Men Battle To Save Big Redwood

POINTERVILLE, Calif., Aug. 11 (AP)—A giant redwood tree which pre-dates the birth of Christ was given a 50-50 chance today of surviving a fire that has smoldered in its trunk for almost a week.

The state division of forestry has thrown 40 men and the latest fire-fighting equipment into the battle to save the 3,000-year-old tree, which towers 250 feet above the surrounding landscape.

"Any ordinary tree would have been cut down immediately to protect against its setting other trees afire," explained forestry dispatcher Harry Harp. "But this one is a dead tree vital to the natural reforestation of the area."

The tree was struck by lightning last Wednesday and flames broke out at the 160-foot level. A helicopter managed to quench the flames with chemicals, but the fire has continued to smolder.

Harp estimated the state had spent more than $1,000 in man hours to fight the fire. The tree, considered one of the oldest in the Sequoia national forest, would produce enough lumber for five average sized houses.

Acting Chief Of Italy Is Merzagora

ROME, Aug. 11 (AP)—Cesare Merzagora, an advocate of free enterprise, has taken office as acting president of Italy, and this could mean trouble for the new center-left government of Premier Aldo Moro.

Moro, a 47-year-old Christian Democrat, heads a government consisting of Christian Democrats, Democratic socialists, socialists, and Republicans.

Last month, when Moro was forming his new government with the aid of the socialists, Merzagora openly opposed the coalition formula.

At that time, Merzagora, 65, was president of the Italian senate. Three days ago, a stroke felled President Antonio Segni, and yesterday the Italian government decided the 33-year-old president is temporarily incapable of performing his duties.

The presidential post is largely ceremonial, but it gives Merzagora the power to refuse to sign decrees issued by Moro's government. Moro is expected to issue several decrees to fight Italy's economic slump.

Refusal by Merzagora to sign a decree would kill it unless both houses sent it back to the presi-

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11—Dixie Nixon had better get hold of Barry Goldwater and tell him a few facts of life about the perils of avoiding the press. As much as anything else, Nixon's unwillingness to yield with reporters cost him the 1960 election. Early in that campaign, Nixon decided the press was his enemy and that he would concentrate on reaching the voters via television. This was a curious decision, since Nixon was supported by 78 per cent of all newspapers then and did a candidate, but for some inexplicable reason Dick believed the reporters would not give him a fair shake.

Indeed, at the GOP convention I was told by one Nixon aide that the working press could "handle" for your news. You know, we return the compliment. We can go along without you; we'll see if you can go along without us."

NEWSPERSONS "PUNISHED"—Such an attitude was suicidal, and yet it was maintained throughout the campaign. Principles of Nixon's speeches were withheld until the last possible moment to "punish" the reporters. The vice president's press secretary, Herb Klein, was and is a man of kindness and quiet charm, and yet he rarely told the press anything. Many times the reporters did not even know the next day to be visited.

Meanwhile, almost all attempts to talk to the candidate were rebuffed. Usually, Nixon refused to let a reporter pool ride in his private plane; when he did he either carried the reporter in the back of the plane or sat gloomily incommunicado.

REPORTING IN THE DARK—Thus, it was almost impossible to write with any first-hand knowledge about Nixon's campaign. Almost without exception, reporters were forced to rely on mimeographed handouts, not only of Nixon's speeches, but for bits of color and details of the man's schedule and traveling habits. "The cover was any sense of association with the man."

John W. Kennedy, on the other hand, covered the press. The reporter pool rode his private plane everywhere, and was always sure of a bill session with the candidate. Kennedy kidded the press and quoted their own stories at them. He asked their advice, borrowed their pencils, and was always ready to explain a phrase in one of his speeches or to comment on some development in the news.

THE PAY-OFF—As a result, it was Kennedy who got not only more and better headlines but little human interest stories that helped the reader to identify himself with the candidate. Kennedy wanted the public to read as much as possible about Nixon's campaign, not to expose his personality to the voter in print.

Now it appears Goldwater is following Nixon's fatal path. During his recent vacation on the Pacific coast, he consistently refused to hold press conferences or even to talk informally with newsmen at airports. Once, leaving Los Angeles, he was asked by a friend if he wanted to talk to the press. "No, I don't," Goldwater replied.

"This is too bad. It is not a question of the newsmen's pride being wounded; their skins are rhinoceros-tough. But if the candidate won't talk to them he fails at the important mission of explaining himself to the voters as President-elect. Johnson is far better known than Barry Goldwater, and people want to vote for a man they know. If Goldwater wills it, the press will introduce him to the folks, too."

SOMETHING TO GET INVOLVED IN
Omer C. Lunsford of Anderson, Ind., is going places. So is Benjamin B. Smith of Los Angeles. They are the first two winners of the first prize in the new international executive service corps.

We second the warm send-off given them by President Johnson.

As members of a kind of businessmen's peace corps, they will serve as management consultants for private companies in the developing countries. Consider the founder of the firm, David Rockefeller, has correctly pointed out that in such lands managerial ability is often harder to come by—and more immediately necessary—than financial aid.

The program will use some younger men borrowed from their companies, and the corporation will provide for the man, like Mr. Smith, who has become "bored playing golf three or four times a week and started looking for something that I could get involved in."

The demands of the new international service corps of course will insure that it not become merely therapy for the former executive at loose ends. We would also suggest that its attempt to "spread the gospel of free enterprise," as the Associated Press said, be kept from being a self-righteous propaganda. The development of nations are moving ahead with various "mixes" of free enterprise and government support. The corporation will need a certain delicacy in fitting their talents realistically and understandingly to the needs of the nations.

It is perhaps time to recall again that "the ugly American," in the book of that name, was not the bad American as popularly supposed. He was the man who may not have been good-looking but who made the effort to see things from another point of view, to provide a little help at the right time. Christiana, defense monitor.

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (AP)—Some people regard a wedding anniversary as a milestone. Others as a milestone. Either way, it is likely to put a person in a reflective mood.

My wife and I will be celebrating our 15th anniversary soon. Which in many respects is quite a remarkable achievement.

Fifteen years is by no means a record. But it does provide a plateau from which one can look back upon the ground that has been covered and evaluate the road ahead.

I have been looking back over our years together to see if I could pick out the significant important elements of our marriage. I felt that this information might possibly be helpful to younger couples who are still groping for the right formula.

The retrospective reveals many things that have contributed to our matrimonial well-being—our home, our children, our African violets, my naturally sweet dispositions, etc.

But of them all, I would say that the most vital factor has been instant coffee.

The very first time we went to grocery shopping, my wife noticed that one of the brands of instant coffee was marked "10 cents off regular price."

Eager to impress me with what a clever bargain-hunter she was, she grabbed it on the spot. We have been using the same brand ever since.

It still has that same "10 cents off regular price" on the label, which is the only reason we have kept using it. The way the price of coffee has risen since we were first married, we could hardly afford to do otherwise.

Figuring our consumption at one jar per week, I estimate that in 15 years we have paid $78 less than we would have paid had we been paying the regular price.

This is a source of great pride to us both. It represents our sole accomplishment in the financial field. Rising from the wreckage of so many well-held plans, we can always say that we have come out ahead on instant coffee.

It is true that during this entire 15 years we have never known what the regular price was supposed to be. You can only arrive at that figure by taking the price you pay and adding 10 cents to it.

However, we never considered the regular price was very important anyway. What mattered was being able to buy the coffee at 10 cents below that amount.

By saving probably saved our marriage. There have been many weeks when even five cents would have tipped the balance the other way.

World Corners

BY PHIL NEWSOM
The Foreign News Analyst
The missing link in the chain of events that led to the role to be undertaken by Red China.

Whether the crisis is to be escalated into a world war, as the Red Chinese have called a "wider war" will be determined largely by Peking's reaction.

Thus far Peking has been remarkably silent, confining itself to North Vietnamese charges and countercharges.

There can be no doubt that the attack by Peking on the North Vietnamese navy was carried out with the knowledge of the Communist Chinese and probably at their prompting.

The Peking which made up the whole of the North Vietnamese navy force could not hope to challenge the might of the U. S. seventh fleet. What, then, motivated these attacks?

Three possibilities are suggested: one military and the other two political.

U. S. and South Vietnamese attempts to shut off communist supply lines are taking a toll and the Reds now feel they must retaliate.

The Red Chinese are employing Ilo Ilo Minh, the communist boss of North Viet Nam who increasingly is becoming a puppet of Peking, to demonstrate their complete independence from Moscow.

The North Vietnamese banked on political differences within the United States, highlighted by racial strife, to prevent Washington from acting firmly against what obviously is an act of war.

As to the latter, President Johnson already has given the answer in the attack on the red fleet. He has placed along the North Vietnamese coast.

Johnson also has made it clear that for the moment U. S. action will be "limited and fitting."

We still seek no wider war," he said.

The question now is whether the Chinese do.

There can be little doubt that the power struggle with world communism is a factor in the crisis. China is on the verge of being read out of international communism at a session of world communist leaders called by Nikita Khrushchev. The Chinese have indicated they will boycott the meeting.

This could be a supreme gesture of contempt by Peking for Moscow, which last week admitted it could do little to influence the situation in South-east Asia. It also could be an attempt by Peking to take the initiative away from Moscow and force the Russians into an action they do not want.

The chief danger seems to lie in the possibility that in an attempt to prove itself against Nikita Khrushchev, Peking may be tempted to go too far in challenging the United States.

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11—A book attracting more attention than even its author may have hoped for is "How to Win an Election," by Stephen C. Shadegg. It contains a lot of ammunition, both pro and con, for the argument over whether Goldwater can partly have broken from American tradition and the patterns of Europe's ideological parties.

Shadegg was Sen. Barry Goldwater's manager in his two campaigns for the Senate. Later, when Goldwater took over the Republican senatorial campaign committee, he became a consultant. The chapter in the Shadegg book on which attention has centered is "The Gold Group."

Shadegg's generous tribute to one source of inspiration as follows: "Mao Tse-Tung, the communist revolutionary general, has written a valuable book on tactics of infiltration. In it he says: 'Give me just two or three men in a village and I will take the village.' In the Goldwater campaign of 1962 and 1964 and in all other campaigns, I have followed the advice of Mao Tse-Tung."

This may come as news to Mao, who is currently engaged in a fierce quarrel with Premier Khrushchev for control of the world communist movement. Certainly it will be news to many Republicans who may not have been aware that one of their highly paid consultants was applying the tactics of China's revolutionary leader.

Shadegg refers to the individuals enrolled in the cell groups as "secret weapon personnel." Shadegg says, "In a campaign I directed in 1958, I enrolled 100,000 cell members. They were processed through IBM machines to show banking connections, church affiliations and family relations throughout the state. One goal was to be sure that each cell member 'will actually come to consider the threat of defeat as menacing him personally.'"

In Arizona cell members were working under radio and television outlets. They supplied important advance information on the plans of the opposition so that those plans could be countered.

The "security" of opposition campaign headquarters "can be penetrated," Shadegg says, with very useful results. Not all of the book is on such a practical level. The last chapter, "The Men of Good Fortune," sounds a note of sacrifice that the seeker after high office must pay. It closes, as though this might be prophetic for Goldwater, with Lincoln's famous words to the citizens of Springfield, Ill., as he set out for Washington following his election to the Presidency.

When Shadegg was consultant to the Republican senatorial campaign committee it was reported that he was an important figure as a ghost writer for Goldwater's book, "The Conscience of a Conservative." This Shadegg denied. He was also said to have helped the Arizona senator with the "newspaper column" he wrote for several years.

No one can challenge Shadegg's skill and versatility as a writer. His word scripts for pictures in Hollywood at one point in his career. Some of the more famous Goldwater writers refer to him scornfully as a romantic. But his romanticism, if that is what it is, seems to have been in tune with the chief.

A report on Senate campaign expenditures in 1961 showed that $4,000 a month had been paid to the S. and K. Laboratories in Phoenix. Inquiry revealed that Shadegg owned this company which put out an ad campaign called adrop-nut. At the time Shadegg told reporter Jack Anderson that the total of $40,000 paid through S. and K. Laboratories was for his services in the campaign, including travel and other expenses.

In the long and skillfully directed drive that led up to Goldwater's triumph at San Francisco, Shadegg was campaign organizer for the Western states. He was also the chief of the first primary campaign in Oregon and at one point confessed his bafflement in trying to combat the absent candidate, Henry Cabot Lodge. His advice was to have Goldwater give up Oregon for California, where he eluded the nomination. In Oregon, Goldwater came in third after Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and Lodge.

What part Shadegg will play in the coming Presidential campaign is not yet settled. He is currently in Phoenix. If what he says forth in "How to Win an Election" is any measure, he will surely predict his own defeat. There could, however, be some doubt as to how the cell-group system will work on a national scale.

It is marketed by the Fluorid Corporation (Inc., Mich.) in both liquid and tablet form. Each package contains complete instructions for its use and appropriate warnings.

New Behavior Rule

One of the cliches of our time is that "nuclear bombs have made war unthinkable"—unthinkable in the sense that we can no longer fall back on armed force to settle international arguments. Too much—if not all—of human life and human civilization would be wiped out.

Actually, the immense destructive power of the atom has forced men to think about war as they never have before in history, and in this fact lies our hope for the future.

