Enjoy Yourself

Do you feel relaxed now that your income tax return is out of the way for this year? Well, don't get too relaxed. And while you're still in the mood for a little figuring, now's a good time to figure out what taxes really mean to you.

If you're an average citizen, most or all of your income comes in the form of a regular paycheck. And that paycheck always has a statement of the various amounts of money withheld from your earnings. These deductions range all the way from income tax for the U.S. and state governments down through insurance, perhaps, and might even include deductions for dues in a company organization or maybe even donations deducted for an office party fund.

Your earnings include these deductions, even though you may show far more interest in what's left, the amount that has become known as "take-home pay."

While you can still find them, dig out your income tax figures. Add up the total amounts of both your federal and state income tax payments. Now figure out how long you have to work at the beginning of each year just to satisfy the federal and state income tax bill.

With the first quarter of the year already behind, some taxpayers will find they're working the rest of the year for themselves. Others might discover they're still working for the income tax people. Of course, with the tax reduction, you won't have to work so long this year to pay your tax bill. But if the plan doesn't work out—if U.S. tax experts discover the nation can't spend itself rich—then your future taxes will be higher than ever because of a whopping deficit.

Anyway, if you get feeling sorry for yourself, consider the plight of the corporation in the 52-per cent tax bracket. It's estimated such a firm has to transact its business until July 9 of each year just to satisfy its federal taxes.

Now resolve to start earlier next year and use a sharper pencil.

ABOUT FACE

Critics of government spending and waste have lost one of their champions through the annual election of the United States Chamber of Commerce. The retiring president, Edwin P. Neilan, has stumped the country for months criticizing federal spending and waste. He's made a lot of points with little or no rebuttal.

The chamber's election found one Walter F. Carey as president-elect and there couldn't be a sharper change. At a news conference, Carey called on business and government to form a "great partnership" to solve the country's economic problems. He also applauded many of President Johnson's policies, although adding the present administration is "guilty of overspending in some areas."

About the first reaction would be a horrible suspicion that the new chamber president is a Democrat, but Carey says he's not a member of either political party.

Furthermore, Carey declares he is not departing from the policies voiced by Neilan in his many speeches. But he insists that businessmen have "both a duty and a self-interest" in arranging a partnership between business and government in solving the nation's economic problems.

He's probably right, but any such partnership might end in a hurry if businessmen got the impression they were being used for political purposes. At any rate, it's obvious the U.S. Chamber of Commerce thorn has turned into a pillow. Mr. Carey, although he claims to subscribe to Mr. Neilan's policies, won't be the loud, protesting voice in the wilderness. More like a sigh in the tops of the pines.

PARTY LINE

The party line has been set concerning extension of the Bonneville power administration into South Idaho. Rep. Ralph Harding voiced it very well when he said the BPA extension makes possible proposed expansion of the Monsanto company phosphate fertilizer plant at Soda Springs.

Now the party line will contend BPA is pointing the way to more and more industrial expansion. Stealing customers from a private utility? Far from it! The reasoning: The private utility never would have made the sale. Without the cheaper power from a non-taxpaying utility, Monsanto wouldn't have expanded. Anyway, that's the party line.

This reasoning neglects one little hard fact: The Monsanto plant—and all the other phosphate plants—were established WITHOUT public power or even the promise of it. How is that explained?

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

BY ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON, April 16—I will go along with those opponents of government-sponsored hospital insurance for the aged who worry about the tendency of "Big Brother" in Washington to intrude in areas where they believe are best handled by the individual citizen. This is the kind of thing a citizen should worry about every day, lest he wake up some morning and find he's suddenly become just a number.

But in the matter of Medicare such thinking happens to be wrong. Leaving the problem up to the individual just won't solve it. The individual concerned—the man or woman over 65—doesn't have the money to solve it. By now it should be clear even to the more far-headed spokesmen for the American Medical Association that something has to be done for those aged who can't pay for medical and hospital care. We can't just ignore them and hope they'll go away; already nearly 10 per cent of all Americans—about 18 million persons—are over 65.

FAIRNESS THE KEY—In one way or another, the more prosperous Americans are going to continue to help older and poorer people to pay their medical bills. The question now is how this can be done efficiently and fairly—and with consideration for the dignity of the citizen.

It is not in the progressive tradition of the country to do it through welfare or assistance payment. Such a role requires use of a means test by which an older is made to prove he's destitute. It also discriminates against those who have money to pay their own way but who by so doing will exhaust their life savings and become a drain on their children. The man who has saved a small nest egg should not be forced to dissipate it by taking an expense the law of economics says he shouldn't.

PAID WHEN PAYABLE—Clearly, the answer is a contributory plan linked with the social security system, such as is proposed in the King-Anderson bill now before congress. The program would be financed through contributions by both employee and employer to the social security fund. The citizen therefore is enabled to pay for protection at a time when he can best afford it—while he is working—and benefits are paid on the same basis in every case.

Those who say such a plan is not needed just aren't facing the facts. Cold statistics show that one out of every six persons over 65 is hospitalized every year, that nine out of 10 are hospitalized at least once after 65, that the cost of medical care has risen 65 per cent since 1948, that half of aged couples have total incomes of less than $2,600 a year.

BLUE CROSS FAILS—Unfortunately, nonprofit hospitalization plans and commercial insurance programs haven't been able to meet this problem. Only half of the aged have some form of health insurance, but because of their low incomes they can't afford the plans that provide adequate benefits. The rest, presumably, are expected to creep off somewhere and die quietly.

Big Brother or no, the social security plan is the most authentically American way of handling the problem. It would help prevent poverty, instead of trying to deal with it after it occurs. And because the citizen would contribute to his protection, he would be entitled to benefits. This spells something rather wonderful, called democracy.

Views of Others

JOB FOR THE PRESIDENT

Senator Proxmire has ample reason for raising questions about the appointment of Joe T. Dickerson as director of the interior department's office of oil and gas. Mr. Dickerson is a former paid lobbyist for the petroleum industry. His superior, Assistant Secretary John M. Kelly, also has spent most of his working life in the oil industry.

"It is certainly not representation in the interests of all the American people when two persons in the department of the interior who are experts and the real authority in advising the secretary of the interior on the oil industry are of, by and for the industry which they are supposed to regulate," Mr. Proxmire said in a senate speech.

Furthermore, Richard Dugan, a staff member of the Post-Dispatch, reports Mr. Dickerson, who was appointed Feb. 14 by Secretary Udall, on Jan. 9 made a speech assailing government investigations of the oil industry as representing a threat to the industry. This speech was given at a closed meeting in Tulsa of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association.

All this is disquieting. Mr. Dickerson may be capable of objectivity, and so may Mr. Kelly, but the loyalty of oil men to their industry is proverbial. Mr. Udall cannot be expected to appoint a person unaffiliated with the industry. But it should be possible to find someone not so intimately connected with the oil lobby as Mr. Dickerson. This connection, at best, will tend to limit his effectiveness.

Shortly after entering the White House President Johnson announced he wanted Secretary Udall's department and not the chief executive to set national oil policy. Mr. Johnson, being from Texas, naturally wanted to divorce himself from controversy over oil. But he is ultimately responsible in any event and he might be well advised to take another look at his earlier decision. Mr. Johnson is quite familiar with the interests of the oil industry, and he knows the national interest. Perhaps he himself is uniquely qualified to guide policy in this field.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

CHOW DOWN FOR THE BEST

When the boat's mate calls "chow down," he can do it now with special gusto. What the army and the marines and even the air force have suspected all along is now confirmed in fact—the navy needs better.

What cheers us is the navy's refusal to be apologetic about it. A defense department request for uniform rationing was applied to the armed forces caused Rep. Charles E. Chamberlain of Michigan to ask why the navy spends $1.10 a day to feed men ashore, while the army spends only 99 cents, the marine corps $1.01, and the air force $1.04.

Good food means good morale, the navy snapped back, and "in a land of surpluses it is felt that a member should not be required to exist on a austere ration, even though it is nutritionally adequate."

Comparing marine meals and navy meals, the navy said:

The navy uses a higher proportion of grade B beef. The marine corps uses primarily grade C beef.

The navy has store-bought bread while the marine corps bakes its own in many places (though in that respect, the corps ought to have the edge, it seems to us).

The marine corps goes heavy on ground beef, frankfurters, liver and fish. The navy generally offers an alternative with these "less acceptable" items. Finally, the navy serves soup more often than the other forces, and its desserts are more desirable.

And not a word about beans!—The Virginian-Pilot (Norfolk, Va.).

OFF AND RUNNING

Dear Sir: Is it any wonder folks keep saying children grow up earlier now than they used to?

I was walking along behind three or four girls the other day and they were all chattering away in that manner of little girls. Except they didn't exactly look like little girls.

All four of them were wearing nylon hose, all had lipstick and fancy hair-dos and two of them had ample quantities of eye shadow.

It was the latter bit of camouflage that was being discussed by the girls. One allowed as how she was simply furious because her mother would let her use lipstick but drew the line on eye shadow.

That was about all I heard of the conversation because the girls turned down the walk leading to the junior high school.

While walking about the city Wednesday I happened to glance across the street towards the Federal National Bank. There was a lady trying desperately to head his trained dog along Main avenue and not along Shoshone street as it wanted to go.

It seems the trained dog was too busy looking at another dog to head in the right direction. But finally off they went along Main avenue, J., the Seeing Eye dog and the stray dog.

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

Washington News

By LYLE C. WILSON

United Press International
Sen. Hubert Humphrey probably was playing the P.T. Barnum averages last week when he read the presidential primary returns from Wisconsin and solemnly proclaimed that Gov. Joseph R. Wallace's invasion of the Deep North had been a flop.

Humphrey, a politician in the image of Harry S. Truman, has the political instincts of a hungry barracuda.

Such politicians do not kid themselves or rarely so. Therefore, it must have been for public consumption that Humphrey laughed off Wallace's quarter of a million Wisconsin votes.

