NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON, May 22—Presidentially if you will, Sen. Barry Goldwater's strength down the home stretch to the Republican convention opening July 13, is the key to Richard Nixon's chances of winning the GOP presidential nomination.

The explanation is as simple as anything can be in the complex game of politics, to wit, that only Goldwater among all the candidates would draw his delegates to the former vice president in the event of a deadlock. And that is all right with Nixon, since Goldwater is the man with the most votes—possibly as many as 502 out of the necessary 605 at first-ballot time.

NIXON HIM ALTERNATE—Goldwater already has made it clear that Nixon would be his first choice should he be thwarted by the liberal moderates of the second ballot. He selected as his choice a Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, but the inactive, moderate, and almost uninterested Scranton is merely a lesser evil to Goldwater than Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York and Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

Not so curiously, then, in the game of politics, is it that Nixon's advantage in a campaign to stop Goldwater will be successful, since he cannot threaten Goldwater's delegates otherwise. This places Nixon in an ambiguous if not precarious position in the frantic jockeying preceding the California primary June 2, a position Nixon often has turned to his advantage.

STOP-GOLDWATER DEAL?—It seems logical that there will be some kind of deal between Rockefeller and Lodge to stop Goldwater in California. Lodge, who is not on the ballot there, probably will throw his strength to Rockefeller, merely to deny California's 50 votes to the Arizona man, Nixon has an interest in this plot, though any moves on his part must be most cautious.

Clearly, Nixon cannot oppose Goldwater openly, the man whose delegates he covets, and so he is looking for a way to ease England's mind, wondering about exclaiming Goldwater's strength and suggesting that Barry may be unbeatatable at San Francisco. The effect, if not the intention, is to fan the fires of worry among those who believe Goldwater's nomination would be a disaster to the party and to generate an increased effort to stop Goldwater.

QUICK VICTORY NEEDED—Nixon's position is strengthened by the fact that whether or not Goldwater wins the California primary he still must gain the nomination on the second ballot at San Francisco. Otherwise his strength will be eroded by the doubts and fears of those delegates who fear to stay too long with a man who might not make it. It would be a long, hot, and fatiguing fight, but Goldwater would not be likely to lose to a busy school teacher's conservative stand on civil rights and his aggressive declarations on foreign policy.

From Goldwater's viewpoint, such a move is logical on two counts. First, Nixon is a close second in popularity polls among Republican voters. Second, he has more important, Nixon could be a total-throws-in-the-towel candidate. If he were beaten by Lyndon Johnson in November, he would become a three-time loser for the presidency and once for governor of California, and this would be no rival to Goldwater, or anyone of Goldwater's choosing, in 1968.

Views of Others

HAN THE BEASTLY
The U. S. labor department has a new rule which, if strictly observed, could be shattering news for America. Conceivably, it could prevent the return to this country of the hairy creature known as the alien. The regulation says foreign entertainers can come to this country unless their U. S. employers can persuade the government there are no unemployed American performers of equal talent. And the popularity of the likes has spawned a plethora of imitators who look and sound like the real thing, but depend on one's original point of view.

Of course, many foreign favorites of U. S. theatergoers would be troubled by the new policy intended to ease the unemployment problem. There would be the hair-groom, Maurice Chevalier, Fernand and Blanche Bino, and we will suppose to the end of our typewriter ribbon the baritone, Sophia Loren or Melina Mercouri. And we assume Elizabeth Taylor would testify eloquently that she is only a Richard Burton.

But the only one who, why, the department of labor could send Colonel West to the nameless, nameless backwoods where he "discovered" him. Presley and recruit scores of unemployed and unbanked hillbillies who can't pump a guller, wiggle their heads and utter the strange noises which breathe-throatiness into a singing. But does the war against poverty require such extreme measures? We would rather see the department of labor continue to let U. S. migrants flip their courage out and come to take up more commendable careers in the Oregonian.

ONE-WAY TRAFFIC
Understandably, some West Germans dislike the western powers' decision to let in East German citizens, musicians, and artists. They point out that this traffic will go one way.

This is true enough. It is also true that the West German Socialists have pointed out, the people who are likely to be allowed out on visas to the West will be reliable communists. Yet no one who is not a communist country has started in any other way. Poland, Czechoslovakia, and Hungary in particular, small beginnings of this sort have led in the end to a notable easing of traffic—both ways.

