Legislators Rap, Support Smylie's Bond Proposal

By The Associated Press
A Democratic senator who is also vice president of the state reclamation association today said he believes Gov. Robert E. Smylie's proposal for bond-financed state water development isn't feasible. A number of other legislative leaders, however, pledged bi-partisan support of the proposal, saying they would favor a special 1964 legislative session if a feasible plan is drafted.

Driver Is Charged At Gooding

GOODING, Dec. 30—Gooding county authorities filed charges of reckless driving Monday morning against William Bentley, Provo, as a result of a head-on collision Friday morning four miles west of here on highway 28 which hospitalized Bentley and his wife.

Bentley is listed in good condition at Gooding Memorial hospital with lacerations and possible internal injuries, and Mrs. Bentley is reported in fair condition with fractured spine, skull and jaw. She also sustained lacerations.

According to Deputy Sheriff Al Muir, the Bentley's 1962 Volkswagen collided head-on with 1955 Oldsmobile driven by Warren Scott, 33, Bliss. Scott was not hurt.

Due to fog, Bentley was unable to see the oncoming car. Mr. and Mrs. Bentley are students at Brigham Young University, Provo.

More Talks Eyed on Red Wall Passes

BERLIN, Dec. 30—West Berlin's deputy mayor restated today the city government's readiness to negotiate with the communists on keeping the Berlin wall open past the Jan. 5 deadline. A word of caution came from Bonn.

The red regime in the East stepped up its campaign for further negotiations after a record number of West Berliners visited ones in the East Sunday on special one-day holiday permits. But West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, returning to Bonn from talks with President Johnson, cautioned against letting the West Berlin government assume too much responsibility, for fear the Berlin talks may be into communist hands and force recognition of East Germany.

Henrich Albertz, West Berlin's deputy mayor, stressed at a news conference the city government's desire to extend the visiting period. But he said there have been no official moves to reopen talks with the East German regime on the matter.

Nearly 155,000 West Berliners crossed through the Berlin wall Sunday for one-day visits.

Neutral Zone Is Okayed By Cypriots

NICOSIA, Cyprus, Dec. 30—Greek and Turkish Cypriot leaders agreed today to a proposal for British Commonwealth Secretary Duffield to set up a neutral zone between their fighting forces in Nicosia.

The factions also agreed to allow British troops to patrol all parts of the capital of Cyprus at the discretion of the British commander.

Sandys told newsmen the agreement accepting his proposals was signed by Archbishop Makarios, the island's Greek Cypriot president, and the Turkish Cypriot vice president, Dr. Zeki Kutuhuk.

Sandys said leaders of both sides would meet daily under British chairmanship in an effort to resolve differences that have threatened the eastern Mediterranean island to the brink of civil war and heightened international tension last week.

21 Die, 60 Injured In Florida Blaze

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 30 (UPI)—Twenty-one persons were killed and 60 injured Sunday in a fire that sent deadly black smoke billowing through the 13-story Roosevelt hotel, filled to capacity with Gator bowl football fans. A terrified woman leaped or fell to her death from the seventh floor while scores of the hotel's 499 guests were crawling to safety on makeshift ropes of sheets and blankets. Others were rescued from the roof by helicopters and firemen raised ladders to the lower floors of the 50-year-old building to bring others to safety.

Authorities said that apparently all the victims except the woman who plummeted from the seventh floor were killed by the choking smoke that curled up elevator shafts, stairwells, air ducts and even loose pipe fittings, making some exits impassable.

The fire, which broke out at 7:45 a.m. (EST), collapsed the first floor but the flames could not spread because the brick structure was fire-proofed.

Miss America, Donna Axum, was trapped in her 10th floor room for an hour before she managed to escape. She held a news conference in a hospital to announce she was unharmed shortly after fleeing the building clad in a fur coat over pajamas.

Hope said he felt a little tired but "100 per cent better" for having made the tour. He said his eye ailment had improved during the trip but that he will undergo further treatment in Los Angeles.

Hope suffered hemorrhaging in his left eye earlier this month.

The comedian said morale at bases in Italy, Greece, Turkey and Libya was "really great."

There are some 5,800 phones in Burley, Oakley and Declo have about 350 phones each.

Jordan Wants Hearing on Grain Change

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30—Sen. Len B. Jordan, R. Ida., today called for hearings before the senate agriculture committee on changes in wheat standards suggested by Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman.

Jordan wrote Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D., La., committee chairman, saying many Idaho wheat producers and grain handlers are concerned about the proposed changes.

"I have been in contact with the department of agriculture but have not been able to get any information as to when the decision will be announced or what the decision will be," said Jordan.

He said he would like to see hearings before Feb. 1, when Freeman is expected to act on the proposals.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (UPI)—The senate approved today a controversial 3 billion dollar foreign aid money bill, then voted to adjourn the longest session of congress since 1942. The house was expected to follow suit in voting adjournment shortly. The senate voted to quit until Jan. 7 at 2:19 p.m. EST after disposing of the compromise aid bill with less debate than anticipated.

Buhl Resident Is Accused of Murder

BUHL, Dec. 30—Charges of second degree murder were filed Monday morning by Twin Falls Sheriff James H. Benham against Roland Beard, 42, 1518 Main street west, Buhl, for the fatal shooting of Mrs. Lillian Bullard, 45, Buhl.

Mrs. Bullard was found dead in Beard's home about 4 a.m. Saturday by Buhl police. She had been shot once with a .30-06 rifle, the bullet striking her just beneath the breast bone and remaining in the body.

Benham said Beard had confessed to the shooting and would be arraigned before Probate Judge Zoe Ann Warberg sometime Monday afternoon.

Benham explained Monday morning Beard told him Saturday morning he shot Mrs. Bullard early Saturday morning during an argument at his home, adding he did not know why. Benham said Monday Beard continued to say he does not know why he shot her.

Beard and Mrs. Bullard had been keeping company for about six months, Benham said, and Beard told the sheriff they had talked of getting married soon.

Mrs. Bullard's body was sent to New York Mills, Minn., Monday by the Albertson funeral home.

The conference also was primarily concerned with the budget.

Goldwater to Give Decision On Friday

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 30 (UPI)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R., Ariz., will announce Friday whether he will seek the Republican presidential nomination in 1964.

Goldwater, unannounced but considered the party's frontrunner, made his plan known today in telegrams to numerous supporters throughout the country.

Goldwater was not available for comment.

The telegram read: "From time to time during the past year, I have discussed with countless Republicans like yourself our two-party system and our individual responsibility to this concept."

"Because we share a mutual belief in this regard, I want you to know that on Jan. 3, I am asking some of the leaders of the Republican party in Arizona to meet with me at noon at my home in Phoenix to hear my decision regarding 1964."

Greek King Dissolves Parliament

ATHENS, Greece, Dec. 30 (UPI)—King Paul decided today to call elections for a new Greek parliament in an attempt to solve Greece's political crisis.

The king decided to dissolve the parliament elected Nov. 3 after leaders of the nation's two major political parties couldn't form a government and refused to work together in a coalition.

The palace announced the king had asked Ioannis Paraskevopoulos, 63-year-old deputy governor of the Bank of Greece, to head a caretaker cabinet and hold the elections.

Johnson Asks Germans for Peace Ideas

BONN, Germany, Dec. 30 (UPI)—Chancellor Ludwig Erhard returned home today and said President Johnson is expecting West Germany to come up with new suggestions for easing tensions with the Soviet Union.

This, he explained, is because Germany lies nearer Russia geographically. He did not say whether President Johnson had specified what kind of proposals these should be. Nor did he offer any.

Erhard and Johnson agreed in Texas that efforts should be pressed to ease tensions.

Erhard said the United States does not want the West Germans to do anything to complicate the Berlin situation. The main problem in Berlin now is what should be done to prolong the holiday arrangement under which the communists have allowed West Berliners to make brief visits to East Berlin.

Smoke From Furnace Fills Store

Smoke from a coal furnace at Cain's Appliance and Furniture store, 204 Main avenue north, filled all three floors of the building Monday morning.

Elvis Cain, owner of the store, said late Monday morning no damage was caused by the smoke but that cleaning soot and dust off the furniture and appliances in the store would be necessary.

The Twin Falls fire department was called about 7:45 a.m. Monday and three fire trucks arrived. All three floors of the building were filled with black smoke, according to Jerry Shane, an employe at the store.

Shane said the smoke was caused by clinkers building up in the large coal furnace and pushing the fire door open. Shane explained apparently the fire door was left ajar and when the clinkers built up to a certain point early Monday morning, the door was pushed open and smoke escaped.

One fire truck remained at the store until about 9:30 a.m. Monday to be sure all the smoke was out of the building.

Shane said most of the furniture throughout the store would probably have the burnt odor left by the smoke and added the odor would probably remain inside the building for another two or three days.

Oakley Machine Shop Hit by Fire

OAKLEY, Dec. 30—Fire at 4 a.m. today destroyed the interior of a machine shop owned by Trafford Woodhouse and Elmo Woodhouse.

Fairfield Telephone Rates Increased, Rural Party-Line Gossips Are Gagged

BOISE, Dec. 30 (UPI)—The public utilities commission today ordered increased rates for the Panamint and Fairfield subscribers of Idaho Telephone company along with a crackdown on rural party-line gossips.

New rates, increased considerably from the present because of major equipment changes by the company, go into effect in 30 days. The company has until July 1 to install timing devices that chop off rural conversations after seven minutes.

Two widely-separated communities will be affected by the order. President Ralph Wiekberg said the PUC, in ordering the increased rates, took into consideration equipment problems by the company in both communities.

At Fairfield, he said, Idaho Telephone had to rebuild the central office and most of the outside plant. He said service had been changed from magnetic to hand-operated phones to automatic 24-hour service.

ERHARD TO VISIT POPE

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 30 (UPI)—Pope Paul VI will receive West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard in private audience Jan. 29, the Vatican announced today.

