

U. S. Demands Russians Release Yale Professor

MOSCOW, Nov. 13 (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Foy Kohler today demanded the immediate release of Prof. Frederick C. Barghoorn, Yale university professor held by the Russians on spy charges. The ambassador spent 15 minutes with Valerian Zorin, deputy foreign minister. He also demanded the right to see Barghoorn and to have the charges against him given in detail. In a brief statement, the embassy said the ambassador "registered a strong protest at the completely unwarranted arrest and detention of Prof. Barghoorn and the unjustifiably long period of time between his arrest and notification of the American embassy by the ministry of foreign affairs."

Lewiston Men Propose That Idaho's 10 North Counties Secede From State

BOISE, Nov. 13 (AP)—Five Lewiston residents proposed today that Idaho's 10 northern counties secede from the state and join themselves into the new state.

The foreign ministry announced the arrest of the visiting professor Tuesday, said it took place several days ago but gave no other information. "The ambassador demanded immediate access to Prof. Barghoorn and requested his release forthwith," the statement continued.

Barghoorn, professor of political science at Yale, has written a number of books critical of the Soviet system and was here on a tourist visa preparing to write a further book. He was last seen by an embassy official on Oct. 31 when he came for drinks to the apartment of Walter Stoesel, minister counselor in the embassy. At that time he said he expected to leave the Soviet Union the following day.

Earlier, the embassy issued a statement saying Stoesel had protested the arrest to Mikhail Smyrnovsky, chief of the American section of the foreign office, and asked for all details.

California May Seek Chief's Aid In Water Problem

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 13 (UPI)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown has not ruled out a request to President Kennedy for a special commission to help solve California's water problems. At a top level conference yesterday the governor voiced support for a regional plan for water development in the West—but not necessarily the one urged by Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall. The meeting was called by Brown to try to set a course for water planning in the wake of the U. S. supreme court decision which divided up Colorado river water so as to potentially leave southern California millions of gallons short of its needs.

"Antagonistic" Call Denied by Smylie

BOISE, Nov. 13 (UPI)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie denied today that he was "antagonistic" with California Gov. Edmund G. Brown in a telephone call to discuss water problems yesterday. Smylie said he suggested that Brown look elsewhere for water other than Idaho's Snake river. "I don't think I was antagonistic," Smylie said.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13—The They continued to question other construction workers today in hope of finding the remaining jewelry apparently netted not one 10 per cent.

Police gave this account: The bandit driver, dressed in a policeman's uniform, got as far as a demolition site on the 41st street when the station wagon's motor conked out again. He asked a construction worker to help him start the car.

WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13—Sometimes it seems as if the country is becoming a real big boy, and one of these times was the other day when the Commonweal, a Catholic lay magazine, suggested that a presidential campaign is not a contest to elect the father of the year.

"It is largely irrelevant," said the Commonweal, "whether the presidency is filled by a divorced man." Rather, it said, a man should be judged on his entire program and political stance.

Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York is the man the Commonweal was talking about, of course. He has been written off in other circles because he divorced his wife and married the mother of four children, as though the sole qualification for the presidency was a happy home life. In such a fashion does America too often discriminate against public servants.

NOT DOGMA—It should not be so, but in the climate of the times it is called significant that a case should be made for Rockefeller by a Catholic magazine. It is significant—or believed so—because the Catholic church unalterably opposes divorce as a matter of faith and morals. Actually, the Commonweal's stand should not cause even a ripple of comment, for its editors are speaking not as Catholics but as American citizens, and their comments should be taken for granted as the natural fruit of a republic where the division between church and state is absolute.

This new attitude no violence to the feelings of those who strongly oppose divorce. Most of us can agree that any divorce between any two people is a tragedy. But it is not in the American tradition of fair play to reject a man solely because he has been divorced, and in Nelson Rockefeller's case it is especially unworthy of his peers.

ONLY HUMAN AFTER ALL—After all, this man is running for President, and he has behind him a record of public service and devotion to his nation and state. It is reasonable, and even imperative, that some voters should disagree with him, but it is not quite sporting to dismiss him because he has had a marital problem. Presidential candidates are equipped with the same glands as other citizens; it is contradictory to find a man wanting merely because he has turned out to be human.

In its discussion of Rockefeller, a Baptist—the Commonweal noted that the Sign, a Catholic magazine published by the Passionist Fathers, had said that Rockefeller transgressed "our code of life." But, asked the Commonweal, "whose code of life?" The Governor Rockefeller supposed to live by? His own code does not prohibit divorce and remarriage... there is no evidence that Governor Rockefeller acted against his own best conscience.

VOTERS WANT BEST—As for his qualifications for the presidency, the argument can be made, and has been by others, that Rockefeller is better fitted for the job than the front-running Sen. Barry Goldwater. At least, a recent Lou Harris poll in the Washington Post noted that when the two men were compared by Republican voters on their records and public stands Rockefeller was endorsed 78 per cent to 22 per cent, against the vote for Goldwater of 57 to 43.

A man's private affairs, said the Commonweal, are not politically relevant unless they cast some doubt on his ability to function. Amen, gentlemen. The voters will be shopping for the best President they can find next year—not to pose for a family portrait but to run the country.

