3 Held Here for Armed Robbery; $4,575 Is Taken

Three Oregon men were being held in Twin Falls Friday morning in connection with an armed robbery of the Safeway store, 512 Main avenue north, about 8:25 p.m. Thursday in which about $4,575 in currency was taken. Being held are James Jacobs, 26, and Donald H. Collins, 26, both Eugene, Ore., and Ernest McCullough, 26, Junction City, Ore. McCullough will be charged as an accomplice, although he was not in the store at the time of the robbery. Jacobs and Collins were arrested by Twin Falls city police about 11 p.m. at Kay's supper club and McCullough was arrested at a roadblock at the Hollister Port of entry by Lieut. M. J. Bays, Jr., and Patrolman Frank Mogenssen, Idaho state police.

McCullough is being held in the county jail for the city police and presently is charged with failure to register as an ex-convict, but the charge is expected to be changed to being an accomplice in the armed robbery. M. Frank Barnett, Twin Falls police chief, said Friday morning. The other two men are being held in separate cells at the Twin Falls police station.

Formal charges of armed robbery are expected to be filed against the three and they are expected to be arraigned in police court Friday afternoon.

Barnett said about $500 had been recovered and was found on them when arrested. Barnett added police officers are questioning witnesses and other stores Friday morning to find out if the men had been in Twin Falls very long.

L. J. Olson, Boise, district manager for Safeway Stores, Inc., said they cleaned out the store, and "it was a pretty bad robbery," he said a whole day's receipts were taken.

Jacobs and Collins, holding two revolvers described as 22 caliber by J. Robert Loveland, 515 Shop avenue, store manager, held about 10 shoppers and employees at gunpoint as the robbery was carried out, then excited through the store's back door.

A witness at the store described the two men as being "well dressed in need of shaves and haircuts" at the time. Police said the pair apparently went to a car after leaving the store and went to the Travelodge motel, 248 Second avenue west, where they changed, changed into different clothing and summoned a taxi. The taxi driver told police he took them to Kay's Supper club, 114 Addition avenue west.

Twin Falls Police Chief Frank Barnett took Harold Houser, 17, Filz, a cashier at the store, to the supper club after receiving the cab driver's tip and Houser identified them there. Later, at the Twin Falls police station, they were again identified by four witnesses.

After police were notified of the holdup, they had notified all taxi companies in Twin Falls to be on the lookout for two men described as the ones who held up the store.

Loveland said he did not know what time the two men entered the store. About 8:25 p.m., when four or five shoppers and about five employees were in the store, one of the two men said, "Freeze." One stood by a magazine rack adjacent to the four checkout stands and the other was standing near a fruit display which faces the checkout counter.

When one of the gunmen said "Freeze," one of the shoppers said, "Are you crazy? You must be kidding."

The gunman replied, "Like I'm kidding," and pulled out a gun. Loveland said several shoppers thought it was a joke at first, but realized it was real when they saw the guns.

The shoppers and employees, except for Keith Robinson, who was sweeping out a back room of the building and had not been seen by the gunmen, were told to get down on the floor. At one point, while the robbery was in progress, (See 3 MEN HELD, Page 2)

Mortgage-Burning Rites Set Sunday by T. F. Baptists

A mortgage-burning ceremony will be conducted during the 11 a.m. church service Sunday at the First Baptist church, reports the Rev. Ernest Hasselblad.

The ceremony marks the completion of all indebtedness on the church building on the corner of Ninth avenue and Shoshone street east, valued at $285,000. Plans are under way for construction of a new educational plant costing between $75,000 and $100,000. Mrs. Dodson noted.

The Rev. Ernest Hasselblad, pastor, will officiate at the service and Mrs. Dodson will read the church history. Roy Hollingsworth, chairman of the building committee at the time the church was built, and Lionel Eames, chairman of the trustees at that time, will participate in the service.

Other members of the board of trustees and building committee are expected to participate. Mrs. William Warberg, only living

Passage of School Aid Bill Nears

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—The second big school aid bill in a week moved today toward final congressional approval. The senate late today was expected to pass legislation that would authorize $5-billion dollars to expand federal aid to vocational schools, increase government loans to college students and continue assistance to schools crowded by children of federal workers and servicemen.

The house passed the compromise vocational aid bill on a 300-65 vote late yesterday, completing a sweep of education and training measures that included approval of a $27 million dollar bill to expand and extend the life of the 1962 manpower training program. The house retaining bill would have to be meshed with differing senate legislation on the same subject.

The house action gave the new Johnson administration its biggest legislative victories to date, and prompted Democratic leader Carl Albert, Okla., to proclaim "the first session of the 88th congress will have the greatest record in the field of education in the history of the nation."

Earlier this week, congress sent a 1.2 billion dollar college classroom construction aid measure to the White House. President Johnson is expected to sign it Tuesday. Earlier in the year, President Kennedy signed bills providing new assistance for medical schools and mental health training programs.

The maln casualty of Kennedy's original multi-billion education request has been general aid for public grade and high schools. A dispute over assistance to private and parochial schools has snagged this measure for three years.

Area Mental Health Group Picks Heads

Garth Eames, Minidoka, was elected chairman of the region 4 mental health regional planning committee. Dr. Luther Thompson, southeastern district health director, announced Friday.

Mrs. E. M. Wright, Twin Falls, was elected the committee's secretary and treasurer.

The committee also elected county representatives. They are Jean Miser, Blaine; Fred Walton, Camas; Mrs. Susan Stompe, Cassia; the Rev. Jack Jennings, Gooding; William Lattimer, Jerome; Mrs. Louella Kinsey, Lincoln; Garth Eames, Minidoka; and Mrs. Marilyn Wright, Twin Falls.

Mrs. Patricia Dorman, Idaho department of health, Boise, discussed at a meeting this week the functions of the committee, eventually leading to the establishment of a local mental health center in this region of eight Magic Valley counties.

She also discussed some procedures of data collection in evaluation of the needs of a mental health center in this area, which latter are preparatory essentials.

Tentative date for the next meeting of the executive committee is Jan. 9. At that time, the exact methods of obtaining data, and procedures to be followed, will be decided upon.

Holloway will present the keys of the church to Dwight L. Shaw, currently chairman of the trustees. The structure was dedicated April 22, 1951, with the groundbreaking ceremony held Nov. 30, 1947.

Mrs. Dodson reports the first Baptist congregation was organized in Twin Falls in July, 1904, with 22 people. Articles of incorporation for a church were filed in 1906 and the first structure was built in 1908 at the corner of Third street and Fifth avenue east, present site of the Assembly of God church.

In 1916 the congregation purchased the site on Second street north, now owned by the Our Saviour Lutheran church. The Baptists used that church building until moving into their new structure at Ninth avenue and Shoshone street.

FEAR FOR THEIR LIVES was an emotion felt by 10 persons who were held at gun point during an armed robbery at Safeway store, 512 Main avenue north. Shown are Mrs. Charles Moser, who had a gun held at her head by one of the robbers during the holdup. J. Robert Loveland, right, store manager, was forced to give the two holdup men only paper money. Mrs. Moser's nephew, 4-year-old Kelly DeKramer, was more impressed with the picture-taking than the actual robbery. (Times-News photo)

Robbery Was Hard to Believe, But Pistols Were Convincing

The two men who robbed the Safeway store at 512 Main avenue north Thursday had a hard time convincing people they were serious about it—until they started waving their pistols around. Then they got some quick action and reaction. "At first the people in the store seemed to think it was a joke," said Harold Houser, 17, a checkout employe at the store, noted. "In fact, we asked them if they were kidding. When they cocked their guns and told us to lie on the floor, we knew they were not."

Horse Breeders to Convene in Burley

BURLEY, Dec. 13 — Annual meeting of the Idaho Horse Breeders association will be held here Saturday. Joseph Hansen, vice president of the association, said about 350 horse breeders from all over the state are expected, but due to bad road conditions, there probably will be fewer than that attending the meeting. This meeting Saturday will be the yearly organization meeting and also will work up some breeding programs to be put into effect this year.

Hansen's idea of building new and bigger horse race tracks for horse sale purposes probably will be discussed thoroughly at the meeting.

William Kersey, member of the legislative committee of the Idaho Horse Breeders association, Twin Falls, said not all association members agree with Hansen that the state needs "million-dollar race tracks."

Hansen had said the breeders want quality tracks or none at all, because good tracks are necessary to qualify horses for sale.

"Joseph Hansen's statement concerning the horse breeders' desire to build a big track is his own personal opinion and does not reflect the opinion of the entire organization," said Kersey.

Another question that probably will be brought up at the Burley meeting is that of pari-mutuel gambling.

Hansen said of the pari-mutuel gambling law that the main concern of the Idaho Horse Breeders association is the breeding of horses and the horse race industry itself, and not gambling.

Kersey said also, "A number of people I have talked to are in favor of the law as it was passed in the legislature, with county and state fairs having priority, and they intend to do their best to keep gambling syndicates out of Idaho."

Nothing placated congress, however. Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R., N. Y., introduced a bill to block the base closings in economically depressed areas. Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D., N.Y., promised to turn the Pentagon upside down before accepting the cutbacks. New York stands to lose seven installations.

Rep. Robert Wilson, R., Calif., said the decision to close the San Diego naval repair facility lacked logic in view of other "pump-priming" programs. Wilson said he has asked Assistant Navy Secretary Kenneth Belletto to reconsider the closure on the basis of "economic horse sense."

Potato Diversion Program Approved In Washington

AMERICAN FALLS, Dec. 13 (AP)—A potato diversion program, expected to provide relief for Idaho spud farmers suffering from depressed prices, was approved Thursday by the U. S. department of agriculture. Word of the approval was received Thursday night by Joe Allen, president of the Idaho Potato Growing and Marketing association. It means that potato farmers, starting Monday, can divert high grade potatoes to non-food use, and receive a diversion payment from the department of agriculture.

Allen said all details of the program have not been received, but it is believed the diversion payment will be 50 cents per hundredweight until Jan. 1, 40 cents per hundredweight until March 31 and 30 cents thereafter.

This diversion payment is in addition to the price the grower receives from the buyer. Allen said the Idaho potato group asked the 50-cent diversion payment be continued until Jan. 31, but had not received word on whether the request had been approved.

Allen said potato prices this season have been depressed by a huge crop. "It's estimated that Idaho produced 55 million hundredweight this season, compared with 43 million hundredweight the year before," he said.

Result of the huge crop has been below-cost selling by many Idaho farmers.

Allen said a recent study by the Potato Growing and Marketing association showed some farmers were getting a gross return of $200 per acre, compared with $300 per acre break-even point.

The diversion payments will be only for No. 1 and No. 2 grade potatoes, Allen said. Diversion of other grades of potatoes does not receive a diversion payment. Allen said it is hoped as much as five million hundredweight of the total crop can be taken off the food market by this measure.

"It's not the answer to our problems," he said, "but a stop-gap measure to help us out this year. We're still looking for ways to help ourselves in the future."

The telegram announcing approval of the diversion plan was sent by Floyd Hedlund, Washington, D. C., head of the fresh fruits and vegetables division of the U. S. department of agriculture, Allen said. Money for the diversion payments comes from tariffs charged on imported fruits and vegetables, he said.

It is expected that full details of the program will be worked here in a day or two, Allen said.

State Water Development Gets Backing

BOISE, Dec. 13 (AP)—A proposal for state development of Idaho water through bond financing drew support Thursday from Regional Reclamation Engineer Harold T. Nelson.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie, meanwhile, continued his campaign to win public support for the plan. He warned in a Boise speech that administration assurance that Idaho water won't be diverted outside the state is conditioned on Idaho-putting-unused water to work.

"For that reason," he said, "we ought to move ahead with plans to get every possible future benefit to Idaho land and the people tied up so that no one can take it away."

Nelson said the bond-financing plan is a good idea, declaring that "everything that can be done should be done."