Weather, Temperatures

MAGIC VALLEY — Considerable high cloudiness today and tonight. Cloudy Tuesday with chance of a few showers late Tuesday. Increased fog outlook for Wednesday cooler and mostly cloudy. High temperature today and Tuesday 32 to 40, low tonight 19 to 27. Camas prairie high and Tuesday 23 to 29, low tonight zero to 8 below. Temperature at 8 a.m., 20 at Jerome, 21 with 80 per cent humidity at T. F. weather bureau, 23, with 80 per cent humidity at T. F. entomology laboratory, 19 at Rupert, 8 below at Fairfield, 10 at Buhl, and 20 at Castelford; at noon, 28 with 71 per cent humidity at T. F. weather bureau.

FIVE-DAY FORECAST

The average pressure pattern through Saturday indicates that the semi-permanent high pressure ridge will maintain its dominance over the Intermountain region but will give way or be flattened at times as Pacific weather disturbances move across southern Canada.

Temperatures under this pattern over southern Idaho will average from near to about 3 degrees below normal during this five-day period. Valley areas of fog and low cloudiness will be held to these slightly below normal temperature averages. A little warmer weather at the first of this week and again at the end will be divided by minor cooling Wednesday and Thursday. Temperature normals for this five-day period are Boise 37-22, Gooding 33-17, Twin Falls 37-15.

Precipitation totals will average light with .05 to .15 of an inch expected over valley locations through Saturday. Precipitation in the form of light snow occasionally mixed with light rain in southern and western valleys is expected late tomorrow and Wednesday and again towards the end of the week.

Sunshine will average 30 to 35 per cent of possible with southern and upper Snake valleys favoring the lower end of this range due to more persistent valley fog than southeastern sections. Winds will average near normal with speeds of 8 to 14 miles per hour.

SYNOPSIS AND AGRICULTURAL SUMMARY

The large well developed high pressure cell centered over Utah can be likened to a bubble of air that extends over this area and forms a barrier to Pacific storm systems. However, this barrier allows surges of Pacific moisture to ride over the top of this bubble, producing cloudiness, fog and a scattering of light snow over the valleys. One such Pacific disturbance is moving into shore around Washington and British Columbia that will give increased cloudiness and some light precipitation during the next 24 to 48 hours.

Maximum temperatures will range in the 30's generally except in the 20's where fog persists past midday during the next three days and minimum temperatures will creep upward due to heavier cloud cover and range from 5 to 15 above over the upper Snake and extreme eastern valleys, 15 to 25 degrees over Magic and southwestern valleys. But Camas prairie can expect minimums to range from around 8 below to 5 above tonight and Tuesday night.

TEMPERATURE AND PRECIPITATION

Drivers Not Injured in 2 Accidents

Twin Falls county sheriff's office investigated two accidents late Saturday night and early Sunday morning resulting in no injuries and no citations being issued.

At 11 p.m. Saturday one-half mile west of Curry on U.S. highway 30, a 1955 Ford driven by Orville Haskins, 77, 328 Third Avenue east, collided with a 1959 Lincoln Continental driven by Clair E. Daniels, 31, 444 Washington street north.

According to the sheriff's office report, the Ford was going east on the inside lane and the Continental was going east on the outside lane. The Ford decided to turn right into the outside lane and the Continental decided to pass the Ford on the left side after it got into the outside lane. When the Ford turned right, the Continental started to pass the Ford and they collided.

A 1957 Ford was demolished when the driver went to sleep about 1:45 a.m. Sunday three and one-quarter miles east of Twin Falls on state highway 50.

Earl Jarvinen, 60, Twin Falls, told officers he was going west on the highway and went to sleep. When he woke up, the car was in a large irrigation ditch, lying on its left side.

Water

aren't going to sign any compact. The compact would allocate Columbia river basin water among five states.

"The Idaho State Reclamation Association," said Wetherell, "has taken the word of one attorney, and he's been employed by the Idaho Power company for many years."

Wetherell said his study of the law inclines him to believe that a court would rule that California is just as much entitled to Idaho water for domestic use as Idaho is. He said the state constitution puts top priority on domestic use of water.

The senator said he favors a constitutional amendment to add recreation, fish and wildlife and flood control to uses of water recognized by the state. He said the constitution doesn't recognize those uses.

"In other words our constitution doesn't recognize multiple use of water," he said.

Smyle outlined his plan in a letter to Rep. Vernon Rovenscroft, D., Gooding. Copies were sent to all other legislators as well.

Smyle says prompt action on the proposal is necessary in view of the threat of diversion of Idaho water to southern California.

He told the lawmakers that the plan should be submitted to the people on the 1964 general election ballot, rather than waiting until 1968, after the 1965 session.

The governor's proposal calls for amendments to the state constitution, which would enable Idaho to sell revenue bonds to finance reclamation projects and construction of dams and create a constitutional agency to administer and operate them.

Sen. Cecil Andrus, D., Clearwater, a member of the senate public resources and public recreation committee, said he would support any feasible program declaring that "the protection of our natural resources is extremely important to everyone in the state... regardless of their political affiliation."

But he said he couldn't support the governor's proposal at this time "because I still don't know what it is. He still hasn't given us anything concrete."

Rep. William J. Lanting, R., Twin Falls, house majority leader, said he would support creation of a new constitutional agency and would favor a special session if a feasible plan is presented.

Sen. Jack Murphy, R., Lincoln, president pro-tem of the senate, said the proposal offered by the governor has been "kicked around for some time" and that he probably would support it.

MOSCOW, Dec. 30—The Soviet Union has promised to help Algeria attain an independent economy.

The Soviet news agency Tass, announcing this Sunday night, did not specify any new Soviet loans to the North African nation. "The Russians granted the Algerian government a 100 million dollar loan in September.

Behan Hurt

DUBLIN, Dec. 30—Playwright Brendan Behan was found lying in a Dublin street today, unconscious with head injuries.

He underwent an emergency operation at Meath hospital, where he was reported in fair condition.

Police were uncertain whether Behan, 40, was the victim of a hit-and-run driver or suffered a fall. He was found in the area where his parents live.

Behan was released from a hospital only Sunday after five days of treatment for diabetes.

Man of Year

NEW YORK, Dec. 30—The Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr., the civil rights leader who became a symbol of the Negro revolution in 1963, has been named Man of the Year by Time magazine.

Time's editors described King in the announcement Sunday as "the man who 'dominated the news of that year and left an indelible mark—for good or ill—on history.'"

The magazine said King was the first Negro to be so designated since Time established the tradition 37-years ago.

Rockefeller To Enter Oregon Race

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 30—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's announcement that he will enter the Oregon presidential preference primary next May 15 is a further unfolding of his strategy.

The New York governor is seeking support from rank-and-file Republicans to bolster his campaign, which has had rough going, and bypass GOP leaders, who have offered him little support.

Rolls indicate Rockefeller has a long way to go to overcome the adverse effects of his divorce and remarriage.

An Associated Press survey of Republican county chairmen throughout the country on who they thought would be the strongest nominee, and the party's likely candidate showed Rockefeller fourth behind Sen. Barry Goldwater, Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge. Rockefeller hopes victories in primaries will convince key Republicans that developments in his private life have not hampered his ability to win elections.

T. E. Police Investigate 4 Accidents

Four accidents were investigated by Twin Falls police officers over the week-end, with one driver cited.

Ralph Ferris, 54, Twin Falls, was cited for drunken driving and on suspended driver's license after a two-car collision on a parking lot in the 100 block of Second Avenue north at 11:25 p.m. Saturday. Police said a 1954 Chevrolet driven by Ferris was pulling out of a parking space.

At 10:47 p.m. Saturday in the 100 block of Washington street, the rear end of a 1954 Ford driven by Jim E. Eblein, 18, 533 Fourth Avenue west, was struck by a 1960 Ford driven by Kay E. Moore, 18, Buhl. Police said Eblein told them he had stopped near the Military Inn and was improperly parked when struck from behind.

One car was damaged slightly in a two-car collision at 8:55 p.m. Sunday on Kimberly road. Police said a 1961 Buick driven by William Forrester, 37, Burton, Wash., started to pull out of the American service station on Kimberly road. He backed up and struck the front end of a 1963 Austin Healey driven by Richard D. Simmons, 22, Twin Falls, which had pulled up behind the Buick.

The grill and bumper of the Austin Healey were damaged.

At 7:55 a.m. Monday in the 300 block of Eighth Avenue east, a 1959 Chevrolet driven by Jerry W. Krieger, 20, 853 Ash street, struck the rear end of a 1954 Cadillac driven by Mrs. Tamara N. Fischer, 23, 304 Ostrander street north, which had stopped at the intersection of Eighth Avenue and Third street east to let a car in front of her go through the intersection. No citations were issued.

Buhl Police Report Five Car Crashes

BUHL, Dec. 30 — Buhl city police investigated five accidents here over the week-end with citations issued in two of the accidents, according to Police Chief Charles Burbank.

Mrs. Ruth Esslinger, 39, Buhl, was cited for failure to yield the right of way following a two-car accident at 2 p.m. Saturday at the intersection of Broadway avenue and Oak street. Mrs. Esslinger stopped at a stop sign and then drove into the road. Her 1959 Dodge collided with a 1960 Ford driven by David J. Stratton, 22, Buhl. Extensive damages were reported to the Ford and $50 to the Dodge.

Both drivers, Stephen Willer, 18, and Mrs. Barbara Lapray, 43, both Buhl, were cited for failure to yield the right of way when their cars collided at the intersection of Eighth avenue north and Locust street at 11:05 a.m. Saturday. Willer also was cited for driving with an expired driver's license.

Mrs. Lapray told investigating officers she failed to see the other car. Willer noted he saw the other car, swerved to avoid a collision, but the front of his car struck the right front fender of the Lapray vehicle. Damages were undetermined.

At 9:25 a.m. Saturday, the Rev. Robert Burchell, 34, Buhl, was driving a 1961 Chevrolet station wagon west on Burley avenue when his car went into a skid on the icy highway. It skidded across the highway, striking a properly parked 1948 Plymouth owned by Scott Brown, Buhl. Both cars skidded around from the impact. The Plymouth was considered a total loss and minor damages were reported to the station wagon.

At 8:25 p.m. Friday, Steven Teuscher, 18, Buhl, backed his 1962 Ford out of a driveway on the Condensary road and collided with a properly parked 1962 Ford owned by Charles D. Brown, route 2, Buhl. Damages were estimated at $75 to the Brown vehicle and $35 to the Teuscher car.