If the senator was aiming at the people, he had going for him old circus man's Barnum's averages, once stated like this:

"You can fool all of the people some of the time and some of the people all of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time."

Politicians do not need to fool all of the people. They merely need to fool some of them, a majority. So the Barnum averages have been comforting to them. But small comfort. The Wisconsin vote alerted northern politicians to the existence of some basic civil rights dissatisfaction among their white constituents.

Wallace's invasion of Wisconsin was no flop. The Wisconsin vote was no triumph for the concept of civil rights leadership as promoted by northern politicians who require the votes of great urban Negro concentrations to keep their jobs.

The Doctor Says

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

There are several ways to lose weight. Exercise is one, but it has limitations. It takes a lot of exercise to lose a pound, and the exercise stimulates your appetite.

So, although I strongly advocate exercise for physical fitness, I cannot take it seriously as a means of reducing weight. This applies also to mechanical exercisers, massage and steam baths.

Many persons, Dr. Brandstadt who is obese, have taken up cigarette smoking. This merely replaces one health hazard with a worse one. For that reason I would urge even an overweight person to give up smoking.

Surgical removal of part of the stomach was tried for a while but it was found that the patient, although he was not able to eat as much at a time, ate often and got the same number of calories he was taking before the operation. Then plastic surgeons tried removing the layer of fat from the abdominal wall but the end results were poor.

There are many drugs which will cause a person to lose weight. The problem, however, is not how to lose weight but how to maintain the loss. This fact is never mentioned in the glowing ads.

Follow-up studies show that the weight lost is almost always regained.

Furthermore, injudicious use of these drugs can be dangerous.

If Wallace had flopped in Wisconsin, that would indeed have been a pro civil rights triumph. A Wallace flop would have erased much of the accumulating evidence of disenchantment among northern whites with civil rights developments.

The civil rights leadership probably is responsible for sparking this developing doubt and discomfort among northern whites.

There is a principle of physics to the general effect that pressure begets counter-acting pressure. True or not in physics, that surely is the way it works in politics. Civil rights pressures to take school children from their own neighborhood schools to distant places to obtain generally a satisfactory racial mix is now begetting counter-acting pressure.

It has become so great that the civil rights bill now pending in the senate disavows the busing of little kids to distant schools as a means of integration.

The Wisconsin vote must be set down as a faulty gauge of northern white dislike of civil rights developments, notably in the areas of housing and education in northern communities.

Alabama's governor, scarcely could have entered Wisconsin with less impressive credentials. Here the Chicago Tribune, a newspaper considerably closer to and doubtless better informed about Wisconsin than, for instance, Senator Humphrey, thumbed it pretty well:

"When more than a quarter of a million voters rally to a candidate (Wallace) with such unlikely credentials, the effect on northern politicians is likely to be chilling."

But then maybe Humphrey wasn't whistling in the dark after all. It might really have been a whistle of astonishment at Wisconsin political temperature.

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16—Three months from now 1968 delegates to the Republican national convention will meet in the Cow Palace here to choose a candidate for president. What his name will be is a mystery wrapped in an enigma, surrounded by a riddle.

Almost as uncertain is how much the nomination will be worth. For strange things are happening in the Republican party. Deep undercurrents of passion and prejudice are at work in both parties and how profoundly they will alter the familiar pattern of American political life no one can predict.

The ultra-right here is capturing the Republican state committee and from that vantage point will determine the policies and the strategy of the party in the largest state in the union. This will happen even if Gov. Nelson Rockefeller should win over Sen. Barry Goldwater in the June 2 primary so cleverly have the Birchers and their allies placed their candidates on the ballot.

Republican leaders long accustomed to taking responsibility for the direction of the party are being pushed out. They feel something like despair as they see the success of the tactics of a radical splinter group in a state in which moderation has been the rule.

Joseph Martin, Jr., who stepped aside as Republican national committeeman to work for Rockefeller and moderation, has on his desk in his law office a documented study of how the ultra-right control of the Republican organization in Oakland across the bay. Infiltration, constant harassment, meetings prolonged until 2 and 3 in the morning with fanatics staying on to take over after reasonable men had left in disgust, these techniques have been used effectively by communists and they are proving effective here.

Is this the beginning of a new era? Or is it merely a case of political measles brought out by the stresses and strains of a time of revolutionary change? Leaders caught in the ultra-right buzz saw hesitate to use words like totalitarianism and fascism, remember how they felt when they were a smear word generously applied. But it may not be over.

One of the undercurrents broke the surface in Wisconsin with the 260,000 votes for Gov. Joseph Wallace, the arch-segregationist, in the primary there. This season will not be lost on California, for on the ballot in the fall will be a proposal to abolish the Rumford act prohibiting discrimination in the sale and method of housing.

Not only does it wipe out the state law but through constitutional amendment all legislation on discrimination in housing at whatever level of government would be prohibited. Thus far only 33 cases have been handled under the Rumford act, with 33 still pending, which seems a small number in view of the great influx of minority groups into California.

Yet it appears to have caused a deep uneasiness which the ultra are quick to exploit—your home is not safe, you can lose everything you've put into it. "They want anti-semites, they want Negroes to leave. This is calculated to stir uneasiness and prejudice in millions of households whose savings are almost entirely in the equity in a house. The line of attack on the Rumford act parallels the extremist assault on the civil rights measure before the senate as a threat to the right of the individual to do what he wishes with his own business. This kind of prejudice allied to fear could work havoc with long-accepted concepts of modern and liberal in both political parties.

At the farthest right are those whom Richard Nixon called the kooks—a wild gleam in the eye, violent anti-semites, their minds totally closed to reason. As one melancholy observer put it, "They make the Birchers look respectable."

But they tag themselves so obviously they are not the threat to the Republican party of the more restrained zealots. These are the men and women who have used the techniques of rule or ruin to gain control over the party machinery that has broken until 1966 and another election. Their hero is Senator Goldwater, who in the latest Field statewide poll, one of the most reliable in the country, rates 23 per cent to President Johnson's 71 per cent. Yet if Goldwater fails to get the nomination they will put it down to the conspiracy that set it at work in every aspect of American life.

If South is an optimist, he will win the first club and start after diamonds. If they break, he will make 10 or 11 tricks depending on how he handles the spades and clubs after cashing his red cards. Unfortunately for those ideas, East will win the third diamond and return a club to his partner, whereupon West will get the hand with four club tricks.

Therefore, South should duck the jack of clubs at trick one. He will win the club in with trumps. When South wins with his good diamond, he won't have a club to lead. South will make four diamonds, three hearts, two spades and one club.

Have you seen where the second duck play comes in at trick 17? It should be mild lead the three. South should win from his hand and ride after West play the eight. This play would have been necessary if the East had West diamond holdings had been reversed. This time it made no difference at all.

12 Sentenced For British Mail Robbery

AYLESBURY, England, April 16 (AP)—Twelve men were sentenced to prison terms ranging from three to 30 years today for the 13 million dollar "great train robbery," the biggest cash haul in the history of crime.

Seven received 30-year sentences. Two got 25 years each, one 24, another 20 and the 12th three years. All were convicted of taking part in the robbery and conspiring to commit the crime.

Judge Edmund Davies, who took 35 minutes to pass the sentences, said the 12 were guilty of complicity "in one way or the other for a crime which is an impudence and enormity is the first of its kind in the country." He said the case proved that "crime is not worth even the most alluring candle."

The convicts were accused in connection with the hi-jacking of a mail train last Aug. 8 at a country crossing near this Buckinghamshire community. Thieves stopped the train by changing a signal light from green to red, then carted off tons of worn bills that were being taken to London to be exchanged for new currency.

More than 5.6 million dollars of the loot is still missing and three men suspected in the robbery are still at large.

The 30-year sentences for seven of the defendants were extremely stiff for British courts. The longest term in recent British judicial history was the 42-year term ordered in May, 1961, for confessed Soviet spy George Blake.

News Around Idaho

BOISE, April 16 (U)—The final apportionment of state funds for the 1963-64 school year was put in the mail Wednesday to Idaho public school districts. It totaled $2,331,054. D. F. Engelking, state superintendent of public instruction, said it left only 2.1 per cent of the money allocated for the present fiscal year which began last July. That money will be passed out in the July distribution, he said, along with an advance of 1964-65 funds to help schools prepare for the start of the new year. As Engelking had indicated earlier, no district had money withheld for employing uncertified teachers. He said all districts that had such teachers on their payrolls had taken action to comply with the law.

BOISE, April 16 (U)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie told a North Idaho legislator Wednesday that Idaho workmen should get about 88 per cent of the jobs that will be created by construction of the proposed Mountain Sheep dam. Replying to a letter from Sen. Cecil Andrus, D., Clearwater, Ore., Smylie said about 88 per cent of the work on the dam will be on the Idaho side of the Snake river and 20 per cent on the Oregon side. He said unions having jurisdiction in Idaho "will automatically have jurisdiction over 88 per cent of the work." Smylie said local unions "will have referral preference for about 20 per cent of their members."

POCATELLO, April 16 (U)—A two-day symposium on space age living was to begin today at Idaho state university. Retired Air Force Lt. Gen. James E. Briggs was scheduled to give the main address tonight at a symposium banquet. BOISE, April 16 (U)—A heavy flow of tax returns from last-minute filers arrived in state and federal tax offices today. Late returns were expected to continue to arrive for several days. State Tax Collector Floyd West said some smaller postoffices aren't able to promptly handle the big volume of returns attracted by the tax deadline. Some filed by midnight last night aren't expected until Monday. The state office already had ten sacks of returns piled in vaults and the pile was growing. West said it will be about May 15 before his staff finishes processing the returns. Gov. Robert E. Smylie said it will be some time before authorities can tell whether it will be possible to relax the 4.5 per cent holdback in state general fund spending in effect since the biennium started last July 1.

