Honored at Boise Meet

BOISE, Nov. 12—Southern and eastern Idaho newspaper boys, including some from the Magic Valley area, were told Monday that "the qualities that make a man want to be a carrier are those that make him aspire to other successes in his life."

John Scott, acting publisher of the Statesman newspapers, sponsored the first annual "governor's dinner" for the carriers, sponsored by circulation managers of Idaho dailies.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie told the boys he once delivered the Des Moines Register in Iowa where he grew up.

Newsboys honored were Lee Verder, Twin Falls; Bill Peters, Jerome; Robert Carson and Wellington Whipple, Idaho Falls; John Miller, Pocatello; Dewayne Wren, Aberdeen; Jerry Jenkins, Mountain Home; Dennis Snyder, Payson; and John Lee, John Kunz, and John Dixie, Pocatello.

Also attending were John Mulvaney, publisher of the Twin Falls Times-News; Lee Ester, managing editor of the Idaho State Journal, Pocatello; and John McDermott, promotion manager of the Idaho Falls Post-Register.

De Gaulle
Eyes Bigger
Europe Role

PARIS, Nov. 12—President Charles de Gaulle is campaigning again for a bigger say in Europe—and specifically for France—in running the Atlantic alliance.

He thinks the United States should "bow out gradually" from the role it has held for the last 15 years as dominant partner in the North Atlantic Treaty organization (NATO).

It is time for France and the other European members to begin taking over major responsibility for Europe's defense, he believes.

De Gaulle fired off this diplomatic broadside through his foreign minister, Maurice Couve de Murville. In a speech that reflected faithfully de Gaulle's own foreign policy thinking, Couve de Murville proclaimed the time has come to revamp NATO.

If something isn't done about it soon, Couve de Murville warned, NATO risks splitting at the seams—perhaps sooner than generally is thought.

De Gaulle's demand for "revision" of NATO is nothing new. He has been saying it in his two most recent news conferences.

But the emphasis laid on it by Couve de Murville shows this is something very much in de Gaulle's mind.

De Gaulle never has spelled out precisely what he means by "revision." But apparently he still is harkening back to his 1958 proposal that France should join the United States and Great Britain in a sort of big nation "triumvirate" to make global strategy decisions for the West. He felt France does not have sufficient say in these.

The plan was strongly opposed by West Germany and the smaller NATO nations. It was coldly considered by the United States and Britain. De Gaulle still renews that.

De Gaulle also wants a thorough shake-up of major NATO commands. Although he never has said so specifically, it generally is thought he would like to see a European, presumably a Frenchman, as allied supreme commander.

The top command always has been held by an American.

At the back of de Gaulle's mind also is the fear he has voiced constantly that NATO will become simply a group of "yes-men" nations meeting periodically to approve American policy decisions.

He has warned that if the present setup continues, the European NATO members will become merely "satellites" of the United States.

De Gaulle argues that the power relationship between the United States and Europe has changed radically in the 14 years since NATO came into being. He recalls constantly that Europe today is strong and prosperous. He feels it should take over progressively greater responsibility for its own defense.

Couve de Murville admitted that France may often be a "difficult ally" and de Gaulle certainly would not dispute that. But he insisted that when the chips are down she would be proved to be a "sure and loyal" ally.

What de Gaulle wants is for France to have full control of her own national defense forces, including an independent national nuclear force. He also wants France to have a much bigger voice in policy decisions of the western alliance.

Those demands would seem to be his starting point for any future revamping of NATO.

The edition, which featured a story on a bar of women visiting men's dormitories, was a fake issue put out by the Lampoon, Harvard humor magazine. Harvard and its female adjunct, Radcliffe, have been at odds since a recent dean's report on abuses of the parietal (visiting) privileges. (AP wirephoto)

Estes Has
Normal Life
In Abilene

By United Press International

Billie Sol Estes, 39, is a bit thinner and, most of his associates say, more solemn than when his 150 million dollar agricultural empire collapsed on March 29, 1962.

Estes, in Washington to testify before congressional investigators about relations with the agriculture department in his days as a West Texas wheeler dealer, lives the life of an ordinary citizen in Abilene, Tex.

He is officially bankrupt. The government says he owes 10 million dollars in back taxes. He faces prison terms totaling 23 years in state and federal courts on charges of fraud and conspiracy. All are on appeal and he is free on bond.

But for a man whose name was known throughout the nation just over a year ago, Estes causes no stir in Abilene.

He goes downtown every day. He drinks coffee in a motel dining room about mid-morning and people greet him as though he had always lived there.

Actually, he was born a short distance away, in Clyde, Tex., where his parents still live.

Estes, a lay minister in the Church of Christ, has taken an interest in Negro churches.

The Rev. Al Broughton, pastor of the North Tenth Street and Treadway (Negro) Church of Christ, said Estes occasionally drops in to teach a Bible class for teen-agers.

"He's a pretty good teacher," Broughton said.

Lately, Estes had been active in an organization he founded called "The International Love and Goodwill Foundation." It collects money from Church of Christ congregations to send needy people to school.

Estes' lawyer, Jack Bryant, is the organization's agent in Texas.

Estes' five children go to Abilene public schools and the family lives in a rented, plush new home in Abilene.

Estes and his family left their $150,000 home with imported palm trees in Pecos several months ago after a sniper fired into the living room.

He tried to turn the Pecos home into a tourist attraction but town fathers invoked a zoning law to halt it.

In August, the Internal Revenue filed a 10 million dollar lien against him and his wife, Patsy, for back taxes the government says are owed.

PTA Purchases
Book on Idaho

WENDELL, Nov. 12—Hub City PTA has purchased a copy of "Idaho Reader," a book of short stories by Idaho writers and stories of the history of Idaho, compiled by Mrs. Joyce Jordan.

The book will be kept on the school library shelf to be checked out to classes winning the PTA attendance awards.

The awards the past month were won by the seventh grade class and the high school junior class.

Meany Calls
For 35-Hour
Work Week

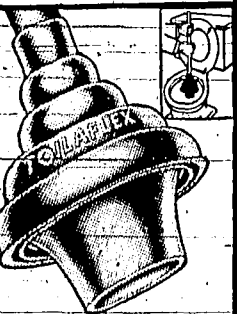

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, advocated Monday a 35-hour work week as the solution for unemployment, domestic civil-rights problems and the nation's competition with the communist world.

Meany gave his views in a report to his federation's convention, which opens Thursday.

He said the one issue of overriding importance for labor and the entire country was jobs for all.

The AFL-CIO president called on the federation to give the full weight of its endorsement to the campaign for the 35-hour week without a reduction in pay "and to devise a broader and more effective drive toward its implementation."

Injured Man

SALMON, Nov. 12—The Frank Stoddards, Salmon, have discovered they have friends.

Stoddard, on a trip to Idaho Falls to prepare for his potato harvest recently, was seriously injured in an auto accident. Friends of the Stoddards, through the LDS church, moved into action.

The Stoddards had started a potato cellar and it had to be finished to receive his potato crop. And someone had to harvest about 200 acres of potatoes before frost hit.

Mrs. Stoddard said today she never saw such a display of kindness.

Boy Scouts from three troops spent Saturdays nailing on boards to the cellar while every male member of the church donated a day or more erecting the cellar or assisting in digging potatoes.