Another complaint is that these visas will confer some sort of recognition on East Germany. The western powers have done their best to avoid giving that impression. Individual cells or footballers will be let through but not groups whose business is to canvass political support for the East. What this means in practice is still not clear. Are we to allow a symphony orchestra but strain at a national basketball team.

And what about the Berliner Ensemble, so long kept away from Berlin under the old regime? The western powers, dedicated to making Marxist propaganda, though not the police officer, to please Herr Ullrich. Bill, the decision is sensible even if some of the results are odd. It was always absurd to let in people who might be used to make a bad thing worse. It is possible to let her in without formally, and for all time, acknowledging the Ullrich regime.—The Manchester Guardian Weekly.

How much whiskey must I consume to have alcohol show in a blood test? How much would justify a drunk driving charge?

A slender alcoholic you drink is within a few minutes of a fairly rapidly, the amount in the blood depends in part on the amount of alcohol that has elapsed since your last drink. If the only drink you consumed was of an ounce and you had taken it within an hour or less of the blood test, your blood alcohol level would be 1/10th of one percent. There would be no appreciable effect on your behavior or your driving ability.

With one ounce, "the level" would be 1/10th of one percent, and you would be considered sober and very close to the borderline of drunkenness. With five or six ounces the level would be 1/10th of one percent, and you would be too shocked to drive a car until you had sobered up.

would like to know what side effects might occur. Is this drug habit-forming? Will it lose its effectiveness if I continue to take it?

A—Brandoxin is a combination of a medicine, an antispasmodic, and a diuretic. It is especially useful in controlling dizziness and motion sickness, and pyridoxine, a part of the vitamin B complex that sometimes helps to control nausea.

Side effects such as drowsiness, dry mouth, and blurred vision occur only when large doses are taken. The drug is not habit-forming and it should not cause its effectiveness on prolonged use.

Q—I have been taking Vistaril for an overactive thyroid. What side effects might there be?

A—Vistaril is a brand of hydroxyzine hydrochloride. It is used to reduce nervous tension. In the usual therapeutic dosage it can be safely used for prolonged periods in some persons with anxiety, nervousness, and dizziness.

Q—I have heard that taking one teaspoonful of vinegar after the noon and evening meals will cause you to lose weight. Is this true and how is it harmful?

A—In order to reduce your weight, you should take up fewer calories than you use. If it reduces your weight, it will not help you to lose weight and in the amount suggested it would not be harmful.

It's vital for Democratic party power New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner to strip the propaganda off Attorney General Kennedy's political plans. Mr. Kennedy could be a double-edged sword on a double-barreled beam.

Far from receding, they see the program stepped up now, with May events merely the current phase in the program's timing. It being obvious that Mr. Kennedy's vice-presidential pitch is his best and probably only chance to win the White House, and a return to power of the whole Kennedy group, they scoff at his "I don't know what I want to do" announcements and all other Washington denials as utter nonsense.

Poor Man's Plato

By HAL ROYLE
NEW YORK, May 22 (AP)—There is nothing like a disaster to bring a family close together. I can say about the fifth grade of grammar school.

There are only three of us in our family—my wife, Frances, and our daughter, Tracy, 11.

As I see it, this is hardly enough. To get through the fifth grade successfully, you need a large family. I would think a family of about 12 would be right—of whom one would be in the fifth grade. And their 11 would spend most of their time helping him get through that ordeal.

Naturally, such a family would include a professional mathematician, doctor, lawyer, judge, engineer, biologist, anthropologist, carpenter, sailor, scout, musician, physical culturist, and an all-around intellectual.

As I remember education in my own youth, it crept upon one gradually. It was in learning to conduct. You learned by degrees. This is not true any more. Now educators' bootstraps the child. And the parents, too. They cozy

New Mexico Has Rich Copper Find

RAYARD, N.M., May 22 (AP)—A rich copper ore find which promises to boost the economy of the Bayard-Silver City area of southwestern New Mexico has created a searching psychological boom. The U.S. Geological Survey announced yesterday, saying it is the most important ore discovery by this company in the area in 30 years.

