

Teen-Agers' Letters Rap Beatle Critic

Editor's note: In the past, Rick de la Torre, Editor of "From International" has been the recipient of the letters of the Beatle. The British musical group, which recently took America by storm, have been dealt with more than a little "by the by" in the past.

BY RICK DE LA TORRE
HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 26 (AP)—Though the Beatles are back in Britain, laughing all the way to the bank of England, their American conquests continue to find undying love in letters that fill mail boxes and mail bags. A flood of mail, some translatable, has been the response to the modestly critical remarks concerning the appearance of the Beatles on CBS-TV's Ed Sullivan show.

Actually, the remarks merely noted the obvious—that the four boys in the group have an act that could put one to sleep, but that they seem like pleasant youth with far more humor than their audiences.

The chief value of the letters is their revelation that English readers would do well to bear down on the spelling of "critic" and "disgusted," which sounded frequently as "critic" and "disgusted."

But before getting on to some samples of written loyalty, I would like to pay homage to the New York policemen who spoke judiciously upon hearing that one of the Beatles had a sore throat. "How do they know he's got a sore throat?" asked the officer.

So to the mail from our readers:

From a reader in Greensboro, Pa.: "Hope you get your hand caught in the printing press."

From four signers in Etowah, Ore.: "If we were the Beatles and read your article we'd bash your face in."

From two young ladies in San Bernardino, Calif.: "It's hard enough for teen-agers to have fun... with everyone degrading us, and us. You should be happy that we are being listened to in their records and seeing them on TV instead of out throwing eggs at your dirty old windows."

From a young lady in Philadelphia: "If you stop any girl on the street from Philadelphia, she'll tell you the Beatles are god." (And then probably call you a nut.)

From a girl in Louisville: "Dear Father... I just thought you'd like to know approximately when kids have you." The letter is signed with a false moniker and this explanation: "Not my real name, Mom wouldn't let me."

From two residents of Williams, N.J.: "Are we so high up but we can't write (sic) some thing better than us has come to which are the Beatles who are from England and from America..."

If you saw their faces (maybe you did) when they got off the plane they were bewildered at the sight of their eyes. They were amazed at the sight because it was different than in London."

From a young lady in Riverside, N.J.: "We love there (sic) hair cuts because it takes us back to the cave man days. We love their skinny legs and there boots and there shoes and the way they seem to know what's going on—being in there prime the way they are."

From a reader in Bloomington, Calif.: "I would like to see you make a million bucks in one month and have as long hair as they have."

From a young lady in St. Georges, Del.: "Can you write songs that can reach the top 30 on half the radio stations in this country and capture the hearts of two other countries besides ours? ... If you could what would you be doing sitting in a stuffy old newspaper office making an ordinary salary?"

I have spent some time thinking about this last letter, and the result is that I am now composing a song that starts off with the lyrics "Nah! nah! nah!" which are then repeated 37 times.

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR—the indispensable man
Robert F. Kennedy's care—His vice-presidential

BY HENRY F. TATLON

In Robert F. Kennedy's carefully-paced program to gain the vice presidential nomination he has made the Kennedy actively in his corner. This includes private visits to—unusually so—high dignitaries in key positions.

Mrs. Kennedy's participation brings the powerful influence of Kennedy-connected money into the focus and summarizes the drive. In this, she is simply serving and serves well. Mr. Shriver for the post 'one heart beat from the Kennedy' is based on the interest of Robert Kennedy the indispensable man. His vice-presidential attacks the "extreme" of Kennedy sentiment in the South. Mr. Johnson cannot sit on the sidelines. The sufficient problem there, the electoral votes of Florida, Mississippi, Tennessee, Virginia and Alabama were not cast. Democratic national and Governor Kennedy pointed out Johnson, declared Richard B. Russell, Virginia, numerous other leaders and all polls are in. President Johnson has handsomely in the South need not leave Bobby Kennedy.

This throws the program back onto the Catholic on the ticket. It is a politically sound, Catholicism.

would rather see his brother-in-law in the White House than share it with a brother-in-law. To Robert Kennedy is a ball-carrying operation planned to suit many of the delicacies involved.

The Democratic convention in Atlantic City is less than six months away. For the time being, the running mate will be his own, of course. That fact creates the delicacy and is the reason for the maneuvering. For Robert Kennedy knows full well that the negative side of the record will be made. Here, a little reptilian is required.

This column recently quoted an amiable Johnson confidant to the effect that the Kennedy group program is not only known to be a front but also to be the suspensions and -bitchiness correct or not, that Mr. Johnson felt toward Bobby Kennedy in 1960.

on him. These began immediately after the state of Virginia declared for Johnson for president, under the leadership of Sen. Harry P. Byrd—the first of any state memory is deep—deep and documented—as is the life of John-son's memory, in horror, of how the presidency can pass into another's hands. Johnson's is a predictable anomaly. I know of no associate who has the President's complete and private confidence who believes in President Johnson's future. In any way, the future of the United States depends on Bob Kennedy.