Meets Scheduled On Succession WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—Senate Democratic leaders today endorsed plans for January public hearings on the problem of presidential succession, but carefully reserved judgment on what form it should take.

The main point at issue now is how to deal with a vacancy in the vice presidency.

SBA Officials Hold T.F. Meet, View City's Industrial Site Developments

Highly favorable comments on results of Twin Falls industrial development efforts were heard when small business administration officials and members of the Idaho district SBA board of advisers met in the city Thursday.

FBI Has Numbers Of Sinatra Money

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 13 (UPI)—The FBI served notice on the kidnapers of young Frank Sinatra today that it has the serial numbers of the $240,000 in bills paid for his ransom. The numbers were flashed around the country from FBI headquarters in Washington with a plea for anyone who received any of the bills to contact the nearest FBI office immediately. At the same time, the FBI declined comment on reports it had taken motion pictures of the suspects with a long-range lens as the ransom furnished by the boy's famous father was being picked up.

County Plans Meet to Pick Zoning Head

The Twin Falls county planning and zoning commission decided during a meeting Thursday night to hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. Jan. 6 in the courthouse to interview and appoint a full-time planning and zoning administrator.

Five applications for the position have been received and County Commission Chairman Warren Lowery said more applications will be accepted if they are turned in "well ahead of time."

The commission also decided to have a number of citizens' committees to investigate and advise the commission on problems in special areas.

The committees will include transportation, community, facilities, ways and means, airport zoning, industrial areas, agricultural, commercial, school and recreation areas, county health and sanitation areas.

The commission also considered some preliminary planning and zoning information from Dale DeSpain, Provo, who has been installed as a part time consultant.

Two Convicted on Mail Fraud Count

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 13 (UPI)—Two men linked to questionable Maryland Savings and Loan association operations were convicted on mail fraud charges yesterday by a federal jury. C. Oran Mensik, 53, of Chicago, was convicted on three counts of a seven-count indictment and D. Spencer Grow, 54, of Provo, Utah, was convicted on two counts of the charges. U. S. District Judge Roszel Thomsen here with the case when it was transferred under an appellate court order, said he would reverse motions to set aside the verdict in Baltimore, next month.

Hospital Is Cleared in Jerome Trial

JEROME, Dec. 13—St. Benedict's hospital and Mrs. Margaret Clark, former hospital employee, were cleared of negligence in a $250,000 damage suit which ended in district court here Thursday.

The suit was brought against the hospital and Mrs. Clark by Mr. and Mrs. Ardell Haberman who charged negligence in the care of their infant son, Kenneth, July 27, 1959. They contended he choked, causing permanent brain damage.

The case, heard before Judge Theron Ward in 11th district court here, went to the jury at 4:30 p.m. Thursday. Judge Ward said a judgment will be entered and costs will be allowed the defendants, who are Mrs. Clark and the hospital.

Mrs. Clark, a nurse, was employed at St. Benedict's hospital in 1959. Testimony given during the four-day trial indicated the child was born handicapped. He is mentally retarded and requires custodial care.

Probe Asked of Johnson Radio, TV Operations

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—Rep. H. R. Gross, R., Ia., urged the senate rules committee Thursday to investigate the radio and television operations of President and Mrs. Johnson.

In a house speech, Gross called for an examination of the federal communications commission's records dealing with LBJ company, which operates the broadcasting properties.

He said: "If this radio and television operation in Texas—until a few days ago under the control and management of the wife of the former majority leader in the other body—is as proper as we are told it is by the LBJ interests, there should be no objection to full disclosure and examination."

To Paris

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk flew to Paris today, bearing with him a special message from President Johnson to the NATO ministerial council meeting.

Rusk will attend the meeting, which opens Monday in the French capital, and confer with allied leaders on the next Western strategy move in the shabby cold war. He will be joined tomorrow by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon.

Four Vehicles Involved in Burley Crash

BURLEY, Dec. 13—Four vehicles, including a state police car and two freight trucks, were involved in two separate accidents at the same site, eight miles northeast of Heyburn on Interstate 80N, Wednesday, officers report.

Bus Slated
BURLEY, Dec. 13—A bus will leave West park in Burley at 9 a. m. Saturday for the Pomerelle ski area. The road to Howell canyon will be plowed Saturday morning. There are 12 inches of new snow on top of a two-foot packed base, owners report.

Death Takes Anthony Koll
JEROME, Dec. 13—Anthony Joseph Koll, 78, died Friday at St. Benedict's hospital of a short illness. He was born May 21, 1885, at Exira, Ia. In 1914 he married Margaret Thielen at Waterloo, Ia. She died in 1940. Mr. Koll worked for the railroad in Montana before retiring and moving to Jerome.

Fine Goal

A few details remain to be worked out before Idahoans can plunk down their money at a pari-mutuel window at a racetrack. Some of those details include obtaining pari-mutuel machines and construction of tracks. But thought has been devoted to the matter and it'll all be resolved one way or another in due course. For example, the vice president of the Idaho Horse Breeders association says that organization wants good tracks or "none at all." If no one else undertakes track construction, the Horse Breeders association is ready to take over the task, the official notes.

The vice president sets cost of a satisfactory track at a million dollars, and adds, "We want a real nice place; something like Bay Meadows in California."
Presumably that's the Bay Meadows track at San Mateo, and it's a nice one. Before anyone puts a million dollars into a similar track for Idaho, there are a couple of items that should be considered.

One of the items that comes to mind is the population of San Mateo itself. In 1960, San Mateo's population was 69,870, so it can be expected to be well over 70,000 by now. Another item is the location of San Mateo only about 25 miles from San Francisco. And San Francisco's 1960 population was 740,316, more than the entire state of Idaho has now. Probably two million people—or more—live within a 50-mile radius of San Mateo.

Even though it might sound like pouring cold water on the plans, it takes plenty of people betting good sums of money to support horse racing. In the absence of such support, lavish plans can be considered only in the nature of wishful thinking. Pari-mutuel betting can be successful only where considerable sums of money are wagered on the outcome of races. It takes plenty of people.

If any illustration is needed, it can be found in other sports. San Francisco supports the Giants in the National league, the pro football 49'ers and the pro basketball Warriors. All of Magic Valley supported the Cowboys—and some years, just barely.

FARM CHANGES LOOM

Two stories in the Times-News the other day may foretell an early change in the Magic Valley farm scene. One story concerned the department of agriculture hearings over bids for increased sugar beet allotments. The other article outlined plans for negotiating increases in the market price of potatoes. Together, the stories could mean changes in Magic Valley crops.

The past few years, there has been grower criticism of prices paid for potatoes, particularly those grown on a contract basis. And in the last two years, farmers have added considerable land to the acreage devoted to sugar beets. In view of the discontent with potato prices, any additional beet allotments would result in reduced potato acreages.

If such a situation does develop, there will be some significant changes.

Division of more land to sugar beets could lead to plant expansion, which would make the greater beet acreages permanent. Less land devoted to growing potatoes might result in higher prices, unless continued desert land development served to offset the loss.

In any event, if the additional sugar beet allotments are approved, Magic Valley agriculture will have a period of adjustment, at the very least. Most of the adjustment is bound to involve potatoes if prices remain low.

IT'LL BE WATCHED

Americans will be divided in the opinion regarding the 1.2 billion dollar education bill designed to provide funds to aid construction at colleges. Some will regard the measure as a tremendous help to education while others will see a federal government attempt to exert some control over colleges that decide to use the money. One thing is certain already: The money will not be handed out to colleges and universities with absolutely no strings attached.

Everyone will be watching to see how the funds are distributed and what degree of control—if any—the federal government retains over expenditure of those funds. If federal supervision ends at minimum standards of construction, much of the objection may disappear. But if federal supervision also involves what sort of instruction will be approved after buildings are finished, then there may be more rather than fewer objections to using federal funds in any phase of education.

A third opinion regarding the construction aid bill may be that it is only the opening wedge, that the 1.2 billion dollars will be spent with an eye to future control. The opinion may be valid.

Whatever happens, both under the 1.2 billion aid bill and any other education legislation in the near future, schools and colleges will find it easier to accept federal funds in the future. Federal aid is a good deal like dope—it's habit forming.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON, Dec. 13—Whatever kind of civil rights bill congress finally passes, it will not give the Negro everything he wants. For example, the provision barring discrimination in privately-owned public accommodations almost certainly will be watered down, and the fair employment practices section faces rough going.
It is devoutly to be hoped, therefore, that the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, one of the more articulate of the Negro leaders, will carry out his pledge to barnstorm the country next year in a campaign to push Negro registration. It is not this writer's contention that everything the Negro is asking for is his constitutional privilege, but in a democracy the only place any minority can have an influence is at the polls.

SOCIAL RIGHTS SOMETHING ELSE—There is, it says here, a sharp difference between civil rights and social rights. No administration ever will succeed in forcing a white Southerner to sit down to dinner with a Negro. But however a Southerner may feel about socializing with a black man he has no legal standing when he interferes with the Negro's constitutional right to vote.
Undoubtedly, it is more dramatic to go ranting about the country bemoaning the shameful plight of the Negro who is turned away from restaurants and hotels and even gasoline stations. Such discrimination is not only an insult to a man's dignity but, more practically, it is a bloody inconvenience and sometimes an economic hardship. But it is a fact of life that cannot be overcome until the Negro's voice is heard louder and more clearly across the land.

VOTES COUNT—Demanding the right to sit down next to a white man in a restaurant is unrealistic at this time. It is putting the cart before the horse. For if the Negro wins his constitutional right to vote in the South, he will no longer have to plead for equality in the corner lunchroom. He will elect politicians sworn to give him that right, if not the white man's acceptance of it.
Consider the situation in 11 Southern states: Although Negroes represent 20 per cent of the population in that region, they comprise only 12 per cent of the voters. In Mississippi, Negroes represent 42 per cent of the population and only 13.3 per cent of the voters; in Alabama, 30 per cent of the population is Negro and only 8 per cent of the voters are black.

And yet, something can be done about it. As a result of intensive campaigns in Texas, that state now has a larger percentage of Negro voters (14.9) than Negro residents, (12 per cent). And in Tennessee, with a population 16 per cent Negro, the voting list is 13.3 per cent black.

U. S. LAX AT POLLS—Other countries long have been amazed at the average American's casual acceptance of his voting rights. In 1960, after one of the most bitterly fought presidential campaigns in history, only 70 per cent of the nation's qualified voters went to the polls on election day. Yet in Venezuela, a so-called "retarded country," 95 per cent of the electorate braved the bombs and machinists of Castro terrorists to elect an anti-communist president.

Politicians are fondly supposed to have a special interest in getting out the vote, but they do not always set an inspiring example. Pennsylvania had a state-wide election on Nov. 5, but its most distinguished citizen left the day before for a golfing vacation in Augusta, Ga., and thus forfeited an American's most precious privilege. His name, of course, is Dwight D. Eisenhower, former President, world statesman, and head of the Republican party.

FAIR RULING

Ruling of the seven-man arbitration board appointed under a law passed by congress last August to stave off a threatened railroad strike appears eminently fair to the locomotive firemen who eventually will lose their jobs.

An estimated 65 per cent of the some 40,000 men affected would have full job protection. Their jobs would be eliminated by attrition—death, retirement, etc. These include all firemen with 10 or more years of service. Most firemen with less than 10 years' service would have to be offered other jobs with comparable pay and other active workers would receive generous severance pay.

Several presidential commissions have found that firemen are not needed on diesel freight and yard engines. The arbitration board agreed as to 90 per cent of them.

The fireman who shoveled coal or tended oil burners on steam locomotives is the victim of technological change, just as are millions of other workers whose jobs have been eliminated by automation and other work-reducing developments. A major problem in all these instances is how to soften the blow to men who have devoted a substantial part of their lives to work that no longer is necessary. The ruling as to freight and yard firemen seems to be an adequate solution to this problem on the human level.

