

Nine Workers Are Killed in Utah Mine Blast

HELPER, Utah, Dec. 17 (AP)—Nine coal miners were killed and another injured Monday in an explosion in what was described as a "model mine in the West." The blast occurred at the face, or end, of one of two shafts which branch out from the end of a 2,800-foot tunnel into the side of a mountain near this central Utah community. "They never knew what hit them," said James Diamanti, mine co-owner. "They fell right where they were working. They must have hit a pocket of gas."

State industrial commission officials at the scene theorized the blast was caused by either coal dust or methane gas. It was the second major mine disaster in Utah this year. Eighteen men were killed Aug. 27 in a potash mine explosion at MOab, about 100 miles south of Helper. Jesus Nunez, 45, was near the entrance to the west shaft, about 2,000 feet from the explosion. The blast hurled him 200 feet, broke his arm and cut him badly. "I know I was lucky," he said. Nine men were working in the Compromise On Aid Bill Is Forecast WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—Speaker John W. McCormack predicted today that the congressional battle over foreign aid will end with a bill that is acceptable to both the congress and the White House. The "ultimate result will be a very satisfactory bill," McCormack told newsmen after Johnson's regular White House legislative meeting with Democratic congressional leaders. McCormack indicated he expected the senate to put back part of the deep cut made in the program by the house. The 2.8 billion dollar appropriations bill adopted by the house yesterday was 1.7 billion less than the White House originally asked and 800 million dollars less than congress authorized in putting an outside ceiling on the program.

George Murphy To Seek GOP Nomination LOS ANGELES, Dec. 17 (AP)—One-time song-and-dance man George Murphy will seek the Republican nomination to oppose U. S. Sen. Clair Engle, California Democrat, in next year's election. Murphy, 59-year-old vice president of the Technicolor corporation, is the first Republican to announce for the nomination. He has been active in California politics for 25 years and was state GOP chairman in 1953.

Air Pollution Bill Is Signed WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—President Johnson signed today a bill providing $5 billion dollars over the next three years to help states and local agencies combat air pollution, including that from automotive exhausts and industries. Johnson said the bill will make possible a national attack on air pollution, which he called a growing threat to national health and safety.

Labor Ruling WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz issued sweeping new regulations today banning racial discrimination in apprenticeship programs certified by the federal government. Wirtz went ahead with the revised standards despite heated protests from labor and employer spokesmen. The rules take effect Jan. 17.

West Berliners Allowed to Visit East Germany BERLIN, Dec. 17 (AP)—West Berlin and East German authorities signed an agreement opening the "wall" for West Berliners to visit relatives in East Berlin for the Christmas season. West German officials announced today. Eastern officials said details of the agreement would be announced later. An agreement was reached after six days of tough, behind-the-scenes negotiations. It opens the Red wall to West Berliners who have relatives in East Germany for the first time since the wall was built more than two years ago to stop the escape of refugees.

Police Keep Looking for Missing Loot Twin Falls Police Chief M. Frank Barnett said Tuesday that James Jacobs, 26, and Donald H. Collins, 25, Eugene, Ore., refuse to admit any connection with the robbery. The two men are being held in Twin Falls county jail on charges of armed robbery. They have been unable to post $10,000 each. Barnett conceded that another, unknown person may have been involved in the robbery and disposition of the loot, but he said that was "just a guess." Police also were continuing investigation of Ernest McCullough, 26, Junction City, Ore., who is being held in city jail for failure to register as an ex-convict. He is suspected of being an accomplice in the robbery.

State Water Rights to Be Established BOISE, Dec. 17 (AP)—The bureau of land management has taken the final step toward establishing state water rights on the 62,605-acre Minidoka Northside pumping project. State Reclamation Engineer Carl Tappan said Monday the bureau has applied for a certificate of completion and beneficial use on the project and requested that a Sept. 9, 1948, date be set for priority of water rights. That was the date of the start of the project. He said there is a possibility other users of underground water in the area might protest the priority date and that if they do the state reclamation department will conduct hearings. Tappan explained that in case of low water, the Minidoka project would have priority over any water rights with a later date than 1948.

Christmas Mailing Rush Gets Heavy In T.F.—It's Almost too Late Now "The time has passed to talk about mailing early for Christmas," Postmaster Fred Sanger said Monday, "but postoffice patrons still can help us avoid a tremendous last minute pileup of Christmas mail by sending their remaining greeting cards and other seasonal mail right now." Window services for the sale of stamps, mailing parcels, and other postal services, will be started at 8 a.m. through this week. Patrons whose time schedules will allow it should plan to transact their postoffice business and mailings before 4:30 p.m., if at all possible. This recommendation holds true all year, but it is especially true during the Christmas season. Business mailings, approaching dispatch closing time, and other end-of-the-day increases in all areas of postal activity make the postoffice day after 4:30 p.m. especially busy, and from that hour until closing is always the period of peak mailing and greatest lobby congestion. Sanger especially recommended that residents of Twin Falls use the first-class, five cent Christmas stamp in mailing Christmas cards. This stamp portrays the national Christmas tree on the eastern ellipse in the nation's Capitol and has been available at the local postoffice for several weeks. The five cent rate permits forwarding or return of the letter or card where undeliverable as addressed, allows the use of a handwritten message on the card—adding a personal touch—and also provides speedier handling and delivery, particularly for cards going out-of-town. "It is a shame when only four-cent third-class postage is paid and the addressee has moved. We cannot forward or even return the card," Sanger commented. "It is poor economy to try to save a few pennies in postage and then lose out in the delivery of possibly several dollars worth of expensive greeting cards," stated Sanger.

Gumdrop Dupes Dumb Coin Machine SPOKANE, Wash., Dec. 17 (AP)—All that glitters is not gold and the owner of a photo-electric change machine has sadly learned that all that is green is not good. Elmo F. Wilcox told police he had been cheated out of $30 in quarters by a green gumdrop. The short changing came in a machine at Wilcox's dry cleaning center which is supposed to eject four quarters after being activated by the green dye on a dollar bill. But Wilcox said he forgot to reset the machine over the week-end and when he opened it up Sunday found the gumdrop in place of 30 dollar bills.

Cupid-Yank Duo Defeats Bureaucracy MOSCOW, Dec. 17 (AP)—Cupid triumphed over communist bureaucracy today to enable an American visitor in Moscow to marry his 25-year-old Russian sweetheart. Larry Brayton, 36, Fairbanks, Alaska, was wed to Rosita Schiffman less than an hour after Soviet authorities granted him a last minute visa extension. Without it, the marriage was unlikely because of regulations that require a valid passport or document for foreign weddings. Brayton, who came to Russia as a tourist, has been in the country illegally since Nov. 29. But he had announced he was determined to "sweat it out" until after the ceremony today. Brayton said he will remain in Russia until January, when he plans to go back to Alaska to prepare a home for his new wife.

Commission Amends Dog Leash Law Twin Falls city commissioners Monday night, denied a building permit, amended the dog leash law, sold some property and wiped some outstanding water bills off the books as the commission tackled a host of small items coming before the group. A building permit was denied Karl C. Freeman, who had asked for and received a zoning variance to construct a building on the north property line of a lot on Blue Lakes boulevard north. The property presently houses Freeman's real estate office. To grant the building permit would be to violate the city building code if Freeman was to follow his proposed plan to erect windows in the north wall of the structure. This wall must be a solid wall if located on the property line. The transfer of a surplus fire truck to the air force reserve recovery squadron was curtailed because of civil defense commitments. Airport Manager Edward C. Woods reported to the commission concerning a meeting held in Boise on air travel in Idaho. Woods said it was the consensus that jet travel was some time off, with Boise anticipating it in 1965. Woods also noted that West Coast Airlines might not convert completely to jet service. He reported that Gov. Robert Smylie was quite critical of existing air service in the state. The commission voted to charge off some old outstanding water bills, some well over five years old, in the amount of $2,545.15. When bookkeeping costs on the bills become too expensive the city transfers them to another record and turns them over to a credit agency for possible collection. City Manager H. L. Derrick said, "The loss is less than one-half of one per cent." City Manager Derrick also reported on bids received for two pieces of city property declared surplus. Charter Seed company was high bidder on land where the fire drill tower is located, and D. A. Heider was high bidder on a lot on Second avenue south. The bids received were $1,000 and $2,500, respectively. The city also passed ordinance 1241 which deleted the words (See COMMISSION, Page 2)

Johnson Calls for End to Cold War In U.N. Address

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Dec. 17 (AP)—President Johnson today called for an end of the cold war—once and for all—and offered to join in a worldwide crusade to conquer hunger, disease and ignorance. The new U. S. President addressed the 113 members of the United Nations in the great blue and gold hall of the general assembly. It was his first appearance before an international gathering since he took over after the death of John F. Kennedy Nov. 22. Johnson was given a standing ovation as he entered the jammed chamber from which the public had been excluded for security reasons. He quickly launched into his speech in which he pledged continued U. S. support to the United Nations and made an "unswerving commitment to the keeping and the strengthening of peace."

Public Hearing of Baker Case Starts

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—A blonde widow told senate investigators today that she and her husband split a $544,889 stock profit with Robert G. Baker even though the former senate aide invested no money of his own. Mrs. Gertrude C. (Trudy) Novak testified about the transaction as the senate rules committee opened public hearings in its investigation of the outside business dealings of Baker, who resigned Oct. 7 as secretary to the senate's Democratic majority. She said that in February, 1960, Baker told her and her husband, the late Alfred S. Novak, that "he knew of a stock being available that could be good and asked if we had any money to invest."