The confidant said: "The 1960

The Kennedy dilemma is how to produce Robert Kennedy as President.

For the White House, Bobby Kennedy is what Johnson's memory is. Johnson's memory is sheer irony. For Robert Kennedy, who also knows all that President Johnson has done as chief for the Nation, it is the President Johnson who is the irony. Johnson could be the President.

All maneuvers now rest on the program's elimination of Senator Kennedy.

Public Land Bill Favored By Committee

Goldwater Dips Sights In Primary

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—Barry Goldwater has lowered his sights on the New Hampshire primary, but he is confident he will capture the GOP presidential nomination if he can win the June 2 California primary.

The Arizona senator, who speaks tonight at a fund-raising dinner in Palm Beach, Fla., said in an interview he will be satisfied if he can win 25 percent of the vote and seven of the 14 convention delegates to be chosen at the March 10 New Hampshire primary.

Less than a week ago in New Hampshire, Goldwater told reporters he thought he would capture nearly 50 percent of the vote there.

Goldwater said he thinks Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, is a "credible" showing as a dark horse winner in the state's vote.

Even with a good showing in New Hampshire, Goldwater said he doesn't think Lodge could get a substantial support outside New England.

On a nationwide basis, Goldwater viewed his campaign as proceeding satisfactorily. He said he had been "rebuffed" in California, as he fully expects to do former Vice President Richard Nixon's name.

It should develop that he will get the presidential nomination, he said, and he remains confident he will "flip a nickel" to back Nixon or Perot.

Japanese and Chiang Clear Differences

The Japanese government sent the elder statesman to see Chiang and old tensions over relations between the two countries were strained by increasing Japanese trade with Red China and Japan's deportation to Peking of a Chinese defector who changed his mind after saying he wanted to go to Formosa.

WORKING ON RESEARCH PROJECTS at College of Idaho under health-career scholarships from the Idaho Heart Association are Charles Basom, left, and David Pippitt, both Twin Falls. Basom, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Basom, is studying the effects of hibernation on heart rates and circulation changes in small animals. Pippitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Pippitt, is studying certain nerve systems and measuring voltage differences between the inside and outside of membranes. Both are seniors at the college and were graduated from the Twin Falls high school in 1960.

Two T.F. Students Engaged In Basic Research Projects

Two Twin Falls students at College of Idaho, Caldwell, are working on basic research projects under health-career scholarships from the Idaho Heart Association.

Since the giant nerve fiber of worms is comparable to the nervous system of human beings, an idea came to study Pippitt, in addition to making the electrodes by drawing out pieces of glass tubing, has built a micro-manipulator to aid in his research.

Both youths were graduated from Twin Falls high school in 1960. Basom was senior class president and junior class vice president. Basom also was president of the ski club, captain of the football team and member of the ski and track teams. Pippitt was a member of the high school band and pep band.

At the College of Idaho, Pippitt is a member of the inter-collegiate Knights and was president of Phi Tech, a science club. Last summer he participated in the college's sixth annual field biology expedition to Mexico.

Basom is a member of the Phi Tech, intercollegiate Knights Orator Fraternity, the Young Engineers and track and ski teams. He has been co-chairman of the homecoming dance and basketball.

Basom is studying the physiology of hibernation by various methods, determining the depth and brevity which accompanies this phenomenon. He is observing the level of activity of the animals, checking certain organs at specific times and recording the heart rates and circulation changes.

By comparing the hibernation of the kangaroo rat with a known hibernator—a hamster—Basom has found striking similarities and differences. Basom has developed a simple device to measure oxygen uptake to determine whether it is affected by hibernation.

Utah Classes Crowded, but Most Teachers Are Certified

BALT. LAKE CITY, Feb. 26 (AP)—Two new reports on education in Utah find the state's classrooms in many cases overcrowded, but 95 per cent of the state's teachers properly certified.

A study issued Tuesday by the U.S. office of education said state schools at the beginning of this school year were overcrowded by 21,700 pupils.

The report said the state needed 1,700 new classrooms with a little less than two-thirds needed for excess pupils and another third needed to replace rooms classified as substandard or obsolete.

Utah schools off have 13,119 more secondary students than they have room for, the study disclosed.

A second study, released by the Utah foundation, praised the state for strides it has made for properly certified teachers. It said a little less than five per cent of teachers in the state were serving on an emergency basis without certification.

The report declared this an encouraging improvement in the teacher certification picture since World War II.

It also reported the state has managed to hold on to three-fourths of Utah college graduates in education who now are teaching and to improve a sizeable number of teachers from outside the state.

