President Vows That Rights Bill Will Be Passed

NEW YORK, May 9 (UPI)—President Johnson Saturday promised that the civil rights bill will be passed if it means congressional sessions "around the clock." He said the senate should be ready to vote on a house-approved measure by the end of this month.

The President told his news conference that he would not tell senate leaders when debate should be cut off on the civil rights bill. But he said that blocking the legislation hurt congress and elected for passage for the sake of the national interest.

The senate has debated the bill for 51 days. Johnson told a cheering audience at Singer Bowl "I may take all summer—I may take sessions around the clock—but I promise you here and now that we are going to pass that bill (civil rights)."

"We are going to bring new hope to 20 million Americans who for two centuries of our history have been on the outside looking in."

Johnson added, however, that his plans were not definite, and said it was unlikely he would announce a re-election bid. He had been delegates at the Democratic national convention in Atlantic City, N.J.

Furniture Talk

By Russ Cunningham
HOW TO CHOOSE DRAPERIES

There's a sign in a decorator's shop that says: "Husbands choosing colors must produce a note signed by their wives." At Hoosier we do suggest that before you choose your draperies, husbands and wives should talk with each other, and then talk with our decorator. We've always been in favor of husbands talking to their wives you understand, but the reason we suggest that you talk to our decorator is that once you both explain your likes and dislikes, your favorite colors, and the colors you actually have in your home, you may discover that your preferences have changed in the last few years.

When you select your drapery, you may prefer a textured neutral treatment. When you talk to our decorator, they'll show you fabric samples to fit your color scheme. Then by comparing colors, feeling textures, examining quality, by talking about your favorites, you'll both be happier with the result.

Should you have a question, or like a slight difference of opinion, our tactful coordinator will be glad to mediate so that you both will glory not only your windows, but the good taste of both husband and wife. Our decorators are at your service without obligation, of course, and if you can't come in, please call us, and our decorator will complete your provincial or contemporary, period furniture, or your new special blend-of-mix-and-match, call us at Hoosier's.

Senate Takes Breather From Rights

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—The senate took a breather from its civil rights debate today but continued its behind-the-scenes jockeying on amendments.

Except for Easter week-end, this is the first Saturday the senate has not met since debate started March 9.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D., R.I., suggested the best way the senate can get out of the civil rights impasse is to put through a one-package substitute for the house bill.

This would encompass all of the amendments that apparently will be agreed to.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois tossed out Friday the last of his package of 70 proposed changes.

Pastore's suggestion for a new

WASHINGTON, May 9—There is no use getting all red-necked about the movement to get well more boots for the Soviet Union and its European satellites. The United States probably has nowhere else to go since "It is a fact of life that we cannot successfully peddle morality if our ally was mostly morally recognized by the United States Chamber of Commerce—which nobody has ever accused of being a 'left' of communism. Speaking for the nation's businessmen, the American C. of C. voted overwhelmingly to ask the government to cut back the list of items barred from sale to red countries in Europe.

Changing Industry

Even as one of the big battles rages between the proponents of private power and public power, the electrical industry is changing in a way that probably will introduce a new phase in the row. The federal power commission has confirmed its 3-2 decision in granting a license to four privately-owned power firms to construct the Mountain Sheep dam. The proponents of public power won't accept the commission's decision, plan to carry the battle into the courts.

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, May 9—Behind the front of the confident, bold, and belligerent Marquis Childs in the fight for civil rights in the Senate, is a deep, disquiet. As the days and weeks tick off with the usual progress to what was to be a final showdown on the civil rights bill, they see a storm coming that could sweep with the Senate all-dredgeation and reason. It is a nightmare vision of a Senate of race against race, the in policy of implacable hatreds outside the familiar frame of compromise and adjustment. With the Senate churning on in its own immemorial fashion in the night, it is clear that the take of senatorial exchange seems an end in itself. The longer the so-called debate goes on the more senators who might be expected to support the civil rights bill are sure to drop out.

STIFF QUALIFICATIONS

Writing is a peculiar field. A person can devote a lifetime to it and discover that practically all his acquaintances feel there's nothing in this business of putting words down on paper, one behind the other. Moreover, all the friends and acquaintances somehow feel they can do a better job of writing than the guy who makes his living that way. Perhaps there are no hard and fast requirements for writing and that might be the whole problem. Recently, Jack O'Connor, who was honored at a banquet in Lewiston declared, "Everyone who can start a sentence with a capital letter and end it with a period thinks he is a writer." O'Connor is arms and ammunition editor of Outdoor Life.

East-West had a much tougher part. They had to beat the three heart contract. West made his normal lead of the king of diamonds and it was up to East to drop the queen. BOISE, May 9 (U) — The bureau of land management invited bids on phosphate leases today on more than 1,000 acres of federally owned land in southeastern Idaho. The bids will be opened at 3 p.m. at the BLM Idaho land office in Boise. The land, about 12 miles northeast of Soda Springs in Caribou county, is offered in two units, one containing 710 acres and the other 300 acres. The minimum bid is $3 per acre. The successful bidder will be required to pay in rent a minimum of 25 cents per acre for the first year, 50 cents for the second and third years and 1 cent each year thereafter. The government also would get a royalty on all phosphate rock produced.

BOISE, May 9 (U) — The Idaho Life convention, an association of life insurance companies with headquarters in Idaho, reported today the election of officers for the coming year. Wynman Zachary of the National Security Life Insurance company was elected convention president, Henry Roberts of the Grange Mutual Life Insurance company, vice president, and Bill White of the American Reserve Life Insurance company, secretary.

BOISE, May 9 (U) — Value of fruit produced in Idaho in 1963 generally was above that for the preceding year, a report from the U.S. department of agriculture said today. Only sweet cherries were valued at less in 1963 than in the preceding year. The agency figured Idaho's 1963 crop was worth $434,000 compared with $310,000 in 1962. Value of the pear cherry crop rose from $100,000 to $180,000. Prunes, $1,420,000 to $2,033,000; peaches, from $62,000 to $400,000, and pears, from $118,000 to $160,000.

FOCATELLO, May 9 (U) — Some 200 cowboys from colleges and universities in Idaho, Montana and Utah are expected to compete in Idaho's state rodeo at the state fairgrounds Saturday and Sunday at the Hannock county fairgrounds. A National Inter-collegiate Rodeo association-approved event sponsored by the ISU rodeo club, the rodeo will be at 7:30 p.m. Saturday and 2 p.m. Sunday. Both performances will be open to the public.

BOISE, May 9 (U) — Favorable action by national committees indicates there is hope that Idaho eventually will obtain a national cemetery, Max Hanson, Boise, state department commander of the American Legion, said today. Hanson said the legion's executive committee urged the national commander to appeal personally to President Lyndon B. Johnson for change in the present policy against cemetery expansion. "Another national executive committee resolution," Hanson said, "urged legion departments to make a survey of available federal lands suitable for national cemeteries and make a report of the survey to national headquarters prior to Aug. 1." Hanson said he will appoint a committee to make such a survey of a suitable site for a national cemetery.

IDAHO FALLS, May 9 (U) — A Yellowstone park 82nd birthday excursion train to run from Pocatello and Idaho Falls to West Yellowstone, has been cancelled. The special excursion planned for May 16 has been cancelled due to poor road conditions between Idaho Falls and the Montana town. Union Pacific railroad officials told Idaho Falls Chamber of Commerce officials, who were sponsoring the trip, that heavy snow, soft railroad right of way and rock slides make the trip hazardous.

MCCALL, May 9 (U) — County tax levies to support libraries outside incorporated cities and villages were proposed Saturday by the Idaho Library association. The organization's annual convention approved at its closing session a resolution asking the legislature to authorize such procedure. Another resolution urged a state library be set up in Idaho. Mrs. Alice Dunlap, public librarian at Caldwell, was installed as association president and Charles Webber, social science librarian at the University of Idaho, was named president elect, Evaline Minckley, assistant librarian at the College of Idaho, was chosen secretary and Mrs. Ruth C. Fisher, Pocatello, was named treasurer. But Valley was chosen as the site for the 1968 conference.