No one can stop the present technological revolution any more than earlier resistors could halt the industrial revolution that preceded it. Sooner or later, the firemen will have to accept this fact. Yet the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen evidently is not yet ready to do so. It has announced that it and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, possibly joined by other railroad unions, will challenge the board's decision in the courts.

Other factors remain to keep railway labor-management relations in turmoil. Congress enacted two issues which it considered to be of major importance for binding arbitration: The elimination of freight and yard firemen and the regulation of the number of men on train crews. The arbitration board was to make binding decisions on these issues to be effective for two years. The board decided it could not fix the size of train crews for all parts of the country. It returned this problem to management and unions for local settlement, with the proviso, however, that a three-man board of adjustment settle any dispute that the contending parties could not agree on.

Remaining also are several so-called "minor" issues to be settled by negotiation between the brotherhoods and management during a 180-day period when strikes were prohibited. Little if any progress has been made toward agreement on these issues and the six-month period ends in February.

Congress likely will have the railroad strike problem back in its lap early next year. It may have to adopt more drastic measures to keep the vital railroads running under modern work rules that will permit them to compete with other forms of transportation.—The Oregonian.

THE EXPERTS

In a society as complex as ours, it would be folly to suggest that the expert has no place in the councils which guide our lives. But it is equally foolish to abdicate the policy-making function to the expert, as we seem to be in danger of doing. Expert opinion deserves to be one factor in the equation supporting a decision. Another, equally important, factor must be good common, everyday human sense.—Calgary Albertan.

POT SHOTS

CALL IT QUITS?

Dear Potos:
Until there was a little bit of static in Pot Shots about the scanty street decorations for Christmas, I hadn't hardly noticed. But they're not only scanty, they're practically non-existent.

I think it's time to call it quits. Let's take down what decorations have been pilt up and just forget the whole thing. And when it rolls around to about that time of year in 1964, let's just not put up anything.

Personally, I feel that if Twin Falls can't do a bang-up job of decorating, there's just no point in trying anything. If there is no attempt, then we can't look ridiculous.

CAUTIOUSLY

Dear Potos:
These icy streets scare the daylight's out of me.
I'm told there's a special way to drive on ice so that there's no particular danger.

Could you describe the process for my benefit and to help all the other drivers who don't know?
Thank You

CALL 'EM RIGHT BACK

Dear Shooter:
It's 3 o'clock in the morning and I finally flight awake because the phone is ringing like mad on the bedstand right beside my ear, well, almost.

About the third grab, I connected with the phone, then tried to talk into the wrong end. Correcting that slight error, I finally got off a sleepy "Hello" into the right end. A voice on the other end said, "Where've you been? We're waiting down here for you!"
"Who do you want?"
"Isn't this Ed?"
"No."
"Gee, guess I've got the wrong number!"

Now, Potos, what do you do in a case like that?

Interpreting the News

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—There are two Presidents Johnson just as there were two Presidents Kennedy. The public President and the President at work inside the White House.

One is the talking President saying the nice and pleasant things that cheer the American heart even when dressed in generalities and sometimes decorated with the obvious.

The other is the doing President busy with problems and people in the privacy of his office or on the telephone. Sometimes the two Presidents overlap and become one because the uses of the presidency have changed.

Before television a president who wanted to get himself and his ideas across to the nation had to depend on public appearances before limited audiences on radio. Most of the time he had to depend on deeds alone.

Kennedy, winning the presidency by a slim election margin, felt from the beginning the need to create in the public mind confidence in him and, if possible, affection. The grief at his death showed he filled both ambitions.

It's no wonder he was constantly before the camera. Nor is it any wonder Johnson test no time going before the public in person on television in his talks to congress, for example, and his talk on Thanksgiving.

He had even greater need than Kennedy to reassure the public the presidency was in safe and competent hands. Kennedy was elected to it, Johnson had to thrust upon him.

Knowing that Kennedy had broad public confidence, Johnson from the beginning has sought to identify himself as one with Kennedy and his programs. He emphasizes continuity.

He even adopted some of Kennedy's homely touches, like using the same kind of rocking chair, or dropping in suddenly on friends at their home. There is a chance he may overdo this folksy routine.

In time, as he gets adjusted to the White House and can begin to gauge public reactions to his presidency, he should work out his own techniques in public relations, a field in which he now must have an additional concern.

He will almost certainly seek election next year.

But in his years in congress Johnson's greatest abilities were not in public speaking or public appearances but in an endless, tireless effort behind the scenes to get done what he wanted done as smoothly as he could.

He has been shrewd at this. Johnson told congress he intended to fight for Kennedy's civil rights and tax-cut programs.

Southern opposition to civil rights has been so strong Johnson knows he can't get that program through this year. He can try in 1964. But he quickly called Negro leaders to conference in the White House.

Senate opposition to a tax cut, unless the White House reduced government spending, made a cut this year impossible. Johnson at once began talking economy. He talked about it publicly and in the White House.

This is one example of where the public and private Johnson overlaps. There will, no doubt, be plenty more of it. He is making his private activities publicly known as he goes along.

COVERING THE CAPITAL WITH PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (NEA)—Increased consumer expenditures for 1963, continuing well into 1964, are predicted by the latest reports from U.S. departments of commerce, agriculture and labor.
Since consumer purchases account for two-thirds of the total sales of goods and services in the United States, these forecasts give a good indication of business trends.
For the six months immediately ahead, the department of commerce reports high consumer buying intentions on autos, houses and household appliances, the so-called hard goods.
Reporting a record personal income at the annual rate of 470 billion dollars for October, the department of commerce credits the recent pay raise granted the U.S. armed forces for one-third of the 3 billion dollar increase over September.

The increase over October, 1962, is five per cent, or 22 billion. Another five per cent increase is predicted for 1964. All this adds to purchasing power, so it is a direct stimulus to the economy.
Principal focus of the department of agriculture's outlook conference, held at this time every year, is on the prospects for farm production, prices and marketings.

Farm output this year will be about 10 per cent above the 1962-59 average, establishing a new record high of 41 billion. With higher farm costs, however, the net may be below 1962's 12.6 billion dollars, and a little lower in 1964.

Along with the commodity forecasts, the outlook conference holds four half-day sessions on family living. This year analysts from agriculture's bureau of family economics and the bureau of labor statistics have come up with new material to show changing trends in consumer budgets.

This is the result of the first survey in 20 years on comparative spending by urban, rural and rural non-farm families.
Preliminary data indicate average spending by city families has risen from $3,800 in 1950 to $4,365 in 1960.

Food, clothing, house furnishings and recreation now account for smaller shares of the spending than 10 years ago. Shelter, utilities, medical care, education and transportation take larger shares.
Although the consumer's price index, or cost of living, rose 34 per cent in this decade, food expenditures are reported to have dropped from 29 per cent of the family income to 24 per cent.
The reason given is that while per capita consumption of many has increased, consumption of cereals has declined.
Increased home ownership— from 55 per cent of all dwellings in 1950 to 62 per cent in 1960—and increased ownership of automobiles—from 59 per cent of the families in 1950 to 73 per cent in 1960—account for larger expenditures.
A continuing shift from natural to synthetic fibers is credited with reduction of family clothing expenditures. Lower prices for household appliances from the Korean war days to 1960 account for another drop.
Food produced for farm-family consumption has dropped from 10 per cent of the retail value in 1941 to 40 per cent in 1960. Reflecting the increase of off-farm employment in rural families, 23 per cent of the rural families owned cars in 1960, and one-fourth of them were two-car families.
If these trends of the last decade or two continue, rural family spending patterns are expected to become much more like those of urban families. The properties of shelter, transportation, medical care and education expenses will rise. The proportion for home furnishings, clothing and perhaps food will decrease.
As a basis for comparison, city is the budget given for an average family with expenditures of $5,365 in 1960:

Item	Cost
Food, at and away from home	$1,300
Housing and furnishings	$1,500
Clothing and services	650
Medical and personal care	600
Recreation and education	325
Transportation	700
Tobacco, alcohol, miscellaneous	310

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—My sister is 25 and has Hodgkin's disease. Will irradiation with cobalt help her? Is this disease hereditary?

—Hodgkin's disease is a malignant disease characterized by enlargement of the lymph nodes. It is not hereditary. Surgical removal of the tumors of the disease is helpful if the disease is localized in only one or two areas, but more often than not the disease is widespread by the time it is recognized. Irradiation is beneficial in some cases. Nitrogen mustard, a war gas, has been used but more recently a related substance, cyclophosphamide, has replaced it because it is better tolerated. Another drug, vincristine, is said to be better than any other drug tried so far.

Q—What is nephrosclerosis? Is it the same as arteriosclerosis? Can it be cured?

—Nephrosclerosis is the disease that results when the changes of arteriosclerosis are seen chiefly in the kidneys. It usually occurs in persons who have had a high blood pressure for many years. The victim has albumin in the urine. If the condition is recognized early in its course, measures to reduce the blood pressure will check the progress of the disease, but treatment of the high blood pressure before any kidney damage has occurred is even better.

Q—For a recurrent ear condition, my doctor has for the last 10 years had me use Neo-Cortef ear drops. Is its continued use likely to cause serious side effects?

—Neo-Cortef ear drops contain not only hydrocortisone but also the antibiotic, neomycin. These drops rarely cause side effects, but if they increase the local irritation, they should be stopped.

EAST IS KIND TO DECLARER

South's two heart bid was inspired. He really should have passed his partner's two diamond overcall.
West opened the queen of spades. East took his ace and, on the theory that it was "Be diamonds and wound up with the tricks except that ace of spades taken by East."
South felt that North should have either doubled the overcall or passed. He should have passed or at least have raised two hearts or three. North felt that he bid perfectly, pointing out that the play was extremely lucky. This didn't mollify South at all. He was still mad at North.
The argument didn't impress West in the slightest. The game was duplicate and West was sure that South's score would be a top. Finally, West stood it no longer. He said, "My partner had led back a spade you idiots wouldn't be arguing. South would have made three hearts or possibly only two hearts. But now you have a top score. What more do you want? West was right. He was right that South would not have made more than three hearts if East had returned a spade. But four hearts can be made on a double dummy play."

BOISE, Dec. 13 (AP)—Television station KTVB of Boise plans to open a station at La Grande next fall, describing it as the first to be licensed in eastern Oregon. The federal communications commission Thursday gave KTVB a construction permit for channel 13 at La Grande. Mrs. Georgia Davidson, president and general manager, said construction will start as soon as weather permits with hopes of having the station on the air by the early fall of 1964. She said it will receive network service (ABC and NBC) from KTVB in Boise, with a local studio in La Grande.

BOISE, Dec. 13 (AP)—Reader-floor-covering, Blackfoot, is the low bidder for covering the floors of the F and G buildings, men's and women's wards at State Hospital South at Blackfoot. The Diamond Roofing company, Lewiston, was low bidder on two re-roofing projects at State Hospital North in Orofino, one for $2,485 for the superintendent's and physicians' residences, and $14,736 to re-roof a number of ward buildings. Richardson Construction company, Boise, entered the only bid, $22,000, to install fire escapes at McKelway and Givens halls.

POCATELLO, Dec. 13 (AP)—Some Pocatello merchants are matching stamp contributions of their patrons in the drive to buy a new bus for the Nampa State school. Altogether, 4,000 books are needed to replace the old bus that finally stopped running earlier this year.

IDAHO FALLS, Dec. 13 (AP)—General Electric company hopes to begin work soon on a nuclear propulsion project at the national reactor testing station, intended to help develop a nuclear cargo ship. W. H. Long, head of the company's Cincinnati division, discussed plans Thursday while accompanying Japanese shipping leaders making a tour of the site. He said Japan is particularly interested in such a ship. It would have an air-cooled, water-moderated reactor. That kind of reactor could be installed in existing merchant ships with simple steam boiler replacement.

