CAREY, Oct. 25—A Democrat rally was held Friday night at Atty. Gen. Allan Shepard as featured speaker. Committee for better government was in charge of the meeting with Richard Mallon as chairman and moderator. Shepard spoke on the issue of reapportionment and what it meant to the state and its citizens. He urged that the most experienced and capable people be sent to the legislature on this vital issue.

A question and answer period was held after Shepard spoke. Taxes, education and reapportionment were discussed by Rep. Pete Conarusa, and Mrs. Mary Brooks, candidate for state senator, conducted the discussion.

An auction was held in which a yearling half-Arabian filly colt was sold several times. The colt was finally sold to Mrs. Larry Peterson. The colt was donated by Mr. and Mrs. J. Strode, Carey. Peterson conducted the auction.

Senator's Wife To Call Women In Magic Valley

Phone calls from Mrs. Frank Church will go to women at Democratic headquarters in Twin Falls, Jerome and Minidoka counties starting at 12:45 p.m. Thursday.

Mrs. Church will ask Idaho women to call 10 friends and ask them in turn to call 10 more. The Democratic national committee estimates that this pyramid method will reach two million women as a result of the state "Tell-a-Friend Day."

Mrs. J. Emmott Smith, Jerome, and Mrs. Phillip Bare, Rupert, will be among several recipients of the call.

Junior College Proposal Due Consideration by Taxpayers

For maintenance and support of the proposed Twin Falls county junior college, in addition to income from tuition paid by students, the junior college act provides that the board of trustees may levy upon the taxable property within the district a tax not to exceed eight mills of assessed valuation.

These taxes are levied at the time school taxes are required to be levied by independent school districts or as soon thereafter as practicable. The amount of the levy must be certified to the clerk of the board of county commissioners and the tax paid promptly to the treasurer of the junior college district.

In addition to taxes raised as described above, Idaho has made the unusual provision that there shall also be allocated to a junior college district 50 per cent of all monies apportioned to any county embracing all or part of a junior college district out of the Idaho liquor control act fund.

Ralph Olmstead, Twin Falls, and David Chadwick, Hillister, have endorsed the proposed Twin Falls county junior college. Olmstead reported, "Sure, this project will raise our taxes, but in the long run it will help us and our children."

Chadwick said that in figuring the anticipated tax as applied to his area, the Piler district, the proposal should raise the taxes 10 to 12 per cent.

"When you consider the benefit, it is certainly an investment that is worth favorable consideration by the taxpayer," Chadwick said.

ATTENDS CONVENTION
PILER, Oct. 25—Mrs. Frank Schweising and Mrs. Bernard Martyn, Twin Falls, attended a Baptist missionary training meeting in Pocatello this week. Mrs. Schweising conducted the session for the east Idaho Baptist women.

Let's Watch

No one should feel elated over the change in Russian leadership. Likewise, there is no reason to place any more faith in the words of the new regime. Russia is still communist. Its leaders are still reds. The United States and the rest of the free world should have learned long ago that communists can be judged only by their actions; never by their words.

No free world hopes should be aroused when the new Russian leaders say they hope to improve relations with the U.S. Americans should take the attitude of, "That's nice, but we'll wait to see what you actually do." The same attitude should greet all Russian promises. The communists have demonstrated quite clearly, down through the years, that they're masters of double talk, lying, cheating and anything else that might serve to promote their own aims. There's no reason to expect anything different from the new leaders of Russia.

There has been some speculation that Nikita Khrushchev's ouster wasn't exactly a coincidence with the explosion of China's first atomic weapon. It's reasonable to assume that Russia knew more about the U.S. about the timing of China's first bomb. Perhaps China's first nuclear success was the primary reason for Khrushchev's removal. In fact there have been rumors of Russian overtures toward Red China which serve to substantiate this line of speculation.

But how does one reconcile Russian pledges of no change in policy toward the West with apparent overtures aimed at healing the Russian-Chinese split? Indeed, the two efforts are diametrically opposed. It's a virtual impossibility for Russia to patch things up with Red China while continuing, or perhaps liberalizing, the coexistence theory with the West.

Here is reason enough for all free men everywhere to be just a little skeptical of Russian promises. The free world would do well to wait and see what the new Russian leaders accomplish. Actions speak much plainer and louder than promises where Russians are concerned.

GREAT MAN

History will record that Herbert C. Hoover was truly a great man. Perhaps he will gain more lasting honor from his many services to his nation and humanity than from the presidency of the U.S. From the time after World War I when he headed a gigantic European relief agency, Mr. Hoover kept busy in the service of his nation.

