Hoffa Trial Missing Man Discovered

CHICAGO, June 22 (AP) — The government said today it had found a missing witness in a James R. Hoffa 25 million dollar fraud trial in a Miami hospital.

Asst. U. S. Atty. William O. Bitman said the witness, Eric Blinkel, is undergoing treatment for a heart condition. He said the government is seeking court order in Miami for a doctor to examine Blinkel and determine whether he is well enough to testify.

Blinkel is chief bookkeeper for Cal Kovens Construction Corporation, Miami. Calvin Kovens, head of the firm, in one of seven men charged with Hoffa's $25 million "kickback" scheme and exchanging union pension fund by fraudulent means and diverting 1.7 million of it to their own purposes.

Bitman revealed last week that the witness had been subpoenaed shortly after he was subpoenaed early this month to appear at Hoffa's Chicago trial.

Swedes Ask Russ Blunt Questions

STOCKHOLM, June 22 (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev arrived in the capital of neutral Sweden today. He was met by newspaper demands for information on the fate of a Swedish diplomat captured by the Russians in 1945.

Khrushchev and his wife, Nina, came ashore in a Swedish motor torpedo boat after sailing through the Baltic sea from Denmark in the Soviet liner Bashkiria.

It was a gray, chilly day—and Khrushchev's welcome from Swedish newspapers was chilly, too.

In big headlines and outspoken words they demanded an official statement from him on the fate of Raoul Wallenberg, Swedish diplomat who was arrested by Soviet troops in Hungary and has not been heard of since.

Wallenberg was traced to the Soviet Union and the Swedish government demanded his return. The Russians for years maintained that they knew nothing about Wallenberg but in 1967 admitted he had been imprisoned in Russia and claimed he died in Lubyanka prison in Moscow in 1947.

Subsequently the Swedish government found increasing evidence that Wallenberg was alive. He was said to be in a prison in Vladimir, 12 miles east of Moscow, as late as 1954.

The Soviet leader sent a radio message from his ship requesting a postponement of political talks scheduled for this afternoon.

Khrushchev gave no reason. But Swedish officials privately hazarded the guess that he was a weary man after his visit to Denmark.

Tage Erlander, Sweden's Socialist premier, said on the eve of Khrushchev's arrival that the country would not be diverted from its neutralist policy and would oppose any attempt to change "the status quo in Europe."

Foreign Minister Torsten Nilsson stressed the point at a government reception last night—indicating that Sweden would welcome the news that Khrushchev's political salesmanship that Denmark showed him.

Awaiting the Soviet premier were 5,000 Swedish policemen, many of them armed with newly-issued pistols. It was Sweden's biggest security drive of modern times.

Leaflets and posters denouncing Khrushchev as a murderer and liar were scattered through the streets of Stockholm. Some flayed Khrushchev as the "butcher of Budapest."

Pope Marks Anniversary As Leader

VATICAN CITY, June 22 (AP)—Pope Paul VI marked his first anniversary as head of the Roman Catholic church yesterday with a mass, a visit to a college and an appeal for support for the world.

In a brief speech to people assembled in St. Peter's square, the pope prayed for peace and a "great mission" of searching for world peace.

The 67-year-old pontiff noted that a year ago 70 cardinals with him in the papal chapel had chosen him to succeed John XXIII on the throne of St. Peter.

Twin Falls Places Third in State's FFA Judging Contests at University

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, June 22—Sweetenakes winners in the annual state Future Farmers judging contests at the University of Idaho announced today are Fruitland, first; Meridian, second, and Twin Falls, third.

State FFA President Larry Craig, advisor, said the contests were unusually close, with Fruitland taking only one first in an individual event, but consistently scoring in the various contests to win on total points.

Preston, represented by team members Robert Owen, Eddie Moser and Van Christensen, took first place in livestock. Meridian and Hagerman won second and third places.

The Payette dairy products judging team, composed of Larry Mitchell, Rick Royston and Mike Frazier, won over all other competition in that area. Jerome

Nearly 100 Die In Boat Mishap

BANGKOK, Thailand, June 22 (AP)—Nearly 100 people were believed drowned when their boat capsized in southern Thailand Thursday night, it was reported today.

Sketchy reports reaching Bangkok said the motorboat loaded with about 100 passengers and goods turned over in the Pakpanang river while most aboard were sleeping. A few survivors were reported.

Wendell took first in poultry with a team made up of Randy Nierfeinger, David Francis and Lester Holan. Firth and West Mindoka took second and third.

All competition in crops judging was headed by Walker's team of Arthur Bhoemaker, Norman Wade and Leo Peterson. Twin Falls and Preston took second and third places in the crops contest.

The victorious team in meats judging was Fruitland. Team mates were Tom Church, Jim Noyes and Eldon Nettis. Second and third were Payette and Wendell.

By ANDREW TULLY
DUESSELDORF, Germany, June 22—Lyncon Johnson could use the problem that's bothering West German Chancellor, Ludwig Erhard, too full and empty.

Today, West German industry is looking for workers to fill more than 600,000 vacant jobs. By the end of 1964, another 500,000 jobs will be going begging. Underneath the surface of these new workers, will have to come from abroad, and that, curiously, is all right with the prosperous industrialist.