It said 281 teachers from other states signed up for jobs at Utah schools during the last school year.

The report listed three unresolved problems among teachers. One was an inadequate system of financial rewards and granting of prestige for teachers who have extra responsibilities or perform excellent work.

The other problems reported in the study were inadequate preparation by many teachers in the subjects they teach and the lack of opportunity on the part of many school officials for selection of their new teachers.

We are in no way trying to block the interests, they are acceptable," he said. "But the natural gas companies have millions of dollars tied up in pipelines and are fearful of possible damage."

Charles P. Luce, Bonneville power administrator, recently denied a report that a direct current line would destroy underground pipes through the effect of electricity used in a ground return.

Spokesmen for the Oregon utilities commission first raised the question, and Luce's statement said they were not kept advised of BPA studies of a direct current line.

Luce then said he would keep them informed of the progress of tests.

Engineering Firm May Eye BPA Studies

OLYMPIA, Feb. 26 (AP)—West Coast states may hire an engineering firm to keep an eye on Bonneville power administration studies of a proposed high voltage direct current line to California.

Chairman Francis Pearson of the Washington utilities commission said the firm would check the BPA studies to make sure before any federal money was committed to a direct current line would not damage other underground utility lines.

Pearson said the action was proposed by John Hill, Oregon public utilities commissioner, at a meeting with the Washington commission.

Poverty Plan Results in CARE Packages to U.S.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—Sen. Otto Passman says President Johnson's "war on poverty" has been so mismanaged that some of the money in his district are getting "CARE packages" from relatives back home.

"It's a real reverse twist," said the Louisiana Democrat, in an interview. "The President's statement that 30 per cent of Americans are poverty-stricken has led some people abroad to believe we're all starving to death."

Passman said he disagreed with the President's whole concept in the campaign against poverty.

News Around Idaho

BOISE, Feb. 25.—The Idaho public utilities commission ordered a hearing on Tuesday on the request for approval of a long-term financing submitted by Mountain View Acres, Inc., a water and land development firm. The Mountain View firm has applied for approval of a $100,000 loan by the Idaho Savings and Loan association of Pocatello. The commission said a hearing was held in Boise last January, but that a record of it was not available. The failure of the recording device used by the commission ordered that a new hearing be held March 19 at the Hotel Banrock, Pocatello.

ST. MARIES, Feb. 25.—Benevolence county sheriff's officers said on Tuesday they still have not contacted the pilot of a light plane found partially buried in a ditch on the highway. Deputies said the plane was registered to Paul Menger, Silver Lake, Ore., near Klamath Falls. They said the pilot's identity could have been ascertained by the Highway Patrol, but had no idea whether it had put down on purpose or due to an emergency. The plane was empty when discovered Monday and all efforts to contact Menger have failed.

BOISE, Feb. 25.—Officials of the state department of vocational education and a committee of high school principals are planning a series of seminars for expansion of vocational courses in Idaho. Sam Glenn, vocational education director, said a committee of nine school administrators will be selected to plan a series of seminars. He said a pilot program is planned this fall with full-scale expansion in 1965. Glenn said federal funds under the vocational training act will make possible three-fold expansion of Idaho vocational training.

BOISE, Feb. 25.—A new look at the nation's foreign aid program is urged by the president of the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce. Perry Nelson, Pocatello, told the Boise Kiwanis club on Tuesday that it was this nation's system of government and not its monetary wealth which had made it great. "When we start exporting that system instead of wealth," he said, "we will have served a useful purpose with our charity."

BOISE, Feb. 25.—The bureau of land management says it hopes funds will be made available in the next fiscal year for a project to build a road through the Snake River valley. The project would provide access to the Salmon river near its confluence with the Snake. Hugh Harper, wildlife management specialist for the bureau in Boise, said the project would provide access to the river for fishing and hunting. He said the project would also provide access to the river for the construction of a dam. The project would provide access to the river for the construction of a dam. BOISE, Feb. 25.—U. S. W. V. company, Pasco, Wash., is the apparent low bidder on a north Idaho highway project. The state highway department said the firm offered to do the job for $70,325, the lowest of five bids received. The project involves construction of a road through the Snake River valley. The project would provide access to the river for fishing and hunting. He said the project would also provide access to the river for the construction of a dam. POCATELLO, Feb. 25.—Rep. T. F. Terrell, D. Banrock, says a statewide organization promoting the state tax for Idaho is urging legislators to keep an open mind on the subject before they study it. Terrell is a leader of the Idaho Citizens for Tax reform, which is conducting meetings around the state to discuss tax questions. He said the public education program will be presented this spring in 34 of the 44 counties. "We are not proposing any specific tax," he said. "But new sources of revenue must be devised in the next legislature. The sentiment in Banrock is predominantly for a sales tax program," he said.