BOISE, April 16 (U)—About 300 Idaho restaurant operators are expected in Boise Sunday for their three-day annual convention. Speakers will include John B. O'Meara, Independence, Mo., restaurant and hotel consultant, and Ira Nunn of the National Restaurant association.

IDAHO FALLS, April 16 (U)—An official of the Idaho Wheat Growers association says that foreign countries receiving U.S. surplus wheat are generally using good use of the grain. Harold Reed, executive secretary of the group, made the report here Tuesday night. He recently returned from a tour of the Orient with representatives from other state wheat associations. He said that while the countries make good use of the U.S. grain, their own wheat production is falling off.

BOISE, April 16 (U)—Hawks may not be kept in captivity without individual permits being obtained, the Idaho fish and game department said Wednesday. "The birding falconer," the department said, "must read up on the various species of hawks and eagles in Idaho, learn something about their care and the necessary training, in addition to being well-versed in fish and game regulations. He must prepare adequate facilities for keeping a bird in captivity before applying for a permit."

A hearing on the question ended Wednesday with Deputy Prosecutor P. A. McDermott and Assistant Prosecutor James B. Green presenting evidence and asking that Burt be tried as an adult. Burt's statement to Sheriff H. E. Parker on March 16 led to the arrest of John Dee Larsen, 21, on a charge of killing 15-year-old Vicki Jo Quinn in April of 1962. Peace Corps Volunteer Says Plan Lacking in Policy

WASHINGTON, April 16 (U)—A former peace corps volunteer has sharply criticized administration of the peace corps and said, "Corps policy seems to be to have no policy."

He also attacked his supervisor for doing little but making "occasional ostentatious tours through the jungle area" of Sierra Leone, the West African country where he served as a teacher and coach.

The former volunteer, Gerald M. Davis, Portland, Me., said peace corps administrators wrongly concentrated the corps program on education there instead of on needed health and welfare work.

The views of Davis were placed in Wednesday's "Congressional Record" by Rep. Stanley R. Tupper, R-Me., an enthusiastic peace corps supporter who said, "This young man is highly intelligent, very popular, respected in his community, and certainly his observations deserve attention."

A peace corps spokesman, asked about the comments, said Davis was "an unsatisfied volunteer who came home of his own choice," and had made similar statements last spring.

"We expect criticism," the spokesman said. "We look into it. What Davis had to say and made some changes, but the majority of the volunteers who have been serving for months."

Davis described one incident at the government school in Sierra Leone when a fellow volunteer was judging a foot race between a Moslem African and a Christian African.

The volunteer awarded the race to the Christian. Davis said, "The Moslems immediately began rioting. Catholic nuns, were per- Me., an enthusiastic peace corps supporter who said, "This young man is highly intelligent, very popular, respected in his community, and certainly his observations deserve attention."

Davis said that during his tour from June 1962 to April 1963, there were four such school riots. Sargent Shriver, director of the peace corps, complimented him for the way he had handled himself during the riots, Davis said, adding: "I appreciate the compliment. However, this had been of the volunteers who have been serving for months."

No Protests Offered for School Plan

RICHFIELD, April 16—No protests were made at the Richfield district No. 316 public school board meeting at the April 16 meeting at the high school Tuesday evening. The new school budget is set at $105,190.33. Board members certified as unavailable the 13 days missed in the school year because of weather conditions. Schools will close May 22 as planned. Two days of the absence was made up by no Easter vacation this year.

Plans also were made to send the Richfield hot lunch cooks to a government-sponsored cooking school convention at Portland this summer.

Richfield still needs teachers for mathematics and English—both with an opening for footbal coach combination with other faculty needs.

Three families were paid cash payments in lieu of transportation when their children stayed with town families a week to attend school.

Lowell Ward and Mrs. Harold Primore made treasurers' reports for the student body and district.

Police Plan Crackdown On Beer Sale

The Twin Falls police department is going to crack down on the purchasing of beer by minors. Police Chief M. Frank Barnett said Thursday.

The department apprehended two teenagers last week and one Wednesday night for having beer. Persons from 18 years until legal age of 20 years who have beer in their possession are risking a maximum penalty of six months in jail and a $300 fine, Police Judge Dale J. Adamson said.

First offenders who appear in police court usually get a minor fine from $5 to $50 and a minor jail sentence from five days to 30 days, he said.

The under 18 years of age who have beer in their possession are turned over to juvenile authorities for action, which depends on their records.

The department has to wait for a conviction before a closure notice can be issued on charges of selling beer to minors, Barnett said.

The case either can be handled by the state liquor department or the police department.

Officers watch establishments which sell beer and some officers have apprehended teenagers as they leave these establishments. The officer usually can tell if a person is of legal age, Barnett said.

"It can't possibly be worth it to sell a case or two of beer to a minor and risk losing a liquor license and having to close an establishment," Barnett said.

EVEN WORK seems like fun, when it's yard work you're doing and spring arrives after a long, cold winter. With the temperature in Twin Falls hitting 73 degrees Wednesday, yardworkers were out in full force, raking lawns, scratching in gardens, fixing lawnmowers and even spring exercise grooming her front lawn at 2025 Elizabeth boulevard. Leopold Wins Judgment in Privacy Suit

CHICAGO, April 16 (UPI)—Nathan Leopold, the brilliant "thriller" who helped commit one of the most sensational crimes of the century, Wednesday won a summary judgment in a 1.4 million dollar invasion of privacy suit.

Judge Thomas E. Kluczynski made the ruling and said the 5-year-old suit would be heard by a jury.

Leopold's damage suit names 57 persons connected with the best selling novel "Compulsion" and the motion picture and stage play based upon the novel. Included were author Meyer Levin, publishers Simon and Schuster and Daryl F. Zanuck productions.

Levin was one of a number of prominent persons who vigorously supported Leopold's plea for commutation of his prison sentence for his part in the 1924 slaying of Bobby Franks, son of a Chicago millionaire.

Leopold, 59, now is a baldish medical technician self-described as "a fat, middle-aged, thoroughly ordinary man." He has lived in Puerto Rico since his release from prison in 1958.

His $1,405,000 damage suit alleges that the defendants took "the name, likeness and personality of Leopold and conversation of same for their profit and again." The suit charges Levin with fictionalizing family scenes and conversations.

Levin, who currently resides in Israel, supported Leopold's bid for freedom by asking the Illinois pardon and parole board to permit the slayer "who has been a symbol of crime to become a greater symbol of correction." Leopold's case also was supported by Carl Sandburg, mystery writer Earle Stanley Gardner, Puerto Rican Gov. Luis Munoz Marin and others.

It was in the spring of 1924 when Leopold and his University of Chicago classmate Richard Loeb abducted 14-year-old Bobby Franks, pounded a chisel into his head and demanded $10,000 ransom in a ruthless, reasonless experiment with the "perfect crime."

"WARMING UP the old soupbone" is a favorite spring activity for youngsters the country over. It's been no different in Twin Falls on warm days during the last week or so. The young ballplayer is Thomas Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Cole, 2003 Elizabeth boulevard. Shortsleeve shirts for the men and shorts for the women began sprouting out here Wednesday as the temperature hit 73. Thursday, with cooler temperatures and a brisk wind, the summer clothing disappeared—but it will be back again in full force as soon as the sun shines strong. (Times-News photo)

T.F. Police Probe Two Accidents

Twin Falls police investigated two accidents Wednesday. Harry N. Gibson, 21, Twin Falls, was cited for following too closely after a two-car accident at 7:05 p.m. in the 300-block of Fourth avenue south.

Investigating officers reported Ralph P. Pink, 73, Twin Falls, was driving a 1959 Buick followed by a 1953 Plymouth driven by Gibson. Apparently Pink slowed to make a right turn and the Gibson vehicle struck the Pink vehicle. Damage was estimated at $200 to the Buick and $150 to the Plymouth.

Police officers investigated a two-car accident at 9:37 a.m. in the 100 block of Fourth avenue west.

They reported Joe J. Kelleher, 61, route 1, apparently had stopped his 1942 Chevrolet truck in front of Security Seed company to unload. Kelleher started to back his truck up and struck the front of a 1964 Chevrolet pickup truck driven by Richard L. Brady, 19, route 1. The Brady vehicle had stopped behind the Kelleher truck to unload at the seed company.

No injuries were reported and no citation was issued in the Brady-Kelleher accident.

Glen Canyon Dam Decision Set for May

DENVER, April 16 (AP)—A final decision whether to build the new Glen Canyon dam this year or whether its power facilities must remain idle will be made the second week in May, Reclamation Commissioner Floyd E. Dominy promised Wednesday.

The decision will be made by Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall, who ordered water released from behind Glen Canyon March 26 to protect the level of Lake Mead, farther down stream between Nevada and Arizona.

Udall's decision had the effect of permitting generation of hydro-electric power to continue at normal levels at Hoover dam. At the same time it opened the possibility that Lake Powell behind Glen Canyon dam in Arizona might not contain sufficient water to start generating power when equipment is installed late next summer.

Dominy said the decision will be based upon a May 1 survey of snow in the mountains of western Colorado, Utah and Wyoming at the headwaters of the Colorado river.

Snowfall less than expected the last two winters, he said, has resulted in shortage of water preventing the filling of both Lake Powell and Lake Mead.

The commissioner said May 15 may be the date of a final decision whether water is to build up behind Glen Canyon dam.

He said a predicted volume of about 4.5 million acre-feet runoff in the April-July period would be necessary to change the temporary decision against further storage.

"We think we have acted prudently in the interest of states in the upper basin of the river," Dominy insisted.

He outlined the reclamation bureau's position at the lengthy meeting with the Upper Colorado River commission, during which he and aides underwent two and one-half hours of examination by the commissioners from Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming.

The upper basin commissioners are demanding storage be resumed behind Glen Canyon dam so power generation can be started on schedule. Money from the sale of this power will finance reclamation projects in the four states.