At 12:20 a.m. Friday, Robert H. McNealy, 21, Buhl, lost control of his 1955 Plymouth on the icy roadway as he tried to stop for a stop sign near Maughan's Drive-in-on-truck lane and his car slid into the stop sign. Damages to the front end of his car, the grill, radiator and hood were estimated at $150.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP)—Sen. Jacob K. Javits predicts the senate will vote to "break a civil rights filibuster" for the first time in history in 1964.

Javits said the move to cut off extended debate would be part of the drive to enact "a civil rights bill, the first meaningful one in 80 years."

The New York Republican also said that a tax cut will be approved early in the new session.

Burned-Out Lakonia Hull Finally Sinks

LISBORN, Portugal, Dec. 30 (AP)—The burned-out shell of the Greek cruise liner Lakonia sank in 13,200 feet of Atlantic water Sunday as she was being towed toward Gibraltar.

Capt. Trygve Gaasoe of the Norwegian tug Herkules, who was directing the attempt to salvage the hulk, said the ship's starboard list increased Saturday night.

Six men from one of the two Portuguese tugs with the Herkules were put aboard the wreck Sunday morning to close all starboard portholes. The growing list forced them off after four hours.

"Suddenly at 2 p.m. the wreck heeled over to starboard until the decks on that side were awash," Gaasoe reported by ship-to-shore telephone.

"Just as she went down, she rolled back completely so that her decks were pointing straight toward us on her port side," he said.

Gaasoe said the Lakonia sank about 200 miles southwest of Gibraltar.

"It was simply too burned out to stay afloat," he said. "The charred metal was cooling down after the fire, and this set up a lot of irregular stresses, and the weakened structure probably simply broke up."

Fire broke out on the Lakonia on the night of Dec. 22 as she was sailing from Britain to the Madeira and Canary islands. Of the 1,041 persons aboard, 91 are known dead and 64 are missing.

Lawmen Rapped for Roiling Lee Oswald's Legal Waters

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP)—The former head of the federal communications commission has criticized law enforcement officials for helping to create a climate which he said might have made a fair trial impossible for Lee Harvey Oswald.

"We lawyers tend to blame the press, but it really takes two to tango," said Newton H. Minow regarding the release to news media of incriminating evidence against the accused assassin of President Kennedy.

"It's the lawyers and the law-enforcement people who gave out this information (evidence) to the press, which has now been subject to criticism," Minow said. "So it isn't just the press or media that are involved."

However, Minow said the news media "had a distinct obligation to report whatever they could find about this to the public. If not, we could very easily have had chaos and riots in this country."

Also appearing on the program were Leon Douglas, prosecuting attorney before the court of criminal appeals in Texas; Percy Foreman, Houston, Tex., criminal lawyer and president of the National Association of Defense Attorneys; and Prof. Paul Freund of the Harvard law school.

Oswald was arrested Nov. 22, the day of the assassination in Dallas, and shot to death two days later in the city jail basement.

There have been contentions it would have been impossible to seat an impartial jury because of release of evidence such as Oswald's palm prints being found

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

BY ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON, Dec. 30—They'll start bickering in congress next month on a new law of succession to the presidency, and no matter how many speeches are made they will not come up with anything better than the system they discarded back in 1947.
Harry Truman usually was pretty sure-footed on the big things, but he stumbled on that one. Because he felt it was basically undemocratic for a President to appoint his successor, he proposed and a Republican congress passed the present law making the speaker of the house instead of the secretary of state next in line to the presidency after the vice president. But Truman was wrong—the current hassle shows.

ON DECK: McCORMACK—It is sad, but the fact is nobody seems to want Speaker John McCormack to succeed to the presidency—some newspapers have even suggested he resign his present post. President Johnson's feelings have not been expressed, but even if he were appalled at the thought of McCormack as his successor, he could do nothing about it. McCormack's tenure depends on the voters of his congressional district—not on the wave of a presidential hand.

PEOPLE'S CHOICE—Besides, what is so undemocratic about a President choosing his successor? A President is elected by nationwide balloting, and as the people's choice he appoints members of his cabinet—all of whom must be confirmed by the senate. Any cabinet member thus is more representative of the national sentiment than a member of congress who is chosen by a few thousand voters in a small congressional district in one state.

STRANGE SOLUTION—There are some lusus among the proposals for changing the succession law, among them a brainchild of the usually astute Sen. Jack Javits, R., N.Y. Javits proposes that the senate and house fill any vacancy in the vice presidency by meeting in joint session and electing either one of their own members or a member of the cabinet. If congress were controlled by the opposition party, the President thus would be burdened with a vice president he didn't want—possibly an ancient enemy. This would delight only those who like confusion for confusion's sake.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D., Ind., makes more sense with his proposal that a new vice president be nominated by the President and confirmed by the house and senate. But this plan, too, could lead to the complication of lengthy and perhaps fruitless debate.

All other plans, in the end, lack the simplicity of the pre-1947 law. It offers a built-in successor to the President who was the President's personal choice for secretary of state because he presumably knew something about international affairs. He would not require a second confirmation by the senate. And he would hold his office only at the will of the President. That is the only path to "continuity without confusion."

Views of Others

WASHING OIL OUT OF POLITICS?
President Johnson has told Secretary of the Interior Udall that he wants his department and not the White House to set national oil policy. The department probably can relieve the executive by taking over such administrative functions as raising or lowering the oil import quota as conditions change from time to time. Even this, however, is a limited function which can be performed only along guide lines from the White House or the congress.

The government's relation to the oil industry is perforce political rather than merely administrative. Right or wrong, the industry is in a very special position, exemplified by the 27.5 per cent depletion allowance which enhances its wealth by lowering its taxes. Every secretary of the treasury since Andrew Mellon has asked congress at least to narrow this loophole. If it were subject to administrative control, it would have been closed long ago. But it has been impossible to wash oil out of politics.

Nothing is less likely than that the industry and its lobbyists should meekly accept Mr. Udall's "sound and stable" control if they see the least threat to their position. The oil men operate above the bureaucratic level. As a Texas, President Johnson knows all too well that Texas politics is widely construed as oil politics. So he would like to have as little as possible to do with the industry. He can't be blamed.

But can a President hope to succeed thus in insulating himself from a prime policy area? Certainly he cannot escape responsibility for what his cabinet members decide, nor can he escape pressure if the oil industry feels pressure to be necessary. His only real solution is to decide problems of oil policy like all other problems on the basis of the total national interest rather than any regional interest. The national interest is what he was elected to represent. He should speak for it on all issues, including those involving Texas and oil.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

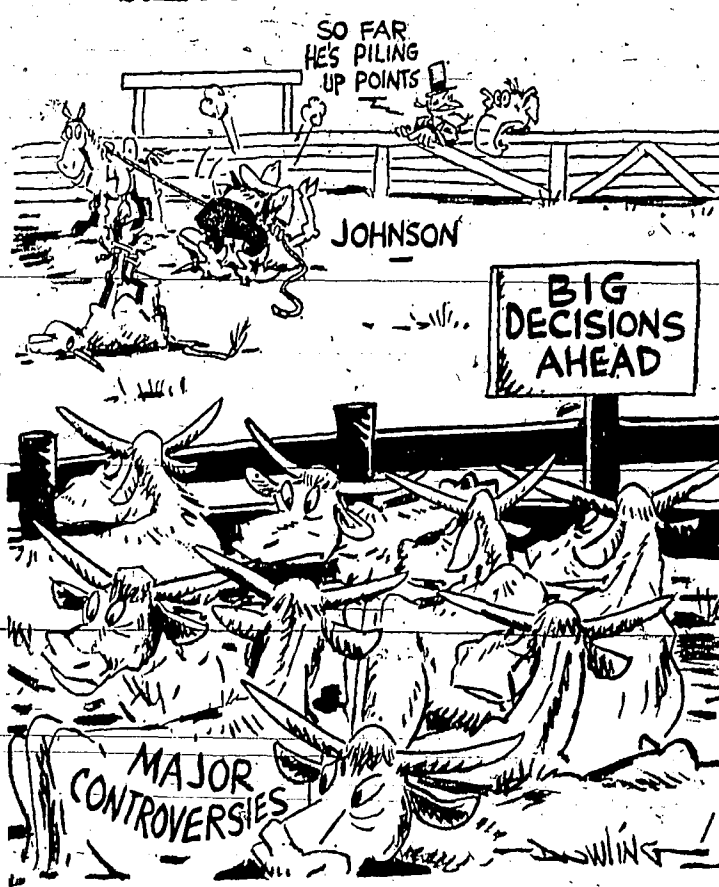

FICKLE SOUTH
The Gallup poll's first test of President Johnson's popularity in the South is startling. If too early to be conclusive, it shows the South returning to the Democratic fold and abandoning overnight the painful prospect of having to vote for a Republican, Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Before President Kennedy's death, and after his civil rights push, the Gallup poll gave Senator Goldwater the prospect of winning 84 per cent of southern votes. Mr. Kennedy 38 per cent. No other potential Republican nominee did so well, pitted again President Kennedy, but Gov. George Romney of Michigan "ran" higher than Mr. Kennedy, and Governor Rockefeller of New York was only slightly behind.

The Johnson-Goldwater poll published Wednesday, however, gives the new President 78 per cent and Goldwater only 19 per cent of the potential vote.

Mr. Gallup stresses that this poll was taken in the very early days of the Johnson administration. It probably does not reflect Mr. Johnson's later promises to push civil rights legislation, almost the sole basis of southerners' disaffection with President Kennedy. Nevertheless, Mr. Johnson is a southerner, the first in the presidency in 109 years. If Mr. Goldwater, the Republican conservative and defender of states' rights, has so quickly lost his appeal in the South, what other Republican could hope to do better?

POT SHOTS

LOOK FORWARD TO IT!
Dear Pot Shots:
I've been reading quite a lot of stuff lately about missiles and rocket ships and trying to figure out what sort of changes they'll bring in our present modes of transportation.
Frankly, it chills me to think that our autos will be jet-powered sometime in the not distant future. And think what will happen if rocket engines ever find their way into automobiles!
It's bad enough the way it is today, but just imagine a pedestrian trying to miss rocket-powered autos and still get on the other side of the street!