Americans didn't always demonstrate the good will and respect to Mr. Hoover that was so evident when he died last week. Indeed, in the dark days of the depression, some Americans regarded Mr. Hoover as something of a traitor. Some citizens were prone to place all the blame for the depression on Mr. Hoover when in fact, he was something of an innocent bystander. During the hectic election campaign of 1932 unemployed Americans repeated all sorts of rumors including one incredible claim that Mr. Hoover had several trunks, packed with government gold, ready to leave the White House.

As time passed most of the criticism of Mr. Hoover gradually disappeared. Americans came to understand the economic factors responsible for the great depression. Perhaps nothing illustrates the changing attitude toward Mr. Hoover as well as the name of the Hoover dam. Named originally after the president, the name was changed to Boulder dam after he left the White House. The change was made by Harold L. Icken, secretary of the interior, in 1933. This was during the period when feeling probably ran highest against Mr. Hoover. In 1947 an act of congress restored the name to Hoover dam, a change that came long after most criticism of Mr. Hoover had disappeared. The great dam is a fitting monument to the memory of a great man.

During his service as chairman of two commissions on organization of the executive branch of the government, Mr. Hoover was responsible for studies designed to save billions of dollars of the taxpayers' money. After the first Hoover commission completed its work the chairman estimated its recommendations could save the federal government seven billion dollars annually. He estimated possible savings from recommendations of the second Hoover commission around three billion dollars a year. Seldom has the American taxpayer had such a friend.

Every penny ever paid by the U.S. to Mr. Hoover, including his salary as president and the pension set up by congress for ex-presidents, was donated to charity. The action was characteristic of Mr. Hoover who served his government and fellow citizens for the satisfaction such service gave him. Mr. Hoover was one American who did not have to ask what he could do for his country—he just went ahead and did it.

WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 — They don't hand the supreme court any easy cases these days, and the hardest of the lot may be the one in which the court has been asked to rule that a state has no right under the Constitution to forbid interracial marriages.

There are 10 states with such anti-miscegenation laws on the books, and none has shown any inclination to repeal them. This kind of law is a part of what is called the "Southern way of life," and legislation or court decisions do not change a way of life.

Unfortunately, the case the court has agreed to hear poses complicated questions. It involves a man identified by Florida authorities as a Negro and a white woman who never formally testified and they were married. They were arrested under a Florida law which forbids a Negro adult of one sex and a white adult of another to be in a room together in the night time.

CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUE RAISED — At their trial, the judge instructed the jury that the state forbids interracial marriages made within the state. This undoubtedly was a proper instruction, but defense counsel has claimed it automatically denied the defendants the defense of a common-law marriage they could have resorted to if they had been of the same race.

In other words, defense counsel has asserted, the defendants were denied the Constitutional guarantee of equal protection of the laws.

So far, the court's comments have only succeeded in muddling the issue even more. For example, Justice John M. Harlan asked if there was discrimination when both parties — a white and a Negro — were equally denied the right to marry. And Justice Potter Stewart seemed to be attacking the anti-miscegenation law when he said it "allows a man to desert a (Negro) woman who if of the same race would be his wife."

CONSIDERED JOINT CASE — In trying to salvage the law forbidding marriages between white and Negroes, counsel for the state of Florida has contended that the law forbidding a white and Negro to occupy the same room at night can be ruled invalid without disturbing the separate prohibition against miscegenation. But it is unlikely the court will so find; questions for the bench indicate the justices felt the two laws could not be judged separately.

There is no inclination here to pre-judge a case which carries such an emotional charge. In the North as well as in the South, good people of both races are opposed to interracial marriages for solid practical reasons. But the South's position is weakened by the vagueness of its laws relating to relations between whites and Negroes.

NO DEFINITION — For example, no official definition has been agreed upon as to what classifies a human being as a Negro. Florida says it is one who is at least 13 1/4 per cent of full-blooded Negro ancestry. Other states in Dixie set the percentage either lower or higher. Some common standard is needed if the South insists on protecting this area of life.

From a social viewpoint, any interracial marriage must have two serious upshots. It is almost as hard to take as the neighborhood in Birmingham, Ala. However the court rules, there will be no immediate change in the attitude of the man on Main Street.

Views of Others

HOT IDEA
Oiling up smoking for your health? A team of Boston doctors suggests maybe you should just turn your cigarette around and smoke it from the other end.