BOISE, Feb. 25.—The Idaho AFT-CIO says unemployed persons are being deprived of job opportunities by use of state prison labor for demolition of the former Pioneer league baseball park in Boise. A new fish and game department building is to be constructed on the site of the former park. "A representative of the park," said State President Darrell Dorman, "I am sorry to see prison labor used when we have a multitude of unemployed. We are looking for jobs." Warden L. E. Clapp replied that use of prison labor conformed to state law. He said it was the result of an agreement approved by the fish and game department. He said the department was looking for ways to reduce costs. "To the best of my knowledge," said Clapp, "state statutes set forth that we can work for other state agencies. This is not in violation of any law." Dorman called for change in state policy.

Animal Defenders Sniff, Snarl at Postmen Dog Plan

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 25.—The spray in the capsule is a mixture of the animal mixture of pepper extract, kerosene, oil and yellow-orange dye.

Defenders League of Portland has told U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy in a letter that postmen should be trained to avoid being bitten by dogs. Instead of training the dogs not to bite, Grazzielle Boucher announced that her organization is attacking the postoffice department's plan to arm mailmen with a spray capsule designed to discourage dogs from biting.

Mrs. Boucher said the capsules could cause the dogs both mental and physical suffering. She included in the letter a statement from league attorney John P. Bonchillo, who said a dog has enough standing in the eyes of the law to deserve better treatment than that proposed by the postoffice department.

The money spent for the capsules could be put to better use training mail carriers how to get along with unfriendly dogs, Mrs. Boucher insisted.

"Many people believe that one of the requirements for this kind of job should be the ability to make friends with animals, and a training program we believe is an essential now," she said.

Portland Postmaster Albert M. Hodder announced last week that the city's 600 carriers will be armed with the capsules soon.

Inmate Takes Overdose of Barbiturates

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 26 (AP)—A 31-year-old Salt Lake County inmate in critical condition today from what Salt Lake County sheriff's deputies called an overdose of barbiturates.

They said Michael James Thompson was found on the floor of his cell Tuesday shortly before he was to be transported to the Utah state prison. He was convicted Monday in third district court of rape.

His believed to be barbiturates were found in Thompson's cell and in his clothing, deputies said. They quoted Thompson as saying he never would be taken to prison.

A letter said the pills may have been smuggled into the county jail in the lapel of Thompson's coat.

Dope Charge Leveled at Utah Trio

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 26 (AP)—Two Salt Lake City men and a woman face charges of illegally possessing heroin today following a crackdown on what police said was a two-state, multi-order narcotics ring.

The charges filed Tuesday followed the arrest Monday of the woman near a downtown postoffice. Police in Phoenix arrested one man and confiscated a large quantity of narcotics at the same time as the Salt Lake City arrests.

Police said a five-month investigation indicated narcotics were being mailed to Salt Lake City from Phoenix.

The trio in custody in Salt Lake City were Lee F. Roberts, 31, Paul Perkins, 32, and Kenneth J. Rosenbaum, 30. Perkins is charged with an $10,000 bail. They had an ounce of heroin worth $15,000 at the time of their arrest, police said.

W. J. (TONY) FRANCIS, left, one of more than 100 Buhl area residents making calls this week for the citizens committee to explore a mill levy election Friday, discussed the need for passage of the levy with Ernest Meyer, 900 Eleventh avenue north. The person-to-person program is aimed to bring information about the need for the levy to every eligible taxpayer and voter in the district before Friday.

Buhl Citizens Contacting Patrons on Levy Election

BUHL, Feb. 26—Approximately 100 persons representing a citizens committee began a campaign today to contact local school district patrons to advise them on school district problems and to explain and answer questions regarding the mill levy election slated Friday.

School officials report because of legislative action as well as a general increase in costs, the Buhl school district does not have enough revenue to maintain its present program of educational services. A study of school revenue for 1964-65 reveals a need for approximately $10,000. The sole means of raising this money is through a levy of five mills. A two-thirds majority is needed for passage.

If the five mill levy is approved on Friday, the current school program will be cut equivalent to the needed $10,000 to compensate for the lack of funds available, trustees assert.

Outreach in the educational program will be to eliminate waste by cutting out all non-essential services, such as bus stops, which would shorten bus routes. In addition subject offerings at the senior high school level will be cut. Study halls in the school will be eliminated. This will result in less time for instruction time daily in the school building.

Fred Brattford, chairman of the school board, pointed out that some patrons in the district believe the board would resort to deficit financing to maintain the present school program should the mill levy election fail.

He declared the board is solidly against deficit financing of the school program as far as maintenance and operation are concerned and if the election fails, the board will be forced to make cuts as indicated.