Foreign workers have saved the West German economy from complete labor starvation. There are more than a million of them now working in the federal republic—Italians, Spaniards, Turks, Greeks and Moroccans—and they have made their employers very happy. In most industries, their absentee rate is half that of the German workers, and because they are eager to work overtime, most of these so-called guestworkers, or guest workers, earn more money than Germans in the same jobs.

HAVE FOR HOMELANDS—Every 10th worker in the metal industry in Germany, and many of them, have become foreign. Most of them, too, are even thrilled that the frugal Germans. A chemical plant director here was telling me at dinner the other night about Turks and Greeks in his plant who save as much as $4,000 a year toward the buying of agricultural machinery for their family farms back home.

Ironically, West Germany now wishes it had more refugees from communism on its hands. During the first few postwar years, the Bonn government regarded the same 10 million German refugees from red countries as a national disgrace. It is supported by the 10 million now negotiating eagerly with communist bloc states to arrange the return of the Germans.

OTHERS' INFLATION HELPS—Business, of course, is booming—Exports—100 per cent in 1963 and the first quarter showed a further increase of 25 per cent. West Germany's trade surplus for 1964 will be at a record high, running to about 2.5 billion dollars, with nearly 50 per cent resulting from trade within the European Common Market.

One of the principal reasons for this is rising inflation in neighboring countries, such as Italy and France. Rising prices in other Common Market countries have made German goods more attractive to buyers, and the problem in the next year or two will be to maintain this advantage.

LABOR TEST IN FALL—Curiously, West Germany's labor shortage has not yet resulted in any upward wage-price spiral. Or perhaps it is not so curious. German labor unions are much less militant than those in the United States, and German employers are a lot tougher in dealing with them. It is almost unheard of for industry to agree to renegotiate a labor contract.

However, the West German economy will be put to a stern test next fall, when several of the most powerful unions will negotiate new contracts. Some labor leaders, especially in the metal plants, some labor leaders, are talking about a 10 per cent wage increase down the line. Bonn's economists shudder at such talk; they say that even an eight per cent boost would set off a flood of price increases.

That, of course, is why big business is scouring the foreign bookshelves for new workers. It's hard to get tough with a wage slave when he can get another job next door.

Views of Others

THEIR GOES HAYDEN LAKE
Our old-fashioned attitude toward the stewardship of public recreation lands evidently is going to have to give way before the pressure of population.

Land Commissioner O. J. Huxton told the state land board yesterday that property owners around the Hayden Lake area, the most attractive spots in the Panhandle, have been enlarging their properties by dumping fill material into the lake. One owner, he said, has built a concrete wall 75 feet into the water to hold the material he has dumped. The lake at Hayden Lake is a public property. Huxton suggested that the state may have to take legal action to establish its control over lakes and streams.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie observed that sooner or later "this board is going to have to exist in a public place. The little nibbles people take here and there around the lakes may not seem to amount to much at the time, but if they are not checked that can do tremendous damage over a period of years. And every bit of the land that is gained by private interests is a gain at the expense of the whole public, whose lake it is—or was."

People in the San Francisco area now are wondering whatever happened to much of San Francisco Bay. Whole coves have disappeared, filled in to provide additional residential sites at low cost to the developers, and the diminution of the bay continues constantly. A movement now is under way to move what is left, but thousands of acres of recreational water and shoreline have been lost forever.

EGG ON ITS FACE
Canyon county's delegation to the State GOP assembly last week-end in Idaho Falls came home with egg on its face. Robert E. Smylie, county commissioner, was the only one to vote in support of help with it off.

There is a certain mystery as to why a Canyon county delegation would embarrass a governor who hails from the same county—the county seat, yet—who has held sway for three decades who, with his hand on the reins of administration, sits at a low cost to the developers, and the diminution of the bay continues constantly. A movement now is under way to move what is left, but thousands of acres of recreational water and shoreline have been lost forever.

Then a gentle little old man came along and persuaded this mob into submission and back to work.

Shifting Political Sands

POT SHOTS

NO STRANGERS
For the last two or three years, there has been plenty of talk about how Gov. Robert E. Smylie and U. S. Sen. Len Jordan didn't particularly get along. In fact, some folks have gone so far as to say they're bitter political enemies.

Yet there's one story making the rounds that indicates both of them enjoy a good laugh, even at the expense of themselves. It's supposed to have happened in a hotel when the Idaho delegation went back to Minnesota to talk to Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing company officials at the possibility of a 3-M plant in Twin Falls.

Governor Smylie and Senator Jordan were waiting for an elevator and politely ignoring each other. The elevator stopped when Mike Gray, Twin Falls, came along. Gray, who's an assistant to Rep. Ralph Harding, sized up the situation, said, "Senator Jordan, I'd like you to meet Governor Smylie."

They shook hands and laughed.

Anyway, that's the way the story goes.