In the stable world of 1914, after a century without a major international conflict, war was also "unthinkable." But the tragic fact was that because the leaders of that day did not think about war and its consequences, war came. Its results are part and parcel of the crises we face today.

The first child of 1914 was World War II. Its grandchild is the cold war, whose specter of atomic Armageddon has been chilling our bones for these nearly 20 years.

Suddenly—but not accidentally—it may be that something resembling real peace is breaking out.

President Johnson recently called for "reasoned agreement instead of ready aggression" in dealing with world problems. There is nothing new about this lofty idea, of course. It is as old as war itself.

What is new is that it is no longer a platitude but is becoming a rule of international behavior. Despite Cyprus, Viet Nam, Berlin and a dozen other old and new points of friction between East and West, the world has moved steadily back from the nuclear precipice it stood on during the Cuban missile crisis in 1962.

This does not mean that the possibility of war has ceased to exist and we need no longer worry about it, or that the communists have abandoned their goal of making the world unsafe for democracy.

There is still plenty of unrest in the world, and the communists are trying and will continue to try, to profit from it. But more and more frequently they are being brought up short by the "Stop" sign of nuclear war.

More and more, internal dissension is racking the communist world itself—the Chinese-Russian feud, Russia's economic troubles, the growing independence of the Eastern European satellites.

More and more, communism is being forced to compete with democracy against a background of general peace. And it is in peace that democracy thrives.

As President Johnson said on the 15th anniversary of NATO: "Our guard is up. But," he added, "our hand is out."

TWINED HEARTS—AUTOMATED

Romance is one field of human endeavor which you might think would be immune to the advances of technology. And yet match-making machines—kiss-ers—coupons to computers—are programming Cupid right out of a job.

It all started when some unromantic soul went into partnership with an electronic business machine and set it to work pairing off young men and women in compatible twosomes.

As a result, matchmaking centers have been set up in several major cities. Business, according to the boy-meet-girl people, couldn't be better.

"Miss Brown," the machine might say, "meet Mr. Smith. Both of you like jazz, hate olives, are allergic to cats and take long walks. You're ideally suited to each other. Have fun."

Actually, the machines don't match personality to personality but, by the unromantic process of card elimination, find two or three suitable mates for the inquiring client. Someone who's looking for a mother-in-law, for example, would not be happy with a clinging vine.

If automated romance becomes fashionable, where will it all end?

Perhaps your great-grandchildren will depend for introductions on the local computer. Instead of today's overworked matchmaker, or young couples may have to apply to a computer for compatibility tests before being issued a marriage license.

But be of good cheer: A computer will never be able to program so unpredictable an item as love in the male-female relationship. And love, they say, conquers all. Even computers.

Duminy's top of diamonds held the trick. First to lead was South's Jack of clubs, whereupon South led his six of hearts. East was in with the queen and shifted to the queen of spades.

What about the eight of spades lead? A decided error, but at that point South could make the hand against any return. Suppose a diamond return. South simply cashes the ace of diamonds, ace of hearts and ace of clubs. Then he throws East in with the hand club and East is compelled to lead a spade to South.

Should the hand have been bidden at all? Yes! West should have played the three-of-spades lead. Then, if East either continued with a low spade or shifted to a diamond, South would have had no play for his contract.

Appointment Is Upheld by Higher Court

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11—The California state supreme court has upheld the interim appointment of former U.S. House member Pierre Salinger to the U.S. senate.

The court yesterday rejected without comment a request by former Hollywood film actor George Murphy, Salinger's Republican opponent for the seat in November, that Salinger's appointment be annulled.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown appointed Salinger, the Democratic nominee, to fill the seat vacated by the recent death of Clair Engle, D., Calif.

Murphy contends the appointment was not legal.

While this action took place in California, a senate elections subcommittee in Washington heard arguments on the legality of the appointment.

California law says the governor has to appoint "any elector" who has lived in the state one year prior to the next election.

Murphy testified before the subcommittee yesterday.

"He (Salinger) has not," Murphy added.

California Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk, told the subcommittee the appointment was legal.

"A state does not have the right to add or subtract from the United States constitution the qualifications for a candidate," Mosk said.

In the state court case, Justice Marshall McComb was the only supreme court member who dissented.

"I feel the California supreme court decision that stated I was eligible to run makes it perfectly clear I am eligible to be appointed," Salinger testified before the subcommittee.

Salinger, press secretary to both the late President John F. Kennedy and President Johnson, defeated State Controller Alan Cranston for the Democratic nomination. Cranston challenged Salinger's eligibility but the California supreme court ruled him eligible.

Reservists in Magic Valley Prepare For Annual Two-Week Training Camp

Members of Magic Valley's army reserve unit, company B, 372nd Quartermaster Battalion, are busy packing and loading equipment this week in preparation for their annual two-week session of active duty field training at Fort Lewis, Wash.

During the past few weeks training schedules have been printed, lesson plans outlined, equipment cleaned and worked over and orders issued for those participating in the encampment.

Most of the 87 officers and enlisted men in the company, which has platoons and training centers in Twin Falls and Burley, will leave Sunday morning by chartered plane for Tacoma, Wash., located a few miles north of Fort Lewis. Others, including cooks and office personnel, will leave earlier by car for pre-camp cooking schools and to make advance preparations for arrival of the main contingent.

Capt. Thane Johnson, Hurley, company commander, and several other company officers will be among those on the chartered flight from Joel's field.

Company B is one of the two companies in the 372nd Quartermaster Battalion, with headquarters at Pocatello. Battalion commander is Lieut. Col. Eugene P. Berry, Blackfoot. Reservists in company A train at Idaho Falls, Pocatello and Montpelier.

At Fort Lewis, the battalion will join reservists from throughout the Intermountain region for a variety of classroom and field exercise training.

After arriving Sunday the reservists will be assigned barracks, get their unit areas organized and be oriented.

For those not involved in the on-the-job training sessions, there will be courses of instruction on the encampment, capabilities, maintenance and functioning of the 3.5 rocket launcher or and 30 caliber machine gun.

On Wednesday, Aug. 10, selected personnel will be taught CBIR (chemical - biological - radiological) warfare tactics and use of gas masks. This training will be conducted in a gas chamber during the morning followed by actual use of gas masks on a CBIR confidence course that afternoon.

Other activities during the last part of the first week will include map reading instruction and reading equipment for troop movement to the field.

On Saturday, Aug. 22, there will be an inspection in the barracks, with equipment displays by each reservist, and a ceremonial parade involving all units participating in the summer encampment.

Following the parade, reservists will be able to have the remainder of the week-end off, with no training being scheduled until Monday, Aug. 24.

The second week of training will get underway with field training in a forest-covered area on the fort.

But camping in the out-of-doors won't be anything like a week-end excursion with the Boy Scouts or a fishing trip over Clatsop summit.

If past summer camps are any indication, the reservists won't be involved in normal civilian camping activities such as sleeping around the campfire and boating in lakes.

Purpose of the training is to stimulate as nearly as possible actual combat activities.

Tents and equipment will be camouflaged and reservists will be constantly observed and graded by officers and army instructors.

Nightly raids by "enemy" guerrillas will probably add to effectiveness of the realism of the training.

Night training also will include scouting, patrolling and use of compass and maps. The training schedule calls for at least two hours of tactical maneuvers to be conducted at night.

The bivouac and field training will be conducted Tuesday through Thursday, Aug. 25-27, with reservists returning to the garrison between 11 p.m. and midnight Thursday.

Friday morning, equipment which has been used in the field will be cleaned and maintained with turn-in of equipment and some on-the-job training slated for that afternoon.

Saturday, before departing for home, the reservists will gather in an auditorium at the base to hear a critique of the two-week period based on notes taken by commanders and staff members.

Business Mirror

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK, Aug. 11—Trouble getting into that grille? Have disapp'ing hands? Patience, the push-and-spray people are working on it. Out of aerosol cans will come spray-on gloves for kitchen chores, a silex ducking that eases ladies into girdles, or spray tanned as number 1 repellent. In the research department they are also talking of entire meals, which can be popped forth by a gentle push on a few cans. And some of the experts cite an aerosol golf ball renewer.

Expansion into the field of medicine, even more than into foods, is the big goal the aerosol people see just ahead. The reason is development of new repellants. These get the contents out without affecting or changing them through combining with them or strengthening or weakening their qualities.

The list is long. The Chemical Specialties Manufacturers association cites local necessities for home use to aid arthritis, muscle spasms or sprains, and for doctors' offices for injections and first-aid treatment. Hospitals are trying out aerosol sprays to ease a mother's pain after childbirth and Europe is experimenting with a spray anesthetic to relieve pain during childbirth.

Oxygen in aerosol containers is talked of for home use as first aid, such as in heart attacks.

But last week a sheepherder reported seeing a body near the wreckage of a light plane that crashed near Lake Solitude, about 50 miles east of ban.

The coroner said specially trained men would be required for the search attempt.

The recovery team last year was taken near the wreckage by helicopter and then scaled a cliff to reach Wycoff's body.

Jamboree Is Held Sunday At Fairfield

FAIRFIELD, Aug. 11—High-light of Mannie's jamboree Sunday at the Mannie Shaw farm south of Corral was the presentation of a large hand-painted portrait of Mannie Shaw.

Mrs. Georgia Klunder, Jerome artist, made the portrait and presented it to Shaw for his outstanding work as an Idaho Old-time fiddler, for his song, "One Hundred Years in Idaho," and for the annual Mannie's jamboree.

The usual crowd attended Sunday for the annual event that has been held for many years on the second Sunday in August. Old-time fiddlers are featured but many other instruments were in evidence playing the ballads, how-downs, polkas and other country music.

Musicians from all over the country converge for this event and included more children to read old fiddlers. A stage with a microphone and loud speaker system was set up and musicians and singers are featured all day with the other musicians providing background music.

The event starts in the morning with the arrival of the first musicians and ends when the last one goes home during the evening. A potluck dinner is served at noon on the lawn around the Shaw home.

Commander Comments on U.S. Attack

ABOARD THE AIRCRAFT CARRIER USS TICONDEROGA, Aug. 11—Rear Adm. Robert H. Moore said yesterday the U.S. attack on North Viet Nam last Wednesday would have been successful even if we had sent a letter three days in advance.

Moore is the commander of the American strike task force, now cruising off Viet Nam.

The admiral told newsmen that in his opinion President Johnson did not give the North Vietnamese any useful warning when he announced the air strike publicly in Washington. Johnson has been criticized in some quarters for disclosing the action in advance.

Moore said his slower, propeller-driven planes took off about 10:30 a.m. local time and hit their targets about 1 p.m. Johnson announced that an attack was in progress at 11:35 p.m. in the United States, which was 11:38 the following morning in Viet Nam.

The administration has said the announcement was made to let the communists know the attack was limited, and that the planes entered the field of communist radar. The administration contends there was not enough time for the North Vietnamese torpedoes to flee.

But Moore said task force 77 was so superior in power that "I don't think it would have mattered if we had sent a letter three days in advance."

However the admiral did not think the Reds knew of the raid before the President's announcement. Moore said he considered North Vietnamese radar inferior and that he did not believe they had picked up the American planes when the announcement was made in Washington.

News Around Idaho

AMERICAN FALLS, Aug. 11—Power county sheriff Rulon Neal said yesterday he would wait until the end of irrigation season before planning more searches for the body of a drowned Pocatello swimmer. Searchers shut-off the flow of the Snake river below American Falls Sunday in an unsuccessful effort to find the body of Floyd H. Sanders, who drowned June 23. It was the second time this summer that American Falls dam level had been closed to aid the search. Neal said the river's water level cannot be lowered again until the irrigation season ends.

MOSCOW, Aug. 11—Idaho business and political leaders and top education officials here were urged to support requests for a comprehensive study of the state's public school system. A cooperative study of education in Idaho is highly important to meet the challenge of a changing scene, said Dr. Lewis T. Kohler, Los Angeles, coordinator of a citizen-education meeting that opened yesterday on the University of Idaho campus. Kohler, a visiting professor of school administration at the university, listed the role of government and social and population alterations as factors most responsible for changing attitudes toward education.

BOISE, Aug. 11—Ten Idaho counties have exceeded their 1964 goals in the cancer fund drive, the Idaho division of the American Cancer society reported today. Total collections over the state total $121,900, the division said, compared with a goal of $120,000. Counties which have exceeded their goals are Kootenai, Shoshone, Lewis, Adams, Valley, Washington, Blaine, Butte, Bannock and Fremont.

BOISE, Aug. 11—Gov. Robert F. Smylie left Boise today for Hershey, Pa., where he will confer with other Republican governors and GOP presidential candidate Sen. Barry Goldwater. Smylie's strategy and set up programs on both national and state levels. Smylie said he plans to return to Boise Wednesday night. Lieut. Gov. William K. Drevlow will take over as acting chief executive during Smylie's absence but isn't expected to come to Boise from his home in Craigmont.

BOISE, Aug. 11—More than 600 employers in Kootenai county will receive letters this week from the Idaho employment security agency in connection with a special occupational survey. The agency said the study is sponsored by the Coeur d'Alene Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the EIA.

BOISE, Aug. 11—Idaho ranks second only to Iowa in its literacy rate, Elmer S. Crowley, executive secretary of the Idaho Education Association, said yesterday. He said the National Education Association rates Idaho with slightly less than one percent of its population 14 years or older as illiterate. Only Iowa ranks better.

