Conventional Carrier Plans Under Way

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (AP)—The navy, giving an "Aye, aye" response to orders from Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, rang up the full-speed-ahead signal Saturday for building conventionally armed attack carrier.

It stowed away its blueprints for atomic power in earlier CVA-19 design, but the navy is now planning to build a new ship using ordinary "black oil" burning engines.

A spokesman said the navy is "proceeding with maximum dispatch" in preparations for sending out invitations to shipyards to build the estimated 30-million dollar ship.

These requests for bids may go out this week or a follow-up week, but a much longer period will elapse, probably months, before yards can study the requirements, submit their proposals and the navy can decide which yard is the winner.

He was taken to St. Benedict's hospital, where he was in good condition. The attending physician stated the glass, however, were taken from the eye. The doctor said the eyesight would not be impaired.

Bussey was not admitted to the hospital.

WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 — No one should be his shirt on how anything will come out in South Korea. But in the moment the national election is a vote for the United States policy, the fact is it was won by the military strongman, Chung Yee Park.

Uncle Sam had been preparing for months to call the election to restore civilian rule in place of Park's military dictatorship, and the fact is he had lost. All on the credit side of the ledger, on the credit side of the ledger, on the credit side of the ledger.

Andrew Tully, that the voting was the first time in the 15-year history of the Korean Republic, which practically calls for banquets and champagne toasts.

It is tempting, also, to find encouragement in the fact that Park got no mandate, polling only 45 per cent of the vote against former President Yoo Po-sun and three candidates of minor parties. Since it is almost certain Park and his allies will not win a few votes his margin could erode the general to think twice before shooting all his opponents on sight. Korea is a volatile lot politically, and with 50 per cent of the voters unhappy with the election, Park will have to live with the fear of the same kind of coup by which he gained power in 1961.

PROGRESSIVE, BUT — Park does have possibilities. When he took over he had a lot to do. He had to get the country back on its feet. He had to get the economy back on its feet. He had to get the economy back on its feet.

But Park reacts like most generals when the pressure is on. He has tampered with the press. He has tampered with the press. He has tampered with the press.

When he elected the election he immediately went to work to rig the show, retiring from the army a few weeks before the voting so he could run for president as a civilian. Twice he talked his chief critic, the retired general, war hero and former premier, Song Yu Chang, who took the hint and retired from the presidential race.

On election eve, Park also announced a political maneuver that costed him the American taxpayer's pocketbook. He told the voters that he had 63 million dollars worth of Canadian funds in Australia to ease a "food shortage."

Uncle Sam recently had given Korea 11 million dollars of grain and there had been a bumper crop. Park had spent those dollars provided by the U.S. to bolster Korea's dwindling foreign exchange reserve. With Korea costing the U.S. 90 state department.

U.S. HAND ON BRAKE — So it will behoove to keep a watchful eye on the infeasible General Park, a man who likes to show his hand. He is a man who likes to show his hand. He is a man who likes to show his hand.

He will be considerable turmoil during the next few months preceding the national assembly elections. He will be considerable turmoil during the next few months preceding the national assembly elections.

Uncle Sam has the necessary weapon to keep Park in line. It is the military. It is the military. It is the military.

Views of Others

MILITARY SIMPLETONS — The overthrow of four elected Latin American presidents in the past six months — with possibly more to come — has been a source of concern to the U.S. State Department. It has been a source of concern to the U.S. State Department.

The President of Honduras, a liberal-left general, has been overthrown. The President of Honduras, a liberal-left general, has been overthrown.

SOLID SUPPORT

Other school districts in Idaho will be studying the procedure used at Boise to gain approval of a $3,300,000 building program, including a third high school building. It's a whopping big expansion program that may have no precedent in Idaho. More to the point, perhaps, is the fact that the Boise school board has approved the proposal, a 72.54 per cent majority, well above the two-thirds required by law. The 11,725 vote turnout must be the record for a school bond election in Idaho.

The high percentage of affirmative votes indicates an excellent program of educating the public to the need for the funds. Moreover, it must constitute a vote of confidence in the Boise school board and school administration.

One factor in both the size of the vote and majority of approval had to be the diversity of the building program, which included a third high school, new junior high school, additions to five elementary schools and additional grade school sites.

NEVADA SLAP

The name of crony Frank Sinatra has been linked for years with some of the less desirable elements of society. His associations have been linked to Nevada action that speaks loudly for itself. The Nevada gambling commission stripped Sinatra of state gambling licenses and ordered him to discontinue his interests in gambling establishments.

Such action on the part of the board which governs Nevada's gambling commission, although the state's legal gambling attracts all sorts of human filth, the Nevada board of public safety has been hard at keeping licenses out of the hands of undesirable persons or those who associate with such persons.

It's unfortunate anyone in the entertainment world has to be so concerned.

GETTING THE FOIL WET

The United States is showing mounting interest in a radically different kind of vessel, a foil boat. This odd breed of craft is being built by the government. It is being built by the government.