TAYLOR'S VIEWS ON WORLD NEWS

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR
Unknown to the public, and presumably to the many who greet him, President Johnson has a private poll under his belt on Bobby Kennedy. "It could make an empty drum out of Bobby's bills for security, the way an impeccable Johnson confidant described this to me.

Our lives, and the future of the United States, enter heavily here. Henry J. Taylor This place, the man standing for perhaps eight years "one heart beat from the presidency," may prove more consequential than the Republican presidential nomination itself.

For his own purposes the President has sent Lee Harvey Oswald and other usual Democratic pollsters. The finding shows Mr. Johnson that he would run better nationally with Sen. Hubert Humphrey on his ticket than with Bobby Kennedy.

Other influences are involved, including who the Republicans nominate, but if this preference over Bobby—which coincides with Mr. Johnson's own preference—holds firm, Mr. Johnson has every reason to squelch any claim that he must choose Bobby.

The President has certainly behaved decently in trying to soften public revelations, including those that he has in this column last February, detailing the attorney general's carefully paced bill to force his acceptance on Mr. Johnson. He's even been willing to refer on TV to Bobby's underdog pulchritude as "Newspaper Professor" and "a very generous turn of the cheek. This has not been, and is not being, reciprocated.

Psychologically, it seems, Bobby Kennedy still does not accept Lyndon Johnson as President of the United States, but more as an interloper who arrived in the White House on the Kennedy coattails. Johnson confidants call attention to Bobby's boom companion-writer friend Paul Myers' slip-up in a Saturday Evening Post article: "When Bobby Kennedy speaks of the President he means John Fitzgerald Kennedy; otherwise it is 'President Johnson.'" Outspoken on the floor, the Curia conservatives resorted to backstage maneuvers—and succeeded at least in postponing action on the two statements until the third session.

Dr. Brown ends his book with an affirmation of faith that the council will resume its forward movement at this fall's session.

The two other authors are Catholics who apparently feel that due regard for the virtue of prudence requires them to write against Kennedy's bill. The "Kavler Rymne" no longer is regarded as a great mystery by those who are aware that one of the council's expert consultants is a professor of church history at Catholic university in Washington, D.C., the Rev. Xavier Murphy, whose mother's maiden name was Rymne. But the grapevine has not yet penetrated the secret of "Michael Serafin," who is identified by the publisher only as a Catholic diplomat with wide acquaintance in the Vatican.

"Serafin" propounds the gloomy thesis that Pope Paul VI caved in under pressure from the Curia conservatives, who persuaded him that he really would go communist if the church became too "liberal." Without knowing who "Serafin" is, it is impossible to evaluate his credentials.

"Kavler Rymne" is a much more reliable reporter. He does not believe that Pope Paul VI deserted the progressives. On the contrary, he says, the pope's reluctance to intervene in council proceedings was a "matter of principle, based on the conviction that the pope should not be seen to be meddling in the affairs of the papal throne would repudiate the very point that the council's progressives were trying to make about bishops having a real voice in the decisions of the church."

But the pope does not understand the power of what he calls "the intransigent Curialist party." He voices the "strong suspicion" that it includes the Vatican secretary of state, Cardinal Giovanni Montini, as well as the council's secretary general, Archbishop Pericle Felici.

Kennedy, Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy and Senator Ted—all the shoulder-to-shoulder—challenged him. "You must do this to me," Robert Kennedy said to me. Then the three marched out of the office. Publicized details notwithstanding, the attorney general refused to speak to the press for a solid month thereafter.

Sometimes later Mr. Johnson made a magnificent outlay of the late President's money, and heartily, at a Kennedy exhibit. Yet during the subsequent recovery with all the Kennedy family in the White House, Kennedy came over to greet the President. His only appreciation was a small scrawled card passed by someone: "Thanks, Bobby."

And then most lately at the June 10 governors' conference in Cleveland, Bobby got his hat through Gov. Jerry Reynolds of Wisconsin. The play that he had to have, this ally and three other Democratic governors get the conference to endorse Robert Kennedy for vice president—just as the attorney general had done (and failed) to get Walter Reuther to have him endorsed by the United Automobile Workers convention in May.

Reynolds ran interference for Bobby but Johnson had Tex. Gov. John Connally, who has the Cleveland caucus and now will not need until the day before the Democratic national convention.

As usual with a Kennedy operation, so long as it proceeds at his level—a one strategic and one operational. In addition to making certain of his own elevation to the presidency in case anything happens to Johnson after the election, Bobby is also making certain of his own nomination by the Aug. 24 Atlantic City convention in the event anything should happen to LBJ before that convention.

But where are the moralists, the solidly professing, who once all the while? Mr. Johnson is the man who must make the election run. The Republicans will be assaulting him. He is the right man for the job. He is the man who is holding the world's hardest job. He is not including having his palace cloistered by a carefully placed public-political relations people staged from within his office. Bobby is not a man who will not need until the day before the Democratic national convention.

The famous opening sentence of Cicero's "First Catilinarian": "How long will you allow the people to be deceived by the President has a right to Bobby Kennedy that quality.