POT SHOTS MAYBE IT'S HIDING
Nearly any year, Magic Valley can count on fairly good rains the first week in October and a snowmelt in the mountains at the same time. This year there was no big rainstorm and if there was any snow, I missed it.

As I write this little note, the first snow in the mountains is something like a month late. Without doubt, that means we're going to have a light winter with little snow.

If we were going to have any real winter weather, there would be some indication of it by now.

OTEPKA IN LIMBO
The case of Otto Otepka rests in a peculiar and unsatisfactory state of suspended animation. Mr. Otepka is the state department security officer who was charged with giving confidential data to the counsel for the senate internal security subcommittee. The charges of violating state department regulations were preferred against him.

The subcommittee, through its vice chairman, Senator Dodd of Connecticut, has strongly supported Mr. Otepka. Secretary of State Rusk appeared in closed session before the group, and afterward the department announced that it would postpone action indefinitely. Previously it had indicated it would either call Mr. Otepka before a hearing board or drop the case.

Senator Dodd contends that if violations occurred they were "technical." Mr. Otepka, in a long reply to the state department allegations, held that he had not violated the "spirit" of the regulations. Technicalities may be involved, but the charges as originally stated by the department were substantive and serious.

A major question left unanswered is whether Mr. Rusk caved in under pressure from the subcommittee. Mr. Otepka is either guilty or not guilty, and it is up to the department to issue a clear finding. It is possible, of course, that the subcommittee and Mr. Rusk have reached a private understanding as to Mr. Otepka's future, but if so it is no contribution to public understanding.

The real issue is not, of course, the superficial one it might appear. The senators used Mr. Otepka to provide them with information tending to discredit the state department attitude toward Fidel Castro. The question is not whether the senators had a right to the information; they could have called Mr. Rusk. It is whether they have the moral right to seize upon a minor official in an executive department in an effort to make a case that would not stand up if all the facts were put in proper perspective and antedated fairly.

POLL TAX DIES HARD
It depends now on Arizona and South Dakota whether the five dehard Southern states that still have poll taxes will be allowed to use them one more time in the 1964 presidential elections. Needing 38 state ratifications, the poll tax abolition amendment got 36 in the 1962-63 legislative season, now ended. Of the states that did not act, only six will have sessions in 1964, and four of these are Southern, not expected to approve.

That leaves hope resting in Arizona and South Dakota. The latter, fortunately, just switched to annual sessions, and next January will be its first in an even-numbered year. The amendment carried one house in Arizona this year but didn't reach the floor of the other or of either house in South Dakota.

It will go in force the moment they both ratify. If they do, it's not the nation would have to wait until 1965 for them or other laggards like Maine and Wyoming. On its way out as the poll tax surely is, it should be an unwanted responsibility to let it linger on through even one more election.

Texas may voluntarily bend the amendment to the draw. Repeal of its poll tax will be a referendum subject next month. But the tax there has not been a major weapon in keeping nonwhites away from the polls. It is such a weapon notably in Alabama and Mississippi. Its other last footholds are in Arkansas and Virginia.

Though discredited almost beyond debate, the complete demise of this unworthy device still comes hard.—Milwaukee Journal

"Replacement Pool?"

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13—How much nuclear killer capacity is enough? In shaping the new defense budget this is a deeply puzzling question Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara will in the end have to put up to President Kennedy.

A big industrial development with payrolls in a half-dozen states depend on continuing to produce fissionable Marquis Childs material for nuclear weapons. Yet, as it is often put, we've got the stuff running out of our ears.

Secretary McNamara would like to cut back production. The atomic energy commission is agreeable to some cutbacks. But the decision is complicated by a proposal bound to generate pressure as the results of a cut are seen in a loss-of-jobs, the moth-balling of plants and the dispersion of highly skilled technical staffs.

The proposal originating with Sen. Clinton Anderson, D., N.M., chairman of the joint congressional atomic committee, is to stockpile plutonium. The raw material, uranium, would be mined, processed at great cost and put back in the earth.

On the face of it, with a present capacity to destroy every target area in the Soviet Union several times over as the President has stated at least twice, this would seem to be a lunatic form of make-work. But the astute Anderson makes a case for the stockpile.

It is true, he says, that there is a large oversupply. In the United States arsenal are many thousands of atomic bombs so big that they would not be dropped—under any—circumstances. If these were remade and the fissionable material put into up-to-date weapons we would have at least a 10-year supply.

But the big surplus is in "yellow cake"—uranium oxide being processed from uranium by mills such as those of the Kerr-McGee company under long-term contracts. What Anderson contemplates is a cutback in the mills, leaving a few large, efficient plants like that of Kerr-McGee to go on turning out "yellow cake." This, together with the huge current surplus, would be processed into plutonium that keeps indefinitely.

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

COVERING THE CAPITAL WITH PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (NEA)—According to the schedule worked out by senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D., Mont., there are fewer than 30 legislative working days for congress before the next session opens after New Year's day.

This allows for the usual Thanksgiving week-end and the Christmas week vacations, with no regular sessions on Saturday, which is customary.

It is impossible, of course, for congress to clean up the vast amount of work it has to do in this short time.

There is still nearly a full month's work to be done on the appropriation bills—providing money to run the government up to next July 1. This job already is four months late.