BOISE, May 9 (U) — A spokesman for the Associated Taxpayers of Idaho said Saturday the group is asking congress to make a "fundamental appraisal of federal expenditure policies." Executive Secretary Max West said the state was presented by indications that congress is moving toward a record total of appropriations this year. He said reports from Washington indicate congress is showing little inclination to cut budget requests totaling nearly 100 billion dollars. The apparent inability or lack of desire of congress to prevent federal spending from rising above $100 billion a year after year, he said, "should cause the public to question the mechanics involved in the appropriating and spending of taxpayer's dollars." West said a measure now pending in congress would provide for creation of a non-partisan commission to study federal expenditure policy and make recommendations for improvement.

Freeman Says Beef Prices Will Improve

DES MOINES, Ia., May 9 (U) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman predicted today that beef prices paid to farmers will climb soon.
"Cow prices have strengthened and I am confident feed steer prices will move up soon," Freeman told the Midwest Democratic conference.

The secretary of agriculture conceded beef prices have been low, but said the Democratic administration has taken actions "that are already having an effect."
He said Republicans have tried to tell farmers that the only reason for the low price was the importation of beef from foreign countries.

"Imports are a factor in low cattle prices," he said, "but domestic production is 11 per cent higher so far this year than last. That is clearly the major cause of low prices."
Freeman said voluntary quota agreements with other beef-producing countries have been signed, and beef imports this year are about 14 per cent lower than a year ago.

He said his department has increased its beef purchases for distribution to needy families and schools, and President Johnson has sent a special team to Europe to study new markets.

Debate

CHEYENNE, Wyo., May 9 (U) — Republicans will demand that President Johnson engage in a nationwide television debate with their presidential candidate, the national GOP chairman said Friday.

Murtaugh Writer Concerned Over Flower Thieves

Editor, Times-News:

It is once again the time of year to be thinking of floral arrangements for our loved ones' graves in the Twin Falls cemetery.

I would like to know if any of your readers has any suggestions as to type of floral arrangements which can be placed on graves in the Twin Falls cemetery that sticky-fingered thieves will leave alone.

Last year our family decorated our loved ones' graves in the Twin Falls cemetery with baskets of anemones and peonies. The flowers were plastic. When a basket of the family returned to pick up the baskets and flowers, in accordance to rules of the cemetery, our baskets and floral arrangements were gone.

I also know of people who have had copper vases and floral arrangements stolen from Sunset Memorial park.

Our county is in a sad way when people will steal flowers and baskets from graves in my opinion anyone stealing from graves is just as low as they can get.

M.R. AND MRS. G. W. MOATES (Route 1, Murtaugh)

U.S. Economic Freedom Called Most Valuable

Editor, Times-News:

We should all hold our economic freedom as our most valuable possession, which it is. The main law of all freedom is: "Economic is the base, the foundation, the root of all freedom." Where economic freedom is destroyed all other freedoms soon wither on the vine.

Economic freedom is the right of private citizens to own property, to buy and sell their goods and services on a free market, and to enjoy the rewards of their economic efforts as they see fit, all without undue restraint or control by our government. Once a government has this economic control, it can control every aspect of your life. It is stated in other words, "He who controls the strings of the purse is virtually a king."

It was Lord Keynes, the noted British economist, who set up the New Deal blueprint for President Franklin D. Roosevelt back in 1933. This was a socialist plan with government control from the cradle to the grave. Keynes in 1941 was a director of the Bank of England and in 1948 helped set up the plan for a world bank at the Bretton Woods conference.

President Kennedy has been called an heir to the Roosevelt regime along with his New Frontier, etc. Slowly but surely this Keynes plan has been creeping in on us. President Kennedy had 10 Rhodes scholarships in his cabinet, chief among them Secretary of State Dean Rusk. The others are Oxford, England, graduates.

I am hoping President Johnson, who must love Texas dirt on his boots, will lead us back to our own Constitution and the principles of George Washington and Benjamin Franklin and freedom once more.

If you are ever to become efficient and proficient enough along one line of endeavor to become a leader in your field, you will have to avoid becoming overly involved in the many different interests to which your talents will quite naturally lead you. The greatest of care must be taken to see that you do not divide your energy; keep it all in one place and success is assuredly yours.

You have excellent judgment and are able to select from a great many possibilities the one enterprise which would be best for you. One who learns best by his own experience, you may never be the necessary type of intellectual; you will, however, gain a great deal of knowledge in your lifetime, and be able to disseminate it when and where you need it.

You get along well with people, and your many interests and natural curiosity should enable you to make friends with people from nearly any station in life. You maintain a small circle of intimates with whom you are most at home, but you are bound to have a number of larger circles from which you draw and to which you give a great deal of pleasure.

Among those born on this date are: Nancy Walker, comedienne; William H. Orace, industrialist; Max Byler, producer; Benny Ochs, noted musician.

To find what lies in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday be your daily guide.

Taurus (April 21-May 21)—Enter the new week on the alert for new contacts to further your professional career. Be prompt to acknowledge introductions.

Gemini (May 22-June 21)—A decidedly good day, but guard against the consequences of false promises made by others.

Cancer (June 22-July 23)—One who spends the day seeking only to what one knows best, may miss an extremely good bet.

Leo (July 24-Aug. 23)—Use your own judgment in all matters involving complex social and personal problems. You might combine the two.

May Fellowship Day Is Nationwide Observance

May Fellowship day is observed by women throughout our country. It has become a part of the ecumenical movement of Christianity in current decades.

The first May Fellowship day in 1932 was the response of church women to the crisis of the great depression.

In the years that followed this special day has come to have deep significance to United Church Women. It means the joy of meeting and sharing together interdenominationally and achieving the stimulation which comes from facing urgent domestic issues together.

This year throughout the United States women of all faiths and creeds gathered, as did Twin Falls women of many denominations, to face one of the most crucial issues of our time. The racial problem was examined in the light of Christian convictions and in the atmosphere of interdenominational fellowship.

This group of women first met on a nationwide basis in World Day of Prayer observances. Then feeling the need to stress further inter-racial fellowship, the group established May Fellowship day, to be observed annually the first Friday in May.

The earliest record of Twin Falls churches meeting for May Fellowship day is 1946 at the Baptist Bungalow. Many of the local women who were active in arranging the 1946 fellowship are still active in church work and the United Church Women.

United Church Women Observe Fellowship Day

By NORMA HERZINGER

Luncheon tables decorated in gay spring colors gave a welcoming atmosphere to the annual United Church Women's May Fellowship luncheon. More than 100 Twin Falls women joined in the observance to share interdenominationally in one of the largest UOW social events of the year.

The event, part of the nationwide observance, was held at the Church of the Brethren and began with a covered dish luncheon. Tables were decorated with flowers corresponding in color to name tags which were given indiscriminately to the women as they entered. Seating arrangements were accomplished by matching name tag colors with matching flowers, thus assuring mixed fellowship and widening acquaintances.

A panel discussion on racial discrimination in Twin Falls was the highlight of the luncheon. Many hours of interviewing and surveying were spent in order to present the discussion.

Among the surveys taken to get an accurate account of racial discrimination in Twin Falls include barber shops by Mrs. W. E. Holman; employment, Mrs. Ardis Rose; recreation, Mrs. Herman Dodson; education, Mrs. Glenn Roach and Mrs. Donald Louder; motels and hotels, Mrs. Holman; real estate and housing situations, Mrs. Kenneth Given, and hospitals, Mrs. Luther Thompson.

Various churches were represented in the panel and Mrs. Ivan Squires was moderator. Are racial problems present in Twin Falls? The answer, according to the panel, seems to be "no." So far as education is concerned, education is available to all races in Twin Falls schools. There is no distinction between races and there are equal facilities for all.