BOISE, Dec. 13 (AP)—The president of the Idaho Horticultural society says fruit growers must cooperate in finding markets, or face losses to competitors. The 69th convention of the fruit grower organization ends today. Aury Sanders, Emmett, said if growers work together, "the future holds no problems we cannot hurdle."

IDAHO FALLS, Dec. 13 (AP)—Eastern Idaho civil defense leaders were told Thursday that the state lacks an adequate warning system, and needs more shelters. William Bissonette, state operations chief, said Idaho is the only one of 50 states to achieve a minimum number of shelters, as directed by the department of defense. But he said the state's 60,000 spaces are far less than the need. State and local officials can develop more, he said, in buildings that provide at least partial protection. Bissonette said some communities have sirens and other suitable warning devices, but many have none.

BLACKFOOT, Dec. 13 (AP)—The Eastern Idaho State fair board plans to spend $30,000 on improvements this year, including a new horse barn and new 4-H exhibit buildings. Jack Moir, the president, said the building housing 4-H exhibits was put up 20 years ago as a temporary structure. He said money also will be spent for additional land to make room for expansion.

BLACKFOOT, Dec. 13 (AP)—A new automatic lighting system for the Blackfoot city airport is in operation, controlled by an electric eye that turns the lights on at dusk and off at dawn. The 58 lights and accessories and 22,000 feet of wiring were purchased by the city as surplus through the civil aeronautics association at a cost of $600.

POCATELLO, Dec. 13 (AP)—Officials plan no immediate change in school bus policy, despite word that it is illegal to carry parochial students on buses owned by the Pocatello district. D. F. Engelking, state superintendent of public instruction, said in Boise Thursday that past opinions from the attorney general's office show that parochial students can be carried legally only on privately operated buses, which contract with the district. The question arose Monday night when the Pocatello board was asked to stop permitting parochial students to ride the buses. It refused.

POCATELLO, Dec. 13 (AP)—The Pocatello zoning-planning commission has recommended that Center and Clark streets, parallel east-west arteries through the city, be converted to one-way traffic.

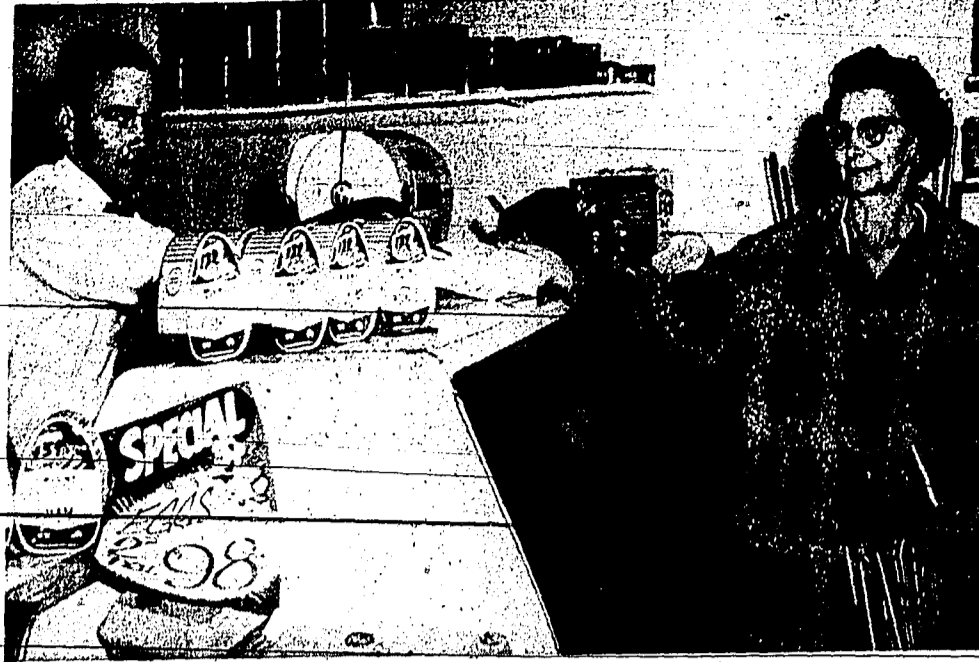

POCATELLO, Dec. 13 (AP)—City Commission Chairman Earl R. Pond said the commission will continue to do everything necessary to make sure Pocatello has adequate ambulance service. Pond was replying to a statement Wednesday by County Commission Chairman Emmette Spraker, who said the city was being too restrictive with its ambulance ordinance. The law requires three ambulances, but the present operator, R. H. Milberg, says it isn't necessary to have more than two.

POCATELLO, Dec. 13 (AP)—How many undertakers, chorus girls and librarians are there in Bannock county? There are eight embalmers and undertakers, 14 dancers and chorus girls and 23 librarians. Filer School Trustees Set Vacation Date

FILER, Dec. 13 (AP)—Trustees of school-district 413 at a meeting Wednesday, authorized school principals to dismiss the schools at 1:30 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 20, for the Christmas holidays. There will be no school during the Christmas week. However, schools will resume on Dec. 30 and will be in session Dec. 30, 31 and Jan. 2 and 3. Schools will let out for one day on Jan. 1, New Year's day.

The board discussed at some length the setting of the school year calendar. They stated that since it would be impossible to make up a calendar that would take care of the vacations, etc., of all the patrons, the calendar must be set to take care of the 177 days of school as required by law and to observe those holidays required by the state board.

The trustees added that the calendar for next year will be made up in May and any suggestions by patrons will be welcome. They said that they realize that some parents take their vacations during certain holidays and that trip permits to students who will miss school during the year are a long established custom. Parents desiring these permits, should contact the principal several days before the contemplated trip if possible.

Charles Boss, trustee, reported on the recent state trustees meeting held in Pocatello. Permission was given Supt. Tom Turner to inaugurate a new type budget request form. Further reports on the water situation were read and named satisfactory. State Patrolman James Gerke has been invited to attend the January board meeting and will explain the reports of inspection on each bus operated by the three contractors. Officer Gerke makes the monthly inspection of all buses that operate in the district.

Assistance To Refugees To Be Ended

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 13 (AP)—Cuban refugees received a subtle but unmistakable warning Thursday that the United States intends to cut off its 2.5 million-dollar-per-month assistance program to the exiles.

Refugees not limited by physical or health disabilities were informed they must accept resettlement elsewhere in the 50 states by March 31, 1964, or be denied further financial aid.

The announcement had no bearing on the thousands of exiles working in the Miami area and receiving no state or federal aid. Federal assistance up to $100 per month per family has been available to the refugees.

U. S. Forest Service Eyes Road to Lake

SALMON, Dec. 13 (Special)—The Salmon national forest is undertaking detailed studies on a public access road to Williams lake. F. E. Powers, forest supervisor, said forest engineers are getting better information on road locations and information on the best route so more accurate costs can be determined. "The studies will give us the information needed to supply other agencies who wish to cooperate on the project," he said. Powers, who attended a meeting in Ogden, Utah, the past week reviewing forest business with the region-4 headquarters, said Floyd Iverson, regional forester, expressed the view he agrees the road is needed to allow the public to use the resources at the lake. Powers said there has been no commitment on funds for the undertaking. "The fact other agencies are willing to cooperate makes it possible something can be done sooner," he said. Private access to the lake where a summer home site development program is under way, is expected to be closed when the sale of the sites has been completed.

North Cache, which nipped Oakley 41-37 Wednesday night, moves to Buhl Friday and winds up at Buhl Saturday evening.

The Utah crew wrapped the decision up in the second quarter. Holding a 14-10 edge after the first eight minutes, North Cache pumped through 15 points in the second period while holding Minico to five. That gave North Cache a 29-15 halftime edge and Minico never recovered.

NAIA Title Rides on Bowl Game

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Dec. 13 (AP)—Two little giants of college football clash in the third Camella bowl game here Saturday for the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics championship.

St. John's university of Collegeville, Minn., rates a slight favorite over Prairie View A and M in Texas.

The Johnnies have had a week longer than the Panthers from Texas to rest after their NAIA semifinal, and they had an easier time with their playoff opponent. Injuries will also slow Prairie View.

Both teams were unbeaten in eight regular season games, and each is 9-0 with the playoff victories. St. John's outscored its opponents, 362-45, and the Panthers rolled up 310-97.

The NAIA rated the Johnnies No. 2 among member schools, while Prairie View tied with College of Emporia in Kansas for No. 4.

St. John's crushed Emporia, 54-0, in a playoff Nov. 30. Prairie View beat Nebraska State Teachers of Kearney, Neb., the third-ranked NAIA team, 20-7, in a playoff last Saturday.

The Panthers suffered injuries in that game to ace quarterback Jim Kearney, who is a doubtful starter for the title game, and fullback Mack Green.

St. John's is reported in top physical condition. The Johnnies boast a massive line headed by 280-pound tackle John McDowell and 315-pound center Jim Hickley. Five of the linemen weigh in at 220 or more.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 13 (AP)—The chairman of the Philadelphia branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People threatened to picket the Liberty bowl football game Dec. 21 if the Mississippi State team plays.

Cecil Moore, NAACP local chairman, charged the city is subsidizing discrimination by permitting Mississippi State to play in the city-owned Philadelphia stadium.

Moore said if the game is played 100 pickets from his group will be at the stadium.

Mississippi State has been selected to oppose North Carolina State in the game which will benefit hospitals in the Philadelphia area.

A spokesman for the Liberty Bowl Charities, Inc., sponsors of the game, said the invitations stand.

He said the game benefits hospitals "many of which I am sure care for Negro patients."

'Bama Seeks Passer for Miami Game

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 13 (AP)—A band of battle-hardened Alabama football veterans flow into Miami with a giant question marking hanging over the quarterback slot.

Just who will try to fill the shoes of the suspended Joe Namath is a question Alabama Coach Paul Bryant says won't be answered until 2 p.m. Saturday when the Crimson Tide meets Miami before a national television audience.

"We worked about an hour and a half in sweat clothes, concentrating on pass offense and pass defense," Bryant said.

"The only sure way to beat Miami is to keep the ball yourself," he said. "If you keep it long enough you should score. When Miami gets it, they certainly score. We've got to limit that matador's time with the ball."

The matador, of course, is Miami's passing wizard, George Mira.

In the Miami camp, Coach Andy Gustafson expressed great respect for the Alabama line which he described as fast and mobile—and tough enough to put tremendous pressure on Mira.

Alabama's offense, however, is an almost unknown quantity with Namath out. The Beaver Falls, Pa., junior was suspended for rules infractions. He will not be allowed to participate in the Sugar bowl against Ole Miss New Year's day either. However, Bryant left him on scholarship and Namath has vowed to be back next fall.

California to Wait Before Getting Coach

BERKELEY, Calif., Dec. 13 (AP)—Selection of a successor to Marv Levy, resigned head football coach, will probably not be made "before the middle of January," the athletic department of the University of California announced late Thursday.

A department statement said: "It has been decided by Fats Newell, director of athletics, that more time will be necessary in order that the best possible man is selected."

Asked if this delay meant that an outsider would likely get the job, Newell replied: "This would imply that."

He added, however, that he would be "interviewing on and off the campus."

Speculation following Levy's surprise resignation Wednesday had centered on assistant coaches Dick Stanfel and Rocco Carzo.

The 38-year-old Phi Beta Kappa's resignation may have been forced by California players even though they didn't actually mean to do it.

Earlier in the day Newell confirmed that players had on Tuesday voiced complaints of Levy's methods and that a player had come to him following a meeting of several squad members.

Oklahoma State Downs BYU 71-64

PROVO, Utah, Dec. 13 (AP)—Oklahoma State proved Thursday night that polite teams can win basketball games as it defeated Brigham Young 71-64.