"That crowds the time for both the tax cut bill and new civil rights measures. Few congressmen believe either can be passed by this year.

The strategy of opponents of the bills has been to delay everything else; so the tax bill would not be passed before the appropriations bills, and civil rights could be killed without a filibuster in the senate.

It is a deliberate slowdown, just as effective as a sit-down strike by a labor union or a sit-in demonstration by integrationists.

Congress passed only eight major measures in the first 10 months of this year. A vocational education bill and a college construction aid program seem fairly certain to be added to the list. But anything else is problematic.

How many congressmen can have the gall to vote himself a 44 per cent salary increase from $22,500 a year to $32,500 a year in the face of a record like that is hard to understand.

Granted the lawmakers have worked longer than any congress before, the productivity has been at an all-time low. A pay cut rather than a raise would be more in order.

In a completely different but still related arena of government...

There have been two significant acts this year.

It may be lost amid the election news, but on Nov. 4 the atomic energy commission voted "X-10" or "Clinton Pile"—the first atomic reactor built at Oak Ridge, Tenn. It was only 20 years old. But it was obsolete, inefficient, a dud.

Just a month before, the U.S. census bureau retired its data processing computer, "Univac X." It was only 12 1/2 years old, but it was being put in the Smithsonian Institution.

"The whole government of the United States, however, continues to hobble along with legislative machinery that is not only antiquate but also completely inadequate for today's job.

Believers in the sacredness of American political institutions may differ on this point, but all agree that nothing which has protected American liberties for 175 years should ever be changed. Concede for a moment that they may be right. The point made in refutation is not that tax reform or civil rights reform or any other reform must be approved as soon as it is dreamed up by the visionaries.

The point is that these things should be allowed to come to a vote and decided one way or the other—not that they be ground to oblivion in the dry gears of old-fashioned legislative processes good enough for grandfathers.

The one thing this year's record is said to have demonstrated clearly is that congress as now organized is not able to deal with today's worldwork.

In this light, one of the most important pieces of neglected legislation before this session is the resolution to set up a commission on the organization of congress.

Its function would be to consider during the coming year plans for modernization of congressional machinery.

As Sen. Clifford Case, R., N.J., one of the resolution's principle backers, says, if something isn't done about that, "the future of congress as a living vigorous instrument of government is endangered and it will become one of the great historical exhibits in the Smithsonian Institution alongside the one hoax show."

To which might be added, "Univac X and the Clinton Pile."

The Doctor Says
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Twelve shipments of wheat totaling over 1 million pounds were found to be contaminated by rats. And 100,000 pounds of flour was found to be infested with insects. A shipment of doughnuts had to be condemned because it was contaminated with rat poison.

Two shipments of ocean perch were seized because they contained parasites, and two shipments of shrimp because they showed contamination with sea lice. Other shipments of food were condemned because spoilage had occurred.

The FDA not only protects your health, it also protects your pocketbook by requiring correct labeling of ingredients and measures. Many seizures are made because of short-weights. Others are made because of substitution of a cheaper product for the one stated on the label; for failing to state that artificial color, flavor or preservatives have been added; for failure to remove scales from canned or packaged fish; or for adding water or foreign matter to increase its weight.

One of the most outlandish fractions-of-the-law was perpetrated by the owner of a milk ranch. He purchased over 6,000 cans of insect-infected Argentine beans to feed his milk. It was really quite a bargain—but he got the "bright-idea" that he could make more money by reselling the meat for human consumption. He didn't get away with it!

LET OPONENTS MAKE MISTAKES
West's three heart bid was one of those pre-emptive jump-overcalls that are designed to upset the opponents. This caused North to make the decided overbid of three spades. Paul Levitt who sat South went on to game.

Now Paul led the deuce of spades from dummy and played his own nine. West won with the queen and found himself in end play. A heart lead would give Paul a chance to ruff in his own hand and discard a club from dummy. After that Paul would play the ace and king of clubs, ruff a club, and finesse against East's king of spades.

West chose to lead a club. Dummy's jack won the trick and the finesse was taken against the king of spades.

Do you readers see how he might have beaten the hand? All he had to do was lead the queen of spades when he was in with the ace of hearts.

Do you readers see how he might have beaten the hand? All he had to do was lead the queen of spades when he was in with the ace of hearts.

West made the fine opening lead of the king of diamonds. Paul looked over dummy and didn't like what he saw. There appeared to be two diamond honors, one heart, loss, at least, one trump loser and a possible club loser.

Then Paul proceeded to make the contract. He led the king of diamonds, but was the continuation. A heart lead was taken

Scholar

CAMBRIDGE, Eng., Nov. 13 (AP)—Clarence Gordon, 3, wandered into the Grove primary school the other day and was so impressed that he reported for classes every morning since.

"I just can't keep him away," the tot's mother said. "He keeps nipping up the road and trying to get in."

Headmaster Norman Walker finally put a stop to Clarence's scholastic zeal by posting a student in the driveway to intercept the boy.

"Come back when you are five," Walker told the child.

Gambling Phased Out at Nevada State Pen

CARSON CITY, Nev., Nov. 13 (AP)—Gambling, condoned inside the Nevada state prison since its opening 100 years ago, is being phased out.