PUPS FOR KIDS DEPT.

Five pups, three of them male, have to have new homes. They're part cocker and part some other small-type dog. You can phone John Royston at 733-4017, Twin Falls.

A female dog 6 months old must be given away, preferably to someone living in the country. She's a good pet for a boy. She's a cross between English pointer and beagle. You can get her at 244 Fifth avenue north or phone 733-7891, Twin Falls.

NEXT?

This is belated, but once again the good-doer minority has convinced the city commission that we do not need dogs unless the owners can afford a certain tax and, may I say, references.
I love dogs more than I do a lot of people but my pal, "Ole Shiner," was retired from service because he disturbed numerous neighbors at 3 a.m. So he, and I offered no objections to that.
So now we do not need a column of pups and cats for kids. Few people can afford either and the minority movement has gained its purpose. If you can stop one, you can stop all.
Our cat meows at midnight. I said, "Mother, get rid of that cat." She offered to settle for a lovebird. I replied, "Too loud, it might disturb the minority."
An alarming thought occurred to me. (Now this is a fact.) I arise at 5 a.m. six days a week. This summer, a wise old owl would move to various places around town and I would hear him chant, "Who, who?" Presumably he did not know how to say "next."

The violent demonstration of African students against racial discrimination in the Soviet Union was an embarrassment to the Russians because it tarnished their image as champions of black Africa.

It also came as a shock to many Russians who saw the demonstrators surge to the very gates of the Kremlin, within sight of Lenin's tomb, in the first such outbreak in 40 years.

It led the Soviet news agency Tass to warn that "anyone who does not want to abide by (our rules and laws) is free to leave our country at any time."

In the battle to win men's minds, both the communists and the western nations have relied heavily upon education as part of their strategy.

The magazine East Europe, published by the Free Europe committee, estimated in its March issue that there are about 30,000 foreign students in the communist bloc, including Red China.

At the same time, it said there are 188,000 foreign students in the four principal western countries—the United States, Britain, West Germany and France.

On both sides of the iron curtain, the problems of the foreign student may have elements common to all. These would arise from difference of custom, and especially the sensitivity of the underdeveloped nations.

But in the Soviet Union and the satellites it is clear that many Africans are not getting the treatment they were led to expect.

In Moscow, the students were protesting the death of a Ghanaian student allegedly killed because he planned to marry a Russian girl.

The Russians said he had been drinking, fell down and froze to death.

It was not the first African protest against Soviet discrimination.

In 1960, when the Russians quashed an attempt to organize an All-African Students' union, three of its leaders later published an "open letter" which declared:

"For Soviet leaders to pose before the world as champions of oppressed Africa while they oppress millions in their own country and their satellites is hypocrisy at its worst."

The students further declared their "wish to stress the great danger communism is to true Africanism."

Among their complaints was one that the Soviet authorities refused to permit imports of books and jazz records.

But of deeper significance were other protests against communist political indoctrination which denied diplomas to those not adept in the slogans of Marxist-Leninist doctrine.

In Hungary and Poland, African students have protested their isolation. In Bulgaria, 25 Ghanaian students left school protesting not only their isolation but their discrimination and indoctrination to which they had been subjected.

In Czechoslovakia, the official communist newspaper found it necessary to warn against attacks on African students and to deny that they were living in luxury at the expense of the Czech people.

News of the Moscow incident received wide distribution in West Africa. Nigerian dailies accused the Soviets of breaching tolerance and practicing racial discrimination.

Washington News

BY LYLE C. WILSON
(United Press International)

The era of good political feeling now warming the Johnson administration in its toddling weeks probably will end with a bang in the second week of January when the new President addresses to congress his first annual message of the state of the Union.

Until then, the voters can continue to amuse themselves with the new word game: "Is he or ain't he?" The game, of course, seeks to identify Johnson as a conservative or as a liberal. It is not easy.

There is in Washington, D.C., an organization known as Americans for Constitutional Action (ACA). It keeps account of congressional votes on which it scores senators and representatives on their support of the nation's welfare as ACA sees it.

ACA has an overall rating on the basis of a legislator's consistency in voting to promote sound economic growth through constitutional government and opposing collective morality and socialized economy through centralized power. President Johnson's senate votes in 1959 were rated a poor 10 per cent by ACA's yardstick.

ACA gave him a sorry nine per cent for 1960 support of sound money and opposition to inflation; seven per cent for support of economy and conservation against waste; seven per cent for supporting the private competitive market and opposing government interference; 10 per cent for supporting local self-government against central government interference; nine per cent for support of national security. ACA graded Johnson zero on opposition to government ownership and in defense of individual liberty. A perfect score from the ACA standpoint would be 100 per cent.

An opposite number to ACA in Americana for Democratic Administration (ADA), ADA had been condemning Johnson for years as a Democratic leader until he succeeded to the presidency when ADA began to have kind words for him. In September, 1955, ADA bracketed Johnson together with Sen. John F. Kennedy in voting during the first session of the 84th congress only 66.7 per cent in favor of liberal legislation.

In 1959, ADA was accusing senate Democratic Leader Johnson of surrendering to President Eisenhower on Democratic party principle, especially in unwholy appearance on the issue of civil rights.

Early in the session (first of the 86th congress), ADA complained, "Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senator Johnson snuggled into a straitjacket offered them by the (Eisenhower) administration."

On Oct. 18, 1959, ADA said: "All senatorial hopefuls, except Senator Johnson, scored 100 per cent on the ADA voting record presented at the quarterly national ADA board meeting this week." This referred also to the first session of the 86th congress.

On June 30, 1960, in opposition to Johnson's campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination, ADA said: "He (Johnson) is a conservative, anti-civil rights, gas-and-oil senator. He has supported all of the major anti-liberal legislation enacted during the past two decades and bragged about it."

After Johnson's nomination for vice president, an ADA spokesman said: "The nomination may prove to be a disaster in November." Last February, ADA said: "Vice President Johnson has demonstrated once again that his first loyalty is to the southern racist."

Last Nov. 27, five days after Johnson became President, ADA issued a statement supporting Johnson's unequivocal progressive program.

As so often asked: "Is he or ain't he?"

COVERING THE CAPITAL WITH PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (NEA)—The one-man crusade by Edwin P. Neelan, U. S. Chamber of Commerce president, for greater morality in government is beginning to show results, but not many.

What he is particularly against are pork barrel spending, congressional vote buying and selling through federal tax fund subsidies for purely local projects.

The Wilmington, Del., banker has made about 75 speeches on these subjects since last March, when he took over as head of the country's biggest business organization.

"I sometimes feel that I've grown stale on this," he says now. "I'm talking too much and I'm just talking to other businessmen. I may not reach the people who can do something to change these conditions."

But he has had good press support, particularly from the editorial writers.

"I'm getting a lot of letters telling me to keep it up," he says. "I'm planning another series of speeches in January."

Neelan has more requests for speeches than he can fill, from all over the country. So he is stirring up voters, if not Washington.

It is the big money that he is talking about. His particular target is the more than one billion dollars requested for area redevelopment administration and accelerated public works.

He feels that this money is being forced on local communities by government planners he blasted on his first day in office. He also criticizes congressmen who want to do something for their home states at government expense and "lick businessmen who get fat on tax-supported subsidies."

This makes the Bobby Baker scandal in Washington look like petty larceny by comparison. Yet the Baker case is receiving full-scale senate investigation.

Neelan's charges aren't being investigated by congress. On the contrary, when he charged that the federal spoils system was as immoral as Britain's spy-scandals, congressional leaders chastised him in speeches on both senate and house floors.

Neelan makes clear he doesn't include all members of congress in criticizing the national capital for "brazen political immorality that would almost embarrass the Cosa Nostra crime ring."

"In fact," he told a Baltimore audience, "there's a standing joke in Washington that the government's real motive in going after Cosa Nostra is to eliminate competition."

Then in congress, Rep. W. J. Bryan Dorn, D., S.C., led a fight to stop federal government development of a recreation area for Trotter Shoals. The local community wanted to make a 50-million-dollar industrial park out of the area, financing it with its own funds. On Dorn's insistence, the federal recreation plan was killed.

Neelan recognizes this as an old political trick used by both parties. President Eisenhower, for example, ran up a 13 billion budget deficit in 1959, but showed a 777 million surplus in 1960, which was also an election year.

Neelan points to a few cases where local communities have rebelled against unwanted federal projects.

In Bartow, Fla., the city council and community leaders rejected a deal to let the federal government pay half the cost of a municipal building project. The movement spread to 12 neighboring counties which decided to reject all accelerated public works money from the federal government.

The local community wanted to make a 50-million-dollar industrial park out of the area, financing it with its own funds. On Dorn's insistence, the federal recreation plan was killed.

The Doctor Says

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

We are known to some parts of the world as a nation of teeth-brushers. This is a reputation to be proud of. But in spite of early dental education, many children still get cavities and sore gums.

The reason is not hard to find. The teeth are continuously bathed in mucous secretions of the mouth without which we could not chew and swallow our food. These secretions also form an ideal environment for the growth of germs which are nourished by the food particles that stick to the teeth and by the outer cells of the mucous membrane of the gums as they are cast off like the outer layers of our skin.

These colonies of germs on our teeth are transparent and are not removed by casual brushing. The waste products they produce dissolve the dental enamel and cause cavities. They also irritate the gums.

Researchers at the University of Texas recognized that the prevention of these diseases, especially in children, depends on training the children not simply to brush their teeth but to brush them effectively. They have developed a staining method that will graphically show where the offending germ colonies are. Now available as test tablets or X-pose dental disclosing wafers, these pleasantly flavored lozenges are to be chewed thoroughly then swished around in the mouth and swallowed.

They do not color the clean enamel, only the germ colonies, usually near the gums or where two teeth touch each other. They are stained a brilliant red.

At this point, a look in the mirror makes a profound impression on a child and is much more effective than any amount of lecturing or scolding. The child is then told to brush his teeth, brushing from the gums on to the enamel. He should brush at least 10 times in each location including the outer, inner and grinding surfaces of all his teeth.