BOISE, Aug. 11—A call for bids on projects involving construction of a water and sewage system at the site of the 1965 Olympic roundup on Lake Pend Oreille in north Idaho has been issued by the department of public works. The department said the bids will be opened at its Boise office Aug. 27. Construction of the system along with seeding of barren areas and construction of an outdoor theater will complete preparation of the site. The department said the project is the largest building project in the state since the recent special legislative session created Paragard state park on the 2,000-acre site. Officials said improvements for the roundup have been designed to meet future requirements of the park.

POCATELLO, Aug. 11—Two Pocatello children, missing since Friday night, were located last night in Blackfoot. A Blackfoot man, who said he didn't want his name used, called Pocatello police shortly after 5 p.m. to say he had just seen the children. Sgt. Orval Bennett of the Pocatello police department said the parents of Denise Colvin, 12, and Gladys Colvin, 11, picked them up at Blackfoot last night. Their mother, Mrs. Doris V. Colvin, Pocatello, told police the children left home Friday. They apparently walked the entire 25 miles to Blackfoot, barefooted. Their mother took away their shoes because the boy had run away before. The children apparently suffered no harm from their three-day walk.

CALDWELL, Aug. 11—Trustees of the Caldwell school district voted last night to encourage continued use of the Bible in the public schools on a voluntary basis. U. S. district court in Boise earlier in the day issued its formal order overturning an Idaho case law which required daily Bible reading in the schools. The federal court said the statute violated the federal constitution. The Caldwell district approved a motion advising teachers that "if they so wish they may continue to read the Bible, without comment, as part of the daily routine. The federal court suit was directed at the school board in Moscow and state school officials but in the order the court said it affected also every other public school district in the state.

The younger of the Chief Executive's two daughters arrived shortly after noon and was taken by limousine to the Bel Air hotel where she and Mrs. Lloyd Hand, a Los Angeles attorney and former Johnson senate aide.

The Daily Investor

By WILLIAM A. DOYLE
Q. I hope you can explain what "par value" of stock means. I own some American Telephone and Telegraph stock, which originally had par value of $100 a share. When the stock was split three for one, the par value was reduced to $33 1/3 a share. Then, when the stock was again split two for one, the par value was reduced to $16.65 a share. What effect do these changes in par value have on my stock?

A. None whatsoever. I've said it before and I'll say it again: In the case of common stock, par value has no real significance.

(Technically, AT & T stock is "split" stock. But because the company has no preferred stock, its capital stock is the same thing as common stock.)

Where common stock is concerned, par value is simply assigned to each share of stock by a company's charter. Sometimes par value is also used to compute the dollar amount of common shares on a company's balance sheet.

But these are only bookkeeping devices. And to head-off the screaming letters from people who can't grasp this, let's use your AT & T stock to prove that there is no relationship between par value and market value. As a stockholder, market

Stuck Woman

SEATTLE, Aug. 11—Although it handled 105 cases over the week-end, the 13th coast guard district coasted into some unguarded moments.

"Trying to investigate a 'body' bobbing in the surf at Depoe Bay, Ore., coast guardmen found a seal. Some 10 miles south of Newport, Ore., two elderly women plopped the wrong spot to dig for clams.

Mrs. Josephine Bruening, 67, got stuck in the mud. The coast guard pulled her out.

value is the important thing. While AT & T stock has a par value of $100 a share, its market price was as high as $125 a share in 1922 and as low as $70.25 a share in 1932. It was as high as $205.50 a share in 1950, and at $250 a share just before the three-for-one split in that year.

When the stock was split three for one, the par value was changed to $33 1/3 a share. While the stock had that par value, its market price ranged from $75.12 in 1950 to $148.64 this year. It was $138.75 just before the recent two-for-one split.

That two-for-one split reduced the par value to $16.65. Since the stock has had that par value, the market price has been high as $75 and as low as $67. As this goes through the type-writer, it is up over $70.

You should see that the market value of AT & T stock has seldom been anywhere near par value. So forget about par value of common stock. It means nothing to you as an owner of common stock.

Q. I own 125 shares of a mutual fund which pays dividends every six months. Suppose I cash in my shares, say, five months after a dividend has been paid. As I understand it, I would receive only the market value of the shares. This doesn't seem fair. Shouldn't I also receive part of the dividend that will be paid a month later?

A. No there's no reason why you should. And there's nothing unfair about this situation.

When you redeem mutual fund shares, you turn them back to the fund and receive the "redemption price per share" in effect at the time you redeem.

For most mutual funds, the redemption price is the asset value per share—the actual dollar and cents value behind each share. A few mutual funds charge a "redemption fee" of about one per cent.

You get the redemption price, no matter when you cash in your shares. That price, of course, can go up or down, depending upon the change in market value of the investments the mutual fund holds.

And when a mutual fund declares a dividend, or a capital gains distribution, the value of the dividend and/or distribution is automatically deducted from the asset value per share. That happens on the "ex-dividend" date.

So whether you redeem before or after the ex-dividend date, you don't lose anything. (Mr. Doyle will accept only representative letters of general interest. He cannot answer phone queries.)

Woman to Win Back Title "Hostess With Mostess"

BY HELEN THOMAS
WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (AP)—Famous party-giver Mrs. Marie Meala will win back her title of "Hostess With the Mostess" hands down at the Democratic national convention in Atlantic City this month.

She has a plush party planned for every night of the convention, with her biggest wingding on Aug. 26 after President Johnson gets the nod to head the party ticket.

The smaller parties will run from 115 to 200 guests, with drinks and buffet before the start of general convention sessions each evening.

Three gatherings will be held at a plush home in Ventnor Place, a couple of miles from Atlantic City. The imposing house belongs to broker Frank Blotnik, a brother of one of Mrs. Meala's hosts.

The real big party will be held at a hotel with two bands—Lester Lanin and Chambers Rivers—going full swing. It won't start until after 11 p.m. It'll be integrated and guests will include all of the party big wigs and a number of Mrs. Meala's friends.

President Johnson has no more ardent booster than Mrs. Meala, an Oklahoma oil heiress, who has sometimes swung over to the Republicans—as she did in the last election when she campaigned for Richard M. Nixon. She had wanted the Democratic presidential nomination to go to Johnson and was opposed to John F. Kennedy.

Nor did she want Johnson to take second spot on the Kennedy ticket. She felt that he was better off as senate majority leader than as vice president under Kennedy. The tragedy of Kennedy's assassination lodged her political switching—she voted for Republican Wendell L. Willkie and Alfred M. Landon—has tagged her with the label "two-party People." But most times the Democrats consider her their darling.

Asked for an appraisal of Sen.

Barry Goldwater, she said: "Goldwater is a charmer with the courage of his convictions, which are antiquated."

Mrs. Meala, a widow, was married to an ardent Republican, George Meala, who was much older than she. She said she "ruined" a lot with him about politics, and says of herself: "I've always been a liberal."

The daughter of a millionaire oilman, Mrs. Meala has long been a member of Eastern society circles. But she also has a bent for public service and more of an interest in public affairs than the usual prominent hostess.

She served as minister to Luxembourg when Truman was president. She added a new dimension to diplomacy by going into the coal mines and also giving parties for the O's in Europe.

She remembers the parties as "the most exciting days of her life."

She has had many suitors through the years but has shied away from remarrying. Asked why, she said: "I don't know... I got independent. I wanted to lead my own life. I don't think a woman has to be married to accomplish things."

Elder Hanks Addresses LDS Confab at Sun Valley

SUN VALLEY, Aug. 11—(You are going to take yourself with you wherever you go.) Elder Marion D. Hanks, Salt Lake City, general authority of the LDS church, told members of Blaine and Lost River stakes at the annual Blaine stake-sponsored youth conference held Sunday at the local church chapel.

Then Elder Hanks reminded the youths that today is the first day of the rest of their lives to "reach a little and grow up, grow up in the Lord."

A recently returned mission president for the church in the British Isles, Elder Hanks pointed out that "God loves us, that He is our Father and He wants us to be happy and succeed."

"To be happy and succeed in the destined way, he said, weigh the person you want to be, the home and family you want to have against any foolish act that might disqualify you for that future."

In quoting from the scriptures he said, "let virtue garish thy thoughts unceasingly" and added "Don't be crude, coarse, foul, don't go into the ring of life with your hands tied by second rate, sinful living."

President Delphin S. Hall, Shoshone, gave the welcome address of the morning session. W. Cloyd Meacham, Carey, Blaine stake MIA president, conducted. Musical numbers were given by Shoshone, Carey and Sun Valley wards. Mrs. Velma Allen directed the girls group from Shoshone, and the Sun Valley group came from the music camp.

Julie Hull, Halley, and Keith Muhler, Halley, gave the invocations for the two sessions, while closing prayers were by Layne Hansen and Woodrow Reynolds, Lost River stake.

Presentation of the year's theme was also by the Lost River er stake and Kurtis Pyrah, Carey, presented the reading course for MIA this year, taken from the "Improvement Era."

Elder Hanks and Elaine Cannon are the editors of the "Era of Youth" included each month in the publication and this section is one of the five used for the reading course this year.

Elder Hanco Gardner, Blackfoot, who served as a counselor to Elder Hanks while he was in England, was introduced and spoke briefly.

Mrs. Harold Butler, Halley, Blaine stake YWMA president, conducted the afternoon meetings.

Cowboys Name Franzman, Jones To Stop Chiefs

Highlanders Ron Franzman and Tom Jones will carry the pitching burdens Tuesday and Wednesday nights as the Magic Valley Cowboys continue their second-place battle with the Pocatello Chiefs in Jaycoo park. The Chiefs, moving in for a three-game stand, currently lead the Cowboys by one-half game in the Pioneer league standings.

YMCA Teams Post Wins in City Tourney

YMCA No. 1 nipped the national guard 11-10 in 10 innings and YMCA No. 2 edged Glen Jenkins 5-2 in the tightest of the Twin Falls city flow pitch softball tournament Monday night.

In other action, favored Sherwood's Sports Center-thumped Home Dairies 15-4 and Junior's Jewelers defeated Olympia 31-16.

Tuesday action will send Blacker against Oak Rubber-Welders and the two YMCA teams meet at 7:15 p.m. The Ida-Gem vs. Self Manufacturing and Jensen's vs. Sherwood's at 9 p.m.

Glen Jenkins' two-run single broke a 2-2 deadlock and sparked YMCA No. 2 to a 5-2 victory. Bob Howard scored both runs for the losers.

In the overtime game, a two-run rally by YMCA No. 1 netted the victory. Paul Brown started it with a double and Williams with a run-producing single. Powers later scored on while Stan Owens was living on an error.

Jack Sherry led off the bottom of the inning with a towering homerun but it still left the national guard a run short.

Cards Edge Giants With Tight Defense

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 11 (AP)—Mike Shannon and Lou Brock threw out San Francisco runners at plate producing 26, 2-1 victory over the Giants Monday night.

The Cardinals scored single runs in the first and second innings off Ron Heibel for a 2-0 lead. Then, in the fifth, the Giants made their first threat.

Tom Haller led off with a single, and two outs later, Harvey Kuenn singled him to second. Hal Lanier then popped a single to right but Heibel was out at home on a rifle throw from Shannon to catcher Tim McCarver.

Jim Ray Hart pulled the Giants to within one run in the seventh and the Giants mounted another threat in the eighth when Orlando Cepeda and Hal Lanier singled with two outs. Haller singled to left field, but Cepeda, trying to score second on the hit, was out on Brock's peg to McCarver.

Mrs. Undhjem Is Favored to Win Women's Title

BURLEY, Aug. 11—Mrs. Marlon Undhjem, Twin Falls, the dominant force in Magic Valley's women's golf for the past five years, is rated the favorite for the annual Times-News Magic Valley women's golf tournament opening Wednesday at the Burley golf course. The tournament, which is open only to women living within the geographical confines of Magic Valley, is expected to attract 50 to 60 women, reports Mrs. Eugene Sorenson, tournament chairman.

Included in the field will be Mrs. Helen Priluck, Buhl, who has won the tournament several times. The tournament offers prizes in all flights in low gross and runner-up and low net finishes. Presentation of awards will be made Thursday at the Ponderosa Inn immediately following play. Coffee hours are planned each morning before competition.

Mrs. Undhjem will not be unopposed in the meet, although she has won the last four titles. Mrs. Sorenson rates as Burley's best bet but the prospect of doubling as tournament chairman and playing her home course.

Sun Valley sends two top players in Ann Gray and Betty Bell while Twin Falls sends a trio of Mrs. Jerry Gasser, Mrs. Kenneth Gasser and Mrs. Bert Harlow. Mrs. Gasser defeated Mrs. Undhjem in the Blue Lakes Invitational last year. Doris Kayes leads the Jerome contingent.

Mrs. Undhjem's best showing so far this year in major competition was in the runner-up spot in the state women's amateur tournament.

The Burley Women's Golf association is running the tournament which is jointly sponsored by the Times-News and passed around each year to the various courses in this area.

GOODING, Aug. 11—The second annual Gooding Senior golf tournament, open only to golfers 50 years of age or older, will be conducted at the Gooding municipal golf course Aug. 22 and 23, announces Bob Lyon, tournament chairman.