She said the 40 by 300 foot cellar was finished in 40 days.

Stoddard, watching the frost close in, contracted a cold and was told to stay indoors or else face the prospect of going back to the hospital.

He was a passenger in an automobile driven by his brother, George H. Stoddard. The vehicle collided with a cow on highway 28 on Sept. 3.

Delays Trip
To Rome

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 12—Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, battling exhaustion, has delayed a flight to Rome and a reunion with her three younger children.

Mrs. Nhu had planned to leave today for Rome, then either return to South Viet Nam directly or via Los Angeles, an informed source said.

South Viet Nam's former First Lady had said in private that she believes many of the ruling junta which overthrew her family's regime are still on her side, according to a source close to her.

She believes if she can return to Saigon before the first general election under the new regime she can regain support, the source said.

The fire was caused by a faulty flue. Damage was estimated at approximately $50, reports E. E. Parr, fire chief. Firemen returned to Wendell at 10:35 a. m.

Who's Doing What?

A clumsy attempt at counterfeiting a questionnaire results in questions about who would want to do it and what could the purpose be. Asael Lyman, no stranger to Idaho politics, asserts someone counterfeited a questionnaire he sent out regarding Rep. Ralph Harding's charges against LDS Elder Ezra Taft Benson. The motives behind the original questionnaire seem to be clear enough when it's considered Lyman opposed Harding in the 1962 primary. Lyman obviously is planning to try again.

Which leads up to the point of who would want to try counterfeiting the questionnaire. All of the returned counterfeits were marked in favor of Representative Harding, so the congressman or some of his supporters would be questioned. It doesn't seem likely Mr. Harding would be so stupid as to mail in a batch of 300 counterfeits, phonies that could be spotted readily.

There's always the possibility Mr. Lyman or some associate paid for the counterfeits, hoping voters would assume automatically that Mr. Harding was to blame. Another alternative is that some associate of either of the principals took some individual action, with either of the above motives. And there's always the possibility of a practical joker.

Regardless of what happened, it could scarcely have any bearing on who gets the Democratic nomination for second district congressman. Unless there's a mighty reversal in hope in the next few months, Representative Harding will be renominated quite handily. The questionnaire, even including the counterfeits and the questions they pose, could hardly have any effect on the outcome of the general election next November.

The whole business has the air of a little intramural joking instead of anything that might be an election issue.

SOLID SOUTH CRACKS

Politicians and election strategists are studying charts and election figures in an effort to relate last week's off-year ballots to the 1964 presidential vote. After all the theories are voiced, and all the public opinion polls crystalize, there's still no substitute for the voter in the voting booth. Last week's elections are the first opportunity to check on what civil rights disagreements will mean in the voting booth.

One of the most significant elections was that in Mississippi where Republicans won a lot of votes even if they were defeated. No state is more representative of the Deep South, nor has any other state been more deeply embroiled in the civil rights row.

Politicians will have a field day dishing out Mississippi's election results. What they decide will have a big bearing on activities between now and next November.

They won't miss the point that the recent ballot was strictly a state contest. In view of some of the opinions expressed about the Kennedy administration since the integration incidents at the University of Mississippi, there's almost certain to be a reaction at the polls. If the Republican party can make a good race for the governorship, the Democrats face serious trouble in the presidential election a year from now.

Although the cracks in the Deep South constituted about the most interesting developments in last week's elections, Republicans couldn't help noting their party won a number of mayors' offices. Local issues can mean everything in municipal elections, yet the results could be another small indication of a shift away from the Kennedy administration.

Anyway, that's the way Republicans are interpreting it. Even if Republicans are hungry for election victories, they should not permit over-confidence to sway them. Another year must pass before the nation elects a President again.

POINT PROVED

A state legislator purchased a hunting license to prove the need for a short course in gun safety before licenses are issued. He proved his point quite readily because Robert Mahoney has been totally blind since he was 15. It could have happened in Idaho just as well, but this particular event occurred in Lansing, Mich. Many other states could profit from Mr. Mahoney's means of proving his point.

Few states have any controls over purchase of hunting licenses. And many, including Idaho, have inadequate tests and regulations governing purchase of a driver's license. In the wrong hands, an auto can be just as deadly as a firearm. Everyone can hope Mr. Mahoney's point is recognized in Michigan, at least. Some action may even result, but it's doubtful because nothing is done about such things until they reach the proportions of an emergency.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Congress will pass no tax bill this year, chiefly because President Kennedy refused to play ball with the economy bloc, thereby sending Sen. Harry Byrd, the light-fisted Virginia Democrat, into one of his cold, quiet tantrums. Kennedy had his chance to throw a sop to the economy boys when his 11 billion dollar tax cut bill was in the house and Rep. John W. Byrnes, R., Wis., wanted to write a spending ceiling into the bill. But the White House passed the word, and the Byrnes amendment was defeated. The President, in effect, was saying that although he was determined to cut spending he would not enter into a contract to do so.

CAN ALWAYS GET MORE—This was pretty silly. It is true no President wants his executive hand tied by congress in such a way because it trifles with his prerogatives. But Kennedy could have gone along on this one because no such contract is binding. A President can agree to hold federal spending to 98 billion in fiscal 1965, but he knows and so does everybody else, including congress, that in even the slightest of emergencies he can ask and get more money.

Most important, however, the tax bill would be virtually home free by now if Kennedy had gone along with Byrnes. The bill is now in Senator Byrd's senate finance committee and Byrd is crying that he wants to get a look at Kennedy's fiscal 1965 budget before deciding on the bill. Had Kennedy agreed on a spending ceiling that actually would have been meaningless, Byrd would have no excuse for dillying.

TECHNIQUE OF DELAY—As it is, there are still nearly 100 witnesses to be heard by the finance committee, and all they'll do is echo the same testimony heard by the house ways and means committee. But these tedious sessions will serve Byrd's purpose by delaying the committee's report on the bill until January at the earliest.

It is a hell-of-a-way to run a railroad, even a government one. Taxes are too high all along the line and should have been cut years ago. The tax structure has been crying for reform ever since World War II. Yet everybody is blundering along filling the air with inconsequential and insipid oratory designed to put off a decision as long as possible. And when aid if a cut is voted, the legislation will contain no significant piece of reform.

There is some twaddle being talked now that perhaps a tax cut is not really needed to hype the national economy. This is prompted by the news of an 8.9 billion increase in the gross national product during the July-September period. The amateur experts make much of the fact that less than 25 per cent of the increase was accounted for by increased government expenditures, with consumer spending rising by 3.9 billion and private domestic investment by 3.2 billion.

UNANSWERABLE FACT—But those who hail these statistics conveniently overlook the fact that there are still more than 3.5 million unemployed. The unemployment rate is still 5.8 per cent of the labor force, just as it was during the 1960 campaign, when Kennedy was campaigning against Republican standstillism. It should be clear to even the most myopic member of congress that something is needed to get things moving.

No one can take any pride in the house bill. In its neglect of inequities in the tax structure it is a horror. But it is the best the country can get out of Capitol Hill at this time, and it is shocking that the country should still be waiting for even that legislative mouse.