He then uses another lozenge and looks in the mirror again. If he has performed his ritual well, all the stains will be gone. If some stain remains because of the teeth, the gentle use of an unwaxed dental floss will remove it. It is well to compliment a child on his success when the second lozenge shows no staining.

If after a while you think your child is forgetting to brush his teeth properly, have him chew another lozenge. This will eliminate arguments and guessing. One look in the mirror will provide the answer.

The stain is not only harmless but is also easily removed from wash basins, cups or fabrics. If there are any areas on your child's teeth that he cannot clean up with proper brushing, these should be called to the attention of your dentist because they may represent the beginning of a cavity or gum disease and early treatment will prevent further damage.

HAND TRAPPED
THE MASTER 2

The year 1963 was pretty good for me bridge-wise. I won the McKenney trophy for the fourth time in five years and managed to break the record for master points won in one year at the same time. Needless to say, I had lots of good hands, but I also had some mighty bad ones.

This bad bid occurred in a men's par game. I reached a normal three no-trump contract. The hand might easily have five

I ducked the club in both hands and had to win the spades and club in dummy. Then I led to my hand with a heart and lost the diamond finesse. East led a third club and I ducked. West won and led a heart at this point I could have taken a rick of clubs and four diamonds, but I was not so lucky. I was obstinate. I did not cash my ace of clubs and never did make a

Crash Leads To Citation For Driver

BURLEY, Dec. 30 — Paul B. Williams, 52, Burley, was cited for failure to yield right of way at 10:15 a. m. Sunday following a two-car accident two and one-half miles east and two miles south of Burley on a county road.

Williams' 1963 Mercury had stopped at a stop sign, then started into the lane of traffic in front of a 1963 Buick driven by Raymond Bean, 46, route 2, Burley. Bean applied the brakes, but was unable to stop because of the ice-covered road. Merlain Curtis, 54, Burley, was a passenger in the Mercury.

At 7:30 p. m. Saturday, two and one-half miles west of Declo on U. S. highway 30 south, John A. Robbins, 19, Burley, was cited for driving without due regard following a one-car accident.

Robbins, traveling east, passed another vehicle on the ice-covered road and lost control of his 1962 Valiant, sliding into the left borrow pit sideway, shearing a power pole.

Robbins' right arm and hand were injured and his wife, 19, a passenger, was in shock.

At 9:30 a. m. Saturday, five miles west of Burley on U. S. highway 30, a 1960 Peterbilt truck was pulling a 1960 Jolly trailer owned by Allen Arthur Transportation corporation, Montbelle, Calif., and driven by Lyle Tingler, 25, El Monte, Calif., with Jack Almore, 27, Peck River, Calif., in the sleeper. Tingler drove the truck between a stopped vehicle in the lane of traffic and an oncoming vehicle.

After passing between the two vehicles Tingler drove to the left shoulder of the highway crossed to the right side, went through a fence and stopped when the truck hit a guywire on a telephone pole. Tingler's right thumb was injured.

Buhl Driver, 19, Hurt Slightly As Car Crashes

BUHL, Dec. 30—David R. Goslin, 19, Buhl, escaped with minor bruises when his car ran off the roadway and sheared off an Idaho Power pole at 4:35 a. m. Saturday three and one-half miles northeast of Castleford on a county road.

Goslin told State Patrolman Richard—he momentarily dozed at the wheel of his 1956 Ford. When he discovered he was in the center of the highway he swerved his car back to the right hand side, losing control of the car on the icy highway. The car slid off the left hand side of the roadway, shearing off the power pole. Scott Brown, Buhl, a passenger, also escaped with no injury.

Idaho Power workers were summoned to the scene to make repairs. Damages were estimated at $500 to the car and $150 to the power pole. Deputy Sheriff Curtis Pryor assisted with the investigation.

Nazareth Prepares for Pope Paul's Visit

NAZARETH, Israel, Dec. 30 — The community in the hills of Galilee where Jesus grew up and worked as a carpenter is busily preparing for the arrival of the man Roman Catholics regard as the vicar of Christ.

According to Christian tradition, it was in Nazareth that the Virgin Mary learned she was to give birth to the Messiah; it was here that Jesus spent a great deal of His life before embarking on the road that led to Calvary. It was from here that He descended to the Sea of Galilee and met Simon the Fisherman, whom He named Peter.

Roman Catholics consider Peter their first Pope. Next Sunday, Pope Paul VI will become the first head of the Roman Catholic church since Peter to set foot on this soil.

He will find the city in many ways is a microcosm of the segmented Christian church that he hopes one day to unite and in a larger sense, he will find that Nazareth reflects the many ways in which many people have sought God.

Nazareth, situated in the heart of the State of Israel, has an overwhelmingly Arab population. Christians of one persuasion or another—most of whose ancestors were converted hundreds of years ago in the days of the crusades—comprise about half the city's 28,000 population.

The largest group of Nazarene Christians is the Greek Orthodox, followed by the Greek Catholics, who have ties to the Vatican, but pray in Arabic instead of Latin. There are about 3,000 Roman Catholics in the city. The remaining Christians belong to one of several Protestant denominations.

Pope Paul VI will spend 75 minutes in Nazareth—the longest stop in his 11-hour itinerary in Israel. He will say mass at the Grotto of the Annunciation where Christians believe the archangel Gabriel told Mary of the coming birth. The Grotto church is being rebuilt over the remains of three earlier ones.

Nazareth has almost 30 churches, their grounds cover more than a third of the city's area. In many ways, Nazareth remains a city out of its time. Primitive shops and stalls line the narrow streets that twist upward into the hills of Galilee. Shops display water jugs and vases and straw baskets and copper plates made by native craftsmen. Any of the objects could have been made yesterday or 3,000 years ago.

In the Upper City with its steep, refuse-littered streets so narrow no car can pass, simple dwellings seem to grow out of the very hills whose rocks were used to build them.

Although most Nazarenes are not Roman Catholics, all seem enthusiastic about the pope's visit. Said a Moslem friend of the shopkeeper: "The pope is a good man and he seeks to bring all men together in peace. May his blessings rain upon us all."

Neilan Asserts Johnson Liked By Businessmen

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 — Edwin P. Neilan, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, has indicated many businessmen are happier with President Johnson in the White House than they were under the late President John F. Kennedy.

In a Sunday interview Neilan said Johnson had generated confidence among businessmen "by the excellent fashion in which he took over the presidency."

News Around Idaho

BOISE, Dec. 30 (AP)—The Idaho tax commission expects to decide this week whether a Catholic retreat on Priest lake should be exempted from county property taxes. The case was one of several appeals heard by the commission during its quarterly meeting which ended Saturday. The appeal, filed by the Society of Jesus, contended that the Linger Lodge on Priest lake, purchased two or three years ago, is used only for purposes connected with worship and is therefore exempt from property tax under Idaho law. But the Bonner county assessor said a tax should be levied and he was upheld by county commissioners.

BOISE, Dec. 30 (AP)—A 16-year-old Nampa youth, missing in the mountains near the Bogus basin ski area north of Boise for nearly 15 hours, was found early Sunday cold and hungry but otherwise uninjured. Searchers found Edward Funk about two miles from the basin ski lodge after following his tracks for more than two hours. They said the youth had crawled under a log to keep warm. Young Funk was reported missing Saturday evening after becoming separated from other members of his family on an outing. The youth said he took a wrong turn while climbing a ski hill. He said he walked for several hours in the 20-degree weather then crawled under the log.

BOISE, Dec. 30 (AP)—Representatives of youth groups of several Boise-area churches said Sunday they plan to march through downtown Boise to the statehouse next Saturday to "signify their approval of Bible reading . . . in schools." The Rev. Warren Combs of the Nampa Assembly of God church, who is in charge of planning, said no established religious organizations are sponsoring the march but that pastors of several churches have indicated they will support it. He said the demonstration also has the approval of the Greater Boise Evangelical Ministers' Fellowship. The Rev. Mr. Combs said plans for the march were instigated more than a month ago with formation of an "an-hoo" committee. He said the youths will conduct religious services when they reach the statehouse.

Athenagoras I Urges Pope to Call World Christian Meet

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 30 (AP)—Patriarch Athenagoras I, spiritual leader of world orthodoxy, has urged Pope Paul VI to call a meeting of all Christian faiths to make common march against atheism and tyranny.

The announcement by the Vatican press office today came as the patriarch's see in Istanbul reported that Patriarch Athenagoras and the Pope will hold their meeting in the Holy Land next week on the Mount of Olives. It will be the first meeting in five centuries between the leaders of the two religions.

The Eastern patriarch's proposal for a pan-Christian conference made no mention of a date.

The proposal for such a conference of Catholic, Orthodox, Protestant and Anglican leaders was relayed to the Pope Saturday by Theodoros, an official emissary of the patriarch.

Roman catholicism and orthodoxy have been in schism for centuries.

Vatican sources said they did not know what Pope Paul's reaction was to the conference proposal.

The pontiff begins a three-day Palestine pilgrimage Saturday.

Vatican sources said the Pope was pleased at the prospect of taking another step toward Christian unity. Although he and his predecessor, Pope John, had meetings with leading Protestants and Anglicans on top level Roman Catholic-Orthodox encounter previously had been arranged.

The 66-year-old Roman Catholic ruler received Metropolitan Athenagoras Saturday in a historic audience marking the first official visit to the Vatican by an emissary from the patriarch of Constantinople since the East-West schism of 1427.

The Istanbul announcement said Patriarch Athenagoras would leave for the Holy Land Friday, one day ahead of the Pope. He will stay at the residence of Patriarch Benedictus of Jerusalem on the Mount of Olives.

Both newspapers printed interviews with Nixon, in which he said he enjoyed walking his dogs in Central park across from his $100,000 Fifth avenue apartment, and going to Broadway shows, concerts, ballets, movies, and professional football games.

The Times said Nixon, who will be 51 on Jan. 9, never looked more fit or more relaxed.

"It is a good life for Mr. Nixon," said the Herald-Tribune. "But he has not stopped wanting to be president, and, so, he no doubt believes that he could have a better life in the big White House at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue in Washington."

Both newspapers said, however, that Nixon is limiting his public speeches to one or two a month, has no research staff to work on speeches, and no advance copies to give to reporters.

"This is not the manner in which an active candidate for a presidential nomination usually behaves," said the Herald-Tribune.