In making the recreation survey, Mrs. Dodson's findings show no discrimination in the parks or swimming pools. Of 12 motels contacted in the survey, only one would not allow colored people. The hotels in the city are favorable in serving them. In quoting Mrs. Given on the real estate and housing situation, "Can persons of any race live where they want in the city? The answer is yes—if they have the money. The realty situation is that of economic segregation. Minority groups are not charged exorbitant prices—as some reports have been given."

Mrs. Luther Thompson stressed there is no discrimination among hospital personnel toward patients of another race. Beauty salons will accommodate women of any race, but only

Blandford and Purdy Set Pace With Marks; Discus Record Broken by Trenkle

Record-breakers Steve Blandford and Mark Purdy set the tone Friday night as they led the powerful Hailey Wolverines to their second consecutive class B fourth district track and field championship. In all, six records were broken by the class athletes, with Hailey getting half of them. Gooding State's Larry Johnson registered an automatic record of 10:20 when he won the two-mile run as this was the first year it was offered. Hailey, which accounted for half of the new marks, won the team title with 50 points followed by Shoshone 29, Glenns Ferry 26, Kimberly 24, Carey 18, Declo, Valley and Wendell at 16, Murlaugh 14, Hagerman 11, Gooding State 10, Camas County and Hansson with two each.

Blandford, whose anchor leg on the 880-yard relay brought the baton from third place and 18 yards behind into the record of 1:34.1, dumped both defending champion John Exter, Shoshone, and his record in the 440-yard dash. Blandford ran a strong final 220 yards to win easily in the time of 52.5, Exter was second but well behind the record time of 52.8 he posted last year.

Mark Purdy, the articulate Wolverines miler, grabbed off the district mile record in 4:39.8, a career best that also tied the 4:41 set by Johnson last year. Shoshone's hefty Junior George Trenkle showed he was ready to defend his state discus championship when he unleashed a pair of throws over 180 feet and wound up with his new record of 184 feet 11 inches. That was nine feet better than Darrington's mark set in 1960. Trenkle then went on to become a double winner as he won the shotput at 48 feet, 11 inches, two inches off the standard. But the discus was the thing coach Chuck Dale was watching as Trenkle had enjoyed a great week in practice. It also led Trenkle and a two-week reign of Glenns Ferry's Lee Kretzner, who ended up second Friday at 144 feet.

The other two records were contributed by relay teams. Oakley, getting a great finishing leg from Wilkinson, won a good mile relay event in 3:39.8. Three seconds better than a Hornet crew ran it last year. Lupe Torres anchored Valley's medley quartet to another record at 3:50.7.

Gooding State's Ricky Berg joined Larry Johnson in the winner's circle and pulled off a surprise in the process. Berg, coming from second spot, dived over the last 85 yards with precision favored Dennis Fowler, Kimberly, and tipped Fowler at the end of the race with a touch in the final time of 4:05.5.

Carey Junior Pat Briggs successfully defended his 100-yard dash title with a yard's victory over Glenns Ferry's Jim Behrman. Briggs now has won the title for two years in a row.

In the broad jump Wendell's Larry Bay went into the final three jumps a dead last sixth. He was still there after two more but on his last leap everything clicked and he sailed out 20 feet, 6 inches to defeat favored Mal Darrington, Declo, by two inches. Darrington came back in the high jump to win at 5 feet, 9 inches and average a loss to runner-up Brian Ward, Murlaugh. In last week's sub-district, Matthews topped a surprisingly tough pole vaulting field to give Declo another individual championship.

DEFENDING STATE CHAMPION George Trenkle, a Shoshone junior, comes out of his spin to twirl the discus 184 feet during the district class B track and field meet at Twin Falls Friday night. The distance eclipsed the former record set by Darrington, Declo, by nine feet. (Times-News photo)

Dallas Long Breaks World Shotput Mark

FRESNO, Calif., May 9 (AP)—Dallas Long obliterated his own world shot put record. Fresno State's Darrel Logan ran a 9.2-second 100-yard dash and the West Coast Relay added practically everything else today on a collegiate record through a disqualification to a day re-run. Long, coming despite a foot injury when he dropped a weight on it, put 86 feet, 3 inches on his second put, far exceeding the pending record of 84 feet, 11 1/2 inches he set five weeks ago.

The former Southern California star also had marks of 68 feet, 9 inches and 66 feet, 11 inches before he quit for the light because of the foot.

Newman squallied the listed world spring record and became history's fastest Caucasian 100-yard dash man. His record came a hat. He won the final in 9.2 as Fresno State swept the first three places.

The host school also produced national collegiate mark when a triple-jumper, Charles Craig, cleared 82-feet, 4-inches, seven inches over the record set three years ago by Luther Hayes of Southern California.

Fresno also figured in the return of the 440-yard relay. Fresno and New Mexico, the favorites, were dropped out of the first round when officials assigned runners the wrong lanes. Their protests were upheld and New Mexico won the two-team re-run in 4:24, four faster than other schools in the event run earlier.

Oregon State was the disqualification victim in the distance medley when anchor Miller Morrison took out in an Stanford's Paul Schlicko and nullified the Beaver's excellent 9:42.1.

Newman drew the biggest cheers from the 12,000 fans.

Two watches caught Newman's eye and a third registered 0.1 as the wind-up season of the meet got off to a brilliant start. Frank Dudd set the 0.2 record in 1961 and it has been equaled by Bob Jerome. Last year's 0.1 mark by Bob Hayes of Florida and it has not yet been approached because the 100 m. is a 200 m. track.

Newman will have no trouble in that regard because Ratioliff set a new 0.2 mark. The wind was a legal 3.2 miles an hour.

Monarchs before Newman's 0.2 run, Travis Williams, Coach Coala, Calif., Junior colts set a national 100 m. sprint record of 0.3 and last night at the meet's opening at 0.4. Saturday's afternoon program was highlighted by Frank Covalov's final-throw javelin victory at 301-feet, 8-inches.

The victory came in one of the major afternoon events. The rest of the final day program was run at night.

Covalov, former Arizona State University thrower, competing for the Pasadena Athletic association, tied current ASU star Glenn Wingham entering the final round.

Decisions Robertson to Keep World Title

Robertson to Keep World Title

ACCRA, Ghana, May 9 (AP)—Featherweight champion Sugar Ramos survived a 13th round knockdown and escaped with a wildly-hooped split decision over his challenger Floyd Robertson tonight in their second title bout. Ramos, a Cuban exile, came in at 125 1/2 pounds, just under the 126 pound limit for the third defense of the title he won from Davey Moore, Robertson, shooting for Ghana's first world championship, weighed 124.

Dundee Says Ramos Is Better Man

ACCRA, Ghana, May 9 (AP)—The Ghana boxing authority said it was the better man, Manager Angelo Dundee said of champion Sugar Ramos, who fought again any day, even tomorrow. Dundee said in the day of Ramos' dressing room after the Cuban champion was awarded a split decision in a 15-round title fight with his challenger Floyd Robertson.

The Ghana Boxing Board later said it is considering ruling the fight a "no contest."

Ramos fans almost boogied in the dressing room, while Dundee attempted to break down a plywood wall of Robertson's dressing room to see his hero.

The crowd cheered every time Robertson did but that he made him the winner, Dundee said. "What if Ramos won? He was undamaged save a puffed and bloody lip. He has no English."

Robertson sat quietly in his dressing room surrounded by his handlers. His handlers argued at each other and at times that they had been beat.

"I'd like to fight him again anytime," said the Ghanaian fighter. "I'd like to fight him from another African boxer with the same name. He never had me in trouble, had him down in the first round and kept the whole last half of the fight."

Robertson was relaxed and seemed each bitter word. "I won it, OK? By a big margin," he said.