The government officials recently watched one of these foil boats in action. It was one of these foil boats in action. It was one of these foil boats in action.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 26 — To realize how deeply committed the government is to the manned space program, one only has to take a look at the $1.2 billion operation of the national space administration here.

YOU MIGHT TRY

Dear Pat Sholt:

I've been subject to a barrage of mail which tries to tell me I can borrow money, pay my personal debts and still (in some strange manner that I don't comprehend) live better than ever.

What would happen if I went to a bank and told them I'd like to borrow some money to get a taste of life living? Understand, I have no idea of when I could ever pay the money back or even if I'd want to.

Suppose a fellow could get a loan under those conditions?

Furniture Talk

Good design in home interiors can't be achieved by guesswork. It comes from a knowledge of color and line and style, and the selection of furniture that is in scale with each other and with the room. A beautiful dining room suite, for instance, will lose much of its charm and beauty if it is crowded into too small a space. Whenever you are considering the purchase of an important item of furniture, remember that it is a part of your home's decoration and should be chosen with care.

SECOND CONCERT of the season for the Wood River Community Concert association will be given at 8 p.m. Nov. 4 at the Sun Valley Opera house, by Alfred and Herbert Teltschik, Houston, Tex. The two have remodeled a school bus in which they transport their pianos and take turns driving. They served in World War II and have since given concerts in every state and in Canada.

Brothers From Texas Slate Duo-Piano Concert Nov. 4

KETCHUM, Oct. 26 — Alfred and Herbert Teltschik of Texas will present the second concert of the season for the Wood River Community Concert association at 8 p.m. Monday, Nov. 4, at Sun Valley Opera House.

Now on their 18th sold-out tour of the country, the Teltschik brothers have been credited by music critics as "proving themselves to be masters in the art of duo-piano performance, with their dazzling ensemble, tremendous sureness and finesse and delicacy to the last detail."

One reviewer calls the duo "a musical technique, sound background, imagination and taste, and above all their innate musicality, 'a touch of genius'."

The Teltschik brothers had their earliest musical training under their father, an Old World musician, in Florence, Italy, where they were born. When the family moved to Houston, they continued their studies under the guidance of their father, who was a pianist and composer.

After graduation they returned to Houston, where each married and began to teach piano in the city's public schools and their own studio.

During World War II the brothers were assigned to military orchestras, but because their musical talents were at once recognized, they gave numerous piano recitals for the armed forces.

Record High Recorded as Stocks Close

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP)—Stocks closed at a record high today, the third in a series of gains that kept the financial community in a state of confusion.

Record nine-month gains for Dow Jones Industrial average up to a new record high of 252.31 on Monday and Tuesday.

On Tuesday, a federal grand jury subpoenaed a number of major steel companies to appear in court in connection with the steel price increase.

Apparently the steel industry is in a state of confusion. Apparently the steel industry is in a state of confusion. Apparently the steel industry is in a state of confusion.

The steel industry's trouble with the government was all but forgotten on Thursday when the market moved sharply higher.

Stocks continued to move higher on Friday, still riding the enthusiasm sparked by Chrysler's surprise package and also a 13 percent jump in September construction awards.

Late Rally In Soybeans Boosts Mart

CHICAGO, Oct. 26 (AP)—Soybeans posted a late rally in grain futures and ended the week with substantial gains on the Chicago board of trade.

All cereals attracted heavy buying on Friday on large export orders and a government report indicating smaller stocks in main grain than a year ago.

Compared to last Friday, when it was up 3 1/2 to 4 cents a bushel, corn was up 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents.

Active export buying boosted oil corn wheat more than four cents in four bids for the season and pushed new crop deliveries up nearly six cents.

Attendees at the annual meeting of the American Soybean Association in Chicago, Ill., to discuss the future of the soybean industry.

Long Plays Let Hornets Top Wendell

DECO, Oct. 26.—The Deco Hornets struck from long range for touchdowns in the middle quarters yesterday and hammered past the winless Wendell Trojans 13-6 in a non-conference game.

Deco moved in front on a 55-yard sprint by Joe Rhigum in the second quarter and the point-after attempt failed. The Hornets got enough to insure the win in the third quarter when Mike Matthews and Bill Thompson combined on a 30-yard pass and run play. Another pass, this time to Larry Darrington, got the extra point.

Idaho Frosh Breeze Past Washington

SEATTLE, Oct. 26 (AP)—Paced by 215-pound Ray McDonald, Caldwell, the powerful Idaho Frosh lived up to advance sailing yesterday with a 32-18 football victory over the Husky Pups of Washington, scoring in every quarter.

Jerry Ahlin, Boise, quarterbacked the triumph, scored two touchdowns and passed for another.

There were frequent fumbles by both sides in the chilly afternoon. Idaho's first one set up a Washington touchdown in the opening minutes. Pete Sturdivant of San Pedro, Calif., made the recovery at the Idaho eight and Rick Johnson of National City, Calif., scored on a one-yard plunge.

From there it was all Idaho for three quarters. McDonald crashed five yards to a tally in the first period and Ahlin plunged a yard for another in the second and Idaho counted twice in the third, also missing a 20-yard field goal try.

