'Car-Camper' Vehicle Made By Declo Man

Do-it-yourselfers who need more confidence can appreciate the homemade car-camper made by Ray Dell, Declo.

Dell built the car-camper in the San Francisco area about two years ago and has traveled more than 20,000 miles in it. He said he uses it mostly for travel, hunting and fishing. He particularly enjoys traveling in Central and South America.

Dell designed the camper part of the combination after the Air Stream chassis and motor. It measures 12 feet nine inches long and eight feet wide. It weighs about 23 miles for each wheel of 185.

Cruising speed, he said, was about 50 miles an hour. But the vehicle could go faster.

Dell stated that it took him a little more than a year of spare time to build the vehicle. The car-camper contains a bed, stove, cooler and table besides the space needed to operate the vehicle.

He declined comment on the cost of the total operation.

Doctor Warns Of Increase In Infections

Dr. Luther C. Thompson, director of the south-central health district, reports that physicians have discovered an increase in Salmonella infections in the area. Numerous cases have been reported to the health district and the infection has resulted in a large amount of illness.

The transmission of the infection is usually by means of food, often accidentally contaminated with fecal discharges, either through the hands of the food handler or through droppings of rodents, poultry and domestic pets or by direct contact with infected persons.

Improperly cooked eggs and poultry are often found to be the source of the disease.

The health department advises residents to follow the following recommendations:

1. Thoroughly cook all animal foodstuff, especially those derived from poultry.
2. Avoid buying or using cracked or unclean eggs.
3. Properly refrigerate all foods.

Please Note Use only pasteurized milk and dairy products.

5. Avoid food prepared by infected persons.
6. Attempt to control the disease among domestic animals.
7. Protect food against rodent and insect contamination.
8. So-called "summer flu" may be Salmonella infection. Take an examination if in doubt. Nausea, vomiting, diarrhea and abdominal cramps with fever and malaise are usual symptoms of the infection.

Mrs. Joe Riedeman, Twin Falls, will teach the combination fourth, fifth and sixth grades at Hollister. Howard Kinfather has been selected as head teacher at Hollister.

Mrs. Nell Sparks was appointed principal at Central. The board is accepting applications for the position of custodian at Central school, Turner stated. Applicants may present credentials to the superintendent's office.

Turner also announced the new sidewalk at Filer junior-senior high school has been completed. Blacktop will soon be laid north of the football field for a walkway for students living west of the school, he added.

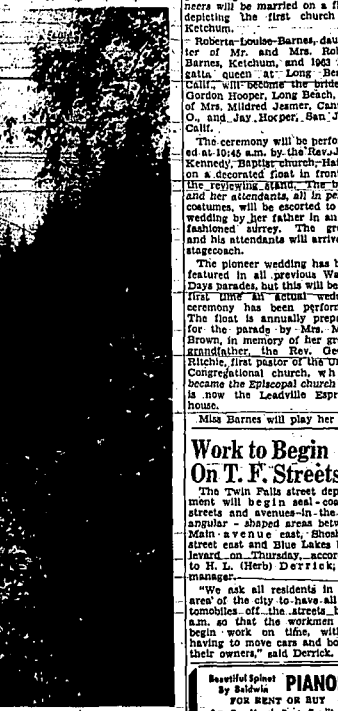

Sierra Life to Sponsor Seminar Sierra Life Insurance company will sponsor the SMU Institute of Insurance marketing seminar Monday through Friday. Classes will be held at the Twin Falls high school.

The SMU staff conducted a similar course at the University of Washington in Seattle in 1962. This is the third year top Sierra life agents have participated in the institute's program. Clark and Purdue university are the only two schools offering such a course in the United States.

Registration Dates, Fees Set. FILER, Aug. 17—Registration fees will be payable at time of registration in Filer high school and Junior high school, announced Arthur Chaburn, principal.

Registration dates are from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Registration fees include book rental, $1; yearbooks, $1; media (physical education and art), $1; general education and chemistry, $1.50; high school activity ticket, $5; junior high activity ticket, $1; student insurance, $1.50-$2.50; and insurance, including football, $7.50-$11.

vast "wilderness," it can be found in the common signs along the highway. Perhaps the most frequent sign is "Watch for Horses." And we saw far more horses than wild animals unless around outposts are counted. Other signs include "Unlawful to pass school buses while leading or unloading."

1963 "Wagon Days" Bride to Be for Real

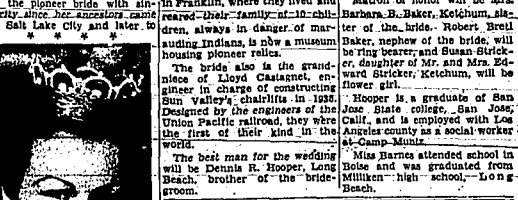

KETCHUM, Aug. 17—Bona-fide bride-to-be will be featured in the Ketchum "Wagon Days" parade on Aug. 21, when the great-great-granddaughter of Franklin pioneers will be married on a float depicting the first church in Ketchum.

Roberta Louise Barnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barnes, Ketchum, and 1963 Regatta queen at Long Beach, Calif., will become the bride of Gordon Hooper, Long Beach, son of Mrs. Mildred James, Canton, O., and Jay Hooper, San Jose, Calif.

The ceremony will be performed at 10:45 a.m. by the Rev. J. R. Kennedy, Baptist church, Ketchum, on a decorated float in front of the replica of the 1840s. The bride and her attendants all in period costumes, will be escorted to the wedding by her father in an old fashioned suiter. The groom and his attendants will arrive by stagecoach.

The pioneer wedding has been featured in all previous Wagon Days parades, but this will be the first "real" actual wedding ceremony has been performed. The float is annually prepared for the parade by Mrs. Mary Brown, in memory of her great-grandmother, the Rev. George Ritchie, first pastor of the Union Congregational church, which became the Episcopal church and is now the Leadville Express house.

Mrs. and Mrs. Corbridge later came to Idaho, and the log cabin in Franklin, where they lived and reared their family. At the birth of the bride, Robert Brent Baker, nephew of the bride, will be ring bearer, and Susan Stricker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stricker, Ketchum, will be flower girl.

Soybean and Wheat Action Has Decline

CHICAGO, Aug. 17 (AP)—Soybean and wheat prices declined sharply this week while other cereals showed moderate gains on the Chicago Board of Trade. Soybeans closed last week, wheat at 1.10 to 1.11, corn at 56 to 57, and oats at 36 to 37. Soybeans and wheat suffered from a heavy rain in the Midwest, but soybean crop estimates released after last week's close. Trade was slightly slow and uneven. The official production for soybeans for 1954 was estimated at 1.1 billion bushels. The soybean price was down as much as a cent a bushel. Government and private reports reported good production, but some farmers did complain of poor soil formation. Prices ended near last week's level. Cereals covered in corn following a smaller crop estimate than expected. Although the weekly report showed good crop progress, deterioration was reported in the mid-Atlantic states and further damage from hot dry weather in other areas. Country offerings of corn from around light. Prices all from strong levels toward the week's end on a wave of favorable crop activity. The feed grain ended firm.

WHEAT—Liquidated stock wheat contracts reflecting the official estimate for larger soft red wheat production. Heavy elevator selling against a limited demand pushed the market into stop-loss orders to sell. At the end of the week, wheat rallied to regain part of early losses on export buying. A large sale of red wheat to the United Arab Republic and another of yellow hard wheat to Pakistan prompted buying. Nearby contracts ended weak while 1954 deliveries pooled strong gains. September oats ended weak on heavy selling; but other futures firmed with corn. Rye firmed on tight supplies.

Threat of Railroad Strike Dominates Market Picture

BY JACK LEFLER
AP Business News-Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP)—The oil-swinging threat of a paralyzing railroad strike dominated business developments this week.

It appeared briefly to have lifted this Friday but later Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, leading settlement attempts, declared "we're by no means too far from a deal."

The cliffhanger situation that has made businessmen jittery for months took a turn for the better when the five operating unions agreed to arbitration of the two key issues in the work rules dispute.

But the agreement proved conditional and efforts were renewed to reduce the understanding to concrete terms.

Wirtz' management willing to arbitrate for months, said it would accept Wirtz' latest proposal.

Issues to be arbitrated are firemen's jobs and train-crewing.

The arbitration board would be made up of representatives of the carriers, the unions and two public members.

It was expected that other issues in dispute could be ironed out in negotiations.

The deadline for the railroads to put work changes into effect and for the unions to strike had been Aug. 25.

The railroad industry centers on a "featherbedding" plan that would mean that they consider unnecessary jobs. This mainly concerns the jobs of firemen and diesel locomotives.

The railroads eventually would like to get rid of 40,000 firemen and 85,000 employees altogether.

The house ways and means committee approved an across-the-board tax reduction but some cold water was thrown on the outlook by statements of fiscal officials that the legislation had a poor chance of getting through the senate.

Kansas Worries Over Atheist Colony Plans

STOCKTON, Kans., Aug. 17— "Maybe there ain't no heaven but when you go to church on Sundays and file with such fine people who believe in it you can make your own heaven on earth."

True, spoke a long-time resident of this quiet, friendly city of 2,000 in northwest Kansas. He was sitting on a shady street corner talking to an old crowd about the coming of an atheist colony to this community.

Neither one liked the idea, but the view seemingly shared by many here.

"But," said the old-timer with a shake of his shoulder, "I guess if they gonna set up here there ain't a dang thing anybody can do about it. They got a right to believe whatever they want. Maybe it won't amount to much in the long run anyway."

That view, too, is shared by a host of Stocktonians.

