Idaho Power Manager Is Given Award

Earl E. Haroldsen, Idaho Power company's southern division manager since 1959 and a tireless worker in civic and community projects, has received the company's 25-year service award, the utility announced today.

Haroldsen, who grew up on a farm near Idaho Falls, joined Idaho Power in 1935 after being graduated from the University of Idaho with an electrical engineering degree.

Starting with the company as an apprentice serviceman at Boise, he spent the early years of his career in a variety of capacities that gave him a broad background in the service, sales and engineering phases of the utility business.

Among his assignments were service manager at Caldwell, senior distribution designer at Boise, and commercial and industrial salesman, also at Boise.

In 1954, after two years as sales supervisor in the company's central division office at Boise, Haroldsen transferred to Twin Falls as southern division sales manager.

He was named to his present position five years later. Haroldsen is a member of the board of directors of the Salvation Army, the executive board of the Snake River area council, Boy Scouts of America, and the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce's industrial corporation.

He is a past president of the southcentral district of the Idaho Society of Professional Engineers and now is president of the Twin Falls Rotary.

Haroldsen's quarter-century of service qualifies him for membership in the Idaho Power "Pioneers," composed of active and retired employees with 25 or more years with the utility.

ALBANY, N.Y., Nov. 30 (AP) — New York Democrats and Republicans have declared a 30-day political truce — but speculation continues to run wild. The tragic assassination of President Kennedy has projected the state's top political personalities — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mayor Robert F. Wagner — into the national limelight. Rockefeller, of course, is an avowed candidate for the GOP presidential nomination. He will not participate in political activities during the period of mourning for the late President. But his advisers are now attempting to assess his political stock since the slaying of President Kennedy. Many of the pro-Rockefeller leaders believe his chances of winning the Republican nomination are better because President Johnson is almost sure to get the Democratic designation. With Johnson heading the Democratic ticket, one of the major claims against the New York governor has much less meaning. Prior to Johnson's moving into top place, opponents of Rockefeller argued the Republicans could carry southern states if they nominated Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona. That was based on the assumption the late President Kennedy would be up for reelection. "What chances does Senator Goldwater or any Republican stand for carrying the South against a candidate from Texas?" a Rockefeller aide said. "Johnson was selected as the vice presidential candidate because of his strength in the South. The battle for President next year will center in the northern and industrial states, such as New York, Pennsylvania and Michigan." Another angle being considered by the pro-Rockefeller men is how many new potential candidates for the GOP nomination will the sad and unexpected turn of events in Dallas bring into the presidential sweepstakes. Several prominent Republicans were convinced the late President could not be beaten next November. More talk is now heard of Govs. George Romney, Mich., and William Scranton, Pa., and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon. There also is some suggestion concerning former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, twice defeated for president. Rockefeller, veteran observers believe, must win in New Hampshire next March if he is to stay in serious contention. His timetable and his campaign strategy have been upset. For the next few weeks, his political advisers will try to work out the answer.

No Taxes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP) — The internal revenue service, responding to inquiries about slain Dallas policeman J. D. Tippitt, says that outright gifts are not subject to federal income tax. Gifts have been showering down on the Tippitt household since the policeman was shot and killed Nov. 22 during the search for the assassin of President John F. Kennedy. Tippitt left a wife and three children. In reply to questions, the IRS said outright gifts are not taxed according to their value. But prizes such as a car or cash won in a television quiz contest are taxable, it added.

Santa Comes by Helicopter To Open Christmas Season

Santa Claus officially opened the Christmas season in Twin Falls with his arrival by helicopter Saturday at the Twin Falls Bank and Trust parking lot. Santa gave candy to all youngsters and asked them if they had been good. Of course, they all smiled and said yes, trying hard to hide the look of guilt on their faces. The Christmas season evening Santa later Saturday afternoon openings are Dec. 2 and 8, Dec. 16 through 21 and Dec. 23.

Sir Winston Churchill Has 89th Birthday Celebration

LONDON, Nov. 30 (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill celebrated his 89th birthday Saturday, looking pink, fit and jovial — the recipient of hundreds of greetings from his world of admirers. He spent the day quietly with Lady Churchill at their London residence in Hyde Park gate. Once he went to a first-floor window to wave happily to a small crowd outside. The World War II leader — wearing his well-known blue and white dotted bow tie and his famous green zip-fronted siren suit — was for once without his cigar. But his other constant companion stood as ever beside him. On this occasion, Lady Churchill was holding the curtain back. Apart from the postman and neighborhood kids, Sir Winston had few visitors on this — the beginning of his 89th year. The postman brought a bag full of greetings, including one from President Johnson. The neighborhood kids arrived in posses carrying bunches of roses, lilies and cyclamen. One group of six arrived on horses from a nearby riding school. Sir Winston leaped through his greetings over brandy and cigars. "Oh no, he hasn't given up cigars," a household spokesman explained. "He had just put out one when he went to the window."

Killing Guard Governed by Federal Law

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP) — A secret service man guarding President Kennedy when he rode through downtown Dallas on Nov. 22 had been killed. It would have been a federal crime. But the assassination of the President himself was not. It was murder under state law, so federal authorities had no jurisdiction over the case and hence no authority to investigate, to bring charges, or to prosecute the assassin in federal court. Under existing law it is a federal crime to kill numerous federal officials while they are engaged in the performance of their duties. In this category, in addition to secret service men, are judges, district attorneys and their assistants, U. S. marshals, FBI agents, postal inspectors, prison guards, game wardens, narcotics agents and others. Congress now seems likely to make it a federal crime to assassinate, or to attempt to kill, or to conspire to kill, the president, the vice president and others in the line of presidential succession — the speaker of the house, the president pro tempore of the senate and cabinet members. Legislation of this nature has been introduced in both the senate and the house since Kennedy's assassination.

Nixon Hops To Top Spot On GOP List

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP) — The assassination of President John F. Kennedy and the accession of Lyndon B. Johnson to the presidency "appear to have elevated Richard B. Nixon to a clear top spot among GOP presidential contenders," a political pollster reports. But Louis Harris added in a copyrighted report in Friday's Washington Post that Nixon runs well behind the new President in the first nationwide sampling of opinion since Kennedy's assassination revised the 1964 political situation. Harris said, "the chances of Sen. Barry Goldwater (of Arizona) and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller (of New York) appear to have been set back." Goldwater has been the GOP front-runner in recent polls. Matching Johnson with the three leading GOP contenders, Harris reported these results from his poll: Johnson 53 per cent, Nixon 40, undecided 7. Johnson 55 per cent, Goldwater 33, undecided 12. Johnson 59 per cent, Rockefeller 29, undecided 12. Harris emphasized that "these initial soundings were taken while a nation was in a state of shock and mourning." He said the figures could change rapidly when the emotional tide recedes. Harris became known for his preparation of private, unpublished surveys of voter sentiment for many politicians, including Kennedy. He recently has gone into the field of published polls.

Glass-in-Wheat Reports Checked By Officials

OTTAWA, Nov. 30 (AP) — Government officials today checked on the validity of reports that Canadian wheat shipments to Russia had been declared unfit for human consumption because broken glass was found in the grain. The Russians were reported to have claimed that glass from beer and soft drink bottles had been found in the cargo of seven freighters that arrived from Canadian ports. The national harbors board said that while there was evidence that fragments of bottle glass had been found in grain exported from Canada to various countries this year, newspaper reports "are somewhat exaggerated." The board said "it is neither easy nor justifiable to pin any blame for such an occurrence on any particular part or any particular group of people without the most thorough investigation."

First Lady Gives Station Control To Trustees

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson intends to transfer all her radio and television interests to trustees, her attorney said Saturday. The new First Lady filed an application with the communications commission Friday in which she seeks to turn over to trustees her controlling interest in the lab company, which owns and operates KTBC (AM-PM-TV) in Austin, Tex.

Boat Mishap Survivors Are Sought

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 30 (AP) — The coast guard is searching Saturday for three persons missing after the disabled yacht Judy sank in 30-foot waves off the South Carolina coast. Robert Stanton, 33, Eastland, Ga., a mechanic aboard the converted coast guard cutter and the only survivor, was rescued by crewmen of the USS Peirel and brought to Charleston. A navy spokesman said Stanton's condition was excellent. The body of the fifth crewman, George Donald Kidd, 21, Paramount, Calif., also was recovered. Kidd served as mate aboard the Judy, an 83-foot long cutter purchased six weeks ago by transportation executive Armand Colberg, about 61, Lakewood, Calif. Colberg and his wife, who is about 63, and a radio operator, James Gillespie, Virginia Beach, Va., were listed as missing. Stanton said the vessel was disabled Friday when both generators went out. A few hours later, he said, the main fuel line ruptured. Rough seas tore off the forward hatch and flooded the ship's interior.

Coast Official Raps Proposed Ruby TV Trial

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30 (AP) — California Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk today stated his general opposition to any plan to televise the trial of Jack Ruby because witnesses might be "acting for the cameras." Mosk, in a news conference, said therefore "it is extremely doubtful that Ruby would get a fair trial." Mosk has just returned from a six-week vacation tour of the Orient. Mosk said he found Asians to whom he spoke after the assassination were stunned and saddened. "Asia is used to assassinations in political life, but the people believe life in the United States is more stable and secure," said the California attorney general, who has been rumored as a possible future candidate either for governor or U.S. senate.

Woman Asks Same Fee Be Charged for All Animals

Editor, Times-News: Many, many thanks for printing Mrs. Nuttle's letter on the proposed dog leash ordinance. It was beautifully written, and expressed the thoughts of many of us. The leash law, as now written, is completely unfair. Without a doubt there should be an ordinance, but one that covers all animals in a city's limits, not merely dogs. The owners of all animals should pay a like fee. As the law now stands, persons in the city limits are allowed to keep chickens, pigs, horses, rabbits, even cows for a "permit" costing, as I understand, $1 a year. True, these animals are kept penned in, but also are many dogs. Why should many be burdened by excessive fees for keeping an animal because of the carelessness of a few? If we are going to impose the new ordinance (which has been patterned after the Salt Lake City law) on a town as small as Twin Falls, then I suggest we enforce a few others already in existence, such as the garbage ordinance, and others pertaining to eyecores, such as discarded old machinery, refrigerators, auto parts, littering half of the lots, alleys and block yards in Twin Falls. In my opinion, dogs constitute much less of a nuisance than the sleek human element that permits such degeneration of a town. MRS. E. R. HERMAN (Twin Falls)

Dog Club Objected Only to Portions of City Leash Law

Editor, Times-News: Contrary to what most of the people of Magic Valley seem to believe, we the members of the German Shorthaired Pointer club are in favor of the dog leash law, as such. However, for those of you who may not have read the ordinance in its entirety, it incorporates no less than 34 additional laws into this ordinance. It is to a few of these laws that we have been objecting — such as section 16, "anti-rabies vaccination." Every dog shall be vaccinated by a licensed veterinarian with anti-rabies vaccine by the time that any dog reaches the age of three months. Veterinarians are in agreement that this vaccine given to a puppy this young might do permanent damage and might even kill them. Also, a rabies shot given at three months of age will not afford protection and another shot must be given two or three months later. The city commissioners were very cooperative and ready to listen to any logical or constructive criticism of this ordinance and, after verifying our claim with the veterinarians, they have changed this provision to read six months of age. Now can anyone, dog owner or not, take issue with us for trying to protect our pet? We suggest that you attend the commission meeting at city hall on Monday, Dec. 2, at 7:30 p.m. and hear for yourself the third and last reading of this ordinance — and the arguments, pro and con, from the floor, before jumping to conclusions and condemning all dog owners. CHAR WILKINSON Secretary, German Shorthaired Pointer Club of Magic Valley, Idaho, Inc.