The tournament will be medal play and the field will be limited by age in accordance with the national golfers' association senior tournament play. Ages will be grouped 55 to 65 and 65 and up. If enough golfers enter, there will be further division within those groups. Lyon added there will be a special flight for "beginning seniors," ranging from 50 to 55 years of age.

Lyon said the tournament is open to all golfers and there will be special entertainment for wives, ranging from bridge to "pulling your husband's golf cart." The social highlight will be a dinner Saturday evening.

He added the field will be restricted to the first 120 entrants.

Sage Grouse Trend Counts Show Decline

BOISE, Aug. 11—Southwestern and south central Idaho sage grouse strutting grounds had about the same number of mating birds this spring as last year, but the number in southern Idaho was down nine percent from 1963 and 18 percent below the long-term average, the fish and game department reported today.

Sage grouse strutting grounds are visited three separate mornings about daylight during the breeding season, according to Elwood Bizeau, game bird supervisor. Repeat visits are made because many young males do not show up on the breeding grounds until late in the breeding season.

Bizeau added that 156 strutting grounds are observed annually to check the trend of breeding numbers. This is the 13th consecutive year in which counts have been made at all the major sage grouse breeding areas.

Bizeau indicated that permanent declines in sage grouse numbers have occurred in some areas of southern Idaho in recent years, and that this was usually traceable to complete removal of their aspen-habitat.

Doug Jones Seeks WBA's Aid in Forcing Clay Into Title Match

NEW YORK, Aug. 11 (AP)—"The WBA can show there's some reason for their existence if they order Cassius Clay to make his first defense, against Doug Jones, the No. 1 contender. If he doesn't, then they should vacate the title." So said Alex Koskowitz, who is not exactly neutral in this particular case. Koskowitz is the manager of Jones, the heavyweight who lost an unpopular decision 18 months ago to Clay before the latter dethroned Sonny Liston as heavyweight king.

Clay has signed for a return fight with Liston despite the disapproval of the "World Boxing association, the New York athletic commission and most boxing bodies of the world.

The WBA is scheduled to consider the return fight at its convention in Norfolk, Va., Aug. 28-30. Presently, Liston is not listed among the WBA's ranked heavyweights. Jones is ranked first.

Jones also is being by-passed by former champion Floyd Patterson. As a result, he is taking on Tony Alonti, a 6-foot, 5-inch boxer from Hollywood, Fla., in a television-bout at Madison Square garden Friday night.

Alonti, 24, is ranked 10th. He has ambitions to climb higher and he'd like to do it at Jones expense Friday. If this happens Jones' career will be ruined.

"I'm not taking him lightly," said Jones, a 27-year-old ex-fighter from New York. "Maybe he's the No. 1, but I won't help me get the title shot but I don't intend to blow it by getting careless. I'm in good shape."

Koskowitz said Monday that Jones was supposed to meet Patterson in Stockholm but that Eddie Machen got the shot instead. Patterson won.

"In view of that we don't have much hope of getting Patterson into the ring with Doug," said Koskowitz.

He made the remark shortly after Teddy Brenner, matchmaker for the Garden, said he was calling Patterson an offer of $25,000 to meet the Jones-Alonti winner in a Garden non-television fight Oct. 2. That will be the Garden's first boxing date after the present television contract expires.

Brenner also said he would try and match the top four contenders—Jones, Patterson, Errol Terrell and Cleveland Williams—in a title bout if the New York commission would decide Clay's title vacant.

"We'll seriously consider the situation," said Gen. Melvin

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

TUESDAY, AUG. 11—Born today, whether male or female, you have the shrewd, analytical mind of a man. However this does not mean that if you are a woman you are not feminine. Indeed, your ability to think like a man in a man's world only heightens your womanly appeal, for it makes you seem the epitome of feminine mystery.

That you would be a success in the business world goes almost without saying. It may be, however, that—despite the high degree of business acumen you possess—you will want no part of or only a small part of your life to be absorbed in commerce. You have very strong artistic leanings and may wish to develop your talents along those lines. The ideal solution, of course, would be a combination of business and art.

Emotionally you are solid as a rock. Seldom do you show any outward signs of anger, though you make it a point to please others by showing many signs of pleasure in public. It is at home that you "let your hair down"; there, when you choose, you are as glad, joyous or dependent—which is, after all, the way it should be.

Among those born on this date are: Ariene Dahl, actress, business woman; Carrie Jacob Bond, songwriter; Nathalia Crane, poet, author.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Wednesday, August 12
LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Open your heart to another's glad tidings. He who cannot honestly share another's joy is poor indeed.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Be consistent! The course you set for yourself in the morning, stick to! No day for changing horses midstream.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—An exceptionally good business opportunity may present itself to the Libra who has open ears and a tightly sealed mouth!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23)—A day in which Scorpio can definitely create his own "good luck." Take advantage of opportunities.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—News received may be both unexpected and unusual. Don't be influenced by the manner in which you are informed.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—You should have plenty of warning if a storm is brewing. Seek emotional shelter should you suspect anything wrong.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Guard against any who would attempt to interfere in matters private to your own domestic situation.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)—Be the gracious recipient of "gifts," especially those from a loved one.

ARIES (March 21-April 20)—Not the day for the wishy-washy approach. The quick, decisive Aries will come out on top.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—Normal activities are safe; they bring normal results. For a dash of excitement, however, try something different.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Take care not to rely too much on one whose experience is not on a par with yours. Shoulders your own responsibilities.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—The time you waste in the morning, you will have to make up in the evening. Avoid this situation if you possibly can.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11—Newton D. Zinder of E. P. Hutton and company Inc., says that, unless the outside news deteriorates further, it is difficult to visualize heavier selling than that which occurred in the first hour last Wednesday.

Zinder feels the market may have seen the worst of the current decline and the remainder of August may see a gradual upturn.

He and company advises continuing to use periods of weakness for acquisition of attractive long term situations.

Leslie M. Pollack of Reynolds and company advises a continuation of a cautious attitude and a protected position. Pollack says it seems a bit too early for bargain hunting.

Thomas P. Doherty of Harris, Upham and company says investors and traders alike probably will move cautiously on making any major new commitments until there is a clearer picture of the Southeast Asia crisis.

WILL HAVE IT"

THOUSANDS OF TWIN FALLS county residents will be flowing into the Twin Falls county fairgrounds at Piler, Record and will conclude on Sept. 5. GOODING COUNTY fairgrounds will be busy this Thursday, Friday and Saturday as the Gooding county fair gets under way. In addition to the fair exhibits there will be a rodeo to entertain Gooding area residents. The exhibit buildings are located behind the main grandstands and will be full of 4-H and Farm Bureau displays. The county fair provides residents projects, FFA projects and community exhibits such as Grange a chance to get together and visit. (Times-News aerial photo)

Art Building at Twin Falls County Fair Is Due to Be Big Attraction

FILER, Aug. 11 — The art building on the Twin Falls county fairgrounds, Filer, will again be the scene of one of the biggest highlights at the fair — the art exhibit sponsored by the Magic Valley Art Guild. The guild's first exhibit at the fair was in 1957, when they were offered the use of the Yolo building for the art display. The building was too small for the

Blaine Oldtimers Recall Early Days of Fair

By MRS. FRED K. POVEY
Times-News Correspondent

BLAINE, Aug. 11 — Blaine county oldtimers reminisce of the days when the county fair was much more of a celebration here than it is now.

"Back in the 1920's we had some real fairs," they will tell you.

But the grandsons and granddaughters of these men do not agree. "They couldn't have been better than ours are now," they counter.

In glancing back it is remembered that from 1922 to 1927 — during the time when T. J. Klinger was Blaine county agricultural agent, county fairs were held at Gannett.

They were two-day affairs as they still are — and were held in August. They were held in the large schoolhouse then at Gannett and the surrounding grounds.

Of course it took longer to get to a county fair then — and when the folks got together they really enjoyed themselves. In the evenings, after the exhibits had all been seen and judged, there were horse races on the large track adjoining the school grounds — and there were boxing matches which drew large crowds.

There was a quarter, half and five-eighths mile races; slow races — for girls, boys and the men. Such names as Young, Lechiller, Stanfield, Money, Hunt, Brewer and Gibson appear as winners of the racing horses.

After the boxing matches were over the crowd danced until the wee small hours of the morning.

In grain-hauling contests the names of Gylkenkang and Hufstatter appear.

The Haystack bank furnished mules for the two-day celebration, which the editor of the Halley Times at that time described as being free from sharks and gambling.

Fred H. Gibson and Mrs. George (Marie) Kibbie, then residing in Gannett and now of Halley, were in charge of receiving the exhibits.

In 1927, first prize went to Gannett with 870 points; second to Halley with 850; third to Carey with 790; fourth to Stanton with 775. All out of a possible 1,000.

Farmers (and their wives) must have grown more vegetables then than they do now judging from the red and blue ribbons awarded. For example, there were netted, green, Idaho rural, Early Ohio, early six weeks and Bliss Triumph potatoes.

There was hardly a vegetable or fruit which was not grown in Blaine county and exhibited.

And the canned fruit and vegetables — and jams and preserves and pickles — everything from apple sauce to pickled herring, was there.

Fathead embroidery, hanger embroidery (embroidery of Norwegian design), knitting and all the other handicraft were represented.

Some of the winners whose children and grandchildren still reside here included Mrs. C. W. Cronin, Walter Brown, Tom Payne, J. A. Wheeler, Clay Wright, John Leving, Leving creek, at the Hay Spur fish hatchery, Mrs. Minnie H. Florer, W. J. Werry, J. H. Patterson, I. Casborne, Kris Kohler, P. McGlothlin, J. E. Fredrickson, Elmer Dylington and many others.

There were no fairs in Blaine county from 1927 to 1952, when James Wheeler became county agent and again started them. James Eakins, who succeeded Wheeler, continued with them.

As the Gannett school was no longer there the fairs were held in Carey with the exception of one year when it was held in the city park in Bellevue.

The 1964 fair will be held Aug. 13-15 at Carey. Norman O. Warren, Blaine county agricultural agent, and Robert Day, Carey PFA chapter adviser, are general co-chairmen.

Judges will be Mrs. Agnes Thrust, Mrs. Howard "Doc" Mrs. Olinthia Dougherty and Mrs. Marvin Custer, Twin Falls.

There are Mary Lou Graves, Mountain Home, for home economics; Ed Koester, Gooding, and Russell Hillman, Salmon, livestock; and Fern Manning, Shoshone, flowers.

All boys and girls enrolled in 4-H club work in the county this year are eligible to compete. All 4-H and PFA livestock must be judged by the public. The public acceptance of the idea was so great that the fair board decided to construct a building exclusively for the art display.

The building was ready for the 1958 fair and 200 paintings were again well received by the public. An estimated 30,000 people filed through the specially constructed and lighted building and by 1961 an addition to the building was necessary to accommodate all the artists and fairgoers.

In 1962 the guild voted to make the exhibit competitive and the paintings were judged by qualified judges from outside of Magic Valley.

The show, considered one of the largest in the state, has remained on a competitive basis since then and fairgoers are allowed to vote for their favorite painting in the show.

Other exhibits in which the guild participates each year include the annual Art Mart, held in the Twin Falls city park, the Episcopal church annual bazaar, a continual exhibit at the Twin Falls public library, many one- and two-man shows throughout the valley and monthly displays in the museum at Herculaneum.

The art guild was organized in the fall of 1958 as one of the first local guilds in the state. Its purpose is to encourage the exchange of ideas among area artists, to hold exhibits and to membership now extends from Elko to Halley. Some of the artists from other areas belong to their own local guild as well as the Magic Valley group.

In 1959 the guild became affiliated with the newly-formed Idaho Artists association which was organized to encourage a feeling for art and the exchange of new ideas throughout the state. Each fall a two-day conference is held where artists and other interested persons gather to hear noted speakers and artists and to view the many arts and crafts from across the state.

The city of Twin Falls adult education program sponsors a yearly workshop in Harry Larry park. The guild also sponsors many classes throughout the year, bringing in noted artists such as Marco Myrillo, Naples, Italy; Olaf Moller, Turport; Paul Salisbury, Provo; Helen Aupperle, Idaho Falls; Paul Roche, Pocatello; Max Peters, Caldwell; Robert Atwood, Denver and many others.

Anyone interested in attending these classes or becoming a member of the guild should contact Mickey Marshall at his home in Murtryville or see him at the fair. This shouldn't be difficult — just go to the art building.

Selection of the grand national winner, who will receive a free trip to New York for a three-day stay for two as well as a cash prize of $1,000 and a special grand trophy, will be announced in December by the sponsors of the contest. In addition, other cash awards with appropriate ribbons, will be made within each category on a national level.

To participate in the contest, all entries must be made in 100 per cent wool or mohair yarn and must have been completed since Jan. 1, 1964. A label from

Needlework Wanted for Jerome Fair

JEROME, Aug. 11 — Since the Jerome county fair opens Aug. 20, knitters and crocheters who plan to make their way to fame as contestants in the 1964 national wool needlework contest are urged to let their needles fly and speed up work on their entries.

Entries must be submitted to the fair not later than 6 p.m. Aug. 19. The contest is being jointly sponsored by the National Hand Knitting Yarn Association and the American Wool Council for the second successive year.