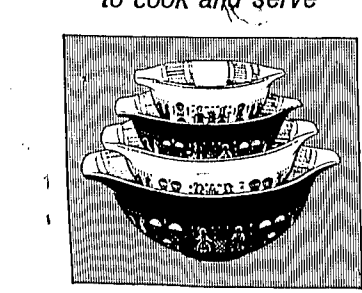

Butch Slaughter of Spokane got one on a short plunge and Ahlin pitched nine yards to Tim Lavens, Twin Falls, for the other with 16 seconds left in the quarter. McDonald ran over the only conversion of the day after the Lavens tally.

After an exchange of fumbles in the final quarter, Jerry Williams scored for Washington on a nine-yard dash. Then Slaughter got the second of his two interceptions for Idaho and the Vandal Babes moved a quick 60 yards for the final score. Ahlin rambling the final 16 after a faked pitchout.

The Pups were threatening again near the finish but Joe McCollum, Twin Falls, plucked it up with a pass interception.

Stanford Rallies in Last Half To Surprise Notre Dame 24-14

STANFORD, Calif., Oct. 26 (AP)—Stanford's Steve Thurlow, a 200-pound halfback who throws well and runs better, snatched over four touchdowns and passed for a third today, spearheading the Indians to a 24-14 victory over Notre Dame in one of the year's biggest collegiate football upsets.

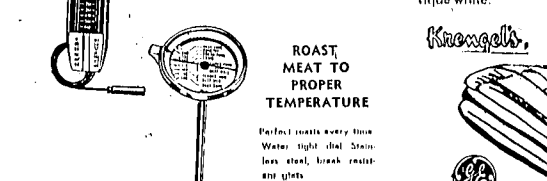

The Indians broke a four-game losing streak at the expense of a Dick Berg. He fumbled away a chance to put his club in the lead just before the halftime gun sounded, but he came back gallantly to engineer a touchdown drive of 70 and 85 yards in the second half.

As the final gun sounded, the Stanford team carried Coach John Ralston off the field. In his first year with the Indians, Ralston decided to switch both Thurlow and Dick Hagdale from backfield to quarterback to halfback. Then, kicked all three conversions, plus a 30-yard field goal when senior quarterback Clark

Health Plan Favored by Hansen PTA

HANSEN, Oct. 26 Members of the PTA passed a resolution favoring a mental health clinic in Twin Falls county, at the PTA meeting held Thursday night at the schoolhouse.

The group voted on the resolution after a talk on mental health and mental illness given by Mrs. Harold Henderson, Good Hope, president of the Idaho State Mental Association.

Mrs. Henderson stressed the different types of mental illnesses and the symptoms to watch for in each case. She stated the difference between mental health and mental illness is the ability to feel good about one self, and others, to be able to "roll with the punches."

Thoughtless treatment of the child by parents may be a contributing factor in mental illness, she said. A child, for example, she noted, children should not be left out when unhappy situations upset the home. They should be informed of the facts.

She also stated that mental illness can be cured, but it is not a respect of persons.

"We should all learn to know ourselves, then learn to know others," she said. "The golden rule: treat others as you would be treated."

Mrs. Henderson told the group the importance of treating disturbed persons at home, where a health center would be of great advantage. More persons could be treated better at home, less expense to the state and to individuals, she declared.

Mrs. Fertia Preston gave the invocation. Mrs. Roy Stanger introduced Mrs. Henderson, and also Judy Proctor, Glen Wright and Terry Butler, who attended Girls' and Boys' state this summer.

They told of their experiences. It was voted to have a committee appointed to meet with the school board to discuss reopening of Kimberly-Hansen-Mammoth consolidation plans. Six months must elapse before any further election can be held.

It was announced the annual mother-daughter banquet will be held Nov. 8 at the school lunch room. Cecil Stanger, assisted by Kenneth Dow, will plan the banquet which the men of PTA cook and serve.

Judy Walker sang accompanied by Linda Froelich.

Potatoes Thrown As Truck Upsets

SHOSHONE, Oct. 26 Ten tons of newly-harvested potatoes were thrown along the road when a 16-ton international truck in which they were being hauled overturned at 11:15 a.m. Friday.