Harold S. Brady, chairman of the Bayard-Silver City area, said preliminary diamond drilling had indicated a deposit of more than eight million tons of copper ore on its Pierrito, N.M., property five miles north of Bayard.

Brady said the average assay of the ore was 3.15 per cent copper. He said the eight million tons of ore would produce about 172,000 tons of pure copper. He said copper currently is selling for 31 cents a pound or 62¢ a ton.

The news boosted U.S. Smelt- ing's stock on Wall Street from $15 to $13.30 a share.

Brady said copper production would begin at the mine in about two and one-half years.

"The psychological effect of the announcement is startling," said a Silver City resident. "The find should provide a tremendous boost to the economy of the area."

The operation at Pierrito would be the first copper venture by U.S. Smelting in the Bayard area. Kennecott Copper Corporation has the only copper operation in Grant county but there are several lead and zinc mines.

U.S. Smelting said it is hoping for a mill which could handle from 2,000 to 4,000 tons of ore a day.

Kennecott's mill handles 35,000 tons of lower grade ore a day and employs 1,450 men for the largest payroll in the county, about 1 million dollars a month.

U.S. Smelting said there have been no estimates about employment or payroll figures for the proposed mine and mill.

But, the firm said, the strike will be far richer per ton than Kennecott's operation and said this would allow a shift in mining instead of a pit mining operation.

Graham Says Court Erred on Bible Reading

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., May 22 (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham says the U. S. supreme court erred in even considering the issue of prayer and Bible reading in public schools.

"The supreme court was wrong in even tackling the problem," he said, "because now it will have to rule on chaplains in the armed forces, in the Congress, and even chaplains in the supreme court itself."

OFF TO ALASKA is the Choate family. Ted Choate, 10, feeds a horse while others in the family look on in Seattle Thursday before they all boarded the family freighter for a new home on Unalaska Island in the Aleutians. Choate, 32, Miller City, Mont., bought the 90-foot vessel to move his livestock. With him in the background are his wife and their other son, Jim, 19. Montana Family Heads For Islands

SEATTLE, Wash., May 22 (AP)—A 90-foot vessel built in 1911 as a freighter is heading for Alaska's Aleutian Islands with a deckload of baited hay, a hold full of livestock and a pioneering family that thinks Montana's getting too crowded.

Aboard the freighter Robert Eugene are 500 sheep, five horses, half a dozen pigs, one rooster, a dog named Snokey, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Choate and their three children.

"We're all looking forward to this," Choate said Thursday. "We will have our ranch and a chance to build it as big as we want it. We're all used to hard work."

"When you can hear your neighbor's rooster crow, it's time to move," said Choate, 32.

Last May, Choate sold the seven sections of land on which he had purchased for 27 years near Miller City, Mont. He leased 265,000 acres from Uncle Sam on Unalaska Island, near the head of the Aleutian chain.

The rancher bought the Robert Eugene here. He put two decks in below the main deck, built pens for the stock and installed a ventilation system. Rugs were put down to keep the horses from slipping on the wooden decking, and the bulkheads were padded with mattresses.

India Asks U. S. To Sell Jets

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—India is asking the United States to sell it three squadrons of F104 Starfighter jet supersonic fighters as part of the Indian defense build-up program.

U.S. State Department spokesman said today.

The jets would cost an estimated 150 million dollars.

While no decision has yet been reached, sources indicated the Indian request was running into state department resistance on the grounds such a sale would upset U. S. relations with Pakistan.

Mr. and Mrs. Choate and the children, Jim, 19, Susan, 20, and Ted, 10, will take turns as crew members on the 2,400-mile voyage. They figure it will take two weeks.

Mrs. Kennedy Has Changed

By HELEN THOMAS
WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—Six months after a crime that shook the world and shattered a woman's friends of Mrs. John F. Kennedy report that "she has her high and low points, lately mostly low."

The beautiful and enigmatic Jacqueline Kennedy lives quietly in a stately Georgetown home that, probably to her great chagrin, has become a major sight-seeing attraction for the charter bus tourist crowd.

She is seen occasionally at some of the better restaurants in town. Now and then, when certain that her arrival will not cause a fuss, she takes daughter Caroline to such public events as the New York World's Fair or the Washington appearance of the Lippizaner horses of Vienna.

