

Idaho Told State Must Reapportion

BOISE, June 23 (UPI)—Resigned state of Idaho officials put the machinery in motion Tuesday that will reshape state laws to conform to U. S. supreme court decisions on legislative apportionment. Monday's high court order remanding the Idaho reapportionment case to federal district court for decision came as no surprise to Gem state political leaders. The move had been expected since last week's far-reaching decision that directed realignment of both houses of state legislatures on a population basis.

U. S. Plane Flouts Reds, Lands Safely

BERLIN, June 23 (UPI)—A Pan American World Airways jetliner on a direct flight from New York flew over communist East Germany to West Berlin and landed safely despite Soviet charges that such service was unlawful. Pan Am's flight 77 touched down in the divided city without encountering communist aircraft in the central air corridor from West Germany. The Soviet Union protested the flight Monday, saying that the communist East German government had not approved them and that they were therefore illegal. The Soviets said the safety of the flight could not be guaranteed. Today's flight was the first since the war.

U. S., Russ To Cooperate On Desalting

WASHINGTON, June 23 (UPI)—The United States and the Soviet Union have agreed to explore jointly the possibilities of desalting sea water, President Johnson said today. Johnson said a meeting will be held July 14 to review possibilities in this area—including the feasibility of using nuclear energy as a means of accomplishing it. He said the Russian and American representatives will report after the meeting to their countries on how to proceed.

High School Parking Lot To Be Paved

The parking lot at the Twin Falls high school will be paved, Ernest E. England, superintendent of schools, said Tuesday morning. England said this action was approved Monday night during a special meeting of the school board. Charles W. Glatby, Twin Falls engineer, will prepare specifications for the project. About 18,000 square yards will be paved and work on the project is expected to begin Aug. 1. England said, "This will be an excellent improvement at the high school that has long been needed. The school has waited 11 years for this parking lot improvement, and it will be of real benefit to both the school and community. I think the board of trustees merits a vote of thanks for this decision."

Senate Okays Money for Space

WASHINGTON, June 23 (UPI)—The senate has swiftly authorized Monday to a $5,240,250 measure for the nation's space program. The measure would allow 52 million dollars more than the amount voted for the year beginning July 1. But for the first time in the seven-year life of the national aeronautics and space administration the authorization was less than the previous year's budget, which was $5,550,250,000. The bill now goes back to the house. Actual funds to finance the program will come through a separate appropriations measure.

Fraud Trial

CHICAGO, June 23 (UPI)—The United States District Court here today held a $25-million-dollar fraud trial today issued a warrant for the arrest of a "missing" government witness who has been located in a Miami, Fla., hospital. Asst. U.S. Atty. William O. Bittman charged that the witness, Eric Shinkel, "has refused to submit to a government physician for an examination." "This corroborates our belief that he is evading appearing as a witness," Bittman told U.S. District Court Judge Richard B. Austin.

Man Hurt in 30-Foot Fall At Work Site

A 42-year-old Pocatello man is being treated at Magic Valley Memorial hospital for injuries he received during a 30-foot fall at Portland Cement Co. plant, about a fourth of a mile west of South park at 8 a.m. Tuesday. Glen D. Martin was being X-rayed Tuesday morning at the hospital for possible back and head injuries. According to Deputy Sheriff Dennis Hartz, investigating officer, Martin, employed by Atlas Steel, Pocatello, was on a platform at the construction site for the cement firm. Apparently, Hartz said, Martin took a step backwards on the platform and fell through it. Martin landed on his head, shoulders and back. Hartz said Martin fell about 30 feet. He was taken to the hospital by an ambulance.

Letters Favor Goldwater Vote On Rights Bill

WASHINGTON, June 23 (UPI)—Sen. Barry Goldwater's mail has been running at about 100 to one in favor of his vote against the senate civil rights bill. A statement from his office Monday said the mail indicated "deep dissatisfaction" with the right bill. Goldwater aides said the front-running GOP presidential contender has received 2,176 telegrams since his floor speech last week against the bill and that only 23 of these were in favor of the bill and against his position.