Q—Our 11-year-old son complains of a headache on both sides of his head. He says he gets it often, but only when he has to do to talk about it. Is this serious?
A—There are many causes for headaches in children. Your son gets headaches often. He should have a thorough examination. Common causes include Dr. Brandstadt fatigue, emotional upsets, eyestrain and chronic sinusitis. From this distance, I can be sure of only one thing: there are not migraines. Although migraines usually starts in childhood, it affects only one side of the head.

Q—What would be the side effects of cortisone when given to a 2-year-old child over an extended length of time?
A—Much would depend on the cause for which this drug is given. In general, prolonged use might "alter" metabolism, abnormal fat deposits, waterlogging, pimples, growth of hair on the face, dryness of the skin, thinning of the hair on the scalp, poor resistance to infection and delayed wound healing. I am sure your doctor would not give this drug to a 2-year-old to treat the quack of a toothache. Discontinuance of the drug when it is done, must be gradual.

Q—My son has agammaglobulinemia. What is it and what is the treatment?
A—This is a deficiency of gamma globulin in the blood. The condition is inherited by the mother, but is seen only in boys. Because gamma globulin helps us to fight infections, children with this deficiency get repeated infections and this is hard for them to get over.

The victims are especially susceptible to infections involving their joints. Injections of gamma globulin are given in a regular schedule. A transfusion of whole blood is not sufficient to help, but no permanent cure is known.

Q—Is it safe for a mother with asthma to breast feed her baby?
A—It is not only safe, but preferable. When babies develop asthma and other allergic tendencies usually get them from early infections or cow's milk.

Wendell Sets $100 Aid for Holiday Fete

WENDELL, June 22—Wendell Chamber of Commerce will send $100 to the Jerome Chamber of Commerce to assist with expenses of the July 4 celebration. Arrangements are being made to enter four girls from the Wendell community in the beauty contest. Sponsoring organizations will be the chamber, Lion club, firemen and the American Legion post.

Marshall Howden, vice president, appointed Reed McClintock and Philip Hirtel to be in charge of the float committee for the parade in Jerome.

Action was taken to assist with transportation expenses for Basie Cesarunas, state historian and president of the local Future Homemakers of America, to attend the National FFA convention next month in Chicago.

V. SARAJEVO: Royalty Walks into a Trap

Written for Newspaper-Enterprise Association By PHILIP VAN DOREN STERN Illustrated By John Lane

There was no urgent reason for Archduke Franz Ferdinand, heir to the Austrian throne, to go to Sarajevo to see the military maneuvers being held in Bosnia. He almost called the journey off; when he decided to proceed, the train trip became strangely difficult. His private parlor car went out of commission because a wheel developed a hot box. Farther along the route, the electric wiring in the substitute car stopped working, so candles had to be used. The Archduke said that their light made the occasion look like a funeral.

The man who was supposed to succeed his uncle, 84-year-old Emperor Franz Joseph I, knew that he was unpopular at home and would be hated in Sarajevo. Franz Ferdinand was cold, aloof, arrogant and withdrawn. He was at his best with a gun in hand, for he was a crack shot and a mass slayer of game. He was also a fabulous collector of nearly 4,000 images of St. George and the Dragon. This distant aristocrat, amazingly enough, had married against his uncle's wishes and was generally devoted to his morganatic wife Sophie and their children who could never hope to inherit the throne.

Sophie stayed at a spa near Sarajevo while her royal husband attended the maneuvers. On Sunday morning, June 28, 1914, they took a train to the capital where they were to be received at the City Hall and have lunch at the Governor's Residence.

Waiting for them in Sarajevo was not one but seven assassins. The three leaders were only 19 years old, from poor homes where their childhoods had been unhappy, and all three were suffering from the same disease—tuberculosis. Believing that they had not long to live, they wanted to sell their lives dearly. They thought that killing the Archduke would free their country from the Austrian yoke. They were Serbian patriots willing to do and die. They carried phials of cyanide so they could commit suicide when captured. They also had small government manufactured bombs and good imported revolvers.

They were eager, idealistic patriots, but this was not their plot. They were merely pawns in it; the first of the millions of pawns that were about to be pushed off Europe's chessboard. The plot had been originated by the chief of the Serbian Intelligence Department who was also a leader of the secret Black Hand organization. He wanted the Archduke put out of the way because he thought his plans for re-organizing Austria-Hungary might improve the lot of its South Slavs so much that they would lose interest in making Serbia great.

This was sheer nonsense; so was the plot. But the bombs and the pistols were very real. The Archduke and his wife arrived in Sarajevo at 10 a.m. The next hour was to wreck Europe in an explosion that would affect the entire world.

King Plans Quick Test On Race Law

CHICAGO, June 22 (AP)—Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., said yesterday that integration leaders will the court tests of the senate-approved civil rights bill as soon as it becomes law.

King said the Southern Christian Leadership conference which he heads, will make court tests of the public accommodations section of the bill in Montgomery, Birmingham, Cuddeon, Selma and Tuscaloosa, Ala., Albany, Ga., and St. Augustine, Fla.

He also told a news conference that he does not agree with Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., that the civil rights bill is unconstitutional. Goldwater voted against the bill in Friday senate action.