To be seriously in the running for an award by the fair's judges, contestants are advised to give careful attention to such details as blocking, cleanliness and overall details before presenting their entries.

Both knitters and crocheters are eligible to enter the contest, provided that they are non-professional needleworkers.

Awards will be made in the six separate categories, three each for knitting and crocheting. These categories include afghans, sweaters, and three-piece baby sets.

Second and third place ribbons will also be awarded in all six categories in addition to the six first place blue ribbon presentations. A handsome engraved trophy will be awarded as well as the fair judging to one of the six blue ribbon winners adjudged to be "Best of Fair," although all six winners of the blue ribbon at the fair are eligible to submit their winning articles to national headquarters in New York where they will be judged in competition with other blue ribbon winners from fairs throughout the country.

Selection of the grand national winner, who will receive a free trip to New York for a three-day stay for two as well as a cash prize of $1,000 and a special grand trophy, will be announced in December by the sponsors of the contest. ## Historical Museum Is One of Largest Attractions at T.F. County Fair

One of the largest attractions in the past and one with great potential for this year's Twin Falls county fair is the historical museum constructed and sponsored by the Twin Falls county historical society.

For an organization only seven and one-half years old (probably the youngest exhibiting organization at the fair) the society has constructed a museum that attracts immense crowds each day of the fair. The waiting line is usually long and people take their time looking when they finally get in, for the fear that they could never get back in due to the large crowds.

The organization was formed Jan. 31, 1957, with Edwitt B. Young as first president. The two main articles of purpose found in the articles of incorporation are those stating basically that the purpose is to perpetuate the history and traditions of Twin Falls county and surrounding areas and to discover, accumulate, correlate and preserve articles of historical value and provide a public place to exhibit these articles.

Probably the greatest article of value in the society's possession is the Ilaboe camera and vast volumes of pictures it took. The society was given the camera and pictures which provide a complete story of the history of Twin Falls county. There are pictures of every important building constructed in Twin Falls since 1803.

Society members are currently getting tape recordings of old-timers in the area so that in future years there will be a permanent accurate record of the actual happenings in the area. Other valuable historical items belonging to the society are several journals and diaries of area pioneers along with some newspaper publications dealing with specific historical incidents.

A gift of a photograph to I. H. Perrine from his close personal friend, Thomas A. Edison, also was donated to the historical society by Mrs. Perrine. Parts of the internal workings of the machine are inlaid and the society and Mrs. Perrine are now working to locate these parts for installation in the shell of the machine.

During the summer months the members of the society take field trips to historical sites throughout the county and surrounding area where they attempt to locate and acquire well as become more familiar with the area in order to make more fully the historical happenings that occurred there.

Winter months are filled with lectures by several pioneers, authorities on the area's history. The society's first lecture, held at the fair was an immediate decision that the area was too small for its purposes. Now the exhibit is located in the old dining room of the fairgrounds, but there is still hunting for a larger place for their museum so they can display all their antique treasures.

Fairgoers should not miss an extremely interesting and even though they might wait in line for a few minutes

New Race Track Completed for Horse Racing at Minidoka Fair, Sept. 3-5

By MRS. NEP'S DOUGLASS
Times-News Correspondent
AUG. 11.—Work has been completed on a new race track at the Minidoka county fairgrounds in readiness for pari-mutuel horse racing to be held in conjunction with the Minidoka county fair Sept. 3, 4 and 5. Horse races are scheduled each day in addition to Sept. 7, Labor day.

Each day racing programs have been tentatively scheduled to begin at 2 or 3 p. m. so as not to interfere with the morning judging of livestock and other exhibits.

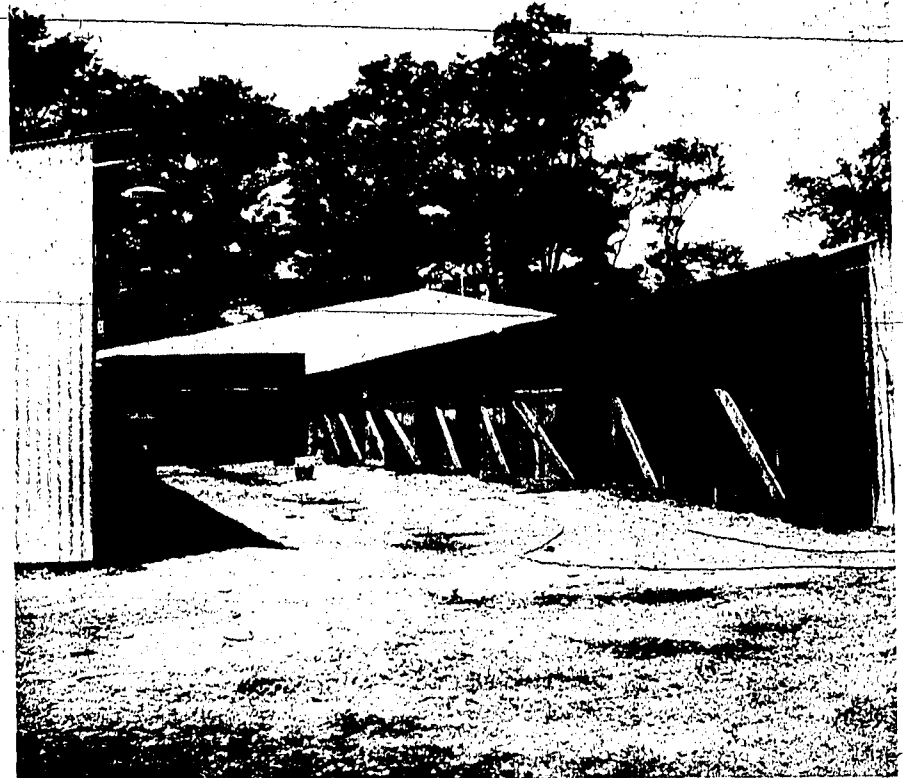

The new one-half mile track at the fairgrounds has been patterned after the track at Pomona, Calif., in Los Angeles county. According to fair officials, the track features two straightaways; one on the southeast corner and one on the northwest corner, which will provide a better show for spectators in the various races.

Work began at the fairgrounds in April of this year in anticipation of pari-mutuel racing in connection with the Rupert July 4 rodeo and celebration. A $75 deposit was made to racing commission, making this group the first in the state to make a deposit. However, Chamber of Commerce officials learned the track at the fairgrounds, which had to be brought up to specifications, would not be ready in time for the annual July 4 celebration. The date will be kept open for the 1965 celebration. Fair officials report that Lloyd

Shilhamer, Delgrade, Mont., has been hired as the racing manager and he will furnish his own men to help operate the machines and races. However, local people will be used as cashiers. Judge Mickelson, Minidoka officials of the state Horse Breeders association, reports that the horse breeders business will be greatly benefited in that local people will be able to prove their horses without taking them to California. Races anticipated by the officials at the county fair include two races of 300 yards for quarterhorses; one three-eighth mile race, open; one three-eighth mile race, quarterhorse; one four and one-half furlong; one race, five furlongs; one race, seven-eighths mile and one race one-sixteenth of a mile. Fair officials announce the commercial building at the north end of the grandstand will be used for pari-mutuel betting this year. The new building has been in use two seasons. Also some work has been done on the grandstands in readiness for the racing events and the new horse barns built at the fairgrounds have been changed somewhat to meet specifications for the pari-mutuel racing.

Country Store Featured at Camas Fair

FAIRFIELD, Aug. 11—A special added attraction at the Camas county 4-H fair Aug. 21-22 will be a "country store" conducted by the Purple Sage Cowbelle.

The store will feature all kinds of used clothing, especially children's school clothing, dresses and all kinds of miscellaneous articles. The Cowbelle has about 120 members in the vicinity of Magic Valley and they have been collecting articles for the sale for the past few months.

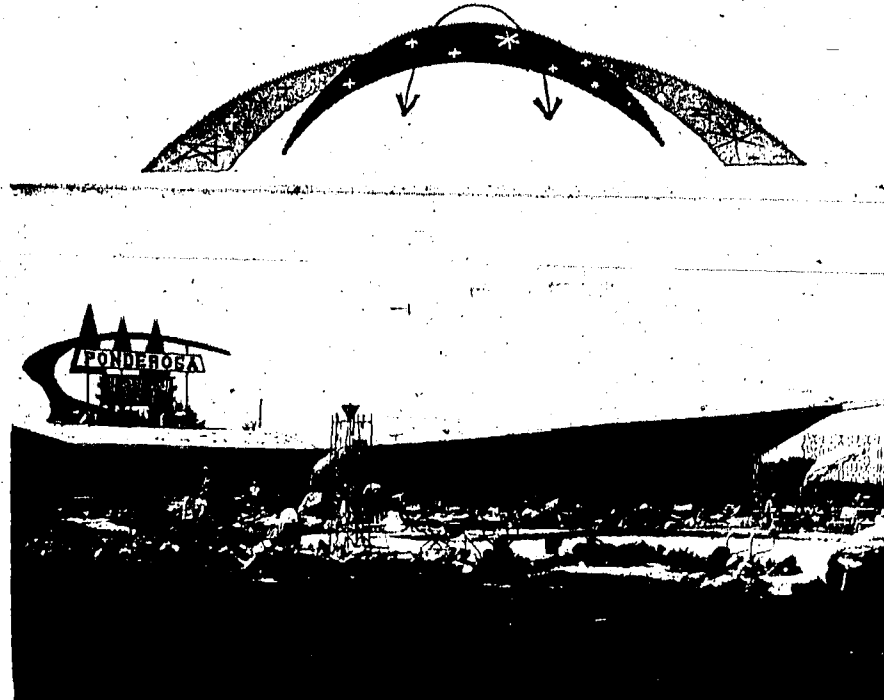

The women plan on opening their store about 11 a. m. Aug. 22 in the city park north of the firehouse on the main street of Fairfield. Mrs. Carl Anderson, president, states there will be a food booth, too, with coffee, sandwiches and punch sold. They also will sell articles with their Cowbelle insignia such as pins, earrings and napkins.

Members plan on backgrounding their displays with a decorated purple hay wagon. Ralph Faulkner, Gooding, has loaned the wagon to the women and they have painted it the unusual color to match their club name and have used it in parades.

The Cowbelle has been very active in civic affairs in the state and are presently engaged in trying to educate the public into demanding and consuming beef that has been raised in America and especially Idaho grown beef and not imported beef. They plan on using the profits from their country store in publicity relative to the matter of consuming American beef.

The Cowbelle are the woman's auxiliary to the cattlemen's association. The Idaho group was organized in 1940 and has grown in numbers in the last few years. Mrs. Anderson states the Purple Sage Cowbelle are the largest group in Idaho and have members in Camas, Gooding, Elmore, Owyhee, Lincoln and Twin Falls counties.

Present officers are Mrs. Carl Anderson, Bliss and Hill City, president; Mrs. Everett Trader, Hill City, vice president; Mrs. Isabelle Boutle, Clenna Perry, secretary; Mrs. LeRoy Hallowell, Bliss, historian, and Mrs. James Faulkner, Bliss, publicity chairman.

Area Woman Is Longtime Exhibitor

OAKLEY, Aug. 11 — One of the longtime exhibitors in the Cassia county fair at Burley is Mrs. John Butler, Oakley, who has taken first prize in the past few years with her hand-knitted rugs.

The round rug, shown in the photo above, is completely knitted with No. 14 needles and although the sections look as if they are separate and have been put together, Mrs. Butler admits that a center is formed and she worked in circles, alternating the colored cloth, and the rug is all in one piece.

Material for this rug was gathered from old sheets, dyed and cut into strips, wound over a cardboard similar to winding string and then knitted. She had to be extremely careful to turn the edges under as she knitted.

The oval rug was knitted in two pieces and joined together with material coming from colorful old clothes. The sections in the round rug are all one piece. (Times-News photo)

Gooding Girl Completes 29 4-H Projects

GOODING, Aug. 11 — One of Gooding county's most active 4-H members is Carol Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Robertson. She has been a 4-H club member for nine years and during this time has completed 29 different projects. She has completed nine years of clothing, five years of food, three years of freezings, four years of sheep, four years of junior leadership, two years of health, one year home improvement, and one year in photography.

Carol has developed a flock of 40 sheep and plans to use the profits from this endeavor to further her education in home economics at the University of Idaho. Through her clothing projects she has made almost all of her clothes for school, and she estimates that this has reduced her clothing bill by 80 per cent.

Carol also has been active in many 4-H club activities such as Keep Idaho Green, safety, rural life Sunday, and 4-H club week. She also has been active in rural civil defense, off the farm business survey, and has attended 4-H summer camp and 4-H club congress in Chicago.

At the Gooding county fair she has been awarded blue ribbons five times in style review, has been a member of the county home economics judging teams at the district fair and won outstanding awards in agriculture demonstrations.

In addition to her 4-H club work Carol has been active in school and community activities. She is a past president of the Future Homemakers of America at Gooding high school, marshal for John's Daughters, and is active in the Methodist church.