'Color Bar' Forces LDS Elder to Quit

EXETER, England, Dec. 30 (AP)—A 25-year-old elder of the Mormon church said today he resigned because of a "color bar" operating within the church.

Richard Riley said he quit as president of the Mormon branch at Exeter, England, and no longer attended church meetings.

"Negroes are encouraged to pay their tithing—one-tenth of their income—after they are baptized," Riley said, "yet they are barred from holding many key positions and are not allowed to join the priesthood. Neither can they attend certain secret temple rites."

Riley said Pacific Islanders with dark skins can "enjoy full privileges of the church because they have no Negro blood," but Africans are barred from these privileges.

"How they can make an exception in one case but not in the other stuns me," he said. "Quite simply it is a color bar."

Murder Is Mostly Family Affair

CLEVELAND, Dec. 30 (AP)—Murder is largely a family affair, a New York sociologist said today.

At least, declared Dr. Gerhard Falk of the State University college at Buffalo, murder is a "very intimate matter, which takes place between relatives and friends and rarely between strangers."

Describing a study of various aspects of homicide, he told the American Association for the Advancement of Science that among 121 murders committed in Buffalo from 1948-1955, only 12 per cent of the victims were strangers to the killers.

Hoffa Jury Tamper Trial Transferred

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 30 (AP)—A federal court judge has ordered the jury tampering trial of Teamsters President James R. Hoffa and six others transferred from Nashville to Chattanooga for trial Jan. 20.

U. S. District Court Judge Frank Wilson ruled Saturday night that "intensive publicity" in the case may have influenced prospective jurors in the middle Tennessee district.

Defense attorneys for Hoffa and the others had charged they could not get a fair trial in Nashville because of "prejudicial publicity."

Wilson ruled that "even though an impartial panel might be selected in Nashville," because of the nature and extent of the publicity involved, "the case might proceed under the cloud of possible error."

In granting defense motions for the change of venue, Wilson declined to spell out specific examples of "prejudicial publicity" involved in the case.

U.S. Media Fare Has Favorable Impact in Europe

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP)—The U. S. Information agency says a public opinion survey shows that television programs, movies, books and magazines leave more favorable than unfavorable impressions of U. S. life on West Europeans.

But jazz, according to the poll conducted in the summer of 1962, leaves a generally unfavorable impression.

The poll was conducted in Great Britain, France, West Germany and Italy.

8 Crewmen Lost After Ship Crash

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Dec. 30 (AP)—Eight crewmen of the French freighter Capitaine Louis Malbert were reported drowned or missing early today after the ship collided in a thick fog with a Danish tanker and sank.

The Danish naval command reported Danish, Swedish and Soviet vessels had picked up 19 survivors from the 4,261-ton freighter. The ship's owners said the ship carried a crew of 27.

The tanker, the 12,410-ton Rosborg, escaped with minor damage, and sent out two boats to help in the rescue effort.

Both boats disappeared in the fog, but the Danish sailors later were reported safe.

The collision occurred in the Kattegat sound between Sweden and Denmark. The French captain tried to beach his ship in shallow water, but the freighter sank five miles north of the Little Middle Ground banks north of Anholt Island.

Designer Says 'Relaxed' Room Need in Home

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP)—Fashion's been through its "relaxed" look in women's clothing. Could be that the home next is to be affected.

In this age of tension, one New York interior designer holds that every house should have one "relaxed" room, one where no one color or one piece of furniture figuratively shouts for attention.

Stanford Squire, the designer, says that today there's so much color that sometimes it dominates decorating schemes until "people are the background."

He's all for color—in room settings, restaurants, offices, and other design schemes he creates. Bright, clear pastel colors are his tools because, as he explained, he is selling a production.

But in his own Manhattan apartment, beige and brown neutrals prevail as a "rest" from the bright shades with which he works all day.

"I like a lot of color, but not for myself," Squire, a Californian who has had his own New York design firm for six years.

The designer said in an interview the "relaxed" room could be either living or dining room. The best way to achieve it: use of monochromatic color schemes either in pastels or in the beige or gray neutrals.

Squire, a native of Pasadena, studied design at the University of Southern California and the Chouinard Art Institute and Art center, Los Angeles.

Before setting up his own firm, he was decorating editor on one of the home furnishings magazines. He currently has design commitments to four national magazines.

The New York Racing association hired him to "face lift" the grandstand and clubhouse of the Saratoga track for its centennial this year. He did interiors for two restaurants at New York's Aqueduct track, and now has been commissioned to design trappings for clubhouse and grandstand when Belmont is rebuilt.

Squire's design approach is simple: "Don't use a fabric or a piece of furniture or any other element of design just because it's the newest. Use it because it is tasteful, colorful, functional and livable."

Currently one of his projects is on display at New York's National Design center.

It is a series of room vignettes as settings for Hudson paper product's introduction of its new line and new package design.

Because of limited space, the designer used a lot of illusion to make the vignettes seem larger. Any homemaker can use the same techniques to give spacious look to small rooms, he said.

He listed some ways:

Through color. Again, the monochromatic, or variations of one color throughout a room. Preferably, he said, a light color on the living room of his apartment has one windowless wall in a dark brown so that at night with lights and candlelight on the dark wall seems to "move off into the night," giving a feeling of unlimited space.

Through scale. Small rooms, scale furniture proportionately. A 12-foot long sofa is too much for the average living room.

"Besides, it lines people up as if seated at a banquet," he said.

Through use of mirrors. They're one of the newest methods for making small areas look larger. Squire hung a couple of large framed mirrors, as he had hung pictures, on the wall opposite the living room windows of his own apartment to "add" depth.

Other tricks. Wall to wall, floor to ceiling window treatments. Some chairs without arms. Ottomans to provide extra seating for guests, but furniture to be shoved beneath a table or elsewhere out of the way when not needed. Elimination of footboards on beds in small bedrooms. Even lowering the bed height by sawing down the legs the box springs set on. Use of scenic or three dimensional wallpapers to give depth in small areas.

Silvers Are Planted in Clearwater

BOISE, Dec. 30—About 500,000 silver salmon eggs taken from fish at the Eagle creek hatchery in Oregon were planted this fall in artificial hatching channels on Red river, a tributary of the South fork of the Clearwater river, the Idaho fish and game department announced today.

The first planting of some 100,000 eyed silver salmon eggs were placed at the same site last fall, according to Monte Richards, fish development supervisor. He added, however, that there is no regular yearly-planting program to establish this species of salmon in the South fork of the Clearwater because eggs may not always be obtainable.

Although there is no record of silver salmon ever having spawned in the Clearwater river system, they do ascend the Snake and Grand Ronde rivers to spawn in eastern Oregon. This is the closest point to Idaho where they are known to spawn.

Richards describes the silver salmon's average weight at about eight pounds, with the largest going at about sixteen pounds. They return primarily as three-year-old fish to spawn and die in the streams of their nativity, much the same as chinook salmon do. Young silvers remain in fresh water a year before migrating to the ocean.

Silvers have many characteristics similar to steelhead trout. They are considered excellent sport and food fish. And, according to Richards, they would be a valuable addition to Idaho fisheries, if successfully established.

Boost in U.S. Tennis Seen In Cup Win

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 30 (AP)—Winning the Davis cup should be a great boost for tennis in America," Bob Kelleher, the happy United States captain said Sunday night. "I think we finally have turned the corner."

Kelleher, tall, smooth-talking Los Angeles attorney, and four members of the successful team boarded a transoceanic jet airliner at 7 p.m. for this long flight home.

With them was the massive silver bowl, symbol of world tennis supremacy, returning to the United States for the third time since 1951.

"I don't intend to let this thing out of my sight until I officially turn it over to someone," Kelleher said.

With him and the Cup were the two young collegians who broke Australia's five-year monopoly—Wimbledon champion Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston—as well as reserve members Frank Froehling and Martin Riesen.

The fifth member, Gene Scott of St. James, N.Y., is remaining in Australia for the national championships starting in Brisbane Jan. 3.

The consensus is that the United States is ready to take over as the most powerful nation in the game.

"America now definitely is in the driver's seat," said Don Lawrence, tennis authority for the Melbourne Age newspaper.

"Australian strength is uncertain because of the player revolt. We may be trying to win back the cup with a bunch of juniors and second raters.

The reference was to the feud between Roy Emerson and four other top ranking Australian players and the Tennis association of Australia over the association's refusal to sanction overseas play before March 31.

The move was made to keep players in Australia for appearances in provincial towns.

Emerson and four other members of Australia's top 10—Fred Stolle, Ken Fletcher, Bob Hewitt and Martin Mulligan—said they are seriously considering the pro offer made by Frank Sedgman, president of the Professional Tennis Players association.

Sedgman said the group could join the pro tour and play for prize money which could earn them between $7,000 and $30,000 a year. No guarantee is made.

"We are looking into this alternative if the association persists with this ban," Emerson said. The players are also considering migration to Britain.

Rigby Uses Height to Beat Burley

BURLEY, Dec. 30—Rigby used its height to dominate much of the backboard play and got 25 points from 6-foot, 6-inch Barber Saturday night as the sixth district draw topped the Burley Bobcats 67-60.

Burley managed to stay close most of the night, although coach Bulon Budge's charges trailed at all the quarter rests. Burley's biggest lead came in the first 30 seconds when Trammell hit on a crumpled Rasmussen hit a short jumper for a 4-0 lead. After that it was see-saw until Rigby went in front 14-10 at the quarter mark.

Kentucky Rolls To Top Ranking

By The Associated Press
Kentucky's pore "Wildcats, who apparently don't qualify for any of those abbreviated adjectives, keep rolling along in quest of the top ranking in college basketball as tournament troubles beset most of their leading rivals.

Kentucky, with Cotton Nash setting the pace, won its only game last week, piling up a 101-81 score against Notre Dame Saturday night. That made it eight straight for the Wildcats—a situation almost encouraging enough to make coach Adolph Rupp buy a new brown suit and thus extend his good luck string another decade or so. It was the fifth time in eight games Kentucky had scored in triple figures and Nash again was high scorer with 33 points.