All Fireworks Illegal, Residents Of T.F. Are Warned By Police Chief

All fireworks are illegal in Idaho, Police Chief Frank Barnett warned Tuesday. "Fireworks are outlawed by both state law and a local ordinance," Barnett said. He adds the Twin Falls police department intends to enforce the city ordinance. "Only exception to the city ordinance is caps for cap guns. All other types of fireworks are illegal," Barnett points out the state law was passed several years ago following a tragedy at Nampa in which several people died after an explosion in a fireworks stand. Prior to that time, a fireworks stand outside the city limits here exploded, but no one was hurt. "Fireworks are dangerous," Barnett warns. "It is the intent of both the state and local laws to safeguard people against this danger. Anyone who purchases fireworks in another state and

Smylie Drops Bever For Political Activity

BOISE, June 23 (AP)—Dismissal of George Bever, Twin Falls, as a member of the Idaho veterans affairs commission on grounds of political activity was announced today by Gov. Robert E. Smylie. The governor chose Paul C. Brown, Filer, as a successor to Bever. The governor said a number of veterans organizations have complained regarding Bever's activities as a south-central Idaho district chairman for the Republican party. "Political activity is not consistent with service on the veterans commission," Smylie said, "and for this reason I felt a change was advisable."

Bond Levy Voted Down In Cassia

BURLEY, June 23 — Cassia county voters Monday turned down a $800,000 school bond issue, which called for a two-mill levy, and a three-mill levy increase for maintenance and operation. The vote on the two-mill increase, which was to be on a 20-year period, was 1,130 yes to 601 no. A total of 1,731 voted for the three-mill hike, while 764 voted against it. Percentages of those favoring the two proposals were 58.3 and 60.5, respectively. Two-thirds approval was needed for passage. The breakdown of the individual precincts: On the three-mill levy—Almo, 10 yes, 47 no; Albion, 20 and 40; Oakley, 33 and 148; Raff River at Malta, 19 and 63; Bean-groves warehouse at Milner, 19 and 13; Burley high school, 130 and 130; Burley junior high school, 307 and 235; Declo, 117 and 103; absentee ballots, 67 and 6. On the two-mill levy—Almo, 10 yes and 47 no; Albion, 20 and 40; Oakley, 48 and 153; Raff River at Malta, 25 and 76; Bean-groves warehouse at Milner, 12 and 11; Burley high school, 467 and 112; Burley high school, 402 and 230; Declo, 124 and 66; absentee ballots, 66 and 6. Cassia county School Supt. Ezra Moore said before the election Monday that without approval of the issue and the levy the school district is faced with increased classroom equipment, some of which are now more than 40, necessitating half-day sessions. Moore also noted combination or elimination of some programs may be necessary and no additional furniture or equipment will be purchased to accommodate the additional students. Curtailment of present courses offered will be necessary, he added. The bond issue was to be used for construction of 20 additional classrooms in the county at Raff River, Declo, and Burley high schools and for a new 12-room Burley elementary school. The three-mill levy increase was to be used to equip and staff the additional rooms.

Mystery

PHILADELPHIA, Miss., June 23 (UPI)—Mystery deepened today in the strange disappearance of three young civil rights workers. They were last heard from Sunday night after paying a spending fine in this east-central Mississippi town. The FBI and the Mississippi highway patrol pressed a search for the Negro, part of the first wave of summer volunteers seeking to reform this state politically. Missing were Andy Goodman, 20, a Berkeley, Calif., student; Schwerner, 24, both of New York City. With them was James Chaney, 23, a Negro member of the Congress of Racial Equality from Meridian.

Lodge Quits Asian Post, Will Aid Governor Scranton

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge has resigned as ambassador to embattled South Viet Nam, and President Johnson today named Gen. Maxwell Taylor, the nation's top military chief, to succeed him. The unprecedented appointment of Taylor indicated that Johnson has determined to intensify the war against communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam. In effect, the president has created a new military-political high command to be based in Saigon for U. Alexis Johnson, veteran career diplomat and now a deputy undersecretary of state for political affairs, will also go to Viet Nam as deputy ambassador.