With Dominy's approval, a meeting was set up at Phoenix on Tuesday involving reclamation officials, representatives of privately owned public utilities, the staff of the Upper Colorado commission and representatives of government of the states. It will attempt to work out a plan whereby the private utilities will send power into the southern California area to make up any deficiencies in power generation at Hoover dam in case storage is resumed at Glen Canyon.

Three Governors participated in the meeting. Utah Governor George D. Clyde represents his state on the body and clove. John A. Love, Colo. and Clifford Hansen, Wyo., sat with the commission at its first session.

Clyde told reporters, "I think we accomplished what we came over to do — get the show on the road."

Clyde stressed a need to work out quickly plans for replacement of deficiencies in power generation at Hoover dam.

Three Girls Lead Hailey Senior Class

HAILEY, April 16 — Jeanne Ann (Jan) Merrill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Merrill, Ketchum, has been named valedictorian of the 1964 Hailey high school graduating class.

Her point average is 3.9 on a 4.0 point system. Her extra-curricular activities include Pep club, National Honor society, and Quill and Scroll club. She is a member of the drill team, cheer leader and a Thespian. Her hobby is sewing. She attended school in Pleasant Grove, Utah, until entering the eighth grade here.

Bette Jo Sweeney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sweeney, Jackpot, Nev., and Sonja Stertman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Stertman, Hailey, share salutatorian honors, each with a 3.8 average.

Miss Sweeney is student body secretary. She is a member of the Thespians, National Honor society, Quill and Scroll club, chorus and Pep club. During the summer she likes to swim and in winter studies piano and singing, cooks and sews.

Miss Sweeney came here from Jackpot when in her sophomore year and resides with her grandmother, Mrs. Lillian Fowler.

Miss Stertman attended school in Ontario, Ore., in Gooding, Bellevue and Minico. Her senior year has been spent here.

She was chairman of the home economics IV banquet committee and belongs to the Future Homemakers, Pep club and Girls' league. She is a member of the school paper staff and is in the cast for the senior class play.

Miss Stertman helps her parents at their Magic reservoir resort in the summer and likes to water ski and swim. She plans to become a laboratory technician.

Replies Read At Kimberly Grange Meet

KIMBERLY, April 16 — Members of the Kimberly Grange heard letters, in reply to Grange resolutions on the cotton and wheat referendums, from the members of congress during a meeting Tuesday. Replies also were read on their resolution against Bonneville power.

Cards of thanks were read from Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Kilborn for the Grange's remembrance of their 60th wedding anniversary, and from Edward Dutton, former Grange member, for cards received while convalescing from heart surgery in Kansas City.

It was announced the Grange will present the traveling exchange program at the Murtaugh Grange next Monday.

The degree team, under the leadership of Mrs. Roy Durk, presented the third and fourth degree work.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Durk and Frank Stewart.

President 'Chews,' but Shuns Smoke

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP) — President Johnson, a nonsmoker for nearly nine years, occasionally surprises people by dangling an unlit cigarette from his mouth.

Johnson's most recent public appearance with a cigarette, at the annual dinner of the White House press photographers association earlier this month, sparked a rumor that he was smoking again.

George Reedy, White House press secretary, said Wednesday that Johnson did not smoke a single cigarette since his 1955 heart attack. But Reedy said the President occasionally picks up a cigarette and chews on it, without ever touching a match to it.

At the photographers' dinner, Johnson found a complimentary packet of cigarettes at his place and, while watching a program of entertainment, idly opened it and stuck one in his mouth.

Because the lights were dimmed during the entertainment, many people in the hall thought the President was smoking.

Johnson apparently is most likely to chew on a cigarette when he is required to sit and not talk. In a sense, it may be a fidgeting gesture.

"I gave up cigarette smoking because the doctor recommended that I do so," said Johnson in a television interview last month. "And I have missed it every day, but I haven't gone back to it, and I'm glad that haven't."

Gamble Vote

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., April 16 (AP) — The Hot Springs Chamber of Commerce will sponsor petitions for a statewide vote on a constitutional amendment to legalize casino gambling in this Garland County resort, R. H. Wootton, president of the chamber announced Wednesday night.

The casinos have been closed since March 28, after Gov. Orval E. Faubus had warned city officials that if they did not close them, he would order state troopers to do it.

To get the proposed amendment on the November general election ballot, petitioners will need the signatures of 35,000 qualified voters.

Editors Fear Curb on Court Stories

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP) — The nation's editors were told today there is "cause for great concern" in the rising clamor in legal circles for tighter curbs on news reporting of the courts.

The committee on freedom of information of the American Society of Newspaper Editors warned that the proposed restrictions, "although aimed primarily at television," could damage all news coverage.

The committee headed by Creed C. Black, executive editor of the Wilmington, Del., Morning News and Evening Journal, prepared the report for today's opening session of ASNE's three-day annual convention.

The nearly 500 editors registered for the meeting were invited as guests at President Johnson's late afternoon news conference in the large state department auditorium.

The freedom of information report attributed the restrictive proposals by legal groups partly to the "tragic and turbulent events at Dallas"—the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, the televised murder of Lee Harvey Oswald and the hectic trial that convicted Jack Ruby as Oswald's murderer.

"Of more lasting concern to us is a broader—and relatively new—element in this perennial controversy which deserves no less attention from us than it is getting from the bench and bar," Creed's committee said.

"That is the extent to which television is complicating matters for all media."

The committee noted that the New York County Lawyers' association has declared that the "special visual impact" of television makes new measures necessary to protect the right of accused persons to a fair trial.

The lawyers said they were convinced that "any reliance on voluntary restraints by the television industry are largely doomed to failure."

The emphasis on television "is not to suggest that the newspapers of America are blameless," the editors' report went on.

It said: "Indeed, the necessity to re-examine our own shortcomings and rid our own house of irresponsibility becomes all the more urgent if we are to head off meaasures which—although aimed primarily at television—could affect us all and invite greater abuses in the administration of justice than those they supposedly are designed to correct.

"If developing smaller television cameras is beyond our control, we can certainly try, by our own example, to teach the electronic newsmen larger manners and a deeper understanding of the basic truth that freedom of information is not an unlimited license to trample on individual rights."

Ralph Towne Reelected as Dietrich Trustee

DIETRICH, April 16—Ralph Towne was reelected to a three-year term on the school board Tuesday. He received 22 written votes. There were no names on the ballot.

Holdover board members are Mrs. Joy McClure, Mrs. Lois Ballard, James Meservy and C. L. Rogers.

School board members have voted to allow seniors to go on a trip to San Francisco. Last year a 300-mile radius was set for the senior trip. A detailed outline of the route and plans was submitted to the board by the seniors for further consideration.

School will end May 22 with high school graduation May 21 and eighth grade graduation May 20.

Resignation of Ronald Heberger as coach was accepted. Heberger will take the head coaching job at Bliss high school next year. He has been at Dietrich the past two years and taught at Melba high school prior to that. Heberger, a native of the Caldwell area, and his wife and two small daughters will move to Bliss in the early summer.

Mrs. Heberger will be in charge of the drill team at Bliss. All other teachers for the year have signed contracts for next year.

Another meeting will be held sometime in May for final arrangements and plans.

Class members living out-of-town or state may write to Mrs. Earl Hahn, route 1, Buhl, for further information. A large turnout for the class reunion is expected, the chairman said.

Pill Devised To Ward off Influenza

CHICAGO, April 16 (AP)—A pill to prevent flu has worked pretty well in first human tests, researchers announced Wednesday. It also seems to help reduce chills, aches and pains and other symptoms that come along when you do get influenza.

The need for shots against some types of flu have gone out the window if the drug lives up to the first blurb of promise. It may also protect against German measles and perhaps other virus infections.

The drug, amantadine hydrochloride, was synthesized by chemists of the DuPont company, Wilmington, Del.

It appeared to be 75 per cent effective in protecting human volunteers, all prison inmates, against an epidemic of Asian flu, said Dr. Herman A. Wenzel, who told the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

And when given to a handful of other men struck by flu the drug apparently reduced frequency of symptoms of 12 to 13 weeks.

The symptoms, as millions of people know, run a gamut from fever and chills to cough, runny nose, headache, fatigue, nausea and abdominal upsets.

Asian and other types of flu also can be a killer, especially among older people or those already weakened by respiratory disease. "Shots" have been the main preventative, but there is some question that they work.

Dr. Wenzel stressed that far more people must be tested, and other steps taken, before amantadine could ever be cleared for general use.

It appears quite safe, he said. Flu season was the only complaint of the prisoners.

Two Teachers Resign Posts At Gooding

GOODING, April 16—Resignations of two teachers were accepted by members of the Gooding school board at their regular Monday meeting.

Lester Diehl, principal of the high school, has resigned to accept a position as superintendent at Gooding, and Mrs. Albert Dickson, junior high school instructor, will teach in the junior high school at Challis.

It was announced that a budget hearing will be held May 11, and the trustee election is Tuesday.

Eugene Gibbons, principal of the elementary school, reported on the evaluation of defective speech students in the elementary school.

Elmer Meyer, chairman of the board of trustees, John Varin and Lewis Galt, will present diplomas for the high school graduation. Each one has a son or daughter graduating.

The board granted permission for 10 members of the Future Homemakers of America and their adviser, Mrs. Elmina Morris, to attend a state meeting in Boise.

Bids were opened for the school Jeep and pickup truck, with James Morris being awarded the contract for the Jeep and Ernest France, the truck.

senators that chemical wastes from pesticide formulating plants "may be a very significant factor" in the fish kill in the lower Mississippi river which has worried health authorities. (AP wirephoto)

Uncommitted Party Leaders Need Ike to Stop Goldwater

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—Uncommitted party leaders appear to be banking on Dwight D. Eisenhower to touch off stop-Goldwater efforts at the Republican presidential nominating convention.

The former President publicly has remained aloof from the maneuvering in the pre-convention period in which Sen. Barry Goldwater, R., Ariz., has forged well ahead in the contest for convention votes.