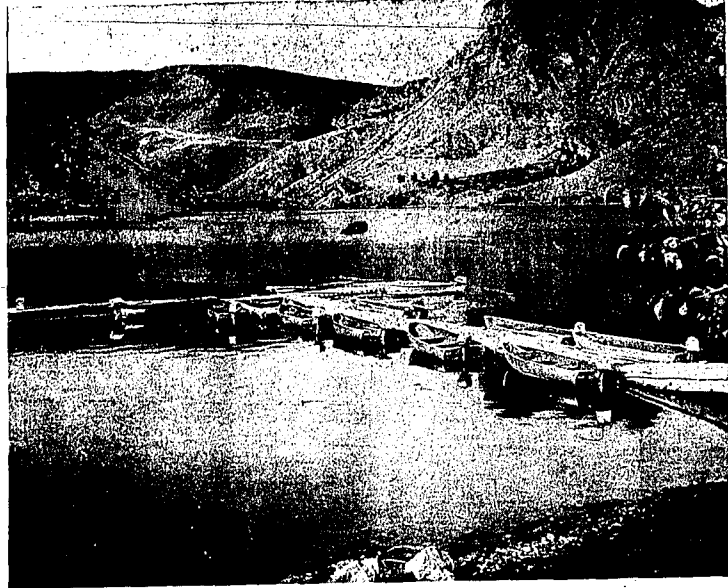

Melvin W. Elliott, 22, Paul, driver, was cited for failure to observe the basic rule, according to Deputy Sheriff Martin Whitsell. The officer said apparently the truck was traveling too fast for road conditions to follow.

Richard Albertson, 20, also Paul, was a passenger. The two were injured but not injured seriously. Damage on the truck will run $200 to $300, the officer estimated.

BOATS AND DOCKS at Williams lake southwest of Salmon are operated by M. M. Melton. Proposed private development of the lake by LeMayne Development company, Hagerman, which purchased 25 acres of lakefront property from Melton, has brought reaction from forest service and Idaho fish and game department officials, who are concerned about keeping the lake open for public use. A public road may be built across public land.

Private Development at Williams Lake Sparks Plan for Public Access Road

SALMON, Oct. 26—Proposed plans to close the private road to Williams lake once a summer home site development project has been completed have brought reaction from U.S. forest service and Idaho fish and game department officials.

"The ultimate goal of the forest service is to build a road into the lake without crossing private land," says F. E. Powers, Salmon national forest supervisor.

"The possibility of getting something done sooner than normally appropriated funds will permit will increase with added interest of the public and other agencies," he said.

John R. Woodworth, police director of the Idaho fish and game department, said the department will work with the forest service to obtain public access to the lake.

"The lake," he said, "continues to be public waters and we will manage it as such. Our planning program will depend directly on public use or pressure on fishing of the lake. If only half the number of people use the lake, then we will have to cut our program accordingly."

Powers said, "There are enough resources in the way of recreation, timber, wildlife and grazing at Williams lake that a road is essential for the public."

Ted C. Bjorn, fishery biologist for the Idaho fish and game department, notes "If public access is maintained to the lake the department will continue to stock it with fish."

With increased fishing pressure since 1958, the department has been stocking the lake with 75,000 rainbow fingerlings a year, Bjorn said. He adds that because of the plantings the catch went up as well as the fishing pressure.

He said fish plantings were increased to 125,000 in the lake last year. Clipped fish were planted in 1959 and they made up 60 per cent of the 1960 fish harvest at the lake and 20 to 30 per cent of the 1961 fish harvest.

Powers said the forest service has completed surveys on a public road into the lake, with one route not crossing private land and a second crossing private land at one point.

The forest service maintains a two-unit camp ground accessible by boat on the south side of the lake with a sanitation facility and picnic table on the north side.

He said future plans call for a campground at the head of the lake and a boat landing.

New Officers of Music Club Are Installed in Rites

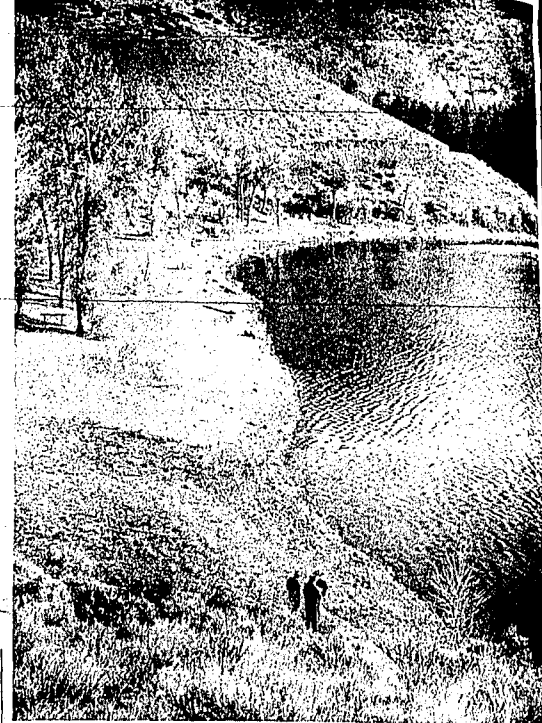

A candlelight ceremony installed officers of St. Edward's Junior Music club Thursday afternoon at the school auditorium.

The program used the United Nations as a theme.

Mary Kriekamp reported on Aaron Copland, an American composer, and Beth Britt played a piano selection and the National Federation of Music Clubs hymn of the month.

The next meeting is planned Nov. 21 for programs on the composer McDowell and folk music and dances.

ROADS HAVE BEEN constructed on hillside, background, where homesites are planned at Williams lake, southeast of Salmon. The forest service and Idaho fish and game department are concerned over maintaining public access to the popular fishing spot.