Many Solons Say U.S. to Risk War

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—Many congressmen indicated belief today that the administration has decided it is willing to risk war with Red China to prevent communist forces from overrunning Southeast Asia. Sen. George D. Aiken, R., Vt., said for one he was apprehensive about "a general expansion of the war in Southeast Asia" but he added in an interview: "I think they (administration officials) have made up their minds to expand the war." Aiken, a member of the foreign relations committee, said he hoped that if that decision is made it would be based on "an understanding with Russia that Russia will keep hands off."

Swedes Foil Khrushchev Kidnap Plan

STOCKHOLM, June 23 (UPI)—A foreigner suspected of "planning dangerous activities" against visiting Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev has been arrested. Stockholm prosecutor Auke Magnusson announced today. The Swedish prosecutor declined to identify the prisoner. But the Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter described him as a "fanatical anti-communist" who planned to kidnap Khrushchev and hold him as a hostage for the release of "thousands of political prisoners" in Eastern Europe. Khrushchev, on the second day of a visit to Sweden, roared through town in a heavily escorted, bullet-proof limousine this morning to confer with Premier Tage Erlander. Ten police motorcycles proceeded or flanked Khrushchev's car, a Lincoln used by President Eisenhower when he visited here. Every third car in the motorcade was loaded with police, and armed policemen lined the route.

Smylie Urges Lower Teton Project Okay

BOISE, June 23 (UPI)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie told the chairman of the house subcommittee on irrigation and reclamation Tuesday that the Lower Teton project is urgently needed in Idaho. "The Idaho governor sent a letter to Rep. Walter Rogers, D., Tex., asking that the subcommittee approve the project. Rogers' subcommittee will open hearings on the project on southeastern Idaho's Teton river Thursday. "The state of Idaho urges your subcommittee to approve the project and to press the full committee to approve the project for a favorable report to the house at the earliest possible time," Smylie wrote. Smylie noted that hearings held in the entire Upper Snake River basin in 1960 uncovered no opposition to the Lower Teton project, which would include construction of the Fremont dam and related irrigation facilities. It was, on the contrary, unanimously approved by all witnesses who testified regarding the proposed project," Smylie said.

Rerouting of Highway 50 Is Approved

BOISE, June 23 (UPI)—Rerouting of state highway 50 from the new Hansen bridge across the Snake river to Red Cup corner four miles east of Twin Falls where it will connect with U.S. 30 was approved today by the state highway board. The new route will serve as the east approach to Twin Falls from the interstate immediately north of the Hansen bridge and will replace the current location along Addison avenue. Board members said construction on the new route will begin next year with completion set for 1966. "I resigned as ambassador to Viet Nam because I believe it is my duty to do everything that I can to help Governor Scranton win for president. "I also have accepted an invitation to address the resolutions committee of the Republican party. "I am deeply grateful for the many courtesies extended to my wife and me in Viet Nam and have enjoyed my service here. "I truly it makes us sad to leave. "Johnson reportedly made the final decision to appoint Taylor as ambassador, and U. Alexis Johnson as deputy ambassador, after returning from his Western trip last week-end. "Taylor, administration officials said, met the President's requirement for a Lodge successor who See LODGE, Page 2, Column 4

Congressmen Urge Keeping Lead, Zinc Import Barriers

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—Three western members of congress urged the tariff commission today to retain barriers against imports of lead and zinc.

Sen. Frank Church, D., Idaho, and Wallace P. Bennett, R., Utah, in statements filed with the commission urged that it recommend to President Johnson a policy of flexible import quotas.

Legislation to permit flexible quotas has been introduced in the senate and house.

Present rigid quotas, according to Church, "allow for a high value of imported metals at all times . . . regardless of the effect upon domestic markets."

Church said the senate bill is based upon supply and demand—when supply is short and prices are high, foreign producers will fill the need, but when the price is low and demand is being met, imports will be lower.

WHERE'S MY NEWSPAPER?

When a newspaper is missing, more often than not, a man will say "Where's my newspaper?" "My," not "the"! You've heard him say many times: "Now, my newspaper said . . ." "I read in my paper . . ."