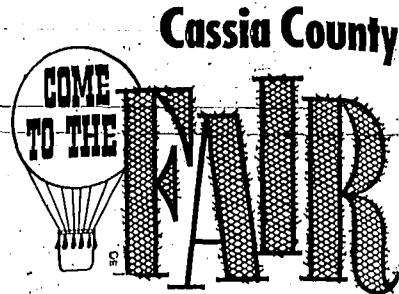

CAROL ROBERTSON

daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Robertson, Gooding, has been a 4-H member for nine years, completed 29 different projects and promises to be one of the outstanding exhibitors at the Gooding county fair this year.

Carol explains "4-H has helped me in many ways. Not only have I learned to cook, sew, manage the home, redecorate, good health practices and caring for livestock, I have improved my self-confidence, learned to win gracefully, to take defeat with a smile, and most of all 4-H has taught me to get along with other people."

Since she is planning an education in home economics it seems quite certain Carol will pass along these many fine points to others, and she should certainly be a living example of the fine work 4-H can do, also an incentive to younger girls now reaching the age that they are eligible to start working in 4-H.

Lockwood Corporation Announces

A CHANGE IN MANAGER AND PERSONNEL AT THEIR PLANT IN RUPERT, IDAHO

Gary Hieb

Gary Hieb, 32, married and the father of one child, has been with Lockwood Corp for 11 years as a shop foreman. He is originally from North Dakota but has been in the Rupert area for the past 22 years, the last 11 with Lockwood. Prior to those 11 years Gary was a farmer so he is well acquainted with the needs of farmers in this area for farm implements.

Gary is also outside service man for Lockwood Corp. which means that he will go out on a service call practically any time of the day or night.

Merrill E. Walker

Merrill E. Walker, 34 years old and married, has five children, 3 boys, 2 girls. He's originally from Rockland, Idaho, where he was raised on a farm. He has spent the last 6 years in the Rupert area, the last year of which he has been with the Lockwood Corp. as a sales representative for Lockwood, he covers the area north of the Snake River to American Falls. So if you live in that area and have any farm needs don't fail to call for Merrill.

John F. Allan

John F. Allan, 29, married and father of two children, is sales representative for Lockwood Corp. John was born and raised on a farm in the Burley area and is now at Lockwood Corp., having been there for only one month. Before going into the farm implement company he was a rodeo clown and bull fighter. He played some of the major rodeos in the United States including one staged in the Cow Palace in San Francisco.

As a sales representative for Lockwood Corp., John's area is the south side of the Snake River to Castleford.

Herb Thiessen

NEW MANAGER

Herb Thiessen, 49, is manager of the Rupert office of Lockwood Corp. Herb is married and the father of four children. He has resided in Idaho for 17 years and during that time has always been in the farm implement business. For the past six years he traveled the Rupert, Burley area as a representative for various implement firms, and prior to those six years, he worked for 9 years as an implement dealer and farmer in the Boise area. He is originally from Oklahoma where he also worked as an implement dealer. All in all Herb's many years of experience in the farm implement business add up to a man who knows a great deal if not practically everything about this business. Herb also owns a farm, and as a result he knows both ends of the business — being the farm implement dealer, the farmer who buys from the dealer and expects and deserves the best for his money.

JEROME COUNTY RESIDENTS will be turning the county fairgrounds into a beehive of activity in the next few days. The Jerome county fair will start Aug. 18 and will conclude Aug. 20. for the 1964 fair. The national guard armory is incorporated into the fairgrounds area. The Jerome fairgrounds are located in the northeast section of the city. Four days of horse racing will precede the Jerome county fair this week. (Times-News)

CASSIA COUNTY residents will begin pouring through the main gate on Aug. 20 to start the 1964 Cassia county fair and rodeo. The fair will close Aug. 22. The fairgrounds are located on the east side of town on U.S. highway 30. A few new exhibit buildings have been constructed for this year's fair. This year's fair promises to be bigger than ever before with plenty of exhibits and activities scheduled. (Times-News aerial)

SCANNING ENTRY BLANKS and list of events to be held in the Wranglerette horse show Sept. 5 in the Twin Falls county fairgrounds rodeo arena, are from left, Mrs. Harold Peterson, Filer, founder of the horse show; Jim Vickers, Twin Falls, Wranglerette drillmaster and announcer, and Mrs. Rex Reed, Filer, secretary-manager of this year's show. The Filer Wranglerettes have sponsored the show during the fair for four consecutive years as one of the annual projects. (Times-News photo)

Filer Riding Group to Sponsor Fourth Annual Horse Show at T.F. County Fair

FILER, Aug. 11—The fourth annual Wranglerette horse show will begin at noon Sept. 5 at the Twin Falls county fair. The show was initiated four years ago by Mrs. Jeanette Peterson, currently vice president of the Filer Wranglerettes, who managed and directed the first two years. Mrs. Alice Reed, Filer, one of the charter members of the organization, is now in her second year as secretary-manager of the show and she promises another interesting show this fall.

Wranglerette In Fifth Year Of Riding

FILER, Aug. 11—The Filer Wranglerettes, sponsoring organization of the horse show to be conducted Sept. 5 at the Twin Falls county fairgrounds, are in its fifth year of riding together. The women's riding club was founded in 1959 by Mrs. Neal Allen, Filer, and there were originally 13 members who are now referred to as the charter members. Of these original 13, 10 are still riding with the club and the membership of active participants has now grown to 24. There are 10 of the members who are married and they boast a total of 38 children, many of whom come to the fairgrounds during practice and performance sessions to watch their mothers perform.

There is one college student who rides with them during the summer and several other younger girls who are active. There are also two mother-daughter combinations. Mrs. Georgia Blazock and daughter, Carla, Filer, and Mrs. Mabel Bishop and daughter, Gloria, Bluh.

Membership in the Filer Wranglerettes is limited to girls aged 14 and older and is attained by tryouts. Those desiring membership must ride a pattern before a committee and must perform in the drill so members can be certain that the horse riders' horse is well-behaved and has a good disposition. This is important in keeping accidents and injury to a minimum while performing the sometimes dangerous drill. There is a waiting list of women who are seeking membership.

Some of the organization's activities during the past few years are participation in Wagon Days at Ketchum, the Snake River stampede, Lion's club rodeo, Magic Valley Western Horse show, the Intercollegiate Rodeo at Pocatello, Jerome and the Silver State Stampede at Elko. Money-raising projects have been concessions at jamborees, cooked food sales, rummage sales and the annual horse show. The proceeds have been used to purchase equipment for the club.

Officers of the Wranglerettes are Jim Vickers, drillmaster and announcer; Mrs. Margaret Vincent, president; Jeanette Peterson, vice president; and Glenna Blazak, secretary-treasurer.

Gooding Boy Is Top 4-H Contributor

GOODING, Aug. 11—One of the outstanding contributors to the 4-H part of the Gooding county fair is Kevan Varin, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Varin of Gooding.

Kevan, at 14, has completed five years of 4-H club work, and last year was awarded a registered Hereford heifer, presented by Howard Niccum, Wendell.

Projects completed by Kevan include five years of sheep, two years of dairy, one year of beef, and one year of junior leadership. During this time and for these projects, he has received a total of 26 blue ribbons, 12 red ribbons, and one white ribbon at the county fair.

At the district fair he was awarded 10 blue ribbons and four red ribbons, which is an enviable record.

During 1963 he attended 4-H club camp and 4-H junior leadership club camp. Kevan feels 1963 was his most outstanding year. During this time he won the round robbin filling and showing contest at the county fair, his registered Hereford heifer, a $25 scholarship awarded by the Gooding Seed

First Aid Station Is Essential

The most essential service provided at any fair is a first aid medical station adequately equipped and staffed to provide immediate assistance to injured or sick fairgoers.

Such a service at the Twin Falls county fair, provided by the American Red Cross, has often proved to be a life and limb saver, according to Mrs. Jean Thompson, Bull nurse, who will be the attending official for the 11th consecutive year at the fair this fall.

There are two first aid stations on the grounds, one located in the 4-H barn throughout the day and evenings and one located underneath the grandstands during the afternoon and evening performances in the rodeo arena.

An ambulance is stationed at the grandstand station from 7:30 p.m. to 11:30 p.m., each day and a stationwagon ambulance is available throughout the day for emergency trips to the hospital.

The nurses in charge of the stations are directly responsible for their actions at all times to the physician director of the first aid program for the year.

This doctor is not able to be on the grounds at all times during the five days that exhibitors are there, but he is on call and available at all times. There also is a doctor assigned to the first aid station during the rodeo each evening, who stays on the grounds until 11:30 p.m.

Mrs. Thompson reports that for the past two years her work has been made easier due to the efforts of the Scouts in Explorer post 303, sponsored by the Idaho state police, district four.

"Their skill in first-aid practices has increased our efficiency to a great degree," said Mrs. Thompson.

Common sense with animals and the weather would reduce many of the accidents, fainting spells and sunstroke that occur daily and require medical attention, according to Mrs. Thompson.

She reports the most interesting people to work with are the rodeo contestants. It is considered a cardinal sin to be assisted out of the arena, according to the cowboys, and the first aid personnel don't even attempt to touch them without their permission.

"When you see a cowboy carried off the field, you know that he is so seriously injured he cannot stand, let alone hobble off," she said. Mrs. Thompson usually stays on the grounds until after the rodeo is over because there usually are a couple of the injured contestants who finally decide that they could use some patching up.

She often receives postcards or letters weeks after the fair is over, thanking her for helping them out. She is known to all as Jean, and her mail from the cowboys is usually addressed: Jean ??, nurse, fairgrounds, Filer.

Mrs. Thompson keeps a daily record of the cases brought to the station during the fair and at the bottom of a record for the last day of a fair last year she has listed medical supplies used during four days.

The list reads: splints, bandages, gauze, Puracin (a bandage and cut dressing) antibiotic bandages, 200 aspirin tablets and phenylal disinfectant.

DEMONSTRATING A MOST OFTEN USED bandaging procedure at the fair first aid station in the 4-H barn is Mrs. Jean Thompson, Bull. Her "patient" is William Herzogine, Twin Falls, first aid chairman of the Twin Falls chapter, American Red Cross. This will be the 11th consecutive year Mrs. Thompson will have been the attendant at the first aid station and she has treated everything from splinters to severely injured exhibitors and fairgoers. There also is a station located in the grandstands during the afternoon and evening performances in the rodeo arena. (Times-News photo)

GOODING SHOSHONE KIMBERLY

THE SPACIOUS field of green grass at the Lincoln county fairgrounds make adequate space for attractions for children, such as the miniature train and whirling. A large carnival is never allotted for the fair, and many years there are no children's rides at all. When such rides are provided, however, they draw plenty of business from the younger generation and seem to bring more people out to the fair in general. Children are able to stay clean due to the condition of the grounds.

Improvements Listed for Lincoln County Fairgrounds

SHOSHONE, Aug. 13 — Lincoln county residents are proud of their fairgrounds and buildings. The present site of the fair was put to use for the first time in 1955 and has been a place of beauty and service for summer programs and the fair since that time.

Recent improvements at the grounds include construction of a new 4-H building on the west side of the women's display booth building. These are closed in for winter and are adequate to house food and related equipment for the fair. Considerable less work results for persons setting up a concession since the construction. Showing the fairgrounds was a favorite activity of the late county extension agent, J. Howard Manning.

Fair Moved In 1955 to Present Site

SHOSHONE, Aug. 13 — In 1955, the Lincoln county fairgrounds improvement program was at a crossroads. Enough labor had been donated to put the fair onto the fairgrounds, for the first time in many years. It had been held in the center of Shoshone, around the courthouse lawn.

But, to handle the fair program, much more improvement was needed at the fair grounds, especially in the way of buildings and barns.

The main source of revenue came from receipts from concessions and exhibits, financial help from organizations and individuals.

Improvements needed were another 4-H stock barn, a unit for open class stock, a display building and more housing space for 4-H home economics and miscellaneous projects.

Allocation was set up on the county budget at that time and was increased from $1,250 to $1,400 in 1955. When the fair levy was set a few years later, sufficient funds were then available to carry out a yearly improvement program for the grounds.

Fair board members, however, did most of the labor of cleaning out the old barns, buildings and setting up facilities for the fair of 1955, spending as many as 16 hours for several days in a row to get the job completed.

1930 was the first time Lincoln county commissioners allocated an appropriation for premiums at the annual fair. The records of those years state "the fair is a continuation of a county fair organized in 1927."

Shoshone Chamber of Commerce and county citizens have aided in promotion of the fair. In 1932 there were 22 clubs participating. There were exhibits of a model farmstead protected by windbreaks and 4-H forestry club. Attendance at the fair was estimated at about 1,000 persons.

Schedule for Blaine Fair Is Reported

CAREY, Aug. 11—Program of events for the Blaine county fair, Aug. 19-20, are announced by Norman O. Warren, county extension agent.

All 4-H exhibits must be registered from 3 to 5:30 p.m. Aug. 18. Checking in of open class exhibits opens at 8 a.m. Aug. 19. The livestock judging contest will be held at 2:30 p.m. Aug. 17 at the Carey high school.

At 9:30 a.m. Aug. 19 the home economics judging contest will be held in the agricultural building with Mrs. Agnes Hurst, Nettie Baird, Wainah Byington and Anne Broadie as judges.

Judges for 4-H exhibits will be Mrs. Howard Rank, Mrs. Clinton Dougherty, Mrs. Marvin Custer and Mrs. Hurst, all Twin Falls, and Mary Lou Graves, Mountain Home.