She has changed in many ways.

Her hairdos were the subject of news stories, gossip and sometimes gasps when she was First Lady. Now she wears it in a long, casual style that is lovely but not high fashion.

She was a woman who, when dealing with the countless problems that attend being the wife of the president of the United States, had a flair for organization and for doing the right thing at the right time with her own dynamic energy. Now, she can shrug her shoulders in the middle of what she is doing as if to say: "What's the use?"

It is said that time heals all wounds. But the hurt has gone deeper for Jacqueline Kennedy in the last six months. She showed magnificent strength during the dark terror of November and in the immediate aftermath. But now there is, the

British Planning to Revive Ancient Game of Jousting

LONDON, May 22—The National Trust announced Wednesday that it is going to revive the ancient sport of jousting, the medieval game of knocking your opponent off his horse with a lance.

"Every effort will be made to avoid bloodshed," explained Col. Anthony Bullivant, "but a first aid team will stand by—just in case."

The national trust is a government organization that looks after stately homes and other historical property willed to the nation.

The jousting will be part of a 17,000 sports tournament to be held June 27 on the grounds of the Elizabethan Montacute House near Yeovil in county Somerset.

The aim of the tournament is to popularize jousting, a chivalric, fencing and falconry.

Colorful pageantry is planned for the day, with Elizabethan tents, and men and women in Elizabethan costume taking part. Ancient arms will of course, be used by the jousters.

Seven good riders—including Olympic horseman Capt. James Templar—will compete.

The last effort to revive jousting is believed to have taken place 125 years ago when Lord Eglington got up a joust on his Scottish meadows.

Old manuscripts—accounts say 10,000 people from all over Europe showed up. A storm swept his lordship's meadows. The spectators and jousters were drenched and the show was called off.

BOISE, May 22 (AP)—Idaho highway fatalities were up 30 percent the first three months of 1964, from 34 to 47, and total accidents were up from 4,128 to 5,778. The department of law enforcement said the rate per 100,000 miles traveled was 4.3 compared with 3.3 last year. Mail crossing accidents had climbed 11 times through March but none of the first three months of a year ago. Signs and New Force led the fatality list by counties with five deaths each.

BOISE, May 22 (AP)—U. S. district court was asked today to intervene in a dispute involving control of the Shoshone-Bannock tribal lands at the Ft. Hall Indian reservation in Eastern Idaho. The case was brought by Edward Boyer, who said he was elected council chairman for a two-year term in August, 1962, but was ousted by four members of the council last March 10. He asked federal court to order the council to restore him to office. In his petition, Boyer contended he was "summarily and illegally removed."

BOISE, May 22 (AP)—The state received $24,000 from the federal government Thursday as payment for more than 600 acres of state land at the site of the Clearwater dam on the north fork of the Clearwater river. BOISE, May 22 (AP)—Theodore F. Meyer, Boise, has been hired by the Idaho Public Utilities commission to work for safety improvements at the state's railroad crossings. His appointment, effective June 1, is an outgrowth of the state's rail crossing safety plan in the state's first year, now at 10. President Ralph Wickberg said one of Meyer's first tasks will be a statewide study of rail crossings. He will correlate PUCO grade crossing efforts with work of city and county governments and the state highway department.

SALMON, May 22 (AP)—Presenting Attorney Charles Herndon said Thursday the filing of a lawsuit against Lemhi county by the state of Idaho indicates the need for an addition to state law. The suit, filed in third district court in Ada county, asks that Lemhi county be ordered to remit $1,100 to the state. A hearing was set for June 15. Paul Adams, Lemhi county treasurer, said he withheld the $1,100 last year from the state's share of property taxes collected in Lemhi county. He said he did so in order to recover for half of the state on orders from district Judge Ezra F. Monson. Blackfoot, Monson ruled the state against the mining company was not properly assessed. The state attorney's office lacked the right to withhold the amount from the property tax collections.

BOISE, May 22 (AP)—An official at the American embassy in Tokyo has extended praise to Gov. Robert E. Smylie for the welcome he gave to the Japanese government's first visit to Idaho last month. "You certainly did a fine job of creating interest and publicity in the Japanese government visit," wrote exhibits officer Harrell L. Dake. "Judging by the clippings you and Mrs. Smylie kindly sent me this was a perfect example of how to create good Japanese-American relations. I think you and the people of Idaho are to be proud of the best of commendation as ambassadors for America." The 11 Japanese government and their wives visited the United States as a followup on a visit of Smylie and other American governors to Japan last year.