Eisenhower has endorsed practically everybody who has been mentioned prominently for the nomination, and some who haven't. His blanket blessing has covered Goldwater as well as his opponents.

But party pros who haven't committed themselves to support of any individual candidate have formed the strong impression that Eisenhower will abandon his stated neutrality if he fears Goldwater otherwise might win the nomination and pocket the party organization for the next four years.

Eisenhower has provided plenty of evidence he believes the Republicans can win only if they present a moderately progressive program. He clearly fears that a conservative stance would bring defeat in November and a party split in the years ahead.

If the Republicans who want to stop Goldwater could agree among themselves on a candidate, they would be content for Eisenhower to fill at the convention his contractual role as a television commentator and ask nothing more of him.

With less than three months remaining before the convention opens, the uncommitted pros generally agree the field of potential Goldwater challengers has narrowed to Henry Cabot Lodge, ambassador to Viet Nam, former Vice President Richard Nixon and Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania.

There is some skepticism about how long the popularity being he chose someone else, it would be more difficult to get the flames going but still this might be accomplished.

Tax Structure Discussed at Buhl C. of C.

BUHL, April 16 — William Grange, secretary-manager of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, spoke on the Idaho tax structure at the Buhl Chamber of Commerce luncheon meeting Monday at the R and R cafe.

Grange pointed out that the tax structure of Idaho is a deterrent for new industry to enter Idaho and unless a logical means of alleviating this situation can be worked out, Idaho cannot expect to induce new industries to locate here.

Grange reported on the meetings conducted by the tax reform group of which he is a member, noting a Jerome and Twin Falls county meeting will be held April 28 in Twin Falls to present this situation to local people.

Warren Saunders, president of the Buhl chamber, reported the Magic Valley Chamber of Commerce which is comprised of chambers throughout Magic Valley is being replaced with the next meeting to be held at Twin Falls in May.

It was voted to serve as host club for the Magic Valley Chamber meeting in July. Plans will include a fish fry to be held at the Buhl Clear Lakes Country club with Olin Smith in charge of arrangements.

A discussion was held relative to highway 30S. It was noted Kenneth Curtis and other representatives from Buhl will attend a highway meeting Thursday at Burley.

Kimberly Girl Attends 4-H Parley in Washington, D.C.

KIMBERLY, April 16—Shirley Butler will leave for Washington, D. C., Friday to attend the National 4-H conference. She is one of four delegates selected to represent Idaho.

Mrs. Dorothy Hole, University of Idaho extension service, and assistant state 4-H leader, will accompany the delegation on their jet flight to the nation's capital.

The conference will follow the theme "Our Heritage — Foundation of the Future" and will emphasize educational objectives, report 4-H goals and achievements to the nation's leaders and general public, and recognize the 50th anniversary of extension work, of which 4-H is a significant part.

Miss Butler has been a member of the Pleasant Valley 4-H club led by Birchie V. Brown, for 10 years. She has completed 10 projects, served as a junior leader for four years and a leader at the 4-H summer camp for the past six years.

She has received many county and state honors which include a trip to the national 4-H Club congress held in Chicago in 1962, sponsored by the Idaho Cattleman's association and the Idaho Wool Grower's association. She also has attended the state 4-H congress at the University of Idaho for the last four years and will attend again this June.

Miss Butler was 8 years old when she joined the 4-H group. She has specialized with registered Angus cattle, purchasing her first cow for $150. This cow's first calf made the title reserve champion bull at two years and sold for $1,200.

Half this amount was spent for a registered Angus heifer with several registered animals added in the ensuing years. The recent sale of a registered bull and several heifers has reduced her herd to 20 head of cattle.

She is a member of the Angus Breeders association, the Angus auxiliary, and the Idaho Cattleman's association. She has won acclaim throughout the Northwest as an Angus breeder, even though she is a high school student.

Miss Butler won the Pacific Coast Angus auxiliary award for the years 1960, '61 and '62, the Idaho Cattleman's silver buckle award, an advanced first trophy in beef records in 1963, the Key award, given on the point system and won only once and many lesser awards.

Last fall at the Twin Falls county fair Miss Butler received many awards for her entries in the agricultural program, beef, recreation, leadership and poultry. This fall she plans to add wine to her projects.

In the non-agricultural department she has received blue ribbons for her angel food cakes and is an accomplished seamstress.

Miss Butler, with the encouragement of her mother, has done a remarkable job of keeping her operation profitable, arises early and works also after school caring for her herd, club leaders say.

Miss Butler not only excels as a 4-H member, but as a student in the Kimberly High School, plays the clarinet in the Pep band, has been selected Harvest Ball queen, and was chosen FFA chapter sweetheart last year.

She was president of the Twin Falls County Teen-Her's club for 1963. Presently she is competing as the one chosen from Twin Falls county to enter the

Eden Legion Hears 'Challenge of Change'

EDEN, April 16—"Challenge of Change" was the program presented by Mrs. Irving McDonald, child welfare chairman, at a joint meeting of the American Legion and auxiliary Tuesday night at the Legion hall.

Six points stressed by the national Legion were highlighted by six different speakers. Willard Lattimer, Jerome county commissioner, spoke on the problems of the mentally handicapped child. He said one child out of 10 is mentally handicapped and that little is being done in this area. He said the proposed mental health clinic would facilitate the discovery and treatment of these children, as persons with the special training for this work are too expensive for individual school districts.

Mrs. Carl Kelly spoke on youth employment. She told the group that 40 per cent of the children who start in the first grade have dropped out by the 13th grade. More than half of these students have average or better grades.

Mrs. Goss Gordon spoke on "The Physically Abused Child." She said that only recently has this problem been recognized by society and under new legislation doctors and nurses are required to report cases that appear to be abuse.

Mrs. Wes Harman, Jerome county justice of the peace, spoke on "The Juvenile Delinquent," noting "We really have no choice of whether or not to spend more money to improve facilities for treatment of juvenile delinquents. We can only choose whether to save money on juveniles and spend it later for confinement of adult criminals."

Jerry Bodenhamer, baseball chairman for the Eden post, spoke on physical fitness. He said the local post spent $420 on baseball last year in a program involving about 70 boys.

Mrs. McDonald concluded by summarizing some of the additional programs sponsored by the American Legion and auxiliary. She mentioned the Junior auxiliary program, assistance with Boy Scout and Cub Scout programs, Boys' State and Girls'

State, poppy poster contest, clothing provided for needy children as well as the work of the National Child Welfare foundation of the merican Legion.

Irving McDonald spoke on the Legion's scholarship program and Austin Matheny spoke on the oratorical contest sponsored by the Legion.

Wallace Sails Into Indiana Demo Primary

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 16 — The tempo and the temperature of the Indiana Democratic presidential primary rose sharply today after a one-day visit to the state by Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama.

Wallace drew a blistering denunciation from Gov. Matthew W. Welsh, Ind., whom he will oppose in the May 5 primary. The Alabama governor said he was not running as a segregationist. He described himself as a state and local rights candidate. The Indiana primary is the second of three scheduled by second of active campaigning. Wallace in Wisconsin he polled 50,000 votes, about 35 per cent of the total cast in the Democratic presidential primary. His third campaign will be in Maryland.

Wallace came to Indiana Wednesday, one day after having placed fourth among nine write-in candidates in Illinois. He has more than 4,500 votes on the Democratic and Republican ballots there.

Welsh, who entered the presidential primary only to claim "Bunker" delegates' votes for President Johnson, quickly said he was "not interested" in an invitation from Wallace to debate.

The usually mild-mannered Welsh said in a statement, "This is the man whose beliefs were responsible for the deaths of innocent children in the bombing of a Sunday school class."

Outside a chemistry lecture hall where Wallace answered student questions, another group of students gathered with signs like "no racism in Indiana."

"I'm not a racist," Wallace said to the applauding students in a hall. "A racist is one who hates a person in his heart because of his color. I would not be a segregationist president. I would be a state and local rights president."

The student audience, asked to choose between the policies of the governors in a mock primary, voted for Wallace over Welsh, 70-30.

Wallace flew back to Alabama Wednesday night after saying he'll consider it a victory "if I get any votes at all." He said he'll be back for more campaign appearances, but he set no dates.

Indiana convention delegates are bound to cast their first-ballot vote for the presidential primary winner.

In the Republican primary, Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, Ariz., will make only one appearance next Monday, piped into a statewide television network out of Indianapolis. His only major opponent, Harold E. Stassen, will appear on the Butler campus Friday.

Write-in votes are not permitted in Indiana.

To Plow or Not to Plow Is Question for Wheat Farmers

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON, April 16 — Many wheat farmers must decide soon whether to plow up some of their wheat program authorized by a farm bill passed by congress last week.

The new program is described by its backers as "voluntary" as contrasted with the description "mandatory" or "compulsory" applied to the program it replaces and the one wheat growers rejected in a national referendum last year.

Yes, neither description is very accurate. Under the old programs — as well as the one rejected by growers — a grower was not required by law to abide by them. He had a complete freedom of choice to comply with them or ignore them. Of course, there were penalties — solely economic — for the non-compliers. The latter was not subject to fines or jail terms.

So it is with the new program. The grower has a freedom of choice. But, as in the old one and the rejected one, there are economic penalties for the non-complier.

Perhaps the great similarity of the programs can best be shown by hypothetical examples. Assume two neighboring wheat growers had 100-acre government wheat planting allotments for the 1963 crop. Under both the programs growers rejected and the new one passed by congress, they would have allotments of 90 acres.

Assume farmer A decides to abide by the new program and plant only 90 acres, but that farmer B decides not to cut his plantings but seed 100 acres.

Let's assume both have normal yields of 25 bushels an acre. Farmer A produces 2,250 bushels and his non-cooperating neighbor produces 2,500. The latter farmer is not subject to a penalty for overplanting his allotment, but let's see how he comes out financially compared with his neighbor who planted 10 acres less to operate within his allotment.

