magic Valley got a hit with one out in the ninth, Nolan Campbell walked to score second, but sacrificed to bring Dan Simmons and scored on a ground out by Larry Schuman.

Smylie Listed as Potential GOP Presidential Nominee

RECEIVING EAGLE SCOUT badges in a ceremony Monday evening in Gooding were Bob Locke, left, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred N. Locke, and Jim Silva, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chet Silva. Locke is a member of the senior patrol and the Order of the Arrow. Silva attended the World's Fair last year to act as a Cadet of the Order of the Arrow. They are members of troop No. 33, sponsored by the Lions club and led by Fred N. Locke. (Times-News photo)

(Editor's note: This news item has been a sensational one.) Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie recently listed as a potential nominee next year. In the past, the state's political scene has been dominated by the Democratic Party and the longest in Idaho history. He is a liberal so far as state government politics go, but depicts himself as squarely in the center of the political spectrum. Within GOP ranks, he is clearly closer to Rockefeller than to Dwight D. Eisenhower. "A state government should do what has to be done and pay the bill," says Smylie. "That is the most effective way of keeping the federal government from getting bigger, which is one of the major though not central issues of our times." "If you don't, and a real need exists, the people are going to turn to the federal government. Congress is not able to control its appetite for expanding the role of government."

During his three terms as governor, Smylie has successfully pushed for expanded state services, particularly in education, health, public welfare and highway building. "He claims 90 per cent approval of his legislative program. That success has come despite strong conservative opposition within both parties. It has been primarily the Democratic opposition that has demanded his state spending." "The budget has been balanced with tax increases and Smylie is proud of the state's record for continuing solvency." He was the first Idaho governor in history to win endorsement of the state AFL-CIO. He credits the 1962 labor support to what he describes as progressive labor legislation which he urged successive legislatures to enact. His Democratic opponent in 1962, gambling advocate Vernon R. Smith, was clearly to the right of Smylie, and refused to

Foreign Students on Tour Scheduled To Stay in Twin Falls Aug. 7 to 9

The Association for World Travel Exchange, New York, is sponsoring a foreign student tour through the West with the party of 11 European youths scheduled in the Twin Falls area Aug. 7, 8 and 9 when they will be staying here until the morning of Aug. 9 when they will leave for Yellowstone. The Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce is trying to locate housing for the students for their two-night stay here. Patricia Lyman, hospitably chairman for the exchange, notes that in the past public acceptance has been so great it has become policy for the students to stay at different homes each night.

Old Clipping Details Death of Bigfoot, Famous Idaho Indian

copies of an Indian by the name of Bigfoot were many up down the Snake river in this particular section of Idaho and in the Boise-Silver City area.

In fact, there were so many stories that it is difficult to separate the real ones from the distorted ones.

This effort was made easier, however, with the finding of a man 44 years ago and told by a man who witnessed the killing, credited John H. Wheeler with ending the life of the hated and feared Indian.

The clippings, from a series of stories run in the Boise Statesman 44 years ago and told by a man who witnessed the killing, credited John H. Wheeler with ending the life of the hated and feared Indian.

INTERESTING HISTORIC STORY of an Indian named Big Foot is scanned by Fred Chastek, 63 Maple avenue, Twin Falls. The clippings he is checking were found in an old trunk after the death of his great-grandmother, Mrs. Emma Thornton. Taken from the Boise Statesman 44 yrs ago, members of the family have no idea why Mrs. Thornton saved them. They relate the "true story" concerning the death of this Indian, a legend in his time. Buhl School Teacher Constructs Model Autos During Spare Time

BUHL, July 20—A desire to see old antique automobiles originals at his home, 701 Thirtieth avenue north, Monroe estimated his models are valued from $200 to $1,000.

If he had to make the first popular model automobile produced by the various companies. Considerable time and effort has gone into the making of the unique replicas and are real models of many of the old works of art, appealing to young and old alike.

For a guide in making the models Monroe uses illustrations from books, advertisements, and often takes measurements from the original automobiles. Models are then "knocked from" these illustrations.

The Buhl teacher skillfully draws up his own plans in pen and ink, showing every angle and view as well as complex parts of the car. During this time he does research work and studies the background history on whatever car he is making.

All intricate parts "ground in" the interior of an original car.

Old Seed Company Gave Name to Community Now Known as Clover

By MRS. REUBEN J. LIERMAN (days to try and persuade people especially farmers, to move to the new site of Idaho.)

Idaho Centennial service is planned July 21 at the Clover Lutheran church. The Clover community, southwest of Filer, Nebraska towns chartered and parochial school.

The name "Clover" was given the community in 1913 by the High Line Seed company, which also built the first building, a large hotel. Later it became the Clover mercantile. The store was destroyed by fire some years ago.

Agents from the High-Line Seed company were sent to the midwestern states in the early 1900s to try and persuade people to move to the new site of Idaho.

So bright was the picture they painted of the land that in 1913 18 families from several small Nebraska towns chartered and parochial school.

The 10 families were those of Peter Pabst, J. L. Krieger, Emil Lierman, Louis A. Schroeder, Fred Wegener, Fred Hunsler, H. Philby and Dan Shreyer. Hagler still resides in Filer.

and the children of the other families still live in Idaho. Friends and relatives soon followed to the new land. During the first year, many of them lived in tents until houses were built.