Most of the folk will keep a curious eye on Madelyn Murray, 42, a Baltimore divorcee, and her plans for setting up an atheistic Information and Educational center "to teach the concept of man living with man rather than man living with God."

An 80-acre tract near here already has been donated by Carl Brown, 71, Stockton atheist and nudist and a former member of the state legislature.

Mrs. Murray recently won a supreme court case to have required prayers and Bible reading in public schools declared unconstitutional. Brown, who owns more than 1,000 acres in several parts, helped finance her suit.

Religion is not taught in the public schools here nor is Bible reading required.

Some people here joke about the allegation. Many are dead serious, fearing exposure to atheistic beliefs may have an adverse affect on their children.

Hundreds of persons, the largest number from surrounding communities, have signed petitions opposing the center.

"Atheism is unpolite," said one petitioner. "We feel this will be a blight and a disgrace on the community."

Many people oppose the petitions, contending the less said about it the better.

A Catholic mother said "My child has been brought up in a church—I don't want him associating with atheists. If I see her

Parked Car Is Struck in Lot

Twin Falls police department is investigating an accident in which a properly parked car was hit by an unknown car at 8:40 a.m. Friday in the Fairway motel parking lot, Blue Lakes boulevard north.

Police said a 1959 Chrysler, owned by Clifford C. Wedgworth, Walla, Wash., was properly parked in the parking lot, and was struck in the left front door by an unknown driver who then left without making a report.

Entry Deadline for Annual Jerome Horse Show Listed

JEROME, Aug. 17— Entries for the ninth annual Amateur Western Horse show should be in by noon Wednesday and all event entries will be charged double, according to James Prunty, show-committee leader.

The horse show, sponsored by the Jerome Post-Office, will be held at 8:30 a.m. Friday at the Jerome fairgrounds.

The show will be governed and all classes judged by American horse show rules, Prunty said. According to AHIS rules, a hackamore or snaffle bit is considered as a training device. Since this is an amateur show, Prunty said they will allow all the horses to be past the breaking stage and hard bits will be required in all classes.

He pointed out that exceptions will be made in the timed events and "normal" costume class as these are not necessarily competitive.

The 15 classifications in the show include horsemanship, children 13 to 17, who have won a first, second or third in any purebred or half and novelty class two years, and all those eligible for this classification will compete against each other.

A riding horse classification for riders through 18 years, and a stock horse class also will be included. Horses used in the stock horse division cannot be used in the riding horse division.

Other classifications are Western pleasure horses (adies to ride), seven barrel race, and Western pleasure horse (men to ride). There are two children's horsemanship classifications, one for children on horses at least 85 inches high and one for those on horses 85 inches smaller than 80 inches.

The Clover leaf barrel race for amateurs will be held, but girls who participate in the barrel racing during the rodeo are not eligible.

Final classifications are match-making, Arabian costume class, Idaho-Valley-horse show within same class, both limited to age two years, and all those eligible for this classification will compete against each other.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)— Secretary of State Dean Rusk will take a vacation next week. The state department press office said today he will spend the time in Washington and New York, and possibly a day or so at Camp David, Md., the presidential retreat, north of Washington.

"Taxpayers' Strike" Seen In Defeat of School Levies

Editor, Times-News: There has been considerable speculation in newspaper editorial writers as to why the school levies are being defeated. The general school districts that are in need have been turned down by those people eligible to vote.

Well, the answer is a simple one. We have an "unhappy" taxpayers' strike. No amount of propaganda will change the "minds" until the cause of the strike have been rectified.

In the first place, you are not dealing with the run-of-the-mill voters, but the elite, and the most thoughtful of the voters. It is the property holders of the several school districts in this segment of voters was not happy that the governor and the Republican-dominated legislature asked their duty to provide adequate funds for the schools and to see that the voters' interests of the several districts. At the time the legislature convened they—and the governor knew that the general fund was in trouble.

Why did they do about it? Well, exactly nothing! They even aggravated the situation by raising their own and their constituents' salaries. They knew what the situation called for which, of course, was retrenchment.

But no, that would have been political heresy. They would have had to abolish or consolidate, by of surplus help and refrain from unnecessary expenditures.

Why didn't they do it all, it might have wrecked their smooth, well-oiled political machinery at the next election will take care of their political interests.

"Middle Ground" Editorial Irks Reader From Hazelton

Editor, Times-News: I was asked to file your editorial, "Middle Ground" for future reference in political education.

You say "from time to time our middle ground grows in somewhat more than ordinary peril from our ever-present enemies at right and left. It could be one of those times."

Can you, Mr. Editor, devise a political "spectrograph" showing the desirable "middle-ground" and just where extremist either way may be said to be? I am sure that their terms about, all seem to have a foggy notion of their relative positions and use them to suit their own brand of bias.

I hold to being a middle-ground pro-American follower of the ideas of Thomas Jefferson and Edmund Burke. I do not wish to force my will on others but I might not be smart enough to regulate the delicate forces of liberty another may need. I do not agree with anyone's "middle ground" but I do not wish to see anyone smart enough to know my needs and I do not wish to see anyone smart enough to know my needs and I do not wish to see anyone smart enough to know my needs.

There must be a "market place" of ideas. A man has the inalienable right to be let alone as long as he is not bothering his neighbor. This Constitution is a remarkable monument to this idea.

Let me be classed as "right-wing extremist." Why? Because I do not agree with anyone's "middle ground" but I do not wish to see anyone smart enough to know my needs and I do not wish to see anyone smart enough to know my needs.

Writer Says Reds Join in Racial Demonstrations

Editor, Times-News: The NAACP is the main assumption, the association for the Negroes. It has been in the news since the communist don't miss any bits and when disrupting action that helps them gain a foothold, it comes up they are there to help their cause.

We certainly the NAACP must be the guiding influence of the mass demonstrations being held out and in the city of Hazelton in the mob furnish the violence.

It is my opinion that there was a connection between the NAACP and the communist. The NAACP evidently gets its money from the communist.

and they have no control as to who joins or who does not. So the communists are there to do their dirty work.

I speak of the white man's rights, his unalienable rights, as well as the Negro's rights to own property, to own a business and a Negro or a law abiding citizen. I do not wish to see anyone smart enough to know my needs and I do not wish to see anyone smart enough to know my needs.

Federal Spending Prompts Concern of Twin Falls Man

Editor, Times-News: A friend of mine called my attention to some items worth quoting.

The house of representatives at a closed session, in 30 minutes, passed a bill to raise the national debt limit because the treasury secretary said "it was imperative."

If the political business had passed this legislation it would be explainable. Compare this legislation with the Burns credit project and the publicity given on each issue.

The next issues are a little touchy. On Jan. 1 there were $9,000,000 silver dollars in the federal treasury. On the latest report shows $1,247,512 silver dollars, one July 31, 1.6 million dollars in the treasury in one day. On July 5 gold bullion valued at $114,660,000 left the country. This occurred, as you sleep.

The latter bill will be brought up in the committee again. This bill, if passed, will take all the gold backing away from the Federal Reserve notes. Does paper money have the same value as the German marks?

When the bill was introduced to the committee last year 500 bankers descended on Washington and raised such a protest that the committee tabled the bill for the next session of congress.

The United States dollar is now facing the most serious crisis in its history and poor Mr. Kennedy is caught in a trap of his own making.

The American people can put a stop to this by writing and refusing to pay the public. There is nothing gained in writing to our representatives in Washington. We have tried for years. The day the public discovers the government is out of money, historians will record this incident as reconstruction day.

T. F. Woman Says Americans Must Support Liberty

Editor, Times-News: It appears to me that some people are missing the Lincoln. Could it be Mrs. Jackson? She said, "Not with presidents, not with congress, not with office-seekers, but with you is the question—shall the liberties of this nation be handed to the latest generation?"

Mrs. Jackson's article reminds me of a statement made by John Noble when he addressed a large audience in Twin Falls a few years ago. Noble said, "When I was a prisoner in Siberia I asked the communist guards, 'When you take over my country what kind of a job will the American community do?' The guards replied, 'We will take care of them because if they will double-cross their country, they will double-cross us.'"

If the Russians do take over this country, this writer wonders and would like to know what will the communists do for the Americans that will not support such patriotic Americans as Mrs. L. M. Jackson and M. R. Brant?

Mrs. Kennedy's Half-Sister Stars at Seaside Ball

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 17 (AP) — Debutante Josephine Pearson Taylor, Camden, S. C.

The Auchincloss' invited some 800 guests to dinner first and a list that reportedly came close to 1,000 for the ball beginning at 11 p.m. and traditionally continuing until dawn — with punch and scrambled eggs prepared at the buffet table.

—darker, dark-haired, dark-eyed and pretty, selected a strapless white organza gown with tiers of ruffles, a "ball" or "tulle" of the valley, with green leaves at the bodice.

The long dress had straight lines, but flared at the bottom with a ruffle.

She had her hair done spectacularly — she had her hair done spectacularly — she had her hair done spectacularly.

long on the social calendar, she held despite the tragedy of death of President and Mrs. Kennedy's infant son, Patrick. Mrs. Kennedy personally requested that the party go on as planned and they arranged to send a bouquet to Janet — something she was not told about in advance.