A man's possessive about his newspaper. He takes pride in it. He gloats when his newspaper praises his favorite political candidate or sports team. Or, he groans when his newspaper differs with his choice of personalities or issues. He'll even write the editor when he feels strongly about a difference of opinion.

And, his wife feels just about the same. She looks forward to reading her pet features. Missing out on some ad or choice item of local news could "ruin" her shopping trip or leave her feeling left out during the chitchat over the bridge table.

Both men and women want their newspaper. In fact, they insist on it. They are sorely disappointed and disturbed when their newspaper isn't on the front step when they want it. Ask any carrier boy. He can tell you, because he hears about it if a delivery is late or missed.

This loyalty to a favorite newspaper didn't just happen. It came about because the newspaper is localized to meet a particular want and fill a definite need.

And, because the newspaper is viewed as a necessary companion and source of information, it makes a big difference in the lives of people of all ages, of all faiths and political preferences, of all levels of income and education.

First Woman to Ride Ski Lift at Sun Valley Retires

SUN VALLEY, June 23—The first woman in the world to ride a chairlift retired today as assistant to the manager of Sun Valley.

Mrs. Florence Law came to Sun Valley in 1936 from New York City, where she had been secretary to Averell Harriman, then chairman of the board of the Union Pacific railroad. She stayed a few months to help with the organization of the new resort.

"Twenty-eight years and some months later she is retiring after serving as assistant to four managers and as 'mother confessor' and warm-hearted counselor to two generations of Sun Valley employees.

Sun Valley built the world's first chairlift which was to revolutionize the sport of skiing. Designed by a Union Pacific engineer, they were fashioned after the lifts used to load bananas in the tropics. When the first of the lifts was completed late in the fall of 1936, the wives and women employees were invited to take the first ride. As is par for the course on new ski lifts, it broke down, and the girls had to be taken off by ladders and ropes.

When it was finally started up again, no one wanted to be a guinea pig for the second try. Ray Stevens, first manager of Sun Valley, gave his assistant a no-nonsense command to get aboard, and up she went as

The Hunt Society investigated and decided it was a bear, rarely found here, and not a bull, that English saw.

V. E. Newhart of the society said Monday claw marks and bear hair found on the tree confirmed the animal was a bear and theorized that it wandered all the way down from the Blue Ridge mountains by following water routes.

NO ROCKS are visible along the edge of Shoshone falls as 21,140 second feet of water tumble over the precipice into the Snake river canyon gorge. The heavy flow results from melting snow on the upper Snake river watershed which has filled all reservoirs. The falls will be dry again in the near future when the runoff ends and irrigation demands take all the normal flow of the river. (Times-News photo)

HEAVY MIST rises from gorge below Shoshone falls as heavy volume of water tumbles over the 212-foot height of the famed falls. Early morning visitors to the falls Tuesday were treated to sight of bright rainbow that reached from the bottom of the gorge up to the north rim of the canyon. A number of tourists were camped in the Shoshone falls park which is maintained by the city. The flow over the falls is one of the heaviest on record since American Falls dam was completed. Idaho High Court Says Stat May Be Sued by Individual

BOISE, June 23 (AP)—The Idaho supreme court ruled unanimously Monday that the state of Idaho may be sued by a private individual in condemnation proceedings.

In an opinion written by Justice Henry McCandless, the court ruled that lands owned by the state could be taken through the exercise of the power of eminent domain.

The court made the ruling in connection with a case involving Washington residents who had purchased lake front property bordering Priest lake in Bonner county.

But the district court denied the complaint on grounds that the state had not given its consent to be sued in such an action.

The supreme court, however, ruled that the state had given its consent to be sued and that lands owned by the state could be taken through the exercise of the power of eminent domain.

A reception was held in the cultural hall of the Hailey ward LDS church. In the receiving line with the bride and bridegroom and the bride's parents were Karina Jeppesen, sister of the bride, maid of honor; Mrs. Keith Butler, Bryon Wyo, brother of honor, and John Birch, Los Angeles, best man.

The bride wore a gown of white grosgrain taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a scooped neckline and long pointed sleeves fastened with tiny self-covered buttons. The fitted skirt swept into a chapel train.