The five mill levy is for one year only. This would mean a tax of $5 per $1,000 of assessed valuation will be paid by each taxpayer. Those wishing to determine their tax are urged to look up the assessed valuation of their property on the most recent tax notice and multiply this figure by .05.

Examples of the dollar cost to district taxpayers shows that an average 40-acre farm assessed at $1,500 to $2,000 would have a tax increase from $7.50 to $10; an average 80-acre farm assessed from $3,000 to $4,000 would have a tax increase of $25 to $35. City dwellers owning a two bedroom home at assessed valuation from $700 to $900 would have a tax increase of $3.50 to $4.50, and those with a three bedroom home with assessed valuation from $1,000 to $1,400 would have a tax increase from $5 to $7.

As to whether it will be necessary to request a levy election for 1965-66, trustees point out this tion by all persons casting ballots.

Eligible voters are those who are qualified electors of the state, and have been bona-fide residents of the Buhl district for at least 30 days, and a real property taxpayer or the husband or wife of a real property taxpayer.

A taxpayer means a person who pays taxes on real property or is a contract purchaser to pay taxes on real property within the district. Those who expect to be out of the district Friday are urged to obtain an absentee ballot and vote. Ballots may be obtained at the superintendent's office.

Judges and clerks for the election are Mrs. Eve Walker, Mrs. John Connor, Mrs. Shelby Williams, Mrs. Brattford, Mrs. David Phillips and Mrs. Ray Clark.

Advance registration by voters in the mill levy election is not necessary. An elector's oath is signed at the time of the election.

POCATELLO, Feb. 26 (AP)—A man who visited the Chinese mainland three times in the past seven years pictured the Chinese as a vigorous and young people who are rapidly supporting their government Monday night.

And he said the government's long-term strategy seems to be to capitalize on the revolutionary tide around the world until the balance of power shifts against the United States.

These views were expressed by Felix Greene, a British subject who traveled in China in 1957, 1960 and 1963. He spoke here Tuesday at Idaho state university lecture series.

Greene returned to his home in California less than two months ago after three and a half months in China to make a film for television. He spent five months there in 1960.

Greene said he was not allowed in Tibet, where there is political unrest, and in the far western Szechuan province, where China's economic facilities are concentrated. Aside from that, he said, he was relatively free to travel. He said he was allowed to take all the pictures he wanted to and to obtain interviews with Chinese people.

Greene said that the first impression of a visitor to China is one of poverty. The people live on a rudimentary economic level.

The Chinese people also give the impression of vitality and a high energy society. Every body is at work, he said. This is in marked contrast to India where lethargy is the rule.

A visitor also is struck by the courtesy and refinement of the Chinese people, Greene said.

Reporting on the differences between the Chinese and the Americans, Greene said there has been a vast improvement in the food supply, a relaxation of the political climate, and a deepening of confidence among Chinese leaders.

Greene said that in 1960 the food supply was so meager that every family had a piece of ground was cultivated, including the space between sidewalks and curbs. Now, he said, there is no anxiety about food. The problem is one of storage for surplus food.

There are also more consumer goods now than in 1960 and extra money to buy them. The money is available because cotton clothing is almost unobtainable, food is cheap and retail prices are falling.

In 1960, Greene saw numerous anti-American, pro-Chinese and pro-American rallies in Peking. On his latest visit he saw no such rallies or militia training and anti-American fever had diminished.

Chinese leaders, from Premier Chou En-lai down, show "increased confidence about the way China is going," he attributed this confidence to the fact that China survived the with-crysis of Russian technical advisers and programs in 1960, and endured a severe food shortage.

"The confidence will make China a difficult power to deal with," because "they won't need us," Greene said.

Asian Flu

OLYMPIA, Feb. 26 (AP)—Washington's Asian flu epidemic is hitting hard east of the Cascade range, apparently having run its course in western Washington.

Dr. Ken Nelson, State Health Department epidemiologist, estimated Tuesday the disease has struck five to 10 per cent of the state's population. He predicted the epidemic will have nearly ended throughout the state by four to six weeks from now.

Council Asks Sonic Boom Cease-Fire

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 25.—The federal aviation agency may be forced to find a new way to deal with sonic boom tests. The city council voted Tuesday to ask suspension of the sonic boom tests.

The council asked a three-month suspension and an FAA spokesman said he understands the tests will be halted when an official copy of the council's action reaches Washington.

Ordinarily, the FAA administrator in charge of aviation development, said prior to the beginning of the tests Feb. 23 at Oklahoma City, the FAA had refused adversely to the sonic boom tests.

But citizens' groups already are trying to counteract the action of the city council. The Chamber of Commerce adopted a resolution Tuesday urging continuation of the tests which are deemed to determine the effect of repeated sonic booms before approving development of commercial supersonic transport planes.