HEART SURGERY SET FOR GIRL

Mrs. Joe Allison, mother of 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Allison, has been taken to the Children's Primary Hospital, Salt Lake City, where she will undergo heart surgery this week.

in 1939. Twin Falls has erected on the ground that the housing Washington court, Pioneer authority law as passed by the legislature in 1929. The main purpose of these projects is to eliminate unsanitary and insanitary housing conditions for the eradication of slums, and for the provision of decent and sanitary dwellings for families of low income. While the housing authority has accomplished much since its inception, it has not been without difficulties. When the officials started to secure land for the first project, Pioneer square, persons brought the project in district court to enjoin the housing authority from its selling, leasing or otherwise disposing of bonds and obligations, isomer if paid.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

SUNDAY, August 18 — Born today, you have been gifted with both the mind and heart for adventure. Alert and quick-thinking, you are not a fool. You are not a fool, you are a natural leader of men. Indeed your leadership qualities will probably have been recognized early in your childhood and, if those reasons for your upbringing have been trained for "making over". You have a great capacity for work and a great store of energy upon which to draw. Do not make the mistake of believing yourself a bottomless pit of energy. However, for you are only human and can succumb to the dangers of overwork and fatigue, like any man. Or like any woman, for that matter! You do have excellent recuperative powers, however, and nothing should keep you out of commission for long.

Monday, Aug. 19 — Social and personal matters remain in the foreground. Stick closely to accepted plans.
TUESDAY, Aug. 20 — Best to put off making decisions of an irrevocable nature.
WEDNESDAY, Aug. 21 — What could be a day of confusion can be turned to good account by close attention to detail and routine.
THURSDAY, Aug. 22 — Where you cannot count on your daily guide.

Double Ring Wedding Rites Unite Couple

DELO, Aug. 17 — Marietta Chamberlain, Salt Lake City, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Chamberlain, Delo, was married to William Waddoups, son of the late Mrs. and Mrs. Penton Waddoups, Preston, in a ceremony solemnized July 15 in the LDS temple.

The double ring ceremony was performed by President Killip.

Accompanying the couple to the temple were the parents of the bride; the bride's grandmother, Mrs. M. La Chamberlain, Ruppert; the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Sanford — Bountiful; — and brothers-in-law of the bridegroom, Mrs. Pauline Jensen and Mr. and Mrs. Grant Nelson, Dennis, A. Dudley, Anselm, O'Neill, and Wesley D. Borenson, Ogden.

The couple greeted guests at a reception held in the cultural hall of the LDS church.

The couple stood before an archway of huckleberry accented by white and pink roses and beauty baskets of white chrysanthemums and red carnations.

The bride wore floor-length wedding gown of white lace underscored with white satin. The bodice was fitted and the waist and skirt featured a square neckline with longly-point sleeves. The bouffant skirt was caught in scalloped tiers. Her hair was styled in blue ruffles at the bottom. Her elbow-length veil of illusion was held by a white tulle. She carried a white orchid surrounded by red roses and white carnations. Her accessories included a white orchid surrounded by red roses and white carnations.

Mrs. Sanford Davis, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. The best man, Mr. Michael Daniels, both Salt Lake City, and Mrs. Paul Price, Ruppert, were groomsmen. Mr. Michael Daniels, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

The bride wore a red and white dress with a fitted bodice, short sleeves and bell sleeves. The skirt was long and flared. She carried a bouquet of red and white carnations.

Each carried a bouquet of red and white carnations.

The bridegroom wore a tuxedo. The bride wore a white dress with a fitted bodice, short sleeves and bell sleeves. The skirt was long and flared. She carried a bouquet of red and white carnations.

Miss Coffman, Ashcraft Say Wedding Vows

RUPERT, Aug. 17 — Sandra Jean Coffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Coffman, Ruppert, and Kenneth Rex Ashcraft, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex L. Ashcraft, were married June 27 in the Idaho Falls LDS temple by President Francis Davis.

Included among those accompanying the couple to the temple were the parents of the bride and bridegroom.

Friends of the bride were hosts at a wedding dinner for members of the wedding party in Idaho Falls.

The couple was honored with a reception in the LDS stake laboratory, which was decorated with baskets of pink carnations and orchid-iris. They greeted guests before an arch decorated with fern and orchid ribbon and topped with the traditional wedding veil.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white slipper satin. The bodice was fashioned with lace brocade and the waist came to a deep V in the back. Her point sleeves and a rounded neckline. Her elbow-length veil was held with a white tulle. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and orchid ribbon formed her bridal bouquet.

The bridegroom wore a tuxedo. The bride wore a white dress with a fitted bodice, short sleeves and bell sleeves. The skirt was long and flared. She carried a bouquet of red and white carnations.

Man Ahead for Happy Years Of Retirement

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP)—Retirement's a nasty word when you're in your 30's.

But when you're 50, it's something that happens to the old folks in the block—in their 60's.

When you're 50, you panic! You think you're going to die. You don't think you'll have enough to retire on.

Most successful retirement programs piece together income from several sources: (1) Social security. Check with the nearest local office to find out what you can expect in the way of monthly payments. An early brief check helps in planning and correcting an error in the records.

(2) Pension. If your company has a pension plan, find out how much you can expect in the way of monthly payments. An early brief check helps in planning and correcting an error in the records.

(3) Life insurance. If you have a life insurance policy, find out how much you can expect in the way of monthly payments. An early brief check helps in planning and correcting an error in the records.

Volunteer Boosts Morale Of Patients

By GAY FAULKNER
 "NEW YORK, Aug. 17—Up to the hospital, the volunteer is Uncle Eddie, just 'Eddie,' or occasionally when they want to see him, he's 'Uncle Eddie.' To the man in charge of the pediatric ward at St. Vincent's hospital, Eddie is someone who wouldn't do without. The children look to him; Eddie takes them up at their dining table.
 Eddie is Edward Schoep, 49, a waiter, who for the last five years every afternoon except week-ends has worked as a volunteer in the children's section at the hospital run by the Catholic Sisters of Charity, Schoep is a Lutheran.
 The 800-bed hospital is non-profit, supported in the main by donations, but receiving some New York City support for operation of its emergency section. It admits the ill regardless of race, color or creed.
 In five years that Schoep has been a volunteer—and he's the only male volunteer in the children's section—he has worked over 800 or more hours each year.
 Sister Margaretta of the pediatric section said the hospital's child patients lead averages from 40-60 and that private patients are few and far between. Most are charity cases.
 "We have a lot of children from institutions who have not visited even by their parents," she continued. "Eddie is most generous of himself when he's here, he's there every day."
 Schoep does not know it, but to Sister Margaretta about him.
 The volunteer, a New Yorker, began working at St. Vincent's as a boy in Wall street. He has been a waiter since 1939, except for the first year spent in the army in the Pacific in World War II. He is married and the couple has a 17-year-old son, Harry, who wants to be a physician and is working this summer in the hospital laboratory.
 Schoep puts in his hours with the children when he's through helping serve lunch at Charles French restaurant, one block away and before he returns for the dinner crowd. He chose a hospital near, he said, because it would give him more time with children.
 "My job is strictly to help morale," said Schoep. "Kids need cheer. A lot of them have been in the hospital a long time. But we don't talk about their illnesses."
 Schoep began volunteering after a visit to a friend in another hospital. "I missed the children," he said. "I missed the joy of the kids were crying. I thought then, I ought to do something."
 Schoep was reared in an orphanage. His mother died when he was 4 and his father died when he was 10.
 "I keep remembering what a wonderful child," said Schoep. "Someone to watch over me."
 He amuses the children with an assortment of cards, tricks which he also challenges them to learn; reads to them, talks to them, roughhouses with those who are able to; and shows them the old fashioned game of making ladders, crosses and stars by manipulating a piece of string looped through the fingers of both hands.
 "A piece of string will amuse a child all afternoon," said Schoep.
 "You know what bothers me," he continued, "is the way people remember kids in hospital at Christmas and then forget about them the rest of the year. The kids and the gifts will be spread out over the year."
 Many of the young patients stand out in Schoep's mind and many return to visit him and the other children after they're discharged. He remembers the small boy from Chile surrounded so badly when a cruel group of ladders tossed him into a fire that his face was mangled.
 "The boy, sent to St. Vincent's by priests of a Chilean hospital, was more than two years with physicians with numerous skin grafts literally opened his eyes and patched up a face and horribly disfigured. He was discharged, Schoep said, only to be killed there was nothing more to be done for him."
 The waiter remembered that the boy, seeing Schoep's own son in a Boy Scout uniform kept pleading, "Eddie, make me

 An early fall wedding is planned at the Church of Immaculate Conception, Buhl. A reception will be held at the home of the bride's parents.

Ruth Anderson, Steelsmith Say Nuptial Vows

BOISE, Aug. 17—Ruth Valeria Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Anderson, Boise, became the bride of Ernest Steelsmith, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Steelsmith, Boise, formerly Buhl residents, Aug. 10 at the Red Rock Christian church, Boise.
 The Rev. Roy Titus and the Rev. Dale Conroy, former Hansen resident, officiated at the double ring ceremony, performed before an altar decorated with lighted pink tapers in candelabras and a tall bouquet of pink carnations.
 The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a pearl, double-ovale tulle gown. The fitted bodice was fitted with low rounded neckline and long puffed sleeves and joined the full train. The skirt was fitted with long pointed sleeves and joined the full train. The skirt featured scattered lace medallions accented with pearls and styled with a long train. Her shoulder-length illusion veil cascaded from a double crown, styled with a slight wave. She carried a nosegay of white carnations centered with red roses and tied with white satin ribbon.
 Sharon Anderson, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her white lace over-shoulder dress featured a ruffled, elbow-length sleeve. The street-length dress was styled with the bustle and extra fullness in the back. A self bow and streamers accented the waist.
 Roy Armstrong in an identically styled gown of lace over blue and white tulle, sister of the bridegroom, in a lace over pink gown, were bridesmaids. Each carried a small nosegay of white carnations centered with a red rosebud.
 Roy Iyle, Nampa, was best man; Robert Shastor, Gary, Montford and William Raitt were usher. Candelabras were Slip Anderson, Nampa, and Mrs. John Schettler were organist and Mrs. David Wehr was soloist.