The visitors committed only 10 fouls, five of them by Gene Johnson, while hitting on 15 of 25 foul attempts given them by Brigham Young.

The four shots made the difference as Brigham Young outshot Oklahoma State from the floor, hitting on 29 of 64 attempts to State's 28 of 63.

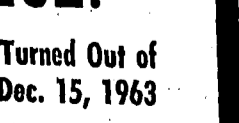

It was Oklahoma State's third straight victory without a loss. BYU is 1-2.

Oklahoma State went ahead for good at 18-16 and once led by 20 points early in the final period.

Johnson-paced Oklahoma State with 19 points. Game honors, however, went to BYU's John Fairchild with 24.

REMEMBER WHEN?

By BOB REESE

In the early weeks of that memorable year, the man was a bum, leading a living from day to day in Switzerland, hanging around the cafes and plotting with friends. In his brain was the seed of a monstrous plan of revolution.

His name was Vladimir Ilich Lenin. In April of that same year he left Switzerland and arrived in Petrograd, then the capital of Russia. The wheels were set in motion to bring his scheme to reality. The rumblings of revolt began. Soon they grew louder, and open rebellion broke out.

On November 7th of that same year, the revolution which Lenin had fathered, toppled the Kerensky government and the Bolshevik revolutionaries became the new rulers of Russia. Thus began a movement which was to change the entire history of the world. This was the end of the Czarist rule in Russia... and the beginning of global Communism. Remember the year?

Times have changed—everywhere, since that year. In those days advertising was pretty conservative... and a man buying a car wasn't fooled by "giveaway" price claims or confusing figures. The year was 1917.

We don't promise to give our cars away... and we couldn't stay in business if we didn't make a modest profit. But we can promise to meet or beat any legitimate deal on a new Dodge, Chrysler or Imperial. Come in and let us prove it! Bob Reese Motors Co., 500 Block 2nd Ave. So., Twin Falls, Phone 733-5770.

California Eyes Andros For Grid Job

MOSCOW, Dec. 13 (AP)—Not really discounting persistent rumors that he might be in line for the now vacant job of football coach at the University of California, Idaho coach Dee Andros indicated Thursday he would simply wait to see what develops.

The rumors got a lot louder with announcement that Marv Levy had resigned at California. "A number of California alumni have contacted me in recent weeks, but I consider any thought of moving to Berkeley at the present time very premature," said Andros, whose team this year gave Idaho its first winning season since 1958.

Andros added, that he and Pete Newell, California athletic director, are close friends. He said he did not plan to make application for the California post, but did believe he would be contacted.

Andros, who once served as an assistant coach at California has been at Idaho two years.

CHICAGO, Dec. 13 (AP)—The Chicago Bears may take the field here Sunday against the Detroit Lions as champions of the Western division of the National Football league. Chances are, though, they'll be fighting for their lives. The Bears have led or shared the lead all the way in the West, but probably still will need a victory or a tie Sunday to nose out the Green Bay Packers for the title.

Green Bay Packers Meet 49ers Saturday

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13 (AP)—Green Bay battles for a chance at a title and San Francisco battles for jobs Saturday when the two National Football league clubs meet at Kezar stadium. A national television audience will watch the Packers try to maintain their shot at a fourth straight Western conference championship. "This is one we've got to win," declared coach Vince Lombardi after the final Green Bay workout. "Everybody knows that."

The Packers could win and still lose the title. They can't lose and still win. They now stand 10-2-1 compared with 10-1-2 for the Chicago Bears, who meet Detroit on Sunday.

Two San Francisco players definitely will be playing their final games—defensive tackle Leo Nomellini and fullback Joe Perry. Both veterans have said they will retire.

Other 49ers may unknowingly be playing their final since the San Francisco club has posted only a 2-11 record and jobs will be wide open for rookies next summer.

Despite the poor record, Lombardi isn't overlooking the 49ers—they handed the Bears their only defeat of the season.

On the plus side, the visitors have quarterback Bart Starr fully recovered from the hand injury that kept him out of action in mid-season.

"He's been improving every day," Lombardi commented. Fair temperatures were indicated with temperatures expected in the low 50's.

The unbeaten Rockets, now 3-0 for the season, swept out in front in the early going on the strength of their rebounding and carefully controlled offense.

Boston Defeats League Leaders

BOSTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—Blood-smeared Dean Prantice calmly delivered his 200th National Hockey league goal and later provided a screen on Tom Johnson's winning shot as Boston defeated first place Chicago 2-1 Thursday night.

And throughout one of the most exciting games seen on Boston Garden ice in a long time, Bruins Coach Milt Schmidt was "wired for sound," for the benefit of America's astronauts.

The loss was only the fourth in 27 starts for the Chicago powerhouse, two of them coming at the hands of the Bruins who finally escaped from the league cellar.

Canadiens Win Over Rangers 6-4

MONTREAL, Dec. 13 (AP)—The Montreal Canadiens ripped rookie goalie Gilles Villeneuve for five goals in the first period, two within six seconds, and defeated the New York Rangers 6-4 in a National Hockey league game Thursday night.

The victory boosted the Canadiens into second place ahead of idle Toronto, while the loss dropped the Rangers into last place behind Boston, which defeated first-place Chicago 2-1.

The game was only 1:04 old by the time the Canadiens had built a 2-0 lead. Dave Balon fired the first shot past Villeneuve, subbing for ailing Jacques Plante, after only 58 seconds had elapsed. Six seconds later, Gilles Tremblay slipped the puck past the Ranger goalie.

Amendments Are Proposed In Congress

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—Three constitutional amendments to keep the office of vice president filled were proposed Thursday.

Under the present system, the office formerly occupied by President Johnson will remain vacant until the next general election.

Two of the proposals for changing the constitution would provide for the prompt election of a new vice president by both houses of congress. He would fill out the unexpired term of a vice president succeeding to the presidency.

These proposals were offered by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R., N. Y., and Rep. J. Vaughn Clardy, D., Va.

A third plan, offered by Sen. Birch Bayh, D., Ind., would provide that within 30 days after a vice president took over the presidency he would nominate a new vice president. His choice would be subject to confirmation by a majority of the house and senate.

Because of the time required for a constitutional amendment to pass congress and be ratified by a majority of the states, none of the proposals could have any bearing on the present situation.

Development Program May Be Changed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—A high congressional source said Thursday the administration is considering a "complete reorganization and a real shakeup" in the operations of the alliance for progress program.

The source, who refused to be quoted by name, said a reorganization is under study "in the belief that it can do its job better if changes are made" in both its top echelon and its methods of operation.

He said it was premature to say, as have some published reports, that Teodoro Moscoso, now coordinator of the development program, will be dropped by President Johnson.

A story Thursday in the Baltimore Sun said that Moscoso would be eased out because of the President's concern over communist subversion in the Caribbean and Latin America.

Dinner Held by Club at Burley

BURLEY, Dec. 13—The Burley Toastmistress club held the annual potluck dinner and Christmas party Tuesday in the American Legion hall.

Mrs. Lyle Morton gave the invocation. The flag salute was led by Mrs. LePage Layton. Mrs. J. L. Driskell, as Mrs. Santa, delivered gifts.

Mrs. John Pyna gave a speech titled "The Lights Are Out." Mrs. Rulon Stoker, table-top mistress, used the theme "What Love Means to Me." A poem, "Was It Really So," was read by Mrs. Olin Baker.

Mrs. A. J. Mortenson, president, presided at a short business meeting. A report was given by Mrs. Olin Baker on the workshop held in Twin Falls last week. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, Jan. 14, at the American Legion hall.

FUND HITS $226,000
DALLAS, Dec. 13 (AP)—The J. D. Tippit fund, honoring the policeman who was shot to death chasing President Kennedy's accused assassin, stood at $226,000 today with 11 sacks of mail still unopened.

Ruby Murder Case Lands In Court of Veteran Judge

(Editor's note—All the world will have its eyes on Texas when the man who killed the accused assassin of President Kennedy is tried on a murder charge. Foreign ideas of American justice will be influenced by what happens there—and so will American ideas of Texas justice. Here is a look at the judge to whom the case has fallen.)

By ROBERT H. JOHNSON
DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 13 (AP)—The biggest murder case before the world today, has landed in the court of a veteran judge who went to law school almost by accident.

The case is the trial of Jack Ruby, the strip-joint owner who shot Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy. Ruby could get the death penalty.

The courtroom is tiny, with seats for only 58 spectators. Fine paneling is so yellow it must have been painful to the eye when it was new. Now it has been mellowed by time and tobacco smoke. It is in the county records building, at the intersection where President Kennedy was shot.

The judge is Joe B. Brown, a big, slow-moving, soft-spoken man who likes a relaxed atmosphere in his state criminal district court.

He enrolled in law school 32 years ago on a friend's casual suggestion.

Brown is acutely aware—as, of course, any judge would be—that the eyes of the world will be focused on his courtroom.

There has been argument whether the trial should be covered live by television. It's up to Judge Brown, and so far he won't comment.

In fact, he will say nothing in advance about the trial except this: "I've been praying over it." Then, an afterthought: "But that's the way any judge ought to feel about any trial."

Variety Show Slated Sunday

RUPERT, Dec. 13—The second variety show of the season will be presented for the patients in the geriatrics ward at the Minto Memorial hospital at 3:30 p.m. Sunday in the recreation room.

Mrs. Nell Weir, chairman of the Pink Ladies project to provide entertainment once a month for the patients, reported the public is invited to these programs and people are urged to bring shuttles in the area or patients in the nursing homes.

The program Sunday will include Mrs. Marlon Pittenger, a long-time Rupert area resident in her 80's, who will present a poem; four dancing schools in the area will be represented with performers from the Floy Grandall school of Rupert, Meris Stoddard school of Twin Falls and Margaret Bodily and Lila Turner dance school of Burley.

Kathy Henschel will play the xylophone and the band at Minto high school under the direction of Keith Farris, will present instrumental numbers.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Twiss and Mrs. Alma Stewart served refreshments. The next meeting will be Dec. 26, with a gift exchange planned.

Charter Draped

PAUL, Dec. 13—The charter was draped in memory of the late President Kennedy when the Paul Grange met Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Twiss and Mrs. Alma Stewart served refreshments. The next meeting will be Dec. 26, with a gift exchange planned.

Differences Deplored by McNamara

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told senators Thursday that published reports about differences among the nation's top military chiefs were "disgraceful."

But an unusual personal appeal by McNamara failed to win requested prompt approval for a promotion and broader authority for Gen. Andrew Jackson Goodpaster, now assistant to Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

Sharp questions by senators and pointed replies by McNamara at an open hearing of the senate armed services committee resulted in a decision to delay action on the Goodpaster nomination.

Mrs. Kennedy To Spend Year In Mourning

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy, widow of the late president, plans to observe a full year of mourning for her husband, it was revealed Thursday.

In that period of time, Mrs. Kennedy will have no public engagements, her press secretary Pamela Turnure said.

This information came in response to queries about published reports that Mrs. Kennedy had told President Lyndon B. Johnson she would play a role he might want her to in the 1964 campaign.

Funeral Is Held For Mrs. Stravs

Funeral services for Mrs. Josephine E. Stravs were held Friday in White mortuary chapel by the Rev. Ronald Keeshan. Final rites were held in Sunset Memorial park.

Palbearers were Dr. Ben E. Katz, Dr. Roy Shaub, M. E. Dolling, Sterling Vaughn, Howard Parish and William Powell.

Hopeful

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—Rep. Ralph Harding, D., Ida., says he is hopeful of new wheat legislation in the near future.

Harding said President Johnson called for immediate hearings on wheat proposals by the house agricultural subcommittee, of which Harding is a member. The hearings opened Wednesday and continue next week.

Extradition Of Juan Peron Asked

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 13 (AP)—The Argentine government asked Spain Thursday for extradition of ex-dictator Juan D. Peron to face charges that he had sexual relations with a 14-year-old girl while he was president of Argentina.

