

Gov. Smylie Names Gem State Racing Committee; Oakley Rancher Is Chosen

BOISE, Dec. 14 (UPI)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie complied with a court order to implement Idaho's pari-mutuel betting law by appointing today a rancher, a food broker and an auto dealer to the state racing committee. Smylie named Clarence Matthews, 59, Oakley rancher, to a term ending in January, 1965. He appointed Leigh Nielsen, 44, Rigby auto dealer, to a term ending in January, 1967, and Arthur Oppenheimer, 45, Boise food broker, to a term ending in January, 1969. Matthews reached at a meeting in Burley of the Idaho Horse Breeders' association, said the committee would meet in Boise with Smylie next week. At that time it presumably will select a chairman.

Horse Breeders Ask "Honesty" in Racing

BURLEY, Dec. 14—The Idaho Horse Breeders' association said today it wants the "very best racing facilities possible" in Idaho, either private tracks or on county fair tracks. The association took its stand in a resolution at a luncheon meeting at the Ponderosa inn, with about 100 members attending. The group, which was formed to promote horse racing in Idaho, called today for "absolute honesty" in application of the state's new pari-mutuel law.

CLARENCE MATTHEWS

U.S. Control Asked on Sale of Firearms

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP)—Close federal control of mail-order sales of firearms was urged before a senate committee yesterday. Opponents said such a law would invade state rights. Proponents said states can't do the job. Sen. Thomas A. Dodd, D., Conn., led a string of witnesses before the senate commerce committee, asking it to approve a bill he is sponsoring. Its key provisions would require: That anyone ordering a weapon by mail must submit to the seller an affidavit giving his name, age and address, and stating whether he has a criminal record and whether purchase of the weapon would violate state or local law. That the seller send a copy of this affidavit to the principal law-enforcement officer in the buyer's locality. That delivery be held up until the officer returns a receipt to show that he has received the affidavit. Dodd told the committee that so far in 1963 approximately a million weapons, ranging from small-caliber pistols to light artillery, have been delivered through mail orders. Since Jan. 1, he added, 265 persons have been killed or wounded in New York City with such weapons. Supporting the Dodd bill, Sen. Birch Bayh, D., Ind., noted that New York state has strict firearms control laws but the casual-state's new pari-mutuel law. Clarence (Tuff) Matthews, Oakley rancher, who was appointed a member of the state racing committee Saturday by Gov. Robert E. Smylie, cautioned the horse breeders racing must be conducted honestly. He said the horse racing law had better "work the first time" or there won't be a second time. The horse breeders passed a motion calling on the committee to provide the "best facilities for racing, whether county or private, and the maximum protection for the public, the horse and the horse owners."

Leaders of the group have said they probably won't construct a race track in Idaho, but have hopes a private party will. If a track is not constructed, racing would have to be restricted to county or state fairs. Joe Carlson, chairman of the Cassia county fair board, said it hasn't been determined yet whether it will be possible to have racing in his county by 1964. He said much will depend on the cost of such things as photo-finish equipment, veterinary fees and track stewards. Carlson said a meeting is planned with Jerome fair board to discuss the possibility of sharing some track costs.

J. A. Harker, Meridian, association president, said racing must be "honest and above reproach in every way." The main interest is to protect the wagering public, Harker said. "It is our goal to keep racing on a high plane."

The association also took note of the appointment by Governor Smylie of a state racing commission and authorized that a committee be appointed by the board of directors to assist and work with the new state agency. Harker said most of the association members approve of Governor Smylie's appointees. The resolutions on race tracks and the appointment of a committee to work with the state were the only ones passed at the afternoon meeting.

The group laid plans for a membership drive. Director Ken Malone, Gooding, said the association now has about 400 members and is growing all the time. The association's board of directors will meet again in January and the group will hold its annual meeting in February. Location and exact dates of the meetings have not been decided yet.

PAY HIKED
KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia, Dec. 14 (UPI)—Parliament voted today to increase the pay of "paramount ruler" Putra Ibtihal Marhum Syed Hassan Jamalullail from $60,000 to $70,000 a year.

The Oakley rancher has been a member of the Cassia county fair board for the past 25 years. This board was one of three joining Wendell rancher Joe Hansen in a successful court test of the new law. Members of the horse breeders' association, a group formed to promote racing in the state, expressed pleasure with Smylie's appointment of Matthews. They reserved judgment on the other two appointments, however, until learning more about their appointees.

Hansen, a vice president of the association, said he was pleased with Matthews' appointment but said he would want to become better acquainted with the other two members before commenting on them. Ien Malone, Gooding, a director of the association, voiced similar sentiments. But he added "at least we can get to work now."

Nielsen is not a race horse owner but has expressed an interest in horse racing. He is a past president of the Jefferson county posse. Oppenheimer said he had no background in horse racing or pari-mutuel betting, saying he was chosen as a businessman who had no bias one way or the other.

The controversial law was passed by the 1963 legislature over Smylie's veto. The governor contended the law violated Idaho's constitutional ban on lotteries. (See SMYLIE NAMES, page 2)

Twin Falls police officers continued the search Saturday for the missing $4,000 and guns which two gunmen used in the armed robbery of the Safeway store, 512 Main avenue north, of $4,575 Thursday evening. M. Frank Barnett, Twin Falls police chief, said Saturday the money has not yet been recovered, but when the clothes and guns used during the holdup are found, the money will probably be found along with them.

James Jacobs, 26, and Donald H. Collins, 25, both Eugene, Ore., have been charged with the robbery and are being held in Twin Falls county jail in lieu of the $10,000 bond each, set by Twin Falls Police Judge Dale J. Adamson when they appeared before him Friday afternoon. The two waived preliminary hearing and were bound over to district court on charges of armed robbery.

The gunmen who robbed the store held five shoppers and five store clerks at gunpoint Thursday night during the robbery. They took all currency from the four cash registers and the wall safe, before fleeing through the back door. Ernest McCullough, 26, Juneau, was arrested Saturday. (See SEARCH, page 2)

Homes Are Wrecked as Dam Breaks

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 14 (AP)—A giant wall of mud and water from a ruptured hilltop reservoir surged over an exclusive residential area Saturday afternoon, wrecking hundreds of homes and apartments. An estimated 200 homes were wiped out completely, swept from their foundations. Some were crushed and fragmented in the mad downhill flood-push. An estimated 1,500 to 2,000 more were damaged by muddy flood waters that in some areas submerged second floors. But, because a steady widening crack in the earthen wall of the reservoir gave warning that permitted evacuation, the human toll appeared light. Unofficial reports listed two or three dead.

Foreign Aid Cut Scored By Johnson

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP)—President Johnson said tonight the 2.8 billion dollar foreign aid bill drafted by the house appropriations committee would put the United States on the path of "weakness and retreat."

"The proposed reductions in foreign aid funds would put our foreign policy in a straitjacket," Johnson said in a statement. "I urge the congress, therefore, to appropriate the funds essential to conduct strong and forward-looking assistance programs in the U.S. national interest," Johnson said. The house committee approved the reduced bill earlier in the day. The 2.8 billion dollar total represents a cut of 1.7 billion dollars below President John F. Kennedy's request.

Johnson's sharply worded statement recalled that made by President Kennedy last August when the house approved a 3.4 billion dollar authorization for foreign aid spending. Kennedy called those cuts in the authorization shortsighted, irresponsible and dangerously partisan. Johnson said, "The drastic reduction in foreign aid funds proposed in the house, if sustained, would be a severe setback to American leadership and to U.S. interests in many parts of the world."

FBI Ends Secrecy in Sinatra Case, Three Men Are Arrested

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 14 (AP)—The FBI, ending five days of secrecy that made a notable mystery of the Frank Sinatra, jr., kidnap case, broke it wide open today with word it has rounded up the three men responsible, along with most of the $240,000 ransom. "Thank God it's over," said Frank Sinatra, sr. Later he added, "I believe the case is closed." An overstatement, but it reflected the relief of the entertainer and his family after a week-long ordeal.

The community-wide campaign for a civic auditorium-convention center in Twin Falls moved into high gear Friday at the second executive committee organization meeting in the Rogerson hotel. The first goal of the campaign, that of completing a 60-member executive committee, passed the two-third mark Friday, with 41 members signed up. Henry Wills, campaign chairman, explained that those serving on the executive committee have agreed to subscribe a minimum of $1,000, paying 20 per cent down and the balance over 36 months.

Premier Asked To Form Cabinet

ANKARA, Turkey, Dec. 14 (UPI)—President Cemal Gursel today asked caretaker Premier Ismet Inonu, who resigned Dec. 2, to try to form a new coalition government after attempts by the opposition Justice party failed. Gursel's request to the Republican Peoples party leader came immediately after Justice Party Leader Rasip Gumuspaia informed the president he was unable to form a coalition cabinet to end the 12-day-old government crisis. Inonu planned meetings tomorrow in an effort to form the coalition.

Small Plane "Grounds" Big Airliner

A small, private plane, buzzing through a Magic Valley snow storm, "grounded" a big plane Saturday. West coast airlines flight No. 312, westbound to Boise, was delayed 30 minutes when it was feared the light plane may have been forced down because of bad weather. The light plane reportedly flew over the Hollister port of entry, on highway 93, about 50 feet above the ground. Port of entry officers notified the municipal airport which then notified the air traffic communications station, Burley, which handles lost planes. The small plane landed at the Gooding airport about one and one-half hours after it was spotted by the officers. The pilot of the plane told Gooding airport officials that because of heavy snow and bad visibility he flew low over the highway to keep from getting lost.

Greets Premier

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (UPI)—President Johnson has told Italian Prime Minister Aldo Moro that he will do all he can to make the relationship between their two countries "even stronger." In a message of congratulations to the new premier announced yesterday, Johnson said he hoped he would have a chance to meet with Moro "before too long."

Lighting Contest Is Announced

Anyone noticing a particularly attractive or unusual display, however, is urged to telephone the Times-News, 733-0931, to try and eliminate the chance of any possible winner being overlooked. The displays will be judged Dec. 23, 24 and 26, but everyone is urged to leave the displays up until after New Year's day to give others a chance to see them. The rules are simple. The displays must be lighted, but may be either exterior or interior, as long as they are plainly visible from the street. First prize is $50, second $35, third $20, fourth $10 and five honorable mentions, $5 each. Any type of decoration is eligible. The elaborate nature of a display is not the deciding factor, since the decorations are judged primarily on general effect. A small but ingenious display may win over one much more elaborate.

ERNEST McCULLOUGH, 26, Juneau, was arrested Saturday on charges of armed robbery. He and James Jacobs, also Eugene, Ore., were accused of the armed robbery of the Safeway store, 512 Main avenue north, in which $4,575 in currency was taken. Still missing is $4,000 of the loot. Collins is being held in county jail in lieu of the $10,000 bond set by Judge Dale Adamson. Standing beside Collins are Bill Vickers, city detective, left, and M. Frank Barnett, police chief, right. 2 Countries Adamant on Differences

BRUSSELS, Dec. 14 (AP)—France and West Germany stood adamant today on trade policy differences which could sink the six-nation European Common market if not resolved next week.

During a week-end lull in negotiations on agricultural policy, both sides were busy explaining their positions.

French President Charles de Gaulle has threatened to take France out of the Common market if agreement on a common agricultural policy is not reached by Dec. 31. But the Germans say there can be no agreement on agriculture unless the Common market makes a more formal commitment to back American-sponsored negotiations on general tariff reductions scheduled for Geneva next May.

Tonight, French negotiators were insisting that an "action program" agreed by the Common market partners last May 9 was sufficient guarantee of France's readiness to support the coming negotiations at Geneva.

The Geneva talks between the 56 member nations of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) aim at reducing tariffs on a wide range of commodities by as much as 60 percent.

Such cuts would force the Common market into the sort of "outward-looking" trade policy which the West Germans want and the French seek to prevent.

Saturday afternoon temperatures ranged mostly in the 20's and 30's except for 17 at Idaho Falls. Snow occurred over sections of Idaho today, but ended during the afternoon as cloud cover temporarily broke, allowing a little sunshine to occur. Snow and fog still gripped southcentral Idaho through the afternoon.

Another storm is expected to sweep over the plateau area Sunday with snow again falling over Idaho.

Temperatures at higher elevations are expected to rise as the wind flow returns to more westerly direction, but not much change is expected in temperature for valley areas of southern Idaho as the cold air will continue to be trapped and fog will persist in most of these valleys.

The outlook is for a continuation of cloudy, weather, some moderate change of temperature, but snow again occurring as a weak storm moves through Southern Idaho on Monday.

3 Accidents Reported in Buhl Area

BUHL, Dec. 14—Three automobile accidents occurred Saturday afternoon in the Buhl area.

The first happened seven miles east of Buhl on highway 30, at 12:40 p.m. William H. Parr, Jr., 24, Nampa, applied the brakes of the 1958 Ford he was driving when a car in front of him slowed for a turn.

Parr's car slid off the road, jumped a ditch and sideswiped an Idaho Power company pole. His wife, Dorothy, 19, broke two front teeth when her head hit the dashboard. She was treated by a Buhl dentist.

Damages to the car were estimated to be about $800, according to the investigating officer.

William H. Kyles, 47, Buhl, was cited for having his car improperly licensed after a one-car accident, two miles east of Buhl on highway 30 at 1:45 p.m.

Kyles, driving a 1962 Volkswagen, failed to negotiate the Cedar crossing curve, and his car ran off the road and struck a road marker.

Kyles reported he had turned the wheels, but due to ice the car continued to go straight ahead. There were no injuries and damages were estimated to be about $100 by the investigating officer.

The third accident of the afternoon occurred three miles southwest of Buhl when Mrs. Patricia A. Price, 18, Buhl, applied the brakes of the 1958 Oldsmobile she was driving and skidded off the road, striking an Idaho Power company pole, breaking it in half.

Mrs. Price, her son, Rand, 20 months, and Rick Jordan, 12, Buhl, were treated by a local physician for minor cuts and bruises and released. The car was deemed a total loss, according to the investigating officer.

Smylie Names Oakley Man To Committee

teries and refused to name the committee.

Fair boards from Cassia, Oneida and Jerome counties joined Hansen in bringing action before the Idaho supreme court to force Smylie to make the appointments.

The high court subsequently ruled 4-1 that the law was constitutional and ordered Smylie to appoint the committee. The governor asked for a rehearing, which was denied, and the court gave him until today to name the committee. The task was completed last night and announced this morning.

Although the governor has said he will ask the 1965 legislature to repeal the law. He opposes it on moral grounds and twice has won election by defeating gubernatorial candidates who advocated legalized gambling in the state.

The Allied Civic Forces, a temperance organization, also is working for repeal of the law. This week it called for a campaign to have the question put on the next general election ballot.

Members of the three-member racing committee are charged with preparing and promulgating a complete set of rules and regulations to govern race meets and the pari-mutuel system in Idaho.

Army Officer Seen Today Found Dead At Burley

BURLEY, Dec. 14—The body of an army second lieutenant, Gary Vernon Warner, 24, was taken to Ogden Saturday morning for services and burial. He was found dead of a self-inflicted gunshot wound in a Burley motel at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, according to Burley police.

After being found in the motel, the body was taken to the McCulloch funeral home, Burley, from where it was moved by ambulance to Ogden under the supervision of army personnel.

Dam Breaks

dations, then ripped out the foundations. Swimming pools were scoured out, leaving only holes behind.

In the two hours before the disaster, police cars with bullhorns patrolled the area, ordering residents out.

Within an hour Mayor Samuel W. Yorty declared it an emergency area. Later, Gov. Edmund G. Brown declared it a disaster area.

The flood swept down into a catch basin at the foot of the reservoir's earthen front. But the catch basin was filled in moments, and the water, spuming 50 feet in the air, shaking the earth with its fury, leaped out of the catch basin and into a residential section below.

Terraced homes—some in the $80,000 class—were swept from their step-like sites in the canyon, disappearing in seconds, one by one into the brown flood.

In the area ahead of the water 30 motorcycle policemen were roaring through the streets, warning people from the flood's path. Most got out in time.

But cars were caught as the water poured, three-quarters of a mile down the canyon, spreading through the residential section. Motorists and policemen abandoned their vehicles and climbed to rooftops.

The flood was two massive tides—each 10 feet high—as it speared across Coliseum road, at the foot of the Baldwin Hills.

It swept down two north-south streets in a block-square apartment development called Village Green.

Whole rows of apartments literally vanished in the flood. Roofs slipped from two-story structures, slipped through the air, and landed crazily in trees hundreds of yards away.

A woman screamed at rescuers from one of the apartment houses: "My husband is gone. He's gone. I saw him get in the car, and he was swept away."