Baker said he was "so short of cash" that he didn't have any money to invest in the stock himself, Mrs. Novak related. But she said, he proposed that the Novaks put up the money, he would get the stock and they would share in any profit. The arrangement was agreed to, Mrs. Novak said, and "we put up $12,000" that was paid over to Baker for the purchase of stock in the Mortgage Guaranty Insurance company, Milwaukee. Mrs. Novak identified documents showing that 3,000 shares of the stock later were sold for $68,889.86, or a profit of $54,889.86. The profits were split with Baker, she said. Baker's share of the profit was $27,444.93, and Mrs. Novak said this was paid to him in three checks. Mrs. Novak was asked if Baker had ever said anything to her and her husband about the possibility of a favorable tax ruling that would make the stock "very profitable."

"No, I had no knowledge of any such ruling," Mrs. Novak replied. Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R., Neb., asked why the Novaks had agreed to share any profit in the stock with Baker. He suggested this was rather unusual when Baker had invested no money of his own. Mrs. Novak said she knew of no reason other than that she and her husband, who was a Washington home builder, had been in other joint ventures with Baker. Baker, 35, resigned his $19,600-a-year post Oct. 7 after questions were raised about his outside business and financial affairs. He first came to the senate as a 14-year-old page boy from Pickens, S.C.

TIPPIT FUND GROWS DALLAS, Dec. 17 (AP)—The fund for the family of slain Policeman J. D. Tippit reached $277,951 today. Money is coming in at a slower rate than before, but every mail delivery brings funds.

Four Yank Hostages Released LA PAZ, Bolivia, Dec. 17 (AP)—Four U.S. citizens held hostage for 10 days in a tin mining camp by communist-led miners returned by plane today to La Paz, Bolivia's capital. They were freed and moved to the Andean city of Oruro Monday night. The Americans and 15 other hostages got their freedom after a noisy, tense meeting of 4,000 miners approved an agreement between the government and disident Vice President Juan Lechin, boss of the mine workers' federation. The Americans, three members of the U.S. embassy staff in La Paz and a Peace Corps volunteer, were found in good health but in a highly nervous state by mine company doctors. The other hostages—a West German, a Dutchman and 13 Bolivians—returned to their families and jobs in Catavi, where they had been held.

Security NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (AP)—New York gave maximum security to President Johnson today for the second time in 10 days with the additional aid of the United Nations 250-man supranational security force. Probably no visitor to the United Nations—even Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev—has been so carefully guarded as the successor to assassinated President John F. Kennedy was today. An estimated 7,000 men, including the U. N. guards, were assigned to protect Johnson. More than 6,000 had guarded him on his first visit here as President Dec. 8—a normally quiet Sunday.

Rail Union Challenge Hearing Set WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—A preliminary hearing is set for Jan. 2 on the court challenge by four rail unions of a decision by a congressionally created rail arbitration panel. District Judge Alexander Holtzoff will hear motions in the suit by the four railroad brotherhoods against the federal arbitrators. The arbitration board, set up by congress to head off a nationwide rail strike last summer ruled Nov. 26 that the nearly 200 railroads involved could eliminate 90 per cent of firemen's jobs on diesel freight and yard engines and open up for review the jobs of some 19,000 other train crew members. Under the legislation creating the arbitration panel, no strike can take place before next Feb. 25.

State of Union Message Set For Jan. 8 WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—President Johnson will deliver his State of the Union message to congress in person Jan. 8, Democratic leaders from the Capitol reported today. Talking with newsmen after their regular weekly breakfast session at the White House, the party chiefs said the present session of congress will end Friday or Saturday of this week and the legislators will come back Jan. 7. They said they still have to talk with the Republican leadership to determine the exact date of adjournment.

Concert Held At O'Leary PTA Confab

A program of Christmas music was presented by the ninth grade band and orchestra directed by Charles Ratcliffe and Mrs. L. E. Messman at the O'Leary Junior High School PTA meeting Monday night.

Carol Christensen was soloist for the orchestra's presentation of "O, Holy Night." The band concluded the program with the playing of the O'Leary Junior High Alma Mater song.

During the business meeting conducted by Kenneth Reid, PTA president, John Campbell, principal, reported on two projects being undertaken to train students in special work.

He stated a "good beginning" has been made with boys who are having difficulty with academic work by starting an industrial maintenance class. He said the boys are being taught skills with their hands and cited as proof of the interest created the fact absenteeism among the group has almost disappeared.

The principal stressed lack of motivation as the principal cause of the problem with students unable, or unwilling, to master academic work. He said there could be any number of reasons for this inability, and lack of mental capacity to learn is only one.

Campbell also pointed out special projects are under way with several advanced students who are engaged in special research projects at the Twin Falls public library. John Burrill, city librarian, has been conducting classes in library science at the O'Leary Junior high school, the administrator added.

Campbell concluded, "It is necessary to acquaint today's students with the skills of science and mathematics at an earlier age so they will be better prepared to cope with the changing world."

SYNOPSIS AND AGRICULTURAL SUMMARY
Weather conditions over southern Idaho are holding pretty steady as the slow eastward advance of a high pressure ridge system has allowed a temporary building of a high pressure ridge over the Far Western states. Pacific surface disturbances are being forced northward by this pressure pattern, thereby keeping southern Idaho valleys dry and seasonally warm. During the past 24 hours rain and snow have fallen in Washington, northern Idaho and Montana, Missoula, Mont., reported a three-inch snowfall within a six-hour period, earlier this morning.

As the Pacific low pressure system shifts eastward, the protective high pressure ridge will be weakened, making chances more favorable for precipitation in this area later this week. The weather today and tomorrow will remain much as it was yesterday—daytime temperatures ranging from the 30s over Camas prairie to the 40s over Magic Valley. Over Magic Valley the patchy early morning fog dissipated rapidly, allowing afternoon readings to reach balmy levels. Yesterday Magic Valley stations recorded maximums in the 40s, with Castledorf registering a springlike 48 degrees.

Nighttime minimums will remain on the mild side, with readings from the upper teens to the upper 20s.

Variable cloudiness with near to slightly above normal temperatures can be expected through tomorrow over agricultural valleys, but by Thursday night or Friday chances are increased for precipitation to work its way into this area.

30-DAY OUTLOOK

The forecast average pressure pattern during the next 30 days indicates that Pacific storm systems will hold to a track across the Pacific Northwest and northern Idaho before dipping southward in the Central and Central Eastern states.

Under this forecast pattern, temperatures can be expected to average two to four degrees above normal for this period, with average maximums ranging from the low 30s over the upper Snake to the mid to upper 30s over other valley locations. Average minimums will range in the mid teens to low 20s over southeastern sections.

Precipitation is expected to average from one to two inches over agricultural valleys. Snowfall is expected to average five to eight inches over Magic Valley.

Sunshine should total 30 to 40 per cent of possible over the entire area.

Commission Amends Dog Leash Law

"and heated" from section 34 of the dog leash law ordinance. Not all confinement areas at the city pound are heated and the commission struck the phrase.

The city took another step in dog control when the commission authorized the city manager to purchase a pickup truck with a cage to control dogs. City Manager Derrick indicated that more manpower would be available to control dogs after the first of the year. Some $1,700 will be used to purchase the truck. It will come from the police budget, which has a surplus at this time.

The city commissioners also denied the acceptance of the Thompson sub-division plan because the name conflicts with the zoning ordinance which states there will be no duplication of names in sub-divisions.

Johnson

his life did not alter this nation's purpose."

And he outlined the U. S. objectives by saying the United States wants to:

See the cold war end, once and for all.

Prevent the dissemination of nuclear weapons to nations now possessing them.

Press on with arms control and reduction.

Cooperate with all U. N. members "to conquer everywhere the ancient enemies of mankind—hunger, disease and ignorance."

"The United States wants sanity, security, and peace for all, and above all," he said.

He offered no specific proposals or major policy pronouncements beyond these brief aims.

He did suggest in generalities that a modern New Deal could build "a better world, that it is time for a peaceful revolution on a universal scale to improve human welfare and dignity."

"Peace is a journey of 1,000 miles and it must be taken one step at a time," he said.

He was given another standing ovation when he left the chamber.

"The greatest of human problems—and the greatest of our common tasks—is to keep the peace and save the future."

"If there is one commitment more than any other that I would leave with you today, it is my unswerving commitment to the keeping and the strengthening of peace."

"The United States wants security, and peace for all, and above all."

"President Kennedy, I am sure, would regard as his best memorial the fact that in his three years as president the world became a little safer and the way ahead a little brighter. To the protection and enlargement of this new hope for peace, I pledge my country and its government."

Johnson lauded the United Nations for successes exceeding failures. "I recognize that vast problems remain: conflicts between great powers and between small nations, disagreements over disarmament, persistence of ancient wrongs against human rights, tag-end problems of colonialism."

But nations which created these problems by working apart can solve them by working together, the President said.

He did not emphasize specific areas of conflict and disagreement or suggest any specific solutions.

He did say what the United States wants.

He mentioned an end to the cold war, first of all.

He said his country also wants to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons to nations not having them, to push on with arms control and reduction, to cooperate with all U. N. members in conquering hunger, disease and ignorance.

Johnson let it be known in polite, subdued language that America does not intend to shoulder all the load. He said it favors an international aid program that is international in practice as well as in purpose. He said that "every nation must do its share."

Mine Blast In Utah Is Fatal to 9

been a trace of gas in the area for many, many months. I just can't explain it."

Diamond said the nine victims were drilling at the face of the west shaft and theorized a drill bit may have exposed and ignited a pocket of methane.

Explosives were not being used. The bodies of the victims, all from Helper or nearby towns, were brought to the surface under the glare of floodlights. Relatives and friends clustered around bonfires several hundred yards down the hill.

"This is a hell of a Christmas present for them," said a begrimed rescuer.

Casper Nelson, state safety commissioner, said the disaster "could have been much worse if management hadn't taken certain safety precautions."

One of these, he said, was the spreading of rock dust at a depth of eight inches throughout the mine to lessen the danger of coal dust explosions.

Within a few hours after the blast at 11:30 a. m. (MST), more than 150 men from Helper, Price and other coal mining towns converged on the mine, about 100 miles southeast of Salt Lake City.