Judging of open class exhibits is scheduled for 10 a.m. with 4-H demonstrations at 11 a.m. and continuing through 1:30 p.m. Meats judging contest is scheduled for 2 p.m. with Norman Warren as chairman, assisted by Wainah Byington and Nettie Baird.

Forestry identification contest is planned at 2:30 p.m. with a style review in the gymnasium at 3:30 p.m. Co-chairmen of this event are Donna Rose Rainey and Teresa Bergin. Judges will be Miss Graves and Mrs. Hurst.

Livestock is to be entered from 8 to 9 a.m. Aug. 20 with judging of livestock, fitting and showing at 10 a.m. Judging of quality in dairy, beef, sheep, and swine and horses is planned at 1 p.m.

Open class livestock will be judged at 2 p.m. with awarding of trophies at 3 p.m. in the gymnasium.

The fair concludes with an amateur rodeo, with Leon Fick as chairman, at 8 p.m. Aug. 20.

Accomplishment is what takes place each year among the average 100 youths of the county who participate in 4-H work and show the work at the county fair in the fall.

Achievement of Lincoln county 4-H members of the past several years shows the value of the 4-H program to youth development and promotion of good citizenship in later years.

Rupert Holstein Cow Is Champion

RUPERT, Aug. 11—Chips, a registered Holstein cow owned by Eleven Bott, 18, Rupert, was named grand champion in the open class at the Minidoka county fair last year.

She also was named top quality female in the dairy division and placed first in fitting and showing. Bott, who has been a Future Farmer of America member the past three years, plans to continue his FFA membership. He will be a senior at Minidoka high school this fall.

During his first year in FFA Bott had a total of nine registered Holsteins. Since then the herd has grown to 40. His plans to finance his college education through his dairy herd.

The youth belongs to the Holstein association.

Dirt Made

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 — To find the answer as to why dirt sticks to walls and ceilings, Penn State scientists were faced with the problem of developing synthetic dirt. This they did, and among the components were pencil lead, rubber, tobacco smoke, and nonfat dry milk.

INSPECTING FACILITIES at the Lincoln county fairgrounds at Shoshone are, from left, Murdo Gage, Floyd Silva and the late J. Howard Manning, who was county agent for several years. They are standing by one of the barns at the fairgrounds. The present site for the fair has been used since 1955. Recent improvements include construction of concession booths along the west side of the building that houses women's display booths and other activities.

MRS. HUGH CALDWELL, Wendell, one of the leading exhibitors at the Gooding county fair each year, displays some of the many ribbons she has won in fair competition. Each year she enters as high as 30 different items in both needlework and crocheting divisions. Mrs. Caldwell holds a gold cup she won in 1953 for a crocheted bedspread, shown on bed. Directly behind her are cross-stitch aprons she makes and sells. (Times-News photo)

Mrs. Caldwell Is One of Gooding Fair's Outstanding Contributors

GOODING, Aug. 11—One of the outstanding contributors to the women's division of the Gooding county fair is Mrs. Hugh (Willie) Caldwell, Wendell.

Last year she managed to garner the lion's share of awards, both for fancy work and crocheting. Mrs. Caldwell is most proud of her crocheted bedspread, which she made in 1953. Not only did she win numerous ribbons on it, she also won a gold cup for best of show in the crocheted division at the fair. The bedspread now graces a bed in the Caldwell home.

It is a lovely one, made of white thread, in hexagon-shaped blocks which feature many different types of stitches. In addition to this bedspread, Mrs. Caldwell has made five other bedspreads and three crocheted tablecloths, most of which have been displayed at fairs. She has also made four silk quilts and donated them to various organizations for fund raising.

Going back, Mrs. Caldwell says she has been crocheting for "at least 30 years," and during that time has made so many different things she can't recall too many of them. The advantage of making things for the fair, she says, is that then her Christmas "shopping" is all done, since she gives most of her work for gifts. Another advantage is the fact that the prize money she wins pays for thread to make more articles to be entered in the fair next year.

Among her choice articles for this year's fair is a crocheted tablecloth done in white, very fine thread, and a cutwork tablecloth in a beautiful shade of ecru. For anyone not familiar with cutwork, the entire design on the material is done in a buttonhole stitch.

The one Mrs. Caldwell has just finished is a large size, and also includes 12 dinner napkins. She said it was made to order for someone in New Jersey, but she plans to exhibit it before mailing it to the lucky owner.

All this lovely work is done mostly during the evenings. Mrs. Caldwell explained that although they are busy retired, there doesn't seem to be too much spare time during the daytime.

However, during the evening, while watching television, she is always busy with crocheted hook and thread. Mrs. Caldwell also makes fancy aprons from such materials as gingham and cotton materials. Many are of checked gingham and trimmed with cross stitch, however she had one which is outstanding and is a tiny pattern trimmed with diagonal strips of bias tape set on a white background.

They are all as interesting and varied as her imagination will provide. These have developed into more than a hobby, as Mrs. Caldwell makes and sells these.

Although she knows how to knit, she says she enjoys crocheting much more.

As a tribute to her talent, she showed a tiny crocheted poodle dog which was made as a cover for a fingernail polish bottle.

Also in the hobby category, she has made numerous poodles out of plastic bags, and makes her own plastic flowers. She had made some dogwood flowers from plastic, which she says are made in a mold and baked in the oven.

However, the colors are so authentic, and even veins in the flowers show, making them very realistic. She has combined them with a white Madonna statue for a centerpiece for her television.

As if talents in the handwork field weren't enough, Mrs. Caldwell also can quantities of fruit, vegetables, jams, and jellies to enter in fair competition, and she usually wins several ribbons on these.

Many of her articles she takes to the Twin Falls county fair,

ALL THE MANY HOURS of work are not readily evident when a float is shown during a parade for the county fair, but a closer inspection will show that devoted people have donated many hours of work to build a showpiece on wheels, as evidenced by this float built by the Gooding Chamber of Commerce, mostly by the willing hands of Mr. and Mrs. William Pyle, to be entered in the Gooding county fair parade, Aug. 13-15. (Times-News photo)

Beautiful Float Represents Many Hours of Work, Sore Thumbs, Tempers

GOODING, Aug. 11—When a beautiful float appears in a parade, the immediate work on it is evident. What doesn't show are hours of planning, collecting materials, sore fingers and thumbs and short tempers that go into the construction of such a thing.

In a planning session, things to be decided include first and foremost, a good theme or idea. Over a period of years it becomes exceedingly more difficult for an organization such as the Chamber of Commerce, since they enter a float every year and have for a good many years.

To come up with a new and novel idea takes a lot of "brain-work" for all the members. Next comes the problem of where to secure all the multitude of items needed for construction. The first on the list is a truck or trailer to serve as a foundation.

With the farming season in full swing, and an extra demand for these items, this can sometimes be the first stumbling block. With the truck secured, it takes miles of crepe paper, several gross of napkins, reams of paper or streamers, and whatever else it takes to convert an ordinary farm truck into a thing of beauty.

Floats usually range from the ridiculous to the sublime, with themes from the old backhouse up to and including space ships, flying saucers, etc.

Last year, the Gooding parade and has been a many-times winner there also.

In addition to all this she finds time for her church and charity work. The Methodist church, police and Wendell health council all benefit from her efforts, including the silk quilts donated to be raffled as a money-making project.

Fair attenders of both Gooding and Twin Falls counties can look forward to seeing many entries with the name of Willie Caldwell on them, plus many ribbons, as she plans to make as many entries this year as in previous years.

had a record number of floats entered, most of which followed a Central theme. There promise to be as many or more entered this year, under the direction of Clint Abercrombie, who has served as parade chairman for the past several years.

For Abercrombie, however, work begins long before the parade starts. Last minute details include such complicated items as commercial entries meet on 11th avenue facing Main street, western and historical entries meet on the 1000 block on Washington street facing south, and on and on.

Because of all this organization and careful planning, the parade is assembled and ready to start at the scheduled time, with very few hitches. Anyone inclined to sneer at what they may term a "poor parade" should try just once to spearhead such a project, or maybe, instead of sitting back and criticizing, get in and enter a float themselves, if they are not adverse to the countless hours of planning, collecting and building such a worthwhile project.

Jerome, Aug. 11—Four hundred and one 4-H club members exhibited 882 club projects at the 1953 Jerome county fair.

This part of the club program is where each club member is tried on his ability to learn and carry a work project through to a successful competitive finish. Surprises, satisfaction, heart-break, and short tempers all become apparent at this time, club leaders note.

Two hundred and seventy-two or approximately 30 per cent of these exhibits went to the district 4-H fair. The district fair is a combination of the leading 4-H youngsters from Minidoka, Cassia, Twin Falls, Gooding, Lincoln, Blaine, Camas and Jerome counties and is held in Jerome.

To be able to exhibit at the district fair a youngster must have been one of the three top exhibitors in his division and must have won a blue ribbon on his project at the county fair.

BEGINNING THE LONG TASK of organizing the juvenile building at the Twin Falls county fairgrounds, which houses the exhibits of youths to age 18 and the art work of school children, are Mrs. Cecil Brown, Filer, superintendent of the juvenile division, and Thomas Turner, also Filer, who is in charge of the building. The juvenile building always draws large crowds each year and many exhibits are seen similar to the models shown here which were entered last year. (Times-News photo)

Juvenile Section of T.F. County Fair Might Fold

FILER, Aug. 11—The juvenile department at the Twin Falls county fair, headed by Mrs. Cecil Brown, Filer, is a department that, if space permitted, could be divided into two entirely different sections, one for schoolwork displays only and one for the judging of area youth exhibitors handicraft. As it is now operated, both types of exhibition are housed in the same building and display space is becoming more valuable each year.

Thomas Turner, superintendent of Filer public schools, and director of the juvenile building, reports that many years ago the fair board provided the building for display of art work done by elementary school students in Twin Falls county. Eventually, the demand for space became so great that a well-defined system had to be set up and areas not apart for work that was to be judged for prizes.

Mrs. Doris Stradley, county superintendent of schools for many years, established the procedure under which the public schools still operate in their display of art work. The walls in the building were marked off and each school was allotted a space for display plus a small amount of additional table space. The fair board at this time established a fund of $300 for the school expenses and when all participating schools had installed their displays, the $300 is divided among them for their expenses. For the past several years each school has received from $10 to $17.

County attendance officer, Willard Swartley, has performed many services in the past, according to Turner, and the faculty of the Filer elementary schools. Mrs. Brown is watching the displays during the daytime visiting hours. Turner added many of the valley teachers

Milk Output Decreases During June

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (AP)—The agriculture department said milk output per cow in the United States averaged 733 pounds in June.

This was 25 per cent greater than the June, 1963, output, but still less than gains over a year earlier for previous months of 1964.

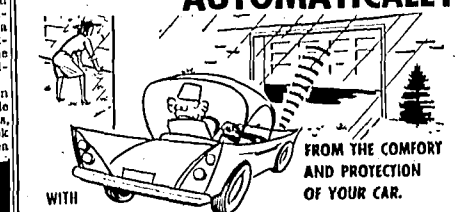

This slowdown in milk output per cow was reflected in a June production of 11,763,000,000 pounds, down about one per cent from June, 1963.

June milk production was below a year earlier in 34 states. The exceptions included a slight increase in output in several important dairy states—New York, Michigan, Minnesota and California.

There were record high outputs in seven states—Florida, Louisiana, New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada, California and Hawaii.

was located in a small corner of the 4-H barn. It has now come to the point where more room could be used and the most convincing way to let people know that more room is wanted is for all interested children to enter their handwork this fall.

Rank in Beef

RUPERT, Aug. 11—Top honors in the quality division of the fair beef competition went to the entry owned by Bill Martich, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Martich, Paul, at the 1963 Minidoka county fair.

The grand champion steer owned by Martich was named following FFA and 4-H competition. Martich entered two steers, but "Moose" was his main project. The West End Minidoka FFA member will begin his fourth year in FFA this fall. Among other things, he received a beautifully inscribed silver buckle and a year's honorary membership to the Idaho Cattlemen's association.

FFA entries had to be a part of a project carried out by a member in connection with his regular vocational agriculture program. Record books had to be up to date with all possible entries, especially hours of labor recorded.

Russell Lindstrom with his beef entry was named top winner in the 4-H beef competition. Keith Merrill, Jr., and Vernon MacNeil were advisers for the vocational agriculture division.

Blue, red and white ribbons were given in each class based on quality at the fair and blue, red and white ribbons were given on fitting and showing in each division for those participating.

Fair Horse Division at T.F. Popular

FILER, Aug. 11—"We have the best facilities in the state, bar none," states Thane Lancaster, FFA superintendent of the horse division for the fifth year at the Twin Falls county fair.