"World Tragedy" Editorial Appreciated by Reader

Editor, Times-News: We appreciated your editorial of "World Tragedy." The death of our beloved commander-in-chief, has brought us in Twin Falls closer with Dallas. We have had cold blooded murder here. It has brought us together with other nations. It's too bad we should be taught under such circumstances. JFK was a bit too late to do something about the danger in Cuba. As to the people of Cuba, they sell us cane sugar, pineapple and other good things, but Castro has about as much regard for human life as Oswald. It would have been better for Rubystine, alias Ruby, to run his night club, rather than take the law into his hands and go on a shooting spree. We talk too much about mentally ill instead of doing something about them. There were about a dozen doctors working on Oswald to save his life. Perhaps each one was wondering, if they saved his life what would be done about his mind. If we were sending a message to our beloved Mrs. Kennedy (she went to South America and spoke peace in Spanish, and they were so happy on this last peace mission) we would say, "Blessed are peace makers — blessed are they that mourn, for they shall be comforted." Amen Amen. W. C. STONE (Twin Falls)

ARE YOUR CARPETS HIDING SOMETHING FROM YOU?

Noticed a change in your wall-to-wall carpets lately? Do they seem dingy, dull, dispirited? Has their original sparkling "personality" been dimmed?

Could be they are hiding something from you . . . namely, soilage! For in spite of regular vacuuming, which removes only surface litter, gritty and harmful dirt particles settle down into the "roots" of carpet fibers, building up over a period of time. This deep-down soilage not only mars the beauty and texture of your carpet, but actually shortens its life because of the abrasive action of these gritty substances under pressure of footsteps.

Only professional cleaning with specially designed power equipment can loosen and remove this imbedded soilage. ### Furniture Talk

By Russ Cunningham

Lamps can add that lovely finishing touch to your home's interior. The first purpose of all home lighting is to provide the right kind of illumination, but a lamp can and should also be decorative and a complement to its surroundings.

One decorating "rule of thumb" you may find useful is to have room lighting with the exception, of course, of overhead fixtures or valance lighting) all at the same height.

Thus a tall lamp should be chosen for a low table. A shorter lamp on a higher table will have the actual source of light at the same height from the floor. Pull down fixtures should be brought down to the same level, and floor lamps selected with this height factor in mind.

This is not an unbreakable rule, of course, but it does provide harmonious integration of light and it gives the room a feeling of balance and unity, even where many different kinds of lamps are used.

Whatever your needs in floor or table lamps, you'll find a beautiful selection in our show room, in sizes and styles to give decorating drama to your home. Come in and see!

One Fischer Quint Finally Goes Home

ABERDEEN, S. D. Nov. 30 (UP) — The first of the Fischer quints went home from the hospital today, 11 weeks to the day since their historic birth.

Little James Andrew, the only boy of the brood, was carried from St. Luke's hospital in the arms of his mother, Mrs. Mary Ann Fischer. He was bundled in blankets as protection against the sub-freezing cold. His father, sub-freezer farmer Andrew Fischer, part-time his wife to the family car, helped a few reporters and photographers clustered about the steps of the hospital where last Sept. 14 the birth of the babies surprised and delighted the nation.

The Fischer babies are the only surviving set of quints in U. S. history.

A single police car led the Fischers in their roomy, four-bedroom house where little James Andrew's four older sisters and brother waited for a look at him.

The four other quints stayed in the hospital for the time being. One was expected to follow James Andrew home next week.

A reporter asked Mrs. Fischer if she was happy to have at least one of the quints home at last. "What do you think?" she said.

Gem National Cemetery Is Proposed

BOISE, Nov. 30 (UP) — Commander H. Max Hanson of the Idaho American Legion has proposed establishment of a national cemetery in Idaho.

Hanson said this would be in keeping with a national resolution of the American Legion.

"At its last convention the National American Legion petitioned congress to acquire land to enlarge existing facilities and to create new cemeteries where there is need," Hanson said.

He said there is adequate federally-owned land in Idaho suitable for cemetery uses.

Hanson said that with 27 national cemeteries already closed because they have no additional grave space available "it is proper that the West be considered for the location of a new installation."

Legion sources have advised, he said, that only one new national cemetery has been opened since World War II.

Hanson plans to discuss the proposal at a meeting here of the Legion's state executive committee Dec. 7-8.

Jordan Asks About Idaho Atom Future

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (UP) — The chairman of the atomic energy commission has been asked by Sen. Len Jordan, R., Ida., to explain reports of possible changes in operations of the national reactor testing station in eastern Idaho.

The Idaho senator said yesterday he has written a letter to the AEC chairman, Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, reporting that he has received inquiries from Idaho asking about the possible discontinuance of some AEC projects at the installation near Idaho Falls and their transfer to the Hanford, Wash., AEC works.

Jordan said recent comments by Commissioner James T. Ramey in atomic energy trade publications on the need for diversification at Hanford, with particular reference to the 630A maritime steam generator project being carried out now in Idaho, have been the basis for a number of the questions.

"Certainly, it makes little sense to increase the diversification at Hanford at the expense of idling facilities now in operation in Idaho," Jordan said.

The AEC's 1963 financial report reveals it has 224.2 million dollars in projects under way in Washington state and 115.2 million dollars in Idaho, Jordan said. The senator said total investments of AEC projects completed, under construction or authorized in Washington state are $1,179,700,000, compared to $21 million dollars in Idaho.

In past years, Idaho residents have been told by AEC officials of the growing importance in the testing of peaceful uses of atomic energy in Idaho, Jordan said.

"I hope this will continue," Jordan said.

President, Envoy Talk Of Malaysia

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (UP) — President Johnson told the defense minister of Indonesia yesterday he hoped there would be an "Asian solution" to the controversy over the new nation of Malaysia.

Defense Minister Abdul Haris Nasution said after a conference with Johnson that he and the President had a brief discussion of the quarrel over the British-backed Federation of Malaysia which Indonesia opposes.

The problem already had been explored in depth in his meetings with other U.S. officials, Nasution said.

"But he (Johnson) hoped there would be an Asian solution," Nasution said.

"I can say that we will not start to make any claim from our side, but if we are attacked then we will have to defend ourselves," Nasution said.

Nasution, here for President Kennedy's funeral, has been conferring with state department officials.

Russians Deny Dumping Oil at Cut-Rate Price

MOSCOW, Nov. 30 (UP) — Russia's top oil export official denied today that the oil this country recently sold to Italy was "dumped" at cut-rate prices.

Yevgeny Gurov, president of the Soviet Oil Export Association, told the Soviet News Agency today.

"We sell oil and oil products at mutually profitable prices, which are at the level of other suppliers of these goods."

PASSING TIME while waiting for the Twin Falls county assessor's office to open are two youths who have been waiting since 10:30 a.m. Friday, Scott Williams, left, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Williams, and Ted Manker, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. (Ted) Manker, all Twin Falls county courthouse to purchase the No. 1 and No. 2 Twin Falls county 1964 license plates. They played gin rummy all day long, and when the doors open at 8:30 a.m. Monday, the two will have waited a total of 70 hours. (Times-News photo)

2 T.F. Youths Get in Line Early for 1964 Auto Tags

Many Twin Falls high school students may have wondered what they were going to do during Thanksgiving vacation, but two of them decided on a plan, and they are now carrying it out.

They are waiting in the lobby of the Twin Falls county courthouse this week-end for the Twin Falls assessor's office doors to open at 8:30 a.m. Monday.

The two youths, waiting for No. 1 and No. 2 license plates, are Scott Williams, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Williams, 142 Tenth avenue north, and Ted L. Manker, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. (Ted) Manker, 504 Third avenue north.

They have been waiting since 10:30 a.m. Friday, probably the longest length of time anyone has waited for the lowest numbered license plates in Twin Falls county.

The past two years Harry Slater, Filer, has waited in line for some time and purchased the No. 1 license plates. Last year he waited about 25 hours before the assessor's office opened.

When the doors of the assessor's office opens at 8:30 a.m. Monday, the two youths will have waited a total of 70 hours, two hours short of three days.

During the daytime the youths pass time by playing gin rummy and listening to a portable radio.

If the deck of cards they were playing with Saturday gets too worn, they will use a second deck one of them brought.

Eating during their long wait has been no problem. Their mothers have been alternately bringing them food three times a day.

Neither has sleeping been a problem so far. Friday and Saturday nights the two slept in a stationwagon owned by one of the youths. However, they have not yet decided whether to sleep in the stationwagon or on the courthouse steps Sunday night.

Williams said, "It depends if anyone else shows up to wait."

The two stay inside the building from 7:30 a.m. to midnight each day and are outside from midnight to 7:30 a.m.

This is the first time either of them has purchased license plates and both agreed this would be the last time they would wait so long for them. Williams will buy two sets of plates, one set for his car and the other for his parents' car. Manker will buy plates only for his car.

Asked if they were getting tired of waiting, Williams said, "We haven't got very tired yet, because we have been playing gin rummy all the time."

At 11 a.m. Saturday the score of their game was Manker, 2,381 and Williams, 2,345. They said they were playing to 5,000.

When asked who will purchase the No. 1 license plates, Manker said, "We will decide on that when the doors open Monday morning."

Bullish

HOLLISTER, Nov. 30 — A 1953 Chevrolet was demolished when it struck a bull at 6:45 p.m. Friday, four miles south of Hollister on U.S. highway 93.

Frank Poulgnon, 52, 430 Seventh avenue east, Twin Falls, driver of the Chevrolet, told Twin Falls Deputy Sheriff Paul Corder he did not see the 1,250-pound black bull until it was too late.

The bull received a bruised leg. It is owned by A. E. Kunkel, Hollister. Poulgnon was cited for driving with an expired driver's license.

Vietnamese Leaders Were Bound, Shot

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, Nov. 30 (UP) — President Ngo Dinh Diem and his adviser-brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, were slain with gunfire while their hands were bound behind their backs, United Press International photographs indicated today.

The photos were made on Nov. 2, the day after a military junta seized control of South Viet Nam in a bloody palace coup.

Earlier reports by the junta said Diem and Nhu committed suicide after they were discovered by revolutionary troops in a Roman Catholic church. Later reliable reports said they were assassinated while being taken from the church to rebel headquarters in an armored personnel carrier.

The photos showed the bodies of Diem and Nhu at army staff headquarters at Tan Son Nhut airfield.

Psychiatric Treatment Given Oswald

NEW YORK, Nov. 30 (UP) — Accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald attended two New York city junior high schools and once was brought into children's court and underwent psychiatric examination, a judge revealed today.

Judge Florence H. Kelley of family court said Oswald lived in the Bronx when he was 13. His family moved here in 1952, she said.

The accused killer of President Kennedy, who was himself shot and killed by an avenger last Sunday, underwent psychiatric treatment after his court appearance, Judge Kelley said. She refused to elaborate.

She said she has turned pertinent information over to the FBI.

Only an administrative judge can make public proceedings in children's court.

Oswald attended PHS 117 and transferred to PHS 44 in December of 1952. Apparently it was while he was at the latter school that Oswald got into the trouble which resulted in the court case.

The Oswald family apparently moved back to Texas shortly after the son's brush with the law in the Bronx.

White House Restoration Done

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (UP) — Soon after she became First Lady in 1961, Mrs. Kennedy began the project of bringing back historic furnishings to the White House, and restoring the historical aspects of the public rooms.

But whatever more is needed, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson will continue the work.

A woman of taste and sense of history, Mrs. Johnson has told friends in the past that she regarded the White House restoration as beautiful.

They have made no decision as yet on what to do with their 12-room home, the Elms, in northwest Washington.

In these past few days, Mrs. Johnson has spent as much time as she could talking with her daughters.

Lynda, 19, will be returning to the University of Texas, where she is a sophomore.

Lucy, 16, has managed to get in some studying, though not much during these rushed days.

She is a day student and high school junior at the National Episcopal Cathedral School for Girls, where Lynda was graduated in 1962.

MINERS KILLED
TAIPEI, Formosa, Nov. 30 (UP) — Three workers were killed and another critically injured in an explosion at a coal mine near Taipei Friday.