Baltimore Belts Browns, Plants Topple Detroit in Football Doubleheader

CLEVELAND, Aug. 17 (AP)—Johnny Unitas passed for two touchdowns and set up Baltimore's second victory over Detroit in a National Football League exhibition doubleheader watched by 83,218. The crowd was the largest ever to see a pro football game in Cleveland's municipal stadium. The Browns, making their first home appearance under new coach Blanton Collier, who replaced Paul Brown, showed little offensive punch in a 37-17 victory over the Lions. Cleveland got beyond the 50-yard line only once. One third-down pass by Jimmy Brown was intercepted by Frank Ryan in the end zone and the other by Collier in the second quarter. Cleveland's Fred Miller recovered a fumble on a last-second interception pass by Ryan and the Browns' defense prevented the Lions from scoring on a last-second drive.

Gene Kerns Regains Loop Bating Lead

Cowboy center Gene Kerns bounced back into the Pioneer League batting lead today after losing it to Bill Tomasek in an earlier game. Kerns was hitting .353 through Tuesday with runner-up Spencer Scott, Potlatch, had .348. Since then, Kerns has been one for 12 and probably is behind again.

Attendance during the Great Hall series was down considerably. In 1953, the Cowboys won one-half game out and four out of five against the special promotions either. This was the series the club was hoped would make the big push toward overcoming the attendance slump.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17. (AP)—Inspired Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston crushed Mexico's favored Osuna and Antonio Palafox in a slashing double-play 6-1, 6-3, 6-5 and sent the United States to a commanding 7-1 lead in the American zone Davis cup tennis semifinals. The United States, which is led by the Mexicans in the doubles, can clinch the series by winning one of Sunday's remaining singles matches. The first match, young Ralston's 19-year-old partner, O'Connell, defeated Osuna, McKinley's former partner in the doubles, and possibly deciding the series.

Musial Stars As Cardinals Edge Giants

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 17. (AP)—Stan Musial, playing his last season in the majors at 45, came through with a pinch single in the 10th inning Saturday that put the St. Louis Cardinals into a second-place tie with San Francisco on an 8-7 victory over the Oakland Athletics.

GOING ALL OUT, Musial's Rafael Ocaso returns a shot by Chuck McKinley en route to his upset victory over the American in the opening Davis cup tennis match in Los Angeles Friday. But the Americans pulled ahead Saturday when McKinley and Dennis Ralston won the doubles to lead in the series 7-1. Finals are Sunday. (AP wirephoto)

Hard Day
JEROME, Aug. 17.—Robert Bacon scored a hole-in-one on the Jerome country club seventh hole today the hard way, hitting the cup on the fly.

Bacon used a No. 4 wood on the 110-yard hole while Murray O'Rourke, Ellis Shawner and Marvin Harp looked on.

Molinas Granted Extradition Stay

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 17. (AP)—Extrajudicially, J. Edgar Hoover was granted a preliminary stay today in extradition proceedings against a former St. Louis Cardinal, who is accused of a racketeering charge. Justice Ager Williams of the state supreme court's appellate division, fourth department, granted the stay until Sept. 10, when Molinas will go before the full appellate court of five judges. He returned the 30-year-old former Columbian university star to Attica State prison until then by refusing to set bond. On Sept. 10, attorneys for Molinas will argue for another stay pending determination of an appeal of a bribery conviction that netted Molinas a 10 to 15 year sentence last Feb. 11.

Molinas is now accused of attempting to fix a 1959 game between North Carolina State and Wake Forest.

Statue to Honor Stanley Musial

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 17. (AP)—The St. Louis baseball writers will begin a fund drive to build a bronze statue of Stan Musial at the new St. Louis Riverfront stadium in commemoration of the great career of the Cardinal.

Musial, who broke numerous records, led the National League in hitting and won the most valuable player award several times. St. Louis pledged his full support to efforts to pay "this momentous tribute to a great ball player who was even greater citizen of the city, state and country."

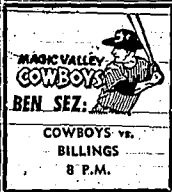

Crewman Shocks Big Three, Wins Travers Stakes

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 17. (AP)—Racing's 9-year-old division was thrown into utter confusion today when George D. Widener's Crewman humbled the so-called Big Three mid-race with the $14,400 Travers stakes before the biggest crowd in Saratoga's history. The fact that the crewman, ridden by Eric Guerin, was paid $4,500, $14,800 and $8,100 and Belmont stakes—the giving Widener his fifth Travers and second in a row. Jaipur won last year in a terrific duel with Crewman, who ridden and clinched the 3-year-old title but that worthy hold for this race.

Behind him and thoroughly beaten at the finish was Chateaux, winner of the Derby and Belmont, and Candy Spot, who took the Travers and is the year's biggest money-winning thoroughbred.

Crewman finished home in 1 1/4 lengths in front of another outsider, Mrs. Alfred J. Gloriano's Hot Dust, Darryl Dan's Chateaux staggered home third, a length back of Hot Dust, and 2 1/2 lengths ahead of Rex Ellsworth's favored Candy Spot. N. Y. C. Bend, the third of the Big Three was last.

The fourth place finish was the worst in the career of Candy Spot, who went into the 94th running of the 1 1/2 mile Travers with seven victories in ten starts this year. He had earned $294,881 and was the 6-5 favorite to take this big race.

Boston Clubs Cleveland for 10-3 Victory
BOSTON, Aug. 17. (AP)—Carl Yastrzemski strengthened his American League batting lead, driving in four runs with a homer and two singles, as Boston hammered Cleveland 10-3 today.

In Clinton and Frank Malenka each added homers while Dick Stuart contributed a two-run single in a 14-inning attack which helped righthander Dill Monbouquette achieve his 10th victory of the season.

Yastrzemski boosted his batting average three points to .338. He extended his hitting streak to seven games when he hit a first pitch for his 11th homer with one on in the first inning. He singled his next two trips, driving in a run each time, before he was called out at first on a hitting play in the sixth as he bid for an inside hit.

Mrs. Nielsen to Head Bowl Group
ROSBORNE, Aug. 17.—Mrs. Max Nielsen was named president of the Lincoln county Women's Bowling Association by the executive board Thursday evening. She succeeded Mrs. Max Colman, who was elected last spring but resigned.

Details appointments include Mrs. Clyde Rapp, Mrs. Haddock and Mrs. Luella DeWitt nominating, and Mrs. Dorothy Halverford, Mrs. Florin Hanson and Mrs. Reid Newby, acting.

The group agreed on an April month and handicaps to be figured from 200 instead of 180, according to the association's constitution. The Mountain View lanes will be the trophy for highest overall score and the bowler in the month plus during the year.

BETTER THAN OLD road from Twin Falls to Shoshone & this strip of desert just scraped away to form a fire break, should grow along highway 93 igniting the fire break is L. F. Wiseman, Twin Falls, area pioneer who traveled from Twin Falls to Shoshone as early as 1907. The road there, he recalls, was not as easily traveled as the fire break would be, should someone choose to "run this way rather than on paved highway 93." With the desert growth in a highly "dry and explosive state," BLM officials maintain "an around the clock alert." (Times-News photo)

50 FINE FOR THROWING LIGHTED MATERIAL ON HIGHWAY
DURING CLOSED FIRE SEASON
PENALTY $100 FINE

EARLY TRAVELERS did not require signs like this one along highway 93 to remind them to be careful of range fires, L. F. Wiseman, shown here inspecting the sign, recalls. Hardly more than a path when he first traveled it, Wiseman recalls that the desert area between Twin Falls and Shoshone was timber dry even then. Slow moving vehicles, drawn by horses, made caution of fire imperative. (Times-News photo)

Local Woman Plans Try for Kodiak Bear During Alaska Hunting Trip

Clyde Ross has shot a couple of bears in his time but now his wife, Mrs. Rosa, has it in mind to outdo him with one shot. With that shot she hopes to bag herself a Kodiak bear that will be as big as her husband's. Mrs. Rosa gets her chance sometime after Sept. 20. That is the date the couple will leave Twin Falls and head north on the "Alcan" highway for Anchorage and then to Homer and Cook Inlet, on the Gulf of Alaska. From there they take an airplane to Kodiak where the well-known Alaskan guide Joe Maxwell will take them under his wing. Her husband is cooperating in the hunt, however, to the extent he has "promised" to do nothing to keep her from attempting to get her trophy Kodiak bear. He will shoot right along with her.

but he will be shooting a movie camera to record her efforts—successful ones, they both hope. In downing a Kodiak, the largest of all bears. The Rosa duo will make the trip in their stationwagon and will be accompanied part of the way, probably at least to Anchorage, by Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Cornelison, Twin Falls, traveling in a truck with overhead mounted on the roof. Mrs. Rosa plans to use a 300 magnum rifle and a 200 grain

Spoils Trend Still Exists In Politics

By United Press International The spoils system, the political plum of Andrew Jackson, still flourishes in many states all over the nation. But no state is there much more than the modern version of the spoils system could ever breed the same corruption that spread in the 19th century. A United Press International check of state capitols shows Jackson played the spoils system to full flower when he loaded his administration with political followers upon entering the White House in 1829. At that time, Sen. William Learned Marcy protested on the floor of the senate, they are nothing wrong in the rule that to the victors belong the spoils of the enemy—and thereby gave the spoils system a name. Presidents and politicians after Jackson played the spoils system game far more ruthlessly. But while the spoils—or patronage—system is still common in American government, many steps have been taken to get it out of the governors' offices. Many states have introduced civil service or merit systems to cut into the governor's strength and deprive him of the power to hand out jobs. Despite the trend, the party faithful — no matter of which party—can still reap their reward for delivering the vote in most states. Nor is the spoils system unrespectable. Many governors heartily endorse it. New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, a Republican and a firm believer in the patronage system, has said that those who work in politics have a right to take part in government when their political efforts succeed. Gov. Matthew E. Welsh, D., Ind., said the patronage system "is a great ally to our political parties."