New rehabilitation programs have been started to take the place of cards and dice and prisoners will not be allowed to gamble inside the new minimum security buildings now under construction—they will hold about 200 of the present 450 prisoners.

If caught gambling, he said, inmates will be sent back to the maximum security cells which will house the more dangerous prisoners.

"No! You hear of all the trouble at the other prisons across the country. Well we don't have that here. Why we haven't had a black eye in the prison yard for at least six months."

The five games are operated entirely by prisoners. inmates can play anything from poker to dice, usually bankrolled by prisoners with the most money.

There are no slot machines. Brass coins are used for prison money.

For the last year, the biggest operator has been an ex-lawyer house owner, Joe Coifford, 37, who hires other prisoners to deal the games while he watches over the "action."

When local clergymen expressed concern there was no place to carry on religious services on Sunday in the prison.

Atty. Gen. Harvey Dickerson, one who questions the value of gambling at the correctional institution, said, "It seems incongruous to me that you can have wide-open gambling on Sunday, but have no room for church services."

Since then room has been found for services. A chapel is under construction.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 13—Born today, you like many born under the sign of Scorpio—have been gifted with a flair for imagination, a high sense of drama and a keen sense of the occult. You have also a strong sense of organization and the sort of intellectual discernment it takes to control these gifts, and for this reason you are more likely than most to make something true and lasting of them.

A stickler for details, yet not one to get lost in their midst, you never allow your imagination to carry you into illogic. You make it a habit never to draw conclusions on the basis of generalities; indeed, your high sense of justice requires that you weigh all the facts before you even begin to make up your mind about any circumstance or situation. With you, justice is always to be tempered with mercy.

One who feels things deeply, you are nevertheless not given to displaying your emotions openly. This gives you an air of calm that works to your great advantage, for it makes others feel secure in your presence—so secure that they do not hesitate to accept your leadership as natural and your word as authoritative.

Among those born on this date are: Louis D. Brandeis, noted American jurist; Robert Louis Stevenson, English author; Robert Sterling, actor.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Thursday, Nov. 14
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Assert yourself! You can settle things your own way if you are careful not to step on another's toes as you rise on your own.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—A day of personal gain that should shed some light on your future. Don't be afraid to look trouble in the eye.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—Proceed with caution wherever new ventures demand action. Use your own knowledge of cause and effect as a guide.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—A high-risk day for business transactions. Some enterprise will be necessary to your success, but avoid overextending.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)—You can make a discovery important to the smooth functioning of a vital friendship. Share knowledge with the party involved.
ARIES (March 21-April 20)—Where too many basic matters come up for decision, choose those best calculated for financial gain on which to work.
TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—Dealings with others should be unusually successful today. Regard present difficulties in the light of past experience.
GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Avoid looking further into the possibilities of opportunities against which others, dear to you, are taking a stand.
CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Set your head to work over an affair of the heart. You may well be barking up the wrong tree!
LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Use morning hours for routine duties. Afternoon offers diversion—even excitement.
VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Judge the correctness of your action by the responses you receive. If all is not as usual, change tactics.
LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—You may have to set aside your own personal interests. Avoid worry; what is lost now can be gained later.

USSR Orbit Cosmos 21 Satellite

MOSCOW, Nov. 13 (UPI)—The Soviet Union announced Tuesday it had placed into orbit a new unmanned artificial Earth satellite, Cosmos 21.

The official Soviet Tass news agency said the satellite was operating "close to the designed orbit. The Sputnik is designed to study radiation and communications and prepare the way for more manned flights, according to Tass.

"The Sputnik has radio systems for the exact measurement of the elements of the orbit and radio telemetric instruments for transmitting to the earth data on the work of the scientific instruments on board," the announcement said.

Cosmos 21 completes a journey around the Earth every 88.5 minutes at a maximum distance from the globe of 142.1 miles. On its closest approach, it is 120.9 miles from the Earth, Tass said.

Cop Jailed

LOCUST GROVE, Ga., Nov. 13 (AP)—A new night policeman's enthusiasm for enforcing traffic laws landed him behind bars today.

Sheriff Hiram Cook, Henry county, said Tuesday that Paul turned out to be John Nick Pavlakos, 21, Decatur, who was fined $300 for impersonating an officer in Gannett county last year.

Oh, my aching back

Nagging backache, headache, or muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exertion, emotional upsets or day to day stress and strain. And folks who eat and drink unwisely sometimes suffer mild bladder irritation... with that restless uncomfortable feeling.

Brief Revolt Is Crushed In Baghdad

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Nov. 13 (AP)—Iraq's Baath party government appeared today to have crushed a brief revolt after an intraparty squabble triggered fighting in the heart of Baghdad.

There was no indication of who led the revolt, but it came shortly after Deputy Premier Saleh El Saadi was ousted from his party post. He is reputed to have been leader of the Baathist extremist wing, in contrast to the more moderate policies of Premier Ahmed Hassan Bakr. However, Saadi flew to Spain yesterday and was not in Baghdad when the uprising took place.

Reports reaching here said air force jets attacked the presidential palace and that army and national guard units left their barracks. One report said street fighting had taken place and that the heavily fortified defense ministry was attacked.

There was no immediate information available on casualties.