Most of the new settlers were Lutherans of German descent, so one of their first moves was to organize a church. Original director of the church, have related how the organizational meeting was held in a lambshead in the spring of 1913.

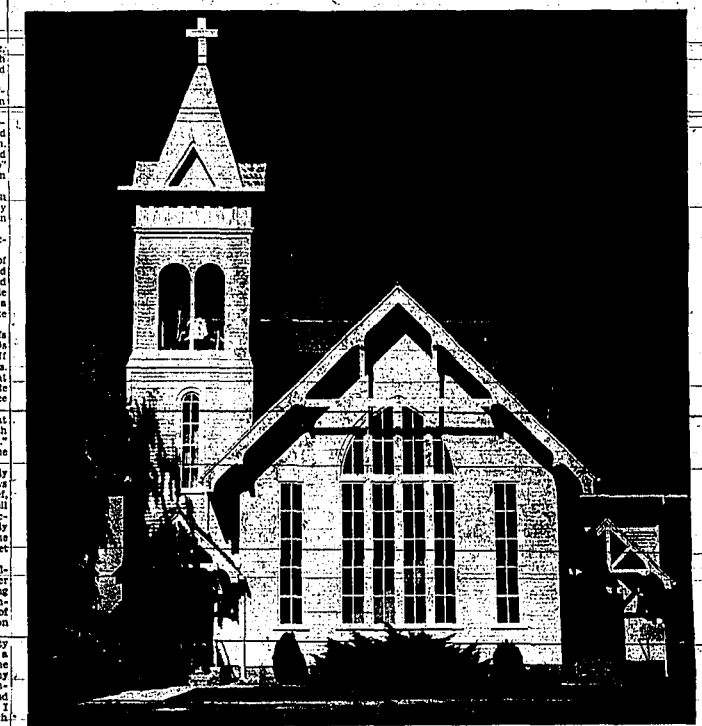

Since the weather was quite cold, a fire was built in the shack to warm it. However, a strong odor arose in the lamb's head and drove the people out. They continued their meeting elsewhere.

Church services were held in the Clover hotel until a school was built west of the hotel. Services were held there for a number of years. During the week the building was used as a school.

The Rev. J. A. Schettinger, Peter Pabst, was pastor of the first church. Since he also served a church in Twin Falls, he drove out to Clover on Sunday afternoons to hold services.

CLOVER LUTHERAN CHURCH will be the scene of a special Idaho Centennial day. Clover community was founded by the High Line Seed company in 1913. The company promoted the movement of 10 Nebraska farm families into the area. Soon after arriving the new residents built a church. The church has been the center of the community for nearly 50 years. The town was planned to be one of the largest in the state, but only the church and parochial school prospered.

Abandoned Wood Pack Saddle Is Mailed to Cincinnati Writer

"Sometimes it takes an outsider to see beauty in many of the things we take for granted or just plain overlook," said William Grange, secretary-manager, Twin Falls chamber of commerce as he and Mrs. Ross Prather wrestled with an old abandoned pack saddle.

Grange and Mrs. Prather were packing an old pack saddle for shipment east to Cincinnati for Robert Rankin, one of the American's better known outdoor writers.

Rankin was a member of a small party of travel editors which toured southern Idaho last week and found the old saddle while taking a side jaunt off one of the main riding trails near Sun Valley. "The saddle has probably laid out there in the forest for many years," said Grange, "with people stumbling over it or ignoring it."

Rankin, after observing the wooden framework, decided to convert it into a magazine rack for his home in Cincinnati. The weathered wood, when reworked, will make an excellent rack, said Grange.

At first the Cincinnati writer was going to carry it home in his lap because it was too awkward to pack in a suitcase. However, he realized when the Twin Falls chamber offered to package it and forward it to Cincinnati.

It is possible the Gem state could derive considerable benefit from the incident, said Grange. A memo to the Fiberships of one of the nation's top outdoor writers could aid the states tourist industry in a round about way.

Grange reflected for a moment on the evaluation of many programs in which the chamber participates—for example, the program that brought Rankin of the Cincinnati Inquirer to Idaho. The tour was arranged by the Pacific Northwest Travel association.

In addition to Rankin there was Karola Sackel, feature writer, San Francisco Chronicle; Tom Stimmeth, feature writer, Oregon Journal and Diane Percy, assistant editor, Motor Club News.

Each year the program alternates. One year the travel editors journey to northern Idaho. The next year they tour southern Idaho. How much good will the tour do for the states' reputation, claims Grange. "We know it helps our tourist business, how much we don't know. Many times we get letters or questions from travelers who refer to articles they have read in magazines or newspapers concerning southern Idaho. Some of our readers."

Grange adds: "to make our program flexible enough for them to take in a variety of things. Other they are interested in many things, we take for granted and this has the greatest appeal to their readers."

The saddle belongs to Robert Rankin, Cincinnati Inquirer outdoor writer who picked up the saddle while on a riding trip near Sun Valley. Rankin will convert the old saddle into a magazine rack. Stamp Window

The United States will issue a new international postal card, probably early this fall, which will promote the "Visit-America" program of the commerce department's U.S. travel service.

The new card will have a vertical imprinted stamp, a blue background, showing a map of North America highlighting the United States, with a large red, white and blue "USA" below and the slogan "World Vacations" above.

SECRET EMPLOYER—Walterport Conn., who designed the Pan American games annual commemorative of 1959, designed the stamp which will be first printed by the government printing office both as single-card and copy-paid doubles.