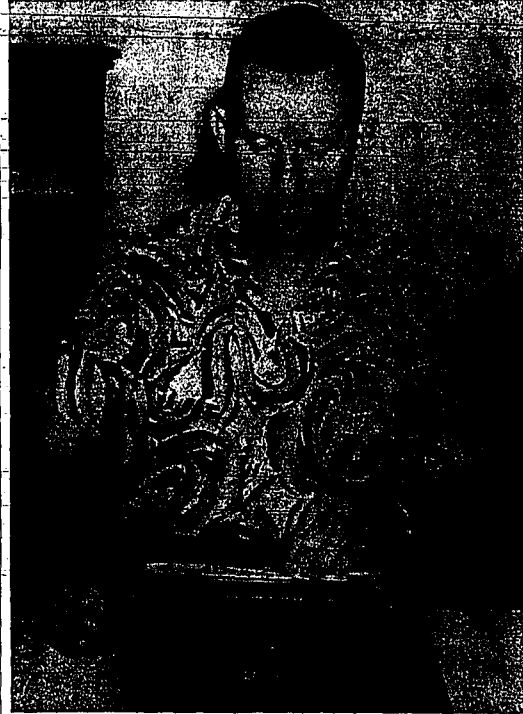

SPOT ON THE MAP where Mrs. Clyde Ross hopes to bag her first Kodiak bear is viewed by her husband. The couple will leave Twin Falls Sept. 20 for Kodiak Island, where a guide has made all arrangements for the hunt. Ross will hunt other big game while up north but will leave the task of getting a trophy Kodiak to his wife. Part of the shooting and bowing trophies which Mrs. Rosa has won are seen on the shelves behind them. (Times-News photo)

Early Day Travelers Had Natural Fear of Fire

Slowly moving traffic in the area he traveled over for the first time in about 1907. Today, a paved highway follows about the same route and is designated US 93. Today, also, the highway is paralleled with keraped places where desert growth has been entirely removed. Those are fire roads (or walls) which aid in preventing spread of fire caused by highway 93 motorists flipping lighted materials out of their swiftly moving vehicles. "When I first made the trip," Wiseman said, "the slow horse drawn vehicle made it really unnecessary that we be warned against range fires. We realized that if a fire was started by us we might not be able to outrun it." (Continued on Page 23)

LETTERS WILL play an important role in Dr. Benton K. Bristol's plan to establish an agriculture education system at Ajer, India. Dr. Bristol will spend two years in India advising the government and the University of Ajer. The educator spent a few days visiting his mother, Mrs. A. E. Teuchmann. (Times-News photo)

T.F. Visitor Enroute to India to Start Program

Practically every southern Idaho resident is acquainted with the 4-H program. Before departing for India, he and his wife spent several days in Idaho extension service. Their presence is taken for granted. Teaching agriculture is second nature in the public school system. Dr. Bristol's task is to establish an instruction system for the ministry of education in India. At present, high school in India is devoted mainly to college preparatory work. Recently India adopted a multi-purpose high school system and in general the agriculture teaching program will be aimed at these schools, he said. Dr. Bristol noted that in the field of agriculture the United States has no equal. Even Russia has assistance in many countries that do not compete with our agriculture methods. "Many nations would like to have our problems concerning agriculture," he said. (Continued on Page 23)

Stamp Window

BY DAVID SWIT
A new U.S. 1-cent International postal card with "USA-World Vacationland" theme will be issued in New York government ceremonies tied in with a welcome-for some 1,200 tourists from Europe.

The tourists, aboard the P and O-Orient Line "Cambria," will be in the Twin Falls for a Labor day week-end. First-day ceremonies arranged by the U.S. Post Office, through the government agency, will be part of their welcome.

The postal card, with its red, white and blue imprinted stamp, will be available in both 7-cent single and 16-cent reply-paid double cards. The 7-cent card carries a postal card anywhere in the world by surface transportation.

Collectors desiring first-day cancellations may send a request, along with a legible address and seven cents for each single card, or 24 cents for each double card, to the New York postmaster in an envelope marked "First-Day Cancel, 1-cent card." When only one stamp is ordered, the card is dressed by postal employees, given the first-day postmark, and the reply-paid card is enclosed. Where more than one card is ordered they will be sent uncancelled through the postoffice department envelope.

The State of Bhutan, one of the seven British-protected Tribal states of Nepal, is the newest state in the world. It will have daily mail connections through the British postoffice at Habbani.

Sherjeh has issued a definitive set of stamps in 1, 2, 4, 5, 6, 8, 10, 12, 20, 30, 40, 60 and 75 nye pulse and 1-rupee denomination—showing a scene of the state on the Persian Gulf and its three dependencies on the Gulf of Oman. The design includes the national flag and a portrait of the ruler, Sheikh Saif bin Sultan al-Qasbi. Airmail stamps are in 1, 2, 4 and 10-rupee values, with the addition to the design of a bird flying over the map.

An illustrated pamphlet, intended as a brief introduction to philately is now available free from the Washington Post, Washington, D.C. The pamphlet is titled "Stamp Collecting" and is available in both 7-cent single and 16-cent reply-paid double cards. The 7-cent card carries a postal card anywhere in the world by surface transportation.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Probably the oldest resident of ALMO, in southwest Cassia county, Mrs. Alice Jean Durfee Rice, who celebrated her 75th birthday anniversary this year. She has good health, visits relatives and friends and is still attending church regularly. She keeps active with many hobbies and interests. Keeping family records of her 35 grandchildren and 72 great-grandchildren and 17 great-great-grandchildren is just one of her many interests. She says she wishes her grandchildren and great-grandchildren would bring her up to date on the ages and names of their offspring so her records may be accurate.

During the past year she has been making a braided bedspread rug for each of her children. She also furnishes rugs for the Almo Relief society bazaars.

Lately she has been cutting silk pieces for an "eccentric star" quilt, a pattern many people quite enthusiastically welcome—very complicated. She and her daughter, Mrs. Janice Wake, also make stuffed toys and do a number of paintings.

An active member in the church all her life, she has entertained countless numbers of primary children with her collection of Indian stories, most of them from real life.

Born at Beaver Dam, Wis. in 1888, Mrs. Rice recalls her parents crossing the plains arriving in Bait Lake valley in October, 1893. The plains had very little flour and when that was gone they had to live on corn meal and ground wheat. The men planted all the speltz grain and the family was nearly starving. The grain could be used the grain for bread.

But one day Mrs. Rice said she was a child, her brothers and sisters came running to her mother and said, "There's no bread going right toward grain patch!"

The family tried to scow the corn away, but it didn't grow. When we saw that Mother was standing still and praying in the fields and as the crickets began to rise until she was black with them. They ate the crickets and the grain went away and never came back," the pioneer states.

In 1950, when Mrs. Rice was 72 years old, the family moved to Almo where they joined about 50 other families in this day settlement. She recalls the school term lasted only three months of each year. Her first teacher was Sylvia Ward, ELSEA School was held in a house in Lakeside called the "School house."

One other school house was in the Cove in a Mr. Robinson's field and church and dance and other amusements. She was in the school when she was 11 years old. Mrs. Rice recalls the time she was held in Almo, when Mrs. Mac Brackley, Mrs. Burt's school was held in a house in Lakeside called the "School house."

Mrs. Rice recalls the time she was held in Almo, when Mrs. Mac Brackley, Mrs. Burt's school was held in a house in Lakeside called the "School house."

When the Indian left the Durfees bid the girl in the stack and bid the Weber river. The children made a hole in the stack and put bread in there to keep the girl alive. They kept her here for about three weeks. One night Little Soldier came who was called, though she heard Indians walking around the stack. Thinking she was hiding there, they planned to burn it. So Mrs. Durfee had the square brought to the house.

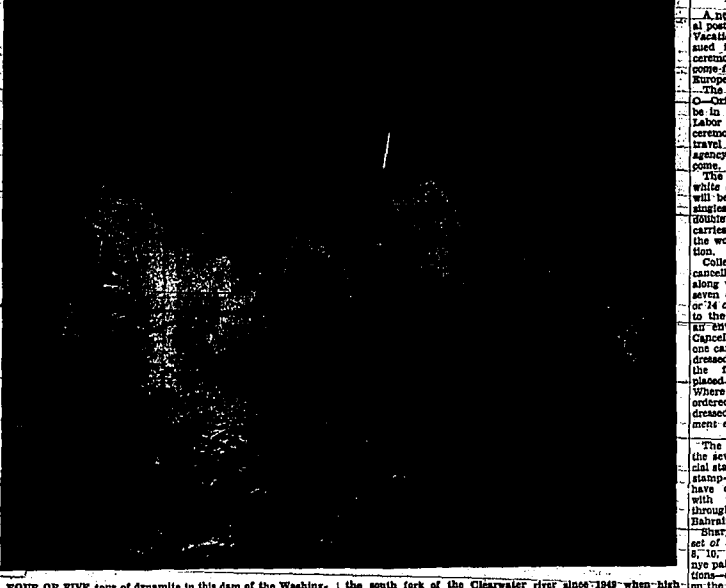

That very night Little Soldier, the cruel Indian, returned, took him and started to shoot, but Mrs. Rice's uncle stopped him and chased him off the place, throwing his cane at the retreating Indian.