The girl, Nelly Rivas, now 24 and married, was Peron's mistress between early 1953 and September, 1955, when he was overthrown and fled into exile.

A foreign office source in Madrid said Foreign Minister Fernando Maria Castiella told the Argentine ambassador the extradition request will be processed according to Spanish law.

This, it was understood, involves reference of the petition to the justice ministry and eventually to a Spanish judge for recommendations. Finally, in cases of such importance, the petition would be referred to the Spanish cabinet.

Job Training Bill Passed By House

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—A bill to increase job training opportunities for school dropouts and illiterates was passed by voice vote by the house Thursday but at a lower spending level than proposed.

The measure was requested by President John F. Kennedy, who made it part of the civil rights program he urged congress to pass last June.

A slightly different version has cleared the senate and the two measures will have to be reconciled before final action is taken.

The house bill called for a four-year authorization in new bills of 803 million dollars, but under attack from economy-minded members was cut to 527 million dollars for three years.

The cut was backed by Chairman Adam C. Powell, D., N.Y., of the education and labor committee, to head off a proposed cut by Rep. Robert Taft, Jr., R., O. In actual dollars, Taft's amendment was 10 million dollars less than the one adopted, but it would have been spread over the four years of the program.

How to succeed in snow business.

It's easy. Get a truck with:
(a) An air-cooled engine in back.
(b) The initials VW in front.
And there you are: a roaring success in the snow.

The weight of the Volkswagen engine sits directly over the drive wheels. So you go, while others grunt. (For years people have put sandbags in sedan trunks for the same reason.)

Eight inches of snow is considered tractable for a VW. It plows through mud, sand and slush just as easily. Fully loaded. (Fully loaded means 1830 lbs. Nearly twice the load of regular trucks.)

And once you get through the drifts, you'll also get 20 to 30 mpg.

And a truck that will never freeze up. Or boil over, either.

So how would you rather be pushed? By an engine in the rear? Or by your friends?

Along Fences and Canals

Richfield Big Wood Canal company employes have completed work on the company buildings at Hunt before being laid off for the winter. Peaked roofs replaced the former flat-roofed buildings there. An 11-man crew worked on the job.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Jackson, north-Shoshone, have installed a new submersible pump on the well at their farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Gerard are having a new home constructed on their farm one and one-half miles west of the Palmer service station in north Shoshone. It will be 27 by 47 feet with a carport, constructed of brick.

Mr. and Mrs. Val Rose, north-Shoshone, are building a 12-by-12-foot cat shed on their farm for their young calves. They also are building a yard fence and fence for their driveway.

Thirty-one head of Hereford heifers and young cows were trucked to the Fred Floyd ranch in Elba this week. The cattle were purchased from the Harold Selman spread in Tremonton, Utah. Hauling the cattle for Lloyd were Westly Ward and Bert Tracy, Almo.

The Ray Shope family has moved into Hansen to their recently purchased home, formerly belonging to Mrs. Frank Orten. He moved from a 240-acre farm belonging to Mrs. Peter Link, south of Hansen. Shope has decided to quit farming and will work in Henry Farm sales. The Don Conner family from the Piler area will farm the same acreage this coming season, and have moved there this past week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Baptie report their band of sheep crossed the Snake river bridge at Bliss last week, after being trailed from Muldoon, and are grazing on the south side of the river, en route to their ranch south of King Hill, where lambing operations soon will be under way.

Cattlemen south of the Snake river have been gathering their cattle on the range and bringing them into pasture at their King Hill area ranches for winter feeding. Ranchers include Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graham, Martin Woodward, Ray Mitchell, Lee Trail, Don Carnahan, Lloyd Lish and Karl Carnahan.

Mrs. Esther Gleaser, Fairfield first grade teacher, is having her farm home on the Baseline road completely remodeled this winter. She has added to the original house and is having new windows and siding installed. She and her children are living in town while the work is in progress.

R. H. Callen and sons, R. C. Larsen and Curtis Bower, Hansen, shipped out 23 cars of cattle last week, or 730 head, to Iowa.

Glen Tysor has purchased a 40-acre farm which belonged to Mr. Albert H. Uiter, a mile west and one-half mile south of Hansen, and has moved there.

The Orlo J. Lehman family has rented the farm a mile west of Hansen on which Tysor was farming. The 120-acre farm belongs to Mrs. Marie Downing, Pocatello.

Earl Wise, Glenns Ferry, hauled two truckloads of heifers from the Pitchfork ranch of W. W. Knox this week to the Haney farm in Grand View. Haney sold the heifers to Haney.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Zarecor and children have moved to their new home, the former W. O. Watts ranch, some two miles south of Elba on the Broadford road. Watts bought the 160-acre ranch, which borders Big Wood river, in 1940 but has never resided there. He lives in Twin Falls. The Zarecoros come from Houston, Tex., and plan to raise cattle. Zarecor is a mechanical engineer and has worked on missile bases.

ADDITIONAL ACREAGE became available for the Snake River Conservation Field station with the signing of a lease between the agriculture research service, representing the station, the Twin Falls soil conservation district, and Mr. and Mrs. Marian Gibbs, land owners. The parties involved are, from left, Mrs. Harlan Gibbs; A. R. Robinson, conservation station manager; Marian Gibbs; William Langley, attorney for the district and the Gibbs, and Lyle Schmitz, vice-chairman, Twin Falls soil conservation district. Some 30 acres of additional land will now be available for the station on a five-year lease. (Times-News photo)

Record Corn Crop Nears Harvest End

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—Harvest of the 1963 record corn crop is in the final stages, according to the government's weather summary.

In the heavy producing corn belt area, open weather during the week permitted rapid cleaning of the few remaining fields the weather bureau said. Only a very limited acreage remains for harvest.

Corn harvest in the deep south continued to move ahead, although rains late in the week caused some temporary delays. Picking is rapidly approaching the finish and range from about 85 per cent harvested in Mississippi to slightly more than 80 per cent complete in Virginia, the bureau said.

Harvest continues in California where artificial drying is necessary.

Harvest of the remaining cotton acreage made slow progress during the week, the bureau said.

The late fall soybean harvest in the Atlantic Coastal states was slowed somewhat by rain late in the week. About 80 per cent of the crop has been combined in the Carolinas and Virginia and only a few fields are left in Maryland and Delaware.

The bureau said fall-sown small grains in all states along the Gulf and Atlantic as well as the eastern parts of Tennessee, Kentucky, and Ohio received much-needed rains during the week.

Bulls Sold

MACKAY—Thirteen Hereford bulls brought $6,695 at Monday's sale of the Lemhi Purebred Beef Breeders' association.

Average price was $515 with the top bull bringing $760. It was consigned by Ray Tibbits, Moore, and purchased by Harold Smith, Darlington.

Bulk Dairy Tanks Can Deteriorate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 — There's no question but what bulk milk tanks are here to stay, says Henry V. Atherton of Vermont agricultural experiment station. The question is, how long will the individual tank last?

"After a decade of bulk handling in an area," he reports, "a new problem comes along to bother us. Equipment wears out. Usually controls wear out quicker. We must expect faulty fat tests and quality problems will occur as more and more tanks reach this uncertain age."

When tank controls cease to operate as they should, either freezing or churning of the milk is likely to occur, he explains. Such improper functioning may cost the producer considerable money from low-fat tests.

The safeguard? Close attention in the milkhouse, he advises.

Twin Falls Will Host Idaho Dairymen's Group

The Idaho Dairymen's association will have its annual meeting at Twin Falls Jan. 21 to 23. The dates were announced by Albert Jagels, Buhl, president, and Cliff Markuson, Boise, manager.

Headquarters for an expected attendance of 300 men and women will be Rogerson hotel.

M. J. Framberger, manager, American Dairy association, Chicago, will be the banquet speaker. James E. Kraus, dean of the University of Idaho college of agriculture, and Harold Peterson, Salt Lake City, regional merchandising director for American Dairy association, will address luncheon meetings.

Sue Ann Godderidge, Smithfield, Utah, American dairy princess, will attend.

"Dairy breed associations, processors and ice cream manufacturers, all affiliated with the Idaho Dairymen's association, will have programs during the convention. The state mastitis advisory committee will meet.

The Idaho Purebred Dairy Cattle association will announce new members of the Idaho dairy hall of fame.

Guernsey Herd Is Classified

PILER, Dec. 13—The registered Guernsey herd, owned by Vernon E. Lassen, has recently been classified for type by L. O. Colebank, Knoxville, Tenn., official classifier for the American Guernsey Cattle club.

A complete type analysis of the herd was prepared. It shows that of the 29 cows classified, seven were rated very good, 17 desirable and five acceptable.

Results of this work will tell the breeder the strong and weak points in the conformation of the herd. By selecting the better cows and breeding them to sires that transmit good conformation, herd type can be improved.

Wheat Exports Show Increase

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—U. S. wheat and flour exports during July - September totaled 174 million bushels, an increase of 17 per cent over the 148 million bushels for the corresponding period in 1962.

Foreign agriculture service said substantial increases were evident in shipments to Venezuela, the common market countries (except The Netherlands), Poland, Spain, India, Japan, Korea, Taiwan, Algeria, and the Republic of South Africa.

Lease Expands Operations On Conservation Station

An additional 30 acres of land has been provided for the Snake River Conservation Field station at Kimberly.

The additional acreage was provided through a cooperative effort between the conservation field station, the Twin Falls soil conservation district and Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Gibbs, the landowners. The land, located near the station, will provide additional acreage for the laboratory to conduct tests and experiments.

The existing facility is situated on 10 acres which was purchased outright by donations and contributions.

The additional 30 acres was leased from Gibbs on a five-year term with options, and all parties concerned signed the lease 4 p.m. Monday at the office of TRASH DIVERTER MANUFACTURED by the Thompson Manufacturing company, Glenns Ferry, weighs 950 pounds and is used to move floating trash and debris from canals and ditches. The original machine was made for the King Hill Irrigation district and will now be offered on a commercial basis.

CANAL CLEANER is designed for mechanical and automatic removal of floating trash, weeds and moss. The machine was made by Thompson Manufacturing company, Glenns Ferry. It delivers the debris over the stream bank in a single operation.

Glenns Ferry Firm Starts Building To House Ditch Cleaning Machine

GLENN'S FERRY, Dec. 13 — Work on the new building that will be the site of Thompson Manufacturing company here is almost complete.

The building has 2,000 square feet of floor space, is of block construction and is located one block east of Hull Memorial park.

Ralph Thompson, local rancher and owner of the new business, invented a canal cleaner and trash diverter to remove trash, debris and moss from the King Hill Irrigation company.

Due to the efficiency of the machines and widespread interest shown by several other irrigation projects in the West, Thompson has decided to build the machines in a full scale operation.

The canal cleaner is designed for mechanical and automatic removal of floating trash, weeds and moss from any size waterway, when used with the trash diverter. It delivers the debris completely over the stream bank in one operation. It is designed so that practically the entire machine moves as a unit.

There are no moving parts in the water. All major load points are equipped with roller bearings for trouble free service.

The fork is nine feet wide, with one-inch tines, 42 inches long. This machine can be made any size, to meet most conditions. It can be installed on either side of the canal, as conditions require, to operate with, or opposing, the water current and with, or against, the wind. It can be set to operate at various intervals, run continuously or be operated by manual control.

Approximate weight of the canal cleaner is 4,700 pounds. The trash diverter is made of a plurality of wheels mounted on roller bearings, with specially designed, self-cleaning blades, powered by the current of the stream, or power driven.

There is no obstruction in the water, other than the wheels. Support is made from the bank. The wheels extend about 30 inches into the water to catch the floating litter, guiding it across the canal bank for canal cleaning.

Wheel arrangements can be made in any size or number and can be set at various angles to the stream. The diverter can be used with the canal cleaner and in other places to divert trash by headgates and other points of water diversions.