Unexpectedly heavy advance requisitioning by postmasters have caused the initial print order for the eight cent Amelia Earhart airmail commemorative to be increased from 40 to 57 million. The stamp will be released July 24 at Aikido, Tenn.

Although the standard order for letter-rate commemorative in recent years has ranged from the million to the current—180 million, 40 million usually has

Grange Plans Its Activities at Fair for Cassia

BURLEY, July 20—Citizens of Orange completed plans Wednesday night for a Grange stand-and-produce exhibit at the Cassia county fair.

The home economics chairman announced cookies would be judged Aug. 7 for the state Grange baking contest. Each entry must include 17 cookies baked with a dry cereal and the recipe.

Entertainment plans were discussed for the state Grange convention here Oct. 28 to Nov. 1. Sandra Schwesiger reported on Oule's state. She was sponsored by the Grange.

OUTDOOR SCENES like this wishing well dot the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Wilcox, Heyburn. Since their retirement, the Wilcoxs have been busy making scenes like this for their sections or their yard. Rock from seven states and Canada is used in the construction. (Times-News photo)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

HEYBURN, July 20—One of the top attractions in HEYBURN is a unique menagerie around the James F. Wilcox home. "Wilcox's Disneyland," as most of the neighbors call it, is made up of familiar scenes from both here and abroad, by means of artistic placement of rock and figurines. Material used comes from seven states and Canada. Friends from other states look out from something-out-of-the-ordinary to add a different touch. Since Wilcox's retirement last year, they needed something to help pass their time. And since they previously had the hobby of collecting beautiful rocks, they decided to go further and make something out of them.

Today, they have eight different scenes including a lake scene with an "Irish" town, a bird bath, a Holland hill, a wishing well, miniature pig pen, cactus tree, seashore planter, and a crystal rock formation.

Persons visit the Wilcox home just to see if they have added anything different.

In the front of the house is a crystal rock formation. Mrs. Wilcox's brother-in-law, R. L. Seashy, Evansville, Ind., located the rock one day on a pleasure trip.

"With this formation, she added a piece of driftwood which formed a snake, including eyes. The eyes failed to stand out into view. She added two acorns and twisted a small piece of red tape for the tongue, and placed the object behind a rock.

In the back of the yard is the "Holland Hill." They made a miniature wind mill with little Dutch children standing inside a fence made of poplar sticks, left during a family gathering on Memorial day.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox, who have been active all their lives, say they just couldn't get used to the idea of sitting around the house with nothing to do.

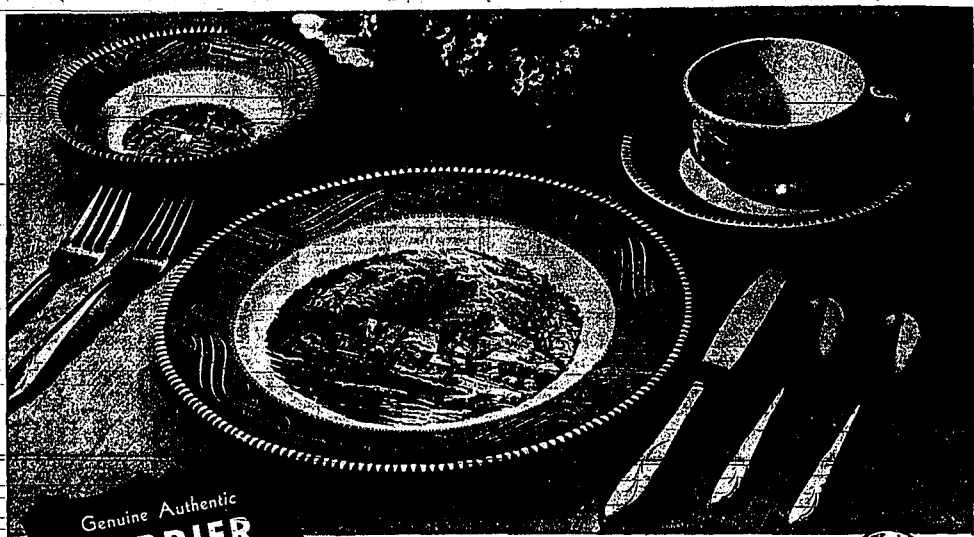

"We needed something to utilize our ideas," and "with this everyone can enjoy it."

Children come from all over town to see "Wilcox's Disneyland."

Temporary Break From Study of Law Led to New Duty as T.F. Postmaster

Although he spent three years at the University of Idaho in the study of law and started out of school only on a "temporary" basis to get more money to continue, it is practically a fact that Fred Sanger will never set back to Moscow.

The "temporary" job that Sanger took in Twin Falls back in 1936 has developed into a more or less permanent one and, being with the postoffice department for 27 years he was recently endorsed for permanent appointment as postmaster.

Actually he was away from the local office for a period of 18 months but he was still employed by the government so for all practical purposes his service was continuous. Some 18 months of that period saw him with the U. S. navy in the Solomon Islands in World War II. For a year, even then, he was "right back" in the business. He was in charge of the Fleet postoffice at Naval advanced base 60 which served a total of 100,000 men and which was considered an outstanding office in the Pacific area.

After the three years at Moscow, following graduation from the Twin Falls high school, Sanger took a job here as a substitute electrician. Since then he has worked at practically all posts, including clerk-in-charge and superintendent of mail.