ATTACK ON WARREN
The incessant campaign against Earl Warren, chief justice of the United States, was highlighted this week by an incident in New York. Mr. Warren, who was in that city to accept an honorary membership from the New York Bar association, needed police escort to get his car through a band of milling, shouting pickets who carried banners calling for his impeachment.

This wasn't exactly a new experience for the chief justice. For a number of years there have been groups which would remove Mr. Warren from office on the claim that he is overstepping his rights in carrying out his official duties. There are those who violently criticize his stand on civil rights and there are others who disagree with the ruling on prayer in public schools. The quality of the attack on the chief justice is evident in the fact that it comes from radical, howling minorities. There has been no indication from competent students of law that the chief justice isn't carrying out his duties conscientiously and with a thorough knowledge of the constitution.

As a political office holder while he was governor of California, Mr. Warren was immensely popular. There were occasions when both parties in that state supported him. Yet when he removed himself from politics to accept the chief justice position he became for the first time the target of repeated vitriolic attacks. Often people in politics enjoy the opportunity to get out of the sometimes vicious political arena and into the relative quiet of the judicial branch of the government. Mr. Warren must often have mixed emotions when he reflects on what has happened to him. —Mankato (Minn.) Free Press

WE DIDN'T CHICKEN

The quarrel between the United States and the European Common Market over the tariff on U. S. poultry is referred to generally as the chicken war. It has given punters an opportunity to use such words as "fool" and "cackle" in reporting the disagreement which last week was submitted to a panel from the general agreement on tariffs and trade (GATT) for arbitration.

Common Market officials contend damage to American exports caused by the increase in market duties from 5 to 13.4 cents a pound is mere chicken feed. It will amount to only about 10 million dollars a year, they say. U. S. officials claim a loss of 40 million a year. The arbiters will arrive at a figure which will be the basis for increases in U. S. tariffs on imports from the Market or for cuts in the duties on American poultry.

Some have argued that the United States should not have become so ruffled over an issue that was not worth scratching for when compared with Common Market duties on more substantial trade, still to be decided. We're happy Uncle Sam didn't chicken out at the beginning of long and difficult negotiations. The Market agreement to submit the dispute to arbitration should not cause us to count our chickens before they are hatched. The arbiters may rule against us. But it is well to make it clear at the start that we will not stand still for low place in the pecking order. That's something to crow about. Usually we give in to cocker countries. —The Oregonian

EROSION, '64
Skeptical Republicans are audibly doubting Mr. Kennedy's statement that his western tour "is in the interest of conservation."

But Mr. Kennedy is telling the literal truth. Recent polls show serious erosion of Democratic vote totals in every area where he scheduled a speech. This kind of erosion calls for emergency conservation measures, with 1964 just around the corner. —Los Angeles Times

POT SHOTS

RELEASED FROM DUTY
Gene Baxter and Bill Rosenbaum, both Twin Falls, are congratulating themselves for helping out a pointer that was pinned down by a pheasant.

They were driving along a country road about four miles west of South Park when they noticed a pointer standing in a field doing what comes naturally for pointers. They talked about it, got to wondering if there were a hunter around or just what was happening. So after driving about a mile, curiosity prompted them to turn around and go take another look. Sure enough, the pointer hadn't moved a muscle.

So Gene and Bill piled out of their car, got their shotguns and went to see what had immobilized the pooch. A rooster pheasant exploded from the ground, was promptly gunned down and the poor pooch ran away.

Now Gene and Bill are wondering how long he held the point.

WHEN YOU GET TO HEAVEN

When you get to Heaven
Will you tell me what you see?
Are the Angels dressed in white—
Is life an ecstasy?

When you get to Heaven
Will you send a vision bright
To show the streets of gold
Ashine with Holy light?

And will you tell me, please,
If my dog and little cat
Are playing with the Cherubs,
Or bothering this and that?

And the pretty little pigeon
I had so long ago,
Is she lighting on their shoulders,

Or on some bright Halo?
Are the loved ones we once knew
Among the Angel-band?
Are they looking down below
To take us by the hand?

Tell me, when you get to Heaven,
Is God's throne where you can see—
And is an Angel's robe awaiting
Just for the likes of me?

Tell me, oh, please tell me
Just how did you get there?
Did you go up on a cloud
Or climb the golden stair?

Oh, when you get to Heaven
Will you and the Angels grand,
Pray a prayer for me
Down in this lonely land?

FAMOUS LAST LINE

"She's so direct it's embarrassing!"
GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

BARRY GOLDWATER

That the "peace and prosperity" slogan is the most effective upon which a presidential campaign can hinge has been proved many times.

But such must be based upon fact instead of statistic juggling, peace with honor instead of peace by concession to the enemy and prosperity which is reflected in the greatest of all the so-called "economic indicators," the national debt.

It has been unfortunate that the average American voter, too hard pressed with his business and personal affairs, often has failed to do his homework on government and thus become susceptible to all the wild claims and misrepresentations demagogic politicians could foist upon him.

An uninformed voter can be expected to cast his ballot only on the basis of what he does not know. The result usually is the election of candidates on the basis of personality, oratorical ability, good looks or other superficial qualities. The qualified candidate who lacks these somewhat doubtful attributes can hold little hope of election under such circumstances.

On the other hand, when there is a genuine peace, with the enemies of the free world made fully aware that our distaste for war is real, but that we will fight to preserve our freedoms and rights. If our prosperity really reflects full employment and production and a diminishing national debt—then the voter, whether or not he is fully informed, personally experiences prosperity's benefits. He, therefore, can be expected to cast his vote for the administration which has brought him such bounty.

In 1964, there can be little doubt that "peace and prosperity" again will be the campaign theme of the "in" party. In recent weeks, statements by New Frontiersmen of every rank, from the President on down, have given some indication of the claims which will be made in support of this theme.

The overriding consideration in forecasting the elections of next year will be whether the public actually is well informed on the issues. If, as pointed out, the voters are uninformed and "peace and prosperity" is just a slogan, they can be expected to fall prey to the histrionics and false oratory of the demagogues. But if peace and prosperity really exist, neither histrionics nor demagoguery will make any difference.

Administration spokesmen presently are basing their peace claims on what has happened in Germany, Southeast Asia, Africa, Latin America, the Southwest Pacific and in Mr. Kennedy's "confrontations" with Nikita Khrushchev.

Summarized, the New Frontier campaign will be based on such contentions as: the erection of the Berlin wall was a "victory" for the West; the Bay of Pigs fiasco, instead of being a defeat, actually resulted in the "isolation" of Castro from the hemisphere; our joint effort with the United Nations to kill Katangian independence restored order in the Congo; the granting of territorial demands to Indonesia's Sukarno and our numerous other efforts in behalf of other "peace-loving" nations.

Domestically, attempts will be made to rationalize a national debt larger than that of the rest of the world combined, on the basis that it is less per capita. The increase in the number of employed will be played up, but the number of the unemployed will be played down.

It gives you a chance to quit running so fast, to quit trying to eat up the world, to spend at least 10 minutes a day thinking of the other fellow," he said, while relaxing between chores. "When I was a kid, I wanted to stick my hand right down into the world, and pull it inside out. I didn't care about anything or anybody," he said.