Approximate weight of the trash diverter is 950 pounds. Thompson said, "The company will specialize in irrigation problems and will add other machines to their list to manufacture from time to time." Production of the machines is expected to start in January.

Source Reports Freeman Will Stay as Secretary

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (UPI)—A source close to Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said President Johnson recently "threatened" Freeman with "arrest" if the cabinet member resigned or tried to resign.

This was taken as an indication that Freeman will remain in Johnson's cabinet indefinitely. The source said Johnson will give Freeman as much, or perhaps more, leeway in running the department than the late president did.

Johnson and Freeman are known to view agricultural problems with a great deal of similarity. As longtime senate Democratic leader, Johnson was familiar with farm legislation. A Texan, he knows the problems of the Midwest and Southwest farming area. As a senator, he favored high price supports for farm commodities.

Johnson already has started the wheat legislative ball to roll, ing. He has been described as apprehensive over the loss of income farmers will suffer when the market price of wheat drops next summer to near the now-scheduled support price of about $1.25 per bushel.

The wheat plan turned down by farmers in a referendum May 21 called for a $3 support rate. Department economists have estimated wheat growers will suffer a drop in income of about 600 million dollars if the lower price support goes into effect.

Freeman told audiences this week in Oklahoma City and Minneapolis that he had talked with Johnson about the wheat situation. He said Johnson indicated his "strong feelings that a wheat program will be necessary." Freeman represented Johnson as feeling that the program must be one that congress will pass, that it must keep costs in line and bring surpluses down. Before Kennedy's assassination, Freeman said frequently he

Globe Blue Book Revised For Farmers

FORT WORTH, Tex., Dec. 13—A completely revised edition of the Globe-Blue Book, a non-technical reference guide to animal and poultry health published by Globe Laboratories, incorporating many new advances of science, is now available on request.

The Globe Blue Book has been completely revised for the first time, and its printing now exceeds one-half million copies. Designed originally as a guide to animal and poultry health for farmers and husbandrymen, the book now is utilized by pharmacists, druggists, veterinarians, agricultural experiment station officials and a wide range of other persons concerned with livestock, dogs, poultry, fur-bearing animals and other aspects of the application of veterinary biologicals and pharmaceuticals.

The march of science in the field of veterinary medicine has necessitated periodic revisions of the Blue Book, but the new edition now off the presses represents its first complete overhaul to incorporate the fruits of latest scientific research, according to Dr. Clifford T. Orton, Globe staff veterinarian.

The Globe Blue Book discusses most of the known diseases of cattle, dogs, horses, cats, sheep, swine and poultry, recommends products for immunizing against or treating the diseases, and illustrates the various types of medicinal application or injection.

Diseases discussed in the Globe Blue Book cover such maladies as infectious abortion, a n. b. r. a. x. hemorrhagic septicemia, bacillary hemoglobinuria, bloot, calf diphtheria, scours, ticks, parasites, wheat poisoning, mastitis, screw worms, udder infections, canine distemper, hog cholera, enteritis, rabies, bluecomb disease in poultry, turkey erysipelas, Newcastle disease, trichomoniasis, household and agricultural insect control, plus many other problems confronting animal owners, stockmen, ranchers and farmers.

Federation Seeks Cut From List

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13—Removal of dairy products from the list of commodities being considered for tariff cuts was urged by the National Milk Producers federation of the trade information committee, which is holding hearings preparatory to negotiations under the general agreement on tariffs and trade, scheduled in Geneva next year.

Lower tariffs and increased imports would put a heavy burden on the U.S. price support programs and add to its cost of operation, the federation informed the committee. Imports reduce income to Americans by depriving them of more desirable markets and forcing domestic production in to commodity credit corporation.

"For example," it was stated, "imports of frozen cream displaces outlets for domestic fresh cream and drive down its price. The displaced fresh cream is made into butter and nonfat dry milk, and sold to CCC for substantially less net return."

"The firm policy of congress—that the foreign trade program should not be permitted to impair the domestic agricultural programs it has enacted—was restated in the trade expansion act of 1962," emphasized E. M. Norton, federation secretary.

"Further reducing tariffs would increase the pressure of the disparity already existing between domestic support prices and the prices of dairy products in world trade."

would consider any reasonable wheat program, but he saw no point in plugging for one unless the votes in congress were available.

Farm Bureau President Issues Call For Reassessment of Federal Policy

CHICAGO, Dec. 13—A national farm leader has called on the new administration to reassess the unsatisfactory experience with a government-controlled economy in agriculture and take steps to permit greater freedom for the market to operate.

"Farmers are ready to lead the way," Charles B. Shuman, president of American Farm Bureau federation, asserted in his address to the 45th annual meeting of the federation here.

Shuman said that farmers "have indicated in many ways their rejection of a government-managed agriculture—they ask only to be unshackled and given the opportunity to produce for consumers rather than for politicians."

He added that "Farm Bureau will gladly cooperate with the administration in any sincere re-evaluation of government agricultural programs and policies."

"The time is here," he said, "to clear the decks for competition in both domestic and world markets," but he pointed out that if farmers are to do this, "it is imperative that the entire national economy be more definitely market-oriented."

Shuman said that "clearing the decks for competition" will not be accomplished "merely by blocking new attempts to increase government intervention in agriculture," but "existing government production control devices and artificial pricing mechanisms" must be eliminated as rapidly as possible.

"We may never find a better time than now to dispose of these legalistic and costly structures which have become such a burden on farmers and taxpayers alike," Shuman said.

Wheat producers, he said, already have indicated which way they want to go by their vote in the wheat referendum last spring.

"The market price," he added, "is presently at or above the support price for soybeans, feed grains and dairy products. These programs could be terminated with little or no adverse effect on producers. All that is needed is a little advance notice and a simple action by congress to prohibit the dumping of government held surplus stocks to wreck farmers' prices."

"Clearing the decks for competition in the market place will shift responsibility for supply management to farmers. The competitive market price is the only effective means of reflecting changes in supply and demand to producers and consumers.

"However, the market price system does not work perfectly. Traditionally, farmers have concentrated on improving production, but have neglected their marketing responsibilities. This is the vacuum that has provided the excuse for government programs. As these programs are eliminated, it is imperative that the marketing power of farmers be strengthened," he asserted.

"The results of this type of government intervention are all too apparent—inflation, operating costs, inadequate industrial expansion and unemployment," he said.

Shuman charged that government with its increasing waste and boondoggling operations throughout the world imposed a crippling burden of taxation on our people. Investment of new venture capital has been discouraged by high rates and the threat of inflation. A tax cut without corresponding reduction in government spending would worsen this situation.

The federation president "we are standing on the hold of a great new advance ward filling the desperate needs that are so prevalent many less developed areas, potentials for expansion of productivity in American agriculture and business have barely scratched, yet we are following policies which tend to reduce and misdirect much of our productive effort."

FAS Reports Soviets Eat More Meat

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (UPI)—The foreign agricultural service said meat consumption in the Soviet Union during 1962 reached a new high, averaging 68 pounds per capita. This was a four pound increase over 1961 and a seven pound increase over the 1956-60 average.

FAS said that of the 100 billion pounds of meat eaten in the world in 1962, 50 per cent was beef and veal, 40 per cent pork, and nine per cent mutton, lamb, and goat meat.

FAS said less than one-half of one per cent was horse meat.

Drug Fails To Boost Beef Gains

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 13—(AP)—Varying amounts of tranquilizers administered to beef steers being fattened in dry-lot pens did not help rate of gain.

Apparently not, if a recently concluded University of Kentucky experiment station test held at the Lexington cold-weather farm is an indication.

Neil W. Bradley, researcher, said the trials were begun because previous tests had shown that 40 milligrams of a tranquilizer fed in the latter part of the feeding period increased rate of gain of steers on a fattening ration.

In his last test, he noted, tranquilizer—plus additional vitamin A increased rates of gain over the controls (no tranquilizer and 10,000 I.U. of vitamin A).

Carcass grades were about the same, he said, feed needed for each 100 pounds of gain were also close (from 2.23 pounds to 2.33 pounds).

The same general finding was noted when siltbestrol (synthetic hormone to stimulate late rate of gain) was used. The tranquilizer lots were behind the siltbestrol lots in average daily gain.

'Poor Mouth' Farm Approach Labeled Wrong Idea by Federation Secretary

CHICAGO, Dec. 13—(AP)—An attempt by farmers and their organization to induce the general public to feel sorry for them is a "poor mouth" approach that should be labeled "Operation Pity," the secretary-treasurer of the nation's largest farm organization said here.

"The only way to achieve pity on society on a continuing basis is to be pitiful," Roger Fleming told delegates and members of the American Farm Federation assembled here for the organization's 45th annual convention. Fleming addressed a meeting at the Civic Opera house.

He told the Farm Bureau delegates that they must "realize the absolute necessity of having the understanding and support of non-farm people on those issues important to the future profitability of farming."

He continued: "And, we won't get it by talking 'poor mouth.'"

Efforts to improve agriculture's public relations, he said, that are based on the concept urban people should feel sorry for farmers because they have problems will be self-defeating.

He pointed out that during the pre-referendum campaign, Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman repeatedly claimed the issue was "$1 wheat versus $2 wheat," or $1 wheat if the referendum question was defeated, and $2 wheat with government help, if the proposal was adopted by farmers.

Soon after the referendum, he went on, administration leaders felt they had to move to avoid being caught with a bad prediction on wheat prices which he said had been made in a futile effort to influence the voting.

He added: "This realization became increasingly acute as farmers' intentions to plant wheat revealed, no basis for the 'scare talk' that had been spread."

"Fundamentally, there were two choices available to the administration to get out of this self-dug hole. One was to support passage of legislation to which could be attributed the credit for having avoided the predicted debacle in wheat prices.

"The other was to find a dramatic way of demonstrating that something new and different had come into the picture since the referendum to alter the supply-demand situation in such a way—and to such an extent—as to change the market price outlook. The Russian wheat deal illustrates the latter approach."

Fleming also told the delegates he believes the most important specific issue in the government farm policy field now involves compensatory payment proposals.

Solutions in response to the sympathy appeal are likely to lower, not raise, the per family farm income of most farmers and ranchers and, the approach is dependent for its long-run success on farmers being unsuccessful.

Instead of pleading "poor mouth," he continued, farmers "should vigorously support an aggressive program designed to get widespread understanding on the part of every citizen of his or her stake in a healthy, efficient, dynamic and—yes—prosperous agriculture."

Saying there is no inevitable conflict between the interests of producers and consumers, Fleming told the audience that farmers must get the housewives of the nation to understand that any time food is produced less efficiently than it can be, the cost to consumers will be higher than it needs to be.

"If consumers ever understand that we're on their side in wanting to produce high quality food and fiber as efficiently as possible at competitive prices," he said, "we'll start making progress in public relations—and not until."

Last May's wheat referendum—in which farmers defeated a rigid government control program contemplated for that crop—"did more to improve farmers' image with the public than anything that has happened in modern time," Fleming said.

Magic Valley Sugar Beet Piles Covered for Winter

Some 150,000 tons of sugar beets are covered for the winter and should stay warm and snug until the bucket of a loading machine dumps them into a railroad gondola for transport to the sugar factory.

The large piles of sugar beets which dot the Magic Valley countryside are a familiar sight each fall. But now the sugar company is taking steps to protect the piles from weather and cold temperatures.

According to Robert Day, manager, Twin Falls factory, Amalgamated Sugar company, wind and weather can penetrate the stockpiles. As long as the water can enter the pile, freeze and expand, and later, during a warming trend, contract—the beets can spoil.

To eliminate this spoilage, the company has begun the practice of covering beet piles.

The beet piles are covered with huge plastic tarps, anchored on the top of the pile with beets and along the bottom with used automobile tires.