Farmer A is assured a government support price of $1.30 a bushel for his wheat. For his 2,250 bushels this would be $2,925. Farmer B is not eligible for price support. He has to take whatever the market offers. But assume the market is the same as the support. His 2,500 bushels would bring $3,250. So far, the non-cooperating farmer is ahead.

But Farmer A gets other benefits denied farmer B. He gets so-called marketing certificates covering 90 per cent of his crop. Half of these have a value of 70 cents a bushel and the other half 25 cents. These certificates can be cashed in with the government, which in turn gets the money from sale of these certificates to processors and exporters. The new program requires them to buy the certificates. These certificates net farmer A a total of $961.87.

In addition, cooperating farmer A will earn a government payment for idling 10 acres of the allotment he had in 1963. This payment would be $66.50.

Thus farmer A would get $2,925 for his wheat, plus $961.87 for his wheat certificates plus $66.50 for land retirement for a total of $3,953.37. This is $703.37 more than farmer B got, although the latter produced 10 per cent more wheat.

Under the new program, farmer A gets other benefits. He has price insurance protection denied his neighbor. Should both suffer complete crop failures, farmer A would still get his wheat marketing certificates valued at $961.87.

The non-cooperating farmer thus would get considerably less income from his wheat, would not have the price insurance protection of the program. In addition he would lose some of his allotment beginning in 1968. The wheat program takes away planting history — a major basis for determining allotments — from those who do not comply.

Area Man Held On Check Count
Ronald Weighall, 40, Hansen, waived preliminary hearing in Twin Falls police court and was bound over to district court on charges of issuing a check without funds in the bank.

Weighall, who is in the county jail in lieu of the $1,000 bond set by Judge Dale J. Adamson, is charged with issuing a $10 check, drawn on the Twin Falls Bank and Trust company, to Albertson's Food center.

Many Cubans Flee Draft
MIAMI, Fla., April 16 — One of 28 youths fleeing Cuba to evade the military draft, which also serves as a labor pool, says "there is panic among young men" because of it.

The exile, Angel Robaina, 18, said Wednesday he had escaped from a stadium in Oriente province where 900 draft youths were concentrated.

Robaina was one of 48 refugees arriving in three boats Wednesday. Last week-end 28 other youths who didn't want to be drafted arrived by boat.

The Castro government has said draftees will be used to harvest sugar cane and other crops.

Minidoka Demos To Launch Drive
RUPERT, April 16 — Democrats of Minidoka county will launch their campaign fund drive at 9 a.m. Monday at a breakfast meeting at Hirling's cafe, reports Mrs. Phillip Bare, committee chairman.

After the breakfast, a drive will be made in the business district and later, the entire county will be covered, with a goal of $12,000, Mrs. Bare explained. Of this amount, $430 will be sent to Democratic state headquarters, with a contribution to Ralph Harding's campaign, and the remainder will be used at the local level to conduct central committee affairs, she said.

Mrs. Bare explained that in past years, the committee had waited until after the primary election to seek funds for the campaign, making it difficult to plan ahead, so that any funds collected had a limited effect on the campaign itself.

Applications for examinations to fill positions as smokejumper are now being taken announced Mrs. Agnes A. Stronk, examiner-in-charge, board of U.S. civil service examiners.

She said positions will be with the forest service and U.S. department of agriculture in the Boise, Sawtooth, Salmon, Challis, Targhee and Caribou national forests in Idaho.

Full details about the duties and requirements are contained in the examination announcement. Persons who wish to participate in this examination should apply for application forms No. 57 and 5001-ABC, at their local postoffices.

Area Man Held On Check Count
Ronald Weighall, 40, Hansen, waived preliminary hearing in Twin Falls police court and was bound over to district court on charges of issuing a check without funds in the bank.

Weighall, who is in the county jail in lieu of the $1,000 bond set by Judge Dale J. Adamson, is charged with issuing a $10 check, drawn on the Twin Falls Bank and Trust company, to Albertson's Food center.

Many Cubans Flee Draft
MIAMI, Fla., April 16 — One of 28 youths fleeing Cuba to evade the military draft, which also serves as a labor pool, says "there is panic among young men" because of it.

The exile, Angel Robaina, 18, said Wednesday he had escaped from a stadium in Oriente province where 900 draft youths were concentrated.

Robaina was one of 48 refugees arriving in three boats Wednesday. Last week-end 28 other youths who didn't want to be drafted arrived by boat.

The Castro government has said draftees will be used to harvest sugar cane and other crops.

Minidoka Demos To Launch Drive
RUPERT, April 16 — Democrats of Minidoka county will launch their campaign fund drive at 9 a.m. Monday at a breakfast meeting at Hirling's cafe, reports Mrs. Phillip Bare, committee chairman.

After the breakfast, a drive will be made in the business district and later, the entire county will be covered, with a goal of $12,000, Mrs. Bare explained. Of this amount, $430 will be sent to Democratic state headquarters, with a contribution to Ralph Harding's campaign, and the remainder will be used at the local level to conduct central committee affairs, she said.

Mrs. Bare explained that in past years, the committee had waited until after the primary election to seek funds for the campaign, making it difficult to plan ahead, so that any funds collected had a limited effect on the campaign itself.

Moderation Promised by Brazil Leader

BRASILIA, Brazil, April 16 (AP)—Brazil's new military president promised a moderate regime which "remedies" for left-wing extremism will not give birth to reactionary right.

Gen. Humberto Castello Branco, 56, was inaugurated Wednesday to serve 21 months remaining in the term of leftist president Joao Goulart, deposed April 1 in a coup led by Castello Branco, then army chief of staff.

"All democratic and free nations will be our allies," said the new president, "just as all people who desire to be free and want representative democracy can count on Brazil's support."

This was considered by some to be a diplomatic break with the conservative political leaders who have been demanding since Goulart's overthrow. Cheers and applause from the packed chamber of deputies greeted Castello Branco's 17-minute inaugural address, which was viewed as shifting Brazil's foreign policy toward a pro-western line.

Gen. Joao Quadros took office four years ago and Goulart succeeded him in 1961. Latin America's largest nation has shown an independent line in its anti-American over-

Castello Branco put aside a military career to head the interim government. Military leaders of the coup have named elections in October for a new president who will take office in January.

In Rio de Janeiro, 600 miles southeast of this inland capital, Castello Branco's inauguration was marked off wild celebrations.

The inauguration attracted many all the diplomatic missions, including the Soviet Union. The U.S. mission was led by Ambassador Gordon. Castello Branco announced a cabinet to help him attack Brazil's pressing problems, which include runaway inflation, a foreign debt of nearly 4 billion dollars and widespread poverty.

Xiistu?

BOISE, April 16 (AP)—The Idaho State Historical society will display a xiistu at its annual open house Monday. That's right, a xiistu.

Society Director H. J. Swinney says it's pronounced chestio. It is a unique type of reed flute used by the Basque people along with the traditional Basque drum, the tambor.

It will be part of a Basque display.

The story of the Basque-American people is an important part of the history of southwest Idaho," Swinney said. "Because of the current drive to have Idaho represented by the Basque dancers at the New York World's Fair, we feel particularly lucky to be able to arrange this special feature."

DISEASE OF DISUSE is cited by Dr. William Evans, consulting physician at London hospital, National Heart hospital and the Institute of Cardiology. He told a conference of business executives Wednesday to sell their cars, take to walking and go easy on liquor. He said the 20th century has brought on a new disease—the disease of disuse. He said the antidote to frustration is relaxation, the latter achieved through occupation and work which involves healthy physical exercise. (AP wirephoto via cable from London)

4 Acquitted For Smashing Big Mansion

RIVERHEAD, N. Y., April 16 (AP)—A judge acquitted four young socialites Wednesday of charges stemming from a rowdy, furniture-smashing party in an unused mansion after a debutant's ball last summer.

Charges against six others of the 14 indicted had been dismissed for lack of evidence. Three won treatment as youthful offenders and one asked for a jury trial.

Cleared of the charges were Samuel Shipley II, 23, Granville Tootood, 21, and Thomas Molyneux, 18, all of Philadelphia; and Eaton Brooks, 21, of Darien, Conn.

The Suffolk county grand jury had indicted the 14 on misdemeanor charges of willfully destroying property.

Donald Leas, Jr., Philadelphia, stepfather of deb Fernanda Wamamaker Wetherill, had rented the mansion near his own in Southampton, L. I., as a dormitory for male guests staying overnight.

Leas did not press charges, but Dist. Atty. Bernard Smith took the case to the grand jury.

Improving Race Track Is Discussed

HAILEY, April 16—Improving the race track at Wertheimer park so it can be used for racing in 1965 was discussed at the city council meeting Monday evening.

Ira Hoffman and Ted Uhrig of the "Days of the Old West" committee met with councilmen for this purpose and mayor George Allen appointed these two and Dr. Grant Hawkes, councilman, to investigate the matter.

This track was used for many years before racing became illegal in the state.

Hoffman reported on the governor's air service meeting in Burley and "use it or lose it" policy of airlines in several Idaho towns, of which the Hailey airport is one.

After hearing a Hailey citizen tell of dogs killing his sheep, the council voted to enforce the dog leash law more stringently.

YOUR BIRTHDAY
and HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, April 16 — Born today, you have been gifted with that wonderful combination: an original turn of mind and the self-confidence to apply it to your daily life. Having a head full of ideas is as natural to you as having furniture in your home; without them you would feed empty and unused. For this reason you are not as dependent upon other people as most; you are able to live and work alone, even though your wish might be otherwise.

This does not mean, however, that you dislike people. You may not be fond of the world in general, but you become seriously and permanently attached to individuals even though you may not show it. You are loyal to your friends even strangely enough, when that loyalty is not always returned.

Creative and artistic, you will likely find your career among the lively arts. A giver rather than a taker, you will contribute much and, as a natural consequence, your rewards should be great even though you do not look for them. Life should be satisfying indeed for April 16th's child — and for the one fortunate enough to marry him.