"But in time you learn that money in the pocket not only gives you joy, it teaches you that you have a basic responsibility to the other fellow, and you lose the desire to eat up the world. "When people achieve a cultural or artistic security in their work, it ought also to help them become better. If you go on trying to eat up the other person, you're bound to come up with nothing." King, who describes himself as a blue collar worker in an art form, functioning like a truck driver in the entertainment business, said.

COVERING THE CAPITAL WITH PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (NEA)—American Education Week, Nov. 10-18, may celebrate congressional approval of U. S. government aid to education programs for the next three years. But there may also be some expressions of mourning by the professional educators over what they wanted but didn't get.

The five-year, five billion dollar omnibus bill to education package which President Kennedy submitted to congress last January is being cut way back. Of the 24 programs proposed, only six are being enacted, with many modifications and some extensions of old programs.

The major curtailment is that new aid to primary and secondary schools is out for classroom construction and teacher training. Decision to drop these programs, to have $2.5 billion, was taken last May. There is little chance that they can be revived even next year, though it may be tried.

Federal aid for testing seventh and eighth graders to determine their capabilities was dropped. New guidance and counseling services for public and nonprofit private schools were also dropped.

Grants to the states to provide teacher training for handicapped children—principally the deaf and blind—were eliminated, though aid for the mentally retarded has been provided in separate legislation.

All new programs proposed for adding adult education were cut out. This excludes additional aid for extension service courses in land grant colleges and state universities, adult basic education and special aid for adult education libraries.

An administration plan to pay half the wages of needy students given part-time employment in college communities was not even considered by congress.

The plan to provide federal aid for two years of college-level education of semiprofessional technicians in engineering, science and health was dropped. But a much broader program for expanded federal aid to vocational education at high school and junior college levels was substituted by congress and has been considered separately.

All administration proposals for federal aid to improve educational quality were dropped. They would have provided training of specialized teachers for both gifted children and ill-ables. Two programs to strengthen educational research and improve the gathering of educational statistics were dropped as unnecessary.

Extension and some expansion of the college student loan plan and extra aid for schools in areas where large numbers of federal employees cause an extra burden is expected to be passed separately.

Another proposal to grant a tax credit for the costs of college education is still under consideration. It was not part of the original Kennedy program but it is gaining steadily increasing support in congress. Twenty-two senators have now introduced bills for this purpose. But it is being handled as part of the tax bill now before congress.

The main aid to education programs which congress has seen fit to approve, totaling $1 billion over the next three years, include:

- 800 million dollars in matching grants for the construction of college classrooms, science laboratories, foreign language facilities and libraries with 155 million of this reserved for junior colleges.
- 380 million dollars in loans for such facilities.
- 145 million for graduate school expansion.

Earlier in the year, congress authorized a 238 million dollar program to construct medical school facilities and provide loans for medical students.

In summary, many essentials have been provided to aid education. But most of the educational frills are cut out.

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Q—What does my doctor mean when he says I have fluid around my heart? What causes it and is it serious?

A—When fluid collects in the sac around your heart it may be due to an infection which could severely damage the organ. The accumulated fluid means the heart has less room to expand. This reduces the force of the heartbeat and interferes with the circulation of the blood. Antibiotics may control the infection before any real damage is done, but surgical drainage may be necessary.

played will be played down, as will the unemployment rate. There will be boasts that our Gross National Product has risen but no mention of the fact that the spending on and by government bureaucracy is part of GNP.

We also will hear arguments to the effect that our per capita farm income is up, but won't be told that the increase is due to greater government handouts and fewer farmers. We will be told in the same breath that our prosperity has never been so great, but that the nation will need millions of additional dollars to pour into the rising number of depressed areas.

All in all, it should be interesting to see whether the issues of peace and prosperity, as envisioned—or rationalized—by the "ins," can stand up at the polls.

How do you stand, sir?

Passenger Responsible For Deaths

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Federal Aviation Agency Administrator Najeeb E. Halaby has announced that a passenger was responsible for the death of 17 persons in a plane crash at Denver in 1961.

Halaby made the disclosure last night during an interview in response to a question about the FAA's drive to improve emergency evacuation regulations for commercial airliners.

He did not identify the passenger, but said that he "volunteered" without any training or procedure to sort-of-keep everyone in their seats. And the result was that some 18 people died unnecessarily.

Halaby's reference was to the crash of a United Air Lines DC8 jetliner with more than 100 persons aboard at Stapleton field, Denver, July 7, 1961. Seventeen passengers and a man sitting in a parked pickup truck on the runway were killed.

At the time it was said the victims were trapped in the rear, tourist-class section of the plane and were unable to escape. In time to avoid the fire that broke out after the crash.

Halaby said the plane made a crash landing when its hydraulic system failed. "The airplane swerved off the runway, came to rest after shearing off its gear and some engines." He said 16 or 17 passengers "failed to evacuate the airplane."

He said the "situation of the (plane's) cabin was confused," permitting the unidentified passenger to take over and keep the group of other passengers in their seats when they should have been scrambling for the emergency doors.

"I was right there shortly after the accident and it had a shocking effect on me," Halaby said. "So we've been working very steadily now, and have recently put out some proposed rules."

"We've gotten the airlines to go along with quite a few things without even requiring rules to do so, to see if we can't safeguard even against the very rare accident when there is a sudden cabin accident and people have a chance to get out," he said.

Utah-Idaho Meet Planned on Border 'War'; Clyde Snarls

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 12 (AP)—Utah Gov. George D. Clyde says he'll meet with Idaho officials Thursday in Salt Lake City to talk over a border dispute involving southern Idaho farmers and Utah hunters.

Clyde made the announcement Monday and gave newsmen a tongue lashing for "trying to make a mountain" out of the dispute.

Despite his anger with the press, the governor said the meeting would be open to the public and would include a delegation from Utah's Logan area and from Preston in Idaho.

Nixon Still Says He Won't Run

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Richard M. Nixon says he can conceive of "no circumstances whatever" under which he would be a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination next year.

The former vice president says that if his name comes up as a possible candidate in the New Hampshire or Oregon primaries he will "do everything I can legally to get my name out."

Nixon told a news conference Monday night those primary races should be between New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, an announced candidate for the nomination, and Sen. Barry Goldwater, Ariz., who is expected to oppose Rockefeller.

Nixon said he appreciates the remarks made about him by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower Sunday, but he believes he can "best serve my party and my country as a constructive critic." He said he plans about one speech a month and will continue to write articles on current events but "there is no deviation in my plan to thereby become a candidate."

Eisenhower said that if a deadlock developed at the Republican convention, Nixon would be "one of the likely persons" to be considered for the nomination "because he is... a very knowledgeable and a very courageous type of person."

"Deadlocks are a thing of the past," said Nixon.

Asked about a "draft-Nixon" movement started in Los Angeles during the week-end, Nixon said Los Angeles is "likely to start almost any kind of movement." He said such a move had neither his knowledge nor approval.

Nixon said Goldwater is "obviously in the lead today" in New Hampshire, where Rockefeller has already started campaigning. Nixon said he will not at this time commit himself to Goldwater or Rockefeller. He said his choice will be greatly influenced by his judgment on "which man can better lead the nation on foreign policy."

Famous Baby Is Object of World Search

GENEVA, Nov. 12 (AP)—The U.N. world health organization is trying to locate one of the most famous babies in medical history. Officials say the only clue they have is that the baby—now over 42 years old—is believed to be in the United States.