Local Housewife, Mother Training for Lead Part in Madama Butterfly Production

By G. A. (Gus) KELLER
Times-News Feature Editor

The latest in a long and illustrious line of Madama Butterfly is a "dishwasher."

Well, actually, that is not quite a fair description. What should be said is that she is a mother, wife and housewife which, in itself, makes dishwashing a part of the way of living.

The newest Madama Butterfly and pretty housewife is the only Twin Falls singer tapped for participation.

The road to the lead in an opera such as Madama Butterfly, however, is a long one. It started when Mrs. McVey was a girl of 4. That is when she first started to attract notice when singing. Spending her early years in New Mexico and Texas, she moved with her mother and father to Nampa where she completed her grade school and high school education.

MADAMA BUTTERFLY probably was never pictured in a dishwashing situation, but the latest of the long series of "Butterfly" opera singers is a Twin Falls mother and housewife, thus making this occupation seem natural. She is Mrs. Tom McVey and is the only Twin Falls singer in the popular opera which will be presented here on Saturday, Nov. 2, she will sing the title lead. The opera will feature two performances at Boise before showing in Twin Falls. (Times-News photo)

Oakley Railroad Depot Closes After Serving Community 40 Years

By MRS. JAMES C. BURCH
OAKLEY, Oct. 20. — Closing the doors for the last time Oct. 11 was the Union Pacific depot which has served the community for over 40 years.

Until the building of the Oakley reservoir, which began in 1910, there was no connection of any kind with other towns in the area except by team and wagon. When the reservoir commenced filling, a really bad time was had. However, people could be used of having a faster mode of transportation and freight lines.

Other people in the area recall that in late November, about 1910, the railroad began to move freight and mail cars from Boise to Oakley. It was called the Idaho Southern short line and handled mostly produce from Idaho to Oakley. The work was slow.

A second depot was built on the site of the present depot. The "tinny" train, which ran at the time, was transported on this railroad. Besides a depot, the company had the south side of Main street and the east side of the adjacent railroad tracks. It was a high school would make a good site.

The Oregon Short Line ran the south, while the Idaho Southern came southeast from Miller. Consequently they had to cross each other a few rods north of what is now the Idaho Power substation near Oakley.

J. Newell Dayley recalls an interesting incident at the time the two lines crossed. The line was being built. It was in the winter and most equipment had been taken out of the area. The line was laid on the top of the ground, the rails laid on top of them and then applied down to avoid anything.

The train was pushing a flat-car building ties on it and right or left were laying flat cars as they went along.

When enough track was completed in this manner, the train moved up from the switches on an old grade and turned out to which the tracks as it came from the Idaho Power substation to the depot where it now stands.

Later in the spring the train ran a free excursion from Oakley to Miller. Networks were excused for the day and the local members took their instruments and gave a concert at Miller. People rode in the baggage, flat cars, passenger coach and box cars in the train.

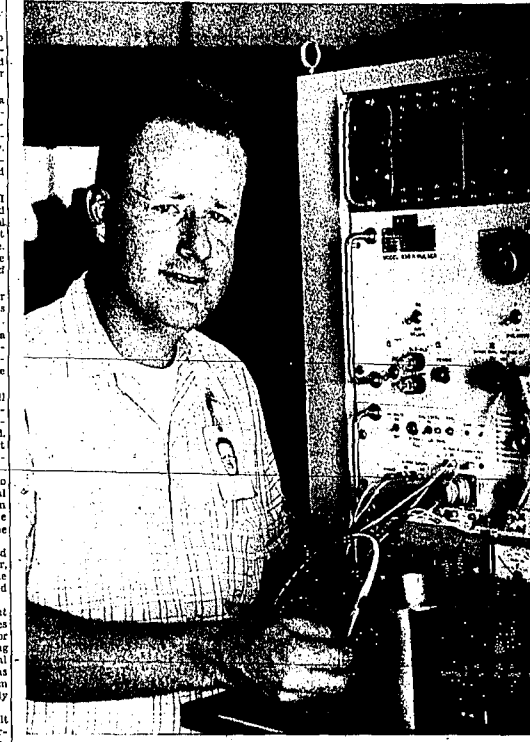

Waiting for a train which will never show up in Mrs. James C. Burch, Times-News correspondent at Oakley, Mrs. Burch went along with the gag about a passenger, traveling back the train, looking for the train, awaiting arrival of the train later. The depot is now closed and the agent no longer there. The situation is similar to that on many branch lines over the nation. Lack of rail business has forced closure of the depot. Actually there has been no passenger train over the Oakley line for several years—only freight trains. (Times-News photo)

Germany's New Leader Jovial, 66

By JOHN WEYLAND
DORN, Germany, Oct. 20 (AP). — Konrad Adenauer, after patiently waiting in the wings for years, at last is West Germany's new chancellor.

Adenauer, 66, is taking over one of the toughest political assignments in the world. He has to triumph over a Social Democratic opposition gathering more and more favor with the voters.