Release of Hostages in Bolivia Eyed

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Dec. 14 (AP)—Leftist Vice President Juan Lechin said tonight he was agreeable to the government terms for an immediate release of 19 hostages, including Americans, held by his striking miners.

Lechin's announcement over La Paz radio station did not press the government to free the 19 jailed communist labor leaders as a condition for the hostages' release.

President Victor Paz Estenssoro called his cabinet into session to discuss the case.

It was not known whether Lechin's miners in Catavi, where the hostages have been since Dec. 6, would go along with Lechin's views.

The miners' earlier demands that the two jailed Reds be freed on bond before the hostages could go free.

A high government spokesman said it was a judicial matter, not an executive one, whether to free labor leaders Irineo Pimentel and Federico Escobar on bond, pending their trial.

Retirement Plan Denied by Judge

BOISE, Dec. 14 (AP)—Idaho's senior federal district Judge Chase A. Clark says there is "no truth" to reports that he plans to retire next March.

Clark's comment came following renewed speculation he will step down after the first of the year.

"I have fixed no time for retirement nor given any thought to it," said the 80-year-old jurist. "There is absolutely no truth in reports that I will retire in March and when I decide to I will make the announcement myself."

Idaho Power Dispatcher Is Given Award for Service

An award recognizing 35 years of service with Idaho Power company has been presented to R. H. Brown, service dispatcher in the southern division operating the control center here, the company announced today.

Brown, who lived at Jerome as a youth, joined Idaho Power there in 1928 and has served in the southern division ever since, according to division manager Earl E. Haroldsen.

Among Brown's early duties was meter reading and one of his memories of those days reflected the spread of rural electrification in Magic Valley.

"In 1929," he recalls, "I could read a meter in one day. Today the company serves nearly 1,000 farm customers in the Jerome area.

Brown later worked as a serviceman and line man at Jerome, transferring as an operator to the Twin Falls substation in 1952.

These dispatching operations were carried on at separate locations, including the Twin Falls substation, were combined in the division control center this year and Brown moved there in his present capacity.

Haroldsen said the veteran employee is one of five dispatchers who man the center in three shifts 24 hours a day, coordinating the routing of service orders and remote-control operations of distribution and transmission facilities throughout the division.

Thanks

POCATELLO, Dec. 14 (AP)—Philip Goldfaden's Christmas card arrived at the Pocatello police department yesterday just as it has for 30 years.

Goldfaden, a police sergeant in Long Branch, N.J., once explained the cards in a letter. He was a teen-ager, he wrote, during the depression of the 1930s, and rode a freight train into Pocatello. Cold and hungry, he went to the police station and was given a place to stay and a hot meal.

Goldfaden's card, tacked on the bulletin board, says: "Thanks a lot. I'll never forget it."

Pause Sought In Cold War By Soviets

PARIS, Dec. 14 (AP)—The Soviet Union is seeking a cold war pause because of severe economic problems and the growing stress of its wrangle with communist China, NATO sources said today.

The NATO assessment coincided with reports by American circles here that Secretary of State Dean Rusk is telling his allies that President Johnson also seeks a diplomatic pause and sees no prospects for summit talks in 1964.

The NATO assessment to be presented to the ministerial council meeting opening Monday suggested that Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev wants to keep the diplomatic contacts open to Washington and London without seeking major new policy commitments.

Russia, under pressure from agricultural shortcomings, was reported contemplating a slowdown in some industrial sectors that may affect defense projects, the sources said. Khrushchev himself in a speech reported today announced plans for trimming the military budget and troop reductions.

The NATO sources warned against underestimating Soviet military power which NATO planners said is as powerful as ever, both in the conventional and nuclear fields.

Gov. Connally Expected to Return Home

AUSTIN, Tex., Dec. 14 (AP)—Satisfactory progress in his recovery from bullet wounds and then a blood clot in his right leg will allow Gov. John Connally to go home from the hospital tomorrow afternoon.

The Texas governor, shot by President Kennedy's assassin, was reported today by his doctors at St. David's hospital to be making a good response to treatment for the blood clot.

In indirect result of the wounds, the clot formed in the superficial vein in his right calf where a tube was inserted to feed Connally intravenously.

He will continue to undergo medical treatment for that complication at the two-story mansion near the state capitol. His doctors said the governor must remain in bed through next week but fewer injections to dissolve the clot and blood tests will be necessary.

St. David's is the second hospital—the governor has used as his headquarters for the state government. Taken to Parkland hospital in Dallas immediately after the Nov. 22 shooting, Connally underwent surgery for wounds from a single bullet that hit him in the back, passed through his chest, broke his right wrist and then landed in his left thigh.

Eisenhowers Leave for Winter Trip

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 14 (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife, Mamie, left frigid Pennsylvania today for an extended winter vacation at Palm Desert, Calif.

The couple boarded a private railroad car here in 22-degree temperature after a 35-mile trip by car from their Gettysburg farm.

For the first time since Eisenhower began making the trip from Harrisburg after leaving the White House, city police were on hand to provide extra security.

The precautions undoubtedly were taken in view of the assassination of the late President John F. Kennedy.

The Eisenhowers are expected to arrive in San Bernardino Wednesday. They play to stay in Palm Desert until May.

Tax Returns Of Baker to Be Examined

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP)—The White House will permit state investigators to examine the tax returns of former senate majority secretary, Robert G. (Bob) Baker, it was announced today.

Plus Secretary Pierre Salinger said an executive order is now being processed which will authorize the senate rules committee to obtain Baker's income tax returns from the internal revenue service.

Salinger said that such executive orders are checked first by the justice and treasury departments before they are signed by the president.

The request for access to Baker's tax returns was made by the committee several weeks ago to the late President John F. Kennedy. Kennedy had not yet granted the authority when he was assassinated.

The committee is investigating Baker's financial transactions while he was a senate official.

The one-time page boy resigned when details of this lucrative outside business dealings came to light.

The rules committee will open hearings on the case Tuesday. The first session will be televised nationally by a network.

The initial phase of the inquiry was expected to center on Baker's financial transactions, particularly his connection with a flourishing vending machine company.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

BY ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 — Interesting things keep happening within the Soviet bloc, and they have to be listed as good news even though Uncle Sam realizes they probably couldn't happen if Nikita Khrushchev were seriously opposed to their happening.
The latest of these straws in the wind was the agreement between the Yugoslavians of the rebel, Tito, and Rumania to spend 400 million dollars on a navigation and hydroelectric project at the Danube river's "Iron Gate" between the two countries. It followed by a couple of weeks Rumania's desertion of the Moscow line to vote for a United Nations study of a proposal to make Latin America a nuclear-free zone.

BIG PLANS AHEAD—In the communist world, 400 million dollars is a lot of money and such sums are not spent casually without the prospect of a fat return. The Iron Gate project will lay up a 60-mile stretch of rapids, which now takes shipping five days to navigate, so that passage time can be reduced to 32 hours. Its aim, of course, is to increase traffic on this majestic waterway and thus swell the coffers of both countries.
But if the shipping on the river is to increase, the increase will have to come from expanded East-West trade, and the project therefore is another communist gesture toward the free nations of Europe. Both Yugoslavia and Rumania want this trade, for economic if not political reasons, and they have gone ahead independently of Moscow to do something about getting it. And although Tito officially is viewed with suspicion by the Kremlin, this did not keep the Rumanians from swinging a deal with him that will require the utmost of friendly cooperation.

RUMANIA GETS AWAY WITH IT—Yugoslavia, of course, long has pursued this independent course, but Rumania is new at the game of going its own way. Nevertheless, the Rumanians have discovered over the past couple of years that they can run their own economic shop and get away with it. When Khrushchev urged them to concentrate on agriculture, they ignored him and went ahead with their industrialization program, and Mr. K. didn't even slap their wrists.
Khrushchev, of course, is having his own economic problems and is not in a position to impose his will on any satellite seeking a profit outside the Soviet bloc. But Rumania's vote on a nuclear-free Latin America in the U.N. was a political gesture, and the Kremlin is far more sensitive about that sort of thing because that way lies deviationism, which is the worst crime in communism's book.

THIRD RED SPLIT—Rumania voted for the resolution despite the fact that Moscow and the rest of its satellites abstained. It was announced that the Soviet bloc thus temporarily abandoned the usual communist line of supporting denuclearized zones because it wanted to throw its support to Fidel Castro's Cuba, which found the U.S. position on the proposal unpalatable. For example, Castro wanted the U.S. to quit all its military bases in Latin America and the Caribbean.
But Rumania explained that it was sticking to principle, and that Cuba—and, presumably, Moscow—could go hang. In the U.N.'s history, it was only the third time a Soviet satellite had voted contrary to the Kremlin line: Poland's defection on two votes on the Hungarian issue in 1956 was excusable because Poland was having its internal troubles at the time and for domestic consumption it had to take a more liberal line.
In Foggy Bottom, state department experts regard the situation with cautious eye. They like to confine themselves to the comment that all these things are "interesting." As usual, it is U.S. policy to encourage more independence and more assertions of sovereignty by the satellites, while keeping an eye peeled for possible made-in-Moscow gimmicks.

OAS TAKLES CASTROISM
By a count of 18 to 0, with only Mexico abstaining for anticold-war reasons, the council of the Organization of American States has voted to investigate charges by Venezuela of gunrunning on the part of Castro Cuba.
This investigation could be the prelude to sanctions under the OAS Rio treaty but its most important effects are likely to be in the information it develops for thoughtful people in Latin American countries menaced by Castroist influence such as the terrorism that sought to prevent Venezuela's presidential election.
President Betancourt of that country has suggested an air and naval blockade against arms exports from Cuba. Even this may be a bit extreme under present circumstances. But if findings of the investigative commission should persuade a few more Latin countries to break diplomatic relations with Havana, this could be significant and helpful.

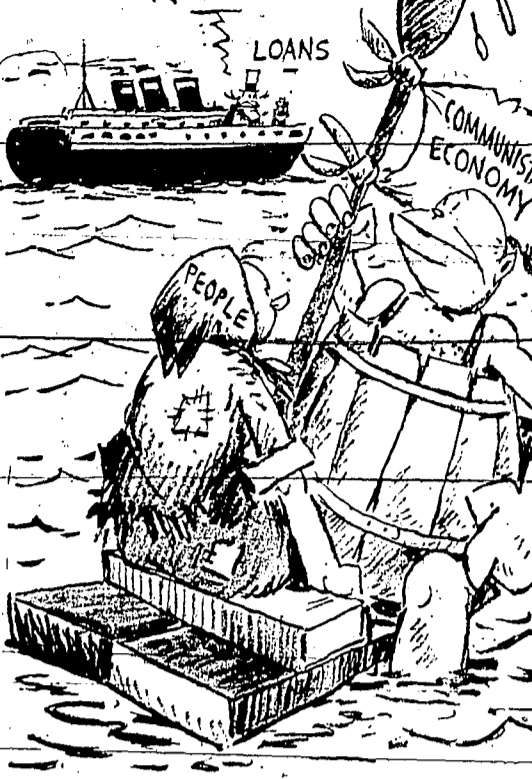

CHOSEN BUT NOT ELECTED
Mexico will elect a new President in July, but Mexico has already picked the man to fill that post. The paradox between form and substance tells much about democracy in Mexico.
Gustavo Diaz Ordaz, 52-year-old former college professor, judge and senator and now minister of the interior, has been nominated for the presidency by the dominant Institutional Revolutionary party. This party has chosen and elected every president for 40 years. Yet the Mexican system cannot be summarily dismissed as a one-party system in the totalitarian sense, for it is not. The single party in Mexico represents a consensus of political opinion, and reflects that consensus in its choice.
For example, President Adolfo Lopez Mateos is thought to have favored his secretary of the presidency, Donato Miranda Fonseca, as his successor. Despite his political influence, the president did not win for this choice. Mr. Diaz Ordaz evidently had the initial backing of business, clerical and conservative groups, but it was the endorsement of the powerful confederation of labor that won the day for him.
As interior minister, Mr. Diaz Ordaz earned the particular enmity of communists and Castroists, some of whom he jailed for a railroad strike. He probably will be moderately conservative, by Mexican standards, in domestic affairs, and cooler toward Cuba. But it is most unlikely that any Mexican President would countenance "foreign intervention" anywhere in Latin America, including Cuba. North Americans can expect the next President of Mexico to be friendly, but independent, as they can assess the Mexican political system to be democratic, but different. On both scores there is a lesson to be learned north of the border.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A few weeks ago, I dropped you a little note and then was surprised a day or so later to see a note in your "Bulletin Board" telling me to feel free to expand on my topic and send a signed letter to the Public Forum department.
So after mulling it over for awhile, I did. Several days went by and I received a little note, plus my letter, telling me it was too long and 300 words was the limit.

Do you have any information on the subject? How frequently does Twin Falls have a white Christmas?

STRICTLY NORMAL
Dear Gent:
I confess I've reached the point where I just don't understand.
All summer while I was going fishing, I saw pheasants, ducks, geese, partridge, deer and even elk. I chortled to myself and told myself I'd really get my share of birds and big game when the seasons finally opened.
Well, they did, and I haven't. We crawled along in Snake river canyon which was supposed to be crawling with pheasants and what did we see? Yep, jumping fish! We went deer hunting near one of the high lakes we'd visited that summer and didn't see a deer, although they'd nearly run over us during summer. And you guessed it—the top of the lake was literally boiling!

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

COVERING THE CAPITAL WITH PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (NEA) — U. S. information agency — the government's international public relations arm — has pulled out all the stops to make the world better acquainted with new President Lyndon Johnson.
This effort began Nov. 22 after President Kennedy's assassination when the vice president took the oath of office that made him head of the American government. It reached a high point with Voice of America's worldwide live broadcast of President Johnson's speech to congress early Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 27.
In those five days Voice of America was on the air 22 hours a day and USA world-wide wireless dispatches were greatly extended beyond their normal 10,000 words a day.
Monitored in 111 American overseas posts, this full news coverage formed the basis for information services provided foreign governments to project a daily picture of the important events happening in the United States.
The totals effect was to assure the world that the change in presidents had not changed American foreign policies and that the American government remained strong.
Foreign reaction to the broadcast of President Johnson's speech, as analyzed by USA's research staff, has been generally favorable.
Moscow expressed cautious approval of Johnson's pledge to implement the Kennedy ideas and ideals and to work for removal of the main causes of U. S.-USSR friction.
This theme was rebroadcast in many languages by Radio Moscow. But some communist doubts were expressed on the new President's statement that the United States would keep its commitments from South Viet Nam to West Berlin.
Western European news media showed much encouragement and increased confidence in U. S. leadership after the Johnson speech. This came after the sophisticated European press had expressed great disbelief that the events in Dallas happened just as reported and for the motives given.
There were other minor assents. Yugoslavia was grateful that Johnson did not mention Cuba, but Japan's Socialist party regretted that he did not mention the Far East more specifically.
From Africa there was scattered concern that President Johnson's southern background might have some effect on his support for civil rights. Communist China's "People's Daily" predicted that the U. S. imperialist policies will not change and that Johnson will continue Kennedy policy.
Voice of America has made no answer to these criticisms, other than by following the usual policy of reporting the news straight and factually as it happens. This may have been particularly helpful in getting the news behind the iron curtain.
Russia has made no attempt to jam VOA broadcasts for some weeks. So Russia's internal broadcasts that the assassination was the result of a Trotskyite conspiracy with the American radical right and the Ku Klux Klan were disproved.
The job now is to continue familiarizing foreign public opinion with President Johnson's personality and views. This is the assignment that USA television, newsreel, picture and news feature services have taken on.
A half-hour documentary on President Johnson is now being put on video tape by two Emmy award winners who volunteered for the job.
Two complete television shows on Johnson's life and career are being prepared, with Spanish voices for Latin-American audiences.
Newsreel clips are being prepared for 35 areas where there is no commercial news file.
A six-page insert photographic life story of President Johnson will go into the Polish and Russian editions of "Amerika," the USA illustrated monthly magazine.

BARRY GOLDWATER

Many Americans, I believe, were heartened by President Johnson's actions with regard to French President Charles de Gaulle.
When the latter was in Washington to attend the funeral of the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Mr. Johnson went out of his way to hold a 40-minute conference with the French leader and to encourage General de Gaulle to make another visit to the United States.