Prior to his endorsement as postmaster, he was serving as acting postmaster during a time competitive selection was being made.

Every postoffice employe had a part in making it possible for him to be postmaster. Sanger said that the employe who did the best possible mail service to the citizens of Twin Falls as well as taking an active part in many community activities.

Born in a rural community in Iowa, Sanger moved to the Twin Falls area in 1911. His parents settled on a farm between Holbrook and Ida, but growing soon called him to Twin Falls.

In the early days at the farm Sanger's father, a well-known farmer, used from the spring in barrels with horses and wagon.

When he was a member of the first fair board for Twin Falls county that same year.

A few years later the "Perrine eighty" which became part of the presidential street area of Twin Falls was subdivided into residential lots, and named the Blue-Lakes addition.

It is the largest single addition ever added to the city.

Sanger started in Twin Falls public schools by entering the new Washington school in 1916, and graduated in 1920.

He was graduated from high school in 1928. The 35th reunion of this group was held in June, 1963.

The two principals during those four years—of high school—were Mrs. W. G. (Mory Ruth Platter) Sampson and V. W. Terry, both of whom still reside here.

In school he was active in baseball and tennis as well as band and orchestra.

When he was only 16 years old and for about two years he played one evening and one matinee performance each week with his orchestra at the Grand opera house during the silent picture era.

fight developed "right in front of me," the 60-year-old man said. "I know that the people could not hear me or the band above the fire," he said.

While he has not played a horn in 25 years, he still respects an interest in the trials and tribulations of the municipal band organization.

Deciding to be an attorney, he enrolled in law at the University of Idaho but after three years was forced to lay out two years of his financial situation.

The postoffice job reunited and he changed career plans.

In 1927 he was married to the late E. J. and Mrs. Anna Duly. They have one child, Betsy, who completed her first grade at Washington school this spring where her father began school 47 years ago.

An avid outdoorsman taking to hunting and fishing, he is an active member of the TGHQ outdoor association. He is also a member of the local Elk lodge, the Varsity Boosters, the Twin Falls County Historical society and the Episcopal church of the Ascension.

Oregon Commission Sends Eggs East To Original Home in Pennsylvania

By JIM HUNDBIRD

Idaho fish-game department BOISE, July 20—An intriguing news release from the Oregon fish commission tells about the taking of some 10 million Columbia river steelhead and returning them back to their ancestral home in Pennsylvania's Susquehanna river.

It seems this species of fish was brought to the west coast by the pioneers, but to the Susquehanna river in 1871 and later established in many coastal streams as an important commercial and sport fishery.

Meanwhile, four power dams in the Susquehanna river since 1914 have prevented about 10 million to upstream spawning grounds.

This dam's experiment will determine whether the present available in the Susquehanna is good enough for steelhead survival. Various fish will be used in the construction of fish traps facilities over the dams and restoral reestablishment of major fish runs in the river.

It is believed that steelhead had adjusted to long-upstream migrations, but more research is being done on spawning areas not now supporting the species.

Essentially a salt-water fish, the steelhead spends most of its life cycle in the ocean, ascending the river in the spring and early summer as four-year-olds to spawn. However, they never ascend as far as Idaho.

But nearly a score of other fish species have been brought to the state through the fish commission. These are chinook, rainbow, brown trout, brook trout, golden trout, grayling, cutthroat trout, steelhead, bass, bluegill, pumpkinseed, green sunfish, crappie, yellow perch, herring, alewife, catfish, carp, goldfish, tench and striped catfish.

Idaho fishermen would like to return some of these exotic fish species, the carp, for example, to the waters where they originally came. This is impossible even if they were highly desirable game fish as the steelhead.

This is a point worth pondering before attempting to restock other exotic fish such as the muskellunge and white perch. Altogether, there are over 70 species of freshwater fishes in North America, and the problem is which ones should be stocked as best for Idaho.

James C. Simpson, chief of fisheries management, recalls an incident in the Idaho wildlife service. "I once had a letter from a 'zootic fisher'—Good luck! Written by Blacy V. Oelrich, he wrote that he had caught a certain species of fish in the waters of the Pacific Northwest. This is impossible even if they were highly desirable game fish as the steelhead.

This is a point worth pondering before attempting to restock other exotic fish such as the muskellunge and white perch. Altogether, there are over 70 species of freshwater fishes in North America, and the problem is which ones should be stocked as best for Idaho.

All of the habitat requirements of a species, including water chemistry, physical features of the environment, water temperature, food and spawning areas, must be carefully evaluated. Many plantings of exotics have either failed completely or backfired and produced stunted populations because one or more of the habitat requirements were lacking, or something less than the best.

Exotic species should not be competitive with other desirable species to the extent that they become a nuisance, or undesirable.

Planting sites should be selected so that a species cannot migrate into other waters where they may become a problem.

The species should be self-perpetuating and not dependent on annual restocking. This can go to its extreme if fish with high reproductive potentials are subjected to a reduction of heavy fishing pressure.

If the species must be restocked periodically, costs of procurement and transportation should be an economic factor.

Simpson says that the success and failures of various exotic fish in Idaho are well known. Brook trout, muskellunge, kamohau, bass, bluegill and channel catfish have fared reasonably well. That were formerly unoccupied by game fish. Other species, such as yellow perch, bullheads, sunfish, crappie, and even brook trout, and bass, often lack ideal growing conditions. This results in stunted populations.