LEWISTON, May 22 (AP)—The Idaho highway department is planning to straighten the winding Lewiston hill route of U. S. highway 85 as part of a long range improvement program for the highway. Plans were revealed at a meeting of the highway board with business and government leaders Thursday. The board, on its annual northern Idaho tour, was in Lewiston to Idaho officials. Also discussed were regrading of highway 15 at the north side of the Clearwater river from Spalding to Arrow and location for a state highway on the Idaho side of the Snake river to the Mountain sheep dam. Plans were outlined for a new exit on highway 85 in the Coeur d'Alene area.

Blackback pasture was mired at Richfield Tuesday. Albert Polley says he plants each year before too much damage is done. The mired soil plants shoot off closer than sheep grass, some farmers say.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Johnston and family have moved to the new Vaden ranch which they recently purchased. The new ranch is 10 miles northwest of Richfield. The Johnstons were their former ranch in Mont Johnson. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Johnston have moved to the residence. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tveit, former occupants of the Vaden ranch, have moved to Dietrich. Mr. and Mrs. Vaden now live in Mountain Home.

Mr. and Mrs. William Trail King Hill, have been spending some time at their new farm at Hill City. They were moving to the ranch, the former Anderson ranch at Hill City, which they purchased recently.

The Theo Ollieu family at Richfield has made farming a family affair this spring at their 120-acre ranch. The late spring lawn for a number of years the Ollieus found they still have a forgotten horse. Mrs. Ollieu (Donna) and son, Michael (Mike), drove to plant wheat and corrugate and Ollieu handles the irrigation. Mike is busy helping his parents now because he reports to the forest service department in Portland June 22. He majored in entomology at the University of Idaho where he received a grant for two years of post graduate study.

A 10 by 15-foot circular black barn has been built at the Grant ranch in the Marley area. Charles Bierre company, Meridian, had the contract. Thirty cows are housed in the new structure. Stevens now is milking 33 cows. Estimated cost is $2,000.

Danger to cattle, sheep and horses from the heavy infestation of ticks is causing concern at Richfield. Animals that have been out in brush pastures have been found "loaded" with sage ticks. One palomino colt belonging to Robert Speedy was treated with sheep dip for the many ticks about the animal's face and bricket. A few hot days usually cause the ticks to disappear fast.

The winter wheat at Trelle is doing very well. It is in the "boot" stage and has nearly all been "loaded" with sage ticks. One palomino colt belonging to Robert Speedy was treated with sheep dip for the many ticks about the animal's face and bricket. A few hot days usually cause the ticks to disappear fast.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nye, Elba, have sold their Taylor grazing and some permits and part of their range herd to Olofin Durfee and Glen Jones, Almo.

War on coyotes is being waged by Richfield farmers with small packs of sheep. A government trapper has accounted for 16 coyotes in 11 months on one of the five farms at Richfield. One palomino colt belonging to Robert Speedy was treated with sheep dip for the many ticks about the animal's face and bricket. A few hot days usually cause the ticks to disappear fast.

Construction of a dairy farm is nearing completion on the Lambert South farm, north of Heyburn.

Tests Show Roughage Plays Important Role in Feeding

CALDWELL, May 22—Greater gains are possible in production of beef by feeding roughage in combination with small amounts of concentrates throughout the feeding period than by using all concentrates. This was reported to stockmen at the annual beef feed day at the Caldwell branch of the University of Idaho experiments station early in May. Some 60 steers easily used in the test that began in the fall.

The experiment compared methods of feeding heavy steers during the growing phase, followed by non-roughage feeding during the fattening period.

Results obtained under conditions of this study, summary said, "would indicate that there is still a place for roughage feedstuffs in cattle fattening and growing rations. That greater gains are possible by feeding roughages in combination with small amounts of concentrates throughout the feeding period as compared to all concentrates feeding, and that cheaper gains can be obtained by using larger quantities of roughage combined with non-roughage feeding for a short time during the final stages of the fattening period."