It strikes me that President Johnson would have a much better chance of getting along with France and of repairing the fissure that has characterized the Atlantic community in recent months if the senate foreign relations chairman would stop muddying the waters with ill-timed remarks about France's President de Gaulle.
There is great need at this particular time for improving relations with all Western European countries, and especially with the French. Many Americans took the action of General de Gaulle in coming to President Kennedy's funeral as an indication that he is ready to ease tensions which have strained relations between Washington and Paris for almost a year.
It would be unfortunate if the remarks of the senate foreign relations chairman should have the effect of undoing any good that might have resulted from the Johnson-de Gaulle conference. In any event, it was a considered risk to take at this time.

(UPI Foreign News Analyst)
Despite determined official optimism, an undertone of disquiet runs through news dispatches from southeast Asia where in the last eight years the United States has invested so much.
In South Viet Nam, the young generals, who took over after the overthrow of the Ngo Dinh government, are pursuing the war against the communist Viet Cong with greater vigor.
Out of 17,500 American troops in South Viet Nam, 1,000 are expected home in time for the New Year.
Beautiful and sophisticated Saigon has regained its gaiety, the bistros are filled, though guarded against a surprise communist grenade, and tiny Vietnamese women in their bright, silken garments pedal through the city's tree-lined streets.
It's as if, beginning at the city's outskirts, there were no war.

being prepared for distribution in Latin America, Africa and free Asia.
Text for an 8,000 word pamphlet on President Johnson was transmitted by wireless to USA's three production centers in Manila, Beirut and Mexico City.
Both booklets, of a type popular in the developing countries, will be printed in many languages for worldwide distribution, in millions of copies.

And that perhaps is the source of some of the disquiet.
The Diem regime, in its own way, also fought hard against the communists but failed to win the people. After the harsh rule of Diem and his brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, in Saigon at least, the military regime has the people's support.
But whether that support be translated into an all-out national effort against the Viet Cong is another matter.
More and more it is being called that in their 10-year effort to hold Indo China, the French won every battle but the last one.
The United States' own experience in Laos and in South Viet Nam all too often has seemed to demonstrate that only the disciplined and indoctrinated communists feel a real reason to fight, and that a national will is lacking.
In the end, neither aid or military success will win the battle for southeast Asia without accompanying political and psychological determination of the people themselves.
And that is the field in which the new military regime must prove itself.
Other events give reason to disquiet over the future of southeast Asia.
In Phnompenh, capital of Cambodia, 200 American advisers are getting out on orders of Cambodia's elected chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, who has canceled the American aid program which has been running at 30 million dollars a year.
Sihanouk believes the war against the South Vietnamese Viet Cong already is lost and that he must prepare his country for a neutrality acceptable to China.
In neighboring Laos, pro-communist forces control two-thirds of the country.

Poor Man's Plato

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK, Dec. 14 (AP) — Sidewalk comments of a Pavement Plato.
There are those who predict that in time man, who as yet cannot control himself, will be able to control the weather.
The prospect of such victory by science has only one pleasing aspect to most of us — it probably won't happen in our own lifetime.
In 1890 in the Hartford Courant, Charles Dudley Warner, a friend of Mark Twain, wrote the most widely quoted observation ever made about the weather, a remark which most people attribute to Twain himself:
"Everybody talks about the weather, but nobody ever does anything about it."
The profound irony of this observation is based on the truth that, at least until recently, there wasn't much a fellow could do about the weather except to accept it, enjoy it, complain about it and, when necessary, take what steps he could to protect himself from it.
The weather has been the Creator's greatest instrument for teaching humility to arrogant man. No other device, not even the devil-inspired instrument, the income tax, has done so much in this respect—to keep man reasonably humble, or at least restrain him from overreaching himself with excessive and unreasonable schemes based on his own selfish desire to have his own way.

Rain falls upon the just and the unjust with a fine and moist impartiality.
With the same grand and unconscious impartiality, the weather blows down a farmer's barn with a tornado, starts a forest fire with a lightning bolt, speeds 10 times 10 billion seeds to sprouts of growth, assassinates a wilderness of bloom with killing frost, or freezes a lake so children can go ice skating.
In childhood and youth, we pay little heed to the weather except to complain about it querulously as it frustrates our dreams.
But as a man grows older, he learns to appreciate the weather and its moods more.
He develops a love as well as an awe for all its endless vagaries, its deep and changing chords of peace and unrest so like the music in his own soul. No wonder it is of such incandescent and timeless interest to him.
Who doesn't look with some apprehension upon a future when controllers of the atmosphere will inflict their choices of the weather upon us?
Do we really want to do much more about the weather than go right on talking about it?

Woman Questions Need for Buhl Police Chief Change

Editor, Times-News: I do not believe the residents of the city of Buhl were informed of all the facts of the change to be made in the Buhl police department. It was implied that the matter was settled to the mutual satisfaction of all the parties concerned. Nothing is further from the truth. Mr. Burbank cannot understand Mr. Maughan's action, especially when the mayor-elect would not give him one reason for his demotion. Mr. Burbank has faithfully served the people of Buhl for 11 years, the last two as their police chief, after Mr. Kendrick quit to take a better paying job with the sheriff's department. I might add, at this point, that Mr. Burbank has served as police chief at a much lower salary than his successor was paid when he held the position before. Therefore, I cannot understand Mr. Maughan's statement "all of us have a common desire to provide the greatest service at a reasonable cost to the taxpayer." You could not ask for better service or more loyal service than Mr. Burbank has given both me and all the people of Buhl. This endorsement should mean a great deal because although Mr. Burbank calls me "Mom," I am his mother-in-law. MYRTLE L. RUSSELL (Route 2, Buhl)

Neglect of Religion Viewed As Cause of World Trouble

Editor, Times-News: As I read the newspapers now days, three problems persistently come to mind — crime, mental health and religion. Isn't it strange that as we neglect and ignore the latter, the first two increase greatly? I am thinking Leo Harvey Oswald's mother now must know how Judas' mother felt 2,000 years ago. Who is to blame, society or a widowed mother? Let us all judge our own household. But had Judas and Oswald been lovingly taught the Ten Commandments, would it not have changed his story? But how many of us are now raising more Judases and Oswalds with our lack of religious training and letting our children know they are sincerely loved, and our courts ruling out scriptures and prayers in our public schools. So tomorrow's mental strain and crime will exceed today's greatest fears. Once the people of our nation were shocked and surprised if people were so irreverent and ungrateful as to neglect prayers on any occasion. But, today, people are surprised and often raise an eyebrow at prayers outside of the church. I hope President Kennedy's funeral and President Johnson's request for our prayers will awaken us to realize religion is proper anytime. And America, without her religion, will fall like Rome and the communists will enslave us without a shot, and history will be repeated. MRS. JOY HUFFMAN (Murtaugh)

T.F. Resident Thankful for Civic Auditorium Progress

Editor, Times-News: In March, 1960, in an interview with a reporter for the Times-News for a Magic Valley Portrait, my closing statement was as follows: "It seems to me that there are about four objectives with which the citizens should be concerned — industrial development, a United Fund, a sewage disposal plant and a civic auditorium, where our neighbors and others in and out of the state could join us in a convention; where home talent and outside entertainment could be housed and enjoyed. "We have wonderful scenery and a beautiful valley of nature's wonders for the outside, but no place to gather in comfort in a body. "Southern Idaho spends enough at Jackpot, Nev., in one year for entertainment, to build a commodious auditorium." I am indeed proud that we have some substantial industrial development. The United Fund and sewage disposal are in successful operation. A good start has been made to realize the dreams of those ardent workers on a community much more apt to read it. God destroyed the people in Noah's time because of evil in the soul. He destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah because of so few righteous. Jerusalem was destroyed because they did not accept the teachings of Jesus. How will the sinners of this generation be destroyed? ARNO JOHNSON (Jerome)

President's Assassination May Have Been Awakening

Editor Times-News: In thinking of the killing of President Kennedy, I have been wondering if it could be an act of mercy to our nation. Has God allowed this to come for the good, or that good might come from it? Seeing how people have been so stirred, emotionally and spiritually, has God allowed it to come as an awakening, a warning? Have we as a nation drifted too far from the shore of God? We believe this country was founded upon spiritual freedom. Surely God has greatly blessed this country. We are a favored people, but seeing and hearing of the great and terrible events that are being done, I am wonder-

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP)—A crackling U.S.-Cambodia dispute threatens to upset the edgy balance of power in Southeast Asia and open the way for increased pressure from communist China. American relations with the little neutralist monarchy, never too warm, took a dangerous skid Friday as both nations recalled their ambassadors. Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's hot-tempered ruler, is said to be so angry that he ordered his embassy here stripped of all personnel except the cultural attache. U.S. officials stressed that if Cambodia rejects all Western aid it could become easy pickings for Peking. And that could open the flood gates. Cambodia, with a population of less than six million, figures, seeking to divide Cambodia — large for it is the geographic cornerstone of the Indochina peninsula — the land barrier between Communist China and the pro-Western bloc. With its northern neighbor, Laos, Cambodia could form a corridor for Red China all the way to the South China sea. Recognizing the country's strategic importance, the United States has been trying to win Sihanouk's friendship since Cambodia won independence from France. Sihanouk's belief is that the only chance for his country's peace and independence against the massive pressure of Communist China is strict neutrality. Sihanouk objects to American military aid to Cambodia's neighbors, South Viet Nam and Thailand. He regards both as enemies, less than six million, figures, seeking to divide Cambodia —

Through the reports issued by the Audit Bureau of Circulations, this publication, along with other publisher members of ABC, voluntarily and regularly give the buyers of advertising more verified factual information than is available for any other advertising media at any time.

Certainly We're Sure — it's an ABC publication!

Once upon a time advertisers were, whether they liked it or not, perforce speculators. They couldn't help it, because advertising media circulations were generally unknown, unnamed, and unmeasured quantities. Circulation figures, on which advertising space costs are based, were frequently influenced by the pressures of competition, desire, or publisher's ethics, sometimes bearing little relation to actual fact. Today, however, advertising money can be invested on the basis of FACTS—the information in the reports of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, a nonprofit, independent association of nearly 4,000 advertisers, advertising agencies, and publishers. This publication is a member of ABC. Its circulation is audited by specially trained circulation auditors and reported in accordance with standards established and maintained by ABC—the highest standards of advertising value. Buyers of advertising can be sure how much circulation this publication has, where it goes, how it was obtained, how much readers pay to see it, and other FACTS that tell them what they get for their advertising money. It pays to be ABC-audited sure!

BOISE, Dec. 14 (AP)—The Idaho highway department is asking $879,000 in federal public land funds to aid in speeding completion of the Boise-Stanley highway. State Highway Engineer G. Bennett said costs of completing the route to standard width is estimated at about five billion dollars. Of this $2,425,000 in forest highway funds is planned for expenditure on the route within the next five years but Bennett said an additional $2,320,000 is needed.

BOISE, Dec. 14 (AP)—The former South Vietnamese ambassador to the United States warned in Boise today that the fall of South Viet Nam would result in a communist takeover in Southeast Asia. "What is at stake in South Viet Nam," said Tran Van Thong, "is much more than American prestige. This is the future of Southeast Asia, of Asia—of the world." Thong, father of former South Vietnamese first lady Madame Ngo Dinh Nhu, told the Boise committee on foreign relations that the only effective means of combatting the communist advance is American foreign aid. "Of course your programs of foreign aid have sometimes been disappointing," he said, "but like any other tool or weapon, foreign aid can and must be improved, like rockets and planes."

"This really puts some emphasis on vocational education," said Glenn. "To me it is an emphasis that has been needed for a long time. It will remove almost every obstacle."

Congress Has Finished Most Major Work for This Year

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (UPI)—Congress has cleaned up all of the major legislation it is expected to send to President Johnson this year except possibly for a foreign aid appropriations measure.

Climaxing perhaps the most productive congressional week of its long year, the senate yesterday cleared for the White House four major bills:

A 1.56-billion dollar vocational education bill also extending the national defense education act and the impacted areas program of aid to school districts with populations swollen by federal installations.

A 3.6-billion dollar foreign aid authorization bill sticed 980 million dollars below administration requests.

A 527-million dollar bill extending the 1962 manpower training act and broadening it to include more youth training and to add literacy courses to the program.

A 1.5-billion dollar military construction appropriations bill containing funds for bases all over the nation and in many foreign countries.

Congressional leaders have programmed no major legislation for next week — the final one of the protracted 1963 session — except the foreign aid money bill.

They conceded that the two top-priority administration bills of the 88th congress — civil rights and a tax out — are going over until January.

But Democrats maintain that the record written this year on federal aid to education is proof the 1963 session has been productive, despite criticism of its record.

In addition to the vocational education bill, they point to the 1.2 billion dollar college construction measure sent to Johnson Tuesday and a 231-million dollar medical education bill signed by the late President John F. Kennedy in September.

U.S. Experts End Training On Inspection

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (UPI)—A team of U.S. experts has completed two weeks of hush-hush training here for a mission to inspect Soviet and other scientific bases in the Antarctic.

At some time—the date is secret—the team planned to slip out of the United States by plane to verify first hand that a 1958 treaty which reserved the Antarctic for peaceful purposes has not been violated.

U.S. officials would say only that the trip would be made sometime before the end of the Antarctic summer in March.

The team includes diplomatic officials and experts qualified to check on everything from evidence of nuclear explosions to violations of seal-hunting conventions.

The United States has stressed it has no evidence of any violation of the treaty but that it wants to exercise the right of unilateral inspection which the treaty, signed by the United States, Russia and 10 other countries, provides.

The team cannot arrive at a Soviet Antarctic base completely by surprise. It must negotiate airplane landing clearance first. But the plan was to keep this advance notice as short as possible.

The United States announced Sept. 13 that it planned to conduct the inspections but it carefully avoided giving the dates and did not say exactly which bases would be checked.

The two weeks of intensive training which the team completed yesterday included everything from political briefings to Instructions for technical observations and the proper wearing of Antarctic clothing.

Vatican Officials Worried About Pilgrimage of Pope

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 14 (UPI)—High Vatican officials said today they are worried about the security involved in Pope Paul VI's pilgrimage to the Holy Land.

The trip, from Jan. 4-6, presents the Vatican with a number of new problems—including that of protecting the pope. Since President John F. Kennedy's assassination, there have been tightened restrictions and a closer guard on the pontiff.

Normally, the job of protecting a pope falls to the colorful Swiss Guards. But it is a ceremonial protection since all they carry are ancient halberds and shiny steel breastplates and helmets.

Although they are all ex-military men and train regularly in the use of arms, they do not carry guns on duty. Since Pope Paul's trip is a pilgrimage, they will not be going along. Charged with his protection will be a handful of Vatican gendarmes, the policemen of the Holy See.

About 10 of them will accompany him on the trip, dressed in plain clothes and carrying guns. But the brunt of the chore will fall on the Jordanian and Israeli police.

Vatican police sources said both nations have promised all possible cooperation.

There already has been one public suggestion that there might be trouble.

In Cairo, the newspaper Akhbar Elyom suggested that "Zionists might kill the pope during his forthcoming visit to the holy places and accuse the Arabs of doing it."

"What is there to prevent Israel from exploiting the pope's assassination in Israel and pinning it on the Arabs living there?" the newspaper asked.

"What can prevent Israel from committing such a crime in Jordan and then trying to pin it on Arab refugees just as it is trying to pin the crucifixion of Christ on the Romans?"

High Vatican sources shrugged off the newspaper's suggestions as "propaganda" because of the tense Arab-Israeli situation.

But they said that the idea of having the pontiff fly from place to place in the holy land by helicopter was objected to on the grounds that because of the border troubles a mistake in identity might lead either side to open fire on the helicopter believing it was an enemy plane.

EXPLORER SCOUTS can learn police tactics at Scout meetings. James Milden, president of Explorer Scout post No. 303, sponsored by the Idaho state police, has his fingerprints taken by Fred House, secretary, as part of a class on the subject during a regular post meeting. The post is the largest specialty post in the Snake River council and one of four such posts in the United States. (Times-News photo)

Snake River Area Explorer Scouts Eye Law Enforcement

By MIKE McGREER

Without a doubt, the boys of Explorer Scout post No. 303, sponsored by the Idaho state police, are some of the proudest Scouts in the Snake River Scout council.

The post is the largest specialty post in the council and one of four such similar law enforcement posts in the United States.

The post advisor is Idaho State Police Lieutenant M. J. (Jim) Bays, who is in charge of Idaho state police district No. 4. Bays along with several other Idaho state police officers work with the boys, who number 40, to teach them, beside regular Scout duty and honor, classes of special interest.

The post was organized in March of 1963 as part of a specialty program in the council, according to Richard Best, Scout executive for the council.

There are only four law enforcement posts in the United States and post No. 303 is the only one sponsored by State Police, Best noted.

