Management Of News Hit By Lawmaker

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2 (AP)—The chairman of a house Republican subcommittee today said that a "bill" to give the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) more control over broadcast news.

Loomer, in a speech at the University of Nebraska at Lincoln, suggested the establishment of an independent news council to oversee the FCC's association of broadcasters.

Rep. Loomer, R., Cal., in a statement released today, said that "the Kennedy administration apparently has administered the news with a heavy hand."

"Now, the FCC wants to tell the broadcast media how to run the news business. The next step is federal control of the broadcast wire service and eventual control of the news content of the service."

Loomer's group is one of several that have urged the FCC to study major issues and deliver periodic reports to the house.

"From all indications, Loomer's proposal to set up a broadcast news service to replace AP and UPI is neither needed, nor merited," the Kennedy administration should keep out of the news media and permit the independent news media to gather and disseminate news without federal threat or coercion.

Loomer said the speech by Loomer in which the proposal was made contained a "thinly veiled threat" of reprisal by the FCC, if the suggestion was not implemented.

He cited the following passage from the text of Loomer's speech:

"How far this FCC can go in regulating and controlling such enterprise and innovation I am not prepared to say just now. It is obvious that the power to grant, withhold and renew broadcasting license, and the mandate to take such actions in the public interest, enables the commission to exert a powerful influence, if not actually to require action."

"However, it is surely better for all if the initiative in such matters is taken by broadcasters and if the commission is forced to take action to compel broadcasters to fulfill their responsibilities to the public."

Tragedy Ends Daughter and Father Team

CALEXICO, Calif., Sept. 2 (AP)—For five years the father-and-daughter team of Marilyn Ploof and her father, Bill Ploof, has been a great favorite at public events in the Imperial Valley.

The handle-bar-moustachioed Ploof, 40, known for 20 years as a trick shot artist, added his daughter to his act when she was 19. He shot apples from Marilyn's head, or pieces of chalk from between her teeth, or bursting balloons tied to her head.

They received top billing Sunday in a shooting exhibition here during the annual rodeo. Marilyn, 14, was killed instantly, shot through the forehead by her father's marksmanship.

A group went up from about 300 minutes as the girl in blue jeans and a blue cowboy shirt, crumpled to the ground, a balloon holding in mock agony from her forehead.

Ploof shouted, "Call an ambulance," and ran to his fallen daughter.

"It's all right, baby. Everything's going to be okay," he said, gathering the girl in his arms and dabbing at her forehead with his handkerchief.

Witnesses said Marilyn had just finished an "act" in which her father shot a piece of chalk from between her teeth.

They said a wind had been just as Ploof was beginning his trick shots. He had made two unsuccessful tries in the balcony stand before the fatal accident.

HOME-WRECKING SPREE was admitted by Mrs. William Earl, 23, left, and Mrs. Dorothy Nussbaum, 28, both San Francisco. Mrs. Nussbaum admitted wrecking the Earl home with axe, crowbar and knife for her friend, Mrs. Earl, because latter felt her 53-year-old husband was not sharing his possessions. The Earls, married three months, were on a vacation trip to Reno when the house was wrecked. The two women turned themselves over to police Sunday. (AP wirephoto)

Historical Site Survey Is Completed

LEWISTON, Sept. 2 (AP) — The "first step" toward eventual establishment of a proposed regional historical site in the Twin Falls area was completed this week by a national park service team.

The men spent 10 days in the area looking over the historic sites.

Dr. John Bussey, San Francisco, regional chief of history and archeology for the national park service, said, "The 10 day examination of the region has established that this will make a national park service project."

He said the study is a "first step" toward eventual authorization of the project by congress.

The park service officials also met with a steering committee of local people picked to form a regional group to promote the project.

A tentative name of "The Nez Perce Country National Historic Site" was chosen.

Sept. 10 meeting was planned to organize the non-profit group, William F. Johnston, Lewiston, chairman, said.

He said a meeting of the national parks advisory board is set for Texas in November with the proposed "Nez Perce Country" project on the agenda. The board customarily proposes additional

Senators to Eye Long-Range Water, Land Resource Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2 (UP)—The senate interior committee has scheduled a hearing for next week on a bill providing for a long-range planning program for development of the nation's water and land resources.

The hearings here Sept. 15-19 will be on a compromise version of what is known as the river basin protection bill, which has been opposed by some states in 1961-62.

Backers now claim support from more than 40 states for the amended measure which would establish a water resources council and river basin commissions to provide federal grants to states for planning use.

Federal funds of 50 million dollars would match state appropriations to finance a 100 million dollar planning program in the next 10 years under the bill sponsored by Sen. Clinton Anderson, D., N.D.; James O. Eastland, D., Miss.; Clair Engle, D., Calif.; Philip A. Hart, D., Mich.; Thomas H. Kuchel, R., Calif.; Lee Metcalf, D., Mont.; and Frank E. Moss, D., Utah.

The water resources council called for by the bill would include the secretaries of interior, agriculture, army, and health, education and welfare. It would study water supplies and demands and coordinate regional river basin programs.

Federal funds of 5 million dollars a year would be available to states to help them develop water resources plans and participate in the river basin commission program. The compromise was made in the river basin commission portion of the original bill, which had been endorsed by the Kennedy administration.

Under the original bill, members of the commissions would have been appointed by the president. This portion of the bill has been changed to provide for federal grants to states to name their members of the commissions.

Four Cities Hit by Riots On Holiday

By United Press International
Moving bands of vacationing high school and college students observed Sunday's end by evening hours in at least four cities during the long Labor day week-end.