King said "It is unfortunate that Goldwater has made that statement. The senator could find it more difficult to carry South than perhaps he had thought."

King later told a rally of estimated 70,000 persons in the city field that the civil rights bill "will lift millions of afflicted people from the fall of despondency to the buoyancy of hope."

King warned that passage of the bill "does not mean we have reached the promised land for civil rights."

"We must continue to engage in demonstrations, we must continue to have boycotts, we must make use of all the resources at our disposal, we must go to the ballot box."

Scranton to Help Define Party Issues

KANSAS CITY, June 22 (AP)—Gov. George Romney, Mich., said last night that Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton's candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination will help define the issues in the 1964 campaign.

"I believe Governor Scranton's candidacy focuses more attention on the platform," Romney said, "and consequently it is more likely that the convention will give the attention it should give to the party's platform."

Romney was interviewed at the Kansas City airport when he arrived for a conference of Midwestern governors on economic and industrial development, opening today.

The Michigan governor said he has given no consideration to being a candidate for vice president. He said his sole responsibility at the Republican national convention next month in San Francisco is to be the leader of an uncommitted Michigan delegation.

British Plan Bus Contract

LONDON, June 22 (AP)—The Leyland motor firm said today it plans to sign a new deal to sell 500 more buses to Cuba soon.

Leyland, a major British manufacturer of heavy vehicles, previously agreed to sell 450 buses to Cuba under a contract worth about 10 million dollars.

The first buses-for-Cuba deal caused a furor in Washington when it was announced earlier this year.

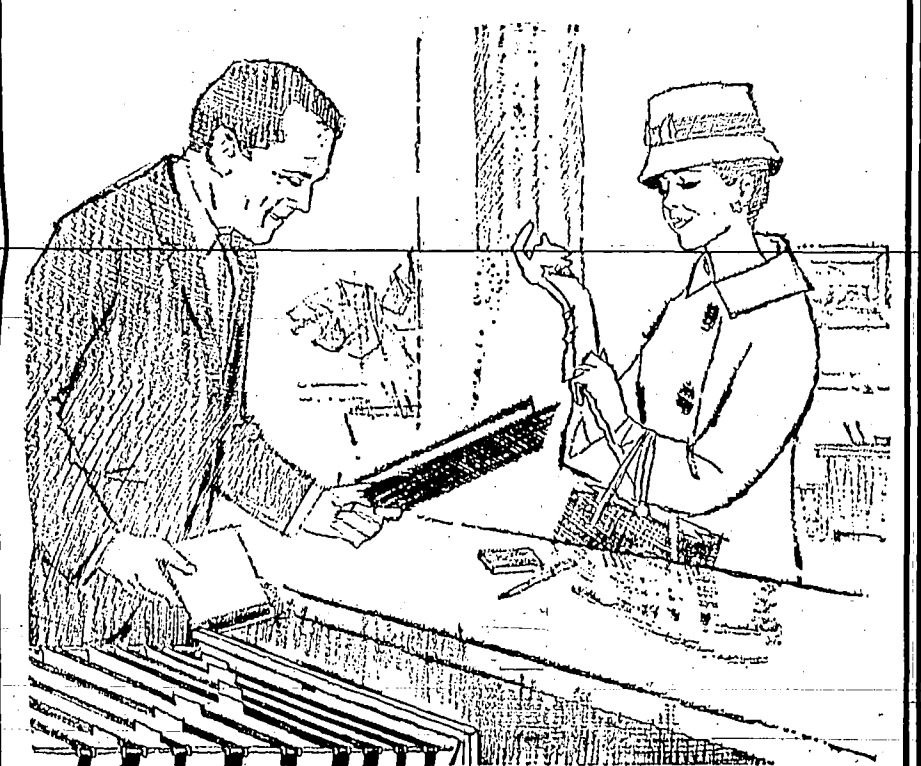

The sale of another load of buses to Fidel Castro is certain to cause new U. S. government resentment, according to diplomatic observers.

The first of the 450 buses sold under the original contract are expected to be shipped to Cuba "towards the end of the month," the Leyland spokesman said.

Olive Vreath Mold
1 No. 2 can, 2 1/2 cups, crushed pineapple
1 3-ounce package lina gelatin
1/2 cup grated American cheese
1/2 cup chopped pimiento
1/2 cup finely chopped celery
2 1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
Small stuffed olives, sliced

More of Knee Displayed in Fall Fashions

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—More breezy blouses and skirts are in the offing in fall fashions. New York designers have shortened skirts to the extent that in some collections the whole knee is on display. To go with sexy blouses, to backlines, charmingly lace by the thousands of yards, velvet making a comeback, trousered suits, and the fifty flounce mostly for evening but showing up occasionally for day.

Designer Vera Maxwell, for instance, attached a foot-wide flounce of flat-pressed, crescent-shaped pleats to a daytime wool dress which was collarless and sleeveless and hanging free of the figure.

Harvey Bern showed a number of short formal in Chanelly lace with double tiers of ruffles forming a flirt skirt or blouse.

The manufacturer Larry Aldrich, president of the New York couture group of designers, commented at the opening of his collection that "the revealing neckline and the flounce from under the full look for late day."