But all that remained for rescuers was the sad task of recovering the bodies.

The mine, owned by Carbon Fuel Co., has been in operation since 1954. This was its second fatal accident. One worker was killed two years ago in a cave

NASA Plans Artificial Star Launch

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—The U. S. space agency plans to launch a small artificial star into orbit around the Earth on a scientific mission.

It should be visible to the naked eye at twilight and may be in the sky by Christmas.

The national aeronautics and space administration said Monday it intends to launch the polka-dotted, 12-foot, spherical satellite from the Pacific missile range, Point Arguello, Calif., no earlier than December 19.

Called an air density explorer satellite, the inflatable sphere is to be launched by an improved Scout vehicle into a near-polar orbit.

It is expected to extend existing knowledge of the density of the Earth's atmosphere by paratrooping regions not previously surveyed.

The orbit sought, NASA said, is an ellipse inclined 78.5 degrees to the equator and passing roughly over both poles. The satellite is expected to range in its flight from 375 miles to about 1,875 miles from the Earth.

At those altitudes, the sphere would circle the Earth every 122 minutes.

Covered with aluminum which will reflect the sun's rays, the fragile sphere will be visible to the naked eye—but only when its passes coincide with twilight on the Earth—NASA officials said.

If it goes into orbit, ADE will share skywatchers' attention with old reliable Echo I which is the only other satellite of any nation still visible to the naked eye.

GIFTS OF THE MAGI

Within 40 minutes Della's head was covered with tiny close-lying curls that made her look like a truant schoolboy. She looked at her reflection long and critically.

"If Jim doesn't kill me," she said, "before he takes a second look at me, he'll say I look like a third-rate chorus girl. But what could I do with a dollar and eighty-seven cents!"

At 7 o'clock the coffee was made and the frying-pan was on the back of the stove, hot and ready to cook the chops. Della doubled the chain in her hand and waited.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

TUESDAY, Dec. 17—Born today, you will maintain throughout life a great interest in both the arts and sciences. You have a genuine talent for assimilating the most difficult principles of mathematics and music, plus the rare ability to make these principles seem easy and understandable to others. If you do not enter directly either of these fields, therefore, you may very well decide upon teaching them. Either way, you should meet with unusual success.

You have a great love of nature and would be wise to take this into consideration when it comes time to put down permanent roots. You would not be content for long as a city dweller, no matter how exciting city life might seem at first. Look to the peace and harmony of country life if you would have peace and harmony yourself.

Because yours is a complex personality and one that at times seems unable even to mesh with itself, you must guard against acting upon your first judgment. Always give yourself time to think things through a second time and you will save yourself many an error. This is a warning of particular significance when it comes to romance, for, man or woman, you are just the type to be swept off your feet!

Among those born on this day are: John Greenleaf Whittier, American poet; Ludwig von Beethoven, German composer; Sir Humphry Davy, Nobel prize winning English scientist.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 — Indiana's Charlie Halleck summed up Lyndon Johnson, politician, diplomat, in a nutshell. "He showed me things I never saw there before," said Republican Leader Halleck of his tour of the White House with the President.
Better than anything else, Halleck's experience tells why Johnson will enjoy a far more cordial relationship with congress than did the thoughtful, intellectual John Kennedy and the lofty Dwight Eisenhower. Johnson knows what the folks like, and it is the man's nature to enjoy giving it to them, whether it is an intimate tour of the White House or a soothing clause in a tax bill.

TEXAS HOSPITALITY — It seems incredible that Charlie Halleck had never seen the White House swimming pool until Johnson showed it to him. He was Ike's right hand man in the house for eight tough years, yet apparently it never occurred to him, a man of kindly correctness, that Charlie might enjoy a peek at the pool. But it is the sort of thing that does occur to Lyndon Johnson, this big, hospitable Texan, whose happiest hours have been spent showing folks around his ranch and who has a special affection for and understanding of his former colleagues on the hill.
Thus it was perfectly natural for Lyndon to have a long talk with his old friend, Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia, the day before he went to the hill and demanded action on a civil rights bill which is anathema to Russell. It is not only that Johnson is a skilled practitioner of the art of the possible, he has a genuine respect for the opinions of men with whom he differs. And what he wants most is to get the best civil rights bill he can without leaving too many wounds. To do this, he will court his old friends in congress, a chore made easier by the fact that Johnson is devoted to those friends.

BREAD CAST ON WATERS — Lyndon Johnson the historian is acutely aware of the prerogatives of the presidency, but he will not split hairs. Kennedy refused to give Virginia's Sen. Harry Byrd a peek at his fiscal 1965 budget during his battle for his tax bill but Johnson had a talk with Byrd and assured him he could have his look-see. As a result, Byrd, chairman of the senate finance committee, in turn assured Johnson he would get his tax bill early in 1964, retroactive to Jan. 1.
Johnson, in sum, is already doing some things better than Kennedy did them. He is maintaining his close, personal relationship with the men on the hill via cozy visits and long telephone conversations. Kennedy preferred to deal with members of congress through such aides as his congressional liaison man, Larry O'Brien. Of course it saved time, but Johnson will make time to talk to the folks.

BOYISH DELIGHT — Charlie Halleck is a tough, sophisticated politician, who seemed more like a small boy as he told the press about his breakfast meeting with the President. He told of how Johnson had called for him in his car. "I got up two hours early," said Halleck. "It was quite a trip. We got over on the left side a time or two." And he proudly showed off the three cigarette lighters impressed with the vice presidential seal which Johnson had given him.
Then Halleck reverted to type. "The President knows the score up here," he said. He could not have paid Lyndon Johnson a higher compliment.

Views of Others

UPHOLDING THE WHEAT OFFER
By defeating a bill which would have prevented the export-import bank or any other federal agency from guaranteeing credits extended to communist countries, the senate gave President Johnson its first vote of confidence and affirmed the willingness of this country to sell wheat to Soviet Russia and her allies.
Sen. Karl E. Mundt's bill to prohibit the guarantee of credits might have precluded a trade that will help to relieve the balance-of-payments pressures with which this country is confronted. Its defeat is therefore a tribute to the bipartisan majority which clearly recognizes where the self-interests of the United States lie.
But in turning back Senator Mundt's obstructive effort, it should be recognized that it is the shipping provisions, not the extension of credits by their guarantee, that is delaying the consummation of the wheat sales. The Russians appear adamant in their determination not to pay more for transportation than any other customer buying American wheat. And unless the issue of how much wheat must be transported at higher rates in American-flag ships can be resolved, the senate's sensible decision may prove to be an empty gesture.—Washington Post.

THIS IS URBAN RENEWAL?
Most people think of the state of Vermont in terms of hilly farms, brilliant autumn foliage, maple syrup and taciturn, independent citizens. It doesn't seem the likeliest candidate for the tender care of the urban renewal administration.
All the same, the federal agency has announced a $6,601 grant to the state to help finance a growth plan for the community of Thetford; it will be supplemented by $3,301 in state and local funds. The money is going into a 20-month program of comprehensive planning, including study of community facilities and public utilities and even something called "neighborhood analysis."
Is Thetford, then, a big town with incipient big-city woes? No; it has a population of about a thousand, and many of its inhabitants are retired people who have bought some of the small farms in the area.
Whatever else may be said of this deal, it suggests how long the arm of Washington is growing. It doesn't do much, either, for the image of community self-reliance. And it makes you wonder if maybe the urban renewal administration is getting a little mixed up about its functions.—Wall Street Journal.

FRIENDLY UNCLE SAM
Before the Hitler-Tojo war, we used to ship steel and aluminum scrap to potential enemies. Now, in a refinement of diplomacy, we send finished tanks and planes to people not on our side, as in the case of Yugoslavia and Indonesia.
Profound thinkers in Washington are said to have figured out that one cause of the last war was the aggravation caused by our callous behavior in putting firefoc to the trouble of making their own weapons out of scrap metal.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

TOUGH
Whenever you're sure the 20th century is going all wrong, and you think things can't get any worse, and you're ready to ask Charles de Gaulle to stop this world so you can get off, and you've got chewing gum on the bottom of your shoe, and you figure the landlords are more merciful than ever, consider this evidence that things could be worse:
At this very time in 1864, the boardinghouse keepers of New York City voted to limit borders to four prunes apiece for breakfast.—Atlanta Journal.

IN PLAIN ENGLISH
Accustomed as we are to big words and tedious circumlocution from Washington bureaucrats, it gives us great pleasure to compliment Interior Secretary Udall and his department's fish and wildlife service for the wording of their warning to hunters who, by mistake, might kill whooping cranes. Said the wildlife service:
"Don't shoot any big white bird."
That's brief, clear, to the point—and it's good advice.—Omaha World-Herald.

Years Numbered

When Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara announced curtailment or elimination of 33 military bases, speculation was aroused once again about the future of Mountain Home air force base. Sen. Frank Church reported immediately that Mountain Home wasn't affected by the cutback. He went on to explain that "other missions" were being studied for Mountain Home.

It remains to be seen if a new purpose will be discovered for the base in the desert near Mountain Home. That's the sort of talk coming out of the nation's capital ever since it was reported the first time the base's present mission would end about mid-1965. That's the tentative date set for phasing out the B-47, an obsolete jet-bomber capable of delivering nuclear bombs. The B-52 and B-58, in that order, have replaced the B-47. And there are some military men who assert all bombers have been made obsolete by inter-continental ballistic missiles.

Unless there is some military development that is not apparent now, it appears the Mountain Home base is doomed to be abandoned. About all that remains in doubt is the year: "The impact will be terrific on Mountain Home, where a large segment of the economy is tied to the base. But Boise, which also gets considerable business from the base and its personnel, could be expected to take the loss in stride.

Although the lucrative business with a military base and its personnel is attractive, local residents can be thankful for the strong foundation of agriculture as a base for the economy.