Among those born on this date are: Anatole France, Nobel Prize winning author; Ford Madox Brown, painter; Charlie Chaplin, famed comedian, writer, director, producer.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Friday, April 17

ARIES (March 21-April 20) — A day in which social contacts and business interests may be profitably combined. Friendships mean much at this time.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21) — A fielder's choice sort of day in which the only rule need be to finish one task before beginning another.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — A good day for the personal affairs of Gemini. Romance and friendship play an important, even vital, part in today's success.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — Another fine day for Cancer. Fortune should smile brightly on all your efforts — provided you limit yourself to what you know.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — A good day for partnerships. Seek one; cement one; fortify one. You can hardly go wrong if you make it a mutual effort.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — Take advantage of any opportunity offered you in your field; otherwise, wait until you can consult with one who knows.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — Excellent personal prospects for Libra today. You may find a new and better means of support if so inclined.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23) — Perhaps your best day this month. You can advance your personal interests through confiding in one you can trust.

Shortage of Secretaries
Told at Meet

Dr. Fred T. Kolouch discussed the extreme shortage of trained medical secretaries in the Twin Falls area at a meeting of the Twin Falls Business college advisory board Tuesday evening at Koto's cafe.

The possibility of alleviating the shortage and methods of training were discussed.

Formulation of the accrediting commission for business schools in 1962 was topic of a discussion by Randel Wilson, The U. S. department of education recognizes this commission as the official accrediting agent for business schools. Some 400 of the 2,000 business colleges in the United States are accredited. Twin Falls Business college is the only two-year school in Idaho to be so accredited.

Members of the board in attendance were Sterling Larson, chairman; Jack Mullowney, Jeanne Shinn and Dr. Kolouch, all Twin Falls; Earl Carlson, Burley; Randel Wilson and Karl Black, college administrators. Absentee members were Curtis Eaton and Leonard Maus, both Twin Falls, and Douglas Bradshaw, Wendell.

Sudanese Find
Old Madonna,
Child Fresco

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP) — The Sudan announced today a recently discovered fresco of the Madonna and Child, painted between 1,000 and 1,200 years ago, will be exhibited at the New York World's Fair opening on April 22.

Sudanese Ambassador Osman El Hadari and the fair's international vice president, Charles Poletti, called it one of the world's great religious and archaeological treasures.

Ed Hadari said it was the oldest ever discovered in Africa and one of the oldest known anywhere. He described it as six feet square, painted on a brick wall at Faras near Wadi Halfa in northern Sudan.

Described above the painting are the Greek words, "Mary, mother of Christ, saviour of the world."

South's Race Problem Is
Study in Contradictions

Editor's note: Desegregation moved slowly and hesitantly in the South, but now it is being forced from city to city; there is little consistency of white reaction. This is a report on what is happening and why.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 16 (U-P) — Violence climaxed a desegregation drive in Jacksonville, Fla. One person was killed and more than a score were injured.

Little more than 350 miles to the west in the same latitude, racial changes have been taking place in Mobile, Ala., for 10 years with little trouble.

In Macon, Ga., a white church admitted into membership a Negro student from Ghana. In Jackson, Miss., all efforts at integrating churches have failed.

Contradictions like these are evident everywhere in the South. Why? The answer is as complex as the problem, which covers the spectrum of society. And each community has its own set of issues and conditions.

Yet some of the more apparent factors which may abet or deter peaceful change include: —Attitudes of government, businesses, churches, integration leaders and segregationists. —Size and nature of the community, whether urban or rural, industrial or agricultural. —Percentage of Negroes and their voting power. —Rate and stage of desegregation.

Much of Georgia's college and university system is desegregated; racial bars have been lowered in private schools, some theaters, restaurants and hotels, lunch counters and libraries in most major cities.

Change has been made easier by the moderate course of Gov. Carl E. Sanders, elected with the help of the Negro vote about 14 per cent in Georgia.

Desegregation is most difficult in areas of the South where Negroes are a majority of the population.

Eleven school districts in Arkansas are desegregated. Most of them are in Little Rock where federal troops enforced a court decree in 1957.

Little Rock theaters, many downtown lunch counters and restaurants are desegregated. But in the delta area of east Arkansas, where Negroes are heavily concentrated, there are no signs of integration.

In Selma, Ala., where Negroes outnumber white residents, attempts to integrate lunch counters and city facilities have failed. To the north, at Huntsville, where the Negro population is small, a biracial committee is functioning, eight schools and the university extension center, public recreational facilities and some motels are desegregated.

Desegregation has spread to public accommodations in major Texas cities, although East Texas remains largely segregated.

Biracial bargaining, with an attitude of compromise on both sides, has yielded much of the peaceful desegregation, surveys by The Associated Press have shown.

Chances for Quick Water Session Slim

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
 BOISE, April 16 (UPI)—From all indications right now, it appears there won't be a special session of the Idaho legislature on water development until late spring or early summer.

The task of drafting proposed amendments to the Idaho constitution to allow the state to get into the water-development business through revenue bonds is proving to be a big one.

William Holden, Idaho Falls lawyer and chairman of the 31-member study committee appointed by Gov. Robert E. Smylie to work up a plan for legislative consideration this year, says there are many problems still to be resolved.

"They must be resolved before an amendment can be submitted to any special session of the legislature," Holden said.

"I'm hopeful before the end of April we will have meetings of some special subcommittees that will be appointed within a very short time."

Smylie proposed creation of a water development agency to protect Idaho's water resources from threats by Los Angeles and other areas in the arid Southwest. He said if his study committee could come up with a plan that two-thirds of the legislature could buy, he would call a special session, so a constitutional proposal could be put on this November's general election ballot.

The committee was appointed in March and has held one meeting. Since then, lawyer members of the group have been working "on something on paper" for the committee to consider.

Once the committee has made its report to the governor, the chief executive—if he approves it—will submit it to members of the legislature to study. If a poll of these lawmakers indicates the proposal has a chance of winning the necessary two-thirds approval, Smylie will call the legislature into extraordinary session.

Gooding Teacher Gets Scholarship

GOODING, April 16 — Mrs. Edith Johnston, Twin Falls, has received a $400 scholarship which will enable her to attend the John Tracy clinic in Los Angeles this summer.

Mrs. Johnston, who makes her home in Twin Falls, has been serving in-service training at the Idaho State School for the Deaf and Blind in Gooding, in the department for the deaf, during the current year.

The John Tracy clinic works primarily with pre-school children. Mrs. Johnston will learn methods of teaching pre-school age deaf children. She will return to the school in Gooding in September and will teach a group of pre-school deaf children there.

GEOROUSKI TO SPEAK
 SALT LAKE CITY, April 16 (UPI)—U.S. Postmaster General John A. Georowski will be the main speaker at a $25-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson day dinner on Friday, State Democratic Chairman Frank Wilkins predicted a big turnout in view of what he called "bright prospects in the coming election."

Former T.F. Girl to Give Piano Recital

COLLEGE OF IDAHO, Caldwell, April 16—Robin Hovenden, former Twin Falls resident, will present her senior piano recital at 8:15 p.m. Sunday in Jewett chapel-auditorium.

The concert is a partial fulfillment of a B.A. degree in applied piano at the College of Idaho. She is a student of Prof. Fern Notte Davidson. Miss Hovenden is the daughter of Thomas Hovenden, Jerome, and Mrs. Lucy Hovenden, Sacramento, Calif.

For the past two years she has accompanied the college concert touring choir and played violin in a string quartet on the choir's recent tour to the San Francisco Bay area.

Miss Hovenden also performed Rachmaninoff's "Second Piano Concerto," under the direction of Jacques Brourman, at the annual student concerto concert with the C. of I. Community Symphony orchestra.

A graduate of the Twin Falls high school, she has played the violin in the college orchestra the past four years and has studied privately with Prof. Walter Convery. She also is a member of the college chamber choir.

Miss Hovenden plans to do graduate work in piano next fall at either the University of Michigan or Boston university.

Guess What? Russ Invent Road Motels

MOSCOW, April 16 (AP)—In the United States, the motel followed the development of travel by private automobile. In the Soviet Union, the motel came first. Two have been opened on the highway that encircles Moscow, just beyond the point at which prefabricated apartment houses are turning rolling farmland into suburb. More motels are planned.

They aren't exactly motels as Americans know them. Vehicles go into a parking lot and the customers walk through the lobby and upstairs to their rooms.

The Russians have taken the American word "motel" and put it on combinations of hotel, service station and garage.

There are few private cars in the Soviet Union, and not many roads to travel. Trucks are the main highway users. Their drivers get special consideration in reservations at the motels.

Perhaps some day the present trickle of foreign visitors by automobile will swell enough to provide tourist business. At the moment the two motels are primarily used as annexes of Moscow's crowded downtown hotels.

The motels don't even have names, except as affiliates of their downtown connections. But Gregori Suvorov says the motel he manages will some day be independent — "Then we'll have a name of our own." It is now known as the Motel on the Minsk highway.

By the standards of many places where foreign travelers find themselves sleeping in the Soviet Union, such as airport hotels, this is a good place to stop.

Each of 95 rooms has a bathroom, which is an uncommon situation outside a few large Soviet cities. Large windows, bright pictures on the walls and rugs on the floors make the rooms attractive.

Company Claims It Is Exempt From Utah Tax

SALT LAKE CITY, April 16 (AP)—The Utah supreme court was considering Wednesday the case of an Ogden company that says it's exempt from sales and use taxes.

The firm, the Ogden Union Railway and Depot company, told the court Tuesday it is not a retailer and doesn't have to pay the taxes. About $34,000 in taxes over a four-year period are involved.

Chief Justice F. Henri Henroid said the court will study the case, noting that other companies might also be affected.

First U.N. Body To Meet in USSR

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., April 16 (AP)—The United Nations announced Wednesday that its scientific advisory committee soon will become the first official U. N. body ever to meet in the Soviet Union.