The other law enforcement posts include Orange county sheriff's post, Santa Ana, Calif., and two city police posts—one in Canton, O., and the other in Patterson, N. J.

Other specialty posts in the council include law, forest, conservation and medical posts.

Scouts are allowed to choose other boys who will enter the organization. Fred House, secretary of the post, explained that the boys work with each other so they should be able to choose their colleagues.

Bays points to the Scout charter on the wall of the state police office with pride and notes that at first the Scout council wanted the state police to sponsor a shooting post but, he said, "If we are going to sponsor a Scout post then it should be a law enforcement post."

The post has had classes in radio communications, radar, first aid and started fingerprinting at their last meeting held Dec. 5.

State Publicman Richard Burns is conducting the fingerprinting class which will last about three meetings.

Meetings are held every other Thursday at the state police office, located in the old hospital building.

Different state police patrolmen teach the classes. There are usually two patrolmen at the meetings, Bays said.

Bays pointed out that the state police do not force the boys to work on any particular project. "They choose their own projects," he said.

During the first fall court of honor for the post, 16 boys were awarded with merit badges for such things as camping, painting, railroading, marksmanship and eight of the boys received Red Cross patches as well as first aid badges.

The boys studied first aid for about three months and their final award came with the badges and patches at the court of honor.

The first aid classes managed to pay off one day when two Explorer Scouts from post No. 303 were going to school and witnessed an accident.

The Explorers are Mike Pietz and Terry Quinn. Quinn saw a 10-year-old boy hit by a motorcycle. A forest service truck was near the scene of the accident. While the forest service employee called the city police, Pietz and Quinn checked the boy's injuries. They noted the boy seemed to have a broken leg and after being taken to the hospital it was confirmed that he

Good Price Reported on Sale of Great Northern Beans

The area bean bargaining committee of the National Farmers Organization announced Saturday that growers members will receive a 40-cent per hundred-weight price advantage locally on the sale of 2,400 sacks of great northern No. 1 beans.

The sale, the first of its kind in Magic Valley, will give members a 40-cent increase over the current market price for great northern. This is the first major sale in Magic Valley by the local collective bargaining group. The local committee said other areas of the U. S. have completed similar sales in which grower members have successfully negotiated a price advantage.

AIDE NAMED

PARIS, Dec. 14 (AP)—The North Atlantic Treaty organization reports Lieut. Gen. Baron C. P. de Cumont of Belgium will succeed Gen. Adolf Heusinger of West Germany as chairman of its military committee March 1.

Glen Gould, Buhl, committee chairman, said increased prices for farmers is the ultimate goal of NFO, thereby insuring a reasonable margin of profit for the farmer on quality farm produce. The sale announcement came prior to efforts by area NFO groups for increased membership and activation of master contracts.

The national office of the NFO is coordinating a drive throughout all bean-producing areas to activate master contracts on dry edible beans.

Area kick-off drive will start at 9 a.m. Wednesday at the R and R cafe in Buhl with Ralph Hastings, area coordinator, spearheading the drive. Bean growers and interested persons are invited.

Tampering Admitted on Jet Planes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (UPI)—An airman has admitted tampering with six jet trainer planes found sabotaged at a Texas air base, it was disclosed today.

The Pentagon said the incidents discovered at Reese air force base, at Lubbock, Tex., involved T38 craft. Previously, 61 of the jets were crippled in a similar manner at Williams air force base, Chandler, Ariz.

At Reese, the defense department said, electrical cables on the nose gear steering assemblies of the six planes were pulled from their sockets Thursday night, making the nose steering inoperable.

The name of the airman who allegedly admitted tampering with them was withheld temporarily pending completion of an investigation.

Meanwhile, other air force bases have been told to increase security measures, a spokesman said.

The air force said earlier that officials believe the incidents at Williams air base also were believed the work of a disgruntled civilian employee or serviceman at the installation.

Farm Bureau Function Is Explained

BUHL, Dec. 14—Louis Reinke, Twin Falls county board member and chairman of the special committee to re-activate the Buhl-Castleford Farm Bureau, explained the Farm Bureau and its purposes during a planning meeting held to re-activate the local bureau Thursday afternoon in the Buhl civic rooms.

Reinke pointed out the Farm Bureau is a means for farmers to get together to discuss commodity and current problems and to work for their solution.

Other county officers attending the planning session were Charles Harris, Twin Falls president of the Twin Falls County Farm Bureau; Lyman Engle, Piler; Waldo Martens, Buhl; county board members and members of the re-activating committee, and Orvel Thompson, Farm Bureau field representative.

Lawrence Roubinek, Buhl, was appointed temporary chairman for local planning sessions. He in turn appointed Maurice Querry, Jr., Castleford, Jess Howerton and Albert Schaal, Buhl, as a nominating committee to present a slate of new officers for the next meeting, slated for 2 p.m. Jan. 9 in the Buhl civic rooms.

Roubinek also appointed Kyle Bell, James Cothorn, Buhl, and Frank Holesinsky, Castleford, to serve on the by-laws committee with the report to be submitted at the next meeting.

Both of these committee groups and the temporary chairman were urged to attend a special county board meeting for retiring and new officers of Twin Falls county Farm Bureau, to be held at 1:30 p.m. Thursday at the county office on Addison avenue in Twin Falls. It was noted this meeting was previously announced for Friday.

First Lady Gets Many Letters

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP)—Some wrote in the epiery script of the old. Children enclosed pictures of their dogs. Some offered their prayers, and others sent copies of the services in their churches for the dead president. The letters started coming to Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson just a few days after President John F. Kennedy was killed and Lyndon B. Johnson became president. The mail for the new First Lady has been running about 500 to 600 letters a day, the White House says. It has no cumulative total, because the letters have been going, too, to the Johnsons' old home. In general, the letters are expressions of sorrow for the tragedy that took the life of a president and words of encouragement for the new First family. One Texas judge told President and Mrs. Johnson there is "great sorrow in our hearts for President Kennedy and his fine family, but we look to the future with confidence under your calm leadership." In her replies, Mrs. Johnson has told her good wishers—"These have been anguished days for all of us. The good wishes and confidence of people all over the world have sustained us during these trying times . . . of so many people have been most reassuring. . . . How thoughtful of you to write me in the days of anguish. It is her practice never to begin a letter with "I." At first, it seemed, people just wanted to write Mrs. Johnson about the tragedy and their good wishes for her. Some told her not to take the time to reply. In the past week, they've shown a curiosity about the new First family—where does the family eat dinner? Where do the dogs sleep? Requests for pictures of Mrs. Johnson and her two daughters, Lynda Bird, 16, and Lucy Baines, 16.

Delay Asked On Enlarging U.N. Councils

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Dec. 14 (AP)—The United States suggested today that the general assembly shelve until next year the problem of enlarging the two top U. N. councils.

U. S. Ambassador Francis T. P. Plimpton told the special political committee that while all U. N. members except the Soviet bloc apparently agreed on the necessity of enlarging the councils to accommodate the expansion of U. N. membership since 1945, there was no unanimity on the number of elective seats to be added.

To vote now, Plimpton advised the 111-nation committee, would "do no more than record our present known differences."

Plimpton pointed out that charter amendments required to change the number of members in the two councils required approval of two-thirds of the U. N. membership — not just those countries present and voting.

No proposal now before the committee, he said, could muster the required 74 votes to send it to the national legislatures for ratification as a charter amendment.

Quencher

BOISE, Dec. 14 (AP)—The only resolution passed here by the annual meeting of the Idaho Horticultural society was in jest, but the society went down in history as one of the few conventions not rallying votes for a slew of resolutions.

The society's apple and prune committee passed a resolution to send apple and prune juice to California to reduce the golden state's thirst for the waters of the Snake river.

Bever Named to Veterans Group

BOISE, Dec. 14 (AP)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie has appointed George Bever, Twin Falls, to replace Charles Link, Boise, on the Idaho veterans' affairs commission effective Jan. 1.

Link has been a member of the commission since 1955. He has moved to Denver, Colo. Bever, 40, is a former post commander of the Twin Falls American Legion post 7.

Fashion Trends Now Calculated By Computer

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 14 (UPI) — One clothing manufacturer feeds a high-speed computer facts to get trends in fashion.

Feed the machine early orders from around the country, turn the data over for analysis by fashion and merchandising experts, and up come some predictions.

Corduoy outfits in pastel shades and bulk sweaters with a new U-neckline are scheduled for top popularity with the high school, college and young career female, say the machine and analysts at Bobble Brooks, Inc.

For dressup occasions, dresses with the high-waisted Empire look in crepe, velvet and brushed wool are favorites. Blue and pink are expected to continue their dominance in the new season, to be joined by lilac which appears to be running a close third.

Those sweaters with the U-throat instead of the traditional V, come in fur blends, brushed mohair, jacquard and printed designs. In skirts, the projection sees a strong resurgence of slim

Women Pine for Visible Butcher

CHICAGO, Dec. 14 (UPI)—Despite the convenience of pre-packaged meat products, women want the personal attention of a butcher when buying meat. So says the director of the Good Housekeeping Institute. "American industry, in spite of the wonderful job it has done in giving us good quality products, has gotten so mechanized it has lost the personal touch," said Willie Mae Rogers.

Miss Rogers told delegates to the American Meat Institute convention that a survey of readers of her publication showed that they "voted overwhelmingly for someone at the meat counter to wait on them." She appealed for a uniform method of identifying meat cuts to simplify recipes. Terms such as "California roast," "mushy," "shoulder pernil" and "veal tenderloin" are unknown to many butchers and to most consumers, she said.

Miss Rogers suggested that large stores employ a home economist to help women select meat and suggest ways of preparing it. "About half the women I surveyed had trouble identifying cuts of meat and how to cook them," she said.

Jordan Lauds Idaho as Beet Growing Area

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (Special)—Idaho has soil, climate, irrigation water and growing experience as well as processing know-how to successfully produce and process sugar beets year after year. Sen. Len Jordan told department of agriculture officials hearing requests for additional sugar beet allotments yesterday.

Jordan declared that if Idaho is privileged to secure additional beet acreage commitments at this time, department of agriculture can be assured of continuing and consistent supply of high quality beet sugar from those acres.

"We have a 50-year history of successful sugar beet growing. It has been a definite part of our crop rotation with alfalfa, feed grains and Idaho's famous potatoes for the past 30 years. In recent years, by-products of the sugar beet growing and processing industry have been one of the major factors in our expanding livestock feeding industry growth."

The Idaho senator noted that there are some 2,000 owners and operators of diversified irrigated farms who have not been able to secure assured beet acreage, who now desire to produce sugar beets as part of their farming operations.

"Idaho is fortunate in having outstanding and experienced sugar beet processors with sound finances and noteworthy success in their employ and community relations as well," Senator Jordan declared.

Day Set

BOISE, Dec. 14 (AP)—Monday is "bill of rights day" in Idaho by proclamation of Gov. Robert E. Smylie. The governor, called on citizens of the state to do their "utmost to act concertedly and with determination to uphold the sacred principles of American unity, upon which the bill of rights is based and defend them from all the attackers."

Benson Says Reds Foment Rights Move

LOGAN, Utah, Dec. 14 (AP)—Former Agriculture Secy. Ezra Taft Benson charged last night that the civil rights movement in the south had been "fomented almost entirely by the communists."

Benson, a member of the council of the twelve of the LDS church, said in a speech to a public meeting here that the whole civil rights movement was "phony."

The former Eisenhower cabinet member said the purpose of the communists in this area was to create a civil war to enable them to conquer a weakened United States.

"It has been their plan, gradually carried out over a long period with meticulous equality, to stir up such bitterness between whites and blacks in the south that small flames of civil disorder would inevitably result," Benson claimed.

He said the communists then could fan and coalesce these little flames into a great civil war if the need arose.

GIFTS OF THE MAGI

One flight up Della ran and collected herself, pausing before Madame Sofronie. "Will you buy my hair?" asked Della.

"I buy hair," said Madame Sofronie. "Take your hat off and let's have a sight at the looks of it."

Down rippled the brown cascade, "Twenty dollars," said Madame Sofronie, lifting the mass with a practiced hand. "Give it to me quick," said Della.

Red Chinese Boss Starts Africa Tour

CAIRO, Dec. 14 (AP)—Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai arrived today to begin a two-month tour of African nations.

Some diplomats believe he will make a major effort to polish Peking's image and counter Soviet prestige among the emerging African nations.

Chou was greeted at the airport by Premier Ali-Babry, representing President Nasser who is in Tunis. Nasser was expected back later to entertain Chou at dinner.

Despite the airport cheers the Egyptian government's welcome for Chou—highest ranking communist ever to visit the country—had the earmarks of restraint.

The preparations were done behind the scenes. The Cairo Press gave minimum notice of the arrival, and Chou's program in Egypt was kept secret until the last minute.

But overnight in Cairo clusters of gold-starred Chinese flags appeared.

Mrs. Marjorie Brown Cook, 58, former Twin Falls resident, died at Sausalito, Calif., Saturday.

Mrs. Cook was born in 1905 at Trinidad, Colo., and was married to David W. Cook. She came to Idaho in 1914 and was graduated from Twin Falls high school and University of Idaho. She and her husband spent 12 years in South America, where he was employed by Standard Oil company of New Jersey.

Survivors include her husband; a brother, Carl H. Brown, Grants, Ore.; a sister, Mrs. Mary Ellic Barker, Rye, New York; and step-sister, Mrs. Frank W. Brown, Twin Falls.

Funeral services are set for 4:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 15, in Sausalito, with cremation to follow. Burial will be held in Twin Falls. The family suggests memorials be made to the seeing eye dog fund of Delta Gamma in care of White mortuary.

Redhot Bruins Romp to 65-38 Win Over Buhl

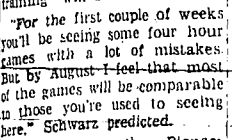

Twin Falls used three platoons and all of them were hot Friday night as the Bruins hammered down the Buhl Indians 65-38. The game was never close as Twin Falls dominated the backboards most of the time and shot extremely well on eight- to 15-foot jump shots.

FROM ALL ANGLES

BY LARRY HOVEY

"I have never seen a city that wanted to get out of a rookie league," states San Francisco Giant spokesman Jack Schwarz on the outlook of the new Pioneer league.

Financially, the Pioneer league is not a job of many years, but it is a job of many dollars.

For the first couple of weeks you'll be seeing some four hour games with a lot of mistakes. But by August 1 I feel that most of the games will be comparable to those you're used to seeing here," Schwarz predicted.

Schwarz was the Pioneer league's major status champion and one of the prime reasons professional baseball will be in Southern Idaho next year. "I don't think we deserve a lot of thanks for that," Schwarz said. "After all this rookie league should benefit us. But there were two other times that the Giants saved the Pioneer league . . . when they provided half working agreements into Pontellio."

It will be a rather new experience all along the line for Magic Valley fans. About June 5 this town will become overrun by 40 to 60 teen-agers, all with visions of major league potential. At that time, they will be on a 10-day training period. Conducting that session will be the manager, who will be announced later and another man from the San Francisco hierarchy.

One known name that will be here for sure is Hank Sauer, a former National league home-run king and most valuable player and now a scout for the Giants.

Some of the wedding will be done then, Schwarz reports. Although the roster limit will be 21 players, there still should be 30 or more boys around town, taking turns at getting a chance to play and prove themselves.

Schwarz agreed with the theory that baseball fans should find it much easier to be more forgiving because of the extreme youth of the club. In the past, some fans have become disenchanted with the lethargic play of more experienced players who have "short arms" or "tough chances, or not giving 100 per cent."

"Enthusiasm will be the one thing you'll have all the time," Schwarz chuckled. "There'll be some rough spots and errors but there'll always be enthusiasm."

Another facet of the rookie league is perhaps some local products might be able to break into baseball. Schwarz noted any promising boy could go to the training camp and benefit from the 10 days of professional coaching. If they showed sufficient potential they would be signed.

"I can't think of anything that could help the league more than have four or five Idaho boys playing on these four clubs," he said. "There might be some around Idaho is not well scouted anytime. There's a big chance that a good Idaho prospect will get away compared with the Bay area where there's practically no chance of any boy being overlooked. It's just a difference in the number of scouts in an area. No major league club could afford a full time scout in Idaho where there is such a short season and so few high school teams playing."

At a Friday luncheon, Schwarz told the Cowboy board of directors there was no history of such a change over where a league would be class A one year and switch to rookie status the next. "The Appalachian league was follow for a year or two before the rookie league started," he said. "There hadn't been any professional in Nebraska for 20 years when the Nebraska State league went in. We have no comparison or anything to tell you along that line."

most sharp early shooting by Craig Storti, who hit all 10 of Buhl's first quarter points, kept the bottom from falling out earlier than it did as Buhl was held outside most of the night by the Bruin defense and proved too cold.