He stresses that the introduction of carp and transplants from one drainage to another of rough fish via minnow buckets have taken over numerous lakes and reservoirs and rendered them unsuitable for game fish.

"Complete eradication or control of these populations often is difficult if not impossible," Simpson points out. "Control programs may be further stymied by the popularity of certain game fish as the steelhead.

water species even though fishing must be classed as sub-standard.

Many of the original plantings of exotic fish were on a trial-and-error basis. Even though we consider most of the angles, planting of exotic fish is still a gamble—we may hit the jackpot, break even, or go flat broke."

Most of the letters and other inquiries to the department concerning the introduction of exotics specify three fish species—the muskellunge, northern pike and walleye. The "Idaho Wildlife Review" article (now available on request as a reprint leaflet) has the following to say about these species:

Muskellunge—Native range is the upper Mississippi, Great Lakes and St. Lawrence river systems. Typical habitat includes slow rivers and lakes with clear water. They generally prefer lakes with extensive submerged weed beds and cool temperatures from 40 to 78 degrees.

Seven pounds of forage fish are required to produce one pound of muskellunge.

Adults mature sexually at four to six years, and the eggs are laid indiscriminately in shallow bays or marshes on dead vegetation and receive no parental care. Cold temperatures and predation on eggs and fry by other fish and insects greatly reduce the spawning success. Fry requires zoo-plankton for the first week and then switches to the fish diet. Because of the specific habitat requirements, lack of planting stocks, and moody nature of muskellunge, they do not show much promise for Idaho waters.

Northern pike—The range, habitat requirements and life history of pike are similar to those of muskellunge. Northern pike do not show much promise for Idaho waters.

Walleye—Native range is the southern Canada, Great Lakes and Mississippi valley to Georgia. They are found in shallow waters and are highly adaptable to a wide range of habitats. They are highly prolific and are easy to raise in captivity. They are highly adaptable to a wide range of habitats. They are highly prolific and are easy to raise in captivity.

along I might have been blowing away yet in that orchard," he laughs.

He also participated with the "Blue-Lakes" municipal band—many years when it was directed by Dr. Orrin Fuller and offers him one of his most vivid memories.

"That night I had a cornet solo with the band and was playing Sousa's 'Inflammation' from the Siabast Mater. That was at the time of the old bandstand in city park. During my presentation a tremendous dog held baseball games every Saturday afternoon, but "they" had a schedule was worked out where church services were held first, to be followed by ball games which the whole family attended.

Robert Lerman was the first person buried in the cemetery adjoining the church yard. He was buried the same day the new cemetery was dedicated.

The Rev. Walter Dannenfeldt, Casper, Wyo., became the first permanent pastor in May, 1913. He was installed on July 23 of that year and preached his first sermon July 30.

The Rev. Mr. Dannenfeldt served as pastor until his death in 1931. His widow, Mrs. Eda Dannenfeldt, lives in Twin Falls. The present church was built a few years after the new pastor came. Some years later a parochial school was constructed across the road. One of the pastor's duties included acting as schoolmaster during the week. In 1940 the original school building was replaced by a modern three-room schoolhouse with auditorium, kitchen and full bathroom.

Present pastor of the church is the Rev. Carl Losser who came to Idaho from South Dakota to assume the pastorate in 1953. The congregation numbers some 300 communicant members.

Church services are held every Sunday at 10:30 a.m., followed by Sunday school and Bible class. Subsidary organization of the church include the Lutheran Women's Missionary League, Lutheran League, Parent-Teacher organization, and a Married Couple's Club.

As a mission project, Clover Lutheran church began church and Sunday school services in 1913 to assume the pastorate in January of this year, the mission church was formally organized and became Peace Lutheran church. The Rev. Mr. Losser serves both congregations as full time minister.

The early settlers of the Clover tract envisioned the small village as becoming a large city some day. A wide thoroughfare with subsidiary streets was laid out. On old maps, the main street is named Nebraska boulevard after the state which had been the former home of the newcomers. Streets were built wide enough to accommodate street car tracks if the town needed them. However, due to the proximity of other towns already well established, Clover never grew beyond the general store, church and school.

The fields surrounding it were, and still are, rich and fertile. An old map in the possession of one of the early settlers shows the townsite and above it this slogan "The town of Clover is well named—it is surrounded with fields of clover." The November, 1916 issue of "New Idaho" Magazine talks of the marketing of $8,000 worth of white clover seed from 2623 acres.

REV. WALTER DANNENFELDT was the first permanent pastor of the Clover Lutheran church. He was installed on July 23, 1913, after arriving from Casper, Wyo. (Kicker photo)

Although the outside of the church remains much the same, considerable renovation has been done to the interior. The Gothic arch in the sanctuary recently was replaced with oak paneling at the sides, and gold droppets extend from the ceiling to the floor behind the altar. The platform has been extended into the nave, and the pulpit and lectern have been moved to give more space for communion services.

New lighting fixtures have been installed throughout the building, and the pipe organ has been moved from the front of the nave to a special room housing it upstairs near the choir loft. The pews, which had seen some 40 years of service, were completely overhauled, strengthened and refinished. Much of the work was done by church members.

Recent improvements at the school include installation of floodlights for night football and baseball games.