Idaho Road Death Record Good so Far

BOISE, Nov. 30 (AP)—Idaho enters December with 66 fewer traffic deaths on the record than at this time a year ago, and auto officials are hopeful of the best record since 1955.

But Duane R. Alters, traffic safety director, urged careful driving to prevent a sudden spiral.

Last year at this time, 254 persons had died, compared to 188 as of Saturday night. December last year brought death to 18 persons for a final total of 272, worst in history.

Idaho had 186 fatalities in 1955, the only year it has been under the 200 since the 1940's. The next best record was the 205 of 1957.

Alters said he would like to be optimistic, "but there's still another month left." He said much will depend on the weather and the amount of travel.

He noted that while fatalities are down, the number of accidents and injuries are up about six per cent.

December is normally a bad month for fatalities nationwide, but a light month in Idaho. January and February are also usually good months.

Alters said Idaho drivers are apparently accustomed to bad weather, and adjust their driving accordingly.

He gives law enforcement officers a large measure of credit for the improved record so far. He said they are constantly improving their tactics in preventive enforcement.

November, with 24 deaths, was one of the worst months of the year. Through October, the average was 16.4 deaths per month.

Wheel Comes Off Stock Trailer, Damages Auto

The left front fender of a 1962 Plymouth was damaged by a wheel at 10:30 a.m. Saturday near the intersection of state highway 74 and South Park avenue.

Twin Falls police said a 1956 Chevrolet pickup truck driven by Charles A. Chambers, IV, 17, Filer, was pulling a two-wheel stock trailer on highway 74 when the left wheel of the trailer came off and rolled 201 feet and struck the steps of the Coffee Cup cafe.

The wheel then bounced up in the air for about 12 feet, bounced off a sign and landed on the fender of the car.

All Is Quiet on U.S.-Russ Diplomatic Front Lines

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—All is quiet on the U.S.-Soviet diplomatic front and no sudden increase in activity is expected, U.S. officials believe the cause for the lack of action lies more with the Kremlin than with Washington.

It is natural for the Kremlin to pause and reassess the U.S. position at this point even though President Johnson has assured them that the foreign policies of the late President.

Space Treaty Is Desired By America

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 30 (AP)—The United States wants treaties for the return of stranded specimens and the collection of damages for space accidents.

A resolution is being drawn up to have the United Nations go to work on them.

Informed diplomats said Saturday the resolution would have the U.N. general assembly set the committee on peaceful uses of outer space to "arrange for the early preparation of appropriate international agreements on liability for damages caused by space vehicles and on assistance to and return of astronauts and space vehicles."

They said they expected many members of that 29-nation committee would join in submitting the proposal Tuesday to the assembly's 111-nation main political committee and that it would be adopted there Thursday.

One source said the basic draft was the work of the United States.

Another said it was a joint effort of a number of delegations.

Both reported the Soviet Union had not yet agreed to it but is expected to do so soon.

Love Stricken Yank Courts Russian Girl

MOSCOW, Nov. 30 (AP)—A love-stricken American calmly awaited developments tonight in his battle with Soviet bureaucrats. The prize is the hand of a Russian girl he loves.

Lawrence Brayton, 36, who has overstayed his Soviet visa by 24 days, has vowed he will not leave the country until his wedding day, Dec. 17.

Brayton, from Fairbanks, Alaska, spent Saturday quietly with his fiancée, Miss Rosita Shifman, 25, at her home in Moscow.

Soviet officials Wednesday told him his Soviet visa would not be extended and gave him until midnight Friday night to leave the country. He didn't budge.

Brayton told reporters he still has received no reply to three messages to Premier Khrushchev asking the premier to intercede in the young couple's behalf.

No Soviet officials contacted him about getting out of the country despite the passing of the deadline.

The Soviet-American love story Brayton has unfolded to Western newsmen began in September on a beach in Yalta.

He left the Soviet Union two weeks later, determined to return and marry the blonde Miss Shifman, a children's speech therapist.

Gale Rattles Northeastern Coast Lines

By The Associated Press

A southwesterly gale battered the northeastern coast with torrential rain, fierce wind and abnormally high tides Saturday while a blinding, wind-driven snow storm moved into western New York.

At least six deaths were attributed, directly or indirectly, to the weather.

The coastal storm destroyed at least 25 homes and damaged uncounted numbers of other waterfront dwellings.

The weather bureau measured wind gusts up to 71 miles an hour at Portland, Me., and tides up to 10 feet above normal were reported on Cape Cod.

Snow depths up to eight inches halted traffic in some sections of New York.

Police at Mattapoisett, Mass., reported 25 shore homes leveled—17 of them at Crescent Beach—but no casualties were reported. Wind gusts blew a 50-foot section of the roof of the Sands of Time hotel at Woods Hole, Cape Cod, for several feet onto some parked automobiles. Fifteen occupants fled unharmed.

The coastal storm virtually closed the port of Portland, Me., sank pleasure boats at Groton, Conn., cut a 200-foot swath through Fire Island, N.Y., and caused the evacuation of several families on the southern shore of eastern Long Island, particularly at Monticello Beach.

Flood waters isolated some 30 homes at Dighton, Mass., and inundated roadways and lowland areas in many sections along the northeastern coast.

The "Free Croats" are anti-Tito Yugoslav refugees living here.

Wins Vote

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 30 (AP)—Prime Minister Sir Robert Menzies won an overwhelming vote Saturday for his policy of firm ties with the United States; the nation swept his coalition group back to power with an increased majority.

As counting in the general election drew to a close, Menzies' Liberal-Country party coalition seemed assured of 69 seats in the 122 member house of representatives. The Labor party had won 50 and there were three seats still to be decided.

Tax Total in State Ranked Low in West

BOISE, Nov. 30 (AP)—Idaho's per capita state and local tax total for 1962 was $191, second lowest in the 11 western states.

The Associated Taxpayers of Idaho reported today that only New Mexico, with $187, had a lower figure. At the other end of the scale, Wyoming had $246, Oregon $230 and Montana $232.

Executive Manager Max Yost said Idaho also compares well in terms of the "tax burden," or the proportion of tax to per capita income. In that category Idaho also ranked second lowest.

Idaho's percentage of tax bill to income was 9.84, compared to 9.85 in Oregon, Nevada was low with 8.32 per cent.

Wyoming led with 11.36 per cent and Utah, Washington, Montana, Colorado, California and Arizona were all over 10.

Heyburn Youth Cited in Crash

RUPERT, Nov. 30 (AP)—Lonnie Wodskow, 19, Heyburn, was cited for failure to yield the right of way as the result of a three-car collision Friday afternoon on G street.

Wodskow backed his 1958 Chevrolet from the curb and it collided with a 1961 Ford driven by Joseph J. Newman, 27, Declo. The impact knocked the Ford into a 1959 Chevrolet station wagon driven by Mrs. Shirley Jensen, 30, Rupert.

Rupert police reported no injuries and $300 damage to Wodskow's Chevrolet, $500 to the Ford and $100 to the station wagon.

Byrd Will Affect 1965 Budget

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D. Va., will exert great influence on the 1965 budget—but probably without consultation, conference or other action on his part.

When President Johnson makes the final decisions on the budget for the fiscal year beginning next July 1, one prime consideration will be the "11-billion-dollar tax reduction bill and the key man in relation to it, the economy-minded Byrd.

Authoritative sources say the budget total will not be known for at least a few days, and perhaps not for two weeks or more, since shaping of the budget involves many decisions by Johnson—this without a great deal of difficulty but this target would not necessarily win Byrd's support for the tax bill.

Some government officials say there would be relatively little difficulty in getting the house-passed tax bill through the senate if it is approved by the finance committee, of which Byrd is chairman. Byrd has taken a strong stand against the tax reduction without substantial reductions in spending.

Byrd's strategy all along has been to hold the tax bill long enough so it would come out of committee about when the new budget is being presented to congress.

He has accomplished this objective, since there is no prospect of passing the bill before congress adjourns for the year, probably on Dec. 20.

However, it could be put in shape for quick action in January.

CONCANNON IS FIRST PICK IN AFL DRAFT

Boston Passer Is Chosen by Boston Patriots

NEW YORK, Nov. 30 (AP)—Jack Concannon, Boston college's fine quarterback, was drafted No. 1 in the American Football league today by the Boston Patriots, who acquired the first pick from Denver in a late trade. Many of the big names in this year of the quarterback were passed over in the early rounds as AFL coaches and scouts concentrated on massive line talent.

Sports FROM ALL ANGLES

BY LARRY HOVEY The Associated Press' football establishment is busy with college football, and soon basketball, was fairly well received, but, as expected, the logic behind such standings is bound to become dim over the long haul. We received a letter from Tom Turner, Pitts., concerning the football poll and also some questions from Jerome and Twin Falls fans both during and after the season.

Mr. Turner's letter read: "A great many people out in the sticks are very curious as to how this AP poll (and other school teams operates). Built gaining two spots by losing to Filer."

"Jerome, which clobbered us real good, rated only a mention. Would you take a little time to explain to all of us what basis is used, who rates, etc., on these polls?"

Then, after Jerome dropped Buhl 20-6 and the final rating had Buhl 11th and Jerome 12th, the Tiger fans also had a question.

Even before then, after Twin Falls beat Caldwell and then went three weeks being rated behind the Cougars, Bruin fans were asking.

So in 10,000 well chosen words here goes.

Each newspaper, radio and TV station subscribing to the Associated Press wire service receives one vote—except the Idaho Daily Statesman, which has two.

The sports editor or sports director of each is responsible for doing the voting. Except for about seven newspapermen and two or three broadcasters, the bulk of the voting is done by people not solely interested in sports.

Adding to the woes is the expected provincialism that such a poll is bound to arouse. Taking potshots at no one, but still explaining, this is how a team with a 3-3-2 record can be rated ahead of teams with 8-1, 7-2 and the like.

Voters in specific areas want at least two or three of their teams on the list so they vote with the heart, not the head.

Another bad, but necessarily so, situation is the concentration of voting in the bigger population areas—What that means is simply the Snake Valley area has fewer electors than any other geographical area you can name.

The north (Panthandle) is larger, the Boise area with Caldwell and Nampa much larger and eastern Idaho, which also forms a bloc, is larger. Therefore, it should easily be seen why this area has only one team in the top ten when it seems to us there should be two.

But for all this, and admitting that no one connected with the poll is entirely in accord with it, we have to say the final poll didn't turn out too badly. Of course, Jerome should be rated over Buhl because the Tigers defeated the Indians. You can say it would never happen again, but it is only conjecture. You can only rate on that one meeting.

The only thing most voters have to go on is record and comparative scores. Twin Falls loses to Boise, Boise tips Pocatello, which loses to Blackfoot, which gave Bonneville a tussle and Bonneville beat Idaho Falls. This is what a voter has to think about because it is physically impossible to see more than 24 teams play in a season and then you'd have to pick them out and really hunt for day games. It is flatly impossible for one voter to see all 30 teams he is asked to rate.

Perhaps a better way to explain might be the experience of the national college polls.

These started out the same way and early enjoyed great success with 200 or more member establishments participating. But the bugaboo of sectionalism voting and having to telegram these picks in every Sunday began hurting it.

Toward the end of the "grass roots" polls, only 50 and 60 papers and stations were voting. Finally, AP had to switch to the paid, method. In this step, a board of three or four, usually coaches, was picked to rate the teams in their area and vote in the poll. That finally has proved the best for consistency.

Something to note here is during the first week or two 21 and 22 ballots were cast in the state. This reached a low of 16. It is a pattern.

But let us reiterate the poll is not really all that bad. It sparks a little barbershop conversation and keeps our local teams and boys in the public mind. That is what it is designed to do.

The draft, of course, only established rights in the AFL. The National Football League will hold its annual draft of the same crop of college talent Monday in Chicago. None can be signed until all regular season games and bowl games are over. Wide open bidding is expected.

Pete Beathard, Southern California's bullet passer who also is a master of the rollout option, was grabbed by the Kansas City Chiefs in the first round, the second of 200 players to be selected in 25 rounds.