For sentiment, she wore her maternal grandmother's turquoise and seed pearl engagement ring and a necklace featuring a single pearl, a gift from the bridegroom.

The maid of honor and matron of honor wore shawl dresses of cerise taffeta finished in design with white lavender and the other dark lavender. Their overskirts were of blue sheer organza and featured tailored bows at the back belt. Each carried a cascade bouquet of white pom poms and lilacs of the valley embossed satin ribbon steppers.

The bride's mother wore a gown of pale blue cotton lace over white taffeta. Her corsage was sterling silver roses and white stephanotis.

Penny Powell, Boise, was in charge of the guest book. Julie Hall, Tony Croce and Nola Montgomery arranged gifts. Keith Butler and Larry Allred were ushers.

Color theme for the reception was carried out in delphinium shades, with lilacs on white crepe streamers forming the backdrop for the reception line. A large basket of white gladioli and white lilacs set in greenery centered the stage.

A bouquet of lilacs of the valley was used on the refreshment table which was covered with a white satin damask cloth and centered with the bride's three-tiered wedding cake.

The cake was frosted in ice blue, decorated with violets and lilacs of the valley and topped with wedding bells. Mrs. Hunter Nelson served the cake and Mrs. Louise Bowlden poured punch.

The bride was graduated from Hailey high school with the class of 1962 and attended from the Bryan stenotype school, Los Angeles.

Lieutenant McCotter is stationed in Los Angeles with the army in force. He is a graduate of North Carolina state college with a degree in engineering. The couple will reside at 240 South Occidental boulevard, Los Angeles.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

TUESDAY, JUNE 23 — Born today, you have a passionate nature with a strong streak of independence right down the center. You feel everything deeply — both joys and pains, great and small. There are no halfway measures with you. When you set out to do something, you want to do it well or not at all. But "well" means to your own satisfaction, not to another's or to any outside standard.

You would rather be alone than with people with whom you do not feel sympathy. Stupidity annoys you; cuteness irritates you; insincerity infuriates you. You like your friends intelligent, solidly oriented in your kind of world, and true both to themselves and to you. Take care, however, that you do not become so demanding that others will rebel.

In a mate, you demand first of all intelligence; secondly you must have someone who agrees with you about what is important in life. You have no time for argument and would not tolerate a strained home situation. Choose right the first time.

Among those born on this date are: Irwin S. Cobb, humorist; Jean Anouilh, French writer, American statesman.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — A day that ends unqually well for the Sagittarius who has all his executive ability.

Mays Attracts Most NL All-Star Votes

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP)—Wonderful Willie Mays attracted the most votes as the San Francisco Giants and St. Louis Cardinals each placed two men on the National league all-star team's starting line-up for the July 7 dream game with the American league at Shea stadium in New York. Mays, the Giants' brilliant center fielder, along with third baseman Ken Boyer and shortstop Dick Groat, were the only players from 1963 in the voting of 270 players, coaches and managers. First baseman Orlando Cepeda was the other Giant selected on this year's starting team.

Commissioner Ford Pick

Commissioner Ford Pick, whose office conducted the balloting, said the complete squads, exclusive of the pitchers, will be announced by the end of the week. The pitchers, who are selected by the all-star managers, Al Lopez of the American league and Walt Alton of the Los Angeles Dodgers will be announced Thursday, July 2.

Surprisingly, the National League starting line-up will not contain a single member of the league.

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP)—The Amateur Athletic union turned thumbs down on a NCAA proposal to change the format for selection of the U. S. track and field team that will compete against a Russian squad in Los Angeles July 25-26. "I don't go along with their thinking at all," said J. B. Cap Harrison, Bakerfield, Calif., chairman of the AAU Track and Field committee. "First of all," he said, "it was announced last year—and it has always been the standard procedure since we started the competition with the Soviet Union—that we pick the team from the national AAU championships.