Another group organized the Citizens for Progress of Oklahoma City is circulating a petition urging the council to withdraw its position.

The council's action followed a session in which persons opposed to the boom tests were invited to join the club and many were in attendance at the meeting.

The council also asked the FAA to furnish it with data collected from the tests already conducted.

Oklahoma City was selected for the tests because it is the home of the FAA's aerodynamic center and Tinker air force base.

Films Shown On Alaska At Camas Meet

FAIRFIELD, Feb. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Hyrum Lee, Gooding, were guests of the Camas Rod and Gun club Monday evening in the Legion hall and showed movies of Alaska and of local scenes. Lee has been a hunting guide in Alaska.

Glenn Miller, membership chairman, reported there are 20 members. Women have been invited to join the club and many were in attendance at the meeting.

Walter R. Browne, conservation officer, reported on the state and local fish and game department made the first part of February. He said that the count was up over 100 but less than was observed in 1962.

He stated that he had made five state trips into the south Boise drainage and the game reported in good condition. He reported that there was 48 inches of snow on Couch summit and 38 inches at the fish and game cabin on Round Creek as of Feb. 4.

Browne stated he had towed some goose nesting platforms on the ice for Mormon reservoir and that the willow along the ice melts. They were constructed by the local club in co-operation with the fish and game department. He also gave the tentative dates of the deer and elk hunts in this area.

Tom T. Wokosinski, club president, outlined plans and projects for the club. He said he hoped to build a boat dock and landing on Mormon reservoir. A road down the east shore of the reservoir is being planned as an access for fishermen.

He hoped that more sanitary facilities could be installed and perhaps some trees planted along the shores of the reservoir. He suggested that some loads of firewood from the mill be hauled to spots along the shore for the convenience of campers. He suggested that names be given to some of the points and inlets and signs installed.

Fish rehabilitation work was suggested for the Little Smoky and Baker. Ranger William Schmeling stated that he had some government survey work done on the matter.

Improvement of the Worswick and Prael two-trip areas was suggested. Brown stated the Worswick area needs sanitary facilities and other improvements.

Access to the Bennett mountain section was discussed and the big game committee was asked to investigate the situation and report at the next meeting. The annual meeting will be held on March 23 when resolutions will be made to submit to the fourth district fish and game meeting. Officers will be elected at this meeting.

CLAY TAKES TITLE WITH TKO IN SEVENTH

A CHOP TO THE HEAD of Sonny Liston is delivered by newly-crowned heavyweight champion Cassius Clay during first-round action Tuesday night at the Flamingo. Clay won the victory and title on a seventh-round TKO when Liston, claiming a shoulder injury, didn't answer the bell. Liston's share of the purse was held up pending medical examination of his shoulder. (AP wirephoto)

Clay Glories in "Whupping" Big Bear, Taunts Sportswriters

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—"I whupped that Big Bear and I whupped him good," an exultant victorious Cassius Clay bellowed Tuesday night after stopping heavyweight champion Sonny Liston in the boxing upset of the century, "and it feels so good." The man who said he was king and then proved it—to the complete consternation of the boxing world—was in his heaven in the post-fight interview room at Convention hall.

Liston Leaves Bout, Heads for Hospital

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Sonny Liston, his normally stolid face creased with pain, and complaining of his left arm was numb from shoulder to wrist, was rushed directly from ringside to a hospital Tuesday night. His handlers feared a possible shoulder fracture. Liston didn't even bother to shower following his stunning seventh round technical knockout defeat at the hands of the brash young challenger, Cassius Clay, for the heavyweight championship of the world.

"I made the decision," Jack Liston, adviser of Liston, announced to reporters in a post-fight news conference that was supposed to be held by Liston, "Liston insisted he could go on but his arm was numb and he just couldn't wind him out to fight with one arm," said Liston. Liston explained how Liston suffered the crippling injury.

"We've been advised by Dr. Robert C. Bennett, Liston's personal physician, that at the tail end of the first round, Sonny, trying to block a punch by Clay, took a shot on the left shoulder," said Liston.

"Sonny complained of numbness in the shoulder when he returned to his corner after the round. It became progressively worse with each succeeding round. The punch had sort of paralyzed effect. The numbness moved down to his hand and he just couldn't wind him out to fight with one arm," said Liston.

"There was nothing to do but stop the fight. Sonny was simply devastated."

"No, Sonny wasn't dazed. He wasn't even breathing heavily. He would have won if it weren't for the shoulder."

Reminded that a hand right by Clay had opened a gash under Liston's left eye in the third round, Liston replied:

"It was just a superficial cut. You saw how quickly they closed it up."

Asked whether he would seek a return bout, Liston said:

"We have no return bout contract. We have a contract under which we would like to fight him again, as soon as the fight is over."