SEPARATE SCHOOLS

Pocatello is involved in another of those hassles concerning public and parochial schools. No community having both public and parochial schools is immune. Pocatello's troubles erupted this time because a clergyman objected to transporting parochial students in public school buses. There's nothing new in the practice and many school administrators will contend it's a small-enough price to keep from building whatever new schools would be needed to transfer parochial students to public schools. That's the stand of the Pocatello school board now.
It's a sensible stand and one that's easily defended in those cases where no great expense is involved and the buses don't have to go out of their way. Unfortunately, the law dealing with transportation of students is based firmly on complete separation of church and public schools.

If the buses are privately owned and students are transported on a contract basis, the practice is legal. But if the school district owns the buses and transports parochial students, the practice is illegal. Pocatello school district owns its buses, so it appears the complaining clergyman will triumph. If his victory results in a substantial number of parochial students transferring to public schools, it could be a mighty hollow victory. If the equivalent of a new school is indicated, few taxpayers will be found in the rooting section.
It is proper that public and parochial schools remain separate in operation and administration. However, it is difficult to see how the law is compromised by transporting students from both schools on the same bus.

TARDY EGG ACTION

The last session of the Idaho legislature approved an egg-grading law which some farmers contend will result in driving the small producer out of business. In fact, many small producers already have disposed of their flocks rather than to accept the expense and trouble involved in complying with the new law.

Now Stanley I. Trenhille, state commissioner of agriculture, announces a six-month extension for compliance by producers with flocks of less than 300 hens. He said producers throughout the state had asked for the extension which he said was granted to avoid "considerable loss" for some small producers. That will be small consolation for those who already have disposed of their flocks.

The original deadline was Dec. 31, but all the signs of hardship were present several months ago. As far back as last July, many farm wives were reducing their flocks to just family size.

"Egg money" has been a source of ready funds for many farm families down through the years. Some farm women will explain that eggs provide their only source of income directly from the consumer. Unless they want to comply with provisions of the new law, the egg money is gone.

Inevitably, it would seem that forcing many small producers out of the market will result in increased prices for eggs. That's something housewives will find out when the new egg law becomes fully effective next July 1.

Dear Pot Shots:
Those two little snowstorms sent everyone in our block out to clean off sidewalks. Everyone but the one we like to call the "laziest man in the neighborhood."
For three or four days there, his sidewalk was the disgrace of the neighborhood. Then the weather warmed up and his sidewalk was just as clean and dry as the next one.
Now we're trying to figure out who's smart and why. That guy's either awfully smart and knew something the rest of us didn't, or else he's just plain lucky.

BARRY GOLDWATER

Bureaucracy is expensive in more ways than just money, but that certainly is among the major causes of public disaffection with burgeoning government. Inefficiency, favoritism, politics, petty bossism and the other evils associated with this multiplication of federal offices and personnel unfortunately are very real reasons given for greater proliferation of government workers and salaries.

There are, unfortunately, those whose dedication to bureaucracy burns with the white glow of a blast furnace. Among these, of course, are some politicians who see in the government's personnel structure nothing more or less than a huge stockpile of political plums to be dispensed as patronage to their party faithful.

This in itself is one of the major causes of our mounting national debt—already 30 billion dollars greater than that of all other nations in our world combined. The "make-work" programs and "welfare" projects of our federal government not only account for a large percentage of our fiscal outlay to finance the programs themselves, but require the employment of thousands of clerks, typists, lawyers, administrators and a variety of other workers.

Thus, a tongue-in-cheek amendment offered in the house of representatives last year to limit the number of employees in the department of agriculture to the number of farms in the nation was taken in dead seriousness by the majority and shouted off to curial hiring.

The cost of our government payroll has more than doubled since 1950, and the number of employees receiving this money has risen to approximately 2.5 million—exclusive, of course, of the uniformed services. The cost to the taxpayer of these payrolls is about 1.4 billion dollars monthly.

There currently is pending in congress a bill which would increase these salaries by more than 39 million dollars a year, and it already is running into a hurricane of controversy.

If approved, it would overlap two other pay raises, one of which has not yet gone into effect, and make up a total annual increase of 1.65 billion dollars granted federal workers since October, 1962. Actually, the proposed pay raise would cover only 68 per cent of our 2.5 million federal workers, the rest being left out for purposes not explained clearly by the sponsors of the bill.

For many years there has been a general public apathy about the pay scale of government employees, and certainly in some of the lower wage categories the abuse has been a little more than would seem necessary.

But in the appointive positions, as well as the elective posts on the national level, salaries and other allowances are far greater than would initially appear to be the case. The new legislation would show these upper-crust appointees and elective officials with pay increases in some cases of more than 57 per cent, while some lower-paid workers get as little as one per cent.

The principal argument put forth by supporters of the measure is that only by increasing salaries can the government obtain the caliber of personnel it needs, even in elective posts, such as those in the house and the senate.

I have never noticed, however, any great shortage of well-qualified men, despite the alleged salary drawback, in election contests for the senate or the house, for the federal bench, the cabinet, the sub-cabinet and other high appointive posts.

How do you stand, sir?

Poor Man's Plato

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (AP)—The honesty of Tom Tryon, who may be Hollywood's next big star, is as impressive as his acting ability.
A year ago Tom, who is 6 feet 4 inches, dark and handsome, was a good journeyman actor well-known to movie and television producers, but comparatively unknown to the public.
Then Otto Preminger picked him over 20 other candidates for one of the best roles on the movie horizon for some time.

After viewing some of the early scenes, Preminger signed Tryon, who looks much like Bishop Sheen and Sir Laurence Olivier, for five more films.
Tom is neither Irish nor Catholic. He is of Dutch-English descent, and as a youth in Hartford, Conn., attended a typical New England Congregational church — "You know, big, white steeple, white pillars, and hard seats."

Although fascinated by the ritual of the Catholic church, Tryon said his experience in portraying "The Cardinal" had not made him any more religious.
"I'm in no sense a convert," he said frankly. "But after President Kennedy's death — I don't usually go to church too often — I felt the need of being in one and I went into a Catholic church, and I lit a candle for him."

"I felt at home there," he said.
Tom, who studied painting at Yale university, spent three years in the navy. He didn't decide to become an actor until after he had tried a few walk-on parts in a summer stock company and performed such other theatrical chores as holding up television cue cards.

After an apprenticeship on Broadway, Tom worked in about 10 films and more than a hundred television shows before Preminger, who has always had a canny eye for a promising newcomer, gave him the biggest break of his career.

"Television gives you the chance to learn to act in front of 10 million people," Tryon said. "But the trouble with it is that the industry has become too imitative. As soon as anyone comes up with a bright new idea, everyone else rushes in and tries to copy it."

"Now it is just rubberstamping sausages."
Tom said that one of the funniest things about his recent fame came when a fan magazine writer asked him to name "all the disasters in your life, such as whether your mother ever fell down the stairs, and things like that."

When Tryon couldn't think of any, he said the writer finally asked him in desperation: "Well, didn't you at least have some when you were a kid?"

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (NEA) — It's a brand new ball game for the GOP.
The Republicans had their campaign all planned around the theme of "Re-elect the Kennedys in 1964."
The trade mark was three empty rocking chairs for Jack, Bobby and Teddy.
There was a regional GOP strategy conference going on in St. Louis on the Nov. 22 week-end. When news of President Kennedy's assassination became known during the lunch hour, the banners and posters were hauled down immediately, the rocking chairs dragged out of the hotel lobby, and the conference folded.
GOP national committee Chairman William E. Miller's 30-day moratorium on politics during the period of mourning will probably run a little longer. Congress will be adjourned before Dec. 22. No one wants to talk politics during the Christmas holidays.
But it will be politics as usual — only more so — after congress comes back to town Jan. 2.
Canceled Republican national committee, finance committee and state chairmen's meetings originally scheduled for Minneapolis Dec. 11-14 have been reset for Washington's Mayflower hotel Jan. 8-9.
This will be largely a session on arrangements for the GOP national convention in San Francisco July 13. It is expected that Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin will be named chairman of the resolutions committee which will write the 1964 GOP platform. He was vice chairman in 1960 and chairman of the 1962 Republican restatement of policy group.

The Republican '64 campaign will be launched formally Jan. 29 — without an agreed-upon candidate. GOP national committee is holding "Go-Day" rallies that night in 28 principal U.S. cities.
They will be $100-a-plate dinners, only anyone who wants to pay for his meal will be encouraged to do so. National committee hopes to raise 2 million dollars. In 1960, with 60 donors and Nixon, they raised 4 million dollars.
All the 1964 candidates, favorite sons and remote long shots will be put on the air by closed-circuit television. General Eisenhower will be in Detroit, Nixon in New York, Rockefeller in Los Angeles, Goldwater in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania's Governor Scranton in Indianapolis, Michigan's Governor Romney at the Sheraton-Park in Washington, D.C.

By Jan. 29 all of Democratic President Johnson's important policy messages will have been delivered to congress. It will be known what he stands for and where. If the target he presents is exactly the same as the Kennedy program, the GOP will have something to shoot at and will start shooting.
GOP assessments of Republican presidential possibilities and their chances generally concede that Sen. Barry Goldwater has lost some strength because he personified anti-Kennedyism, which is now a lost issue.

Anti-Goldwater Republicans maintain he no longer has a chance. His main strength was in the South where he had 30 of the 45 GOP convention delegates needed for the nomination. The contention is that southern Democrats who might have voted Republican against Kennedy will support Johnson.
There are all kinds of rumors floating around Washington that Goldwater is getting ready to pull out. Most of this is wishful thinking or guessing.

Draft Goldwater, headquarters in Washington is working harder than ever. The senator's own office shows no signs of retreat. And it has become known that shortly after the Kennedy funeral, Goldwater had a session with Leonard Hall in New York asking him to become Goldwater campaign manager. It didn't go through.

New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's tock has shown no perceptible rise. The consensus is that most women won't vote for him because of his divorce and marriage to a divorcee.