The group, headed by Dr. Lawrence Quigley, Jr., has just returned from a tour of islands in the south Caribbean with the report that natives there, some of whom have been smoking up to 63 years, have no trace of lung cancer. They habitually light up and smoke through the lighter end, which they hold expertly in the mouth.

Dr. Quigley says it is easy. He has even experimented with reverse smoking of a pipe—slightly to catch on. The man who can't stand the heat of the percolator handle says his hand is not likely to take quickly to red-hot tobacco coals against his tongue or palate.—The Oregonian.

NOT A CURE
Dr. Murray Ross, president of York University, offered sound advice to 400 freshmen when he assured them that the use of stimulants would not help students become productive persons; nor would the cultivation of an unkempt or unclean appearance make students persons of esteem.

"There is no Dr. Ross went on to point out, a short cut to the development of talent; no gimmicks that can be used to induce talent. There can be no substitute for consistent, determined and disciplined work.

The student who turns to pep pills, however, may be doing so as a result of emotional stress rather than in any attempt to release hidden talents. In neither case, of course, can stimulants be regarded as a solution, but Dr. Ross, having informed the freshmen that they should not look to the pill box for help, might have gone on to offer a healthier alternative.

A survey carried out among University of Toronto students by the student administrative council earlier this year revealed that half the male students and 14 per cent of the female students felt they needed help with emotional, financial, academic and social problems.

Perhaps the most significant point elicited by the survey, however, was that 75 per cent of the students did not know how to get help. They knew that such limited counselling services as exist at the university were available to them. This by itself should be enough to prompt university authorities to develop counselling services and encourage their use by the students.—The Globe and Mail (Toronto).

PRESS AND POLICE AT DALLAS
While we cannot condone the rowdy conduct of some press and television reporters in Dallas the day Jack Ruby killed Lee Harvey Oswald, neither can we agree with the Warren commission that the news media "share responsibility" with the police for the failure of law enforcement that occurred.

Oswald was the prisoner of the Dallas police, and the police were responsible for the safety of his person. The police failed in that responsibility.

The police were responsible for orderly control of the press and television reporters in Dallas the day Jack Ruby killed Lee Harvey Oswald. They were responsible for the safety of his person. The police failed in that responsibility.

The police also were responsible for keeping unauthorized persons like Jack Ruby out of the area. The police failed in that responsibility.

The fact is that the Dallas police and prosecuting officials brought on a good deal of the trouble themselves, parading Oswald around the corridors of the police station and seemingly spending more time being interviewed on television than interrogating their prisoner. They were at the very least over-eager to cooperate with the news media.

Reporters had a duty to bring every drop of information that they could get out of Oswald. The police had a corresponding duty to say no to press and television coverage endangered their investigation or the safety of their prisoner. Nobody said no.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

SMOTHER TECHNIQUE
Pot Shots has a rather difficult assignment. We may have mentioned it before, but we are under doctor's orders not to laugh, sneeze or cough for something like six months. And if you want an indication of the difficulty of this assignment, just try going one full day without laughing, sneezing or coughing.

Experience has shown us how to avoid sneezing, however. It's rather simple, providing you get a few seconds warning of the impending explosion. You just grab a handkerchief and start tooling your horn for all you're worth.

We'll almost guarantee this procedure to avert any sneeze, yet you should be advised that there's absolutely no satisfaction in the process.

Now we're working on ways and means of avoiding coughs and finding a suitable substitute for laughing.

Dear Pot Shots:
There's absolutely no reason why anyone should ever chew his fingernails. There are several cures, not counting the distasteful stuff that can be applied to the nails.

One of the best ones is to keep the nails filed down so there's not enough to bite. If this doesn't work there's a more drastic cure. It's simple—just have all your teeth pulled.

Interpreting the News

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst
WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (U) President Hoover, who died last week, had five careers. Four were brilliant. But the most important of them, the presidency, for him turned out to be a disappointment.

In his early 30s he was considered the top mining engineer in the world. And he was a millionaire by 40. By the time he was 45 he had a world reputation as a mining engineer. He had helped build the Panama Canal and the Erie Railroad.

For seven years, from 1921 to 1928, he was an extremely able administrator, secretary of commerce under Presidents Harding and Coolidge.

And in his advancing old age after World War I he was recognized as a great public servant for the time and effort he gave Presidents Truman and Eisenhower in reorganizing the federal government.

But in his years after leaving the White House, if he read what one American historian after another said about his presidency, it must have been a scarring experience which, in his lifetime, he could not hope to erase.