"This Clay is the champ now. I hope he'll be decent enough to give us a return bout."

One of Liston's trainers gave a slightly different version of how and when Liston sustained his shoulder injury.

"Liston threw a hook in the fifth round," said Joe Polino. "Clay stepped in in mid-air and Liston hit something crack in his left shoulder."

Polino, who stayed behind when Liston was rushed to a hospital, said Sonny was crying as he left the dressing room.

Liston's Purse Held up Pending Medical Studies

MIAMI BEACH, Feb. 26—Cassius Clay, a 7-1 long-shot, scored one of the major upsets in boxing history Tuesday night when Sonny Liston gave up the world heavyweight title in his hour because of a strained shoulder. As Liston failed to come out for the seventh round it went into the record books as a controversial seventh round technical knockout.

About one-half hour after the fight, the Miami Beach Boxing commission announced that Liston's share of the live gate purse was being held up pending an examination by two physicians, scheduled Wednesday.

There was a buzz of gossip from the small crowd of 8,000 in the Miami Beach convention hall at the end of the fight. Liston stood on the left side of the third round and looked slow and lumbering against the 22-year-old former Olympic champion from Louisville.

Clay, the fourth fighter with a perfect record to win the world heavyweight crown, leaped into the air at the sudden ending and opened his mouth wide as he yelled to newsmen: "Eat your words!"

"I am the greatest! I am the greatest! I am the greatest!" the new champion chanted loudly after he was over.

"I'm the king of the world. I upset the world. I am the king. I am the greatest that ever lived."

"I just beat Sonny Liston and I just turned 23, so I must be the greatest."

"I was going to end it in the eighth as you would have seen, but the man stopped it in seven."

Dr. Alexander Robbins, chief physician of the Miami Beach Boxing commission, said, "Liston strained his left shoulder. He couldn't lift his arm."

Clay bounced around the ring, waving his fist and yelling, "Eat your words! Eat your words!"

"It wasn't any fix. I cleared both his eyes. He didn't say a hand out. When the fight ended, Referee Barney Felix had scored the fight even. Judge Bunny Lovett had Liston on top and Judge Gus Jacobson had Clay on top."

Long before there was any talk of an injury, however, it was obvious that Liston was far from the ominous destroyer who knocked out Floyd Patterson in the first round of two title matches. This was his second defeat.

When the ring announcer told the people that Liston had "thrown his shoulder out" in the sixth round, the crowd booed. The more cynical observers thought immediately of the possibility of a lucrative fight between Clay and Liston.

Clay was asked what happened in the fourth round when he apparently had trouble seeing. "He had him on his glove," the surprising boxer explained.

"Almighty God was with me," Clay continued. "He (Liston) never hurt me. I took his best punches."

And then Clay charged: "The man was dirty and he couldn't even hurt me. Asked if he would give Liston a return bout, Clay said he would if Liston would agree."

"Sonny Liston was not even a match for me, but he must apologize to me, but he right from the start, creeling out of danger while feeding a already left jab to Liston's face. The lumbering champion was mauling badly with his left hook and caught only the air with his ponderous right."

Near the end of the first round, which cost him a $2,500 fine. "He said I was scared," he screamed. "Who was scared? I am the king. I can fight forever. I can waste eight pounds of energy at a weight-in and still win."

A commission doctor had said that Clay was "scared to death" at the weigh-in and had warned that the challenger spent much needed energy in his wild antics.

Clay looked dead at the faces of the sports writers and asked "all you fellows who picked Liston raise your hands."

"The show of hands was almost unanimous."

"Go eat your words," he said, and then he was off in his white robe with "Eat your words" in red on his back, but certain to talk another day.

Late Brunneau Rally Beats Gooding State

HAIDERMAN, Feb. 26.—Brunneau came from five points behind with four minutes to go Thursday night to top Gooding State's Redskins 51-42 and clinch the eighth spot in the fifth district class A-3 basketball tournament.

The one-game playoff pitted the teams with the worst record out of the nine-team district. Brunneau now advances into the opening round at Haiderman Friday night. Brunneau will meet Blain at 7 p.m. while Haiderman will play Grand View at 8 p.m.

Gooding State took the lead in the second quarter and appeared headed for victory as it split a near game-long full court press by Brunneau. Then with four minutes to go, Gooding State lost its top ball handler and scored when Berg fouled out.

With its other starting guard in the hospital with a minor illness, Gooding State had no one capable of beating the press and Brunneau came on hurriedly. Knight hit eight points, and Jesse Jewett got four more, during that decisive closing four-minute span.

Brunneau hit 11 of 20 shots, 13 of 22 from the free-throw line, and scored 27 points. Gooding State's Rusty Eller, who led the team with 22 points, was held to 10 points by the Brunneau defense.