Adenauer has sought to give West Germany the reputation of a peace-loving country but at the same time has opposed U.S.-Soviet moves to lessen East-West tensions. He has refused to accept the present borders in Europe, which would end hopes for winning back East Germany from the communist bloc.

Adenauer has promised to continue the main lines of Adenauer's policies, but indicated there will be difference in emphasis. (See GERMANY'S, Page 18) phases and details. With this formula he can remain true to his party's heritage, a political necessity, but leave some room for striking out on his own.

On the basis of past statements and actions, Erhard will work for a Common Market of the type posed by France. He would be enlarged to include Britain and other Western European nations, ending the division of the continent into rival trade blocs. It would lower tariffs on U. S. products and those from other nations.

Erhard has kept much about his attitude toward possible additional U. S.-Soviet arrangements like the treaty limiting nuclear tests. This is a highly controversial issue in West Germany. He has to tread carefully or risk alienating a large segment of the public.

Unlike Adenauer, who has run things his own way with an iron will, Erhard will not impose his policies on the new government but seek to put them over on his merits.

The Christian Democratic party needs a big success by Erhard to regain its old dominant position.

In the struggle for a comeback, Erhard will lack clear control of his own party, Adenauer, though 87, remains his party's national chairman, a position of power.

This could mean trouble. Adenauer has publicly belittled Erhard as an economics specialist with no aptitude for politics.

BANK & TRUST BUILDING — TWIN FALLS

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

A HAILEY woman, Mrs. Emma Kelley, is looking forward to using her new .410 gauge shotgun for duck hunting this fall. She has given her old .410 to her nephew, but he isn't to use it until he is old enough to know how to handle guns. "I'd never have had a new .410 if I hadn't won it in a contest," she says. "It was a strange coincidence about me winning the gun. I was visiting my brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Thum, in Wilder, and just happened to pick up an entry blank for a Home-rite company contest. Several months later, when I was cleaning out a dresser drawer, I ran across it and filled it out and sent it in. I was one of the 174 winners in the state. My friend, Joe Shurtz, who is agent for Home-rite Saws in KETCHUM, presented me with the gun," Mrs. Kelley explained.

When Mrs. Kelley and her late husband, Dave Kelley, lived on their large stock-ranch-in-the-CAREY valley they did a great deal of hunting together, and Mr. Kelley bought her a .410 bolt action shotgun. They hunted pheasants, sagehen and ducks without leaving their ranch. The ducks stopped on the lake on the ranch as they migrated in the fall and spring of the year.

"I'm going to tell you a story you probably won't believe," Mrs. Kelley laughed. "I had a garden in the yard and we had it fenced so the chickens couldn't get in.

"One day I heard some pheasants in the yard and looking out saw two hens. I tried to determine which was the mother hen, as I didn't want to kill her. After a while the one I decided was the mother disappeared into a home shrub. I took my shotgun and fired at the young one.

"When I ran out into the yard to pick up the pheasant I could hardly believe my eyes. There in the shrubs, each one shot through the head, were five dead pheasants. I'd shot the whole covey.

"A couple of the hired men were close by and came over to see what had happened, so I had just when Dave came home that evening.

"He kidded me a lot about my pheasant story, which he said best any fish story he'd ever heard," she recalls.

Bringing Mrs. Kelley's hunting story down to date, she said, "I wish I had my gun with me recently. Kate Butler and I drove out to the cemetery and she almost had to stop the car to keep from running over some chickens."

A broken arm didn't stop Mrs. Emma Driskell, SHOSHONE, from receiving her well-earned decoration of chicken at the state Rehearsal lodge assembly meeting in BURLEY recently.

Mrs. Driskell was nominated for the honor by her fellow lodge members at Opa Rehearsal lodge, Shoshone. They heard their nomination on her quiet record of helpfulness over the years. Mrs. Driskell never appears to put herself out in the limelight, but when trouble comes to anyone in the community she seems to be on the scene to give assistance.

Her friends in the lodge decided it was time Mrs. Driskell received an honor and she filled the qualifications for the outstanding lodge presentation.

Her award included a certificate and pin, and she was there to receive it in person, although she had to get up from her hospital bed at St. Benedict's hospital, JEROME, to make the trip to Burley.

On the Friday evening previous, Mrs. Driskell somehow turned around and lost her balance—in the fall at her home, her right arm was broken, she will be wearing a cast for some time.

"I can remember when there were only three automobiles in the whole Twin Falls county and when all the streets in the town of Filer were dirt," says S. L. Frazier, Idaho pioneer.

Mr. and Mrs. Frazier are celebrating two events during this Centennial year—their 60 years of living in the state and their golden wedding anniversary Oct. 29.

The Fraziers were born in Jewell county, Kans., and came to Idaho with their parents in 1913. They were married in 1913. They first farmed on the Salmon tract.

The next year Frazier started working for the Twin Falls Canal company and rode ditch in the Salmon tract district for eight years.

They moved to BUHL and later to Filer, where Frazier served as ditch rider for more than 30 years until his retirement.