Allison Gives Twins 10-8 Win Over A's

ST. PAUL, MINN., May 9 (AP)—Bob Allison lead a seven-run double into the left field corner, carrying Minnesota to a 10-8 victory today in a home-hitting contest. Allison's double came after the Twins, trailing 7-6, loaded the bases on two walks sandwiched around Wayne Causey's two-base error on Tony Oliva's ground out. Oliva hit a home run in the fourth, scored on Earl Batley's single.

Records Fall as Boise Cops Meet

NAMPA, May 9 (AP)—Eight records fell as pre-meet favorite Boise squeaked by arch rival Borah 84-84 1/2, Friday night to win the district three class A track and field crown.

Twelve Boise competitors in individual events and all four relay teams advanced to next Saturday's region II meet in Twin Falls. Borah, defending state champion, will send three relay teams and 15 individual performers.

Larry Corbridge, Boise, was the only double winner, recording the high hurdles in running 14 1/2 times and taking the low in 19.8. Tim Dummie set a quarter mile record with 80.2 seconds and Chuck Buckner a pole vault mark with 12 feet, both for Boise.

Joey Archer Gets Decision

BOSTON, May 9 (AP)—Joey Archer, Bronx, N.Y., middleweight, won a unanimous decision over Johnny Durree, Patterson, N.J., tonight in a dull 10-round 10 rounder.

Archer, weighing 158, had to save Traves, 1954, all night. He won a crowd of 872 began cheering in the third round and continued the rest of the way. After the fourth round referee Jimmy Connelly talked to Traves in the corner and said "let's have a wide action. If you don't get your points you can't win. And you're not getting any points."

SAFE OR OUT? Caldwell's Steve Farden nears the bag as Twin Falls first baseman Paul Stover stretches for the ball, blurred in right-hand corner. The umpire's decision went against Caldwell here but the Cougars went on to split a doubleheader with the Bruins, winning the first game 6-2 and losing the second 7-5. (Times-News photo)

Twin Falls, Caldwell Split Doubleheader

The Twin Falls Bruins came from behind in the fourth inning of the nightcap to win 7-5 and gain a doubleheader split with the Caldwell Cougars Saturday afternoon. Caldwell, getting a booming homerun from Tay Kibble, won the opener 6-2. Larry Hunter provided the single that drove across the tying and go-ahead runs and then scored the clincher himself in the Bruins' nightcap victory after the lead twice had changed hands. Caldwell broke out early in the first inning when Stone, Steve Garman and Kibble struck singles good for two runs.

Twin Falls came back in the second with three when Ed Storey lived on an error. Tom Lovell walked and Storey lived on a fielder's choice that retired no one. Mark Brown delivered a pop single for one run and Hunter doubled home the final two.

Caldwell rebounded in the third. Steve Farden was hit by a pitch and Garman singled. Howdy walked while one run was scored on a double steal, another scored on a ground out. The double steal worked again for the third.

Paul Stover started the double rally with a walk and winning pitcher Gary Dillon singled. After Mark Brown walked, Hunter got the single to put the Bruins ahead. Hunter scored seconds later on a Larry Satterwhite hit.

The Bruins added insurance on singles by Larry Brown, Woods and Jim Hawley in the sixth. Caldwell displaced power hitting in winning the first game. The Cougars got enough for the win with a three-run, second-inning outburst, started by Farden's single. Gibbons doubled him home and the Stone lashed another two-bagger to plate Gibbons. Stone scored on an error.

Twin Falls out to the margin to one run in the sixth on walks sandwiched around a Larry Brubaker single. Satterwhite's double glanced off the fingers of the centerfielder as two runs scored.

Caldwell got those back with interest in the seventh. Garman belted a long double to dead centerfield to score Stone. Kibble delivered the homerun, a line shot that cleared the left centerfield fence at the 380 mark with plenty to spare.

Caldwell scored 6-2 in the first game. Twin Falls .050 0-0-2-4-3 Tolman (W) and Cantlon (5), and Farden, Hull and Oliphant, HR-Kibble.

PHILADELPHIA, May 9 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies rallied for three runs with two out in the seventh on Johnny Callison's double and singles by rookies Richie Allen and Tony Gonzalez for a 5-4 victory today over the Cincinnati Reds.

The Phillies had managed to score single runs only on a passed ball and a wild pitch before Oscar Bobb, Purkey faltered in the seventh.

After Bobby Wine and pinch hitter Roy Sievers grounded out, Tony Taylor drew a walk. Allen moved him along and Callison scored him on a double through the infield. Purkey was hit for a 5-4 victory today over the Cincinnati Reds.

Utah Wins Two Over Utah State

MAONA, Utah, May 9 (AP)—Stingy pitching in the first game and a crucial triple in the second game gave Utah a double win over Utah State today at Magna. The scores were 4-0 and 5-3.

Winner Dave Barvel gave up only two hits during the first five innings of the first game before being relieved in the sixth by John Noriega. Noriega allowed a walk and today by Steve Caminiti, a senior at Creight high school in nearby Encino.

Utah's Craig Mackay and Doug Wasko, Buhl, went three for four, and got triples apiece. Wasko tripled again in the fifth inning of the second game and scored on a single that provided the one-run margin Utah needed for the win.

Jacobs, Casper Share 54-Hole Lead in Colonial Golf Tourney

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 9 (AP)—Young Tommy Jacobs and Bill Casper took rare liberties with the treacherous Colonial course today and shared the 54-hole lead in the national invitation golf tournament. Jacobs could have seized the lead outright, but he bogeyed the final hole when a putt slid to the lip of the cup and refused to drop. The 29-year-old California sharpshooter circled the par 70 layout in rounds of 69 and 71 for a total of 209. Casper, admitting that his putter performed miracles, shot a 67 and a 70.

The 36-hole scramble was ordered Saturday after a thunderstorm washed out Friday's round.

Farmer U. S. open Champion Gene Littler closed with a 65 after a 71 in the morning. His 210 total was just one stroke away from the leaders.

Jacobs said he overtook the final green and then a single blade of grass prevented his foot from falling into the cup.

"It trickled up the hill and went right up to the hole," said Jacobs, who finished here a year ago with a 310 total.

Gary Player, the South African who held the lead after 18 holes, lost his touch in the afternoon and stumbled to a 74. It left him trailing by four strokes at 213.

Casper was jubilant about his putting. He needed only 56 putts for the two rounds, part of which was due to a 50-yard chip-in on his third hole.

"I can't play this game at all," Casper, grinning. "All I can do is putt."

Except for a collapse Thursday he would have a comfortable lead. He finished with two bogeys and a double bogey for a 73.

Near the leaders were Art Wall, Jr., and George Knudson at 214. One stroke back were Mason Rudolph, Kel Nagle, Billy Maxwell, Clay Brewer and Arnold Palmer.

Palmer broke par for the first time Saturday afternoon, carding a 69 after earlier rounds of 70 and 71.

Jack Nicklaus shot a 72 and a 71 Saturday and was 10 shots out of the lead.

DETROIT, May 9 (AP)—Jackie Brandt's three-run homer with two out in the ninth inning boosted Baltimore to a 7-6 victory over Detroit today.

Brandt's first homerun carried into the lower left field stands. It came off Larry Sherry, who hit runner starter Hank Aguirre in the eighth.

Sherry started the inning by walking pinch hitter Boog Powell, who then went to second on Willie Kirkland's pinch single. Sherry got Jerry Adair on a fly out and struck out Elmer Snyder before Brandt connected.

FARMERS, LABORING MEN, AND BUSINESS MEN ...

The beet sugar industry has responded wholeheartedly to the urgent call of the Government, and increased production to meet the need of additional sugar.

But now, we need a 750,000 ton increase in the basic marketing quota act, to permit the beet sugar industry to market the sugar it is producing at the Government request.

Unless this . . . BASIC SUGAR ACT MARKETING QUOTA IS INCREASED it can mean as much as a 40% cut back in production, causing a large reduction in our labor force, our farm economy and business economy.

The cut-back of sugar production would be contrary to the national interest, because nearly one-third of the world sugar production is in Communist control, and the reliability of many foreign sources of supply is in serious jeopardy because of instability of governments in foreign sugar producing countries.