He was the first baby ever to be vaccinated with anti-tuberculous serum. It happened in Paris on July 1, 1921, but the doctor who administered the vaccination is dead and his widow, herself a doctor in Paris, says she cannot find the patient's name or any other data in her late husband's files.

WHO wants to contact the "baby" before April 7—next year's World Health Day—to demonstrate that a vaccinated baby can grow into a healthy adult even if it was raised by a tuberculous grandmother who took over after its mother died of tuberculosis.

State Grange Report Given For Meeting

SHOSHONE, Nov. 12—Report of the state Grange meeting was given to Magic Grange Friday night by Oscar Kerner, delegate.

The message urged Clyde and Smylie to get together and settle the dispute.

"I haven't received a telegram and why should I comment on something I haven't seen?" Clyde said angrily. "There's nothing to it and you're trying to make a mountain of it."

Cranney's message also blamed "subversive minority groups" for the scuttling of a meeting scheduled for today.

But Clyde said it was canceled because they wanted a secret meeting and he "wouldn't permit it."

Then he turned on the newsmen asking: "All you are trying to do is generate a controversy—have you seen any of those signs? Or talked directly to anyone ordered off Idaho farms? All you are doing is repeating hearsay."

Clyde was referring to reports that southern Idaho farm lands were posted against Utah pheasant hunters apparently in protest of a Utah requirement that Idaho sugar beet trucks be registered in the state. The trucks carry the Idaho beets to Utah mills a short distance from the border.

Utah Senate President Reed Bullen of Logan, one of those who helped arrange the Thursday meeting, was less excited about the dispute.

"Some people try to make it bigger than it is, some try to minimize it," he said, "but there is trouble. It's an emotional thing. You get a situation where emotion takes over, and reason goes out the window."

Bullen stressed that the persons involved on both sides of the border want to settle the problems and continue to live together.

He said Governor Smylie had not been invited to the Thursday meeting.

Indonesian Use Of U. S. Planes Scored by Solon

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Rep. Oliver P. Bolton, R., O., charged today that Indonesia was using late model U. S. transport planes, to drop troops and supplies along the Malaysian border.

Bolton accused the administration of furthering the "avaricious territorial dreams" of Indonesia's President Sukarno by permitting shipment of spare parts for the Lockheed C130 planes.

"There is evidence to suggest that these aircraft would be grounded within about six months time if all future export licenses for spare parts and engines were, as a matter of policy, disapproved," Bolton said.

The Ohio Republican described the U. S. planes as the Indonesian air force's "most potent military punch." He said they represented one of the most serious threats to the future independence of Malaysia.

Tulsa Bank Has to Close To Catch up

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 12 (AP)—A Tulsa bank has suspended business temporarily to get time to find all its money.

The bank, Southern Hills National, has done such a landslide business, it needs time to work on the books.

So James J. Saxon, comptroller of the currency, announced the bank has been placed temporarily in conservatorship to allow bookkeepers to catch up with depositors.

The bank opened Aug. 5 with the announcement that charter depositors would never have to pay a service charge on their accounts.

Southern Hills hasn't stopped expanding since.

Within eight days the bank had more than 12,000 accounts totaling more than two million dollars. By the end of the charter deposit period, 25,000 to 30,000 accounts had been opened and the bank was hard pressed to handle all of the business.

At the bank's first accounting call, Sept. 30, it listed total assets of 6.3 million dollars and deposits of 5.4 million dollars, about two million dollars more than bank officials had expected for a 12-month period.

The bank was less than two months old.

Southern Hills opened with 50 employees. Within a few weeks that number had grown to 300 temporary and permanent workers, one official said. Some employees had to work about the clock in an effort to keep up with the exploding business.

They couldn't. And Saxon's announcement was the result.

Yard Sinks

ALHAMBRA, Calif., Nov. 12 (AP)—We were sitting on the front porch when all of a sudden a big patch of lawn started to move, then dropped out of sight," a housewife declared.

"Nothing has ever happened to us in this house before," she said Monday. "But when your front yard suddenly sinks 18 feet, that's something."

Mrs. Esther Baker said the hole appeared over the weekend. Police were summoned. "An officer looked into the hole, suggested we fill it up, then left," she said.

"But then we discovered that the bottom of the hole apparently is the top of an old Indian or Spanish well. And that means it could go down another 50 or 100 feet."

BOISE, Nov. 12 (AP)—Nominations will be accepted until March 15 for the Outstanding Biology Teacher award in Idaho for 1964. Merlyn Nelson, Coeur d'Alene, is chairman of the program and will receive nominations. The Idaho winner will compete for a regional award which would qualify him for national competition.

BOISE, Nov. 12 (AP)—An autopsy was planned today to determine the cause of death of 74-year-old Riley H. Joy, whose body was found Monday in a drain ditch. Joy had been missing for a week. The body was found near the intersection of highways 15 and 44, six miles northwest of Boise, by Floyd Wisdom who was working near the ditch. Coroner E. D. Paris said there was no indication of foul play. He said Mr. Joy had been suffering from occasional blackouts and left the oil turned on in a stove in his apartment the day he disappeared. Nov. 4, Paris theorized that Mr. Joy caught a ride with someone as far as the intersection. The body was about a half-mile from highway 44.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

TUESDAY, Nov. 12 — Born today, you have an alert, active mind which you sometimes allow to become too imaginative for your own good. Learn to control your flights of fancy — or else learn to use them to advantage. One with your talent for words and your sense of the dramatic might well turn what could be a fault into a profitable literary flair.

One who loves luxury and the personal freedom that financial security provides, you are nevertheless not loath to labor in any cause you consider worthwhile. You are ambitious and far from lazy, and even should great wealth be part of your life, you will remain active, both in the interests of others and in the interests of yourself. Your only requirement is that there always be some time left over for quiet, closed contemplation.

Left to your own devices, it might be that you will never marry. It is more than likely, however, that there will be a number of "cupids" among your many friends, and your phase of single bliss will be a short one. Because you may not initiate your own romance, take care that you do not wind up with someone else's "second best."

Among those born on this date are: George Dillon, poet; Anne Parrish, author; Grace Kelly, Princess Grace of Monaco.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Wednesday, Nov. 13
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — Avoid entering upon any plan of action to which you do not feel wholly committed. Your own integrity should see you through.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — Keep business out of a new approach to old friends. Re-establish relationships on a basis of personal interest.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — Clear away essentials early. This is a day when your confidence, openly displayed, should place you in an enviable position.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — Check periodically with loved ones for a progress report on developments at home. You will thus increase your efficiency elsewhere.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) — The Pisces who falls today will have none but himself to blame. All signs point to rewards commensurate with efforts.

ARIES (March 21-April 20) — Be wary of new prospects. Question the feasibility of even the best-laid plans. A good day, if you approach it with care.

Taurus (April 21-May 21) — Wisdom in the reshaping of your immediate future should pay off handsomely. Guard against being blindly optimistic.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — This day has all the makings of fine memories. Your job is to dig in, dig them, and extract them.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — See to your frame of mind before seeing to your chores. Essential jobs cannot be accomplished otherwise.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — Take advantage of a day calculated to bring good fortune. First step: discharge duties faithfully.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — Let the force of your personality persuade where argument cannot. The favor of an affirmative reply should come by evening.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — Enthusiasm should up your efficiency level. Go to work with a will on challenging assignments.