Mrs. Frazier recalls how they used to drive a horse and buggy to Filer to get supplies. She still remembers the ride up Rock creek, which at that time had no bridge, except for a small one at the foot of the canyon. The buggy would sink in mud up to its axles, she said.

Trains were very important in the early days, the Fraziers related. Many times they boarded a train to Buhl to attend basket-

OAKLEY ONCE BOASTED OF two "iron horses," about 1911, with the first one coming from Milnaz in 1910. Shown in this picture is one of the first depots and a delivery wagon which was owned by the late William Davidson, who transported freight from the depot to various homes and businesses in Oakley. In the background is a section of the present high school. The first depot was built on the south side of Main street and the east side of the canal.

order to say they had been for a train ride.

"If they weren't black from smoke from the engine, they certainly had a lot of cinders in their eyes," Dayley laughs.

Miner people used to ride the train from Milner to do their shopping, even though they had several stores there, and there was a better variety of stores in Oakley.

The train came every day. It arrived in the afternoon, staying a couple of hours before leaving. Dayley believes it was the same engineer and fireman who operated it as long as it ran.

After the completion of the railroad it operated for a year or two in the red, so the company closed the operation.

Another incident Dayley recalls is that John Porterfield, a worker on the reservoir, built himself a three-wheeled vehicle similar to a tri-cycle, except that two wheels were on one side and the third on the opposite side and pedaled himself frequently to Milner and back again, on the railroad tracks, to see his family.

Eventually the track was taken out and only the Oregon Shortline, or Union Pacific, was left. Now only the Union Pacific track is left.

Business will be handled from the Burley station, but the train will still run when it is needed, according to Gordon Spier, the last agent for the Union Pacific in Oakley.

Awards Given 4-H Members At Fairfield

FAIRFIELD, Oct. 26—Certificates and gold seals were presented to 52 members of the Camas 4-H club at the award night Tuesday evening in the Legion hall. The presentations were made by Camas County Agent John H. Paulson. Leaders presented with their certificates and seals and county winners received their medals.

Frank Stone, of the First Security bank, Gooding, presented a wrist watch to Duane Harrison of the outstanding 4-H boy of the year. He was selected on the basis of applications filled out by each boy who wished to compete for this award.

Linda Wilson received the cook book presented by the General Foods corporation for her dairy food demonstration.

Ann Wilson, in the clothing division, and Jo Ann Gill in the food division, received 45 gift certificates from Tingwalls, Inc., for their outstanding work in their projects.

Duane Harrison received the silver belt buckle and a one-year honorary membership in the Idaho Cattlemen's association for his all-around outstanding beef project. This award is provided by the association and the presentation was made by Jim Kevan, president of the Elmore Cattlemen's association.

Trophies contributed by the Gooding-Sped company were awarded for outstanding work in their various projects to Michael Packham, photography; Larry Bauser, outdoor cooking; Marylin Bauser, child care; Gregory Anderson, junior champion showman in beef; and Duane Harrison, senior champion showman in beef.

Boyd Harrison presented trophies to Bill Kevan as senior reserve champion showman and to Summie Sweet as junior reserve champion showman in the beef division.

Each year Mrs. Shapp and Stapp Gooding contribute $25 to the local group. This was divided equally among all 4-H members completing their projects in all divisions but the beef club. The Elmore Cattlemen's association presented checks of $250 and certificates to each member of the beef club.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bauser donated the refreshments at the close of the meeting as their award to the 4-H club of Camas county. Over 50 per cent of the youngsters of 4-H age residing in the county were members of the 4-H club this year, according to County Agent John H. Paulson.

RETURN FROM SPAIN

HAILEY, Oct. 26—Mr. and Mrs. Bond Remertner have returned from a two-month visit with their mothers and brothers and sisters in Spain. Returning with them was Mrs. Eddie Ingham who has been visiting in her native land the past five months.

ADJUSTING PLATE on homemade rack is John Lundin, 436 Fifth avenue north. Lundin has made 40 such racks. He came to Twin Falls in 1910 and began his residence on Fifth avenue north as a temporary measure. He has lived 53 years in the same house and abandoned his original intent of moving to a farm. (Times-News photo)

Temporary Layover in Twin Falls Has Extended for 50 Years for Resident

In 1910 John C. Lundin came to Twin Falls. It wasn't much of a town then, claims Lundin, but at the time he didn't figure on staying in Twin Falls very long. He was after some Carey act land in southern Idaho.

By the time he got to Twin Falls the land was all claimed and the only thing open was salmon trout land. He decided to settle in Twin Falls for a short time and await developments.

That short while has now extended the half century mark. Lundin and his wife have lived at 436 Fifth avenue north for 53 years.

Lundin was born in Kansas Nov. 29, 1883. From Kansas the Lundins moved to Colorado. From Colorado it was on to Idaho. They arrived in Twin Falls in February, 1910.

Lundin worked on some of the first sidewalks and paved streets in Twin Falls. For a while he worked for I. B. Perrine and recalls it was quite a chore getting up and down the canyon.