We believe we can help influence the passage of this act, if we will all write letters to our Secretary of Agriculture, Secretary of State, Congressmen and Senators.

PLEASE PROTECT YOUR OWN AS WELL AS THE ENTIRE AREA'S INTEREST BY WRITING THESE MEN!

Individual Heated Disks Keep Food Warm at Twin Falls Hospital

BY G. H. CHAMBERS

Two of the most common complaints at many hospitals concern cold food and the practice of waking a patient to give him a sleeping pill.

One of the complaints has been almost eliminated at Magic Valley Memorial hospital. It is now possible to serve a patient hot meals even if the food tray is delivered an hour after it's ready.

Keeping the food hot for patients has always been a problem. One way would be to serve the patient immediately. Another way uses steam carts and still another way would be to supply each patient an individual hot plate.

The dietary staff at the hospital hasn't come up with individual hot plates, but they have come up with the plate heat thing. It's an individual heated disk. It looks like a doughnut which has been run over and flattened out. The disk is made of an aluminum alloy. It is lightweight, almost indestructible and convenient for employees and patients.

The disk is about five inches in diameter and is about a half an inch thick. There is a hole in the center of the disk.

The disks are preheated in an upright oven and are dispensed one at a time through a door arrangement at the bottom of the upright oven. The oven looks like an automatic coffee maker. A special aluminum holder takes care of the plate and the disk. First comes the container. The disk is dropped into the container. Then the plate with the food is placed on the container. Next a cover is placed over the entire setup.

The disk is hot and keeps the plates warm. The container is insulated to hold heat. The entire food tray assembly is made up of three separate units. First is the unit to hold the plate of food. Next is a complementary insulated bowl to hold soup, cereal and the like. Then there is an insulated pot big enough to hold two cups of coffee.

When a patient's tray is equipped with the new heating system, it sits for an hour or longer and still be piping hot. For example, the insulated coffee pot will keep coffee at 180 degrees for two hours. The lid doesn't have to be taken off the pot to pour coffee. It is almost spill-proof.

The heating disk can be used over and over again. At the end of the meal they are popped back into the oven for reheating. The oven is portable and can be moved all over the kitchen.

The disks can be handled when heated but they are hot and can burn. However, they are almost impossible to spill when properly placed in the containers.

"Hot food certainly adds to good patient care," says Porter Sigler, assistant hospital administrator. Often doctors are busy with patients at meal time. The doctor doesn't have to interrupt his routine nor does the patient have to eat a cold meal when the procedure is over. For example, a patient late in returning from X-ray can still have a hot bowl of soup.

Before the arrival of the heating disks in mid-March the problem of serving food while still hot or warm was difficult simply because food would start cooling as soon as it was dished up. With something like 400 to 500 meals to serve each day, plus a combination of 20 different diets, this could get to be a problem.

"Time is no longer the important factor in feeding patients," said Peggy Starfield, chief dietitian. "Now we can take more time and increase our efficiency."

"Time is no longer the im-

The policy at the hospital is to let the floor personnel, registered nurses, licensed practical nurses and aides serve meals.

Woman Who Urged Mother's Day Never Married; Event 50 Years Old

The woman who is given credit for the thought of the idea of a nationwide Mother's day never married.

Her name was Anna Jarvis, a school teacher, and she conceived the idea when she was 41 years old. She was living in Philadelphia and it was there that her campaign to honor mothers got under way.

She met with only partial success, in a day when most women were considered second class citizens and did not even possess the right to vote.

But on May 9, 1914—as a result of her nationwide campaign—President Wilson issued a proclamation setting aside the second Sunday in May each year "as a public expression of our love and reverence for the mothers of our country."

President Wilson signed the resolution after it was adopted by both houses of congress. This resolution, today, is not followed to the letter. For instance the resolution wording, as passed by congress and signed by the President, ordered "government officials to display the United States flag on all government buildings, and the people of the United States to display the flag in their homes or other suitable places."

William Grange, secretary-manager of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, will be master of ceremonies, while Curtis Eaton, member of the board of regents, will represent the University of Idaho, and Dr. J. E. Kraus, dean and director of the college of agriculture at that institution, will speak for the university.

Introduction of officials of the Idaho Association of Soil Conservation districts will be by Lee Morgan, state conservationist, while invocation will be by the Rev. Donald L. Hoffman, president of the Twin Falls Ministerial association.

The dedication program will be open to the public. Director Robinson announces, and a tour of the facilities will follow.

The complex is operated by the agricultural research service, the research agency of the USDA. It is on a 10-acre plot donated by private citizens and the Twin Falls and Kimberly Chambers of Commerce.

Purpose of the facilities is for research on water management prevalent on irrigated farms and associated dryland farms and rangelands in the Snake river basin and similar agricultural areas of the Northwest.

Research on the most pressing needs of the area will be planned in conference with federal and state agency representatives and farmers and ranchers.

Ultimately the station will employ 50 to 60 people, including a professional staff of about 25, mostly soil scientists and engineers. The engineers will be specialists in irrigation, drainage, hydraulics and hydrology; the soil scientists will specialize in water, and for

Controlled Ditch Biggest in State

By O. A. (Gus) CELKER Times-News Feature Editor

EMERYVILLE, May 9—The biggest irrigation ditch—controlled by the state—is located in one of the buildings which make up the complex known as the Snake River conservation field station, in the northeast of this community.

With it, the scientists who are busy with the study of better irrigation methods, for instance, simulate field conditions of any type while having all the scientific instruments they need available at their fingertips.

In fact, it could be termed an "artificial" ditch. It makes irrigation a science, because blistering hot, cold elements which sometimes plague the irrigator are not present inside the building.

Actually the ditch is a hydraulic test flume which operates on a sump storage system permitting use of water again and again.

The sump storage space, under the floor of the building, is 20 feet long, eight feet wide and eight feet deep.

Statistics show that the storage space holds 28,000 gallons of water. The pump which circulates the water can put through 12 inches of water in 12 seconds or, in gallons, 640 a minute.

One feature of the flume, with this water-siphoning-in-freeze end, is a baffle box which allows the water before flow begins to the other end.

At present there are two control gates installed for research purposes. These gates are of the automatic type.

Alaska Rising From Disaster

By JOE RIGERT ANCHORAGE, Alaska, May 9

Alaska is rising from the death and destruction of her 1964 spring disaster, worth America's greatest earthquake.

There are no miracles—only the resolute will of the Alaskan people, their faith in the future and generous support from fellow Americans.

It is taking time, money and hard work. The people of this state, a pioneering breed familiar with the challenges of a frontier, have bent to the task.

Much of the cleanup has been accomplished. Shattered cities are deeply involved in plans to rebuild and even relocate.

Many businessmen have patched up their shops or moved to new quarters. Resilience is being rushed on the lifeline transportation network—of ports, highways and the government-owned Alaska railroad, which link the cities and towns of the southern Alaska heartland. Yet the marks of the earthquake and seismic waves remain plainly visible, despite the cleanup and repair.

The two battered skyscrapers, the bulk of the J. O. Penney department store, the sunken 4th Avenue store—all can still be seen at Anchorage, the state's largest city.

Down the Kenai peninsula, the Seward waterfront remains cluttered with twisted track, scattered railroad engines and derailed oil storage tanks—the only remains of a once-thriving railport industrial center.

And throughout the disaster area, damaged or destroyed buildings still offer mute testimony to the "terrible force" of nature.

The damage estimated from the March 27 catastrophe continues at 750 million dollars, a sizeable portion of the 12 billion dollar value of private property in the state. The official Alaska death count has been put at 115.

There has been little actual reconstruction so far—nearly six weeks after the disaster. It takes time to plan for the rebuilding of cities, even when, as in Alaska now, the planners have been doing months of work in weeks.

Even if the plans were completed and the money available, which is not the case, there would be other obstacles to any immediate start on the Alaskan reconstruction.