Aldrich also observed that "black velvet is in for fall." A number of other manufacturers agreed, showing not only black but ruby red and navy velvet for dinner suits and dresses.

Plaine was one way designers pronounced the bare look for winter evenings. The glint of skin beneath was suggested another way—by lining sheer fabrics with nude crepes or marquisettes. Designer Luis Estevez, for instance, showed at-home trousers in chiffon lace over skin-toned crepe.

Estevez was one of the designers to haul daytime skirts upward. They were higher than last season also at Christian Dior-New York. And at Monte-Carlo and Prunay, designer Jacques Duffe showed skirts on daytime suits well above the knee.

Car Flies in Space, but Lands Safely

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 22 (AP)—A plane over the Tennessee driver opened unexpectedly here last night and a car was thrown over the edge, falling through the air and crashing on the other side.

The driver of a 1958 station wagon, was not injured, but his car was damaged heavily in the incident on the Washington side.

The bridge connects Stratford to this shoreline community from the Tennessee. At the point where the bridge opened, the car fell to the water, estimated to be about 60 feet.

Attendee Robert C. Woodcock of Memphis, Tenn., said he may have accidentally tripped a dead-end switch or that there may have been a malfunction, according to police.

There was no other traffic in the other direction of the bridge.

Meat Import Cut Wisdom Questioned

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—The Johnson administration is attempting to line up producers of other agricultural products in a fight against a new measure that would restrict imports of meat, especially beef.

Hearings on such legislation have been held before committees of both the house and the senate. Publishing a bill for the legislation, the cattle industry in recent years are largely responsible for deaths in cattle prices last year and this year.

Material being distributed by the agriculture department stresses an administrative-imposed barrier to foreign beef could have widespread harmful repercussions of exports of U.S. farm products.

For example, it says that Texas sold 345 million dollars worth of cotton, soybeans and grain abroad last year compared with an estimated one-half million worth of foreign beef sold in the state.

The department material shows that only 10 states bought foreign beef last year, and the value of the cotton, soybeans and grain they exported. These included the New England states, West Virginia, Wyoming, Utah and Nevada.

These figures show, the department states that it is "not in the interest of ranchers and farmers that we risk the export market for our agricultural commodities by taking unnecessary action in connection with imports of beef. It says legislative restrictions on foreign beef would bring retaliatory restrictions against U.S. farm exports.

Fairview Grange Cancels Session Scheduled July 4

BOHLE, June 22—The regular July 3 meeting was canceled because of the Fourth of July holiday with the next regular meeting set July 17. It was announced when Fairview Grange observed its annual graduates banquet and program Friday evening at the Grange hall.

Graduates honored were Carol Buchanan, business school graduate, and Margaret Noh, Douglas Holt and Richard Latham, high school graduates.

Harold Atkins, master, gave the address of welcome. Each student spoke briefly. The Rev. Dale K. Olson, guest speaker, spoke on "Self-discipline."

The program included vocal selections by Cheryl Becker, Catoletford. In charge of arrangements were the home economics committee with Mrs. Elvin Noh, chairman, and Mrs. T. W. Richmond, lecturer.

Teen Chorale Well-Received In Pre-Tour Concert Event

RICHFIELD, June 22—A pre-tour concert was presented by the Magic Valley Youth for Christ teen chorale at the Richfield high school auditorium Friday evening.

The large audience was impressed by the talented student artists performance of a varied program of spiritual songs.

The concert was highlighted for Richfield by the able direction of the Rev. Paul Winkler, a former Richfield high school music instructor, and the appearance of Tony Ward, Richfield, and Tibi Paulson, Dietrich, Ward, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Ward, is a new recruit to the chorale group, and Miss Paulson is a daughter of former Richfield residents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Paulson, Dietrich. Both performed as soloists.

Mrs. Paul Winkler's assistance in the ensemble presentation of two western numbers also was well received. Jerry Alexander, Shoshone, was guitar accompanist, and Sandra Bristow, Gooding, soprano soloist, for the concert.

Fifteen members of the chorale took part in the Richfield concert with Martin Brown, Gooding, as piano accompanist. Eight group numbers were included, two processional songs, and a dramatic presentation of "The Gravel" with Donald Walkup, Twin Falls, as narrator.

The Rev. Mr. Winkler was piano accompanist for Miss Paulson in a solo number, "My Jesus is Here." The concert finale was "Great Day."

A social hour followed the concert in the home economics room. Mrs. Everett Ward was hostess assisted by Janet Armstrong and Mrs. Theo H. Brush. Mrs. Forrest Armstrong, Mrs. Elmo Patterson, Mrs. Lester Jo-

Lula Graves, Jerome, Dies At Age of 95

JEROME, June 22 — Lula Graves, 95, died Sunday afternoon at St. Bernard hospital following a long illness.

She was born April 14, 1869, in Boone county, Mo. She attended public schools in Missouri and was graduated from the University of Missouri in 1888. She taught school in Missouri until 1903, when she moved to Baker, Ore., where she taught until 1910.