He had been a great public servant, but in the eyes of many Americans he was a failure. He was a failure because he was not a politician. He was a failure because he was not a leader. He was a failure because he was not a statesman.

TAYLOR'S VIEWS ON WORLD NEWS

By HENRY J. TAYLOR
Herbert Hoover loved money and walked humbly with God. And because of this, the world of money he was faced only by the detail of an outworn body.

—Goethe—work- ed on "Faust" for 60 years and Vastly more than "Faust" at 80, probably his masterpiece. Other giants lived long lives. But this is all that a prayer for the right employment of old age. Henry J. Taylor, President of the American Association of University Professors, said: "Total acceptance." That was Mr. Hoover's frame of mind through the past many years.

This author of 32 books and holder of more universities' honorary degrees—89 to any man in the world was working on his 33rd book when he died.

Fame had come early. But often, as with some famous men, the individual self weakens while the public image grows. The latter devours the former until the man is no longer anything but what he would wish to appear. This never interested Mr. Hoover. A "very humble man," as Dickens would say.

Nor did the cruelties of even when the world is cruel. He found a great deal more pleasure in understanding people than in condemning them. Is it any wonder that at the age of 80 the years that had passed over his head left only their springtime behind?

On the faces of the poor he could always see the melancholy of secret arithmetic. And he believed that the world before we entered World War I by being constantly sent, like a fire engine, or dispatched like a lifeboat, to the tragic scenes of European hunger. Mr. Hoover's relief committee in Europe had fed 10 million Russians a day.

He came as though our nation's eagle soared across any and knew the military and political talents a stronger than read: Hope. And in Allied and enemy countries alike this American monument to humanity was as welcome as if he were the sun.

Mr. Hoover was literally a part of everything—the world's of scholarship, education, exploration, industry, diplomacy, engineering and the cultivation of the arts, especially the high art of ancient Athens and China. He stood at the head of the lost Greece with Byron, the sunsets of the world with Turner, and with Goethe visited humanity's hell.

Yet it was the spiritual side of Mr. Hoover that served as a lifeline of all the plagues of his life and sustained him to the very end.

When he wrote his biography of President Woodrow Wilson he did not include the scene or occasion but I have heard him describe the sight with affection and endorsement:

"I was in the White House during the war. Repeatedly turned to the Second Corinthians, chapter 4, verses 8-9: 'We are troubled on every side, yet not distressed; we are persecuted but not forsaken; we are oppressed but not destroyed.'"

Mr. Hoover saw mankind not as a failed, but as a struggling. And in spite of the agony he saw everywhere he never surrendered the fundamental hope and effort that guided his entire life: that the people of the world could live in a better, a smaller world, at a higher level of prosperity, without wars.

The American nation salutes Herbert Hoover as a patriot, the world salutes him as a friend, and he is remembered as the very of "Faust." Day is done, the sun, Goeth said, cometh night. And a star, Leadeth all, Speedeth all, To their rest."

Poor Man's Plato

By HAI BOYLE
NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (U) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't ask his mail: Pige made gardening easier in ancient Egypt than it is in the suburbs now. They were walked across a road and hand out 15 billion dollars. He sponsored the Federal Home Loan bank which helped some people save their homes from a mortgage foreclosure. He was then many more of the American Bankers' association and industries with foreign markets. They objected. But so did nearly every reputable economist in the United States. A protest was signed by 1,500 members of the American Economic Association, warning that the tariff act would mean disaster.

The reaction was fast in other countries whose products were threatened by the American market. Within two years 25 countries established higher tariffs on American goods in retaliation. This country's trade deficit further.

What was Hoover's trouble? He had a fixed belief, and nothing could shake him from it, that government help and involvement in American life should be kept to a minimum.

He wanted private charity and then states and cities to provide relief before seeking federal help. He promised that if the time ever came when such direct help was required, it would be provided. For him the time never came.

For this many thought him heartless. He was anything but. He was a kind man, with a concern for people. But he had a fixed philosophy which belonged in a previous century and was now outdated. It was his greatest misadventure.

Watch where you walk: The American Medical Association estimates that 40,000 of us are killed each year by falling through glass doors or windows.

A toothache is the same everywhere, but if you live in a large town you probably will get one. In a small town you are often as one who lives in a small town.

Help to the other fellow is a kindness. But one of the first known admonitions to human charity was expressed about 3,000 B.C. in the Hammurabi code: "Justice be done to widows, orphans, and the poor." It was the same in the New Testament: "Comrades, we live in a spendid time."