Man Is Set Afire by Negro Youths

ATLANTA, Nov. 12 (AP)—A 39-year-old white man was seized by several Negro youths who dragged him several blocks and set his clothing afire, police reported.

The victim, William Langman, was reported in serious condition at a hospital Monday with third-degree burns over the upper part of his body.

Detectives said Langman was unable to give a coherent statement, but related that the youths dragged him to the rear of a residence and set his clothing on fire.

Hubert Johnson said he heard the man screaming outside his house and extinguished the flames with a coat.

Japan Rejects Pakistan Bid To Land Planes

TOKYO, Nov. 12 (AP)—Japan has turned down Pakistan's request for permission to land its planes on Japan after stops in Communist China.

The Japanese transportation ministry said Monday the application was denied because Japan has no formal diplomatic ties with Red China. Talks on revising the agreement between Japan and Pakistan opened in Tokyo seven days ago and now have been broken off.

Kind Police Sober Drunk For Wedding

SPSWICK, ENG., Nov. 12 (AP)—"I'm getting married in the morning," crooned James Eason to the policeman standing over him in the street. "Get me to the church on time."

The policeman did. It was 11 p.m.—just after the pubs closed—when the 21-year-old laborer was found drunk in the street. By 11:30, Eason was sound asleep in a police cell.

By 1 a.m. he was in a hospital getting a sobering-up treatment. By 3 a.m. he was sober.

By noon he was married. Justice waited for the honeymoon. But when it ended yesterday, Eason went to court and was fined $140.

"I'm not a heavy drinker," he said, "and I had too many pals at my stag party. But the wedding went off all right."

Hijacker May Talk Before U. N. Unit

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 12 (AP)—Controversy has arisen over a proposal that Capt. Henrique Galvao, who hijacked the Portuguese liner Santa Maria in 1961, visit the United States to testify before the U.N. trusteeship committee.

The proposal was made Monday in the committee, which soon is to debate Portugal's policy in its African territory of Angola. Galvao is a former governor-general of Angola and had hoped his hijacking of the Santa Maria would set off a revolt there against the dictatorship of Portuguese Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar.

U.S. delegate Sidney R. Yates told the committee his government has no objection to Galvao's appearance. But he said if he came to New York he would be subject to the extradition treaty between the United States and Portugal. The Portuguese have charged him with piracy.

The committee postponed action until Wednesday.

Boob Tube Holds Family in Spell As Thief Works

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 12 (AP)—Members of the Giovanni Fasta family found the television show so fascinating they couldn't take their eyes off it.

They didn't even notice, in fact, when thieves walked in the front door last night, walked past the open door of the living room where they were watching television, took jewelry valued at $800 from the bedroom and walked out again.

The family discovered the theft only after the television program had ended.

Reds Planning Big Spaceship

NEW DELHI, Nov. 12 (AP)—Soviet Cosmonaut Andrian Nikolayev says the Soviet Union is planning a spaceship that will sustain life in outer space for three years—the estimated time required for a round trip to Mars or Venus.

He said manned planetary space flights entail untold amounts of research.

Nikolayev told scientists at the Indian National Physical Laboratory Monday that the round-trip would actually take 14 months, but spacecraft would have to spend almost two years on the planets to wait for a proper orbital position for the return flight.

Farm Bureau Women Plan For Program

The 1964 Farm Bureau women's program for Idaho was presented by the local district three committee.

A copy of the program was shown at the meeting Friday afternoon at the Farm Bureau office here and will be presented at the state convention at Pocatello Nov. 18-20.

Plans to attend the state convention were made by the women's group along with assignments for activity there. Each county in the district will furnish five dozen cookies to be served Monday evening, Nov. 18, following the state talk-talent contest. Women who wish may wear Central costumes at the women's social on Nov. 18.

The annual women's workshop will be held in conjunction with the convention this year. Ordinarily it is held in separate meetings in January.

Each county chairman will report on Wednesday morning, Nov. 20, at the women's breakfast.

Lincoln county will display its scrapbook at the convention. It contains pictures of booths sponsored in the past eight years at county fairs.

County chairmen were present for the meeting Friday from Jerome, Minidoka, Twin Falls and Lincoln counties.

King Pushes For More Negro Votes

ALBANY, Ga., Nov. 12 (AP)—Integration leader Martin Luther King, Jr., said last night the 1964 presidential election probably will be the most crucial in nation's history and Negroes must be able to control it.

"If we can get 400,000 to 450,000 more Negro votes, then we can decide who will go to Washington," King told a rally of 1,500 Negroes.

Speaking at the second anniversary observance of the Albany Movement, an integrationist organization, King said that civil rights drives across the country stemmed primarily from the movement's struggles. Antisegregation demonstrations by the movement brought mass arrests last year.

He said Negroes will not allow the racial situation to "return to normalcy (since) it was normalcy that caused the bombing in Birmingham in which four innocent children were killed."

King indicated an intensification of efforts to register more Negro voters in the South. Georgia alone should have an additional 100,000 Negro voters by next year, he said.

"The election next year will probably be the most crucial in the history of the United States because the civil rights issue will be the key issue in the election," King said.

U Thant Asks if Powers Should Ignore Red China

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Secretary-General U Thant of the United Nations questioned Monday night whether it's wise or possible to ignore Red China as a world power indefinitely.

In a speech at the 40th anniversary dinner of the United Nations he called communism's conquest of mainland China the most important development of communism after World War II and the East-West conflict the most dangerous for the world today.

"Today the influence of Peking on world affairs is unmistakable and if I may so say, I wonder if it would be wise or even possible indefinitely to ignore China, especially when dealing with problems affecting the peace and security of the world."

Stockmen Rap Import, Land Policy

STATELINE, Nev., Nov. 12 (AP)—Cattlemen and sheepmen, who fought legendary battles in the old days, joined Gov. Grant Sawyer Monday in criticizing federal land and import policies.

Several hundred stockmen are attending the second annual joint convention of the Nevada Cattle association and the Nevada Woolgrower's association. The convention ends Wednesday following separate business sessions.

Peter E. Marie, Elko, cattle-men's president, Stanley Ellison also Elko, woolgrowers' head, and Sawyer addressed opening day sessions.

Marie said there is too much federal intervention in agriculture.

"It has not been federal ownership, subsidy programs or Washingtonians that have built Nevada and its agriculture into what it is today," Marie said. "It has been private ownership of our homes and farms and private individual enterprise and leadership."

Marie said federal administrators "should know that if we in Nevada had had most of the government planning and management proposed or enforced in the 1930's we would have just what the early day settlers had, a grassless, hayless, waterless and gameless natural preserve."

Ellison outlined six major problems facing sheepmen. The first on his list were tariff problems and federal land problems. Ellison called the proposed wilderness bills a constant threat to the stock growing industry, but said amendments are being sought to permit continued grazing in such areas.

Imports have been virtually doubling nearly every year, giving domestic producers an increasing battle for the market, he said. Imports of fabrics are also hurting the nation's textile mills.

Earlier in the day, Sawyer, a Democrat, criticized federal policies on public lands and imports of beef and mutton from abroad.