Coach Paul Ostyn started three juniors in this game in an effort to get more experienced height. He relieved them with 1:57 left in the first quarter and came on with the third unit with three minutes remaining in the half.

Storti was extremely sharp in the first quarter as he connected for 10 of his 12 points during that span. After Twin Falls built up an 11-point edge, his closing two buckets—one a 55-footer on the quarter buzzer—brought Buhl back to within seven.

Gary Yost hit another field goal as the second period began but that was as close as Buhl could get. Steve Humphreys and Steve Woodall hit six points in the next minute to re-establish the 11-point margin. Then Storti hit his 12th point and the teams traded baskets until just before halftime when Twin Falls moved in front 33-23 on a bucket by Kirk Williams.

Art Vandenberg opened the third quarter with two quick buckets and a 17-point lead and Buhl didn't get much closer after that.

The Indians played without 6-foot, 1-inch Allen Doyd and felt his absence in the rebounding department.

Twin Falls sophomores waxed hot in the second and third quarters to win the preliminary 65-38.

Bulldogs Use Early Surge To Top Devils

KIMBERLY, Dec. 14—The Kimberly Bulldogs jumped off to an early lead and held swap the rest of the game to drop the Murtaugh Red Devils 63-55 last night.

It was Kimberly's third win against one loss while Murtaugh still is seeking its first win after two outings.

The Red Devils came close only in the second quarter. Trailing by eight points after the first eight minutes, Murtaugh warmed up enough to cut Kimberly's halftime edge to 34-32. But the Bulldogs began rebounding their lead as the second half began and although never leading by much, the issue was never in doubt.

Houston Thumps Louisville 21-7

HOUSTON, Dec. 14—Two second half touchdowns by Mike Spratt, both on reverses, gave Houston a 21-7 football victory over Louisville today in the season finale for both teams.

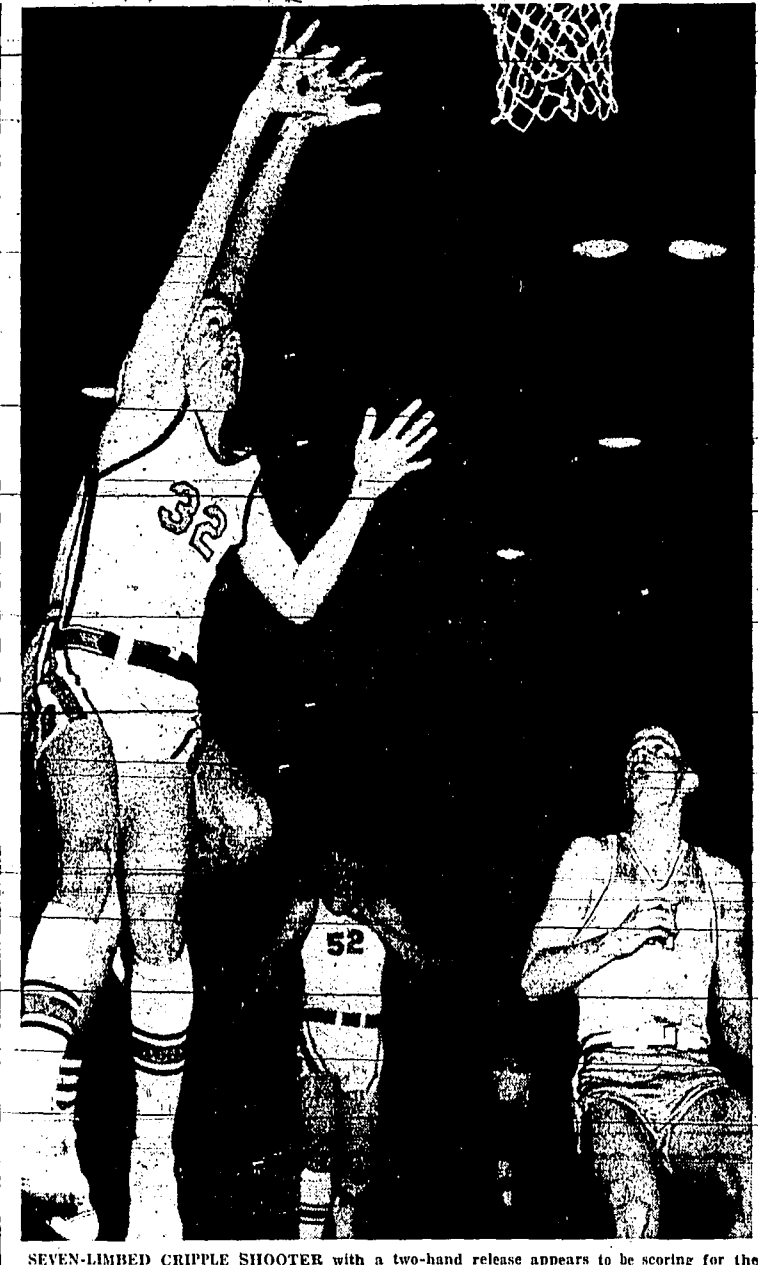

Quarterback Jack Skog gave Houston a 7-0 lead with a touchdown the first time the Cougars had the ball.

It held up for the half, but early in the third period Tom Laframboise capped a nine-play drive with a four-yard run over left end to score.

Houston took the kickoff and bounced back for a go-ahead touchdown on a 11-play, 63-yard drive.

continue operations in the pattern of former years.

For the Chamber of Commerce types, Schwarz noted cost of fielding a rookie team has run the Giants about $50,000 for the last three seasons and never less than $33,000. "That means there should be from $26,000 to $30,000 San Francisco dollars coming into Twin Falls," he noted. "And that's clear. There won't be any leaving town."

SEVEN-LIMBED CRIPPLE SHOOTER with a two-hand release appears to be scoring for the Buhl Indians against the Twin Falls Bruins Friday night. Actually, Craig Storti (32) was rammed from behind by Twin Falls' George Smith as he took the shot and missed. Waiting for the rebound is Steve Beer. Twin Falls won 65-38. (Times-News photo)

Pilots Nip Filer on Sims' Free Throw

GLENN'S FERRY, Dec. 14—Jim Schwager tied the game with a field goal and Terry Sims iced it with a pair of free throws in the closing seconds last night to lift the Glenns Ferry Pilots past Filer's Wildcats 40-38. Glenns Ferry led at all the quarter stops, but had only a two-point bulge going into the final period. Del Ericson, who scored 14 points, then led Filer into a two-point lead with 1:10 remaining in the game.

Several seconds later Schwager came up with his tying field goal and Sims, who hit nine of 12 attempts for the foul line, decided by hitting both ends of a one-and-one with just 17 seconds remaining. Sims ended the night with 15 points.

Filer won the preliminary 35-37.

U.S. Skiers Win Four of Six Firsts

VAL D'ISERE, France, Dec. 14—Bud Werner, Steamboat Springs, Colo., won the special slalom and the slalom combined today to give the American Olympic ski team four of the six first places at the four-day meet here, the first big international test of the season.

Werner, 27 and one of the top American skiers for nearly a decade, won the first heat of the special slalom with the best time of the day, 39.48 seconds. He finished the second heat in 41.66 for a total of 81.14.

Michel Arpin, France, was second with 81.66, and Ivo Njuncet of Italy third in 83.12.

Jimmy Heuga, Tahoe City, Calif., was sixth with times of 41.45 and 42.66 for 84.11.

Gordon Eaton, Littleton, N.H., was 22nd and Ni Orsi, Stockton, Calif., finished 39th. Their times were 88.61 and 101.32.

The slalom courses of 43 gates each were laid out on a slope with a drop of 145 meters.

The Americans were delighted at the results of the meet, in which all the big Alpine nations were represented except Austria and Germany.

"They had six first places here and we took four of them," said U.S. Olympic ski coach Bob Beattie. "You can't expect to do much better than that."

Tigers Stop Late Bid, Nip Grand View

GRAND VIEW, Dec. 14—The Richfield Tigers mounted a big lead and then withstood a torrid finish by Grand View last night to register a 66-61 victory. Richfield's girls made it a clean sweep, winning their game 37-18.

Richfield, leading comfortably through the first three quarters, had 14 points to play with as the last period began. Then Grand View turned redhot and began driving through Richfield's man-to-man defense. Jon Onederra hit seven of his 26 points in the final period but Shaw was the hottest, collecting 10 of his 15.

Robertson's rebounding was a highlight of Richfield's play.

Parseghian Quits Northwestern To Take Notre Dame Grid Post

EVANSTON, Ill., Dec. 14 (AP)—"The whole thing transpired in less than two weeks although it was a very difficult decision to make—leaving Northwestern and the Big Ten after eight years." Thus Ara Parseghian described his acceptance today of a four-year contract as Notre Dame's head football coach, succeeding interim coach Hugh Devore. Parseghian, although failing to win a Big Ten title, coached Northwestern out of the doldrums since his arrival in 1956. Parseghian said he recommended his defensive line coach, Alex Agase, as his Northwestern successor.

"I think I can say I am leaving Northwestern a little better off footballwise than when I arrived and that Northwestern's football image has grown due to the efforts of our staff," said the intense 40-year-old coach.

"In a different sort of vein, Notre Dame offers a great challenge. The school has been down in recent years, through fault of nobody, but I hope I can bring a streak of good luck to the school.

"This is a school with a great football heritage and great football tradition. I will be coaching at what I consider one of the top schools in the country."

Notre Dame had a 2-7 record last season under Devore.

Parseghian said the clincher in his decision to move came Wednesday night.

He met in Chicago with Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, Notre Dame president and discussed the Irish job.

"I'll tell you I was very much impressed with the man," said Parseghian, in some respects a look-alike of Father Hesburgh.

"We had a very fine interview. I guess you could say that decided it."

Parseghian said within the past few weeks he also had discussions with Rev. Edmund Joyce, Notre Dame athletic board chairman.

"I think we have mutually admired each other the past four years during the Notre Dame-NU rivalry."

Parseghian said his new Notre Dame staff would include Agase—If he doesn't get the Northwestern job—and "some other members from my present staff."

"This being close to the Christmas holidays, I don't want to rush things. I want to take my time and make sure I get a good staff."

"My eight years at Northwestern have been fine years and I leave with great regrets," Parseghian, who had one year remaining on a five-year contract said to pay $18,000 annually.

100-Yard Kickoff Return Points Tide to Victory

MIAMI, Dec. 14 (AP)—A dazzling 100-yard kickoff return and two cashed-in fumble recoveries shot Alabama into a 17-point halftime lead today, but the Tide barely survived a withering second-half aerial bombardment by George Mira, 17-12. The fabulous Mira, completely dominating the last two periods, drove Miami to two touchdowns and, in the fading moments the Hurricanes seemed headed for a third, until an interception by Jackie Sherrill at Alabama's 20 saved the day.

Two other Miami drives in the second half, in which eighth-ranked Sugar Bowl-bound Alabama controlled the ball for only 18 plays, carried to the Tide's four and 21, as Mira completed 24 passes for 301 aerial yards.

This tied the brilliant Miami senior with Don Klosterman of Loyola of California for the most completions in a major college career. Each hit with 368 throws.

It also enabled Mira to win the 1963 major college total offense championship, boosting his ground-and-air figure to 2,318 yards. He moved ahead of Baylor's Don Trull by 42 yards.

Fleet Gary Martin, fastest man on the Alabama squad, took the opening kickoff of this wild game two yards deep in his end zone, picked up a flying squad of blockers, and raced down a sideline to a touchdown.

Then Alabama turned two fumble recoveries into another touchdown and a field goal to take a commanding 17-0 lead at halftime.

Hudson Harris recovered a fumble at the Miami 13 and six plays later Benny Nelson rumbled a yard for the second Alabama touchdown of the first period.

In the second quarter, Al Lewis pounced on another Miami bobble at the Hurricane 35 and, when the Tide was stopped at the 19, Tim Davis, who had converted after the two touchdowns, added a 35-yard field goal.

The Hurricanes, who had stuck mostly to a ground attack in the first half, began moving with Mira's arm in the second half and Alabama never got a serious offensive threat going the rest of the game.

Burley Cops Victory Over North Cache

BURLEY, Dec. 14—The Burley Bobcats mounted a 10-point lead early in the fourth quarter and it proved enough to withstand a desperation fourth quarter drive by North Cache. The result was a 50-47 victory for Burley, the first loss for North Cache after two victories in Magic Valley.

The touring Utah team, playing its third game in as many days, fell behind slowly after the first quarter and trailed going into the final eight minutes 40-30.

Burley Jayvees made it two straight over Raft River, winning 55-42.

trailing 10-9 in the third period, pulled Buffalo into a tie for the top spot with Boston which lost to Kansas City 35-3.

Glichrist's thrusts into the line got the Bills moving on their two key drives against the Jets.

However, he failed in a bid to become the first runner in the AFL to gain over 1,000 yards two years in a row. He needed 135 yards to hit 1,000 for the second time but settled for 114 yards in 31 carries and a 979-yard total.

Trojans Use Late Surge to Top Pirates

WENDELL, Dec. 14—Dennis Nielsen hit two quick rebound shots midway through the fourth quarter to break open a see-saw battle and send the Wendell Trojans past the Hagerman Pirates 59-51 last night.

Hagerman, getting great outside shooting from Mike Engels, Alan Boyer and Giamer, trailed much of the time but never by more than a point or two. The Pirates moved in front early in the fourth quarter and the lead swapped hands for two minutes.

Then Nielsen came up with his four points and Dan Peterson hit a pair of free throws to decide it. Von Nebeker and Peterson were sharp defensively.

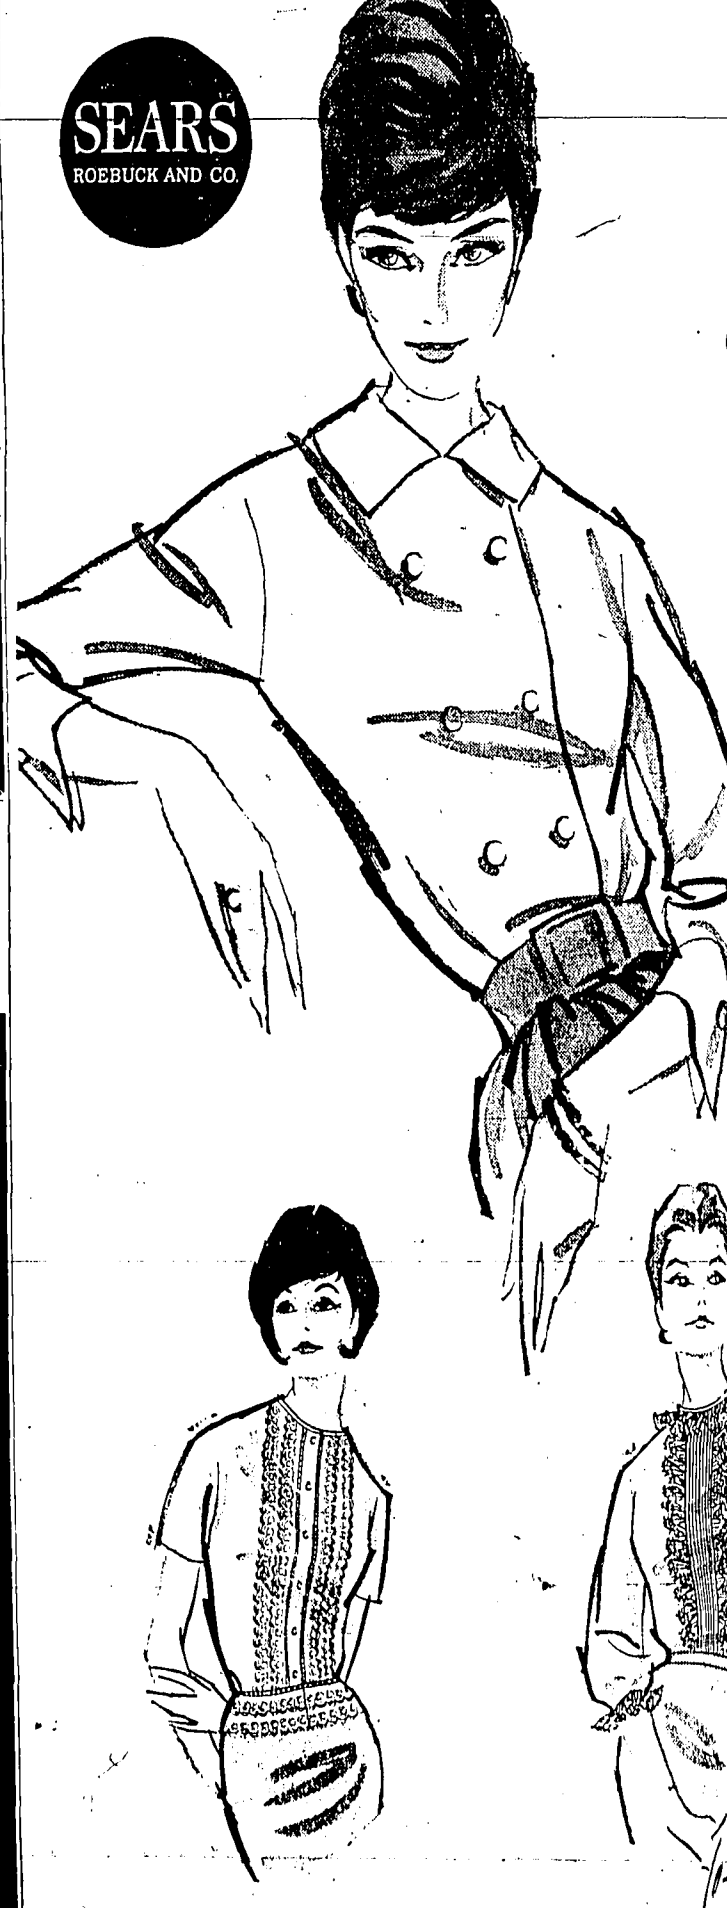

Hagerman won the preliminary.