The state department in Washington said the U.S. embassy in Baghdad had radioed that no injuries were reported among Americans in the city.

Diplomatic observers here said there were clear signs that Bakr's government had put down the revolt.

Cold World

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 13 (AP)—Rufus K. Barton, Jr., addressed a letter to "11023 '7016."

His son, Lieut. Rufus K. Barton III, received it at Ft. Bliss, Tex., one week later.

The first set of numbers was the younger Barton's army serial number, the second set referred to the air defense school, and the third set was the zip code for Ft. Bliss.

ESCAPEE IS HELD

HENDERSON, Nev., Nov. 13 (AP)—An escapee from an Idaho jail has been in police custody here for 10 days, it was learned today. Edwin Ash, 25, who escaped from Lewis county jail in Nezperce Oct. 27, was arrested here Nov. 3.

8 T.F. Junior Music Clubs Receive National Award

For the second consecutive year, the eight Junior Music Clubs in Twin Falls have received the award of merit from the National Federation of Music Clubs. From a total last year of 30 in the nation, and this year of 43 in the nation, each local club received a gold certificate both times.

They were the only clubs in the state of Idaho to receive this honor. It is necessary for each individual club to have over 250 points on the national rating sheet, and the points are based on the type of programs given. These are of the highest caliber, including opera, the old masters, American composers, background of folk music with square dancing, and music quizzes.

There are nine other towns in the state which have Junior Music Clubs—Boise, Caldwell, Nampa, Burley, Rexburg, Idaho Falls, Pocatello, Shoshone, Salmon. Each of these towns has only one club. This year, with the new Robert Stuart Junior high school, Twin Falls has a total of nine. Each club meets once a month, and there is a joint meeting of all the clubs every month.

Mrs. Larry Arma is serving as head counselor for the third year, and has the following assistants: Morningstar, Mrs. John Thompson; Harrison, Mrs. William Bakes; Washington, Cheryl Arma; St. Edwards, Mrs. Fred Britt; Memorial Lutheran, Mrs. Gerald Heidemann; Robert Stuart, Mrs. George Greer; and O'Leary, Mrs. Carl Johns.

Bickel and Lincoln still do not have counselors.

Newly installed officers at Washington school are Linda Lewis, president; Sally Williams, vice president; Shelle Curtis, secretary-treasurer, and Rose Ella Friestad, scrap book-publicity. A program on MacDowell was presented by Mrs. Earl Riddle.

Stan Owens; April 19, program given by the Junior club members for the Senior Music club. Those participating in this program will be gold cup winners at the Junior Music festival.

This same program was presented Wednesday at Robert Stuart and will be given Thursday at Morningstar, Monday at Harrison, and Nov. 21 at O'Leary.

Mary Jean Greer and Julie Anderson, scholarship winners to the Sun Valley music camp this past summer, spoke at a number of the clubs, giving the highlights of this most interesting experience.

The schedule of joint programs for the remainder of the year, all of which will be held on a Thursday at O'Leary Junior High, is as follows: Dec. 21, Peter and the Wolf, by Beverly Hackney's dance students; Jan. 9, an organ recital by Mrs. Vaughn Pond at the LDS stake tabernacle on BOISE, Nov. 13 (AP)—State Auditor Joe R. Williams left today for eastern Idaho where he will help audit civil defense accounts. Williams, who plans to stop at Pocatello, Bancroft and other southeastern Idaho towns and communities, said he expected to return to Boise next week.

Play Ends Centennial Observance

BUHL, Nov. 13—Mayor William Aldrich has proclaimed the play "Our American Cousins," to be presented by senior class members of the Buhl high school on Thursday and Friday as Buhl's second Centennial observance.

Aldrich noted the historical play, which was being enacted on stage of the Ford theater in April, 1865, when President Abraham Lincoln was assassinated by John Wilkes Booth is a fitting climax to Buhl's Centennial observance.

The era of the 1860's will be brought alive again in singing, dancing, character portrayal with authentic costumes and settings befitting the 19th century. A revolving stage, the first utilized in high school dramatizations, will be used in conjunction with advance technique and complicated staging.

Curtain time for each performance will be 8:15 p.m. A museum will be featured in connection with the play, with souvenirs of the period to be displayed.

Driver Is Cited After Accident

Vernon E. Barnes, 31, 160 Tyler street, was cited for failure to be reasonable and prudent while driving after a two-car accident at 5:30 p. m. Tuesday two miles west of Twin Falls on U. S. highway 30.

Idaho state police said Mrs. Zelma Toles, 31, Filer, parked her 1956 Buick at the side of the highway because it ran out of gas. She had started to walk after some gas when the car was struck from behind by a 1961 Ford driven by Barnes.

Mrs. Toles' three children, Nita Toles, 8; Ann Toles, 4; and Carl L. Toles, 17 months, were in the Buick, but apparently were not hurt, state police report.

The rear end of the Buick and the front end of the Ford were damaged.

Cambodia Course Puzzles U.S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (AP)—The unpredictable course of strategically located Cambodia gave U. S. officials yet another Southeast Asian headache today.

Cambodia's ruler, Neutrality Prince Norodom Sihanouk, yesterday renounced U. S. military and economic aid as of Jan. 1, 1964, and said American and French troops must leave his kingdom.