Governor Scranton's weakness is that he isn't known. Walk him down any main street outside of Harrisburg, Pa., says one GOP leader, "and nobody would recognize him."
Nixon is the real dark horse. An shrewd comment on him is that, "If he had just known Rockefeller was going to get a divorce and if he just hadn't run for governor of California and taken such a beating, today he'd have it made."

What does athlete's foot look like? Is there any cure for it?
A—Athlete's foot may appear as small itching blisters that occur singly or in clusters or as areas where the skin is moist, as it often is between the toes, where the outer layers of the skin have rubbed off. It is caused by a fungus and is hard to get rid of.
It is essential to keep the affected skin clean and dry and to change socks at least once a day. Chloroxylenol, when used regularly, clears up most cases of this disease and helps prevent recurrence.
Dilantin because my electroencephalogram showed a tendency to epilepsy although I have never had a seizure. How long can a person safely take this drug? Is it habitforming?
A—Persons with epilepsy may take maintenance doses of diphenylhydantoin (Dilantin) at their lives. This dose is the smallest dose they can take and still prevent occurrence of seizures. You would need a very small dose, if any. The drug is not habitforming.
Q—Is it possible to determine if there is a cancer present anywhere in the body by a 24-hour analysis?
A—No.

SOUTH'S REBID WAS UNFORTUNATE
South's reason for his no-trump rebid was that he wanted to show that his hand was minimum in high cards for an opening bid.
This reason is frequently given for such bids, but it is not a good one.
It is much more important to show your distribution and hand pattern than it is to get across the message that you have opened a minimum.
Of course, a no-trump rebid does tell partner that you have a minimum hand, but it is more important that you also tell him that your hand is suitable for no-trump play.
I could have still saved things

Oswald Jacoby, Bridge

had I bid either three diamonds or three hearts as my second bid, I did have 4-3-3-3 distribution and honors in each suit.
It seemed that a no-trump raise was indicated and I went right to game.
Things started out nicely. My jack of clubs held the first trick and my partner promptly led a heart toward his hand. Had East played low we would have had five tricks, but East hopped right up with the ace and led the five of spades to his partner's ace. Back came the ten of spades and we were down two.
Even three no-trump bid and made would not have been a duplicate standard good from South played four hearts and made five.
Had South just rebid two diamonds we would have run to three hearts and he would have continued to four.

Everest Climb Aided Science

By JOHN BENNETT

IDAHO FALLS, Dec. 17 (AP)—The American expedition that climbed the 29,028 foot Mt. Everest last summer probably contributed more to the science of space than mountaineering.

That's the opinion of a member of the 10-man team, Barry Corbet, a Jackson, Wyo., climbing guide and ski resort operator.

Corbet, who spoke on the Everest climb in Idaho Falls over the week-end, noted several aspects of the ascent would prove valuable to scientists exploring human reactions at extreme altitudes.

The climb required the use of oxygen over extended periods of time, which at high altitudes can produce unusual reactions in a human.

It required a continual existence by men who were forced to share everything and live together almost as closely as astronauts in a space capsule.

"There was tragedy also, something that would be entirely possible on a trip into space.

Jake Breitenbach, a member of the team and a close friend of Corbet's, died during the expedition.

Corbet explained the manner in which the expedition was sponsored at a cost of half a million dollars.

In addition to the National Geographic society, the National Science foundation and others, the military and several universities helped with the financing and equipping of the expedition.

Corbet, who has been climbing for the past nine of his 27 years, said the expedition was in planning stage for over a year.

He described how far in advance each day's trip was determined, and boxes containing the food were marked for specific days.

During the five and a half months the party was on the expedition, hundreds of people were involved.

Corbet said this made teamwork an essential part of the climb.

Corbet also contrasted climbing in the Tetons to ascents on Everest, pointing out that while the altitude made Everest the world's tallest peak and most difficult to climb, the Tetons required more skill and presented more difficulties in what mountaineers call "technical climbing."

Corbet is one of many mountaineers who live in Jackson. Most have national, and some even international reputations.

Corbet, with Breitenbach, in 1959 made the first ascent up the south face of America's highest peak when they reached the top of the 20,000 foot plus Mt. McKinley in Alaska.

During the past summer, a friend of Corbet's, Rod Newcomb, also from Jackson, accomplished another first on Mt.

McKinley by conquering the previously unclimbed east face with a party of five others.

News Around Idaho

Forest Fire Problems Are Aired

BOISE, Dec. 17 (AP)—The state cooperative board of forestry Monday approved a two-cent an acre increase in the charge to private forest owners for state protection against fires.

State Forester Roger Guernsey said the increase, from six to eight cents an acre, was necessary to maintain the fire-fighting operation in 1964.

An unusually bad fire season this year consumed "all but a couple thousand" of $41,000 budgeted for fire-fighting for the two-year period, he said, leaving the department facing a squeeze.

Guernsey said the fee increase applies to about a million acres of class one forest land under state protection. It doesn't include land within fire protection districts or under jurisdiction of the forest service.

The forester also proposed that the state save money by not fighting fires on private range land, which doesn't contribute to the fire fighting fund.

He said fires often don't endanger the forests and suggested that the state offer its equipment without participating further.

But the board refused to act on the proposal. Gov. Robert E. Smylie said such a policy change should be made by the legislature, not the board.

Joe T. Fallini, Idaho director of the bureau of land management, said there is no organized fire protection on private range land.

Fallini said the bureau and the state forester will seek assistance from private land owners.

Guernsey said legislation is needed for "an all-out war on arsonists and woods burners so the courts will treat them as felons."

"And I think we should make greater use of the laws we have on the books," he said.

The board referred to a legislative committee a suggestion for a state campaign to burn off sage brush land.

Bill Smith, Elmore county cattleman representing the state sheep and cattle grower associations, said stockmen would like to see a more liberal state burning policy for brush removal.

"To make a living with livestock we have to get rid of sagebrush," he said. "You couldn't get any of these livestock men to fight a brush fire."

George H. Hottel, Boise, a board member and a vice president of Boise Cascade corporation, said lumbermen should back a proposal to change grading standards. He said a proposed change would leave two by fours at a width of 1 1/2 inch, after drying and dressing.

It is opposed by green lumber producers, whose product already comes out near that size after drying, he said.

Hottel said Canadian lumber imports now provide 17.4 per cent of the lumber consumed in the United States. He said U. S. exports have gone up, but the increase is only a fraction of total output.

Guernsey said the state has sold 71 million board feet of timber in the first five months of the current fiscal year, has another 13.7 million under application and field work in progress on 23 million.

The 107 million total, he said, is close to the 110 million quota set for the biennium.

Guernsey said the state and lumbermen can save money if lumber is measured by weight instead of scaling. He said a saving of $1 a thousand would mean $100,000 more a year for the school endowment fund.

SALMON, Dec. 17 (AP)—The Salmon school district says it has been forced to borrow $32,000 to meet teacher payrolls for December and to make a payment on remodeling work at the Brooklyn school. District Superintendent Robert Banks said property levies have not returned sufficient money to operate on and that the district has issued a tax anticipation note.

MOUNTAIN HOME, Dec. 17 (AP)—Mountain Home will vote Tuesday on a $125,000 bond issue to pay half the cost of proposed improvements in the municipal water system. The community facilities administration has put up $124,500 in federal funds, but an equal amount is needed in matching money to get it.

BOISE, Dec. 17 (AP)—Officials of St. Alphonsus hospital in Boise said Monday that they have received permission from the governing board of the Sisters of the Holy Cross at South Bend, Ind., to construct a new hospital. Sister Peter James, St. Alphonsus administrator, said a Seattle architectural firm is drawing plans for the new building but that construction plans are still indefinite. She said the new facility would be located on the site of St. Teresa's academy which will be closed next year with the opening of the new Bishop Kelly high school.

BOISE, Dec. 17 (AP)—The Idaho fish and game department said Monday it has received 1,024 entries in the annual statewide conservation essay contest sponsored by the Idaho Wildlife Federation. Preliminary figures, the department said, show 606 essays submitted by junior high school students and 418 by senior high students. Entries were received from 47 communities. Michael Throckmorton, department conservation educator, said the six winning essays in each district will be forwarded to the federation for final statewide judging. He said a total of $130 in prize money will be awarded to the top 12 statewide winners.

BOISE, Dec. 17 (AP)—The state highway board was urged Monday to consider a more direct routing of the interstate between Mountain Home and Glenns Ferry. Henry Gunderson, Boise district engineer for the federal bureau of public roads, told the board he favored a route which would by-pass Hammett several miles to the north and Mountain Home to the southeast instead of the northeast. Gunderson argued that the location ordered by the board was more expensive than either a direct route between Mountain Home and Glenns Ferry or a route that would by-pass Mountain Home to the southwest and follow the present routing of U. S. 30 between Glenns Ferry and Mountain Home. Members of the board, who opened their December meeting in Boise, argued, however, that it could consider only slight modifications of the route it ordered following a series of public hearings.

BOISE, Dec. 17 (AP)—The state health department said Monday 188 new disease cases were reported for the week ending Dec. 13 but that no significant changes were noted. Reports filed by 44 physicians showed 90 new strep infection cases, bringing the total for the year to $5,230, compared with 5,709 during the first 50 weeks of 1962. Influenza cases continue to run well above last year with 28 new cases reported, bringing the total to 5,147. There were 2,593 cases reported through the same date in 1962.

Probers Ask More FBI Evidence

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—After preliminary study of the FBI's report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, the presidential investigating commission is calling for the evidence on which the report was based.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, heading the high-level board of inquiry, announced its decision Monday night and disclosed that the commission is building a legal staff to help it scan the evidence.

Warren told newsmen the move was "a perfectly normal thing." But it was clear that the commission intends to scrutinize and evaluate the FBI's work on the case instead of taking the FBI findings at face value.