The short Alaskan construction season does not begin until after the spring thaw this month. Cities like Anchorage, Seward and Valdez also must await the results of soil tests to determine what can be built, if anything, in areas where geologists have warned of landslide hazards.

Major rebuilding is being held up in Anchorage until the land has thawed and settled. The city

John Clark Soon Will Mark 40th Year of Grocery Business in Oakley

OAKLEY, May 8—Sometime in June John Clark will mark the 40th year since he started in the grocery business in Oakley. Although the name of the store and the interior have been changed several times, the sign on the outside shows it was built in 1883 and bore the name of The Oakley Co-op Store.

In 1924, Clark and his two brothers, Saul and Charles, took over the old Central market which also featured the general grocery store.

Later they bought the present building whose name had been changed to the Oakley Mercantile by the ZOMI company after the business had gone broke a few years before the Clarks purchased it.

In those days, Clark notes, there were only a few hundred items such as canned vegetables, fruit, dry beans, rice, flour, cereal and butter.

Bakery bread and cakes were found only in the cities, milk in the store was unheard of and everyone milked his own cow.

When Harry Harpster, Burley, started bringing bread and Young, the bottled milk, many people considered it a real luxury.

In those days business had a chance, Clark notes, of a grocery store selling only groceries, a hardware store only hardware and a drugstore only drug items. A regular markup was taken to justify the handling.

There were no specials, where the price was cut to entice people to think that one store sold cheaper than the other.

Personally and service were the features of the successful business, he points out. Today he feels it's advertising, promotions and gimmicks which bring people to the store door.

Prices are not much different whether it is in the corner grocery or the big super market, he adds. Each has its overhead and must make enough profit to operate or else they must close their doors.

After the brothers after the three brothers went into business together, Saul was the first to break away and become affiliated with the Idaho Law Enforcement Commission.

Charles sold his interest in the store to John and then moved to Provo, Utah.

In 1943 the name of Clarks for Shopping came into being when the Central market was closed and everything moved to the "Mero" which is still serving the community.

A favorite sausage-making recipe which was given Clark by his mother during the time the family of six boys and one girl lived at the once-famous Land ranch eight miles northeast of Oakley, has become one of the items for which this particular store is noted.

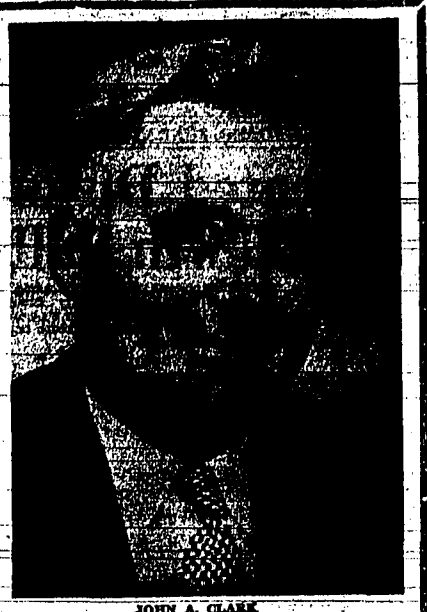

Clark recalls that as a child he watched his mother mix up a batch of sausage for the winter's supply from the recipe she had and using to supply the process was over, the sausage was stuffed into a homemade flour sack.

This in turn would hang outside during the cold months and the meat was preserved by freezing and later cut into sausage patties. This past year, for the July 4 celebration, Clark used the same method of freezing and cutting to supply the crowd at the annual chuckwagon breakfast given by the Chamber of Commerce.

Born in Grantville, Utah, in 1893, he moved with his father's family to the Land ranch, which at that time was roughly 900 acres of sagebrush with about 40 acres under cultivation. With such a large family of boys, his father felt that the city was no place to live, so he moved them by train to Kimama, near Minidoka, and then on to Oakley via buslines, crossing the Snake river on the ferry near the Heyburn dam.

Even though he was next to the youngest in the family and only 3 years old at the time, Clark notes he can still remember crossing the river on that ferry.

Each year a little more land was cleared away and eventually he notes that they were usually using about 10 teams of horses at a time to get the harvest work done.

During the winter the family moved into town and built the house that Edward Warr now owns.

The first school he attended later was turned into a cheese factory. Clark also attended the Cassia LDS state academy and was graduated in 1918. He had the honor of playing on the first team to participate in the southeastern basketball tournament, which was held in Twin Falls. Oakley won the tournament, but the team was barred from the state tournament because of the fact that it was a church-sponsored school.

"Playing ball in those days was quite different from what it is now," he notes. "We had 20-minute halves, three times out in 40 minutes and we couldn't dribble the ball or else it was called as a foul. We just passed the ball back and forth among the players, up and down the ball."

Body contacts were the order of the day. Things really got a little rough at times with our parents' occasions. I received a knuckled nose and also was knocked completely out," he recalls.

After graduating from high school he attended officer training corps at the former USAO at Logan, Utah. He spent only a short time in the spring. However, at World War I ended, he was released in 1919 to come home to help take care of the flu patients which were of epidemic proportion in Oakley.

He had contacted the disease himself early in the fall but had a very light case; consequently he was able to help those who had it.

"Things got so bad," he comments, "that the schoolhouse was turned into a hospital. The only thing we had to fight it with were mustard plasters, aspirin and, if things really got bad, a little whiskey."

In 1922 he went on an 18-month stateside mission for the LDS church and in 1923 married Eula Matthews of Oakley.

For hobbies, Clark decided some time ago upon a pony for each grandchild and has one ready for his 13th grandchild who was born early this April. With 12 of this number being boys, this hobby comes naturally.

During the July 4 celebrations several of his grandchildren and some of the town children can be seen riding these Shetlands in the parades.

He also has rigged up a wagon which is drawn by four mules. He wears special parade harnesses, made by Edward Gerringe, Oakley. Many a child has had a ride in the wagon, which is truly a novelty in the day and age.

Along with this hobby, Clark and his wife are raising children and have nearly 70 of the furry little animals.

He takes a prominent place in both civic and church affairs. He was a commissioner from District 2 for two terms, and says, "I am convinced because of his experience, that the founders of America really knew what they were doing in the organization of all government agencies from the city, county and state to the national level."

"I can see great great inspirations as well as forethought, for each is a unit in itself and is cooperative with the other."

"Our trouble today is not from the basic setup of a government by the people and for the people, we just have too much government, too many agencies, too many bureaus to regulate a people who expect government themselves."

"High taxes are ruining us. Many people just can't make a living and pay the taxes of today," he declared.

Along with being a commissioner, Clark finds time to be a member of the Oakley Fire district board, an active member of the Chamber of Commerce, has served on the independent district school board and has also served on the village board.

He was a bishop of the old fourth ward and also the old first ward, served on the Cassia state high council twice, has been a Sunday school teacher for 20 years and has served in the Cassia state presidency. The couple has three children. Donald J. Clark, who is also a bishop, Thomas Clark, who is serving in the Cassia state presidency, both Oakley, and Mrs. Roland McIntosh, Salt Lake City.

Final Ruling Due Monday In River Tiff

WASHINGTON, May 9—Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall will make his final decision on the filling of Lake Powell on Monday, Utah Ben. Wallace F. Bennett said today.

The Utah Republican also announced Udall has invited members of the congressional delegations of the Colorado river basin states to attend a meeting Monday to discuss his decision.

Udall's decision will be based on the April-to-July streamflow runoff prediction made by Bureau of Reclamation hydrologist Bennett said.

The bureau decided in a meeting at Denver yesterday that the April-July streamflow runoff would be 5.1 million acre feet, Bennett said. "This is considerably higher than expected and should lead to a favorable decision to fill the lake."