Request Is Turned Down for Venturi to Enter British Open

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP)—The Transatlantic telephone cable hummed Monday for Ken Venturi, the new American open golf champion—but it didn't do any good. The austere Royal and Ancient Golf club of St. Andrews refused to budge. Venturi can't play in the British open July 8-10 at St. Andrews. He didn't get his entry filed in time and the Royal and Ancient let it be known—with regrets—that it plays no favorites. "I telephoned the Royal and Ancient and told them of Ken's desire to play," said Joseph C. Doy, executive director of the U. S. Golf association. "They were very nice. They didn't say 'no' immediately.

Leading U. S. Rowers Skip English Race

JENILEY-ON-THAMES, England, June 23 (AP)—Although the leading American eight-oar crews won't compete, the United States has its largest entry ever for the annual Henly Regatta on the Thames July 1-4.

There are 13 entries from the United States, of the total of 28 foreign entries in the near record list of 197 for the four-day regatta, it was announced Monday.

Harvard's undefeated varsity eight, California's all-winning Intercollegiate Rowing association champion, and the Washington Huskies are among the top American entries remaining.

Harvard, however, will be represented in the Grand Challenge cup, the premier event, by its undefeated junior varsity and in the Thames Challenge cup by its light-weight varsity eight.

Harvard's varsity eight, captained by U.S. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, is returning to Henley to watch the regatta and to row over the famed course once more.

This time they'll take a leisurely tour of the river, which will be presented a trophy for a race on July 4.

The Soviet Union, a rowing powerhouse, is sending only one entry in the Grand Challenge cup.

Loop-Leading Yanks Nip White Sox 6-5

CHICAGO, June 23 (AP)—The New York Yankees escaped a three-run ninth inning uprising and defeated Chicago 6-5 Monday night for their 10th victory without a defeat over the White Sox this season. The victory gave the American league leading Yankees a five-game winning streak and a one-half game lead over idle Baltimore.

Steven Hamilton scattered six hits through eight innings for New York—then gave way to reliever Hal Reniff in the ninth.

The White Sox promptly led the bases with none out on singles by Ron Hansen and Tom McCraw and a walk to pinch hitter Gene Stephens. An infield singled by pinch hitter J. C. Martin scored one run and brought on reliever Bill Stutford.

Two more runs were scored as Don Buford and Floyd Robinson hit into force outs. But Stutford then threw out Joe Cunningham for the game-ending out.

Twin-Indian Game Ends In 8-8 Deadlock

ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS, June 23 (AP)—Minnesota and Cleveland battled to an 8-8 tie through 10 innings Monday night, then lost out to the weather as heavy rains forced a postponement in the top of the 11th.

Time was called with a 2-2 count on Dick Howser as the Indians' leadoff man in the 11th. After a delay of one hour, in the game, which was a makeup of a contest rained out over April 29, all of the records in the contest count and the game will be tied later.

The Indians, down 8-2 after four innings peeked away at the Twins and finally drew even on Larry Brown's homer in the eighth inning.

The Tribe scored three runs in the seventh, two of them earned after Rich Bollins' error at third. John Romano's two-out two run single was the key blow.

Kansas City Chiefs Want Chamberlain as Griddy

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP)—Lol's say you're a defensive halfback. So how do you defend against a pass receiver who is 7-foot, 1 inch, weighs 200 pounds and can outrun you?

Interesting problem?

"I think it's a very interesting problem," said Hank Stram, coach of the American Football League's Kansas City Chiefs. And that's why he wants to sign Walt Chamberlain.

"I'm certain from what I saw he would be the greatest flanker back in football," Stram said after Chamberlain took part in a recent workout at Monticello, N.Y., an upstate resort area.

And Stram has some plans on doing something about it.

"Walt and I had quite a talk," Stram said. "He's interested in football, generally interested."

"Now I want to talk to some officials of the San Francisco Warriors and see what we can work out about Walt playing football with the Chiefs."

"I've never heard of a player combining a career in professional basketball, but I'm very hopeful something can be worked out."

That of that hope is built on the fact that Walt is so interested.

"We're not going to raid basketball. But we'll discuss it with the Warriors and see what can be done."