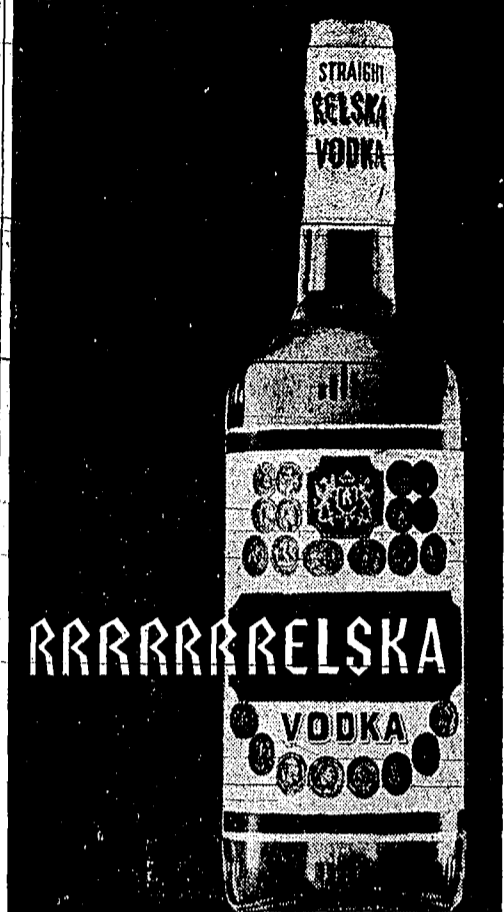

The still-secret FBI report is understood to indicate that Lee Harvey Oswald, 24, was the hidden rifleman who killed Kennedy on Nov. 22 in Dallas and to dismiss, by omission, the theory that Oswald had help or accomplices.

The Warren commission, it appears, wants to sift every scrap of evidence available which might resolve, one way or the other, any suspicion of collusion or conspiracy. Such talk gained circulation after the captured Oswald was shot dead in a Dallas police garage by nightclub owner Jack Ruby, 52.

After a 2 1/2-hour meeting of the seven-man commission and its general counsel, J. Lee Rankin, Warren told reporters he felt that "no statement of any kind should be forthcoming at this moment."

Soviet Women Are Waking to Disadvantages

By GAY PAULEY
NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (UPI)—The Soviet woman rates TOO equality with the man and is waking to some of the disadvantages of the fact.
This was one of the impressions Mari Janofsky said she got from a month's tour of Russia as the only woman member of a U. S. television team preparing a documentary account of the life of the Soviet woman.
"I would not want to be a woman in Russia today," said Miss Janofsky in an interview. "The kind of equality she has I don't want. She's had to sacrifice femininity."
"It would be doubtful if a 22-year-old woman crane operator we talked with would be regarded as a southern belle."

Miss Janofsky, whose parents migrated from Russia in 1898 and settled in Towanda, Pa., explained that the official equality of sexes came with the Russian revolution 46 years ago.
She said "equality" today means that the Russian housewife who works—and most mothers do work to augment the family income—leaves the house in the morning when her husband does.
She drops the children off at a day nursery, works all day, picks up the children at the end of the day, does the marketing which in the Soviet Union is a daily task, cooks the dinner, straightens the house.

She has neither all of the labor-saving devices of her American counterpart nor the help-around-the-house habit of the American male. The Russian way of life does not expect the man to help at home, she said.
"That," said Miss Janofsky, "is equally with a vengeance."
"But I got the impression the Russian women are waking up to the advantages of being female."

Certainly, she said, the awakening shows in things feminine such as lipstick, nail polish, eye makeup and in getting some color and style into clothing instead of settling for drab utility. It shows in the fact that the daily hour and one-half fashion shows staged at GUM, the big Moscow department store, always are jammed, she said.

The government is aware of the Soviet women's demand for feminine trappings and is responding, she continued. Nothing is made and sold in the Soviet unless it's approved officially. That's why such items as uplift bras, nylon stockings and perfume at popular prices are meaningful, she said.

Miss Janofsky worked as associate producer on the television show, "The Soviet Woman."
She, producer Bill Weston, and a camera crew visited Moscow and Tbilisi and Batumi, in the Georgian province to film women at home, in the market, on the job. The women included teachers, dentists, architects, doctors, the woman astronomer who heads the Russian space satellite tracking system, ballerinas, bricklayers, barbers, mail women, janitors, bus drivers, assembly line workers.

They also talked with Russia's first lady, Mme. Nina Khrushchev, and with Ekaterina Furtsseva, the only woman in the Russian presidium.
"The things I'm saying are only my impressions," said Miss Janofsky. "I hate these people who become authorities on a country after one brief visit."

Parseghian Leaves Notre Dame Meeting Without Signing Grid Contract

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 16 (AP)—Ara Parseghian, looking shaken and distraught, walked out of a high-level Notre Dame meeting Monday without signing a contract as head Irish football coach. The fiery 40-year-old mentor, who has been Northwestern's head football coach the last eight years, was named Saturday by Notre Dame as its coach. At the same time, 53-year-old Hugh Devore, father

Trull Eyes Bluebonnet Pass Record

HOUSTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—Baylor's Don Trull, probably could smash Bluebonnet bowl passing records with just an average day Saturday.

The collegiate passing champion, who will guide the Bears against Louisiana State in the annual football classic, has averaged 30.8 passes per game in 10 contests this year. He has completed 174 for a per game average of 215.7 yards.

The most passes thrown by a team in the four previous Bluebonnet bowls were the 20 Rice recorded against Kansas two years ago. Rice quarterback Randy Kerbow, now with the American Football League's Houston Oilers, threw 16, completed 10 and gained 159 yards—all Bluebonnet records.

Trull's favorite receiver, Lawrence Elkins, could set some records of his own. Elkins has averaged catching seven per game for an average 87.3 yards.

Jack Collins of Texas and Johnny Burrell of Rice, each with four receptions, are co-holders of this Bluebonnet record. Clemson's Gary Barnes, who gained 9 yards in pass receiving in the first Bluebonnet game, holds the yardage record.

Trull set three national records during the season. He had the most passes completed with 174, the most yardage by passing of 2,157, and handled the ball more than any other player as he was involved in 403 passes.

Trull will be faced by Billy Ezell, LSU's little quarterback who can come up with a superhuman effort when it counts.

Mays Named to Receive Award

The four starters returning from last year's national championship team scored 99 of Loyola's points and grabbed 85 rebounds.

Ron Miller led Loyola with 31 points, while Les Hunter got 27, Vio Rouse 21 and John Egan 20. Jim Dyer led South Dakota with 20 points.

South Dakota stayed even with Loyola for the first 10 minutes, but Loyola built up a 47-30 lead by halftime.

BEGIN WORKOUTS

of seven and former Notre Dame football co-captain, was elevated by the university to assistant athletic director. Devore had served the 1963 season as "interim" coach of his alma mater, compiling a 2-7 record.

Parseghian's walkout surrounded the whole episode with mystery and apparently with mixed and deep feelings on both sides.

Parseghian arrived on the campus Sunday by his own auto and spent what has been described as a harmonious evening with the Rev. Edmond P. Joyce, Notre Dame executive vice president and chairman of the athletic board, and (Moose) Krause, athletic director, and Devore.

During the evening, however, the Associated Press learned that Parseghian left the group by himself, took his auto and remained absent for about an hour. There was no explanation given for this rather baffling departure.

A press conference was set for 10:30 a.m., EST, Monday. Newsmen, photographers and television men were kept waiting for more than two hours while Parseghian and Father Joyce were in session in another room of the on-campus Morris Inn.

At no time during this period was any explanation given for the delay.

Suddenly, a bellboy, carrying Parseghian's grip and briefcase, came down the elevator and minutes later the coach, wearing his overcoat, walked into the lobby.

He was asked to go to the conference room but said: "No, I have a brief statement that I can read right here."

In a voice that at times showed signs of trembling: "The preliminary announcement by the South Bend Tribune on Saturday precipitated my decision to accept the head coaching position at Notre Dame. The details of the contract has not been fully worked out nor have they as yet. We expect to resolve the matter within a day or two."

After reading the statement, Parseghian said there would be no elaboration. Then he rushed to his car which had been warmed up and drove away.

Meanwhile, Father Joyce ducked the press, leaving by another entrance. At his office in the administration building, newsmen spoke to secretaries but received no reply from Father Joyce who was in his office.

Finally, through an intercommunications system, they managed to reach Father Joyce who came into the front room of his office.

To all questions pertaining to salary, the naming of assistant coaches and their possible salaries, speculation of any suggestions by Parseghian on his becoming athletic director and to any other matters that might shed some light on the situation, Father Joyce replied: "I just cannot make any comments."

He did reveal: "After meeting with Parseghian Sunday night I had no reason to believe that our talk this morning would not be agreeable."

Asked if he were confident that Ara would be the Notre Dame coach, he replied "at this point I don't know."

Father Joyce added that his only disappointment was that a story in the press precipitated the matter.

On leaving Northwestern, Parseghian recommended Alex Agase as his successor to Athletic Director Stu Holcomb. He said, however, if Agase—former All-America lineman from Illinois—was not named Northwestern's head coach, he wanted him as his No. 1 assistant at Notre Dame.

There was speculation that this demand and the salary asked by Parseghian for Agase if he came to Notre Dame might not have been met by Father Joyce. Also, observers believed Parseghian wanted to clear up the Agase matter with Holcomb before committing himself to a Notre Dame contract.

North, South Practice for All-Star Game

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 17 (AP)—Rain hampered workouts Monday by North and South squads preparing for the college all-star football game in the Orange bowl Dec. 21 but the South squad spent more than an hour on the field.

"We're going to use a wide open brand of football," said Tom Nugent of Maryland and Ray Graves of Florida, who have charge of the Rebel squad.

"We're going to mix the ends and backs on both units to see which players do best," Nugent added. "I hope to have a first and second set by Wednesday."