The New York Jets, who have been priced out of the market in recent drafts, picked Matt Snell, a LeRoy Valley, N.Y., boy who played fullback at Ohio State.

The new owners who look over the Jets this season are confident they will be able to hold their own in the scramble to sign the collegians.

Denver gave up its first pick in a deal that brought Boston's No. 1 and No. 3 round choices to the Broncos as well as a player to be named later. The Broncos, hungry for offensive linemen, quickly snapped up Bob Brown, a 260-pound guard in Nebraska's Orange bowl-bound Cornhuskers.

Two agile tackles were next in line in the first round. The Buffalo Bills took Carl Eller, 6-foot-5-inch, 241-pounder from Minnesota, and Houston quickly drafted Scott Appleton, the 6-foot, 3-inch, 235-pound bulwark of the Texas line.

Oakland's first round pick was fullback Tony Lorick, a 27-year-old, top flight punter and alert receiver from Arizona State. Another Arizona State back, Charley Taylor, was taken by Houston in the second round.

San Diego, drafting for lineman and linebackers, selected linebacker Ted Davis of Georgia Tech in the first round.

Such name quarterbacks as George Mira of Miami, Billy Lothridge of Georgia Tech, Dick Shiner of Maryland and Larry Rakestraw of Georgia were not picked in the early rounds.

Indiana's Marv Woodson, a halfback who recently underwent knee surgery, was drafted by Denver and Paul Warfield, fleet Ohio State halfback, was taken by the Buffalo Bills.

Kansas City selected Joe Don Looney, the Oklahoma halfback who left the team in a mid-season controversy.

Looney was drafted in the sixth round that also saw Willie Brown, Southern California halfback, picked by San Diego.

B. J. Sullivan, president of the Boston club, was enthusiastic about the deal that gave him a chance to pick Concannon.

"He is the best all-around athlete in the Boston area since Harry Agganis," said Sullivan. "The whole city is excited about him."

Concannon has a quick release for his passes and can hit either short or long targets with accuracy while running full speed. He ranked fourth in the nation in total offense and had gained 1513 yards passing and running going into Saturday's season finale with Holy Cross.

If the Pats can sign Concannon, who also has attracted much attention from NFL scouts, he will be given a good chance of beating out the veteran Babe Parrilli for the quarterback job next fall.

Don Klosterman, the Kansas City talent scout who looked over Beathard for the Chiefs, called the Southern Cal player "the best potential pro prospect I ever saw."

His most enthusiastic boosters call Beathard "the new Paul Hornung," for he can throw bullet passes as well as run the option. The San Francisco 49ers of the NFL also were reported interested.

The 14th round was the first one on which teams could pick futures—players whose classes are graduating but who have another year of eligibility, either because of injury or because they purposely stayed out a full season.

The first player picked on this 14th round was Bob Hayes, the world record holder for the 100-yard dash and a halfback at Florida A and M. Hayes was selected by Denver.

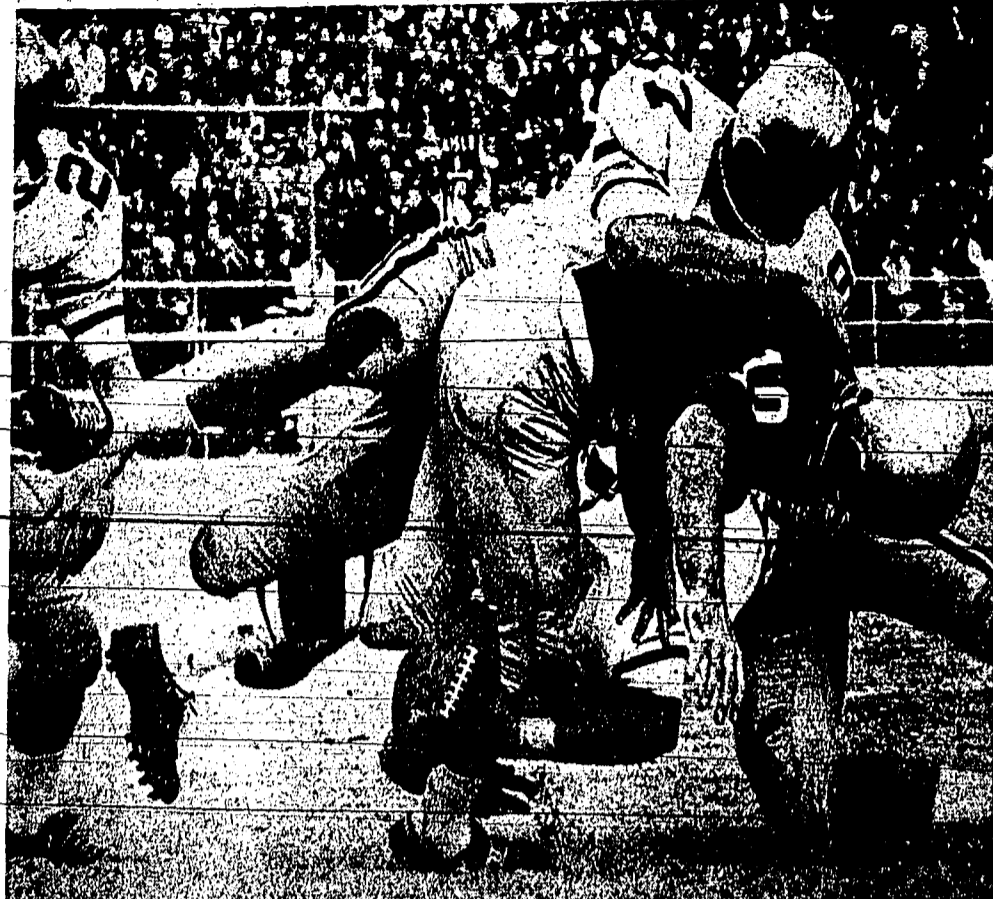

The sprinter is expected to run in the Olympic in Tokyo in October before considering a pro football career. If he decides to play pro ball he will be lost for almost the entire 1964 season.

All eight picks in the 19th round were futures.

Georgia Tech Overcome Fumbles, Georgia

ATLANTA, Nov. 30 (AP)—Georgia Tech, led by Billy Lothridge and Ray Mendheim, overcame a bad case of fumbles today and defeated the Georgia Bulldogs 14-3. Lothridge set a Tech record by completing the 18th touchdown pass of his career, a three-yard toss to Frank Sexton in the fourth quarter. Mendheim scored Georgia, which also had trouble holding onto the ball, scored on a 27-yard field goal by Bill McCullough late in the second period.

Fumble recoveries led to both scores in the first half. Mendheim recovered one by Georgia quarterback Larry Rakestraw at goal with only 41 seconds remaining in the half. After fumbling away a scoring chance at the Georgia three in the third period, Tech drew 53 yards for its other touchdown in the final quarter.

Tech lost four fumbles and McCullough kicked his field goal.

Pastrano Is Easy Winner Over Holt

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Nov. 30 (AP)—Light heavyweight champion Willie Pastrano of Miami Beach, Fla., outpointed veteran Mike Holt of South Africa in a non-title 10-rounder tonight.

The crowd of 20,000 saw Pastrano give a typical display of his boxing skill, especially through the first five rounds.

The 28-year-old American let the 33-year-old South African come to him. Then Pastrano either slipped Holt's punches or blocked them with his gloves and arms.

Wily Willie knew that he had to keep moving to win since Holt relies mainly on a powerful left hook. The South African has scored 31 knockouts.

Pastrano's skillful maneuvering and counterpunching enabled him to win easily but the crowd obviously was disappointed.

The referee cautioned Pastrano six times for holding, butting and pulling.

Holt was the aggressor throughout but he was unable to pierce Pastrano's defenses often. He connected with left hooks to the jaw three times. Pastrano, however, didn't even blink.

Pastrano kept on piling up points with his jab and occasional left-right combinations. None of the blows had any effect on Holt.

At the finish Pastrano said, "The attitude was terrible," adding that he had trouble breathing in the thin air of this city, which is 6,000 feet above sea level.

Auburn Converts On 'Bama Errors For 10-8 Victory

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 30 (AP)—Orange bowl-bound Auburn capitalized on a host of Alabama mistakes and dumped the Crimson Tide 10-8 today. Despite the loss, Alabama was picked to go to the Sugar Bowl against Mississippi, which was held to a 10-10 tie today by Mississippi State. Its own attack stymied for the most part, Auburn used the punting of Jon Kilgore to keep Alabama at bay most of the afternoon.

Nelson redeemed himself moments later when he tore through the Auburn line and outraced the Tiger secondary for an 80-yard touchdown. Quarterback Joe Namath ran the conversion.

It was the first victory for Auburn over Alabama in five years—in fact, Woodall's field goal was the first time the Tigers had scored on Alabama since 1958.

A key play, possibly the turning point in the game, came at the opening of the second quarter when Alabama was rushing toward Auburn's goal.

With a 23 miles per hour wind to their back, Alabama banged to the Auburn five. With a first and goal, Auburn's Howard Simpson smashed through and forced Namath to fumble, then recovered the ball.

OREGON SMOTHERS OREGON STATE BY 31-14

Berry Completes 18 of 26 Passes To Pace Victory

EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 30 (AP)—Quarterback Bob Berry led the University of Oregon to a smashing 31-14 football victory over Oregon State today, completing 18 of 26 passes for 249 yards. An alert, agile Oregon secondary intercepted four passes and made Oregon State's

Yale Shocks Harvard in 20-6 Upset

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 30 (AP)—Yale's hard-hitting line led the Blues to a 20-6 upset triumph over traditional rival Harvard today in the 80th game of America's most famous football series.

Quarterback Gordon Queen an ineffective threat. The game has been rated as close to even, especially with Oregon's brilliant halfback Mel Renfro on the sidelines with a wrist injury. But right from the start the Ducks were the masters. It took them most of the first quarter to get a good drive going, but from then on the outcome was not in doubt on the cold, haze-shrouded field. Oregon uncovered a fine kicker in sophomore Herm Melster. He opened the scoring with a 22-yard field goal, then booted four conversions.

H. D. Murphy, speedy defensive back from San Diego, Calif., set up the first two Oregon touchdowns with second-quarter pass interceptions. He also grabbed a 16-yard pass while on the offensive unit and recovered an Oregon kickoff on Oregon State's 34.

The rest of the Oregon secondary was nearly as tough for Oregon State to get by and the Oregon line contained the Staters' running game so effectively that only 42 yards were made on the ground.

State turned to sophomore quarterback Marv Crowston, Vernonia, Ore., in the final period and he began hitting on passes against a mixed team of Oregon first and second unit players. The passes paved the way for two touchdowns while the Ducks were content to take it easy. Oregon State's great pass-catching end Vern Burke, double teamed all day, managed seven interceptions for 95 yards.

Michigan Blasts Ball State 90-76

MUNCIE, Ind., Nov. 30 (AP)—Sophomores Cazzie Russell and Jim Myers led Michigan to a 90-76 victory over Ball State in a basketball opener tonight. Russell paced the scorers with 30 points. Myers took over the center spot in place of Butt Buntin, who was out for disciplinary reasons, and added 23 points.

The Wolverines grabbed an early 21-8 lead, but Ball State pulled within a point at 41-40 at halftime, took the lead at 49-48 and built up a 60-55 lead with 11:29 to play.

Bridges Claimed

NEW YORK, Nov. 30 (AP)—Relief pitcher Marshall Bridges was claimed by the Washington Senators from the New York Yankees for the $20,000 waiver price today, the Yankees announced.

Bridges was shot in the left leg at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., in February and got off to a slow start this year. He wound up with a 2-0 record and 3.82 earned run average in 33 appearances.