Budget Meet Requested by Council Head

BOISE, Oct. 25 (U) — The chairman of Idaho's legislative council has written Sen. Rodney Hansen, R., Minidoka, asking him to call a meeting of his committee on budgets for Nov. 16 to conduct hearings on state budget requests.

That action came at the same time that Budget Director Don J. Walker revealed he had asked the council to "quit herring around" and get to work on requests from state agencies for the 1965-67 biennium.

Hansen had taken the position that his committee would not meet unless it received direction from the council.

But there remains a question of how much the committee will do. State Sen. William Dee, D., Idaho, a member of the council, maintains that it has no authority to recommend to the legislature how much various state agencies should spend.

Such recommendations were made in the past by the old pre legislative budget committee after meeting in November to hear budget requests.

It was abolished by the 1963 legislature when it created the council and gave it authority to work with the budget director in preparing budgets.

But Dee maintains that the new law gives the council all or its budget committee, authority to recommend how much will be spent. He said authority to make those recommendations is given only to the budget director.

News Around Idaho

MARSING, Oct. 26 (U) — A Nov. 24 vote is scheduled on a sewage plant bond election. A similar proposal was defeated earlier by a vote of 54-48.

KELLOGG, Oct. 25 (U) — Operations at the Bunker Hill Mining company lead-silver mine have resumed today following a 48-hour shutdown resulting from an underground fire. Officials said they have been unable to determine cause of the blaze which was limited to a small heavily timbered area near the 2400-foot level. The fire was discovered at mid-morning Friday and 290 miners were evacuated from the mine.

BOISE, Oct. 25 (U) — Keith Schofield, Boise, defeated in the primary for the second district Republican congressional nomination, is working as a Goldwater-Miller advance man. He goes to an area to be visited by the candidate 10 days before the appearance to work with local party leaders in making preparations.

FOCATELLO, Oct. 25 (U) — W. Grant Kilbourne, vice president and general manager for the J. R. Simplot company, today called Rep. Ralph Harding "immature and irresponsible" for saying Kilbourne is a director of the Idaho Power company. "Rep. Ralph Harding has again demonstrated his immaturity as a congressman when he made another irresponsible statement by telling a group of Focatellos people that I am a director of the Idaho Power company," Kilbourne said in a statement. Kilbourne said that he is not and has never been a director of Idaho power. "In fact," he said, "I have never even been asked to serve on the board."

Rep. Harding, a member of the committee on the Idaho Power company's second district congressional seat, told a Democratic gathering in Focatellos Friday that Kilbourne should "come out from behind the sheet . . . and admit he's a director of the Idaho Power company and that is his concern with Bonneville power."

MOUNTAIN HOME, Oct. 25 (U) — Sen. Frank Church, D., Idaho, will inspect the Mountain Home air force base Thursday and will be guest speaker at a luncheon at the officers' open mess. Col. William R. Smith, ninth strategic aerospace wing commander, said in addition to the inspection tour, Church will be given a facilities briefing on operations at the base. Accompanying Church will be his wife and a party of from six to eight of his assistants and secretaries.

BOISE, Oct. 25 (U) — A Boise man who served as a guard at the Herbert Hoover mansion in Palo Alto, Calif., says he relayed the news of his 1928 victory to the late former president. Paul B. Bishop said he was posted in the Hoover lawn to watch for a signal light on election night. A green light from twin peaks near San Francisco would mean Hoover won, a red light would mean a victory for Al Smith. "Sure enough, about 10:30 about night I saw the green light flashing," said Bishop. "I went to the door and told the secretary, Mr. George Akerson, that Mr. Hoover had won. 'All at once it wasn't quiet any more. John Phillip Sousa, the famous band leader, was there. He gathered his musical group and immediately struck up for President Hoover. Thousands gathered outside to wish President and Mrs. Hoover well.' Bishop didn't go to Washington with Hoover, but took a job with the Palo Alto police department. He moved to Twin Falls in 1945 and later to Boise.

BOISE, Oct. 25 (U) — Boise will host some 500 members of the Idaho State Grange for five days beginning next Tuesday during the organization's annual convention. Gov. Robert E. Smylie will address the Grangers at the opening session and state Master Ernest Jerome, Kuna, will present his annual message at a Tuesday luncheon. Other speakers will include Harold West, secretary of the Idaho wheat commission, and J. E. Kraus, dean of the University of Idaho college of agriculture.