At least 48 arrests were made in the coastal resort community of Seaside, Ore., where national guardsmen helped police cope with mobs of looting, bottle-throwing youths.

It was the second year in a row of Labor day week-end rioting in the small community. Windows were smashed, a life-guard tower was torn down, street and shop signs were damaged, and a garage car was hoisted to the top of a flag pole by the vandals.

A state policeman was injured by a sand-filled bottle flung at him by one of the rioters, and another policeman lost his gun when he was knocked down in a scuffle with them. The gun later was found in the sand.

Police estimated that more than 2,000 youths were gathered in the area, although not all took part in the rioting.

At Astoria, Ore., N. H., police used fire hoses and dogs to control some 5,000 teen-agers who threatened to riot in the area.

Several persons were arrested, among them a youth authorities said threw a rock at a policeman trying to break up a beachfront demonstration.

The police youths lit bonfires and set off firecrackers on the beach, and police used fire hoses on the more intelligent demonstrators.

A group of youthful motorcycle riders, described as "rowdy," hitting cars and using vulgar language, invaded Porterville, Calif., and a half-dozen were arrested.

Police were forced to use dogs and fire hoses to control the youths during a 10-hour demonstration late Sunday night. One of those arrested was charged with carrying a concealed weapon.

In Ocean City, N. J., about 30 college youths ripped the lower part of a bathing suit from a 19-year-old girl Saturday night. One of the youths was charged with carrying a concealed weapon.

A police riot squad was called to the scene and took the girls to a doctor's office where she was treated for hysteria.

She said she did not know the boys, all of whom fled just before police arrived.

At least 135 youths were arrested on curfew violations in this Atlantic coast resort, but little or no rioting was reported.

Most of the youths were picked up for setting trashcan fires on the beach, cutting electrical power lines, serving a section of the town and making an unsuccessful effort to "stop time" by sabotaging a big clock tower.

Authorities collected some $3,300 in fines from violators of the recently enacted ordinance.

The curfew was established specifically as the result of a Labor day week-end disturbances in the past four years during which teen-agers wandered on beaches and the boardwalk committing acts of vandalism in the early morning hours.

Tito Receives Ideological Pat on Back

JUBILJANA, Yugoslavia, Sept. 2 (AP)—President Tito appeared today to be the big ideological beneficiary of the Soviet-Yugoslav rapprochement forged during Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's current visit.

For the first time since the late Soviet Dictator Josef Stalin expelled Tito from the communist fold in 1948, the Yugoslav league of communists has been proclaimed a "Marxist-Leninist party" by Stalin's successor Khrushchev.

Khrushchev gave Tito the Kremlin seal of approval while addressing an enthusiastic mass meeting yesterday at the mining center of Velenje, a nearby Slovenian town which looks more like an American college campus than the usual ugly mine town.

The Soviet leader hailed his host as "the leader of the Marxist-Leninist league of Yugoslav communists."

Until recently, the Russians and the rest of the communist bloc following Moscow's line have only grudgingly recognized Yugoslavia as a socialist country.

The supreme glorification of "Marxist-Leninist" had been withheld from its ruling party.

As late as the 22nd congress of the Soviet communist party in 1961, Yugoslavia's "revisionism" was named the principal enemy of communism.

But now the word "revisionism" has been dropped from the Kremlin's language. It now is used exclusively by the revolutionary Chinese and Albanians, to whom both the Russians and Yugoslavs are "revisionist traitors."

"The basic differences between our parties and people have been solved," Khrushchev said at Velenje. He indicated that ever differences remain are relatively minor and will be wiped away in time.

Apparently Tito has not been expected to give up his national form of communism—which cut Stalin's friendship—for his non-aligned position between East and West in return for being recognized as a full-fledged communist.

Tito has not been asked formally to join the Soviet bloc. Now he has been asked to join its military and economic organizations.

On the contrary, Khrushchev has been careful when mentioning Yugoslavia to refer to its cooperation with the "socialist countries"—he has not talked of her being linked to the "socialist camp."

It is clear from Tito and Khrushchev that Yugoslavia will increase its military and political cooperation with the communist countries. But it will not give up its freedom of action with regard to the non-communist world.

Tito, obviously with Khrushchev's approval, told the Velenje meeting clearly that Yugoslavia will follow her own path of socialist development.

Further, Khrushchev in a speech at Split last week spoke of Yugoslav readiness to join industrial cooperation among socialist countries. Tito yesterday stressed his belief in such cooperation among all countries—socialist and capitalist alike.

Khrushchev talked broadly of socialist nations hastening "the inevitable collapse of capitalism." He repeatedly reaffirmed his faith, in the presence of Tito, that "the banner of communism will fly over the entire world."

Tito listened to the bold prediction. As a communist, he may have agreed with his comrade from Moscow. But he remained discreetly silent.

Khrushchev's visit to Yugoslavia was the first since 1955. It was the first time a Soviet premier had visited Yugoslavia since 1955.

Red Inspects U. S. Project Near Zagreb

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia, Sept. 2 (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev inspected today a "modern" chemical plant being built with U. S. funds Sunday and American engineers supervising construction.

The plant will produce chemicals and plastics. As the two began the 40-minute tour, eight Western correspondents who have been following Khrushchev on his visit to Yugoslavia approached the plant's administration building where Khrushchev was to meet with plant officials.

Guarding guards told the correspondents to get out. The correspondents protested. The guards then shoved them off the plant grounds.