Stanford's 48-Yard Field Goal Sets up 28-17 Win Over Bears

STANFORD, Nov. 30 (AP)—Braden Beck booted a sensational 48-yard fourth-quarter field goal that put Stanford ahead, and the Indians swarmed to a 28-17 triumph over California today. The big game crowd of 82,000 saw Beck, a junior end, kick two other long field goals and Steve Thurlow add two Stanford touchdowns. California had rolled to a 17-9 lead on two touchdowns within three minutes of the third period before Stanford's running game exploded for the victory.

With 11:18 to play, the Bears still led 17-15 and Stanford had a fourth down at Cal's 31. The crowd mumbled in disbelief when Beck set down his kicking tee even though he had kicked a 36-yarder in the first period.

But his boot from an angle slightly to the right sailed squarely through the uprights. Just for good measure, he added a 46-yarder for Stanford's final points.

Stanford throttled the passing game of Cal quarterback Craig Morton by throwing a virtual blanket over his receivers, then hitting him frequently for losses. After a flock of missed scoring chances in the first half, the Indians began eating up ground primarily on the sweeps and off tackle slants of Thurlow and Dick Ragsdale.

After a 3-3 first half struggle, the third period broke wide open with four touchdowns.

A bad fourth down center snap gave the Indians the ball at Cal's six and one play later Thurlow scored the first Stanford touchdown.

The Bears quickly drove 70 yards in seven plays for a 10-9 lead. Tom Rolles dashed 23 yards to the Stanford 7 on a reverse and Jim Blakey swept seven yards for the score.

Less than three minutes later, Tom Blanchfield, who also hit on a 37-yard field goal and two conversions, returned a punt 69 yards for a Cal touchdown. Beck and Thurlow were named lineman and back of the game.

Crump Scores 35 as ISU Wallops Weber

POCATELLO, Nov. 30 (AP)—Art Crump, 10th in the nation in scoring last season, took up where he left off and hit 35 points as Idaho State university beat Weber State college 92-79 in a non-conference basketball opener Saturday night. Crump set a school record of most field goals in one game—16.

NNC Sweeps 2-Game Set With MVCC

NAMPA, Nov. 30 (AP)—The Northwest Nazarene college Crusaders picked up their second basketball win of the season tonight by trouncing Magic Valley Christian college 79-72.

It was the third loss for the Panthers who dropped a 98-59 decision to the Crusaders just a night ago.

St. John's Coasts Into NAIA Finals

BLOOMINGTON, Minn., Nov. 30 (AP)—St. John's of Minnesota defeated College of Emporia, Kans., with an unstoppable rushing attack and crushed the losers' vaunted offense in smothering a 54-0 victory in a National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics semi-final playoff football game today.

The devastating Johnnie offensive produced a record triumph for an NAIA playoff contest. St. John's now advances to the Camelia bowl at Sacramento, Calif., Dec. 14. The Johnnies' foe will be decided next Saturday when Kearney, Neb., State entertains Prairie View A and M.

Washington Breezes Past WSU 16-0 to Win Official West Coast Rose Bowl Bid

SEATTLE, Nov. 30 (AP)—Two touchdowns by hard-hitting Junior Coffey and a safety on the game's final play carried Washington's Huskies to a 16-0 victory over Washington State today to the Big Six conference championship and into the Rose bowl. On a spongy field and before a record crowd of more than 56,000 the Huskies scored in the second and final quarters to clinch their trip to Pasadena and a New Year's day clash with Illinois in the post-season classic.

Missouri Uses Long Run to Edge Kansas

LAWRENCE, Kans., Nov. 30 (AP)—Missouri combined a 22-yard field goal by Bill Leistriz with a 102-yard run by Vince Turner with a recovered fumble for a 9-7 victory over arch-rival Kansas today.

The winning field goal came after Missouri's only sustained drive of the game, 77 yards in 17 ground plays, to the Kansas five.

Turner's run stunned the record Kansas crowd of 45,000 in the first period. Kansas had moved 74 yards on the ground to the Tiger two-yard line. Fullback Ken Coleman was hit at the one, the ball squirted into the end zone. Turner picked it off and had a clear field for his 102-yard jaunt.

Kansas struck back in the second period after fleet halfback Gale Sayers grounded Tony Leiker's 67-yard quick kick at the Missouri one. The Tigers punted out to their 44, but Kansas drove in to score in 10 plays, Steve Renko plunging from the one. Gary Duff's kick put Kansas ahead 7-6.

Washington finished the season with a 5-4 record, compared to a 7-3 for Southern California, its rival for the bowl bid.

Washington's conference record, however, was 4-1 to Southern Cal's 3-1, and the Huskies beat the Trojans in their game here.

TCU Rallies Past SMU in Last Minutes

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 30 (AP)—Halfback Marvin Chipman slammed six yards for a touchdown in the closing minutes today to boost Texas Christian to a 22-15 victory over Southern Methodist.

The Frogs, trailing on the brink of defeat, recovered an SMU fumble in the 27th and 28th minutes.

State fans were given a thrill in the dying moments when Herm McKee cut loose for a 99-yard gallop, but the long run was nullified by a penalty.

Washington was on the Cougar one after a 45-yard march when Junior Coffey—who had scored both touchdowns—fumbled the ball. McKee picked it up on the first bounce and ran the length of the field, but the play was called back to the point of the fumble.

On the next play—the game's last—Cougar quarterback Dave Mathieson was dropped in the end zone by Husky guard Chuck Bond, for a safety.

Washington finished the season with a 5-4 record, compared to a 7-3 for Southern California, its rival for the bowl bid.

Washington's conference record, however, was 4-1 to Southern Cal's 3-1, and the Huskies beat the Trojans in their game here.

Undefeated Memphis State Tops Houston

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 30 (AP)—The Memphis State Tigers raced to their first undefeated football season in 25 years today, with a spirited 28-6 victory over Houston in a last effort to impress the bowl scouts.

The dependable power of fullback Dave Cassnell and the spectacular efforts of reserve quarterback Billy Fletcher provided a fine ending to a season marred only by the scoreless tie with third-ranked Mississippi. Cassnell and Fletcher scored two touchdowns each and Fletcher contributed a bizarre field goal that took three attempts before getting on the scoreboard.

New Mexico Breezes Past BYU by 26-0

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 30 (AP)—Sophomore quarterback Stan Quintana kept New Mexico in the Western Athletic conference title race, leading the Lobos to a 26-0 football victory over inapt Brigham Young university today.

Quintana played his best game of the season, passing for one touchdown and running for another in leading the Lobo offense in one of their wildest shows.

Hamilton Takes Canada Grey Cup

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 30 (AP)—The Hamilton Tiger-Cats, losers in their last four Grey cup games, ripped through British Columbia for 14 points in the second period and upset the Lions 21-10 today for their first Canadian professional football championship since 1957.

Hamilton quarterback Bernie Faloney, a former Maryland star, led the Tiger-Cats on the two second quarter scoring drives that all but wrapped up the game and ended a long period of Grey cup frustration for the Tiger-Cats.

Faloney capped the first touchdown drive with a five-yard pass to Willie Betha and wound up the Hamilton scoring in the third period by connecting with former Denver star Hal Patterson on a pass play that covered 70 yards.

Hamilton's other touchdown came on a one-yard plunge by Art Baker in the second quarter.

Ohio Staters Fight Off Late Michigan Attack for 14-10 Win

ANN ARBOR, Nov. 30 (AP)—Don Unverferth threw for one touchdown and ran for the second, but the Ohio State defense had to fight off a furious, last-minute Michigan attack to preserve a 14-10 football victory today.

A crowd of 36,424, smallest in Michigan stadium in 20 years, watched as Unverferth rolled around left end for the come-from-behind touchdown midway to the final quarter.

The Ohio State quarterback broke with tradition in this tradition-filled Big Ten battle when Michigan had held a 10-0 lead up until the long Unverferth pass.

With time running out, Michigan marched to the OSU seven. But a fourth down pass into the end fell out of the hands of halfback Dick Rindfuss. However, OSU couldn't move and punted. Michigan tried to pull the game out of the fire with sideline passes, but an Ohio State interception saved the game.

The normally ground-minded Buckeyes tried 14 passes and completed seven for 105 yards while Michigan, more of a passing team before Saturday, threw 13 times, completed five and gained only 35 yards.

Michigan opened the scoring with less than four minutes gone in the game when Bob Timberlake booted a 28-yard field goal. Jack Glancy had recovered a fumble by Matt Snell on the OSU 27 on the second play from scrimmage to set up the score.

The Wolverines marched 63 yards in 10 plays at the start of the second quarter with Rindhe passed to Paul Warfield for 35 yards and the first OSU touchdown. It came with 41 seconds remaining in the first half.

Ohio State threatened just before going in for its first half touchdown when it marched to the Michigan six. Unverferth passed to Warfield in the left corner of the end zone on fourth down, but the Buckeye halfback dropped the ball.

On the second play, Carter threw a screen pass to speedster Wall Roberts, who went 83 yards for the first SPS touchdown.

Carter and Roberts teamed up for the two-point conversion pass, and in the second period Carter hit Jerry Colletto with a five-yard touchdown throw.

USC Smothers Rival UCLA for 26-6 Win

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30 (AP)—Southern California's Trojans crushed UCLA 26-6 today with a football attack that was equally devastating on the ground and in the air. It was each team's Big Six conference finale. The favored Trojans scored in each of the four quarters. The honors were divided among halfbacks Willie Brown, Mike Garrett and Ron Heller as quarterback Pete Beathard directed a perfectly executed game.

Trull Sets Records as Baylor Wins

HOUSTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—Desha Trull set two national collegiate passing records and scored three touchdowns today to lead Baylor Bears to a Bluebonnet bowl football invitation with a 21-12 victory over Rice.

The invitation to meet Louisiana State in the 70,000-seat Rice stadium was extended immediately after the game.

Trull completed 18 of 33 passes for 187 yards. This ran his season completions to 160, one more than the old mark of 159 set by Don Klosterman of Loyola of Los Angeles in 1951. The 187 yards for the day gave Trull a season total of 2,947, compared to the old record of 2,005 set by Stan Heath of Nevada in 1948.

UCLA Bruins pulled to a 13-6 threatening position in the third quarter as they called 85 yards—53 of them on a pass from Larry Zeno to Kurt Altenberg—with no scoring from the three.

But the Trojans promptly re-attacked on the dynamic running of Garrett. He uncorked one run of 46 and accounted for 62 of the 68-yard ground attack and left it to Brown to smash for the final two yards.

Southern Cal swept 80 yards in 10 plays for its final touchdown in the fourth quarter. Rich McMahon drove the final yard.

By this time Coach John McKay had emptied his bench and the seniors—among them Beathard, Brown, linebacker Damon Bame and Besdole—were given a rousing sendoff as McKay sent them to the dressing room.

Revision of One-Year Option Rule Is Expected in National Baseball Meet

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Nov. 30 (AP)—The controversial legislation which permits a major league club to farm out only one first-year player without jeopardy will be under heavy fire at the 62nd annual national association baseball convention here Dec. 1-4.

Twenty-two of the 41 proposed amendments to the minor league articles are aimed at the first-year rule, instituted five years ago and tightened in 1961.

The convention, which will be followed by the major league meetings in Los Angeles later in the week, is expected to bring about other important developments, including the initiation and, in some cases, the completion of a number of player swaps. The annual inter-league trading period, which began Nov. 21, extends through Dec. 15.

The most important transaction made so far was the intra-league trade that sent Detroit outfielder Rocky Colavito and pitcher Bob Anderson to Kansas City for infielders Jerry Lumpe and pitchers Dave Wickersham and Ed Rakow.

Prominent names mentioned in possible trades include Orlando Cepeda, San Francisco Giants; Bill Skowron, Los Angeles Dodgers; Bill Stafford and Ralph Terry, New York Yankees; The Power, Minnesota Twins; Jim Bunning, Tigers; Leon Wagner, Los Angeles Angels; Pedro Riquelme, Cleveland Indians; Lou Clinton, Boston Red Sox; Claude Osteen and Chuck Hinton, Washington Senators; Jackie Brandt and Jim Gentile, Baltimore Orioles; Frank Thomas, New York Mets; Joey Jay and Gordy Coleman, Cincinnati Reds; and Eddie Mathews, Milwaukee Braves.