Federal ownership of 60.6 million acres in Nevada, nearly 87 per cent of the land area, threatens to frustrate Nevada's hopes for the future, Sawyer said.

Government land policies can mean the difference between success and failure for stockmen who depend on public grazing land, Sawyer said.

Stock prices will remain low as long as the federal government is committed to a policy of increased imports of beef and mutton, Sawyer said.

The government has not done enough in the area of federal land classification, Sawyer added.

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 12 (AP)—A below-average stream runoff in October in the Pacific Northwest has been reported by the U.S. geological survey.

October precipitation was below average in the region except in southwestern Montana and western Washington, the agency reported Monday.

Russ-U.S. Exchange Plan Eyed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—The United States is prepared to drive for an improved cultural exchange agreement with Soviet Russia allowing for greater communication between peoples of the two nations, a state department official said Monday night.

"We would prefer not to have an agreement unless it is an improved one," said Frank Siscoe, director of the Soviet Eastern European exchange staff.

Siscoe will serve as deputy chairman of a 10-member American negotiating committee, headed by U. S. Ambassador Foy Kohler.

The current two-year agreement expires Dec. 31. It is the third such agreement in a series begun in January, 1958.

Siscoe told a newsmen the Americans and Soviets at this moment are "somewhat far apart with regard to how the negotiations should be conducted."

The Russians, he said, are interested primarily in exchange of scientific and technical information. The United States, on the other hand, wants an expanded program dealing with a variety of ideas in informational and educational fields.

He said there is more need for responsibility and incentive by land users to make best use of land.

Incentive for users is missing under the present management program, he said.

Moroccan Army Is Confident of Its Superiority

RABAT, Morocco, Nov. 12 (AP)—The frontier war with Algeria has boosted the confidence and fighting spirit of the Moroccan army, one of Africa's best.

"If your majesty gives the order, I will be with my troops in 24 hours," a Moroccan general told King Hassan II on the eve of the cease-fire.

The Moroccans have shown they can repel the Algerian opponent without too much difficulty. In open desert terrain, they scored operational successes and captured several hundred Algerian prisoners.

While the government remains alarmed about reports of Soviet, Egyptian and Cuban armshipments to Algeria, the Moroccan military men are confident of their superiority.

Kennedy Boosted

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Theodore C. Sorensen, special counsel to President Kennedy, yesterday pointed up a possible 1964 presidential campaign issue.

Sorensen told the Women's National Democratic club that Kennedy had "devoted more years to major elective office than the leading three Republican candidates combined." He listed Sen. Barry Goldwater, R., Ariz., New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Michigan Gov. George Romney.

Olympic Unit Bars Plan By Kennedy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—The U. S. Olympic committee voted Monday a proposal to let President Kennedy name members of its board of directors who would try to mediate the dispute between the colleges and the Amateur Athletic Union, and the AAU vetoed the proposal. The AAU vetoed the proposal, contending it might be interpreted by foreign sports leaders as government interference in amateur sports. The colleges countered that neutral mediation is a must if there ever is to be any peaceful solution to their conflict with the AAU. They scoffed at the idea that the President naming "three members of the 30-man board of directors" would constitute government interference. Sources on both sides said the proposal originated from the administration. The action came at the final session of a two-day biennial meeting of the U. S. Olympic committee, a meeting marred by almost constant conflict between the AAU and the National Collegiate Athletic Association. President Kennedy's wife, Mrs. John F. Kennedy, who had urged harmony at the opening session Monday, just before the administration.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Lance Alworth, San Diego's baby-faced flanker back, tied an American Football league record Sunday by catching 13 passes against Boston, a performance that made him the leading ground gainer among the league's pass catchers.

Although Alworth's total of 46 catches is good for only sixth place in the standings and trails leading Art Powell of Oakland by six, he has gained 968 yards and scored eight touchdowns. Alworth's catches have been worth a fantastic average of 21 yards.

Clem Daniels recaptured the rushing lead when he picked up 122 yards in 14 carries for Oakland in the Raiders' 22-7 Friday night victory over Kansas City. Daniels had trailed San Diego's Paul Lowe by only one yard last week but now enjoys a lead of 131 yards with 702 for the season. Lowe didn't gain a yard last week.

Tobin Rote of San Diego retained first place among the passers with Jack Kemp of Buffalo close behind. Rote has averaged 9.5 yards per attempt and has completed 114 of 182 for 14 touchdowns.

Gino Cappelletti, Boston's place kicker, widened his impressive lead in the scoring department with a total of 87 points to 63 for George Blanda of Houston. Cappelletti made two field goals as Boston lost 7-6 to San Diego. He missed three field goal attempts.

Trade Rumor Is Said Ridiculous

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 12 (AP)—Los Angeles Lakers owner Bob Short labeled as ridiculous rumors that his club's star players, Elgin Baylor and Jerry West, were possible trade bait with the Baltimore Bullets of the National Basketball Association.

"The only way you can answer such a ridiculous rumor is with an 'equally ridiculous reply,'" Short said when contacted Monday night at the Lakers-Detroit Pistons game here. "Everybody knows that Baylor, Elgin Baylor and Jerry West, were possible trade bait with the Baltimore Bullets of the National Basketball Association."

"I'm sure the management of the Baltimore ball club knows that." He acknowledged that he had heard rumors of the trades. One proposed Baylor going to the Bullets even up for Walt Bellamy. The other had West, Jim Krebs and Frank Selvy being swapped for Bellamy.

perfecting a fine product to improve your cooking

Just as a good cook measures ingredients to achieve perfection in the foods she offers her family, so El Paso Natural Gas Company's chemists check the ingredients in their product. Nature did a fine job in creating natural gas in its raw state. The men and equipment shown here are applying the skills of science to make the finished product the splendid fuel it is: clean and controllable, fast, economical and efficient. Natural gas, as it comes from the ground, is accompanied by liquid hydrocarbons (in themselves valuable, but for other purposes), other chemicals and water vapor. These are measured, removed, and the final product re-tested by chemists—to provide you with the clean-burning flame that performs with perfection in your kitchen. If you are not yet cooking this modern way, call your retail gas distribution company* and learn why natural gas fuel is preferred by 90% of America's professional chefs and 34 million homemakers.

JEROME CLAIMS CROSS STATE LOOP CROWN

Tigers Erupt in Last Period to Blast Buhl 26-6

JEROME, Nov. 12—The Jerome Tigers turned a fumble and a pass interception into touchdowns early in the fourth quarter to turn a 6-0 edge into a run-away 26-6 decision over the Buhl Indians Monday afternoon. The victory also carried with it the Cross State conference championship, the last to be offered as the league has collapsed after 13 years of existence. Both teams had entered the fray with identical 3-0 records and it was anyone's ball game until the Tigers struck for the two touchdowns. After that the game was a nightmare of fumbles, passes and penalties.

Vandals Drop Five Men Off First String

MOSCOW, Idaho, Nov. 12 (AP)—Coach Dee Andros juggled the University of Idaho Vandal's lineup Monday, replacing five starters, including last week's linemen and back of the week.

Andros moved placed Joe Chapman at split end and sent Vern Leyde to the second unit. At the other end, Hal Osborne took over the starting position and Mike Mayne went to the third unit.

Leyde, who plays part of the time as a wingback, was back of the week last week. Mayne was linemen of the week.