In a joint observance, the church celebrated its 50th anniversary and the 50th anniversary of Idaho's statehood on Aug. 4, 1960. Principal speaker for the services was C. A. Bottolfsen, Idaho governor. In 1960 the church will be able to celebrate its 60th anniversary.

are recreated to exact scale. This includes headlights, horns, and steering mechanism. Wood, paper, and metal are the materials used.

Body parts are hand carved and metal parts are turned on a lathe and fitted. On the interior hinges from sunglasses serve as door knobs and handles are made of brass nail. Carburetor fittings make up the headlamps and models having miniature side lamps are emphasized with costume rhinestones for lenses.

Car seats may feature felt velvet or corduroy coverings, and in some instances hand carved wood is used to give the appearance of leather upholstery.

Utilizing his spare time Monroe can turn out a model in a month. Many tedious hours go into making a car wheel itself. It takes four hours to make a wheel as there are 33 parts to a wooden wheel. Spokes are made out of pine and each are hand carved. Hub caps are turned out of metal or brass. Tires are turned out on a wood lathe and the tread designs are hand cut. When the model calls for wire wheels, dressmaking straight pins are used.

When the model is constructed, the right shade of paint is obtained with the use of oil paints. The car is painted and then sanded, then painted. This procedure is followed until a brilliant appearance is attained giving the exterior a metal finish.

Some cars are made to operate and some aren't, however, all parts on the models are workable—license plates identify the make and year of car.

Ski Lift Plan For Hailey Is Topic of Meet

HAILEY, July 20—The possibility of building a joint ski lift and expanding facilities of the Tola Run ski area west of Hailey to accommodate primarily beginning and family skiers was discussed Wednesday at the ASBC offices.

The possibility was discussed of obtaining a long term, low interest loan under the rural area development act and the department of agriculture.

Six local representatives, Dr. A. E. Richards, Glenn Wright, R. C. Stephens, James Thurst, Paul Jones and Oliver Adams, met with Frank Dallas, PHA district supervisor, and Randall Johnson, assistant PHA supervisor, both Sheehon; Rex Brattilwaite, local ASBC officer; John Combs, Hailey Sawtooth forest ranger, and Norman Warren, working through the local USDA - RAD technical panel.

1914 Mercer "35", 1914 Buick Bearcat with a wind-up motor under the frame; 1916 Pierce Arrow roadster; 1918 Daimler electric; 1920 Franklin air cool, and a 1923 Lincoln roadster. He is now working on a Locomobile.

He noted these models are what is left of his original series as some were scrapped. They were not exact or had imperfections. The longest car is the Pierce Arrow, 18' long, and the smallest is the 1920 Ford, five inches long.

To his knowledge he doesn't know of any other person in this area who makes scale models, starting from scratch. His three children, Ernie, eight; Linda, six, and Sheila, four, have never bothered daddy's cars. It seems grown-ups seem to keep their hands off the cars. The cars, on display in his home, are always a source of conversation when spied by visitors.

Occasionally he does mechanic work but feels it is too monotonous and his no originality. His vocation, "teaching," is a challenge. He has taught for the past 10 years. The last three years were at the Buhl high school system instructing art and English.

The school teacher is versatile and enjoys other hobbies such as painting. Many of his creations adorn the walls in his home.

FLOOR PLAN of the new YMCA-YWCA shows one large multi-purpose room and four club rooms. Plans also show chapel which will be constructed as directed by the terms of Mrs. Evangeline White who left a large portion of her estate for such a building. Mrs. White directed that a portion of the building be dedicated for prayer and recreation. Future plans call for the construction of a swimming pool. At the present time the "Y" has a full summer program under way. The building costs in excess of $100,000. Future expansion will depend largely upon community support. (Drawing by Harold E. Gerber)

NEW YMCA-YWCA building will be constructed across from Harmon park on Elizabeth boulevard. Harold E. Gerber, Twin Falls, is the architect. The large structure, right, will house the multi-purpose room. The protruding section near the entrance will be the roof of the chapel. A plaque honoring Mrs. Evangeline White will be placed near the entrance. Mrs. White bequeathed a large portion of her estate for such a building. (Drawing by Harold E. Gerber)

Idaho to Host 25 Air Cadets From England During Tour

Idaho has been selected by the air force to host 25 air cadets from England, according to a report from the state's largest newspaper. The program is part of a mass exchange of top-air-minded young men from several countries.

Horse Races Planned for Cassia Fair

Idaho's five states will be entered, says Joe Carlson, Albion, chairman of horse racing and a fair board commissioner. A special "businessman's race" is set Friday, Aug. 16, with participation limited to Cassia county businessmen. This race will be in addition to the regular program, stated Carlson.

New Airline Rates Listed

New half-fare rates for clergyman and servicemen are announced by West Coast Airlines. H. E. Wallis, the airline's vice president of "half-fare" membership of the armed forces must be in uniform when he purchases his ticket and while traveling. The serviceman also must have proof of an authorized pass, leave or furlough.

Filer Mennonite Speaker Is Noted

BUCKLE UP, July 20—Ralph Buckwater, on furlough from his assignment as missionary evangelist to Japan under the Mennonite board of missions and chaplain, will speak at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Mennonite church. The meeting is open to the public, says the Rev. Royden Schwab, pastor. The Buckwaters were one of two couples inaugurating the "Year of the Mennonite Church in Japan in 1949. Buckwater, Filer Mennonite, a native of Kansas, attended Houston college at Houston, Texas. He is a graduate of Coahoma college and Biblical seminary at Cochen, Ind. Mrs. Buckwater also studied at Cochen college and is a graduate of the nursing school at La Junta Mennonite hospital, La Junta, Colo.