The seven-member committee will meet in Tashkent next Tuesday and Wednesday to prepare for the third international conference on the peaceful uses of atomic energy in Aug. 31-Sept. 9 in Geneva.

Work Resumes

RICHFIELD, April 16—Peter Kewit and sons, road project workers on the Rigra-Tikura highway between Richfield and Carey, have resumed operations after a winter shutdown.

No dirt is being moved as yet because of the wetness of the soil from heavy snows. The project has been delayed approximately one month because of the bad winter.

BELLE HOSPITALIZED

HOLLYWOOD, April 16 (AP)—Canadian Milton Berle, 55, is in Cedars of Lebanon hospital at Hollywood for possible treatment of a stomach ailment. A hospital spokesman said Berle's ailment was not serious.

ROBIN HOVENDEN

... former Twin Falls student, will give her senior piano recital at 8:15 p.m. Sunday at the College of Idaho, Caldwell. She will receive a B.A. degree in applied piano this June and plans to do graduate work in piano study. She is the daughter of Thomas Hovenden, Jerome, and Mrs. Lucy Hovenden, Sacramento, Calif.

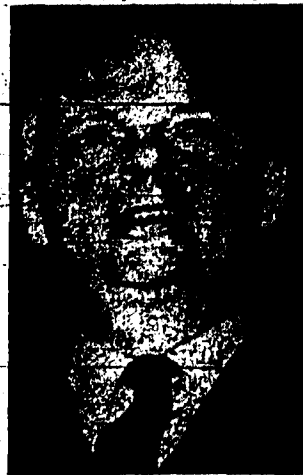

T. F. Students Hear Talk by FBI Agent

A local federal bureau of investigation agent spoke to junior and senior students at Twin Falls high school on job opportunities with the FBI, Robert W. Evans, special agent in charge, FBI, Butte, Mont., reports.

Employment qualifications for both high school and college graduates were discussed, as well as salary and retirement benefits. Evans advised that if any local high school graduates are interested in further information concerning FBI employment, such information is available at the local FBI office or through correspondence directly with FBI headquarters in Butte.

Evans explained that clerical-type employment opportunities are open to high school graduates and positions as special agent are open to college graduates trained in law and accounting.

It was pointed out in the talk that more than 43 per cent of all crimes committed in the United States in 1963 was by persons 18 years of age and younger.

WILLIAM G. STRATTON

... former governor of Illinois, was indicted in Chicago Wednesday for federal income tax evasion from 1958 through 1961. A four-count indictment was returned by August, 1963, grand jury, but was ordered suppressed until Wednesday. (AP wirephoto).

Politicians Study Wallace's Wisconsin Showing

WASHINGTON, April 16 (UPI)—Calculating machines have been clicking merrily in political headquarters for the past week in an effort to interpret Gov. George C. Wallace's vote in the Wisconsin presidential primaries.

The Alabama governor ran against the Johnson administration's civil rights bill. His nominal opponent on the Democratic primary was Gov. John Reynolds, running as a favorite son. Wallace polled 34 per cent of the Democratic vote and 25 per cent of the combine vote in the Democratic and uncontested Republican primaries.

Wallace's vote upset leaders of the national Democratic party but, for the record, they blamed the size of it on the Republicans, grinding out figures to prove their argument. The GOP dissented with a different set of figures.

A memo circulated in Democratic headquarters said flatly that Wallace's vote could be explained only "in terms of a massive crossover by Republicans."

Unlike most states, Wisconsin voters are not labeled by party. Any voter can cast a ballot in either primary.

The Democratic memo said Democratic candidates normally receive half the votes cast in Wisconsin. But that 72.3 per cent of the vote in last week's primaries was on the Democratic side. Rep. John W. Byrnes was the unopposed favorite son candidate in the Republican primary.

Five suburban communities—four near Milwaukee and one near Madison—were cited by the Democrats.

In percentage terms, the combined vote for Byrnes and Wallace was about equal to the share of the vote received by Richard M. Nixon in 1960 when he was the Republican nominee for president.

The memo said the communities were "wealthy white suburbs" with no direct interest in civil rights legislation. It said Wallace's candidacy gave right-wingers a chance to crack a protest vote.

To dispute the Democratic conclusion about the crossover vote, the GOP took a look at the 20 most Republican counties in Wisconsin—counties, giving Nixon over 60 per cent of their 1960 vote. In those counties, Wallace's share of the vote was 21.5 per cent, three points less than his statewide average.

In Milwaukee county, the Democratic stronghold, Wallace rolled 31.8 per cent of the vote, seven points above his average. This county accounted for only 29 per cent of the total vote cast in both primaries but contributed 38 per cent of Wallace's vote.

Only three counties gave Wallace more than 30 per cent of their vote. Milwaukee and the adjoining counties of Waukesha and Ozaukee. If there is a white backlash, it is a demand for the heaviest in metropolitan areas.

In the Indiana and Maryland presidential primaries, Wallace's showing was read without an echoing argument about who gave him his vote. He is entered in both states, Gov. Matthew White in Indiana and Sen. Daniel R. Brewster in Maryland. In both states, only Democrats can vote in the Democratic primaries.

It should give a clearer picture of Wallace support than the Wisconsin primary, where Republicans would vote the Democratic ticket.

Directs

IDAHO STATE UNIVERSITY, Pocatello, April 16 — Carolyn Humphries, Twin Falls, is the only coed among five student directors who will be featured during the spring tour of the ISU concert choir.

A senior, she will direct a sacred anthem and also has served as accompanist. The choir will sing April 24 at Glenns Ferry and Kimberly.

Piracy of Business Secrets Concern of Businessmen

NEW YORK, April 15 (UPI)—The billions of dollars that U.S. business firms spend annually on research and development bring rewards to their sponsors, and, often, to the nation as a whole.

But the fruits of research may sometimes turn bitter; the process or the product nurtured so carefully from laboratory or workshop in ultimate consumer may suddenly turn up, unpaid for, in the hands of a competitor.

Piracy of business secrets, even patented processes, has become a factor of deep and continuing concern to the U.S. industrialist, as well as to his counterpart overseas. But there are other channels for loss of exclusivity.

Gov. Mark O. Hatfield, Ore., is one of the latest public officials to call attention to this problem; in a recent address before the Executives' Club of Chicago, a businessmen's forum in the Midwest metropolis, he cited one of the better known cases of the loss of the market for a product through a comparatively little known government regulation.

Hatfield recalled that Electro-Scientific Industries, a West Coast firm, developed a new type of measuring instrument at considerable expense. The federal government bought one, turned it over to another firm to copy, and has since bought six million dollars worth—from the firm that specialized in copying," Hatfield said.

The proceeding was perfectly legal. A half-century-old law provided that a manufacturer could copy a patented product if he sold it to the government; the holder of the patent could sue the government and demand royalties. The law originally was designed to make sure that the government could get fast delivery of needed products in wartime. Its effects were accentuated by a ruling of the controller general in 1958, a ruling which some businessmen have interpreted as ensuring to low bidders on government contracts that the government will defend them against patent suits.

But there have been within the past few years other and more obvious cases of the loss of processes and products—through the ability of an employee to walk out of his shop and into another, carrying notes or merely the knowledge gained through experience.

The electronics, drugs, chemicals, petroleum and rubber industries are particularly vulnerable to this type of piracy, although all industries are susceptible to some extent.

8 Valley Girls Seek ISU Title

The girls include Elaine Johnson, Buhl; Rosemary Laxson, Piler; Pixie Anderson, Dietrich; Janet Jackson, Kimberly; Carol Nebeker, Murtaugh; Diann McLaws, Oakley and Alice Dille, Wendell.

Area ISU students working on plans for the University day include William Barnhart and Neil Satterwhite, both Twin Falls, and Wilma Gneini, Jerome.

Wendell Group Attends Confab

WENDELL, April 16 — Mrs. M. E. Scheel, Wendell, state mother for the Future Homemakers of America, and Lois Grieve, Gooding, state president, are attending the state FFA convention through Saturday in Boise.

Mrs. Scheel will be hostess for the Friday morning breakfast for chapter parents at the Boise hotel. She will speak on "Education for Youth" at the Saturday session. Miss Grieve will conduct the sessions.

Janice Scheel, Paula Eaton, Mary Thaste and Ellen Bieroth, Wendell chapter members, will receive the state degree at the convocation. Mrs. Hazel Lawton, chapter adviser, accompanied the delegates.

Automation's Big Effect Is Reported

WASHINGTON, April 15 (UPI)—The labor department warned Tuesday that automation and technological change would have a "profound" effect on many industries and workers by 1970.

The department made the comment in releasing a study of technological trends in 36 major industries prepared for President Johnson's advisory committee on labor-management policy.

Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz and Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges said the report was made public to keep the American people fully informed of sweeping changes now taking place.

"This study shows that even in a prosperous and growing economy technology will materially alter the faces of many industries and lives of many citizens," the two cabinet officers said.

"In many industries, increasing demand will not compensate for technological advance; and even with higher output, employment may fall off."

"Adequate safeguards for the individual in such cases will depend upon a combination of private and governmental actions designed to alleviate the effect of dislocation and to prepare the worker for employment elsewhere."

The labor department study covered 36 industries now employing more than 29 million workers—about half of the non-farm labor force.

It indicated that the outlook was favorable for increased employment in 14 of the industries studied between now and 1970 and uncertain for seven, while employment was expected to continue declining in 15 industries.

Film on Cancer Shown to Lions

WENDELL, April 15—A film on cancer entitled "The Other City" was shown by Dr. Harold Holsinger at the Lions club meeting Monday night at the Magic Valley cafe in Jerome.

Members decided to assist with the sponsoring of a Boys' State delegate and to contribute to the Beryl Passmore award given annually to the outstanding senior boy at the Wendell high school.

After the business meeting members adjourned to the Holsinger basement where they mended tennis nets in preparation for tennis season.

A work night is planned for next Monday night to complete work on the tennis courts.