San Francisco officials, however, are expected to be less than completely enthusiastic about the idea. Big Walt makes in excess of $50,000 a year playing pro basketball and the idea of such property being double-

Date Is Near for Spraying of Budworm

ALMON, June 23—Entomologists checking the spruce budworm infestation on the Salmon national forest report the insect expected to be ready for spraying sometime between June 25 and July 5.

Richard Lister, project entomologist, is directing a crew of persons checking on the development of the budworm throughout the Salmon national forest.

Clifford T. Solberg, project leader, said there is a million and a half acre infestation of spruce budworm on the Salmon, Challis, Boise and Payette forests.

"This year we will treat approximately 500,000 acres on the Salmon national forest," he said. "The majority of the infestation is heavy."

Approximately 500,000 acres will be sprayed with DDT by fixed wing aircraft while the remaining 30,000 acres will be sprayed with helicopters.

Controls will be employed along primary streams in the forest designated by forest rangers and the fish and game department biologists.

A 300-foot non-spray area will be established along designated streams and the next 400 feet out from there will be sprayed by helicopter.

Roger (Shag) Tynston, who is directing ground operations, said it is the job of the 60-member ground force to see that the two contractors undertaking the spray project do the job the way it is supposed to be done.

Lemington Chemical Company, Vancouver, Wash., will supply the spray, while Hillcrest Aircraft Corporation, Lewiston, will furnish the aircraft.

Lemington is setting up a central mixing plant at the Salmon airport where 300,000 gallons of spray will be available. Another 65,000 gallons will be stored at the Challis airport for use of three spray planes to be based there.

The project will involve 11 fixed wing planes with a similar number of smaller observation planes and six helicopters.

Solberg said some 50 personnel will be employed on the project during the peak of operations with other agencies having additional personnel.

Robert L. Casebeer, who has been assigned the task of monitoring the spray project, said his crews would attempt to monitor the immediate impacts of the spray and would continue monitoring into the fall season. Some phases of the study will continue for two or three years to determine the long-range effects.

Casebeer said the monitoring would involve wildlife and fish, along with their habitat. He said that 400 miles of streams in the Salmon forest would be monitored during the spraying. Aerial servers will have complete control over spray planes, he said.

"We will monitor very closely the first three streams and if any spray reaches a stream then the protection strip will be pulled back," Casebeer said. "And the same will apply to the fixed wing application."

Casebeer said the success of the controls used on this project will spell out the future of control operations used on forest spraying.

"This is the closest monitored, most sensitive program the forest service has ever undertaken. We want an efficient job of control of the spruce budworm but we want protection," he said.

Casebeer said the effects of the spray will be studied on aquatic insects since DDT accumulates as more and more of them are eaten by fish and birds. The extent of elimination of the aquatic insects which serve as food suppliers will be observed.

He said the control is important because of the sensitivity of the Chinook salmon. If salmon were damaged, a low return of salmon—four years from now—could result.

The monitoring crews will measure the amount of aquatic insects in the forest areas prior to the spraying and will use drift nets on the streams to check on kill during spraying.

Tests will be run on salmon, steelhead and rainbow trout, check the impact on these species. Fish will be placed in screened boxes inside and outside the spray areas.

Sampling of fish will take place by shocking before and after the spraying to check on DDT content. Water samples also will be taken along with aquatic vegetation.

A special test using Cygon, another pesticide, but considered less toxic, will be conducted on Iron creek. Similar checks will be employed in this test, Casebeer said.

Big game species also will be tested before and after the project, and during the hunting season samples will be collected of deer in the Naples creek area, mountain goat on Horse creek and mountain sheep and song birds from other areas.

A DDT residue analysis will be conducted before the spraying begins and afterwards to determine the amount of DDT.

Casebeer said precautions will be taken to avoid spraying the watersheds serving Gibbonville and Cobalt.

Lister said his men have been in the forest since June 1 checking on the development of the budworm. The budworm has a broken hibernation now up to the 5,000 foot elevation along the main Salmon river. Cooler weather could delay the development or hot weather could speed it up, he said. The crews are working in the forest on North fork, one at Indianola, another at the end of the road at

Foresters Arming for War on Spruce Budworm in Idaho's Salmon Forest

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP)—A British bank has just released a review of prospects for the near and the distant future in the world consumption of timber, and noted that the forests of Europe and the Soviet Union still are the main suppliers of the world's needs.