The major league executives may also be confronted with a possible request for a franchise shift. Kansas City A's owner Charles Finley, who apparently has not yet settled his difficulties with the city's baseball committee, may attempt to gain the American league's permission to move his team elsewhere. Oakland, San Diego and Atlanta are interested.

There is also a possibility that Ford Frick, baseball's commissioner since 1951, may serve resignation notice on the owners.

Frick's contract does not expire until September, 1965. There is a clause, however, that notice of intention, by either side, must be given a year in advance. Despite his repeated assertions that he will complete his term, the 68-year-old Frick may decide that this is the time to alert the owners to start seeking his successor.

On the legislative front, several clubs, with general manager Paul Richards in the van, will offer resolutions to liberalize the rule which stipulates that a big league club may option only one first-year player. All others must be kept on the major league roster or be made available in a special draft at the nominal price of $8,000. And even the optionee counts on the 25-man roster.

The Houston club has offered four proposals, the Los Angeles Dodgers three and the Los Angeles Angels one. While Richards recognizes and accepts the reason for the first-year rule—designed to curb extravagant bonus payments to unruly youngsters—he is convinced it serves as a harmful deterrent to the four expansion clubs seeking to build an organization with young players.

The proposed amendment has three basic features:

1. Only minor league clubs could sign unruly talent.
2. No player could be moved up to the majors until he went through the draft route.
3. All players on minor league rosters would be draft eligible, with a $10,000 price tag on a youngster who has had just one season in organized ball, $15,000 for a player with two seasons experience and $20,000 for all others.

Presently, draft prices range from $8,000 for a first-year performer to $25,000 for regular-season players.

The convention, which will be followed by the major league meetings in Los Angeles later in the week, is expected to bring about other important developments, including the initiation and, in some cases, the completion of a number of player swaps. The annual inter-league trading period, which began Nov. 21, extends through Dec. 15.

PURDUE RALLIES TO EDGE INDIANA 21-15

DiGravio's Pass With 2:21 Left Decides Victory

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 30 (UPI)—Ron DiGravio, the Big Ten's top passer, fired three touchdown aerials in his collegiate swan song, the last with 2:21 to go, and give Purdue a thrill-packed 21-15 victory over arch-rival Indiana today in their traditional football finale. In keeping with the oft-bitter rivalry between the two intrastate foes, a free-for-all broke out after the final gun. But it was broken up quickly.

Sooners Romp To 34-10 Win Over Cowboys

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 30 (AP)—Jim Grayson scored four touchdowns as the Oklahoma Sooners rolled to a 34-10 football victory over traditional rival Oklahoma State today.

It was a cliff-hanger until the final seconds and DiGravio, who connected on 10 of 14 passes for 187 yards, was the offensive here as the Boiler-makers recaptured the "Old Oaken Bucket" emblem of the teams' gridiron supremacy, which they lost following Indiana's 12-7 upset victory last year.

Bullet Coach Says Gus Is Best Rookie

BALTIMORE, Nov. 30 (AP)—Coach Bob Leonard of the Baltimore Bullets is tired of hearing that Jerry Lucas of Cincinnati has all but wrapped up rookie of the year honors in the National Basketball Association.

Indiana then gambled on a two-point conversion pass from Badar to Trent Walters. It worked and it gave the Hoosiers a 15-14 lead with 2:48 left and Indiana fans smelled victory.

Johnson gave up his last year of eligibility at the University of Idaho to join the Bullets, who drafted him on the second round. After a slow start, he is averaging 18 points and 11 rebounds per game.

Kentucky Sinks Virginia 75-64

Deeken, a 6-foot, 4-inch senior from Louisville, Ky., and Nash, a 6-foot, 5-inch senior from Leominster, Mass., scored 28 points each and sparked a strong Kentucky defense.

Platt used a five iron to send his shot from atop the cliff tee box scurrying into the hole on the No. 3 temporary green. Dr. Glenn Hoss, Carl Hoss and Dr. Willard Peterson watched that one.

Northern Illinois Wins Mineral Bowl

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., Nov. 30 (AP)—George Bork of Northern Illinois threw three touchdown passes today in leading his team to a 21-14 victory over Springfield State in the 15th annual Mineral Water bowl game.

Bork put on his show before a crowd of 6,500. He hit 27 of 41 pass attempts for 437 yards.

After a scoreless third period, Bork and the Huskies opened up.

The Rebels scored in the first period on an 80-yard march requiring 13 plays, with substitute quarterback Jim Weatherly passing 30 yards to sophomore halfback Mike Dennis for the touchdown. Irwin converted.

State, which made only two first downs in the first half, put them together in the second quarter in a drive from its 35 to the Rebel 31. At that point, guard Justin Canale dropped back and sent a 49-yard placement knifing through the uprights for a field goal. It was State's only march of the opening half.

TALL IN SADDLE and hunched up so he appears about twice his normal size is John Peavey, manager of the cattle division of the Flat-Top Sheep company. He headed the annual cattle drive which saw the animals taken across the desolate desert south of the Craters of the Moon toward Rupert. (Times-News photo)

HEAVY FOG hangs over the desert area south of Craters of the Moon as two cowboys push cattle herd en route from summer to winter pasture. An annual event in the area, these cattle, heading toward the Rupert section, are owned by the Flat-Top

Sheep company. The six-day drive, over the desolate area of sagebrush and lava, saw the trip being made from near Muldoon to the winter range. Temperatures sometimes neared the zero mark. The black Angus cattle, all cows, sported white backs because of a covering of early morning frost. Distance from start to conclusion of the drive was about 75 miles. Most cattle now are moved by truck and this annual drive is one of the few still sticking to the methods of the early West. (Times-News photo)

Winter Cattle Drive Mindful of Ones Made When West Was Young

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER
Times-News Feature Editor

CAREY, Nov. 30—There is no doubt about it. The one word which best describes a winter cattle drive in the desolate, snow-covered desert wastes southeast of here is "miserable."

Fog, cold, snow and wild winds combined to set the stage for the annual cattle drive of the Flat-Top Sheep company. It is a six-day affair which sees the herd moved from summer range in the vicinity of Muldoon to a winter range near Rupert. The route trails across some of the most rugged and isolated areas in the West.

Bitter cold had its effect on the distance covered by the herd on a given day. Normally, the cowboys must prod the animals to keep them moving, rather than allowing them to graze. The cold, however, changed all that. It was difficult even to slow down the herd. For instance, on one day the animals by 11 a.m. had covered a distance equal to three-quarters of the trek expected of them for the entire day. Actually, though, the animals—both the black Angus cows of the herd and the horses ridden by the wranglers—seemed to fare better than the cowboys.

John Peavey, Rupert, manager of the cattle division of the Flat-Top Sheep company and herd boss, admitted that the weather had been worse on only one previous drive. A few years ago the mercury dipped to 17 below.

This year, for most of the trek, it hovered below freezing and several times went down to near zero.

Frost covered the backs of the black cattle and even the constantly-moving horses were outlined in white. Eyelashes looked like something painted on and ears looked like those of a white rabbit standing erect. Tails resembled long, white whiskers.

Like most cattle, the cows formed long, single lines as they wended their way across the desert. They were bunched only when paths out of the lava rock deposits crowded them together. A cattle drive such as this—in the winter—is practically a thing of the past in the western United States. Reason is that trucks can now whisk the animals from one area to another in hours, where walking takes days.

The Flat-Top company—and a few others—are still numbered among those who trail the cattle from summer to winter ranges.

One thing is certain, on a trip like this one there is not much traffic. During the foggy period the area was so still and so deserted that the cowboys were actually startled when a lone seagull winged its way across the herd. So dense was the fog that the bird was hovering on a line of flight just above the heads of the cattle.

There were no drugstore cowboys out there. Bundled in heavy clothing, with faces practically buried in high collared coats, they nevertheless kept an eye open for any unusual occurrence. One cow straying to one side was spotted immediately and a small, well-aimed rock usually turned it back.

Getting on and off a horse was a task because of the heavy clothing worn, but each cowboy, from time to time, would dismount and lead his horse in order to permit the animal a brief rest. Ice-covered puddles, cracking as the horses passed over them, provided drinking stops.

But the cows, for the most part, plodded on. It was too cold to stop and the snow-covered grass was not especially inviting to them.

It was hard to realize in the cold that this same section—in the summer—saw temperatures soaring as high as 110 degrees. From deep winter to mid-summer the temperature range could be 150 degrees from high to low.

In the "old days," a cowboy had to maintain a night watch over the herds. Today, however, corrals have been constructed at measured distances and the cattle are behind fences each night. Because of this, the cowboys and

CONDITIONS OF WEATHER existing on a winter cattle drive are vividly noted on the head of this horse. Early morning frost, augmented by deep foggy conditions, resulted in the animal being splashed by a mantle of white. Even the eyelashes appeared to have been painted on as the faithful animal stood patiently awaiting the command to continue pushing the herd. Actually, the animals withstood the cold better than the men connected with the drive. (Times-News photo)

THREE OF THE MEN among those participating in the winter cattle drive near Craters of the Moon pause for much-appreciated hot coffee. Walt Pascoe, cook for the drive, stands in the cook wagon as he pours coffee into the cup held by Denny

Burks, Rupert. Max Robins, left, also Rupert, prepares to drink. In addition to serving as the travelling kitchen and eating place, the cook wagon also provided sleeping space for 175 men. (Times-News photo)

Stamp Window

The tragic death of President John F. Kennedy is expected to result in prompt issuance of a U.S. postage stamp in tribute to the slain statesman. Although no official announcement has been made as of the date this column was written, past practices indicated such a stamp will be forthcoming.

The last two presidents who died in office, Warren Harding and Franklin D. Roosevelt, were memorialized promptly. Harding died on Aug. 2, 1923, and a black two cent stamp was released less than a month later. After Roosevelt died on April 12, 1945, four U.S. stamps were issued in tribute to him — a three cent on June 27, a one cent on July 26, a two cent on Aug. 24, 1945, and a five cent on Jan. 30, 1946, the anniversary of Roosevelt's birth. Many foreign nations also honored the wartime leader postally, and this is likely in the case of Mr. Kennedy.

U.S. postal tributes also were paid to the three previous presidents who were shot to death. Abraham Lincoln was honored on the first anniversary of his death on April 15, 1865; James Garfield less than seven months after he died in 1881, and William McKinley the year following his slaying in 1901. McKinley first was honored on a postal card, not appearing on a stamp until 1904.

Stamps of Surinam, a former colony that has become an integral part of the Kingdom of the Netherlands, now are available at face value from the Dutch Philatelic service. Information may be obtained by writing the Philatelic service, P.T.T., The Hague, Netherlands.

The first stamps available will be the five child welfare semi-postals released last month. The stamps show girls of various races living in Surinam, formerly known as Dutch Guiana, which is on the northeast coast of South America.

New Issues: Tunisia marked United Nations day by overprinting "1963 ONU" on four semi-postals issued for Stamp day 1961. Finland supplemented its regular series with a 1.50 mk stamp showing logging operations and a 1.75-mk issue featuring the Parainen bridge. Sweden plans two stamps to honor the 1903 Nobel prize winners. Physiologist Niels Finzen of Denmark, chemist Sante Arrhenius of Sweden and poet Bjornstjerne Bjornson of Norway will appear on a 25-ore issue. A 50-ore stamp will depict French physicists Antoine Becquerel, Pierre Curie and Marie Curie.

This column is a public service of the Society of Philatelic Americans, a non-profit group which has served stamp collectors for 41 years. Information on the society's membership program can be obtained from S.P.A.'s President, Robert Daughman, Box 1178-K, Liberal, Kans., 67001. The volume of mail, however, prevents Mr. Daughman from answering general questions about stamps.