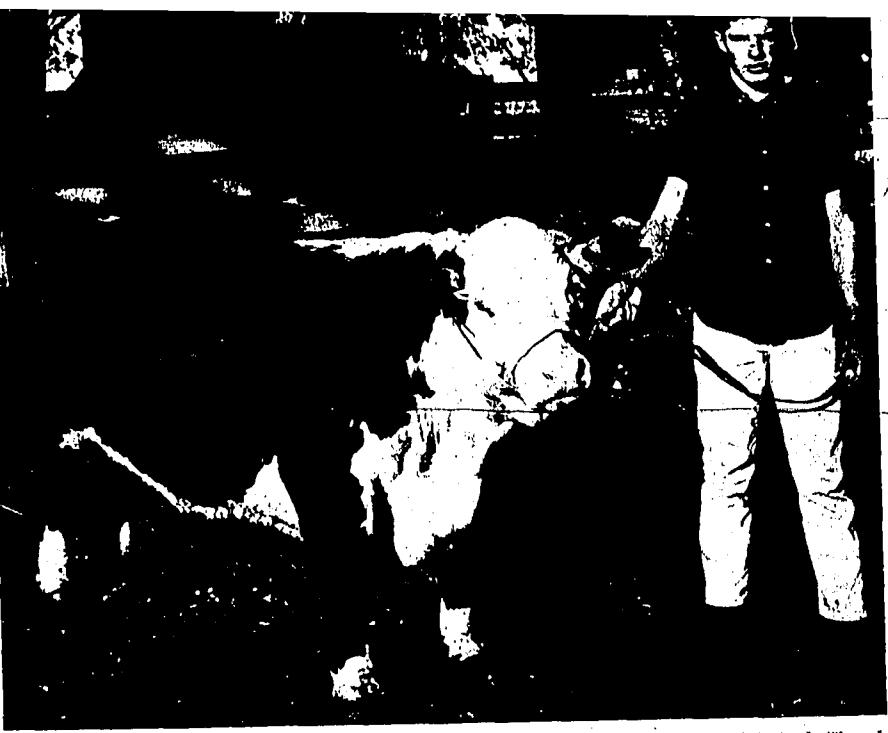

"The horse division started in 1966 with one barn and 50 entries and we can now accommodate more than 300 entries for this year's fair," he said. Lancaster added that "We've grown in size each year since 1966 and I see no reason why we can't continue to expand our facilities and number of entries."

All breeds of horses will be shown, including Arabians, Appaloosas, quarter horses and Morgans. There will also be stalls provided for displaying Shetland ponies. The main emphasis in showing will be in the halter classes of all departments, however, there will be judging in performance classes such as his reining.

Wayne Peterson, Twin Falls horseman, has been one of the most consistent winners in many classes, both in quarter horse and Appaloosa departments, according to Lancaster. Peterson, who had his leg broken last year when a horse fell on him in Portland, Ore., will be showing again this year, despite having his leg still in a cast.

Peterson will show for the fifth consecutive year and has taken first place in the reining class for three of the past four years. The fourth year he took second place. He has had the grand champion Appaloosa gelding and has taken grand champion in the registered pleasure class, along with placing in innumerable classes.

Currently Peterson owns nine of the horses he shows and other people throughout the valley.

the grounds this year, there has been an extension added to the arena and there is now a 400 yard straight-away for quarter-mile races. The arena on the rodeo grounds is the only arena in the state to hold three approved quarter horse shows each year. They are the show at the fair, the Magic Valley Western improved Appaloosa races Sept. 3 and 4 and the entire show will feature horses from throughout Idaho and four surrounding states.

The Minidoka grounds are some of the newest in Magic Valley. At the right of the fairgrounds is the national guard armory and a wide variety of displays and activities, the 1964 Minidoka the exhibit buildings are located behind the grandstand. With county fair should attract record crowds. (Times-News aerial photo)

LINCOLN COUNTY residents have already held their 1964 fair. It concluded Saturday. The Lincoln county fairgrounds are located on the southeast section of Shoshone. The fair gave 4-H students an opportunity to compete for prizes and ribbons. The Lincoln county fair was the second of the 1964 fair season in Magic Valley. First fair this season was held in Elmore county. Most of the fairs are held during the latter part of the summer or the beginning of fall. (Times-News aerial photo)

CINDY MALONE, daughter of Archie Malone, Jerome, shows her dairy project, "Hevi," which was grand champion for 1961 and 1962 at the Jerome county fair and the district fair, also held in Jerome. Miss Malone has been active in 4-H for eight years and the many ribbons she was awarded made it possible for her to receive the Ida-Gem creamery award in 1962. Miss Malone will be exhibiting at this year's fair, Aug. 20-22-23.

C. R. N. SHEPPARD, left, presents the Idaho First Security bank award to Robert Hopper at the annual 4-H awards day program at the Jerome county fair last year, while Dale Hopper looks on. This award is given each year to an outstanding 4-H youth.

FIRST CAPTAIN of the Cassia county sheriff's mounted posse was Lorin Lewis, who still retains his interest in the group. Organized in 1944, the group has been active in bringing recognition to Burley and Cassia county. Last year they performed at the Seattle World's Fair and appear in nearly all parades, drills, fairs and rodeos in Magic Valley throughout the season. There are now 39 members with Edell Handy as captain and Donald Vanderhoe as secretary.

Cassia Sheriff's Posse Is Active at Fairs, Parades

BURLEY, Aug. 11—One of the most active groups in bringing recognition to Burley and Cassia county is the Cassia county sheriff's mounted posse, which again this year is performing at fairs throughout Magic Valley as well as drills, field meets and parades.

Credited with being the first sheriff's mounted posse in the state, this group was organized in March, 1944, under the direction of then Sheriff Paul Clark. A group of local horsemen interested in formation of such posses studied the bylaws and operation of the Ogden mounted posse.

Members of the Ogden posse came to Burley several times to lend a hand in getting the Cassia posse organized. In June, 1944, the group received its charter.

They performed for the first time on July 4 that year at the Rupert rodeo with Lorin Lewis as captain and H. O. Hall as drillmaster.

In 1948 the posse went to Rock Springs, Wyo., by special train to participate in the parade and rodeo and charter members still talk about this trek.

This hard riding group has done a great deal through the years to bring recognition to Cassia county in performing in almost every parade, rodeo and fair in Magic Valley, according to Edell Handy, captain.

In 1963 the posse went to Seattle to perform during Idaho day at the World's Fair.

In case of emergency the posse is called on to act as an auxiliary police force. Their functions have been used in the past for searching for lost hunters in the mountains and lost persons in the area.

Every member must pay his

Tractor Pull Is Planned At Minidoka

RUPERT, Aug. 11—An outstanding event of the Minidoka county fair last year proved to be the tractor pulling contest and plans are being made again this year to repeat the contest.

Four weight classes in the tractor pull will include class A, lightweight, up to 4,500 pounds; class B, medium weight, 4,500 to 6,500 pounds; class C, heavy-weight, 6,500 pounds to 8,500; and class D which will include all weights. The weights also include the driver of the tractor.

George Suchan took top honors in the open weight class with Norman Itatsky, coming in second last year.

Also in lightweight division, Clyde Proulx was first with Virgil Pennington, second; in the intermediate Harold Heins and Fred Grosh took top honors, and Arvid Hanshaw took top honors in the heavyweight class.

Arrow J Club Does Good Deed

JEROME, Aug. 11—Entomology and sewing groups of the Arrow-J club turned out in July in force to do their good deed for the day.

The young people out the areas, buried weeds, washed walls, floors and windows, and the chicken coops and did other worthwhile chores for Mrs. Brakine Brown and her late husband, Northwest Jerome.

Youngsters participating were Rocky Jackson, Julie Nancollis, Rose Ann Flala, Becky Nancollis, Vicky Holloway, David Flala, Mike Holloway, Mike Jackson, Bob Jackson and Jane Flala. Elaine Jackson, leader of this club, feels they are an outstanding group and they will exhibit at the Jerome county fair, Aug. 20-22.

Data Given For Cassia County Fair

OAKLEY, Aug. 11—Home economic exhibits for the Cassia county fair, Aug. 10-22, must be entered by noon Aug. 18, according to county home demonstration agents.

Judging will begin Tuesday afternoon and will be done all day Wednesday. Included in the judging will be foods, clothing, health, family living, home improvement, safety, junior leadership in the 4-H division. There will be an open class division for those who wish to enter but do not belong to a club.

A style revue will be held Wednesday evening with the place to be announced. Thursday at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. judging contests will be held. Demonstration contests are scheduled for 9 a.m. Aug. 21.

The three top projects in each category will be entered in the district fair at Jerome.

Each club has a booth and may decorate it in any way the club chooses. All projects for the year will be entered in the booth. Some of the contestants are engaged in as many as six projects which will be exhibited in the same booth.

The style show will feature 4-H members who have made clothing as a project and will model cotton outfits, bedtime outfits, fun time favorites, stylish separates, wearable woolens, fall flattery, trimly tailored and evening elegance.

SITTING ON THE FENCE in front of the little arena at the Cassia county fairgrounds is Ivan Hopkins, county extension agent in charge of 4-H and FFA exhibits. Entries for the fair which will be held Aug. 10-22 must be no later than 8 p.m. Aug. 18. All owners are responsible for the care of their animals and must have the animals removed by 11 p.m. Saturday. The little arena is a fairly new building, being built last year for the purpose of viewing the showing of the different animals. (Times-News photo)

Two Horse Shows Are Slated in Gooding Fair

GOODING, Aug. 11—Horse lovers and interested persons of the Gooding area are fortunate to have two horse shows scheduled during this year's fair, Thursday through Saturday.

Both are outstanding even to someone not too familiar with all the "ins and outs" of horsemanship.

Friday's horse show, under the sponsorship of the Gooding Riding Club, Inc., will begin at 2 p.m. Entries for this event will be accepted until 10 a.m. Friday by Mrs. Ida Clifford at her residence eight blocks west of Main street on Seventh avenue west.

Cash awards plus ribbons will be given, and merchandise prizes will be given to winners of the children's events. Entry fees must accompany applications and entries are open to residents in the state of Idaho only.

Western equipment is to be used, with the exception of children's events Nos. 1 and 2. Rules and regulations will be announced before each event.

Events will include: No. 1—Children 11 years and under; No. 2—Children 12, 13 and 14, hands and seat, with merchandise and prizes. There is no entry fee for this event. No. 3—Western pleasure, ladies 15 years and over. It is pointed out that stables are not recognized as a lady's pleasure horse. Fee for this event is $3.

Event No. 3—Children 12, 13 and 14, hands and seat, with merchandise prizes to be awarded. No fee. No. 4—Western pleasure, men 15 years and over, with stallions recognized as a pleasure horse for men only. Fee, $3. Event No. 5—Seven-barrel race, with seven barrels, 20 feet apart and a fee of $2.

No. 6—Clover leaf barrel race, for children 15 years and under, fee $3. No. 7—Clover leaf barrel race for over 15 years also has a fee of $3. Event No. 8 will be the flag race and this event also has a fee of $3. A slight admission fee will be charged for all shows over 12 years of age.

The horse show on Saturday will be an approved quarter horse working event, and is approved by the American Quarter Horse association.

If a performance class does not fill, it may be cancelled and entry fees will be refunded. Four horses constitute a class, and ribbons will be awarded to three places. Clements Feed store will present a stable sheet to the winner of the Dinner Bell Derby race. Entry fees will be used for the jackpot and office fee.

The jackpot money will be divided with 50 per cent to the first place, 30 per cent to second place, and 20 per cent to third place. Entry fees are $4, with no entry fee in class 21, which is the dinner bell derby. Entries and fees should go to Gloria Haslam, secretary, at Bliss, Ida.

The various classes in this are: Junior reining for horses 4 and under; senior reining for horses 5 and over; clover leaf barrel race; calf roping; western pleasure; working cowhorse, with cattle to be worked; pole bending, and the dinner bell derby race.

So if you're a horse fancier or not come on out to the arena at the Gooding fairgrounds and enjoy seeing a lot of good working horses and hard working people. Especially enjoyable for young people is the dinner bell derby, in which colts and mothers are separated, one at each end of the arena. Then the colts (most of them extremely hungry) are released so they can race to the right mother and begin sucking. First one there is the winner.

Cassia Fair to Be 4-Day Event Instead of Three

OAKLEY, Aug. 11—The Cassia county fair and rodeo will be held Aug. 10-22 as a four-day fair instead of the regular three-day event as in the past.

All 4-H and FFA as well as other entries must be entered by 8 p.m. Aug. 18. All livestock for the fair stock sale must be weighed before entering. Judging exhibits in the agricultural and miscellaneous section of the fair. All entrants must belong to a club or an FFA chapter.

County 4-H agents point out that there are no open class shows in the agricultural and miscellaneous section of the fair. In Cassia county there are approximately 270 children between the ages of 10 and 17 taking part but the actual age limit is up to 21 if not married.

Agricultural demonstration will begin at 8:30 a.m. Saturday and the fair stock sale will be held at the little arena on the fairgrounds.

Prize money is provided by the county extension office, chamber of commerce and the fair board. Anyone entering and project in the fair automatically receives a ribbon of distinction according to the Danish system of judging which is the regulation judging for Idaho.

County 4-H agents point out that there are no open class shows in the agricultural and miscellaneous section of the fair. In Cassia county there are approximately 270 children between the ages of 10 and 17 taking part but the actual age limit is up to 21 if not married.

A club must have a membership of five members before it can officially be entered as a club.

Another interesting note is that all 4-H children are not allowed to enter male animals. They may choose entries in livestock fields and must enter projects in anything they participate in. FFA members are allowed to enter male animals and a turnout of entries is expected both FFA and 4-H clubs.