One unit was led by Miami's George Mira, with Maryland's Dick Shiner handling the other. "I'm learning a lot from Mira," Shiner said, "especially how to get back quick and get ready to throw the football."

Coaches Bump Elliot of Michigan and Jerry Burns of Iowa sent the North squad through 25 minutes of passing drill, with George Bork of Northern Illinois and Jack Concannon of Boston College throwing.

Either Bork or Concannon may carry the lead of quarterbacking for the North, Elliot said.

Mira Misses Being U.S. Pass Leader

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (AP)—Miami's George Mira put on a spectacular second half show against Alabama Saturday but his last ditch rally fell just short in his attempt to overtake Baylor's Don Trull as the nation's passing leader.

The final major college statistics released today by the National Collegiate Athletic bureau showed Mira just two completions and two air yards short of Trull.

The Miami flash's 172 completions were more than any other college passer had ever achieved before this season but he was beaten to the record by Trull who completed 174. The Baylor star ran up 2,157 yards, also two better than Mira's 2,155.

But Mira, who signed with the San Francisco 49ers of the National Football league following Saturday's game, did manage to capture the total offense mark. His 324 yards gained against Alabama gave him 2,318 for the year, 42 better than Trull's 2,276.

The passing title was the second straight for Trull, first quarterback to repeat since TCU's Davey O'Brien in 1937 and 1938. Mira's total yards figure was the second best ever, topped only by Johnny Bright's 2,400 for Drake in 1959.

While Mira and Trull battled for offense and passing honors, Navy's Helmsman Trophy winner, Roger Staubach ran up a best-ever passing percentage of 85.5. Staubach completed 107 of 124 attempts.

Appleton Voted Top College Lineman of Year

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (AP)—All-America Scott Appleton, sparkplug of top-rated Texas University's formidable defense, was voted the nation's outstanding college football lineman of 1963 Monday in a poll conducted by The Associated Press. The 239-pound two-way performer, who hopes to be a teacher-coach after a fling in professional football, won by a margin of eight votes from Dick Butkus, Illinois' super center and linebacker. Bob Brown, Nebraska's 269-pound guard, was third.

All-Star Vets To Lead East In Pro Bowl

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 17 (AP)—Seventy-seven veterans of the All-Star Pro Bowl game will lead the Eastern conference in its annual contest against the West Jan. 12 in the title of the New York Giants and Jim Brown of the Cleveland Browns.

The Giants and Steelers will be represented by seven players each, followed by the Browns with six, the Cardinals with five, the Cowboys, Eagles and Redskins with three each.

None of the 34 players counts himself a rookie, and only 13 are playing in the Pro-bowl for the first time.

It will be Tittle's third trip to the East. He played four years for the West as a 4er. Brown, who in 1963 was chosen as the game of the year in a row, holds the Pro Bowl rushing record of 141 yards net from scrimmage. He has been a Pro Bowl choice throughout his career with the Browns.

Eight where Tittle needs him to be De Shofner, the passer's favorite target. The game will be another's second for the East as a Giant to match the pair played for the West as a Ram. Tittle's second at quarterback will be Charley Johnson, of the Cardinals-making his first appearance in the Pro Bowl game. Roster for the Western conference will come out Wednesday, coaches said.

National Loop Felt American League Players Inferior, so Wouldn't Swap

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (AP)—Is it true what the National League is saying about the American? Baseball, that is.

Several of our clubs were reluctant to deal with American league clubs during the recent winter meetings in San Diego and Los Angeles, a National league official said Monday.

They just felt the caliber of play in the AL is inferior and were fearful of not getting equal value in return.

True or not, it does explain in part the reason for the dearth of inter-league trades during the special three-week period provided for such deals.

Fourteen trades have been made since the close of the 1963 baseball season. Only four involved the switch of player contracts from one league to another.

Only one of these can be considered a major trade—the one in which Detroit swapped right-hander Jim Bunning and catcher Gus Triandos to Philadelphia for outfielder Don Demeter and pitcher Jack Hamilton.

American league traders admittedly tried to barter several of their stars to the National only to be rebuffed. By the same token, some National leaguers conceivably may have been offered to the American but were rejected. There are no such known offers, however. The biggest trade of the meetings, in which San Francisco sent Felipe Alou, Ed Bailey and Billy Hoelt to Milwaukee for Dell Crandall, Bob Handley and Bob Shaw, irritated a number of American league clubs which coveted Alou.

The Athletics later sent Lumpy and pitchers Dave Wickersham and Ed Rakow to the Tigers for Colavito and pitcher Bob Anderson.

Colavito, too, was offered to a National league club. "Detroit asked for Ed Mathews in return," said John McHale, president of the Braves. "We didn't think it was an equitable exchange."

The White Sox attempted to swap their center fielder, Jim Landis, to a National league club and the Minnesota Twins made a pitch for Alou, using southpaw Jim Kaat as bait. Neither team succeeded.

"The National league is still smarting from the wounds it received from inter-league trades made last year," a National leaguer said. "We got stung in every deal we made with them."

There were 14 inter-league trades involving 37 players a year ago. Six were high level deals. The National league fared poorly in all but one.

Most pronounced was the one in which Pittsburgh acquired pitcher Don Schwall and catcher Jim Papparoni from Boston for Dick Stuart and pitcher Jack Lamabe.

Schwall had a 4-12 record and Papparoni batted .230 with the Pirates. Stuart led the American league with 118 runs batted in and was second in homers with 42. Lamabe, appearing in 65 games, proved to be one of the best relief pitchers in the AL. He won seven and saved twice as many games.

Some critics say the Giants lost the pennant when they traded relief ace Stu Miller, along with southpaw Mike McCormick and catcher John Orsino to Baltimore for pitchers Jack Fisher and Billy Hoelt and catcher Jimmy Coker.

Miller, turning in a brilliant 2.25 earned run average in a record-tying 71 games, rivaled Boston's Dick Radatz for relief honors. Orsino shared the Orioles' regular catching duties with Dick Brown and McCormick won six games. The trio acquired by the Giants is no longer with the club. The Stan Williams-for-Bill Skowron deal didn't work out well for the Dodgers. Skowron batted .203 in Los Angeles and was sold to Washington. Williams, after a poor start finished strong with a 9-8 season record at New York.

The National league did get a good pitcher when the St. Louis Cardinals acquired right-hander Ron Taylor from Cleveland in exchange for first baseman Fred Whitfield. Ron won nine and saved a number of others-in-relief-Whitfield-hit-23 homers for the Indians.

The American claims it simply is superior in trading acumen. It's open to argument, as to which is right.

Minico Belts Twin Falls Matmen 35-16

The Minico Spartans won six matches with pins Monday night to defeat the Twin Falls Bruins 35-16 in a high school wrestling match.

The Spartans won the first two matches with pins and the Bruins after splitting one match with the next three to threaten at 16-13. Then Minico won four straight matches.

Match results, Twin Falls men listed first, include: 98 pounds, Mike Ford was pinned by Frank Jensen; 108 pounds, Mike Braun was pinned by Clarence Rich; 115 pounds, Bill Hill was decimated by Russ Whittaker 1-0; 123 pounds, Tony Stecklin drew with Ken Roberts; Bill Cook pinned by Roy Johnson; 135 pounds, Dallas Willis decimated Max Garner 2-0; 141 pounds, John Roberts decimated Frank Garner 4-3; 148 pounds, Reed Oll was pinned by R. Kayes; 157 pounds, Tom Smith was pinned by Del Combs; 168 pounds, Reed Williams was pinned by Gerald Arthur; 183 pounds, Rich Gyer was pinned by Gale Corr, and heavyweight, Stan Furtherford decimated Vince Gregory 5-3.

Miller, turning in a brilliant 2.25 earned run average in a record-tying 71 games, rivaled Boston's Dick Radatz for relief honors. Orsino shared the Orioles' regular catching duties with Dick Brown and McCormick won six games. The trio acquired

Creighton Drops Iowa in Overtime

IOWA CITY, Ia., Dec. 17 (AP)—Unbeaten Creighton scored its seventh straight victory in a 77-72 overtime battle with Iowa Monday night, knocking the Hawkeyes out of the undefeated class.

Ford and Peters Take Loop Hurling Honors

BOSTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—Rookie Gary Peters of the Chicago White Sox and veteran Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees, both left-handers, shared American league pitching honors in 1963, the final official averages showed Monday. Peters captured the earned run title with a 2.33 average, edging teammate Juan Pizarro, another southpaw, who finished with 2.39. Peters, who had a 19-8 record, is the first rookie to win an American league earned run average championship since Gene Bearden of Cleveland in 1948.

Camilo Pascual of Minnesota was third last season with 2.47. He was followed by two young Yankee pitchers, Jim Bouton, 2.53, and Al Downing, 2.56. Then came Lee Stange, Minnesota, 2.62, and Ford with 2.74.

Ford won the most games, 24, and had the highest win-loss percentage, .774. The Yankees' ace lost only seven times. He also was the league's workhorse, pitching 269 innings.

Pascual, the Twins' stalwart, struck out the most batters for the third straight season. He had 202 strikeouts in 1963. Boston's Earl Wilson gave up the most bases on balls, 105. Relievers Dick Radatz of Boston and Stu Miller, Baltimore, issued the most intentional walks, 13. Miller also appeared in the most games, 71.

Pascual and New York's Ralph Terry had the most complete games, 18, of 162 innings. The averages are computed by multiplying the earned runs by nine and dividing the total by the number of innings pitched.

Jim Bunning of Detroit, recently traded to Philadelphia of the National league, yielded the most homers, 38. Boston's Bill Monbouquette, a 20-game winner, allowed the most hits, 256, and the most earned runs, 113.

Veteran Ray Herbert of the White Sox was the shutout leader with seven. The White Sox had the lowest collective earned run average, 2.97. Yankee pitchers had the most complete games, 59, and the Cleveland staff led in strikeouts with 1,018.