Construction to Start on YMCA-YWCA Building on Land Near Harmon Park

A new YMCA-YWCA building will soon be a reality in Twin Falls. The building will fulfill a dream of the late Mrs. Evangeline M. White who bequeathed a large part of her estate for such a building. Mrs. White directed that a portion of the building be dedicated for prayer and recreation. Future plans call for the construction of a swimming pool. At the present time the "Y" has a full summer program under way. The building costs in excess of $100,000. Future expansion will depend largely upon community support. (Drawing by Harold E. Gerber)

Fairfield to Have Queen During Rodeo

FAIRFIELD, July 20—The Punkhouser will rein at 8 p.m. Saturday, July 27, and 2 p.m. Sunday, July 28, at the rodeo grounds west of town. A new 1964 queen will be chosen at the Sunday afternoon performance. There will be a parade of floats and a queen coronation. The queen will be crowned by the Rev. Arthur St. Anthony. The queen will be crowned and Ivan Bellard, Star, will be crowned. The Zimmer carnival, Wednesday, will set up rides and concessions near the Legion hall. The rodeo will conclude the Camas county Centennial celebration. The Camas club has opened a museum in the old ASP office on Main street and rodeo has been added each day. On July 27 and 28 there will be street parades and board contests. Contest dress contest, races for children, window and costume contests among the mechanics and the conclusion of a fish derby. Saturday night will feature the annual rodeo queen's coronation in the Legion hall with Mrs. Holland (Happy Holly) Howard and Mrs. Buckner. John Platters will furnish music during the two-day festival.

Grange Contest Winners Listed

BURLEY, July 20—State winners are announced by Mrs. Edward Schwagerler, Burley, in the National Grange sewing contest. Magic Valley winners include class A, Mrs. John Meyer, Castleford, second, and Mrs. Earl Clavette, Declo, third; class B, Beverly Stanater, Bliss, second, and Beverly Stanater, Bliss, second. Mrs. Schwagerler also reports judging is scheduled Sept. 2 at the Evergreen Grange hall. POW!
BOH!
TUGH!
STOP IT, I SAY! I'm trying to prove!
But Old One-
Don't but me, One! You can't settle anything by fighting and beating each other!

But he said you were a Buckner. I don't care how down old fuddy! he what?
H-haw-haw-haw.
You wanna maybe make something outta his whiskers?
Oh, indeed, yes!
"You can't settle anything by fighting and i quote, unquote."
Oh, yeah!

Vic FLINT

SHORTLY AFTER A CLEANING WOMAN FOUND RALPH WORTEN'S BODY...

I CAN'T POINT THE FINGER AT ARTHUR DRAKE ON THE BASIS OF THIS NOTE ALONE, GROWN!

WHADDAYA WANT, FLINT, A PICTURE DRAWN FOR YOU?

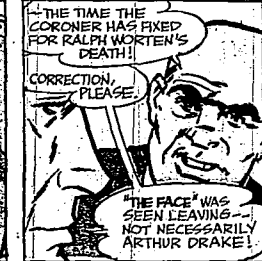

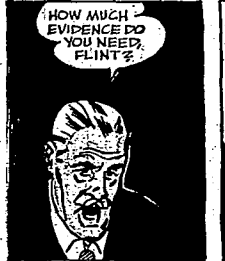

HOW MUCH EVIDENCE DO YOU NEED, FLINT?

IT'S ALL SPELLED OUT, FLINT! DRAKE'S INITIALS ON THE MURDER NOTE AND A STATEMENT FROM THE TENDANT WHO SAW HIM LEAVE THIS BUILDING AT THREE A.M.--

THE TIME THE CORONER HAS FIXED FOR RALPH WORTEN'S DEATH!

CORRECTION, PLEASE!

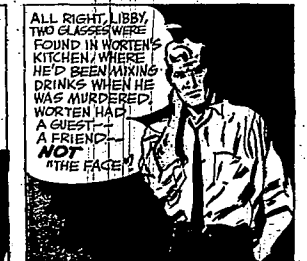

"THE FACE" WAS SEEN LEAVING-- NOT NECESSARILY ARTHUR DRAKE!

I LOVE TO WATCH THE KEEN, ANALYTICAL MIND OF A MASTER DETECTIVE AT WORK. EXPLODANT, PLEASE!

ALL RIGHT, LIBBY, TWO GLASSES WERE FOUND IN WORTEN'S KITCHEN WHERE HE'D BEEN MAKING DRINKS WHEN HE WAS MURDERED. WORTEN HAD A GUEST-- A FRIEND-- NOT "THE FACE"

IF "THE FACE"--ALIAS ARTHUR DRAKE--KILLED WORTEN, WHY WOULD HE BOTHER TO REMOVE HIS FINGERPRINTS FROM THE MURDER NOTE, YET SIGN HIS INITIALS?

I FIGURE WORTEN DID HAVE AN ENEMY-- ONE HE THOUGHT TO BE A FRIEND! BUT WHO?

WAIT A MINUTE!