Straw mixed with an asphalt substance is then blown onto the pile to provide an adequate covering and stabilizes conditions inside the pile.

The covering may be peeled back as men and equipment begin transporting the beets to the factory.

Injuries Plague Farmers More Than Other Workers

NEW YORK, Dec. 13—(AP)—The average American farmer loses 12 days of work a year due to illness or injury, more than any other type of worker, the health service institute said today.

According to the institute's analysis of data just released by the U.S. public health service, farmers lost an average of 7.4 days of work per person for the 12 month period ending in 1962. The figure represents 1.7 days more than the average during the same period.

The institute said the workers in rural non-farm areas had the best over-all average nationwide with 5.3 days a year lost due to disability.

The public health service has offered two reasons for the high average in work-loss days on the American farm: There is greater percentage of older persons in farming than in other occupations, and most farm workers have a greater opportunity to postpone a job than in most other types of employment.

The currently employed population—that is, person 17 years of age or older—of over 88 million, had a total of 304,100,000 workdays lost during the 12-month period for an over-all average of 3.8 days lost per person.

The institute broke down the work-loss days this way, 343,000,000 workdays lost by the usually employed persons who represent 86 per cent of currently working population; 19 million days lost by housekeeping workers (usually women) who represent seven per cent of workers; and 31.8 million workdays were absorbed by persons working at the time they were made representing 10 per cent of currently employed persons.

By age group, the younger segments of working persons had the lowest average of days lost. For example, the 17-24 age group averaged 3.6 work-loss days across the nation while the 25-44 group averaged 5.0 days per currently employed person, said the institute.

Persons between the ages 45 and 64 averaged 7.3 days lost, while persons 65 and over in the nation averaged 8.0 days, the institute stated.

Except for the 17 to 24 age group, farmers had the highest average number of work-loss days in all other age categories. In the 25 to 44 group, farmers lost an average of 6.4 days a year while urban workers lost 5.1 days. In the 45 to 64 category, 9.5 work-days were lost by farmers and 7.0 days by city workers. In the 65 and over group, farmers averaged 12.1 days lost a year and urban workers 7.2 days, declared the institute.

Cattle Group Investigates Dual Grading

DENVER, Dec. 13—(AP)—Appointment of two noted meat scientists to conduct a special study of beef grading has been made by W. D. Farr, chairman of the beef grading committee of the American National Cattlemen's association.

Farr said Dr. E. J. Briskey and Dr. Robert Bray of the meat and animal science department of the University of Wisconsin would undertake a two-part assignment for the committee.

They will study existing research into the total grading situation, with emphasis on cutability, maturity and marbling in order to make a special summation during the association's annual convention in Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 26-29.

Meeting recently with the scientists in Madison were Farr and J. E. Browning, Willcox, Ariz.; John B. Armstrong, Kingsville, Tex.; and John Montgomery, Simi, Calif. The latter three are members of a subcommittee appointed to work with researchers.

Soil District Post Resumed At Fairfield

FAIRFIELD, Dec. 13—Leo Senften is the new work unit conservationist for the Gamas county soil conservation district. He has been transferred here from Jerome and has reopened the local office which was closed last summer when Rulon Chandler moved to Wendell.

Representatives from the Gooding district have kept the work going since the office closed.

Senften, who resides in Castleford, has had 13 years with the soil conservation work. He resigned and went to farming and has just recently returned to the work. He is endeavoring to get acquainted with the farmers and their problems during the winter months so that they will be ready to start operations when the weather changes in the spring.

His wife and family are residing at Castleford and may join him up here after school is out.

Sales Forecast Is Good At National Western Show

DENVER, Dec. 13—(AP)—The National Western Stock show claim as "The West's Most Useful Livestock Event" is dramatically illustrated in the sales of prize beef cattle, horses, sheep and swine.

During the nine-day show, from Jan. 10 through Jan. 18, here, sales likely will top 10 million dollars and, depending on market conditions, could top the $10,000,000 exhibited and sold during the 1963 show.

During the nine days a total of 15 sales of show entered and prize winning cattle, horses, sheep and swine will go under the auctioneer's hammer. The biggest sale of all is held during and in conjunction with National Western activities, but is not a show function, when thousands of feeder cattle in carload lots are sold at the rate of a carload a minute.

The scores of prize winners at the sales can bring a bonanza. At the 1963 show Dennis Gebert of Granville, Ia., showed a classed Angus steer to the grand championship and pocketed a check for $7,199.50 when the Denver Hilton hotel bid $6.05 a pound for the 1,190 pound steer. The reserve grand champion, a 1,030 pound Hereford shown by Thomas E. Hfrichs, Woodville, O., brought $3 a pound from the Brown Palace hotel, Denver.

In the famed National Western quarter horse sale, 100 head brought an average price of $1,145.75. The Hereford sale, largest of the three pure-bred cattle sales, saw 93 bulls and 21 females sold for an average of $1,928 with the top price bull selling for $27,000.

Nationally famous as a pace setter for the industry, the National Western Stock show annually proves its value to the working livestock world.

Non-Caking Agent Aids Salt Concern

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13—Leslie Salt company has introduced the first completely non-caking, free-flowing granulated salt to be produced in the West.

The announcement was made by Harry E. Kellogg, president of Leslie-Spice Island Sales company, marketing arm of the Leslie-Salt company.

Leslie's "Flo-Ever Salt" comes in three grades depending on crystal size. The new grades are priced the same as similar untreated vacuum recrystallized grades and are available in bulk or in 50 and 100-pound multiwall paper bags.

The new anti-caking control is achieved by the introduction of yellow prussiate of soda, known in the trade as YPS. This additive has been approved by the federal food and drug administration for addition to salt for animal and human consumption at a level not to exceed five parts per million or 0.0005 per cent. This minute amount, however, is sufficient for anti-caking control.

Finely granulated salt will absorb moisture during times of high humidity, Kellogg explained. Then, when temperatures rise and humidity drops, the salt will dry out and cake. This is an expensive headache to industrial users who must cope with caking in containers of from 100-pounds to one or two tons. Caked salt is hard to measure, hard to pour, hard to mix smoothly with other ingredients.

"In the past, the salt industry has tried many ways to correct this problem," Kellogg continued. "Uniform crystal size, careful packaging, special handling and storage have minimized but never solved the problem."

"There have been other non-caking agents used, such as basic magnesium carbonate but these are fine, insoluble powders that coat the crystals. Brine made from such a treated salt is cloudy and the level of addition is so high that it materially reduces the salt's application in such industries as canning."

"For instance, we add 0.5 per cent of basic magnesium carbonate to make our vacuum bakers grade of salt. The same or better anti-caking control can be obtained with 0.0005 per cent of YPS. This is another way of saying that YPS is a thousand times more effective than any anti-caking agent used in the past."

MEMBERS of the Twin Falls county agricultural stabilization and conservation committee handle the problem of administering the government's farm programs on the local level. Committee members are, from left, Guy Kinyou, Austin Moore and Carl Boyd, who is now serving as chairman for the sixth year. The program began in 1933. (Times-News photo)

3 Varieties Account for Apple Crop

BOISE, Dec. 13—The three leading Idaho apple varieties, delicious (including red delicious) Rome beauty and Jonathans, account for 94 per cent of the state's apple crop—reports the crop reporting service.

Delicious apples at 575,000 bushels are 15 per cent above the 1962 production and 22 per cent above the 1957-61 average. Delicious varieties are the leading apple crop in Idaho and make up 46 per cent of the total crop.

Production of Rome beauties is above the 1962 production by 23 per cent and 22 per cent above the 1957-61 average. Rome beauty accounts for 32 per cent of the 1963 commercial crop.

Jonathans were third in importance, accounting for 18 per cent of the 1963 crop. Production of Jonathans has increased 79 per cent over 1962 but is 20 per cent below the 1957-61 average.

Commercial apple production nationally in 1963 totaled 122.7 million bushels, down 2.9 bushels or 2 per cent from last year but one per cent above the 1957-61 average of 121.7 million bushels.

A 5.6 million bushel (15 per cent) increase over 1962 in western states was not enough to offset declines of 3.6 million bushels (14 per cent) in central states and 4.9 million bushels (eight per cent) in eastern states.

Production of winter varieties amounted to 107.4 million bushels, virtually the same as last year and four per cent above average. Production of fall varieties totaled 11.9 million bushels, three per cent less than last year and nine per cent below average.

The harvest of summer variety apples amounted to 3.4 million bushels, off sharply from last year and average.

All but six of the varietal classes estimated showed smaller production in 1963 than in 1962 with gravenstein showing the sharpest decline. The six varieties which registered increases normally account for a large part of the total crop and, therefore, nearly offset the declines in other varieties.

Production of delicious apples, the leading variety, was a record high of 31.5 million bushels, nine per cent above 1962 and 19 per cent above average.

ASC Committees Began Under 30-Year-Old Law

On May 12, 1933, there was enacted into law the agriculture adjustment act of 1933, authorizing the secretary of agriculture to establish state and local committees of producers to act as agents of their members and patrons, in connection with the distribution of rental or benefit payments.

The county committee in Twin Falls consists of three members, and is more officially known as the Twin Falls agricultural, stabilization and conservation county committee.

Committee members are Carl Boyd, Guy Kinyou and Austin Moore. Boyd is now serving his sixth year as chairman of the county committee.

The trio administers the county ASC program.

ASC county committees have many duties and responsibilities. In production adjustment, they determine size of individual farm acreage allotments each year, establish farm normal yields, consider complaints of producers, supervise referendums on marketing quotas and determine penalties and adjustments.

In conservation, they formulate local programs, review farmer requests for cost-sharing on needed practices and recommend changes in state and national programs.

In price support, they supervise the determination of producers' eligibility, appoint loan clerks and witnesses and decide what is adequate collateral for loans.

In storage activities, they give general supervision to commodity credit corporation-owned facilities, determine the adequacy of proposed farm storage and determine the accuracy of loans.

In the sugar program, they hold hearings and make decisions on labor wage claims and make determinations as to sugar payments and production.

In connection with emergency disaster assistance, they decide on the eligibility for and extent of assistance to victims of farm land damage by flood, drought,

Labor Group Returns From Seattle Meet

BOISE, Dec. 13—W. J. Adams, Idaho employment service director, and three farm placement representatives, Donald Bushnell, Walter Thomas and Donald Allen, have returned from a regional meeting held at Seattle. The meeting stressed the importance of developing "employment continuity" for migratory farm labor.

"The importance of migratory farm labor in harvesting the crops has been made even more vital than in the past by technological advances and mechanization," said Frank A. Potter, Washington, director, farm labor service, bureau of employment security, U.S. department of labor.

"As the result of these technological advances involving use of various new chemicals and processes, the crops mature at one time and there is a greater race against time in the harvest than in the past when there was more fluctuation in maturity," Potter said.

"It is vital that farmers be assured of an adequate supply of migratory labor, and it is becoming much more important that these workers have a greater degree of skill than those of the past because of mechanization."

"To assure this supply of needed labor we in turn must assure these people of greater continuity of employment and corresponding increases in their earning capacities."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (UPI)—The foreign agricultural service said U.S. agricultural exports to the European economic community—the common market—in calendar year 1962 were nearly as high as in 1961.

FAS said last year's exports to the EEC amounted to $1,151,000,000, only six million dollars less than in 1961. The 1962 value compares with $22 million dollars in 1958 and $1,094,000,000 in 1957, when exports received unusual stimulation because of the Suez crisis.

Common market members are Belgium, France, Italy, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, and West Germany.

FAS said U.S. agricultural exports to EEC gained seven per cent in July-September, 1963, over the same three months a year earlier. They totaled $281 million dollars compared with $245 million dollars a year earlier.

clines in other varieties.

Production of delicious apples, the leading variety, was a record high of 31.5 million bushels, nine per cent above 1962 and 19 per cent above average.