Last Honor Paid To Mrs. Miller

RUPERT, Nov. 30 — Funeral services for Mrs. Faye Madeline Beck Miller were conducted Wednesday in the Walk mortuary chapel by the Rev. Raymond A. Thompson of the Methodist church.

Mrs. Howard Bruns was organist. A male quartet, composed of Claud H. Bowman, Howard Bruns, Tom Pierce and Bill Thomas sang two numbers.

Patbearers were Wayne Taylor, Ward Wolford, Royce Jensen, M. E. Willis, Clarence Bellem and Leon Craven.

Flowers were cared for by Mrs. Charles Engkrat, Mrs. Earl Buttane, Mrs. Iva Schuepbach, Mrs. Guy Ramsey, Mrs. Wayne Taylor and Mrs. Charles Andrus.

Concluding rites were held in the Rupert cemetery.

AIRMAN REASSIGNED
HANSEN, Nov. 30 — A 2/c Stephen G. Ball, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vergil Ball, Hansen, is being reassigned to headquarters command, United States air force, following his graduation from a special communications-electronics course at Lowry air force base, Colo.

Robert Daughman, Box 1178-K, Liberal, Kans., 67001. The volume of mail, however, prevents Mr. Daughman from answering general questions about stamps.

MRS. MINNIE Miller, longtime Wood river valley resident, says she must have been born with a needle and thread in her hand. During the past years she has made many braided rugs of a variety of colors. She also crochets and makes rag dolls. An expert fisherman, Mrs. Miller says she "would rather fish than eat." (Times-News photo)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

A HAILEY woman, Mrs. Minnie Miller, says she believes she must have been born with a needle and thread in one hand and scissors in the other. All of her life she has done fancywork. The past 16 years she has spent the greater part of her working time making braided rugs and there is not a color combination that has not appeared in her creations. At present, she has 12 rugs on display and they range from blended pastel shades to brilliant reds with black trim. She braids rugs to order, any size up to five by six feet. "I would make larger ones if I had a table to lay them on, but they get mighty heavy lifting them around," she says.

Mrs. Miller lives in a small log home she purchased after her husband, William Miller, died 10 years ago. She has four rooms and a back porch, and a good-sized lawn and flower garden.

"I just couldn't keep up the larger home we had and the two lots of lawn and garden after Bill died, and so I sold it and bought this smaller place," she reminisced.

Mrs. Miller's only son, Glenn Miller, manages the Okay meat market in TWIN FALLS and he and his wife and daughter visit her frequently.

The material Mrs. Miller uses in her braided rugs is all natural. She cleans it thoroughly, pre-shrinks it, and cuts it in strips of the desired width, but never dyes it.

There is no danger of the rugs fading if you have not dyed the material, she says. She has her own method of sewing the strips together. The stitching does not appear on either surface.

"And there is no danger of catching the thread and breaking it," she advised.

The strips are folded so a raw edge cannot be found anywhere on a rug.

"In making a braided rug, you must be very careful never to get even the slightest bulge near the center, for if you do it will get larger each time you make a round," she advised.

Most of her rugs are made of wool, but she has some of silk and cotton. She also has one hooked rug on hand.

"I don't believe I shall ever make another hooked rug," she opined. "It is much more fasone on a bouquet of tiger lilies and one on a bouquet of candy tuft from her garden.

"At home (and shop) are at the corner of River and Galena streets, one block west of highway 93.

"I guess I'm going to have to put a sign up," she laughed. "So many people from away from here have wanted to know where my shop is."

Ex-Gooding Couple Goes To Pakistan

GOODING, Nov. 30 — Mr. and Mrs. Victor L. Scovel, former Gooding residents, have left for Dacca, East Pakistan, where Scovel will act as consultant and conduct studies for an engineering company in San Francisco relative to an economic development program for East Pakistan.

Mrs. Scovel, the former Laura Clark, daughter of John R. Clark, Flier, will teach in the Dacca American society school.

Scovel is a lifetime resident of Gooding and was graduated from Gooding high school. For the past 10 years the couple has lived in Los Angeles where he was manager of market research for the Southern California Edison company and she was a junior high school teacher.

Both were graduates from Idaho State college in 1948. Scovel later received a master of science degree from the University of Utah and has attended UCLA on a full-time basis for the past year. Mrs. Scovel also attended Los Angeles State college.

They are making a tour of the Orient en route to their new home, and will visit Japan, Hong Kong, Malaya, Thailand and India.

Boys Provide Pheasants for Annual Dinner; 200 Attend Kimberly Event

KIMBERLY, Nov. 30—Any invited guests who didn't like pheasant just didn't show up. The occasion was the 15th annual pheasant dinner sponsored by members of the Girls' club and Boys' club of Kimberly high school.

More than 200 persons, including club members, faculty members and their wives, from both senior and junior high schools, board members and wives and building custodians and their wives, attended.

Plan for providing pheasant as the main course of the annual dinner is relatively simple. The students point out. The boys take to the field and shoot the pheasants and clean them. The girls take it from there.

Actually, hot lunch cooks put in a helping hand during the cooking process, with the students going along on such items as table decorations and arranging a spooling program. Ninety-three pheasants were prepared and served this year.

Master of ceremonies for this year's event was Ken Reagan, Boys' club president. Invocation was by Johnny Scott and entertainment included a solo by Larry Hudson and sextet numbers by Lou Ann Callen, Susan Robinson, Susan Miller, Mike Fisher, Steve Kyster and Tina Hudson. Dances entertainment featured Cynthia Morrill, Susan Kelly, Kay Morgan and Janice Gulecky.

Mothers of the students served. Club sponsors are Mrs. Andrew Hilverda and John Reagan.

The sponsors point out that the pheasant dinner is only one of the many activities of the two school units. Monthly meetings are held touching on such topics as social value, educational opportunities and vocational fields. Topics vary from the newest styles in clothing to how to apply for a position.

A style show and talent show also are sponsored cooperatively each year by the two groups.

Next February a career day will be arranged at which time students will be able to talk to experts in various fields to which they are interested.

Service projects are high on the list of both organizations, the sponsors point out. For instance, they have gone together to aid in paying for the scoreboard; have made favors for hospital patients and have aided in sponsoring families at Christmas. The Sweetheart ball, set for Dec. 21, is sponsored by the girls' organization.

Each spring, girls sponsor a tea in honor of their mothers, and the senior girls stage a style show of clothing made in home economics.

White House Office Has Changes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—The presidential office doesn't look at all like it did last Thursday when John F. Kennedy left it for a tragic trip to Texas.

With one exception, that is. At one end there still is what you might call a reception center for distinguished visitors, with the sofas, coffee table and a rocking chair facing the fireplace.

But it isn't the rocker that Kennedy and his ailing back helped make famous. This is a new one that White House officials said Johnson brought from home.

The cocktail table in this intimate little grouping has a white marble top. The old one was walnut. The telephone now is on an end table at the end of a sofa rather than on the edge of the coffee table.

Otherwise there is little that remains to remind anyone of Kennedy. That is true partly because of some Kennedy decisions, rather than Johnson changes.

A redecorating had been planned to start and finish while Kennedy was in Texas. That has been carried out. In the Kennedy days there was a light green sculptured rug on the floor, with the presidential seal. A brilliant red one has taken its place. The White House said Kennedy picked it out.

The walls have been repainted to a bone-white, lighter than before. White draperies, edged in red, and white mesh curtains hang at the windows.

Former navy man Kennedy had models of ships and prints of naval batteries around the place in profusion. His desk was an ornately carved black piece made from the timbers of a British ship.

All these are gone, along with other Kennedy knickknacks and mementos, such as the plastic-encased coconut shell on which he carved a message for help after the PT-boat he commanded in World War II was sunk by a Japanese destroyer in the Pacific.

Johnson has a few mementos around on tables and bookshelves—a scroll and quill awarded him by national business publications and a plaque from the American Heart Association—for a man who suffered a heart attack in 1955.

There are pictures of his mother, wife and daughters on desks and tables and one of himself and Kennedy in color on a bookshelf.

The shelves are only partly filled with books, mostly sets of volumes of writings and papers of presidents.

There are copies of Kennedy's "Profiles in Courage" and "The Strategy of Peace," of former President Harry S. Truman's two volumes on his White House years and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's "Crusade in Europe."

Tips From Sportsmen Aid Idaho Fish, Game Officers Enforce State Law

By JIM HUMBIRD
Idaho Fish-Game Department
BOISE, Nov. 30 — When the Spokane Chronicle reported that a 10-inch trout sporting two tails was caught in a certain north Idaho stream, a reader queried the Idaho fish and game department as follows:
"Since this stream is now closed to fishing, my question is 'How come this man was fishing in it?' Perhaps this item would be worth some attention. Thank you."
Phil Swanstrum, Coeur d'Alene, regional enforcement supervisor for the department, checked out the matter and found that the angler had caught the two-tailed oddity in another stream carrying the same name and this one was open for fishing.
The enforcement records of the state's 64 district conservation officers are loaded with tips similar to this one because even people who do not fish or hunt recognize that Idaho's renewable wildlife resources belong to everybody. As part owners, many residents recognize some ownership responsibility to act as caretakers of this unique heritage and want to pass it along as the finest endowment they can give to generations to come.
One letter from Jerome reported that a family, ostensibly fishing for trout, actually was catching and canning salmon in the closed waters of Yankee fork. That was last August, a time when salmon were congregated during their spawning activities in the clear, shallow waters of this tributary of the Salmon river. The correspondent pointed out that the poachers had set up a series of lookouts to report the approach of a fish and game department vehicle. Whenever officers did appear, trout lines were dangling innocently in the water.
The letter concluded, "Hope you do not think I'm a 'snooper' or 'tale-bearer' — I just think something should be done to them, if it is true they are doing such a thing."
The department's attitude on this score is that such cooperation from private citizens in reporting violations is always very gratifying and a definite aid to the wildlife law enforcement program.
Even nonresidents are interested in protecting Idaho's outstanding wildlife resources by reporting flagrant violations of the regulations that come to their attention.
For example, a man from Green Bay, Wis., wrote in mid-October giving the name of a licensed outfitter and a California hunter who had killed a moose for camp meat. He documented his story with a short eight-millimeter film clip showing the moose being dragged from a lake and dressed. This episode led to arrest, conviction and a $300 fine.

The Idaho fish and game department receives outstanding cooperation from other public agencies as well as private citizens in its conservation-law-enforcement work. For example, during the current hunting season, invaluable assistance has been received from the U.S. forest service, a county sheriff at Missoula, Mont., and the Oregon state police, among others.
Harold Lee, state police officer at St. Maries, picked up a deer during a road block immediately following the north Idaho Troy bank robbery. Aware that deer season had not opened in this area and that the animal was untagged, Lee seized the venison for evidence and took the violator to the justice court at Plummer.
After placing the illegal meat in cold storage for the attention of Conservation Officer Cecil R. Sanford, St. Maries, Lee processed the case, including complaint and court appearance with the defendant. He obtained a conviction and $100 fine.
A big game outfitter and guide living at Challis provided Conservation Officer Joe Blackburn with substantial assistance toward bringing about the arrest and conviction of a man from Maryland on a charge of hunting and shooting elk during the closed season.
Outfitter Howard found two bulls badly crippled from gunfire the morning before the big game season opened on Camas creek. He killed the animals, dressed them out and hung the quarters in a tree.
Removing a slug from one of the animals, Howard then rode until about 9 p.m. when he located the conservation officer's camp near the head of Furnace creek.
Next morning he rode back with Blackburn and the two of them checked as many hunters as possible. Finally they located a man whose gun was capable of firing the slug (under 30 caliber) and he admitted the violation.
Two Missoula county, Mont., deputy sheriffs set up a road block and apprehended two Montana fishermen without Idaho licenses and aided them for Don McPherson, Kooskia conservation officer, last July. This resulted in Idaho convictions and fines. The Missoula officers are deputies Melvin Passio and Rodney Johnson, working out of the office of Sheriff William Walker.
Such cooperation between state fish and game agencies occurs along the borders almost on a day to day basis. In addition, reciprocal, after-the-fact help across state lines also is available, according to Hawley Hill, Idaho chief of conservation enforcement.
This involves other state fish and game agencies and the U.S. fish and wildlife service, and comes under federal acts such as the Lacey and black bass statutes for interstate game and fish violations and wrong class license investigations.
Of course, Idaho conservation officers frequently cooperate with other agencies and law enforcement people. For example, Claude Matthews of Mountain Home intercepted a car carrying three men early this fall on the lonely Wickahopey-Battle creek road in Owyhee county south of Bruneau.