SO--OUR KILLER IS SOMEONE WHO NEVER KNEW ARTHUR DRAKE-- SOMEONE NEW TO THIS SOCIAL CIRCLE SINCE DRAKE'S DEATH!

BLANCHE WASHINGTON SAID DRAKE HAD A WITHERED LEFT HAND. HE WOULDN'T BE CAPABLE OF STRANGLING ZOO-POUNDER!

I'M PAVING BLANCHE A VIPIT!

GUZ, I JUST WORKED OUT AN EASY WAY FOR COOP T'LOSE WEIGHT!

YEH?? WELL, DON'T TELL HIM! TELL HIM!

NO: YOUR HIGHNESS, COOP TOOK OFF ON HIS DINOSAUR EARLY THIS MORNING!

WELL, I GUESS I'LL HAFTA WAIT'L.L. HE GETS BACK!

YEH... LOOKS LIKE IT!

SO, THAT'S HOW THOSE SLABS BACK THERE GOT ALL MARKED UP! THIS GUY'S SOME SORT OF AN ARTIST!

WOLLUH WUFF DUFF??

KI-YAKKA BOOTCHA TOBROOKY!!

WELL, MY GOSH, TH' PLACE IS ALL BROKE OUT WITH ARTISTS...

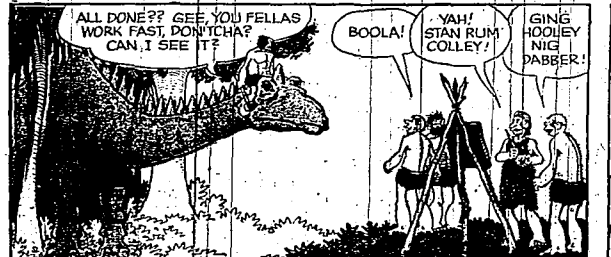

...AN' BY GOLLY, THEY MUST BE FIXIN' T'PAINT A PICTURE OF ME AN' OL' DINNY HERE!

STEADY, BOY... WE DON'T WANT TO SPOIL TH' PICTURE NOW, YOU KNOW!

CER CLIMMA TAR BIZZER PLUG OOOZY!

ALL DONE?? GEE, YOU FELLAS WORK FAST, DON'TCHA? CAN I SEE IT?

BOOLA!

YAH! STAN RUM COLLEY!

GING HOOLEY NABBER!

WHAT IN TH'...??

YOU KNOW, DORY, I'M GETTING WORSE ABOUT ROD!

YOU COME, WYATT?

GRACIOUS! I THOUGHT YOU WERE ASLEEP!

IF YOU'LL PARDON ME, DEAR, I'D LOVE A NAP WHILE YOU READ IT!

ACCORDING TO THIS BOOK, SNAKES ARE EXCEEDINGLY HARMFUL, BOTH PHYSICALLY AND MENTALLY. IT SAYS...

LET ME SEE THAT BOOK, BOOTS!

WELL, YES! BUT...

ALL NEED FIVE DOLLARS MORALE—OUR HOME-TRUFFLE IS WORN OUT AGAIN!

HEY, BABE, WHAT NO HECK IS A HOME-TRUFFLE!

IT'S JUST A WORD I MADE UP. THAT SOUNDS IMPORTANT. I USE IT TO GET EXTRA MONEY OUT OF HORSE!

WALK AWAY!

I WON'T BE HOME TILL LATE TONIGHT, BABE! SOME OF THE BOYS ARE GETTING TOGETHER TO TRY AND FIGURE A WAY TO MAKE HOME-TRUFFLES WEAR LONGER!

AND THERE, WAGS! I CAN SAY!

Boots CUT-OUTS

OUT OF THE WAY

LOOK AT THE PUP! NEIGHBOR, GAVE WILLIS A NEW SUIT. YOU LET HIM KEEP IT?

OH, NO! THAT'S THE HAMBURGER I'M PLANNING ON FOR DINNER! HE'S YOUR PET WILLIS—BUT YOUR OWN MEAT—DOG MEAT NOT HAMBURGER!

TAKE THAT RUG AWAY FROM HIM! HELL, RUN IT!

AW, HE'S ONLY PLAYING!

HEY, SNAIP, YOU'RE THE ONE I WANT TO SEE—ON A DOG! IT OF THE PUP THE NEIGHBOR GAVE YOU!

HE PUT THAT RUG IN MY STOCKING—YOU'RE CUT A DOLLAR AND A HALF FOR A NEW PAIR!

WOW! WITH ALL THE DOG MEAT FOR THAT PUP AND THE BUNCH OF STOCKING TO BUY FOR LIL, I'M GOING BROKE!

MY NEW BASEBALL GLOVE AND PANTS ALREADY RUINED!

WOULD I LIKE TO HAVE THEM REPAIRED, BUT ONLY IF YOU'RE SURE HE'S FOR FREE!

DON'T WORRY—YOU'RE THINKING!

NOT PAYING A THING! HA! HA! HA! WHEN HE GETS HIM HOME!

ROBINSON CRUSOE WAS SOME CHARACTER?

WHAT'S SO SPECIAL ABOUT CRUSOE?

HE NOT ONLY HAD FUN ON THE DESERT ISLAND!

IT DOESN'T SAY THAT YOU'RE JUST BEING CUTE!

GLACIE BEAR HAS FLIN WITH HIS DAD!

IT SAYS HE HAD ALL HIS WORK...

—DONE BY FRIDAY!