"Mother kept Little Squaw for about a month," Mrs. Rice recalled. "One day when she went to a neighbor's to 'borrow' some year, Little Soldier tried to run her down on his horse. She was near a haystack and got under that. This time a nobody saw her and she was again he was driven away."

The next day the whole tribe came to get Little Squaw, saying they would kill the whole family if they did not give up Little Squaw. Even the state president said it was best to let the girl go," Mrs. Rice said.

Little Squaw was dead to the Indians all her life. She has entertained countless numbers of primary children with her collection of Indian stories, most of them from real life.

FOUR OR FIVE tons of dynamite in this dam of the Washington Water Power company, east of Grandville, has opened scores of miles of excellent spawning grounds for steelhead trout. This sea-run fish have blocked from the upper reaches of the south fork of the Clearwater river since 1948 when high-water destroyed the ladders. Now the dam is gone. It was blown up in a project that took place Aug. 4 (First and Game departments photo).

Significant Items Acquired by County Historical Society Through Donation

A donation by Claude Wiley, Twin Falls, son of Shoshone in 1906, Driver was listed as "Sunny Jim" Baker.

Still another picture is of the first public school in Kimberly which school wagons, looking much like covered wagons, parked in front. Also pictured is an early day Kimberly parade.

Also donated is the final certificate, number 346 and dated Nov. 11, 1926, on a parcel of land which the late Mr. Peterson took up under the Carey act, eighty acres of ground came under the certificate. At that time Twin Falls and Kimberly were in Cassia county.

Peter Goertzen, curator of the society museum at the Twin Falls county fairgrounds, said that the articles would be added to the collection which the organization now owns. Work is starting on exhibits which will feature at the museum during which the late Mr. Peterson took up under the Carey act, eighty acres of ground came under the certificate. At that time Twin Falls and Kimberly were in Cassia county.

Awards Given At Buhl 4-H Special Event

Buhl, Aug. 17.—Annual 4-H achievement day awards program, talent show and style dress revue was held Wednesday in the Buhl high school auditorium with a capacity crowd in attendance.

Awards were presented 4-H members who won the demonstration and judging activities on achievement day July 30. Winners include Phillip Quigley of the Cedar, Draw Livestock club, first; Calvin Johnson, Lucerne Feeders and Breeders, second, and Jill Mathews-Cedar-Draw Livestock club, third.

The Chevrolet, second, was considered a total loss, but there was no damage to the truck, according to Buhl city police, who investigated.

Castleford Man Cited by Police

Buhl, Aug. 17.—Nebel Alfred, 45, Castleford, was cited for driving a truck without a driver's license following a truck-car accident at 6:35 p.m. Wednesday at the intersection of 13th avenue north and Walnut street, Buhl.

Alfred, driving a Diamond-T truck, traveling west, rounded the corner and struck a stopped 1937 Chevrolet, driven by Mrs. Clara M. Ulrich, 46, Buhl, Mrs. Ulrich headed east—had pulled over to the right side of the road. The front bumper of the truck and had stopped and pulled over to the right side of the road. The front bumper of the truck caught the front end of the car.

The Chevrolet was considered a total loss, but there was no damage to the truck, according to Buhl city police, who investigated.

Newspaper Worker Rides One Wheel

Getting to and from work poses problems for many newspapermen. William Rosenbaum, Times-News apprentice printer, has come up with a novel way to get back and forth to work. He rides a unicycle.

A unicycle is a one-wheeled vehicle with the rider seated above the wheel. There is no steering apparatus and the rider depends on balance to turn and maneuver. Usually a unicycle is part of a circus act.

Rosenbaum admits the children tease him as he pedals up and down the street and many a car driver has looked across at him. However, there are advantages to riding a unicycle to work.

First, it leaves both hands free to carry a lunch bucket or small items from grocery stores. It moves easily through traffic and parking is no problem. Lastly, it is easy to pick up and stow.

Rosenbaum became acquainted with the unicycle while attending printing school at Idaho State University. It seems he and a neighbor dismantled a child's tricycle and moved the seat to the space occupied by the handlebars.

The neighbor never did learn how to ride the unicycle. Rosenbaum admits it took several hours of practice each night for a week to master the one-wheeled affair.

Idaho State University is located on hilly ground and Rosenbaum had a little difficulty in the area of Twin Falls. However, it is a little flatter and is easier to get around.

The unicycle Rosenbaum currently is riding is work purchased at a Twin Falls bicycle and hand store. The salesman didn't know he had a unicycle for sale until they put it together.

Rosenbaum claims that unicycle riding is easy and is better exercise than bicycling. "Anyone can ride a bike. With a unicycle one has to develop timing and coordination," said Rosenbaum.

U.S. Supreme Court Mulls Jurisdiction

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (UPI)—The U.S. supreme court is expected to blow away some of the haze that confuses and confuses the picture of legislative reapportionment in the 50 states.

On Nov. 12 the court will hear arguments in cases involving the districting of legislatures in Virginia, Maryland, New York and Alabama.

The court's decision—expected later in the year—will tell the other states, and the other federal courts just what the supreme court expects them to do.

Although the supreme court, in a March 26, 1962, decision, said that federal courts have jurisdiction in cases where citizens complain about legislative districting, the court left a number of questions unanswered. It may answer them now.

Or, if it doesn't answer the questions in these four cases, the court likely will—and when it does set up a case involving the Oklahoma legislature.

Last July 17, a three-judge federal court in Oklahoma City ordered the reapportionment of both houses of the Oklahoma legislature on the basis of population and nothing else.

Oklahoma Atty. Gen. Charles McGinnis says he would appeal to the supreme court.

The Oklahoma decision is significant in these four cases, the court says, because they cover two questions most often asked about reapportionment: Is the "one man, one vote" system legal? These are legislatures which are like congress in that they have the basic structure of population and the other by geographic units.

Or, if a house is apportioned by population—how strictly does it have to follow population? Do the courts have the power to redraw legislative districts? And, if so, how often, and under what conditions, are they to be redrawn?

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT Tractor Noise Doubles for Orchestra As Singing Filer Farmer Vocalizes

FILER, Aug. 17—Take it from Roger Vincent, the seat-of-a-motor-bouncing tractorist, it's a noisy-bouncing tractorist.

Reasons are many, but to name a couple he declares that under such circumstances the only thing doing the vocalizing "is far enough away from the neighbors to look for such a thing and after a while, the noise of the tractor motor blends itself in the same sort of an orchestral background."

To be "right honest," Vincent says the first few whistles he sings to farm or farms to sing—although he has a sneaking suspicion that if he wouldn't have a "feature" enough to pursue the singing hobby.

Vincent has been singing for just about as long as he can remember.

"Maybe I started as a baby when I first took my first steps. That actually was not too long ago, because he now is, having been born in Filer on May 30, 1928.

He still works at singing, taking regular lessons with Lucille Lippenetz as teacher. In high school he sang in the choir, played the clarinet and saxophone, but finally let the instruments go to concentrate on voice.

In that time he has developed into one of the more popular singers in the state.

He was, for Johnny Bonner and the singing divinity choir in Japan during World War II; soloist with the Vandenberg, the University of Idaho choir; and soloist with the Boise Philharmonic symphony and sang in "Ring Around the Rosary." He has written about Harry Orchard, convicted of murdering one of Idaho's governors.

He has been connected with the Philharmonic group since it first formed and during that period has appeared in every production. He sang the lead in "Carrousel," "Annie Get Your Gun" and "Kiss Me Kate," and was in the chorus of "Brigadoon." In Oklahoma, he sang the supporting role of All Hallam, the salesman, and also was chorus director.

In Boise and Twin Falls he has sung in such operas as "The Telephone and Marriage of Figaro." He was director of the first production of the Methodist in Twin Falls and since then has been soloist.

Vincent went to the now non-existent Washington grade school as a child and was graduated from Filer high school. He got his first taste of opera in high school where Mrs. Edith Warberg was then drama coach. Outside of school his singing teacher was Mrs. C. F. Perry in Filer.

Singing was not his only high school activity. He played football and was in the band. He was president of both junior and senior classes at school. He directed the choir three years in his senior year received the Kiwanis club award for being the most outstanding member of the school.

He also served as president of the FFA chapter and received the state and American farmer degree in that year, 1946.

Out of high school he was enlisted in the infantry and served in the Philippines and Japan. After the war he entered the University of Idaho where he majored in music and agriculture.

After completion of his college work, he returned to Filer where he set about farming on his own—first on the land of his parents and later on the land of Vincent, and then on his newly purchased farm.

This was after he had married Margaret Willis, twin Falls. He first met her at the University. Settling down to farming 100 acres near Filer and operating another 300 acres near Clear Lake, which he rents for pasture. His main activity is dairy farming.

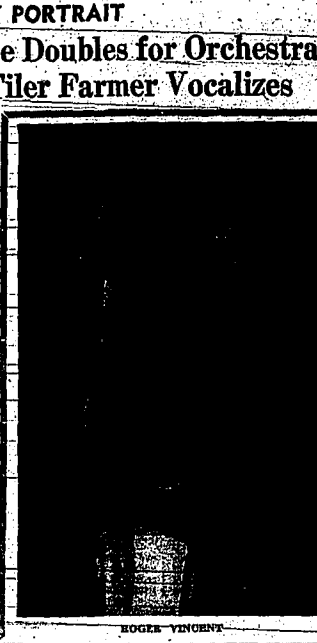

He has a herd of 175 cows. He does his own planting and harvesting and raises a diversified crop which includes eggs, beans, corn, grain and hay.