IDAHO POWER REPORTS Highlights FROM Annual Shareowners' Meeting AT ONTARIO, OREGON, MAY 6, 1964 Construction work at the Hells Canyon dam site will be started soon, if not prevented by the Bonneville Power Administration proposal to invade this area and take over the phosphate load. Excavation of the river diversion tunnel at Hells Canyon, which is the first step of construction, is scheduled to begin after this year's spring run-off has receded. Within the next six years, the Company anticipates investing from $150,000,000 to $160,000,000 in new electric facilities of all kinds - dollars which generate tax revenues as well as power - unless its expansion is supplanted by tax-free, tax-subsidized federal facilities. Completion of the Hells Canyon project in 1968 will add 425,000 kilowatts of generating capacity to the Company's system. It is by far the largest construction underwriting planned for this area - will cost about $70,000,000 - and will give a tremendous boost to the economy through local purchases, payrolls and tax payments. Giant strides have been made in irrigation pumping in the Snake river valley with abundant, low-cost power from the Company's lines. Acres reclaimed from desert and irrigated by electric pumps have jumped from 132,000 to 730,000 within the past 15 years. Highly significant are the new irrigation pumping developments in the Dry Lake and Sallor Creek areas amounting to an initial 25,000 acres. Here water is lifted as much as 600 feet economically, thanks to low-cost electricity. Phosphate processing is continuing to expand with low-cost power from the Company's lines. Idaho Power has recently contracted to supply an additional 25,000 kilowatts to the EMC corporation furnaces, and an additional 20,000 kilowatts to the J. K. Simplot Company's phosphate fertilizer operation. A previously increased power supply to EMC of 53,000 kilowatts was contracted last August, bringing their total to 155,000 kilowatts. Electric furnaces at Pocatello pioneered elemental phosphorus extraction in the western states with the assistance of low-cost, taxpaying power. Idaho Power Company is the state's largest taxpayer, with an estimated 1964 tax payment of $16,000,000 to local, state and federal governments. The Company pays the highest taxes in relation to its revenues of any utility in the three northwest states. Tax differences considered, Idaho Power's revenue per kilowatt hour is the lowest. Bonneville Power's recent contract with the Monsanto Company conditionally offers subsidized power delivered at Soda Springs at 2.2 mills per kilowatt hour, this being tax-free power further subsidized heavily by taxpayers. In contrast, Idaho Power's 1963 tax bill amounted to 2.97 mills per kilowatt hour on its entire output, or 35 per cent more than the Bonneville selling price. Tax revenue problems which affect every citizen are presently pressing every taxing district, particularly the schools. Sixty-four per cent of Idaho is in government ownership - the balance produces all the taxes. Obviously, more private, taxpaying business is needed - less of federal, non-taxpaying ventures designed to replace investor ownership, whether in electric power or in any other field of enterprise.

PRECAUTIONS TAKEN in shipment of a valuable bug collection from Twin Falls to Washington, D.C., are inspected by Kenneth E. Gibson, entomologist in charge of the Twin Falls research station. This particular portion of the large shipment was encased in glass and tape was placed across the glass to prevent shattering in case of breakage. The collection will be utilized for research projects and was shipped east because it became too extensive to be stored and preserved in Twin Falls. It is considered to be the best bug collection in the state. (Times-News photo)

ONE OF 44 wooden boxes of bugs which are en route to the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C., from the local entomology research division, agricultural research service, U.S. department of agriculture, is examined by Kenneth E. Gibson, entomologist in charge. The bugs represent a collection started 26 years ago. It has become one of the best such collections in Idaho. Shipment east was made in a special truck to avoid possible breakage. (Times-News photo)

A backlog of village work was reviewed by the board members and inventory of tools and supplies made. Brush was asked to contact proper authorities as to status of his present bonds to act as village marshal.

Brush, a former Richfield village marshal, also served as justice of the peace for the town.

NFO to Observe Ladies Event

Buhl, May 9—The Twin Falls County National Farmers organization will observe ladies night with a special program at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Buhl VFW hall.

All members are urged to bring their wives. Interested persons are invited.

The program will include musical selections by B. Durfee and his daughter, Wendell J. William Roberts will give his toastmaster award-winning speech, "Freedom's Foundation."

Important bean, dairy and beef information will be presented.

The "pinned" collection—which represents a collection by the entomology research division, agricultural research division, U.S. department of agriculture, over a period of 30 years—was shipped east by special truck known as a high cube, air-ride suspension van owned by the Mayflower Transit company, with the Ralph Harris Moving and Storage company, Twin Falls, as agents. The special van is 30 feet long.

Although the collection is pinned—which means that all are mounted on straight pins—the age of some of the bugs made extreme caution necessary in the shipment. This is one of the reasons, according to Kenneth E. Gibson, 1434 Spruce avenue east, in charge of the research division here, that the decision was reached to ship the collection east.

"It was just a case that we were unable to care for the collection here. At the Smithsonian the facilities are available for its preservation and much more extensive use in research."

Each bug in the collection—and there are thousands and thousands—is identified and labeled with the date, place of collection and the collector.

The shipment consisted of two large cabinets, each containing 22 glass top trays, and another group of 44 wooden boxes, each individually covered.

"After all these years the bugs are still in good working order and a general housecleaning," Gibson smiled. "Contrary to what many people believe, the drying out of the insects after they are mounted poses no problem.

"Where we run into trouble in preserving such a collection is the presence of dust and also insects which feed on the mounted insects."

The transfer of the bugs actually was made at the suggestion of L. B. Christenson, Beltsville, Md., branch chief.

"Back east these bugs will be displayed and be available for study by interested persons," Gibson said. "Over a period of 30 years this collection has become the best in Idaho and one of the best in the nation."

"From the research standpoint, people interested in insects, noxious and harmful pests will have a bonanza."

The field station in Twin Falls first was established in 1939, but the work of the unit actually started in 1926 with federal personnel having space at the local plant of the Amalgamated Sugar company.

In 1934 this bureau and that of plant quarantine were combined as the bureau of entomology and plant quarantine.

In 1953 a realignment within the department of agriculture placed the station under the entomology research branch of the agricultural research service and in 1957 the branch became the entomology research division of the agricultural research service.

The station here has become nationally famous for work in the control of insects which affect sugar beets.

Buhl Firm Is Low Bidder On Buhl Pipe

BUHL, May 9 — The Pacific States Cast Iron Company, Provo, Utah, was successful bidder for cast iron pipe for the city of Buhl when bids were opened at the Buhl city council monthly meeting, officials announced Friday.

The bid called for approximately 2,800 feet of four-inch pipe and 2,511 feet of six-inch pipe as well as some fittings. Some of the pipe will be used in sewer improvement district eight in Gary's addition and the rest is to be stockpiled for use during the year.

The Utah firm bid $9,190. The only other bid was submitted by Water Works company, Salt Lake City, for $9,370.

The bid of Fuller Farm and Home Supply of $10,695 was accepted to furnish 25 gallons of marine blue paint and thinner for use in painting the bottom of the municipal swimming pool. Other bids were received from Buhl Planning Mill for $184.50 and Buhl hardware for $197.55.

The council approved renewal of an agreement with the Union Pacific railroad covering the sewer pipe line crossing this enclosure for a five-year period extending to May 31, 1969.

Jim Holmes, city street and water works superintendent, reported the annual city-wide spring cleanup week was unsuccessful because of the unusually cold weather. He noted, however, that city crews will continue to pick up debris in the alleys providing it is placed in containers.

The council authorized Lloyd Loos to complete dog license sales for 1964 as soon as possible and advised that all dogs

Heated Dishes Aid Hospital Food Service

The (L.N.R.) personnel are acquainted with the patient, the patient's disposition and mental attitude.

The new containers and the heating disks have cut complaints considerably. Many times meals have had to be reheated. Often the patient or the kitchen had no control over certain situations.

The service is more expensive than the old system. The hospital purchased its complete unit — coffee pot, main meal setup and insulated bowls. The utensils account for only part of the cost. The oven to heat the disks was expensive and the kitchen staff wanted it portable. Being portable the disks can be dispensed easily in any part of the kitchen.