Idaho's mounting 1964 traffic fatality toll stood at 211 today with the deaths of a Bellingham, Wash., couple and an Omak, Wash., man in separate two-car collisions in north Idaho over the week-end. Killed were Charles Henry Chasie, 25, and his wife, Helen, 25, both Bellingham, and Vincent Adolph, Omak. The Chasies died when their car collided with one driven by Delores M. Boyd, 25, Pullman, Wash., on U. S. 95 about seven miles south of Moscow. The accident occurred at 1 a.m. Sunday. Adolph was killed when his car and a vehicle driven by Dennis Hamann collided head-on about 9:25 a.m. Sunday at the Strong Creek bridge on U. S. highway 10A about one mile west of Hope in Bonner county.

BOISE, Oct. 25 (U) — Sen. Len B. Jordan, R., Idaho, said today that Rep. Compton I. White, Jr., D., Idaho, was either unaware of what happened on the lumber import labeling bill or was "misrepresenting the facts." Jordan also defended his proposal for criticism of Columbia river water to the Southwest, replying to criticism of the Rep. Ralph Harding, D., Idaho, plan to defend the bill of the lumber labeling bill. He said Jordan attached it to a measure vetoed by President Eisenhower and Kennedy, which President Johnson also had to veto. Jordan said while he supported the measure, along with other members of the Idaho delegation, it was Sen. Warren Magnuson, D., Wash., who had it attached as an amendment. "However," said Jordan, "I was happy to join with Senator Magnuson in seeking this action and I regret that despite the fact that it passed both the house and senate that the president vetoed it. Apparently Mr. White feels that no bill should be passed unless it is an administration proposal."

BOISE, Oct. 25 (U) — Idaho moved into the jet transportation age yesterday with the inauguration of United Airlines' 727 service into Boise. On hand to greet the first 727 on an eastbound flight from Seattle-Tacoma was a crowd of several hundred, including state and city officials. Miss Louise Shaddock, secretary of the state department of commerce and development, officiated at the ribbon cutting ceremony at the foot of the plane's passenger ramp. "The future of Idaho's economy is closely attached to rapid transportation," she said. "For that reason, I am particularly proud to cut the ribbon inaugurating jet service." The new jet service will cut one hour and 25 minutes off the present flight time from Seattle-Tacoma and one hour and 30 minutes to Chicago.

Capacity Crowds Acclaim Children's Theater Play

Capacity crowds at the first four performances have acclaimed the Twin Falls Community Children's theater production of "Pied Piper of Hamelin" as one of the most outstanding presentations of its kind ever performed in the area.

Final two performances of the play were scheduled for 4:30 and 6:30 p.m. Monday in the O'Leary junior high school auditorium.

Special accolades were voiced for sets and costumes, as well as for the performances of all members of a large cast. Tickets still were available for the 8:30 performance Monday and tickets were to be sold at the door. Proceeds from the performances are given by the Community Children's theater to the school library.

Mrs. Eugene Sturgill, director of the group, said one of the most pleasing aspects of the public reception of this production is the wide interest shown from surrounding towns.

Hundreds of children and adults came to last week's performances from Carey, Hatley, Kelchum and Jerome. In all, she said, about 600 out-of-town children and adults have attended.

COMFORT SOUND HEARING INSTRUMENT DEVELOPED

A new hearing instrument just introduced by World Famous Telsco Laboratories is a totally new comfort to those who need hearing help. It is especially for those who have used a hearing aid, or those who could not become accustomed to the loud background noises of ordinary hearing aids.

New, super tiny electronic circuits eliminate most unwanted noise to allow you to hear clearly as nature intended. Speech and music are clear as a bell when you wear this new aid. Harsh loud sounds that can cause such discomfort with ordinary hearing aids are automatically softened with Telsco COMFORT SOUND CONTROL.

The new Telsco Comfort Sound Instruments are especially valuable in correction of nerve deafness, and the problems of those who hear but don't understand. It allows you to understand words spoken softly from across the room, in noisy crowds, or on a busy street with noisy traffic. Best of all, the new Comfort Sound Instruments are hardly noticeable.

New Water System Will Be Dedicated at Declo Tuesday

DECLO, Oct. 26 — Fred Johnson, county supervisor for the farmer's home administration will introduce representatives of the agency, from Washington, D. C., at the ceremonies, dedicating the new water system in Declo, at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday, at the high school recreation hall on east Main street.

Bernard Funk, specialist in community services, will give the dedication address.

The farmer's home administration insured the loan of $90,000 that was acquired from a Chicago bank, to cover the cost of the installation of the system.