Despite this work load and his participation in the musical comedy productions of the Dilatantes, he finds time to be an active member of the Farm Bureau federation and the Methodist church in Filer.

Early Day Travelers Had Natural Fear of Fire

That is in contrast, BLM officials declare, with some modern day travelers who think nothing of flipping out lighter materials even though there is a plane to extinguish them in a state.

State law now prohibits, with threat of fine, the throwing of lighted articles from automobiles. In winter and rainy seasons the fine can reach $50. In dry seasons, like this summer, the fine can go as high as $100.

People this law, officials point out, there are always a few lawbreakers. Because of this the highway between the Jerome-Haston highway intersection and Shoshone is mostly paralleled by what some drivers mistake for fire roads. Actually it is an area where the desert growth has been scraped away, thus forming a "road" which many times slips spread of a highway fire into the vast acreage adjoining.

With extremely dry conditions existing at the present time, authorities maintain a 24-hour alert on the fire front. Airplanes and helicopters, in addition to ground crews, move swiftly to contain any range fire, whether caused by man or the weather, 1963 season.

Changes for Wagon Event Dances Given

KETCHUM, Aug. 17—Mrs. Ray Brown, reporting for the dance committee for Wagon days, advised members of the Ketchum Sun Valley Chamber of Commerce at their meeting Wednesday noon at the Alpine cafe, that something new will be tried this year.

Instead of holding dances for everyone in the grade school gymnasium and YOPF hall, as has been done in the past, these dances will be only for teenagers. Taxi dances will be held for adults at various places throughout Ketchum.

Mrs. Robert Black, also of the wagon days committee, urged all businessmen and their employees to wear western or Continental clothing next Sunday.

Cover Important Item Idaho Quail Hunting

IN THE THROCKMORTON... a beautiful dark bird with reddish throat and long plume on the head which we recognize as the plumed quail or mountain quail.

"The other is the California quail or valley quail, which is a more common bird, and is a drabber looking variety over the bulk of the state, because of the grayish plumage. It is sometimes called 'blue quail'."

Bobwhite quail were first introduced into Idaho territory in the early 1870s by sportsmen and hunters of the Boise river valley. They rapidly spread throughout a section of the river bottom—a section in 1921 sportsmen in Lemhi county were successful in establishing an introduction of Gambel's quail from southern Nevada. This quail resembling the Valley quail, normally ranges much farther south but the introduction has persisted in this isolated Idaho valley.

There is some question as to whether the mountain and valley quail originally existed in any part of Idaho territory. Some authorities believe Idaho quails are descended from birds introduced to adjacent Oregon or Washington, that the birds moved from those areas into Idaho and therefore cannot be classed as native here.

It is conceivable, however, that Idaho quails, particularly the lush and continuous, might have provided safe avenues by which quail entered their range from lower centers of population. Today, of course, many of these trailways have been broken or thinned out by pressure of man's occupancy.

The sport of quail shooting depends on several factors, but dense, protective cover is the absolute essential. Quail are large quantities of seeds and insects. Feeding areas, seed and open, sun dappled areas, cover, with a year round supply of clean water will support quail in our territory.

Seasonal cold weather is no problem if food, water and cover is adequate. Quail cover is preferably of trampled type, will discourage predators and provide easy passage beneath. The prevalence of clean farming, fence removal, and the clearing of streambottom land, is recognized that the quality of the remaining good cover is not shooting success—the chief limiting factor on quail numbers here.

Researchers know that the one sure way to eliminate quail from an area is to bulldoze out the trampled thickets. When this happens the cover that used the area year after year will abruptly disappear, despite optimum conditions of food and water.

It is established that a quail in suitable habitat will remain in a more or less constant level from year to year, but the fluctuating somewhat. With the varieties of weather which always have a bearing on water holes, brood size and food supply. Reasonable gun pressure on such covets in the fall has no

THREE CROSSES, marking site of as many failings at an intersection north-east of Kimberly, have taken a beating since first erected. G. D. Nelson, weather expert whose office is nearby, ponders the situation which would cause destruction of the crosses. Traffic at the intersection will be heavier than ever when the soil testing complex in the vicinity is completed and in use. Marking of valley sites was statewide a few years ago, but the practice has been discontinued recently. Usually, private individuals or groups would pay for the crosses, designed to warn motorists that death had been found (or more times) struck at that point. Whether damage to these crosses was deliberate or accidental is not known. (Times-News photo) address effect on next year's crop.

The Idaho fish and game department for years had advocated more quail hunting by opening more areas to shooting with earlier and longer seasons. More liberal bag and possession limits. Since 1963 quail hunting has been permitted in 25 different counties where quail are sufficiently numerous to provide sport. In 1961 the bag limit was increased to 10 birds, with 20 in possession to encourage more hunter participation in the sport.

Open seasons have prevailed for many years in the North Idaho counties of Clearwater, Idaho, Latah, Lewis and Nez Perce. In these counties scattered covets of quail may be found along most of the brush-filled stream bottoms. Bobwhite generally are found at lower elevations than the other forms, existing in very limited numbers in these counties.

In southwestern Idaho, Bobwhite occur along the lower Boise, Paria and Snake rivers from Ada and Canyon counties north into Gem and Fayette counties. Valley quail occupy this area also, but in addition range up into tributary canyons where their range overlaps with that of the mountain quail, normally found at intermediate and upper elevations.

Valley quail may be found along streams draining into the Snake and Salmon rivers in regions as far north as Washington and Adams and eastward into Blaine, Gooding, Jerome, Twin Falls, Cassia and Minidoka counties. Ada, Custer and Blaine counties also have abundant populations of the blue colored quail.

In addition, both valley and mountain quail may be successfully hunted along water courses in Owyhee county. Open seasons in some of these counties last for more than 40 days in 1962. Hunting of Gambel's quail in Lemhi county has been permitted since 1957.

The history of regulations on quail shooting reveals an interesting change in management concepts during the years—from complete closure to the present liberal limits. As recently as the Water partition bullet, she will take along a spare gun.

"Because the guide has warned them it will be wet where they will be cruising, and that the temperature goes from about a 20-degree above to a high of 10 degrees above that, they will take plenty of waterproof clothing with them.

Color of this protective clothing will be "quiet" to blend with the "background"—Most of the cruising will be on what is known as Sheliker Strait.

"We'll be sure they get where they want to go, the couple will take along a couple of spare tires in addition to the good ones on the wheels. They will be gone about one month and will have traveled about 2,000 miles before they return to Twin Falls.

"This hunt has been a 'dream' for Mrs. Rose ever since she first hunted competitive shooting. She holds many trophies and awards—both she and her husband are big game hunters in Idaho, having bagged elk, deer and antelope.

Even their pet toy Boston bulldog, "Boots," will get in on the hunt, but will travel only as far as Anchorage, where she will be placed, in a kennel awaiting the return of Mrs. and Mrs. Rose.

Rose will not be without some sort of trophy when they start home. She hopes after his wife gets a bear (she also hopes) he will try his hand at downing a sea lion or seal.

Rose said all arrangements for the hunt have been completed and added, "Now all we have to do is count the days 'til Sept. 20."

U. S. Soldier Is Furnished Quality Diet

CHICAGO, Aug. 17 (AP)—The U. S. soldier is getting more and better food today than ever before.

Mal. Gen. Thomas B. Evans, head of the defense subsistence supply center headquartered here, says it costs an average of 40 cents a day to feed a man in the armed forces.

To feed the 2.6 million men in the armed services, the supply center spends more than 2.5 million dollars each work day. This includes the largest food budget in the United States.

To operate his far-flung food procurement and shipping system, Evans commands 100,000 men, 100,000 officers, 100,000 men.

Continental U. S. forces are stretched 10 regional offices in the United States. There are 10 in the Chicago office.

"It's the job with a minimum of people," said General Evans.

Armed forces kitchens are supplied through 250 points pointed close to troop concentrations.

Planning meals begins with a list of menus headed by Major G. Bolman, a civilian. The day's menus are planned through 100.

Menus like the Chicago office, which in advance of use, this large-quality, basic depends planned as much as 10 months in advance.

Meals are built around a food value of 4,000 to 4,200 calories a day.

Each day's menu must have the highly acceptable meats, such as steak, roast beef, stew. Less acceptable fare is offered as alternatives at dinner or supper.

Armed services personnel are served steak three times a month, chicken or turkey once a month, turkey twice, ham four or five times, pork ribs, chops or steaks four to five times.

The American soldier consumes three times as much fruit as his civilian cousin. He consumes four times as much fruits and vegetables.

The soldier is furnished with all the milk he can drink. Fresh milk is purchased in 100 counties nearest military bases. Everywhere except in Japan and Korea, where most of the milk and butterfat are reconstituted, fresh milk is available.

qual radius covered in their travels rarely exceeds one-half mile; and radius of daily range seldom is more than 200 yards. In certain, if the covet is undisturbed.

Considerable good quail cover still remains in Idaho, despite prevalence of clean farming, fence removal, and the clearing of streambottom land, is recognized that the quality of the remaining good cover is not shooting success—the chief limiting factor on quail numbers here.

Researchers know that the one sure way to eliminate quail from an area is to bulldoze out the trampled thickets. When this happens the cover that used the area year after year will abruptly disappear, despite optimum conditions of food and water.

It is established that a quail in suitable habitat will remain in a more or less constant level from year to year, but the fluctuating somewhat. With the varieties of weather which always have a bearing on water holes, brood size and food supply. Reasonable gun pressure on such covets in the fall has no middle 1940's short seasons of 10 to 20 days as the rule, with few areas open.

"During the mid-period of over-protection the only significant changes in quail numbers, it is now recognized, have been due to changes in land use which have altered the habitat.