Navy plays an open opportunistic offense that is keyed to the skills of quarterback Staubach, an elusive, annoying scrambler who gets many of his best gains after he appears to have been trapped. Navy averaged 31.4 points a game and ranked sixth nationally on total offense. Staubach's lowest one-game total yardage was 114.

SIC Teams Resume Loop Play Friday

By The Associated Press
Southern Idaho conference basketball activity resumes this week-end with co-leaders Boise and Caldwell visiting the two teams yet to open 1963-64 league play in Friday games.

Both Boise and Caldwell are 2-4 in SIC action.

Boise, which took a tall spin and lowered its season record to 3-4 in the holiday invitational tourney sponsored by Northwest Nazarene college, visits defending SIC champion Pocatello and Caldwell, 5-1 for the campaign and ranked third in the Associated Press poll for Idaho preps, travels to Idaho Falls.

In other Friday games, Borah (second ranked by AP, welcomes Twin Falls to the Boise junior college gym and Highland, 0-2 in the SIC and 2-4 for the season, treks westward to Nampa. Borah, like Caldwell, is 5-1.

Pocatello is 3-2 on the season but is hard pressed with only a few subs remaining from its 1962-63 championship unit and half of the underclassmen from that club now attending new highland, across town.

Illini to Be In Top Shape For Bowl Tilt

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 30 (AP)—Big Ten champion Illinois figures to be in good physical shape for the Rose bowl tangle with Washington's Huskies Wednesday.

But Coach Pete Elliott wondered Sunday whether just three sessions of live scrimmages have brought the Illini back to the sharpness of their title-clinching on Thanksgiving day.

Washington began hard work at nearby Long Beach Dec. 18. Illinois also opened Rose bowl drills the same day at Champaign, Ill. But in a five day span while the Huskies held brisk two-a-day outdoor drills, the Illini were pawing a limited tan bark area indoors because of frigid Midwest weather.

"We had one all-out contact session Christmas day. The next day we went full tilt about 60 minutes, and Saturday we went good for 15 minutes at the most," Elliott said.

"I don't know whether we arrived at real sharpness or timing, but we had to start tapering off Sunday. After Monday's dummy scrimmage review of all offensive and defensive phases, our Tuesday drill will last only 20 minutes, simply stimulating pre-kickoff warmup the day of a game."

Washington's early contact sessions, Elliott suggested, were valuable not particularly for conditioning but more for restoring regular season fitness in play execution.

Big Sky Teams Open First Pennant Race

By The Associated Press
Members of the fledgling Big Sky conference begin the race for the first conference basketball championship this week after breaking even in a round of holiday tournaments. The first games, which count in the standings match Weber State and Idaho State at Pocatello Friday and Gonzaga and Idaho at Moscow on Saturday.

Idaho State, 5-4; Gonzaga, 4-4, and Idaho, 2-7.

Besides the conference games, Big Sky teams engage in some rugged non-conference tilts this week. Chief among these are Montana and Brigham Young at Missoula Thursday night and Gonzaga and Portland university at Portland, also Thursday night.

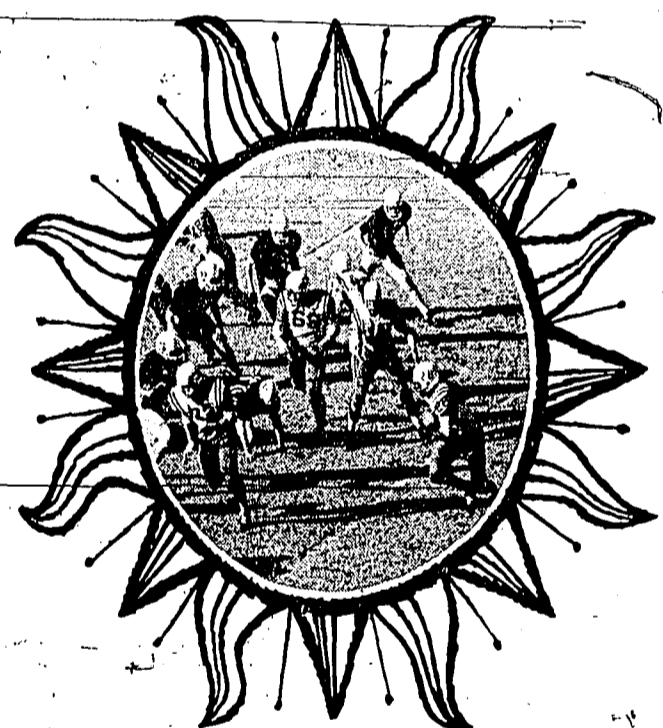

Other games this week have Weber hosting Whitworth at Orem Monday night, and Montana State engaging Pacific Lutheran at Bozeman Thursday night.

EX-PITCHER DIES
SACRAMENTO, Dec. 30 (AP)—Ray Keating, oldtime major and Pacific Coast league spitball pitcher, died in a hospital Saturday night. He was 72.

Montana State managed to beat Washington of the Big Six 55-54, but lost to powerful Wichita 85-69 and Houston 58-55. Idaho lost three straight to Oklahoma City 106-66, to Houston, 76-61, and to Washington 80-69.

Montana, which along with Gonzaga was idle during the week, has the best won-lost record, 4-1, going into conference competition. Weber is next at 7-2, followed by Montana State, 6-3.

Chicago Intercepts Five Passes, Turns Two Into Touchdowns to Beat Giants and Take NFL Title

CHICAGO, Dec. 30 (AP)—Chicago's sticky-fingered defense intercepted five of Y. A. Tittle's passes and won the National Football league championship for George Halas, their 68-year-old pioneer owner-coach, on a 14-10 touchdowns on quarterback sneaks from the two and the one after interceptions by Larry Morris and Ed O'Bradovich set them up.

Tittle, hobbling on a damaged left knee after he was hurt midway in the second period, threw a 14-yard touchdown pass to Frank Gifford early in the first period after Brian Barnes recovered a fumble by Wade.

Don Chandler's 13-yard field goal in the second period gave the Giants a 10-7 lead that they nursed into the final minutes of the third quarter despite a savage onslaught by the Bear defenders.

Young Glynn Griffing, the Giants' rookie quarterback, had to play the last half of the second period while 38-year-old Tittle went to the clubhouse for repairs. Y. A. came back for the second half but was harried by those aroused Bear ballhaws.

Still to the very end Tittle was in there pitching, threatening to take it all. The Giants had moved to the Bears' 38 with 10 seconds to go when Richie Peterson stole Tittle's bomb in the end zone for the fifth interception. Y. A. threw his helmet on the frozen turf, exposing his bald pate, and kicked the ground in disgust.

Larry Morris, who intercepted a pass and made life miserable for Tittle and the Giant backs all through the frigid-eight-degree afternoon, was picked as the most valuable player in the game for a brilliant job at his right corner linebacker post.

It was the first title for Halas and the Bears since 1916, ending a long string of 17 cold and hungry years. The triumph was particularly heart-warming to Papa Bear, who has been a bulwark of pro football since 1920.

The Bears won their eighth league championship, tying the Green Bay Packers in that department. Two came in the days before they held conference play-offs so this victory was their sixth championship game, a record.

The triumph came 30 years after the Bears won their first playoff game in this same Wrigley field by beating the same opponent, New York, 23-21.

The Giants now have lost 11 of 14 title games, never having won on the road in seven attempts.

Tittle, the premier passer in the league and the most valuable player in regular season play, completed only 11 of 29, far below his season mark of 60.2 percentage. He threw for 151 yards, one touchdown and had five interceptions.

Wade, who went to the bomb on occasion in a switch from his usual ball-control methods, completed 10 of 28 for 138 yards and no scores.

Tittle, who went to the bomb on occasion in a switch from his usual ball-control methods, completed 10 of 28 for 138 yards and no scores.

The Bears surged back at 14:44 of the same first period after Larry Morris intercepted a Tittle pass, intended as a fake screen to Phil King, and raced 61 yards from the Bears' 34 to the Giants' six. Wade sneaked home from the two on the second play and rookie Bob Jencks converted.

Chandler's field goal came at 5:11 of the second period after the Giants had moved 59 yards to the Bears' three and then had to settle for the field goal.

Tittle was hurt at 6:35 of the second period when he threw a down-and-out sideline pass to Gifford. It was ruled that Gifford was out of bounds when he made the catch. Tittle had slipped going back from the line of scrimmage and was hit by Larry Morris as he threw. He left the field for the rest of the half.

It was O'Bradovich who moved up and grabbed Tittle's screen pass, apparently intended for Joe Morrison that finally put the Bears in position for the killer.

Wade's 12-yard toss to Mike Ditka brought the ball to the Giants' one for a first down. Wade sneaked once but was stopped inches short. He went over on the second try and Jencks again converted.

Morrison was the leading ground gainer with 61 yards on 18 carries and Ronnie Bull led the Bears with 42 on 13 attempts. Gifford and Morrison each caught three passes for the Giants and Ditka grabbed three for the Bears.

The final statistics showed the Giants outgained the Bears 368 to 232, having the edge both on the ground and in the air. The five big interceptions meant the difference in this bitterly fought game on snow-fripped Wrigley Field before 45,801.

WINS DECISION

SMEARED FOR A LOSS, New York Giant quarterback Y. A. Tittle (14) is brought down from behind by Chicago Bear linebacker Larry Morris early in the NFL championship game Sunday. It was a sign of things to come as the Bears' defensive unit dominated the game, picked off five Tittle passes and took the game and crown with a 14-10 victory. (AP wirephoto)

Giants Show Depression but Have No Alibies for Losing

CHICAGO, Dec. 30 (AP)—There was a heavy air of dejection and frustration in the Giants dressing room following their third National Football league defeat in as many years, but there were no alibies. Quarterback Y. A. Tittle sat staring at the floor rubbing a swollen left knee that had forced him out of the game after 8 minutes, 30 seconds of the second period. Tittle returned in the second half but

Bears Praise Defense for Leading Way

CHICAGO, Dec. 30 (AP)—The Chicago Bears whooped it up in their victorious dressing room where owner-coach George Halas announced the 14-10 pulsating triumph over the New York Giants was "my biggest personal satisfaction."

Everyone agreed that it was the interceptions by Larry Morris and Ed O'Bradovich which set up the two touchdowns and gave the Bears their first title since 1916.