Moro Seems Headed to Vote Victory

ROME, Dec. 17 (AP)—Premier Aldo Moro appeared headed toward victory today in his bid to win a crucial vote of confidence for his center-left coalition government.

Political sources predicted Moro's coalition of Christian Democrats, Marxist Socialists, Social Democrats and Republicans would win a majority in the Italian chamber of deputies.

But controversy over the new political lineup and its significance in terms of Italy's role in the North Atlantic Treaty organization (NATO) opened splits within the ranks of the Christian Democrats and the Socialists. The two parties are the major ones within the coalition.

Now British Feel Wrath Of Cambodia

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia, Dec. 17 (AP)—It was Britain's turn Monday to feel the wrath of Prince Norodom Sihanouk, chief of state of neutralist Cambodia. He ordered Cambodian embassy personnel home from London, the same step taken against Washington last week.

"We consider that henceforth friendship, and even understanding, is impossible between the Anglo-Americans and us," Sihanouk said in a statement. "It appears necessary, without a legal diplomatic break, to put our relations in slumber."

Sihanouk acted after the British government had said it could not condone Cambodia's official "manifestations of joy" over the death of pro-Western Premier Sarit Thanarat of Thailand, long involved in a border dispute with Cambodia.

A similar U. S. note had prompted the retaliation against Washington.

Valley Jaycees Join Forces In Annual Sale of Oranges

Jaycees from four Magic Valley communities will be out Wednesday and Thursday evenings selling oranges in a door-to-door campaign to raise money for Jaycee youth and Christmas projects.

The Jaycees have purchased about 1,000 cases of Sunkist oranges from the Sunkist growers of California for this annual sale. The oranges were trucked to Twin Falls from California by Ida-Cal and were stored at Hunter Produce, which ordered the oranges for the group.

The sale which will take in Gooding, Jerome, Buhl and Twin Falls, is part of a state-wide orange sale sponsored by the Jaycees every year. Usually sales in various towns are held at different times.

This is the first year Twin Falls Jaycees teamed up with other Magic Valley Jaycees for the sale, and as a team they hope to cover more area in the same time.

President's Car Reported Getting Armor Plate

DEARBORN, Mich., Dec. 17 (AP)—The limousine that carried John F. Kennedy to his rendezvous with death was under secret service guard here Monday, reportedly being refitted for further service as the official presidential car.

The alterations are reported to include 1,600 pounds of armor plating and bullet-proof glass.

The move might mean the secret service has rejected an earlier proposal to place the car in the Henry Ford museum at Greenfield Village, also located in this Detroit suburb.

Ford Motor company officials neither confirmed nor denied that the car was in Michigan.

Gem Natural Resource Unit Eyed

BOISE, Dec. 17 (AP)—State Rep. Alvin Benson, D., Owyhee, says that if Gov. Robert E. Smylie wants a state natural resources committee he should appoint one with himself as acting chairman.

He suggested that Smylie put such a committee to work simply by appointing the heads of state departments dealing with natural resources. He said the department heads would have been named members of a committee provided for in a 1963 senate bill.

"This identical committee is possible without legislation by the simple act, by the governor, of calling the same people together with him as acting chairman," said Benson. "Secretarial help could be paid from his (the governor's) emergency fund if necessary."

Commenting on the Los Angeles plan to divert water from the Snake river, Benson suggested "that along with the impassioned oratory and militant news releases we should evaluate the situation and plan where and how we want to go."

He said possible projects already are outlined in a report on the Snake river by the bureau of reclamation. Benson said proposed projects on the Snake east of Twin Falls would leave too little water for the proposed diversion. "Whether the Los Angeles plan is something they will pass or if it is a diversionary tactic designed to put pressure on Idaho's congressional delegation, I don't know," said Benson.

MINERAL BATHS AND ARTHRITIS

Q. I have arthritis and have had little success with doctors. Would warm mineral baths help?

A. Perhaps you have expected too much from doctors. There is no cure for arthritis. Warm baths are only a part of the total basic treatment of the condition. Such baths should always be prescribed by a physician familiar with the case. This is essential not only to obtain the most benefit but also to avoid harmful effect.

APPENDICITIS

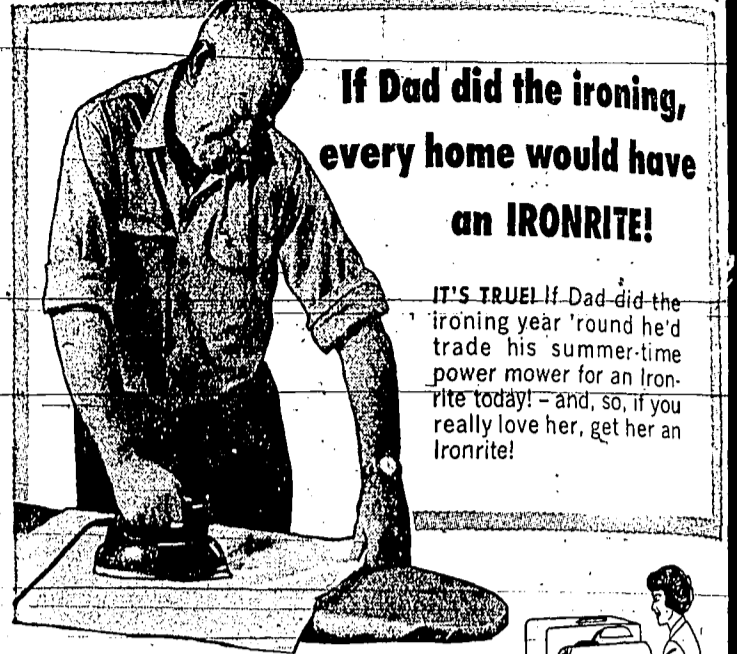

Q. If a woman developed appendicitis during pregnancy, would the doctor operate? If so, would this damage the child?

A. The doctor would operate if the mother's life was in danger. The child would not necessarily be harmed.

Remember — the diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician.

Bad Air at Lewiston Is Problem

BOISE, Dec. 17—Dr. T. O. Carter, Idaho health administrator, said today that a report of the U. S. public health service of the Lewis and Clark area concludes that there is an air pollution problem in the Lewiston-Clarkston, Wash., area. But he said it remains a "moot question" whether there is any health problem. Dr. Carter said he believes it can be worked out within the community.

The state air pollution control commission will meet Tuesday to consider the report, prepared by the federal agency at the request of Washington and Idaho, and the cities of Lewiston and Clarkston.

The commission is asked to review the report and make recommendations. Dr. Carter said the pollution comes from the Kraft paper mill owned by Potlatch Forests, operated at Lewiston. The primary complaint is that the mill produces an unpleasant odor, he said.

"There is also some moisture being carried into the air and probably some sulphur-containing compounds that would..." he said.

Dr. Carter said the question of whether there is pollution "depends a lot on what your definition of air pollution is."

"It would certainly seem, this being the season of good will, that the people involved can work the problem out" by themselves.

He said the recommendations of the federal health service are of a general nature. He said it has no authority to enforce any recommendations.

Pastor Gets New Airplane For Missions

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Dec. 17 (AP)—A red and white Piper Cub airplane purchased with 4,673 books of trading stamps was delivered Monday to a Gainesville minister.

"At last," said the Rev. William Christie of the Kanapaha Presbyterian church, "we've got the problem licked."

The plane will be delivered on Jan. 1 at Brownsville, Tex., to Dr. James R. Boyce, a Presbyterian minister in Mexico, and will be used on trips into remote Mexican villages.

Ten months ago, Dr. Boyce was grounded when his 12-year-old plane ceased to function.

That gave the Rev. Mr. Christie the idea of asking his congregation to save stamps for a new plane.

Seventy other Presbyterian churches in Florida and 417 in other states began sending in stamps. For months Mrs. Christie and others in the Kanapaha congregation counted, licked and pasted them in books.

In the end, 2,483 books were left over. They will be used to buy Dr. Boyce a Jeep and medical supplies.

The Christies will deliver the plane to Dr. Boyce, whose mission work centers around the jungle areas of Acapulco.

Production Unchanged, Still Brisk

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—The nation's industrial production was virtually unchanged in November as the output of automobiles and other consumer goods continued at a brisk rate, the federal reserve board said Monday.

The board's index of industrial production inches up from 126.0 to 126.9.

The index is a measure of the nation's output of consumer goods, business, farm and transportation equipment, and activity in the mining and utility industries.

The 126.9 figure compares with a base of 100 as the 1957-59 average.

Automobile assemblies continued to increase and were more than 10 per cent above November of 1962. The federal reserve said there were indications that this high rate of production would be maintained in December.

The index has increased in 10 of the 11 months this year, although some of the gains have been very small. In November of last year the index was 119.5.

There were increases in the output of industrial machinery and freight and passenger equipment in November while the output of farm equipment was maintained at a high level.

There was some increase in iron and steel production during November, and the federal reserve said this trend has continued in early December.

Burton Divorced, Fisher Warbles Happy Song

GUADALAJARA, Mexico, Dec. 17 (AP)—The wife of actor Richard Burton was granted a Mexican divorce Monday on charges that he had abandoned his home and subjected her to cruel and inhuman treatment.

A friend of Burton said the divorce means the British actor will marry Elizabeth Taylor.

In Beverly Hills, Eddie Fisher, estranged husband of Miss Taylor, exclaimed "Marvelous Bravo!" Then he broke into song.

In Hollywood Martin Gang, Miss Taylor's lawyer, said his partner, Mickey Rudin, was in New York conferring with Fisher's lawyer about a settlement to clear the way for a divorce between the actress and the singer.

ICC CHIEF ELECTED
WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—Abe McOregon Goff was elected chairman of the Interstate commerce commission Monday. Goff will take office Jan. 1 to succeed Lawrence K. Wainath, who headed the ICC during 1963.