Jerome Rallies in Fourth Quarter To Edge Tigers

JEROME, Dec. 14—Fred Gano and Stan Millard put together six free throws in the crucial fourth quarter to lift the Jerome Tigers to a 40-34 victory over Mountain Home in the first South Central Idaho conference game ever played. Until the fourth quarter, Mountain Home's close-to-the-vest offense and stingy zone defense had kept Jerome off balance and behind.

Taxpayers Don't Expect Medals

This is one of the months when taxes are due and payable. State, county and city governments, as well as school districts and other taxing units, rely upon them.

Perhaps there is no special distinction attached to being a taxpayer, but we find it necessary to inform the public about our tax payments. This is because federal power systems like Bonneville depend upon tax-avoidance and other tax-supported subsidies to create an illusion of lower power rates. Their sales pitch rests upon this point.

This month we are paying the first half of our 1963 Idaho property tax bill which amounts to some $4,300,000, of which 60 per cent goes to support education.

Elimination of this and the many other taxes generated by our business, this year amounting to about $16,000,000, would severely raise the inevitable tax burden on everyone else.

Let government ownership of business become the rule in America, a time might come when medals would be awarded to taxpayers (at their expense) — there would be so few of them left to carry so great a burden!

Mrs. Kennedy Names Home In Virginia

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her two children will spend the weekend at their country home near Atoke, Va., which she has named "Wexford" in honor of the late President's Irish heritage.

The ranch-style retreat about 60 miles from Washington already "is being used to house mementoes from the late President Kennedy's trip to Ireland and a growing menagerie of Irish animals presented to him for his children.

The Irish pony, "Leprechaun," presented by Irish Prime Minister Sean Lemass, now is stabled there for John, Jr., to ride, and the Irish wolfhound named

"Wolf" also is being kept at "Wexford."

Kennedy's grandparents came from the town of Dunganstown in county Wexford. When they emigrated to the United States, the early Kennedys left from a place at New Ross, Ireland, 20 miles from Wexford.

The house on Rattlesnake-ridge overlooking the Blue Ridge mountains was often referred to as "Rattlesnake mountain." But Mrs. Kennedy preferred at first that the home which was completed last spring be called "Atoke."

President Kennedy had spent only about four or five week-ends there before he was assassinated.

Mrs. Kennedy plans to keep "Wexford" because of her love of the Virginia countryside and its main sport, riding.

She and her children will leave Wednesday for Palm Beach, Fla., where she will spend the Christmas holidays and be near her in-laws, ailing former Ambassador

Joseph P. Kennedy and Mrs. Kennedy.

She plans to return to Washington early in January to prepare to move into a large home she has purchased in Georgetown. For a year, Mrs. Kennedy will make no public appearances, and during that time will wear black in mourning.

Six Safety Points Made For Shoppers

BOISE, Dec. 14 (AP)—The Idaho State Automobile association listed today this six-point "safety for shoppers" program:

1. Avoid window shopping when behind the wheel of your car, no matter how festive the shop windows.
2. Don't pile Christmas packages so high in the back seat of your car that the rear view window is blocked.
3. Remain alert for traffic lights. In the gaily festooned shopping district, it is easy to mistake a Christmas ornament for a traffic light or vice versa.
4. Watch out for bundle-loaded pedestrians. Many shoppers are so loaded down with packages that their vision is obscured when they cross the street.
5. Plan your shopping trip so that you can avoid last-minute rushing if possible. Hurry and carelessness go hand-in-hand.
6. Leave the holiday spirits at home. In the pandemonium of downtown Christmas traffic, you need all your wits for driving and walking.

Two More Quintuplets Go Home to Join Rest of Brood

ABERDEEN, S.D., Dec. 14 (AP)—Two more of the Fischer quintuplets joined the rest of the brood at home today and their proud but tired mother started looking for a babysitter.

Mary Magdalene and Mary Margaret, who along with their two sisters and home-body brother are three months old today, were picked to go home "simply because they are the largest" of the four girls.

The other two girls stayed behind in the St. Luke's hospital nursery where they have been since their birth Sept. 14. The quint is the first to survive in the United States.

James Andrew, the huskiest of the five and a trailblazer of sorts, has been home with his four older sisters and brother for two weeks.

Dr. James Berbos, the family physician who delivered the quintuplets, gave his name to the boy, said South Dakota's bitter cold weather—with temperatures dropping to eight degrees below zero—presented no problem in transferring the infants from the hospital.

"They are as well prepared for it as any other baby that leaves the hospital," he said.

Mary Magdalene and Margaret will continue their diet of fruit, cereal and milk at home, Berbos said. The quintuplets were being put in one room of the Fischer's four-bedroom split-level home so that their mother can care for them with as little difficulty as possible.

Stanley Siegel, one of the attorneys for the Fischer family, said Mrs. Fischer and her mother are interviewing persons to help with the care of the five newcomers.

"Right now Mrs. Fischer and her mother are taking care of everything," he said.

Siegel said the girls remaining in the hospital, Mary Ann and Mary Catherine, would join the rest of their family "by the first of the year." But he said it was highly doubtful they would be sent home before Christmas.

James Andrew, who was the first of the quintuplets to take milk, eat cereal, leave the "isolette" and go home, still is the largest of the five at 10 pounds, five ounces. Mary Magdalene weighed eight pounds, five ounces, Mary Margaret eight pounds, one ounce, Mary Catherine seven pounds, 13 ounces and little Mary Ann, the first born, weighed six pounds, 13 ounces.

Andrew Fischer, a wholesale grocery company shipping clerk who has been on a leave of absence, returned to his $76-a-week job shortly after the first quint came home.

Plane Looks For Eskimo On Ice Floe

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Dec. 14 (AP)—An air force C-54 was crisscrossing the icy Bering sea today in an attempt to relocate Romero Katezac, an Eskimo hunter stranded on an ice floe drifting slowly toward the Russian coast.

Two helicopters were standing by in Nome to attempt to rescue Katezac should he be spotted, but gusty winds up to 34 knots made it likely the helicopters would not be able to land on the ice floe. And the winds were pushing the floe ever closer to the Siberian coast.

Katezac was spotted yesterday by the same air force search craft from Anchorage, but early arctic darkness prevented his rescue by helicopter.

The air force said Katezac was about 12 miles northwest of King Island yesterday—about 75 miles from Akiak, Siberia. It was not known how far he drifted during the night, but the wind velocity was blowing harder than yesterday.

The Eskimo hunter became stranded on the ice about noon Thursday when the ice broke away from the shore of King Island off the Alaska coast. Katezac lives on King Island and was on a hunting trip at the time.

Court Upholds Case in Elmore

BOISE, Dec. 14 (AP)—A more county aggravated assault conviction has been upheld by the Idaho supreme court. The case was argued in Boise.

The high court upheld the conviction of J. C. Blacksten, a claim by Wilma Burroughs, Boise, for unemployment compensation benefits—upholding an order of the employment security agency. The court ruled that Miss Burroughs had left her job at the Idaho First National bank without good cause.

EXTENT OF CONSTRUCTION undertaken in building a custom flotation mill near Bellevue is graphically shown in this photograph taken from a hillside overlooking the area. The mill, being built by Federal Resources corporation, in agreement with Silver Star-Queens Mine company, represents the greatest expenditure in the Wood River valley mining operations since the construction of the Triumph property, no longer operating. General contractor for the work is Reynolds Construction company, Twin Falls, while steel is being furnished by Self Manufacturing company, also Twin Falls. An estimated 50 men will be employed at the project to operate the mill and the Silver Star-Queens mine, a silver producer. (Times-News photo)

Volunteer Fire Department at Paul Adds Ambulance to Serve West Minidoka Area

PAUL, Dec. 14 — In 1958 a fire truck arrived here and offered to the citizens of this small community in western Minidoka county some form of fire protection. Usually, one fire truck in a small town is sufficient. However, one truck and a handful of volunteers wasn't sufficient. The volunteer department, rather than rest on its laurels, kept busy trying to obtain more equipment, and more suitable equipment.

According to Volunteer Fire Chief Alvin Stimpson, a fire district can't have too much equipment. The West End district covers quite a large area. It starts roughly three miles west of Ruper and covers the western portion of the county. There is a possibility the district might enlarge and move further westward. Three engines then would be just adequate. The district is tax-supported and the equipment is paid for by the taxpayers. However, the manpower is furnished by volunteers in Paul. These same volunteers, 14 in all, decided to purchase an ambulance with their own funds.

The ambulance was purchased through Idaho Surplus Properties. It is a 1961 Cadillac and can carry four stretchers. As yet, the ambulance isn't fully operational. The volunteers still have considerable work to do on it, but in an emergency the ambulance could answer a distress call.

"We still have a long way to go in training our personnel in the operation of an ambulance, but when it becomes operational, the residents of western Minidoka county will have this service available with no raise in taxes," said Stimpson. "Our goal is the finest volunteer fire department in the area," the chief added. "One of our trucks is capable of pumping 1,000 gallons per minute and the other two trucks are capable of pumping 750 gallons per minute each."

The four pieces of equipment are housed in the old highway district building at Paul. Stimpson, like many other residents, leaves his business when the fire call sounds. He has a sign which can be placed on the outside of his welding shop station. Continued on Page 28

AMBULANCE SERVICE soon will be a reality for people living in the West End fire protection district. At the wheel is Volunteer Chief Alvin Stimpson, Paul, while Paul Postmaster, Fire Chief, a volunteer fireman, looks on. In addition to the ambulance, the department has three trucks. Some 14 residents of the community man the equipment and will operate the ambulance when it is put in service. The volunteers purchased the ambulance with their own funds, while the fire trucks are provided by the taxpayers of the West End district. (Times-News photo)

Once Blind Nurse Fights To Aid Sight

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 14 (AP)—Sight, says Esterina Leone, is a blessing. She knows. She was blind.

"Seeing again is like what happens after a soft rain falls—everything is clean and wonderful," says Miss Leone, a nurse dedicated to helping others to regain vision.

Ten years ago Esterina began to lose her sight and gradually to withdraw from the everyday world. Two years ago she went blind.

Now she has 20-20 vision, thanks to the Delaware-Valley Eye Bank, which collects human eyes after donors die and distributes them to hospitals for operations.

Miss Leone's new eyes came from two donors. The comely nurse is the first to admit she once was a hermit. "As a teenager I hardly ever went out, or in my later years."

That's all changed now, she says. "I've got two boy friends now and I'm going to have some fun out of life."

The first time she was able to enjoy her regained sight, Miss Leone says, was last spring—about a year after the second of two successful operations.

"I took the roundabout way to work," she explained. "I looked at all the flowers and I even saw the veins on leaves. Imagine that?"

She had a malady ophthalmologists called a keraticus. It causes the cornea, or windrows. Continued on Page 29

Silver Mining Envisioned As Economic Force in Wood River Area Future

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER
Times-News Feature Editor
BELLEVUE, Dec. 14—Historic Wood River valley—once one of the greatest silver producing areas in the world—once again is headed for a mining boom which could reach sizable proportions.

Reason behind the probability is construction of a 250-ton-a-day custom flotation mill to treat silver, lead and zinc ore. The mill, now being built, is adjacent to the famous Minnie Moore mining property and the Silver Star-Queens mine, which will be operated in connection with the mill.

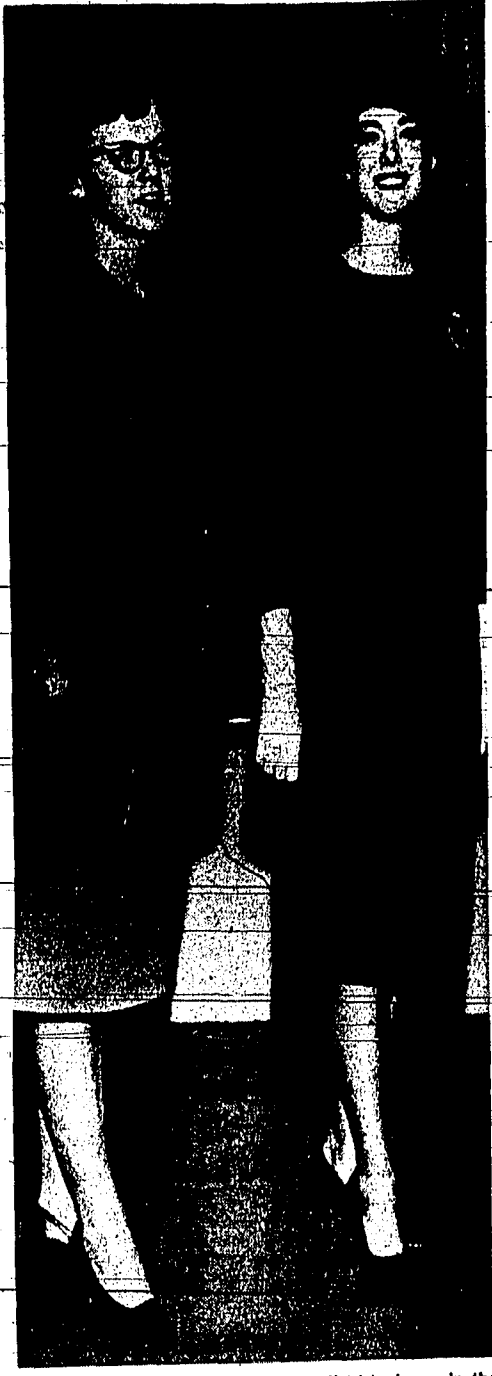

During the past two years an estimated 300,000 has been spent in the Queens mine and it will have cost at least that much more when the new mill is completed next spring. The mill is being constructed and the Queens mine operated under an agreement between Federal Resources corporation, Salt Lake City, and the Silver Star-Queens Mining company.

The Silver Star property dates back to the original mining finds in the valley in the early 1880's. The Minnie Moore and the Queen of the Hills mines were two of the great producers in that era, which saw the population swell almost to overflowing. It also was in that era that Ketchum, Halley, Bellevue and other communities were born.

The custom mill availability is expected to cause a resumption in silver mining activities. One big stumbling block for the small miner has been distance to a mill where ore from his mine could be processed. Now, with the large mill readily available for custom work—in addition to processing ore from the Queens mine—small mines Continued on Page 30

TWO MAGIC VALLEY GIRLS were district winners in the "make it yourself with wool" contest at Boise. They are Beverly Hansten, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hansten, Bliss, who placed second in the junior division, and Jill Dunagan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Peterson, Jerome, who was second in the senior division. Each girl received a portable typewriter.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

With construction now under way for additions and remodeling at the SHOSHONE Methodist church, details of past history of the church are becoming more meaningful to Shoshone Methodist church members and their fellow townsmen. It was in 1954 that the church marked its 70th anniversary and a planned building program was promoted. The anniversary observance was on Oct. 21, 1954, at which time the Rev. Ralph Lawrence was pastor. Shoshone was his first parsonate and he brought the enthusiasm of his youth to the organization.

Soon he was promoted to more responsibility within the state, located in Idaho Falls where a new parish was opened and a church building program started.

In 1884, Shoshone was only two years old, but according to the "Shoshone Rustle," first newspaper of the area, it was flourishing. A number of business houses were open, 12 saloons among them. The railroad and development of irrigation from Little Wood river had brought about the settlement.