Hot food also makes for more work on behalf of the kitchen staff, but they feel it will have some benefits as they will no longer be required to reheat or hear complaints when meals are cold. The disks have their limitations and after an hour or so begin to cool off.

The hospital has about $1,500 invested in the new service and the staff feels it is worth every cent.

Fixing meals for the patients at Magic Valley Memorial hospital is more than a full day's work. The day starts at 5 a.m. and concludes about 7:30 p.m.

Now about waking patients up to take a sleeping pill.

MEET MONDAY-NIGHT

MURTAUGH, MAY 9 — Fred Higgins, Twin Falls, will speak on fire safety when the Murtaugh Farm Bureau meets at 8 p.m. Monday at the Murtaugh Orange hall. Gary Post will speak on soil conservation, says Lamar Egbert, chairman.

HOT FOOD for patients at Magic Valley Memorial hospital is almost guaranteed. Insulated table service plus small heating disks under the main dishes will keep food hot for an hour or longer, Chief Dietitian Peggy Stanfield checks a patient's tray before mealtime. The large upright oven at the left heats the small dishes which are dispensed one at a time at the bottom of the unit. The disk is placed in the bottom of the aluminum bowl. Then the plate is put over the heated disk and the oven is put over the bowl. Hot meals improve patient care. (Times News photo)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

The 300th anniversary of the birthdate of William Shakespeare, the great English playwright, was observed in at least one Magic Valley school not only with presentation of some of his famous plays but with a display of dolls dressed in period costumes. Through the cooperation of the faculty of the HAILLEY high school, displays and skits were presented throughout last week depicting the life of the famed bard. The project was under the direction of Mrs. William Galligan, drama instructor; Jean Miser, guidance director; Mrs. Jay Fowles, home economics instructor, and Mrs. Lee Wright, art instructor.

The third year home economics class chose the ever-popular "Romeo and Juliet" as their media and Sue Fickens designed period costumes for Barbie and Ken dolls. Shirley Adams drafted the patterns.

Juliet's dress was made by Patricia Brodie and Deanna Zarco while Marguerite Conley and Cheryl Fovey created Romeo's attire.

The balcony in the display was made by Leslie Cline and Sonja Sterman and the lettering was done by Dawn Irie and Linda Terra. The display was set up in the main entrance of the school.

Excerpts from "Taming of the Shrew" and "Midsummer Night's Dream" were presented at the annual citizenship program to depict the Shakespearean style of writing, acting and costuming.

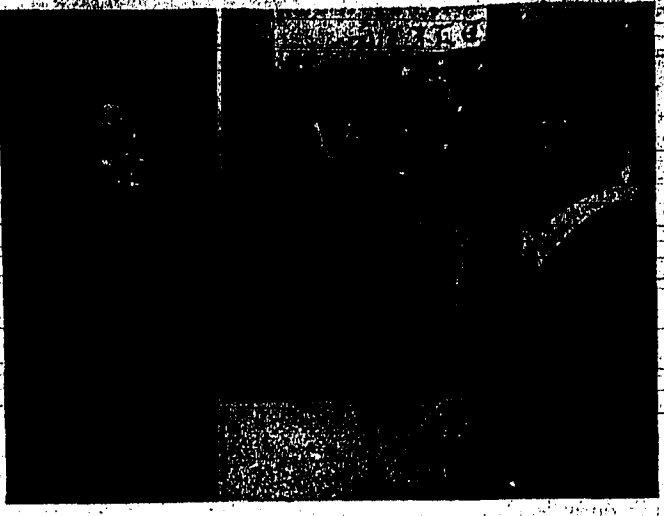

Usually when a driver is stopped on the road it is because of someone in distress or an official flashing red light. But according to the experiences of Travis Tank, HEYBURN, sometimes a person can be stopped for other reasons—and they are not always so vital. To prove his contention, he explains that while driving between his home near Heyburn and the farm on the unit A of the Northside project near BURDET, owned by his employer, State Sen. Rodney Hansen, he was stopped recently by persons, including a government man, wanting to know the price of potatoes.

The reason—Jenks was driving a used pickup truck. Senator Hansen had purchased from Eastern Idaho Packing, Inc., and although the lettering was old and barely discernible, the phrase "potato buyer" could be faintly read.

Jenks decided there was only one way to stop being bothered by questions about the all-important issue of the price of spuds. He decided to scrape the painted letters from the door and at last, report, his drive back and forth from work no longer is interrupted.

Spring and fishing are synonymous in RICHFIELD, but actually only the "small fry" anglers try to fish Little Wood river before the runoffs are over on Silver creek and Big Wood river.

Seasoned fishermen consider the river too muddy and high although the river is open all year around. Kenneth Patterson, 12, and John Paulson, 12, are two who couldn't wait this year and Kenneth caught a three-pound trout a few weeks ago.

His companion caught several smaller fish and two other friends, Sidney Edwards and Ted Christensen, also claimed some luck, although they picked a windy day.

Many Richfield men prefer trying their luck at Lava lake north of CAREY. Edward Schiller has brought home some nice perch and bass from there. And for "chuck" catches such as S. J. Piper, Donald Myers and Ronald Bell, ice fishing was popular this past winter.

Alaska Rising From Disaster

 fears the they may trigger more slides, upset foundations and cause additional damage.

Finally, Alaskans are waiting to see what aid they can expect from the federal government.

This is still the biggest uncertainty—the type and extent of assistance to come from Uncle Sam—the benevolent patron who controlled Alaska until statehood in 1958 and continues to play a dominant role in her development.

The program, acting in almost unprecedented speed after the earthquake, voted 50 million dollars in disaster relief to help repair the utilities, roads and other public facilities.

The Alaska legislature provided a 50 million dollar bond issue. Other aid has come from the military, scores of state and federal agencies, private relief organizations, sister cities, labor unions, churches and business.

But many Alaskan officials, bankers and businessmen say they will need a great deal more from the federal government, particularly for hard-pressed private businesses and homeowners.

The 50 million dollar bond issue voted by the legislature, says Gov. William A. Egan, is the most this state of 286,000 population can afford.

Egan says he hopes congress will provide the state with enough budget support to meet anticipated revenue loss and emergency spending caused by the quake.

But the key to future recovery progress, he says, is change in existing law to permit federal agencies to deal adequately with a disaster of the magnitude of the Alaskan experience.

Existing uncertainties fall heavily on homeowners whose houses were destroyed or heavily damaged. For some, life savings are at stake. How can they afford a double mortgage—one for a new house and the other on the house that was destroyed?

Businessmen express concern about surviving their setbacks. Low-interest federal disaster loans will help some of them. Federal tax writeoffs also will soften the impact.

Bankers report that many of them also are delaying construction plans until they know how much other aid will come from the federal government.

The army corps of engineers is well under way on the restoration of public facilities, a job it says will cost 92 million dollars.

Water, electricity and other utilities have been restored in most of the disaster area through temporary repairs. Water pipes and even hoses have been placed above ground in many places.

The survival of the state officials, has been a major concern of the federal government. Alaskans are waiting to see what aid they can expect from the federal government.

Anchorage, Seward and Kodiak—which were hit by the earthquake—will have to clear their new buildings and rebuild.

The projects could cost 75 per cent less each than the 50 million dollar plan that would transform damaged areas into parks and parking facilities.

Anchorage is planning to shift the central business district to the north side of Valdez, where a bulk of homes and buildings were destroyed or destroyed and have no foundation, is planning to shift the entire town four miles.

Seward has developed a proposal that would put a public low-lying waterfront and shift its major industry section across Bear River to firm ground.

Additional reconstruction is necessary as a result of massive tilting of the land leaving sunken coastal areas exposed to periodic flooding and high tides.

FARM BUREAU TO MEET CLOVER, May 9—Clover Farm Bureau will meet in Twin Falls for fire prevention, and safety of the meeting scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday at Clover Farm. Action will be taken on the resolution, state and county reports, says Hugo Meyer, chairman.