She visited the Jerome area briefly for the 1907 land opening and drew numbers from a churn for the opening. She went to Alaska from Baker in 1910 and was civil engineer, health officer and teacher in an Indian settlement. She returned in 1920 to Jerome where she taught until retiring in 1935.

She was a member of the Methodist church, Eldora and Heights civic clubs, a charter member of the Jerome Garden club, Jerome chapter of Business and Professional Women, Jerome Grange No. 210 and National Grange, Pioneer club and WBS in the Methodist church, and the Order of Eastern Star in Baker.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Laura Burroughs, Beaverton, Ore., and Edna Graves, Spokane, and six nephews and four nieces.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the Home funeral chapel with the Rev. Ralph Fothergill officiating. Concluding services are set in the Jerome cemetery. Friends may call Tuesday and until time of services Wednesday. Memorials may be made to the Memorial library of the Methodist church, Jerome.

Officials Fret as Demand for Silver Grows

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—The world is using more silver than it is producing. And that, say officials and members of congress worried.

The problem was discussed at hearings on legislation to authorize the minting of silver dollars. Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah:

"Free world silver production was 210.5 million ounces in 1963... free world consumption during the same year totaled 412.2 million ounces... that leaves a deficit of 201.7 million ounces for the year."

Robert V. Rowan of the treasury department said, "There are many problems involved and the decisions to be made are exceedingly difficult. Ultimately, of course, unless a radical change in the supply and demand situation should develop—a change which is not out of the question but which it would not seem prudent to count on—the treasury stocks of silver will be exhausted."

Testimony by treasury officials that government mints are unable to keep up with demands for coins prompted the house of representatives to deny an appropriation request for the minting of dollars.

Following loud cries of protest from the West, where silver dollars are a tradition, the senate appropriations committee voted last week to restore the dollar-minting item.

The senate is expected to follow suit. Then the controversy will be taken up by senate-house conferees.

Robert M. Hardy, Jr., president of the Idaho Sunshine Mining company, the nation's biggest silver producer, suggested that a joint senate-house committee on monetary policy be formed to work on legislation to insure adequate supplies of monetary metals.

Testifying for the American Mining congress, Hardy recommended that a crash minting program be inaugurated and that the United States set aside a strategic stockpile of at least 500 million ounces of silver.

J. P. Ryan, precious metals specialist for the U.S. bureau of mines, said the big problem confronting silver has changed in the past 25 years.

The problem once was surplus production and corresponding low metal prices, but now it is shortage despite high prices, he said.

The demand of silver has been increasing steadily. Consumption has increased 400 per cent, but domestic production has been cut in half.

The long term silver problem, according to Ryan, seems to be to find low cost supply sources. He recommends exploration and research to find new uses for silver.

Only a few mines in Idaho are run primarily for the production of silver. In most other mines of the West, silver is mined as a by-product along with lead, zinc and copper.

For this reason, rising prices of silver do not necessarily increase the mining of silver.

Paradoxically, prices of the lead, zinc and copper have more effect on the mining of silver than a rise in silver prices.

High silver prices, however, probably have kept some marginal mines operating which would not run at lower rates.

Bunning Hurls Perfect Game as Phillies Sweep Twin Wins From Mets

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—Philadelphia's Jim Bunning pitched a perfect game against the New York Mets Sunday, retiring all 27 batters he faced in the Phillies' 6-0 victory in the first game of a doubleheader. The Phillies won the second game 8-2, increasing their National League lead to two games over San Francisco. Bunning, who became the first to hurl a no-hitter in both the National and Amer-

Bunning Felt Perfect Game After Fifth

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—"I knew this was something special, I sensed it from the fifth inning on."

These were among the first words spoken by Jim Bunning, pitcher, after he made baseball history Sunday pitching a perfect 6-0 game against the New York Mets, first in regular season play in 42 years.

"I feel wonderful, just wonderful," exclaimed the 33-year-old right-hander acquired by the Phillies in a trade with Detroit last winter.

"I knew I had good stuff all the way," he said. "I threw lots of curves. The ball was moving."

"What a play that Taylor made," Jim shouted. "What a play."

It came in the fifth inning. Jesse Gonder hit a shot into the hole between first and second. Taylor made a spectacular diving stop, and while still on his knees threw to John Herrmann for the out.

"I was aware I was pitching a perfect game from the fifth inning on," said Bunning. "I even kidded about it on the bench and the boys kidded right back. Jim? I don't know if it was."

Gus Triandis, Bunning's catcher, who came with him in the Detroit deal, also was the catcher the afternoon Hoyt Wilhelm pitched his no-hitter against the New York Yankees in 1959.

Which was tougher? Triandis was asked.

"Have you ever tried to catch Wilhelm's knuckler?" he retorted.

"No no-hitter is easy, though," he added. "I had to be careful I didn't call for a wrong pitch. Jim was extra careful, but I think I shook me off at least 10 times."

"He didn't make a wrong pitch all afternoon. His curve has a habit of hanging in the late innings but not today. He struck out the last hitter (Clem Blalock) on three curve balls."