"From the team's play in the Arizona game, we felt these changes were warranted," Andros said. "These fellows on the first unit were playing better ball than the regulars and deserve a chance."

The Vandals, who have lost their last two games, were out on the practice field Monday, polishing their offense and brushing up their defense in preparation for Saturday's game against Idaho's intrastate rival, Idaho State University.

The Vandals are now four and four. Idaho State is five and two. Idaho won last year's game 9-6 here. But Andros said "anything can happen in this game."

Grid Coach Is Hanged in Effigy

FORT WORTH, Nov. 12 (AP)—Texas Christian Coach Abe Martin was hanged in effigy Sunday night on the university campus.

The dummy, dangling from a tree in front of Daniel-Meyer coliseum, bore a note which read:

"We want a new coach. Down with Abe."

Martin, questioned about the incident, said: "It was just a prank by a young kid who wanted publicity. This isn't the first time this has happened."

"I was hanged in effigy in 1956 right after we lost to Texas Tech, and that was the year we had Jim Swink and played in the Cotton bowl."

MATCH SET

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 12 (AP)—Welterweight champion Emile Griffith of New York will meet middleweight Rubin (Hurricane) Carter in a 10-round boxing bout at Pittsburgh's Civic arena Dec. 20.

Jerome broke in front early in the second quarter, taking over from Buhl at the 47 yard line. Stan Millard, on a third and five situation, made the bid serious when he spun away on a 30-yard scamper. Lopez picked up one first down to the 15. Then Gano hit Millard for 13 yards and the touchdown. The conversion attempt failed.

The teams saw-sawed through the third quarter until Buhl fumbled and Jerome recovered on the 29 yard line. As the quarter began, Gano passed to Millard for a first down and two plays later Bolich put the ball on the one yard line. From there Gano flipped an easy toss to Drive-Meiser for the score.

Seconds after the ensuing kickoff, Bolich intercepted a Buhl pass at the 43-yard line. Gano hit Millard for nine yards and Bolich added four more to start the drive. Two plays later, Gano hit Millard on a 35-yard scoring pass. Pat Williams converted.

The same combination clicked for 34 yards and another touchdown as Jerome made it 26-0. Buhl then turned to the air to prevent the shutout. Clark Griffin started it with a short toss to Neal Barigar and then Joe Martin found Mike Stenel open and the pair collaborated on a 44-yard play. That took the ball to the 31 yard line and Barigar scored two plays later on another pass play.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 12 (AP)—Welterweight champion Emile Griffith of New York will meet middleweight Rubin (Hurricane) Carter in a 10-round boxing bout at Pittsburgh's Civic arena Dec. 20.

Twisting across the Minico goal line is Harold Povison (18), Burley Bobcat senior fullback. Povison scored from eight yards out to put the Bobcats out in front 6-0. Midway in the fourth quarter Minico rallied to win the traditional Veterans day game 7-6. (Times-News photo)

Mongo Beats Kelso in International

LAUREL, Md., Nov. 12 (AP)—Mrs. Marion DuPont Scott's Mongo handed the U.S. champion Kelso his third straight defeat Monday in the Washington, D. C., International horse race but had to survive a foul claim by the loser.

Kelso's rider, Ismael Valenzuela, contended Mongo carried his horse wide in the stirring stretch duel. Stewards, after 15 minutes' deliberation and study of the pictures, disallowed the claim.

"The films didn't show any interference," reported J. Fred Colwill, a steward.

Jockey Wayne Chambers admitted that Mongo may have "shied a little going around the turn."

It was a stirring two-horse race with Mongo, a 4-year-old colt, and Kelso battling it out stride for stride from the half-mile pole to the finish. Mongo shot under the wire a half-length in front.

Mongo paid $9.80, $2.80 and $3 for each $2 bet. Kelso returned $2.40 and a minimum of $2.20.

Nyrcos of France was a distant third, 12 lengths behind Kelso, in a field of 10 horses from seven nations.

Espresso of England was fourth, three lengths to the rear of Nyrcos.

Mongo, who has lost only once in the turf in six starts, was timed in 2:27-2-5 for the mile and a half on a course rated firm, but yielding a bit after heavy rains last week.

Minico Rallies in Last Period, Overhauls Underdog Burley 7-6

BURLEY, Nov. 12—The opportunist Minico Spartans turned a pair of Burley miscues into a late touchdown and a come-from-behind 7-6 victory over the Bobcats Monday afternoon. A fumble, a short punt and a five-yard penalty fired up Coach Bill Matthews' charges midway through the fourth quarter and senior back Rod Wodskow bulled over from two yards out to tie the game 6-6 with five and one-half minutes remaining.

On the clock, Allen Cueva then split the uprights with the all-important conversion and Minico held on to win.

The Spartans took full opportunity of Burley's mistakes. It was a third down situation with the ball near the mid-field stripe and the Bobcats fumbled on a double reverse. They recovered on their own 30-yard line. On fourth down the "Cats" punted, but the kick only traveled some 10 yards from scrimmage.

Minico back Rick Miller was caught about four yards behind the line of scrimmage, but Burley had 12 men on the field.

Instead of it being second down and 14, it was first and five on the Bobcats' 36-yard line. Seven plays later Wodskow drove on their own 40 yard line and moved the ball to Burley's nine yard line in 12 plays before fumbling.

Minico mounted one more drive before the half ended and again a fumble proved to be its undoing. Minico, after recovering a kick on its own 35, moved 25 yards in four plays to the Bobcat 40. After recovering their own fumble on the Bobcat 40 they kicked. The Bobcats took possession on their 10 yard line and moved downfield to the 40 before being forced to kick. The first half ended with Minico in possession on their own 32.

Only one pass was picked up during the game. Burley's Russell Mallory had one interception midway through the third quarter. The third quarter was defense. The ball changed hands three times as each team threw one defensive effort after another at each other.

In the final stanza, the Bobcats were caught with 12 men on the field and the Minico machine got oiled up to push across "the deciding tally."

Udall Would Like to Save Tahoe

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall singled out Lake Tahoe Monday as an example of a natural beauty that should be preserved from commercialism.

He said he hopes federal funds can be used in the continuing fight to save part of Lake Tahoe, which is equally shared by Nevada and California, from exploitation by gambling casinos and other commercial interests.

Udall said, "We're hoping that we can put up some of the money through federal funds and save one third of the lake as wilderness area to be preserved both as a wildlife sanctuary and to give delight to generations of Americans to come."

British Red Party Has Split Openly

LONDON, Nov. 12 (UPI)—The British communist party, smallest in Europe, was split openly Monday for the first time since the 1956 Hungarian revolution.

A group described by party leaders as "extremist intellectuals" circulated a statement attacking the leadership's pro-Moscow line and demanding that the party follow the more militant policies of communist China.

"We want to smash the present leadership," one of the dissidents, A. H. Evans, said.

The attack, led by former Eton student Michael McCree, charged Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev with "an outright betrayal of the working class."

British Party Leader John Gollan, the dissidents charged, has "abandoned the struggle for working-class power and replaced it with the aim of winning a few crumbs from the table of the monopoly capitalists."

Gollan, in a speech last night, repeated his support for the Moscow line. It is believed that a large majority of the 33,000 British communists back him in this.