Johnson stated that the FHA is an agency of the United States department of agriculture. The purpose or objective of the agency is to preserve the family sized farms and to help people acquire modern conveniences, such as this new system in Declo. Any village of less than 2,500 people is considered a rural community, eligible to the services of the FHA.

An area the size of Declo could not sell bonds, through normal bonding channels, since the valuation of the property is low in comparison to the debt they are assuming. The farmer's home administration will stand back of the village and the bank by insuring payment.

Another thing that is of importance, said Johnson, is that money borrowed through the FHA is retained in the community. The loan to the village of Declo is an "association type loan."

Johnson pointed out that the agency feels that the small income owners need their protection and their program is set up with that in mind.

The loans are set up for payment in accordance with the borrower's ability to repay, over a period not to exceed seven years, at an interest rate of five per cent.

Hansen, state director for the farmer's home administration will also participate on the dedication as will village board members.

The dedication will take place in conjunction with the dedication of the new postoffice.

The public is invited to attend. Refreshments will be served and inspection of the new buildings will follow the dedication services.

Minnesota's 27-22 Tilt Over 49ers Highlighted By Wrong-Way Gallop

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26 (AP)—A pass interception and a fumble gave Minnesota two quick fourth-period touchdowns and a 27-22 victory over San Francisco Sunday in a wild National Football League game that included a 60-yard wrong-way run for a 49er safety by a Minnesota player. Trailing 17-14 early in the fourth period, the Vikings went ahead for the first time on quarterback Fran Tarkenton's eight-yard run. The touchdown was set up by Roy Winston's interception and runback to the 11 of rookie George Mira's pass.

The Vikings bench and the crowd of 31,845 screamed in delirium—ramped 60 yards into his own end zone, giving the 49ers two points.

The 49ers dominated the first half, moving to a 17-10 lead on the passing and running of quarterback John Brodie.

Brodie scored the first touchdown on a two-yard run following fullback Bill Brown's fumble on the Viking five.

Fred Cox booted a 41-yard field goal for Minnesota to make it 7-3. Brodie then teamed with Dave Parks on an 80-yard scoring pass play which tied a 49er record for distance.

With Tommy Mason biting off large chunks of yardage around the end, the Vikings stormed back 75 yards in six plays, Mason scoring from the seven.

Cox kicked a 35-yard field goal for the only points of the third quarter, plus all three Minnesota conversions. Brodie kicked both San Francisco conversions and wound up the scoring with a 47-yard field goal late in the fourth period. He also booted a 37-yard field goal on the final play of the first half.

Racing the clock in the final minutes of the half, Meredith completed five passes that ate up 73 yards. Three of the tosses were to Clarke, including an 18-yarder for the score with 37 seconds remaining in the half.

U.S. Baseball Team Ends Japan Tour

URAWA, Japan, Oct. 26 (AP)—The United States baseball team which visited Japan for exhibitions in connection with the Olympic games ended its tour Sunday with a tie and a loss in a doubleheader here.

The Americans, an all-star college group, played a 3-3 tie with the Japanese in the first game. Prefecture, then lost a 3-2 decision to the Nippon Express company team, 1964 Japan non-professional champions.

That gave the visitors a record of five victories, two losses and two ties in Japan. The tour was organized to arouse interest in baseball as a future Olympic sport. From here the Americans go to South Korea for five games Oct. 27, 28 and 29.

In their Olympic exhibition doubleheader at Tokyo's Meiji Stadium Oct. 11, the Americans tied a Japanese college all-star team 2-2 and beat a non-pro Japanese team 3-0. In five other exhibitions in central Japan, they lost only to a Nagoya non-pro team.

Against Saitama Sunday, the Americans scored all their runs in the third inning. Jim Hibbs of Stanford opened with a home run.

30 ENTER. LAS CRUCES, N. M., Oct. 26 (AP)—Thirty women have entered the $5,500 Las Cruces ladies open which opens with a pro-am tournament Thursday, with the 54-hole medal play continuing from Friday through Sunday.

Sayonara to Tokyo Olympics

TOKYO, Oct. 26 (AP)—Sayonara to the 10th Olympic Games. Goodbye to the things that we'll miss now that the Olympic flame has been snuffed for another four years.

Japanese girls in kimono and short sandals shuffling in with morning coffee—Oriental dolls you don't have to wind up to get a smile and a pleasant "Demo arigato" ("Thank you").