Reds Drop Dodgers but Lose First

Colts Send Braves Into Ninth Place

MILWAUKEE, June 22 (AP)—The Houston Colts sent Milwaukee reeling into ninth place Sunday, winning the second game of a doubleheader 5-4 after Lou Staub's hitting spree paced their 6-2 victory in the opener.

Staub collected four straight hits, including a pair of homers, in powering the Colts in the opener. Ken Johnson saved relief ace Hal Woodchick, combined to stop the Braves in the nightcap.

Angels Drop Indians 4-1 On Errors

LOS ANGELES, June 22 (AP)—Two errors by catcher John Romano led to three unearned runs in the fifth inning and helped Los Angeles to a 4-1 triumph over Cleveland Sunday.

Harvey Haddix of Pittsburgh turned in 12 perfect innings May 23, 1960, against Milwaukee but lost that game in the 13th, 1-0, on an error, a walk and a double by Joe Adcock.

Bunning acquired by the Phillies in a trade with Detroit last winter, also had a no-hitter with the Tigers, when he shut out the Boston Red Sox 3-0 July 20, 1960.

Tom Hughes was the only other in modern times to pitch a no-hitter in both the American and National leagues. Hughes accomplished the feat with the New York Yankees in 1910 and Boston Braves in 1916. Hughes, however, lost the first one 5-0 in 11 innings to Cleveland.

Bunning, who has a record of 7-2, struck out 10 batters and had three ball counts on only two batters.

A great defensive play by second baseman Tony Taylor in the fifth inning, protected Bunning's perfect game.

Jesse Gonder drove a wicked grounder into the hole between first and second in the third. Jim? I don't know if it was."

Gus Triandis, Bunning's catcher, who came with him in the Detroit deal, also was the catcher the afternoon Hoyt Wilhelm pitched his no-hitter against the New York Yankees in 1959.

Which was tougher? Triandis was asked.

Robinson-Led Chiefs Rip Cubs 15-3

POCAHONTO, June 22 (AP)—Eighteenth-year-old Robinson went the distance for Poca Poca Sunday in pitching the Chiefs to a 15-3 opening day Pioneer league win over Treasure Valley.

The 6-foot, 3-inch hurler met trouble in only two innings. He allowed two singles in the third, but the Cubs failed to score. The only inning in which Treasure Valley could score was the sixth when they tallied all three runs.

Hailey Man Given Post in Denver

SALT LAKE CITY, June 21 (AP)—Clavin H. Young, Salt Lake City and Hailey, has been appointed senior engineer for Galbreath mining company at Denver.

Young currently manages the valley silver-lead-zinc mill for Federal Resources corporation, Salt Lake City.

His appointment at Denver was announced by Jack James, vice president of exploration for Galbreath. The firm is developing a broad exploration program in the United States and Canada.

The company's primary properties include the Galena mine, a major producer in the Coeur d'Alene district of Idaho, which is operated by American Smelting and Refining company, and uranium properties in Oklahoma.

Young was superintendent of the Blackbird coal-copper mine at Coaldale for the Galena Mining company for eight years.

COMPLETES BASIC Mrs. John H. Burkhalter, route 1, Buhl, has completed his air force basic military training at Lackland air force base, Tex., and has been selected for technical training. Airman Burkhalter will be trained as a linguage specialist at Indiana university in Bloomington.

Foreign Exchange Student Leaving Jerome Wednesday

JEROME, June 22 — Werner Lippuner, Jerome's second foreign exchange student, will leave Wednesday for Salt Lake City where he will meet other exchange students from the Idaho-Utah district and tour the United States.

The young people will spend five days in Washington, D. C., and meet President Johnson. Another five days will be spent in New York with one day at the World's fair.

Lippuner's ship will sail from New York July 21 and will dock at Rotterdam July 31.

The youth has been the guest of Dr. and Mrs. L. V. Ruelbel during his stay in Jerome.

During the school term, Lippuner was active in many school activities and earned a letter in track. At the annual awards day he was presented a letterman's sweater by the J club and student council.

The young man has been in demand as a speaker, appearing before the Jerome Civic club, WSCB of the Methodist church, Appleton TABCO, Falls City Civic club, BFW club, United Presbyterian association, North Side

Pomona Grange, Girl Scouts and various other organizations.

The American Field Service's Jerome chapter, hosted Lippuner at a dinner. Mrs. Clair Ricketts, secretary of the local AFJ chapter, presented Lippuner a scrapbook, a key chain containing a President Kennedy half-dollar and a book dealing with the late president. He also received a silver dollar bolo tie from Ralph Peters, Jerome Chamber of Commerce vice president.

A wicker roast and surf party honoring Lippuner were held at the North park in Jerome Saturday night.

Young Lippuner stated, "I think this is a wonderful country. I feel I have been accepted by the young people of the community. This acceptance was partly because of our differences, which I feel are good."

"Dr. and Mrs. Ruelbel has done a wonderful job as my host parents and I have been very happy here."

SINO-AFRICAN FACT SIGNED TOKYO, June 22 (AP)—Communist China has signed an agreement for economic and technical cooperation with the new republic of Tanganyika and Zaire.

Young Lippuner stated, "I think this is a wonderful country."