Pearson said he won't be able to hold a bat for at least four days or longer.
"Maybe I'll bump my arm in a week or so," said Pearson.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—The stock market today was a real rally, the Dow Jones Industrial Average rising 15.14 points to 114.46. The rally was the result of a combination of factors, including the announcement of a new stock exchange bill by the Senate, and the fact that the market had been in a slump for some time.

Baker Probe Deals With Party Girls

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (U.P.)—The subject of sex and party girls has finally been brought into the Bobby Baker hearings and Republicans have warned it is an angle that shouldn't be "brushed up."

The party girl question was thrust into the public record Tuesday for the first time as Sen. Hugh Scott, R., Pa., argued the committee's authority to explore such matters.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R., Neb., asked Baker whether he had supplied entertainment "including party girls" for various businessmen.

Baker refused to answer.

The committee also released a transcript of a Dec. 10 closed door session in which Curtis and Sen. Hugh Scott, R., Pa., argued the committee's authority to explore such matters.

Curtis contended that girls were solicited on government telephone lines, entertained prospective customers and thus were part of the "business promotion apparatus."

Scott said he also believed "the use of call girls" for business promotions was well within the scope of the Baker investigation.

A reporter's efforts to reach Scott for comment proved fruitless. Curtis suggested it was too soon to give all details and there were comments from the committee's chairman, Sen. D. Everett Jordan, D., N.C.

The Dec. 10 transcript quoted this blunt statement by Curtis: "We (the Republican minority) think that every improperity should be gotten into, and we think that until it is done the cloud is cast over all the fine men and women working for the senate."

"Are you suggesting that personal or sexual peccadilloes would be within the framework of this committee?" demanded Sen. Claiborne Pell, D., R.I., another member.

"I would strongly disagree," Pell replied.

Curtis said that even if the investigation's scope is limited to Baker's business affairs, the former senatorial aide has claimed a net worth in excess of 2 million dollars and "this didn't happen just by clever operation."

"Party girls and entertaining were part of the business promotion apparatus," Curtis said. "The facts are available if we pursue it."

Curtis warned his colleagues, "it will be very, very bad for the committee."

Adenauer Gets Party Leadership Two More Years

BONN, Germany, Feb. 26 (U.P.)—Former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer will get another two-year term as chairman of his Christian Democratic party, leaders of the group decided Tuesday.

The 86-year-old leader will be elected at a convention that starts in Hannover on March 14.

A party spokesman said there apparently would be no other candidates.

Ex-Hailey School Aide Quits Post

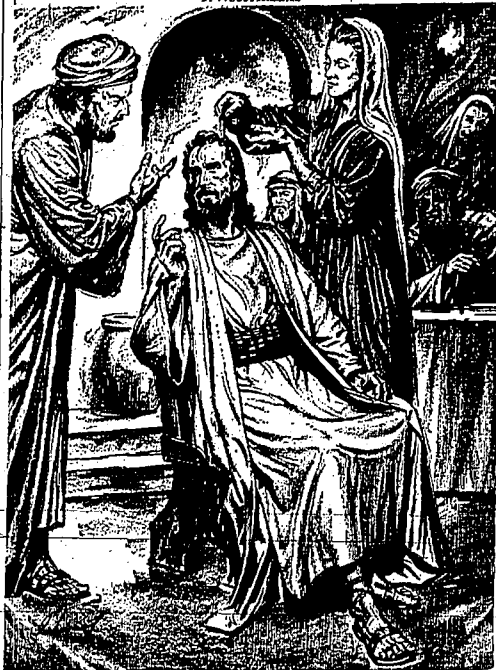

HAILEY, Feb. 26 (U.P.)—Paul V. Dempsey, former Blaine county superintendent of schools, has submitted his resignation as Genesee superintendent effective July 1.

Dempsey came to Genesee in 1962 from Hailey. Before resigning as Blaine county superintendent he was superintendent at Nes Bette for 19 years. He has been active in state education circles for more than 30 years.

He said he will seek a teaching position in another state and return to Idaho to retire.

The Lenten Story

BY WOODI ISHMAEL

THE POOR YOU ALWAYS HAVE WITH YOU

Two days before the Passover, Jesus was a hunted man. The chief priests and scribes were seeking ways to take Him by stealth and put Him to death. Despite their plans, Jesus went openly to dine at the house of Simon the leper in Bethany. There a woman came and anointed His head with expensive ointments.

Some of the guests grumbled that it might have been better for her to sell the ointment and give the proceeds to the poor. Overhearing them, Jesus came to the woman's defense:

"Let her alone. Why trouble ye her? She hath wrought a good work on me. The poor you always have with you and whosoever ye will ye may do them good: but me ye have not always." (Mark XIV:6-7)