The research was done by Duane Sharp, T. E. Keith, L. E. Omer, J. J. Dahmen and T. Donald Bell, all of the department of animal science. Bell is head of the department. Dahmen is superintendent of the Caldwell branch station.

Largest gains, the report said, were made by steers fed a roughage mixture plus 10 pounds of concentrate for 112 days and 84 days respectively, and then switched to the non-roughage ration for the remainder of the 112-day feeding trial. Average daily gains of the steers fed roughage and concentrate for 112 days were significantly greater than those fed otherwise.

The summary also noted that heavy steer calves started on the non-roughage mixture at 600 pounds developed intestinal trouble, while steers started on

Insurance Fieldmen Attend Special Training Session

Some two dozen fieldmen from Idaho, Oregon, Utah and Washington attended a special three-day training clinic this week at Twin Falls city hall. The clinic was conducted by the federal crop insurance corporation. The clinic was geared to crop adjusters and, in addition to explaining adjustment procedures, sample problems were thrown at the fieldmen testing their ability to handle certain situations.

Special representatives attending the session included Forrest Boerner, adjustment trainer, Bismarck, N.D.; C. F. Lawson, state director, Spokane, and Kenneth Tollefson, Washington, representative of steers being finished for market.

The report also said: "The feeding of an antibiotic at the rate of 70 milligrams per steer per day did not improve the rate and economy of gains over those steers fed the same ration without the antibiotic."

The addition of diethylstilbestrol to the various rations for steers did not increase the rate of gain. The steers fed the diethylstilbestrol had a lower feed cost per 100 pounds of gain. There was no interrelationship between vitamin-A, antibiotic and diethylstilbestrol as measured by the rate and economy of gains.

With relation to the amount of protein, the study showed that steers fed the 18 per cent protein ration made significantly greater gains than steers fed the 12 per cent protein ration.

MASSIVE RECONSTRUCTION of the Amalgamated Sugar company's Paul factory is under way. A second tall silo similar to the one erected a year ago will be constructed. Also included are a new warehouse and furnace. The plant when completed will be the second largest in the United States. (Times-News photo)

Paul Factory Will Be One Of Largest in U. S., World

TWIN FALLS, May 22—When present expansion plans are completed, the Paul factory of the Amalgamated Sugar company will be the largest such factory in the United States. It also will be the third largest in the world of the largest of Amalgamated's five plants.

According to Ernest Blauer, plant manager, construction is well advanced. A second tall silo, steel silo will be constructed on the site. Last season men and equipment from Chicago Bridge and Iron company erected a Wyobull silo in the southwest corner of the factory. This year a second silo will go up. The silo will handle all sugar.

A pellet warehouse will be constructed on the west side of the main factory.

The improvement will almost double the capacity of the facility, boosting plant capacity to 7,000 tons per day.

The enlargement is necessitating other changes. For example, a new natural gas line will be installed, new furnaces will be placed and as much automation as possible will be one of the features of the plant.

Usually this time of year the sugar factories are quiet, but at present there are more men employed at the Paul plant than at the height of the sugar campaign.

The enlargement is more than necessary. The Iginí-Casala area will harvest some 40,000 acres of sugar beets this fall, an increase of 10,000 acres. While farmers get off to a slow start, Blauer reports the crop is looking better every day.

He estimates thinning will be at a minimum; about 50 per cent of the crop can be thinned with long-handled hoes and about 20 per cent of the crop is under chemical treatment for control of weeds.

Meeting Set

Twin Falls County Agent Donald Youds said a bean blight identification meeting will be held Monday at the Jerome Grange hall. There will be two sessions, each two hours long.

The morning session will begin at 10 with another session at 3 p.m. Dr. Harry Fenwick, extension pathologist, and Dr. Leslie Dean, University of Idaho plant breeder, will conduct the sessions. The meetings are open to all bean fieldmen and interested parties.

PRICES ARE DOWN

BOJSE, May 22—Slaughter steers and heifers sold steady to 50 cents lower at major livestock terminals, making this the fifth consecutive week of declining prices, said the agriculture statistical service.

University Program Set For 4-H Meet

The 4-H club congress on the University of Idaho campus is all set for the week of June 21-26 this year, says Olan Genn, Twin Falls county agent.