Because demand for wood, pulp and paper products in the United States remains high, much of the forest production here and U.S. interests import some materials.

The British bank, Barclays, said there would be no shortage of timber in the foreseeable future because aside from natural cutover lands being carried out in many countries.

Reforesting or replanting has been standard practice for many years in the southern and western regions of the United States and the United States has been overcutting of existing reserves lands; major paper companies maintain extensive research operations striving to develop fast growing, disease and pest-resistant strains of wood for the future.

But despite all the attention that is paid to preservation of existing supplies and to means to ensure future forest resources, the task of maintaining existing stands of timber is not always easy; it involves battles with natural pests, drought, fire.

The stage is being set for one such skirmish in Salmon national forest west of Salmon this summer. Idaho has the fifth largest sawtimber reserve among the states, but the vast stands of timber in the Salmon forest have a problem; the spruce budworm.

This pest began its inroads into the great stands of timber in the late 1800's. The Idaho forest industries committee, by material distributed through American Forest Products Industries, Inc., noted that by 1900, more than 250,000 acres were infested. Within a year, infestation had more than tripled, with 804,000 acres showing damage; by autumn, 1902, 1,700,000 acres in the Salmon forest and the adjoining Challis and Payette national forests.

Spraying from the air has been determined to be the best weapon against further spread of the plague. Last year, the U.S. forest service made chemical tests on a 10,500-acre area of the Salmon to make sure that its techniques for using DDT spray from the air were sound; it also tried spray operations in the Targhee national forest.

Toward the end of this month the program is due for expansion. Control operations are expected to get underway on a half-million acres of the heaviest infested areas of the Salmon.

Foresters, federal and state, who are in charge of the program emphasize that the operation to use aerial spray tactics was reached only after testing and after determination that the job with any assurance of saving about 600 million board feet of timber, with all its attendant natural advantages.

They note that the acre of forest land gets less chemical spray in the average tree lifetime than does a home gardener in a single season, and most of Idaho forest land never has been given chemical treatment.

Jack Gillette, deputy state forester, said the project was approved by the federal pest control review board, which includes representatives of the departments of interior, agriculture, defense, and health, education and welfare.

Justice Hugo L. Black, joined by Justices John Marshall Harlan and Byron R. White, opposed the court's refusal to come to grips with the key question and said "the 14th amendment does not forbid this application of state's trespass laws."

The reapportionment rulings, involving the state legislatures of Michigan, Iowa, Illinois, Oklahoma, Washington, Florida, Idaho, Connecticut and Ohio, were based on last week's ruling that both houses of state legislatures must be based on population only.

This decision capped more than two years of court rulings on reapportionment of Legislature and congress. Earlier this year, the high court ruled that the population test must be used in setting up congressional districts.

In three decisions Monday, the court overturned decisions by state courts in Kansas, Ohio and Florida aimed at books and movies considered obscene.

Washington, June 23 (AP)—The supreme court ended its 1963-64 session Monday by overturning the conviction of all-in-one demonstrators in eight cases and applying its "one voter, one vote" rule to the legislatures of nine more states.

The sit-in cases, which involved trespass convictions in Maryland, South Carolina, North Carolina and Florida, were decided on narrow technical grounds as the court failed to deal with this basic question: Can a merchant refuse service to a Negro and then have him arrested for trespassing if he refuses to leave the premises?

Justice William O. Douglas indicated that the justices were deadlocked on this question, commenting that the issue "consumes the public attention, yet we stand mute avoiding decision of the basic issue by an obvious pretense."

Justice Hugo L. Black, joined by Justices John Marshall Harlan and Byron R. White, opposed the court's refusal to come to grips with the key question and said "the 14th amendment does not forbid this application of state's trespass laws."

The reapportionment rulings, involving the state legislatures of Michigan, Iowa, Illinois, Oklahoma, Washington, Florida, Idaho, Connecticut and Ohio, were based on last week's ruling that both houses of state legislatures must be based on population only.