Detailed records weren't kept in those days, according to the Rev. Woodrow Harris, present day pastor, and no one now recalls exactly who started the church movement or who served as the first pastor.

However, in 1887, according to Mrs. Carrie Grosse, who came in that year, services were being held in a small one-room frame building at the same location of the present church.

By 1887, Mrs. Grosse said, a well-organized Sunday school was held. In addition to Mrs. Grosse, teachers were the late A. I. McMahon, Ruth Fairbanks and Mrs. Alice Swope. Mrs. Swope was a member of the LDS church but since there was no

LDS church here, she devoted her time to religious work with the Methodist members.

McMahon, who died within the past 10 years, stated a few years ago that he believed the present church building, built in 1903 and 1904, is a replica of the first building and was built around the first single room. He also said there were only 30 or 35 members of the church at the time the present building was erected.

On the 70th anniversary date, there were 150 members, while today they are numbered at 183. The 1963 membership includes 78 family members with 30 constituent families.

The new construction measures 48 by 50 feet, with four classrooms, cloak rooms, rest-rooms all on the main floor with a fellowship hall, kitchen and heating plant area in the basement. It will be connected to the church on the west side of the old structure. Remodeling will be done in the church sanctuary during the building period, also.

Work is now under way. The added space will be well utilized with the present church program. In addition to the

AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

"The Sins Jesus Abhorred"

REV. ERNEST HASSELBLAD
First Baptist Church

What act of sin or misconduct do you dislike the most? Some are most antagonistic toward dishonesty. Others are repelled by violence and strife. There are those who cannot tolerate laziness. Then, of course, most of us are shocked by the sins of immorality, of drunkenness, and of crimes committed against our fellowmen and society.

But, in reading the words of Jesus and trying to catch His spirit, it would seem that three sins particularly distressed Jesus and aroused Him. One of these is the sin of self-righteousness. He relates how one man who sorrowfully confessed his sins and who in humility acknowledged his unworthiness went away a forgiven man.

Sunday church services, for which classrooms are needed, other auxiliaries of the church will be using the structure for their meetings.

These include the Methodist men, who are meeting the first Sunday of each month for breakfast and business, the official board, which meets the second Wednesday of the month, the Woman's Society of Christian Service, meeting the third Wednesday of the month; the Methodist Youth Fellowship, meeting each Wednesday evening, and the carol and chancel choirs, meeting on Thursdays.

"Wool is my favorite fabric, because it is so easy to work with and is very versatile," said Jill Dunagan, 18, who recently won second place in the "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest. Miss Dunagan, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. U. Peterson, JEROME, entered in the senior division of girls 18 to 21. This was her first time ever to enter sewing competition.

She entered a sherry brown worsted suit, with a matching Sally Victor-designed hat she also made. Both were fashioned from Vogue patterns. The judges said the high style of her outfit was excellent. They also complimented her on her fine sewing technique.

Jill said while her family does not raise wool, her grandfather and great-grandfather, both named Steve Dunagan, trailed 6,000 head of sheep from Alabama to New Mexico about 1878. She is quite proud of her grandfathers because they helped pioneer the West and contributed to the wool industry.

Miss Dunagan, who is a third-year home economics student at Jerome high school, attributed much of her interest in sewing to her teacher, Mrs. Ralph Dunn. She intends to take home economics courses at Brigham Young university next year. Already she has picked out the pattern for the suit she intends to enter in the 1964 wool contest.

Beverly Hansten, BLISS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hansten, placed second in the junior division of the "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest. Miss Hansten has been active in 4-H activities and last year won the outstanding club congress award for sewing in Gooding county.

She plans to major in home economics at the University of Idaho after she is graduated from high school. Both girls were awarded a Singer company portable typewriter.

They were coached in modeling techniques by last year's Miss Idaho.

But the Pharisee who was so proud of his merits and so satisfied with himself went away unforgiven and unredeemed. Again and again, Jesus sets in contrast the unrepentant self-righteous person with the repentant, convicted sinner. Always His approval was upon the person who knew he was a sinner and sought forgiveness.

The second sin Jesus so sternly condemned was externalism. There are always those who identify goodness with ceremonial acts, religious or social. They go through motions, they spin the wheels of ritualism, they attend to the perfunctory in religion.

Jesus insisted goodness had little—or nothing to do with prayers offered for others to hear, or the ostentation of robes and attendance upon religious festivals. It has, however, everything to do, goodness does, with a man's heart, his love, his spirit, and his obedience to God. He referred to some as white-washed tombs, who cleansed the outside but left the inside untouched by the power and the grace of God. To Jesus, our conventional religious actions had little to do with goodness. Goodness is giving a cup of water to the least ones in His name.

No sin aroused Jesus as much as the sin of hypocrisy. Who can read Matthew 23 without realizing the depth of his feeling about this: The sin of pretending, the sin of acting a part, and the sin of presenting to the world a version of himself that is in fact a lie.

These are the sins, Jesus unsparingly repudiated and condemned: externalism, self-righteousness and hypocrisy. What he asked for from any of us was a life that was genuine, no make-believe, just deep and true belief in Jesus Christ.

He calls for a life that is utterly and transparently honest, not the claim of self-righteousness, not the external trappings, not playing a part, but the new creation in Christ Jesus.

Stamp Window

By DAVID SWIT

One of the more interesting subjects in the stamp world is how postage stamps are designed, and a good example is the work of artist Stevan Dohanos on the five cent U. S. Food for Peace issue of last June.

It came about after he had doodled some 30 different pencil roughs, turned them into about 15 stamp-size designs in color, and executed finished art for three preferred designs—one of which became the model for the stamp.

One of the rejected models that made the finals shows a sheaf of wheat and a hand-plow, the other a starkly designed dove of peace. His accepted model, which is simplicity itself, is a stalk of wheat—the symbol of the U. N.'s Food and Agriculture organization.

A 58-year-old resident of Westport, Conn., Dohanos has some 100 Saturday Evening Post covers to his credit, and also designed the 1959 NATO commemorative, the 49-star flag stamp of the same year and the 50-star flag of 1960. His artistic contact with the postal service, however, goes back to the 1930's, when Dohanos painted murals in postoffice lobbies under commissions from the federal works agency, the government's lifeline to depression-stricken artists. The murals are in postoffices at Elkins, W. Va., West Palm Beach, Fla., and Charlotte Amalie, Virgin Islands.

The U. S. postoffice has postponed the five cent Sam Houston commemorative, scheduled for release Dec. 13 at Houston, Tex., until some time in January. No reason was given for the delay, but the design is especially inappropriate for issuance in Texas during the period of national mourning for President Kennedy. The stamp, printed in black, shows Houston with a rifle. Even aside from the design, few federal officials would consider a public ceremony suitable now in Texas, where a rifleman killed the President.

First day covers will be held at the Houston postoffice until the new day of issue. Earlier, the Nov. 20 release of the Audubon commemorative at Henderson, Ky., was postponed until Dec. 7 because of Mr. Kennedy's death.

SOME OF 23,000 hunter report cards are being checked by Darlene Harms, left, and Mary Fanckboner in Boise office of fish and game department. Among other things, hunters reported more elk kills statewide by Dec. 1 than last year's cards showed.

23,000 Hunters in Gem State Return Cards to Idaho Fish-Game Department

By JIM HUMBIRD
Idaho fish-game department
BOISE, Dec. 14—More than 23,000 cooperative hunters this fall mailed report cards from all parts of the state. Preliminary analysis of these cards indicates that stabilized big game management is being achieved in most places at levels as high as herd numbers and range productivity can support.

The hunters reported more elk kills statewide by Dec. 1 than last year's cards showed, although the number of deer bagged by that date was somewhat less than a year ago. Nimrods are urged to fill out and return cards, now that most big game hunting is over, even though they made no kills. (Fish and game photo) essentially the same harvest as last year, or even a little less, according to the hunter report cards. It may be that hunters went in greater numbers to the more accessible fringe areas surrounding the interior region. These areas, including Challis, Wood river, Bear valley, the Boise river drainage and Soldier mountain, all reported at least a 10 per cent increase in elk kills for 1963.

Elk reported from the south fork of the Payette drainage were on a par with last year, with the take about evenly divided between the lower drainage (unit 33) and the Lowman-Grandjean part of the same watershed (unit 35).

In eastern Idaho, the reported elk harvest was up by at least 10 per cent. Units contributing to the increase included Fremont county, Swan valley and Caribou (units 61, 66, 67 and 76). The deer kill also was up in the same units except for 76. The reported deer harvest was essentially the same as last year in most major deer units in eastern Idaho.

However, the removal of extra or multiple deer attractions, used last year as incentives to bring hunters into units 59 and 64, caused the nimrods to forget units 59 and 64 in favor of the Swan valley area, which came up strong as the result of being a two-deer area. Apparently many hunters from Idaho Falls switched to unit 67, where a heavier deer harvest was desired and attained via the extra tag.

The cards indicate that many Pocatello residents changed their hunting grounds to unit 70, which opened for general deer hunting this year, rather than return to unit 74 or elsewhere. For one reason, unit 70 is about 70 miles closer to the metropolitan area. However, unit 74 was opened to hunters using the new restricted nonresident deer or bear license, and it is presumed that this drew many nimrods from the nearby population centers of Logan, Ogden and Salt Lake.

Multiple deer tags for designated units, including the extra deer tag, the Hells canyon tag, the middle fork tag, and the antlerless tag, provided enough incentive last year to get additional hunters into some of the underharvested units, but several areas remained lightly hunted.

This year the state legislature provided for the restricted $25 nonresident deer or bear license, and this attracted out-of-state hunters into 17 units where good hunting is available and larger harvests are needed.

A harvest of 100 additional deer by nonresidents on the restricted license in each of the 17 units would be desirable, but the preliminary analysis indicates that at least six of these units attracted very few nonresident visitors in the initial year for the $25 license.

Except for units 27, 27A and 25, where increased deer harvest is desired, the 1963 regulations did not permit the use of the new license for deer in units already heavily hunted by nonresidents. For example, units 42 and 22 (Juniper mountain and Hells canyon) were excluded because nonresidents already are well acquainted there.

Last year nonresidents accounted for about 25 per cent of the kills reported from Juniper mountain and about 10 per cent of those from Hells canyon. Unit 22 is one of the state's three highest yielding deer units and additional hunting is needed only on the inaccessible parts of the unit.

Mohler's preliminary analysis of the deer harvest in the 17 units, in which the new restricted nonresident deer or bear license is valid, includes 2,475 deer. Slightly over eight per cent of these deer were taken on the new restricted license.

This percentage in individual units varied from none in unit 37A and unit 58, to 24 per cent in unit 46. In only two units did the reported kill on the new tag reach or exceed 10 per cent of the total.

This is the story written by over 23,000 hunters on the report cards and received by Dec. 1 at the Boise office of the fish and game department. Mohler urges all hunters to clean out their pockets and get their report cards in the mail before Christmas. The cards provide the best means of appraising local harvests and hunting pressure — information which is needed in making plans for 1964 seasons.

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT Benefits in Water Conservation Field Will Come From Research at Kimberly

Great benefits to the Snake river plain, and to the nation, will come as a result of research possible at the new Snake River Conservation Field station, near Kimberly.

These benefits will be the more realized as the population increases in the nation and as water supplies become more critical.

Nearing the end of his first year as a resident of this area, A. R. Robinson, research agricultural engineer and director of the Kimberly complex, should know what he is talking about.

He is recognized as a national authority in the water measurement field of research. His findings are respected throughout the country and he appears at many important meetings as a speaker. Only last week he was featured at the Chicago session of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers.

Robinson is convinced research is the answer to water conservation.

"This section of the nation, the Snake river plain, is unique as far as water availability is concerned," he comments. "Many areas elsewhere have a water shortage, and some have none. It is up to research to find ways to use that which is available in the various sections."

He came to the Kimberly-Twin Falls area to head up the new research setup in January, 1963. He previously was associate professor in civil engineering at Colorado State university and also agricultural engineer for the department of agriculture. The setup at the school was a dual one in which he had served since 1951.

the University of Iowa. After his discharge he returned to the same school and ended up with a BS degree in civil engineering in 1947.

A year later he married Martha Burney in Iowa City. He had met her at the university. Her father had been cost accounting professor at the University of Iowa and still is there. He is now in his 39th year of teaching—30 of those years at the same university.

After working in Wyoming for two years, Robinson received an offer to go to Colorado State university on a research assistantship and was able to get his master of science degree in civil engineering in 1951.

It was in that same year that he was put on the university staff in the dual position he held for the next 12 years. He was associate professor in civil engineering, engaged in hydraulic and irrigation engineering research, and also agricultural engineer for the department of agriculture.

Three years ago he filled an assignment to Egypt for the department of agriculture, setting up and demonstrating a display

In his present position, he heads the research setup near Kimberly, which agricultural experts term one of the more important centers in the nation.

He is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers and vice-chairman of the research committee for irrigation and drainage division, a member of the International Commission on Irrigation and Drainage; a member of Sigma Xi, an honorary research fraternity, and Chi Epsilon, an honorary civil engineering fraternity; a registered professional engineer and member of the Idaho Society of Professional Engineers.

Conservative Wins in Britain

DUMFRIES, Scotland, Dec. 14 (AP)—The Conservative party Friday narrowly held a house of commons seat in a special election and took it as a sign that its electoral prospects may be on the up-grade.

The winner, David G. Anderson, is the Conservative government's solicitor general for Scotland. He polled 16,762 votes against Laborite Ian Jordan's 15,791. Charles Abernethy, Liberal, polled 4,491 and John Cair, Scottish Nationalist, 4,001.

Anderson called the result "a vote of confidence in the past 12 years of Tory rule and an endorsement of our present policies."

CHEAPER BY THE HUNDRED seems to be better than cheaper by the dozen, as far as balsam fir Christmas trees are concerned in the Oakley area. A new area of trees is being offered by the forest service in lots of 100. It is in Badger gulch, southwest of Oakley. Gene Kantola, instructor of the local FFA chapter, and Forest Ranger Allan Ashton, look over a lot purchased by the FFA members for resale. (Times-News photo)

FFA Students Find Christmas Trees Cheaper by Hundred Near Oakley

OAKLEY, Dec. 14 — Signs of Christmas are showing up throughout the area and, in Oakley, balsam fir trees are being sold by the local FFA chapter to help raise money for their annual Father and Son banquet, which will be held later in the spring.

According to Gene Kantola, instructor, there are 42 members involved in the project and 100 trees were taken out of the Badger gulch area southwest of Oakley in the early part of November.

This is the first time the forest service has opened up an area on the west side for purchase of trees in groups of 100, according to Allan Ashton, local forest ranger.

Ashton notes that bids were submitted on buying the trees, but only this group took advantage of it. However, it still is open, but four-wheel-drive vehicles are the only available means of getting to the area, which has at least 12 inches of snow above Fall creek.

The trees were marked for counting the first time with ribbons, then a second time with paint, for a more accurate count. He points out that the trees are judged by the looks and also by how many need to be thinned out in order to let more grow.

Kantola notes the trees are being very well taken care of, and each tree has its own water bucket filled with water to stand in.

The West End department has a lot of work cut out for them in the future. When the ambulance becomes operational, the department trained in its useage; then we've still got a lot of work to do to fix up our building, claims Stimpson.

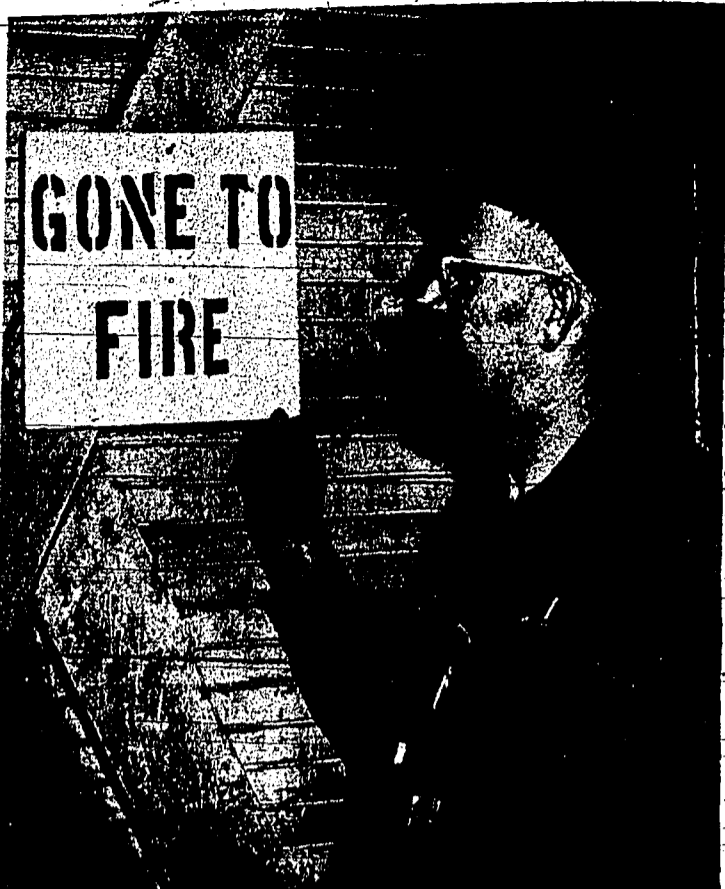

Elmer Fetzer, Paul postmaster, however, recalls when the area was in hopes of just securing a fire truck.