Although relatively small and undeveloped, the 10-million nation of five million has a strategic importance that overshadows its actual dimensions in the cold war.

There was no indication here that Norodom was abandoning his policy of "positive neutrality," but some U. S. officials were disturbed by the possibility that he might draw Cambodia closer to the communist bloc, particularly Red China.

Bordered by South Viet Nam, Thailand and Laos, a move by Cambodia away from its non-alignment policy could drive a wedge between Thailand and Viet Nam which would create a serious situation for the United States on the Indochina peninsula.

Norodom's pronouncement did not come as a complete surprise to U. S. officials who have become conditioned to abrupt actions by him.

It was noted here that although Norodom at times has appeared to be overly friendly with the communists on the international level, he had prevented them from achieving any degree of internal influence. At the same time, he has given his nation relative economic stability.

He has been angry over anti-Cambodia radio broadcasts coming from neighboring Thailand and Viet Nam, with whom Cambodia has been quarreling for years. He has threatened to denounce U. S. aid unless the United States "silences" the clandestine broadcasts which are

Garden Club Observes 25th Anniversary

Membership grew and in September, 1939, club officers were elected and a constitution adopted.

Civic beautification became a club project. The then new city library was landscaped, uniform street-tree planting was undertaken on the President streets. The first flower show was held in the library in June, 1940.

It was announced Mrs. Alvah Jay, a former member, is in the Ponca City hospital.

Over One in 100 Citizens Have Tried Suicide

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 13—Two million Americans—more than one in 100—already have tried to commit suicide.

Some 200,000 try each year to take their own lives and 25,000 to 35,000 or more actually succeed.

Dr. Louis I. Dublin, a famous statistician, cited these estimates today in urging that suicide be recognized "as a serious public health problem" and that communities and health officials act now to prevent this toll.

The attempts at suicide all represent "cries of help," he told.

Dr. Dublin said coordination of the social, medical, and psychological services in many communities is needed to rescue the would-be suicide "by offering a helping hand" night or day.

Dr. Dublin said that "experience" has shown that suicide is to a degree at least a preventable condition.

But if people with problems can get help and sympathy, he said, "experience" has shown that suicide is to a degree at least a preventable condition.

People "kill" themselves to collect insurance, or because they are dying of incurable disease, but the majority are emotionally or mentally overwhelmed or up-

Shouse Kept As Head of Farm Bureau

HAZELTON, Nov. 13—Walter Shouse, Hazelton, was reelected chairman of the Jerome County Farm Bureau at a meeting held Saturday at Valley high school.

Other officers elected are: Philip Cochran, Edin, vice chairman; Jerry Callen, Jerome, secretary; and Mrs. Harry Peterson, Hunt, women's chairman.

State convention delegates were: Shouse and Henry Schutte, with Jim Grant and Herman Stammerjohn as alternates. Mrs. Walter Shouse and Mrs. Herman Stammerjohn were elected women's delegates, with Mrs. Eric Wegener as alternate.

Willard Lattimer spoke on the wheat referendum and urged members to acquaint themselves with the facts on the mental health center now under consideration for this area.

Bill Brown reported on Farm Bureau policy. James Grant reported on livestock and Phillip Cochran reported on membership. Commodity committee report was given by Henry Schutte.

Munro Hayes, Piler, state board member, reported on the activities of the state board the past year. Resolutions to be voted upon at the state convention were discussed and delegates instructed.

The group decided to ask for the establishment of a district farm bureau office to serve Jerome, Gooding, Blaine, Camas and Lincoln counties. The five counties would share in the expense of a secretary.

Luncheon was served by women of the Jerome County Farm Bureau at noon.

Members were reminded to attend the county smorgasbord dinner to be held Nov. 21 at the Elks hall, Jerome.

Goldwater Wants Bigger Aid Cut

CHICAGO, Nov. 13 (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater sees pressure from a "rather fed up" America behind congressional slashes in President Kennedy's foreign aid bill—and he thinks the cuts should be bigger.

But while the Arizona senator tied into the administration aid program Tuesday night, he said he's taking Kennedy's advice on another subject: presidential politics.

Goldwater's Chicago outing was his first since New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller declared himself a candidate for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

The conservative lawmaker said he still hasn't decided when or whether he will enter the race. Goldwater has set Jan. 27—the last day for filing in the Illinois presidential primary—as his deadline.

"There's no need to hurry it up or slow it down or what," he said at a news conference.

"In fact," said Goldwater, "the best advice I've had on it came from President Kennedy. And he said don't get in too soon. So I go to the experts."

"What we see is a deliberate attempt by the congress to reflect the attitude of the people," he said.

The senate is debating a bill authorizing 3.7 billion dollars in foreign aid.

In New York Friday, the President appealed to congress not to scuttle his program "in an outburst of petty irritation and frustration."

You're not going to get away from it altogether, although I think this has to be aimed at," Goldwater said. A 20 per cent cut in economic assistance this year would "be encouraging to the American people" and would point toward elimination of the technical aid, but the nation has program.

New Yorker, 70, Reaches Samoa

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 13 (AP)—William Willis, 70-year-old New Yorker who set out on a raft with two cats last July to sail to Australia, has reached Western Samoa, reports reaching here.