"We started the season with the No. 1 defense and we ended it with the No. 1 defense," laughed Halas, who personally led the cheers in the noisy dressing room.

Morris, the most valuable Bear on the field in this cold, brisk day admitted that the Bears had anticipated the Giant attack.

"We know they like to throw the screen on the second down and I guess I smelled it," he said in reference to his 61-yard run with an interception which set up the Bears' first touchdown. "I'm no cornerback, but I was trying to go all the way because I was scared of being hit."

But it was O'Bradovich's interception of a screen pass in the third quarter which set up the winning score. "I caught it with one hand," screamed the big defensive end. "Reminded me of the days when I used to grab those passes at Illinois. It was great, just great."

Mike Ditka, who caught the clutch pass after O'Bradovich's interception on a third down and nine situation to give Bill Wade the chance to bowl into the end zone, ran around inviting everyone to his spacious bowling alley-restaurant.

Halas, the 68-year-old pioneer who carved his empire in the NFL, was mum about the possibility of retiring.

"Well, we have to think about the pro bowl game right now," said Halas. And then after some thought, he added, "There's not much danger of my retiring at the present."

said, "I just couldn't get back fast enough to get set." He said he first injured the knee early in the first quarter when he went down after throwing a touchdown pass to halfback Frank Gifford.

"Then I got hit from the side just after I threw that pass in the second period," he said.

Giant Coach Alie Sherman repeated over and over, "We have no alibis. The Bears played a good game and you have to give them the win."

"I can't say enough for my boys and anybody who says Tittle can't win the big ones just doesn't know football."

"He's played and won more big games in the last three years than anyone. And he went out and played the second half today when very few men would have played."

Sherman then ticked off a list of four Giant players hurt during the game. Tittle, linebacker Tom Scott, who suffered a broken arm; halfback Phil King an injured ankle, and guard Bookie Bolin, who suffered a slight concussion.

"The way things were going this team could have broken down between the halves," Sherman said, "but they went out and played themselves a hell of a game."

Sherman said Tittle's knee was strapped up during the half and it was left up to him whether or not to return to the game. "He said he wanted to give it a try, and he went out there and played the whole half."

Misses No. 40

By The Associated Press
Tennessee won the Gulf South Classic basketball tournament, but Danny Schultz finally missed a free throw.

Schultz had made 39 straight free throws this season before he missed his 40th attempt in the Volunteers' 70-63 victory over Centenary Saturday night. Arkansas defeated Mississippi in the consolation, 76-68.

50-Degree Shift Awaits Patriots

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 30 (AP)—There isn't a meteorologist among the Boston Patriots, but the American Football league's Eastern division champions are well acquainted with the fact that Buffalo and San Diego are separated by 3,000 miles and about 50 degrees.

It was the Patriots' ability to deal with 20-degree weather and an ice-coated field that proved the decisive factor Saturday in a 26-8 victory over the Buffalo Bills in a playoff for the Eastern title. The Patriots now move on to sunny San Diego for the championship battle with the Chargers next Sunday.

WAC Teams Get Tourney Honors

By The Associated Press
The holiday basketball tournaments aren't over yet, but the Western Athletic conference has already won its share of honors.

WAC members now hold two tourney championships, and can gain a third if Brigham Young university dumps Oregon State in the Far West Classic finals at Portland, Ore., Monday night.

Arizona annexed the Evansville, Ind., tourney Saturday with an easy 78-61 victory over host Evansville. The Wildcats, who defeated Maryland 57-54 in the first round, now have a 6-4 season record and their sticky defense is producing victories against taller foes.

Economy Will Probably Set More Records

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP) —

The U. S. economy probably will extend five per cent and set another record in 1964 and prices will remain fairly stable, says Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges.

In his annual review and outlook on the state of the nation's economy, Hodges said personal income has bounded upward $300 per person in three years, and may rise $100 more in 1964.

Personal income now averages $2,500 a year for every man, woman and child. The category includes wages, salaries, rents, dividends, farm and small business profits, and other forms of individual income.

The total of such payments was estimated at 463 billion dollars for 1963, an increase of 21 billion dollars over the previous year.

The gross national product (GNP)—the total of all goods and services, both private and public—was $84 billion dollars for 1963 and by the end of the year was running at a rate of about 600 billion dollars.

"If the tax cut is enacted soon, the GNP for 1964 could easily exceed 620 billion dollars," Hodges said in his statement Sunday. This would represent an increase of five per cent after allowing for a slight increase in prices.

If congress does not enact a tax cut, Hodges said, "Prospects for continuous expansion through all of 1964 and into 1965 would be seriously impaired."

Hodges tempered his forecast by noting the continuing high rate of unemployment, unused plant capacity and the persistent flow of dollars to foreign countries.

The dollar dollar-outflow—the deficit in the U. S. balance of international payments—was 2.6 billion dollars for the first nine months of the year even though it declined sharply at midyear.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP) —

A troublesome question to be faced in the New Year is: Should there be a change in the present system of listing prices of stocks on the largest market of them all, the over-the-counter market (OTC) with dealers all over the country and with 40,000 or more issues available for trading.

And there's where the difference lies between the retail, or public, quotation and the wholesale, or insider, quotation. The retail asked price is the wholesale one to which the NASD has added dealers' commissions or markups.

So the range between the bid and asked prices given the public by NASD is usually much larger than that on the insider list. For example, the retail spread on an expensive stock may be as much as six points while the wholesale range is only two points.

Also, it's sometimes possible for a buyer to get a better price from a particular broker than the asked price made available to the public.

In the case of the formal stock exchanges, prices quoted in the newspapers are the actual ones at which the stocks changed hands. But in a sense they are wholesale rather than retail since the buyer of the stock also had to pay his broker a commission—not quoted in the press—and the seller had a commission deducted from the price he is quoted as getting.

Such commissions are fixed by rules of the securities and exchange commission, and the exchanges themselves and brokers must charge the precise sum unless acting for themselves as floor traders or acting for other stock exchange members.

The NASD was created by congress in 1939 as a self-regulatory agency, to act in cooperation with the SEC in some matters, for the huge OTC market. That market involves some 4,700 dealers with about 94,000 salesmen. And its business grew from 4.9 billion dollars in 1940 to 38.9 billion dollars were traded. The public's shyness in investing in such of 1963 probably has cut trading below that figure.

The NASD has the responsibility of trying to prevent listing of false prices. It also sets standards for companies to be put on lists available to the press.

The greater scope of the OTC market, the absence of many of the rules which restrict listing of stocks on exchanges—such as requiring more information about the companies—and the present methods of reporting bid and asked prices to the general public all have federal regulatory bodies recommending stricter policing.

And the problem could reach congress in requests for wider federal supervision of this biggest securities market.

Early Risers Observe Full Moon Eclipse

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP) —

The moon became a tiny sliver of light, then virtually melted into an almost starless sky here early today during a full lunar eclipse lasting more than an hour.

Noticed only by a few night workers or early risers, it was caused when the earth's shadow passed over the moon.

The moon was in full eclipse from 5:27 to 6:46 a.m. EST. The moon started entering the earth's shadow at 4:24 a.m. at a time when the moon was 225,000 miles from the earth.

The moon was not completely blacked out, according to astronomers at the American Museum-Hayden planetarium. They said the reddish light of the earth's shadow replaced the bright sunlight normally reflected on the moon.

The planetarium said it appeared as if a "coppery red mask were slowly drawn from east to west across the face of the moon."

"During totally the entire moon retains this reddish appearance until, as the moon leaves the shadow, the masklike red light gradually drifts off the moon to the west," it said.

Nationalists Declare Quemoey Cease-Fire

TAIPEI, Formosa, Dec. 30 (AP) —

The Nationalist Chinese commander on Quemoey Island has proclaimed a 3-day cease-fire Dec. 31-Jan. 2.

The purpose, he said, is to enable the Chinese communist forces "to celebrate the new year as servicemen in the Republic of Nationalist China do."

Cease-fires on special occasions are usually between the Nationalists on Quemoey and the communists who shell them sporadically from the mainland. Sometimes the Nationalists take the initiative; sometimes the communists act first.

There was no major communist shelling of the offshore islands in 1963.

The program Friday evening included contests among Grangers directed by Mrs. Gary Grindstaff, lecturer. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Emma Blenz and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rieder.

Corps Volunteers Compared to West's Pioneers

ROCHESTER, N.Y., (AP) —

Today's younger members of the Peace Corps are the youngsters who once would have headed for the Old West, according to a University of Rochester educator.

Dr. Helen Novick, associate dean of students and a professor specializing in the psychology of adolescence, observes that the "idealism of youngsters who join the Peace Corps is typical of the period of late adolescence."

The NASD was created by congress in 1939 as a self-regulatory agency, to act in cooperation with the SEC in some matters, for the huge OTC market. That market involves some 4,700 dealers with about 94,000 salesmen. And its business grew from 4.9 billion dollars in 1940 to 38.9 billion dollars were traded. The public's shyness in investing in such of 1963 probably has cut trading below that figure.

The "Acquacone" vegetable cleaning machine, reports British, information services, is the only machine of its type offering maximum removal of grit and not requiring any supplementary cleaning by hand.

Exhaust and Smoke Named As Culprits

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 30 (AP)—Carbon monoxide—sprung from auto exhausts and smokestacks—is suspected now of killing and sickening people in many cities, a physician said Sunday.

It is one of a dozen suspected or known hazards from polluted air calling critically for new efforts to protect the air humans breathe, said Dr. John R. Goldsmith of the California state department of public health in Berkeley.

As one step in remedy, cities may start zoning their air as carefully as they now zone land, said Dr. Francois N. Frenkel, mathematician and physicist of the University of Minnesota.

The zoning would set protective standards, he said, but cities might also establish "giant smoking lounges"—areas where added pollution was permitted because of economic or human needs.

Both spoke as members of the air conservation commission of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The commission is preparing a summary of scientific information about air pollution, designed to help citizens decide what they should or could do.

Carbon monoxide combines with hemoglobin, the carrier of oxygen in the blood, and could be hazardous especially for people with heart or lung ailments, Dr. Goldsmith said. There is reason to think—but no proof yet—that it is harming human health.