"Perrine was good man to work for and he treated me alright," says Lundin. Lundin then worked for Consolidate Wagon Machinery company.

"A trip to Shoshone falls in those early days was quite an event," said Lundin.

Where the observation platform now is located was an outcrop, and Lundin worked his way down and carved his name on a tree.

Some time later the outcrop gave way and the tree with the name on it went down river.

"When the outcrop gave way we heard the noise in Twin Falls," said Lundin. "There wasn't too much in those early days that we couldn't hear or see. For example they would sit on the front porch and watch the train come and leave town."

As the courthouses and the schools went up, the view became more cluttered. According to Mrs. Lundin, the best thing that happened in those early days was when the streets were paved.

The dust at that time was awful, she recalls, and wooden sidewalks were almost a hindrance.

But the Lundins never wished to return to Kansas or Colorado. They liked Twin Falls, the climate and the scenery.

Since his retirement a few years ago, Lundin has taken up several hobbies. He paints and makes things of wood. One of the more popular items Lundin makes is a plate and dish holder. As this was the Centennial year, Lundin began making the holders as far as he could. Thus far he has made and disposed of 40 holders.

Painting provides him with a change of pace and his job keeps him busy the rest of the time.

"For two people who moved in to this home for a short time, we've been here quite a while," said Mrs. Lundin.

ELWOOD RIZEAU, state bird supervisor for the Idaho fish and game department, bands one of thousands of ducks every year. Cooperative banding work by the U. S. bureau of sport fisheries and wildlife and the Idaho department of fish and game, produced information on movements and mortality of waterfowl. Seasons and bag limits offered to hunters are influenced by banding and weekly census counts.

Duck Bonus Now Possible in Half Of Idaho; Mallard Buildup Is Seen

BOISE, Oct. 26—Now that the north Idaho counties of Boundary and Blaine have been added to the state's "bonus" mallard area for the first time this fall, two extra ducks may be included in the daily bag in exactly half of the 44 counties, provided at least two of the ducks are mallards.

Other counties in the mallard bonus area are Ada, Benewah, Blaine, Camas, Canyon, Coosho, Elmore, Gem, Gooding, Jerome, Kootenai, Latah, Lewis, Lincoln, Minidoka, Nez Perce, Owyhee, Payette, Twin Falls and Washington.

The bonus mallard area is part of the winter concentration grounds for the Northwest mallard population by which special harvest regulations are established. The large buildup of the mallard duck population poses a threat of crop depredation and winter loss unless more ducks are harvested.

This year the two north Idaho counties were added to the bonus area following a study of several years of banding work by the Idaho fish and game department. Banding county banding since the early 1950s show that the mallard wintering area for these mallards in eastern Washington, where bonus duck regulations are in effect.

The harvest of this mallard population has been low and bonus regulations are needed in north Idaho to increase the kill. Banding results show very few ing the in-season period. A minimum of 200 bird banding units per week is the goal. The main movement of ducks down the Snake river into southwestern Idaho and Deer Flat refuge currently is the one of major interest to waterfowl management people.

American Falls reservoir apparently is the crossroads for these ducks and geese. From here, according to Rizeau, a major diversion probably occurs, with some of them going into the Snake river and others into the Snake river and Deer Flat refuge.

It is noteworthy that the large reservoirs of southern Idaho provide the major stopping and resting places for ducks and geese. These are Island Park reservoir, Mud Lake, American Falls reservoir, Lake Walcott, G. J. Burke reservoir and Deer Flat.

Home again...but will she stay?

Thanks to the new treatment methods, more patients than ever are leaving the mental hospitals and returning to their loved ones.

But many break down again and have to return... because they cannot handle the stresses and demands of modern life, without some help... help in finding a place to live; help in finding a job; help in keeping up with their medication. With this kind of help the breakdown rate can be reduced 65%. Two out of three who now have to return to the hospital can be kept out.

Through its after-care and rehabilitation program the National Association for Mental Health works to provide this kind of help. You can support this work. You can return a mother to her child. You can keep a family together.

Give to the National Association for Mental Health through your local chapter.

SAME BOY, but with different faces. Trick or treat night next Thursday mean a lot to Ned Katz, 8, son of Dr. and Mrs. Ben Katz, Twin Falls. This will be the first time he has tackled the door-knocking trail without parents lurking in the background. Like most "young" youngsters, however, he will visit his own neighborhood. Many residents are heaving a sigh of relief in advance. This year the big event is on a school night so the doorbell ringers should not be out too late. Modern day celebrations are tame compared to some years ago, police report. (Times-News photo)

Man in Custody After Shooting

RUPERT, Oct. 26—Charges are pending against Jerome Adams, 31, Rupert, who is in the Minidoka county jail after a shooting episode at his home, southwest of town, Thursday night. He shot holes in the floor of his house.

Sheriff Theo Johnson said the man put up no resistance when he came to the door, after being notified by neighbors who heard the noise.

Adams shot holes in the floor with a 30-30 rifle and threatened his wife and four children, Sheriff Johnson said.