"We've come quite a ways already," said Fetzer.

BANDING A MAGPIE Is a two-person job and Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Wilbur team up to get the job done. Wilbur is assistant manager of the Minidoka national wildlife refuge and the magpie banding project is a private one to settle in his own mind just where a magpie will go. After each bird is banded it is released. Some are released a considerable distance away and, of this number, one actually was caught again in the same trap located beside the Wilbur home on the refuge. The refuge manager says other small birds are included in this special banding program. (Times-News photo)

GLOVES ARE A NECESSITY when handling a magpie because of the bird's sharp claws and beaks. Here Sanford Wilbur, assistant Minidoka refuge manager, inspects a bird which has just been taken from a trap. Trapping does not harm the bird. Actually, Wilbur says, the magpie is a beautiful bird. (Times-News photo)

Banding of Magpies May Trace Habits

RUPERT, Dec. 14—Ever wonder where a magpie goes — or how to find it? At least he is trying to find out where they go. With the aid of a simple duck trap, set up beside his house on the refuge, he is able to capture the magpies without hurting them and then, with the aid of his wife Sally, they are banded.

It takes two people to safely band the bird because this eliminates any danger of them being injured. The person holding the bird wears gloves because of the sharp talons and beak.

As each bird is banded, a record is made as to the time the bird was placed on the band. This number is numbered. This record book.

"Actually, this magpie banding is just a little personal project," Wilbur said. "I was just curious as to where the birds come from and where they go. In this way my bird which is found, and has been banded, will have a record providing the person finding the bird notified us through the address on the band."

Wilbur said that at present the banded birds have been released at the spot they were trapped, or have been transported some distance away and released in a new area.

One magpie released at a distance actually came back "home." "We are sure that the bird did this, because it was caught in the same trap. The light aluminum band on a leg, was still in place. These bands, incidentally, are placed so they will not get caught in the bird files in trees and also so they will not irritate the bird."

Wilbur anticipates carrying on the banding program with other small birds which happen to wander into the trap.

"What we find out might help following bird migrations," he said.

Son of Rupert Pair Will Be on "Hootenanny"

RUPERT, Dec. 14 — Danny Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Paul Moore, is scheduled to appear on the national television show "Hootenanny" on Dec. 21.

Moore, who performs with the Fairmont Singers, is presently on tour with the group in the Orient. The four-member folk singing group is scheduled to return to Hollywood next week for the television appearance.

Doctor Says Jack Ruby Is Not Insane

DALLAS, Dec. 14 (AP)—A psychiatrist found no traces of insanity when he examined Jack Ruby, the man who shot accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, the Times Herald has quoted responsible sources as saying.

Ruby marched through a corridor of police to kill Oswald as a nationwide television audience watched. His attorneys have said they will plead temporary insanity in his defense.

The newspaper said the night club operator was examined by a psychiatrist a short time after he was transferred from city jail to his county jail cell.

At the time of the examination, the newspaper's source said, the psychiatrist found no trace of insanity. The examination was requested by the state.

BIRD RECOVERS

NYSSA, Ore., Dec. 14 (AP)—A young hawk that broke a wing when it crashed into the home of the Nyssa mayor is making a satisfactory recovery. The bird was found Wednesday just outside the home of Mayor Geant Rinehart. It was turned over to Stan Thompson, a Nyssa bird fancier, who splinted the wing. As soon as it is able to fly, the hawk will be released.

Once Blind Nurse Fights To Aid Sight

she opened her eyes and saw the clock in her room, 15 feet away. She cried for joy. "Everything was still a little blurry," she recalled. "But I could see! I could see! I could see!"

She went back to work at Hahnemann and awaited the second operation—on her right eye—it was performed successfully about a year later.

She came to work at Wills last September and hopes in four months to get a certificate as a surgical eye nurse.

"I feel I must help others," she said. "I don't think I'm doing enough for everybody."

The world began to grow dark for Miss Leone about 10 years ago after she left Newark, N. J., and came to Hahnemann Hospital here as a surgical nurse. She didn't realize she was going blind, however, until five years later.

"Everything was dull and getting duller week by week," she recalls. "I couldn't figure out why."

Finally, she went to an eye specialist at Wills Eye hospital. They said her sight could be restored through a transplant.

Troubled, she found comfort in Philadelphia neighbors—the Samuel Wentzels across the street.

"My mother was dead, and my father was sick," she recalled. "The Wentzels took me in and cared for me as if I were their own child."

The first of her two operations was scheduled for the spring of 1951. At the time she was virtually blind.

Frequent word came from Newark, from her twin brother, Thomas, and her father. The Wentzels never missed a visiting day.

It was a worrisome four weeks in the hospital, plagued with some doubtful days and a few cheerless nights, she recalls.

Demand Rises For Teachers Of Language

By DAVID NYDICK
United Press International
There is an increasing demand for the teaching of foreign languages in the elementary school. This is due in part to the increasing ease of travel and international atmosphere of recent years.

During World War II great success was achieved in the teaching of foreign languages by the armed forces. Within a matter of months personnel were often able to speak and understand a foreign language. The public schools rarely achieved similar results even after several years of courses.

Of course the armed forces program was highly concentrated and involved many more hours per week than the normal public school program. An additional major difference was the method of teaching. The armed forces used a conversational approach. The student actually lived the language. This is comparable to the traveler in a foreign country who picks up the language very quickly due to necessity and constant exposure. The public schools used a reading and grammar approach.

The logic of the conversational approach is based on the way a child in the United States learns English. He learned to imitate sounds which he hears and then identifies these sounds with objects and meaning. He is later taught reading and grammar. It is also true that a real master of a language must learn to think in that language. He cannot understand its real meaning if he must constantly translate it into his mother tongue.

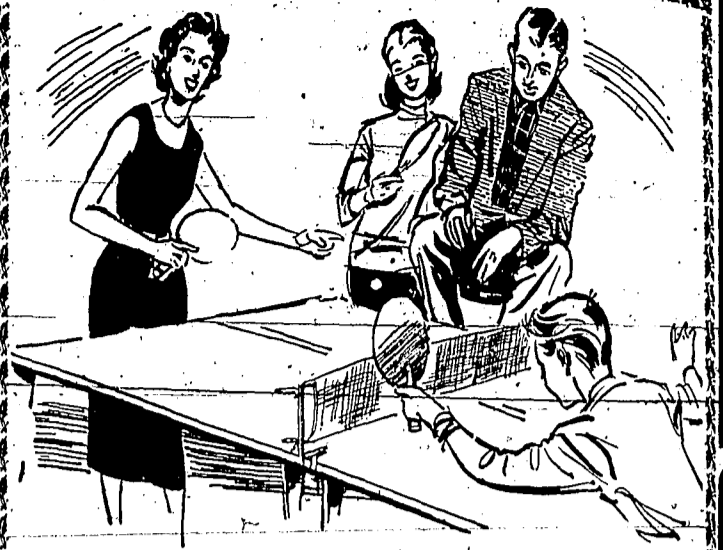

In line with these facts, it is difficult to master a language when a student is only exposed to it during a single period in the school day. He really needs additional exposure and practice.

What are the implications of teaching a foreign language in the elementary school? There is no doubt that young children can learn a second language. It has been accomplished in many other nations. As an example, Canada teaches both French and English in the elementary schools. Elementary children tend to have an aptitude for imitating sounds and also are less self-conscious than older children and adults. Opinions differ as to the best grade level to start a program, but the feeling tends towards the primary grades.

Based upon the armed forces experience, the conversational method is generally accepted. It is also recommended that short daily periods are more effective than long and less frequent sessions.

A major question to answer is which language should be offered. This really depends upon the community. In the Southern states where Spanish speaking countries are nearby, Spanish might be appropriate. Similarly, in the states near Canada, French may be most understanding. Russia makes depends upon local useful. The national need for Russian valuable. The choice stances.

TWO EXPERTS in Idaho mining operations confer in front of the headframe of the Silver Star-Queens silver mine near Bellevue. Roy Fitz, left, has been with the Queens mine for more than 10 years and in mining all his adult life. He is now mine foreman. John Barrett, mine engineer, was with the Triumph mine for years and also mined in the Philippines. Mining operations are on the upswing in the Wood River valley. (Times-News photo)

Silver Mining May Return as Major Economic Force in Wood River Valley

are expected once more to come into their own.

Another bright spot in the picture of mining is the price of silver. For instance, last July, it reached a price of $1.29 per ounce, a new high since 1920.

Young, the project engineer-manager, explains it this way.

"This work in Wood river valley is the first major metallic mine development in years," he said. "Right now the demand for silver is tremendous. Three great fields in which silver is much in demand are striking of coins, the field of photography and the field of electronics."

"We believe that this once again can become a major silver producing area and mining here can return to its former prominence. There are many experts watching the progress in this section."

The federal resources corporation is a major producing power in the United States. Holdings of the corporation, both as a unit and in cooperation with other concerns, are great. They are in the uranium field in addition to the field of silver and related metals.

Officers include Floyd B. Odum, Washington, D. C., chairman of the board, and Nels W. Stalheim, Salt Lake City, president. Two Idaho men are board members. They are Lester S. Harrison, Kellogg, and Ralph W. Neyman, Priest Lake.

The work of the company in the Wood river area may, in time, even result in the Minnie Moore being born again. This, however, will be in the future, as present work concentrates on the Queens.

At present an estimated 50 company men are engaged in construction of the new mill and the work on the Queens. When the mill is completed next spring, it is anticipated the regular employees will remain at that same level. Workers will be mostly local, as many residents have had experience in mining operations in the area.

Mine foreman is Roy Fitz, who has been with the Queens for about 10 years and who has spent all his adult life in mining. John Barrett, another well known miner in the Wood river area, is mine engineer. Joe MacGuffey will be mill superintendent.

"If all goes well, we should be in operation next spring," Young said. He added that general contractor for the job is Reynolds Construction company, Twin Falls, while steel for the building and other needs has been furnished by Self Manufacturing company, also Twin Falls.

The framework of the mill is completed and siding should be in place to permit interior work to continue throughout the winter.

REGISTER ROCK
MANY A WESTBOUND EMIGRANT ON THE OREGON TRAIL INSCRIBED HIS NAME ON THE GIANT LAVA BOULDER AT THIS CAMPING SPOT.
There are many such natural outdoor art albums on the Oregon and California Trails. While teams rested and built a camp, some men took time to have their names and families inscribed on a record which would survive the passage. A record which would stand the test of time and which would be a record of their passage. The flood of 1963 destroyed an earlier historical marker of which this bronze medallion is all that remains.

THOUSAND SPRINGS
OLD LAVA FLOWS CHANGED THE GEOLOGIC STRUCTURE OF THIS AREA AND THUS CREATED A MULTITUDE OF FAMOUS SPRINGS HERE.
Over thousands of years, volcanic activity repeatedly spread lava over the Snake River plain slowly forcing the river southward in a great curve. Successive channels of the river and its tributaries were filled with spongy lava and became both reservoirs and underground conduits, gathering water from far to the northeast. Torrents from one or more of these buried channels burst forth on the opposite canyon wall.

INFORMATIVE SIGNS are used throughout Idaho to inform motorists and others of places of historic interest. The Register Rock sign marks the stopping place for pioneers near famed Cascade Rocks, west of American Falls. This particular area was inundated by a flood last spring and the sign was replaced.

England Cuts Price on Telephone

LONDON, Dec. 14 (AP) — The metal telephone may be extinct in the United States, but in London the four-cent phone call has come down to three.

This is a boon to pocket books, but men and people whose hands answer the telephone: Hello.

English pennies are approximately the size and weight of zinc-coated pennies.

When you made a telephone call, you inserted the big brown pennies, then dialed the number. When the bell person answered, you pushed button "A." Otherwise, the bell person couldn't hear you, which was something Americans could never get through their thick heads.

Button "A" was at belly height, a dangerous place for a fat man. An injudicious ex-hale could cost the whole four cents.

One of the most touching of all British music hall ballads is about the fat fellow who pushed button "A" by mistake and got a fish market instead of his mother.

To avoid this sort of thing, British people usually answer the telephone: "Pinch-Meadowes here." It's better than: "Hello."

If you want Pinch-Meadowes, you push button "A." If you don't you push button "B" and come down to three.

Anyway, just to prove that there will always be an England, some bright chap recently decided to do away with the four-penny phone call, and substituted an easier coin to handle.

He had the choice of the silver six pence, or the brass three pence — two neat little numismatic products, and to the amazement of all chose the lower priced coin.

The unsung genius also moved button "A" up where you can't hit it by mistake.

Radiation Belt Is "Still Hot"

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (AP) — Though steadily decaying, the artificial radiation belt created by the American high altitude nuclear blast of July 9, 1962, is still "hot" enough to kill astronauts if they remain in it for eight hours, according to Dr. James Van Allen.

That's three times as fast as it would take to kill a man orbiting within the natural radiation belts that gird the Earth, he said. Van Allen is the State University of Iowa physicist who discovered the natural belts in 1958.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

SUNDAY, Dec. 15 — Born today, you are one of those rare persons who very early in life gives clear indications of the way he should go to achieve both success and happiness. It is to be hoped, therefore, that those responsible for your upbringing have been foresighted enough not to scoff at any childhood aspirations; but have taken them seriously and have seen to your development with them in mind.

You have a great deal of determination, and your will to win ought to be enough to carry you through many a precarious circumstance. Nevertheless, you are one who not only desires but actively needs the support of others if your endeavors are to be consistently successful. There is nothing of the lone wolf in your nature, and you find it all but impossible to fight alone.

This day holds distinct business advantages for the Aquarius who is willing to run the distance.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) — An ordinary day, but with caution and discretion, you can make minor advances in business. Avoid spending unwisely.

ARIES (March 21-April 20) — Artistic endeavors are highly favored. Let your creative instincts have full sway; results grow with the day.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21) — Consider revising your plans to meet the new developments. Others engaged in the same work have much to offer you.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Afternoon brings favorable trends in business and finance. Keep your emotions out of your thinking for best results.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — Initiative makes the early hours pay off handsomely. Slow up in late afternoon when dividends begin to level off.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — A buying and selling day. Step up promotional activities to achieve best gains. Evening hours bring needed relaxation.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — Let others take the initiative as you rest on your laurels. Your interests can well survive a day of inactivity.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — Do not allow a vision of success to interfere with present schedule. A day when dreams can

Christmas Meet Held By Grangers

BUHL, Dec. 14—Buhl Grange observed its annual Christmas gift exchange and quarterly potluck birthday dinner at an open meeting Thursday night at the Grange hall.

Members feted, whose birthday anniversaries occurred during the past three month period were, Mrs. A. L. Kleinkopf, Mrs. Kenneth Schrader, Mrs. Henry Lehman, Myla Davis, D. W. Rowe, Arnold Tannler, Arthur Fairchild, Elmer Phillips and Arthur Bail.

A memorial service honoring the late President John P. Kennedy was held. The charter was draped in his memory by Elmer Phillips, lecturer, Mrs. Mary Leader, chaplain, and Mrs. Arthur Bell, Ceres.

A Christmas candlelight service was conducted with Milo Davis reading the "Ten commandments of Christmas" while Mrs. Kleinkopf was candlelighter. Christmas customs observed in other lands were described. A gift exchange followed and year books were distributed. The potluck dinner was under the direction of the home economics committee with Mrs. Donald Dietz, chairman.

The annual polo pancake supper and public auction will be held Jan. 10.

Church to Hold Yule Program

FAIRFIELD, Dec. 14 — The Community church plans its Christmas program at 7 p.m. Sunday, according to the Rev. W. James Post, pastor.

The program will include pantomimes on the incarnation with narrations and choral numbers. Three choirs will participate—the adult-teen choir, children's choir and cherub choir.

There will also be recitations by children from younger Sunday school primary classes.