Applications are available at the county agent's office for eligible members until June 9. After the applications are received an orientation meeting will be held for all those planning to attend from Twin Falls county. The week's program will be discussed and plans made for the county delegation to take full advantage of the training being offered.

A choice of 36 courses will be offered this year from which each participant will select two. The courses range from social etiquette for boys only to genetics, Genn said.

Besides valuable training throughout the week-long stay these older 4-H members actually experience what it is like to attend college. They live in dormitories and attend scheduled classes each day the same as they will when they enter college.

The total cost is $35, which includes round trip transportation by bus, meals, lodging, supplies and insurance, Genn said.

Top Farmers Are Named by Civic Group

MADISON, Wis., May 21 (AP)—Four farmers from Indiana, North Dakota, South Carolina and Texas have been chosen as America's outstanding young farmers.

The competition, which began with 10,000 nominees and had boiled down to 45 state entries, was sponsored by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce and the National Gas Market Development Council.

Honored for operating successful farming operations and for civic leadership were: Marvin Dillman, 35, Twelve Mile, Ind.; Bill Lane, 35, Comanche, Tex.; Sam McGregor, 34, Hopkins, S.C. and Steve Belmer, 35, Bordulac, N.D.

Dillman runs his own farm and helps a neighbor who lost both hands in a farm accident.

Lane converted his beef farm into a profitable dairy operation, beating a drought.

McGregor developed his dairy herd, which twice has been his county's highest producer, after fighting off a disease in the herd.

Belmer, an insurance agent, runs a 6,080-acre cattle operation.

With greater emphasis being put on carcass quality, today's animal science majors are being trained to see in the live animal the carcass that will hang in the meat cooler after slaughter.

The contest had two divisions—one to evaluate the live animals on foot, followed by another evaluating the carcasses of these same animals the next day.

In the live animal evaluation work Idaho's gold team took second place. A Washington State team won first and Chico State, representing northern California took third. Gene Gibson, Idaho's gold team, made fourth highest score in placing the live animals.

Idaho Farm Labor Force Is Dropping

BOISE, May 22—An estimated 64,000 persons were employed on Idaho farms during the week of April 19-25, reports crop reporting service. This is 1,000 fewer or two per cent below the comparable period of last year and 9,000 workers or seven per cent below the 1954-57 average. Family workers total 47,000 which is 1,000 fewer than last year.

Hired workers on Idaho farms were set at 15,000, the same as last year but below average. Optimizing cool weather for the season has hindered farming activities in some areas.

However, ground preparation, planting and ditch cleaning are going full scale as weather permits.

Pruning of fruit orchards and thinning sugar beets are the major activities in southeastern Idaho, as well as usual ground preparation and seeding.

Farm employment nationally during the survey week of April 19-25 was up 15 per cent from a month earlier, but was about five per cent below the same period in 1963. The number of farm workers during the 1964 survey period totaled 6,088,000, of which

4,680,000 were family workers and 1,418,000 were hired workers. The number of family workers rose 11 per cent above the previous month but dropped four per cent below last year's level. The number of hired farm workers increased about 22 per cent over March, but was down eight per cent from a year earlier. Total farm employment during April declined from March's level more than in recent years.

mainly because of unusually cool weather accompanied by snow and rains during March which caused many farmers to get behind in their work.

WASHINGTON, May 22—1963 milk production was 11.3 billion pounds, an increase of one per cent over 1962, the U. S. Department of Agriculture said.

Twin Falls Feed and Ice Sold; Firm Began in 1905

F. F. Sande, who first came to Twin Falls in 1928 to drive an ice wagon, this week announced the sale of the Twin Falls Feed and Ice company to the Sande family.

While here Edgar announced that Jerre Cover, manager, Security Seed company, will be the new manager of the Twin Falls Feed and Ice company. According to Cover, a merger of the two companies is likely in the near future, but this will depend on a study of the overall business operations.

The sale was concluded this week. The company has been in the Sande family for more than a half century. Cover will manage the company. Sale price was not disclosed. (Times-News photo) and procedure are planned at this time, said Edgar.

"We will continue to serve the residents of Twin Falls in the same manner as has been done in the past," he declared.