The bright, blazing neon signs of the Ginza—Broadway on a binge, going berserk. Taxicab drivers pulled from the farms of Nagasaki, looking blank and confused when you say "Olympic stadium, please."

A 100 yen flagpole to nowhere. Rain—drizzling rain. The choking feeling in the throat when the Star Spangled Banner is played over the stadium and the Japanese band loudly beats out the strains—almost unbearable—of "Oh, say can you see..."

America's teen-age swimming marvels—tanned, erect, scrubbed standing on the victory podium—feeling of assurance that our country has no need to worry about the future.

Olympic Village—the United Nations in sweat suits, and riding bicycles, swapping pins and international good will. A very—rain—rain. The cabaret—100 men—4275 for an exclusive meal on dragon lady in a light, apple-akko—1500 yen extra if you get the same smile at a table. A flirt with destiny in Tokyo's twisting, darting traffic—always a fraction of an inch away from possible death in a car smothered by the never-ending rain. The fraction of an inch is ever the margin of safety.

Avery—brilliant—the International Olympic committee chief, often, child, sometimes vilified for his militant stand on pure amateurism, still standing firm and erect for his principles. A giant of ethics, misplaced in an age of nationalism, selfishness and mercenary greed.

The interview room—a mass of chaos and confusion. A broken arm, a crushed rib, a jangled nerve for the reward of "a silly question and a treble reply: 'This is my greatest thrill.'"

Japanese school children, the boys in black uniforms—the girls in middle blouses—hundreds of them, shuffling through the streets, as if lured by some unseen Pied Piper.

Big Ten Race Is Narrowed To Four

CHICAGO, Oct. 26 (AP)—The Big Ten football race has narrowed to four teams and the chase for the title and Rose Bowl bid will become a hectic one with the contenders scrambling among themselves.

Ohio State, the nation's No. 1 team, and Purdue—both undefeated in conference play—must contend with defending champion Illinois and rugged Michigan in the final four weeks of play.

Both Illinois and Michigan have been plagued. Oddly enough, Ohio State defeated Illinois and Purdue edged Michigan. But the Big Ten turned in convincing triumphs Saturday, although Illinois stepped out of the conference for its victory.

Ohio State hammered Wisconsin 28-3; Purdue defeated Iowa 10-6 in a pivotal contest, and Michigan turned back Minnesota 10-12. Illinois scored a 26-7 triumph over IOL to give Big Ten teams a 14-5 edge in inter-sectional competition.

Kim Lane's Major League bowling team defeated the Milwaukee Bucks 4-0 Sunday night in a 10-10 tie. Lane's team scored 240 in the first game, 240 in the second, 240 in the third, and 240 in the fourth.

Soviet Papers Blast Red Olympic Show

MOSCOW, Oct. 26 (AP)—The Soviet press lambasted officials of the Russian Olympic team Sunday for showing their athletes made at the Tokyo games. Postmortems of the Olympic games on most Soviet sports pages accused sports officials of a long list of sins.

Yang Given Big Welcome In Formosa

TAIPEI, Oct. 26 (AP)—World domination record-holder, C. K. Yang, received a noisy, close welcome when he reached Taipei from Tokyo Sunday night, even though he wasn't able to bring an Olympic medal with him.

Asia's Iron Man was mobbed by crowds which broke through police cordons to get a closer glimpse of him, excitedly shouting "Yang Chuan-Kwang, Yang Chuan-Kwang."

Photographers, jostling and pushing each other, added to the disorder on a drizzly night at Taipei's Sungshan airport.

Police finally formed a wedge through which Yang and his American-born wife, Daisy, were ushered into a waiting room for a press conference.

They weren't much more comfortable than as reporters and photographers pressed closely around them and some of the spectators managed to force their way in. They were virtually prisoners for more than one-half hour before the crowd thinned enough for them to leave.

"I went to Tokyo to win, not to lose," Yang said. "I was unhappy at losing, but the support and sympathy of my fellow countrymen have been most heartening."

"One recalls Korobkov's frequent statements that the training of Soviet track athletes is based on scientific principles and that their Olympic athletes would be in their best form by the beginning of the competitions in Tokyo."

"Even the track team's defeat in Los Angeles did not change the tone of the statements of the USSR team's coaches and trainers. In fact, they deceived our sports fans."

The newspaper Trud (Labor) demanded to know: "How many years are we going to trail in the last places in the sprint? How much has been said and written about this? Nevertheless, we are still in the same place."

Korobkov told newsmen in Tokyo that he had already started thinking about switching to a career in scientific work.