A search of the vehicle revealed plenty of meat—but the branded hide was red and white. Questioning by the conservation officer produced a confession by the three men that they had killed a two-year-old Hereford heifer belonging to a rancher down the road—a clear case of rustling. Matthews turned the culprits over to Sheriff Al Barber of Owyhee county.
It's a big job, this conservation law enforcement, and the handling of men responsible for it need the help of everyone interested in keeping Idaho one of the best fishing and hunting states in the union.

Edward Hunter, Oakley Barber for 39 Years, Recalls Hunt for Timber Wolf

OAKLEY, Nov. 30 — The capture of a rarely-seen timber wolf in 1914 is still recalled vividly by Edward Hunter, who has been the local barber in Oakley for 39 years.
After his first shop on the north side of Main street was destroyed by fire in 1929, he then set up business across the street and has been there ever since. In the nearly 40 years he has been cutting hair, he has become one of the community's best-known citizens.
Since learning the art of barbering in 1924 from Eldon Mechem, Hunter also has become the confidant of many of his clients.
He recalls it was the winter of 1914 while he was working on the Miller and Lux ranch about 20 miles south of Oakley when the cattle began to be bothered by something which had trucks the size of a huge dog.
Later several ranchers spotted the animal and pronounced it to be one of the biggest timber wolves they ever had seen. All winter it bothered the ranches, avoiding all traps, and, try as they would, the ranchers could not get a shot at him.
Finally in the early spring, the ranchers were getting desperate and Hunter's outfit, finding another dead cow, set out more traps in hopes of catching the culprit.
This time the animal which had been nicknamed "Old Grizzly," because of his size, made the mistake and stepped into a trap but managed to break it enough to take it with him snapped to his foot.
Knowing that he couldn't travel too fast, Hunter and his two companions, the late Art Anderson and Clarence Nelson, saddled their horses and grabbed enough provisions for a day or two and set out in pursuit.
"For 85 miles we followed the animal and never would have gotten him at all even with the trap on his foot if it hadn't been for a maple bird that followed him every step of the way."
"We finally caught on and watched where the bird went and we could tell whenever the wolf stopped to rest because the bird would stop, too. Finally when night came it settled down on a fence post and we put up for the night. When we awoke the next morning the bird was still sitting there so we knew the animal hadn't moved yet."
"At noon we were still trailing a terribly tired animal and when we got up close enough to see him we decided we would try to take him alive but upon a closer investigation we could see the only way we could take him at all would be to shoot him because of his size and also his viciousness."
"It took six shots to bring him down and we put him in a surrey buggy to bring him home. His nose hung over the front end and the bushy part of his tail hung over the back end of the buggy."
"We estimated him at a good

Mrs. Doris Sutton and Mrs. Ethel Lou Rudy. His wife, who was a beautician for over 25 years, died in February, 1958.
In the days of the historical Vipon mine, located just over the Utah State line some 30 miles from Oakley in the years 1918 to 1922, he became one of the freighters, hauling supplies to the mine and silver ore out to the railroads.
"Some of the ore was of such high grade silver that it didn't need to be milled, just sacked up in bags and we hauled it out," he notes. He drove three wagons and eight head of horses three days a week to the 400 men at the mill and mine and then back to Oakley.
In 1918 during the flu epidemic he hauled a young man to the mine and three days later the fellow was dead of the disease.
"The superintendent asked me to haul him back to Oakley on a cold night and I told him I didn't mind hauling live ones up but I wasn't hauling dead ones back," he laughs.
In 1917, still being a cowboy at heart, he and Herman Bedke, Burley, began to make plans for an "Oakley" vigilante horse riding club.
"At the first meeting there were 11 people who turned out and at the third meeting 30," he adds, "Any way it was a good beginning."
Now through these two men's efforts the club has turned into a group that makes it possible every year to have a good riding club along with the big celebration July 24.
Hunter served as president of the group for two years. His own horse, "Ringo" is a white stallion which he rides almost every day and says, "If I ever retire I hope to still have a horse and keep riding for the pleasure and enjoyment I get out of it."
High on his list of other hobbies is his large assortment of boy, black and white and colored pictures he has taken. He is often referred to as a source of historical background with his collection of oldtime pictures.
In 1959 he married Mrs. Margaret Lyons, Burley. Hunter has 23 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

George Smith, incumbent, is seeking reelection unopposed. Polling places, the Clover schoolhouse for those residing in the Sylvania area; Lucerne Grange hall, for those residing in the Lucerne and Deep Creek districts, and the West End service station in Castleford, will be open from 1 to 7 p.m. Any qualified elector residing within the Buhl highway district is eligible to vote.

Claims versus Performance

The people of Hood River county in Oregon, which is next door to the Bonneville Dam, have had first-hand experience with Bonneville's ability to create economic prosperity.
Hood River county—like 27 other counties in the Bonneville marketing area of Oregon, Washington and North Idaho—suffers from what the U.S. Department of Labor calls substantial and persistent unemployment. It has had this unfortunate distinction for two years. Yet it has had easy access to Bonneville power for many years.
In contrast, none of the areas of the Pacific Northwest distressed by substantial and persistent unemployment is to be found in the Snake River Valley.
The point is that rose-tinted sales pitches about Bonneville's ability to work economic miracles are not verified by its performance.

U. S. Agents Roam LBJ's Texas Ranch

JOHNSON CITY, Tex., Nov. 30 (AP)—It is a small, neat central Texas ranch nestled by the Pedernales river.

A few denim-clad cowboys, 200 whiteface cattle, three horses and secret service men are there today. An 11-room rock-and-frame house awaits the owner.

The neighbors used to call the owner LBJ. Now, with awe, they speak of "The President."

Last month Lyndon B. Johnson dropped in for a few hours after making a speech in California and hardly anyone noticed.

Now a secret service man sits in a white automobile in front of the house challenging all would-be visitors. He keeps them in their cars until their identity and business are confirmed by radio-telephone.

The secret service man will not say who is on the other end of the radio-telephone line. He will not say how many agents are assigned to the ranch. He will not even confirm that he is assigned to the ranch.

Reporters are allowed to survey the premises only after arrangements are made with a presidential aide in Austin, 80 miles away.

No pictures that would show the layout of the ranch are allowed.

Reporters are not allowed to enter the ranch house or other buildings, and are not allowed to talk to any of the employees.

A lighted, instrument-equipped airstrip behind the ranch house is 4 1/2 miles long.

A. W. Moursund, long-time friend of the Johnson family, and Texas parks and wildlife commissioner, has been pressed into service as a guide.

"It's too late now to do anything about what happened last week," he said, "but we can sure keep from showing every maniac in the country the layout of this place."

The security measures seem incongruous. Unlike the Cape Cod compound of the Kennedy family at Hyannis Port, Mass., the LBJ ranch has no gates and no high fences.

The ranch may be reached by any of three winding little trails. Although cars can get stuck in the mud or get hung up on a cattle guard, nothing keeps them from moving right up to the front door of the ranch house. There stands the secret service guard.

The ranch stretches for nearly a mile along the Pedernales, which Texans pronounce "Per-run-ah-lis."

Anyone can drive half a mile down the river to the Johnson family cemetery, where the President wants to be buried.

A low rock fence keeps livestock out of the LBJ, well-maintained plot which contains 20 graves.

Among those buried are Johnson's parents, Sam E. and Rebekah Baines Johnson and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Ealy Johnson.

Many years ago, neighbors and friends were buried in the cemetery, but now it is restricted to the Johnson family.

Across the river from the cemetery is the Albert Lutheran church, an idyllic little rural church surrounded by oak trees.

Albert (pop. 50) is one of several small towns near Johnson's ranch. Though Johnson says his ranch is at Johnson City (pop. 811), 15 miles away, his neighbor across the river, Ernest Hodges, says his address is Hye, Tex. (pop. 135).

Winter Cattle Drive Mindful of Those When Western States Were Young

others connected with such a drive can remain in the wagons in comfort. Practically the only changes which have been made since the early drives is that today's sheepwagons are pulled by a four-wheel drive vehicle and have wheels with rubber instead of iron tires.

Out in the desolate area, it is still a long way from here to there. As one cowboy put it, "Out here a mile is quite a ways."

Walt Pascoe, the cook on the trek, has been on the desert or on the edges of it for 40 years of his life. He is one of the few, for instance, who rolls his own cigarettes.

Why would he roll his own when "tatorades" are so easy to buy? He says the reason is simple.

"I just had to cut down smoking. I switched from homemade to the store kind and found that I was smoking some 40 cigarettes a day. So I switched back to making my own and now smoke only about 30."

A truck accompanying the herd, carrying some feed for the horses and aiding in pulling the wagons, had a radio. It was the crew's only connection with the outside world while they were on the desert.

All were amused when an announcer declared the lowest temperature in the state that morning was 17 above. At that time the thermometer on a wagon showed it was just above zero on the trail.

The out-of-touch-with-the-world events which face those who participate in these winter cattle drives is best evidenced in circumstances surrounding the death of President Kennedy.

Peavey, the herd boss, and the cowboys were playing cards in one of the wagons after the cattle had been settled for the night. Before turning in, one cowboy went outside and for some unknown reason switched on the track radio.

The announcer was talking about the death of President Kennedy. He had been killed in Dallas and his body had been put on the presidential plane and was nearing Washington, D.C., at that time.

It was hours after the shooting and yet the group on the desert had just learned of the tragedy.

The card game stopped and the cowboys realized that even in one of the most isolated areas of the state no one is ever out of touch with so-called civilization.

TWO FOLLOWERS of the square dance hobby get ready for a practice session, one of many to be staged throughout Magic Valley in an effort to reawaken interest in the pastime. Adjusting dance slipper for his wife is Bill Coffield, Twin Falls, organizer of the drive and one of the instructors. In Twin Falls, an organizational session will be staged Saturday evening. It is hoped that young men and women will become interested in the hobby to give it "new life." (Times-News photo)

Valley Meetings Planned in Effort to Stimulate Revival of Square Dancing

A concerted drive to raise the hobby of square dancing to the high plateau it occupied a few years ago will be made over Magic Valley through the medium of free lessons, Bill Coffield, Twin Falls, organizer and instructor, announces.

Plan behind the drive is distribution of coupons by individual dancers and through clubs, as well as through newspapers and other media of mass coverage. These coupons, Coffield said, will entitle the holder to free lessons any time between now and the first of the year.

"During the past five years there has been a drop in the number participating in this wonderful and enjoyable form of recreation," Coffield said. "We believe that the cause stems from the fact older people are dropping out and younger persons are not joining up."

"This drive is designed to arouse interest in the pastime once again. Unlike other drives, which were handled on a club basis, this one will be valley-wide. In fact, new dancers will be urged to form their own dance units if they do not care to join existing clubs."

Places for the various free classes, he said, will be determined according to the amount of interest shown. No regular classes, however, will be held on Saturday nights because of existing dances at that time. This, however, will not hold true in Burley. Normally the classes will start at 8 p.m. and conclude at 10:30 p.m.

First night dance instruction in Twin Falls will come on Saturday, with an organization and registration session at the Bairdatorium, 1021 Blue Lakes boulevard north. Free lesson coupons will be honored at that time.

"The dance has changed some since first introduced by our forefathers," Coffield points out. "Basically, however, it is the same. It offers a stimulating and interesting form of recreation."