By landing at Samoa, Willis was more than two-thirds the way toward his goal of drifting with the ocean currents on the 12,000-mile voyage to Australia.

Willis apparently ran into some difficulties after he set out from Oahu, Peru, July 4 on his raft, "Age Unlimited."

The brief message said that he would make repairs before continuing his drift toward Sydney. He landed on New Zealand's Western Samoa island of Upolu.

Get Set! Battle of Words Anniversary Is Beginning

By WARD CANNEL
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (NEA)—With the Civil war centennial turning at last into the home stretch, campaign-wary Americans will have to fight through one unexpected commemorative battle before we can get to Appomattox courtrooms.

Next year marks both the 300th birthday of William Shakespeare and the quarter-century anniversary of the World's Fair. They have a great deal in common, for Shakespeare is the genius who, more than any other man, has purified our language into gossamer and gold while the fair is almost certain to muddy it, if history holds true to course.

Expositions have traditionally spewed new and useless words into the dictionary. The Chicago fair, for example, gave us "buff" (as in the buff) from the buffalo coats popular at the time. The Philadelphia Sesquicentennial gave up "sesquicentennial," that polysyllabic monstrosity that stands for an equally silly idea—150th anniversary.

The last New York World's fair produced the "futurama." And to this day our highway markets shine out with such names as liquorama, autarama, superama, garagearama.

Now, no other language but English goes in for this sort of thing. No other language is as malleable and docile, yielding as readily to poet as to purveyor. German tries by tacking one whole word onto another. And there is a case on record of a Berliner who suffocated with a 13-syllable word stuck in his throat.

Only English can produce a Shakespeare. But, of course, he's got to be paid for with an equal weight of sesquicentennials and futuramas. With all this pulling and shoving modern English has swelled to a language of 500,000 words.

And it is a pity that hardly anybody uses it. The average adult American has a vocabulary of about 25,000 words, most of them learned before he was 20, and many of them used incorrectly. He says continuous when he means continual, loan when he means lend, height when he means heigh. He repeatedly misspells plausible, secretary, necessary, accommodate, contemptible. He even misspells misspells.

And then he excuses himself by saying that spelling is child's play and that anyway he makes himself understood. It is truer than he thinks. In the U.S. today, social distinctions are made more on the basis of language than by any other standard. There is, in addition, a close relation between word power and job advancement.

In the status battle, Vance Packard points out, you're ahead if you say legs instead of limbs, work instead of business, sweat instead of perspire. On the job, according to the Human Engineering Laboratories, which has surveyed 59 large manufacturing plants with aptitude-and-vocabulary tests, leadership is placed by word usage.

Using a word-and-definition test similar to the "It Pays to Increase Your Word Power" game, the survey found that where high school freshmen typically miss 75 out of 150 words, and college graduates miss 27, major executives with at least five years experience miss about seven.

Tax Record

CHICAGO, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Commerce Clearing House, nation-wide reporter on tax and business-law developments, reports federal taxes jumped past the 100-billion-dollar mark in fiscal year 1963 for the first time. The income was the biggest money producer—about 53 billion dollars.

Passive Discrimination Noted in Utah

By B. GREG NOKES
SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 13 (AP)—An official of the U. S. civil service commission says there is "passive discrimination" in hiring practices of the federal government in Utah.

However, says Walter E. Elder, Denver, director of the tenth U. S. civil service region, a commission investigating team found no evidence of any "overt" discrimination.

Elder spoke Tuesday night to a biracial group of 150 attending the first annual banquet of the Salt Lake City branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Representatives of the Ogden branch of the NAACP attended. He said this general passive discrimination was found by the investigating team in Salt Lake City, Albuquerque, N. M. and Denver.

Elder said the civil service investigators completed a routine check of federal hiring practices in Utah last week.

Similar checks are being conducted throughout the country, he said. One example of passive discrimination, Elder said, is lack of much effort by federal agencies in Utah to make known to minority groups what jobs are available and how they may be obtained.

"I think we got our story across to them," said Elder. "We don't want discrimination in reverse (Negroes being hired instead of whites, for example) but we ask that if a man has the qualifications, he be given an opportunity to compete for and know of job opportunities."

Elder said the investigators also found there is "definite discrimination in housing in Utah."

He said the civil service commission can't intervene directly to solve housing problems, adding that "this is something that has to be worked out by cooperative endeavor."