Hunter questionnaire returns reveal a long-term average harvest of nearly 80,000 quail a year. The earlier opening last year, in mid-September, may have been a factor in the rise of five per cent in quail harvest figures over 1961. Or this may have been due to the increased numbers of hunters in areas where the range of the checker partition coincides with that of the quail.

Few Idaho hunters seek out quail as a primary target, as a result a potential resource is wasted annually, the surplus merely being taken by other ferals before the next spring.

"I know, Imogene, I thought the whole point in coming out here was to get away from it!"

"We weren't really going out tonight until we saw your car drive u-"

"If you can convince Tommy the fact is all behind you and that you're going to start giving your new role..."

"Well, wadawya says?"

"YOU SAID THAT GHO... BOX WAS AN ABSOLUTELY SAFE CHICKEN SHELTER - AND NOW LOOK AT IT!"

"SO'S BOONIN' LOUISVILLE... CHARLIE - WIF YORE GREAT BIG FEET?"

"DR. MORGAN - THIS IS MIDDLE WILEY... A WONDERFUL MIGHT SEE YOU - YOU ABOUT BOB?"

"GEOFFREY - THAT I REMEMBER! IT WAS A TEN-DOLLAR BILL!"

"KIRBY IS QUICKLY FORGOTTEN! HOW WONDERFUL! STAY OUR COSTUMES GO SO WELL TOGETHER - MARY VAN CORTLANDZ."

"ALLEY COP - I'M THE KING WILLIE... HE'S BEEN TALKING ABOUT!"

"TERRY AND THE FARTS - AN OLD PARTY THAT LOOKS LIKE BRIGHT RED BUDGETERS? HE WOULDN'T BE PULLIN' ME LEG FELLA'S."

"VENT ROOM - WITH RAMPART AND ANOTHER... FREE CLASSMAN APPROACHING, BOOBY SAYS HIS DISORDER."

"OH, NO! - HEY! YOLLA - LET'S NOT BE IN SUCH A BLASTED HURRY!"

"WAKE YOUR ACCIDENT STORY WAS A COMPLETE FABRICATION! SINCE YOU'VE MENTIONED THIS, I'D LIKE TO ASK YOU TO SIGN OVER THE DICTIONARY YOU MIGHT GET READY TO SACRIFICE SPIRITUAL CHARACTERS WITH YOUR PARTNER IN CRIMES BY THE WAY, JUDGE BENCHLEY IS ON THE BENCH THIS TERM."

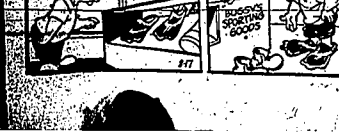

"WANT TO TRY ON ONE OF MY MISTAKE? I'LL GET WAIT FOR SOME ROBIN TO LIKE YOU GET BY MISTAKE?"

"NOW I KNOW WHY HE'S DIFFERENT THAN US - HE HAD A BROTHER WHO WAS EVEN COLLECTOR. I THINK WE USE OL' BACKS AND THE WINDOW IN THE CASE OF HIS DAD'S!"

"MR. GOMBA, ONCE YOU TELL TOMMY THE TRUTH YOU WON'T HAVE TO HIDE ANYTHING. THERE'S THE ONLY BASIC FOR A FRESH START!"

"HOW DO YA LIKE THEM, LUCY? THEY FEEL GOOD BUT TO LIKE TO TEST THEM IN THE WATER!"

"THAT'S A LIL' DIFFICULTY BUT FOLLER ME!"

"WELL, WADAWYA SAYS?"

"I WANT A PAIR OF PINS OF FRIEND!"

NEW ROUTE PLANNED for the access road from highway 93 to Alturas lake in the Sawtooth valley area is inspected by Jack Levin, Twin Falls, Sawtooth National Forest recreation official. The road, on which work starts in the immediate future, will be straightened in several places, eliminating dangerous curves. Grading is expected to be done before winter, with blacktopping completed next summer. The stumps which surrounded Levin will be bulldozed out and burned when the road contractor starts work. Alturas lake is one of several easily reached lakes in the area over Galena summit. (Times-News photo)

T. F. Visitor Will Begin India School

He believes the key to establishing an agriculture educational system is communication. He referred to communication with the Indian farmer and communication with American information sources. Dr. Bristol is counting heavily on numerous contacts with agriculture professors and agricultural industry to supply him with necessary information when the need arises.
"A youth, Dr. Bristol was raised on a Nebraska farm. He received his bachelor's degree from Colorado State university. His master's degree was obtained from Oklahoma State university and his doctor's degree was from Pennsylvania State university. For the past nine years he has been a member of the Pennsylvania State university staff, intermingled with this is several years of teaching vocational agriculture in Colorado and other states.
Dr. Bristol has co-authored books on agriculture and has written several magazine articles on the subject.
"No matter what problems arise, I feel that somewhere there is an answer," he said. "In addition he is no stranger to the Orient and surrounding area. His military service was in the Philippines, Alaska, Korea and Okinawa. He has made trips into the Orient on other occasions.
Dr. Bristol will be headquartered at Ajer, India. He goes to India with no preconceived ideas. "The only thing I really want now is information on the country. Certainly they have made certain discoveries. The more I find out now, the fewer problems I expect to face," he said.
A short indoctrination course will be held for Dr. Bristol when he arrives in New Delhi. This will cover the customs and traditions of the Indian farmer.
Essentially farmers are farmers the world over, claims Dr. Bristol. "For this reason we will have to show two kinds of results—the immediate and the long range."
The best planning in the world can still result in crop failure.

Driver Is Cited After Accident

Michael J. King, 34, 448 Steyburn avenue was cited by city police for failure to yield the right of way after a two-car collision at 3:42 p.m. Thursday at the intersections of Shoshone street, north and Eighth avenue, north.
Police said a 1963 Nash Ambassador, driven by King, had stopped at a stop sign on Eighth avenue north and then pulled out into Shoshone street north, striking a 1961 GMC pickup truck, driven by Katherine J. Hager, 606 1/2 Monica State drive, which was going north on Shoshone street.
Both cars were damaged.

Work Slated to Improve Alturas Lake Access Road; Blacktop Set in 1964

ALTURAS LAKE, Aug. 17 — A long-awaited improvement of the access road to this popular lake resort in the Sawtooth valley will start in the immediate future.
After an inspection trip of the area, J. L. Sory, supervisor of the Sawtooth national forest with headquarters at Twin Falls, announces work will get under way soon.
To be completed by private contractor, the job calls for grading and straightening of the present road, eliminating several curves and moving the motorway a distance from Perkins lake, which it skirts.
Moving the roadway from Perkins lake will permit more surrounding area to be constructed at a future date on the lake shore. At present, it is impossible because of the directional road was built originally.
Following the work to be completed before winter, the road will be blacktopped next summer. Completion will see paved roads from highway 93 to both lakes.

Rim-Rockettes 4-H Club Meets

The Rim-Rockettes 4-H club met Thursday afternoon at the home of Linda Morris.
Demonstrations were given by Barbie Burkhardt, how to treat a dust-clothy 4-H pig. Dougherty, garter apron material; Bobby Black, how to make a chocolate cake; Becky Wadsworth, use of a thimble, and Linda Morris, how to thread a sewing machine.
The group will present a program at 8:30 p.m. Aug. 28 at the Twin Falls Orange hall. The next meeting will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the home of Robert Heart Group Is Formed in T. F.

The Twin Falls county division of the Idaho Heart association was organized Wednesday night at the Regreen hotel Desert room, reports Mrs. Warren Terrence Plier.
Purpose of the newly organized group will be to provide heart information, education and community service projects for Twin Falls county residents.
The first official meeting will be held in September.
The only thing the farmer knows is talked on his land and affects his pocketbook. Thus the dual results are necessary.
"India recognizes our leadership in food production," he said, "and an educated farmer is the key to our growth—this is our eventual goal in India."
His four of duty will last two years. The first time will be spent in the classroom; the bulk of his time will be spent on curriculum and method.
If Dr. Bristol's efforts are successful, he will not be there to know. The program is long range. It should start bearing fruit after the teachers are taught and they begin teaching the students.

Who Owns America?

—Not the politicians. They are public servants, paid to serve the people.
—Not the rich. The corporations of America are owned by more than seventeen million people.
—Not the labor unions even though some of their leaders act as though they did.
It is the savers who own America. By doing without things — by self-denial — they built homes and started stores, bought government bonds, invested money in American industry — money which buys machines and provides jobs. Most of what their savings earn is taken away from them in taxes, but because it is in their character never to waste, they still save. If they ever stopped, there would be no new capital to create new jobs, no new machinery to make better jobs, no profitable enterprise whose taxes keep America going. Yes, the savers keep America alive. Let's be sure the laws keep savers alive, too.

Proposal Is Discussed at Realtor Meet

SHOSHONE, Aug. 17 — North Side Realtors heard reports of the recent meeting of members with the South Side Board in Twin Falls where proposal was discussed for a real estate commission on real estate sales in the area. They met Wednesday night at Woods cafe, Johnson.
Reporting on the meeting, Leon Blockson, Jerome, said the proposal was based on commissions used in surrounding states and current needs. Discussion of the proposal will be continued at the next "North Side" meeting to be held Sept. 11 at Shoshone.
Harry Lemoyne, president, announced the six-state real estate convention to be held in Seattle Sept. 11-14. He also announced he will secure information regarding zoning of counties and have it presented at the September meeting.
"The real estate profession is becoming more specialized," Lemoyne stated, "and the word realtor is becoming more valuable." He urged members to follow the code of ethics and rules set up by the board.