Sande, in commenting on the transaction, urged company patrons to support the new owners. He expressed his sincerest thanks for a half a century of support and growth.

"I wish to thank my many friends over the years who have come here to do business; I sincerely appreciate it. As there are no changes planned in the operation of the business, I urge our old customers to support Edgar and Cover," he said.

The company has been in the same location since its beginning in 1905. It has expanded several times, modernizing to meet the changes. At one time the firm employed five ice wagons and had constructed a large ice pond north of the existing hospital. As the demand for ice went down, the company expanded its seed and feed section.

Sande's immediate plans call for him to "get caught-up on" fishing, visiting and taking care of other business interests.

seed—the first seeds being mainly alfalfa and grass. By 1928 the firm was handling bean seeds and had installed cleaning equipment.

The sale price was not disclosed.

Sande's immediate plans call for him to "get caught-up on" fishing, visiting and taking care of other business interests.

Castleford Boy Places in Judging

CANTLEFORD, May 22—James Gregg, Castleford senior and president of the Castleford FFA chapter the past year as well as a member of many judging teams, has placed third in the junior winners' class of the 34 annual Hoard's Dairyman cow judging contest held recently.

Gregg scored a 486 out of a possible 500 points. There were junior entries from all 50 states.

Leslie Jackson, Castleford vocational agriculture instructor, won second prize in the vocational agriculture division with 1,333 entries from all 50 states. Jackson is a graduate of the University of Idaho and is past president of the Idaho Vocational Association. He has coached several winning judging teams and serves as a judge at numerous county fairs.

Farmers Will Not See Certificates Referred to in U.S. Wheat Program

BOISE, May 22—Farmers probably will not see the marketing certificates that are referred to in discussions of the wheat program for which the sign-up period ends today. The sign-up period was extended one week, according to a USDA announcement.

Actually, said economists of the University of Idaho extension service in an analysis of the procedure, neither the domestic marketing certificates (worth 70 cents per bushel) nor the export marketing certificates (worth 25 cents per bushel) will be issued to farmers. Instead, cash payments will be made to farmers who are in full compliance with the 1964 program.

Farmers will receive payment at the rate of 70 cents per bushel for their share of the domestic food market. In addition, they will be paid 25 cents per bushel for their share of the export market. To determine the amount of these payments, farmers would take 45 per cent of the normal production from their 1964 allotment times the respective amount per bushel. A shorter method is to add the payments per bushel—70 cents and 25 cents—and multiply the resulting 95 cents times 45 per cent of normal production on the 1964 acreage allotment.

Farmers need not be concerned, the economists said, that they do not see the certificates. Processors and exporters are involved. Processors will make a payment of 70 cents for each bushel they process from the 1964 crop. Exporters will pay 25 cents for each bushel they export.

Exporters will continue to get a subsidy as long as the world price is below the U.S. price. Therefore, exporters may find a substantial portion of the 25 cents per bushel is offset by the subsidy. If the world price goes above the U.S. market, exporters will get no subsidy, but will still have to pay 25 cents a bushel.

The department of agriculture has made provision for the transfer from the old wheat crop to the 1964 crop. To protect supplies of old-crop wheat in storage, processors must certify the amount they own as of May 23. This figure will be subject to not be transferred and will be valid only to cover wheat processed from July 1 to Aug. 31, after which 1964 production should be available in all areas. The department will make public after July 1 the amount of lower-cost certificates sold to each processor.

Survey System Is Expanded

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—The agriculture department is operating its survey system for collecting information on crops and livestock to all 48 continental states this month. In past years, the department's reports on crop acreages, live stock production, and farm wages were gathered by mail. Now, for the first time, all states will be covered by an improved system in which the mail information is backed up by a scientific on-the-farm survey. Officials said about 20,000 farms around the nation will be visited in the survey program.

certification by the department. The processors will be eligible for wheat certificates at the reduced cost of 18 per bushel on the certified amount. The 18-cent payment or certificate on old-crop wheat added to the $1.22 national support price for 1963-crop wheat brings the total to $1.40 per bushel. That is the same amount as the total support level for the domestic marketing share of the 1964 crop. The latter figure is reached by adding $1.20 national loan rate to 70 cents for the marketing payment. The 18-cent certificate may