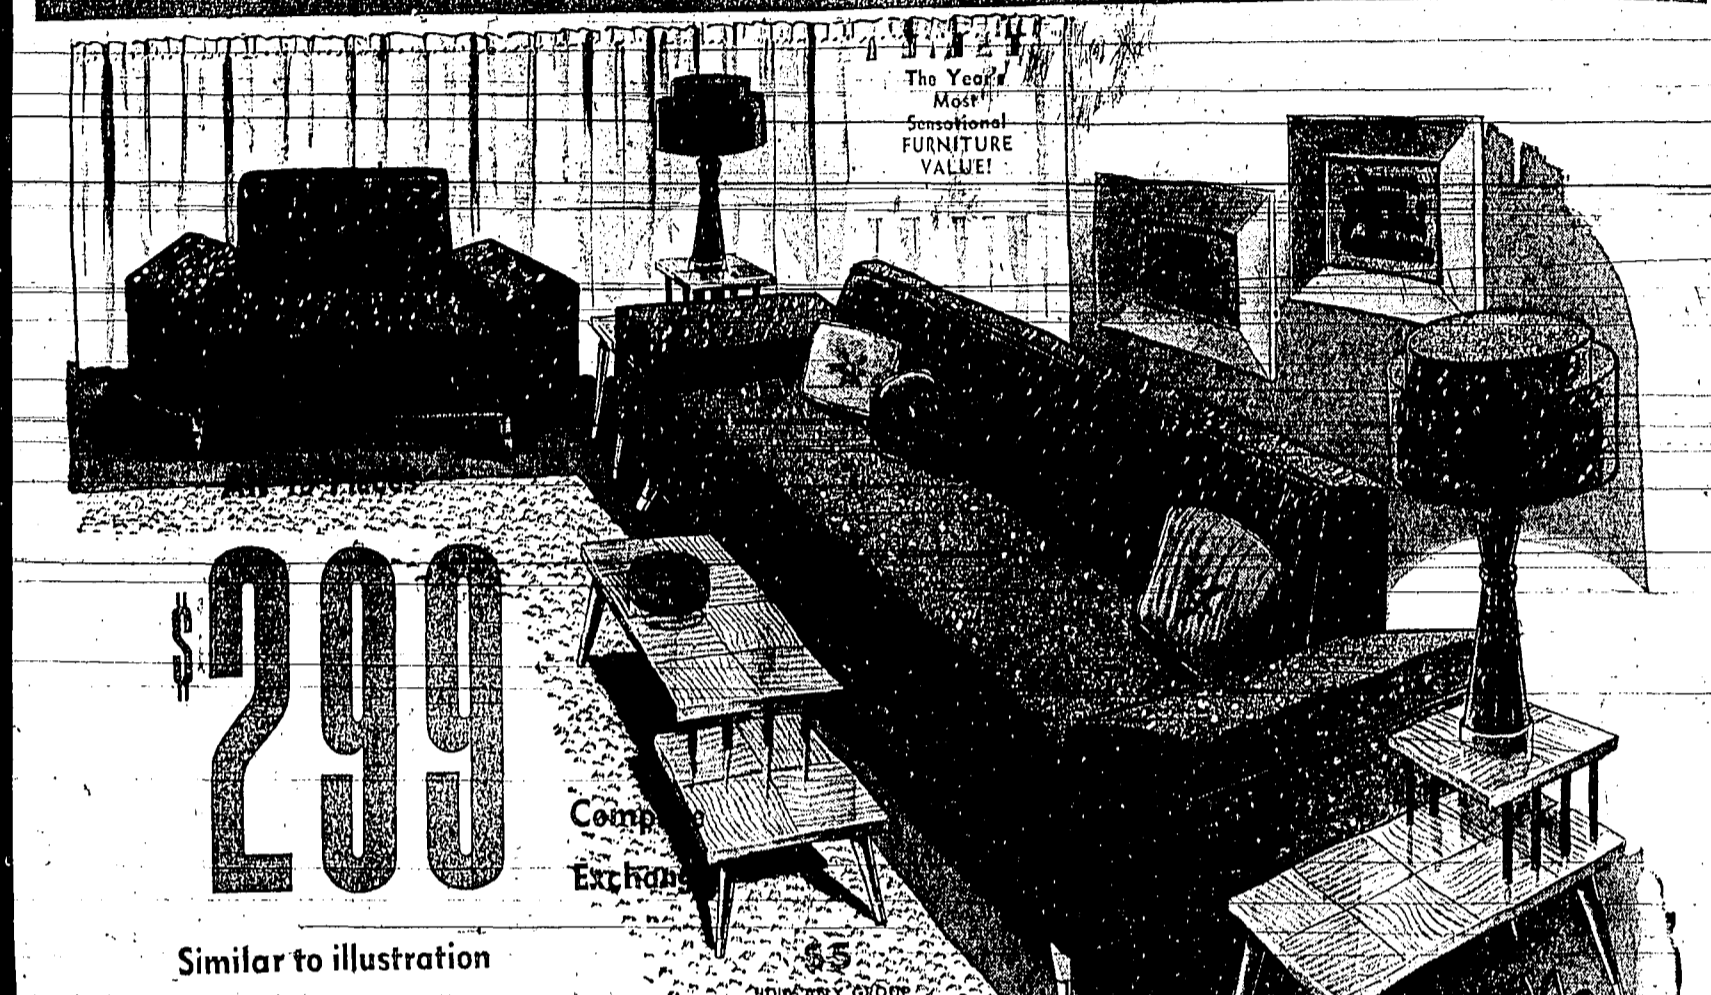

He did say the commission would help wherever possible. Elder said it is vitally important for Negroes to be prepared through education to take jobs when they are made available.

He noted that many new jobs will be created by expansion of the regional service center of the internal revenue service in the Ogden area, and urged Negroes to make themselves qualified for those jobs.

Elder paid tribute to Martin Luther King, Jr., who was shot and killed in Memphis, Tenn., last month. Elder said it is a challenge for someone to try to pick up where a man like King left off in his efforts to promote the well-being of his race.
